Introduction.

A SHORT HISTORY OF THE VILLAGE OF EASTBURN, IN THE PARISH OF KILDWICK, YORKSHIRE, ENGLAND.

Mr. Harry Speight, the well-known Yorkshire historian, supplies us with the following account of Eastburn in Airedale, Yorkshire, whence the American family of Eastburn is descended.

Eastburn is an ancient village situated on the high road from the city of Bradford to Skipton-in-Craven, and is distant from the former place 14 miles, and from the latter, 5 miles. With Steeton it forms a township in the ancient parish of Kildwick, a place that is mentioned in William the Conqueror's great inquest of A. D. 1083-6 as then possessing a church. With the exception of Long Preston, it is the only place in the Deanery of Craven that is mentioned in the Domesday Survey as having a church. Within the precincts of this sacred building, and within its ancient church-yard, generations of the inhabitants of this parish including many of the Eastburns have been baptized, married and interred. How long before the Norman Survey a church and burial-yard had existed at Kildwick we have no means of ascertaining, but during a recent restoration of the church many fragments of Saxon crosses have been discovered, and it is not improbable that the place had been a preaching-station where the inhabitants of the surrounding townships flocked to hear the living Word, in the early days of Christianity, and that its burial yard was formed soon after the adoption of such enclosures in England in the middle of the 8th century. Eastburn is mentioned in the same Domesday inquest as follows :

MANOR. In Esebrune Gamelbar had two carucates and two bovates of land for geld. These are declared to be in the hands of the King, but in a later part of the Survey the same two carucates, and two bovates, together, with three carucates in Steeton, and some other lands are stated to belong to Giselbert Tyson, so that between the time of the first survey in 1083 and its completion in 1086 the Manor of Eastburn had been granted to the great Norman Chief Gilbert Tyson, who was standard-bearer at the Battle of Hastings A.D. 1066. Subsequently it passed to the Vavasours, a noted Yorkshire family, who were large landowners in the district. But in 1566 it passed out of their hands, and the property of the township is now held by many owners.

This Eastburn was so called because it was first colonized by the Anglo-Saxons at some period anterior to the 11th century, and the Anglo-Saxon word est means east, and burn, a stream. Burn in the sense of stream is now extinct in this part of Yorkshire, and its place is taken by the Danish "beck"—the Danes or Norsemen having over-run the district and finally established themselves in this Aire valley during the Viking raids in the 9th and 10th centuries. All streams in this part of Yorkshire are still called becks, and the clearings which the Vikings made for their settlements are called "Thwaites." An old village between Bingley and Keighley is called Thwaites, and within the Parish of Bingley is another place, Micklethwaite ; i. e. the great clearing.

Eastburn gave name to a family which has resided in the neighborhood and in the adjoining parishes of Bingley and Keighley for many centuries and has sent out branches which have settled in various parts of the world. Their names are found in early charters and and as local landowners down to our time. They were originally no doubt vassals of the Norman Tyson, who in 1095 was deprived of his Barony, and Eastburn with other estates went to the family of Vesci, whose heiress married John, Lord Clifford proprietor of the extensive Barony of Skipton-in-Craven, and whose armorial insignia or, a cross sable may be seen in the courtyard of the ancient castle of that town.

The family of Eastburn does not appear to have been enfranchised at this early period, and the name is found only as witnesses to local grants and in other documents of the time. The name does not occur in the Great Rolls of the Exchequer, or Pipe Rolls as they are commonly called, for Henry I and Henry II (A. D. 1100–1189,) but in an undated charter of King Richard I or John(ca. 1200) respecting a grant of land in Helvesthorp (parish of Calverley near Leeds,) one of the witnesses is Simon de Eastburn. Again in a charter of Thomas de Lungevilers, dated at Wakefield April 25th, 1300, concerning lands in Glusburn in Ayredale (a township adjoining Eastburn) among the witnesses is Alex. de Eastburn. No doubt he was father of the Thomas de Eastburn who appears among the vicars of Kildwick as Thomas fil Alex. de Eastburn instituted in 1326.

In the Poll Tax for Steeton of 2nd Richard II (1378) occur the names of Lawrence de Estburn and wife, John de Estburn and wife, each taxed at 4d. In the year 1583 when George, the spendthrift Earl of Cumberland, lord of the Manor of Skipton-in-Craven, held the Manor of Steeton with Eastburn, among the tenants with their holdings, were Robert Eastburn in Steeton, who paid 4d a year rent and heriot, that is, every ten years' end one whole year's rent, besides the accustomed rent. Likewise at the death of the tenant, his best goods and chattels fell to the lord of the Manor. This was partly a consequence of the easy terms on which the tenants held their lands and tenements by copy of Court Roll. In Eastburn at the same time were John Eastburn, who paid an annual rent of 17 shillings and 1 heriot for lands and tenements, and likewise in Eastburn was Anthony Eastburn who paid 1 shilling yearly rent and heriot. Shortly after this time the Eastburn and Steeton estates were sold and eventually divided up into various ownerships, but the exact time when the Eastburn family came to own land in the neighborhood is not very clear. A William Eastburn purchased an estate at Sutton Crag, not far from Eastburn in Airedale, in 1707, for 505 £. But before this time some of the family had joined the Society of Friends, and one branch went to America. From the Bingley Registers I gather that in 1683 John Eastburn, Richard Shackleton and about a score others, were excommunicated. This John Eastburn was the pioneer of this family in Pennsylvania, and Richard Shackleton was the first of the Harden family to join the Society of Friends, as related in my History of Bingley.

Benjamin Eastburn, oldest son of Robert and Sarah Preston Eastburn, was born in England, 7-15, 1695. He came to Philadelphia with his parents in 1713, when he was 18 years of age. He married Ann Thomas at Abington Meeting in 1722. No children.

Benjamin Eastburn and wife removed their certificate from Abington to Radnor Monthly Meeting, 5-26, 1725. They lived at Radnor nearly ten years, removing to Philadelphia 12-13, 1734. Benjamin Eastburn was appointed Surveyor General of the Province of Pennsylvania by the Proprietaries, and was commissioned 10-29, 1733. He served in this office eight years, until his death in 1741. He was the surveyor at the time of the great walking purchase of land from the Indians, in 1737. The History of Bucks County in describing the start of this walk says: "The prominent figures of the Company besides the chosen pedestrians of the Proprietors, Edward Marshall, James Yates and Solomon Jennings, were Sheriff Timothy Smith, Benjamin Eastburn and his two deputies, Nicholas Scull, John Chapman and the nephew of James Steel, who were to run the line to the Delaware River. The start was made at sunrise from the chestnut tree near Wrightstown Meeting House on 9-19, 1737, and ended the next day at two o'clock P. M. on the north side of Pocano Mountain.

Alexander Brown and Enoch Pearson, both monuted, were the watch carriers. The distance walked was 68 miles."

Benjamin Eastburn was surveyor at the time of running the boundary line between Pennsylvania and Maryland, which is described in the Pennsylvania Archives Vol. 1, pages 611 to 615. The commission to run the line was dated May 1st, 1739. The start was made May 8th, 1739 from the west bank of the Susquehannah River (the line from Newcastle Co., Delaware to the river having been previously surveyed to the east bank) running the line due west towards the river Patowmeck, in conjunction with the Maryland Commissioners, and causing trees on and near the line to be marked and blazed in the same manner as was observed in the former line. The surveyors proceeded from day to day and extended the line to the top of the most western hill, or range of hills, called the Kit-toch-tinny hills (Blue Mountains) and distant from the place of beginning, 88 statute miles. As these hills are one of the boundaries of the lands purchased by our Honorable Proprietaries from the Indians, and as no other persons are to be permitted to settle beyond that range of hills, we judged the line to be run far enough to settle the jurisdiction of the two Provinces, and to answer all the purposes of our commission, and therefore ordered the surveyors to end there, and caused several trees to be marked with the initial letters of our Honorable Proprietaries, as is usual at the close of boundary lines.

Signed by Lawrence Growden, Benjamin Peters, Commissioners, and Benjamin Eastburn Surveyor, May 28, 1739. This report was made to the Hon. George Thomas, Governor of the Province of Pennsylvania. The distance of the first survey from the borders of New Castle Co. to the Susquehannah River was 25 miles, and from said river to the top of the Blue Mountains 88 miles, making altogether 113 miles.

Supplemented to this report the commissioners add, that "Benjamin Eastburn hath behaved with to much skill and prudence, that we are in great hopes this line will be abundantly satisfactory to the Proprietaries. We will write further particulars from Nottingham." The terminus of this line was in Cumberland Co., where the Blue Mountains enter Maryland.

That Benjamin Eastburn, the Surveyor General, was a brother of Samuel Eastburn, who removed his certificate from Abington to Buckingham in 1729, and settled upon land in Solebury which he subsequently purchased in 1734, is proven by an old letter now in the possession of Hetty Ann (Eastburn) Williams, of Buckingham. The letter reads as follows:—

PHILADELPHIA, Fifth-month 30th, 1737.

DEAR BROTHER: With salutations of love to thyself and wife and children—these are in behalf of sister Betty (Elizabeth) to desire thy company with thy wife, at her marriage on the 11th of next month (June), being next Fifth-day come a week. We are generally in health and hope thou with thy family are in the enjoyment of the same blessing. My business at present will not allow me to enlarge at this time.

Thy affectionate brother,

BENJAMIN EASTBURN.

This letter is an excellent specimen of pennmanship, is in a good state of preservation, and was directed to "Samuel Eastburn, Solebury, Bucks Co., Pennsylvania." This letter fixes the date of the marriage of Elizabeth Eastburn, youngest child of Robert and Sarah (Preston) Eastburn, to David Clark of Philadelphia, 6-11, 1737, the same year, and about three months before the survey of the walking purchase of land from the Indians.

Benjamin Eastburn died intestate in 1741. The bond of Ann Eastburn, widow and administratrix, was filed 9-8, 1741. The inventory of goods and chattels was taken 9-21, 1741, contains among other things a Reflecting Telescope, Surveying Compass, and various articles of household furniture. Benjamin Eastburn, at the time of his death, owned considerable real estate in Philadelphia, and Upper Merion, Montgomery Co., Pa.; but this, according to an old English law of primogeniture, where there are no children, descended to the next oldest brother, John Eastburn of Upper Merion. The will of Ann Thomas Eastburn, widow, was made 1-30, 1744, and probated 11-10, 1774. She survived her husband but about three years, and disposed of nothing but household goods among her nephews and nieces of the Thomas family.

CHAPTER VI.

SECOND GENERATION.

Descendants of Sarah Eastburn and Hugh Thomas.

Sarah Eastburn, the seventh child of Robert and Sarah P. Eastburn, was born in England, 12-10, 1706. She came to Philadelphia with her parents in 1713, being then about seven years old. She married Hugh Thomas of Blockley Township, Philadelphia County, under the care of Philadelphia Monthly Meeting, 9-14, 1734. They had three children.

Ann, b.

Sarah, b. after 1744.

Elizabeth, b. Died before 1763.

The names of the children of Sarah Eastburn and Hugh Thomas have been obtained from the wills of Ann Thomas, widow of Benjamin Eastburn, probated in 1744, in which legacies are bequeathed to Ann and Elizabeth Thomas, daughters of her brother, Hugh Thomas; and also from the will of Hugh Thomas, probated in 1763, in which he bequeaths legacies to his daughter, Ann Thomas, his wife Sarah Thomas, and his daughter Sarah Thomas. The deductions from these wills are that the daughter, Elizabeth Thomas, died before her father in 1763, and that the youngest daughter, Sarah Thomas, was born after the death of her Aunt Ann E. Thomas in 1744.

Sarah Eastburn Thomas survived her husband.

Hugh Thomas died in 1763.

No further account has been ascertained.

CHAPTER IX.

The Eastburns of Southampton.

John Eastburn brought a certificate to Middletown Monthly Meeting of the Society of Friends, Bucks County, Pennsylvania, from the Monthly Meeting of Bradley, Yorkshire, Old England, dated Fifth-month 31st, 1684, as follows: "These may certify whom it may concern that upon due search and inquiry made concerning John Eastburn within the parish of Bingley and County of York, concerning his relation to the Truth, and upon diligent inquiry we find nothing but clearness upon all accounts touching debts and all other concerns. Therefore, we recommend him to the Godly care of Friends among whom he may come, to assist him by their advise as he may have occasion." Signed by and on behalf of the Monthly Meeting at Bradley, in the County of York, in Old England the 31st day of Fifth-month, 1684 by us—John Hird, Joshua Dawson, Stephen Wade, George Myers, William Smith, Robert Hudson, John Parker, John Hall, Nathan Lupton, Jeremiah Briggs, George Gill, Richard Hardacre, William Clayton, Jonas Smith, Thomas Taylor, Chris. CHAPTER X.

Bishop Manton Eastburn.

James Eastburn came from England with his family and settled in New York in 1803. He had two sons.

James Wallis Eastburn, born in London, England, 9-26, 1797.

Manton Eastburn, born in Leeds, England, 2-9, 1801.

Both sons graduated from Columbia College, New York City and become Episcopal ministers.

James Wallis Eastburn was a poet, and a voluminous writer on religious subjects. At the age of eighteen years he wrote the hymn beginning, "Oh Holy, Holy Lord." He died 12-2, 1819, aged 22 years.

Manton Eastburn became an eminent Episcopal Minister and Bishop. He died in Boston, 9-11, 1872, aged 71 years. There is no account of his marriage, and as he left all his property to the institutions of the Episcopal Church, the inference is he left no heirs.

The following notice of him copied from the "Episcopate in America," by William Stevens Perry appeared in 1895. The Right Reverend Manton Eastburn, S. F. D. & L. L. D., the Co-adjutor and successor in Massachusetts of the Venerable Griswold was born in Leeds, England, 2-9, 1801. Brought by his father to the United States in childhood, he entered Columbia College in his thirteenth year, and graduated in 1817. Pursuing his studies for orders at the general Theological Seminary, he completed his course in 1821; he was admitted to deacons' orders by Hobart in St. Johns Church May 16, 1822, and the same Bishop advanced him to the Priesthood November 13, 1825.

For the first five years of his ministry, Eastburn was assistant minister of Christ's Church, New York City. In 1827 he became rector of the Church of the Ascension in the same city. In 1835 he received the Doctorate in Divinity from Columbia, and in 1870 Griswold College, Davenport, Iowa, conferred upon him the Doctorate of Laws. In 1838 he declined an election to the Episcopate of Maryland. He was consecrated Bishop Co-adjutor to Griswold in Trinity Church, Boston, December 29th 1842, by the presiding Bishop, assisted by Bishop Brownell, B. Y. Onderdonk, and De Lancey. On the death of the Bishop of the Eastern Diocese, Eastburn became the Bishop of Massachusetts. He died in Boston September 12, 1872, and was buried at Dedham, Massachusetts, the third Bishop of Massachusetts. He was an excellent classical scholar, a theologian, a man of culture, strongly partisan in his prejudices and prepossessions; "an Evangelical of the Evangelicals," fearless in the defense of his views, and intolerant of contradiction or opposition, his episcopate was not free from strife. He was a critical admirer of "our inestimable liturgy," even contending with Herbert as to the "prayers of our mother, the Church of England," that "there are no prayers like hers." His strong insistence upon Evangelical principles brought him into collision with "High Churchmen;" but men of all shades of opinion learned to appreciate and admire the honesty and truthfulness of one who consistently held through life to the principles that had made his pastorate memorable, and that gave to the Episcopate a distinctive character that is still remembered with respect.

Among his works are the following:

Four lectures on Hebrew, Latin and English Poetry in 1828.

Two lectures on the Phillippians in 1833.

Oration on the Semi Centennial of Columbia College in 1837.

APPENDIX.

The Eastburn Family in England as Collected from Parish, Court, and other Records, by Harry Speight, Bingley, Yorkshire, England.

1216-72—The earliest record of the name of Eastburn in England is that of Simon de Estburne, a man of some note, living in the time of Henry III (1216-72). He witnessed a grant to Kirkstall Abbey, and he also appears as a witness to a charter of Adam Samson granting land in Pudsey to the Hospital of St. John of Jerusalem. He appears to have been a benefactor to the religious orders, for a charter of the time of Henry III made by William Scot of Calverley confirms to the Hospital of St. Peter of York, all the tenements which they have in the territory of Pudsey, parish of Calverley, the gift of Simon de Estburne.

1300 A. D.—The next earliest mention on record of the name of Eastburne is that of Alexander de Estburne who was a witness to a charter of Thomas de Lungevilers respecting lands in Glusburn, in Craven, 25 of April 1300.

1326 A. D.—Robert de Estburne, son of Alexander, was instituted Vicar of Kildwick Parish Church, January 1326. In a list of the vicars of this church from 1272 to 1902 he was the fifth vicar of that church in the order of succession. ~~His name is mentioned as Sir Robert Eastburn, and also as Lord Eastburn.~~

1378 A. D.—In this year Lawrence de Eastburn and wife, and John de Eastburn and wife, each paid a poll tax of 4d. This was in the time of King Richard II.

In this year also, William Eastburn and wife were living at Sutton, near Eastburn, in the time of Richard II, and are among the local tax-payers involved in the levy for carrying on the war with France.

1513 A. D.—In this year in the Roll of Flodden Field, the name of William Eastburn living at Steeton, appears, also a William Eastburn living at Keighley. The relationship of the two is not known.

1513—The battle of Flodden Field—In the days of old when England was almost continuously engaged in war the ability to bear arms was accounted the most honorable of all distinctions. The muster rolls of the stirring days of Henry VIII show that many of the Eastburns were chosen among the fighting men in Airedale and Bradfordale, and during the wars with Scotland and France they must have been in the thick of many a gallant fray. In the roll call for the great battle of “Flodden Field,” one of the most famous and consequential events in English history, we find the names of several of the Eastburn family. The battle was fought in September of the year 1513, when the Scots were utterly routed, their gallant King James IV, his able son, twelve Earls and fifteen Lords and heads of clans, together with 10,000 were counted among the Scottish dead on that terrible day of carnage. The leader of the English army was the brave Earl of Surrey, and he was aided by many a Yorkshire noble of proud pedigree and war like heritage. Among the latter was the good Lord Clifford, proprietor of the Barony of Skipton in Craven. He is known as the “Shepherd Lord,” and spent most of his time in the seclusion of his favorite forest home called Bardentower, now a picturesque ruin in the beautiful woods of Bolton Priory in upper Wharfedale. The household books of Henry Lord Clifford shews that among the three hundred and odd stout bearded yeomen from the Cravendales who were picked by Lord Clifford to engage in the great conflict were William Eastburn, of Keighley and William Eastburn, of Steeton; both of whom carried a bille or martial hatchet to use in deadly encounter with the foe. May we hope that they both returned to the home of their upbringing and left to tell the story of their exploit to their childrens children.

The old Friends’ Meeting House at Keighley with its simple burial ground attached, where some of the early Eastburns lie buried, with not a stone or sign to indicate the site of interment, still stands a silent, yet living monitor of the fluctuating hopes and aspirations of human kind. Its time stained walls stand now in a somewhat dingy and populous portion of this old work-a-day town, thickly hemmed in with other buildings and surrounded by miles of noisy stone streets. But in former times, and especially if we carry our thoughts back to the days of the Norman Barons, when the Lords Mill close by was in its hey-day, and tenants from far and near, clad in the picturesque costume of the period, might be seen bringing their stores of corn to grind at the "busy mill." Then it was that flowers bloomed, and wild birds sang in field and woodland hard by, where the old meeting house still keeps open door to the devoted followers of the Master.

The building was originally a homestead of the Brigg family, a noted family in the early days of Friends, and still most worthily represented in other ways, particularly by its estimable member of the Keighley division in Parliament, Mr. John Brigg of Kildwick Hall.

Mr. Thomas Brigg lived here in 1637, and it was he who evidently built the original house, and placed his initials with the above date over the entrance. He also twenty years later, willingly set apart a plot of ground adjoining his house, that members of the newly formed community, of which he was a devoted member, might find there a sure and last resting place. His own brother, William Brigg, was the first to be interred within the sacred enclosure and confidently may we picture the simple assembly gathering round the first grave of their lost friend and brother, on a long summer day in the far off year of 1658.

This was indeed a time of anxiety to the Friends, while persecution was at its bitterest, and many were those who suffered and died for the cause they loved. Thomas Brigg himself was one of the principal sufferers, and his son also named Thomas, was one among many others who were thrown into prison at York for refusing allegiance to the established church.

Under the Toleration Act of 1689 licences were obtained by the Friends to hold meetings in various towns and houses, and thus it came about that in the year 1690, when Thomas Brigg died, the house and burial ground at Keighley were conveyed to Trustees to be devoted to the service of the Friends forever. But there is an ebb and tide in the affairs of men. The society about Keighley has almost dwindled away; yet there are still a few attached members of this old body who meet in that holy chamber to worship God in their own quiet way, as their fathers and mothers did in the days long sped. The little burial yard, which has served its purpose from that memorable year of 1658 when the great Protector of England himself was called to his last account, until the year 1848 when the last interment took place, must have many associations with generations of human lives, locally, as well as to those who of necessity, or fortune has driven into far off land. But let the sleepers lie unmemorialled, though they be not forgotten.

“Take them, O great Eternity
Our little life is but a gust
That bends the branches of thy tree
And trails its branches in the dust.”

The Friends have another old burial place at Calverley Hill in the parish of Keighley where at least two of the Eastburns are buried. The register of the society begins with the year 1654, and there is an unbroken record of births, marriages and deaths up to about 1760, together with an account of the sufferings and imprisonment the Friends endured. The register contains 148 births, 148 marriages and 171 deaths. There are also three old minuite books, the first entry being of the Skipton Preparative Meeting (in which Keighley was then included) and dated the 20th day of 11th mo., 1751, and the volume ends with an entry at the same meeting 10th day of 3rd mo., 1799. There are no references to the Eastburns in any of these minuite books, and neither in the Registers after 1703, so that it would appear the family had either left the neighborhood or had ceased their connection with the society locally after that time.

MARRIAGES.

1679, 11-11—Thomas Eastburne of Thwaites, in Keighley Parish (Clothier) and Sarah Sugden (Spinster) of Heaton roads, in the Parish of Bradford, were married at the house of Thos. Taylor of Lairock, Parish of Keighley.

BIRTHS.

1661, 10-26—Elizabeth Eastburne daughter of John Eastburne.

BURIALS.

1683, 10-15—Ann Eastburne, wife of John Eastburne, was buried on the 17th at Thwaites near Keighley.

1690, 4-16—John Eastburn of Thwaites, near Keighley was buried.

1703, 12-11—Grace Eastburne, daughter of Thomas Eastburne, buried on the 13th at the desire of her father in the Friends' burying place near Keighley.

1703, 12-15—Thomas Eastburne aforesaid, buried in Friends' burying place at the desire of his son.

The Registers of Keighley are continued to 1760, and of York to the present time, but there are no entries of Eastburn after 1703.

NOTE—Ann Eastburne who was buried in 1683, and John Eastburne who was buried in 1690 are believed to have been the parents of Robert Eastburne who came to America in 1713. This John Eastburne and his wife Ann Eastburne are believed to be the same, who in the Kildwick parish records were married January 1st 1651, and by the same records had children baptized.

Jonas Eastburne, baptized August 31st 1656.

John Eastburne, baptized October 7th, 1659. Also a daughter,

Elizabeth Eastburne, born 10-26, 1661. (Friends' Records.)

These dates seem to indicate the time when John Eastburne and his wife joined the Society of Friends. He is also believed to be the John Eastburne who was imprisoned in 1683, in which year his wife Ann died, while he lived until 1690, three years after his release from prison.

The following relates to the persecutions of Friends in the 17th century. Adam Bell, Abraham Bell, John Drake, Sr., John Drake, Jr., Jonas Bottomley, Richard Shackleton, John Milner and John Eastburn were all taken by a Capias warrant and brought to the sessions at Wakefield and refusing to swear, were all committed prisoners to York Castle by Jo. Kay, Jo. Peebles and Jasper Blytheman and remained three years and eight months, when they were released by virtue of a warrant given forth at White Hall by King James the Second on the 15th day of First-month, 1686.

Keighley Register.

The Society of Friends in Yorkshire, 1640 to 1680.

This is a difficult period as it embraces the era of the great Civil War between King Charles and his parliament when many of the Parish Registers were ill kept or destroyed. It is not possible to fix the year when the first Quarterly Meeting of Friends was established, or even to say when the Monthly Meetings came into existence. There are no Minutes of what took place in 1665, (the year of the great plague,) but in that year while George Fox was in Scarborough Castle, some central body of Friends must have divided Yorkshire into five Monthly Meetings. These were shortly afterwards increased to seven, and in 1669 to fourteen, viz : Balby, York, Thwist, Malton, Pontefract, Brighouse, Knaveborough, Settle, Richmond, Quisborough, Scarborough, Kelk, Owstwick and Houghton. In the year 1653 one thousand English Friends were reported to be in prison. The number who died in captivity was considerable. There is a record in 1664 of four Friends committed to prison for not attending church, three of whom died within the next seven years. In 1682 a list is given of 85 imprisoned for refusing to swear, six of these died before 1684. The earliest Minutes of the Quarterly Meeting now existing are those of 1669. Throughout the reign of Charles 2nd, 1660, 1685 the most of the Yorkshire meetings for worship were held in private houses, 70 to 100 in all. In the years immediately preceding the colonization of Pennsylvania there were more than four marriages solemnized in Yorkshire every five weeks, or 44 per annum by the Friends' ceremonial. These indications point to some five or six thousand persons as associated with Friends in Yorkshire in latter years of the reign of Charles II., J. H. Rowntree, Quarterly Meeting of Friends' Records.

The Eastburns of Leeds, Yorkshire.

With reference to the accompanying abstracts from the Leeds Registers, the Eastburns of this parish appear to have been a family of some standing for a long time after the Reformation. But their name is not found in the Leeds registers after 1692, which seems to be accounted for by the fact that Benjamin Eastburn (born 1695), John Eastburn (born 1697), Samuel Eastburn (born 1702), Joseph Eastburn (born 1704), Robert Eastburn (born 1710), together with other members of the Leeds family emigrated to America in 1713. Several of the family left Wills which are in the Registry at the old Cathedral City of York, in Yorkshire. In the ancient register of St. Michael-le-Belfry, York (well known for the entry it contains of the baptism of the notorious Gunpowder Conspirator Guy Fawkes) under date of January 28, 1719-20, Michael, son of Henry Eastburne, was baptized. This Michael Easburne was a grocer and apothecary in the city, having good business relations, and he was made a Freeman of the city upon attaining his majority in 1641, and in 1745 he was appointed a Chamberlain of the City. In that year John Read Esquire, was Mayor. In 1733 Henry Eastburn had occupied a similar position of Chamberlain. This Freemans Roll of the City of York dates from 1272, but Michael Eastburn was the first of the family to be thus enfranchised as recounted above. In ancient times it was not unusual for the Crown to make grants of exemption from certain lots to the inhabitants of important boroughs in the Kingdom, and this seems to have been the case in Leeds. But in later times this claim to such privileges was often and keenly contested.* Thus in 1594 Rowland Eastburne was at the head of a body of Leeds men who claimed exemption from all tolls, pontage, murage, etc., throughout England, and the same Rowland Eastburne and company presented a petition against one Edward Moore, of Lancaster, for obstructing and demanding toll for the passage of goods over Colne Bridge. The suit was prosecuted with considerable vigor, and a year or two later there was another action in which James Myhues, of Leeds, opposed the Mayor, Commonalty and Citizens of London and John Russell. Leeds at this time was a prosperous and populous market town, engaged in the manufacturing of woolen cloths, and in 1626 the borough received a charter of incorporation. The Eastburns were prominent trade people about Leeds at this time, and subsequently settled at York, of which ancient city we find that one William Eastburn was elected a Freeman in the year 1662.
