GASPARD D'ANDELOT

Signed his name Dandelot, following the custom of François Coligny, the celebrated brother of Admiral Coligny.

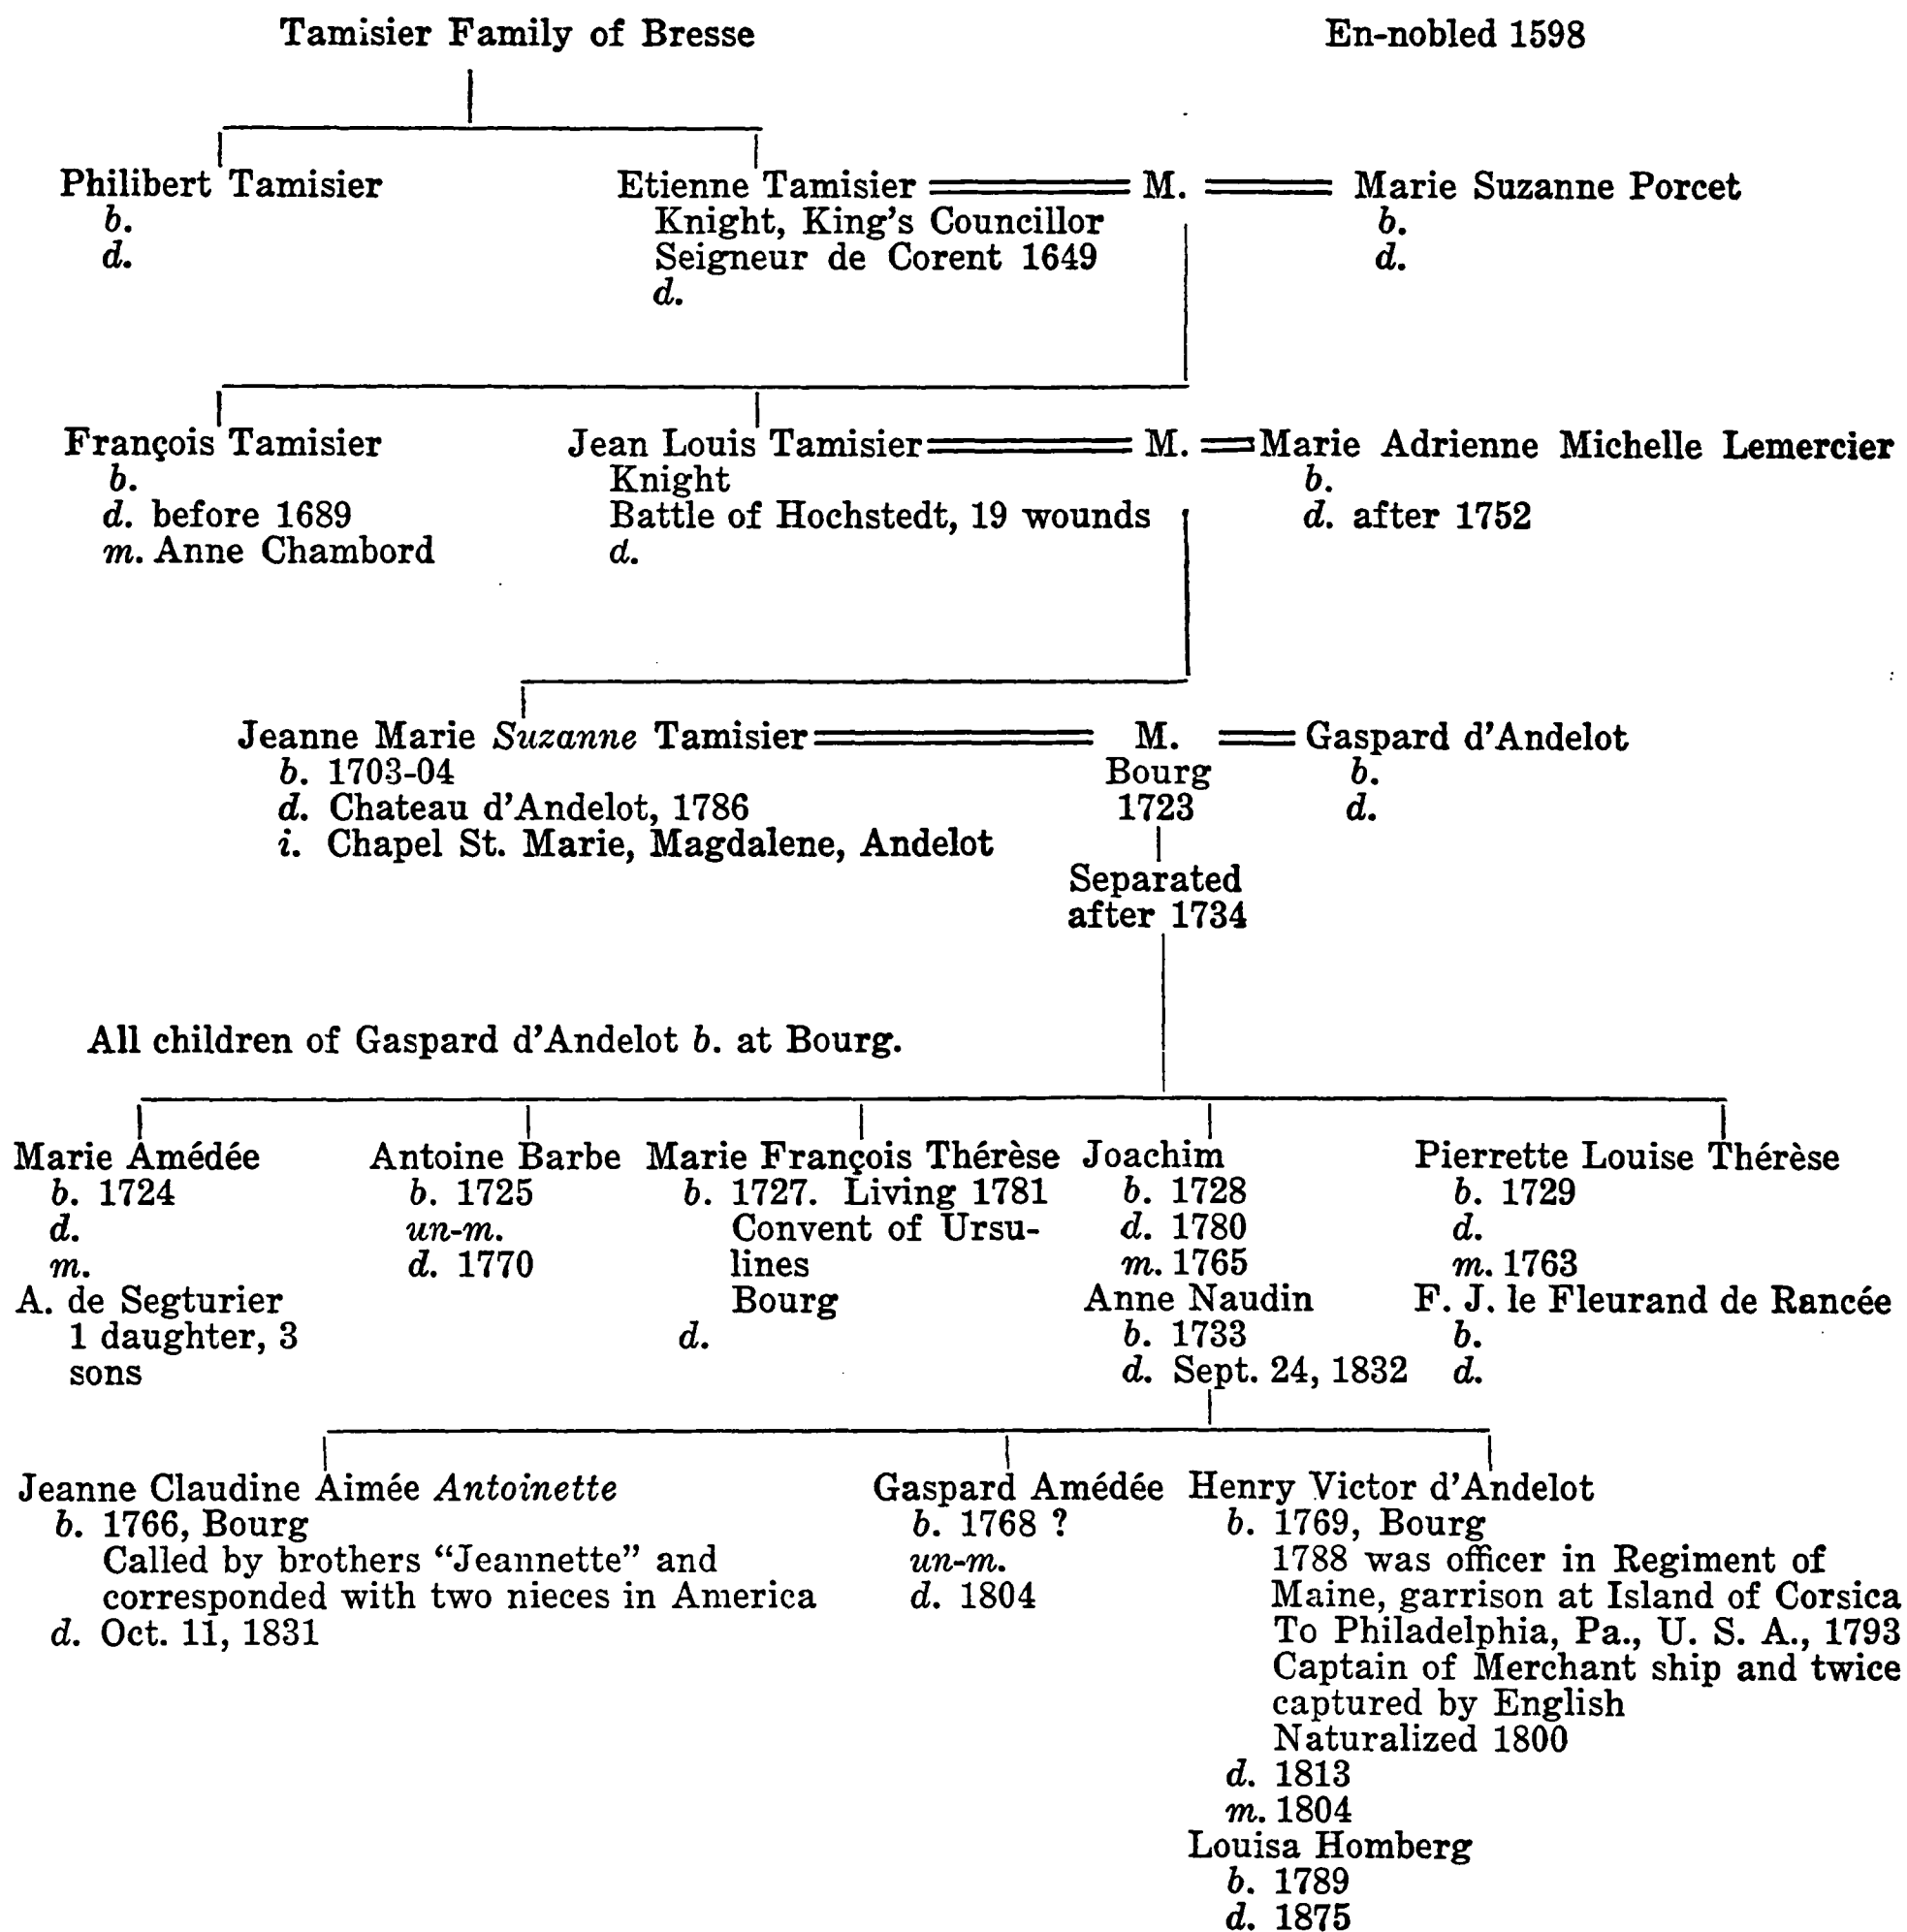

He undertook to restore the Chateau d'Andelot, which had not been in use for nearly two centuries, and had but two Towers and Donjon left. Finished it 1721—date over vestibule.

Gifted with rare activity, energy and tenacity. In touch with all communities in his Marquisat and with neighboring Seigneurs. Generous and successful—excepting in his family life—was separated from his wife, and only son made a misalliance.
