INTRODUCTION

Since this family history and genealogy is compiled primarily for my nieces and nephews, I am anxious to include enough narrative material to awaken and hold their interest in their forebears, most of whom came to America before 1640. The foreword then, will consist of gleanings from many sources, when not actually gleaned from our family, at least material so similar that it will illustrate the way people lived and the customs of the region at the time. When family source material is used it will not be edited.

Our maternal line came direct from England to Wisconsin about 1849 or 1850 so will not be covered in this book.

Our paternal line embraces (Devol)-Duel; Whitney; Lamb; Garfield; Stark; Sweet and many others through intermarriage. The above main genealogical branches resided in Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut, Vermont and New York states and converged after the Revolutionary War in the area of Wells, Vermont and Granville, New York and intermarried for a generation or more within a radius of about 40 miles of these two adjacent towns. It was from Granville, New York that the Duels migrated to Fond du Lac County, Wisconsin, where our paternal and maternal lines merged.

To return to the 1635-1640 era it is interesting to note that each new settlement or plantation, as it was often called, followed an almost identical pattern. A village green was marked out around which was built the meeting-house and the homes of the proprietors (those to whom the land was granted or sold). To each inhabitant, other than the proprietors, homestalls also were assigned. The acreage of the homestall (about 16 or 20 acres) set the size of the apportioned outlying lands for farming and grazing purposes. This placing of the dwellings together was for protection against Indians and wild animals. All business was conducted in town meetings and concerned church, schools, roads, fences, bounties, in fact every facet of life. People with special skills were enticed to settle in a town by a gift of land.

The first homes, like those built later in the Western "trek" to Wisconsin and farther West in the 1800's, were primitive. They were often made of hand-hewn boards fixed vertically in the ground like a fence. These boards formed three walls. The roof sloped front and back and was thatched. Thru the peak came the chimney, which was made of tightly interlaced branches daubed with clay. Fire was the major hazard. Regulations were passed early to eliminate wattle and daub chimneys and these primitive shelters soon gave way to more durable homes. Extra rooms were added, even a second story, and with larger families a "leanter" (or lean-to) as it was called, was added in the rear. The structure so extended had the appearance of a salt-box. Salt-box houses are extant today and are prized Americana.

Extremes of wealth and poverty were not so great in the New World. The distinctions that did exist were well defined though blurred at the edges. The clerical families intermarried among themselves, as did the wealthy mercantile families. A "gentleman" brought his status with him from the Old World. The poorer people were discouraged from dressing above their station, wearing silk or growing long hair or "aping their betters", as it was called. The Pilgrims were especially strict in this regard.

Like homestalls (lots), church pews were assigned in accordance with social (or proprietary) rank. Punishment too, was scaled to a person's class. The wealthy might pay more in fines but would be exempted from more degrading punishment such as the stocks or flogging. Actually, class distinction faded faster in the North than it did in the South.

In New England it was commanded that every township which had increased to 50 householders "shall appoint one to teach all the children to write and read". When a town increased to 100 families, "they shall set up a grammar school, the master to instruct those capable of so learning for the University".

In order to hold office or have a place, even in local government, one had to become a "freeman". The requirements for application were: to be of good repute and a member of a religious body or church. Often the date for application as "freeman" is the first mentioned about an immigrant in genealogical records.

The opportunity of owning land outright was most attractive. In America immigrants were enabled to purchase a free-hold estate for themselves and their families. The parents bought land so that all their children might share equally, instead of as was done in the Old World, where only the first born son inherited. Thus in a family of six sons all could inherit, instead of the 5 younger sons automatically being disinherited to make a "gentleman" of the firstborn son. The daughters still were given money upon marriage. A small sum, £5, seemed usual. In some cases, sons' names were not in wills, and upon further research, one finds the father had given him his portion when he married. Often times the eldest son was given charge of the estate for the widow and minor children. In fact, many wills are of interest as regards the detailed instructions, even to firewood, milch cows, etc., "as long as ye widow does not remarry".

I will start the family Genealogies with Duel since that was my sur-name and presumably yours. My D.A.R. membership was through Phinehas (5) Lamb, grandfather of my grandmother Duel, Lucy A. (7) (Lamb) Duel, wife of Hiram (8) Duel (son of Hiram (7) Duel and wife, Alice (6) (Whitney) Duel.)

The above illustrates how quickly, thru marriages, three of the direct lines merged. One becomes accustomed to generation numbers since all brothers and sisters in a family are of the same generation. The generation number does not denote the age of the individual as is illustrated by Lucy A. (7) (Lamb) m. to Hiram (8) Duel. There was only two years difference in their ages but the number of generations is counted from the first of each family in America.

The main branches of our family migrated from England about 1630 or 1635. The Duel and Whitney families were originally of French origin from the early spelling of the names De Ville and De Whitney. The Duel name retained the French spelling in America going through several variations: Devol, Du Voll, Devel, Deuel, Davol. One town officer spelled it phonetically, Divil. This must have been unappreciated since after the next census, he or his successor spelled it Devol and still later Duel. In order to trace early ancestors many towns now have vital records of births, marriages, and deaths. The still older records are church records, kept by the pastor. Some of these ministers travelled about the country, and in order to serve the members they crossed several borders in the performance of their duties. Hence, the church marriage record is not always in the place where the family resided. This is especially true of Quakers who travelled miles to their monthly meeting place but the monthly meeting records were kept under the name of the place where the monthly meeting was held.

The vital records often include intention (int.) of marriage date, followed by the actual date of marriage. It was then one could signify an intention of changing one's name, or of its spelling. Some customs in these older records appear unusual, to say the least. For instance, one marriage record stated the widow (name given, as well as those of the witnesses) was married in her shift. This custom indicated to all concerned that she came to her new husband free of the former husband's worldly goods, and more important still, free of all debts incurred by the previous spouse (N.E. Reg. Vol. 37, 1883 under Notes and Queries pages 202, 203 & 407). Many times one reads that church membership was withheld on account of fornication. To be reinstated or accepted in full communion the culprits made public supplication for forgiveness and subscribed to the rules of the religion. Cause of death was often given in detail, murder, accident, insanity, suicide, cancer, consumption, to name a few.

Migrations from one colony or state to another were not always because the pioneers were seeking better soil. In 1788 there was much sickness, epidemics of dysentery, typhus, smallpox and influenza and more healthful climate or higher ground was sought. The only cures used were bleeding and poultices. The use of smallpox vaccine was not common until years later.

Of course, better land did play an important part in migrations and during the Revolution many young men had seen places which they thought would be better and in 1795 migrations from New Hampshire to Vermont took place in great numbers. To quote an Albany, New York, observer, "I counted 500 sleighs pass from sunrise to sunset."

Fifty years later the migration was west from Vermont and New York. Vermont farmers for the most part, had cleared their own land and were not classed as secondary farmers. They did not so easily leave land they had laborously cleared or their well-built homes. But the search for better land was universal. The height of migration was reached about 1830. Our ancestors migrated from Granville, New York, and nearby Wells, Vermont, about 1850. They were preceded, no doubt, by relatives who returned with glowing accounts of the rich and rolling Wisconsin prairie, and what growth and opportunity awaited them. Wheat was the crop in Vermont but the soil was poor and everyone was in debt. I do know the first bumper crops in Wisconsin were also of wheat. Later, tilling and dairy crops, as we know them today, with crop rotation and fertilizer necessary to retain a productive yield were employed. Our ancestors adapted and settled down, replaced log houses with frame homes and stayed on the land for at least three generations. They buried their dead in the North El-dorado, Wisconsin, cemetery where their headstones stand today.

Present generations see these graves without knowing, for instance, that the Hiram Duel and wife Alice, or Hiram Duel and Lucy A. came to that vicinity and bought land patents signed by President Zachary Taylor or that Melvin Duel, who fought in the Civil War was a son of Hiram and Alice and a brother of Hiram m. to Lucy A. (Lamb). Some of the 10th generation Duels are buried in Rosendale, Wisconsin, and Hiram and Alice are their great grandparents also.

Instead of writing a general and all-inclusive background for this introduction, I feel it will be more interesting if material is placed with a particular person or particular generation chronologically. In this way, each family line will emerge with its own personality, until it merges thru marriage into the main line. Most detail will be given on the Duel line but later Duel generations may identify as individuals with the Whitney, Lamb, Stark or some other allied line. Certainly a special characteristic or ability may spark intensive genealogical research by someone in future generations.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

To those in the following list of names my sincere thanks for each ones' contribution. As I went through my file of correspondence it came to me how inadequate such a listing really can be. I feel hampered also by an alphabetical list, since it in no way shows the degree of help from each one. Even those genealogists who did research for a fee gave way beyond the usual in their effort to help me, I am sure. So I count all of you my genealogical friends.

OLD STYLE AND NEW STYLE CALENDARS

THE CALENDAR

The Julian calendar was used throughout the Middle Ages in Europe. Its inaccuracy amounted to about three days in every four centuries. By the time the Gregorian Calendar (named after Pope Gregory XIII) was adopted in 1582, calendar dates were ahead of actual time by ten days. Since actual time is the time it takes the earth for one complete revolution about the sun (a year), if the calendar had been left uncorrected, in course of centuries the present summer months would have come in the winter, and vice versa.

Although the Roman Catholic countries adopted the Gregorian calendar in 1582, the conservatism of the English, and the fact that the new calendar was sponsored by a Pope, delayed the acceptance of it in Great Britain and her colonies until after the passage of an Act of Parliament in 1751.^a By this time, the old calendar was eleven days ahead of sun time, so the Act provided that in 1752, the second day of September should be followed by the fourteenth day of September. In other words, what would have been September 3rd was called the 14th, exactly eleven days being thus dropped out of the year.

The cause of the error was the addition of a day to the calendar each fourth year (Leap Year). This very nearly made the average year correspond with sun time, but not quite. In every 400 years, as above stated, the calendar went three days ahead of sun time. The dropping of the eleven days in 1752 brought the calendar back into harmony with sun time; and to provide against a recurrence of the trouble, it was also provided that on the even centuries, no Leap Year day should be added except in a century divisible by 400. Thus 1800 and 1900 were not Leap Years, but the year 2000 will be. In this way, in the 400 years beginning with 1752, there will be three days less than there were in each 400 years preceding 1752, hence the old error will not be repeated.

So little did the people understand the need for the calendar revision, that an angry mob gathered outside the Houses of Parliament, demanding that the eleven days filched out of their lives be restored to them. Actually, calling the third day of September the fourteenth day did not deprive any person of eleven days of his life, any more than changing a man's name from Bill to Tom would make him a different person. The real effect was to make every person born on or before 2 Sept. 1752 eleven days older (by the new calendar) than the record of his birth (in Old Style) would indicate. A child born on 2 Sept. 1752 (the last day of the Old Style) would be, by the calendar, twelve days old on the following day, 14 Sept. 1752 (the first day of the New Style).

GENEALOGY – Devol – Duel Family

Origin and derivation of various ways the name is spelled will be helpful at the outset, to name a few – De Ville, Davol, Devel, Devol, Duell, Duel, Deuel. Holmes' "Directory of Ancestral heads of New England Families" states that Davol-Duval, etc., is of French origin. The earliest records available are found in England, where it is supposed they fled to escape religious persecution. Another source (see footnotes) places them as from Dayville, France – Dayville's original house or home in Alencon (Alaunson), Normandy. In any case, their stay in England must have been long since French given names disappeared and were replaced by English ones. Detroit Magazine of Genealogical Research, March 10, 1940, pages 115-116 suggests Wm. (1) Devel m. in Spalding, Lincolnshire, England, 1639; also given in Lincoln Parish Register, Vol. 1, p. 43, edited by Phillimore and Mapes.

In Fall River District for some 275 years this family has resided and entered the industrial and manufacturing development and has been prominent in useful citizenship."

MODERN HERALDIC USAGE IN AMERICA

One assumes an obligation if he displays any or all Coats of Arms of his family lines:

To put it most succinctly, these bearings are an avowal that you strive within your physical resources and your spiritual capacity to "live like a gentleman" and that you expect to be considered one.

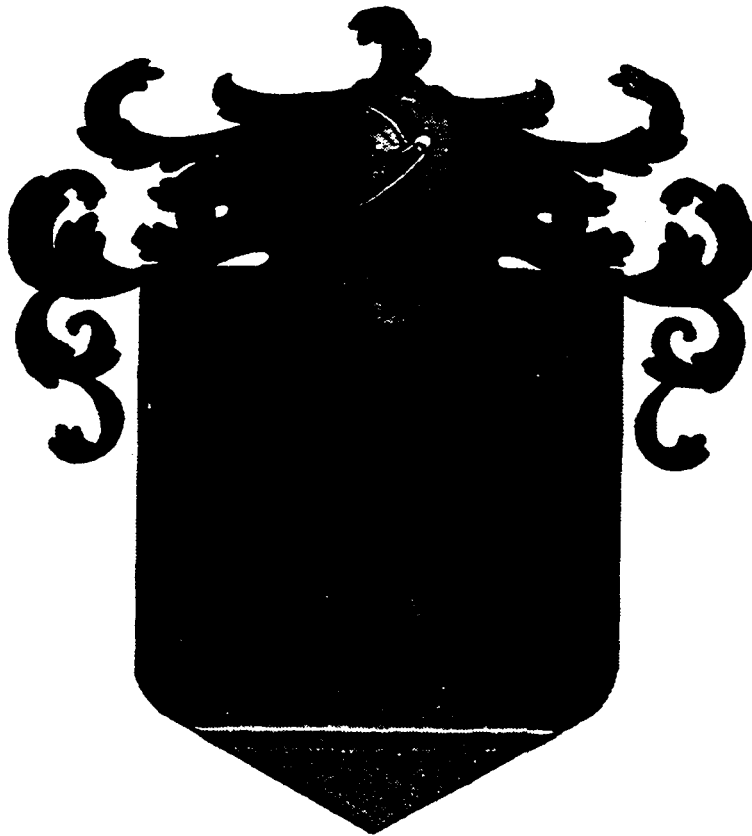

They are not an indication of great wealth, nor in all cases, "old family" nor of a high level of educational or cultural attainment, but as a sign of gentility.

Those given in this volume indicate that a member or members of the Davol, Whitney, Stark, and Lamb family met the qualifications and Arms were granted to them.

The basis for "granting" of Arms in every country, where Arms are regulated by law, is still an open recognition of your status as a lady or gentleman. (Ref.: J. A. Reynolds)

A manual of Heraldry (by Sir Francis J. Grant) gives a Dictionary of Heraldic Terms. It enables one to reproduce any Arms from the black and white into color. Viz.: or – gold; gules – red; and argent – silver, etc. He defines Coat Armour (or Surcoat) – a loose garment worn over the armour of a knight; hence the term coat of arms. On this garment were emblazoned the armorial bearings of the wearer.

With these notes I leave it to your discretion as to the use you make of the arms illustrated as those of our several families.

GENERATION I IN AMERICA

Devol – Duell

I WILLIAM (1) DEVOL was the first on record in New England (probably the first in America), in Duxbury, Mass. He mar. Aug. 3, 1639-40; wife's name not known. He may have been the Wm. On Dec. 26, 1645, Wm. (1) Devol was granted a lot in Rehoboth, Mass. He bought a house on Jan. 7, from John Hazell, secured a meadow Feb. 9, 1646. Certain persons were granted permission to set up a weir upon the cove in front of Wm. Duvo's house and also one on Pawtucket River, "Provided they hinder not either English nor Indians from fishing at the Falls in either place and they shall sell alewives at 2 s. a thousand and other fish at reasonable rates."

In 1649 he was chosen constable. (Ref. Austin) "On Oct. 2, 1650, he and his wife were presented, by the Grand Jury, along with others, for continuing meeting, upon the Lord's Day, from house to house contrary to order of this Court enacted June 12, 1650." (Their Sabbath was Saturday.) He joined the religious revolt led by Obadiah Holmes and moved to Newport, R.I., about May 17, 1653, when he was made freeman.

In 1672 he deeded to son Benjamin certain land at Monmouth, N.J., previously purchased from Mark Lucas of Newport, R.I. (see footnote). He served on the jury 1672. He then spelled his

GENERATION II

Devol-Duel (Wm. I)

John (2) b. June 24, 1643, died July 15, 1643, Braintree, Mass.

Joseph (2) b. ca. 1645 Rehoboth, Mass., d. Feb. 24, 1716. He resided in Newport, then Westerly, R.I. He is the ancestor of the Conn. and N.J. branches who spell their names Deville, Duvol and Du Ville. He mar. 1st. Mary (Brayton) d. before 1671 (dau. of Francis & Mary Brayton); he mar. 2nd. June 29, 1705, wid. Elizabeth (Peabody) (dau. of John Peabody). Joseph (2) Duvol was a surveyor in western R.I. in 1692 to 1695. He had the title of Capt. for some years. In 1702 he and his 2nd wife Elizabeth Devol deeded land in Narraganset to son William (3). Inventory on death in 1716 was £28.14s. and among other items included 12 silver spoons, silver cup and a Bible. His descendants later spelled their name De Vol and resided on Shelter Island and Shag Harbor, N.Y.

Benjamin (2), spelled his name Duvol and Duvil, b. ca. 1650 in Rehoboth, Mass. He resided in Monmouth Co., N.J. from 1667 to 1689 and possibly as late as 1708. He mar. 1st Phebe (Smith) of Newport, R.I.; she d. April 12, 1689; he mar. 2nd Judith (Compton) of Middleton, N.J. on June 11, 1689.

Refs.: (Austin) (Rochester Vit. Rec.) (Stillwell) (Am. Ancestry).

II JONATHAN (2) DEVOL spelled his name Devol, Davel, b. 1653-6 (Utah Lat. Day Sts. Chh. Rec. give 1647) in Newport, R.I. and d. between 1737-42 in Dartmouth, Mass., where he resided most of his life. He mar. 1st Hannah (Audley). (It is definitely estab. he mar. Hannah (Audley). Records differ only concerning whether she was dau. of John (1) and wife Margaret of Boston, b. 1643, or dau. of John (2) Audley, and wife Martha of Newport, R.I. b.ca. 1660.)

The Ancient and Honorable Lineage Book states (dau. of John (2) and wife Martha of Newport, R.I.) hence Hannah Audley (3), grd.dau. of John (1) Audley & wife Margaret of Boston, Armorer, (Ancient & Honorable Artillery Company Bk. I 1644-1673). The authority for Hannah (2) (Audley) is from Devol-Willits Gen.

and Gilman-Noyes Ancestry. The importance of her ancestry lies in the fact that she was the mother of all the children – 5 sons & 6 daughters. Jonathan (2) Devol mar. 2nd on Nov. 9, 1730, in his old age, Martha (Spooner) Wing)wid. of John Wing and dau. of Wm. Spooner and his 2nd. wife Hannah (Pratt). She was b. about 1656 (Pope p. 428)

On Oct. 21, 1677, Jonathan (2) Devol and 47 other persons were granted 50,000 acres in East Greenwich, R.I. No evidence has ever been found that he ever settled there.

Dartmouth, Mass. had become a refuge for Quakers fleeing from other parts of the colonies in 1664 and many of this family were Quakers.

Newport, R.I. and Dartmouth, Mass. remained the ancestral location for the Devols for 150 years. Jonathan (2) had settled in what later became Westport, on land, a portion of which is still occupied by descendants. He signed his name Davel on a deed of property to his son Jeremiah, Feb. 12, 1712-13 and Hannah made her mark, (but in her case the name was transcribed Devill). Some time later Hannah died, perhaps 1715-17. It is thought Jonathan may have met his 2nd wife Martha at a Quaker meeting (Pope p. 428). He outlived three of his sons and died between 1737-42. Issue: all from the 1st. marriage - - - -

Jonathan (3), Joseph (3), Benjamin (3), William (3), Jeremiah (3), Anna (3), Hannah (3), Mary (3), Abigail (3), Sarah (3), Elizabeth (3).

GENERATION III

Devol (Jonathan II, Wm. I)

III JONATHAN (3) DEVOL b. ca. 1670-75 d. Aug. 8, 1709, Newport, R.I. He mar. ca. 1697 Mary (Clark) (perh. b. Sept. 22, 1658, dau. of Daniel Clark and Mary (Newberry), of Windsor, Conn.) (Gen. Notes Goodwin p. 23) (Austin p. 287). Due to the fact that above Jonathan (3) Devol's parents outlived him, confusion arose, but after careful checking of Austin pps. 286-287; Stillwell 2:172 and Dartmouth Vit. Rec. one can be reasonably sure the Marah of the will of Jonathan (3) Devol refers either to his 1st wife Mary (Clark) or perh. (Davol-Dee Gen. not authenticated by other references) a 2nd wife Marah Dobell, widow relict of Jonathan Dobill, Jr.) Issue: 2 sons and 4 daughters.

IV WILLIAM (IV) b. Dartmouth, Mass., Apr. 16, 1698, mar. Elizabeth (Whitehead).

Jonathan (4) b. May 1, 1792, mar. Sarah (Cadman) (Town Rec.)

Hannah (4) b. June 29, 1699, mar. John Tripp

Abiah (4) no record (spelled Abia, Abspire, Apphia)

Maribah (4) b. Oct. 21, 1707 – (Dart. Vit. Rec.)

Mary (4) b. Feb. 26, 1709/10 (perh. b. posthumous) mar. Richard Booloe.

Will of Jonathan (III) Devol proved Sept. 7, 1709, Dartmouth, Mass. (see Appendix.) (daughter Mary not mentioned in the will, born after father's death, usually included in this family). Son Wm. (IV) received homestead farm "he Jonathan (3) had of his father Jonathan (2)". His wife was allowed "her rights of thirds" and son Jonathan (4) 50 acres with housing, orchard, etc. To both sons, privileges in lands in Dartmouth. To dau. Hannah (4) £6 paid by son Wm. (4) "when she is 20 years old"; to dau. Abia (4) £6 when age 18; the same legacy to dau. Meribah (4). To wife, rest of personal inventory £176, 7s. 8 d. namely house and land £100, 4 cows, 2 oxen, 5 yearlings, 5 calves, 3 mares, 18 sheep, 5 swine, fowls, 3 beds, pewter, gun stillyards, 2 wheels, pair of cards (for carding), carpenter tools, warming pan, etc.

Capt. Joseph (3) Devol, b. Newport, R.I., between 1675-80, d. Dartmouth, Mass., 1726. He mar. Mary (Soule) (dau. of George and Deborah Soule) of the "Mayflower". His descendants are eligible for the Mayflower Society. Mary (Soule) Devol died the same year as her husband, 1726, but later in the year. Quaker Records give Easton as residence. Issue: 5 sons and 3 daus. (Austin p. 287):

Christopher (4) b. 1700, Jan. 27; Lydia (4), 1701, April 3; Joseph (4) Jan. 15; Mary (4) 1705, July 14; Hannah (4), 1707, April 4; Benjamin (4) 1709, Jan. 26; Jonathan (4)_____.

Benjamin (3) Devol, b. June 4, 1680, d. 1735, mar. Ann (Brownell) (1680-1735+) dau. of Wm. & Sarah (Smiton) Brownell). Issue: 2 sons and 6 dau. (Austin p. 287): Peter (4); Sarah (4); Elizabeth (4); Rebecca (4); Freelove (4); Ann (4); Mary (4); John (4).

William (3) Devol, b. April 16, 1698, d. 1772, of Dartmouth, Mass.; mar. Sarah (Sisson) on May 30, 1708, (dau. of James and Lydia (Hathaway) Sisson) (Full data in Devol-Willits Gen.) Issue: 3 sons and 4 daus.: Lydia (4); Hannah (4) June 13, 1712; Sarah (4); Phebe (4); Joshua (4); David (4); William (4) Sept. 18, 1716.

Jeremiah (3) Devol, b. _____; d. Nov. 29, 1753, of Dartmouth; mar. 1st Sarah (Allen) (dau. of Joseph and Sarah Allen) on May 24, 1711; mar. 2nd Sarah (Whiteridge) of Rochester on Aug. 20, 1746. She d. 1753+. Issue: 12 children – 8 sons, 4 daughters. Ch. of 1st wife: Reuben (4) 1712, mar. Mary (Ricketson); Timothy (4) 1713, m. Lydia (Mosher); Trustram (4) Mar. 20, 1716; Silas (4) Aug. 9, 1717, m. Mary (Wilbur); Ruth (4) Mar. 4, 1719, m. Samuel Howland; Jeremiah (4) May 8, 1721, m. Meriah (Tripp); Abraham (4); Ephriam (4); Sarah (4). Ch. by 2nd wife: Joseph (4); Priscilla (4); Mary (4).

Ann (3) Devol, mar. Benjamin Sweat. Issue: known son Jonathan Sweat.

Hannah (3) Devol, b. about 1691, d. post 1744/5, mar. Joseph Weeden, b. July 9, 1671, d. 1745 (Rec. vary – Austin says son of Wm. Weeden; Pope says son of John & Deborah (Winsley) Weeden); member of the Baptist Chh.; made freeman 1708-09. Will proved 1745 in which are mentioned grandson Joseph Sweet; sons Joseph; William; Jonathan; and daus. Phebe Phillips; Sarah Tripp; Hannah; Hope and one dau. not named.

Mary (3) Devol, b. 167-; d. _____ ; mar. (as his 2nd wife) James (3) Mosher, b. 1675; of Dartmouth, Mass., on May 6 (or 22) 1714; (son of Hugh (2) and 1st wife Rebecca (Harnedel) Mosher). James Mosher's 1st wife was Catherine (Tosh) and they had one son, Daniel (4) Mosher b. Oct. 13, 1705. Issue: (surname Mosher) 6 sons and 2 daus. (Austin gives 6 sons and 1 dau.).

Abigail (3) Devol, b. _____ ; d. _____ ; mar. Job (or Jobe) Milke, b. after 1694; mar. on July 12, 1719, (son of John Milk, b. 1668). Issue: 4 sons and 2 daus. (surname Milk): David; Job; Jonathan; Abigail; Elizabeth; Mary; perhaps more.

Sarah (3) Devol, b. Nov. 16, 1690; d. _____; mar. Apr. 23 (or July 25), 1717, Hugh (4) Mosher, b. Nov. 16, 1690 (son of Nicolas and Elizabeth Mosher). Issue: 10 children (Surname Mosher) Hugh; Nicholas; Abner; Ephraim b. 9/21/1726; Adley; Sarah; Mary; Hannah; Barbara; Phebe.

Elizabeth (3) Devol, b. (?) Apr. 13, 1693; d. after 1742; mar. June 22 (or 27), 1716, George Brownell (son of Wm. and Sarah (Smiton) Brownell). Issue: 6 sons and 4 daus. (surname Brownell). From this record it would appear Elizabeth (3) Devol and her brother Benjamin (3) Devol mar. brother and sister. (One record says Geo. Brownell died 5 days after their marriage. If so, whom Eliz. (3) Devol Brownell mar. second is not known. (Austin) Issue: 10 children (surname Brownell) William; Jonathan; George; Benjamin; Timothy; Elija; Hannah; Sarah; Elizabeth; Phebe.

GENERATION IV

Devol (Jonathan III, Jonathan II, William I)

IV WILLIAM (4) DEVOL (Devel) b. April 16, 1698, Dartmouth, Mass.; died before 1760. He mar. Elizabeth (Whitehead) of Newport, R.I., also b. about 1698. All records agree wife was Elizabeth (Whitehead). Her parentage not firm. Vit. Rec. of Newport, R.I. were destroyed by the British. (Two Daniel Whitehead pioneers sett. in the same general location, one on L.I. and later in Huntington who d. before 1673; the other "Mr." Daniel Whitehead of Oyster Bay and Hempstead, later of Jamaica, who d. Nov. 16, 1668, aged 65) "From these facts alone, the Elizabeth (Whitehead) born to the former Daniel Whitehead and his wife Jane (or Jean) with issue: Adam d. 1681; Jemima mar. to Jonathan Lewis; Elizabeth and Thomas will bear further research." (The Am. Genealogist Vol. 36 Jan. 1960).

William (4) Devol's death date is established from his dau. Apphia (5) Devol's receipt of her portion (£15) from her father's estate signed over to her brother, Wm. (5) Devol on Sept. 6, 1760.

On Feb. 5, 1750, Wm. Davell was appointed guardian over William Hudleston, aged 14, at Taunton, Mass., by George Leonard, judge of the Probate of Wills in the County of Bristol. It is thought this William so assigned was William IV (Ref.: Am. Ancestry Vol. XI Pages 154-6).

Only three proven children are given as issue of this marriage: Apphia (5), Jonathan (5), and William (5). (Mentioned in the same record, however, is Noe Duel, b. _____, d. March 8, 1797, and Jacob Duel, b. _____, d. 1754, who may have been of this family.) Certainly it was seldom so few children were in a family. However, this may be why Judge Leonard, awarded by Court Order, guardianship over William Hudleston to Wm. (4) Devol. Known issue: Apphia (5), b. March 6, 1718, (Dart. Vit. Rec.) signed her name "spinster" on the receipt she gave her brother William (5) Davol as her portion of her father's estate, £15, and other legacies left her by her father's last will and testament dated Sept. 6, 1760. ("Spinster" at that time signified a single woman so she may have been a widow and unmarried at the time.)

Jonathan (5) b. Jan. 16, 1720, mar. and settled in Saratoga County, N.Y. was in Greenfield 1790 and was said to have lived to be 104 years old, d. 1824. His children given in two groups of six – possibly number twelve in all. (Full list as taken from Davol-Dee Gen. and Quaker Rec.; proof is lacking, but all are given as help for researchers of this family): Abel (6), Lewis (6), Edmund (6), Pennia (6), Martha (6), Benjona (6); (Am. Ancestry List): Jonathan (6), Gideon (6), Adosha (6), Seth (6), Bulah (6), Reuben (6).

Jonathan (5) above (Ref. Detroit Mag. Gen. Res.) mar. Sept. 3, 1745, Mary (Lawton).

V WILLIAM (V) DEVEL (Duel), b. March 4, 1728; d. June 22, 1814; mar. Mehitable (Tripp) b. March 15, 1732/3, (dau. of Thomas and Esther (or Hester) (Brightman) Tripp) (Dart. Vit. Rec.) (See Gen. V).

GENERATION V – Devel

Davel-Duell (William IV, Jonathan III, Jonathan II, William I)

V WILLIAM (5) DUEL, b. March 4, 1728, (Dart. Vit. Rec.); d. June 22, 1814, in Hebron, N.Y. (son of Wm. IV and Elizabeth (Whitehead) Devel). It is probable Wm. (5) Duell was in Dartmouth, Mass., as late as Jan. 27, 1783, since there was a receipt given on that date for an account owed Bereah Goddard signed by Henry Howland, Exec. J. C. (American Ancestry). It was said in one Genealogy that both Wm. IV and Wm. V and their wives are buried in Tanner Yd., So. Granville, N.Y., but it seems likely or more than likely, that only Wm. V and his wife, Mehitable (Tripp) Duell are buried there. (See map of Cem. of region). Again, it is thought the last mention of Wm. (5) Duell was of he who sold land in 1806 in Stanford, Dutchess Co., N.Y. He married Mehitable (Tripp) b. March 16, 1732, (dau. of Thomas (b. 1710) and Esther (or Hester) (Brightman) Tripp) (Bible Rec. & Dart. Vit. Rec.) Marriage int. Aug. 11, 1751, of their marriage. (Mar. intentions, even without genealogical family history, denotes she was a member of the Society of Friends (Quaker)).

William (V) Duell was a constable in Dartmouth, Mass., 1776-1777, and for this Civil Service, during the Revolution, recently (1963) has been established as a Revolutionary D.A.R. Patriot Ancestor by Mrs. Amos Moyer of Duluth, Minn., under National Number N.S.D.A.R. No. 288598. (Her great-grandparents, Hiram (7) Duell and Alice (6) (Whitney) Duell are the same as our 7th Generation Duel, 6th Generation Whitney and 4th and 5th Stark Revolutionary ancestral lines.

All the children of this family are listed in the Dartmouth Vital Records as born to William and Mehitable Devel (Daval). Issue:

Levi (6) b. April 6, 1770 (Sp. Davil)

Richard (6) b. Oct. 26, 1774, (Sp. Devel)

Ruth (6) b. Apr. 12, 1761, d. March 20, 1840, m. 1st Andrew Briggs who d. Hebron, N.Y., age 27 years, Oct. 1, 1791, (Ref. Boston Transcript 1927) mar. 2nd Joseph Tanner and resided at or near North Hebron, N.Y.

Bashhaba (6) (or Barshaba) b. Nov. 7, 1756, mar. John Tripp 3rd, of Dartmouth, March 27, 1774 (Bristol Co. Marriages).

Seth (6) b. March 5, 1759, m. Mary (Sisson) both of Dartmouth; int. Dec. 9, 1785.

Jonathan (6) b. May 14, 1753, m. Patience (Milk) both of Dartmouth; int. June 9, 1775. He d. perh. ca. 1813 in the small-pox epidemic.

William (6) (Jr. or 3rd.) b. Feb. 27, 1763, m. Phebe _____(Hyatt Rec.)

VI EZRA,(VI), b. July 21, 1766, d. March 30, 1844, mar. 1st Deborah (5) (Stark) b. Apr. 6, 1766, d. Feb. 12, 1826; mar. 2nd Elizabeth (Dawley) Sherman) wid. of Gideon Sherman. She was b. 1794, d. Jan. 1, 1878.

Noe (6) (Dart. Vit. Rec.) born Oct. 31, 1772 (Am. Anc.) d. March 8, 1797, at age 25.

Jacob (6) (Dart. Vit. Rec.) b. Sept. 10, 1764. (Job sometimes was a nickname for Jacob; a Job int. m. to Eunice Taber Apr. 3, 1788; also a Jacob Duel came to Kaukauna, Wis., d. there 1862).

Note — (Ezra VI and Jonathan (6) came to N.Y. together. Jonathan (6) settled near Hebron, N.Y., and died there of small-pox, and was buried on his own land. Many of his descendants live near Hebron, N.Y., and in the adjacent towns. The farm home is still standing and is situated among high hills, almost a small mountain, with a most remarkable and beautiful view. The actual burial was said to be near a small stream some distance from the house because the threat of small-pox was so feared. He played the violin and was less strict than most Quakers.

Ruth (6) also came to the same area. Levi (6), Seth (6), Richard(6), and William (6) settled in Warren and Essex Counties, N.Y.)

GENERATION VI – Devol

Duell-Duel (Wm. V, Wm. IV, Jonathan III, Jonathan II, Wm. I.)

VI EZRA (6) DUELL (Duel) b. July 21, 1766, (Dart.V.R.) d. March 30, 1844; was twice married. He mar. 1st, in Dutchess Co., N.Y., Apr. 10, 1788, Deborah (Stark) b. Apr. 6, 1766, d. Feb. 12, 1826. She was born in Groton, Conn. (dau. of Nathan (4) Stark, and his 1st wife, Olive (Morgan) Stark). They are both buried in Lee Farm Cem., So. Granville, N.Y. It is thought Deborah (5) (Stark) and Ezra (6) Duell met at a Hicksite Quaker Meeting when Deborah was on a visit to her brother Nathan, Jr. (5) Stark and his wife, Jemima, who resided in Granville, N.Y., in 1786. They were married in 1788 in Dutchess Co. Ezra (6) Duell was a Hicksite Quaker and it might be well to explain here the difference between Orthodox Quakers and Hicksite Quakers. (Ref.: The Hist. of New Bedford, Bristol Co., Mass., including Dartmouth & Fairhaven, by Daniel Ricketson, Page 40), "The Orthodox Quakers were those who adhered to the doctrine of the 'Trinity', (although they did not use the term 'Trinity'). The Hicksite Quakers were those who adhered to the doctrine of 'Unity'." Ezra (6) Duell was one of the latter at least from 1785-1807. It is interesting to know his funeral sermon was preached by Elder Haynes, a noted colored preacher of the Congregational Church, which church he attended. Mention of this famous colored preacher is made in the Rutland, Vt., Bi-Centennial Newspaper (Sect. 10a). Ezra (6) Duell was a farmer, blacksmith, and a commissioner of highways. He had 11 children by his 1st marriage and 1 from his 2nd. He had 84 grandchildren; 52 grandchildren named Duel and 32 from his daughters' marriages (Ref.: Vol. 2: (Hyatt)).

Ezra (VI) Duell mar. 2nd Elizabeth (Dawley) Sherman) widow of Gideon Sherman. She was b. 1794, d. Jan. 1, 1878. Her 1st mar. was Oct. 16, 1815, in Exeter, R.I., her native state. She mar. 2nd Ezra (6) Duell after 1826 and before 1830. Issue: one daughter.

Children of 1st marriage of Ezra (VI) and Deborah (Stark) Duell:

Nathan (7) Duel, b. Sept. 7, 1789, d. July 18, 1830, m. June 6, 1808, Sarah (6) (Whitney) (dau. of Cornelius (5) and Martha (Graves) Whitney). (1st wife acc. to Mexico, N.Y., rec. b. April 22, 1793, d. Nov. 26, 1860). Issue: Clare, Cornelius, Mehitable, Mary, Morgan, Deborah, Melinda, Milton, Sarah, Dorothy, (surname Duel).

Olive (7) (Duel) b. March 8, 1791, d. Feb. 1874; m. March 5, 1851, widower George (6) W. Lamb, issue: none.

Mehitable (7) (Duel), b. June 21, 1792, d. Dec. 3, 1833; m. Dec. 27, 1808, Joseph Gould (son of Capt. Ebenezer & Rhoda (Robbins) Gould), issue: Rhoda, Ezra, Fayette, Philetus, Oscar, Mirretta, Philella, Philena, Laura, David, Maria, Erastus, Henrietta (surname Gould).

VII HIRAM (VII) DUEL, b. (headstone) May 24, 1795, d. Dec. 26, 1853; m. Alice (6) (Whitney) b. March 15, 1799, d. Oct. 28, 1861, (dau. of Cornelius (5) Whitney and 2nd wife Elizabeth (May)). Issue: Mortimer, Morris, Morvin, Hiram, Melvina, Amanda, Melvin, Abigail, George, Amelia, Morris (again), Alice, Strabo (surname Duel).

Sabrina (7) (Duel), b. Dec. 6, 1799, d. Dec. 11, 1876; m. Oct. 31, 1822, Benjamin Brown Whitcomb, b. 1797, Heniker, N.Y., d. 1860. Issue: Charles Judson, Deborah A., Sarah B., Morgan V.B., Hosea, Hiram D., Lydia Marie, (surname Whitcomb).

Noe (7) Duel, b. March 15, 1797, d. June 14, 1836; m. Nov. 1821, Zeruniah (or Zennah) (Gould) Whitney), wid. of Capt. Parley Whitney. She was b. Aug. 30, 1787, d. June 5, 1841, and was the sister of Joseph Gould, m. to Mehitable (7) (Duel). (Her 1st husband Capt. Parley Whitney was son of Joseph (1753-1837) and Anna (Eames) Whitney (1760-1838) and grd. son of Joshua Whitney, 1824-1811 and cousin to Cornelius (5) Whitney, the father of Sarah (6) and Alice (6) (Whitney) Duel.) Issue: Fayette, Harriette, Deborah, (surname Duel).

Deborah Marie (7) (Duel) b. Dec. 12, 1801, d. Dec. 26, 1869; m. Aug. 22, 1822, William Whitney, b. Dec. 7, 1798, in Granville, N.Y., d. Sept. 1, 1872, son of Joseph & Anna (Eames) Whitney; bro. of Capt. Parley Whitney (data given under Noe (7) Duel). Issue: Milo, Vernelia, William, Morgan, Loren, Mary, Lucy, Francis (surname Whitney).

Ezra (7) Duel (Jr.) b. Apr. 10, 1804, d. Aug. 8, 1883. He d. Wayne Co., N.Y.; m. on Sept. 27, 1825, Matilda (Whitney) b. July 20, 1804, d. Oct. 5, 1883. She also d. Wayne Co., N.Y. She was dau. of Joseph Whitney; sister to Wm. Whitney m. to Deborah Marie (7) (Duel) Whitney. Issue: Cordelia, Amelia, George, Ezra, Mary, Lucy (surname Duel).

Morgan (7) Duel, b. Apr. 21, 1806, d. Hartford, N.Y., Aug. 19, 1889; m. Apr. 21, 1828, Lydia Marie (Day), dau. of Hosea Day of So. Granville, N.Y. She was b. Sept. 29, 1810, d. July 9, 1856, So. Granville, N.Y. His name Morgan is said to have originated from his maternal grandmother's maiden name (Olive (Morgan) Stark). Issue: Melancton, Delora, Morgan V.B. (the V.B. stood for Van Buren), Hosea, Hiram D., Lydia Marie (surname Duel).

Lewis (7) Duel, b. May 14, 1808, d. age 94, in Australia. He enlisted Whitehall, N.Y. and was assigned to Co. K, 3rd Infantry as a private June 16, 1830. One genealogist (Hyatt) states he deserted Jessup, La., Sept. 17, 1832. Early records say nothing more is known but he certainly came back into prominence about 1902-03 when by coast to coast coverage the large newspapers were searching for documentary proof of his heirs. Whether or not he left for Australia because he had deserted, or because he had been jilted by Amanda DeLong when she decided "skunk hunter" could not be changed to "fur hunter" in the small town of Granville, N.Y., as the business of her prospective husband, or because his dislike of his step-mother or a combination of these experiences, certain it is that when he died in Australia, worth $3,500,000 every means was used to locate a letter or some connecting bit of evidence proving him to be Lewis (7) Duel. An interesting example is the Albany, N.Y. article printed probably in a Pittsburgh, Pa., paper. (see footnote) The author's father, as the oldest son (still alive) of those who came from Granville, N.Y., to Wisconsin, received letters from Duels (Deuels) of New York and also from other states seeking Bible records or family papers. The Washington County Historian's files also contain letters of inquiry so the search to establish a claim to this fortune was intensive. It is presumed that the money reverted to the British Crown or the Australian Commonwealth.

Eunice (or Emma) (7) (Duel) b. June 18, 1810, d. March 24, 1863; m. on Feb. 25, 1839, Smith Bullock, b. same day as his wife, June 18, 1810. He d. May 1, 1875; resided and d. in Granville, N.Y. ville where he was born and hunted the polecat, in the early forties (date erroneous, J.H.) and to friends and relatives in Western New York, Michigan and Wisconsin. Deuel in his youth became infatuated with Amanda DeLong a comely young woman of his native town, and she reciprocated his attentions, but when he proposed marrying she yielded to the mocking challenges of her friends who scoffed at the idea of her marrying a skunk hunter. Deuel became despondent and joined a party of prospectors bound for the Australian gold fields. Nothing was ever heard of Deuel after his departure until the announcement of his death and generous bequests. Miss DeLong died about 25 years ago in Granville, never having married, because as she claimed she could never love other than LEW DEUEL. The latter either knew that his former sweetheart was dead or cut her from his affections for no reference was made to her in his will."

* As you know from the Genealogies, Duel, as we spell it was spelled Deuel, Duell, Devel, Davel – early as Devol and DeVille.

 In Hyatt notebook No. 2 Vol. 2 – Hyatt has this to say on Lewis Duel (7) son of Ezra and Deborah (Stark) Duell. Born 14 day 5 mo. 1808. Enlisted Whitehall, N.Y. 16-6-1830 in Regular Army deserted Ft. Jessup, La. 1832 fate unknown. (It is possible Lewis Deuel enlisted after being jilted and the fact that he had deserted made him never write home. It is certain that said Lewis Deuel (Duel) did leave a fortune. G.G.I.)

She fell in love with Joseph Claggett (a student – older boys attended school in those days, when time allowed) and they eloped. They later removed from Fond du Lac Co., Wis., to Minnesota in a covered Wagon." (Mrs. A. Moyer).

Alice (8) (Duel) – (no record.)

Excerpts from letters written by Alice (Whitney) Duell to her son Strabo, a soldier in the Civil War. He was in the battle of Chickamauga and was killed at that time. (Courtesy of Mrs. Amos Moyer).

"Take good heed to your ways, consider well what will be for the best and use your judgment. It is in trivial things sometimes that we destroy our peace and sometimes our prosperity."

"You are in my mind almost all the time. I dream about you very often and if praying for you that you may be both comfortable and happy, will have any avail, I am sure you must be so. I feel lonely without you. I want to see you more than I can express."

"How I wish I could fix your clothes for you, it would be a great comfort to me, but as it is you must take the will for the deed. I hope I may live to see you return once more never to be separated while I live."

Alice (Whitney) Duel (or Duell as spelled here) was the author's great grandmother, wife of Hiram (7) Duel and they were the parents of Hiram (8) Duel and his wife Lucy A. Lamb. The latter the author's "Grandma and Grandpa Duel". (G.G.I.)

GENERATION IX – X

Duel (Hiram VIII, Hiram VII, Ezra VI, Wm. V, Wm. IV, Jonathan III, Jonathan II, Wm. I)

Generation X with and without issue are combined with Generation IX because of their being covered in considerable detail in the charts which form a part of the material under Generation XI as well as in the narrative sections of this volume.

IX LE ROY (9) DUEL, b. Sept. 1, 1856; d. Feb. 1, 1926, (heart failure following pneumonia). He was the eldest living son after the death of George Hiram. He mar. Sept. 24, 1879, (mar. Certif.) to Leah Florence (Griffiths) b. Jan. 27, 1860; d. Mar. 24, 1922, (dau. of James and Elizabeth (Stockham) Griffiths, both from England to America abt. 1850-1.) Le Roy and Leah, as youngsters, resided on the same country road, their homes less than ½ mile apart. The Duel farm was in the Township of Eldorado and the Griffiths farm in the Township of Rosendale, Wis., both in Fond du Lac County. All are buried in No. Eldorado Cem. Le Roy (9) Duel was a farmer, stock buyer and shipper, wool buyer, a Director on the Rosendale, Wis., Bank Board, and Secretary of the Farmers Mutual Fire Ins. Co. This company only assessed when a fire occurred – truly a mutual. A full and intimate story of this family follows this genealogical section. Issue: (all born Eldorado, Wis.)

X HIRAM LE ROY (10) b. Dec. 8, 1882; d. Dec. 24, 1951; m. Dec. 8, 1910, Adeline O'Harrow, b. 3/17/1882; d. 1/17/1954, (dau. of Joel S. O'Harrow (Civil War. Sol.) and his wife Frances I. (Bailey) O'Harrow.) They resided on the Eldorado Duel Farm all their married life except for their last years of illness when they lived with their daughter Rosalie and her husband, Tom Williams. He was very well liked and entered into village life. He was beloved by his wife and children. He had a beautiful handwriting, the type often found on personal calling cards years ago. They were Congregationalists. Issue: 3 daus. and 1 son, (given in full on charts) in order of birth – Carol Dawn (11), Marjorie (11), Rosalie (11), Le Roy Weston (11) (surname Duel).

X JENNIE LEAH (10) (DUEL) b. Jan. 8, 1885; mar. on June 21, 1905, Guy Franklin Stone of Elo (P.O. Fisk) Wis., (son of Frank Stone and Agnes (Bradley) Stone.) (Agnes (Bradley) Stone later divorced and mar. W. H. Searle but all issue was from her 1st marriage.) Jennie Leah (10) (Duel) Stone was interested in Home Makers Club and 4 H Club for her sons. She maintained a traveling library in her home for about 20 years and the circulation was enough to earn for her a small recompense and honorable mention. Both she and her husband belonged to the local Grange. He was a farmer until his retirement. They reside in their own two-family house in Oshkosh, Wis. Issue: Franklin Le Roy (11) Stone; Merle Gordon (11) Stone. Full data on later charts. (Methodist Chh.)

X LUCY ELIZABETH (10) DUEL, b. Oct. 9, 1886; d. Jan. 6, 1965; mar. (as his 2nd wife) on Dec. 23, 1923, in Whitefish, Montana, Ole Sievert Jordet, b. Aug. 11, 1870, Dover, Norway, son of Seivert and Margit (Johnson) Jordet; d. 1959, age 89 in Kalispell, Montana and is buried in Conrad Memorial Cem., there. He resided in Kalispell abt. 50 years, was a farmer, was interested in a lumber yard and a garage and lastly owned a clothing store. He was preceded in death by his first wife Pauline (Samulson) in 1913 and their son Spencer Jordet in 1936. He is survived by his son Phillip M. Jordet and his wife; a granddaughter and three great-grandchildren. No issue from the 2nd marriage. His widow, Lucy E. (Duel) Jordet resided Kalispell, Montana until her death.

X MORVIN MORRIS (10) DUEL, b. July 8, 1888; d. Aug. 18, 1948; mar. on Nov. 5, 1917, Laura (Schaefer) b. May 21, 1893; d. March 1962, (dau. of John W. Schaefer and Elizabeth Faber.) Morvin M. (10) Duel, graduate of Oshkosh Normal, taught school, was elected County Superintendent of Schools of Fond du Lac Co., Wis., served for six yrs.; became District Agent for Northwestern Life Insurance Co. which position he held for ten years until he was elected to the Wisconsin State Senate (R.) and served for two sessions (3 yrs.) when the Governor appointed him (from the Senate) as State Commissioner of Insurance which position he held until his death (about 10 years). He resided in Fond du Lac, Wis., about 16 years and Madison, Wis., about 13 or 14 years. From the age of 19 until his death he suffered from progressive crippling arthritis. He was highly regarded for his integrity. He was humorous and jovial in manner, was well read and was often called upon to speak publicly or act as master of ceremonies. He was a student of the Bible and subscribed to no formal religion. When asked, he said he was an agnostic (one who does not know) but certainly his morals and ideals and belief in a Supreme Being placed him, though non-conformist, as a religious man. (Member of Masonic and Knights of Pythias Lodges). Issue: one son, Garrett Morvin (11) Duel. (see chart.)

X MYRTIE (10) DUEL (twin) b. Jan. 26, 1891; d. age abt. 6 mo., 1891, bur. Eldorado Cem.

X MYRTON (10) DUEL, (twin) b. Jan. 26, 1891; d. Apr. 13, 1962. (He took middle initial H. (although not recorded) to avoid mail confusion with mail addressed to Morvin M. who used M. M. Duel). Myrton (10) Duel graduated from Rosendale High School, and from the short course in Agriculture, at the University of Wis. He learned milk testing and tested milk, was a farmer and upon leaving his farm he ran for and was elected to the State Legislature as an Assemblyman (R.) for 2 terms or (4 years). He served as Town Clerk for 30 years up until the time of his death. He resided all his life in Fond du Lac County. He served as a private in World War I for a short time. He did not see active service (due to a serious hernia operation while in the service he was released from duty). As a young man he entered H.S. Sports and did some amateur wrestling. On Apr. 16, 1923, he mar. Matie (Tidyman) b. Jan. 23, 1899, (dau. of Wm. James Tidyman and his second wife Albertina (Gohr) of Dodge County, Wis.) (see charts.) Le Roy Weston (11) Duel (called Roy) born Aug. 10, 1917 in Eldorado, Wisconsin, son of Hiram LeRoy (10) Duel and his wife Adeline (O'Harrow) Duel. He was graduated from the grades in Eldorado and from Rosendale High School, Rosendale, Wisconsin. He was the Salutatorian of his class of 1935. He married on Oct. 9, 1943, Doris May (Kinyon) born July 4th, 1924 (daughter of Floyd Ellsworth Kinyon and his wife Clara Francis (Paul) Kinyon.)

After their marriage they resided in the Duel Eldorado farm home in a converted upstairs apartment. Roy helped his father on the farm and took on some side jobs in Eldorado but was the mainstay of his father who had suffered one or more strokes. After a time he moved to the area near Rosendale and worked in a factory. His father, unable to continue working the farm, rented to a young couple, who occupied the upstairs apartment vacated by Roy and his growing family. Roy, a hard worker, has done factory work, hauling and trucking, house and barn spray painting etc. His large family kept him from venturing far from the home they were buying and improving as money allowed.

Franklin LeRoy Stone (11), born April 20, 1906, (son of Jennie Leah (Duel) (10) Stone and Guy Franklin Stone.) He was born in Elo, Wis.; attended the Elo and Fisk, Wis., country schools. He resided with his (Duel) grandparents in Fond du Lac, Wis., where he attended and graduated from Fond du Lac High School.

He married on Nov. 7, 1929, Leona Labudde, b. Feb. 11, 1906, of Oshkosh, Wisconsin, a graduate of the Oshkosh High School and a Graduate Nurse. She is the daughter of Gustave Labudde, b. 1871, Sept. 3, in South Germany; d. Oct. 1942, (son of John Labudde, occupation – miller, and his wife, Alvina (Doede), b. 1875 Aug. 1, in Posen, Germany,) (daughter of Ferdinand Doede, occupation: farmer.)

They began their married life on the Elo, Wis., (Stone Farm), grandfather Frank Stone living with them. Some time later they moved and Franklin managed the Roselle pure-bred stock farm situated between Rosendale and Ripon, Wis. He resided there some twenty years. His children attended the Rosendale graded school and graduated from the Rosendale High School. He was a highly progressive farmer and this can best be illustrated by two separate items – No. 1: his picture was in a Wisconsin Farm paper in connection with the use of some product and No. 2: under the International Farm Youth Exchange a temporary Sikh foster daughter, Miss Harminder Kaur, was assigned to spend three weeks with them.

They now reside in Ripon, Wis., and he is on the maintenance staff at Ripon College.

Merle Gordon Stone (11), born Dec. 30, 1910, son of Jennie Leah (Duel) (10) Stone and Guy Franklin Stone. He was born in Elo, Wis.; attended the Elo and Fisk country school and the Oshkosh High School. He married Regina (Habel), June 11, 1949, of Oshkosh, in Catholic Parish House. No issue from this marriage.

Before his marriage he remained on the farm. He won many ribbons at county fairs on his pure-bred Ayreshire cattle. Although he was not in robust health he earned his living. He was versatile – had his own milk route; was part owner in a garage where he was adept in fixing farm machines and cars. At last in casting about for work he could do and enjoy he became a salesman for the Great Central Insurance Company. He has held this position since his marriage. His wife, an ex-secretary-typist, is of great help to him in making out the necessary reports. They reside in Oshkosh, Wisconsin.

GENERATION XI

Dale Harlan (11) Duel, born Oct. 24, 1936; attended the grade school nearby, two miles West of the City of Fond du Lac, Wis., and graduated from Fond du Lac High School, June 1954. He graduated from Wartburg College, Waverly, Iowa, with an A.B. Degree, June 1958. He took post graduate work in Higher Mathematics at Illinois Institute of Technology, Chicago Illinois.

Mr. Duel had been employed at American Machine and Foundry Co., Evanston, Illinois, since Nov. 16, 1959.

Assistant Engineer – Mathematician on Research Team.

Plans to take a leave of absence and work on his Master's Degree. Now is employed by Booz and Allen, accounting and management consultant firm.

Unmarried; residence in Evanston, Illinois.

Parents: – Myrton and Matie (Tidyman) Duel.

Paternal Line given in full in Genealogy and Narrative of book.

Maternal Line given in brief in Generation (11) chart of each member of this family.

Maternal Line with more detail follows: Matie (Tidyman) Duel (daughter of William Tidyman and his second wife Albertine (Gohr) Tidyman, of Dodge County, Wisconsin) (granddaughter of August and Caroline Gohr, of Stolp, Germany. Albertine Gohr came to America at the age of eighteen years and was soon joined by her parents.)

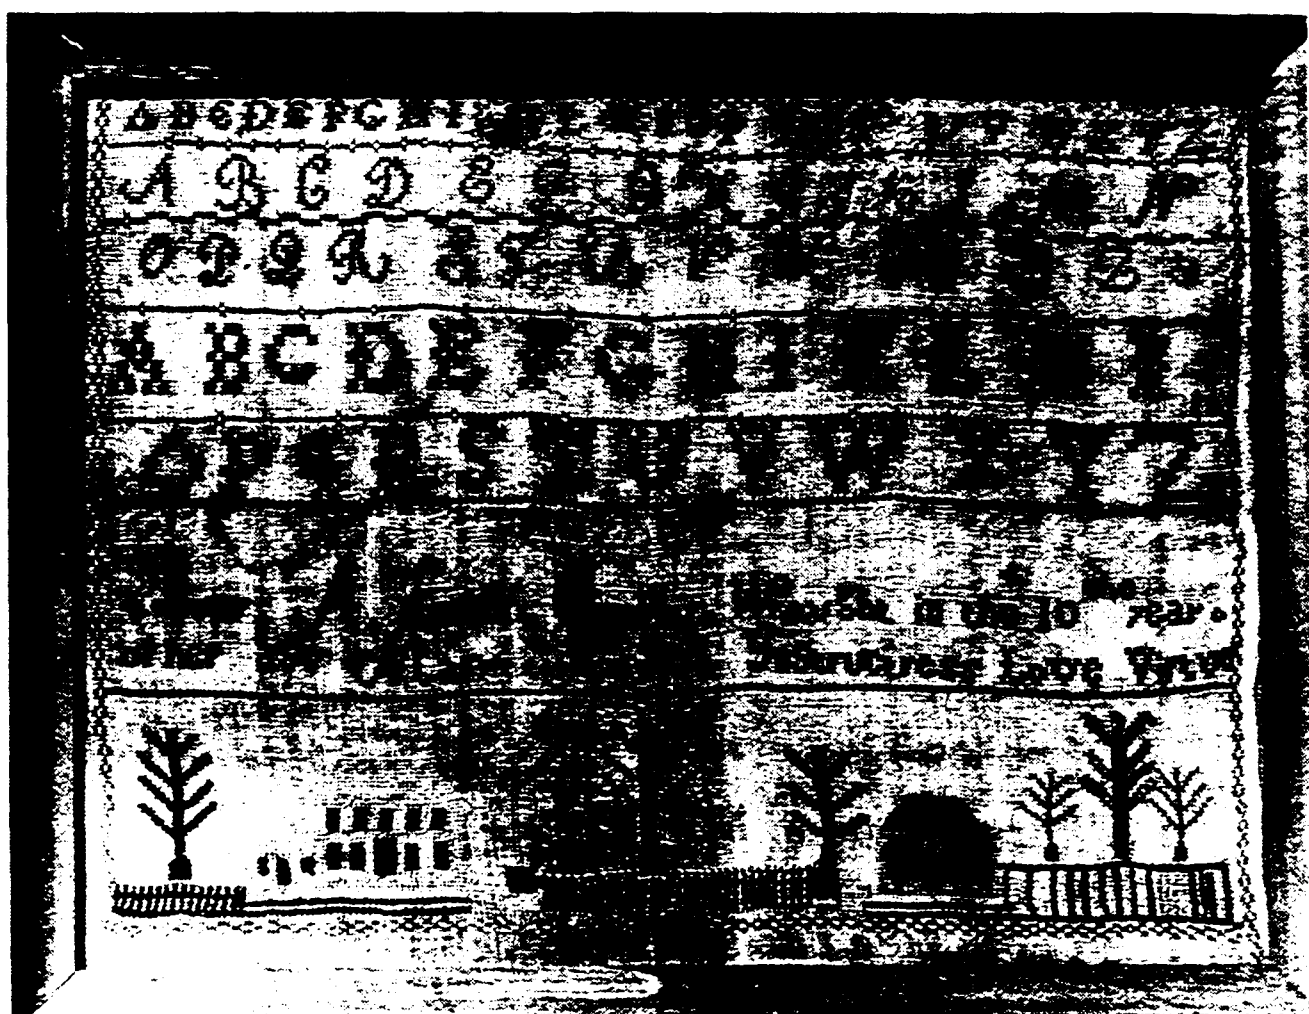

Matie (Tidyman) Duel's father, William James Tidyman, was twice married. He married first (_____) Schiltz and by her had the following children: John, Agnes, William, Charles, Perry and Clarence. (Surname Tidyman).

He married second Albertine Gohr and had the following children: Anna, Arthur, Ralph, Minnie, Pearl, Lilly, Matie, and Olive. (Surname Tidyman).

AN ACCOUNT OF THE RESEARCH

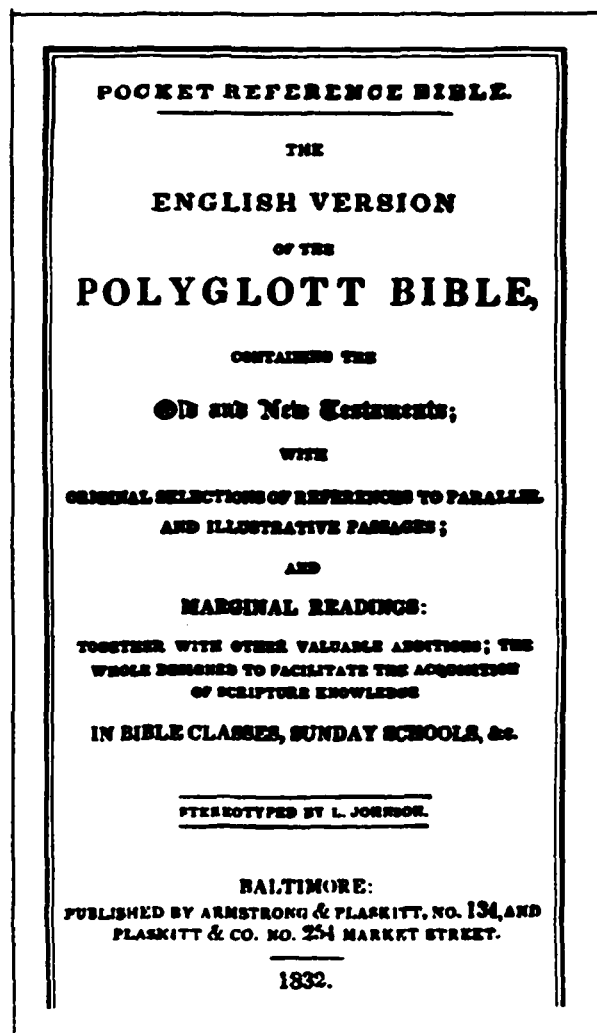

In the research of our Duel Line, from the first in America to our immediate Wisconsin ancestors, one starts with the known and proceeds into the unknown in genealogical research.

In my case, under "known" was my grandmother Duel's sampler and her Bible, both illustrated in this volume. Inside the latter were several faded newspaper obituaries from Granville, N.Y. and one from Slyborough, N.Y. I knew that my father's people had come to Wisconsin from "York" State, as they called it, in 1850 on a land patent and knew of the several letters written in 1903 concerning the search for Duel heirs to a three million dollar fortune left by Lewis (7) Duel to his kin in the U.S. (Lewis Duel had died intestate in Australia).

LUCY LAMB'S SAMPLER

I knew my father was closely related because letters from Granville, N.Y., New York City and towns across the U.S. from coast to coast, all sought proof of Lewis Duel, Australian millionaire deceased, as one and the same as he (whom it is known now was brother of Hiram (7) Duel, my father's grandfather and my great-grandfather). Both Hiram Duel (7) and (8) were dead in 1903 and Le Roy (9) Duel, my father, was the eldest living male of the Wisconsin branch. I presume they hoped some Bible record or personal paper or letter had been carried to Wisconsin by Hiram (7) Duel and Alice (Whitney) Duel, or Hiram (8) and his wife Lucy A. (Lamb) Duel. It is my recollection that if proof ever did exist, it had been destroyed in a house fire in the East and the other bits of proof they did have were inconclusive.

Newspaper stories, and other stories traditional in the family, suggest that Lewis Duel (Duell-Deuel) never wrote home, so that no direct contact between him or any relatives existed after he left home. A copy of one newspaper item sent to me by one of my correspondents appears in full in an earlier footnote. It tells how the blighted romance of the "Champion Skunk Farmer Lewis Duel (Deuel)" led to his never contacting his Washington County, N.Y., relatives or his sweetheart, Amanda De Long, who never married. This article is much the same as others which appeared at the time. In any case our share (?), or the share of Duel (Deuel-Duell) fortune, East and West, reverted to the British Crown or to the Australian Commonwealth.

It is not my intention to write fact as fiction, but I will try to include in the narrative portion the more interesting and intimate material which I found. In some cases, portions will be repeated here that are also included in the Genealogical section, since even there I do not want the data so bare of intimate detail that it is like the "begats" in the Bible. And while we are mentioning the Bible, Numbers 7, verses 42-47 mentions the name Deuel

(one of the many ways the name is spelled up to the present day). Whether later generations feel the origin was Biblical, or as some Genealogists claim, from De Ville and of French origin, certain it is that our particular branch lived long enough in England to have anglicized the given names of those who came to Duxbury, Mass., before 1640.

My brother, Morvin(10), whose name, like Hiram, seems to have been a family name and distinctive to the Duel family, visited Granville, N.Y., on a trip East and although he took no notes, he did tell me about the old cemetery and a conversation he had with an elderly Duel widow. However, as the youngest of my generation, family possessions have gravitated to me. It was not until as a guest at a D.A.R. meeting where Grandmother Duel's Bible, published 1832 in Baltimore, Md., proved to be the oldest one present, that I decided to do some family research. It was vacation time a few months later and we decided to visit Granville, N.Y., and see what data was available. Our very first day in the Historian's Office in the Hudson Falls, N.Y., Courthouse was fruitful. Mrs. MacMorris, the county historian, gave us envelopes of clippings on Duel and Lamb families and among the slips of paper I found one that read:

"Married Apr. 28, 1849, by Alfred Farr, Pawlet, Vt., Hiram Duel of Granville, N.Y., ae 27 and Lucy A. Lamb, ae 29, Granville, N.Y. T. Rec."

This find about my grandparents was very exciting and personal. The Town Record Book was checked for Granville, N.Y., 1847-1850 and under No. 687 the authenticated record was available for photostatic copy of their marriage.

We also secured a photostatic copy of 1850 Census of Granville, N.Y., which includes:

Head of Household	Age	Occupation	Born
George W. Lamb	62	carder	Vermont
Hiram Duel	28	farmer	N.Y.
Lucy A. (Lamb)	30		N.Y.
George H. Duel	2 mo.		N.Y.

Since the Bible record in Grandmother Lucy A. (Lamb) Duel's Bible was identical to the 1850 Census above we had information about their firstborn son, George (Hiram) and her father, George W. Lamb as well. Another slip of paper led us to Elucy, wife of George W. Lamb, and a visit to South Granville, "Lee Farm Cemetery", where we photographed the graves of Grandmother Lucy A. (Lamb) Duel's father, mother and brother, Phinehas Lamb. These graves are to the right of the gate as you enter near the stone slate-topped fence that surrounds the Cemetery. This old cemetery is in tragic disrepair (see photo.)

LEE FARM CEMETERY (HEADSTONE IN IMMEDIATE CENTER FRONT IS THAT OF ELUCY LAMB).

Our genealogical research now on a proven basis to go backward or forward was begun in earnest. We contacted everyone suggested to us and although not much more actual data was gained many of those contacts bore fruit later and their names appear in the Bibliography or Acknowledgements.

I wish to digress a moment with a recipe for cordial reception of Westerners by Easterners. One ingredient alone is the basis, and that is an interest in one's genealogy, with one or more ancestors who resided early in their midst.

HEADSTONES OF GEORGE W. LAMB AND ELUCY LAMB IN LEE FARM CEMETERY (THAT OF THE FORMER ACTUALLY IS IN THE GROUND UPSIDE DOWN AS CAN BE SEEN FROM THE LOCATION OF GRASS)

I joined the New England Historic and Genealogical Society and availed myself of their books sent on loan to members and we did research at Newberry Library in Chicago.

An early statement I read in the Introduction of Vol. I of American Ancestry, published 1887-1898, by Joel Munsell's Sons, caught and held my interest and influenced me to continue my research without ceasing. It read as follows:

“Those who can trace their lineage to an ancestor who settled in America previous to the Declaration of Independence, when the population was less than two millions and a quarter, in the whole of the United States, in 1776 (exclusive of slaves and Indians) it will seem that but a small proportion of the present population can claim the honor of being descended from original American stock. Consequently, in ages to come, the arrival of the Virginia colonists, the emigration of Puritan and Dutch settlers, as well as the settlement of the Quakers and Huguenot refugees will form as Memorable epochs in the history of the Great Republic, as the Saxon and Norman Conquest of Great Britain now do in that country.

“A few centuries hence Americans will experience as much pleasure in tracing back their ancestry to those periods, as English now do, to the days of William the Conqueror.”

In our family, the following are a few of those who thus qualify:

William (1) Davol (DeVille, Devel, Deuel, Duell, Duel) applied for land in Duxbury, Mass., Aug. 3, 1640, either from Deyville, France, or after several generations in England perhaps from Spalding, Lincolnshire, England, about 1639; or another record, as perhaps of Yorkshire, England.

John (1) Whitney, from London, England to Watertown, Mass. in the “Elizabeth & Annee”, embarked at Ipswich, England, April, 1635, arrived about middle of May (Admitted “freeman” 1635, March).

Thomas (1) Lambe, Puritan Immigrant 1630 to Roxbury, Mass. In the “Winthrop Fleet” perhaps from Stowe, Langtoft, County Suffolk, England. (C. F. Banks).

Aaron (1) Stark first settled in Stonington, Conn. 1635-1664. Took “freeman” oath May, 1666, in Stonington, Conn., and accepted as “freeman” in New London, Conn., 1669 (Now Groton).

John (1) Odlin (Audley) came in “Arbella” 1630, Winthrop Fleet; settled in Roxbury, Mass. (First, save the Governor, in Roxbury, Mass.) (Sewell).

Hugh (1) Clark to Watertown, Mass., 1640, (later of Roxbury, Mass. there 1657).

Francis (2) Peabody (son of John (1) Paybody (Peabody)) from England on the “Planter”, spring of 1635; settled in Ipswich, Mass.

Thomas (1) Richardson from West Mills, Hertfordshire, England, in 1636 (78 N.E.H. & G. Reg. 116). He settled in Woburn, Mass.

Thomas (1) Green of St. Albans, Herts, England, in the "Planter" 1635 (from London 4/10 to Boston 5/7/1635) to Ipswich, Mass.

Reginald (1) Foster of Bunton, England, to Ipswich, Mass. (Banks-"Planters of the Commonwealth" lists: John Foster age 14 in the "Hopewell" 1635, William Foster and James Foster are listed as passengers in the "Hercules" 1634, so probably Reginald arrived about then also. Reginald (1) Foster had a brother John and a son Willaim). The family was in N.E. before 1640.

This ancient family traces back to Sir Hugh Forester (Foster) of the year 1101.

Many people who trace their lineage for the purpose of joining some patriotic organization find if they are eligible for one they may be eligible for several since there was so much intermarriage among the early families. The "Mayflower" passengers intrigue almost everyone and although I have not made a serious study, you will notice in the Genealogies, sons, brothers, or sisters of our direct line did marry "Mayflower" passengers. For instance, Joseph (3) Devol married Mary (Soule), daughter of George and Deborah Soule, (George Soule was a "Mayflower" passenger); Joseph (3) Devol was son of Jonathan (2) and brother of Jonathan (3) Devol.

My interest in the "Mayflower" passengers was awakened by one reference in "The Pilgrim Fathers" by Winifred Cockshott (pub. 1909). The author describes why they left England for Holland, their life in Amsterdam, the embarkation for the New World, the hardships and financial troubles. The book ends with genealogical marriage data. A few gleanings extracted and condensed will give you an idea of why I found this book so interesting:

- (1) We sometimes refer to a person in prison as being "in the clink". This originated with a certain Edward Boys, the first husband of the wife of Pastor Francis Johnson who died in a prison in Holland named "Clink".
- (2) We have always been given to believe Miles Standish was bashful. The fact is, "he was twice married".

- (3) The cost of passage was as follows: Every person 16 years upward £10 and each to have £10 in money or provisions. He who paid £10 and had £10 besides was credited a double share of £20, the stock to be held in partnership for 7 years when the division was to be made. Children under 16 years of age had no share in the division but received 50 acres of unmanured land.
- (4) Of the 104 who came in 1620, half of whom died, by 1650 due to remarriage, marriage and offspring, the number was 181.

OUR EARLY FAMILY PIONEERS

These early families are carried in Genealogical books, some in great detail and for seven or more generations, with their wills, deeds of sale, movements and marriages.

From the first of the line in America, religion played a most important part in their lives. Many of the Devol (Duel) family were Quakers. Ezra (6) Duell was a "Hicksite" Quaker although he was buried from the Congregational Church and his funeral service preached by the then noted colored preacher, Elder Haynes. Some were Baptists (sometimes called Seventh Day Baptists). One, Jonathan (6), embraced the Mormon religion and one of this Mormon Deuel family, Wm. Henry Deuel, was the founder of the towns of Centerville and Kanarak, Utah. He and his brother, Osmyn Deuel, built the first house in Utah, which now stands in a pergola in Temple Square, Salt Lake City, Utah. This branch joined the "Church of Jesus Christ Latter Day Saints" in Freedom, N.Y., removed to Nauvoo, Illinois and made the "trek" to Utah in 1847.

Another Duel fought at the Alamo and his name is on the plaque as one of the defenders. (Ref. from Harold Duel, of Itasca, Illinois, son of Oran Duel, St. Joe, Mo. and California).

Since on the previous pages and those to follow one sees the name spelled De Ville, Devol, Davol, Devel, Deuel, Duell, Duel, Du Voll, Du Vol and even differently within a single family, an explanation by two examples follows:

- (1) De Ville, or Devel, Americanized and spelled phonetically, became Devil. A certain De Ville or Devel of N.Y. became annoyed at being called "Devil" and changed his name to Deuel or Duel.
- (2) The following entries on the Dutchess County Tax Lists show: first name Beekman, June 1746, second name Divil, Ben, June 1746. In 1756 the same two names read: 1st entry – Beekman 1756; second entry, Dewell, Benjamin, 1756; ten years later, still another spelling of the name.

William (1) Devol was one who took part in the religious unrest of the period. His move from Rehoboth to Newport, R.I., and again to Dartmouth, Mass., was occasioned by his following the unpopular Baptist faith. Any religious beliefs in variance with the original Pilgrim beliefs brought persecution down upon its adherents. For instance, Andrew H. Ward, in his "History of the Town of Shrewsbury, Mass." lists the following penalties given "Quakers":

"For first offense – an ear was cut off.

For second offense – the other ear was cut off.

For third offense – the offenders tongue was bored with a hot iron and females were whipt."

In 1661, Peter Pierson and Judah Brown, Quakers, being indicted, stood mute. The court ordered "that they shall by the Constable of Boston be taken out of prison and stripped from the girdle upwards and tied to the carts tail and whipped through the town, twenty stripes; and the same in Roxbury with ten stripes; Dedham the same with ten stripes and from thence they are immediately to depart this jurisdiction at their peril" (Hazard's History).

Wm. (1) Devol and his wife, in 1650, were brought before the Grand Jury for meeting from house to house on the Lord's Day contrary to the order of the court. One presumes as a Seventh Day Baptist, Saturday was his Sabbath. By the fourth and fifth generations most of them were Quakers. The Dartmouth, Mass., Records used intention of marriage before many of the Devols' names in the Vital Records (a Quaker form). Some were disbarred from Quaker marriage for marrying out of the church (to one NOT a Quaker).

In the sixth generation several of Ezra (6) Duell's children married Whitneys who were Congregationalists.

At the end of the Revolution the Duels migrated from Dartmouth, Mass., to Hebron and Granville, N.Y.; the Lambs from Rutland, Mass., and nearby Stratton, Vt., to Wells, Vt., which adjoins Granville, N.Y. The Whitneys migrated from Killingly, Conn., to Granville, N.Y.; the Stark family from Groton, Conn. to Guilford, Vt., and the Sweets too were also now in N.Y. in the Granville area from (?) R.I., so that all the main allied families resided in about a 40 mile radius from about 1781-1804 to 1850 when the author's particular great-grandparents and grandparents migrated to Wisconsin.

These allied families will be included in the genealogy sections but keep the main lines in mind.

EARLY PIONEERS IN FOND DU LAC COUNTY, WISCONSIN

When I had arrived at this point in my genealogical research I felt the historical background in the Eastern New England states was more than adequately covered in the separate genealogies, but how about Fond du Lac County? Was there some data available that should be included? I let it be known and soon relatives and friends sent newspaper clippings, some yellowed by time, copies of speeches made at centennials or at one of the many patriotic group meetings. When known, I will include the credits at the end, because I have no wish to take credit from anyone, but in most cases only a fraction of any material was used. Much available data on Fond du Lac County, Wisconsin, was gathered by W.P.A. writers during the depression and put in usable form. I tell you this so you will know my research is but gleanings of others, but the sources are good and reputable.

The "end of the lake", Fond du Lac, became a French trading post when Laurent Du Charme arrived in 1785. In 1835 Judge James Duane Doty organized a company and bought land in the vicinity and even considered Fond du Lac as a possible Capitol for the State of Wisconsin. The first permanent white settlers at Fond du Lac, Colvert and Edward Pier, came in 1836. A sawmill and grist mill were built in 1840 and by 1847 the population numbered 400. By 1850 logs began coming down the Wolf River to Lake Winnebago. In 1869 there were eleven sawmills, but ten years later, as the timber line receded, production decreased by half.

Fond du Lac remained important as being in the main line of traffic. A plank road stretched from Sheboygan to Fond du Lac. The North Western Railroad's first track was a twenty mile stretch between Fond du Lac and East Waupun. In 1859 the line was completed to Chicago and became the Chicago and Northwestern Railroad.

In the beginning Taycheedah, just east of Fond du Lac, in about 1839, was a more thriving location and the builder of the Military Road, Francis D. McCarthy, thought it would be the site of a commercial city. At that time it was a favorite stop-over for traders, soldiers and settlers, and long wagon trains rolled in for the night, but a decline set in shortly before the Civil War. The Military Road passed on from Taycheedah through Fond du Lac.

The great portion of the Original Military Road lies along Brooke Street, which was the main street in those days. The railroad crossing bridge of the East branch of the Fond du Lac River was the original site of the Military Road crossing. In Harry E. Cole's "The Old Military Road" it states: "This bridge was used by the natives and wild beasts before the first settlers arrived." Cole also wrote about "Corduoy Roads" built through Fond du Lac marshes. Small logs placed side by side on the soft earth, sometimes covered with brush and dirt, formed the roadbed. He said that they were "as slippery as noodles on a spoon". He also quoted a Vermonter living in Fond du Lac, writing home:

"Great western waste of bottom land; flat as a pancake, rich as grease; where gnats are full as big as toads; and skeeters are as big as geese!"

Early settlers came from Ohio and New York with an influx of immigrants occurring at a later date when the land was generally opened for sale.

Lumber was the leading industry, while the land was cleared for wheat farming. Wisconsin wheat helped win the Civil War. The cinch bug subsequently drove the wheat farmer west and he was replaced by the dairy farmer.

"Our forebears adjusted from wheat farming to dairy farming and remained." Ref: ("Jaunts with Jamie") (Neita Oviatt Firend).

One thing I wish to add for those who know only paved or macadam roads, even in the country around and in Fond du Lac today, that as late as 1915 many of Fond du Lac's streets were creosote-block paved and each spring when the River overflowed many of these six to eight inch post-like blocks would loosen and float free. I suppose the use of creosote-block in place of brick stems from the abundance of small timber in the early days and since it remained serviceable it was repaired long after outlying streets in newer parts of the city were made of concrete. The ones I remember were near the River and the Milwaukee Railroad depot which must have been the "old town", once the "center of things".

Like brick streets, these cobble streets followed the contour of the ground. Certainly it must have been a big improvement over the mud or ankle deep dust. One story told of a long ago Fond du Lac prankster, to illustrate how muddy the streets were at times, told how he arose early and in front of a well known establishment pushed a pair of boots and a hat into the sea of mud in such a way as to simulate the "disappearing remnants of some hapless way-farer".

Once, Fond du Lac was known as the "Fountain City" because of its many fountains and horse troughs fed by artesian wells scattered about the city. With the passing of horse drawn vehicles and the streetcar and inter-urban, they disappeared from the scene.

From the records, the group who came to Wisconsin in 1850 was sizable – related families and in-laws of Duels, friends and relatives, and neighbors, no doubt of long standing. (See Foot-note). In my recent research, for instance, the Kronk family, although not related, were neighbors of the Whitney's in N.Y. and

EARLY SETTLERS, FOND DU LAC, WISCONSIN

In a list of settlers who came to Wisconsin and Fond du Lac County in particular as early as 1846-7, from a reference "Fond du Lac County Past and Present", by M. J. McKenna (1912) those who were in Eldorado that early, suggest a previous migration and the report of fertile soil and opportunity caused the larger migration of families in 1850. The first group to Fond du Lac and Eldorado, Wis., contains familiar names:

William Wolcott	H. Deul (sic)

Stephen Claggett	John Adams
J. O. Henning	David Austin
Thomas Merchant	E. Williams
James Merchant	Wm. Williams
Alexander Cronk	A. R. Wilber
Cyrus Haskell	Nelson Phillips

came and settled and are buried in the same country cemetery in Eldorado, Wisconsin. (To digress a bit – as a child I loved to recite the names of the Kronk family – “Americus Licurgus Alexander Kronk; Adelina Isadora Isabella Kronk”. To this day I do not know if the names above were of three males and three females or one male and one female!)

In Hiram (7) Duel and wife Alice (Whitney) Duel’s immediate family who came to Wisconsin are the following: George Duel died (age 20) 1851; Morris Duel died (age 16) 1851; Melvin Duel and wife Laura J. (Wolcott) (he was a Civil War Soldier) died age 56, 1880; Strabo Duel (Civil War Soldier) died in service Sept. 20, 1863; Amanda m. Almond Kenyon; Amelia b. 1833, m. Joseph Claggett, he d. 1880; Mortimer Duel and wife Martha (Perrin) Duel (dau. of Ephriam and Hannah (Draper) Perrin) who settled in Johnstown, Rock County, Wis., died four days apart. He died March 20, 1879 and she died March 16, 1879 and are buried in Johnstown, Wis.; Hiram Duel and wife Lucy A. (Lamb) Duel, and their small son George Hiram, grandson of Hiram (7) and Alice Duel. Also a nephew of Alice (Whitney) Duel, David Whitney, died (age 24) (or he may have been David Dixon Whitney who settled in Oshkosh, Wis., listed as unmarried in Mexico Fam. Rec.)

In the Appendix will appear illustrations of 1850 Census and 1860 Census, photo-stats of land patents to Hiram Duel signed by Zachary Taylor.

The land patents to the several adjoining parcels of land signed by Zachary Taylor to Hiram Duel do not include Alice (Whitney) Duel, wife of Hiram (7) or Lucy A. (Lamb) Duel, wife of Hiram (8) and as neither Hiram Duel used Sr. or Jr., it may be all the land was taken by Hiram (7) or some portions by each (father and son).

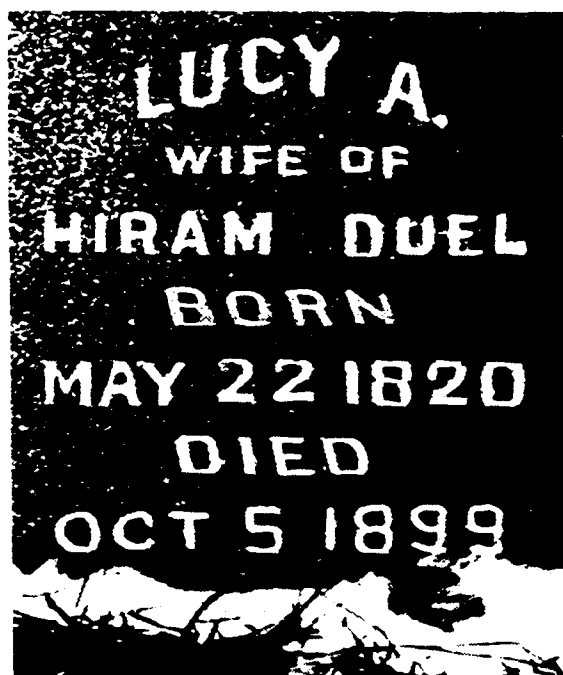

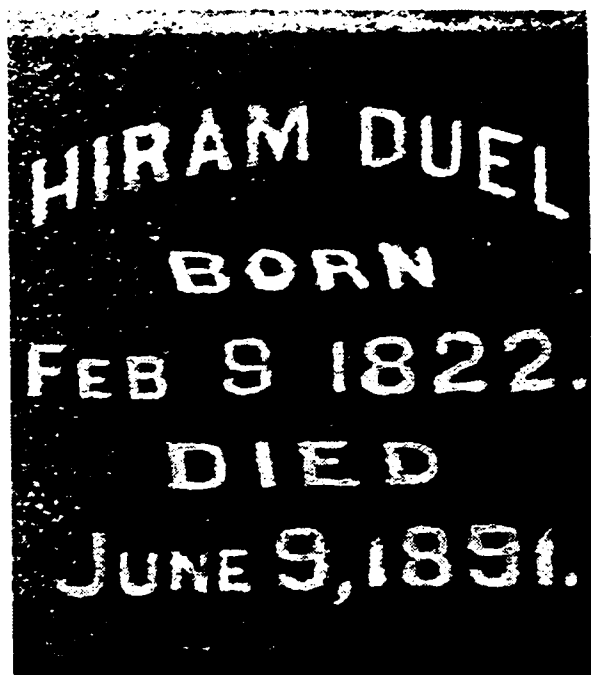

Tradition in the family (which means as told to me) is that before a permanent log house and barn could be built, the Wisconsin winter set in and at least a portion of it was spent in a lean-to open on one side where a huge fire was kept burning 24 hours a day and served to keep the family warm and provided a fire for the preparation of food. Earlier pioneers in the East had used similar protection and its simple construction was followed again. When no longer needed for human shelter it served as a wind-break for the animals. Trees were in abundance so eventually a one room log house with a loft was built some rods back on a rise on the north side of the dirt road. This house-site is the same to this day.

One can imagine these New York and Vermont farmers wanting the highest land for the home-site in order to look out upon the verdant rolling land so different from the rocky, mountainous land they had left. The log barn was almost flush with the dirt road on the south side. On a recent visit (1962) the only thing left of the log barn, and plank barn which succeeded it, was the giant threshold stone and a few weathered boards. The clapboard two-story house replaced the log house. (~~See page 90.~~) It originally was without the wing and entry-way and consisted of the single upright portion for years, and was where all of my generation, except me, were born. The additions to the house and the new basement-barn, built near the house, should have indicated productivity and convenience but it just seemed less attractive. The barking dog and the chickens scratching about in the litter of straw so near the house did not make me want even a photograph. I'll remember the dirt floor, the weathered boards and the big stone sill of the barn – the stiff prim single upright house across the road on the rise, painted white, sturdy, just right and a proper replacement for the log house – a pioneer farmhouse with a bit of dash. Shutters would have been too much – but painted white – “Yes, paint would preserve the wood”. It also preserved a memory of the snow-white houses of Granville, N.Y. and a feeling of success, I am sure.

In 1860 the Census gives all the children except John (9), the youngest, born in 1862. Hiram (8) Duel died in 1891. Most of his family, if not all, were either dead or married. Certainly it has been tradition that Le Roy (9) Duel, the eldest son (after George Hiram died in 1865) and his wife, Leah Florence Griffiths lived on and worked the home-place from the time of their marriage in 1879.

After Hiram (8) Duel died, his widow, our grandmother Duel, made her home with us until her death in 1899. Myrton and Myrtie were born in 1891 and I think Myrtie had died before the move to the farm, situated between the two parts of Eldorado, one the mill-end and the other the R.R. and depot end. In some early records, I saw Eldorado called Eldorado Mills – from the grist-mill powered by the dammed water and mill wheel. The new farm of 365 acres stretched away from the house and barns to the river. The new location made for easy access to church and school, or to Fond du Lac by train, quite different from the side-road life on the homestead farm. (SEE P. 90)

The new house was large and some changes were made at once. Grandmother Duel had the best room – one of the two upstairs heated by a register from the newly installed furnace. The boys' rooms were heated from a hall-drum and their doors were left open to capture every bit of heat while "grandma" and the girls had heat direct in separate pipes from the furnace. Grandmother had her own furniture — golden oak, ingrain carpet wall to wall tacked down from one spring cleaning to the next. She had no duties to do and enjoyed being dressed in afternoon-dresses at mid-day. She amused me, the youngest (b. 1897), by changing a brooch or ornament to see if I would notice. I suppose she did help mother by a sort of "baby sitting". One could not believe that as a young woman she had lived in a log cabin with a gun in the corner as protection against unfriendly Indians with the ability to use the gun, if necessary. When I asked why Grandmother dressed so "fine" Mother said, "When Grandfather was alive he was 'close' with money and now Grandmother could dress however she wished with no one to say 'no' ". Near the bed in a mahogany frame was Grandmother's sampler made at age 10 back in "York State". She had warm water in her porcelain pitcher each morning and even an extra one for a bath in the afternoon on hot summer days.

One always knocked before entering her room. In fact, I never saw my grandmother except when she was completely and fully dressed and my sisters, who are twelve and ten years older, agree with me. Her hair was pulled back from a center part. She had a strong face, deep set eyes, long upper lip, not soft and pretty like my mother's.

I remember her funeral perhaps because it was my first ride in a hack. My mother had to keep me from waving to my friends as we passed slowly through the village to the cemetery. She wanted me to be "decorous and seemly".

Dolly (9) (Duel) Marchant

(b. 1854; age 76 when she wrote this letter)

Rosendale February 7, 1930

My dear Gertrude:

When I saw I had a letter from you I was much pleased. When I opened it I was much disapointed that you said nothing about yourself or family. I wondered how you were and are and what you were doing. Just for that, I am not going to write you how we are or the family or whom of the relatives or your school friends have new babies, or have had operations.

I will answer your questions the best I remember. I do not remember my grandmother Duel's given name, think it was Alice (it was Alice (Whitney) Duel), she died when I was quite small have only a dim remembrance of her, do not remember grandfather Duel at all.

All our family except John were born in a small log house, the cook stove in center of room, bed in one corner, table in one, shelves for dishes and cooking utencials in the other, a narrow stairs to go into loft in the fourth. The house consisted of one room and loft.

The ordinary bed, at that time were higher from floor than now, we had a low home made bed, as most families did, for the youngest children which shoved under the other bed during the day was pulled out at night for the children, such a bed was called a trundle bed. Can you picture to yourself such a room and how much space there was left for chairs etc. I remember it all & how we children would sit on the open stair and stick our feet & legs through.

When I was about 7 years old the new house was built. John was born in the new house. That is the house where the William Zimmerman family have been living. You surely remember where your father's old farm is.

Yes there were Indians at that time. They often came to our home beging food.

I wonder where you got the idea my father wore a high hat or clothing different from ordinary. My father, your grandfather was average height rather fleshy, weighing around 200 lb. He was very straight and dignified in appearance a very fine looking man.

George H. and "Cappy" (for Captolia) as we called her both died from typhoid fever.

Your mother was a very pretty girl. No her life was not hard according to the standards of those times, she always had a maid after she was married until Jennie & Lucy were old enough to help her. Of course no farmers at that time had running water, furnace heat or electricity. I want to say right here I loved your mother dearly and she and myself spent many happy hours together. We never had one disagreement or misunderstanding. I missed her sorely and still do.

I also held your grandmother Griffiths in high regard, she was a woman of high Christian character and good judgement, I enjoyed visiting with her so much. As to her sickness I do not know she worked very hard when younger. She is one of the first people outside our family I remember, she gave me many a "snack" to eat when a child.

I think all marriages of young people are a romance to them, so far as I know there was nothing out of the ordinary connected with any of the marriages.

I must tell you of one of the funny things we children did while we still lived in the log house. We had heard older men and boys tell of sucking raw eggs. One day while out playing we found a nest of eggs we thought it would be lots of fun to try that stunt. My sister Dorliska older than myself said she would try it first. She broke the egg and attempted to swallow it but she could not make it go, the yolk broke and she smeared it all over her face, hands and dress. We were afraid if mother knew what we had done she would scold and perhaps punish us, for a time we hardly knew what to do, but children are resourceful when there are a number together, so finally we thought of wiping it off with hay for if we used our handkerchiefs she might notice the egg on them. We got some dry hay and wiped her face and dress good and hard. Which only made matters worse as the hay scratched her face and did not remove much of the egg. Think mother must have seen the funny side of it as I don't remember as we were scolded or punished.

Hoping you can make use of this material I wish you all success in whatever you undertake.

Each Christmas I have wanted to send you a card but never knew your address.

Lots of love,

Aunt Dolly

INTIMATE PORTRAITS

OUR OWN FAMILY

Le Roy (IX) Duel born Sept. 1, 1856, in Fond du Lac County, Wisconsin, on the farm north of Eldorado, Wisconsin, secured on a "Land Patent" from the U.S. Government by his parents and/or grandparents during Zachary Taylor's and Millard Fillmore's Presidencies. He died Feb. 1, 1926, of pneumonia on his son Myrton H. Duel's farm two miles west of Fond du Lac, Wisconsin, with whom he lived after his wife, Leah, died four years earlier. His wife, Leah Florence (Griffiths) was born June 27, 1860, on a farm just across the road and up a lane from the original Duel homestead. Although these two homes were that near one another, they were in separate school districts and I believe one was in Eldorado and the other Rosendale Township. Leah F. (Griffiths) Duel died March 24, 1922, after an operation for cancer, in Fond du Lac, Wisconsin. They are both buried in the North Eldorado Cemetery Family Plot.

EARLY ELDORADO SCENE SHOWING GRIST MILL

My mother always disliked rundown cemeteries, so father instituted the idea of perpetual care in this out-of-the-way cemetery and saw to fence repair and the installation of gates. Leroy Duel and his wife, Leah, lived on the homestead farm after their marriage September 24, 1879, until 1891. Six of their seven children were born there. Actually, seven of eight children, but there was no record of their first child because he was dismembered at birthing. Nowadays the doctor would have used a caesarian section, but country doctors did their best and at least mother was saved. Their fifth and sixth living children were twins – a boy, Myrton, and a girl, Myrtie. Myrtie died the same year in which she was born, of pneumonia. Grandfather Hiram Duel died in 1891. Le Roy was in charge of the estate and he rented the homestead farm to the Zimmerman family which they continued to rent for twenty-five years; finally buying it and in the end losing it by foreclosure after Le Roy's and the elder Zimmerman's death. Le Roy and Leah bought a larger farm in Eldorado, Wisconsin, and his mother, Lucy A. (Lamb) Duel came to live with them. The house, a large one, was remodeled and a furnace installed so that Grandmother Duel could have a heated room.

A PORTION OF THE COUNTRY SCHOOL TO THE RIGHT.

A 365 acre farm meant hired hands so a large sleeping room with two double beds, absolutely separate from the family's second floor, was added over the kitchen. This room had its own staircase and was heated by a drum in the cookstove pipe. None of the twelve rooms of this house were small. The remodeling was complete and took some time. I was born in 1897 and they told how I slept through the noise made by the carpenters.

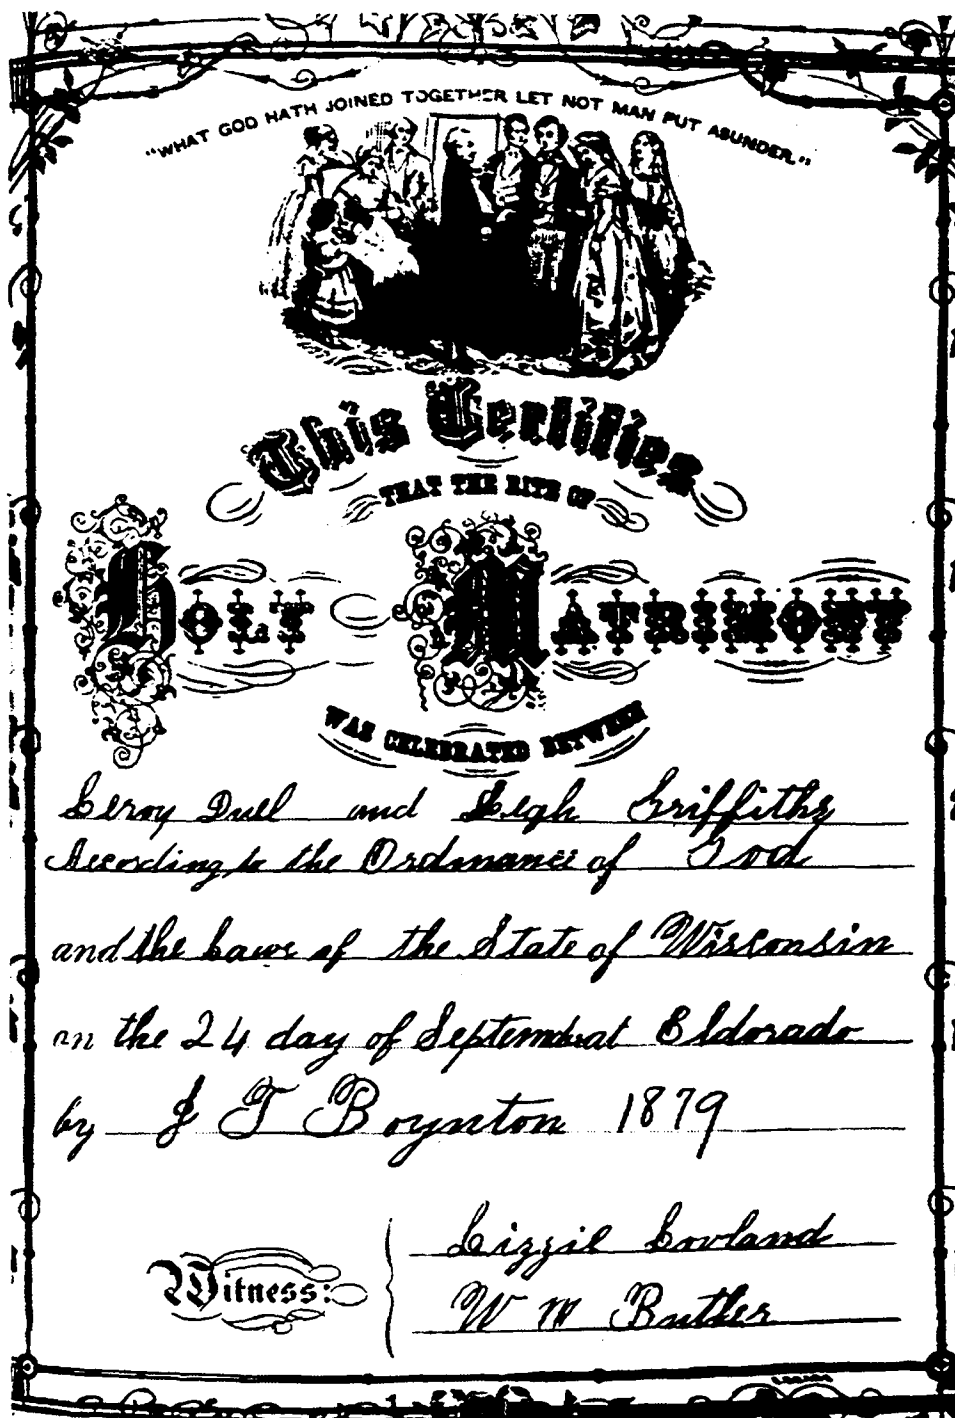

ROSENDALE GRADE AND HIGH SCHOOL BUILDING.

My parents were interested in education for their children. Hiram, Jennie, Lucy, Morvin and Myrton attended the Eldorado Village School. Hiram and Jennie attended the Oshkosh Normal Academy after 8th grade. Lucy, Morvin, and Myrton drove 2½ miles to Rosendale High School and Graded School and graduated each in turn. I, Gertrude, rode with them, entering the chart class and continuing on until mid-term of eighth grade, 1910, at which time I transferred to Jefferson P.S., Fond du Lac, Wisconsin. Jennie married young and then Hiram married and took over the Eldorado Farm. Le Roy and Leah bought a home in Fond du Lac, Wisconsin, and Lucy, Morvin, Myrton and I moved to Fond du Lac with them. Morvin entered and graduated from Oshkosh Normal. Lucy entered nurses training in Milwaukee and Myrton took a short course at Madison Agriculture School and tested milk and followed other farm pursuits until he was drafted in World War I. He served until he was released after a serious hernia operation. Morvin, crippled by rheumatism, was not called; he taught high school in Withee, Wisconsin and became County Superintendent of Schools, Fond du Lac, Wisconsin, and lived at home until his marriage. I graduated from Fond du Lac High School and Ripon College and taught High School in Menominee, Wisconsin; Holmen, Wisconsin; Janesville, Wisconsin; and Fond du Lac, Wisconsin, until my marriage in 1923 when I moved to Green Bay, Wisconsin.

Jennie's oldest boy, Franklin, made his home with us in Fond du Lac for 4 years during the school term, helping mother with the heavier household tasks and helped me after her death and until his graduation, June 1923.

MY MOTHER AND FATHER

Leah (Griffith) Duel was, they told me, a very pretty girl. She was short, not quite 5 feet tall, with tiny hands and feet. She was thin as a young woman but in middle age weighed about 130 lbs. She had a beautiful complexion, kept so by rosewater and glycerine, which she had compounded. Her eyes were blue-grey and her hair light brown with a red cast. In late life it darkened to brown and turned grey at the sides leaving a dark streak in the center. She was immaculate about herself and her home. Her housedresses were pinstripe percale made in shirt-waist style.

MARRIAGE CERTIFICATE OF LEROY AND LEAH DUEL

WEDDING PICTURE OF LE ROY AND LEAH DUEL

She put on a fresh one each afternoon and wore it the next morning until she "freshened up" after dinner at noon. She had household help, hired girls, they were called, after she moved to Eldorado, Wisconsin, into the big house. Two sisters came, one for five years, and her younger sister for three years. Each one married a neighbor boy and always came to help out for threshing, butchering, etc. The hired girls slept in the family part of the upstairs because Mother had charge of their moral well-being. They sat at table, getting up to replenish serving dishes or water glasses. All meals were eaten in the dining room since there were never less than nine or ten. Leah was a good manager, in fact, excellent. Father provided well, but in turn expected meals to be filling and on time. Mother knew which field the men were working and would ring the dinner bell in advance. The men stopped at the signal and when they reached the dining room the food was steaming and ready to be passed. Any noon rest was taken after eating.

Father did not expect the women-folk to work outside. The house, the garden and the chickens were their responsibility. Mother was a deeply religious woman, but she did not let her desire to attend church interfere with the family Sunday dinner. Father's comfort and wishes came first.

Mother was the disciplinarian of all the children. She and she alone meted out any and all punishment. No child, younger or older, was allowed to strike another. She arbitrated most infractions but on two occasions she used father's razor strap and, as I remember, the cause justified its use.

Everyone was expected to do a share of the work inside or out. As a result things ran smoothly. Mother and father expected, but did not demand, either from the hired help, the children, or guests, but the systematic approach was most effective. Everyone did what was expected. The children, young and old, had friends and beaux and the boys invited their girl friends but once in the house they became a part of the family and helped wherever needed.

Mother did not sew or knit. A dressmaker came twice a year, stayed until the necessary clothes were hanging in the closets and then moved on to someone else. A German born neighbor knitted the socks and long black stockings for winter. In summer the young ones went barefoot but no one went to bed with unwashed feet in our house. The washings were tremendous, even though the top sheet was aired and placed other side up as the bottom sheet and a fresh top sheet and pillow case put on each bed. Nine sheets, underwear and towels and table linen filled the lines twice or more. Blanket sheets in the winter cut down some but they were larger and drying was a problem. Meals were routine except for Sundays and holidays but routine or not, they meant bread baking twice a week, pies, cakes, cookies, everything in quantity. There were dinner pails during school time and in the summer the preserving of fruit, vegetable and meat for winter and, of course, the annual housecleaning. Mother managed it all. She even sang sometimes – “I’m longing for someone to love me, For someone to call me his own”. I loved to hear her.

When she moved to Fond du Lac she still wore the percale house dresses for morning, but had nicer ones for the afternoon. A trip downtown was in a silk dress, kid gloves and a Queen Elizabeth-style hat. The latter was new every second season but identical in appearance. She walked primly with short steps. She bought the best quality but wore it longer than most. Now she indulged herself in church work and made many friends. Her funeral filled the church. Father was pursued by widows until he announced firmly to the most persistent, “One good woman is enough for any man”.

After Mother died Myrton, Lucy, and I were married. Father offered to keep the home in Fond du Lac but neither Lucy nor I wished to stay on. I was to be married and Lucy also had met her future husband while nursing in Montana. Myrton was buying a farm and building a new house so father sold the house in Fond du Lac and moved all the contents, not divided between Jennie, Lucy, and me after mother’s death, and made his home with Myrton and Matie and their growing family, from the summer of 1923 until his death Feb. 1, 1926. He died of pneumonia, after a short illness. It may have been his heart because the fever was down but the pneumonia was the contributing cause of death.

Le Roy Duel never retired. He helped his son, Hiram, through harvest and plowing up until the time his son Myrton bought the farm near Fond du Lac. Then he drove out daily and helped him get established. Myrton’s wife, Matie, must have found him easy to have in their home; her grief at his funeral was genuine. She told how helpful he was with the children and that his last purchase was a gift for one of them.

Le Roy Duel, was of sturdy build, about 5 ft. 6 in. in height. His eyes were blue; hair dark with fair complexion; with blonde moustache in middle age. In his later years he was clean shaven. His wedding picture shows his moustache dark but it was customary to dye and wax one’s moustache in that period and, as mother said, she also had false curls for the occasion.

He was progressive, improving his buildings – not only the barn, as so many farmers did, buying new equipment often before any of his neighbors. He bought and shipped livestock to Chicago. He bought wool and resold it at a profit. He pastured other farmers' livestock in the lower pasture and marshland. The river provided water so that this was easy profit, from otherwise unproductive land. He was on the Rosendale Bank's Board of Directors and he acted as President and adjusted losses in the County Farmers Mutual Insurance Company. He was not a churchgoer but he never worked his animals on Sunday; and it was he who ended up by moving the new minister's household furniture without charge. He urged his children to attend church and would attend on special occasions, such as Childrens Day, to hear them speak their pieces.

Anyone who came at mealtime was automatically welcome and in turn he never worried about a welcome when he was out buying livestock. He had a good singing voice and many times he and I rode along the country roads singing hymns and patriotic songs. He knew all the verses, not just the first and last, as people do today.

The teacher boarded around and Le Roy Duel's place seemed to be a favorite. Anyway, he always stayed longer and chose to be there during the cold winter months.

Even an old hobo came each Fall and stayed until Spring, or until the first warm days and the railroad called him back to his "far-away-places". It would be then he would ask - "Mr. Duel, did I earn more than my keep and 'baccy' money this winter?" and Le Roy would say, "Leah, do you think this man has been of any earthly use? Remember, once he is paid the boys will have to keep the woodbox filled." He could kill and butcher beef and pork but a sheep he could not kill. He said they just stood dumb and meek and did not fight back. So a neighbor was called in and a portion of the lamb or mutton was given him for his trouble.

A strong, upright, sagacious man with sensibility. His obituary said, "Pioneer Laid to Rest". Not one of his children had all but only a small portion of this man's spirit.

Two of Le Roy and Leah Florence Duel's children had no children from their unions, so rather than placing a long description in the Genealogy Section, I chose to give more space to them here so that later generations may have a picture of them as people – Lucy Elizabeth (10) (Duel) and the author of this Family History, Gertrude Genevieve (10) (Duel).

Lucy Elizabeth (10) (Duel), named for her two grandmothers, Elizabeth (Stockham) Griffiths and Lucy A. (Lamb) Duel, was b. Oct. 9, 1886, and d. Jan. 6, 1965; m. (as his 2nd wife) on Dec. 23, 1923, in Whitefish, Montana, Ole Seivert Jordet, (b. Aug. 11, 1879), Dover, Norway, d. 1959, age 89 (son of Seivert and Margit (Johnson) Jordet). He is buried in Conrad Memorial Cemetery, Kalispell, Montana. He was a resident of Kalispell about 50 years. At different times he farmed, owned a lumber yard, garage and lastly, a clothing store. His widow, Lucy E. (10) (Duel) Jordet resided in Kalispell, Montana, after his death. He was preceded in death by his first wife, Paulina (Samulson) 1913 and their son, Spencer, who d. 1936. His son, Phillip M. Jordet, and wife, a granddaughter and three grandchildren and his widow, Lucy E. survived. Lucy E. (Duel) (10) Jordet had no issue from this marriage so deserves some attention here since some characteristic of hers may reappear in later Duel generations and should be noted for that reason. One predominant trait is that although she constantly did kindly things, the recipient had a difficult time if he wished to thank her. She avoided thanks; seemed almost gruff and embarrassed. Her love of a full and busy life was evident in all of her letters. Her love of action placed her in the center of social, church, card and lodge groups. After her marriage she became a true Westerner – fishing, camping, hiking and riding with her husband in Glacier National Park. As a profession she chose nursing and would have become a graduate nurse except for a prolonged case of scarlet fever, followed by complications. Upon resuming her training she had severe back trouble. However, she used her professional training through the years. Once, for some time in a Western T.B. Sanitarium and again as a volunteer night-nurse during World War II in the Kalispell Hospital. Her natural talent for helping a sick friend or relative was freely given. She was a born giver with no strings attached.

Lucy died Jan. 6, 1965, age 78; cause of death, blockage of the kidney function. She was in the hospital only about a week. Her failing eyesight, as well as this last complication, were caused by hardening of the arteries. She is buried in Conrad Memorial Cemetery beside her husband, in her beloved Kalispell, Montana, where she sleeps surrounded by friends in death as she was in life.

Gertrude Genevieve (10) (Duel). Since this Family History has taken years of research and was done for you of the 11th Generation and those who follow, I decided it was permissible, on my part, to tell you more about us here because you would be aware of your own parents, my sister and brothers' background, but not necessarily mine or your Aunt Lucy Jorder's since, like her, no issue resulted from the marriage.

I was born Jan. 18, 1897, on the Eldorado (Village) farm, while all the others were born on the "original Duel" farm north of Eldorado for which the land patent was signed by President Zachary Taylor. I attended the graded school in Rosendale, riding the 2½ miles with my older brothers and sisters who were in High School. At mid-term of my eighth grade year we moved to Fond du Lac and I attended Jefferson P.S. and then graduated from Fond du Lac High School and Ripon College with a B.A. degree. In college I was a member of the then local Delta Phi Sigma Sorority, now an affiliate of the National Sorority Gamma Tau Chapter, of Kappa Delta; — a member of the girls glee club, served on the "College Days" staff, and the "Crimson" year book in my senior year. After college I was active in A.A.U.W. study groups, the Federated Woman's Club, Art Guild, Church groups, N.S.D.A.R., and National Society of New England Women, Chicago Colony. For two or three years after World War II I did reviews for Viking Press. As for accomplishments, both my painting and writing of verse are non-professional. I taught high school, as stated previously, about seven years in all.

I married Aug. 1, 1923, in Ripon, Wisconsin, Robert Joseph Icks, b. 1900, Kaukauna, Wisconsin, (son of August William Icks and his 1st wife, Lisa (or Elizabeth) (Feister) m. 1894); (son of Johann Gottfried Icks and wife, Marie (Taber) m. 1850; who was son of August Friedrich Icks and wife Anna R. (Gehrke) m. 1780; who was son of Christian Friedrich Icks and wife, Hannah S. Coelius, m. 1732; who was son of Johann Friedrich Icks and wife, Marie (Haberstrick) m. date about 1702). The Icks line is from the Stettin area, once Prussia; all Lutherans, many ministers or married to daughters of ministers.

Robert Icks graduated from both Public School and High School in Green Bay, Wisconsin, and from Ripon College with a Ph. B. degree and a post-graduate Public School Music Certificate from the University of Wisconsin, Madison, Wisconsin. While in college he was a member of the Men's Glee Club, and President his senior year, served as President of his Fraternity House, the then local Theta Sigma Tau, now an affiliate of the National Fraternity of Sigma Nu. He represented his house on the Student Council, was Decoration Chairman in his Senior Year for the Prom and several other large dances. He was a Sergeant in S.A.T.C. in World War I.

After graduation he taught music, band, orchestra and glee club for 5 years. He left teaching to work for Hardware Mutual Casualty Co. for over 11 years both in the Home Office at Stevens Point, Wisconsin, and a branch office in Minneapolis, Minn. He organized and directed a male chorus for the Company and directed the Presbyterian Choir. He left Hardware Mutual to work for Auto Owners Insurance Co., Lansing, Michigan. From there he was called into the service. His war service was in both World War I and II. He was a Reserve Officer for 32 years previous to his retirement. He was commissioned in 1927, entered World War II July, 1941, as a Major and was assigned to Aberdeen Proving Ground, Md. He was advanced to Lt. Col. while there and commissioned full Colonel Nov. 1944, while serving in the Detroit Tank-Automotive Center. He is an author of three books on Tanks (two in collaboration) and has written many published articles on the subject of Armor and Tanks in particular. He is the author of the two articles of the 1961 and revised editions of 1962 and 1966 of the Encyclopædia Britannica on Tanks and Armored cars. His military library and notebooks are willed to the Library of Congress, Washington, D. C., and have been accepted by them. Besides articles on military subjects, he has authored articles appearing in Best's Insurance News. He is presently employed in a specialized capacity by Peat, Marwick, Mitchell & Co., an international firm of accountants. He received the Decoration "Legion of Merit" in Detroit some months after his release from active service. Most of his memberships in organizations have had to do with the army or guns. He was appointed in 1953 to the Ordnance-Industry Combat Vehicle Committee, which meets annually.

Both Gertrude G. and Robert Icks are members of the Congregational Church and of the Republican Party.

Now all the years of moving about have made home the subconscious motivation for what was read, clipped, painted, re-finished, or studied. Our house is a "haven" filled with related things to all our past endeavors, not necessarily expensive, but coordinated, individual, and above all, used and comfortable. I am proud of my husband's accomplishments and I hope, like our house, I too, am individual, pleasant, coordinated, and companionable.

INTRODUCTION

TO

WHITNEY FAMILY LINE

Origin – “The name Whitney is of Saxon Origin, and there was a Parish of Whitney in Oxfordshire. In the early days of English history the family Seat was in Herefordshire and they were Lords of the Manor of Whitney. In the church of St. Giles, Cripplegate, stands a massive monument, with the effigy to Constance Whitney, a granddaughter of Sir Thomas Lucy, of Charl-cote, who prosecuted his townsman, Shakespeare, for shooting deer.

“The Whitney family of the United States is very numerous and many of them are descendants of John and Elinor Whitney of Watertown.” (p. 193 – Some Desc. of John and Elinor Whitney, who settled in Watertown, Mass. 1635; compiled by – William L. Whitney).

EMBARKATION AS PER (BANKS) - (HOTTEN) - (BOND) OF JOHN WHITNEY, WIFE ELINOR AND FIVE OF HIS SONS

Both (Banks) and (Hotten, p. 58) list John and Elinor as passengers with their five sons on the "Elizabeth and Ann", April, 1635. The original list of persons of quality who went from Great Britain to the American Plantation 1600-1700 by J. C. Hotten, pub. 1874, page 58, reads interestingly: In the "Elizabeth and Ann" – Roger Cooper, Mr. (Master); April, 1635, "Theis p'ties herevrunder expressed are to be embarqued for New England, having taken the Oath of Allegiance and Supremacie and likewise broght certificate both from the minister and Justice where their abidings were latie, of this conformitie to the discipline and order of the Church of England, and yet they are no Subsedy".  (Quaint spelling – see below).

Jo: Whitney (John, father)
Jo: Whitney (John, son)
Richard Whitney
Nattaniel Whitney (Nathaniel)
Tho: Whitney (Thomas)
Jonathan Whitney
Ellin Whitney (Elinor, mother)

 p'ties – parties
herevrunder – hereunder embarqued – embarked abidings – where they lived latie – recently, lately
subsedy – in need of financial help

John and Elinor Whitney – Henry Bond – "Early Settlers of Watertown, Massachusetts" (p. 642) says they embarked at Ipswich, England, April, 1635, for New England and gives ages of each; John age 35, wife Ellin (Elinor) 30; sons: John 11, Richard 9, Nathaniel 8, Thomas 6, Jonathan 1 year. These ages are each about three years younger in some cases than actual age of the children. F. C. Pierce suggests, on page 19 that the nonconformity acts may have had an influence in the giving ages younger than actual ages; or 14, 12, 11, 9, 3 or 4 years.

John Whitney arrived about June 1635 and immediately settled in Watertown, Mass., where his son, Joshua (2), our ancestor, was born, July 5 (or 15), 1635. He was the first of the family born in America, the mother being pregnant during the journey. John Whitney purchased a 16 acre homestall, which had been granted to John Strickland, who was dismissed from the Watertown Church, May 29, 1635. This homestead was the permanent residence of Mr. Whitney (Sr.).

In 1668 he requested his youngest son Benjamin, who had settled in York, Maine, to return and live with him on his homestead, with the assurance that it should be his own after his father's decease. In 1671 Benjamin, with his father's consent, conveyed his rights and obligations in this homestead to his brother Joshua II, who had settled in Groton, for £40. After the decease of his father, Joshua II again returned to Groton, Mass., and on the 29th of Oct. 1697, sold this ancient homestead to Deacon Nathan Fiske. It was situated at a little distance north of Belmont Street and East Common Street (Early map of allotments to be seen in Bond's "Early History of Watertown").

It is stated above that Mr. Whitney purchased his homestall, but before 1642 the town had granted him nine other lots of land, amounting to 198 acres. The Registry of Deeds shows that he made several purchases of land, and it is probable that he had aided all his other sons in their settlements as he did Jonathan, to whom he gave 39 acres about 1659 and Benjamin, to whom he first gave the homestead as previously stated. Jonathan and Benjamin received these gifts from their father when they were quite young, and it is possible that they shared in some later division of his estate, which may account for the fact that Mr. Whitney in his will, while he bequeaths parcels of land to all his other sons, merely gives to Jonathan "one iron kittle" and "a great brass skilet"; to Benjamin "the old mare if she live".

Mr. Whitney was admitted freeman March 3, 1635-6. He was appointed Constable of Watertown by the General Court, June 1, 1641; selectman 1638 to 1655, inclusive; and town clerk 1655.

His wife, Elinor, (mother of all his children — a daughter who died young in England and eight sons) died, May 11, 1659, age 54. He m. 2nd Sept. 29, 1659, Judah Clement, who pre-deceased him. At least she was not living on the date of his will, Apr. 3, 1673. He died June 1, 1673, age (Watertown Vit. Rec. says abt. 84).

Inventory dated June 4, 1673; 50 acres, dividend land 3 acres, Beaver Brook Meadow, and 1½ acres upland; 1 acre plain (meadow) besides his personal property consisting of household goods and stock on farm. This shows that he then held but a small part of his lands granted and purchased, which had probably been distributed to his sons.

His early election as "freeman" and to office so soon after arrival, shows that he held a respected social position carried with him from England.

The will which follows has been published but is so interesting, I include it here.

The Will of John Whitney – Dated April 3, 1673

THE WHITNEY FAMILY

This is an Extract (Except, the last 4 paragraphs)

Extracts concerning "Family of Whitney's Genealogical Tree, Having Its Roots in the Round Table"; by Fredric C. Pierce, Chicago. Nearly all the copies were subscribed for before publication. Following is a book notice which was published on the Literary Page of a Daily Chicago Newspaper.

"How the seed of John Whitney, who settled in Watertown, Mass., in 1635, has multiplied until there are 30,000 Whitneys in the U.S. and more to come (year 1895).

"Have you not heard of the Whitneys? The descendants of John Whitney 'gentleman' who came from Isleworth, London, England, in 1635, and settled at Watertown, Mass. Almost every other prominent man one josltes against has some of the blood of John Whitney of Isleworth in his veins. The book illustrates what a debt we owe to John and Elinor for imigrating to Mass. early in the 20th Cent. and Joshua II born the same year, 1635. They arrived in America, Caleb died young and Benjamin was bom 1643. Hon. Wm. C. Whitney ex-Sec. of the Navy under Pres. Cleveland. Wm. D. Whitney of Yale College, compiler of the Century Dictionary

"The family of Whitneys is as ancient as its American branch appears to be prolific. The first Whitney was found at Sir Launcelot's Round Table. Whitneys are mentioned in Domesday Book, the crusades. A parcel of land is presented to the Church of St. Peter at Gloucester by one.

"The Whitney Genealogy, by F. C. Pierce, is comprehensive telling of early knights and holdings granted, as well as parliamentary seats. These holdings were located on the River Wye. Another genealogist has traced this line for 800 years in unbroken succession. The word 'Gentleman' means one whose family held rank of nobility. The title succeeds to the eldest son but other sons could use 'gentleman' denoting the family's rightful position."

Certain it is that this line is now firmly established and a descendant in a direct line is eligible for membership in Magna Charta Dames and Barons. The necessary lineage is given in the Appendix, for any later generations who may be asked to join. It is carried down from the author, Gen. 10.

In my generation which is 10th in direct line from John (1) and Elinor Whitney, are none so famous as those listed by Frederick Pierce but two brothers were in Wisconsin State Government; one as a Senator and one as a Representative. Certainly the offspring is showing some of the thirst for knowledge and its application for which the Whitneys, until 1895, were famous. Since, after nine or ten generations, one does not know the true impetus inherited from any one direct line, we won't ascribe the successes to the Whitney ancestors. We will be proud and happy they, and we hope succeeding generations, marry as intelligently.

The name Whitney to inventors of any age calls up Eli (7) Whitney, inventor of the cotton gin and also interchangeable gun parts. Before you ask, we have only the first generation, John (1) and Elinor, in common with the famous Eli. His line is John (1), (2), (3), Nathaniel (4), (5), (6), Eli (7) Whitney.

Our line is John (1), Joshua (2), Cornelius (3), Mathais (4), Cornelius (5), Alice (6) (Whitney) married to Hiram (7) Duel, my great grandparents and your great, great, etc., depending on your generation.

NARRATIVE NOT INCLUDED IN THE GENEALOGY SECTION (F. C. PIERCE)

Joshua II Whitney, given as 6th son (or 6 ly) in his father, John I Whitney's will on a previous page, was the first of the family born in America and appears early in the Watertown, Mass., Vital Records. He was one of the earliest settlers, a Deacon and an original proprietor at Groton, Mass., where he dwelt until, it is probably thought, it was burned by the Indians during King Phillip's War in the spring of 1676. He returned to Watertown for a few years and died 1719. His will is dated April 17, 1713, and proved Oct. 6, 1719. His will mentions several children whose births are not recorded. He was buried in the Old Burying Ground in Groton. He served as a soldier in King Phillip's War, as did his son Joshua (3) Jr.

Deacon Joshua II Whitney, d. Aug. 7, 1719. The following is copied from his tombstone in the Old Burying Ground in Groton, Mass.:

(Death's Head)

Here Lyes the Body of Mr.
Joshua Whitney
Aged 83 years
Dec'd. August 7th, 1719

Hon. Samuel A. Green compiled various works on Groton and relating to Deacon Whitney is gleaned:

"In 1681-83-84 and '87 he was elected one of the Slectmen. In 1680 he was selected as one of the Board pertaining to the Meeting House; In 1684 Joshuey Whitney was elected Constibell; In 1690 elected tithing man; In 1685 elected at town meeting as ffense veiver (fence viewer); In 1693 elected overseer of highways; 1701 chairman of a committee on heating the Meeting House; 1702 again elected as selectman. At a church meeting in Groton, April 22, 1715, Deacon Whitney, being old, asks that another Deacon officiate in his place. Deacon John Farnsworth also steps down and Simon Stone and Thomas Tarbelle are unanimously confirmed in their places.

"Joshua Whitney paid for his land, which he did purchase of the town comity in the year 1683 for the 'and inst. sum of twellve shillins for the twelve ackers of land. I say payed for according to order for the us (use) of the town. By Jonathan Mors Clark.'"

GENERATION III

Whitney (Joshua II, John I)

III CORNELIUS (3) WHITNEY (Joshua II, John I) b. in Groton, Mass., abt. 1680+ was mar. between 1707 and 1714 to Sarah (Shepherd) (Ref.: N.E.H. & Gen. Reg. Vol. 8, p. 162, Early Sett. of Salisbury, Mass.) (dau. of Solomon Shepherd and Sarah (Eastman) French, (wid. of Joseph French), who were mar. Aug. 4, 1684; had a dau. Sarah (Shepherd) b. June 25, 1686. (Ref.: Caleb Butler says: (dau. of Thomas Shephard and Sarah (Bond) on p. 99). (Author's note: I give my preferred reference first.)

In 1707 Cornelius had left Groton but returned in 1715 because it was Aug. 21, 1715 that Cornelius and wife, Sarah, were admitted to full Communion in the Groton Church. On March 23, 1721, a 15 acre site, originally belonging to Ralph Read, was claimed by Cornelius Whitney; also 55 acres of land on the south-east side of Pine Meadow – Easterly bounded by John Stone's Meadow and Northeast Comer on Oak, on the two Southerly corners pines – all marked for corners (Early property lines – before survey). "What is above 15 acres in quantity being added to make it equal to quality to 15 acres of the best land, allowance being made for highway through same when needed. Said land being fully to satisfy right in new division of the Common on the East side of the river."

Cornelius III was b. in Groton, Mass., where he resided until 1707 when, because of the Indian hostilities, he and his father moved elsewhere. He returned and moved to Killingly, Conn., where he supposedly died. He resided in Groton, Mass., and Killingly, Conn. (Served in Queen Ann's War 1707 from Groton, Mass.)

Seven Children (dates of birth, Ref: – History of Groton, p. 444, by Caleb Butler.)

Sarah (4) (Whitney) b. Apr. 17, 1715, d. before 1731.

Abigail (4) (Whitney) b. Dec. 9, 1717.

IV MATHAIS (4) WHITNEY b. May 26, 1720, mar. _____ Alice (See Generation IV).

Mary (4) (Whitney) b. Aug. 20, 1722.

Joshua (4) Whitney b. Dec. 1, 1724.

Lydia (4) (Whitney) b. Apr. 23, 1729.

Sarah (4) (again) (Whitney) b. Jan. 8, 1731-2. History of Groton-Appendix page 409, by Caleb Butler gives m. to Submit? and m. 2nd to Reuben Wood.

The next three named children would increase this family to ten children but I do not have firm authority for more than the first seven. (Found in another reference).

Timothy (4) Whitney.

Sybil (4) (Whitney) b. March 31, 1739.

Cornelius (4) Whitney b. 1723-d. 1811 mar. 1st Sarah (Church) Cady) Wid. They had six children - one called Mathais (5) who m. Olive (Doty) and resided in Ft. Ann, N.Y.

GENERATION IV

Whitney (Cornelius III, Joshua II, John I)

IV MATHAIS (4) WHITNEY (Cornelius III, Joshua II, John I) was born in Groton, Mass., May 26, 1720; mar. He rec. a pension of $8.00 a mo. during his life. He died Jan. 7, 1850, age 93. He res. Eastford, Conn. (F. C. Pierce).

John (5) b. March 27, 1759.

Jonathan (5) b. Nov. 28, 1761.

Perhaps even more were in this family.

GENERATION V

Whitney (Mathais IV, Cornelius III, Joshua II, John I)

V CORNELIUS (5) WHITNEY (Mathais IV, Cornelius III, Joshua II, John I) was born Killingly, Conn., July 5 (or 8), 1749; mar. 1st Martha (Graves) abt. 1775 in Killingly, Conn.; mar. 2nd Elizabeth (May) of Rutland, Vt., about 1790. He died Mexico, N.Y., March 24, 1833, ae 84. He was born in that part of Killingly subsequently North Killingly, Conn. He served 4 years in the Rev. War in Connecticut Regiments and was at the Battle of Bunker Hill. He served as a Private and Corporal in Capt. Bostwick's Co., Col. Webb's Regt. and Col. Cady's Connecticut Troops. After the Revolution he moved by way of Dutchess Co. to Granville, N.Y., where he built a Hotel but sold it before it was completed to Roger Wing. Cornelius Whitney was a Justice of the Peace, state appointed July 3, 1804; re-appointed 1807 (Ref: Hist. of Washington Co., N.Y., by Crisfield Johnson (1887), page 117). He farmed and later sold this farm near Granville, N.Y., (Later owned by De Witt Peets) and moved to Mexico, N.Y., where he owned and disposed of property to sons (see Appendix XI). His wife's name, Elizabeth, is on Mexico, N.Y., deeds. I do not have his grave-stone location.

Miss Elizabeth Simpson, in her book "Mother of Towns Mexico, N.Y.", gives the following data: — "Cornelius Whitney, Rev. War veteran, b. in Killingly, Conn., July 8, 1749, served in Capt. Isaac Bostwick's Co. of the 7th Conn. Regt. under Col. Charles Webb, stationed in 1775 on the shore of L.I. Sound — but the Regt. was called to Boston by Gen. George Washington and fought at Bunker Hill". She also states: — "More members of Mexico, N.Y., D.A.R. were descendants of Cornelius Whitney than any other Rev. War Soldier — D.A.R. Silas Town Chapt. Mexico, N.Y. In 1811 Cornelius Whitney was listed among those men who met to organize the local Congregational Church (It became Presbyterian after 1818) because the seven women who organized the Church in 1810 could not serve as church officers). However, Mrs. Whitney was not one of the 7 women in 1810."

Other names and data in the same reference: — "Orla (7) H. Whitney (son of Mathais (6)) was a banker; Cyrus (7) Whitney (son of Lyman E. (6) Whitney) was a judge and lawyer; Oliver C. (7) son of Mathais (6) Whitney) was executor of Orla H. (7) Whitney's will. Mathais (6) Whitney may have been the owner of the mill and tavern."

Children of Cornelius V Whitney and wives Martha (Graves) and Elizabeth (May). (A nine year break between ch. b. 1782 and 1791 and a four year break between ch. b. 1795 and Alice VI b. 1799, indicate either period may have been time of 2nd marriage to Elizabeth (May)). The nine year break seems most logical altho early Mexico, N.Y. D.A.R. papers proved nothing. (Records were not as strict for membership then as now, concerning maternal lines.)

STARK COAT OF ARMS

Stark – Scotland and America;
 A Bull's head, erased, a, r,
 (Distilling blood, p. p. r):
 Fortiorum fortia facta.

– Book of Heraldry.

Burke's "General Armory" says:

"Starke, (Killermont, Scotland, 1642) Az. a chev. betw. three acorns in Chief or. and a bull's head erased in base of the second. Crest. A Dexter hand holding by the horns a bull's head erased or distilling drops of blood. Motto – Fortiorum fortia facta."

A liberal translation of the motto is "Strong Deeds of Strong Men."

INTRODUCTION

TO

STARK FAMILY LINE

Both the Connecticut and New Hampshire Starks are thought to have originated in Scotland.

The tradition is strengthened by the fact that in the possession of Hon. Benjamin Stark of New London was an old ring, a family heirloom, bearing the bull's head and the motto "Fortiorum fortia facta".

Sir George Mackenzie says: — "Stark beareth azur a chevron argt. between three acorns in chief or, and a bull's head erased of ye 2nd in base.

"These of ye name are descended of one John Muirhead, 2nd son of ye Laird of Lachop, who at hunting one day in ye forest of Cumbernauld seeing King James ye 4 in hazard of his life by a bull hottly with ye hounds, stept in betwixt ye king and ye bull and griping ye bull by ye horns and by his strength almost wrung ye head from him, for which he was called Stark and his posteritie after him and bears ye rugged Bull's Head in their arms; ye old sword of ye family has on it Stark alias Muirhead."

GENERATION I

Stark Genealogies

I AARON (1) STARK, the first settler of that name, died in that part of New London, Conn., now Groton, Conn., in 1685. The place and date of his birth are not known. The name of his wife is also unknown (altho it has been suggested by Wm. R. Cutler that it was Mary Holt). A deposition given him in the boundary dispute between Connecticut and Rhode Island found in the Stonington Township records, June 11, 1673, gives us a clue to his age: "The testimony of Aaron Stark, aged 65 years or thereabouts, testified and sayeth, that we being soldiers under Capt. John Mason with many more when he went against the Pequot Indians. Aaron Stark and Jacob Waterhouse appeared this 11th day of June 1673, and made oath to what is above written before me, John Allyn, Justice." (So born about 1608).

Aaron Stark's first settlement was in Stonington and frequent entries in "Thomas Miner's Diary" between 1653-1664 indicate that they were neighbors. In May 1666 Aaron Stark was among those who were to take the freeman's oath in Stonington. In Oct. 1669 he was accepted as freeman in New London. Between these two dates he had purchased the farm of Rev. William Thompson, the Indian Missionary, in the part of New London at present Groton, situated on the summit of Stark's Hill. Sept. 30, 1669, he sold his land in Stonington to Robert Fleming. Aaron Stark was a volunteer in King Phillip's War, and was given a bounty for killing 2 wolves, animals which at that time abounded in Connecticut.

Children: —

Aaron (2) m. Nov. 27, 1676, Mehitable (Shaw).

John (2) m. Elizabeth _____ He died prior to 1701.

Child (2), not named.

II WILLIAM II, b. 1664; d. 1730; m. Elizabeth _____ (see full data under Generation II later).

Sarah (2) (Stark) m. Capt. Samuel Fish.

Elizabeth (2) Stark, m. 1st Micah Lambert; m. 2nd Josiah Haines; m. 3rd Nehemiah Smith. (Ref. "The Aaron Stark Family" by Charles R. Stark).

GENERATION II

Stark (Aaron I)

II WILLIAM (2) STARK (Aaron I) was the 4th child born to Aaron I Stark, b. 1664; d. Sept. 8, 1730; will proved Sept. 21, 1730. From his tombstone in the Wightman Burying Ground we get the date of the death of William II Stark and from the records of the First Congregational Church in Stonington we find that William II Stark, with his wife, Elizabeth and their two sons, Wm. (3) and Christopher (3), united with the Church June 19, 1698, and their daughter Phebe (3) July 6, 1701. The name of Daniel III does not appear on the record, since as the youngest son he was born after his father had affiliated with the Baptist Church in Groton. Daniel III is named in his father's will to inherit all "my lands to the South of the County Road". The will (Probate Rec. of Dist. of New London) names all of his children. Will made Sept. 21, 1730, proved and account rendered Apr. 10, 1732. The First Baptist Church in Conn. was formed in 1705 in the home of William II Stark and he was its principal benefactor. He gave the land for the meeting house and burying ground; also, 20 acres of land to his pastor, the Rev. Valentine Wightman. The house built on this land though sadly out of repair, was still standing in 1925. Among the grantees named in the deed to the church in March 1717-18 are the following, by the name of Stark: John, Stephen, Aaron, William Jr., Abiel, and Christopher. The deed is signed by Sergeant William Stark. He was the first deacon, and of him it was said that "he was a man of good estate, a godly man, and one who hated persecution". The reference above (from pages 2-3 of Aaron Stark Family) is followed by the petition for the First Baptist Church in Conn.: "To the Honorable Court Setting In New Haven signed by Ordained Minister or teacher, Daniel Piearse, members; Wm. Stark, John Seiger Culver, Isaac Lamb, Ephraim Culver, Wm. Chubb, John Hammett, Sisters Mary Culver, Elizabeth Lamb, Elizabeth Stark, Mary Hadsell, Margaret Chubb, Sarah Culver." This deed is reproduced on page 4 of "Aaron Stark Family". The estate of William Stark inventoried at £107. 2. 2.

Children:

William (3) m. Apr. 13, 1710, Experience (Lamb).

Christopher (3) bapt. June 19, 1698, m. Apr. 1, 1722 Joanne (Walworth) (See footnote) Phebe (3) Stark, b. March 1700, mar. Thomas Walworth.

III DANIEL III d. before Feb. 28, 1758 (see later Gen. III) mar. 1st Sarah Culver); mar. 2nd wid. Judith Fitch.

Will of William II Stark (Probate Rec. of the District of New London), dated Sept. 21, 1730, proved Apr. 10, 1732, (page 5 of Aaron Stark Family) refers to Daniel III Stark – I give and bequeath unto my son Daniel Stark all my lands to the south of the county road as may appear by a deed of exchange from Christopher however otherwise founded on record and half my husbandry tools. Will was witnessed by Ephraim, Jonathan and Timothy Collver, of whom Ephr. and Timothy appearing when will was proved. Estate inventoried at £107. 2.2.

Christopher Stark emigrated from Groton to Dutchess Co. between 1750 and 1768 and again removed to the Wyoming Valley in 1772 where he is said to have died of old age 1777. I include this because a deed of sale was signed by Moses Fish and James Morgan, Jr., Groton, Nov. 27, 1738, establishing an early connection between Starks and Morgans. Our Gen. (4) Nathan IV Stark mar. 1st Olive (Morgan) mother of Our Gen. (5) Deborah (V) (Stark) mar. to Ezra VI Duell.

GENERATION III

Stark Genealogies (William II, Aaron I)

III DANIEL (3) STARK, Ensign, (Wm. II, Aaron I). He was born 1702 and lived in Groton, Conn. He held an Ensign's Commission in the Colonial Troops. He d. before Feb. 28, 1758. He mar. 1st Sarah (Culver) b. May 24, 1710, d. before 1747; dau. of Joseph (3) (Joseph (2), Edward (1)). He mar. 2nd widow Judith Fitch (whose son Joseph Fitch, by her first marriage he adopted.) His will dated Dec. 30, 1757; proved Jan. 27, 1758, mentions his 2nd wife Juda Fitch; his eldest son, Daniel (4); eldest daughter Sarah (4); and Nathan IV and daughter Desire (4). His son Daniel, was appointed executor; witnesses Elisha Guard, Thomas Baker, Jr., and Pelatiah Fitch. Inventory amounted to £242 1s. Od. Also in the Ref.: — "Aaron Stark Family" was included a deed from Daniel Stark to Caleb Haines £300 old tenor bills of credit of N.E. dated May A.D. 1754. This deed recorded in the 5th Book of Record for Groton, folio 169, June 1, 1754 (See Culver Gen. under Allied, by R. F. Culver).

Children of Daniel III Stark and 1st wife Sarah (Culver):

Daniel (4) Stark (1725-1787) (Appt. executor of father's estate).

IV NATHAN IV STARK (1743 d. age 87, 1830); mar. 1st Olive (Morgan); mar. 2nd Esther (Gallup) (See data in full for Generation IV later).

Sarah (4) (Stark).

Desire (4) (Stark).

Joseph (4) was adopted (son of 2nd wife by former marriage) Bapt. March 28; b. May 20, 1754; mar. Bethany (Culver).

GENERATION IV

Stark Genealogies (Daniel III, William II, Aaron I)

IV NATHAN (4) STARK – Revolutionary Soldier (Daniel III, Wm. II, Aaron I); b. ca. 1743; d. ae 87, 1830. He was born in Groton, Conn., in which town he married his 1st wife, Olive (Morgan) and where six, perhaps all seven, children were born. They moved to Guilford, Vt., in 1781 where Olive (Morgan) Stark died. In 1782 he married second Esther (Gallup). Coleraine, Mass. and Guilford, Vt. are line towns and join each other so probably Esther Gallup was a resident of either town. (Refs.: "Hist. of Guilford; Vt."; "Aaron Stark Family", agree fairly well.) Both he and his 2nd wife are buried in Guilford, Vt. and presumably his first wife also – perhaps in an older section. Nathan IV Stark, Pvt. enlisted in the Revolutionary War. He was in Simon Spalding's Co. in a Conn. Battalion commanded by Col. John Durkee, 4th Conn. line, for month of May 1778. (He perh. was at battle of Bennington). In 1818 he is listed as a Connecticut pensioner. (Ref.: "Record of Service of Conn. Men in the Rev." – pages 182, 266, 263, 318 for territory from which this company was drawn.) In 1783 he was chosen overseer of highways in Guilford, Vt.; in 1790 Surveyor of Roads (Dist. No. 9); in 1804 Tithing Man. According to a life lease deed between Nathan IV and his wife, Esther, and their son Daniel (5), they were living in Guilford, Vt., in 1818, west of Green River.

Children of Nathan IV Stark and his first wife, Olive (Morgan) Stark: –

Nathan (5), eldest son, b. 1764-5; m. Jemima _____. They resided in Granville, N.Y.; later, after 1790 Census, Wilma, N.Y. One record says they died 1852 in Collins, N.Y.

V DEBORAH V (STARK) b. April 26, 1766, Groton, Conn.; d. Feb. 12, 1826; m. April 10, 1788, Ezra VI Duell (Wm. V, Wm. IV, Jonathan III, Jonathan II, Wm. I Duel).

Abijah (5) b. Jan. 30, 1768; m. Aug. 14, 1790, Elizabeth (Newell) 1764-1842.

Sarah (5) b. 1769; d. April 1, 1854, unmarried.

Olive (5) b. March 24, 1771; d. 1836; mar. 1793 David Wreisley, b. Apr. 7, 1777, d. Gill, Mass., 1818; m. 2nd 1830 Nathaniel Frary; m. 3rd 1830 Aaron Bliss.

Jedediah (5) b. Dec. 1, 1773; m. 1st June 4, 1794-7, Betsey (Crouch) (Guilford Town Clerk Rec.); m. 2nd before March 17, 1810, Lydia (Stafford); m. 3rd Nov. 30, 1846, Nancy (Goodell). He d. 1861 and she d. 1862, Readsboro.

Morgan (5) b. 1776; m. Rachel (Aldrich) (sister of Benj. Aldrich) res. Rutland, Vt.

Eunice (5) b. Feb. 19, 1781; m. July 15, 1802, Timothy Stoughton; died on Feb. 8, 1849 (She was brought up by Reuben and Ruth (Davis) Shattuck, a childless couple.) Ruth (Davis) Shattuck was a girlhood friend of Olive (Morgan) Stark and she had one of the older sons take her infant daughter to them (R. M. Stoughton says, Son Jedediah (5) Stark took infant daughter to the Shattucks). The trip to Guilford, Vt., had taxed her strength and she died soon after.

Children of Nathan IV and his second wife, Esther (Gallup), m. 1782:

Daniel (5) b. March 4, 1783; d. 1868; m. Esther (Harkness) b. May 22, 1785; d. Feb. 4, 1873, (daughter of Asa Harkness); bur. in Collins Cemetery.

John (5).

Catherine (5).

Mary (5).

Abraham (5) b. Feb. 12, 1790; m. 1809 his first cousin Rhoda (Gallup) dau. of Joseph and Mary (Yeau) (Gallup) 1791-1869; d. Sardinia.

Joseph (5) b. Oct. 18, 1794; d. Oct. 30, 1844; m. Oct. 4, 1815, Susannah (Ingalls) (dau. of Ebenezer and Mary Ingalls); m. _____ Martha (Irons) d. McKean Co., Pa.

Jemima (5) b. July 26, 1797; m. Gideon Irons, Jr., b. R.I. 1797;
d. 1863. She also d. McKean Co., Pa.

Patience (5).

GENERATION V

Stark Genealogies (Nathan IV, Daniel III, William II, Aaron I)

V DEBORAH (5) STARK (Nathan IV, Daniel III, Wm. II, Aaron I) was born Apr. 26, 1766, supposedly in Groton, Conn.; d. Feb. 12, 1826 and is buried (Lee Farm) Cem. So. Granville, N.Y. She married Ezra VI Duell, b. July 21, 1766; d. March 30, 1844 and they resided in Hebron, N.Y. and Granville, N.Y. (Mr. Stoughton in his "Stark Gen." suggests they met in Granville, N.Y. when Deborah V was on a visit to her older brother, Nathan (5) and his wife Jemima who were residing there at that time.) Their marriage may have been a Hicksite Quaker one because Ezra Duell was a member of that faith.

Full details on the Issue from this marriage are found in the Devol-Duell-Duel Generation VI Genealogy.

The children were: (Surname Duell) Nathan (7), Olive (7), Hiram (VII), Mehitable (7), Ezra (7) Jr., Maria (7), Sabrina (7), Morgan (7), Noe (7), Eunice (7), Lewis (7), Deborah (7).

(Name Spelled Duell in this Reference).

For continuation of Stark-Duell line see Hiram VII and VIII Duell with full detail in Duell Genealogy, Section I.

OTHER STARK DATA OF GENERAL INTEREST

Since for some reason there has been some confusion between Moses (4) Stark's and Gen. John Stark's descendants, Moses (4) Stark data is included as follows:

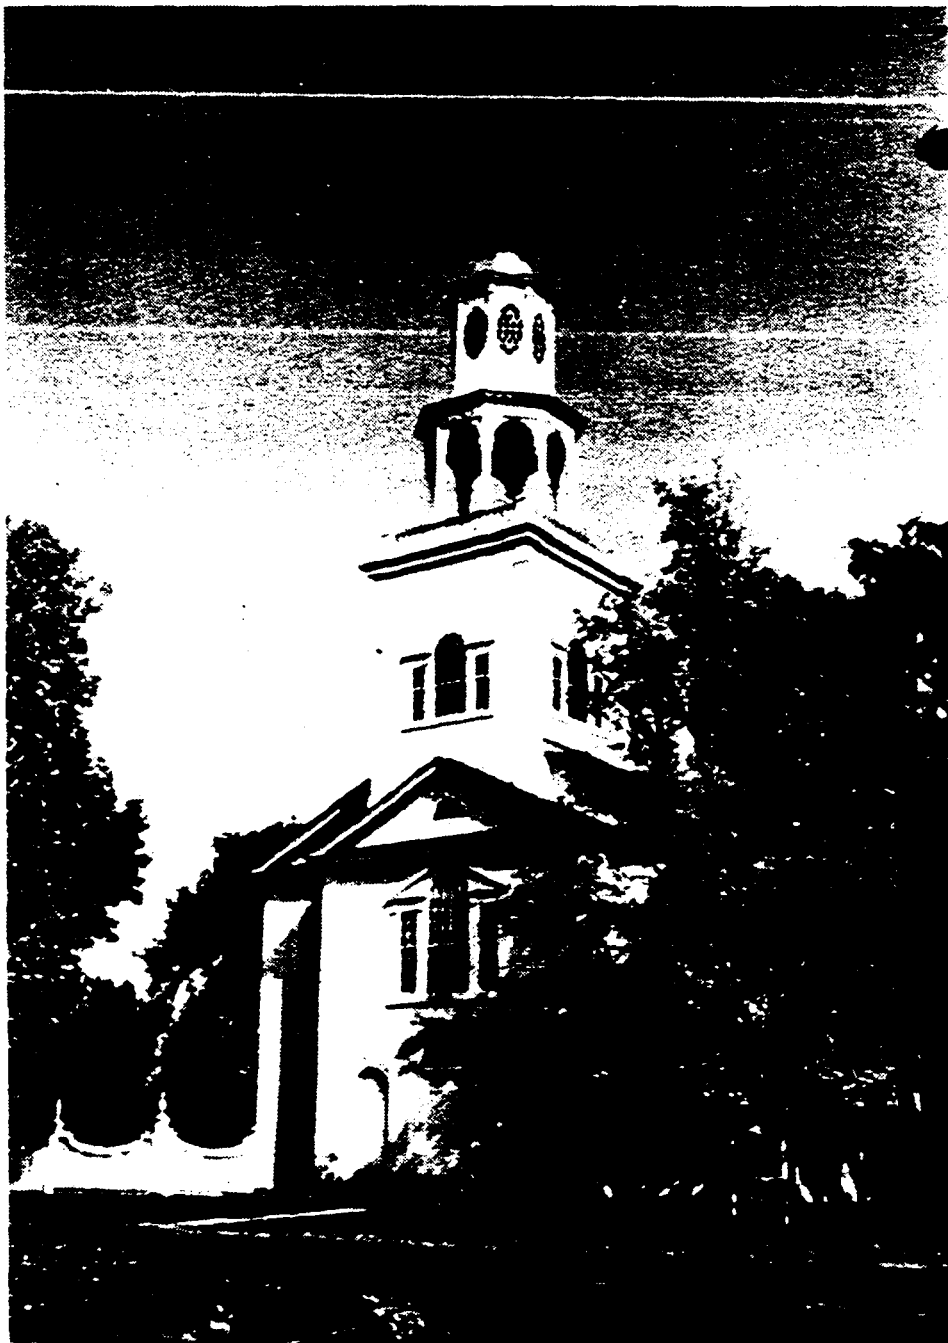

Moses (4) Stark, b. June 17, 1716; d. May 29, 1739, (son of Wm. III and wife, Experience (Lamb), grd. son of Wm. (2) and wife, Elizabeth; grt-grdson of Aaron (1)); m. Elizabeth Holdridge; children: —

Sarah (5), Wm. (5), Phebe (5), Eunice (5), Amos (5) b. Apr. 2, 1752 (Amos' desc'd. spell name — Starks); John (5), Jonathan (5), Elizabeth (5), m. Williams; Phila (5), Nathan (5), Prudence (5), Phineas (5), Ebenezer (5).

Moses (4) was born Groton, Conn.; removed to Hebron, Conn.; then to Lynn, N.H., in 1756.

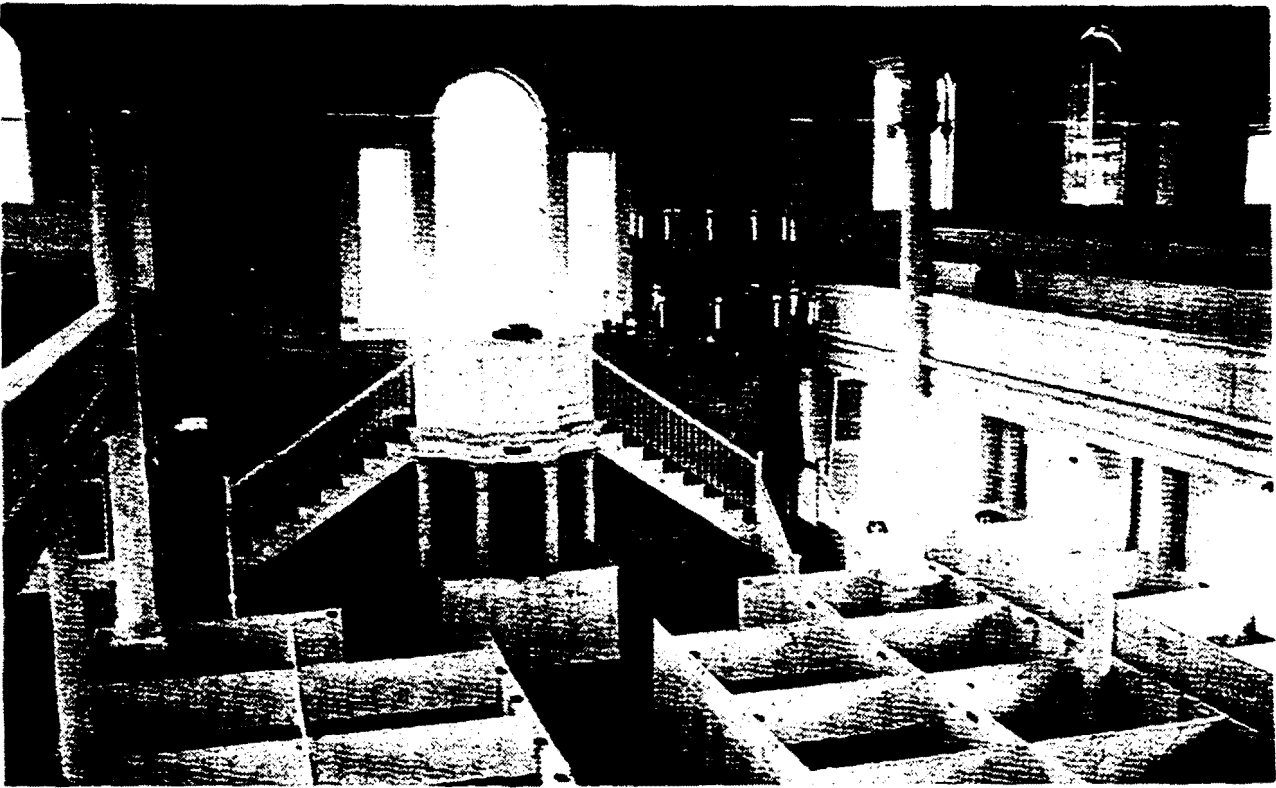

The name of General John Stark is well known in Revolutionary annals but so far as is known, he was not related to the Groton family.

However, Capt. John Stark (4) was a relative. He was also well known. He, with 365 other soldiers of the Revolution, was granted Grand Isle, North and South Hero, Vt. The old Stark barn built by him at South Hero was still standing in 1920 and was known as the "Stark Barn". He was Captain of a Pawlet, Vt., Company at the battle of Bennington, where General John Stark was in Command.

Capt. John (4) Stark, b. 1741; d. Sept. 26, 1806, (Wm. (3), Wm. (2), Aaron (1)) whose father Wm. III was a brother of, Deborah (6) (Stark) Duell's grandfather, Daniel (III) Stark. Capt. John (4) Stark married Eunice (Adams) 1764, at Canterbury, Conn. She lived to be 101 years old. She was b. 1742; d. Jan. 29, 1843. As a young man he and his two brothers are supposed to have gone to Nova Scotia and settled on land in the township of Cornwallis. Zephaniah (4) Stark, one of the three brothers, took ship to return home to Conn. and was never heard from again. It was on his return to the States that (John (4) Stark settled in Vt. He died in Hero, Vt. He and Deborah V (Stark) Duell were 3rd cousins.

LAMBE – LAMB

There are several Genealogies on various lines of Thomas I Lambe of Roxbury, Massachusetts, so the author will not go into detail but give interesting gleanings from any and all these sources, followed by Genealogies of the children in brief, until Generation V where our particular line is not so well documented and the data is directly connected to my grandparents and your great-grandparents.

FAMILY OF LAMBE – LAMB:

THOMAS (I) LAMBE, his wife, Elizabeth (———) and their two sons, Thomas and John, came from England in 1630 in the "Winthrop Fleet" (Planters of the Commonwealth, Banks). Although the place of embarkation is not given, it is believed they came from Stowe, Langtoft, County Suffolk, England. The crossing took nine weeks and was described as "perilous". The flagship "Lady Arabella" and three others set out Apr. 3, 1630 and arrived in June and July: "Lady Arabella" June 12th; "Jewel" June 13; "Ambrose" June 18; and the "Talbot" July 2nd. It is assumed that Thomas Lambe, and family, described as merchant, arrived on one of the first three ships because they were the ones which arrived in June 1630. He seemed firmly established by October 1630. Thomas (I) Lambe filed a request on Oct. 19, 1630, to be made freeman and took his oath as such on May 18, 1631, (Lamb Gen., Stradling) ("freeman" explained in Introduction) (N.E.H. & Gen. 3-90-91).

The Massachusetts Bay Colony was founded by a group of English Puritans. The name "Puritan" was often scornfully applied to them because they believed the morals and doctrines of the church of the day needed "purifying". It was because of imprisonment and persecution in England that the braver of them sailed to the New World. Educated, cultured, honest and God-fearing, their coming was England's loss and America's gain. Thomas Lambe was one of these Puritan Founders and the "First of Our Line". He was said to be a merchant of means.

Six towns were laid out for these settlers of "planters" viz.: Boston, Watertown, Lynn, Newton, Dorchester, and Roxbury, Massachusetts.

The Lambes may have stayed temporarily at Dorchester where their 3rd child, first born in America, was baptized Oct. 30, 1630, but they settled permanently in Roxbury, Massachusetts. Thomas (I) Lambe's home-lot in Roxbury, Mass., of 18 acres, lay between Meeting House Hill and Stony River. It was here he spent the rest of his life.

In 1632 the First Meeting House was erected on Meeting House Hill. This is the 5th oldest in the U.S. Its founders were, besides Mr. Alcock: William Pynchon, Thomas (I) Lambe, Thomas Rawlings, Robert Cole, William Chase, and perhaps also Thomas Welde and William Dennison.

Thomas (1) Lambe was also one of six individuals who pledged themselves for the support of the "first free school" in America (IV Mass. Genealogy-2501) (Spelled "Roxburie").

In 1633, July 2, Thomas (1) Lambe received the right to take slate (on Slate Island) for 3 years at a yearly rate or rental of 28 s 6 d. He opened the first quarry in New England in 1633. Such a rental gives one a point for comparison with the amount he left at death which establishes him, as stated before, a well-to-do man.

Thomas (1) Lambe died March 28, 1646, a little over five months before his tenth child (4th by his 2nd wife, Dorothy (Hardbittle) Lambe) was born. The record said "Thomas (1) Lambe dyed of Calenture, by a great cold" (high fever and cold, or as we would say, pneumonia.) He is buried in the old cemetery at the corners of Washington and Eustis Streets, on land that was part of, or adjoined, his farm. The first grave in the cemetery was 1633. This once Roxbury is now a part of Boston. A picture of the ancient stones and fenced-in cemetery and view of the gate shown.

To explain the property left by Mr. Lambe to his heirs as recorded at death it will be necessary to quote:

“Early after the settlement, each family in Gov. Winthrop’s Fleet was given 50 acres of land – each one to have some high land and some marsh land.”

Hence it is recorded on his death Thomas (1) Lambe left property to his heirs as follows:

“Homestead dwelling and bame, 18 acres and three roodes between Meeting House Hill and Stony River; 19 acres and 3 roodes So.East of Dead swamp; 9 acres of Salt Marsh; 3 score and 10 acres, 1 quarter and 30 poles – 3rd part of 26th lott; and 37 acres more or less in Southfield; also 112 pounds 08 shilling 08 pence.” (The signature of Thomas Lambe is preserved in Vol. 112, p. 69, Mass. Archives.)

Elizabeth, first wife, who came from England with him, and two sons, Thomas and John, died in 1639. She was buried 28 (9) 1639 (8 N.E. Hist. & Gen. Reg. 183). He married second (136 N.E. Hist. & Gen. Reg. 21-22) July 16, 1640, Dorothy (Hardbottle), described as “from the church, virtuous and fair” (Rev. Eliot’s Diary makes mention of her). The second wife and widow of Thomas Lambe married again to Thomas Hawley and died as widow Dorothy (Hardbottle) Lambe) Hawley, Jan. 28, 1697/8. Children (sumame Hawley) were: Thomas, Elizabeth, and Dorothy. (Her 2nd hus. Thomas Hawley was slain at Sudbury Apr. 21, 1676) (Pope) (Vol. 3 Mass. Bay Record under date 1652, p. 277, gives deed of sale between Thomas Hawley and wife Dorothy (Hardbottle) Lambe) Hawley and her sons by previous marriage, John and Thomas Lambe (their father Thomas Lambe deceased) 15 acres sold to Wm. Parks of Roxbury).

Thomas I Lambe died March 28, 1646, of a high fever. Inventory showed: homestead farm and outlying lands: £112. 08 s. 08 pence. He is buried at comers of Washington and Eustis Streets in Roxbury (Now Boston). His signature is preserved in Vol. 112 Massachusetts Archives, page 69. Drake had this to say of Eustis Street Cemetery: "Here the Lyon and the Lamb lie down together in fraternal harmony, peacefully, commingling their ashes with those of Pigge and Peacock, while near them repose the dust of Pepper and Onion — savory conjunction! — inseparable in life; even in death they are not divided."

GENERATION II

Lamb Genealogies (Thomas I)

II ABIEL (II) LAMB was born in Roxbury five or more months after his father, Thomas I Lambe's death. His mother was Dorothy (Hardbittle)(or-Bottle) Lambe second wife and widow of Thomas I Lambe. Abiel was baptized June or Aug. 2, 1646 by Apostle Eliot in Roxbury Church. Abiel's (2) residence is given as Framingham; occupation yeoman. He died there age 64 in 1710. He married Elizabeth (Clark) Buckminster (widow of Joseph (4) Buckminster). She was born Elizabeth Clark of Watertown, Mass., January 31, 1647-8 (Wat. V.R.). Her first husband died November 20, 1668 and she and Abiel (2) Lamb were married between 1669-1674 (because on the 10th month, 3 day, 1675, as wife of Abiel Lamb she was admitted into full Chh. Communion). Abiel and Elizabeth Lamb must have attended the Roxbury Church, at least to the extent of having their children baptized there. One source states he moved to Framingham at about age 50, as early as 1694. He resided on leased land near Doeskin Hill in Framingham, then a part of Sudbury. At the first town meeting of Framingham, August 5, 1700, he was chosen Commissioner to head the town government and on March 3, 1701, he was made one of the Selectmen – a Board of officials elected annually to enforce the local laws, manage town affairs, care for the poor, etc.

Abiel II Lamb served in King Phillip's War in 1675. About 600 people were killed and 13 towns destroyed in this war. From a reference from Albert Roswell Lamb it is related by George Bodge "he, Abiel, conducted himself fearlessly (in King Phillips War) and stayed with his commanding officer when others had fled". Abiel Lamb was a private in Capt. Isaac Johnson's company "at the storming of the Narragansett stronghold, called Fort Fight, Dec. 19, 1675." Capt. Henchman, page 71, New England Hist. Reg., calls him Corporal and also states Lt. Phillip Curtis is killed and Thomas Andrews is killed. He was one of seven to call John Swift, of Milton, to be minister. On June 27, 1710, he paid 2 shillings 2 pence, and his son, Jonathan, paid one shilling, eight pence as tax toward ten pounds to be used to preserve an ammunition store. He died about 1710. He and his wife, Elizabeth (Clark) Buckminster) Lamb are buried in Framingham.

Lamb Genealogies (Abiel II, Thomas I)

III JONATHAN (III) LAMB, born Nov. 11, 1682, in Roxbury, Mass., (son of Abiel II Lamb and Elizabeth (Clark) Buckminster) Lamb. At the age of about 14 Jonathan moved, with his parents, to Framingham, Mass. During his youth, the Queen Anne's War was fought beginning in 1698 and continuing for 11 years. He entered about 1702, but there is no record of how long he served. Records state he served the town of Framingham as Constable and was also elected a Selectman for a period from 1716-1718. In 1722 he was employed in transporting military stores from Boston to Rutland and he became a Lieutenant in Capt. Isaac Clark's Company of Troops – Muster Roll, Aug. 21 to Sept. 18, 1725. (Dra-per's History states he was a Lieutenant and was always so called.)

Lt. Jonathan III Lamb married Lydia (Death) (dau. of John Death and Mary (Peabody) Death) (Watertown Vit. Rec. states Jonathan Lamb and Lidia Death, both of Framingham, were joined in marriage, July 9, 1708, by Jonas Bond, Justice of the Peace.) See – Death-Peabody-Foster Genealogies-Allied.

Three small daughters were born in Framingham. In 1726 or 1727 Lieut. Lamb III moved his family to Lot 27 of Spencer – but at that time designated as Leicester, Mass. He became known here also as a man of character and exerted a good influence. It is interesting to note, however, that he and his wife were once neglectful in their church attendance for 12 weeks and were reprimanded. It must have been the lapse was for good reason since he was a member of a committee of the ordination of Rev. Joshua Eaton.

Lieut. Jonathan III Lamb died aged 67, 1749. His widow, Lydia (Death) Lamb married second John How, of Rutland, Mass. Marriage intentions Nov. 12, 1749. His property was appraised at 664 pounds 14 shillings.

GENERATION IV

Lamb Genealogies (Jonathan III, Abiel II, Thomas I)

IV JONATHAN (IV) LAMB, JR., was the eldest son of Jonathan III and his wife, Lydia (Death) Lamb. He was born in Framingham, Mass., Feb. 26, 1715, died aged 45 or 46 on April 9, 1760. Although he was born in Framingham, Mass., he came to Leicester, Mass., with his parents as a lad of 14 years. He married Elizabeth (Richardson) also of Leicester, on Sept. 27, 1737. Elizabeth (Richardson) Lamb was the daughter of Thomas and Elizabeth (Green) Richardson — (See — Green and Richardson Lineages, under Allied Families). She was born Oct. 2, 1718 and died aged 62 on June 21, 1780. After the death of Jonathan IV Lamb, Jr., in 1760, Elizabeth (Richardson) Lamb, widow, married 2nd on Jan. 8, 1763, Caleb Nichols.

The Lamb Homestead was situated Lot 28 in that part of Leicester later incorporated into Spencer, Mass., so that early family records are found in Leicester, Mass. Vital Records; later ones in Spencer, Mass. Vital Records. (Jonathan IV gave his residence as of Spencer in 1750 but (Draper) uses Spencer not earlier than April 2, 1752, for that portion of Leicester known as Spencer).

The children, ten in number, born to Jonathan IV Lamb, Jr., and his wife Elizabeth (Richardson) Lamb are listed as born in Leicester, Mass., Vit. Rec. They resided on lot 28 with outlying lands as was customary. In reading his will the survey markings might be a tree or rock or other natural formation; also bounded on NO.SO., E., W., by land owned by — surname of sd. owner at time of survey. The author has a copy of this will. Three of the children were minors at the time of his death. These Guardianship papers will be of interest.

Of the ten children born to them, two were daughters, the eldest and the youngest, and eight sons; seven of whom were soldiers in the Revolutionary War. (Quote from Albert Roswell Lamb's "Thomas Lambe, of Roxbury, 1630-1932" — "What greater glory could any man hope for than to have given so many fighting men to the cause of freedom.'') Jonathan IV Lamb's gravestone is in Old Cemetery (1715-1760). (Draper does not state that Elizabeth (Richardson) Lamb Nichols' grave is at his side but does say it also is in Old Cemetery (1718-1780).

Children of Jonathan IV Lamb, Jr. and Elizabeth (Richardson) Lamb, (dau. of Thomas and Elizabeth (Green) Richardson):

GENERATION V

Lamb Genealogies (Jonathan IV, Jonathan III, Abiel II, Thomas I)

V PHINEHAS (V) (PHINEAS) LAMB Rev. Sol., born May 6, 1756, (Leicester V.R.)(son of Jonathan IV, (Jr.) and Elizabeth (Richardson) Lamb (dau. of Thomas and Elizabeth (Green) Richardson. He was the seventh son, mentioned in the quotation "What greater glory" who served in the Rev. War. (The only other son was a physician and perhaps served in that capacity). Phinehas V Lamb married about 1780 Anna (Garfield) (1762-1834).

In 1783, on a deed of sale "of land he had of his father Jonathan" to David Lamb, of Spencer, Mass., he gives his residence as Westchester, Westchester Borough, N.Y. In 1786 he is located in Rutland, Mass. (A Hist. of Rutland, Worcester Co. Mass. by Jonas Reed, p. 83). One can assume from the context they then had children. The 1790 Census for Rutland, Mass. and Newfane, Vt., lists Phinehas Lamb as head of family with identical family data. The only explanation available is that the 1790 Census of Massachusetts was taken May, 1790; Census of Vermont was taken in September and he and his family had moved from Massachusetts to Vermont in the interim. From all the deeds of property, buying and selling of which the author has records or photostats (see example in Appendix), one can feel sure this is the case. The census of 1800 with ten years added to the earlier ages of the 1790 census bears this out. He removed from Newfane, Vt., to Wells, Vt., in 1804, where we have more details about this family — now some grown to marriageable age. (Three references: "Wells, Vt. 200 Years" by Grace Pember Wood; "A History of Wells, Vt. for the 1st Century After Its Settlement" by Heiland Pauls and Robert Parks, Esq., p. 110; are substantially the same and a later version by Celeste Pember Hazen adds a few details in "The Pember Family Gen.") All agree that Phineas Lamb came to Wells, Vt., in 1804, that he settled in the north part of town on land later owned by Fannie Parks. His wife, Anna Garfield died, aged 72, 1834. He served in the War of the Revolution and was taken prisoner by the British under Burgoyne. They had a large family, many of whom married into families whose descendants still reside in the surrounding towns. From correspondence the author found that some of them, although very good friends, did not know they were relatives. On both of our trips East we were fortunate to receive cordial and friendly help from those still living in the area.

He was Capt. of Militia, town clerk, Constable, Justice of Peace. Certified Rec. (No. 2, p. 1054 – Town of Wells) with birth-death, and parents; marriage record from “Wells, Vt., 200 Years”.

GENERATION VI

Lamb Genealogies (Phinehas V, Jonathan IV, Jonathan III, Abiel II, Thomas I)

VI GEORGE (VI) W. LAMB (written with and without the initial "W" which stood for "Washington") b. 1789 (son of Phinehas V and Anna Garfield Lamb) born Vermont as given in Granville, N.Y. 1850 Census, and is the right age and sex to have been the male child in the 1790 and 1800 Census mentioned under Phinehas V Lamb as listed previously. He came to Wells, Vt., in 1804 with his parents. On March 1, 1810, he married Lucy (Sweet) of Granville, N.Y., where they resided. My search for her parentage has been most difficult because some genealogists use the name of Elvey but it appears as Elucy on her headstone. Grace Pember Wood, an authority on people of the area, said she felt calling herself Elucy was an "affectation" or a corruption of Lucy, as "Lucy" was often spelled. Another family record correspondent, Robert O. Bartholomew, said: "I am rather fascinated by your Elucy. It is interesting to know she was really "plain" Lucy – to me it would bring her alive; make her seem human". If it was an affectation or nickname the nickname was in such common use that the stonecutter perpetuated it on her headstone. She was married as Lucy (Sweet) 1810. (Lamb Fam. Mar. Supplement by Clemens). She was born in N.Y. 1792 and died 1849 of consumption. – Born after 1790 Census and dying before the 1850 Census, (in which fuller data is given) Elucy (Sweet) Lamb's parentage is not firm at this writing but search for this data continues. Wells, Vermont, and Granville, N.Y., are only a few miles distant from one another and many people attended the church of their choice in either one of these towns but church records on her parentage have not yet come to light.

George W. Lamb (VI) and his wife, Lucy (Sweet) Lamb resided in Granville, N.Y., where he had a small farm and a carding machine located just below the grist mill (Hist. of Wash. Co. N.Y. by Cresfield Johnson p. 200). They bought land from Hiram VII Duel and his wife, Alice (Whitney) Duel in Granville, N.Y., which included a stream to be used for a fulling mill. The fact that the sale was with the free consent of Alice (Whitney) Duel suggests this piece of land had been Whitney land originally. It also shows a tie and acquaintanceship of Duel and Lamb great-grandparents. George W. Lamb was called "Doc" Lamb. He and Aaron Goodspeed's father ran a drug store in Granville, N.Y. (As a dispenser of drugs he may have been called "Doc" as is still customary in some Eastern localities). (Ref. Hist. of Wash. Co., N.Y. and "Pember Fam. Genealogy" by Celeste P. Hazen.)

The 1835 N.Y. Census gave some additional data over previous censuses as for instance:

George W. Lamb, head of household, lists 4 males and 3 females. It lists 12 acres; 2 cows; 2 horses; 1 sheep; 2 hogs; 15 yds. cloth; .15 flannel, .27 thin cloth.

The four males in 1835 would have been George W. "Doc" Lamb; George, Jr. (7); Phinehas (7) (who d. 1837); James (7) (m. 1836); Females – Lucy (Sweet) Lamb, mother, (d. 1849); Lucy A. (7) (m. 1849), and dau. (perh. ? Sharlotte (m. to Orlando Hicks) or ? Sally, (m. to Ephraim Hammond).)

Their son, Phinehas (7) (spelled in the old style and named, no doubt, for his grandfather Phinehas V) died in 1837, age 25 – deciphered from the headstone (Lee Farm So. Granville Cem.). The mother and 1st wife Lucy (Elucy) (Sweet) Lamb died March 23, 1849 (A Goodspeed note in Wash. Co. Hist. Soc. file said, of consumption.). The mother, 1st wife, son, Phinehas (7) (d. age 25) and father George W. (VI) graves are just inside and to the right as one enters the "Lee Farm Bur. Grd., So. Granville, N.Y. Daughter Lucy A. (VII) Lamb was married the month following her mother's death, April 8, 1849, to Hiram (VIII) Duel (son of Hiram (VII) and Alice (6) (Whitney) Duel.) A copy of this marriage record performed by Alfred Farr (quoted earlier.)

The 1850 Granville, N.Y. Census of George W. Lamb's household lists the widower George W. (VI) Lamb; dau. Lucy (7) A. Lamb; her husband Hiram (VIII) Duel and their 2 month old son, George H. (9) Duel. (George, Jr. (7), James (7) and the other daughter were married and son Phinehas (7) Lamb was deceased by then.)

It is at this time that our grandparents with a large number of relatives, including our great-grandparents Hiram and Alice (Whitney) Duel, friends and neighbors, migrated to Wisconsin. Some took land elsewhere in Wisconsin but most settled in Fond du Lac County, Wisconsin.

Great-grandfather George W. (VI) Lamb however, stayed in Granville, N.Y. and married 2nd March 5, 1851, Olive (7) Duel (Dau. of Ezra (VI) and Deborah (Stark) Duell). Olive (7) (Duel) Lamb was aunt to Hiram (VIII) Duel, George W. (VI) Lamb's son-in-law – Shows close relationship of these families. Olive (7) (Duel) (b. 1791, d. 1874-8) and of a suitable age. She outlived George W. (VI) Lamb between 5 to 9 years. Although George W. (VI) Lamb was buried as previously stated with his first wife and son, the unmarked grave of his second wife Olive (Duel) Lamb is located (in the records) as East of Beecher and South of Sherman graves in the same South Granville "Lee Farm" N.Y. Cemetery. (See photos).

Children of George W. (VI) Lamb and his 1st wife Lucy (or Elucy) (Sweet) Lamb; married 1810; resided in Granville, N.Y.:

George (7) Lamb, Jr. b. 1818; m. Chloe Dillingham.

Phinehas (7) Lamb b. 1812; d. age 25, Feb. 15 (or 25, grv. stn. rec.) 1837, bur. with parents in "Lee Farm" Cem. So. Granville, N.Y.

James (7) Lamb of Granville, N.Y.; mar. Ann (Smith) (dau. of Eliad and 2nd wife Phebe (Button) Smith, who was dau. of Joseph Button, Esq.). They resided in Ft. Ann, N.Y.; was a woolen manufacturer.

VII LUCY A. (VII) (LAMB) b. May 22, 1820; m. April 8, 1849 to Hiram (VIII) Duel (son of Hiram (VII) and Alice (6) (Whitney) Duel) d. Oct. 6, 1899 Fond du Lac County, Wisconsin; bur. No. Eldorado, Wis. Cem. (Full data in Duel Family narrative and Genealogy).

Daughter, (no firm data).

SECTION V – Allied Lines

Some of the maternal, or female, lines are complete from Generation I in America to and including marriage with Devol-Duel, Whitney, Stark or Lamb main branches. They, in turn, are carried through to, in the case of this Family History, Generation XI, the issue of those members of Generation X, with issue.

Other maternal, or female, lines are fragmentary but the data known over and above given in the Genealogies will be given. The research will continue and when any one female line is firm the author will send out sheets that can be attached to the blank sheets in the back of the book – to family members, at least.

Please take note: Generation numbers for allied families placed after the given name and before the surname may disagree. One may be Gen. IV in the line of the Greene family (or 4th from the 1st in America) but in Upham III (or 3rd from the 1st Upham in America.)

I use these names to illustrate so as not to confuse the readers but the same holds true with Duel, Whitney; Stark and Lamb.

DEVOL-DUEL Female Lines

Hannah (Audley) Devol (Duel)

Refs.: Am. Ancestry; N.E.H. & Gen. Reg. 2:76; 41: 266; Detroit Soc. for Gen. Research, March 1940; Anc. & Hon. Art. Lineages Women Desc.; MSS Laura Clarenbach.

John I Odlin (Audlin) b. 1602, in England. One of the 1st settlers of Boston. He spelled his name Odlin although original spelling was Audley and his son, John II of Newport, R.I., spelled it Audley. He was one of the subscribers to the free school in 1636; a member of the Artillery Co. in 1638 and was its armorer from 1644-1674. He d. Boston, Dec. 18, 1685, and buried at the Cem. cors. of Tremont and School Sts. He came to Boston in the ship "Arabella"; was made a freeman 1634. His wife Margaret died first.

John II Audley, Jr. (1642-1711) m. 1658 Martha _____ (1640-1711). They resided in Newport. He also was an armorer.

Hannah III Audley, b. 1660, was the wife of Jonathan II Devol (son of William I Devol). The Devol line carries down from Jonathan II, III, Wm. IV, V, Ezra VI, Hiram VII, VIII, LeRoy IX and Generation X and XI all covered in Section I.

Mary (Clark) Devol (Duel) – (The name variously spelled Devol, Davil, Davel, Devel, Deuel, Duell, Duel).

All the genealogies agree that Mary Clark was the wife of Jonathan III Devol (b. between 1670-75). Her parentage has not been proved. Included here are abbreviated data from the author's research.

Refs.: One line: Lt. Wm. I Clark, from England in the "Mary and John" from Plymouth, England, landing in Nantucket (Now Hull) May 30, 1630; sett. in Dorchester, Mass., later Northhampton. He m. John II Clark, b. 1651; m. July 12, 1677, Rebecca Cooper who d. 1678. He m. 2nd March 16, 1679, Mary Strong (b. 1654; d. 1728). (11 Children). The 5th child b. abt. 1681 was Mary Clark. (Of a proper age to be the wife of Jonathan III Devol (b. 1670-75).

Refs.: (Savage p. 399, Vol. 1) Mary Clark (b. Dec. 27, 1680) dau. of Joseph Clark of Newport, R.I. and wife Bethiah Hubbard (V.R. Westerly, R.I.) (dau. of Samuel Hubbard, of Westerly, R.I.) (R.I. Vit. Rec. 1636-1850). Her father, Joseph Clark (perh. son of John Clark, who next to Roger Williams was the leader of R.I. in its first years.) This Mary Clark also of an age to be wife of Jonathan III Devol (b. 1670-75).

Refs.: (Savage Vol. 1, p. 403) Jeremiah Clark (b. 1643; d. 1729) and wife, Ann Audley (dau. of John I and Margaret Audley) who d. 1732. Had son, Weston Clark, m. to Mary Easton (dau. of Peter Easton) had a dau., Mary Clark perh. b. abt. 1672-4 (all of Newport).

Mclean.) and was the will of: Susanna (Wood) Clark, relict. of Samuel Clark and dated 1686 in which, among other bequests she mentions a sheep, to dau. Mary Clark.

Elizabeth (Whitehead) Devol-(Duell-Duel)

References: American Genealogist, Vol. 36, Jan. 1960; American Ancestry, Vol. XI, pages 154-156; Dartmouth, Mass. Vital Records; Devol-Dee Genealogy; Quaker Records; Charting from The Latter Day Saints, Utah.

Elizabeth (Whitehead) Devol-Duell, of Newport, R.I., perhaps born ca. 1698. Her line not established. Early Newport, R.I., records were destroyed by the British. Data on the issue of William IV Devol-(Duel) b. Apr. 16, 1698; d. Sept. 6, 1760, is available in Dartmouth V.R. and History of Westerly, Mass. All records give Elizabeth as wife of William IV, but do not state if she was only wife, although one Duel Genealogy has them buried with William V and his wife Mehitable (Tripp) in Tanner Yard, Granville, N.Y.

There were known children: Apphia (5) b. March 6, 1718; Jonathan (5) b. Jan. 16, 1720, d. age 104 in 1824; and William V b. March 4, 1728, d. June 22, 1814; and the American Ancestry Ref. gives Noe who d. 1797 and Jacob who d. 1754.

The parentage of Elizabeth (Whitehead) may have become confused because there were two Daniel (I) Whiteheads, pioneers who settled in the same general location – one on L.I., the other "Mr." Daniel Whitehead (I) settled in Oyster Bay and Hempstead and still later of Jamaica. He died Nov. 16, 1668, age 65.

The former Daniel I Whitehead, called Yeoman of L.I. and Huntington, d. before 1673. His wife was Jane (or Jean) with issue: Adam d. 1681; Jemima who m. Jonathan Lewis; Elizabeth and Thomas Whitehead.

The study of Huntington V.R. and other data makes the author feel sure this may lead to results but is too late for inclusion in this book as firm data and is without sufficient proof.

Mehitable (Tripp) Duell (Duel)

Ref: Dartmouth Vit. Records; Tripp Family Bible; Hewitt-Duel Fam. M.S.S.; American Ancestry Vol. XI.

The generations cannot be numbered since the first-named Tripp parent is not known.) James Tripp m. Elizabeth Cutworth, Aug. 12, 1702.

Thomas Tripp, b. Oct. 9, 1710; m. May 17, 1731, Esther (or (or Hester) (Brightman), b. 1712 (dau. of Thomas Brightman.)

Mehitable (Tripp) b. March 13, 1732/3; m. int. Aug. 12, 1751, William V Duel (1728-1814) (Both of Dartmouth) (Vit. Rec.); both buried So. Granville, N.Y. (Tanner Yard).

The Tripp Family was a Quaker family as were some of the Duel family. The William V Duel (or Duell) m. to Mehitable Tripp was a constable in Dartmouth 1776-1777 and through this civil service during the Revolutionary War their direct descendants are eligible for D.A.R. Membership – see Eligibility Records.

This female line of Mehitable (Tripp) Duell is carried through Ezra VI; Hiram VII; Hiram VIII; LeRoy IX and Generation X and and XI Duel in Section I of the Duel Genealogies.

Deborah (Stark) Duell (Duel)

Refs.: Aaron Stark, Seven Generations, by Charles R. Stark; American Ancestry, Davol Family; Nathan Stark and Some of His Descendants, by Ralph Stoughton; Cemetery Records; Hyatt records.

Deborah (5) (Stark) (Nathan (4); Daniel (3); William (2); Aaron (1)) was b. Groton, Conn. April 6, 1766 – d. Feb. 12, 1826 in New York State. She m. Ezra (VI) Duell (later spelled Duel) on April 10, 1788. Both are buried in "Lee Farm Cem." So. Granville, N.Y. They resided in Hebron and Granville, N.Y. They had 11 children. Full details are to be found in Section I of the Devol-Duel Genealogies also some "traditional notes" in Section V – Stark female lines.

Leah Florence (Griffiths) Duel

James I Griffiths, b. near or in Chepstow, Mons., England, April 1, 1800; d. Fond du Lac County, Wisconsin, age 99 years, Aug. 5, 1899. His wife, Elizabeth Stockham, was b. near, or in, Chepstow, England, Jan. 3, 1812 and d. April 3, 1891 in Eldorado Village, Fond du Lac County, Wisconsin.

Leah Florence (2) Griffiths was b. Fond du Lac County, Wis., Jan. 27, 1860 and d. on March 24, 1922, in Fond du Lac, Wis.; m. LeRoy IX Duel (1856-1926) on September 24, 1879.

Carried in detail in Section I Duel Genealogies: James Griffiths and his wife, Elizabeth, came from England about 1850. Many of the people in the same ship came to Fond du Lac County also. James and Elizabeth brought five or six children with them and in all had thirteen children. Leah was the youngest. Not all lived to maturity. No attempt will be made to detail the Griffiths line in this book. However, the author is in correspondence with Mrs. Powell a distant relative in England, nee Stockham, and intends to research the maternal line of this generation of the Duel Family.

If completed, copies will be prepared and sent to the immediate family members, who can fasten them in the blank pages left for the purpose.

WHITNEY – Female Lines

Whitney-Devol wives down to Alice (6) (Whitney) Duel. Some have been covered in detail earlier; others are so lacking in data they are given here chronologically.

Alice (6) Whitney) Duel (see below.)

Generations

- I ELINOR (or ELLIN) (_____) WHITNEY b. England 1599; d. Watertown, Mass. 1659. Her parentage not ascertained. She was wife of John I Whitney and mother of all his children.
- II ABIGAIL (TARBELL) WHITNEY was 3rd wife of Joshua II Whitney. They were m. 1672 Watertown, Vit. Rec. given in detail later this section.
- III SARAH (SHEPHERD) WHITNEY b. 1686; m. between 1707-14 Cornelius III Whitney – all data given in the genealogy section.
- IV ALICE (_____) WHITNEY was m. to Mathais IV Whitney 1741/2. Her parentage not ascertained.
- V ELIZABETH (MAY) WHITNEY – 2nd wife of Cornelius V Whitney. Data secured from early D.A.R. papers from Mexico, N.Y. They were barren of any details, however. The author has a copy of deed with wife Elizabeth Whitney named when property of Cornelius V and wife was deeded to sons. (See Appendix XI).

VI ALICE (VI) (WHITNEY) DUEL Alice (6) (Whitney) (Cornelius (5), Mathais (4), Cornelius (3), Joshua (2), John (1).) b. Granville, N.Y. 1799; d. 1861, Eldorado Twsp. Fond du Lac Co., Wis. She m. Hiram VII Duell (Duel) ca. 1814 in N.Y. (Mention was made of her youth when married, in one of the Duel Genealogies. One Duel Genealogy speaks of her marriage at an early age although age 15 was not uncommon.)

Refs.: Same as for all Whitney lines given in full under Refs.: (Devol-Duel and Whitney Families).

Full details, children, etc., are given in full on Alice (Whitney) Duel in Section I Devol-Duel Genealogies through her husband Hiram VII Duel, Hiram VIII Duel, LeRoy IX Duel and Generation X and XI. She is covered also under Whitney female lines Section V.

Abigail Tarbell (Tarball) Whitney

Refs.: (Butler) Groton, Mass.; Early Sett. of Watertown, Waltham & Weston, Mass.

Refs.: (Bond M.D.) (1855); (Watertown, Mass. Vit. Rec.). In spite of all the references which say the same thing the data is about as follows:

Thomas I Tarball settled in Watertown, Mass., as early as 1656. He was then about 38 years old so born about 1618. By his wife, Mary ——— he had daughter Abigail II Tarbell, b. aft. 165—; who married in Watertown, September 30, 1672, as his 3rd wife, Joshua II Whitney (Wat. Vit. Rec.).

The other children in the Watertown Vital Records of Thomas Tarball and wife, Mary, were Elizabeth, b. Jan. 5, 1656, and William Tarball, b. Dec. 26, 1658, so Abigail was perhaps born about 1653.

STARK-DUEL Female Lines

Deborah V (Stark) Duel

Refs.: Aaron Stark, "Seven Generations" by Charles R. Stark; American Ancestry; Davol Family Genealogies; "Nathan Stark and His Descendants" by Ralph Stoughton; Cemetery Records; Hyatt Records.

Since this line is carried in detail through the Genealogies in Section I Devol-Duel through Ezra VI Duell; Hiram VII; Hiram VIII; LeRoy IX and Generations X and XI Duel, Deborah (Stark) Duell's line is given briefly as follows:

- I AARON (I) STARK b. 1608; d. New London, Conn. 1685.
- II WILLIAM (II) STARK b. 1664; d. 1730; m. Elizabeth (last name not known.) She was b. 1710 and d. before 1747.
- III Ensign DANIEL (III) STARK b. _____ ; d. before Feb. 28, 1758. He m. Sarah (Culver) (full Culver line given for her – see later.).
- IV NATHAN (IV) STARK m. 1st Olive (Morgan) ca. 1763-4. He was b. 1743; d. 1830. She was m. in Groton, Conn., where the children were born. She d. 1781 in Guilford, Vt. He mar. again to Esther (Gallup). All the children of both marriages are on record.
- V DEBORAH (V) (STARK) b. Groton, Conn., April 6, 1766; d. Feb. 12, 1826, in N.Y. State; m. Ezra VI Duell (or Duel) on Apr. 10, 1788. Both are buried in Lee Farm Cemetery So. Granville, N.Y. They resided in Hebron, N.Y. and Granville, N.Y. They had 11 children. Details in Section I of the Devol-Duel Genealogies.

*Note: – Since I did not indulge myself in data which would be classed as family tradition, I feel I can add it here as a notation. Mr. Ralph Stoughton in his M.S.S. on "Nathan IV Stark of Guilford, Vt. and his Descendants" suggests that Deborah (Stark) may have met Ezra VI Duell while she was on a visit in Granville, N.Y. where her oldest brother Nathan and his wife Jemima resided. Or even at a Quaker Meeting since Ezra was a Hicksite Quaker. However, a Duel genealogist named Hewitt gives the name of the preacher who married Ezra and Deborah. An early Quaker genealogist named Hyatt, also a Duel genealogist, claims Quaker marriages were performed at monthly meetings and not by preachers, so if Hewitt is correct, Ezra and Deborah were married outside the Quaker faith. Hyatt also states Ezra Duel's funeral sermon was preached by Elder Haynes, a very noted colored Congregational preacher of the time. Ezra and Deborah had 11 children, 84 grandchildren, 52 grandchildren named Duel and 32 grandchildren from their daughter's marriages.

After Deborah died, Ezra married again and from the one daughter's marriage the cemetery record shows these children died as infants so the 84 grandchildren were issue of his first wife's children.

Another bit of interesting information from the Hewitt-Duel Genealogy states: "Nathan (7) Duel, first child of Ezra and Deborah (Stark) Duel was born with a veil and was said to possess second sight." This may be of interest from a heredity standpoint if any later generations have a child so born. The Nathan (7) referred to was born Sept. 7, 1789 and married Sarah (Whitney) sister of Alice (Whitney) married to Hiram VII Duel.

Sweet Family (not established as ours)

Tradition in the Sweet Family of Attleboro, Mass., is that the Immigrant John Sweet came from Oxton, Devon, England. Another -- a Narragansett tradition states he came from Wales. The 18th Century tradition of Welsh descent was very popular. It is possible both could be correct -- from Wales to England to America.

Nothing definite is known regarding the family Coat of Arms other than the two following items:

James (2) Sweet (John (1)) in 1662 sealed a letter with an Armorial seal which had as its device a charge of six bears gambs 3,2,1 (Prov. T.P.0127). These arms probably are the ancestral Arms of the Family.

John (1) Sweet (father of James above) was granted land in Providence, R.I., in the Spring of 1637 but his wife Mary was called "Widdo Sweet" in Dec. 1637, Mary Sweet, widow of John (1) Sweet) Hollman used seal in 1668: A heart pierced by two arrows saltairewise, surrounded by 4 dots, surmounted by an Earl's coronet.

Lucy (Sweet) Lamb (or perhaps called Elucy)

References: 1790 Census, N.Y.; Lamb Family Marriages, Supplement by Montgomery Clemens; Headstones Lee Farm Cem., So. Granville, N.Y.; Wells, Vt. 200 Years by Grace Pember Wood; American Ancestry; loose notes in the hand of Aaron Goodspeed in the Washington County Historians file, N.Y., and also in Bennington Museum & Library, Vt.; History of Washington Co. by Johnson, p. 197 and p. 200; the Pember Family, by Celeste Pember Hazen. pages 181-182. In spite of intensive research with Lucy (Sweet) Lamb firmly established as my great-grandmother Lamb, no proof of her parents has been found. Part of the difficulty lies in the fact that she was born in 1792, two years after the 1790 Census; married 1810 during that Census, and died 1849 the year before the 1850 Census. Hence she does not appear in records. (If one were to assume, which, of course, one cannot do, it seems probable that James Sweet of the 1790 N.Y. Census was her father.

George W. (6) Lamb, (Phineas (5); Jonathan (4), (3); Abiel (2); Thomas (1) Lambe) m. 1st 1810 Lucy (Sweet); res. in Granville, N.Y. From above references one learns she was a native of Washington Co., N.Y., and died of consumption age 57 on March 23, 1849, and is buried with her husband and a son, Phinehas, who died age 25, in Lee Farm Cemetery, So. Granville, N.Y. Their children; George Lamb, Jr.; b. 1818, d. after 1897; m. Chloe Dillingham; Phinehas Lamb, b. 1812; d. Feb. 15, 1837, age 25; Lucy A. Lamb, b. May 22, 1820, d. Oct. 6, 1899; m. Hiram (8) Duel (Documented); James Lamb, b. _____; d. _____; m. 1836 Ann Smith (data from "Wells, Vt. 200 Years".) Possibly a dau. also (no data).

George (6) and Lucy (Sweet) Lamb had a small farm and fulling mill in So. Granville. Mention of this is made in History of Washington Co. and also one census record gives a listing of cloth on hand. A deed of sale between Hiram (7) Duel and wife Alice (Whitney) Duel to George Lamb, in which a brook is mentioned for use as a water power, has been photostated. If this brook still is in existence the exact location of their Home-Place could be ascertained.

George (6) W. Lamb was also called "Doc" which may have arisen from his interest in a drug store with Mr. Goodspeed. Even only a few years back we noticed Eastern druggists were called "Doc" as a title of respect.

Mrs. Grace Pember Wood, author of "Wells, Vt. 200 Years" and well versed in local area History of Granville, N.Y. and Wells, Vt., which towns are only a few miles apart, has said in a letter she has a feeling I may find that Lucy (Sweet) was indeed the daughter of James Sweet, a very pious man. She was careful to say not to use her feeling as more than a basis for research. The author's research will continue.

MEMBER – Mrs. Amos Moyer whose great grandparents: Hiram Duel (Duell) and wife Alice Whitney descendants of emigrants John and Elinor Whitney established her line, are the same as Mrs. R. J. Icks. (Gen. 10 Duel).

A copy of this line from Generation (10) Duel, for the convenience of descendants is given.

APPENDIX II

How to fill out your papers if you decide to join:

Sons of The American Revolution (S.A.R.) or Daughters of The American Revolution (D.A.R.)

In case you do not wish to follow the direct line in any one of the main families, by checking the Revolutionary Soldier or patriot you wish to use note the National Number, either mine (or Mrs. Amos Moyer in the case of Wm. Devol-Duel) and write to Washington N.S.D.A.R. and secure a photostatic copy of the papers under that number. At present such a copy is $2.00.

However, the book should be sufficient for you to fill out your papers.

Start with yourself: I am the daughter of, or son of, that parent in direct line. If you are generation (11) you would state: I am the child of (see illustration).

Hiram L. (10) Duel
Jennie L. (10) (Duel) Stone
Morvin M. (10) Duel
Myrton (10) Duel

These are the only members of this family with issue. (Although Lucy and the author are also generation (10) since they had no issue you would have to substitute your respective ancestor above.)

However, if you are the child of the issue of one of the above Gen. (10) he or she would supply your parents' data generation (11) from charts, preceded by your own or generation (12).

To illustrate I will take Maxine Valentino since she is of a different name and an only child:

Maxine Valentino is generation (12) in the Duel direct line
Carol Dawn (11) (Duel) Valentino in the Duel direct line
(charts)

*Hiram L. (10) Duel in the Duel direct line

It has to be a blood line and is not carried when child is adopted.

Revolutionary Soldier -- my Nat'l. No. 465476 Phinehas (Phineas)
(5) Lamb

Revolutionary Soldier -- my Nat'l. No. 465476 Corporal Cornelius
(5) Whitney

Revolutionary Soldier -- Nat'l. No. 416232 of Eunice M. Lamb
for Nathan (4) Stark

Revolutionary Soldier -- Nat'l. No. 288598 of Mrs. Amos Moyer
for Nathan (4) Stark

Revolutionary Patriot, or Civil Service -- William (5) Duell 1776-
1777 served as constable in Dartmouth, Mass.

Nat'l. No. 288598 -- Mrs. Amos Moyer

APPENDIX III

The Magna Charta Society

The Magna Charta Society members are male (Barons) and female (Dames) descendants of the Barons who confronted King John in 1215 and secured his signature to this Great Charter 750 years ago on June 15, at Runny Mede, England.

On June 15, 1965, American Descendants of the Magna Charta Barons held commemorative services at Runny Mede, England, the 750th anniversary of the date it was signed, Monday, June 15, 1215. The location of Runny Mede is about fifteen miles West of London and is described as a placid green meadow uninterrupted except by a small memorial to the Magna Charta, from the American Bar Association and the recent memorial dedicated to John Fitzgerald Kennedy, martyred President of the United States.

If you read the translation you will see why this document is important to everyone who speaks English — It guaranteed for the first time "That no free man should be imprisoned without the judgment of his peers"; the germ of the jury trial. It confirmed the right of all to come and go in peacetime; the root of the idea of "life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness". The charter also guaranteed the privileges of towns, which enabled modern society to develop. It set up a system of weights and measures; the basis of commerce. Most important, it recognized a law higher than the king — one which even he could not break.

All British and American law and government has grown from this document.

The Barons first confronted King John in January, 1215, in the Royal Palace, then in the Tower of London.

Each of the Barons by such a confrontation placed his life in jeopardy, even his soul, since the Pope had sided with the King and threatened excommunication to anyone opposing him.

The Magna Charta may be seen in the British Museum in London. A copy exists at Lincoln Cathedral near Runny Mede.
