AFTER READING GENEALOGY

Williams and Josephs, Martha, James, and John,
The generations' rhythmic flow moves on;
Dwellers in hills and men of the further plains,
Pioneers of the creaking wagon trains,
Teachers, fighters, preachers, tillers of the earth,
Buried long in the soil that gave them birth.

New times, new habits; change is everywhere.
New dangers tour the road, new perils ride the air.
Our day is late and menacing. The lateness Breeds fatalistic weariness until Joy shrivels into fear. But faith knows still Each new-born child renews the hope for greatness.

Preface

Edgar Evans Dinwiddie, my father, for many years collected data on the history of his family. His niece, Emily W. Dinwiddie, became interested and they shared their findings. In the last years of his life, when he was an invalid, she combined their most important papers into one voluminous file. After both of them died I found myself in possession of the fruits of their labors, and the finger of Duty seemed to be pointing my way.

From their file I learned of the long search made in many places, of the tedious copying of old records, and in many cases the summarizing of data in answering inquiries from others. Also Emily had made typed copies of much of the handwritten material.

A chart showing some of the early descendants of the William Dinwiddie who settled in Campbell Co., Va., had been prepared by my father, Emily, and Harman A. Dinwiddie, and printed by J. Adger Stewart of Louisville, Ky. It was a bedrock foundation on which to build.

Genealogy has never been my hobby. I had no conception of what was involved, so decided I would settle for the ancestors they had already found and just add all of my grandfather's descendants to bring the record up to date.

This was not so easy as I had thought. My grandfather had eleven children. With such a start, even a few generations can become widely scattered and lose touch. Any researcher finds that the world is divided into two kinds of people, those who answer questionnaires and those who do not. I had to treat briefly persons from whom I could not get information, but thanks to the helpfulness of many others, I believe we have the names of all the descendants of William Walthall Dinwiddie, though not the histories of all.

Delving into the mass of old documents, I discovered that there were in early Virginia several groups of Dinwiddies who seemed to be related but whose degree of kinship is not yet known. I did not want to write the record of our part of the tribe like a silhouette against a background of vacancy, so I have tried to give some of the perspective in the picture. There was data on those other lines in the file, and I was fortunate in reaching some of their descendants with whom my father or Emily had corresponded. Their co-operation has been generous and is acknowledged in those chapters for which they furnished much material.

When the Scotch-Irish settlers landed in Pennsylvania, our ancestors were apparently called Dunwoody or Dinwiddie interchangeably. In Scotland at the same period we find the name Dinwiddie as at present, and some tombstones in the old Marsh Creek Cemetery near Gettysburg are said to spell the name Dinwiddie. It may be that the Dunwoody form of the name was a dialectal result of their sojourn in Ireland. Be that as it may, the various Virginia lines quickly became Dinwiddies, though descendants of the eastern Pennsylvania settlers still use the name Dunwoody.

Spelling as a fixed art is quite modern. In the early days it was not unusual to find the same man's name spelled more than one way in the same official document. My great grandfather remembered when Dinwiddie and Dunwoody were used indiscriminately. To avoid entanglement, we have not indexed both ways and have in most cases used the present spelling only.

Probably the reason libraries contain books with so many different ways of arranging genealogical material is because nobody yet has discovered a really satisfactory method of organizing it to let the reader relax. Necessity forced on me the use of identification numbers. Given names are repeated with such monotony that the chapters about different lines vary as one snowflake from another, almost like the same cards reshuffled. Cross references would have brought on avalanches of confusing verbiage if there were no short cut to the positive identification of the persons mentioned.

This book's system of arrangement and numbering was arrived at by combining and modifying previously used ideas and adding a touch of invention.

Making friends among cousins with whom I had had little or no previous acquaintance has been a happy recompense for hard work. If I started naming the relatives who have earned my gratitude I would not know where to stop and the list would unbalance the book. They know I am grateful, for every helper has been thanked by mail, except the cousins in Charlottesville and my husband. He not only contributed helpful ideas, but patiently served as a trial ground for my fledgling thoughts, and endured with understanding kindness the domestic discomforts resulting from my preoccupation with this task.

CHAPTER I ORIGINS AND IMMIGRANTS

Dinwiddie is an old and honorable name. This statement is meant to include the uncounted variations in spelling, some of the more frequently seen of which are Dunwoody, Dunwoodie, Dinwoody, Dinwiddy, and Dunwody. In old official documents the same man sometimes has his name spelled in more than one way. Consistency in spelling is a modern innovation.

The Dinwiddies were a border clan, long chief proprietors in the parish of Applegarth, Anandale, Dumfries-shire. Their earliest known chief was Alleyn Dinwithie whose name is found on the roll of Scotsmen (for some unknown reason called "Ragman's Roll") who submitted on honorable terms to Edward I at the time of his invasion of Scotland in 1296. A later chief, Thomas, was killed in Dinwiddie Tower by the Jardines in 1503, and the Jardines were credited with slaying the Laird of Dinwiddie in 1512 in the streets of Edinburgh. In 1547 the Laird of Dunwoody with forty-four followers was recorded as among those who gave allegiance to England. (See Introduction to Vol. I of the Official Records of Robert Dinwiddie, printed in 1883 from manuscripts in possession of the Virginia Historical Society, and usually referred to as the Dinwiddie Papers.)

The immediate ancestors of Lt. Governor Robert Dinwiddie of Virginia were for several generations merchants in Glasgow, but like all others of the name are believed to have sprung from the Dinwiddies of Dumfries-shire. Robert Dinwiddie was sent to the New World in 1727 as collector of customs in Bermuda, where his ability and integrity resulted in promotion. In 1751 he was appointed Lt. Governor of Virginia, which post he held until 1757 after he had requested recall because of ill health. He died in England in 1770.

Lt. Governor Dinwiddie left no family in America and no descendants named Dinwiddie. His wife and two daughters returned to England with him. One daughter, Elizabeth, died unmarried; the other, Rebecca, married a Manxman who did not emigrate.

Recent historians in evaluating Lt. Governor Dinwiddie have tended to give less weight to some of his contemporary unpopularity caused by his faithful service to the British Crown at a time when the colonists were in no mood for allegiance. Seeing Lt. Governor Dinwiddie's career and times in perspective, Professor Koontz pronounces him no mere figurehead but "a man who made history." (See Robert Dinwiddie, His Career in the American Colonial Government and Westward Expansion by Louis Knott Koontz, pub. by the Arthur H. Clark Co., 1941). Prof. Koontz in his Preface says that prior to his biography nobody had written a book on Robert Dinwiddie, and with few exceptions nobody had put together more than a few consecutive sentences about him. The exceptions noted were R. A. Brock's 16 page introduction to the Dinwiddie Papers (1883), and a brief but appreciative sketch by T. J. Wertenbaker in the Dictionary of American Biography (1930); also a chapter on Dinwiddie in Prof. Koontz's monograph The Virginia Frontier, 1754-1763, pub. by the Johns Hopkins Press in 1925.

Lt. Gov. Robert Dinwiddie had a brother named John who emigrated from Scotland to Virginia. He was a landowner and merchant on the Rappahannock River. He married Sempha Rosa Enfield Mason, granddaughter of Col. George Mason, a progenitor of George Mason, the author of the Va. Bill of Rights. John Dinwiddie had no son to perpetuate his name. He had two daughters: Jane married and lived in England; Elizabeth married Col. Gerard Fowke and has descendants in various parts of the U. S. (For descendants of John see page xxiv, Vol. I, Dinwiddie Papers.)

In the politico-religious upheavals of the early 17th century occurred the movement of population known as "The Plantation of Ulster." With the encouragement of England many Scots moved into Northern Ireland as settlers. Their lot was not altogether happy. Soon discriminatory laws against Presbyterians became only less severe than those against Roman Catholics. Both had to pay taxes to the established church which both detested.

Early in the 18th century began a great migration of these Scotch-Irish to America. It has been estimated that about 250,000 came over in the period 1729-1750. The Encyclopaedia Britannica calls these "an active, restless, pioneer element." (Pennsylvania: History.)

To be sure, not all the 250,000 were named Dinwiddie, but there were enough to make formidable for their descendants the task of trying to sort out their relationships.

Where adequate facts are not available people tend to lean heavily on tradition. There is a legend in the line with which this book is chiefly concerned that the original ancestor in America was a British Army officer who married the daughter of an Irish noble family against the wishes of both sets of relatives and that they eloped to America and kept no contact with the kin they left behind. This legend is reported from a number of distant kinsmen. Nancy Dinwiddie (No. 7, Chapter 3) married a man who had a Dinwiddie grandmother, said to have been a sister of Nancy's grandfather. The grandmother was described as a proud woman who boasted of her noble Irish ancestry. It may have been true, but proof has not been found.

Scotch-Irish Dunwoodys were early contemporaries in three southern Pennsylvania settlements. The furthest east was in Chester County, a short distance from Philadelphia and in comparatively easy reach of civilization. Touching Chester on the west was Lancaster County, formed from Chester in 1729 and originally reaching to some distance west of the Susquehanna River. In 1749

York County was formed from Lancaster; in 1750 Cumberland was formed from part of Lancaster; in 1784 Franklin was formed from part of Cumberland; in 1880 York was divided to make Adams. Now the sequence of these from east to west along the southern edge of Pennsylvania is Chester, Lancaster, the Susquehanna River, York, Adams and Franklin. Cumberland is north of York.

The Marsh Creek Settlement was in what is now Adams Co., whose main town later became Gettysburg. Still further west was the Conococheague Settlement (named for the local creek) in that part of Lancaster which later became Franklin County. There were mountains of a sort between it and the Marsh Creek neighborhood, and east of that the Susquehanna was a discouragement to travel.

Miss Mary Philbrook, a professional researcher for the American Registry, then in Washington, D. C., made in early 1934 a careful examination of records in seven Pennsylvania counties, in the Genealogical, Historical, and Archives divisions of the Penn. State Library, in other departments recommended by the library, and in the records of the Penn. Historical Society. Church records known to the State Library were also searched. All known sources of information were investigated. This work appears to have been financed by Mr. J. Adger Stewart of Louisville, Ky., an industrialist whose hobby was genealogy and whose wife was a Dinwiddie descendant. A copy of the unpublished American Registry Report was given to Emily W. Dinwiddie (see Preface) and has been useful in supplying new data and correcting previous misconceptions.

CHESTER COUNTY SETTLEMENT

The earliest Dunwoodys found in Chester were John (P1), David (P2), William (P3), and James (P4).

John Dunwoody (P1), according to his tombstone at Brandywine, died Sept. 17, 1776, age 69. He married Susanna Cresswell. He left a will in which he mentioned his children: Margaret Maghan, Mary Euart, Susanna Hamel, Rebecca McWilliam, James (P5), Robert (P6), and John (P7).

David Dunwoody (P2) was married in Philadelphia in 1744; wife, Agnes Longhead. He left a will in which he mentioned children: John (P8), James (P9), William (P10), Sarah Reed, and Ann Oliver.

William Dunwoodies (P3), of West Nantmeal, died 12-14-1775, age 56. He left a will in which he names his brother James (P4), sisters Martha Graham and Agnes McCullough, and sons James (P11) and Andrew (P12).

This Chester County group seems to have had no connection and little communication with Dunwoodys who settled west of the Susquehanna.

William H. Dunwoody, of Minneapolis, Minn., said in a letter written in 1898 that he was a gr.gr.gr.son of the Chester Co. David Dunwoody, but although he had made several visits to England and Scotland he could trace the line no further back. (Dinwiddie Clan Records, Pub. T. H. Ball, Crown Point, Indiana, 1902). A footnote given in the introduction to the Dinwiddie Papers (Va. Hist. Soc. 1883) quotes Mrs. Edwin L. Bomeister, Plainfield, N. J., as saying that descendants of John and Susanna Cresswell Dunwoody were living in Penn., Md., Delaware, N. J., and Georgia.

MARSH CREEK SETTLEMENT

There is on file in the probate court of Lancaster Co. a bond given in 1746 by Hugh Denwoody, James Mann, and James Dunwoody which indicates that one John Dinwiddie (P13) had died intestate. There is no will, no record of administration, no reference to any location, no clue to relationship. 1746 was before York, Cumberland, Franklin and Adams had been separated from Lancaster.

Known to have been in the Marsh Creek Settlement were Sarah (P14), Hugh (P15) and David Dunwoody (P16). John (P13) might have been the father or brother of James, or the father of Hugh and David, both of whom named a son John. No other trace of this John was found.

Sarah Dunwoody's (P14) tombstone in the McClellan Cemetery south of Gettysburg, Pa., said she died 12-20-1744, age 56. She is thought to have been the mother of Hugh (P15) and David (P16).

Hugh Dunwoody (P15) was in the Marsh Creek Settlement as early as 1741 (History of Cumberland and Adams County). He appears on bond for John Dunwoody (P13) mentioned above. He was in 1748 a witness to the will of James Dunwoody (P26). He was a captain in the Indian war in 1756, and may have been the Maj. Hugh Dinwiddie mentioned in the Revolutionary War records. He married Jean Crawford. His will, probated in York Co. 4-22-1777, mentions wife Jean; daughter Roxana, wife of James Downey; sons John (P17), David (P18), Hugh (P19), and Robert (P20); daughters Jean, Sarah, Martha and Isabel; names as executor his brother David Dunwoody (P16). For more information about his descendants see Dinwiddie Clan Records, pp. 99 ff.

David Dunwoody (P16) was also found in the Marsh Creek Settlement as early as 1741. (History of Cumberland and Adams County). No record is found of land grants to or from him. His tombstone gives date of death 1723. He is often mentioned in the diary of the Rev. John Culbertson (Cuthbertson) said to have been the first Reformed Presbyterian minister in America. David (P16) married (1) Jean McClure (died 1771), and (2) Elizabeth Kerr (died 1789). His will, signed David Dunwoody, mentions son-in-law John Wilson (husband of Mary) and their children: Sarah, Thomas, Nancy and Elizabeth. It also mentions David (P23), son of his son David (P21);-son-in-law Samuel Cross; son William (P22) and his wife Hannah and their children: Jean, James (P24), and David (P25); nephew Hugh Dunwoody, presumably Hugh (P19).

The Dinwiddie Clan of Northern Indiana trace their descent from this David (P16). Extensive researches were made prior to 1900 by Oscar Dinwiddie of Plum Grove (Post Office, Orchard Grove), Indiana. All collected material was placed in the hands of T. H. Ball for editing and publishing. Mr. Ball published Dinwiddie Clan Records in 1902, bringing down to 1900 as many of the lines from David as he could, also giving several generations from David's brother Hugh (P15).

At the end of the book is given unclassified information from and about Dinwiddies and Dunwoodys not of the same line, but who were discovered in the course of Oscar Dinwiddie's research. It is interesting to note that data reported to him from others 50 or 60 years ago is less complete than what is now known due to further searches made in the meantime.

THE CONOCOCHIEGUE SETTLEMENT

The Conococheague Settlement was the farthest west of the three in which these pioneer Dinwiddies were found. It was further from Lancaster Co. headquarters, more exposed to Indian attacks from the west, and apparently less given to keeping records. We must remember that all records for the Conococheague territory prior to 1750 were in Lancaster Co. From 1750 to 1784 they were in Cumberland Co., and after 1784, when Franklin Co. was formed, records were made there. We find in this settlement three Dunwoody immigrants named James (P26), Robert (P27) and William (P28).

James Dunwoody (P26) appears first as a witness to the will of Charles Clungard in 1745. In 1746 he is on the bond filed in the estate of John Dunwoody (P13). Since Hugh (P15) was also on this bond we know that the two groups of settlers were in contact and perhaps were related. It has been suggested that they may have been brothers. At the time of John Dunwoody's bond both settlements were in the same county.

James (P26) left a will dated 6-14-1748, and probated in Lancaster Co. 5-10-1749. He mentions his wife Ann, says she is pregnant and makes provision for the unborn child. He leaves his estate to sons William (P29) after his marriage, and Thomas (P30) after his marriage. He further provided that if any of them died the estate should go to his youngest three children. These were not named. Miss Philbrook (American Registry Report) thought it likely they were the James, Robert and Samuel found in Amherst Co., Va. records (see Ch. 2). Witnesses to James's will were Thomas Robinson and Hugh Dunwoody (here's Hugh again). Named as executors are his brother William Dunwoody (P28) and Thomas Wilson.

Robert Dunwoody (P27) left apparently no record but his will. It was poorly written and evidently not by him, since it is signed with his mark. It was dated Sept. 1748 and probated in Lancaster Co. It left all clothes to his brother William (P28) and his estate to John Coxe in trust for William Dinwoody's three children, Henry (P31), James (P32), and William (P33), as soon as said children reached the age of 21. Witnesses were David Watson, William Garraan and Elisha Bedsheld. William (P28) filed a caveat to the probate of the will but the will was upheld by the court in 1749.

Miss Philbrook (Amer. Registry Report) could find no location for this Robert. She learned that witness David Watson was a man of some standing in Lancaster Co. who died in 1805. The other two witnesses could not be found. John Cox (whose will, dated 4-22-1747, is indexed Joshua Cox) lived in Rathmullen Township which is now in that section of Franklin Co. where James Dunwoody's sons Thomas (P30) and William (P29) lived. It has been assumed that Robert and his brother William lived in the same neighborhood.

William Dunwoody (P28) mentioned as executor for his brother James (P26) in 1748 and as the father of three sons under 21 who were to inherit under the will of their uncle Robert (P27) in 1749, is not found further in Pennsylvania records, unless surveys made to William Dunwoody on Conococheague Creek and in Rathmullen Tp., Cumberland Co., were to him. There were other surveys to William Dunwoody, but the others were definitely identified as to William (P29) son of James (P26).

"One Dunwoody" (first name not given) was killed by Indians in 1756. About that time many people in the Conococheague neighborhood were obliged to flee from Indians. According to Miss Philbrok there are recorded statements that many went into Virginia. So far as we know no Pennsylvania record tells exactly where each departing Dunwoody settled thereafter.

Descendants from the Marsh Creek and Chester Co. settlements have been favored with more discoverable records than the descendants of their kindred to the west.

CHAPTER 2

DINWIDDIES IN VIRGINIA IN THE SEVENTEEN HUNDREDS

The concern of this book is with Dinwiddies who lived or whose ancestors lived in Virginia. We would like to gain a knowledge of their forbears and locate their descendants. The former has presented a baffling problem. The Scotch-Irish who left Pennsylvania gave no forwarding addresses, were not finger printed for identification, carried no union cards, driver's licenses, or social security numbers. They did not even have distinguishing middle names. They showed more interest in taming the wilderness and making provision for the future than in keeping records of the past. Moreover, some of the records they did keep have been lost. They had what one researcher wearily called the habit of getting their family Bibles burned up.

Our recourse is to look at early Virginia records and find what Dinwiddies were there before 1800.

Besides Lt. Gov. Dinwiddie at Williamsburg and his brother John on the Rappahannock River (mentioned in Ch. 1) there were four groups of Dinwiddies in Virginia who are thought to have been in some way related but just how is not known. The chapter on Undetermined Relationships will discuss some of the theories about that.

GROUP I. CAMPBELL COUNTY DINWIDDIES

Campbell Co. was a part of Bedford prior to 1781. Records for the same land will be in different counties according to the date.

In Campbell Co. we find three Dinwiddie couples: William, whose name was spelled either Dinwiddie or Dunwoody after the manner of those times. We shall call him William (1). He bought land in 1771. His wife was Frances Hunter. Chapters 3-15 are about him and his descendants.

Somewhat later came James Dinwiddie and his wife Isabella Galbreath. We shall call him James (A1). He sold out and moved in 1800 to Greene Co., Tenn., where he died in 1806. For some of his descendants see Ch. 16.

There was another James Dinwiddie, whom we shall call James (B3), whose wife was Sarah Helm. He lived in Campbell Co. for a comparatively short time. He made many moves: from Penn. to Va., from Campbell to Greenbrier, then to Fayette Co. and Madison Co., Ky., and finally in 1824 to Henry Co., Tenn., where James died in 1842, Sarah in 1843. This James (B3) is said to have fought in the Revolutionary War. Pennsylvania records show three of that name as Revolutionary soldiers, in the militias of Chester, Cumberland and York counties. (See Dinwiddie Notes, by Louise Carson Drake, in Tyler's Quarterly, Jan. 1934, for further details and documentation.) Ch. 17 in this book will give some of the descendants of this James (B3).

GROUP II. ROCKFISH VALLEY DINWIDDIES

In Rockfish Valley, in a neighborhood which was successively in Albemarle, Amherst and Nelson counties, we find Robert (C1), Samuel (C2), James (C3), John (C4), William (C5), and Robert, Jr. (C6).

The earliest mention we find is 5-10-1758, Albemarle Deed Book 2, p.43, Charlottesville, which records sale of 74 acres by Robert Dinwiddie (C1) to David Crawford. The State Library at Richmond has record of a land grant from George III to Robert (C1) 7-5-1774 of 154 acres on the north branches of Rockfish River. By this time that section had become a part of Amherst Co., which was formed from Albemarle in 1761.

The minutes of West Hanover Presbytery show that a Robert Dinwiddie attended Presbytery as an elder, but this might have been his contemporary Robert (D1) from Group 3 in this chapter.

A manuscript in the D.A.R. Library in Washington, D. C., lists as members of an Amherst Co. rifle company organized 2-26-1776: John Dinwiddie, Samuel Dinwiddie, Will Dinwiddie and William Dinwiddie. These are John (C4), Samuel (C2), and William (C5), but we do not identify the Will, having found no other record of him.

Robert (C1) deeded land in Rockfish Valley to Samuel (C2) 4-6-1778. Robert was on the 1782 tax list for 200 acres, 14 cattle and 7 horses. He is mentioned in the will of his brother James (C3) 5-27-1783. On July 21, 1794 Robert, Jr. (C6) qualified as administrator for the estate of Robert, Sr. (C1).

James Dinwiddie (C3) was a brother of Robert (C1). We do not know that James had any children. In his will dated 5-27-1783 he mentions, in addition to his brother Robert: James's wife Ann; John, William, and Robert, Jr., all of whom were children of Robert (C1); Sarah Henderson, wife of Alexander (whose marriage bond 1779 gave Robert as parent or guardian); and Margaret Simpson, wife of David, who may also have been a daughter of Robert. We have found no positive identification for her. This will does not mention Samuel.

Samuel Dinwiddie (C2) was a private in Capt. Azariah Martin's company of militia from Amherst Co. (Va. Soldiers of 1776, p.1411, Va. State Library).

James Hundley qualified as administrator for Samuel in July 1796.

Sarah (Sallie) m. William Ready 8-26-1797, naming as parents or guardians James and Aleny Hundley.

Hannah, who moved to Bourbon Co., Ky., deeded land to James Hundley, 5-1-1799, naming her three sisters. June 15, 1815 her name as an heir of her father's property was given as Hannah Robertson, late Dinwiddie. (Lincoln Co., Ky., Deed Book H, p.32)

Rhoda m. John Barnett or Bennett 8-10-1798, naming as parent or guardian: Hundley, Elis.

Jane was a ward of John Bennett or Burnet.

Else (Aleny) Dinwiddie m. James Hundley 7-16-1786.

James Hundley and wife Aley deeded land to Robert Dinwiddie, Jr., Oct. 15, 1799.

From the above it seems probable that Samuel (C2) and Else-Elis.-Aley-Aleny Dinwiddie were brother and sister and close relatives of the other Rockfish Valley Dinwiddies. It has been suggested that Robert (C1), Samuel (C2), and James (C3) were perhaps the unnamed children in the will of James Dinwiddie (Ch.1,P26) who died in 1749. He left also an unborn child.

GROUP III. AUGUSTA-BATH-HIGHLAND DINWIDDIES

It is recorded that Robert Dinwiddie, whom we shall call D1, received, 8-1-1772, a grant of 210 acres on the North Fork of Jackson's River in Augusta Co., Va., from George III "for good cause and consideration, but more especially for and in consideration of the sum of twenty-five shillings of good and lawful money." In 1769 a survey for Robert Dinwiddie was made of 98 acres in Vanderpool Gap. In 1781 he obtained a patent for 97 acres at the head of Jackson's River, adjoining himself. The two descriptions may refer to the same land. Tax lists show Robert (D1) paying on 210 and 97 acres prior to 1790. In 1790 Bath County was formed from parts of Augusta, Botetourt, and Greenbrier counties. In Bath Co. Robert paid taxes on the same two parcels for three years, 1791-3. The next three years, 1794-6, property taxes were paid by William. In 1796 Robert died. Beginning with 1797 the 210 and 97 acres were listed for William.

In 1787-8 180 acres were listed as taxable to James and William Dinwiddie. In 1787 William paid horse and cattle taxes for William and Robert. In 1789 the 180 acres of James and William were described as charged to John Green, and John Green is listed as having 180 acres.

Robert's age at death is not known, nor are birth dates available for his children: James (D2), William (D3), Elizabeth (D4), Mary (D5), Jane (D6), and John (D7). There are some clues. From old Augusta Co. records we learn that James (D2) m. Ellenor Lockridge in 1785. Mary (D5) m. John Kincaid in 1786. In 1779 Mary, an infant, brought suit by her brother James vs. Peter Hale. Miss Philbrook of the American Registry reported that other records of the estate of Peter Hale gave the impression that this was a claim for wages.

Robert's son John (D7) was killed at the Battle of Point Pleasant in 1774. From Lyman Chalkley's Abstracts of Augusta County Records we find: Vol. III, p.138 (Will Book V. p.297), James Dunwoody gives bond with Robert Dinwoody as administrator of John Dunwoody, 11-17-1774. Vol. I, p.183 (Order Book XVI, 28), Administration of the estate of John Dunwoody granted to his brother James Dunwoody. Vol. III, p.142 gives John Dunwoody's appraisement, 1775. P.152 gives account of John Dunwoody's estate, his brother James administrator, 1778. This account showed money received from the County for service in the Shaney Expedition to the Point, and for weapons lost in the Battle.

In the History of Highland County, Va., by Oren F. Morton, p.192, we find James Dinwiddie killed at Point Pleasant. Somewhere along the line some record was in error.

The will of Robert Dinwiddie of Bath County was published in full in Tyler's Quarterly, April 1933. His bequests were: Plantation to his son William (D3); movable property and an arrangement for her support to his wife Elizabeth; to "John Dinwiddie (DX), that I have kept from a child" 30 pounds; to son James (D2), Stephen Wilson and his wife (D6), James Patent (D4), and John Kinkeade and his wife (D5), to each of them five shillings current money of Virginia and no more.

William (D3) was named executor. In the event William sold the plantation it was stipulated that half the value of the land was to go to Robert's grandchildren, named as: Robert Dinwiddie (D9), son of James (D2); Mathew Patent and John, his brother, sons of his daughter Elizabeth (D4); William Kinkead, son of his daughter Mary (D5); Thomas, Robert, Charles, James, William and Stephen Willson, sons of his daughter Jane (D6).

Robert's son John (D7) having died in 1774, no mention was made of him. James (D2) seems to have been already established in Kentucky.

There is a record of a 1769 survey in the name of John Dunwoody. Patent for this parcel was issued in 1781 to Abraham Ingram. This may have been John (D7), as the survey was made before his death, and the patent taken later by another person.

We do not know much about the John (DX) to whom Robert left the 30 pounds, but some items in the official records may refer to him. There is record of an attachment, 12-5-1768, in the case of John Dunwoodie vs. Wm. Busheers; Robert Dunwoody surety. (Does this suggest that John was under age?)

On motion of John Dunwoody, 8-16-1785, a scire facias was issued against the administratrix of the estate of Wm. Busheers. (Does this mean that John, now old enough to act for himself, is trying to collect on the ancient bad debt?).

John (DX) was mentioned later in the will of William (D3) as having gone to Ohio.

GROUP IV. GREENBRIER COUNTY DINWIDDIES

Greenbrier is in West Virginia, but when part of it was used in forming Bath County, it was in Virginia. The Dinwiddies in Augusta, later Bath Co., were not far from the Dinwiddies in Greenbrier Co., as can readily be seen on a map.

The Greenbrier Co. tax list for 1782 (in the Va. State Library) shows Thomas Dunwoody and William Dunwoody. In 1783 it has James, Thomas, William, and William Sr. In 1785 it has only Thomas and William. From 1787 to 1794 it has only William under a variety of surname spellings. In 1795 it has only Robert Dunwooddie. The first U. S. Census (1790) lists among heads of families in Greenbrier Co., Va., in the period 1783-1786, James, Thomas, William and William Sr.

The James in Greenbrier was the same James Dinwiddie (B3), wife Sarah Helm, we found in the Campbell Co. group. The deed they gave when selling their Campbell Co. land showed they had moved to Greenbrier County.

Thomas Dinwiddie disappeared from the Greenbrier tax list after 1785. His name next appears in Scott Co., Ky. William Dinwiddie's name disappears from the Greenbrier list after 1794. He sold part of his land in 1791 and what may have been the rest of it in 1795. In 1795 the aged parents of Thomas Dinwiddie came to his home in Kentucky, where both died soon afterward. For more about this line see chapters 17 and 18.

CHAPTER 3
WILLIAM DINWIDDIE OF CAMPBELL COUNTY,
VA., AND HIS FAMILY

Roman numerals show generation.

Arabic numbers are used as an aid to identification and have no other significance.

Letters indicate sequence of birth in family.

1 I. WILLIAM DINWIDDIE, or Dunwoody, (the spelling was more or less at random in those days), was born in Pennsylvania, of parents said to have come from Ireland and settled in the Conococheague Valley. William's son Joseph (2) learned this from his parents and passed it on to his eldest Dinwiddie grandson, William (14), who wrote it down. Joseph's father, William (1), may have been a son of the William (P28) in Pennsylvania who had three sons not of age in 1749. These were mentioned in the will of their father's brother Robert (Ch. 1, P 27). Chapter 22 discusses unproven relationships.

William (1) married FRANCES HUNTER. Her father was Joseph Hunter, whose will (proved 2-23-1782 in Mountjoy Twp., then in York Co., later in Adams Co., Pa.) mentions daughters Agnes Dunwoody and Frances Dunwoody, and Sarah and Joseph Dunwoody, children of Frances. The Agnes Dunwoody has not been certainly identified. (See Ch.21, M4).

William (1) is recorded as having bought, 9-23-1771, 190 acres on both sides of Reedy Creek (Bedford Co., Va., Book D, p.154). The date of his marriage is not known, but we infer that William and Frances started housekeeping around Christmas 1772. The same Book D, p.464, shows a bill of sale from Joseph Hunter (Frances's brother) to William Dunwoody for 40 pounds: "2 cows, a heifer, 9 hogs, 3 beds and their furniture, hoes, etc."

William (1) next bought 200 acres on both sides of a branch of Falling River (Bedford Co., Book E, p.48, recorded 5-24-1773). Campbell Co. was formed from Bedford in 1781, and William's 200 acres were on the Campbell Co. Land Roll for 1782.

The exact date of William's death is not known. His son Joseph (b.1775) was the still quite young eldest of seven children at the time. Joseph well remembered his father's homecoming from the Revolutionary War, and hearing about the Battle of Guilford Court House in which his father had fought. The date of this battle was 3-15-1781. Official record of William's military service is missing.

William returned broken in health. On Aug. 20, 1781, he sold the 190 acre tract first acquired, but the sale was not recorded until Dec. 24 that year. On the tax list for cattle, etc., William's name disappeared 1788, and Frances's name first appeared 1789. In 1791 the Land Roll listed William's estate. He died intestate. There is no detailed record of the settlement of his estate but, Feb. 11, 1805, a deed was made and recorded (Campbell Co., Va., Book 7, p.16) from Joseph Dinwiddie and Polly, his wife, Sally Dinwiddie, and John Franklin and Anne, his wife, to sell to John Dinwiddie for 120 pounds their share of the 200 acres of their father William Dinwiddie, deceased.

Frances Hunter Dinwiddie lived until 1830 or later in the same home with her son John. There was a formal agreement between Joseph and John as to her support. William and Frances had seven children:

- II. A. Joseph Dinwiddie, No. 2 (see Ch.4).
- B. Sarah, or Sallie, Dinwiddie, No. 3.
- C. Ann Dinwiddie, No. 4.
- D. William Dinwiddie, No. 5.
- E. John Dinwiddie, No. 6.
- F. James Dinwiddie, d. young; unmarried.
- G. Nancy Dinwiddie, No. 7.

3 II. SARAH (SALLIE) DINWIDDIE (I Wm.),
*b.*12-15-1776; *d.*8-6-1829 Butler Co., Ky.; *m.*6-6-1814, as his second wife, THOMAS CARSON (*b.*2-2-1769 near Lynchburg, Va.; *d.*11-7-1825, Butler Co., Ky.)
 Thomas Carson's first wife was Mary Dinwiddie, dau.
 of James Dinwiddie (Al, Ch.16) of Campbell Co., Va., and Greene Co., Tenn. (For descendants of Mary Dinwiddie and Thomas Carson see Tyler's Quaterly, Jan.
 1934, p.192.) Sarah and Thomas Carson had three children:

 III.A. AGNES HUNTER CARSON (II Sarah;
I Wm.), *b.*4-13-1815; *d.*1870; *m.*12-3-1835 THOMAS
 L. S. PROCTOR. They had seven children:

 IV. Charles J. Proctor, T. M. Proctor, Sarah E. Proctor, Addie C. Proctor, Z. Taylor Proctor, H. Clay Proctor, and Benjamin F. Proctor.

 III.B. SARAH JIMESON CARSON (II Sarah;
I Wm.), *b.*1-16-1817; *d.*12-17-1893; m. 11-18-1834
 WARREN WALKER HINES (*b.*6-22-1812; *d.*6-24-1898), son of Henry Hines, Jr. They had nine children:

 IV. Martha Hines, Thomas Henry Hines, Mary Nancy
 Blanton Hines, James Madison Hines, Robert Hines, William Hines, Agnes Cornelia Hines, Sarah Frances Hines, and Edward Warren Hines. (See De- scendants of Henry Hines, Sr., by J. Adger Stewart, Louisville, Ky.; also Tyler's Quarterly, Jan. 1934, p.194.)

 III.C. FRANCES ANN CARSON, (II Sarah;
I Wm.), *b.*10-15-1819; *d.*11-3-1825.

4 II. ANN DINWIDDIE (I Wm.), *b.*1777; d.
 1860; bur. Mt. Horeb, Jefferson Co., Tenn.; *m.*12-17-1801 JOHN M. FRANKLIN (*b.*1778; *d.*1857), son of Robert Franklin of Campbell, Co.; moved to Tenn. about 1800. They had four children:

III.A. WILLIAM FRANKLIN (II Ann; I Wm.), went to Texas; m. SARAH WOODS.

III.B. ROBERT D. FRANKLIN (II Ann; I Wm.) m. (1) JANE CANNON; no children. m. (2) POLLY McDANIEL. Their five children were:

IV. Samuel H. Franklin (lost in Civil War), William David Franklin (m. Mary Elizabeth Cline), Robert Franklin (died in Civil War), Laura Franklin (died early), Lizzie Franklin (died early).

Robert D. Franklin m.(3) NANCY ANN BRADSHAW. Their one child:

IV. Isaac Anderson Franklin (m. Elizabeth Grant).

III.C. BENJAMIN FRANCIS FRANKLIN (II Ann; I Wm.), *b.*1814; *d.*1876; m. LUCINDA HARRIET RANKIN (*b.*1815; *d.*1893). Six children:

IV. John Rankin Franklin (1842-1845), Thomas Patrick Franklin (1843-1913; m. Sarah Emily Corbett), Benjamin Franklin (m. Margaret Cordelia McMurry), Nathan Hood Franklin (m. Sarah Jane Fain), Catherine Ruth Franklin (*b.*1852; m. Christopher Houston Rankin), George Franklin (1854-1905; m. Julia Blackburn).

III.D. JACK FRANKLIN (II Ann; I Wm.), m. LIZZIE McCUISTON. No Children.

Lurana Z. Franklin, of Dandridge, Tenn., a daughter of Thomas Patrick Franklin and Sarah Emily Corbett (above), wrote a booklet published in 1924 which contains a more nearly complete record of the descendants of Ann Dinwiddie. (The John M. Franklin Family.)

II. WILLIAM DINWIDDIE (I Wm.), b. Campbell Co., Va.; date not certain. He owned and conducted a saddlery business in Lynchburg, Va., or vicinity. He married NANCY BROWN ACREE, of Lynchburg. They separated soon after the birth of their only child and were never reconciled. No reason for their disagreement was given. Neither remarried.

William (5) went to Bowling Green, Ky., and there had a leather, harness and saddlery business. His relatives were much attached to him, and in his last years he went to his niece, Agnes Hunter Carson Proctor, and her husband, Thomas Lockhart Sloss Proctor. Agnes Proctor was the daughter of William's sister Sarah Dinwiddie Carson (3). Agnes's son, Judge Benjamin Franklin Proctor, of Bowling Green, in a letter to Edgar Evans Dinwiddie (21) on Sept. 8, 1905, wrote:

My mother . . . had an uncle, Maj. William Dinwiddie, who came to Kentucky, and went into business at Bowling Green, where he lived for some fifteen or twenty years, and then upon invitation of my father and mother he went to their mills in Logan Co. where he died in 1865 about the close of the Civil War. As a child I remember him quite well. He was one of the most polished, courtly men I ever met. He was tall, perhaps six feet, one inch, slender and graceful, at all times dressed in blue broadcloth of the best grade. He never married and never went into ladies' society except at our home . . . My uncle was a prominent Mason and was the founder of Dinwiddie Lodge which existed here for many years after the war. He was buried with Masonic honors at this place, and when I came here I hunted up his grave and erected over it a nice stone . . ."

For descendants of William Dinwiddie (5) and Nancy Acree see Ch.14.

6 II. JOHN DINWIDDIE (I Wm.), date of birth not known; m. MILLIE (MILDRED) CAMPBELL 5-1-1809. He bought from his father's other children their share of the father's estate and kept his mother with him until her death. For his nine children and other descendants see Ch.15.

7 II. NANCY DINWIDDIE (I Wm.), date of birth not known; m. "when over 50 yrs. of age," as his second wife, CAPT. (later Col.) THOMAS DIXON. He was a Revolutionary officer. They had one son:

III. JOSEPH DIXON (II Nancy; I Wm.), b. 1831; d. in N. C. near close of Civil War. He was for two years a prisoner of the U. S. Army; was released penniless and ill on the N. C. coast and died before reaching home.

CHAPTER 4

MAJOR JOSEPH DINWIDDIE (b.1775) AND HIS FAMILY

Roman numerals indicate generation starting with William (1).
Arabic numbers have no meaning except to aid in identification of persons.

Letters show order of birth in a family.

2 II. JOSEPH DINWIDDIE (I Wm.), b.1-5-1775, Campbell Co., Va.; d.2-6-1861, Greenwood, Va. He was named for his mother's brother, Joseph Hunter. He was still a young lad when his father died.

On Oct. 24, 1801 Joseph bought 142½ acres on Manley's Branch, a west fork of Falling River. In 1818 he added 26 acres. He had farm land and a tanyard. Census of 1820 records his owning 15 slaves.

The Campbell Co. February Court, 1812, recommended him ensign; July Court 1815, captain Virginia Militia, 117th Regiment; later major.

Joseph Dinwiddie has been described as a remarkably strong man, 6 ft. 2 in. tall; a fine rifle shot; a man of piety; a church member; devoted to his family; had an excellent handwriting. His grandson, Rev. John Dinwiddie, who remembered him well, wrote:

My grandfather, Joseph Dinwiddie, lived when doctors were scarce . . . about 15 miles east of Lynchburg, and remembered when there were only two stores there. He had to be his own physician for the most part. In extreme cases they would send to Lynchburg for a doctor. But he got medical works and studied . . . then his neighbors sent for him to practice in their families, and after a time he was practising in all that region. The neighboring physicians would get him to treat their patients sometimes. Many preferred him to any other physician. I remember that when he was upwards of seventy he went to see a patient and when he returned home he tried to think what medicine he had prescribed but could not do it, and he said it was time for him to quit, and he would never practise again . . . My grandfather was remarkable for the size of his head. He had to have his hats made to order.

Major Joseph Dinwiddie's grandson, Dr. Joseph Dinwiddie (15), wrote to his brother Edgar (21) in 1905:

"I send you what I know of Grandfather Maj. Joe Dinwiddie's sword, written as given to me by my grandfather personally in the year 1845 or 1846. The colonel of the regiment of which Grandfather was major was a warm personal friend of his. I cannot now recall his name. Grandfather purchased a bar of cast steel from which he made for himself a sword. The first time he appeared with it the Colonel was so pleased that he then and there appropriated the same. After the drill was over he (the Colonel) said to Grandfather, 'Here, Joe, is twenty-five dollars, go make you another sword.' When Grandfather came to examine the remnant of steel, he had used over half in making the first sword. In consequence this sword is between two and four inches shorter than the regulation, or first sword he made from the same bar of steel."

The sword and his rifle are now owned by his great-grandson Dr. J. G. Dinwiddie (57), of Waynesboro, Va.

Joseph Dinwiddie (2) married 9-25-1798 MARY (POLLY) WALTHALL BASS (b.5-4-1783; d.6-7-1840), dau. William Bass, of Amelia Co.; gr.dau. Thomas Walthall, of Campbell Co., Va. Polly Walthall Dinwiddie was a frail woman, said to have weighed never more than 100 pounds, and to have been many years an invalid. She was much beloved. In 1800 (Campbell Co. Book 5, p.102) her grandfather made a deed of gift to Polly and Joseph Dinwiddie of four negroes, and in 1801 (same book, p.398) a gift of one negro. Thomas Walthall's will, dated Dec. 15, 1802 (Campbell Co., Will Book 14, 251) made a bequest to Joseph Dinwiddie.

Two wills by Joseph Dinwiddie (2) exist. One, written before the death of his wife and the marriage of his daughter Celina, leaves his "mansion house" and part of his land to his wife (to go to son William at her death), assigns slaves to William and Celina to equalize what he had already given his other daughter when she married, and names son William executor. The other will, written March 31, 1853, was recorded at a court held for Albemarle Co., Va., March 4, 1861. Joseph died at the home of his grandson, Rev. William Dinwiddie (14), Greenwood, Va., and his gravestone is in Lebanon churchyard there. The probated will:

I, Joseph Dinwiddie, of the County of Campbell and State of Virginia, knowing that it is the lot of all men once to die, and being at this time of sound mind and memory, I, intending to divide my estate as I think equally between my children, make the following disposition of my property.—

In the first place I will state what I have given to each of my daughters.

I gave to my daughter Elizabeth H. Dinwiddie (now Elizabeth H. Bryan) at the time of her marriage with Daniel Jasper, one negro woman named Anna to her and her heirs forever with all her increase.

In the second place: I gave to my daughter Celina F. Dinwiddie at the time of her marriage with Robert H. Walthall one negro woman named Hannah to her and her heirs forever, with all her increase.

And in the third place and lastly, I at my death give to my son William Walthall Dinwiddie Eight hundred and fifty dollars which sum is now in his hands, it being the money he received for my negro boy Bob, which negro I had intended to give to the said W. W. Dinwiddie at my death. Now it is to be distinctly understood that the said W. W. Dinwiddie or his heirs are to pay me legal interest on the aforesaid $850 annually, so long as I may live, if I should need or require it. I also at my death will my son W. W. Dinwiddie the aforesaid $850 with all the interest which I have not used or required of him, to him and his heirs forever. And in consideration that I have not given anything to my son Wm. W. Dinwiddie, in my life, and that each of my daughters have had the use of a negro for a number of years, I also will and bequeath to the aforesaid Wm. W. Dinwiddie at my death, the lot of land on which I now reside adjoining the lands of Henry R. Franklin and the said W. W. Dinwiddie with all the appurtenances thereunto belonging, containing about ten acres more or less, also my blacksmith's and plantation tools to him and his heirs forever. And it is my will and desire that out of the residue of my estate all my just debts be paid and the remainder be equally divided between my three children or their legal heirs if any of them should be dead. And lastly I appoint my son Wm. W. Dinwiddie my executor.

From a comparison of these wills it can be inferred that Joseph's son William had bought most of his father's land and was living in the larger dwelling with his big family while the old man occupied a small house alone when the later will was written.

Joseph and Polly Walthall Bass Dinwiddie had three children:

- III. A. Elizabeth Hunter Dinwiddie, No. 8.
- B. William Walthall Dinwiddie, No. 11.
- C. Celina Frances Dinwiddie, No. 12.

8

III. ELIZABETH HUNTER DINWIDDIE
(II Maj. Joseph; I Wm.), *b.*12-27-1799; *d.*10-11-1875,
Marysville, Campbell Co., Va.; m. (1) DANIEL JAS-
PER. Three children:

- IV. A. Celina Jasper (J1).
- B. Mary Elizabeth Jasper (J2).
- C. Carrington Jasper (J3).

For descendants of Elizabeth Hunter Dinwiddie see Chapter 5.

m.(2) REES BRYAN, bro. of Nancy Bryan, wife of Wm. Walthall Dinwiddie (11). There were no children of the second marriage.

III. WILLIAM WALTHALL DINWIDDIE
(bro. of Elizabeth No. 8), *b.*1-14-1804, Campbell Co., Va.; d. of heart disease 12-4-1882, Greenwood, Va. His home was at Plum Branch, 5 mi. from Concord railroad station in Campbell Co. The post office formerly called Dinwiddie's was on his place. He had there a tanyard, a store and a shoe factory employing fifteen or more workmen. His Campbell Co. property was sold to make good a debt as surety for a friend. In 1857 he and his wife moved to Greenwood, Albemarle Co., Va., the home of his son William (14), where they took charge of the boarding department of William's school.

William Walthall Dinwiddie was 6 ft. 4 in. tall, one of the most powerful men physically in Campbell Co., very fearless and a phenomenally accurate shot. He was a Presbyterian elder of New Concord Church and later of Lebanon Church at Greenwood. He had little formal education but, to quote his son, the Rev. John Dinwiddie:

You could not easily puzzle him in such arithmetical calculations as business men make He was for many years foreman of the grand jury in Campbell Co., had the management of large estates, went to court as regularly as a lawyer. After he changed his residence from Campbell Co. to Greenwood his life was very different.

William Walthall Dinwiddie m. 12-5-1827 NANCY BRYAN (b. Campbell Co. 10-1-1809; d. Greenwood, 1-19-1878, of heart disease), dau. John Bryan (1756-1825) and Catherine Evans; gr.dau. John Bryan (1720-1799) and Mary Morrison; gr.gr.dau. William Bryan (1685-1789) and his wife Margaret. (See Notable Southern Families, by Zella Armstrong, and Colonial Families of U. S., by G. N. McKenzie). She was a notable housekeeper, had a keen sense of humor, a forceful temper, and a sweet singing voice. William Walthall and Nancy Bryan Dinwiddie had eleven children:

- IV. A. Frances Dinwiddie, No. 13.
- B. Mary Dinwiddie, b. 9-9-1828; d. 9-11-1828; twin of Frances.
- C. William Dinwiddie, No. 14.
- D. Joseph Dinwiddie, No. 15.
- E. John Dinwiddie, No. 16.
- F. James Dinwiddie, No. 17.
- G. Rees Dinwiddie, b. 1-6-1840; d. 4-22-1840.
- H. Harman Dinwiddie, No. 18.
- I. Marshall Dinwiddie, No. 19.
- J. Walthall Dinwiddie, No. 20.
- K. Edgar Evans Dinwiddie, No. 21.

12

III. CELINA FRANCES DINWIDDIE (sister of Elizabeth No. 8), *b.*6-5-1809, Campbell Co., Va.; *d.*7-21-1852, Marysville, Va.; m. 12-6-1827 ROBERT HILL WALTHALL (*b.*8-20-1797; d. . . .). Eight children:

- IV. A. Isaac Gibbons Walthall, *b.*10-21-1829.
- B. Sarah Elizabeth Walthall, *b.*7-5-1831; *d.*12-31-1831.
- C. Mary Frances Walthall, *b.*12-18-1832; *d.*3-24-1910; m. at Marysville, 12-18-1850, Robert C. Hawkins, from Bedford Co., Va., who died 2-6-1908.
- D. Robert Fulton Walthall, *b.*4-2-1835; *d.*1-29-1862.
- E. Emily Ann Walthall, *b.*10-20-1836; *d.*1-23-1866.
- F. Joseph Francis Walthall, *b.*7-16-1838; *d.*10-21-1852.
- G. Celina Winifred Walthall, *b.*5-8-1840; *d.*7-27-1852.
- H. William Dinwiddie Walthall, *b.*11-20-184-?

In 1853 Robert Hill Walthall married again. His second wife was Martha A. Burton.

DESCENDANTS OF ELIZABETH HUNTER DINWIDDIE (1799-1875)

Roman numerals show the generation.
Arabic numbers with letter J are for reference identification, and have no significance.
Letters indicate sequence of birth in family.

In Chapter 4 Elizabeth Hunter Dinwiddie is shown as the eldest child of Major Joseph Dinwiddie, and her three children are named: Celina, Mary Elizabeth, and Carrington Jasper.

We know little about the descendants of Celina. Her daughter, Mrs. Ben Givens, then in St. Louis, wrote to Edgar E. Dinwiddie, 6-4-1910, but gave few details. In 1934 Edwin F. Swinney, of Kansas City, wrote to Emily W. Dinwiddie:

I wish could aid in the direction mentioned, but the truth of the matter is we have no record whatever pertaining to what you might call a family tree.

If you are coming this way I would be more than glad to see you. Please remember me with kindest regards to your uncle.

What facts we have about the descendants of Mary Elizabeth Jasper were supplied by Charlene Elizabeth Owen (J23), who is Mrs. Claude C. Crowder, 3016 New Kent Ave., Richmond, Va.

Of Carrington Jasper we know nothing but his name. Perhaps he died young.

J1 IV. CELINA JASPER (III Elizabeth; II Maj. Joseph; I Wm.), m. JOHN H. SWINNEY, of Marysville, Campbell Co., Va. After his death the family moved to Missouri. Their children were:

V. A. Nannie J. Swinney, d. unmarried in 1932.

CHAPTER 6

THE CHILDREN OF WILLIAM WALTHALL DINWIDDIE (1804-1882)

Roman numerals show the generation starting with I William (1).

Arabic numbers have no significance, serving merely as an aid in the identification of individuals.

Sequence of birth in a family is denoted by letters.

Much of the material in this chapter was included in an article by Emily W. Dinwiddie in Tyler's Quarterly, October 1933.

All of the children of William Walthall Dinwiddie were born in his home, Plum Branch, Campbell Co., Va.

- 13 IV. FRANCES DINWIDDIE (III Wm. W.; II Maj. Joseph; I Wm.), *b.*9-9-1828; *d.*7-19-1893, New Florence, Mo.; *m.*9-25-1846 her first cousin DANIEL EVANS BRYAN. They settled in Prairie Fork, Montgomery Co., Mo. In 1850 Daniel was elected representative in Missouri Legislature, and after that was judge of the county court. In 1859 they moved to Montgomery City. In 1861 Jayhawkers burned their home, farm buildings, store and implements. They murdered Daniel and his brother John, got Daniel's keys, took bills and books, destroyed records of indebtedness to Daniel, stole his bonds and other negotiable papers, and are said to have forged and recorded with due legal process documents to get possession of his land. Frances and Daniel had six children:

- V. A. Marshall Rees Dinwiddie Bryan, No. 23.
- B. Nannie Jane Bryan, *b.*2-20-1850; *d.*4-25-1870; unmarried.
- C. Daniel Richard Bryan, No. 24.
- D. Lewis Morrison Bryan, No. 25.
- E. Rezin Dinwiddie Bryan, *b.*7-17-1856; *d.*10-1-1857.
- F. Eva Milton Bryan, No. 26.

Joseph*; I Wm.), *b.*7-1-1834; *d.*Greenwood, Va., 7-19-1898; had no middle name; chose initial to differentiate his signature from that of his brothers James and Joseph. He entered C.S.A. with Univ. of Va. volunteers; was discharged early for ill health following typhoid fever. Associated with his brother William in starting Brookland School; associated with brother James in Sayre Institute, Lexington, Ky.; Presbyterian pastor at Orange, Gordonsville, Big Lick (later called Roanoke), three Concord Churches (Campbell, Appomattox and Charlotte counties), and at Leesburg, Va., High Point,

N. C., and Basic, Va. The Concord Church of Campbell Co. got out a hundred year history in 1935 which included sketches of former pastors. It said:

In 1881 Rev. John Dinwiddie, a son of a former elder in the church, Mr. William Dinwiddie, became pastor. He was an A. B. graduate of the University of Virginia and taught school for fifteen years. He attended Union Seminary for one month, was ordained by West Hanover Presbytery in 1871. He was of scholarly attainments and a good preacher. He spoke seven languages. For his coming his father's home with six acres of land and located at Plum Branch was purchased by the church for a manse. It was during his pastorate that the old church building was sold and the present church building erected. Mr. Dinwiddie severed his relations as pastor in 1887.

V. JAMES HARMAN DINWIDDIE (IV James; III Wm. W.; II Maj. Joseph; I Wm.), b.2-12-1864; d.9-23-1926, Coral Gables, Fla.; vice-pres. Thompson-Starrett Co., Inc., New York, from about 1907 to retirement in 1923. A Saturday Evening Post article, The Towers of New York, by Louis J. Horowitz with Boyden Sparkes, 2-29-1936, said of him:

He had a unique talent; there never has been another possessing his almost clairvoyant power of taking a sketch of a building, before the plans and specifications had been made, and then to see as in a vision everything that would be required in the finished structure . . . As soon as he had seen a sketch, Jim would make a lightning calculator's "dope" estimate. Astonishingly, rarely was there as much as a difference of 2 per cent between his "dope" estimate and the real one that would be prepared after weeks of work by many men bending over their desks . . . My own mind is gaited for figures, and when I say that Jim Dinwiddie's gift transcended what I call normal, I am not exaggerating . . .

CHAPTER 15

DESCENDANTS OF JOHN DINWIDDIE (m. 1809) AND MILDRED CAMPBELL

This line through Gen. III was shown in a chart prepared by Edgar Evans Dinwiddie (21), Emily W. Dinwiddie (34) and Harman A. Dinwiddie (52), and published in 1933. Among Emily's papers were many scraps of information about later generations, but apparently she stopped work on this long before her death, leaving some of the material in the form of pencilled memoranda. We have not tried to verify or complete her work, but give what she had because it may contain clues to help any who wish to go further.

Roman numerals show generation.
Arabic numbers are for reference and aid in identification.
Letters are for sequence of birth, but where dates are lacking may be wrong.

6 II. JOHN DINWIDDIE (I Wm). and MILDRED CAMPBELL (see remarks about them in Ch. 3) had nine children:

- III. A. William Mills Dinwiddie, *b.*5-21-1810; died young.

CHAPTER 16

DESCENDANTS OF JAMES DINWIDDIE (d.1806) AND ISABELLA GALBREATH

Roman numerals show generation starting with James (A1). Arabic numbers with A are for reference only and have no significance.

A1 I. JAMES DINWIDDIE, whom we saw in Campbell Co., Va., in Chapter 2, and who moved in 1800 to Greene Co., Tenn., died there in 1806 leaving a will (dated April 19th and proved April 28th) in which he named four daughters: Mary (A2), Elizabeth (A3), Jean (or Jane) Bell (A4), Agnes (Nancy) (A5), and Ann Wilson, a granddaughter. He names five sons-in-law.

One of the witnesses to the will, who appeared at the July Sessions in Greene Co. to attest it, was James Dinwiddie, Jr. The will itself is recorded as of James Dinwiddie, Senior, and it was so written in the body of the document. The identity of this James Dinwiddie, Jr., has been a matter of conjecture and will be further discussd in Chapter 22. We do not believe that James (A1) had a son.

A2 II. MARY DINWIDDIE (1 James), b.8-25-1769; d.2-20-1812, Butler Co., Ky.; m. in Va., 8-22-1793, THOMAS CARSON (b. Campbell Co., Va., 2-2-1769; d. 1825, Butler Co., Ky.) For data on their descendants see Descendants of Henry Hines, Sr., p.27, pub. 1925 by J. Adger Stewart, Louisville, Ky. Also Tyler's Quarterly, January 1934, p.192. Thomas Carson's second wife was Sarah Dinwiddie (No. 3 in Ch. 3), daughter of William Dinwiddie (1), the brother of James (A1).

A3 II. ELIZABETH DINWIDDIE, m. (at some time prior to a deed she signed in 1800) ROBERT RANKIN. She died after the date of her father's will, time unknown. Information about her descendants was given in an article on Rankin genealogy, by Selden Nelson, in the Knoxville, Tenn., Daily Sentinel, Jan. 24 and Jan. 31, 1926.

- A4 II. JEAN (or JANE) BELL DINWIDDIE, b. Oct. 1785; d. 5-26-1853; m. DAVID RANKIN (b. about 1780). See the same Rankin genealogies for her descendants.
- A5 II. AGNES (NANCY) DINWIDDIE, died after the date of her father's will. In 1804 she married VAL-ENTINE SEVIER, son of Capt. Robert Sevier, and nephew of Gov. John Sevier of Tennessee. For their descendants see the Sevier genealogy in the Knoxville Daily Sentinel, 2-8-1908, which also gives an interesting account of Valentine Sevier himself. See also Sevier genealogy in Notable Southern Families, by Zella Armstrong, Vol. 1, pp.184 ff.
- A6 II. ANN DINWIDDIE obviously died before April 19, 1806, as she is not in the will her father signed on that date. His son-in-law, Thomas Wilson, and granddaughter, Ann Dinwiddie Wilson, are named. Ann Dinwiddie m. THOMAS WILSON 8-15-1798.
- A7 V. Mrs. Mayme Parrish Adams, of Springfield, Mo., wrote to Edgar E. Dinwiddie (21), 6-9-1909, that she was a great-granddaughter of Mary Dinwiddie and Thomas Carson, being a granddaughter of their daughter Mary Bell Carson, who married Thomas E. Carson.
From the Descendants of Henry Hines, Sr., cited above, we indentify her as Mary Bell Parrish, b. 8-30-1853, who married Eugene E. Adams. The line runs: I. James Dinwiddie (A1); II. Mary Dinwiddie and Thomas Carson; III. Jane Bell Carson and Thomas E. Carson; IV. Sarah Jane Carson and her second husband, Dr. H. M. Parrish; V. Mary Bell Parrish (Mayme).

A8 V. Anna Briggs Carter, *b.*7-15-1875; m. 4-26-1899, J. Adger Stewart, of Louisville, Ky. (For dates see William and Mary Quarterly, Vol. 20, pp.49-51). Her line, as found in Mr. Stewart's book cited above, is: I. James Dinwiddie and Isabella Galbreath; II. Mary Dinwiddie and Thomas Carson; III. Thomas Dixon Carson and Caroline Eleanor Hines; IV. Albana (Binnie) Carson and John A. Carter; V. Anna Briggs Carter and J. Adger Stewart. Children of the last named couple were: John Carter Stewart, J. Adger Stewart, Jr., J. Alexander Stewart, and Jean H. Stewart.

CHAPTER 17

DESCENDANTS OF JAMES DINWIDDIE (1755-1842) AND SARAH HELM

Material in this chapter was collected by:

Miss Florence Holman, 1505 W. Park Ave., Corsicana, Texas, (B45*).

Mrs. R. G. Raulstone, nee Martha Dickerson Dinwiddie, McKenzie, Tenn. (B43*).

Mr. James Oliver Dinwiddie, McKenzie Tenn. (B48).

Roman numerals show generation, starting with William B1.

Arabic numbers with letter B are for reference purposes, and without significance.

B1 I. WILLIAM DINWIDDIE, born either in Ireland or Pennsylvania. He and his wife are believed buried at Great Crossing, Scott Co., Ky. This ancestor and his family were copied from pencilled note made by James (B9) below and filed in his family Bible:

My grandfather, William Dinwiddie, and his wife, Elizabeth McWilliams, had six children: four sons — Thomas, James,
William and Archy, and two daughters — Betsy who married a Mc-
Williams and Nancy who married a Pringle.

My father was James Dinwiddie and he had four sons:
William, James, (myself), Thomas and Moses; two daughters —
Jane who married a Gilbert and Elizabeth who married a Carson.

These we number: Thomas (B2), James (B3),
William (B4), Archy (B5), Betsy (B6), and Nancy B7), all children of William (B1).

The next paragraph named James (B3) and his children: William (B8), James (B9), Jane (B10), Thomas Helm (B11), Elizabeth (B12), and Moses Steele (B13).

Chapter 18 of this book is also about descendants of this same William (B1) and tells more about him.

B3 II. JAMES DINWIDDIE (I Wm. B1), b.5-19-1755; d.10-14-1842; bur. in graveyard of son Moses (B13), Caledonia, Henry Co., Tenn. Under the Bible entry for James (B3) is "Fought for liberty in the Revolutionary War." Revolutionary Claims of ..Campbell County, Virginia, March 1782 to August 1786 (collected by Julia Fauntleroy) says, p.17, "Order Book I, p.43, June 1782: James Dinwiddie proved that in February One Thousand Seven Hundred and Eighty One he had impressed for the use of Colonel Lynches core of Volunteers on their March to the Southward a rifle Gun which was never returned for which he is allowed the sum of seven Pound Ten shillings which is ordered to be certified." At Campbell Co., Va., Court for March 7, 1782, James Dinwiddie, John Helm, David Russell, et al, were recommended as proper persons for Lieutenants of Militia of the County. The same date John Helm was among those who took oath for Lieutenants of Militia.

A descendant of Arantha Jane Dinwiddie Woods (B25) says the Lieutenant James Dinwiddie who served in the 3rd Va. Regiment, Revolutionary War, 1776-77, is this James (B3). We do not know the authority for this statement.

A church letter of dismissal to a woman who moved from Campbell Co., Va., in 1798 was found in 1935 by Dr. Helm of Warren Co., Ky. It is signed by the ruling elders of the Concord Presbyterian Church, James Dinwiddie, John Helm, Thomas Carson, and Arthur Campbell." John Helm was Sarah Helm's brother. Thomas Carson was most likely the Thomas Carson, brother of the second wife of James (B9) and husband of Mary and Sarah Dinwiddie. We meet him in several chapters.

James Dinwiddie (B3) married in Campbell Co., Va., SARAH HELM (b.10-8-1755; d.1-11-1843). They lived in Campbell Co., then for a while in Greenbrier Co., Va., then in Fayette and Madison counties, Ky., and Henry Co., Tenn. Their house in Kentucky burned before they moved to Tennessee. Miss Holman was told that there was a large library on the second floor and that all his books were lost.

There is much more material collected on this line, but the compiler of this book deems it impractical to enlarge the publication to include later generations in full. However, in order to link the present to the past, she shows the descent of various persons with whom Emily W. Dinwiddie and Edgar E. Dinwiddie had had correspondence.

CHAPTER 18

DESCENDANTS OF GREENBRIER COUNTY DINWIDDIES

In Chapter 2 we saw that the tax lists for Greenbrier Co., Va., showed a William Dinwiddie from 1782 to 1794, a Thomas Dinwiddie from 1782 to 1785, a second William and a James in 1783 only, and a Robert Dinwiddie only in 1795.

The James Dinwiddie in Greenbrier Co., in 1783 is known to be James (B3).

We have no clear facts about the extra William in 1783. There is in Georgetown, Scott Co., Ky., a record of a will of William Dinwiddie who left to his wife his "plantation," and mentioned also sons William and Archibald and two daughters. This item (without a date) as copied from the Georgetown records, appears alongside an item from Circuit Court Book D, 454, May 2, 1814, that "Thomas Dinwiddie gives bond $8,000." If these items were similarly adjacent in the record book from which they were copied, that bond may have been for the administration of William's estate, and would make it seem probable that this William was the brother of Thomas. The year 1814 would be too late for the settlement of the estate of William (B1). Moreover, William (B1) sold his land in Greenbrier County long before that time.

Thomas Dinwiddie m. (1) Mary Davidson; m. (2) Mary Tilford. The second marriage (in Scott Co., Ky., Feb. 17, 1814) was included in a list of marriages performed by Robert Marshall. Other Dinwiddie marriages in the same list were:

Archibald Dinwiddie — Jennie Johnston, Dec. 31, 1795.

William Ramsey — Martha Dinwiddie, Jan. 27, 1801.

John G. Henderson — Hannah Dinwiddie, dau. of Thomas Dinwiddie, Aug. 8, 1816.

Andrew Weir — Nancy Dinwiddie, dau. of Thomas Dinwiddie, Oct. 1, 1817.

James Weir — Jane Dinwiddie, dau. of Thomas Dinwiddie, Sept. 24, 1818.

Scott Co., was named for all the above marriages, except that no place was mentioned for the marriage of Andrew Weir and Nancy Dinwiddie. No parent was named for Martha Dinwiddie. The Thomas Dinwiddie — Mary Tilford record calls him Thomas Dinwiddie, Sr.

The William Dinwiddie, Sr., of Greenbrier County is William (B1). Descendants of James (B3) have records which fit him into that group. (see par. B1 in Ch. 17).

The wife of William (B1) was named Elizabeth on the deeds given when their Greenbrier land was sold.

We have no record of the descendants of the daughter's of William (B1), nor did we find marriage records for them in Scott County. Archy (B5) seems to be the one who married Jennie Johnston in 1795.

We know very little of the descendants of Thomas (B2). Of interest in this connection is a letter received by Edgar E. Dinwiddie (21). It was written May 8, 1907 by Mrs. E. A. Scott of Kansas City when she was in her 86th year. Mrs. Scott was a child of the marriage of one of the daughters of Thomas (B2), either Nancy or Jane, since her maiden name was Weir. This letter said in part:

. . . during the latter part of the seventeenth century after the close of the Revolutionary War, both of my grandparents in colonies of not less than a hundred each, made their way through a wilderness of hostile Indians to Kentucky; preceding them a few days all of a company with the exception of a little child was murdered, which they took with them. My grandfather, Thomas Dinwiddie, with his wife, Mary Davidson, and family located in Scott Co., Ky., from Lexington ten and Georgetown five miles. The place was called the great crossing. Very soon a Presbyterian Church was built and of course a cemetery connected. Later, about 1800, he built a large stone residence.

My mother, the youngest, was born about that time; there were fourteen in all the large household which was surrounded for a time with hostile foes. She grew up amid hardships and privations . . . it was a spacious, hospitable, Christian home . . . The old great grandfather, old and feeble, was brought out by a servant that I remember, named Charles. Unfortunately, I never knew my great grandparents' names or that of their residence in Virginia. They did not live long, died almost together and were buried in the old family cemetery. Then our grandmother died. In time he married a widow with sons; he was a cultivated man, accumulated quite a library . . . at his death the family were scattered. . . .

The old family graveyard has disappeared as have also the meeting house and cemetery of the Blue Spring Church, built in 1794, where Thomas Dinwiddie and another elder were said to have been buried.

In Dinwiddie Clan Records, pub. 1902, p.107, in a list of miscellaneous Dinwiddies we find mention of Oman Dinwiddie Gray, editor of Sturgeon Leader, of Boone Co., Mo., "son of Mrs. Sophia Dinwiddie Gray, only child of John Reid Dinwiddie, who with his brother Dr. Archibald Dinwiddie went from Indianapolis about 1845 and settled in Fayette, Mo. These were sons of some Thomas Dinwiddie."

It seems probable that John Reid and Dr. Archibald Dinwiddie were sons of Thomas (B2). He had a brother named Archy. From Mrs. Scott's letter we know he had a large family but have no names of sons.

A 1936 clipping from a Sturgeon paper says Mrs. E. R. Dinwiddie who has been the guest of Mrs. W. S. Dinwiddie returned to her home in Columbia. Columbia and Sturgeon are both in Boone County. Fayette is in Howard Co., which touches Boone on the northwest. Lafayette Co., where we found descendants of Robert (C1) of Rockfish Valley (Ch. 20), is due west from Boone but not adjacent. Monroe Co., Mo., where descendants of Robert (D1), of Bath Co., are said to have settled (Ch. 19), touches Boone on the northeast. Dinwiddies in Missouri must find tracing relationships very frustrating.

CHAPTER 19

Chapter 2 contains a summary of the will of Robert Dinwiddie of Bath County, Va., with the names of his children. See also Chapter 22 for undetermined relationships. Material for this chapter was found in Emily W. Dinwiddie's notes and clippings, letters from Eleanor Parker (D19), Oren. F. Morton's History of Highland County, Va., and Chalkley's Abstracts of Augusta County Records.

DESCENDANTS OF ROBERT DINWIDDIE OF BATH COUNTY, VA. (d. 1796)

- D2 II. JAMES DINWIDDIE (I Robert D1) left Virginia and settled on Hickman Creek in Jessamine Co., Ky., where he remained. From tax rolls he seems to have transferred in 1789 Virginia land owned jointly with his brother William, but according to a deposition made 6-6-1807, he did surveying work in Kentucky in 1785. The exact time of permanent change of residence is not known but is thought to have been about 1785. He married in Augusta Co., Va., 8-16-1785, ELLENOR (ELEANOR) LOCKRIDGE, dau. of Major Andrew Lockridge and Jean Graham, and granddaughter of Lt. John Graham and his wife Elizabeth. They were Presbyterians. James died between 12-11-1822 and March Court 1823 when his will was proved. (Will Book C, 245, Nicholasville, Ky., incorrectly indexed Durnoidie). James left a comfortable estate for equal division among his children, whom he names: Robert (D9), Elizabeth (D10), Peggy (Margaret, D11), James (D12), John (D13), Sally (D14), Rebecca (D15) and Elenor (Eleanor D16). An older son, Andrew, predeceased his father.
- D3 II. WILLIAM DINWIDDIE (I Robert D1) inherited his father's plantation. m. 1810 MARY GIVEN; no children. In his will (dated 11-17-1823 and proved in June Court 1824) the property was left to his wife for her lifetime, to go at her death to the children of his brother and sisters, except for $400 to be given to John Dinwiddie, living in Ohio, "being a boy that I raised." This is the John (DX) mentioned in the will of Robert (D1).

According to Morton's History of Highland County, Va.; William (son) of Robert willed his farm to his wife, and after her decease in 1855, it fell to the collateral heirs, all in the West. The administrator was slow in settling the estate. The farm sold at $16,000, but the proceeds went into Confederate money and were lost.

D4 II. ELIZABETH DINWIDDIE (I Robert D1) married JAMES PATTON (called Patent in her father's will). They lived in Kentucky not far from James (D2). As told in an affidavit (Circuit Court Records, Highland Co., Va.) by a Mrs. Scobee, who lived many years with this Patton family after Elizabeth's death, Elizabeth had been killed by a fall from a horse leaving three children in Gen. III: Matthew, John, and Polly, the youngest about seven months old. James Patton married about 1½ yrs. later when the oldest was about 5 yrs. old. Mrs. Scobee said all three children had married and died. Matthew had one child, Polly, who married Phineas Skinner. John had 8 children in Gen. IV. The seven who survived him were: James, Elizabeth, Sally Ann, Richard, John William, Nacky and Polly. Polly, the daughter of Elizabeth (D4), m. Henry Holly and had 9 children in Gen. IV: James, Richard, Elizabeth, Isabella, Matthew, John, George, Dinwiddie, and Sally.

D5 II. MARY DINWIDDIE (I Robert D1) married JOHN KINCAID (called Kinkead in her father's will) 1786. We have not traced this line beyond her son William Kinkead named in the will of Robert (D1).

D6 II. JANE DINWIDDIE (I Robert D1) married Stephen Willson or Wilson. This line is not traced beyond her six sons named in the will of Robert (D1): Thomas, Robert, Charles, James, William, and Stephen Willson.

D9 III. ROBERT DINWIDDIE (II James; I Robert D1), said to have been in War of 1812, and to have married, but no details given. He went to Missouri with his sisters Elizabeth (D1) and Rebecca (D15); died in or near Monroe City, Mo., about 1862.

D10 III. ELIZABETH DINWIDDIE (II James; I Robert D1), b. 11-20-1789 in Ky.; m. 1808 in Missouri, GEORGE M. PROCTOR (b. 4-17-1781 in Va.; d. about 1819, Jessamine Co., Ky.). Date of Elizabeth's death uncertain; she signed, 9-22-1827, an indenture deeding land left by her father. Her grandson, J. M. Proctor, wrote in 1894 that she died so long before that he did not remember her. Four children in Gen. IV:

IV. A. George Washington Proctor, b. 3-21-1811; m. Nancy Margaret Hayden.

B. Columbus Singleton Proctor, b. 2-4-1810; d. 1865; m. Eleanor J. Wood. Their children in Gen. V were:

- a. George Washington Proctor, b. 3-14-1835.
- b. James Marion Proctor, b. 3-3-1837; m. Ellen K. McPike.
- c. Thomas Proctor, b. 5-26-1839; m. Mary T. Bailey.

- g. Columbus Proctor, b. 11-26-1849.
- h. Martha Belle Proctor, b. 3-26-1851; m. (1) William White; m. (2) J. S. Scott.
- i. Martha Emma Proctor, b. 12-30-1852.

C. Montgomery M. Proctor, *b.*10-5-1814; m. Lucy Jane Wood.

D. Uriah Proctor, *b.*4-28-1816; m. Almira Terrill.

D11 III. PEGGY (MARGARET) DINWIDDIE (II James; I Robert D1) married JAMES KIRKPATRICK. Their children in Gen. IV were: A. Armilda Kirkpatrick; B. Imelda Kirkpatrick; C. Lucilda Lucinda Kirkpatrick (who married William Christian of Chilesburg, Ky., and had children John, Margaret, and Mary, sequence not known).

D12 III. JAMES DINWIDDIE (II James; I Robert D1). We know little of him. His wife signed her name Susan F. Dinwiddie. Was he the James L. Dinwiddie chosen as guardian by his sister Eleanor after their father's death?

D13 III. JOHN DINWIDDIE (II James; I Robert D1); wife's name Elizabeth. He died in Missouri earlier than his brother Robert (D9). Children, if any, not known.

D14 III. SALLY DINWIDDIE (II James; I Robert D1), thought to have died young; unmarried.

D15 III. REBECCA DINWIDDIE (II James; I Robert D1), date of birth uncertain, perhaps 1802; m. in Ky., 5-9-1825, JAMES BALLINGER, or Ballenger (Book I, 74, Jessamine County Records, Nicholasville). James M. Proctor of Monroe City, Mo., wrote 2-3-1894, that Rebecca Ballenger "died some fifteen or twenty years ago." Mrs. Lucilda Kirkpatrick Christian wrote, 10-13-1906, that Rebecca moved to Missouri before Mrs. Christian was born. Rebecca's son, J. D. Ballinger, wrote a letter from Newark, Mo., 4-9-1894. Louisa Ballinger who married C. A. Yates is thought to have been a daughter of Rebecca (D15).

D16 III. ELEANOR DINWIDDIE (II James; I Robert D1), b. in Jessamine Co. Ky., not of age when her father died in 1823; m. in Jessamine Co., 2-16-1824, SAMUEL HINES (HINDS), JR. (County Clerk's Office Book of Early Marriages, Nicholasville, Ky., No. 1, 73). They lived in Montgomery Co., Ky. Both died rather young, leaving three children who were reared by their Aunt Margaret Kirkpatrick (D11):

IV. A. Tilford Dinwiddie Hines, b. 12-25-1825; d. 12-10-1894, Lexington, Ky.; said to have gone to Texas and fought under Sam Houston, later becoming a Texas ranger. July 10-1861 he enlisted in the Confederate Army as 1st Lt.; was later capt. in the 1st Cavalry Reg't, 2nd Division, Missouri Troops.

B. Mary Helen Hines, (D17).

C. Jane Hines, m. Perry Crosthwaite.

D17 IV. MARY HELEN HINES (III Eleanor; II James; I Robert D1), b. 3-3-1831; Montgomery Co., Ky.; d. 6-10-1893, Lexington, Ky.; m. 9-17-1851 TACITUS BURGIN of Madison Co., Ky., son of John Burgin and Mary (Polly) Howard, and grandson of Lt. Benjamin Howard (b. Frederick Co., Md., 1755). They had seven children:

V. A. Perry Hines Burgin, m. Sithey Gaitskill.

B. Bettie Hines Burgin (D18).

C. John Burgin m. Webbie Gaitskill.

D. Clifton Burgin m. Sallie Johnson.

E. Franklin Burgin.

F. Helen Burgin m. Henry Berryman Harris.

G. Sally Pou Burgin m. William Wallace Reddick.

D18 V. BETTIE HINES BURGIN (IV Mary Hines; III Eleanor; II James; I Robert D1), b.8-14-1854, Madison Co., Ky.; moved to Fayette Co., when a small child; d.2-14-1903; bur. Lexington, Ky.; m. WATTS PARKER of Fayette Co., (a young lawyer who became Circuit Judge), son of John Evans Parker and Rebecca Shepherd, both of Caroline Co., Va. Their children:

VI. A. Eleanor (Nellie) Burgin Parker (D19).

B. Mary Shepherd Parker (D20).

C. Virginia Parker m. Dr. O. L. Suggett.

D19 VI. ELEANOR BURGIN PARKER (V Bettie Burgin; IV Mary Hines; III Eleanor; II James; I Robert D1). She was a small child when her grandmother died in 1893; educ. Sayre Inst., Hamilton Coll., Univ. of Ky., and music masters. m. ADDISON ALEXANDER HOPKINS (b. Indiana; deceased), son of Rev. Thomas M. Hopkins, D.D. (b. Ohio; educ. Princeton Univ.) and Louise Morgan (b. Westfield, N. Y.). She was a Red Cross Instructor during World War I; bought and edited a previously unpublished manuscript written by Beau Brummel 1822: Male and Female Costume, pub. Doubleday, Doran Co., 1931; compiled a pictorial history of 40 centuries of architecture, furniture, costumes, transportation, etc.; author articles and verse (Who's Who in Kentucky). She writes under her name Eleanor Parker. According to a feature story in the Louisville Courier-Journal, 8-14-1938, she had the largest privately owned collection in the U. S. of fashion plates and pictures of royal robes, uniforms and peasant costumes from early times to the present. These were used for her business as consultant about authentic costuming for motion pictures, books, and stage plays. Her lecture tours have served a dual purpose, serving her genealogical research by giving her the opportunity to look up old records in many places. One child:

VII. Helen Elizabeth Hopkins, artist; unmarried.

- D20 VI. MARY SHEPHERD PARKER (sister to Eleanor D19), m. J. O. LA BACH. Two children:
- VII. A. James Parker La Bach (D21).
 - B. Mary Parker La Bach (D22).
- D21 VII. JAMES PARKER LA BACH (VI Mary Parker; V Bettie Burgin; IV Mary Hines; III Eleanor; II James I Robert D1), b. Lexington, Ky.; teaches music at Syracuse Univ.; m. (1) MARY ANDERSON of Lexington, Ky.; three children. m. (2) PATRICIA AVERY of Syracuse, N. Y. No child.
- VIII. A. William Anderson La Bach.
 - B. Mary Ellen La Bach.
 - C. James Parker, La Bach, Jr.
- D22 VII. MARY PARKER LA BACH (sister to James D21), b. Lexington, Ky.; m. JOHN HERVEY KERR, JR., (son of John Hervey Kerr and Elizabeth Latham), a funeral director; county commissioner; in World War II 1st Lt. Co. E, 110th Reg't. 28th Division; Purple Heart for wounds at battle of Huertzen Forest, Germany. Three children:
- VIII. A. John Hervey Kerr III.
 - B. Mary Shepherd Kerr.
 - C. Bettie LaBach Kerr.
- D23 VI. MARGARET McROBERTS DUNN (Mrs. A. S. Frye, Sr.) of Somerset, Ky., had correspondence with Emily W. Dinwiddie in 1938. She is a gr.gr.granddaughter of Elizabeth Dinwiddie (D4) who married James Patton. Her son:
- VII. ARCHIE SPEARS FRYE, JR., b. 7-17-1913; m. 5-30-1936, MARY ELIZABETH KEMPER, at Williams-town, Ky.

CHAPTER 20

DESCENDANTS OF THE ROCKFISH VALLEY DINWIDDIES

We met in Chapter 2 Robert Dinwiddie of Rockfish Valley, which location was successively in Albemarle, Amherst and Nelson counties. This Robert (C1) had three sons: John (C4), William (C5) and Robert, Jr. (C6).

John Dinwiddie (C4) fought in the Revolution. His record is in Revolutionary Soldiers, Vol. IV, p.156, Va. State Library. He was an infantryman under Col. Cabell. He was on the tax list as a slave owner. He married Sarah Martin, widow of Gideon Martin. We do not know what if any children he had.

William Dinwiddie (C5) was in Amherst Co., Va., tax lists 1786-89, but not later. The Amherst Co. marriage register gives his marriage bond with Agnes Simpson 7-4-1787. A Mr. and Mrs. Dinwiddie, possibly this couple, were in 1810 members of the original congregation of Hopewell Presbyterian Church, Bourbon Co., Ky. Records of the same church show a Mary Dinwiddie who died in 1829. (See Ky. State Historical Society Register, 1930, p.382). On p.384 of the same we find that an infant John Dinwiddie, son of Wm. and E. Dinwiddie, was baptized in 1824. This Mary, John, Wm. and E. are not identified.

Emily W. Dinwiddie, who had not made a special study of this family, sent what information she had to James T. Moore, whose 1941 address was Suite 422, Professional Bldg., Charleston, W. Va. (Fireproof Products Co.). Mr. Moore was hunting for the Va. line from which he came. The earliest ancestor of whom he had a record was "a Dinwiddie who married a Simpson." After getting Emily W. Dinwiddie's data he wrote:

From my own family records I find that my great-great-grandfather, William Dinwiddie, died in 1849 and is buried in the family cemetery 2½ mi. from Houstonville, Lincoln Co., Ky. (Part of Lincoln Co., was taken originally from Madison Co.) My great-aunt Clara Armstrong and other relatives state that his mother was a Simpson from Virginia. This definitely establishes him as the William who married Agnes Simpson.

Robert Dinwiddie (C6) was in 1787 between 16 and 21 (tax list). There is in Amherst Co., Va., a bond for his marriage with Ann Barnett, whose parent or guardian was William Barnett, on 11-29-1788.

The Portrait and Biographical Record of Lafayette and Saline Counties, Mo., 1893, says, pp.139-140, that Robert Dinwiddie, born in Va., but long resident in Ky., and Anna Barnett had a son, Robert S. Dinwiddie, b. 3-4-1812 in Madison Co., Ky. This Robert S. Dinwiddie (C7) is said to have settled in Lafayette, Co., Mo., and 19 yrs. after moving to Missouri he married in 1859 Elizabeth Tevis.

The Christain Observer of 8-3-1938 had an obituary notice for James Tevis Dinwiddie who died 6-30-1938 at his home near Dover, Mo. It said he was born near Dover 4-4-1863, a son of R. S. Dinwiddie of Virginia and Mrs. Bettie Tevis Dinwiddie of Richmond, Ky. In 1890 he married Kate Chrisman of Marshall, Mo. He was widely known as a leader in civic and religious affairs; had been president of Dover State Bank and a director of the bank in Higginville. He was survived by a sister, Mrs. J. L. Groves, of Dover, and three nephews.

CHAPTER 21

MISCELLANEOUS DINWIDDIES AND OTHERS

Emily W. Dinwiddie (34) and Edgar E. Dinwiddie (21) were known to be studying some line of Dinwiddie genealogy, consequently many persons hunting information wrote queries to them. Others sent them particulars which might help to complete a pattern.

Some items in the mass of more or less disconnected data are of interest for a variety of reasons. They will be touched on briefly in this chapter.

Arabic numbers with M are for reference purposes only, and have no significance.

M1 MARY DINWIDDIE (DINWOODY) DOZIER. Jessie Hicks Burt (Mrs. W. E.), 148 South St., Talladega, Ala., 9-26-1933, wrote that she was descended from Mary Dinwoody who was born in Virginia in 1740, and d. Warren Co., Ga., 1808; m. in Va., 1761 or 1762, James L. Dozier (b. 1734 or 1735). Mrs. Burt refers to State Library list of Revolutionary soldiers, p.143, War 5-57. Mrs. Burt's gr.grandfather was named Dinwoody Dozier, as was her mother's brother. This Mary has not been traced. Lunenburg Co., where James Dozier was said to have been born, was not formed until 1748. Since then its area has been broken up into ten counties.

M2 WILLIAM DINWIDDIE, whom Emily (34) and Elizabeth M. Dinwiddie (61) knew well in the second decade of this century, when they were in New York City and he and his second wife lived in Metuchen, N. J., had an eventful and varied career.

At age 14 he worked as asst. electrician of the National Museum, and at 17 was an inspector of customs at Corpus Christi, Texas. He was an ethno photographer and archeologist of the Bureau of Amer. Ethnology in Washington, 1886-1895. He was photographer for the B. & O. R. R. 1897. He did advertising and publicity work for other corporations. He went into newspaper work in New York; was Sunday Editor of New York Herald 1900-1901, and later Sunday Editor of New York World. In 1926 he was an editorial writer on the St. Louis Post-Dispatch. He was war correspondent in the Spanish War, the Philippine Insurrection, the Boer War, and the Russo-Japanese War. He served as a provincial Governor in the Philippines during the first years of the American occupancy. m. (2) Caroline Brooke, of Maryland; after her death, m. (3) about 1929, Alice Brooke. He spent his last five years in Maryland, and died there 1934, survived by his wife, a son, Redfield Dinwiddie of Plainfield, N. J., and a daughter, Mrs. Edmund Hansen of Hollywood, Calif.

His ancestry can be traced in Dinwiddie Clan Records, pub. by T. H. Ball, 1902. There we learn that:

- I. David of the Marsh Creek Settlement (Ch. 1, P16) m. Jean McClure.
- II. David b. 1755; m. Susannah Patterson in 1778; moved from Penn. to Ohio; d. 1823.
- III. Dr. William Dinwiddie, b. 1796; m. Martha Burnside in 1824.
- IV. William A. Dinwiddie, b. 1839, Indiana; m. Hattie Guiteau; was educated as a doctor but preferred a military career.
- V. William Dinwiddie, b. 8-25-1867, in Charlottesville, Va., where his father, a Union officer, was stationed at the time.

M3

HENRY DINWIDDIE-DUNWOODY, was listed in the first U. S. Census for Hillsboro Dist., Orange Co., N. C., 1790. His will, 11-26-1794, mentions wife Elizabeth, son John, grandsons Abraham and James, sons of John; daughters Nancy Long and Sarah Gresham, and grandson John Jackson.

Henry is a rare name among the early Dinwiddies. It is thought this may be the same Henry we found in the will of Robert Dunwoody (Ch.1, P27) who died in Lancaster Co., Pa., 1748, and left his estate in trust for Henry, James, and William, sons of his brother William, as soon as they became of age.

- M4 THOMAS DUNWOODY, son named in will of James (Ch.1, P26), d. Cumberland Co., Pa. His will, probated 8-9-1783, mentions wife Agnes, son James, daughters, Ann, Sarah, and Agnes, and friends Samuel Dunwoody and James Stewart. Could his wife be the daughter of Joseph Hunter and sister of Frances Hunter Dinwiddie? Joseph Hunter named in his will his daughter "Agnes Dunwoody" (Ch. 3, No. 1).
- M5 WILLIAM DUNWOODY (bro. to Thomas M4), left a will probated in Franklin Co., Pa., 12-9-1796, B. 25. Mentions daughter Mary Beard; son John; son Adam (and his son William); son Samuel, sons Joseph and David and James; daughters Esther and Ann Irwin. (See M17 for data on the sons).
- M6 JAMES DINWIDDIE (son of Wm. Dunwoody M5), b. Aug. 1762; d. July 1846; m. Jean Robinson 1790 (b. in N. C. 1770). Their children, as listed from their family Bible by Lurana Z. Franklin (M10), were: John Dinwiddie (1792-1849); Billy Rankin Dinwiddie (b. 1794); Elizabeth Reed Dinwiddie (b. 1797); James Hill Dinwiddie (b. 1800); Esther Dinwiddie (1802-1854); Polly Ann Dinwiddie (1805-1851); Jean (Jenny) Dinwiddie (1807-1841); Martha Dinwiddie (1810-1854). (See M17 for data about the sons).
- M7 ESTHER DINWIDDIE (dau. of William M5) m. in Lincoln Co., N. C., 6-11-1795, John Ramsey.
- M8 ADAM DINWIDDIE (son of William M5), Revolutionary soldier; recorded as a magistrate in Greene Co., Tenn., 1788; d. before 7-3-1799. He had sons, William and others. They moved to Ohio after his death. (See letter in M17).

- M9 SAMUEL DINWIDDIE (son of William M5), fought in Revolution; had a land grant of 300 acres on north side of Tennessee River; 2-17-1790 he had 200 acres south side of Little Chucky; sons' names not known. (See M17).
- M10 LURANA ZEMILEE FRANKLIN, a teacher and genealogist, of Dandridge, Tenn.; b. 1870; dau. Thomas Patrick Franklin (1843-1913); gr.dau. Benjamin Francis Franklin (1814-1876); gr.gr.dau. Ann Dinwiddie (Ch. 3, No. 4) and John M. Franklin. Her mother's grandfather was Billy Rankin Dinwiddie (son of James M6), who died 9-18-1872.
- M11 REV. EDWIN C. DINWIDDIE, well known in the 1890's as sec. of the Anti-Saloon League. No data at hand.
- M12 V. OSCAR DINWIDDIE, a farmer and genealogist; 1922 lived at Lowell, Ind., R. R. 2. He did a vast quantity of research by correspondence, part of which was the material for Dinwiddie Clan Records, edited by T. H. Ball, 1902. His children: Marion Elmer (b. 1874); Joseph Perkins (b. 1876); Belle Irene (b. 1879); Edwin Lorraine (b. 1882); Edith Janette (b. 1884). Probably the Oscar Dinwiddie who was sec. of the Indiana Dinwiddie Clan in 1927 was a grandson.
- His line is: I. David, b. Ireland, settled in Adams Co., Pa.; II David, b. 1755, Marsh Creek Settlement; III Thomas, b. 1787, Adams Co.; IV John Wilson D., b. 1813; V. Oscar, b. 9-2-1845, Illinois.
- M13 HUGH DINWIDDIE (P15). Oscar Dinwiddie (M12) in a letter of 1922 named several persons who had made collections of data about Hugh and his descendants. We do not know where these collections are now. They were: Emma C. Dinwiddie, Evanston, Ill., (recently deceased in 1922); Miss Sallie C. Amberson, 130 W. Main St., Waynesboro, Pa.; Lee Dinwiddie, Fowler, Ind.

M14 ALBERT and THOMAS DINWIDDIE, brothers, were said by Thomas's grandson, W. H. Dinwiddie, Jordan Springs, Tenn., to have moved from Dinwiddie Co., Va., to Allen Co., Ky., in an early day. Thomas, he said, had a son William Dinwiddie, b. 1812, reared in Ky., married, moved to Tennessee; d. 1872; left a large family. In 1902 a daughter, Mrs. Wm. Lacy, lived at Woodlawn, Montgomery Co., Tenn. Inquiries were made that year but no record of these brothers was found in Virginia. In 1916 Miss Harriet Talbot, Y. W. C. A. Annex, Nashville, Tenn., made inquiry regarding the same two brothers on behalf of some woman not named. She said Thomas married Phoebe Cleghorn who came from Ireland at age 11. Their son William m. Mary Alexander in Scottsville, Ky., 1832. No record found in Scottsville.

M15 DINWIDDIE COAT OF ARMS. Lt. Gov. Robert Dinwiddie used a coat of arms. There are many copies of it in the possession of American Dinwiddies, some of whom have used it on stationery. The Arms, according to the account in the Dinwiddie Papers, pub. by the Va. Historical Society, 1883, were:

Per fesse, in chief, or, a landscape, trees, etc., thereon an archer shooting with a bow and arrow at a stag, passant, regardant, all ppr. in base, or, on the dexter, a castle and flag, and on the sinister, rocks, between them the sea, on it a ship sailing with one mast, all ppr.

Crest — an eagle with wings endorsed and inverted, and holding in the dexter claw a Guinea pig. Motto: Ubi libertas ibi patria.

The same motto was used by the Baillie and Hugar families.

Eleanor Parker Hopkins (Ch. 19, D19) wrote that the word "or" in the Dinwiddie Papers was given as "ar" in Burke's Armorie of England, Scotland and Ireland. Modern reproducers have differed in their interpretations.

The editor of this book wanted to know when this coat of arms originated and whether it was ancient enough for the Scotch-Irish Dinwiddies who came to America to have any claim on it. Search in the Va. State Library and the Alderman Library of the Univ. of Va. brought no light on the matter, so a letter was sent to Lancaster Herald, College of Arms, Queen Victoria St., London, E. C. 4, asking the time of its origin. The reply follows:

I should be happy to make a search of our Official Records to see whether I can discover anything concerning the Arms of Dinwiddie, though you will appreciate that I cannot guarantee results, as it is always possible that this family used Arms without authority, —that is to say, without recording them here, and that they entered no pedigree in our records.

The cost of this search and a report of the result thereof will be £3/3/-; and if you would like it made, would you please forward your cheque with your reply, making it payable to me.

I would like to point out that I can only search for Arms granted in England or Ireland. We are not responsible for Scottish Arms which come under the jurisdiction of the Lord Lyon, whose address is H. M. Register House, Edinburgh, 2.

Yours very truly,
Lancaster Herald.

The Herald's name printed on the letterhead was J. R. B. Walker.

M16 WILLIAM H. DUNWOODY, a flour company executive of Minneapolis, in a letter to Oscar Dinwiddie (M12) in 1898 described himself as a gr.gr. grandson of David Dunwoody of Chester Co., Pa. He said he had tried to get data on visits to England and Scotland, but had been unable to trace his line back of the Chester Co. David, or to learn whether that David had relatives in America. He said he was planning to get out a family history.

T. H. Ball, editor of the Dinwiddie Clan Records, examined a genealogy of "Dunwoody and Hood Families, by Gilbert Cope, Westchester, Pennsylvania, Minneapolis, 1899" whose title page said "Based upon Original Researches" with no statement as to by whom or for whom they were made. Mr. Ball believed this was the book sponsored by Wm. H. Dunwoody. Mr. Dunwoody, in the letter referred to, said:

As the spelling of the name was the same at that date that we use at present, I assume that your family has no connection with ours since that time.

M17 JAMES HILL DINWIDDIE, b. 1825 in Blount Co., Tenn., son of Billy Rankin Dinwiddie (who went to Iowa), and grandson of James (M6), wrote from Newbern, Iowa, 6-22-1884, a letter which seems to have been copied by Lurana Z. Franklin (M10) from Dunwoody and Hood Families. Name of person addressed is not given (See M16). In this letter he says his gr.grandfather (name not given, but must have been William M5) lived and died near Mercersburg, Pa., and had seven sons, the first four of whom were Revolutionary soldiers. They were John, William, Adam, Samuel, James, Joseph, and David. Summarizing his statements: John went to N. C. William was killed in battle. Adam and Samuel went to Greene Co., Tenn. (See M8 and M9). James was the grandfather of M17 (See M6). Joseph died young in Pennsylvania. David died in Pennsylvania when old but left no child. John (son of James M6) d. in Kentucky in the 1850s. James Hill Dinwiddie (son of James M6), b. 1800, "was living a short time ago on the farm his father bought in Greene Co., Tenn., more than ninety years ago."

CHAPTER 22

UNDETERMINED RELATIONSHIPS

Those who require immediate answers will not be happy with this chapter, for here we review questions that are not yet answered, and perhaps some never will be. With others there is hope that the needed facts are known somewhere and the pieces of the puzzle may in the future be fitted together.

So far as we know none of the Scotch-Irish Dinwiddies have been able to identify their pre-emigration ancestors. After he had been to Ireland, J. Adger Stewart reported:

My understanding is that there are no county records in Ireland. All records were sent to Dublin. Prior to 1926 these were destroyed by bombs and the only thing left is the index to some of the records.

T. H. Ball, editor of Dinwiddie Clan Records, previously referred to in Ch. 1, says on page 98:

He who tries to connect in a sure line of descent the Dinwiddies in America with any one Irish or Scottish line will find he has before him an impracticable and probably an impossible task.

See also the experience of W. H. Dunwoody, Ch. 21, M16.

Also on this side of the Atlantic there has been uncertainty as to relationships among the Marsh Creek and Conococheague settlers of Pennsylvania. Unless a man acquired land, or married at a time and place that required a marriage bond, or left a will, posterity might find no record of him. With the monotonous repetition of names even such records as are found may be ambiguous. Wills are helpful because they usually give more of the family pattern than most documents.

A case in point is that of James Dinwiddie (A1).

Without documentary proof he was believed to be the brother of William (1). J. Adger Stewart knew that his wife's gr.grandmother was Mary Dinwiddie who married Thomas Carson, and that she and Thomas Carson's second wife, Sarah Dinwiddie, were first cousins. That information came directly from Mrs. John A. Carter, Mrs. Stewart's mother, who knew that her step-grandmother was a cousin of her own grandmother. But according to a letter from Mr. Stewart to Edgar E. Dinwiddie, 11-18-1901, they could not name the parents of Mary Dinwiddie Carson. Sarah was known to be the daughter of William (1). In 1933 Emily W. Dinwiddie received a letter from Mr. Stewart that told of his finding "after twenty-five years search" the will of James Dinwiddie, 1806, in Greene Co., Tennessee. In it he named his daughter Mary Dinwiddie Carson. Thus was the relationship documented.

In the Conococheague settlement James Dinwiddie (P26) and Robert (P27) each left a will naming William (P28) as a brother. We find no will for William and do not know when or where he died. In the Marsh Creek settlement Hugh (P15) and David (P16) both left wills which make their being brothers clear. The relationship of the three Conococheague brothers to the two Marsh Creek brothers is still a matter of conjecture, as is their connection with the John Dinwiddie (P13) for whose estate one brother of each set signed a bond.

In Louise Carson Drake's Dinwiddie Notes in Tyler's Quarterly, Jan. 1934, she quotes the librarian of the Pennsylvania State Library as naming Hugh, David and William as recognized brothers, and adding that John was "said to be a brother of Robert, Lt. Gov. of Va." The obvious error in part of this line-up detracts from the authority of the rest.

There is no doubt that the two groups were associated. We have seen (Ch. 1) how Hugh and James appeared on documents together. They may have been cousins.

It has been noticed that whereas the line of David is thickly peopled with Davids, and the line of Hugh frequently included Davids and Hughs these names were not found among the early Virginia Dinwiddies.

Since the primary concern of this book is with the line of William of Campbell Co., Va., we want to learn his origin. His son Joseph (2) had been told by his parents that they came from Conococheague, Pa. Joseph passed this information on to his grandsons, the eldest of whom put it in writing. There is no room for doubt on that point. That Joseph's grandfather was also named William is a tradition, but his memory of that seems to have been less positive. The assumption has been made that William of Campbell Co. (1) was the Pennsylvania William (P33), not yet 21 yrs. old when his Uncle Robert (P27) wrote his will in 1748, leaving his property in trust for the sons of his brother William (P28) when they became 21. In order to see if this is chronologically possible, we assemble our fragmentary evidence.

Robert's will gives no clue as to how near 21 the boys were, so the three had possible age ranges of 3-20, 2-19, and 1-18. Their names were given as Henry, James and William. If William (1) was William (P33), then his brother James (A1) had to be James (P32). No Henry Dinwiddie shows up in Virginia. We do find a Henry Dinwiddie (Ch. 21, M3) in North Carolina, in the first U. S. Census, 1790. No adequate research has been done for this Henry, but we have a few clues. He is the only Henry Dinwiddie we find in that period; he wrote a will in 1794 and at that time had three grandchildren.

For James (A1) we have no date of birth, but again a few clues. He left a will, and the first child therein named, who may have been the eldest, was born in 1769. This was 21 yrs. after 1748, when James (P32) was not yet 21, and 37 yrs. before the death of James (A1) in 1806.

William left no will but we have a number of other dates to place him. He bought his first farm in 1771, another place in 1773; his eldest child was born in 1775; in 1781 he fought in the Battle of Guilford Court House; later that year he sold his first bought land; in 1788 his name disappeared from the tax list for cattle; in 1789 his wife's name took its place; the land roll for 1791 lists his estate.

From the above known facts we find nothing to preclude the possibility that Henry (M3), James (A1), and William (1) were the same as Henry (P31), James (P32), and William (P33), all sons of William (P28).

The inevitable next question arises as to what became of their father. We do not know. Miss Philbrook of the American Registry found in her search of old Pennsylvania records the statement that "one Dunwoody" was killed by Indians in 1756. Was this he?

Emily W. Dinwiddie evolved a theory that William (P28) was the same as William (B1) of Greenbrier Co., Va. This theory forces on us certain corollaries which to many people appear improbable. It would make James (A1) also the son of William (B1). But the descendants of James (B3) claim William (B1) as his father, and he had only one son James. Avoiding this predicament Emily's theory made James (B3) the son of James (A1) and thus the grandson, not the son of William (B1). She based this theory on three points:

1. Mr. James O. Dinwiddie wrote that his gr-grandfather had left a note saying that his father was named James. James O. Dinwiddie's gr-grandfather was James (B3).

2. Mrs. E. E. Adams (Ch. 16, A7) wrote to Edgar E. Dinwiddie, 5-6-1909, that her gr-grandmother,

Mary Dinwiddie Carson, the daughter of James (A1), had "a brother James and William."

3. James (A1) wrote his will as James Dinwiddie, Senior, and one of the witnesses to it who subsequently appeared at Court to attest it was "James Dinwiddie, Junior." On the bottom of a copy of Mrs. Adams's letter, Emily W. Dinwiddie wrote, "This letter together with James O. Dinwiddie's records indicate that James Jr., was the son of James, Sr."

Here are the reasons for not agreeing with Emily's theory:

1. When James O. Dinwiddie wrote about the notes in the Bible he was 78 yrs. old and feeble. He did not copy, he merely described the contents. On the back of another letter of his, written a short time afterward his daughter wrote, "Papa isn't at all well and I fear he got some of these dates mixed." From the contents of the record as described some persons were thinking it must have been written by the grandfather (James B9), and not the gr.grandfather (James B3), of James O. Dinwiddie. Early in 1956 Miss Holman secured photostat copies of the Bible records which confirm this guess. It was James (B9) who said his father was named James, not James (B3). Moreover James (B9) also said his grandfather was William Dinwiddie.

2. At the time Mrs. E. E. Adams wrote she was trying to identify the father of her gr.grandmother, Mary Dinwiddie Carson (A2). Upon reading somewhere that Robert of Bath Co., Va. (D1), had sons James and William she thought her problem was solved. We do not know on what evidence she based her statement about her gr.grandmother having brothers James and William. It might be a confusion between brothers and brothers-in-law. Mary's husband, Thomas Carson, had a brother William. We know little about him and perhaps he died young. Thomas Carson had a sister, Polly Montgomery

Carson, who married James Dinwiddie (B9). Mrs. Adams may have seen some old letter which spoke of these brothers-in-law as brothers.

3. As to James Jr., being a witness to the will of James (A1), it should be remembered that the terms Sr. and Jr. have often been used to distinguish between persons of identical name even when there was no parental relationship.

The internal evidence of the will is against Emily's theory. James (A1) names four daughters and no other children. Twice in the document he provides that certain assets be divided "equally amongst my four children." This does not sound like a man who is having an unmentioned fifth child witness the will. Furthermore, we should remember that James Dinwiddie (M6, Ch. 21) was living in the same Tennessee county as James (A1) and would probably be available as a witness, whereas James (B3) was living in Kentucky at that time.

It is interesting to see how the known and the assumed Conococheague descendants followed each other around. James (P26), brother of William (P28), had a grandson, James (Ch. 21, M6) who went to North Carolina as a surveyor. In North Carolina lived Henry (M3) who may have been the son of William (P28). We do not know over how wide a range James (M6) did his surveying but he married in Lincoln County which, though not adjacent, was fairly near Orange Co., where Henry lived. Then when James left North Carolina he bought a farm in Green Co., Tenn., where James (A1), who may have been a brother of Henry (M3) was already living, and to which two brothers of James (M6) had moved earlier than James (A1).

Another unanswered question concerns Robert (D1) of Bath Co., whom Oren F. Morton's History of Highland County, Va. (p.87) describes as "a man of some education and property." We have found no trace of him in Pennsylvania. Did he enter America through Philadelphia and proceed forthwith to Virginia? O. F. Morton says (p.380) in speaking of Robert (D1), "the pioneer seems to have had brothers named James, John, and William." Probably this idea is due to the mention of those names in county records as shown in Chapter 2 of this book, but in the light of present knowledge it seems probable that those records were not of brothers but of sons of Robert (D1), plus the extra John (DX) whom Robert had reared and whose relationship is unknown.

Was Robert (D1) the Robert found on the Greenbrier tax list in 1795? If so, was he there to complete the settlement of the estate of William (B1) after the latter's move to Kentucky?

In an effort to make all known quantities fit the same pattern, some have suggested that Robert (D1) might have been another brother of William (1) of Campbell County. In a letter to Mrs. A. S. Frye (Ch. 19, D23), 9-20-1938, Emily W. Dinwiddie said she thought he probably was a brother of William (1) but did not mention the evidence upon which she based the supposition. In a letter to Mrs. Eleanor Parker Hopkins (Ch. 19, D19) we find the statement:

My uncle Edgar E. Dinwiddie, born 1852, thinks he recalls his grandfather Major Joseph Dinwiddie speaking of an Uncle Robert.

If William (1) was identical with William (P33), then Major Joseph (2) had a great uncle Robert (P27). However, it is well to remember that Major Joseph died at age 86 when his grandson Edgar was 8 yrs. old. There is a scarcity of data in the case.

There is also no identification for the origin of the Rockfish Valley Dinwiddies. They may have been immigrants or children of James (Ch. 2, P26), whom he mentioned in his will without naming.

That there were more Dinwiddies in Pennsylvania than those we find in official documents is shown by occasional mention in private papers. The Rev. John Culbertson, (Cuthbertson), a Presbyterian minister who covered a wide territory west of the Susquehanna, kept a diary from 1751 to 1790. In it we find a good many names familiar to Virginia, including Dinwiddie. Three of the Dinwiddies were named once only in this diary and so far as we know nowhere else. These were Isaac Dinwiddie (1753), George Dinwiddie (1756), and Seth Dinwiddie (1768). Those names did not turn out to be hardy perennials like James and William.

INDEX

It has been necessary to devise a way of distinguishing persons whose names are identical. The following symbols answer that purpose, and make it easier to locate on the book page the name sought. It was not practicable to give in the index enough information in words for complete identification. This abbreviated system insures all references to the same person being grouped together. Where more than one page reference is given, the first mentioned is usually the most important.

ch.....child of	r.....related to gr.ch...grandchild of	x.....relationship not certain m.....spouse of

These symbols are followed by an identification number.

Thus: r.m.114 is a relative of the spouse of 114. The identification number 114 will be found in the page margin, but the marginal numbering is not used in all chapters.

ADDENDA

The following items of information were received too late for inclusion in the book Dinwiddie Family Records. Not indexed.

Addition to No. M15 on page 158:

According to The Family of Dinwiddie of Dinwiddie, An Attempt at a Brief Family History of the Lairds of Dinwiddie, by Thomas Somerill:

The only armorial coat known to modern Heralds as borne by a Dinwiddie is that granted to Robert Dinwiddie, the Governor of Virginia . . . Of course only the descendants of Governor Dinwiddie are entitled to use it.

The Ancient Arms of Dinwiddie of Dinwiddie are so far lost. But as Crusaders and Seneschals of Annandale they inevitably had an Ancient Coat.

(See M18 below).

Add new paragraph M18 to Chapter 21.

M18 LAWRENCE KEITH DINWIDDIE, son of Joseph Perkins Dinwiddie, and grandson of Oscar Dinwiddie (M12), produced in 1952 an up-to-date edition of Dinwiddie Clan Records, continuing the line of David Dunwoody (P16). Descendants of this line, many of whom live in Northern Indiana, hold clan reunions. Keith Dinwiddie, 201 Monroe Street, Valparaiso, Ind., is corresponding secretary for this group and welcomes pertinent data.

In 1950 James M. Dinwiddie, Edinburgh, Scotland, made for Keith Dinwiddie a typed copy of a manuscript book made by Thomas Somerill (quoted in the above addition to M15). Somerill's history starts in 1181 A. D. with Adam de Dunwidge who was supposedly the great-great-grandfather of the Aleyn Dunwythie who signed the "Ragman Roll" of 1296. This Adam appears to have been a Crusader.
