PREFACE.

The author commenced the Genealogy of the Bellinger Family, intending to publish it in an historical magazine, but so many facts came into his possession, and so many invaluable data, that he concluded to enlarge the work and write one embracing a wider scope and including many families allied to each other, and to the ancient family of Bellingers, from which family a large number of those mentioned in this work is descended. The family of De Veaux is an ancient and honorable one and several branches of that family descend from the Bellinger family through the Palmers, Cussings and Fairchild families. The family of Bulloch and branches of the Guerards and others descend through the marriage of Ann Fairchild, daughter of Richard Fairchild and Ann Bellinger, daughter of Landgrave Edmund Bellinger the First. The families of Harden, Cussings and others, through the marriage of Colonel John Palmer to Elizabeth Bellinger. Branches of the families of Blake, Ashe, Morris, Verplanck, Powell, and many others, through the marriage of Hannah Palmer, daughter of Colonel John Palmer, to Andrew De Veaux, as do the Porchers, Heywards and others. By the marriage of Burnaby Bull to Lucia Bellinger, branches of Guerard, Heyward and others descend from the family of Bellinger. Many others, too numerous to mention, descend from this family.

In giving a history of some families and leaving out others, no offense is meant, as many of those left out are of fine descent, but the author not knowing their exact history, and there being so many, it has become necessary to abridge the work.

The writer is much indebted to the following friends for much valuable information given: Dr. and Mrs. F. P. Lewis, of Coalburg, Ala.; William H. Chapman and Langdon Cheves, of Charleston; Mrs. Patterson, of Walterboro, S. C., Mrs. John A. Mayer, and many other kind and obliging friends. Many thanks are due also to Dr. James S. Morel, Charles Harris Morel and to Miss Ellen Morel, a most charming young lady, who assisted me in preparing the Morel family.

It may be confidently asserted that this work is a true and correct history of genealogy of the families herein mentioned, and that the information has been obtained from the most reliable and authentic sources and that it is, and will be, a book for the coming generations to rely upon; teaching them from whence they came and showing to them a long line of noble and illustrious ancestry.

Part of the De Veaux family will be found with that of Bellinger and Palmer; the junior Heyward issue with that of Guerard and De Veaux. It has been thought best so to divide it.

INTRODUCTORY.

The Province of South Carolina was at first Monarchical in its form of government and ruled by an aristocracy similar to that of England, and the Lords proprietors by permission of the Crown, had a right granted to them to establish an order of nobility like that of the British Empire, only with different titles; so by and under the guidance of the celebrated Philosopher, John Locke, a model or form of government was drawn up, adopted and put into execution. The orders of nobility were the Landgraves and Caciques, the former equivalent to the title of Earl, the latter to that of Viscount, and large grants of land were allotted to each of the titled noblemen.

The Upper House, or Council (House of Lords), was composed of seven of the Deputies of the Lords proprietors, seven gentlemen elected by the House of Commons, or Assembly, and seven of the eldest Landgraves and Caciques, who, by the Constitution, had the right to a seat in the Council. Among the Landgraves, or Earls, in Carolina was Edmund Bellinger, who held many positions of honor in the Province and who was at one time proposed as Governor of South Carolina.

From the first Landgrave descends the Bellinger family of Carolina, one which, from its ancient descent and services to its country, may with justice be said to be among the great families of South Carolina. Among members of this old and noble family (for they trace their descent not only from the first Landgrave in Carolina of the name, but from the old Norman family of Bellingham of Bellingham, a family descended from some of the noble British families, as can be proved by consulting the Lyon King at Arms and Burke's Peerage and Landed Gentry), are to be found those of Edmund Bellinger, Second Landgrave; Captain John Bellinger, Joseph Bellinger, Member of Congress; Dr. George Bellinger and other physicians of the name, so that the name is still extant and may be found in various States; aye, the Bellingers still flourish, and have not degenerated! From this ancient family descend the family of Bulloch, branches of the families of Bull, Guerard, Lowndes, Harden, de Veaux, Ashe, Palmer, Verplanck, Powell, Porcher, Du Roin, Ravenel, Singleton, Lynah, Heyward, Hasell, Livingston, Roosevelt, Blake, Lewis, Lesesne, Girardeau, Baker, Mayer, Mazyck, Gaillard, Elliott, Jervey, Huger and many others, as may be seen by a careful perusal of these pages, and lest it may escape notice, let it be remembered that through the marriage of Colonel John Palmer to Elizabeth Bellinger, and through a marriage of George Cussings, Esq., planter, to a Palmer, the Harden and other lines come in, and are descended from the Bellingers, and also a numerous list of descendants through the marriage of Hannah Palmer to Andrew De Veaux the Second; also that Lucia Bellinger married Burnaby Bull, and in this way another long line is descended from the Bellingers, and also that James De Veaux married Annie, daughter of Richard Fairchild and Ann Bellinger, daughter of the First Landgrave, and had a daughter, Mary De Veaux, who married Archibald Bulloch, President of Georgia in 1776.

This ancient family of South Carolina is descended from the Bellinghams of Bellingham, in Northumberland, in the days of William the Conqueror, and the Bellingers have kept their identity separate and distinct since 1475, when Walter Bellinger was created Ireland King at Arms, and granted the following coats-of-arms, "Argent, a Saltire engrailed sable, entre four roses, Gules, or, Captain Sir Edmund Bellinger, of Westmoreland County, England, arrived in the Colony of Carolina and settled upon James Island in 1674. He was in the Royal Navy and Commanded the ship Blake, in August 16, 1697, and was appointed Surveyor General for the two Carolinas, April 1, 1698, and created Landgrave May 7th, 1698. He was also appointed Receiver of Land Rents August 14, 1700. He married about 1680, Sarah Cartwright, in England, and had the following children:

I. THOMAS BELLINGER, died in infancy.

II. MARGARET BELLINGER, married Nicholas Bohun. (From this marriage springs the Girardeaus and Bohun Bakers).

III. EDMUND BELLINGER, married, first, Elizabeth Baker and had one daughter, Elizabeth, who married Henry Hyrne, Esq. Edmund Bellinger married, second, Elizabeth Butler, daughter of Shem Butler, of the noble House of Ormond.

IV. JOHN BELLINGER.

V. ELIZABETH BELLINGER, married Colonel John Palmer, who went to Florida in Oglethorpe's Expedition with troops from Carolina and was killed at Fort Moosa. In 1727 commissioned as Commander in Chief of Carolina troops against Yemassee Indians.

VI. WILLIAM BELLINGER, married Miss Donovan.

VII. LUCIA BELLINGER, married Burnaby Bull, son of John Bull, second son of Stephen Bull, who came to Carolina on the Bark Carolina in 1670. (From this marriage comes branches of the families of Lowndes, Guerards, Roses, Fishburnes and Chapmans, of South Carolina.)

VIII. *ANN BELLINGER, died 1723; married Richard Fairchild and had an only daughter, Anne Fairchild, who married about 1730 Colonel James De Veaux, Senior Judge of the King's Court in Georgia, 1760, formerly of South Carolina (and third son of Andre De Veaux, Esq., planter, and a Huguenot, formerly of the Chateau De Veaux), and had issue (she died Friday, March 8, 1765):

I. JAMES DE VEAUX, born August 16, 1734.

II. ELIZABETH DE VEAUX, born January 14, 1738.

*The will of Annie Fairchild, of Charlestown, widow and relict of Richard Fairchild, dec'd, dated Feb. 17, 1721-2, leaves to her daughter, Anne Fairchild, her whole estate, and appoints Edmund Bellinger, Burnaby Bull and Thos. Fairchild, her friends, executors and guardians of her daughter Anne. James De Veaux married Anne Fairchild. Their son William De Veaux had a son, William Fairchild De Veaux. Their son Peter had daughters, Ann Fairchild and Lucia Bellinger De Veaux, and their daughter Mary Bulloch had a son, William Bellinger Bulloch.

*Petition of Edmund Bellinger, Burnaby Bull and Thos. Fairchild, executors of Ann Fairchild, late widow and relict of Richard Fairchild, late of Charlestown, deceased, reciting that said Richard Fairchild, in month of October, 1721, died intestate, leaving his said wife, Ann Fairchild, and his two children, William and Ann Fairchild, his heirs; that Ann, the widow, by her will, Feb. 17, 1721-2, left her property to her daughter Ann, and that inventory of Richard Fairchild's estate is necessary to divide hers. His estate is accordingly appraised at £2,651 current money by Wm. Bull, Solomon Legare, Timothy Bellamy, Wm. Harvey and Richard Mason, April 26, 1723, and divided one-third to William and two-thirds to Anne Fairchild.

* She married, second, Caroway Smith; third, Jas. Belcher.

Stephen Godin, mentioned in 1709 in His. Coll. of S. C.

5. HANNAH PALMER, married Andrew De Veaux.

6. ELIZABETH PALMER.

7. LUCIA PALMER, married, first, George Cussings, planter; second, Captain David Murray.

Hannah Palmer married Andrew De Veaux, son of Andre De Veaux, the Huguenot of the Chateau De Veaux, and from this marriage springs branches of the families of Ravenel, Porcher, Lechmere, Ashe, Blake, Rutledge, Du Bose and Hare-Powell, of Pennsylvania, and Livingston and Verplanck, of New York. Crest of De Veaux: An uplifted arm holding a dagger. Motto: Tonjour pret.

Lucia Palmer married George Cussings, planter; second, Captain David Murray, and had a daughter, Charles Murray, married Thomas Washington. By the first marriage to George Cussings, Lucia Palmer had issue—

I. ELIZABETH CUSSINGS, married William Bellinger, son of Edmund Bellinger, the Second Landgrave, and had—

1. WILLIAM BELLINGER.

2. MARY LUCIA BELLINGER, married Dr. George Bellinger.

3. SARAH ESTHER BELLINGER, married Caborde.

4. SUSANNAH BELLINGER.

II. MARY CUSSINGS, married Edmund, son of Edmund Bellinger, the Third, and had issue.

III. *SARAH CUSSINGS, married, first, Mr. Perkins; second, Colonel William Harden, of the Revolutionary War, and had issue. (See Harden family.)

HARDEN.

It is probable that the first of the Harden family who came to America lived for some time in the Barbadoes, and removed thence to South Carolina. We find in Hotten's "Lists of Emigrants to America from 1600 to 1700" a William Harding, with his wife, child and hired servant, and six negroes, residing in, or near, the town of St. Michaels, Barbadoes, in the year 1680. In an old Bible, bearing this inscription on a fly-leaf, "Charles Harden, his Family Book, presented to him by his mother, Mary Harden, March first, in the year 1793," the first record is:

"William Harden, son of William Harden and Agnes, his wife, was born November twenty-third, in the year of our Lord 1720, and deceased September twelfth, 1760." It is believed that the parents here mentioned were the William Harding and wife who were living in Barbadoes in 1680. The son William is the only child mentioned in the family record, and he married Mary Eberson, daughter of Thomas and Mary Eberson, July 15, 1742. Mary (Eberson) Harden was born December 13, 1724. The children of this couple were—

1. WILLIAM, born November 8, 1743; died November 28, 1785.

2. THOMAS, born September 8, 1745; died September 14, 1747.

3. REBEKAH, born December 17, 1747; married Thomas Sims White; died June 10, 1806.

4. SUSANNAH, born April 6, 1749; died September 12, 1761.

5. CHARLES, born July 19, 1752; married Mrs. Elizabeth Miles (nee Hunt); died November 5, 1803.

6. ELIZABETH, born March 30, 1754; married Samuel Sleigh; died July 24, 1789.

7. EDWARD, born August 17, 1757; married Jane —; died July 11, 1804.

William Harden the Third married, first, Sarah —, and had I. William, who lived to manhood and was executor of his father's estate. No further record of this son can be found. Married, second, Mrs. Sarah Perkins (nee Cussings), and had—

I. EDMUND BELLINGER HARDEN.

II. CHARLES MURRAY HARDEN.

III. THOMAS HUTSON HARDEN.

William Harden, eldest child of William and Mary (Eberson) Harden, was born, as already stated, November 8, 1743; married, first, Sarah —, by whom he had one son, named William, of whom nothing is known, except that he was the executor of his father's estate in Georgia; married next (in January, 1777), Sarah Perkins, widow, by whom he had several children. He served with distinction during the War of the Revolution, first as Commander of the Beaufort Artillery, and afterwards as a Colonel under General Francis Marion, rendering valuable aid to the American cause, the most conspicuous of his acts being, probably, his capture of Fort Balfour from the British April 12, 1781. His second wife, before her marriage with Mr. Perkins, was Miss Sarah Cussings, daughter of George Cussings and his wife, Lucia Palmer, daughter of Colonel John Palmer, who fell at the battle of Fort Moosa, near St. Augustine, Fla., 1741, and his wife, Elizabeth Bellinger, daughter of the First Landgrave Edmund Bellinger, of South Carolina.

After the death of Coloner Palmer, his wife (Lucia) married (in September, 1758) David Murray, of Christ Church Parish (now Chatham County), Georgia.

The Children of Colonel William Harden by his second marriage were—

1. EDMUND BELLINGER HARDEN, of whom we have no trace.

2. CHARLES MURRAY HARDEN, who probably died young.

3. A daughter, who seems to have died in infancy.

4. THOMAS HUTSON HARDEN, who was born after the death of his father; married Matilda Amanda Baker, daughter of Colonel John Baker, of Liberty County, Ga.; died May 4, 1821. Colonel and Division Inspector under Major General John McIntosh in the War of 1812.

Thomas Hutson Harden and Matilda A., his wife, had children as follows—

1. JOHN McPHERSON BERRIEN HARDEN, a noted physician of Liberty County, Georgia, married Jane LeConte, daughter of Louis LeConte, and left children, now living in Liberty County, and Augusta, Ga.

2. THOMAS HUTSON HARDEN, married Margaret Eliza Dearing, and had—

I. WILLIAM D. HARDEN, Judge of City Court of Savannah, 2d Vice.-Pres. Ga. Hist. Soc.; 1st Vice-Pres. of the Confederate Veterans' Association, and a member of the Society of the Cincinnati and of the Society of the War of 1812.

W. D. Harden married Eliza Haywood Dearing, daughter of Major Alfred L. Dearing, of Athens, Ga., and Marcella Jones, of Alabama, and had—

1. META EUGENE HARDEN, married George Parsons Elliott, of Beaufort.

2. ALFRED D. HARDEN.

3. EDWARD JENKINS HARDEN, married Sophia Helen Maxwell, and had—

1. ANNA MATILDA HARDEN, married Charles R. Maxwell, and had one child, a daughter.

2. ELLEN SOPHIA HARDEN, married John W. Burroughs, and had one daughter, who married T. S. Clay, Jr., and has one child, a daughter.

3. WILLIAM HARDEN, Librarian of the Georgia Historical Society and Secretary Sons of the Revolution; married Mary Eliza Davenport.

4. JOHN MAXWELL HARDEN, married Mary S. Way, and has two sons.

5. ELIZA JANE HARDEN, died young.

6. EDWARD THOMAS HARDEN, married Isabel Porter, and has one daughter, Isabel Sophia Harden.

7. MARY BAKER HARDEN, married J. Allen Smith, of South Carolina, and had three daughters, Helen, Jane and Mary Smith.

John and Mary S. (Way) Harden had issue—

1. JOHN MAXWELL HARDEN.

2. EDGAR WAY HARDEN.

Going back to William and Mary (Eberson) Harden, the second of the children who left issue, was Rebecca, who married a Mr. White. Of this marriage it is not known that there are any of her descendants living, and nothing of her history is known, except the date of her death, and that a death notice mentioned that she left children.

The next child was Charles, who married the widow Niles. Their descendants are living in Bryan County and Savannah, Ga.

COTESWORTH.

(Arms.)

Three bars gules.

Crest:

Out of ducal coronet, or, a griffin ppr.

As from a marriage of Thomas Pinckney to Mary Cotesworth, all the Pinckney family of Carolina descend, it will be proper to give that which has been ascertained so far of the Cotesworth family of England.

It would seem that the Cotesworths belonged originally to the North of England, and are of an old family of that country; the arms of original branch being: Argent, on a fesse sable, three bezants; the crest being out of a ducal coronet a griffin proper (though the branch of Wood End Park, Liverpool, use three bars gules, crest out of a crown, argent, ashe leaves and an acorn. They also used the Griffins head). On a tomb-stone in churchyard of Middleton Teesdale, the name of Charles Cotesworth is found with date somewhat obliterated (170—), and the rector has found that John Pinckney married Eliza Cotesworth at Ellesburn September 3, 1685, and it would seem that these families intermarried. We know that Mary Cotesworth inherited a ring from her father, Charles, who died in 1701, and that it must be the Charles Cotesworth whose name is found on the tomb-stone at Ellesburn, the date being somewhat obliterated (170—); from all of which we deduce the following pedigree, as agreed to by a member of the family of Wood End Park branch, Liverpool, England. Cuthbert Cotesworth married Elizabeth, styled of Ellesburn, who died March 19, 1695, and had Cuthbert Cotesworth, who married Barbara Chambers and had John Cotesworth, who had Charles Cotesworth, died June 170—, and had—

I. CHARLES WILLIAM COTESWORTH, married Ann Kipling, ancestor of Wood End Park branch.

II. *MARY COTESWORTH, married Thomas Pinckney 1692; ancestor of the Pinckney line and a branch of the Bellinger family of South Carolina.

PINCKNEY.

The ancient family of De Pinckney were of Norman origin, and from them the Pinckneys of England descend, who remained in England before coming to South Carolina at least five hundred years.

In Carolina the Pinckneys have been noted for services furnished to the State and country, among whom may be mentioned the eminent Chief Justice Pinckney, Gov. Charles Pinckney, the Gens. Thomas and Charles Cotesworth Pinckney, of whom it may be said they were patriots among patriots; and they were equally distinguished as good men, for they had early pressed to their hearts the sweet peace of believing and the needful support of a religious trust. Of this family, it may be said they had few equals in birth, learning, wisdom and patriotism.

Thomas Pinckney, the first of the name in this country, came to South Carolina in 1692. His wife was Mary, daughter of Charles Cotesworth. Their three sons were—

I. THOMAS PINCKNEY, died young.

II. CHARLES PINCKNEY, Chief Justice; married, first, Elizabeth, daughter of Captain Lamb, of Devonshire Square, London, by whom he had no issue. He married, second, in 1763, Elizabeth, daughter of Colonel George Lucas, of the British Army and Governor of Antigua, by whom he had issue—

BLAKE.

Robert de Blake, or Blake-land, of Calne Wilts, England, 1286, is the first of the name we have record of, and from him descended the great Admiral Blake, whose brother, Humphrey Blake, came to America, and, it would appear, was the ancestor of branches of the families of Blake of Virginia, Maryland and a branch of the name in South Carolina, and tradition and incidents would point as to the correctness of this belief. We are further warranted in thus according the descent of this family of Blake by testimony furnished by Rev. Charles Morris Blake, of Washington, D. C., who descends from William Blake, one of the brothers of the Admiral, and from incidents furnished by Dr. John Blake, of Washington, D. C. The first Blake in South Carolina, so far as ascertained of this family, was Edward Blake, member of Naval Committee of 1776, who is found in the Province prior to 1770, and who married *Jane Savage, of good family, and had issue—

I. JOHN BLAKE, married in 1751 Margaret Mercier.

II. — BLAKE, who married Major Lining, and had issue, whose descendants live in South Carolina.

If there is one thing to be proud of in this American country it is to know that we come of illustrious ancestry, especially from one who served his country in the hour of need and helped to free her from oppression and wrong. Such, then, was the gallant Captain John Blake, an officer in the Revolutionary Army and present at the battle of Fort Sullivan. In 1712, at Alloa, was born George Haig, of the ancient and royally descended Haigs of Bemersyde, who went to Carolina and aided in the settlement of the State, for in 1749 we find his absence deeply deplored, he having been captured, with his servant, by the Creek Nation. This Captain Haig is the same, doubtless, who was one of His Majesty's Justices of the Peace, for the dates are close together, and apparently the items refer to the same individual. In 1742 he married Elizabeth Watson, of St. Johns Parish, and had issue, whose descendants still live in Carolina, and are among the best of her people.

Captain Haig died, and his widow married in 1751 Lieutenant Pierre Mercier, who was killed in an engagement against the French on the Ohio River in 1755, while under the command of George Washington. Lieutenant Mercier and Elizabeth Watson, widow of Captain George Haig, had issue—Margaret Mercier, born June 25, 1753, and married Captain John Blake, of the Revolutionary Army, and it is thus that the Blakes are connected to Haig of Bemersyde.

Captain John Blake and Margaret Mercier, daughter of Lieutenant Pierre Mercier, of Huguenot descent and of Colonial Army, had the following issue—

I. ELIZABETH BLAKE, died single.

II. JANE SAVAGE BLAKE, married Dr. Samuel Wilson, and had issue.

III. MARGARET BLAKE, married Bishop Bowen, and had issue.

IV. MARTHA FURGUSON BLAKE, married William Washington, son of Colonel William Washington, of Eutaw fame, and had issue.

V. HARRIET HAIG BLAKE.

VI. MARY MAHAM BLAKE.

VII. JOHN HAIG BLAKE, married Eliza Goodwin, of Columbia, S. C.

VIII. EDWARD BLAKE, married Catharine Louisa De Veaux August 22, 1794, son of Nathaniel De Veaux and Eleanor Cursan (son of Andrew De Veaux and Catharine Barnwell, daughter of John and Martha Barnwell, son of Andrew De Veaux and Hannah, daughter of the gallant Colonel John Palmer and his wife Elizabeth, daughter of Landgrave Edmund Bellinger.)

Edward Blake and Catharine Louisa De Veaux (born August 22, 1784), had issue—

I. MARY LOUISA BLAKE, married Isaac Lesesne.

II. MARGARET MERCIER BLAKE, married Dr. Ralph Perry, son of Stobo Perry.

III. JOHN HAIG BLAKE, married Miss Legare.

IV. EDWARD DE VEAUX BLAKE, of West Point Academy, Captain in Confederate States Army.

V. ELEANOR M. BLAKE.

VI. JULIUS AUGUSTUS BLAKE, married Julia Amelia Lewis.

VII. CATHARINE ELIZABETH BLAKE, married Nathaniel Broughton Mazyck.

This ancient and noble family, having sixteen quarterings of noble Dutch families, came to South Carolina, the first of the name in that State being William Van Assendelft, born in Hanover, Germany, March 28, 1752; married in Charleston, S. C., Marianne Frances Grunsweig, daughter of Frederick and Frances Grunsweig, and granddaughter of Benjamin Godin and his wife Marianne Mazyck, of ancient families. Marianne Frances Grunsweig was born in Amsterdam, September 15, 1752. Their children were—

I. SARAH AMELIA VAN ASSENDELFT, born 1785; married John Lewis.

II. JUDITH VAN ASSENDELFT, born 1787; married John Lewis, and had—

I. JOHN WILLIAMS LEWIS, married Julia Eliza Porcher.

This ancient family came to South Carolina at an early day, and has, by its members, contributed much toward

*The author has had the pleasure of seeing and examining the coats-of-arms of the VanAssendelfts and was much pleased with it. Besides its own (in all foreign countries coats-of-arms indicate that the family is a noble one) the quarterings number sixteen of the noble families of Holland, such as the following: VanAssendelft, VandenMilrof, VanSassen, Meerman, Persyn, VanOurvendyk, VanLoon, VanThol, VanSanten, Spiering, Guldecroon, VanderGraaf, Pil Gram, Pauw, Menning, Duyst, Berestyn, Cloek, Hoogen and Houck, which, as one can see, is a long array of Holland names.

Prior to the year 1798 two young Englishmen, John Lewis and Thomas Annely, left London for America. They settled in Charleston, S. C., and went into business as merchants. On the same ship on which they crossed the Atlantic was a widow from Holland, Mrs. VanAssendelft, and her two daughters, Judith and Amelia VanAssendelft, young girls. She also settled in Charleston. This friendship formed on board ship was continued in the new land. Mrs. VanAssendelft being stricken with a mortal disease and dreading to leave her two daughters friendless in a strange land consented to the importunities of their suitors, and though the girls were but 13 and 14 years of age respectively, the marriage ceremony was performed at the house beside her dying bed. Judith married John Lewis and had no children. Amelia married Mr. Annely and had four children. Mrs. Lewis died and Mr. Annely died, and John Lewis married Mrs. Annely, nee Amelia VanAssendelft, and had one son, John W. Lewis, who inherited a large fortune at his father's death and became a rice planter. He married, first, Julia Eliza Porcher and had issue. John W. Lewis married, second, Anna Raven VanderHorst, daughter of Mr. Elias VanderHorst, and had issue.

the welfare of the State, and is of illustrious Huguenot descent, and descended from the Counts of Richbourg. In Carolina the family is allied to many of the most eminent settlers.

The village of St. Severe, in the Province of Berri, in France, was the birthplace of Isaac Porcher de Richbourg, M. D., of the University of Paris, where he received his degree. He married Susane Ferre, and after the Edict of the Revocation of Nantes fled to South Carolina. The issue of this marriage was—

I. ISAAC PORCHER de RICHBOURG, M. D., married October 19, 1681, Claude Cherigny, Province of Touraine, France, who was born in 1660.

They had Isaac Porcher, Justice of Berkley County, S. C., who married Rachel Du Pre and had Samuel Porcher, married Martha Gignilliat, and had Peter Porcher, married Eliza Boone Yonge, and had Dr. Francis Yonge Porcher, married Sarah Julia Pelot, and had Julia Eliza Porcher, married John William Lewis, and had, besides others, Francis Porcher Lewis, married (see Lewis), and had issue,

I. JOHN LEWIS.

YONGE.

This is one of the most ancient families in Carolina. Robert Yonge, Justice of the Province of Carolina 1739 to 1784, married, about 1729, Elizabeth ———, died 1751, and had Francis Yonge, Sr. (Agent of Province 1722 and one of Council), who married in 1752 (died, 1780), Sarah Clifford, of St. Paul's Parish, South Carolina, and had Eliza Boone Yonge, married Peter Porcher, and had Francis Yonge Porcher, M. D., married Sarah Julia Pelot. (Captain Elias Clifford was granted land in 1682.)

PELOT.

Rev. John Francis Pelot, born 1720, Stuttgart, Switzerland, and died 1774, married, 1761, Catharine Screven Stoll, died 1783, daughter of Justinus Stoll, and had James Charles Pelot, born 1763, died 1809, married, in 1789, Mary Susanne Postell, of an old and honorable family, especially conspicuous in the Revolutionary War. Their child was Sarah Julia Pelot, born 1793, died 1847, who married Dr. Francis Yonge Porcher, born 1789, died 1862, and had Julia Eliza Porcher, born October 21, 1823, married *John Williams Lewis in 1841, and had—

I. DR. FRANCIS PORCHER LEWIS, married Martha Maria Bellinger, and had one son—

1. JOHN LEWIS.

He married, second, Rebecca Deborah Bellinger.

---

*John Williams Lewis was born Sept. 2, 1820, in Charleston, S. C. Died Sept. 29, 1873.

II. JOHN W. ANNELY LEWIS, married Elise Rhett, and had issue.

III. JULIA AMELIA LEWIS, married Julius A. Blake, and had issue.

WEBB.

An old family, allied to the Miles, Godfreys, Pinckneys, and others. Deborah Webb married, first, a Miles; second, William Pinckney. She had a brother, Dr. William Webb, who married Amelia Emily Ladson, of an old family, and their daughter, Eliza Ladson Webb, married John Guy Godfrey. Another Deborah Webb, niece of Mrs. Deborah Webb Pinckney, married William Godfrey, and had Rebecca D'Oyley Godfrey, married William Cotesworth Pinckney, and had Deborah Webb Pinckney, married William Bellinger, son of William Bellinger and Sarah Pinckney.

GODFREY.

The Godfreys are descended from Godfrey de Bouillon. William Godfrey, of South Carolina, was appointed one of three men by the King of England to lay out the city of Charleston. Another of the family was one of the Deputies for the proprietors, and consequently sat in the Upper House under the Proprietary Government.

Sir Richard Godfrey had John Godfrey, one of the Deputies of Proprietors under that Government, who had William Godfrey, married Rebecca Guy, and had William Godfrey, married Deborah Webb, and had Rebecca Guy Godfrey, married William Cotesworth Pinckney, whose sister, Sarah Pinckney, married, in 1783, William Bellinger, born 1758, and had William Bellinger, born 1788, married in 1810, Deborah Webb Pinckney, daughter of William Cotesworth Pinckney and Rebecca D'Oyley Godfrey, and had William Cotesworth Pinckney Bellinger, married Jane Elizabeth Rice, daughter of Henry William Rice and Martha Maria Davis, born 1800, died 1870, and married in 1818.

Dr. Francis Porcher Lewis, by his marriage to Martha Maria Bellinger, had one son, John Lewis of Coalburg, Alabama, thus being united to the ancient families of Lewis, Gignilliat, Porcher, Pinckney, Bellinger, Guy, Godfrey, Rice, Davis, VanAssendelft, Godin, Mazyck, Dupre, Postell, Yonge and other families. Monsieur Jean Francois deGenillat, first of the Swiss nation to settle in Carolina, was granted 3,000 acres of land, July 30, 1682, and in 1687 Monsier Jean Louis deGenillat had a grant of land. This eminent family is allied to the leSerruriers, LeGers, Bossers and deVilles, and in Carolina to the Porchers, Heywards and others.

John Lewis on mother's side descends from Martha Maria Bellinger, daughter of William Cotesworth Pinckney Bellinger and Jane Elizabeth Rice, son of William Bellinger and Deborah Webb Pinckney, son of William Bellinger and Sarah Pinckney, son of Edmund Bellinger and Mary Lucia Bull, son of Edmund Bellinger and Elizabeth Butler (daughter of Shem Butler of the noble house of Ormond), son of Edmund Bellinger, the first Landgrave, and Sarah Cartwright, who came to Carolina in 1674.

The ancient family of Bull dates from Stephen Bull, who came on the bark Carolina to Carolina in 1670, and had a son, John Bull, who had a son, Burnaby Bull, who married Lucia Bellinger, second child of the first Landgrave. To this family belong Gen. Izard Bull, a branch of the Guerards, Heywards and others.

On June 3, 1684, Colonel John Godfrey was appointed a Deputy for the Duke of Albemarle under the Proprietary Government.

GUY.

*Rev. William Guy, an Episcopal minister, had charge of a church in Charleston. The Guys are descended from the Duke of Warwick, and the family have several pieces of furniture brought over by Sir John Guy from England. He had Rebecca Guy, who married William Godfrey, and had William Godfrey, who married Deborah Webb, and had Rebecca D'Oyley Godfrey, born in 1775, died 1865, married William Cotesworth Pinckney, and had Deborah Webb Pinckney, born in 1792, married, in 1810, William Bellinger, son of William Bellinger and Sarah Pinckney, and had issue.

DAVIS.

Charles Davis, who came to Carolina before the Revolutionary War, married and had William Davis, who was made a Colonel by General George Washington, and was the intimate friend of Colonel William Washington, and is honorably mentioned in Green's History of United States.

Colonel William Davis married Rebecca Weakley, and had Martha Maria Davis, born 1800, died 1870, and married in 1841 William Cotesworth Pinckney Bellinger, and had issue.

RICE.

Arms:

Crossed bars, between three lions' heads.

Motto: Malo mori quam Fœdari.

This ancient family, having the same arms as King John of England, descends from David, the last Prince of Wales before it was conquered by Edward I. It came to Virginia about the year 1680, and the name was spelled Rhys.

Captain Holman Rice, who fought at Germantown, Monmouth and Brandywine, in the Revolutionary War, is supposed to be the American ancestor of three sons, who came to South Carolina, David, Aaron and William Rice. The first two settled in Barnwell County, South Carolina, the latter in Union County, South Carolina. David Rice was present and captured at Gates' defeat during the Revolution, at Camden. He married Clarkie Blake. They were all from Hanover County, Virginia. David and Clarkie (Blake) Rice had four sons—

I. JOHN RICE, married Rebecca Branch.

II. DAVID RICE.

III. ARCHIBALD RICE.

---

*The family have very old pieces of silver brought over by Rev. Wm. Guy.

IV. BENJAMIN RICE.

John Rice, married Rebecca Branch, had—

I. HENRY W. RICE, married, in 1818, Martha Maria Davis, born 1800, died 1870., and had Jane Elizabeth Rice, married William Cotesworth Pinckney Bellinger .

GUERARD.

In 1679, Jacob Guerard of Normandy, Lord of Bocheran de Bourg, in the jurisdiction of Normandy and in the Department of Caudebec, and who was confirmed July 7, 1667, joined in a petition to Charles II. King of England, to assist in sending to the Colony of South Carolina eighty families of French Protestants to cultivate the vine and make silk. The petition was granted, and the Richmond, a national ship, was used in transferring those Huguenot families to Charleston.

In 1685, the Edict of Nantes being revoked by Louis XIV., two sons of Jacob Guerard left their estates near Rouen and arrived in London, and in the Books of the Heralds College placed their names, coats-of-arms and the names of their Normandy estates. Their names were John and Pierre Jacob Guerard. A short time after their arrival in London they came over to America and settled in Charleston, South Carolina, and established themselves in the mercantile business. The male descendants of Pierre Jacob Guerard are extinct. John died about 1714, leaving several children—

DE VEAUX.

The first De Veaux in America that we are acquainted with was Andre De Veaux, the Huguenot, who owned, it is said, a Chateau in France, and who probably came to South Carolina before 1700, though the earliest mention of his name is in 1714. Governor Craven granted him land in 1715, and in 1731 he, among others, applies for a minister to the French church in Charleston.

In Normandy the name of De Vaux is a noble one, and we see that three brothers, Hubert, Ranulph and Philip De Vaux, sons of Harold De Vaux, Lord of Vaux, accompanied the Conqueror to England.

*She had also an elder son, Guerard Carter, who died.

N. 3.—Author does not pretend to give all of Moultrie family.

In 1754 Andre De Veaux, a large land owner and planter makes his will, as Andrew De Veaux of St. Andrews Parish, Province of South Carolina, gentleman, and leaves to his beloved sons, Andrew, James and John, certain properties To granddaughters Catharine and Annie, daughters of his eldest son, Israel De Veaux, deceased, he leaves £1,000; to granddaughter Jeany, daughter of his son John, he leaves property. #### MAYER.

This old German family has been traced back in unbroken line to the year 1495 by the author and historian, Colonel Brantz Mayer, of Baltimore.

The arms described in the family chronicle are as follows:

A shield diagonally divided by three bands, black, on a gold ground. Charge—A Phoenix in flames, on a red field; an open helmet; ornaments and jewel, black and gold. For crest, a male child, black and gold, holding in each hand a May flower. Motto: Effingit Phoenix Christum reparabilis ales.

Melchior Mayer, Stadthauptman of Ulm, the ancestor of this family, bore these arms; also his descendant Lorenz and his sons in wars against the Turks and other foes of the House of Austria. As far back as the records and legends of this family run, they have been intellectual men and women, people of mind and cultivation.

Since the emigration to America the men have been mostly occupied with commerce or finance, or engaged in learned callings—authors, lawyers, professors. A few have been clergymen, or physicians of scientific research.

Some have served their States and the Nation in civil or military positions of trust and honor.

J. Raymond Mayer engaged successfully in business in California; he married Miss Abbie Reeney, had three children, who were born in San Francisco. He died in Berlin, Conn., in 1865.

John Ashe Mayer, M. D., was born in Barnwell, S. C., and, like most of his race, he has been a student and man of thought. He graduated with distinction, taking two prizes, one for his thesis, the other for skill in anatomy. He married Miss Anna Elizabeth Pittman, of noble descent through her ancestor, Count Vernon.

Richard Ashe married Mrs. John Ashe (nee Margaret De Veaux), and had—

- *I. WILLIAM ASHE, died unmarried.

ASHE.

This is an old family of Carolina of standing, and one that is well known. The North Carolina family is of the same stock, and we find in the Colonial Assembly a John Ashe, in 1702, who went to England in behalf of the Colony. From him descends, we presume, all of the line.

John Ashe married Grace Codner and had—

I. CHARLES CODNER ASHE, married Miss Goff, and had William and Mary Ashe.

II. JOHN ASHE, married Margaret De Veaux.

III. RICHARD ASHE, married his deceased brother's wife, Margaret De Veaux Ashe.

Besides the above, we find a Samuel Ashe, who married a sister of Margaret, Hannah De Veaux; also a John Ashe, who married another sister, Catharine De Veaux, wife of Colonel Lechmere. We presume these Ashes were closely related to John and Richard Ashe.

Stephen De Veaux, son of Andrew De Veaux and Hannah Palmer (daughter of Colonel John Palmer and Elizabeth Bellinger, daughter of Edmund Bellinger, First Landgrave), married Esther Gignilliat, and had an only son, Stephen Gabriel De Veaux. (Esther Gignilliat married, second

BOX.

The Box family came originally from England, and dates back in Georgia to before the Revolutionary War. In the house of a member of the family was to be seen some years ago a beautifully illuminated coats-of-arms, belonging either to the Box or Rigbys, of Harrock Hall, England, from which the Georgia family of Box were descended. This family also descend from the old Netherclift family, allied to the families of McQueen, Waldburg, Morels and Jenkins, as a Netherclift married into each of the above families. Captain T. Netherclift, of the Light Infantry Company, is found among others taking the oath of allegiance to King George I. in Georgia about 1770-5. We find among the prominent patriots of 1776 the name of Philip Box, member of the Council of Safety. He married Elizabeth Rigbye, daughter, or granddaughter, of *Noah or Henry Rigbye, of Harrock Hall, England, and the Box family lived at a place called Harrock Hall, near Savannah, Georgia. Philip Box and Elizabeth Rigbye had issue—

I. THOMAS RIGBYE BOX, married Ann Netherclift, daughter of *Thomas Netherclift, Esq.

- II. REV. PATRICK HINDS FOLKER, born Charleston, S. C., February 5, 1792; baptized by Rev. Dr. Bowen, afterwards Bishop of Carolina. He married December 5, 17—, Arrabella Isabella Kinloch Bay, daughter of William and Ann Bay, and had—

I. ANNA BAY FOLKER, married, first, Mr. Couturier; married, second, Benjamin N. Warley.

Rev. Patrick Hinds Folker, an Episcopal minister, who had charge of churches in Charleston, Columbia, S. C., and Greenville, married, secondly, Eunice Penelope (daughter of Rev. John Brandon Kennedy) on September 5, 1844. (She was born September 27, 1811. The Kennedys were of Scotch descent.) They had issue—

- I. EDWARD BUIST FOLKER, born July 21, 1848, at Laurens, S. C., married Maria Ann Box.
- II. EUNICE PENELOPE FOLKER, born August 1, 1848.

RIGBYE, of Harrock, Lincoln County, England.

Arms:

Ar, a cross fiory az, charged with five mullets, or, quartering Baldwin, viz: ar, a saltire sa.

Crest:

An antelope's head sa, armed, bearded and crined, or, as borne by Rigbye Baldwin Rigbye, of Harrock Hall, Lancaster county, England.

The arms of Rigbye of Harrock are found in Burke's General Armory. On record in the Court House in the State of Georgia, the following is found: Thomas Rigbye, Esq., of Harrock, County of Lincoln and of Lancaster, England, leaves to his granddaughter Elizabeth Rigbye, wife of Philip Box, certain property."

We see also on record that Maria Frances Box, daughter of James Box, enters in a contract of marriage with John Mullryne Tattnall, brother of Governor Tattnall and son of Josiah Tattnall; and Miss Mullryne, daughter of Colonel Mullryne. We feel warranted in saying then, as the said Maria Frances Box had sisters and brothers, and as Peter De Veaux and Philip Box were administrators on the estate of James Box, that James Box was the father of Philip Box, Esq, who married Elizabeth Rigbye, daughter of Henry, or Noah, Rigbye, son of Thomas Rigbye, of Harrock. We presume that Dr. James Box Young was of this family, as also General P. M. Box Young, late minister abroad. We see that the family of Box were connected to the families of Rigbye, Netherclift, De Veaux, Morel, Bulloch, Milledge and others, and descended also from Landgrave Edmund Bellinger, one of the Colonial nobility of Carolina.

HEYWARD.

Arms:

*Three sheaves between a chevron.

Crest:

An uplifted bended arm holding a tomahawk.

Thomas and Daniel Heyward emigrated to South Carolina in 1670, from the town of Little Eaton, England. One of the family married in England. Thomas Heyward married in Carolina and left two sons, Thomas and Daniel Heyward. Daniel Heyward the elder and brother of first Thomas Heyward, left no issue. After the death of Thomas Heyward<sup>1</sup>, the father, his two sons, Thomas and Daniel Heyward, were sent to England to the surviving brother who remained there, to be educated. Thomas Heyward returned to this country, married and left one son, Thomas Heyward, who, at the age of 19 years, was drafted into the army to fight the Indians; he remained in the army and rose to be Captain, and was stationed at Fort Johnson, on James Island. For his distinguished services in the British Army, he was granted large tracts of land in St. Luke's Parish, Beaufort District, in which was included the "Old House" tract, the family homestead.

Captain Thomas Heyward died at the age of 35 years, leaving six sons; and from Captain Thomas Heyward, of the British Army, and his six sons all of that ancient and distinguished family of Heyward of South Carolina descend. His sons were—

I. DANIEL HEYWARD, married Miss Miles.

*On chevron there appears to be drops of blood on one side and crosses on the other side. Granted to Judge Thomas Heyward of S. C.

II. THOMAS HEYWARD, married Miss Miles, sister of above; married, second, Miss Gignilliat.

III. JOHN HEYWARD, married Mrs. Cattle, and had no issue.

IV. SAMUEL HEYWARD, died leaving no issue.

V. NATHANIEL HEYWARD, died leaving no issue.

VI. WILLIAM HEYWARD, died leaving no issue.

Captain Thomas Heyward owned land on James Island, and in Charleston from corner of Meeting street to King street, on south side, where the Guard House once stood, was all the property of the family; also the plantation on Dills Creek, and the family has ever been a noted, wealthy and influential one of Carolina. He married Hester Taylor, of St. Andrews Parish, Berkley County, South Carolina.

Daniel Heyward, the eldest son of Captain Thomas Heyward, at the age of 19 years, left James Island and located on land left him by his father on a grant from British Government to his father. He commenced life at the "Old House" and became prosperous, leaving at his death 999 negro slaves and large tracts of land. He married Mary Miles and had by her three sons—

I. THOMAS HEYWARD, born Granville County, S. C., July 28, 1746; married, first, Elizabeth Mathews; married, second, Elizabeth Savage.

II. JOHN HEYWARD.

III. WILLIAM HEYWARD.

Daniel Heyward married, secondly, Miss Gignilliat, and had—

I. JAMES HEYWARD.

II. NATHANIEL HEYWARD.

III. MARIA HEYWARD.

Daniel Heyward married, thirdly, Miss Simons, and had—

I. BENJAMIN HEYWARD.

Thomas Heyward, Jr., signer of the Declaration of Independence of the United States of America and Judge of the Court in Carolina, was the eldest son of Daniel Heyward, Esq., the wealthy planter and land owner, and Miss Miles (who was the eldest son of Captain Thomas Heyward of the British Army.)

Honorable Thomas Heyward, Jr., married Elizabeth Matthews, and had by her six children, but only one survived, the others dying in infancy. This son who lived was named Daniel Heyward, who married, leaving one daughter, who married *Governor James Hamilton, of South Carolina, and from this marriage the descendants of Governor James Hamilton descend.

Thomas Heyward, Jr., the signer of the Declaration of

I. WILLIAM BURROUGHS SMITH HEYWARD, married Miss Pinckney.

II. GEORGIANNA HASELL HEYWARD, married Arthur Rose.

III. FRANCES SMITH HEYWARD.

IV. JOHN ASHE HEYWARD.

V. LILLIE WILLIMAN HEYWARD.

VI. CATHARINE LECHMERE HEYWARD.

VII. PAULINE KEITH HEYWARD.

VIII. ANDREW HASELL HEYWARD, JR.

*George Cuthbert, fifth child of Thomas S. Heyward and Ann Cuthbert Heyward, married Elizabeth Martha Guerard, daughter of Dr. Jacob De Veaux Guerard and Alice Screven, daughter of Dr. Richard Bedon Screven and Alice Bedon, daughter of Josiah Bedon and Elizabeth Stobo, daughter of Richard Park Stobo and Mary Harvey, son of James, son of Rev. Archibald Stobo. Josiah *Bedon was son of Richard Bedon, or Pendarvis, son of Josiah Pendar-

*For junior Heyward issue see Guerard family.

*The families of Bedon and Pendarvis were among the first to settle in Carolina, and the author has recently seen deeds of land showing the old mansion of Josiah Pendarvis; a deed showing land of Col. Richard Bedon, dated Oct. 13, 1762; another, Aug. 25, 1756. Col. Richard Bedon had a daughter who married Josiah Pendarvis and had two children, Josiah Pendarvis, who changed his name to Bedon, and Elizabeth Pendarvis, who married John Screven, ancestor of a branch of the Screven family. She married, second, Josiah Bryan.

CORDES.

Through the family of Cordes branches of the following families descend in female lines: Gaillard, Porcher, Prioleau, Gourdin, Dawson, Ravenel, Pinckney, Harleston, Young, Allston, Bulloch, McAllister, Parker, Simons, McBride, Holbrook, Ingraham, Gadsden, Langley, 1Elizabeth Cordes married Peter Porcher, 2Samuel Cordes had Frank, who had Mary, married Edward Lucas. 3John Cordes. 4Esther Cordes married Gabriel Marion. John Cordes<sup>3</sup>, a brother of those mentioned above, was son of Thomas Cordes and Miss Gendron. John Cordes had 1Thomas Cordes, married Charlotte Evance; 2John Cordes, married Miss Banberry; 3Mrs. Prioleau; 4Nelly, married Theodore Gaillard. Esther Marion, wife of Gabriel, had, among others, Esther Cordes Marion, who married an Allston and had a daughter, married to Benjamin Young, and had Mary, married to William Bellinger Bulloch.

BULLOCH.

The ancient and honorable family of Bulloch, of Georgia, came originally from Glasgow, Scotland, to Charleston, South Carolina, about the year 1728. The Bullochs appear to belong to Baldernock, in Sterlingshire, where the records of which show the name to be the oldest for at least 400 years back, and where those of the name lived.

“The Bullochs are descended from Donald Bulloch MacDonald, a son of Donald of the Isles.” The first of the name

She had besides others a brother, David Doar, who married Harriet Gadsden, and a brother, Dr. Stephen Doar, who married Jane Gadsden, daughter of Christopher Gadsden of Grahamville, S. C.

BULL.

This ancient and highly honorable family of South Carolina is one of the oldest and most prominent in the country. The first of the name was Stephen Bull, Esq., who became Lord Deputies Proprietors, Deputy and Surveyor General of South Carolina, and held other positions, and who, with a relative, *Burnaby Bull, came over in the Barque Carolina to South Carolina in 1670 and was a prominent man in the

---

"John More Macdonald of Isla and Deningveg, second son of John, Lord of the Isles, by Margaret, daughter of Robert II of Scotland, married Marjory Bisset, heir of the Glens, county Antrim, and was murdered at Ard Dhu by James Campbell Circa, 1426. He had Sir Donald Balloch, ancestor of Earls of Antrim, and Ranald Bane of Larzie in Kintyre, founder of this family, who were known as the Clan Ranald-bane. He was sent by his cousin, the Earl of Ross, as envoy to Edward IV of England, 1461."

Sir Walter Scott refers to one Bulloch who suffered in the Rebellion of 1715, in a note to Lord of the Isles, and indicates the name to be of Celtic origin. "Balloch, from the Gaelic Bealach, meaning the outlet of a lake or glen. This Bulloch was from, or, of the West country, which would seem to be the location of the family. Glasgow seems to be the habitat of the Sept."

"The name Bulloch is usually reckoned a purely Scotch one, and notwithstanding its similarity to Bullock, to have no connection therewith. There is a Parish of Balloch in Dumbartonshire. I think and some believe that this is the territorial origin of the name, and I have even heard of some who have reverted to that form of patronymic."

Seal of Archibald Bulloch, Esq., as found in will of 1775: A sheaf, a lion rampant, a snake and a heron. Motto: Peace, plenty, wisdom and strength.

The arms of James Bulloch of London are: Argent, on a chevron gules, three hearts argent, in chief two eagles with wings displayed, and in base a galley proper. Crest: On a mural crown a spread eagle with a cross crosslet in its beak.

James Bulloch, Esq., of London, Eng., quotes the following: "The Bullochs are descendants of Donald Bulloch Macdonald, brother of Donald, Lord of the Isles." He has a coat of arms. Archibald Bulloch, of Milli Ker, Maryhill, Glasgow, aet. 81, says: "The Bullochs' natural place was Baldernock, the records of which show the name to be the oldest for 400 years back. John Bulloch of Aberdeen agrees that the cradle of the Sept points to Baldernock; says name is rare in Scotland." It is very rare in England.

Colony. He had two sons, the younger of whom, **John Bull, married and had—

I. *WILLIAM BULL, Lieutenant Governor of South Carolina.

II. JOHN BULL, married and left two daughters, Mrs. Middleton and Mrs. Izard.

III. BURNABY BULL, married Lucia Bellinger, daughter of Edmund Bellinger, First Landgrave of the name in South Carolina and one of Colonial nobility.

William Bull, the Governor, had, among others, a son, William Bull, also Lieutenant Governor of South Carolina, and nephew of Burnaby Bull, who married Lucia Bellinger.

Burnaby Bull (brother of Governor William Bull, sons of John Bull, son of the first Stephen Bull) and Lucia Bellinger had issue—

I. STEPHEN BULL, married Elizabeth Bryan, daughter of Joseph Bryan, Sr.

II. WILLIAM BULL, married Anne —.

III. MARY LUCIA BULL, married Edmund Bellinger, her cousin, the Third Landgrave.

IV. MARGARET BULL.

V. ELIZABETH BULL, married William Simpson. (Think he was one of Chief Justices of South Carolina.)

Colonel Stephen Bull and Elizabeth Bryan had—

I. JOHN BULL, married Eleanor Purry, daughter of Colonel Peter Purry, of Purrisburgh.

II. STEPHEN BULL, died.

III. JOSIAH BULL.

IV. BURNABY BULL.

V. ANN BRYAN BULL, married James Garvey.

VI. MARY LUCIA BULL, married Jacob Guerard.

William and Anne Bull had—

I. WILLIAM ROBERT BULL.

II. LUCIA BULL.

Colonel Stephen Bull and Elizabeth Bryan had, among others, Mary Lucia Bull, who married Jacob Guerard, second son of John Guerard and Marianna Godin, and had issue—

I. JOHN GUERARD, married Sophia Piercy, or Percy, daughter of Rev. William Percy, and had—

1. JOHN BULL GUERARD, married Ann Bee, daughter of Judge Bee.

2. MARY LUCIA GUERARD, married Edward Lowndes, and had issue.

3. SOPHIA PERCY GUERARD.

4. BARNARD ELLIOTT GUERARD, married Mary Guerard, and had Jacob and Mary Guerard. He married, second, Catharine Blake Guerard, formerly Mrs. Christopher J. Gadsden.

---

*Died without issue.

** William Izard Bull says Burnaby Bull was son of John Bull, and says one of his daughters married a Bellinger, one a Rose, one a Lowndes, etc.

5. OCTAVIUS JACOB GUERARD.
6. WILLIAM PERCY GUERARD.
7. GEORGE HENRY GUERARD, married Alice Cuthbert, and had issue.
8. EDWARD PARKER GUERARD, married Dora Gaillard.
9. REBECCA GUERARD.

BRYAN.

This ancient family is found in South Carolina as early as 1699, and is probably derived from the family of Bryan-Brampton, of Hereford County, England. The first of the name we have record of was Joseph Bryan, planter, died February 9, 1732-3, who married in England Janet Cochran. The Bryans have done their part toward aiding Georgia in her onward progress in civilization, both in the Colonial and State periods, and to them Georgia owes much, for by their aid and the help of others she has accomplished her growth and prosperity. We find Hugh Bryan, a Surveyor in Carolina, who held other positions of importance there in Colonial times. Joseph, his brother, who, with his brother-in-law, Colonel Bull, came over and helped the infant Colony at a time it needed aid. The great Jonathan Bryan, another brother, mentioned in the Georgia Gazette as one of the principal founders and fathers of Georgia, a member of Royal Council, Speaker of Assembly and a sterling patriot, who helped the infant Colony to gain her independence. His sons, Hugh, member of Provincial Congress; William, member of Provincial Congress, and James Bryan, Lieutenant in Continental Regiment of Georgia. His grandson, Joseph Bryan, member of Congress from 1802-1806, and his grandson, Joseph Bryan, a purser in the U. S. Navy, and another grandson, an officer in Confederate States Army. Bryan street was named after a member of this most illustrious family.

Joseph Bryan, Sr., and Janet Cochran had the following children—

I. HUGH BRYAN, born 1699; died December 1, 1753; held numerous positions of honor and trust in South Carolina during Colonial times; married, first, January 2, 1734. *Catharine S. Barnwell, of that most eminent family of South Carolina, and had—

1. JOSEPH BRYAN, married Mrs. Murray.
2. MARY BRYAN, married Mr. Branford.

*Another account says these Bulls were sons of Hon. Stephen Bull, the first, and not grandsons. John Bull, Esq., brother of Gov. William Bull and Burnaby Bull, left two daughters—Mrs. Middleton and Mrs. Izard—whose children inherited his whole property on Coosaw Island.

*Catharine S. Barnwell died in 1740. Hugh Bryan died in 1753, surviving his first wife thirteen years. His second wife, Mrs. Mary Williamson, survived him seven years, married William Hutson and died in 1760. It is supposed that the Williamsons, possibly through the Postells, are related to the ancient family of Prioleau of South Carolina.

Demere, of one of the oldest families in Georgia, one of whom was an officer in Oglethorpe's Regiment, and had issue.

Ann Wilkins and *William P. Bowen had issue—

- I. JAMES BOWEN.
- II. GENERAL JOHN BOWEN, C. S. A.
- III. WILLIAM BOWEN.
- IV. MARTHA BOWEN.
- V. SAMUEL BOWEN.
- VI. HENRY BOWEN.

III. ELIZABETH BRYAN, married May 10, 1730, Colonel Stephen Bull (son of Burnaby Bull and Lucia Bellinger) and had issue—

1. JOHN BULL, married Eleanor Purry, daughter of Colonel Peter Purry.
2. STEPHEN BULL.
3. JOSIAH BULL.
4. BURNABY BULL.
5. ANN BRYAN BULL, married James Garvey.
6. MARY LUCIA BULL, married Jacob Guerard.

IV. JOSEPH BRYAN, married, January 9, 1741, Mary Stoney, and had issue. He died February 12, 1745; she died May 26, 1766. Joseph Bryan came over with Colonel Stephen Bull and others, and assisted in the settlement of Savannah. He married, second, either a Mrs. Williamson or else Mrs. Bower (born Martha Hext.)

V. *JONATHAN BRYAN, member of Royal Council and a very prominent citizen, and a patriot of the Revolution, was born September 12, 1708, in South Carolina. He married Oct. 13, 1737, Mary Williamson, daughter of William Bower and Martha Hext. Mrs. Williamson, mother of this Mary Williamson, married Hugh Bryan, and was a descendant, it was thought, through Williamson, of the ancient family of Prioleau, of South Carolina. They had issue—

- I. HUGH BRYAN, born September 7, 1738; member of Provincial Congress in Georgia of July 4, 1775; died 1776.
- II. JONATHAN BRYAN, born January 29, 1739.
- III. JOHN BRYAN, born August 2, 1741.
- IV. JOSEPH BRYAN, born August 2, 1743.
- V. MARY BRYAN, born February 16, 1745; married, first, John Morel, and had—

- *1. BRYAN MOREL, married Harriet McQueen, had Bryan McQueen Morel, married Louisa S. Turner and had Louis Bryan Morel, born October 12, 1842.

She married, second, Colonel Richard Wylly, of Continental Army, and had Helen Wylly, married William Woodbridge.

*Descended from Commodore Oliver Bowen, of the Revolutionary War.

**"Georgia Gazette styles him one of the principal founders and fathers of Georgia." He died March 9, 1788.

*There were other Morel issue. See Morel.

VI. JOSIAH BRYAN, born August 22, 1746; married Elizabeth Pendarvis, daughter of Josiah Pendarvis and granddaughter of Colonel Richard Bedon and sister of Josiah Pendarvis, who took the name of Bedon and who married Elizabeth Stobo.

Josiah Bryan and Elizabeth Pendarvis had issue, *Joseph Bryan, born May River, S. C., August 18, 1773, and died September 5, 1812. He married April 9, 1805, Delia Forman, daughter of General Thomas Marsh Forman, and had issue,

I. JOHN RANDOLPH BRYAN, born March 23, 1806; died September 13, 1887; married January 27, 1830, Elizabeth Tucker Coalter.

*II. GEORGIA HANNAH BRYAN, born August 31, 1807; married December 28, 1826, James P. Screven. She died March 18, 1887.

III. ¶THOMAS MARSH FORMAN BRYAN, born January 4, 1809; married, first, November 19, 1834, Florida, daughter of Governor George M. Troup, son of George Troup and McIntosh, niece of John More McIntosh, the Highland Chieftan who came to Georgia in 1733. He married, second, August 30, 1849, Helen Brook, of Virginia.

IV. SARAH VIRGINIA BRYAN, born September 22, 1810; married, 1835, William Mackay. Lost with her two children in the wreck of steamer Pulaski, June 14, 1838.

V. JOSEPH BRYAN, Purser in the U. S. Navy, born January 25, 1812; married December 10, 1834, Jane Bourke, daughter of Thomas Bourke and Ann Glen. He died December 5, 1863.

*Thomas Bryan and Florida Troup had issue—

I. GEORGE TROUP BRYAN, born November 26, 1835; died September 19, 1838.

II. LIEUTENANT JOHN SCREVEN BRYAN, C. S. A., born November 26, 1837.

III. HUGH BRYAN, born January 5, 1840.

IV. ANN CARTER BRYAN, born October 27, 1841; died August 14, 1862.

V. AUGUSTA FORMAN, born February 16, 1844; married February 7, 1867, Robert Wayne.

VI. GEORGIA FORMAN, born January 19, 1846; married January 2, 1868, Holmes Conrad, of Winchester, Va., Solicitor General of the United States.

VII. THOMAS MARSH FORMAN, born December 22, 1847.

Jonathan Bryan and Mary Williamson had also the following other children—

---

*Joseph Bryan was a member of Congress of the United States. He served three sessions—1802-1806.

¶Took name of Forman.

*Col. John Screven, a former Mayor of Savannah and Vice-President Georgia Historical Society, Dr. Thomas Screven, George Screven and others are children of Dr. James P. Screven and Georgia Hannah Bryan, of the old families of Screven and Cutt—families of importance.

*Thomas F. Bryan, by act of the Maryland Legislature of January 15, 1846, took the surname of Forman, hence the three younger children by first marriage had the surname of Forman.

7. WILLIAM BRYAN, born January 21, 1748; member of Provincial Congress July 4, 1775, from town and District of Savannah; also a member of Council of Safety in 1776.

8. JOHN BRYAN, born July 6, 1750; died January 16, 1767.

13. SARAH JANE COCHRANE BRYAN, born February 1, 1769.

HEXT.

This is an ancient family, one of whom was one of the Royal Council in Carolina, and one of them married Dr. Rutledge, the father of the noted family of Rutledge of Carolina. In 1685, Hugh and Edward Hext, from Wales, settled in South Carolina. Hugh Hext had one daughter and five sons. The daughter Martha met on shipboard William Bower and married him, and from this marriage the branches of the families of Bryan, Smith and Guerard descend.

Mary Bower, daughter of William and Martha (Hext) Bower, married John Williamson, and had four children—

I. MARY WILLIAMSON, married Jonathan Bryan.

II. ELIZABETH WILLIAMSON, married John Smith.

III. *JOHN WILLIAMSON, married Janie Parmenter.

IV. WILLIAM WILLIAMSON, married Mary Guerard.

Mrs. Williamson (born Mary Bower) married, second, Hugh Bryan, brother of Jonathan, and had one daughter, Nancy, married James Cuthbert.

John Smith (son of Rev. Archibald Smith, of Dalkeith, Scotland, and Jane Wallace) and Elizabeth Williamson had—

I. MARY SMITH, married Basil Cowper.

II. ELIZABETH SMITH, unmarried.

III. JOHN SMITH, unmarried.

IV. ANNE SMITH, married Captain John McQueen.

V. JANE SMITH, married Thomas Bourke.

VI. SARAH SMITH, married December 30, 1781, Sir James Wright, Bart., son of Sir James Wright, Governor of Georgia; no issue.

VII. ARCHIBALD SMITH, married, first, Miss Joyner;

*It is probably through the Williamsons that the family descend from the ancient family of Prioleau, the ancestor of whom was a French nobleman and descended from a Doge of Venice. Rev. Elie Prioleau came to South Carolina, and was a Huguenot minister.

second, Helen Zubly, daughter of David Zubly, son of Dr. John Joachim Zubly.

HEXT—McQUEEN.

John McQueen, Special Envoy from General Washington to LaFayette, married Anne Smith, fourth daughter of John Smith and Elizabeth, daughter of John Williamson and Mary Bower, daughter of William Bower and Martha, daughter of Hugh Hext. Captain John McQueen and Anne Smith had—

- I. JOHN McQUEEN, married Margaret Couper.
- II. ELIZABETH McQUEEN, married Robert Mackay.
- III. SARAH McQUEEN, married John Postell Williamson.
- IV. WILLIAM McQUEEN, married Ann Wright.

We see, then, through the Hext issue, that the families of Bryan, Screven, Bourke, McQueen, Couper, Cooper, Mackay, Williamson, Elliott, Smith, and others, are connected to each other and descended from the Hext family; also that the Bryans are connected to the Bull family, and the Bull to the Guerard, and branches of the two latter descend from that of Bellinger.

MOREL.

The ancient and honorable family of Morel, whose name is found in the annals of history, is one of great antiquity. In Georgia, the name first makes its appearance in the person of Pierre Morel, who, in the year 1732, came over from Switzerland, with his wife, children and servants. The Morels of Georgia are of French-Huguenot extraction and are connected with many of the best people of the State. Prominent among the members of this old family may be mentioned Peter Morel, who took part in the earlier affairs of the Province; John Morel, member of the Committee of Safety of 1775, and a patriot of his day; his son, John Morel, a Captain in the Revolutionary War and afterward President of the State. Others of the name have not been idle in assisting the onward progress of civilization.

Peter Morel (1) was born in Zurich, Switzerland, about the year 1700. He removed to this country and settled in South Carolina. He brought with him his family and two white servants. He came to Savannah soon after it was settled by General Oglethorpe. His children were—

- I. JOHN MOREL. (1.)
- II. MARY ANN MOREL.

He and his brother served under the Duke of Marlborough as cadets in the reign of Queen Anne. Isaac died in St. Domingo in 1772, worth a large estate. Peter Morel died in Georgia, October 5, 1754, aged 54 years.

In Baird's History of the Huguenot emigration to America the following is found: The Valleaus came to New York September 26, 1687, from the Island of Re. Peter Fauconnier and Magdalene Pasquereau were naturalized in England April 14, 1685. Madeline, their daughter, was baptized at the French Church, Threadneedle street, May 13, 1685. They were in New York as early as December, 1702. "Fauconnier stood high with Governors Bellomont and Cornbury and was advanced to important offices under the Colonial Government and obtained large grants of land. He was Collector of Port and Receiver General of Taxes." We also find Pierre Chardon, a banker of Tours, and that Louis Pasquereau married Madeline Chardon. So it would appear from these records that Madeline Pasquereau, wife of Peter Fauconnier, was the daughter of Louis Pasquereau and Madeline Chardon, probably daughter of Pierre Chardon, banker. Madeline Chardon married, secondly, Louis Gendron and removed with her children by first husband to South Carolina. Thus we see that the Morel family is descended from the families of Vallean, Fauconnier, Pasquereau and Chardon, who came to New York State at a very early day and were people of importance

BOURQUIN.

The *Bourquin family that came to Georgia and Carolina about the year 1740 were of Huguenot origin, and settled in London when driven from France. At the first settlement of Georgia, the three brothers, William, Benedict and Henry, obtained immense grants of land from the Crown in Georgia and Carolina. William located in Carolina, while Benedict and Henry came to Georgia. William was twice married, his children all daughters, and from whom came some of the most prominent families in Carolina. Among the descendants now living are General Lafayette McLaws, General Huguenin, of Fort Sumter fame, and others.

Benedict Bourquin and wife, Jane Judith Bourquin, had the following children—

- I. *BENEDICT BOURQUIN, married.
- II. MARY ANN BOURQUIN, married.
- III. HENRY BOURQUIN.
- IV. DAVID FRANCIS BOURQUIN.
- V. SUSANNAH BOURQUIN, married.

Dr. Henry Bourquin, a rice and cotton planter, was one of the Founders of the Georgia Medical Society in 1804, and one of the leaders in Savannah of the Revolution.

David Francis Bourquin, a rice planter, was a Major in Pulaski's Legion, was near Pulaski when he fell; succeeded in the charge on the British works at Spring Hill in penetrating the opening left by the British, but being unhorsed, was, with Sheftall Sheftall and Peter Tondee, captured and carried aboard a man-of-war, where, being insulted by a British officer, he seized a chair and knocked him down, when he was immediately cut down by those standing around and severely wounded, his cheek bone being cut in two. He married Margaret Thornton, of St. Domingo, whose father was a member of the celebrated Thornton family of England. David Francis Bourquin left three sons, Edward, Benedict and Robert. Edward left one son, Dr. Stephen Bourquin, now living in Brooks County. Edward served in the War of 1812. He married Miss Clanci, of French origin.

Benedict Bourquin left one son and three daughters—

- I. MARY L. BOURQUIN.
- II. GUGIE BOURQUIN.
- III. FLORENCE BOURQUIN.
- VI. ALICE BOURQUIN.

Mary L. Bourquin married Luke Canon, of Florida, and had, besides others—

- I. JAMES S. CANON.
- II. ROBERT P. CANON.

James S. Canon married Eva O. Wallace, daughter of

Benedict Bourquin served in the War of 1812 and the Florida War. He married Martha S. Lavinder, and was a rice planter. Robert, Francis and Thomas all being officers in the Confederate Army. The two former were killed during the War.

BARNWELL.

This very ancient and most illustrious family of South Carolina, which has contributed so many honored names to the service of the country in war and peace, descends from a long line of noble ancestors, and is allied to many of Carolina's best people. The descent of this family would appear, without doubt, to be the following: "The family of Barnwell deduces its descent from remote antiquity, and claims, among the earliest progenitors, personages of the most eminent renown. It is the parent stock from which the noble houses of Kingsland and Trimlestown branched, and the name of its patriarch is to be found, with other companions of the Conqueror, in the Roll of Battle Abbey. In Ireland the Barnwells came under the denomination of "Strongbowians," having established themselves there in 1172, under the banner of Strongbow, Earl of Pembroke.

Sir Michael de Barneval, Knt, a gallant soldier, was succeeded by Sir Ulphram de Bernevale, Knt, of Crickstown Castle; had a grandson, Ulphram de Barneval, married a daughter of Lord Furnival, and had Sir Christopher Barnwall, first Lord of Trimlestown, and was succeeded by Sir Christopher Barnwell, who married a daughter of Drake, Chief Justice and Lord High Treasurer, and had Sir Nicholas Barnwell, of Crickstown, Baron of Trimlestown. From this line descended Christopher Barnwell, of Crickston, who married a daughter of Lord Dunboyne, and had Sir Patrick Barnwell, Knt, 12th of Crickston and 21 Anglo-Norman descent, time of Henry II. He married Cicilia le Fleming, daughter of Lord Slane, and was created Baronet in 1622. Sir Patrick had, as sons I. Sir Richard Barnwell, married Annie Powdall; II. Sir John Barnwell, born December 21, 1602, a distinguished lawyer, who married Thomazine, daughter of Anthony, Viscount Tarah, and had a daughter, Mary, who married Lord Trimlestown. Sir Patrick Barnwell and Anne Powdall had Sir Patrick Barnwall, M. P. 1689-1690, who married Frances, daughter of Honorable Richard Butler and granddaughter of Walter 11th Earl of Ormond, and had an only son, Sir George Barnwell II. Sir John Barnwell, brother of Sir Patrick Barnwell (sons of Sir Richard Barnwell and Anne Powdall), had a grandson, Sir George Barnwell, who inherited the property, but Sir John Barnwell's younger son went to Carolina, and is known in history as Colonel John Barnwell, or "Tuscarora John," from having defeated the tribe of Indians known as the Tuscaroras, to which the State was under lasting obligations to him for his services. He married Ann Berners, and had issue, and from Colonel John Barnwell and Ann Berners all of this name descend in Carolina, among whom may be mentioned his son, General Nathaniel Barnwell, the Patriot Robert Barnwell, and many others. To this family is allied the families of De Veaux, Guerard and many of the families in Carolina and Georgia, as may be seen by reference to these pages. We find that there were several marriages of the Barnwells to Guerards, and no less than three of this ancient line to the De Veauxs. John Barnwell, a younger son of Colonel John Barnwell, had, among others, Catharine Barnwell, who married Andrew De Veaux, the third, and Ann, or Nancy, Barnwell, who married William De Veaux, a first cousin of Andrew, the third, and son of James De Veaux and Ann, daughter of Richard Fairchild and Ann Bellinger, daughter of First Landgrave of the name. William De Veaux and Nancy Barnwell had, among others, Sarah Martha De Veaux, who married, second, John H. Morel, and had Emily Barnwell Morel, married Godin Guerard, and had issue.

Eliza Barnwell married Jacob, son of Israel, brother of James, Andrew and John De Veaux, sons of Andre, the Huguenot, and from this marriage a branch of Heyward and Guerard springs.

Colonel John Barnwell, born County Meath, Ireland, 1671, a cadet of the noble family of that name, was Secretary of Province of Carolina, 1702, member of the Council 17—, Commander of Expedition against the Tuscaroras 1712, Agent for South Carolina in England 1722, and married 1704, Anne Berners, and had issue. They had, besides others, a younger son—

*I. JOHN BARNWELL, of Port Royal, who married Martha, daughter of John and Phœbe Chaplin, and had—

I. JOHN BERNERS BARNWELL.

II. CATHARINE BARNWELL, born July 3, 1740; baptized August 17, 1740, by Rev. Jones; married March 24, 1757, Andrew De Veaux, Jr.

III. ANN BARNWELL, married William De Veaux, son of James and Ann (Fairchild) De Veaux, daughter of Richard Fairchild and Anne Bellinger.

IV. ELIZABETH BARNWELL, born January 18, 1749; baptized April 22, 1750; married Jacob De Veaux, son of Israel De Veaux and Hanna Martin, son of Andre De Veaux, the Huguenot.

*V. PHŒBE BARNWELL, married Archibald Campbell.

---

*There were other daughters.

Col. Andrew De Veaux, the son of Andrew and Catharine Barnwell, was born April 30, 1758.

John Berners Barnwell married and had a son, John Berners (2) Barnwell, born 1779, married Eliza Christiana Stoll September 22, 1804, and left issue, among whom was John Berners (3) Barnwell, married Eliza Zittrouer and had, among others, *Cuthbert Barnwell, who married Tolula C. Greene, and had—

I. JOHN BERNERS (4) BARNWELL.

ALLEN.

George Allen, of Orange County, North Carolina, son of Samuel Allen and Sarah Armstrong, practiced law in Augusta, Ga.; married, in 1802, Mary Lucia Garvey, at the Point; lived there several years, with her mother, Mrs. Bourquin.

George Allen and Mary Lucia Garvey left four living children—

I. SUSAN GARVEY ALLEN.

II. SARAH ROSALIE ALLEN, married D. L. Wardlaw, of an old and highly respectable family in Carolina.

III. GEORGE ALLEN, born Hillsboro, N. C., September 22, 1818; married Alice Guerard.

IV. WILLIAM GASTON ALLEN.

Alice Guerard, daughter of Dr. J. De Veaux Guerard and Alice Screven, daughter of Dr. Richard B. Screven and Alice Pendarvis (changed name to Bedon), daughter of Elizabeth Stobo and Josiah Bedon, son of Josiah Pendarvis and Elizabeth Bedon, daughter of Colonel Richard Bedon. Elizabeth Stobo was daughter of Richard Park Stobo and Mary Harvey, son of James Stobo, planter, son of Rev. Archibald Stobo.

Mary Lucia Garvey was daughter of Michael Garvey and Susannah Stoll, married, 1780, daughter of David Stoll, son of Justinus Stoll. Michael Garvey was son of John Garvey and Miss Griffin. He came from Island of Antigua with John Peter Purry, founder of Purrisburgh, who had married a sister of John Garvey. John had two sons—

I. JAMES GARVEY, married Ann Bull (issue all died), sister of John Bull and of Mary Lucia Bull, who married Jacob Guerard, father of John Guerard, of the Hill.

II. MICHAEL GARVEY, married Susannah Stoll Garvey Bourquin.

George Allen and Alice Guerard, born July 26, 1826, married May 11, 1843, and had issue—

IX. WILLIAM GASTON ALLEN, married and has children.

X. ANNA BELLE CROWELL ALLEN, married her cousin, Maxwell Chisolm, and had issue.

XI. SARAH MARGARET SMITH ALLEN, married Tracy Hunter, and has issue.

The Allens are connected with the family of Wardlaw by a sister of George Allen having married a Wardlaw. This family is connected to branches of the families of Cheves, Haskell, Calhouns, Simkins, Parker, Miles, and many others, by marriage or blood. (See Wardlaw book.)

HAMILTON.

Arms:

Tree pierced by a saw.

Motto:

Through.

From a generic standpoint, a family consists of a collection of individuals of one genera or species having a common ancestor; but historically speaking, a family is one whose rise began in an ancestor who, in some profession, business or occupation, made a name for himself, and whose descendants have kept this name in honor and integrity and have shed additional lustre upon it by occupying positions as representative men in the service of the country, or as men of ability in all professions and business occupations. Such a one, then, is the ancient, honorable and illustrious family of Hamilton, of South Carolina, whose alliances to other families, and services performed for their country, were great. Paul Hamilton, the first of the name, came to South Carolina in — from Scotland. His son, Paul Hamilton, married Miss Martha Bower, and had Archibald Hamilton, who married Rebecca Branford, and had Paul Hamilton, a Revolutionary officer, one of Marion's men, Governor of South Carolina in 1802-1804, Secretary under President Madison. #### GADSDEN.

The family of Gadsden appears to have originated in Normandy, from whence they removed to England, for in the train of William the Conqueror we find one of them, a noble, bearing the name of Gatesden, and in the Southern parts of Great Britain in Herefordshire, we find the name of Gadesden borne by several of the gentry, and two villages of the name we find in Hertfordshire, and in the same County the eminent John De Gatesden was undoubtedly born. In reign of Henry III is found Johannes De Gatesden as Sheriff of Counties of Surrey and Sussex, and the name of Gadsden was found at a very recent date in 1858 in Hertfordshire. Thomas Gadsden, a Lieutenant in Royal Navy, came with his wife, Elizabeth, to Carolina at an early day. He was Collector for the King at the Port of Charleston, and the ancestor of this illustrious and honorable family, whose members have assisted the country in war and peace and in various walks of life. Thomas Gadsden and Elizabeth, his wife, had issue—

I. GENERAL CHRISTOPHER GADSDEN, the eminent patriot, afterward Governor of South Carolina, who married, secondly, Miss Hasell, and had—

SKOTTOWE.

The Skottowe family represents in the male line the younger branch of the Corbetts, Baronets of Sprowston, Norfolk, who are first heard of in the reign of Henry VII. In the female line it represents the Skottowes, who, under the name of de Skottow, are heard of shortly after the Conquest, as Lords of the Manor of Scothow or Skothow (now spelt Scottowe), near Norwich, in Norfolk. Later as Scottowes or Skottowes they were connected for a century and a half (1600-1758) with the Manor of Little Melton and also with the town of Norwich, where they filled important municipal offices. One of the family, Thomasina, emigrated to America early in the 17th Century, and her son, Joshua, was one of the early fathers of Boston, U. S. A. The feeling of the family was, however, distinctly Cavalier, not Puritan. The Corbetts were divided, Sir Thomas, the third Baronet, was a strict Cavalier and suffered much for it. His uncle, Miles, was the Regicide. His younger brother, Arthur, got into difficulties, fled from home, 1641; entered the Cromwellian Army and was at the battle of Worcester. Sir Thomas died without issue in 1661. Arthur married Elizabeth, sister of Augustine Skottowe, of Little Melton. Their son inherited Little Melton at the death of Augustine, who died without issue. Neither Arthur nor his son claimed the Baronetcy to which they were lawful heirs on the death of Sir Thomas Corbett. In the next century the descendants of Arthur obtained large estates in Durham, Yorkshire, Bucks. Their two principal seats were Great Ayton, in Yorkshire, and Bury Hill, Chesham, Bucks. The fourth son of Thomas Skottowe of Great Ayton, whose name was also Thomas, obtained the post of Secretary to the Council of

DUNWODY.

This ancient name is found in Scotland at an early day, among the feudal Barons or Lairds, though the name is there spelled Dunwiddie in the acts of Scotch Parliament. The first of the Georgia branch was John Dunwody, of Londonderry, Ireland, whose descendant, Dr. James Dinwiddie, or Dunwody, came from Pennsylvania to Liberty county about 1770 and was one of the first physicians to practice in Liberty county, Georgia, and was member of the first Executive Council of Georgia as a free State. He married Esther (daughter of Mr. Dean and Miss Marion of the Marion family of South Carolina and widow of Edward Splatt), and had—

I. ESTHER DUNWODY, married to U. S. Senator John Elliott, whose daughter, Hester, married Maj. James S. Bulloch and had—

1. CAPT. JAMES DUNWODY BULLOCH.

II. COL. JAMES DUNWODY, a State Senator, who married Miss Smith (daughter of James Smith of Darien, Ga.), and had, beside others—

BLAKE.

From recent information it appears that this family of Blake descends from a younger brother, John Blake, of the great Admiral Humphrey Blake, and that a branch of this line went to Ireland and one of them was knighted and settled in Galway, Fenbrough County, Ireland. The founder of this line was Richard Blake, who accompanied Prince John in 1185 and obtained grants of land for his services. From this line it would seem that Edward Blake and his brother John Blake of Carolina descend. Edward Blake is found in Carolina as early as 1685, and there seems no doubt that from him descends Captain Edward Blake, one of the most prominent patriots of the Revolution. He was First Commissioner of the Navy; right hand man of Council of Safety, and intrusted with many important commissions. His name is frequently mentioned in Drayton's Memoirs, Moultrie's History of the Revolution, and in the third volume of South Carolina Historical Papers, copied from Archives in Tower of London, his name is mentioned about thirty times. This gallant man was imprisoned and sent to St. Augustine with other citizens. He married Jane Savage and had, as has been stated, John Blake, also a captain in the Revolutionary War, who married Margaret Mercier and had issue.

*Charles Dunwody was an officer and at first battle of Manassas.

*Thomas Broughton, Lieutenant Governor of South Carolina, married a daughter of Sir Nathaniel Johnson.
