NARRATIVE

Page 4. Line 21. Concerning the date, De Bonte Koe, April 16, 1663: "From an examination of the original record, I came to the conclusion that the date is the date of sailing (Mr. Van Laer's understanding also). As for the place of sailing, it is generally understood that all of the ships set out from Amsterdam, although oftentimes the passengers embarked at the island of Tessel or Texel. * * * I do not find any reference to De Bonte Koe which seems to throw light on when the voyage begun April 16, 1663 ended." Edna L. Jacobsen, Head, Manuscripts and History Section, New York State Library.

FIRST, SECOND, THIRD, FOURTH GENERATIONS

(328). David went to Hunter Township, not Hunter Village. He located in Platte Clove between Tannersville and West Saugerties. He leased from James Desbrosses in 1793, Lot 53, acres 102, defined on Kiersted Map of 1813, in the Hardenbergh Patent. His tract came to be known and is yet known as the Rose property, David's daughter (738) Challie having married Tobias Rose, and they probably continuing to live there. It is a place of surpassing mountain view. It is now owned, with modern house, by the Seifforth family. The Rose Brook runs through or beside the place. About sixty people bought or leased land in that area about the same time, 1790 and after: scarce any of the names remain now in the vicinity. In the census of 1800 David Demarest appears; in the census of 1820, David Demarest and Jobe A. Demarest; in 1826 assessment, tax roll, David Demarest 100 acres, and Moses Demarest 50 acres; in the census of 1830, David Demarest bet. 80 and 90 years of age; in 1835 he is not on the tax list. In Ulster County records, at Kingston, Liber 144, 1841, is will of David Demarest of Platte Kill; wife Abigail; son, William, can this be connected? The description of locality given page 103 relates apparently to home of David's son (740) Jobe A.

Page 166. (735). Letter of (3107) W. E. Dimorier, Erie, Pa., December 12, 1940: "I write you regarding the change of my name to its present form. Two brothers about 150 years ago became angry at each other. The one who was destined to be my ancestor wanted a name unlike his brother's and changed it to Dimorier. Everyone still called the name Demeree and some of my close relations still do. This foolish thing has been a great trouble maker, for so few can spell it and fewer can pronounce it."

(737). Jemima (Mina) m. (1) Levi Barton (or Barden), m. (2) Benjamin Fairchild about 1809. They lived, probably, at Windham, Greene County, New York; later at Bushkill, Ulster County, in the Notch (Stony Clove) near Shandaken or the present Phoenicia. At advanced age, in 1863, they removed to Ithaca, New York, to live with their daughter, Mrs. Dibbell. Mina d. there 1864; Benjamin Fairchild d. later, Leavenworth, Kansas; they are buried at Ithaca.

Children (Barden): Levi; Emerson Lewis. One of these sons lived at Olive Bridge, Ulster County, (daughter; Josephine).

Children (Fairchild): William b., probably at Windham, November 1810, d., at Leavenworth October 2, 1898, m. Barbara C. Hunt (b. at Delhi, New York, April 6, 1813, d. August 8, 1902): married 65 years. (Children: Alexander, d. young; De Forest m. Josephine Creters; Helen m. Edward Payson Wilson; Mary m. Claudius Buchanan Pierce); Maria m. ——— Mi(e)ldrum; James m. ——— (Children: George; Frank; Calvin; Addie), he had a ranch in Kansas.

Phoebe Ann b. 1814, d. January 1, 1910 aet. 96, m. November 10, 1833, Shandaken, New York, Daniel William Dibbell, b. 1811, Delaware County, d. March 1, 1881, Tannersville, New York, is buried there; served in the Civil War, 156th Reg., New York. They lived in Ulster County, most of the children born there, then for a time at Wawarsing, New York, about 1854 removed to Ithaca. The name was modified to De Bell. Children: Sarah M. b. circ. 1834, m. David A. Signor; Caroline

Page 167. (738). Tobias Rose was act. 63, census of 1840.

(739). Abel Mix was act, between 60 and 70, census of 1840. He apparently owned land near the present Hensonville. He may have lived in Platte Clove. Philander Hu(o)mmell lived, probably, where Elka Park now is.

(740). The Big Rocks are at the sharp turn of the Schoharie, turn of the Lexington road toward Prattsville. The Schermerhorn property is readily identified on the far side of the stream a short distance before reaching the sharp turn of stream and road. The probably brief residence there of Jobe Austin Demarest has no remainder apparently save the title Demarest's or Demaree's Hole, a particular fishing point in the Schoharie just there. No tradition tells just why that name was given. The description of locality given on page 103 as related to (328) David Demarest, apparently should relate itself rather to his son Jobe A. It tells the road narrow between the rocks and the stream at the sharp turn. The gift of land by Jacob Schermerhorn to his daughter, Eleanor Demarest, was in 1840. In 1843 it was put under a trustee, Sylvester H. Stocking, to administer, apparently as of removal of the Demarest family. The land is described as where the little Westkill enters the Schoharie.

"In August 1940 I saw two stones at least not apparently noted. One is D. D.M.R., died 1780; aged 65 years. The other the most interesting of all, D. DMR. died 1759, aged 83 years. This means his birth in 1676. You will find him in the book, page 24, number 20—a man who stands out unusual in the line of usual men." (W.H.S.D.)

THE DESMAREST HOUSE

Page 481. The original Demarest House at the French burying ground, frontispiece in the book, has now been acquired and given to the Demarest Family Association by the generosity of Mrs. Margaret Demarest Blauvelt. The searching of title and necessary details prior to purchase were a long procedure carried through by Mr. Hiram B. Demarest Blauvelt, president of the Association. The house has now received some most necessary repairs, made possible by gifts from members, and awaits further gifts that full renovation may be accomplished. It will be a permanent Demarest Memorial.

THE DEMAREST-DUKE OF YORK-MAJOR ANDRE SNUFF-BOX

Page 509. The story of the snuff box given by the Duke of York to (177) Rev. John Demarest for his courtesy in connection with the exhuming of the remains of Major John Andre in 1821, is fully related on pages 509-513. It states that Mr. William Nelson in paper read before the New Jersey Historical Society in 1875 said that it had passed to Mrs. Catharine Demarest Berdan, and was then in possession of Mrs. Maria Demarest Blauvelt, daughters of Mr. Demarest. It further states that the Rev. George W. Labaw, in History of the Preakness Church, published in 1899, said that it was at that time in possession of Mrs. Sarah Ann Blauvelt Andrus, daughter of Mrs. Blauvelt. No later reference to it was known in 1938, at the publishing of The Demarest Family. Continued effort in recent years had failed to trace this particular family and the box.

The whereabouts of this singularly interesting historical relic became known in 1939, and it is now in possession of the Demarest Family Association, kept in its deposit box at Hackensack. The incident just now is a strange one. Knowledge of the relic came in a curious way, from far off, entirely apart from any effort made to find it. In issue of May 12, 1939, of a newspaper of San Diego, California, there appeared an article on a snuff box in possession of a visitor then in that city. Full description of it was given. Its references of name and locality led a lady in California to clip the story from the paper and send it, some months after its appearing, to a friend in Bergen County, New Jersey, a few miles from Tappan, New York, the place of Major Andre's grave on the land of the Rev. John Demarest. The friend kept it as interesting, but not calling for particular attention until, somewhat later, thinking it of possibly especial interest to the Demarest family nearby, she gave the clipping to Mrs. Margaret Demarest Blauvelt of Oradell, New Jersey, mother of Hiram B. D. Blauvelt, president of the Demarest Family Association, and cousin of Rev. Dr. W. H. S. Demarest, of New Brunswick.

Of course, the snuff box of cedar and gold was at once known to be the Duke of York-John Demarest relic for which Dr. Demarest had been searching for years. The visitor in San Diego possessing the box was named in the story as Mr. Arthur F. McLane. Correspondence at once ascertained that his home was in Minot, North Dakota and correspondence with him brought about, after several months, the acquiring of the relic. It had come into the possession of Mr. and Mrs. McLane from Mrs. McLane's father, who had in his time received it from his neighbor and friend, Mr. John T. Blauvelt, before Mr. Blauvelt's death in 1916. Grandson of the Rev. John Demarest, brother of Mrs. Sarah Ann Blauvelt Andrus, Mr. Blauvelt had apparently gone from New Jersey to North Dakota about the year 1900, communication with eastern members of the family ceasing after a time.

Mr. and Mrs. McLane were cordial toward the passing of the historic treasure to the Demarest Association, and it was acquired by the generosity of Mrs. Margaret Demarest Blauvelt. In perfect condition this remarkable relic has come back in remarkable way after nearly a half century of unknown location.

The story of the British consul, Mr. Buchanan, states further, page 512, that "The surviving sisters of Major Andre * * * also sent a silver cup with a suitable inscription to Mr. Demarat (Demarest)." The possession of this cup has never been traced; and a tradition that it never reached Mr. Demarest now seems verified. A letter, January 24, 1942, from the Rev. Dr. Edward Dwight Eaton of Bridgeport, Conn., sometime president of Beloit College, gives definite word. He is now just ninety years of age, son of Rev. Samuel Witt Eaton and (993) Catherine Elizabeth Demarest, daughter of (486) Rev. James Demarest, M.D., son of (177) Rev. John Demarest of the Tappan—Andre incident. He writes of "my recollection of my grandfather, Rev. James Demarest, M.D., speaking of the silver sacramental cup sent to his father";

"When my grandfather told me the story it was told as something vivid in his mind. I was not a child but was a college student or older and my memory has always been clear. Dr. Demarest could not have been over seventy years of age, and his memory quite meticulous and his faculties keen up to 90. We were alone together in my parents' 'parlor' in Lancaster, Wisconsin, and he told me the story with much interest on his part and mine. As he was baptized in 1796, he must have been about 25 years old when the exhumation took place on his father's farm at Tappan, and all the details must have had secure lodgment in his mind. I do not think he told me whether he was present himself. My recollection is distinct that he told me of the present from the sisters and that the vessel carrying it was lost at sea on the voyage, so that the gift was never received. It seems rather remarkable that a chain of but two links, involving but two descendants, of education and experience, takes us directly back to a probable solution of the non-appearance of this chalice."

THE COAT OF ARMS

Page 532. David des Marest and his family while on Staten Island and in Harlem were of the French Congregation of New Amsterdam, later of New York, for many years a part of the Dutch Reformed Church. This congregation became in 1688 a separately organized church. It is now the French Church of St. Esprit at 108 East 60th Street, New York City. Its rector and vestry recently and very courteously suggested that the Demarest coat-of-arms be placed on the interior wall of the church in company with like devices of other Huguenot families of its early connection. This led to a careful examination of the several examples shown and described in The Demarest Family. A somewhat varying custom has appeared among branches of the family in this country sustained by varying authority. The officers of the Demarest Association sought the advice of competent and appropriate authority. They have been assured by advisers in the Huguenot Society of America and in the Genealogical and Biographical Society of New York that the coat-of-arms shown first in the first line of the book's portrayals, page 532, is the one to be preferably and properly used, the Demarais: Norm. Limousin. It is apparently the original, the oldest. It is described in the terms of heraldry: Degu. a la croix ancree d'argent; a la bande de sa. br. sur le tout et ch. de trois coquilles d'argent. Later it was modified by certain branches of the family in Europe.

The quality especially significant is the cross and the device of the Crusade. See The Demarest Family pages 552-555 for account of Baldwin I, Lord des Marets and his successors, their home in Cambray and their action in the Crusades.

In accordance with this understanding, a painted portrayal of the coat-of-arms, was placed in the Church of St. Esprit and recognized at a service on the afternoon of Sunday, January 25, 1942. The service was attended by a congregation that filled the church, composed almost entirely of members of The Demarest family. The ceremony was by the Rev. Dr. J. A. F. Maynard, rector of the church. Addresses were made by the Rev. Dr. W. H. S. Demarest, honorary president of the Association, and Mr. Hiram B. D. Blauvelt, president of it. French Psalms were sung by the choir and hymns of worship, of tradition and patriotism, were sung by the congregation.

THE DEMAREST ASSOCIATION HYMN

From the forming of the Demarest Association it has seemed desirable that a hymn with its appropriate music should be found and adopted for use at its various occasions or in family groups. Inquiry naturally directed itself to the French Psalter of Marot and Beza of about the year 1550. Clement Marot, the great writer and poet, and great hymn-maker of the Reformation, was lineally of the Demarest name, the son of Jean des Marest, himself a writer and poet.

Review of the words of Psalms made hymns by Marot and study by musical authority of the music composed by him, led to the choice of Psalm CXVIII, his French words and music. For English translation, it was thought desirable that it should be in form much like the Scotch Psalter. Mrs. Victoria Booth Demarest, wife of (2943) C. Agnew Demarest, and grand-daughter of General William Booth, founder of the Salvation Army, was invited to make the translation, which she has accomplished with singular acceptance.

CLEMENT MAROT (des Marets)

Let us to God our prais-es sing,— For He is kind and plen-teous good:
The house of Aa-ron doth con-fess,— With lift-ed voice, His mer-cy sure;
When in dis-tress to Him I cried. My soul he set with Him on high.

To those who fear Him He doth bring— His con-stant mer-cy e'er re-newed.
All who His name with fear pro-fess— Sing that His good-ness shall en-dure.
Hear ye who would His love de-ride— By Him do I my foes de-fy!

Yea, let His peo-ple raise their voice And sing with one ac-cord His love.
Let all, who fear His name, a-dore, And wit-ness to His boundless grace;
In Him all in dis-tress shall find E-ter-nal peace and char-i-ty;

Let Is-ra-el in Him re-joice:— His mer-cy is all pow'r's a-bove.
Let them the pride of man ab-hor,— And rest in mer-cy's blest em-brace.
His good-ness and His pi-ty kind Shall last through all e-ter-ni-ty.
