THE DUNCAN AND GIBSON
FAMILIES

PREFACE

These memoirs were compiled by members of the family of Washington and Eliza Gibson Duncan, which will explain why the two family records are found under one cover. The material has been gleaned from personal recollections, old records and letters, and information furnished by friends. The search covers several years of correspondence and investigation and although errors and omissions incident to such a work may be found, yet on the whole it is correct and authentic.

The few copies distributed should be carefully preserved as it is improbable that a similar record will again be made.

Dec., 1905

H. W. D.

DUNCAN.

King Duncan, son of Malcom II, slain at Bothgowan, by McBeth, in 1040, after a six years' reign over Scotland, was the first to bear the name.

In 1355, the Duncans mustered as one of the Scottish clans. In 1391 one of its members, Duncan Raibert, became its head, and it became known as the clan Donachie, and had its seat at Dun Alister at the east end of Loch Rannoch, in Perthshire. Nothing now remains of the clan but their burial place, neglected and overgrown with gigantic thistles and nettles. The clan Robertson, "sons of Raibert," absorbed the clan Donachie and took its tartan, red and black stripes. The name means "Hill Chief" or "Highland Chief," its Gaelic equivalents are Donachie, Donacha and McConachie. These are being discarded by many for the original name, Duncan.

The Duncan family crest, is a demi greyhound, passant guardant, issuant, proper, motto, Vivat Veritas, or, as with some of them, Dubiisque Secundis Rectus, "In every fortune firm."

The family has been Presbyterian in faith and shared in its trials, from the early history of that Church. The name does not appear in early Colonial History. The first immigrants came to America about 1720-30. Search has so far failed to fix with certainty, our original emigrant ancestor's name or date of arrival but the following seems to be a very probable solution of the question. Rev. William Duncan, of Perthshire, was born January 7, 1630, suffered martyrdom under Charles second. He had a son William, born October 1, 1659, married Margaret McMurdo, of Dumfries, had several children, at least five sons—among them, Thomas, born January 12, 1686 and William, born April 19, 1692. These and perhaps others of the family, (some say there was an Andrew,) came to America in 1722, remained for a time in Culpeper county, Virginia, and later removed to near Chestnut Level, Lancaster county, Pennsylvania. Thomas settled at Carlisle, where he died July 9, 1776, leaving a large family, some of whom settled at Lexington, Kentucky, and others in Illinois.

JAMES DUNCAN who was the father of our ancestor ANDREW DUNCAN lived at Chestnut Level. He died prior to 1770 and his wife Elizabeth perhaps later, aged 75 years. The descendants of James Duncan and of Thomas Duncan were related and kept up their social relations until about 1815. From these facts it is a fair conclusion that James Duncan was a son of one of the emigrant grandsons of Rev. William Duncan of Perthshire.

JAMES DUNCAN of Chestnut Level, had four sons and two daughters, viz., Robert, John, James, Andrew, Mary and Elizabeth. Robert lived in Lower Chanceford, York county. John settled in Fairfield county, Ohio. James settled in Beaver county, Pennsylvania and the youngest son was ANDREW DUNCAN Sr., of York county. Mary married Joseph Reed of Lower Chanceford and Elizabeth married Mr. Yocum and lived near Slate Ridge, Maryland.

It is probable that James Duncan was a man of means as his children had farms in their early days. Andrew came to his farm in York county at the age of twenty. His neighbor was William Smith, Esq., whose daughter Ann he married. The Round Hill Church, and graveyard grounds were donated by Andrew Duncan and Smith. They were its first ruling elders from 1770 and to their deaths they served. The organization of the Round Hill church now and for many years, known as Hopewell, dates back to 1756. It occupies its third site and fourth building. Robert Cathcart, D. D., was its pastor from 1793 to 1834. He was born November 1759, died at York, October 19, 1849.

The old Duncan farm house, or at least a portion of it, and the barn, are still in use. All the children of Andrew Duncan were born on this farm. Andrew Duncan had a fair education, was a magistrate for many years, had a good library, was a man of intelligence and a useful and respected citizen. In person was of medium height, of a muscular frame, had grey-blue eyes, light complexion and dark hair, retained his vigor up to within a short time before he died. He was buried at Round Hill, within view of his old farm house near Cross Roads.

In a record of this character brevity is essential, but little can be given other than names and dates. Abbreviations used are:—b. born; d. died; m. married; bd. buried; cem. cemetery. Beginning with the ancestor of whom definite information is given, his children form the family groups; they and their children, except where death occurred in infancy, are numbered in order of birth in the family to which they belong.

Of the original plantation there were about three hundred acres and some personal effects left to Elizabeth Duncan and her children by the Will of Andrew Duncan Sr., the farm was very poor and was sold for $3.00 per acre. The entire estate, when debts were paid, amounted to about $900.00. The children of the first wife, except Catherine, had been previously provided for. Washington and a friend, Anderson, in the Fall of 1831 "footed it over the mountains" into Ohio, returning in June 1832. In May 1833 the family went West by wagon, with them went a negro lad, John Jackson and Rebecca Livingston of mixed blood. Both are buried at the old Eden Presbyterian Churchyard which is part of the farm on which they spent 47 years.

The following information in regard to the families from whom the wives of Andrew Duncan Sr. came, is of family interest.

THE SMITH FAMILY.

William Smith was b. about 1718 and d. in 1793, his wife Catherine Campbell of Scotland later, were very early settlers in York county, near Cross Roads, the old farm being now occupied by descendants of their grandson William Duncan. William Smith was a magistrate, an elder in the old Round Hill or Hopewell Church and no small figure in his day. They had four daughters and one son, the latter d. in his 26th year unmarried. The daughters were, ANN who m. ANDREW DUNCAN, SR. Margaret, m. Col. John Kelly, of Lower Chanceford, Sarah, m. Robert Gemmel, of Hopewell Twp., and Catherine, the youngest, m. Samuel Fulton, of Baltimore and moved to Washington county. Of the family of Elizabeth Andrews, Andrew Duncan Sr.'s second wife, we have a fuller account as follows:

THE ANDREWS FAMILY.

JAMES ANDREWS, b. in Derry, Ireland and his wife, Janet Campbell, sister of Catherine Campbell Smith, in Scotland. Of the Campbell family it is said that during the persecutions of the Presbyterians one young woman was tied to a stake on the seashore and drowned by the inflow of the tide. The Andrews family also suffered for the faith and were in the seige of Londonderry, April 18, 1690 to August 1690, both families were of good stock, and the ANDREWS-CAMPBELL family fine specimens of the Scotch-Irish race. There were three sons and five daughters in this family, to-wit:—John, Robert, James, Ann, Nancy, Jane, Mrs. Downing and Elizabeth, some of whom were born in Ireland. We have the following account of them, viz.:—

John was drowned in the Susquehanna river; Robert, d. about 1840 and James d. February 13, 1843. The last two are bd. at Round Hill. Ann, m. but seems to have been left a widow in early life, she d. 1850 at York, in her 93rd year, her husband's name was Gordon. One daughter m. Mr. Downing. They both d. in Belmont county, Ohio, in 1834, had three sons, William, John and Alex., who also lived in Belmont county. There were at least two daughters, names not known.

Nancy, m. Mr. Gallagher, settled in Belmont county, and d. 1850. She had a son Thomas and two daughters, Nancy and Ann, who d. in Perry county, Ohio, at an advanced age, unmarried.

Jane, b. 1773, m. James Griffith, in York county, moved to Belmont county, Ohio, he d. in 1822, she d. in 1853, near Rushville, Perry county, Ohio. They had three sons, James, Joseph and William, and three daughters, Patsey, Betsey and Martha, all born in York county, Pennsylvania. Of William and Joseph we have no account. Betsey. m. a Mr. Paden, Patsey and Martha lived near Rushville, did not marry. Of James Griffith we have a full account. He was b. in 1807, m. Ellen Lee, in Belmont county, Ohio, settled in Texas Tp., Crawford county, Ohio. In 1830 his wife, d. May 10, 1857 and he, in January 1863, bd. at Eden. December 20, 1853, having been paralyzed in speech and in one side for eight years previous to her death. The account of her descendants has been given.

GIBSON.

Old families of the name are found in England, Scotland and Ireland. The Scotch family has for escutcheon three keys, crest, a stork wounding herself and feeding her young with her blood, motto, "Caslestes Pandels Portal." The English branch, storks in various forms and the Irish, for coat of arms a lion rampant and crest, a stork's head, the common use of the stork shows kinship.

Many of the names have been distinguished in art, literature and the law. In Colonial history they appear about 1720. One of Gen. Washington's god-fathers was Major Thomas Gibson. The Pennsylvania Gibsons were from Ireland and Presbyterians. Three brothers from Ireland settled in the Cumberland Valley, Pennsylvania, in 1720. Sons of one of these emigrant brothers were Gen. John Gibson, b. 1740, in Lancaster county, d. 1822, at Pittsburg, bd. at Bradock. He was identified with the early history of the Ohio river region and to him Logan, Chief of the Mingoes, told his troubles, known as "Logan's Speech" as interpreted by Gibson to Thomas Jefferson and by him given in its present form to the public. The other son was Gen. George Gibson, b. 1747, d. December 14, 1791, from wounds received in the battle of The Miami with the Indians. He was the father of John Bannister Gibson, b. November 8, 1780, at Carlisle, Pennsylvania, d. May 3, 1853, having been judge of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania, for thirty-five years. He studied law at Carlisle, with his cousin, Thomas Duncan.

A comparison made of the portraits of Judge Gibson and John Gibson of Seneca county, Ohio, and of their physical and mental characteristics show an unmistakable kinship. This together with nearness in age and locality of birth gives probability to the presumption that they were cousins.

The Gibsons were early identified with the history of Western Pennsylvania, and served in both the Revolution and Indian wars. As to names we find that William and Capt. James Gibson, were members of the Presbyterian Church at Rock Springs, Washington county, 1768-1794. A Mary Gibson who d. at the age of 71 is buried there. In the Spring of 1781 the wife of one John Gibson was killed by the Indians in Fayette county, Pennsylvania. The wife of Gen. John Gibson 1740-1822 was Ann, daughter of Robert McDowell. A John Gibson who served in the Revolution, married Sarah McDowell. The ancestry of JOHN GIBSON of Seneca county, Ohio, is not definitely shown by any record obtained so far. He said his father was an officer in the Revolution, and as he had an uncle by the name of McDowell, the foregoing gives some clue to his parentage. His parents died when he was quite small and he together with two brothers, was sent to an uncle McDowell, in Kentucky. As he did not return to his birthplace until man grown, such family records as may have existed were perhaps lost or fell into other hands. Of the three brothers sent to Kentucky, one was killed by the Indians. Of the other we have no account. He had two half-brothers, viz.:—James and Robert Gibson, one of whom was an officer in the army.

The following is in the records of the descendants of JOHN GIBSON and is authentic history:

JOHN GIBSON.

Born in Washington county, Pennsylvania, May 18, 1778, died near Melmore, Seneca county, Ohio, "April 12, 1852 aged 73 years, 10 months, 24 days." He m. JEANNETTE COE, February 19, 1801. She was born in Washington county, Pennsylvania, January 6, 1782, "died May 5, 1865, aged 83 years, 3 month, 29 days." Both buried at Block Meeting house graveyard. John Gibson was about six feet in height, spare and well muscled, capable of great endurance as proven in the days of flat boating on the Ohio and Mississippi rivers, a business in which he engaged in early days. His eyes were blue, hair dark and complexion fair. He was an expert cabinet maker and builder, having served his apprenticeship in the trade under John Kendall, in Kentucky. Many of the early settlers in Seneca county, were buried in coffins made by him. His wife was of sturdy build and fair. She came of good Colonial Presbyterian stock, her ancestry having a place in these memoirs. The Gibsons perhaps lived for a year or two after their marriage in Pennsylvania, then moved to near Steubenville, Jefferson county, Ohio, the County Infirmary, now occupying land once a part of their farm. He built and kept the "Black Horse Tavern," near Steubenville. In October 1821 they removed to lands on Buckeye run, near Melmore, Seneca county, at which time he was well off for those days. The double log house in a few years gave place to a good brick one now in use. They had five daughters and six sons all born in Jefferson county except the youngest, James Allen. They were, Sally, Polly, Hetty, Patty, Eliza, Robert McDowell, Moses Coe, John Kendall, Benjamin Milton, William Harvey and James Allen. They were much alike in physical and mental characteristics, blue eyes, dark brown hair and fair complexion. They were of kindly disposition, of a poetic and sanguine temperament and possessed rather remarkable memories and power of expression. In business matters they were venturesome and went into speculations in later life, which proved disastrous.

Was born November 13, 1816, and died August 8, 1841 and lies beside his parents and sister Sally in the old graveyard on the "Base Line" where once stood the pioneer church known as the Block Meeting House. He was a graduate of the class of 39 or 40 Washington-Jefferson College; in the history of that famous institution is known as "Paul" Gibson, from his unusual mental powers and eloquence. His last speech was at old Fort Meigs, June 1840, before a vast assembly among them, Gen. W. H. Harrison, the elder. He had nearly completed his law studies in the office of Rawson and Pennington, at Tiffin, when he was stricken with typhoid fever and returned to the old farm to die. His untimely death was a sore trial to his friends and a national loss.

(9) BENJAMIN MILTON GIBSON.

Born November 15, 1818, died at Gibsonburg, Ohio, October 24, 1872 and is bd. one mile south of that place. He was the last of the family to leave the old farm. On the death of his mother, the farm was sold and the great amount of effects which accumulate on a place occupied by a large family for many years were sold at auction and many articles which would now be prized as heir looms fell into the hands of strangers. Benjamin, m. Martha Corbett in 1865 and after the sale in the spring of that year, moved to Portage, Wood county, Ohio and later to a farm, upon a portion of which the town of Gibsonburg now stands. He met his death from being crushed under a tree which he was felling, but lived a great sufferer for some weeks after the accident. Was born May 16, 1821 and died at Tiffin, Ohio, November 22, 1894. At the age of twenty-one studied law in the office of Rawson and Pennington, in Tiffin. Became an accomplished speaker in early life and for many years preceding his death, was recognized as one of the great orators of his time. May 25, 1847 he m. Martha Matilda Creeger, at Tiffin, Rev. Franklin Putnam officiating. Mrs. Gibson was b. at Graceham, Maryland, February 26, 1823 and d. at Tiffin, August 16, 1903, both are bd. in the Tiffin cem. Gen. Gibson organized and was the Colonel of the 49th Regiment O. V. I., leaving for the front September 10, 1861. Subsequently he was brigade commander, and in 1880 Adjutant General of Ohio. At a gathering of distinguished leaders of the Republican party in Columbus, Ohio, February 13, 1894 after one of his best, as it was fated to be one of his last speeches, he nominated William McKinley, as the standard bearer of the party for the campaign of 1896. It is said that General Gibson made more speeches, and his voice was heard by more people, than any man in the Republican party.

For a history of this member of the family of John Gibson, The "Life and Speeches of General Wm. H. Gibson" by David Dwight Bigger, D. D., will be found satisfactory. General Gibson had four children, all born at Tiffin. They were, Ella, William Ernest, Milton Harvey and Jennie Matilda, of whom the record reads:

(1) ELLA, b. March 5, 1850, m. Dallas P. Dildine, of Tiffin, September 25, 1872 and had four children, viz.: Cora G., b. July 24, 1873. Gibson P., b. July 21, 1875, m. Marie Mills, October 5, 1904 and lives at Lima, Ohio. Laura M., b. October 19, 1880, d. October 31, 1881. The youngest child of Ella Gibson, Helen G., was b. October 24, 1882. February 10, 1891 she m. Edwin Bradfield, of Barnesville, at which place she is buried and her husband and her two little boys reside. These sons are William G., b. April 30, 1892 and Edmund S. b. April 9, 1894.

(11) JAMES ALLEN GIBSON.

The youngest of the family of John and Jeannette Coe Gibson, was b. in Seneca county, Ohio, February 3, 1823 and d. November 26, 1898 at Chapman, Kansas, and is bd. there. M. Margaret A. Poole, December 19, 1850. She was born in Frederick county, Maryland, October 10, 1825 and is today the only one living of the Gibson family of the second generation. They lived for many years on a farm two miles north of Sycamore, Wyandotte county, then moved to Kansas about 1879. Had three children, viz.:—Albert Eugene, Frank Marion and Alice O.

(1) ALBERT E., was b. in Seneca county, December 27, 1851, m. Lillie, daughter of Thomas Griffith, December 16, 1875. August 21, 1881 at Chapman, Kansas. Emily M., b. January 14, 1884 at Council Grove, Kansas. Homer W., b. September 24, 1886. Robert R., b. March 23, 1889 and Jay G., b. April 1, 1890, d. (2) FRANK MARION, b. September 18, 1853, d. September 17, 1880 at Chapman, Kansas, and was buried at that place.

(3) ALICE, the youngest child of James A. Gibson, was b. October 11, 1856 and d. of "Spotted fever" April 8, 1864 and rests beside her grandparents in the old "Block Meeting House" graveyard. She was the fourth one of the Gibson relatives who died of the same dread disease within eight days. James A. Gibson was a Capt. of reserve troops in 1862-1864 and like the whole family was patriotic and energetic in support of the Union. During the troublous days of the Civil War, no assembly lacked an eloquent speaker to defend the Federal administration if a Gibson were present, indeed it may be said of them all as was said by President McKinley in his address at the funeral of Gen. Gibson, of him, "His piety was broad enough to include every creed, and his patriotism wide enough to cover the whole country."

We now pass to the record of the family from which the wife of JOHN GIBSON came, and from it, it will be seen that no mean heritage fell to JEANNETTE COE GIBSON.

THE COE FAMILY.

ROBERT COE, sometimes spelled Cooe, was baptized 1596 and his wife Anna 1591 in Long Melford, Suffolk county, England, and on April 30, 1634 with their three sons, John, Robert and Benjamin, sailed from Ipswich, England in the ship Francis, Captain John Cutting, master, arrived in Boston. After living in Hempstead, New York and other places, settled with other Presbyterian families on Long Island and was one of the founders of the town of Jamaica and an organizer of the Church there, conceded to be the oldest Presbyterian Church in the United States, having an unbroken history to the present congregation. Here Robert Coe, was a judge and deputy high sheriff. He d. 1688, his wife Anna about 1674. He had a second wife, Jane Smith, a widow.

Of the three sons, BENJAMIN, m. Abigail Carman, he was prominent in the affairs of his time, dying at Jamaica Long Island, about 1702. He had sons, Benjamin, Daniel, John and Joseph. Of the four sons, JOSEPH, m. Judah ———. They were living at Jaimaca as late as May 1714. Then with others moved to Morristown, New Jersey, where he was an elder in the Presbyterian church, last met with the church session, November 8, 1759, being then an old man he probably died shortly after, had two sons, Joseph and Benjamin. Of these BENJAMIN, m. Rachel Pruden, b. 1716, d. at Morristown, New Jersey, December 20, 1776, he was probably b. about 1714 and d. at an advanced age, perhaps in Washington county, Pa. He was a memembr of the Morristown Church as early as 1745, being demitted from that church to Redstone, Pa., September 12, 1777. There were the following children of this marriage, viz.:—Ebenezer, b. 1740. Daniel, b. 1741. Phede, b. 1743. Patience, b. 1745. Uzal, b. 1747. Benjamin, b. 1748. Moses, b. August 18, 1750. Patience, (No. 2), b. 1755. Peter, b. 1753. Rachel, b. 1757. Jane b. 1759. Elizabeth, b. 1761 and Titus, b. 1767. It must always be borne in mind that in old records the dates of baptism and not of birth of child is the custom followed.

Of this numerous family of Benjamin and Rachel Pruden Coe, all were no doubt born in Morristown and some married there. At least three sons are enrolled in the Revolution roster of soldiers of that war. Several, if not most of the family went "West" which was then the Ohio River region, of these pioneers one of the sons MOSES was the father of Jennette Gibson.

MOSES COE, b. in Morristown, New Jersey, August 18, 1750, m. Sarah Howell, March 26, 1778. She was of Welsh descent, whether of the famous family of the Howells of Philadelphia and Morristown, or of some other Welsh family of that name is not clear. They moved to Washington county, Pennsylvania, where he was an elder in a Presbyterian Church as early as 1791 and a buyer and seller of land as early as 1793 and had a mill and was an owner of lands in Jefferson county, Ohio, which by his will dated March 27, 1813 and probated March 30, 1813, were divided between his two elder sons, Benjamin and Moses. The elder Moses Coe, d. in Washington county, Pennsylvania, March 28, 1813 and his wife Sarah Howell April 26, 1813. At the present writing we have no record where they were buried or of what Church they were members. They had a large family of whom we have this record: viz.

Esther, b. June 19, 1779, m. Daniel Crane. She was b. in New Jersey, the rest in Pennsylvania, which would indicate that Moses Coe, moved to Washington county, in 1779-1780. Rachel, b. January 26, 1781.

JEANNETTE, b. January 6, 1782, m. JOHN GIBSON, February 19, 1801. She d. May 5, 1865 (See Gibson family.)

Elizabeth, b. November 29, 1783.

Benjamin, b. October 15, 1785, m. Elizabeth Bell, February 5, 1811. Some of his descendants resided at Wintersville, Jefferson county, Ohio, within recent years.

Llewellyn, b. November 20, 1787.

Mary, b. November 21, 1789, m. Mr. Allison.

Moses, b. December 27, 1791, m. Esther Harrah.

Sarah, b. July 19, 1794, m. Mr. Kerr or Carr.

Phillip, b. August 10, 1798.

Daniel, b. March 3, 1801, m. Mary Gladden, April 11, 1822, a son, Joseph, was residing in Springfield, Mass. at a late date. Daniel lived and died in Union county, Ohio, near Millford. Some of the family moved to near Galesburg, Illinois. One of the sons was lost on an exploring trip in the early history of Ohio and was never found.

Recent research has traced the family back to John Coe in Essex county, England, 1403 and to Jeffry Coe in Norfolk county, England, 1458. The family type is strong in all the branches, blue eyes, light brown hair, fair and fresh complexion, good voices and fond of music. We are indebted to David Coe, Secretary of the Coe Association, for much of the history of the family; his address is, Stratford, Conn.

In concluding this record attention is called to the incomplete history or lack of certain data in regard to the ancestry of James Duncan of Chestnut Level, Lancaster county, and of John Gibson of Washington county, Pennsylvania, (1778-1852.) Any information in regard to this or any other matter of interest, to complete, correct or add to this record will be gratefully received by the person responsible for this attempt to perpetuate the brief history of some of the pioneer families of America.
