PREFACE.

This Supplement is so intimately connected with the History of the Dudley Families which I have heretofore published that the pages referred to are those of the History unless otherwise designated. But the Supplement index always relates to the items in this work.

There is need of some explanation of the signs and abbreviations herein used :

Ante means a page or number in a previous part of this volume ; m. or =, marriage or married ; b., born ; d., died ; ob., died ; unm., unmarried ; s.p., without issue ; Co., County ; æ., of age ; v. p., in the lifetime of his father ; vide, see. Old parchment rolls were often called membranes, abbreviated, "m." The names of persons and places were spelled variously. I have had engravings made of nearly all the Dudley photographs that have been sent to me, and these portraits are exhibited in this work. It is to be hoped that some reward will be tendered me for so much expense. Most of the persons represented are passed away, but they have generally left descendants or heirs who might carry out their plans and purposes.

It gratifies me to have a chance to correct old errors and set forth new discoveries.

Some of the numbers of my Dudley Genealogy and History are nearly all sold. No one should delay sending for such parts as he requires.

Always enclose postal orders or bank checks to pay for the work and postage or other extra expenses. Be more generous with your money than with your criticisms and useless praise.

Many thanks are due for valuable records and all sorts of kind help toward perfecting my arduous undertaking.

If I find any more important facts of Dudley history I will print them on a sheet of paper and mail them free to all the patrons and subscribers.

DEAN DUDLEY.

CLAIMS OF SIR JOHN DE SUTTON.

(See pedigree pp. 122-3.)

At a court held Tuesday after Feast of St. James, 35 Edw. III. (1361-2.) Cestria.

John de Sutton, knight, lord of the manor* of Malpas, gave to the Earl two marks "pro clamiis suis replegiandis" and he claimed for himself and for the heirs of his body and of the body of Katrine, formerly his wife, to have the view of frankpledge at Malpas and whatsoever pertained to it, from all lands and tenements and residents within his demesne and fee in the vills of Malpas, Castilton, Shokelach, Grafton, Streton, Barton, Cholleghe, Parva, Aldreshey, Brexon, Bykerton, and 12 other vills named. And he claimed within his manor Inthangthef, Outfangthef, Pelf, Gallows, Pillory, Stipites, Tumbrell and Thew, and he claimed to hold Castel Shokelach within the said manor as his castle, walled, and fossed, and crenellated, and to have "passagium" (toll) at Castelton, Shoghlach, in the place called le Tolyate. And he claimed view of frankpledge at Chirche Cristelton of all manors and residents in Chirch Cristelton, Littel Cristelton and Rowe Cristelton. He also claimed a fair and market and a court called Monynday Court, and a passagium at Malpas and another at Tussyngham, m. 114.

Page 18. At the court held on the Tuesday the Feast of St. Barnabas, 38 E. III.

Cestria. John, son of John de Sutton, chivaler, and Richard de Duddeleye, chivaler, and Isabella his wife in a plea that they should warrant to him a moiety of the fourth part of the manor of Malpas except a messuage and (as before) which the Sheriff had been ordered to take into the Earl's hand, land belonging to the said Richard and Isabella to the value of the tenements claimed, and to summon them for this court; and the attorney of John de Sutton stated that Richard and Isabella had put in an essoine de servitio Regis, and had produced in court a bill (unam billam) which was in these words; "Richard de Duddeleye whom together with Isabella his wife, John, son of John de Sutton, chivaler, called to warranty, is in the King's service, and the said Isabella is likewise in the King's service, because she was the nurse of Philippa the Queen, and he produced also in court a writ of privy seal addressed to the Justice of Chester, stating that the King having been given to understand that Richard de Duddeley, chivaler, and Isabella his wife, in a plea pending in the county of Chester, between his beloved and faithful John de Delves, chivaler, and Isabella his wife, and in which John, son of John de Dated from Westminster, 3d June, 28 E. III. The essoines were therefore annulled, and it was considered that John de Delves and Isabella his wife should recover seisin of said moiety and that John, son of John, should be compensated for the lands of Richard and Isabella.

DUDLEY.—In your September (1896) number Leo Culleton says, "The compiler of the Dudley, of Massachusetts, pedigree deduced the ancestry of Governor Thomas Dudley from a Mr. Dudley of Newington, Surrey, Eng."

ARMS OF

GOV. JOSEPH DUDLEY. 1

This is a novel statement. No historian has made such a pedigree. I am the historian of the Dudley families in England and America. In my History and Genealogy of the Dudleys I have given a pedigree of the Newington branch. But I do not deduce Governor Thomas from that line or house. His father was a Captain Roger Dudley, a warrior in Queen Elizabeth's time, and appears to have been slain in the battle of Ivry, under Henry IV. of France. The English were then helping Henry to establish his throne. This Captain Roger Dudley was probably the son of John Dudley, citizen and draper of London, being a member of the Drapers' Company or Guild. John's

1. Sir N. H. Nicholas says that Sire John and Sire Richarde de Soitone bore a green lion on a golden shield in 1308. The Barons of Dudley were descendants of the above family of Suttons, one of whom married the heiress of Somery, Baron of Dudley. Therefore they had a right to bear the green lion. This lion had a double or forked tail. But in the 16th century it was a question among the heralds whether Dudley's lion should have the double or single tail.

Erdeswick (Harwood's edition) says on page 333 of his account of Staffordshire, that Robert Glover, Somerset Herald, was the only sufficient man in his time for armory and descent in England; and Glover, supposing Lord Dudley to descend from Sutton of Warsope, did cut off one of the tails of Dudley's lion, because that Sutton bore it with but one tail.

The fact was that Sutton of Warsope was ancestor of the Barons of Dudley. So it is plain that Gov. Thomas Dudley's lion was right according to the heralds of his time; but in Gov. Joseph Dudley's time, seventy years later, the heralds had decided that Glover was wrong, and so Gov. Joseph Dudley's lion had the double or forked tail.

father was Thomas Dudley, also a citizen and draper of the London Drapers' Guild. In those days the sons of noblemen sometimes joined such merchant guilds. Among them are seen the Clintons and Fyneses, Hattons, Spencers, etc., as apprentices of drapers, goldsmiths, cloth-workers or fishmongers. The parents of Thomas Dudley have been supposed to be the first Sir Edward Dudley, Baron of Dudley, and his wife, Cecilia Willoughby. Sir Edward lived in Tothill street, Westminster, in 1522, and from that time made that his London residence, says Nicholas' History of Knighthood. He sold his manors or estates of Malpas and Northfield in 1531. (See Nash's Worcestershire, vol. 2, p. 190, and Ormerod's Cheshire.)

This Sir Edward Dudley, K. G., had a son Thomas, of whom not much is known, and he was probably the Thomas Dudley, citizen and draper of London.

ARMS OF GOV.
THOMAS
DUDLEY. 2

Sir Edward's sons became poor. The heir, John, was called "Lord Quondam," because he sold his lands. The next son, Edward, died s.p. Thomas was the third. The fourth was Arthur, a priest, prebendary of Litchfield in 1531. The fifth was George; and the sixth Geoffrey of Russell's Hall, near Dudley.

As the Herald's Visitation gives Edward as "s.p.," but does not give Thomas as s.p., it is likely that Thomas had children. The two brothers are given side by side in the pedigree. Therefore this Thomas Dudley, son of Sir Edward, the Baron, may have been the "Thomas" who was citizen and draper of London, and great-grandfather of Governor Thomas Dudley. Mr. George Adlard made a pedigree in which he traced Governor Thomas Dudley to Sir Edward, K. G. His pedigree was, as I have above described, through Thomas, John and Capt. Roger Dudley. Governor Thomas Dudley, by his coat-of-arms with which he sealed, claimed to be of the second house of the Barons of Dudley. And Thomas, son of Sir Edward Dudley, if he had issue, would have been the second house, because his brother Edward, the second son, died young and had no issue.

The children of Governor Thomas Dudley claimed to have been descended from the Barons of Dudley. Governor Joseph Dudley, son of Governor Thomas, bore the Dudley lion rampant, and Anne (Dudley) Bradstreet said she was of the self-same blood as Sir Philip Sidney, whose ancestor, John Dudley, K. G., was grandfather of Sir Edward, K. G., above described.

SUPPLEMENT TO

DUDLEY — STOURTON — CLINTON, ALIAS FYNES.

NOTES. -- Theophilus the fourth, Earl of Lincoln, was colonel of a regiment of 2000 men, out of the 12,000 raised under Count Mansfield, for service of the Elector Palatine, also of one of the two troops of horse raised for that service.

In February, taking shipping in Kent, having above 100 sail, they put over to Calais for forces promised by the French, but Mansfield was obliged to depart without them, and sail to Zealand. There he found the States would not furnish them with provisions. Then they sailed to Guertenberg and Brabant, there meeting with the same treatment. Famine and pestilence caused hundreds of them to die like brutes, so that scarce half of the 12,000 came with their General into Germany.

In October, 1646, Parliament ordered £1700 to be paid Theophilus out of delinquent estates in Lincolnshire, for the great sum he had disbursed in the service. But in 1647, he opposing the power of the army, and endeavoring to bring on a treaty with the King, an impeachment of high treason was carried up by the Commons (then under power of the army) September 8, praying that he might be sequestered from the House, and committed. However, he was afterwards discharged from this impeachment; and June 20th, 1649, he petitioned for damages in demolishing Tattershall Castle, belonging to him. He lived to see the restoration of the royal family, and at the coronation of Charles II. performed the office of carver. This is Collins's account of his life in his Peerage of England, Wales, etc.

Collins, in his "Peerage," also says,

"Thomas Lord Clinton was forty-five years of age when his father died, and he was heir to the following possessions in Lincolnshire, viz.:

The manors Aslackby and Temple Aslackby, the castle and manor of Tattershall; the house and site of the Monastery of Sempringham and manor of Sempringham, and advowson of the Church; the manor of Billingborough and rectory of the Church, and advowson of the Vicarage; the manors of East and West Claughton; the honor, castle and manor of Folkingham, and manor of Thirkingham, and advowson of the churches, the manors of Tattershall, Thorp and Kirby Bayne, the manors of Roughton, Morton juxta Thornton. Conisbye, Billingay, Walcot juxta Billingay, Burthop, and Kirksted. alias Cristed; and the college and site of the manor of Tattershall.

This Thomas, third Earl of Lincoln, died at Tattershall Castle, 15 Jan., 1618-19."

His motto was "Droit et Loyal." He died in 1588.

In the church of Himley this is circumscribed on a flat stone, with the pictures of a man and woman: "Hic Jacet Will's Sutton, and Constantia soror ejusdem fil prenobilissimi D'ni Dudley & Powes* qui quidem Willielmus obiit 22<sup>o</sup> die Dec. 1504, anim, etc." the coat of Sutton with sixteen quarterings.—Shaw's Staff, Additions and Corrections, page 20.

THE CLAPTON DUDLEYS.

(See pp. 35, 36.)

Sir Richard de Dudley, Kt., perhaps styled himself=Isabella (née de Dudley in consequence of his tenure jure uxoris of the castle and lands of Dudley; or he may have been a member of that family of Dudley* of Lichfield.

VI. pt. 2, p. 144, and Patent Roll of 1 Edw. I. 1272-3. See Calendar of Pat. Rolls in 42nd Report of the Deputy Keeper of Pub. Records, pp. 542 and 543.—Staff. Collections, Vol. X, p. 43.

† "I unhesitatingly identify the Richard of the seal with the Richard Dudley, who, according to Bridges, was son and heir of Richard and Joan, and was lord of Clapton in 1434."—Grazebrook.

In one place Mr. Grazebrook seems uncertain about this Richard being ancestor of the Clapton Dudleys. He seems to favor most the theory that his cousin Richard (son of John) was their ancestor.

BOSTON, 8 MARCH, 1713-14.

DEAR S<sup>r</sup>.,—I should have written the last post upon your letters to your father, my self, & M<sup>r</sup> Dudley, but upon conference with them they both wrot & excused mee. I am sorry for your afflictions & hurries, & I hope they will have an end, & nothing disturb your peace & repose. Use all propper means to have peace with your neighbours & gentlemen of the Province where your ancestors have been loved & honored, as they justly deserved. I pray to God for your health & family. I wish one of your daughters here, if you please to trust granmother with the care of it. I am

Your most affectionate

PAUL DUDLEY TO MRS. JOHN WINTHROP.

To Mrs. Ann (Dudley) Winthrop, at New London, Connecticut.

BOSTON, 8th Feb., 1713[-14].

DEAR SISTER,—I received your sorrowfull letter, and heartily pity you under your present distress. Am very much surprised to think, what I am very loath yet to believe, that Gov<sup>r</sup>. S. should decline to serve you and yours, at least so far as justice amounts to, whatever might be his friendship. As to the land in the Neck that has been so ridiculously as well as illegally seized on for Gov<sup>r</sup>. Winthrop's debt, I wish M<sup>r</sup> Winthrop had followed the rule, Of two evils choose the least, and laid down the money for the present, to prevent further charge and great inconveniency; tho I suppose it may be had at any time within a year, paying the debt and charges. As to the matter about the horses, we shall have time to think and advise; in the mean time I suppose Father Winthrop will be looking your way in the spring. I find you will want a great deal of patience, discretion, & submission to God, all which I pray God to grant you, and his gracious deliverance in due time. If I thought I could serve you and yours by coming to you to-morrow, I would do it; but at present I cant see either the necessity or advantage of it. I hope your last daie will be your best. In the mean time we must endeavor to make the best use of God's providence to us, that so he may prove us, and doe us good in our latter end. My father and Major Winthrop, I suppose, write you by this conveyance.

I am

Your affectionate brother,

PAUL DUDLEY.

My best service to M<sup>r</sup> Winthrop & M<sup>r</sup> Adams.

PAUL DUDLEY TO WAIT WINTHROP.

To the Hon<sup>ble</sup> Wait Winthrop, Esq.

[No date; probably March, 1713-14.]

SIR,—I have perused the grant of New London to your father referring to mills, and it is my opinion that until such time as upon demand you shall refuse to supply said town with mills sufficient to grind their corn, they can not justify giving or granting the liberty of setting up a mill, or mills, to any other; and if they do, a good action lyes against them for breach of covenant, and you will recover damages of the town.

As to the horses, &c., that were taken away from off Fisher's Island, my opinion is that if it were done in a cover'd clandestine, thievish manner, it amounts to felony or theft, or a felonious taking y<sup>m</sup> away, &c.; for as to tolling the creatures afterwards, it no ways salves the matter at all; for at that rate a highway man, after he has robbed one on the road of a horse or any other creature, shall go to the next town and get him branded and tolled, & turn himself unto an honest man & acquire a property in my horse. The question is, first, who was possessed of the creatures when they were taken away; for tho I or my friend may pretend a right to a horse that my neighbour has in his keeping, yet if I take him privately away out of his stable, or the like, it is in the law stealing, & therefore, secondly, the manner of taking must govern & determine the matter of theft.

As to replevying Yeomans's stock that was arrested by the sheriff, I look upon it to be very illegal, because when once any thing is in the custody of the law nothing but a judgm<sup>t</sup> of law can remove it. But, however, he that has replevy'd 'em has either given bond or he has not; if he has given bond, why then at the Court the creatures, or the value, will be produced, or else his bond will be forfeited. If he has not given bond, then the Justice must answer it, for by law he is to grant no replevyn without taking bond. And, besides, when the Court comes, the replevyn must drop thro' of course, if there was no bond taken, and so the first arrest must stand as it did.

If Yeomans has got into possession again of the house & farm. I should incline to take a couple of witnesses to give him notice that, in case he presume to stay upon that farm this year, he must & should pay £100 for the rent of it: & let the witnesses make a memorandum of it in writing & sign it. This is what occurs to me at present in your affairs. I am, S<sup>r</sup>.

Your humble servant,

PAUL DUDLEY.

Roxbury, 2 November, 1719.

DEAR SISTER,—Haveing heard nothing from you since your returne, I thought it proper & my duty to write to you to acquaint you of our welfare & health, altho the frequent sickness & death that have been near us, & that poor sister Sewall hath buried all her hopes in her little girl.† I hope your family are in health; and as for news, I think it not necessary to acquaint you of any foreign, and to let you know any thing of my self. I suppose it will not be very acceptable, but only thus much. I have not seen that young lady since you did at Salem, knowing her temper, disposition, &c., not at all suitable to mine; thô not the less beholden to you & M<sup>r</sup> Winthrop for your kindness. It may be, if you do not come down quickly, you may have a sister-in-law of the lady I saw at Rowley. If she is willing, whome I am endeavouring to make so, the match will be speedily concluded, to our mutuall joy & hapyness. I have nothing to add but that (after my humble service to your good companion) I am, dear sister,

PAUL DUDLEY TO JOHN WINTHROP, F. R. S.

[Date torn, July, 1721.]

DEAR SIR, — I doubt not but that when you were down the last year you were acquainted with the substance of my father's will, and that he had left a legacy of one hundred pounds to each of his daughters. I have not been able till very lately to get in of my father's moneys sufficient to answer these legacys, and was loath to give the legatees the trouble of bonds, if it might be prevented. I have some time since paid Sister Sewall, and more lately Sister Dummer, and am now ready to discharge Sister Winthrop's legacy. If there be any prospect of your coming down quickly (as I am told there is), it may be as well for you to receive it yourself; but if not, or you chuse otherwise, it lyes ready for your order whenever you please to write for it, but then I shall be glad you will inclose a receipt, signed by your self and Sister Winthrop, of one hundred pounds in discharge of a legacy left by my father in his last will and testament.

We have not heard from you a great while, but hope you are all well. M<sup>r</sup> Lechmere may be expected in a short month. The small pox is like to goe thro the town of Boston, and many die of it. Our Indians at the eastward are very insulting, and got together in great numbers. The Gov<sup>r</sup> has dissolved the General Assembly in some displeasure. With my best affection to my sister and service to all friends, I am, S<sup>r</sup>,

Your very affectionate brother and humble servant,

PAUL DUDLEY.

My mother is going to-morrow to Newbury for a week; gives her blessing to your family.

JOHN WINTHROP, F. R. S., TO HIS WIFE.

ROXBURY, August y<sup>e</sup> 26th, 1723.

MY DEAREST SPOUSE, — This is my birth-day, as tomorrow is yo<sup>rs</sup>, and I concluded to have been now rejoycing wth you at home, but the last week when I was comeing away I was unexpectedly stopt in my intended journey by some of my nearest relations, who I hitherto thought I might have trusted my life and my all in their hands; but I now finde those that dip't in the dish wth me have betrayed me. I pray God forgive them, for I have done them no wrong.

I have left my business in M<sup>r</sup> Read & M<sup>r</sup> Robinson's hands, and am to-morrow morning comeing homewards. It will be best to be as silent in speaking hereof as may be, till I can informe you of all things. Yo<sup>r</sup> daughters are both well. Molle is at Sister Dummer's, and Nanne is here at Roxbury, and will sometimes be at Boston wth her Grandmother Winthrop, who is very kind. I am quite impatient till I see you, w<sup>ch</sup> I trust in God will be in a few days. I pray you not to be troubled at anything, nor have no uneasy thoughts. I doubt not but all will end well. I pray an infinite good God to keep & bless you, and all ors, and am, wth the utmost affection, my most dear wife,

Thy faithfull loving husband,

J. WINTHROP.

Broth<sup>r</sup> Dudley is very [torn]. There is a small trunk put on board Curtis's sloop, w<sup>ch</sup> you must enquire for.

ANNE (DUDLEY) WINTHROP TO PAUL DUDLEY.

NEW LONDON, July the 2, 1725.

BROTHER, — M<sup>r</sup> Winthrop's ill state of health not permitting him to write at this time is the reson that I give you this trouble. M<sup>r</sup> Reads failing of M<sup>r</sup> Winthrop and not coming to the Court here when it was to the last tryall of the bisness between M<sup>r</sup> Lechmer and him, nor send<sup>s</sup> what was the reson of his not coming, nor sent him no word what he had done in his bisness at Boston, nor whether he intends to come again, all which gives M<sup>r</sup> Winthrop reson to beleve that he has taken up for the other side, or at least that he is resolved not to serve M<sup>r</sup> Winthrop, tho he has receved large fees from my hand for to do this bisness and has made grate promises of his fidelity and industry to us in this affair. This is my request to you, brother, that you would know sartainly of M<sup>r</sup> Read himself if he is resolved to serve my husband or not. If he will not, and has betrayd his trust, I pray you to demand and receive the leter of attorney which by your advice and of your owne wording was made to him and M<sup>r</sup> Robason, which my husband thought at the time was too grate a power to be given, but he, entierly relying on your knoledg and skill in affairs, and trusting to your fidelity and friendship, thought him self save. It is too grate a fault for me to be guilty of to think that my brother drew my husband into a snare, or that his depending on your judgment rather than his owne should be by you improved to his disadvantage. M<sup>r</sup> Reads saying to others as to us that he should take all his meshuers and derection from Judg Dudley, and act accordingly in all M<sup>r</sup> Winthrops affars, makes the matter look the more dredfull to us. No more to ad at this time but my kind love to sister.

ABSTRACT OF THE WILL OF JOHN WINTHROP, F. R. S.

July, 1726, was the date of it. He lived twenty-one years after making it. Soon after this date he sailed for England and never returned. "Finding to my full satisfaction that the providence of God directs me to undertake a voyage to England. First my debts to be paid out of my estate. To my faithful, kind and most dear wife, one hundred pounds per annum out of the rents of Fisher's Island during her natural life, with her living in my mansion house at New London, with the profits of the mill and neck of land adjoining, with the garden, orchard, etc., so long as she shall remain my widow. My children to live with their mother and be educated; both my sons to be educated at the college without fail." To his son John Still he gives most of his real estate, with all his books, writing and papers to be always kept together. To Basil, his second living son, most of the rest of his lands; and two acres to each of his daughters for house lots adjoining each other and fronting the harbor; also to each of his daughters one thousand pounds current money of New England. The rest of his estate to be divided between his wife and children according to their wants.

His wife to be Executrix and his two sons Executors.

THE DUDLEY ESTATE.

In September of last year a paragraph appeared in "The Tribune," headed "A Large Fortune in Want of an Owner," in which reference was made to an advertisement that had appeared in some of the English papers, in search of heirs to "a Dudley property" in England, of large extent, from which it was inferred that the heirs in England had become extinct. Numerous inquiries were made as to where the advertisement might be found, and having communicated with the person who wrote the paragraph in question, we informed our readers that it was taken from the "London Times," but various applications having since been made to us, we presume our information was not correct, search having been made in vain, by several parties, among the files of that period.

We are now able to throw some light on the affair. A gentleman of our acquaintance, well versed in matters of the kind, and from his experience well qualified for the investigation, having been solicited by some of the Dudley heirs of this country to lend his aid, has obtained a copy of the advertisement, and is now pursuing the necessary investigation, having already made much genealogical research, from the time of the first settlers of the Dudley family in Massachusetts to the present day.

Thomas Dudley, first Deputy and afterward Governor of Massachusetts, was the first of the Dudleys who came over to this country. He arrived in New England in 1630, was twice married and had nine children. Rev. Samuel Dudley was his eldest son, who married Mary, daughter of the first Governor Winthrop, three years after their arrival, viz. in 1633. Gov. Joseph Dudley of Massachusetts was also a son of Thomas by his second wife, whose daughter Ann married John Winthrop, great-grandson of Gov. John Winthrop, the father of the Winthrop family in this country, who came over with Thomas Dudley in 1630. From these have descended the present family of the Winthrops, and by intermarriage the Saltonstalls, the Wantons and other families.

Those claiming descent may obtain further information by addressing a line to "Dudley," Box No. 1284, New York post-office; no application will be attended to unless postpaid. The name and address in full, and from whom descended, should be stated.—N. Y. Tribune.

I cut the above from one of the Worcester (Mass.) newspapers, about 1848. D. D.

[1849.] THE DUDLEY FAMILY, AGAIN! We have noticed upon two or three occasions the investigations that have been made to ascertain the ancestry of the family of the "Dudleys," who were among the first settlers of Massachusetts Bay; and that though several attempts have at different times been made, nothing satisfactory had been accomplished. We are now informed that the family has been traced as far back as 1480 or 1500, but beyond that nothing can be ascertained. The "Thomas Dudley" of that period was settled in London. His will has been found, and the place of his burial clearly shown. It is presumed, upon good grounds, that he was a son of the then "Lord Dudley," but the proof of it cannot now be discovered. The most extensive search has been made, not only in the Heralds' College, but among the valuable archives in the British Museum, as well as those in the State Paper Office, London. A large mass of information has been collected, numerous pedigrees of the family have been obtained, and copies taken, it is believed, of every pedigree that has been made, either by the Heralds of olden time or by individuals of genealogical celebrity; a large number of wills have been searched out and examined; and, in short, nothing has escaped the attentive observation of the person who undertook to make the investigation.

With regard to the large property, said to have been waiting an owner, nothing of the kind appears, and how such a report can have gained ground it is difficult to trace. The only branches of the Dudley family who possessed, in former times, large estates were: 1st, The Lords Dudley, whose property descended by the marriage of the heiress of the last Lord Dudley with Humble Ward, the son of the rich goldsmith of that time, —and in that family (the Wards) it remains to the present day. 2d, The Duke of Northumberland (John Dudley), whose property was confiscated to the Crown, on his attainder. 3d, The Earl of Leicester (Robert Dudley) and his brother Ambrose, the Earl of Warwick, whose property descended to Sir Robert Dudley, the (said to be illegitimate) son of the Earl of Leicester, who, not being able to establish his legitimacy and consequent right to the title of "Earl of Leicester," went abroad, remaining there, his property was confiscated to the Crown. 4th, John Dudley, who resided at Stoke Newington, near London, possessed of large estates, on whose death the property became vested in his widow, who afterwards married Thomas Sutton. This Thomas Sutton survived his wife several years, and with the property he acquired through his marriage, as well as other property of his own, he founded the Charter House, one of the noblest institutions in London, in which provision is made for eighty decayed merchants, and a free school for a large number of boys.

We wish it distinctly understood that we cannot answer any letter on the subject of the Dudley Family. We know nothing about the matter, beyond what we have published.

THE DUDLEY ESTATE.—A New York correspondent of the "Philadelphia Sunday Mercury" gives these particulars, which we publish for the benefit of the Dudleys and their descendants in all parts of the Union:—"I would take much pleasure in writing you 'two or three columns' about the people and vicinity of Dudley manor, but I know your space is precious, and will accordingly forbear discoursing more thereof, except to state that, in consequence of the intestate demise of a gentleman in Wolverhampton, England, the descendants of the Dudley family who inhabit the manor of that name are considerably elated at the prospect of coming into possession of an enormous estate. Mr. Francis Dudley, the 'forefather' of these expectant heirs, was born at Wolverhampton, England, on the 17th day of May, 1712, and came to this country and settled in Jersey before he was 20 years of age, where, becoming the owner of a large tract of land which retains his name, as you perceive, to the present day, he lived happily to a good old age and died in peace: so lived, and died after him, his children. His grandchildren and great-grandchildren, now living, although they are what are sometimes called 'forty-second cousins' to the deceased English millionaire, the immense 'fortune' left by him will pass over to them. They are already all either very 'well off' or wealthy, and this almost never before heard of fortune will render them the most affluent family in this country. Well, so we go, but its a 'confounded sight better to be born lucky than rich,' and it is doubly as desirable to come into this world both rich and lucky, with a possibility of continuing so until we make our final exit."

DUDLEYS OF RUSSELLS HALL, NEAR DUDLEY, ENG.

(See page 642-4, and pedigrees on pp. 168-9 and 762-3.)

(From Wm. Salt Collections of Staffordshire.)

This branch of the baronial house of Dudley was founded by Geoffrey, or Jeffrey, Sutton, alias Dudley, who died at Russells Hall in 1571. He was a younger son of Edward Lord Dudley, K. G., and by Eleanor, his wife, a natural daughter of Sir Gilbert Talbot of Grafton, Co. Worcester, Knt., had issue, a son (Thomas) and three daughters (Elizabeth, Bridget and Katherine).*

Thomas, to whom his father gave his lease of Yoake or Yorke Park, appears to have succeeded at Russells. He is the only son named in the wills of his parents (who were married before 19th October, 1542,) but I have been unable to ascertain the exact date of his birth, though his sisters Bridget and Katherine were respectively baptized in 1545 and 1548.

In a rent roll of Lord Dudley of 40 Eliz., 1598, "Thomas Dudley, Esquier," pays £9 3s. 4d. for the year's rent of "Yorke Parke and Netherton grounds," and 20d. for "a burgess in Elles Lane" in the town of Dudley. In the Worcestershire Subsidy Roll of 41 Eliz., 1599, "Thomas Dudley, gent., pays 12s. upon £3 lands in Dudley parish; and in that of 1 James I.,

* As stated in the paper on the Barons of Dudley, this lady was married after 1582 to Simon Dickenson, of Bradley, near Stafford (now called Bradeley). He was eight years her junior, having been baptised at Bradley (as son of Richard and Elizabeth Dickenson) on 24th June, 1556. The following extract from the parish registers of Bradeley have been kindly furnished by Mr. T. J. de Magginghi:

"The 24th day of January was borne Edward Dickinson, ye sonne of Mr. Symond Dickinson, gent., and Kateren his wyfe, being Sunday, between the howers of one and tow. and was baptised the 18th day of the same moneth. ano dni, 1584. "The 15 day of april was borne Elnor Dickinson. the doughter of Mr. Simond Dickenson and Mrs. Kateren his wyfe, and was baptised the 18th day after, whose godfather was Mr. Edward Dickinson, and godmothers Mrs. Clarke and Elnor Dudley. 1586."

He dwelt at Russells Hall, near Dudley, England, and was buried at St. Edmund's Church, Dudley, June 26, 1571. (See pedigree of Geoffrey<sup>9</sup> Dudley's brother Thomas Dudley, on page 8 of this Supplement.) Jeffrey, Esq., and his wife, Eleanor, were m. before Oct. 19, 1542.—Staff. Collections.

(See pp. 22-35 of this Supplement.)

* Elizabeth was bur. March 28, 1647, at Dudley.

† Thomas was Executor of his mother's will. He m., 1st, Katherine; and 2d, 1656, Bridget Rhodes, who survived him. His will was dated Dec. 23, 1682, and proved February same year. His sons, Robert, Thomas and Ferdinando, and his daughters, Eleanor, Anna and Margaret, were by the first wife, Katherine.

1603, I find, under Dudley, the names of "Dorothea Dudley, vid," and Jeffrey, both in terris. This Dorothy was evidently the widow of a Thomas Dudley, for it is stated in the pedigree of Lascelles in the Harleian Society's "Visitations of Notts, 1569 and 1614," that Dorothy, daughter of George Lascelles (and sister of Sir Bryan, of Sturton and Gaytford), was married to one "Thomas Dudley, of Netherton, Co. Stafford." I do not, however, find in the Dudley Registers the burial of any Thomas Dudley prior to 1603, but on the contrary "Olde Thomas Dudley, Esquire," was buried 17th June, 1615, and "Olde Mrs. Dorothy Dudley" on 26th December, 1629.

But the entries at Dudley of baptisms, marriages, and burials of persons bearing the surname of Dudley, and even Sutton, alias Dudley, are so numerous and so confusing* that in the absence of wills and deeds and other corroborative evidence, I find it absolutely impossible to give a trustworthy account of the branch before us until I reach the beginning of the 17th century, when a Jeffrey Sutton, alias Dudley, was of Russells Hall, and a Thomas Sutton, alias Dudley (perhaps his brother), was of Netherton.*

I will first deal with Jeffrey<sup>1</sup> and his descendants. He married, at Tipton, 29th January, 1611, Elizabeth, the eldest of the natural daughters of Edward Lord Dudley, and by her (whom I take to be the "Elizabeth, wife of Jeffrey Sutton, gent.," who was buried at Dudley, 28th March, 1647) had issue:†

- i. THOMAS,<sup>2</sup> baptised at Tipton, 25th April, 1613, as son of "Jefferie Dudley, alias Sutton," of whom next.
- ii. EDWARD, "son of Jeffrey Dudley, Esq.," baptised at Dudley, 9th Nov., 1617, and buried there, 6th Feb., 1625-6.

* For instance, Thomas Dudley and Kathren Wall were married 8th November, 1557, but we do not find the baptisms of children of a Thomas until 1574, in which year, on 16th August, Eleanor, daughter of "Mr. Thomas Dudley" was baptised. Then in August, 1575, a son or daughter (name and sex illegible) of Thomas Dudley was baptised. In 1577, January 19th, Mary, daughter of Mr. Thomas Dudley, baptised. Same year, March 2nd, Edward, son of John Dudley, baptised. Then in 1582, et seq., five children of a Jeffrey Dudley are baptised, viz.: 1584, John (baptised and buried same day); 1583, Edward; 1585, Dorothy; same year, Jeffrey; 1586, Mary. Next comes a Francis Dudley, who has a son of William baptised in 1607; and next, on 8th February, 1608, Thomas Dudley and Mary Gregson were married. Unfortunately the wife's Christian name is always omitted from the earlier registers, which makes it next to impossible to identify the parties, and it would appear that there were three contemporary Thomas's about this date. Of course a considerable number of the Dudleys found in these registers and those of adjoining parishes were in no way related to the baronial house, but simply derived their surnames from the town, unless they were descended from Sir Richard de Duddelye.

† Dorothy, daughter of Jeffrey and Elizabeth Duddleley, was baptised at Kingswinford 5th October, 1615. She may have been a daughter of the above Jeffrey, but Margaret, daughter of Jeffrey and Mary Dudley, was also baptised there on 16th May, 1611.

iii. JEFFREY,* "son of Jeffrey Dudley, Esq.," baptised at Dudley, 16th Dec., 1619.

iv. ROBERT,† "son of Jeffrey Dudley," baptised at Dudley, 27th Jan., 1621-2.

* Jeffry, son of Jeffry Sutton was buried at Dudley, 9th March, 1651-2. and John Hinkes, son-in-law of Jeffrey Sutton, on 6th September, 1652. In 1654. et seq., Jeffrey and Ann Dudley, alias Sutton, had children baptised, and on 27th February, 1666-7, Anne, the wife of Jeffrey Dudley, was buried at Kingswinford.

† There was a Robert Dudley, of West Bromwich, gent., buried there 7th September, 1682. He made a nuncupative will, 25th August, 1682. in the presence of Jeffrey Dudley and Eleanor Dudley, by which he left all he had to Eleanor, his wife. It was proved at Lichfield by the widow, 8th December, 1682, and the inventory, the total of which was £33 4s., was made on 14th September, by Jeffrey Dudley, William Ward, Thomas Dudley, and Eleanor Dudley. I do not find the baptism of any of his children at West Bromwich, but I have some reasons for believing that he was the father of a Robert Dudley, who by deed dated 1694 (penes me) purchased some house property in Birmingham, being then "of New Inne in Handsworth, gent.," which deed is witnessed among others by Eleanor Dudley. This Robert was afterwards of Colman Hill, Cradley, in the parish of Halesowen, and the Halesowen registers record the burial on 18th of February, 1704-5, of "Elenor Dudley of Colman Hill, widow." Robert appears to have had two wives, by the first of whom he had a daughter, Sarah, who was married at Halesowen, 2nd September, 1707, to Richard Baker, of Kidderminster, clothier. Their post-nuptial settlement, penes me. is dated 1st August. 1710, and an old endorsement upon it describes Robert as "Dr. Dudley."

The second wife of Robert Dudley was Lydia, daughter of John Pear-sall, of Hawne, in Halesowen, and widow of Robert Bloomer, of Col-man Hill. (See Kimber and Johnson's Baronetage, sub "Peshall" (Vol. I, p 122), where she is stated to have been born 17th July, 1659, and to have been married secondly to "Mr. Dudley of Dudley.") By her he had a daughter, Lydia, baptized at Halesowen, 13th October, 1702, probably the "Lydia Dudley, of Halesowen," who was married at Dudley, 26th October, 1725, to Samuel Stevens. "Lydia, the wife of Robert Dudley, of Cradley," was buried at Halesowen, 11th November, 1725, and "Robert Dudley, of Cradley," was buried there, 9th November, 1726.

There was also a Jeffrey Dudley, of West Bromwich, buried there 6th July, 1704, administration of whose personal estate was granted from Lichfield on 21st September, 1704, to Anne, his relict, and guardian of Sarah and Eleanor, his two infant children. The sureties were E. Hawkes and Richard Marsh, and the inventory was made 31st July, 1704. by Robert Dudley, Sarah Palmer, widow, and Richard Palmer.

I do not find any record of his marriage at West Bromwich, but it appears from the "Staffordshire Marriages," in the William Salt Library, that a license was issued in 1686 for the marriage thereof Godfrey (sic) Dudley to Anne Hawkes. She was buried as "Anne Dudley," at West Bromwich, 9th September, 1722, and her will (as of West Bromwich, widow) is dated 12th May, 1722, and was proved at Lichfield, 26th August, 1723. She mentions her daughter, Eleanor Saunders, whom she makes sole executrix, and her sister, Hester Hawkes.

I do not find at West Bromwich the baptisms of Sarah and Eleanor, but John, son of Jeffrey Dudley, was baptised there 20th September, 1692.

I may as well here note that at St. Leonard's, Bridgnorth, Salop. on 5th February, 1699-1700, "Jeffrey Dudley, of the parish of St. Mary Mag-dalen, and Mary Chamberlain, of this parish, were married by banns."

v. EDWARD, "son of Jeffrey Dudley, Esq.," baptised at Dudley, 15th Jan., 1626-7.

vi. WILLIAM, "son of Jeffrey Dudley, Esq.," bapt. at Dudley, 24th June, 1630, and buried there, 25th Nov., 1632.

vii. ELIZABETH, "daughter of Jeffrey Dudley, Esq.," bapt. at Dudley, 15th June, 1633.

viii. MARY, "daughter of Jeffrey Dudley, Esq., and Elizabeth his wife," bapt. at Dudley, 17th Sept., 1635.

When Jeffrey died or where he was buried I have not discovered, but he was probably living in 1647, and certainly in 1641, for in a Subsidy Roll of the latter date, under Dudley, "Jeffrey Sutton, gent.," paid 8s. on 20s. in terris. His eldest son, Thomas Dudley of Russells, is named in the Subsidy Roll of 15 Charles II., 1663, as "Thomas Sutton of Russells," and as paying 12s. upon 30s. in lands. His wife's name was Eleanor, and there is no doubt that he was the "Mr. Thomas Dudley," who was married at Pedmore, near Stourbridge, Co. Worcester, on 14th September, 1638, to "Mrs. Eleanor Jevon," of the Sedgley family of that name. He was buried at Dudley, as "Mr. Thomas Dudley of Russells Hall," 24th January, 1664-5, and she, as "Old Elinor Dudley, widow," on 31st January, 1689-90. His will, in which he is called "Thomas Dudley, alias Sutton," is dated January 19th, and was proved at Worcester in February, 1664-5. He gives all his estate, real and personal, to his son Thomas, and makes him sole executor. Thomas and Eleanor had issue:

1, Margaret,<sup>3</sup> bapt. at Sedgley, as dau. of Thomas and Elenor Dudley, 3d Aug. 1639; m. to Thomas Boucher, alias Butcher, of Newport, Salop, apothecary, and was dead in 1724, leaving a son and heir, Joseph Boucher, of Birmingham, "spurrier and founder," whose wife's name was Elizabeth. 2, Anna, or Hanna, bapt. at Sedgley, as Ann, dau. of Thomas Dudley, gent., and Eleanor, 14th Jan. 1640-1; m. to — Parkes, and was living a widow "far advanced in years," at Bilston, in 1723. She d. before October, 1724, leaving a son, Thomas Parkes, of the borough of Southwark, London, shoemaker (who, I think, d. s.p.), and a daughter, Judith Parkes, m. at Dudley, 26th Nov., 1698, to Benjamin Linton, of Bilston, baker, by whom she had issue, a son and heir, THOMAS LINTON.* 3, Thomas<sup>3</sup>, bapt. at and that at St. Mary Magdalen. "Mary Dudley, alias Sutton," was buried, 25th March, 1711. In the same church too, on 21st April, 1636, Mary, daughter of Thomas Dudley was baptised.

* By an indenture, dated 15th January, 1 Geo. II. and A. D. 1727, the Lintons mortgaged their fifth share of Russells Hall and lands, in consideration of £100. to Robert Greisbrooke, of Shenstone, Co. Stafford, gent. Judith Linton is described in this deed as "the daughter of Anna Parkes, of Bilston, widdow, deceased, which Anna was one of the aunts and co-heirs of John Dudley, late of Russells Hall, in the parish of Dudley and county of Worcester, gentleman, who dyed intestate and without Sedgley, 15th Jan., 1643-4; of whom next. 4, Elizabeth, bapt. at Sedgley, as dau. of Thomas and Helena Dudley, 3d Dec., 1646; m. at Dudley, 4th April, 1670, to Edward Marsh of Dudley, "limeman," and d. before 1724, leaving issue. 5, Daniel, whose baptism I have not found. He was buried at Dudley, 22d April, 1682, as "Daniel Sutton, alias Dudley, gent." His will, dated 17th May, 1677, was proved at Worcester in April, 1683. He gives to his mother £20; to his brother, Thomas Sutton, gent., £20; to his sister, Margaret Butcher, £9; to his sister, Hanna Parkes, £9; to his sister, Elizabeth Marsh, £9; to his sister, Mary Price, £9; to his sister, Eleanor Attwood, £9; to his sister, Priscilla Sutton, £9. And the sum of £6 "for my funeral and the decent bringing of me home." The above to be paid out of moneys now held by my brother, Thomas Sutton, gent." He appoints his sister, Elizabeth Marsh, sole executrix. Will attested by Robert Smith and John Smith. 6, Jane, bapt. at Sedgley, 27th April, 1652, and buried there next day. 7, Eleanor, bapt. at Sedgley, 2nd May, 1653; m. at Dudley, 28th Dec., 1675, as "Eleanor Sutton, alias Dudley," to Richard Attwood, and had issue. 8, Mary, "dau. of Thomas Sutton, alias Dudley, b. 28th Aug., 1657" (Dudley Registers); m. at Dudley, as "Mary Sutton, alias Dudley," 11th Oct., 1675, to Thomas Price, and was dead, s.p., before 1723. 9, Priscilla, bapt. at Dudley, 16th June, 1659, as dau. of Thomas Sutton, gent., and Eleanor his wife. She was m. to William Hand, of Dudley, cooper, and had issue. He was buried at Dudley, as "William Hand, cooper," 5th Feb., 1720-1, and she, as "Priscilla Hand, widow," 15th June, 1725.

issue, whereby the lands and premises hereafter mentioned descended to such his co-heirs."

By another deed, dated 12th February, 1730, made between the Lintons of the one part, and John Lea, of Shenstone, yeoman, and Sarah his wife, who was the relict, widow, and executrix of the will of Thomas Cramp, of Longdon, Co. Stafford, gent., deceased: which Thomas Cramp was executor of the will of the above-named Robert Greisbrooke of the other part, the Lintons borrowed a further sum of £50. The deed recites the will dated 20th July, 1728, of the said Robert Greisbrooke, whereby he gave to the three sons of William and Elizabeth Smith £100 a-piece, to the two sons and one daughter of his sister, Jemima Winter-ton, £100 a-piece, and to the three daughters of the said Thomas Cramp, £300, to be equally divided between them, and appointed the said Cramp, sole executor. Also Cramp's will, made 20th September, 1728, of which he made the aforesaid Sarah his wife (who was one of the sisters of Robert Greisbrooke) sole executrix. That the said John had afterwards, to wit 19th February, 1729, taken to wife the said Sarah Cramp, etc., etc.

† Thomas Dudley, of Russells, was assessed on 5 hearths to the Hearth Tax of 19 Charles II. 1677.

Mary, his widow, on 1st June, 1685. She was probably the Mary Dudley, widow, who was buried at Dudley, 28th Nov., 1708. But he appears to have had a previous wife named Sarah. His only known child was his son John, who succeeded him at Russells, but the Dudley Registers record the following :

(1) "Bety<sup>4</sup>,"* dau. of Thomas Dudley, alias Sutton, bapt. 8th April, 1672. (2) Sarah, dau. of Mr. Thomas Dudley, bapt. 28th May, 1674, and buried as "Sara, daughter of Thomas Dudley, of Russells, gent.," on 25th September following. (3) Thomas, son of Thomas Sutton, alias Dudley, gent., and Sarah, his wife, bapt. 6th Oct., 1676, and buried on 4th February following. (4) Charles, son of Thomas and Sara Sutton, alias Dudley, bapt. 23d Aug., 1678. "Mr. Charles Dudley, of Russells Hall," buried 16th March, 1719-20. (5) Thomas, son of Thomas Dudley, alias Sutton, and Sarah, bapt. 7th July, 1680. "Thomas Dudley, of Russells Hall," buried 15th Sept., 1700. (6) John, "son of Mr. Thomas Dudley, of Russells," bapt. 25th April, 1684.

John<sup>4</sup> Dudley, alias Sutton, the only surviving son and heir of Thomas, inherited Russells Hall and lands, and also a small estate in Feckenham, Co. Worcester. No doubt "the lands and rents within the lordship of Feckenham,"† which Sir Gilbert Talbot gave to his daughter Eleanor, the wife of Jeffrey Dudley (see Vol. IX, part ii., p. 91.) He married at Chaddesley-Corbett,‡ Co. Worcester, on 28th September, 1708, Katherine, sister and sole heiress of Daniel Feldon, of Warley-Wigorn, in Halesowen, gent.,§ but died s.p., seised of Russells Hall and lands, and was buried at Dudley, 22d March, 1722-3. She married secondly, at † Described in one of the deeds as "All that meece, place, or plott or parcell of ground, or orchard, or parcell of land, meadow, or pasture grounds, all lying and being together or near together, and situate, lying, and being in the parish of Feckenham and county of Worcester."

‡ For some reason, which I cannot explain, Chaddesley was a favorite place for marriages at this date. The same may be said of Pattingham, Staffordshire.

§ This information is derived from an abstract of the title of Richard Bloxcidge, to an estate at Halesowen purchased by the trustees of F. D. Lea Smith, Esq. Isaac Feldon was the owner of the Warley estate in 1709. He appears to have died, s. p., and to have been succeeded by his brother Daniel, who in his turn was succeeded by his sister Katherine. In 1757, Mary Brown, of Handsworth, widow, John Orton, of Wishaw, Co. Warwick, malster, and Rebecca his wife, Samuel Garbett of Birmingham, wine merchant, and Anne, his wife, and Thomas Hall of Wishaw, husbandman, are stated to be heirs at-law of Katherine Winter, and appear to have disputed Bloxcidge's title. I have not found Katherine's baptism at Halesowen, but Isaac, son of William and Katherine Feldon, "born 23rd October," was baptised there 4th November, 1660, and Daniel, son of the same, on 3rd November, 1663. The former was buried there 19th July, 1715, and the latter 23rd August, 1722.

Dudley, 31st March, 1725, Mr. William Winter, then of Stourbridge, and was buried at Halesowen, as "Catherine Winter, widow," of Warley-Wigorn, 30th May, 1742. By her will, dated March, 1742, and proved in June following, she devised her estate at Warley and elsewhere, to Richard Bloxidge, of Birmingham, gent.

John<sup>4</sup> Dudley died intestate, and administration was granted at Worcester, 23rd April, 1723, to "Katherine Sutton, alias Dudley," his widow. His inventory is remarkable for the large quantity of household goods, and for the many articles which were apparently of a novel character for that time. There were (inter alia) old swords, fowling pieces, books, rings, silver plate, a caudle cup and flagon, mustard pots, pictures, maps, and "landskippes," bridles, whips, pack saddles, three "wooden horses," a "hearth stone," and debts due from Richard Chelmish and Abiathar Hawkes. The total value of the goods was £241 17s. 6d. On his death his real estate came to his five aunts or their representatives as his co-heiresses at law, who sold it to various purchasers. In 1738, William Lord Dudley and Ward purchased four of five undivided parts of the estate. These descended to Ferdinando Dudley Lea, Lord Dudley, as his heir-at-law, and subsequently Lord Dudley purchased the other part. The hall has long since been taken down, but a quantity of carved stone ornaments were preserved, and now adorn the gardens at the Grange House, Halesowen.

From the title deeds (penes F. D. Lea Smith, Esq.), aided by the Dudley parish registers, I am able to give the following account of some of the descendants of the five aunts, co-heirs of this last Dudley of Russells.

MARSH.

Edward Marsh of Dudley, "limeman," was father, by Elizabeth<sup>4</sup> née Dudley, of a son and heir, Edward Marsh, also a limeman at Dudley, whose wife's name was Margaret. Elizabeth<sup>4</sup>, wife of Edward Marsh, was buried at Dudley, 20th March, 1720-21, and Margaret, wife of Edward<sup>5</sup> Marsh, on 23d May, 1731. These registers record the baptisms of the following children of Edward<sup>5</sup> Marsh, limeman, and Margaret his wife:

- i. ELIZABETH<sup>6</sup>, bapt. 13th Dec. 1711; buried as "Elizabeth, a child of Edward Marsh, Junior," 22d Jan., 1711-12.
- ii. EDWARD, bapt. 31st Jan., 1714-15. On 23d Aug., 1738, Edward Marsh and Sarah Shurt were m.
- iii. THOMAS, bapt. 17th Feb., 1716-17. Thomas, son of Edward Marsh, buried 6th Sept., 1721.
- iv. JOHN, bapt. 1st Jan., 1718-19.
- v. RICHARD, bapt. 10th Oct., 1720.
- vi. MARGARET, bapt. 9th Dec., 1722.
- vii. BENJAMIN, bapt. 6th Feb., 1724-5.

viii. ELIZABETH, bapt. 20th Nov., 1726.

ix. THOMAS, bapt. 29th June, 1729.

ATTWOOD.

Richard Attwood, husband of Eleanor<sup>4</sup> Dudley, appears to have been a butcher at Dudley, for Richard Attwood, butcher, was buried there 26th Aug., 1715. Eleanor, his wife, was living a widow at Dudley in 1724, and was dead in 1726. She was, therefore, no doubt the Eleanor Attwood who was buried at Dudley, 20th Jan., 1724-5. The issue of Richard and Eleanor, bapt. at Dudley, were :

i. EDWARD<sup>5</sup>, bapt. 25th Jan., 1676-7, and buried 20th Aug., 1677.

ii. MARY, bapt. 18th July, 1678, and buried as dau. of Richard Attwood, 25th April, 1709.

iii. EDWARD, bapt. 2d Sept., 1680, of whom next.

iv. ELEANOR, bapt. 10th Dec., 1682, "borne 3 weeks before."

v. RICHARD, bapt. 20th Oct., 1685, "borne 3 weeks before," buried as "Richard, child of Richard Attwood," 5th March, 1688-9.

vi. KATHERINE, bapt. 2d June, 1691.

Edward<sup>5</sup> Attwood, the only surviving son, was also a butcher at Dudley. He m. by license dated 2d April, 1703, being then a bachelor and aged twenty-two, Elizabeth Hawkes of Dudley, a spinster, then aged twenty-one, and was buried at Dudley, 15th Nov., 1711. Their children, bapt. at Dudley, were : 1, Mary<sup>6</sup>, dau. of Edward Attwood, butcher, and Elizabeth his wife, bapt. 26th March, 1704; m. to Samuel Greenway of Dudley, "coal carrier." 2, Edward, bapt. 6th March, 1705-6, of whom next. 3, Katherine, bapt. 20th August, and buried 23d Dec., 1708. 4, Hannah, bapt. 5th Feb., 1709-10; m. at Oldswinford, Co. Worcester, 18th Jan., 1727-8, to Elisha Westwood, described in 1732 as of Broseley, Salop, glassmaker. They had two children bapt. at Broseley, viz. : Ann, bapt. 22d and buried 24th March, 1732-3; and Sarah, bapt. 16th April, 1734, and buried 13th June, 1735. 5, Elizabeth (whose baptism I have not found), m. first to — James, and secondly, by license at Dudley, on 6th Oct., 1730, to Joseph Jones, "of Dudley Castle, yeoman," so described in a deed of 1732.

Edward<sup>6</sup> Attwood, the eldest son, came of age circa 1726, in which year he is described as of Dudley, locksmith, and heir-at-law of Eleanor Attwood, his grandmother. His wife's name was Elizabeth, and I take him to be the Edward Attwood of Dudley who was married at St. Mary Magdalen's, Bridgnorth, on 9th Oct., 1727, to Elizabeth Hardwicke, of Bobbington. Edward<sup>7</sup>, son of Edward Attwood, was bapt. at Dudley, 19th Nov., 1728, and Elizabeth, dau. of Edward and Elizabeth Attwood, 5th Nov., 1730, but I find no further entries.

HAND.

WILLIAM HAND, of Dudley, cooper, had by Priscilla<sup>4</sup> his wife, the following issue, all bapt. at Dudley :

- i. WILLIAM<sup>5</sup>, bapt. 23rd April, 1681, died s. p.
- ii. KATHERINE, bapt. 8th February, 1682-3, died s. p.
- iii. ANN, born 13th August, 1692; married by license at Dudley, 27th December, 1724, to William Willis, of Dudley, collier; and was buried 9th November, 1740.
- iv. THOMAS, bapt. 15th March, 1695-6.
- v. MARY, bapt. 28th December, 1699, married by license at Dudley, 27th July, 1725, to Richard Kidson (in the registers called Chidson), of Kinver, cooper.
- vi. SARAH (baptism not found), married to William Butler, of Darlaston, and had three children, Sarah, Elizabeth, and James, all under twenty-one in 1727.

THOMAS<sup>5</sup> HAND, the only surviving son, was also a cooper at Dudley, where he and Mary his wife were both living in 1727.

DUDLEY, ALIAS SUTTON, CONTINUED.

Thomas Sutton, alias Dudley, of Netherton, gent., made his will on 3rd February, 1646-7, and it was proved at Worcester in August, 1647. He gives all his lands, houses, cattels, chattels, etc., to "Anne Sutton, alias Duddleley," his wife, for life, and then to Thomas his eldest son for ever, he paying £100 within one year after the death of the said Anne, to "Edward Sutton, alias Duddleley," the testator's youngest son, and an equal sum to Thomas Baker, testator's son-in-law. Anne, the wife, is made sole executrix. The inventory betokens a good establishment, and a fair supply of furniture in hall, kitchen, hall-chamber, parlour, upper chamber, buttery, etc. He had "ironstone upon the bankes at his coleworks," implements of husbandry, oats, barley, rye, six kine, five calves, thirty-five sheep, etc. He was buried at Dudley : s "Thomas Sutton, gent.," on 6th of February, 1646-7.

Anne, his widow, was buried at Dudley as "Mrs. Anne Dudley, alias Sutton," on the 15th of September, 1654. Her will is dated 8th December, 1653, but was not proved until December, 1662,* at Worcester. She describes herself as "Ann Sutton, alias Dudley, of Dudley, widow," and desires to be buried in Dudley Church near her husband. To Thomas, her eldest son, she gave her land called "Scotts," † in the parish of Dudley, for his life, and then to Robert Sutton, alias Dudley, his eldest son, and if the said Robert should die without male issue, then to Thomas, second son of the aforesaid Thomas, and in default of male issue to him, then to "Farthinandoe Sutton, alias Dudley," and his heirs for ever. And when the aforesaid Robert inherited the said lands called "Scotts," he was enjoined to pay to the aforesaid Thomas, and to "Farthinandoe," third son of the aforesaid Thomas, £10 a piece within four years after their father's death.

"I give to my son, Edward Sutton, alias Dudley, one bedstead which my sister Elner Smyth lyeth on, and the feather bed which I lyeth (sic) on, and one blue coverlet, and the bigger of the two lesser brasse potts, etc., etc. To my daughter, Ann Baker, my best petticoat. To my grandchild, Thomas Baker, £5, one half of which to set him prentice when that he is able to goe, and the other half when that he doth come to the age of 21. To the other three grandchildren (sic) of my daughter, Ann Baker, each of them one dish of pewter after my decease. To my grandchild, Robert Sutton, alias Dudley, the bedstead and all the joyne ware in the chamber over the hall, and one of the best dishes of pewter after his father's death. To Margaret Dudley, my grandchild, one of my best pewter dishes. To Ann Sutton, alias Dudley, the same, and one chest at my bed's feet, and one fine flaxen towel. To my grandchild, John Sutton, alias Dudley, one of my best dishes of pewter. To my daughter-in-law, Margery Dudley, wife of the aforesaid Edward Dudley, one ruff." Her son Thomas to be sole executor.

The issue of Thomas and Anne were :

- i. THOMAS,<sup>5*</sup> of whom next.
- ii. EDWARD. He appears to be the Edward Dudley, alias Sutton, who was deforciant in a fine of lands in Dudley in Hilary, 1657, John Parkes being complainant. By Margery his wife (who was buried at Dudley, 14th June, 1665, as wife of Edward Dudley), he had issue, a son John, bapt. there (as son of Edward and Margery Sutton) 31st Dec., 1648. An Edward Dudley, whom I suppose to be this Edward, was buried at Dudley, 27th Jan., 1668-9.

- iii. ANNE, m. as "Anne Sutton," 30th Jan., 1643-4, to Thomas Baker, by whom she had issue, a son Thomas.

Thomas Sutton, alias Dudley, the eldest son, was twice married; first to Katherine, who (as wife of Thomas Sutton) was buried at Dudley, 25th June, 1653: and secondly, in 1656, to * Thomas, son of Mr Thomas Dudley, gent., was baptised at St. Thomas's, Dudley, 21st November, 1616; Edward, son of Mr. Thomas Dudley, at St. Edmund's, 16th March, 1616-17, and Anne, daughter of Thomas Dudley, gent., at St. Edmund's, on 4th March, 1618-19. Probably these were the three children of Thomas and Anne, but it is difficult to say, for there was more than one Thomas Dudley at this date.

Bridget Rhodes. Their banns were published at Dudley, 3d Aug., 1656, and two Sundays after, and they were no doubt married before a Justice of the Peace, but there is no note of their actual marriage in the Dudley registers. The will of "Thomas Sutton, alias Dudley, the elder, of Netherton, in the parish of Dudley, gent.," is dated 23d Dec., 1682, and was proved at Worcester in February following. He gave his lease of "Mr. Jevon's * land," as also his personal estate (except the long table in the hall, and the wainscot there, and the back behind the kitchen fire) to Bridget his wife, during her life; but if she married again, it was to be equally divided between his five daughters. To his son, John Sutton, alias Dudley, his dwelling-house and buildings at Netherton, and the land belonging thereto, called "Merry Hurst," also the "long table" before mentioned, he paying to his two brothers and five sisters as follows: "to my sons, Thomas and Ferdinando Sutton, alias Dudley, £5 each: and to my daughters Mary, Katherine, Bridget, Susanna and Elizabeth, £6 each." His wife Bridget to be sole executrix, and his goods and chattels to be equally divided among his above-named children after her death or second marriage. To his son John, the benefit of the lease of Jevon's land after the widow's death, and to his son Robert, 2s. 6d. only, he being already otherwise provided for. His well-beloved kinsmen,† Henry Dixon and Richard Dixon, to be overseers, and to have twelve pence each for their trouble. Bridget, the widow, proved the will, and as "Bridget Dudley, widow," was buried at Dudley, 24th Oct., 1687. She died intestate, and administration of her effects was granted at Worcester, in Nov., 1687, to Mary Dudley, alias Sutton, spinster, her daughter. By Katherine, his first wife, Thomas had issue:

i. ROBERT<sup>6</sup>, "son of Thomas and Catherine Sutton, bapt. (? born) 21st Dec., 1640, about 5 o'clock in the morning" (Dudley Register). Of him next.

ii. THOMAS, "son of Thomas Sutton, gent., and Catherine, his wife," bapt. 8th June, 1642 (or 1643). He had issue two children, Thomas<sup>7</sup> ‡ and Elizabeth, both living in 1694.

* There is a final concord of Michaelmas, 18 Charles II, 1666, in which Thomas Jevon, gent., is complainant, and Thomas Dudley, alias Sutton, and others, deforciant, of lands in Dudley.

† They were probably kinsmen of his wife Bridget, for the Dudley registers show that Henry Dixon married 22nd September, 1639, Margaret "Roode," and that they had issue (inter alios) Henry, baptised 8th February, 1642-3, and Richard, baptised 25th May, 1644. "Old Henry Dixon was buried 7th July, 1678."

‡ Thomas, son of Thomas Sutton, alias Dudley, gent., was baptised at Dudley, 6th September, 1674, and "Bety," daughter of the same, 8th April, 1672. On 5th November, 1680, Margery, the wife of Thomas Dudley, gent., was buried.

Thomas Dudley<sup>7</sup> and Esther Pitt were married by license, 14th Decemiii. FERDINANDO<sup>6</sup>, "son of Thomas<sup>5</sup> and Catherine Sutton," bapt. 19th Dec., 1650. There is a license at Worcester, dated 21st Aug., 1681, for the marriage of Ferdinando Dudley, of Dudley, aged about twenty-five, nayler, and Joan Dixon* of the same place, about forty, widow. This marriage is recorded in the parish registers of Halesowen as having been solemnized there on 21st Aug., 1681. The age of the bridegroom, it will be seen, is understated; he was upwards of thirty in 1681. He had issue by this lady, a dau. Anne (mentioned in her uncle Robert's will, 1689), who was bapt. at Dudley, as daughter of Ferdinando Dudley, alias Sutton, on 16th July, 1682. 1, Eleanor<sup>7</sup>, "daughter of Mr. Thomas and Catherine Dudley," bapt. 8th July, 1645. 2, Anne, "daughter of Thomas Sutton, gent., and Mrs. Catherine," bapt. 26th Dec., 1647. She was unmarried in 1680, when she proved the will of her sister Margaret, and (with her

ber. 1696. Esther, wife of Thomas Dudley, was buried 7th March, 1728-9, and "Thomas Dudley at Springmore" (almost identical with "Scotts") was buried 10th September, 1729. It would seem from the Dudley registers that Thomas and Esther had the following issue, though it is of course possible that Thomas Dudley and Thomas Sutton were two different persons:

i. Katherine<sup>8</sup>, daughter of Thomas and Esther Dudley, baptised 14th March, 1696-7, (just three months after marriage). Katherine, daughter of Thomas and Esther Dudley, buried 26th May, 1724.

ii. Margaret, daughter of Thomas Sutton, nailor, and Esther, born 13th April, 1699, and baptised 1st February, 1701-2, on the same day as her brother Thomas.

iii. Thomas, son of Thomas Sutton, nailor, and Esther, baptised 1st February, 1701-2.

vi. Ferdinando, son of Thomas Dudley, nailor. and Hester, baptised 17th June, 1705.

The latter may, I think, be identified with the Ferdinando<sup>8</sup> Dudley who was married, 3rd August, 1724, to Phoebe Rolinson, and had a son Ferdinando, baptised 30th October, 1726, and buried 1st June, 1727. Phoebe, wife of Ferdinando Dudley, was buried 22d March, 1727-8; and on 1st October, 1730, he married Ann King, by whom he had the following issue, all baptized as children of Ferdinando and Ann:

1. Salway<sup>9</sup>, a daughter, baptized 15th August, 1731.

2. Judith, baptized 14th January, 1732-3; married 2d November, 1751, to Titus Newcomb, and had, (with other issue) a son, Ferdinando Dudley Newcomb, baptized 8th May, 1757.

3. "Elizabeth, daughter of Ferdinando Dudley, buried" 14th March, 1734-5.

4. William, baptized 18th April, 1736.

5. Ferdinando, baptized 3d April, 1738.

6. Katherine, baptized 31st August, 1740, and buried 15th December, 1742.

Anne, the wife of Ferdinando Dudley Dudley (sic), was buried 6th March, 1741-2, and on 8th January, 1750-51, he married a third wife, Phoebe Henley, by whom he had no further issue. He was buried 25th May, 1752, and Phoebe Dudley, probably his widow, was married to Thomas Bagley, 1st October, 1753.

* She was the widow of Oliver Dixon, of Dudley. By him she was mother of an only daughter, Mary, married to Christopher Robinson of Dudley, ancestor of Brooke Robinson, Esq., M. P. for Dudley.

son, Nicholas) is referred to in the will of her brother Robert as "my late sister, Ann Gilberts." It appears from the parish register of Rowley Regis that "Nicholas Gilborde and Ann Dudley of Dudley" were m. there 30th Jan., 1680-81. 3, Margaret, whose baptism I have not found. She appears, from her will, to have resided at Islington, but she d. at Dudley and was buried there 18th May, 1680, as "Margaret Sutton, alias Dudley, spinster." Her said will, in which she is called of the parish of St. Mary, Islington, spinster, is dated 13th April, 1680, and was proved at Worcester by her sister and sole executrix, Ann Dudley, in the following August. She gave the said Ann Dudley all her wearing apparel, etc., and divided the rest of her effects between her and her brothers Robert, Thomas, and Ferdinando. The inventory was made by Margery Dudley and Mary Dixon.

The further issue of Thomas Sutton, alias Dudley, by his second wife, Bridget, were.

i. JOHN<sup>6</sup>, son of Thomas and Bridget Dudley, alias Sutton, bapt. 10th Jan., 1659-60.

ii. MARY, dau. of Thomas Sutton, alias Dudley, b. 28th Aug., 1657. Administratrix of her mother, 1687, and then unmarried.

iii. Katherine, dau. of Thomas and Bridget Sutton, alias Dudley, bapt. (July ?) 24th, 1659.

iv. BRIDGET, dau. of Thomas and Bridget Sutton, alias Dudley, bapt. 29th March, 1663.

v. SUSANNA, whose baptism I have not found. She is mentioned in her father's will, and was party to the administration bond of her mother, 1687, and then unmarried.

vi. ELIZABETH, mentioned in her father's will. She is probably the Elizabeth, dau. of Mr. Thomas Sutton, alias Dudley, who was bapt. at Dudley, 23d Aug., 1667.

Robert<sup>6</sup> Sutton, alias Dudley, the eldest son of Thomas and Catherine, inherited the lands called "Scotts," and therefore, as his father puts it in his will, was "provided for." He married (being then in his forty-sixth year), at Dudley, 21st Nov., 1686, as "Robert Sutton, alias Dudley," Mary, widow of John Hill, of Dudley, but died s.p., and was buried at Dudley, 13th Feb., 1689-90. In his will, made in Jan., 1689, he calls himself "gentleman," but the inventory describes him as a nailor. He gives to Nicholas<sup>7</sup> Gilberts, son of his late sister, Ann Gilberts. 5s. "to make up the money of his which I have in trust for him"; to my brother Ferdinando, for the use of the said Nicholas, my chest with three locks and two drawers, when he shall come of age, or at the death of Mary, my wife. To Ann<sup>7</sup> Sutton, alias Dudley, daughter of my brother Ferdinando, two joined chairs which were mine before I was married, to be delivered to her when she is of age, or at the death of my wife. To Mary, my wife, the third part of all those four closes of land called "Scotts Farm,' or 'Scotts Tenement,' in the manor and foreign of Dudley, for her life." He also gives his residue to his said wife, and makes her his sole executrix. The will was proved at Worcester, in March, 1689-90.

Mary, his widow, was buried at Dudley as Mary Sutton, alias Dudley, widow, 3d Dec., 1698. She also made a will dated 7th Jan., 1694, and proved at Worcester in April, 1699. What she had to leave she chiefly bequeathed to her two daughters, Honor, the wife of William Fieldhouse, and Lydia, * the wife of Roger Clifton, nailer, and their children. She gives certain dishes of pewter to "Thomas Sutton, alias Dudley, son of my brother-in-law, Thomas Sutton, alias Dudley," and to Elizabeth, daughter of her said brother-in-law, "the pewter dishes which were the property of my late husband, Robert Sutton, alias Dudley."

Male descendants of this branch no doubt still exist in "illustrious obscurity," but I dare not attempt to trace them out. I think it probable, however, that John Dudley, eldest son of Thomas by his second wife, Bridget, may be identical with "John Dudley, alias Sutton, of Coseley, nailer," who was buried at Dudley 26th Dec., 1684. Administration of his goods was granted at Lichfield on 1st May, 1685, to "Hester Dudley, alias Sutton, widow," his relict. Nicholas Persehouse, Cornelius Whitehouse, and William Whitehouse made his inventory. Thomas, son of John and Hester Dudley, alias Sutton, of Coseley, was baptized at Sedgley, 31st July, 1684, and a John Dudley was married to Hester Hickman at Halesowen on 25th Oct., 1683.

* Avery, or Alvery, was a favourite baptismal name in the ancient Warwickshire family of Fullwood. Six children of Avery and Jane Fullwood were baptised at Rowley between 1687 and 1707. Avery, their son, was baptised there 23d July, 1694, and on 30th May, 1719, a license was granted from Worcester for the marriage of Avery Fuller, alias Fullwood, of Rowley, bachelor, aged twenty-five to Mary Smith of Dudley, widow, aged twenty-nine. The Warwickshire Fullwoods were connected with the Hadens of Haden Hill in Rowley Regis. Henry Haden of that place having married Elizabeth, daughter of Adam Fullwood of Studley, in Warwickshire, and she, described as wife of Henry Haden, was administratrix of her father in 1696. Henry Haden of Haden Hill, gent., was buried at Rowley, 12th October, 1736, and Elizabeth his wife on 21st August, 1732. They had, with other issue, a son, the Rev. Fullwood Haden, baptized at Rowley, 26th May, 1693, and buried there 29th June, 1754, aged sixty-one.

* William Dudley, horsedriver, was buried at Dudley, 26th August 1718. There were two "horsedriviers" of this name, but the testator appears to have been the William Dudley whose wife's name was Alice (buried at Dudley, 31st July, 1713), for Josiah (named in his will as his son), son of William and Alice Dudley, was born 10th November, 1696, and there were three other children, Elizabeth, Samuel and Sarah, all stated to be born (not baptized) of William and Alice, who died young. They were probably Nonconformists. Hannah, daughter of William and Alice Dudley was however baptised, 7th February, 1635-6 (upwards of ten years before Josiah was born), who may have been the Hannah Homer named in the will. Hannah, wife of John Homer, was buried (at Dudley) 23d February, 1757. The other William Dudley, "horsedriver," was married at Dudley, 5th August, 1700, to Mary Vanes, and had issue.

DEAN DUDLEY, Esq.,

Dear Sir: I am not positive where I had authority for making Abigail Dudley to be wife of Jonathan Watson. In early days I did not record authority as later. But I have no doubt it was from John Kelley. You will notice that there was no "Northampton" in that day. You will notice, also, that one Jonathan<sup>1</sup> had son Samuel<sup>2</sup>, who had (b. in Dover, 11 Jan., 1723) a son Winthrop<sup>3</sup>; that Jonathan's<sup>1</sup> son David<sup>2</sup> (of Dover) had sons Dudley<sup>3</sup> and Winthrop<sup>3</sup>, and that this last named Winthrop<sup>3</sup> went to Exeter and lived there in 1747. A whole race of Dudleys and Winthrops (Christian name) have come down from Jonathan<sup>1</sup> Watson in Dover, without shadow of a doubt—to this day and generation! I suggest whether your Northampton man is not identical with our Jonathan<sup>1</sup>. Especially as we find his grandson Winthrop<sup>3</sup> in Exeter in 1747.

Anything more I can answer I will do with pleasure.

Yours truly,

A. H. QUINT.

WILL OF JOHN PUREFAY, ESQ.,

IN WHICH THOMAS DUDLEY IS MADE A LEGATEE.

JOHN PUREFAY of Shaldeston, Bucks., Esq., 4 May, 1579, proved 25th May, 1579. Wife Anne. My nephew Edward Purefey (again written Purefaye). My nephew and niece George Purefey and his sister. My cousin Thomas Purefey and my cousin Elizabeth, his sister. Nephew Edward Purefey, again referred to as "cosin" Edward Purefey. Thomas Worsley my sister's daughter's son. Every of the children of my cousin Andrew Skne (Skerne?) being at this present five in number. My cousin Robert Thorne. Mary Worsely and Katherine Worsseley. Thomas Dudley. Thomas Stretley. My nephew Edward Thorne. Loving friend Peter Wentworthe, Esq. Brothers William and Richard Purefey. —Bakon, 22.

[This will I have saved on account of the mention in it of a Thomas Dudley (see Mr. Dean Dudley's remarks on the possible connection of Purefey and Dudley). H. F. W.]

The testator John Purefoy was of Shalston in Bucks., son and heir of Edward Purefoy of Shireford, Esq. (Leic.), who was born at Edfield, June 13, 1494, and died at Shalston, June 1, 1558. Edward, Esq., was son and heir of Nicholas. (See Herald's Visitation, published by Harl. Society, 1869). The pedigree reaches back to A. D. 1277. John Purefoy of Shalston, the testator in the above abstract, was the one mentioned on page 19 of my History of the Dudleys. Nicholls's History of Leicestershire says he married, at St. Dunstan's in London, Anne, daughter of Thomas Windsor, Esq., of Bentley, son of Sir Andrews Windsor, K. C. B., brother of Edmund Dudley's first wife, that is, Edmund, father of John Duke of Northumberland. She was his second wife. The first wife of the testator, John Purefoy, was Elizabeth Brome, dau. of Sir John Brome of Halton, Co. Oxon. Kt. He does not mention any children and probably had no descendants. Visitation of Lei. says he died s.p.

The Herald's Visitation and Nicholl's Leicestershire give the names of his eight brothers and five sisters, making 14 children of Edward Purefoy, Esq., and his wife Anne Fettiplace (dau. of Richard Fettiplace, of Bassils-leigh, Berks.), born at Shireford Parva, July 16, 1496, d. 1568.

The fourteen children were as follows: 1. John, testator. 2. Thomas, married a daughter of Wenman or Waynman, d. s. p. 3. Richard, who (says the Visitation) married "Nicholas Foxton, widow, daughter of Pell." This means Nicolls of Faxton, daughter of Pell. ("See History of Dudley Family, page 18.") She was dau. of John Pell of Eltington, Northants., and widow of Thomas Nicolls, Esq. One of the Visitations calls him "Nicholas de Pitchley," meaning Nicolls of Pitchley (Pightsley), Northants. He was the father of Sir Augustine Nicolls, of Faxton. Richard Purefoy purchased Faxton manor and he and his wife Anne (Pell) both died there. 4. Henry, d. s. p. 5. Edward, d. s. p. 6. Nicholas, d. s. p. 7. Charles, d. s. p. 8. William of Holingborne, Kent, b. 1524, d. 1595, aged 71, m. 1st, Beatrix, dau. and heir of Thomas

WM. K. DUDLEY DEAD.

ONE OF THE PROMINENT MEN OF MONMOUTH, ME. — AGE, 76 YRS.

MONMOUTH, Feb. 17, 1897.— William K. Dudley died at his home in Monmouth, Tuesday afternoon, at 1.25 o'clock, from congestion of the brain and lungs, after an illness of only fourteen hours. Mr. Dudley was born in March, 1820, and was a lineal descendant of Thomas Dudley, one of the early Massachusetts colonists and Governor. Mr. Dudley has been a resident for over fifty years of Monmouth, and one of the most prominent de Chilshurst. widow of Strelley. By her he had two children: i. John, M. A., Canon of Christ Church, Oxford, d. 1601, s. p.; and ii. Thomas, m. Blendina Goodwin, dau. of Thomas Goodwin, Bishop of Bath and Wells. William<sup>8</sup> Purefoy m. 2d, Cecily Goodwin, dau. of John of Bucks, in 1579. They had: i. Edward of Shalston, d. 1594, m. Joyce, dau. and heir of George Purefoy of Drayton, d. 1596; ii. John; iii. Thomas; iv. Anne, d. young. 9. Francis, m. Anne Furthe, dau. of Anthony of Furthe, Northants, and had: i. George, d. s. p.; ii. Elizabeth. 10. Mary, m. Thomas Thorne of Yardley, Northants, and had: i. Anthony Thorne; ii. Edward Thorne; iii. Robert Thorne; iv. Thorney Thorne; v. Katherine Thorne, m. Francis Worsley; and vi. Susanna Thorne, m. Rogers. 11. Elizabeth, m. Sir Humphrey Bradbourne of Derbyshire. 12. Anne, m. Swillington. 13. Susan, a nun of Syon. 14. Frances.

The testator John Purefoy, in his will here abstracted mentions his wife "Anne Windsor," his nephew Edward Purefoy, son of 8 William, his nephew and niece George and Elizabeth, children of 9 Francis, his "cousin Thomas Purefoy and his cousin Elizabeth his sister." These are the children of his uncle Simon Purefoy whose wife was Barbara Dixwell. They were 35 years of age. Elizabeth was wife of William Ackworth of Kent. Perhaps they had lived with him in their youth. "Cousin Edward Purefoy" might mean his nephew Edward's son Edward. "Thomas, Mary and Katherine Worsley" were children of Katherine (Thorne) Worsley, wife of Francis Worsley and daughter of Mary (Purefoy) Thorne. The children of Andrew Skne (Skerne?) might have been his mother's grandchildren. Cousin Robert Thorne, son or grandson of his sister Mary. Probably this sentence is to be read, "My cousins Robert Thorne, Mary Worsley and Katharine Worsley, Thomas Dudley and Thomas Strelley." His brother William's first wife was an heiress, widow of Strelley. "Nephew Edward Thorne" was son of his sister Mary. "Brothers William and Richard Purefoy." Richard had no children. He was husband of Judge Nicolls's mother at Faxton, Northants. He purchased six parts of Faxton manor of Edward Saunders in 1585.

Our Gov. Thomas Dudley was three or four years of age in 1579. It may be that he was the Thomas Dudley of the will and that this was the legacy which was bequeathed him as Mather describes. (See Hist. of Dudley Family, page 41.) If he was the legatee, his mother was probably a niece of the testator. It is quite interesting to see this name "Thomas Dudley," connected with these Purefoys, among whom we have been looking for his relations and for facts about his mother's family, who were known to have been just such a Puritan race, connected with the Nicolls and Pell families.

The wills of other Purefoys may show the nature of his kinship to them all. I feel very grateful to Mr. Waters for all his good work.

business men of the place all through his early and middle life. He first located on a farm in the "Lyon" district. He was, for a long time, engaged in speculating in cattle, hay and grain, and was well known throughout the State as a successful operator. In 1862, he and Hiram Judkins formed a partnership and went into trade in grocery and dry goods. He went frequently to eastern Maine for numbers of cattle, shipping them to Boston market. Twenty-five years ago this firm founded the moccasin factory in Monmouth, which became known over the country as a reliable concern, the grade of goods giving satisfaction, even to the far west.

Mr. Dudley retired from business life several years ago, and has since spent his winters in his home here, but went every year for the summer to Old Orchard Beach, where he owned a pleasant summer place. Many annual visitors will miss him there. Mr. Dudley was always an active member of the Methodist Episcopal church, and long held a leading place in its official membership. An ardent Republican, a man interested in all that pertained to the progress of the town in which he lived, his loss will be sincerely mourned.

His widow, Mrs. Ann Tilton Dudley, and three children, Mrs. W. W. Woodbury of Nashua, N. H., E. A. Dudley and Mrs. H. B. Blake, who reside in this place, survive him. One son, Alphonso, died twelve years ago.

MR. DEAN DUDLEY,
WAKEFIELD, MASS.,

Dear Sir,—Will you please send me a list of your publications, and some idea of what they contain, and their prices? I have long wanted some history or genealogy of the Dudley family, but did not know how to get one.

Your circular Prospectus has been sent to me by a relative. I am the daughter of Nathaniel Dudley, who was the son of John G. Nathaniel died Jan. 20, 1897. I was married to Louis Pynch of Ripon, Wis., Oct. 30, 1895. We have one son, Robert Dudley Pynch, born March 31, 1897.

I don't know whether you care for this information, but thought it might be of use.

Yours very truly,

OBITUARY.

It was only a few days ago that our respected citizen, Llewellyn K. Dudley, was on the street attending to the active affairs of business life. Although not in good health, yet he was able to be down town every business day. He had felt the necessity of closing out his drug stock and taking a long-needed rest. As a result the stock was sold about three weeks ago to druggist Geo. M. Barrows and moved across the street to Mr. Barrows' store. Mr. Dudley assisted at the taking account of stock, and 'tis possible he contracted a severe cold at that time which culminated in pneumonia, and terminated fatally on the 16th inst.

Mr. Dudley was born in Kingfield, Me., in 1837, and came to this town a young man about twenty-two years old, and has been identified with the best interests and prosperity of Newport during the thirty-seven years of residence among us. During the war he was appointed postmaster, which office he filled for many years to the satisfaction of all the people. He was in the dry goods and grocery business a short time with J. T. Murch, and at the dissolution of the firm of Dudley & Murch he entered a drug store, studied pharmacy and started the drug business for himself. As a citizen, he has been perfectly reliable in all transactions among men, and never deviated from the teachings of the "golden rule." For several years he was town clerk, had a good understanding of the town affairs, and was always ready and willing to do his part in the promotion of industries that would give employment to the people and build up the town. Mr. Dudley will be missed on our streets. For more than thirty years he has been a prominent figure among the successful business men of the town, and during all these years his standard of integrity has never been doubted.

He married Miss Arabella, daughter of the late Bryce Hight, in the year 1864, and the journey of life has been to them thirty-two years of happiness. Of the immediate family of Mr. Dudley there are living, brothers and sisters — Mrs. Anne S., wife of Rev. L. E. Bates of Fabius, N. Y.; James P. Dudley of Eustis, Me.; F. W. Dudley of Lewiston; Mrs. T. M. Parker of Phillips, Me.; Lucien P. Dudley of No. Freeman, Me.; and Mrs. H. P. Durrell, of No. Freeman.

The funeral services were held last Sunday at the home of the family, Rev. J. W. Webster, of High street church, officiating. The house was filled with friends of the family to pay their last tribute of respect to a departed friend. The burial was in the family lot at Riverside. — The Pittsfield Advertiser, 1896.

• OBITUARY (From Exeter News-Letter).

Died in this town, on Sabbath night, 1840, Miss Martha Rogers, aged 78. She was a daughter of the late Rev. Daniel Rogers, of Exeter, who was the son of Rev. John Rogers of Ipswich, Mass., who was the son of President John Rogers of Harvard University, a preacher of the gospel, who was the son of Rev. Nathaniel Rogers, of Ipswich, who was son of Rev. John Rogers of Dedham, England, who was son of John Rogers, who was baptised Nov. 21, 1538, at Chelmsford, England, over three centuries ago.

Descended from a long train of eminently pious ancestors, she did honor to their memory by a life of exemplary piety; and having attained a good old age in the service of her Redeemer, she has been released from her labors.

Miss Rogers had outlived most of the associates of her early days, but every year which diminished their numbers, increased the number of her friends; and probably at no period of her life, was she more extensively or more sincerely respected, venerated and beloved, than at its close. Although the infirmities of age had been growing upon her for several months, she retired on Sabbath night without complaining of illness, and apparently in as good health as for weeks before. She soon after awoke and finding a difficulty in breathing, a physician was sent for, but before he arrived, that difficulty, and all other difficulties, had ceased forever. Funeral Wednesday P. M., at 3 o'clock.

WILLIAM S. GILBERT.

(See page 757.) (From the Phillips Newspaper.)

The subject of this obituary was born in Kingfield, August 18th, 1824, and died in that town December 26th, 1897, at the age of seventy-three.

His father, Spencer Gilbert, was born in the same year in which

George Washington was inaugurated president of the United States, 1789, and died about the time of the beginning of the civil war at the age of seventy-one. His mother, Nancy, who was two years younger, died about the same time as her husband. Both of the parents are buried here in Kingfield. The father was one of the first settlers of the town, clearing his farm and putting up suitable buildings, now owned and occupied by Elmer Tufts, located a short distance from the village.

This farm joined what is known as the "King farm," now in possession of Eben Williamson, and was once owned by William King, Maine's first governor and original owner of the township. The town takes its name, as is generally known, from the governor.

William S. Gilbert was one of ten children who grew up to manhood and womanhood, five brothers and five sisters, of whom two brothers and two sisters are still living. The names of these four survivors are H. P. Gilbert, the oldest, who lives in Madelia, Minn., at the age of eighty-one, C. W. Gilbert, Mrs. W. H. Landers and Mrs. E. A. Blanchard, the last three of whom are residents of Kingfield.

In the year 1859, Mr. Gilbert was united in marriage to Miss Helen B. Church of Farmington, a sister of the late Rev. David Church, for many years a well known member of the Methodist conference. He was a farmer and for twenty-five years carried on the farm where Mr. Harrison Small now lives. Mrs. Gilbert died about twenty years ago, and for a dozen of years or more he has resided in the village. There was but one child, a married daughter, Mrs. Nellie Goldsmith.

The daughter died seven years ago at the age of twenty-two.

For several terms Mr. Gilbert and his brother, Joseph (who was a teacher of more than ordinary ability, teaching for quite a number of years in the South where he died,) were students together in the old Farmington academy. In politics Mr. Gilbert was a staunch Democrat, and was thoroughly conversant with the history and principles of that party. He served as postmaster for parts of two terms under Grover Cleveland, and represented his district in the legislature. For more than a score of years he taught school in the town in which he lived, with more than ordinary success. Seven years he was on the board of selectmen, most of the time in the capacity of chairman. For quite a long time he was a member of the school committee, and was town treasurer, and to those who knew the man and knew of him, it goes without the saying, that he filled all those positions with honor to himself and general satisfaction to his fellow-citizens.

Religiously he was a Methodist, as were his parents, having been a member of the Methodist church more than a score of years. He was one of the original proprietors of the Union church, and was much interested in the construction of the Methodist edifice a few years ago, and rendered the society, which was at that time in a prosperous condition, substantial financial aid.

So well did he discharge his duties as a citizen and officer, so pleasant and genial was he in manner, so upright and exemplary in his character, and so much interested in everything that pertained to the prosperity of the town in which he had spent seventy years, that his death is sincerely lamented and he will be greatly missed.

The end came suddenly and unexpectedly Sunday night and the funeral services were held the following Wednesday at 10 a. m., in the Methodist church, Rev. W. A. Nottage of Phillips officiating. A quartette rendered appropriate selections. It was one of the largest funerals ever held in Kingfield. The interment was in the village cemetery where so many of his friends are buried.

LINCOLN SCHOOL, SEPT. 21, 1892.

MR. DEAN DUDLEY:

Dear Sir,—I understand that there is to be a reunion of the descendants of Governor Dudley. I am descended from him, I believe, through Anne Dudley, who married Governor Bradstreet; then through John Bradstreet, Simon Bradstreet, John Bradstreet, Capt. Dudley Bradstreet, whose daughter, Lydia Bradstreet, was my mother.

As my sister and myself are very much interested in all that relates to the family we should like to be present and to receive any information that you can give us.

Yours respectfully,

MAURICE P. WHITE.

RICHLAND, Mo., 1890.

From a leaflet enclosed with yours to Mr. Burton we learn that you have issued several numbers of your history of our family. The only one of which we are in possession is your first volume, this month forty-four years old, and in a somewhat dilapidated condition, being minus the cut of the Ruins of the Dudley Castle, as well as the back cover of the book.

But I find that I am getting garrulous and am going beyond the bounds of the duty I was requested to perform.

Wishing you every success in your chosen life work, I remain,

Yours truly and fraternally,

DANIEL B. DUDLEY.

THE VENERABLE ARCHDEACON DUDLEY.

(See p. 708).

Very sincere regret was expressed when it became known in Rangiora, on Sunday afternoon, that the Venerable Archdeacon Dudley had been taken suddenly ill and had died within a few hours of his seizure. The venerable gentleman had risen early as usual, preparatory to going to Fernside, where he held service on Sunday mornings, and felt somewhat better than he had been for some time, when, about eight o'clock, he was seized with an attack of weakness of the heart, from which he never rallied. Dr. Volckman was called in and did all that could be done for the sufferer, but he passed away peacefully at about noon, having been granted his wish that he should be allowed to die in harness.

Benjamin Woolley Dudley was born in the town of Dudley, Staffordshire, at the end of the year 1805, and consequently was eighty-six years of age at the time of his death. He graduated at Cambridge, taking his B. A., and afterwards his M. A., at St. Catherine's Hall. For some years he laboured as a minister in England, first holding a curacy at Earnley and afterwards at Ticehurst. He left England on the promotion of a Church of England settlement in New Zealand, and arrived in the early days, coming out as chaplain on the barque Cressy, one of the historical first four ships, in 1850. It will be remembered that the Association, which sold the land at £3 per acre, devoted 20s to Church and educational purposes. In 1854 it was computed the sales of land had reached about 30,000 acres, and the Church's third from the sales was devoted to the expenses of a Bishop-designate and clergy, and grants to the erection of churches, furniture, books, and also parsonages. It was some time before the Bishop arrived, and the officiating clergy at this period were Revs. O. Mathias, W. Wilson, and E. Puckle for Christchurch, Riccarton and Papanui; Rev. W. W. Willock, Governor's Bay; Rev. G. Cotterill, Sumner; Rev. J. Raven, Kaiapoi; Rev. B. W. Dudley, Lyttelton; Rev. H. Jacobs, Head Master of the Christchurch Grammar School; Rev. G. Aylmer, Akaroa; Catechist at Pigeon Bay, Mr. F. Knowles; Master of Commercial School (Christchurch), Mr. Bilton; Master of Lyttelton School, Mr. Mayon; Governess of Girl's School, Mrs. Jaggar; Governess of Infants' School, Mrs. Goodwin. The total stipends of the clergy and schoolmaster was £875.

The Rev. B. W. Dudley then was the first incumbent of Lyttelton, and it may be here noted that the church which had been built was described as a "large" one, cost £1200, of which £700 was contributed by colonists, and the remainder by the Association. The offertories of the first three years in Lyttelton were: 1851, £157 6s. 8d.; 1852, £142 17s. 3d.; 1853, £94 3s. 11d. He continued to minister to the congregation of Lyttelton for about eight years, then moved for a short period to Auckland, and in 1860 was transferred to Rangiora, where he remained ever since.

In Rangiora, the Archdeacon's ministrations were very highly valued, as indeed they deserved to be, for his energy in the cause of the Church was untiring, and his liberality only bounded by his means. Through his exertions the church was enlarged considerably, and afterwards removed altogether, to allow of the erection of the handsome edifice which now stands in its place, and to which the Archdeacon and his family contributed largely. Towards the erection of the parsonage, too, the Archdeacon was the most liberal contributor, and his latest effort was the erection of a substantial schoolroom, which cost £750, and is now almost free of debt. Besides his work for the good of the Church, the poor in the district have lost in his death an unfailing friend. He was always ready to assist those in trouble and distress, and of the extent of his benefactions no one can have any idea. It is well known that of late years he has complained that his means prevented him doing all he wished, and common report credited him with having given largely of his substance to works of benevolence. Besides the works of charity referred to, he also endowed the church at Lyttelton, and founded a Divinity Scholarship at Christ's College.

In 1866 the subject of this notice was made a rural Dean and Canon, and in 1876, in recognition of his many services to the Church, was appointed Archdeacon of Rangiora. About four and a half years ago he resigned the Incumbency of Rangiora, and retired to his private residence, Earnley, but he could not remain long idle; for finding the churches at Fernside and St. Stephen's Pah both without ministers, he volunteered his services, and continued the work up to the very day of his death. The Archdeacon took little interest in political matters, except on the Temperance question, on which he was very decided, being President of the two principal Societies in the district, the Political Temperate Society and the Gospel Temperance Union, and for a short time was a member of the local School Committee.

The venerable gentleman was twice married, and now leaves a widow, three sons and a daughter to mourn his loss. Of his sons the eldest is the Ven. B. T. Dudley, Archdeacon of Auckland, and the youngest the Rev. H. T. Dudley, is in England. The third son, Mr. C. T. Dudley, is resident in Christchurch, being a member of the firm of Acland, Dudley and Co., brokers and agents. Miss Fanny Dudley has resided with her father since his removal to Rangiora, and has been his right hand in all Church work. The funeral will take place about the end of the week, and will, no doubt, be very largely attended.

LETTER FROM DAVID DUDLEY'S DAUGHTER.

CHILLICOTHE, Jan. 28, 1898.

MR. DEAN DUDLEY:

Dear Sir,—Yours of the 9th received; and I was truly glad you answered me. First, you want to know where my mother is. She is dead. She died in 1880, at the age of 54 years. My father married her in either Oldtown or Augusta, Me., but I think it is the latter place. All of her people lived in Augusta. Her name was Jane B. Moore. After they were married they lived in different towns in Maine, and Alice, my oldest sister, and Charles, my brother, were born there. Then they moved to St. Paul, Minn. There my sister Francis was born, and died at the age of four years. Then they came to Pagetown, O., and in 1863, I was born. My sister Alice married a man by the name of Van Bibber, and they had three children: Judson, Viola and Jonathan. The last died in three months after its mother. She was married seven years. My father took the children and raised them. They are both married; the girl married a doctor here in Chillicothe, and has no children. The boy is married and has two children. My father, the two children and myself moved to Mineral, O., after my mother died, and twelve years ago I came to live with a family here in Chillicothe, and am still with them; their name is Walters. They are always good to me. There my nephew got married, and my father still lived with him, and my niece came here and was married and lives here. My father was all through the late war; was sergeant. He was hurt. He drew a pension and so he lived very comfortably. He died the 8th of May, 1893, at the age of seventy-four years. He was very religious, and so was my mother. My brother was married, and died at the age of thirty-two; and I am the only one living and still single. I know nothing of any of my other relatives but uncle Daniel, and I haven't heard from him for a long time. He was in Detroit, Mich., the last letter I got.

I would love to have your book, and am going to get one of them as soon as I can. I don't have much time to get out to see about anything, so I don't know whom to tell you to send your circulars to. Please answer.

Yours truly,

457 E. Water St.

THE DEATH OF MRS. AMASA J. PARKER YESTERDAY.

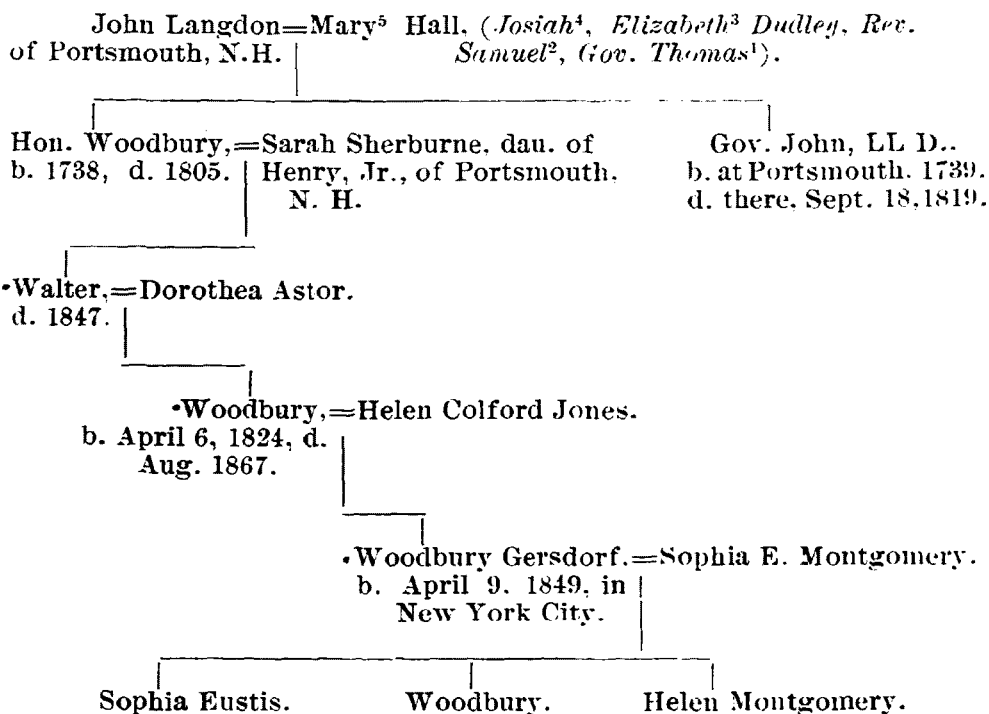

At the advanced age of seventy-five years, and after an illness of several months, the most estimable and beloved wife of one of Albany's oldest and most honored citizens, Judge Amasa J. Parker, and mother of Gen. Amasa J. Parker, Jr., died yesterday morning at the family residence on Washington Avenue, the house which had been her home since the year 1844.

Harriet Langdon Roberts Parker was born at Portsmouth, N. H., March 28th, 1814. She was the third daughter of Edmund Roberts, and Catherine Whipple Langdon, who was the youngest daughter of Woodbury and Sarah Sherburne Langdon, of Portsmouth. August 27th, 1834, at the age of twenty years, she was married at Portsmouth, to Amasa J. Parker, then a resident of Delhi, Delaware County, by the Rev. Dr. Burroughs. The first ten years of their married life were spent in Delhi, where Judge Parker practiced law. During that time Mr. Parker represented his district in Congress, in 1838 and 1839, and during his residence in Washington was accompanied by his wife. Four children were born in Delhi. In 1845, they removed to Albany, when Judge Parker received the appointment of circuit judge and vice-chancellor. Mr. and Mrs. Parker became the parents of eight children, four of whom were born in Albany.

Four of the children died, the eldest, Edmund Roberts, dying in Delhi in 1840, Harriet Langdon in 1846, Cora in 1853 and Grace in 1869, in Albany. Four are now living, Mrs. John V. L. Pruyn, Gen. Amasa J. Parker, Jr., Mrs. Erastus Corning and Mrs. Selden E. Marvin. Fifteen grandchildren survive her. Judge and Mrs. Parker kept their golden wedding at Mrs. Pruyn's residence on "The Cliffs" at Newport, August 27, 1884.

COMMENTS AND ADDITIONS

BY ROBERT DUDLEY OF LONDON, GRANDSON OF ROBERT DUDLEY AND MARY (STOKES).

(See page 152, pedigree.)

Robert<sup>1</sup> (my grandfather) was m. three times: 1st, to Elizabeth Grubb, of Clonmel, Ireland; 2d, to Hannah Jesup, of Woodbridge, Suffolk, England, m. at Woodbridge Nov. 8, 1770; 3d, to Mary Stokes, of Frenchay, near Bristol, England; m. at Frenchay, July 7, 1777.

By previous marriage Robert D. had only three sons: Jonathan, Robert and Joseph. Jonathan left a daughter, but no son. Robert left a son who d. unm. Joseph left no issue.

Charles S. and Sarah Dudley had a large family, their eldest son being Robert, the present writer, m. Amy Hunt. They had; Guilford and Robert Ambrose. So I must at all events represent John, and, from the evidence given in my letter, you will see that I may claim to represent the founder of the branch of the Dudleys in Ireland. This is for present purpose, leaving the question of whether Lord “Quondam” or one of the sons of Sir Robert Dudley founded the line in Ireland.

Thomas, son of Robert<sup>1</sup>, is placed in the pedigree as father of the “Bristol Dudleys.” There is an error in this. Thomas was, as I have shown, a younger son of Robert Dudley’s third marriage, and died unmarried. I do not know of any Bristol Dudleys. We have been connected with Bristol as a family only by my grandmother (Mary Stokes) having been born there, or near there, and by the fact that, at one time, my father resided at Bristol for some years.

Nov. 25, 1892.

MY DEAR COUSIN :

Pray accept my cordial thanks for your very kind thought and act in the gift of the most interesting volumes of the history of the Dudley family. The books have reached me at different times, and I waited to write to you (seeing the series was incomplete at first) thinking to go through these before returning them to you with my thanks for the opportunity of examining the records. The last batch, however, now received, makes a most complete set, and your letter in so kindly a spirit, saying that they were sent as a present from you, really calls for most hearty acknowledgment on my part. If I had any volumes equally interesting to you as to your family, I would gladly send them to you in return, but not having, or knowing how to obtain such, I am reduced to the altogether inadequate way of expressing my thanks by writing them! But you will, I hope, feel that I appreciate the gift and the kindly thought by which it has been suggested.

Without going, at the present time, into details connected with this history, which, indeed, would be too venturesome, at least, before I have had time to look well through the volumes and carefully examine some of the (to us) most interesting tables of descent, I may say that I have been both surprised and pleased to find the particular periods where information and data are chiefly needed have much light thrown upon them by many of the particulars given. This I see by the general run through at first, but no doubt, when going through these later, my impression will be confirmed that a wonderful amount of research and patient investigation has been condensed into the work. That there will be, almost, one may say, must be, certain imperfect proofs and many a hiatus one would gladly find satisfactorily amplified and filled in, is only saying that such a record is, as all such must prove, viz., dependent upon known facts for its bones, and necessarily resting to some extent upon the most probable inferences for its filling in. This is the difficulty about the Cromwellian period. The History, I am glad to see, arrives at the same conclusion as the belief always firmly held by those of our family who have gone before us, as to the Irish line being directly from the Elizabethan Dudleys, but it arrives at the conclusion in a somewhat different line to that which seems to me the right one. However, I must not begin at this, because, in the first place, it would be a very long subject to start upon now, and also because it is necessary to go into the accounts given in the History very carefully before saying more as to that. By the bye, coming down to later times and generations, I notice one or two errors in the tables and particulars quoted as collected and drawn out by some member of the family in modern times. The first marriage given of my grandfather is not correct* — and I do not feel sure that my great-grandfather is placed in his right position. My cousin, Philip Sidney Dudley, appears in that table to be the representative of the Clonmel Dudleys. This is not so. I unworthily represent them. P. S. D. is a younger son of my uncle William, who was a younger brother of my father. The youngest of my father's brothers was George Dudley, whose only son (my first cousin) Howard Dudley, was the author, in very young days, of the little book you allude to, "Juvenile Researches," a curious little evidence of youthful enterprise! I also have a copy presented since school days, and one of a rather larger book he afterwards produced, a "History of Horsham and its Vicinity." Howard died many years since. We had always kept up intercourse, and he was my co-trustee under the will of my aunt, Elizabeth Dudley. His elder sister is also deceased, but the other sister, the sole surviving child of George (youngest of my father's brothers), is Mrs. Leathley, the mother of Dudley Leathley whom you saw, and who, I may in passing say, knows about as little of the family enrolements and genealogy as it is conveniently possible for any one to know. Nevertheless, he is a very good fellow, which may help to show that goodness and genealogic enthusiasm are not synonymous terms.

I have been running on so as to these matters that you will be, I imagine, tired enough of them. So I turn to other subjects of your letter. . . .

LETTERS OF PERCIVAL SMITH DUDLEY.

NEWFIELD, N. Y., JAN. 31, 1898.

Yours of 27th is at hand, and in reply would say I do not know certainly about our family farther than that grandfather Wm. Dudley emigrated to this country very soon after the revolution. He left two maiden sisters to care for his home until he should return, which he never did. The name of the place was Pontopool or Bristol. As to brothers I do not know how many, but I once heard one came to this country and froze to death, somewhere near Albany. Grandfather first settled in Morris-town. N. J., and came from there to Lansing, and thence to Ithaca, this county. My father's name was George, and he had five brothers, William, Lewis, Abram, Ward and Benjamin. William had no sons, but had two daughters; one married to a Clark, the other to Mattison.

Yours truly,

P. S. DUDLEY.

NEWFIELD, N. Y., April 23, 1898.

Yours of 20th is at hand, in which you wish to know the name of my grandfather's wife before marriage. I answer, I was a small boy when she died and I don't remember of ever hearing it, but I have heard the name of Bridget, and whether that was her given name or one of Wm.'s sisters in Wales I don't know. My grandfather sold his West hill farm when I was a small boy, to William and Abram Dudley. William at that time lived in Wayne County, near Clyde, and, as I had heard, uncle William was to take care of grandfather his lifetime. Uncle Ethan Angell lived about one mile from uncle William's, and grandfather, as I understood, was at uncle Ethan's much of the time, and I don't know but he died there. Susan Dudley Clark of Excelsior, Minn., William D. Angell of Odell, Ill., and Elizabeth Supplee of Chicago, are about my age, and they, being where grandfather was, ought to know, if any one does, what grandmother's name was before marriage. But as I have written before, you may possibly learn something from Percy or Parvis Kilborn, of Mecklenburg, Schuyler Co., N. Y. Their mother was Harriett Goldsmith, and she the daughter of Sally Dudley. After grandmother's death I think she kept house for grandfather a number of years on the farm, and it is possible she took the old bible; if so, it must be with the Kilborn boys.

You write me I gave you the deaths of Frank, Eseck and Sophia, and asked if they were Martha's children by Angell. You must have got this from some other person. I know nothing about the names except Frank. Uncle Ward had a daughter named Frances, who married a Hinman. She died several years ago. No, grandfather never had but one wife. If you succeed in finding out grandmother's name before marriage, I wish you would inform me. I hope Mrs. Matilda Norton can help you out in many of your inquiries. I suppose you got her address from Mrs. Saunders. Yours,

P. S. DUDLEY.

BROTHER THOMAS :

I called on Hetty yesterday and we filled up the record as near as we could. You wish to know whether we have heard from any of our uncles or their families. We have not heard anything from any of them for a long time. I gave Hetty the money, and she wish<sup>t</sup> me to say to you that she was very thankful to you for the favor. She is quite blind, and her mind is somewhat impaired. She is in her eighty-third year.

I am now doctoring with a Dr. Gregg of N. Y., since the middle of May. I cannot say as I have been benefited at all as yet. I shall continue with his medicine during the summer. We have spent the most of our time this summer on the farm so I could have the use of soft spring water which he thought would be beneficial. This Kidney complaint is terrible, it assumes so many different forms ; with me at present, being regular Diabetis. We are not keeping house regularly this summer. Albert and Jane are now gone to N. Y., and will visit Lizzy (who is in Connecticut at school) before they return. Our friends are usually well except James Fluent, son of Rufus, who was wounded by a shell before Petersburg ; he is in a sad condition. He was struck in the left shoulder ; his surgeon says his shoulder blade is cracked and his spine affected. He is with his mother, now, home on furlow.

Love to all the friends.

Yours truly,

JOHN DUDLEY.

BATH, 18th July, '59.

BROTHER THOMAS :

I rec'd your letter asking for information respecting Mrs. Norris, a widow lady of Brooklyn. She is not father's sister as you seem to think, but his niece ; her name when a girl, if I am not mistaken, was Mary Haines, whose mother was father's sister ; she was raised but a little way from uncle Steve's, where we put up when moving to this country, the place you speak of. I have been talking with Moses ; & he thinks he was at her house with Lois and Betsey, but his recollection is very indistinct. I recollect well, about fifty years ago, I should think, of staying at Mr. Thomas Norris', he then living at Waterville, Me. Father and mother went over there from Bangor to make a general visit and took me along for waiter. I called on sister Hetty, but she was not at home. If it is the person I think it is, she is the widow of Mr. Thomas Norris of Maine. She is our own cousin and not aunt. She was one of a large family and a very intelligent, smart woman when young. We heard, I think, before father died, that Mr. Norris lived in N. Y., but we never got any correct information from them. If you find that this is the family give my respects to her, & tell her I recollect her well; I distinctly remember what her particular business was at that time when we visited her at Waterville.

We are all well. Love to all the friends.

JOHN DUDLEY.

You request me to give you the names of father's brothers: the oldest Daniel, Micajah, Eliphalet, James, Moses; aunts Haines and Stevens, I disremember their first names. He had a half sister Lydia Ingraham. I think they are all dead. (See page 57 this Vol.)

JOHN WOODBRIDGE-FENNO.

(See his genealogy on page 71 ante.)

[From a Boston newspaper.]

We were pained to read the following announcement in Tuesday's Boston papers:—

John W. Fenno, Esq., formerly of the firms of Dana, Fenno & Henshaw, and of Harnden & Co., and until within a short time keeper of records at the Boston Custom House, died on last Monday at the Massachusetts General Hospital, aged 70." Mr. Fenno was born in Salem, Mass., July 30, 1792. After serving as clerk for seven or eight years in the old Commercial Bank, became a broker there, his great financial capacities, integrity, far sightedness, public spirit and personal enterprise, making him the leading broker there, where, in his sphere, for a long time he transacted heavy business operations for the Peabodys, Pickerings, Brookses, and other chief shipping merchants of that place engaged in the East India and other foreign trade. Subsequently he came to Boston, and at once took a prominent rank among our most useful citizens. The mercantile and commercial world of Boston and the sister cities well know by what brilliant abilities and by what unblemished course he advanced to fortune here, being worth at one time half a million of dollars. To him more than any other man, we are indebted for the Merchants' Exchange in State street, as through his representations the distinguished firm of which he was a partner purchased the valuable land upon which it is built, that it might be secured to the citizens for its present important purposes, instead of ministering merely to private ends. The land was fenced in; but the delay in purchasing it caused the other members of the firm to grow uneasy at holding such a large property, unavailable for an indefinite period, and so, at this juncture, Mr. Fenno assumed the responsibility solely, and held the land thus for two years, entirely animated by a desire to benefit the citizens. At the end of this long interval, the property was sold to the highest bidder at a loss of about $65,000. Mr. Fenno has been a pioneer in numerous other public enterprises, his forecast suggesting them and his abilities, influence and abundant means admirably conjoining in carrying them out. To him we are indebted for that great and successful movement which made East Boston what it is, a populous island and the great workshop of the metropolis. Mr. Fenno was the foremost man of the company which did so much to place East Boston in the way to fulfill the purposes which her natural position indicated, and to his efforts the existence of the first ferry is owing, and also the building of the Cunard wharf. Our leading merchants will coincide with us in according great credit to Mr. Fenno for his powerful and unselfish exertions at that time. It may be mentioned as an illustration of the substantiality of Dana, Fenno & Henshaw, that they furnished great and vital aid to the Suffolk and other banks in Boston, standing firm, amid the disastrous financial crisis of 1837, when many an old and honored banking institution and mercantile house was crushed beneath the monetary pressure. Among other great enterprises with which he had become connected was the Grand Junction Railway, and he subsequently projected that memorable and mighty international jubilee in Boston, in 1851, when Lord Elgin visited the city to join in celebrating the close friendly and profitable union between the States and the Provinces. The good actions of Mr. Fenno in the days of his prosperity, should at least be remembered. What he did when he had the means is still operating beneficially in Boston, though we regret to say that he died a poor man. Mr. Fenno was a kind hearted and in his palmy days a very benevolent man. He took a great interest in Father Taylor's ministrations, and his purse many times proved his sincerity for the sailor. Meeting Father Taylor a short time since, and inquiring in relation to Mr. Fenno's health, the old preacher replied, "John W. Fenno is one of God's noblemen."

The edict from Collector Austin, announcing the removal from his office on the first of the present month, was too much for him; he died broken hearted.

His remains were buried from Bedford street church on Wednesday, from whence they were removed to Salem, Mass., and placed in the family tomb. His wife and family reside in Lawrence, Mass.

OBITUARY.

(From Lawrence (Mass.) Sentinel, Friday, August 3, 1888.)

Mr. Dana Grafton Fenno, who died in Westborough, Mass., the 29th ult., of water on the brain, was born in Salem, Mass.,

Feb. 5th, 1827, but went to Boston early in life, and there served for a time as clerk with E. F. Newhall & Co., and assistant at the Merchants' Exchange Reading Room. In 1849 he sailed for San Francisco, and during his stay there was for two years a deputy sheriff. Afterwards, when in Chicago, he helped organize the original Ellsworth Chicago Zouaves. And at the breaking out of the war, being then in New York, with the Continental Insurance Company, he promptly enlisted, serving through the long struggle and earning the rank of Brevet First Lieutenant. Since then he had been in business in Boston and New York, with the New York Life Insurance Company. His father was John W. His sister, the only survivor of the family, is Mrs. John C. Dow of this city. Mr. Fenno was at New Orleans with Banks, and in the valley with Sheridan.

I have a very extensive biography of Mr. Grafton Fenno and his wife, who was Miss Eliza Ann Brooks. He was a gentleman who had travelled much and had enthusiastic friends in many parts of this country and other parts of the world. He was an accomplished accountant and business man, a brave veteran of the great civil war and a high-toned gentleman of fine presence, as may be inferred from his portrait in this book. Many flattering notices might be selected from the hundreds that have come to hand. He served all through the late war, enlisting April 20, 1861, in the New York 71st Regiment, State Militia, and was a member of Co. D, 165th Regiment, N. Y. Volunteers, known as the 2nd Battalion Duryea Zouaves. He was also a member of Co. D, 3rd Massachusetts Regiment of Volunteer Cavalry, Col. F. G. Pope; also a member of the New York State National Guards. At the expiration of service as Quartermaster-Sergeant, he was mustered out Sept. 28, 1865, being then a first Lieutenant.

He was educated in Paris, France, having among his school-mates two brothers or cousins of Bartholdi, the famous sculptor.

Mr. Fenno was a member of the Bunker Hill Monument Association, also a Free Mason and Odd Fellow.

His wife was Miss Eliza Ann<sup>7</sup> Brooks (Walter<sup>6</sup>, Capt. Leonard<sup>5</sup>, Capt. William<sup>4</sup>, Nathan<sup>3</sup>, John<sup>2</sup>, Henry<sup>1</sup>), born Feb. 5, 1843, at Milford, Hillsborough County, N. H. She was married to Mr. Dana Grafton Fenno, Dec. 16, 1868, in Boston, Mass., by Rev. Baron Stow. Her mother's name was Martha Jane<sup>7</sup> Moulton (Joseph<sup>6</sup>, Cutting<sup>5</sup>, Samuel<sup>4</sup>, Joseph<sup>3</sup>, William<sup>2</sup>, William<sup>1</sup>). These were noted families in New Hampshire. Mrs. Fenno resides in Lynn, Mass., and receives a pension on account of her noble and brave husband's services in the late war for union. She is much interested in family history and has supplied these records.

DWIGHT DUDLEY, M. D.

(See page 68, Supplement.)

Dr. Dwight Dudley was born in Maine, N. Y., Oct. 28th, 1841, and spent his early days on a farm which his grandfather bought and improved when the country was new. His grandfather was born on the place now owned by Anson Phelps Stokes, near Lenox, Mass., and was a descendant of William Dudley, who came from England to Guilford, Conn., in 1639. Dr. Dudley received a classical education at Binghamton, N. Y., and Groton Academy. He took a course of Medical study at Geneva, N. Y., and June 12th, 1862, was appointed a Medical Cadet, U. S. A., serving as such, and acting Ass't Surgeon, U. S. A., until the close of the war. When he reached Washington he found there was no Board in session for the examination of applicants for the appointment, but his member of Congress obtained from Secretary of War Stanton an order asking Surgeon-General Hammond to convene a special board. General Hammond acted as chairman of the Board, and he was examined and assigned to duty at once. His first year service was in the General Hospitals, at Winchester, Va., Harper's Ferry, Va., and Frederick, Md. He was in the latter place when General Lee first invaded Maryland, and remained there while the confederates occupied the city. He met and talked with General J. E. B. Stuart, and other noted confederate officers. His second year service was in New York city, where he assisted Prof. J. C. Dalton in the reception and transportation of sick and wounded soldiers, during which time he graduated from the College of Physicians and Surgeons, the Medical Department of Columbia University. His last year service was at Elmira, N. Y., where he was surgeon in charge of wards No. 1 and 2 in the General Hospital, and when the war closed Dr. Dudley had been for some months surgeon in charge of the receiving barracks, and examining surgeon for all recruits and drafted men from the western part of the state. Soon after the war he went to Europe, and after his return settled in his native place, where he has since remained in the continuous practice of his profession. He was married to Miss Alice Haskins in 1884, and they have two daughters and two sons.

"Dr. Dudley has gained a high reputation as a successful practitioner, and has achieved an eminent position among the medical fraternity of the state. He is medical examiner for many secret societies, President of the Binghamton Board of U. S. Pension Examiners, Ex-President of the Broome County Medical Society, member of the New York State Medical Association, member of the American Medical Association, etc. He is always interested in local, state and national politics, serving on many important committees, and is now one of the executive officers of the Republican County committee.

"Dr. Dudley is one of those men who make their presence felt in any community, and honored and esteemed as an upright gentleman and an influential citizen."—Union News.
