PREFACE.

A Compiler of a Genealogy sometimes gives a few reasons why he engaged in such an undertaking. Not having as good eyesight as people in general, we participate in but few of the parties for pleasure, but have occupied some of our leisure hours in historical and genealogical researches. We had heard persons remark that they wished for a record of their ancestors, in a continuous line to their first settling in the country. We had a desire for some knowledge of our ancestors, and felt that the information now collected would gratify, not only those now upon the stage but generations yet to come.

Many years ago we commenced to note down facts, such as marriages, deaths, and other items relating to this family, as we found them in newspapers and books.

Some 30 years ago we visited Salem, Marblehead and Danvers, where the Feltons first settled on arriving in America, and where most of the first three generations lived and were buried.

In 1876, being in failing health, we partly gave up farming, and extended our researches to other parts of the state (even to Philadelphia, at the time of the centennial exhibition,) and the next year, 1877, we brought out the Felton Family pamphlet of 19 pages, giving some account of 40 to 50 families that lived before this century. Had 70 copies printed and disposed of them in nine months, and not enough to supply the demand. This new and enlarged edition gives some account of upwards of 300 families, and is brought down nearly to the present time, 1886.

CYRUS FELTON.

INTRODUCTION.

NATHANIEL FELTON was the venerable patriarch of the family in Massachusetts, whose descendants are compiled in this genealogy.

Nathaniel Felton came to Salem in 1633, when 17 years of age; he made a voyage to England in 1634, and returned to Salem in 1635; the next year, 1636, had 20 acres given to him.

In 1643, he sold to William Brown Sen., "the Lott south-east of Rev. Mr. Skelton's Lott, with an old house upon it." About 1645, he settled near Felton Hill, Salem, the part afterwards called Danvers,—now Peabody. He said in 1700, he had lived there 55 years. Nathaniel Felton was a jurymen in 1655, grand jurymen in 1676, 1679 and 1683; a constable in 1657. He was chosen Ensign in 1679, and Lieut. 1681. He became a member of the church in 1648, and his oldest two children were baptized that year.

He was a witness to many wills, deeds, agreements, etc. Rev. Dr. Felt, author of annals of Salem, says, "He was a man of good faith and judgment. He was frequently called to give his testimony about litigated estates." In 1674, he was overseer of the estate of his deceased brother-in-law, John Marsh. In 1676, he was overseer and appraiser of the estate of his brother-in-law, Christopher Waller. In 1684, he was overseer and appraiser of Dr. Zerubbabel Endicott's estate, son of the then Gov. John Endicott.

Nathaniel Felton was overseer of several other estates. Beside those named above, he was an appraiser of the following estates: Rebecca Bacon in 1655; Ann Fuller in 1662; Wm. Cantlebury in 1663; Henry Bullock in 1664; Thos. James in 1666; Ralph Tompkins in 1666; Richard Bishop in 1675; Henry Coleborne in 1676; Isaac Goodale in 1679; Isaac Gould in 1679; John Tompkins Sen. in 1681; Edward Bridges in 1682; Thomas Goldthwaite in 1683; John Bowden in 1683; Edward Beacham in 1684; Thomas Rix in 1685; Wm. Babb in 1691; probably this list is not complete.

At the pretended trial of John Proctor, who was executed in the year of the witchcraft delusion, 1692, Nathaniel Felton and the neighbors living near the bounds of Salem Village presented the following paper, written by Nathaniel Felton the first signer. "We, whose names are underwritten, having several years known John Proctor and his wife, do testify that we never heard or understood that they were ever suspected to be guilty of the crime now charged upon them: and several of us, being their near neighbors, do testify that, to our apprehension, they lived Christian-like in their family, and were ever ready to help such as stood in need of their help."

In the original paper, there were some, perhaps many names cut off by scissors, says C. W. Upham's History of Witchcraft. Below are the twenty names found on the paper.

Nathaniel Felton Sen., and Mary Felton, his wife.

Samuel Marsh, and Priscilla Marsh, his wife.

James Houlton, and Ruth Houlton, his wife.

John Felton, and Nathaniel Felton Jr.

Samuel Frayll, and Ann Frayll, his wife.

Zachariah Marsh, and Mary Marsh, his wife.

Samuel Endicott, and Hannah Endicott, his wife.

Samuel Stone, and George Locker.

Samuel Gaskill, and Revidal Gaskill, his wife.

George Smith, and Edward Gaskill.

Lieut. Nathaniel Felton was a prominent, worthy and highly respected citizen.

His deposition of April 6th, 1705, signed by his own hand, before John Higginson, Justice of the Peace, said he had been in Salem about 72 years. The same time he testified that North River in Salem was called Naumkeag by the Indians; also, concerning the site of the old Indian settlement at Naumkeag.

Nathaniel Felton married Mary Skelton, daughter of Rev. Samuel Skelton, the first minister of Salem, Mass. Mr. Skelton was a preacher in Lincolnshire, England, and being persecuted for his non-conformity, came to this country in June 1629, and was ordained as pastor, with Francis Higginson as teacher, at Salem, Mass., on the sixth of August 1629.

In August 1879, 250 years afterwards, the two hundred and fiftieth anniversary of the First Church in Salem, Mass., the oldest church in America, was celebrated in that ancient town, incorporated, in 1836, a city. Mr. Higginson died the next year after he arrived in America, in August 1630, in the 43d year of his age.

The Colonial authorities granted to Rev. Mr. Skelton, for his sacrifice in leaving Old England, about 200 acres then in Salem, and it was called "Skelton Neck," then New Mills, now Danversport.

Rev. Samuel Skelton's wife died Mar. 15th, 1631, leaving one son and three daughters; two of them were born in England, and two in America. Winthrop's History of Massachusetts, says, Mrs. Skelton "was a goodly and helpful woman; she lived desired and died lamented, and well deserves to be honorably remembered." Rev. Mr. Skelton died three years afterwards, August 2d, 1634.

Their children were Mary Skelton, who married Nathaniel Felton Sen.; she died May, 8th 1701, aged 75 or more years. They lived husband and wife 56 or more years. Lieut. Nathaniel Felton died 4 years afterwards, July 30th, 1705, aged 90 years.

Susannah Skelton, a daughter of Rev. Mr. Skelton, was the second wife of John Marsh. They had several children. Mr. Marsh's estate was settled in 1674; the widow Susannah Marsh married second, Thomas Rix, whose estate was settled in 1685.

Elizabeth Skelton, another daughter of Mr. Skelton, married Robert Sanford of Boston, where they lived and had several children.

Samuel Skelton Jr., in 1649, supposed then of age, sold his part of "Skelton Neck" to John Porter. A few years afterwards, his three sisters sold their shares, 60 acres, to the same person.

Rev. Mr. Skelton's two immediate successors were famous preachers; Rev. Roger Williams and Rev. Hugh Peters were born in Wales in 1599, and were educated at Oxford, Eng.

The name "Skelton" was preserved in the Felton family, as a Christian name, for several generations.

BENJAMIN FELTON, a brother of Nathaniel, came to America in 1635, when he was 22 years of age. He soon afterwards took the oath of a freeman. In 1636, he had 20 acres of land granted him. In 1637, Benjamin Felton had ten acres south side of Derby's Fort. The following is found on record, dated October 1636: "Whereas Benjamin Felton enioned (enjoined) to send away Robert Scarlett for his misdemeanors etc.; but having hope of amendment he is admitted to stay." Benjamin Felton was called a farmer and turner by trade. He lived in Salem near the meeting-house, and in 1651, was chosen to take care of it. He probably had care of the house many years, for we find in "March 1673, Benjamin Felton was chosen to ring the bell and to take care of the Meeting-house."

In 1659, he purchased a dwelling-house and one quarter of an acre of land in Salem, for £12, of Charles Gott of Wenhams, who was agent and attorney for the Rev. and famous Hugh Peters, a former pastor of the Salem Church. He afterwards purchased more land in Salem of the same person.

June 29th 1669, Benjamin Felton was appointed to keep the Salem prison. "He accepted the trust for one year, having as much as Mr. Wilson, the keeper of the Ipswich prison." June 19th, 1676, "Agreed with John Marston to move the prison into Benjamin Felton's Garden." He kept the prison till 1684, when Jeremiah Rogers took charge of it. Mr. Rogers purchased some land of Mr. Felton, near the meetinghouse, that Mr. F. bought of Mr. Gott. Benjamin Felton was grand jurymen in 1668; he was frequently called upon to witness deeds etc.

Mr. Savage (author of Early Settlers in New England) says Benjamin Felton's wife, Mary Felton, was a sad burden to her husband. He died in 1688 aged about 75 years. March 25th 1689, John Bly received for digging graves for Goodman Felton and others; 1£ and 1 shilling.

Benjamin and Mary Felton's children were:

(1.) JOHN FELTON, baptised Dec. 26th 1639; he lived in Salem, part of the time, up to about 1685. Among the arrivals in Salem in 1680, from Barbadoes, were John Felton and wife, and one child and several servants. When John Felton resided in Salem, his cousin of the same name and about six years younger, was called John Felton Jr. In few cases they were witnesses together. He probably left Salem in 1685.

(2.) EXERCISE FELTON was probably their daughter, and perhaps their oldest child. The following from Roxbury records; "The 22d of 3d month (May) 1659, Exercise Felton, a maid of Salem," was living in that place. In 1661, Joseph Miles was married Mary Whelan; she died in 1663, all of Salem. Joseph Miles married 2d, the 7th of 9th month, (December 7th) 1664, probably 1663, by Major Hathorne, Exercise Felton all of Salem. Children were:

- i. KATHERINE, b. Nov. 5th, 1664.
- ii. MARY, b. April 1st, 1666; probably died young.
- iii. SUSANNAH, b. Oct. 7th, 1667.
- iv. ABIGAIL, b. July 5th, 1669.
- v. MARY, again, b. March 27th, 1671.

(3.) REMEMBER FELTON, bapt. May 28, 1643; m. Oct. 1664, George Samon; he died in Salem, Feb. 12th, 1672. Children:

- i. ELIZABETH.
- ii. MARY, b. March 16, 1668-9.
- iii. SUSANNAH, b. May 30, 1670.
- iv. GEORGE JR. b. March 1st, 1672.

(4.) BENJAMIN FELTON JR. bapt. Feb. 18th, 1645-6; he died in 1668. Probably he married and had one or two children. In 1668, a widow Felton was living in Salem. In 1673 Wm. Lord Sen. of Salem left Mrs. Felton, a widow, a small legacy. His will, dated March 1668, proved in 1673, mentions wife Abigail Lord; gave his property to the children of his kinsmen, Wm. Lord, viz., Wm. Lord, Jr., Abigail Lord, Mrs. Felton, widow Joseph Grafton and Richard Prince. We suppose the Mrs. Felton named was widow of Benjamin Felton Jr., who died in 1668. Probably this widow Felton was living in Salem in 1711, when a deed of land was given, bounded westerly by land of widow Felton. In 1720, Benjamin

Felton served by signing and sealing a deed, as one, or in place of one of the selectmen of Salem, with Jonathan Putnam, James Houlton, Jacob Manning, and J. Barton. We suppose the last named Benjamin Felton was son of the above named widow Felton, and grandson of Benjamin Felton Sen. of Salem.

(5.) NATHANIEL FELTON, baptised in 1648, was son of Benjamin Felton Sen. December 2d, 1714, William Felton of Salem, married Amy Dennis of Marblehead. Probably a descendant of Benjamin Felton Sen. of Salem.

JUDITH FELTON, born in England, a daughter of Nathaniel Felton, says Salem records, married about 1644, John Ingersoll who was born in England about 1625. He was son of Richard Ingersoll, and brother of Dea. Nathaniel Ingersoll of Salem Village. Judith (Felton) Ingersoll was sister to Benjamin and Nathaniel Felton of Salem. John Ingersoll died in Salem in 1683 aged 58 years. His will dated November 20th, 1683, names his son John Jr., executor. Nathaniel Felton, his brother-in-law, appointed overseer, with the widow Judith Ingersoll. Their children were 8 in number.

- i. JOHN JR. b. 12 of 7 month, (Sept.) 1644; m. March 1670, Mary Cooms; had 5 children.
- ii. NATHANIEL, b. 2d of 10 month, (Dec.) 1647; m. in 1670 Mary Preston; had 2 children.
- iii. RUTH b. 20 of 4 month, (June) 1649; m. Richard Ropes, (or Rose); he deceased in 1684; left 2 sons and 2 daughters.
- iv. RICHARD, b. 1st of 7 month, (Sept.) 1651; m. Sarah—; had 1 child.
- v. SARAH, b. 28 of 6 month, (August) 1655; m. David Ropes; had 6 children.
- vi. CAPT. SAMUEL, b. 6 of 8 month, (Oct.) 1658; m. Sarah—; had 5 children; their daughters were: Sarah, Margaret and Susannah Ingersoll. Capt. Samuel Ingersoll died about 1695, and his widow Sarah Ingersoll, became the second wife of Philip English. Mr. English and his first wife were imprisoned in witchcraft times, 1692, but broke out of Boston prison and ran away; but returned soon after the delusion was over, and he was one of the selectmen of Salem in 1700.

John and Judith Ingersoll's children occupied a series of houses on the west side of Daniels street, Salem, leading from Essex street to the harbor. John Ingersoll, sr., was a mariner.

MARGARET FELTON, another sister of Benjamin and Nathaniel Felton, m. Christopher Waller. Her brothers were witnesses to several of Mr. Waller's deeds given between 1660 and 1670.

In 1676, Nathaniel Felton was overseer of Mr. Waller's estate, who left to Joseph Woodrow property when 21 years of age. Mr. Woodrow was taxed in Salem Village (now Danvers), in 1682. Mrs. Margaret Waller married before 1687, Robert Fuller, who was dismissed from Rehoboth church, to Salem first church in 1679. At Salem March 12th, 1691, at a meeting of the committee appointed by the town, for ordering, disposing, and building of seats in the meeting-house, Lieut. Nathaniel Felton, Mr. Robert Fuller, and Jeremiah Meacham, sen., were assigned the seat behind the minister. Mr. Fuller and wife were living in 1697. An agreement was made before marriage, if she survives her husband, her house lot, which was near Nathaniel Felton's, to go to Mary Salmon, supposed Mary Samon, who was born in 1669, a granddaughter of her brother, Benjamin Felton, sen.

MRS. ELEANOR FELTON, the mother of Benjamin, Nathaniel, Judith and Margaret Felton, probably arrived in Salem in 1635. She was a member of the Salem church before 1637. That year she had twenty acres granted her, and as much more in 1639. In 1652, the 28th of the 11th month, "Eleanor Felton sold to William Marston, one dwelling-house and 20 rods of land in Salem, near North River."

The same year, 1652, the town of Salem granted Mrs. Felton and Christopher Waller four acres of meadow north side of Ipswich River. Probably Mrs. Felton's husband, Nathaniel Felton, had deceased before she came to America.

The name Nathaniel Felton has been quite common in few families. We have counted, including children, 20 Nathaniel Feltons and 8 Nathan Feltons.

Three of Lieut. Nathaniel Felton's great-grandson were named Nathaniel Felton, and each of them had a son Nathaniel, and a grandson Nathaniel Felton. All three of the great-grandson were born in Salem in 1714, 1723 and 1730, and in the part afterwards called Danvers, now Peabody. The one born in 1714, settled at Roxbury, Mass., and lived 92 years, 9 months. The one born in 1723, settled on Felton Hill, now Peabody, Mass. The one born in 1730, moved with his father and brothers to New Salem, Mass.

The descendants of Lt. Nathaniel Felton continued to reside in Salem, that part called Danvers then South Danvers, now, 1885, Peabody, about 100 years after he settled in America. Most of them lived within a square mile, at places called Felton Hill or Mount Pleasant, and at Felton Corner, sometimes called Feltonville. The "Felton School" is in Feltonville, town of Peabody. Between 1709 and 1725 John Felton and Daniel Felton, brothers, sons of Nathaniel Felton, jr., settled at Marblehead. About 1740 a few Felton families moved into the interior and western part of the state, and built for themselves new homes, which were afterwards centres of family interest. Nathaniel Felton, the fourth of Salem, settled in Roxbury. His son, Dea. Joshua Felton, was a prominent man in the place. Jacob Felton settled in Marlborough in 1738, and afterwards his brother, David Felton, and their relative, Archelaus Felton. In 1762 David Felton removed to Petersham.

In 1740 Ebenezer Felton of Salem, a carpenter, or housewright he was called, went into the wilderness to Salem Plantation, afterwards called New Salem, when he was 55 years of age, and was the most prominent person in the place. Deacon Felton was accompanied by his five sons. His eldest son, David Felton, also a housewright, had married a daughter of James Houlton, sen., of Salem. Many of the descendants are scattered over what was old Hampshire County, now Hampshire, Franklin and Hampden Counties, Mass.

In 1745 Skelton Felton and his son Joseph Felton settled in Rutland, Mass., the part afterwards called Oakham. Joseph Felton's son, Capt. Benjamin Felton, who was an officer during the revolutionary war and in several battles, settled in Brookfield, Mass.

The descendants of Lieut. Nathaniel Felton, the New England progenitor and patriarch, are widely scattered in New England, New York, Ohio, and many of the Western States, and few in California.

In regard to health and longevity in the Felton family race, there has been a large number of old people; we have a list of nearly 100 octogenarians, and about as many between 70 and 80 years of age. There are few cases of remarkable longevity. About one dozen Feltons have lived to the age of our first ancestor in this country, 90 years. The oldest person I have found in my researches was living in 1884, then aged 97 years, Mrs. Lydia Felton, widow of George W. Felton, of Petersham, Mass.

† Signifies family continues.

FELTON FAMILY.

FIRST GENERATION.

(1.) i. NATHANIEL FELTON, b. about 1615, came from England to Salem, Mass., in 1633, where he lived about 72 years. He married Mary Skelton, daughter of Rev. Samuel Skelton, the first minister of Salem. Mrs. Mary Felton died May 8, 1701, aged about 75 years. He died about 4 years afterwards, July 30, 1705, aged 90 years. His will dated October, 1703, proved May, 1706, mentions sons John and Nathaniel, daughters, Elizabeth, a widow, Ruth and Hannah. Their children were:

- 2†. i. JOHN, b. about 1645; m. in 1670 Mary Tompkins.

 - vi. JOHN, b. May 7, 1717; sup. d. young. (See Houlton, Appendix B.)
- James Houlton died in 1729; his estate settled that year.

5. iv. THOMAS WATKINS, m. in 1678, Elizabeth Felton, b. March 18, 1652; bapt. May 1st, 1653, daughter of Lieut. Nathaniel Felton. She was a widow at the date of her father's will in 1703; Mrs. Watkins d. March, 1730-1, aged 78 years. Her estate settled the next year.

20. i. THOMAS WATKINS, JR., b. Dec. 15, 1678; sup. d. before his mother.

(7.) vi. NATHANIEL FELTON³ (Nuthaniel), b. Aug. 15, 1655; m. Ann Horn, daughter of Dea. John Horn, of Salem. (Appendix C.)

Part, if not all, of Dea. John Horn's descendants took the surname of Orne, by dropping the H. There have been several prominent persons in the Orne family.

Nathaniel Felton, jr., lived near Felton Hill, Salem. He was one of the 8 constables in 1721. He d. about January, 1733-4; aged 78 years. His will dated July 6, 1731, proved Feb., 1733-4; his eldest son, Skelton, executor; mentions wife Ann, sister Elizabeth Watkins, sons Skelton, Jonathan, Ebenezer, John and Daniel; daughters Margaret Sheldon, Sarah Marsh and Mary Felton, who had 40£. The six oldest children were baptized in 1691. Lived husband and wife upwards of 50 years. Perhaps the children not all in this order:

(21.) i. SKELTON FELTON^s (Nathaniel^s, Nathaniel^l), b. about 1680; m. May, 1712, Hepsibah Sheldon, dau. of William Sheldon, of Salem. She was an adult when baptized, May 12, 1706. Skelton Felton's grandmother, Mary (Skelton) Felton, lived 20 years after the birth of her grandson. Skelton Felton was a juryman in 1719.

July 16, 1716, Samuel Endicott (only son of Samuel, deceased), and Robert Endicott (only son of Dr. John, deceased), conveyed land to Skelton, in right of his wife, Hepsibah Felton: it was conveyed to William Sheldon, of Salem, in 1689; it was near Nathaniel Felton's land. Wm. Sheldon died about 1694. Skelton Felton lived in Salem about 65 years. In April, 1744, he bought of James and Patience Wright, of Rutland, Mass., 150 acres of land in that town. The deed was signed in Salem before Daniel Epes, Justice of the Peace. The witnesses were Daniel Epes, Jr., and Samuel Epes, Jr.

Mr. Felton moved to Rutland with his son Joseph, and died in 1749, aged nearly 70 years. His will, dated Rutland, Jan. 5, 1745, proved May, 1749, mentions wife Hepsibah, son Joseph, daughters Lydia Foster, Rebecca Houghton (sup. Houlton), Anna, Hepsibah and Ruth. Had 7 or more children.

(23.) iii. EBENEZER FELTON^s (*Nathaniel*¹, *Nathaniel*¹), b. in 1685, was a housewright by trade. He m. 1st, Mehitable —, and had a son, David, b. about 1711; was bapt. with his mother Feb. 21, 1713. Mr. Felton m. 2d, Oct. 1716, Jehoadan Ward, b. March, 1690–91, daughter of John and Jehoadan Ward, of Salem. (See Appendix H.) Ebenezer Felton was one of the first settlers in New Salem, Mass. He went there with his 5 sons in 1740. The first minister in New Salem Plantation, Rev. Samuel Kendall, was ordained Dec. 15, 1742, at a church organized that year. In November, 1742, Mr. Felton and wife were dismissed from Salem church to New Salem. Ebenezer Felton was the first deacon of the church, chosen in July, 1744, the church then voted to have communion once in two months. Dea. Felton was the first Town Clerk of New Salem, and one of the Selectmen the year it was incorporated, 1753. He was probably the patriarch and father of the new township. He was called of New Salem Plantation in 1740, when 55 years of age. He died in 1776, aged 90 years. Mrs. Felton probably lived several years after her husband's decease. It is said the women of the first settlement were fit companions of the hardy men who settled New Salem. A gentleman reports a story, which is given in Holland's "History of Western Massachusetts," which he heard from the lips of the wife of the first deacon of the church in New Salem, of the following purport:

"On some occasion, all the men of the settlement were called twenty or thirty miles from home, into the valley of the Connecticut, and were obliged to be absent over night. At an early hour, all the women, with the few children of the settlement, assembled in the fort for the night. With military strictness, they kept a watch, and about midnight, one of them discovered the enemy stealthily approaching the fort from different directions, and in considerable numbers. The "Commander-in-chief" immediately called the roll of the men of the settlement, in a hoarse, masculine voice, and named some who had never existed. An answer was given to each name, in a corresponding tone. She then commanded them to load and prepare to fire. Then followed a noise like the ramming down of cartridges, at which the Indians retired with all convenient speed. Their presence was verified the next day by the discovery of their tracks near the fort. There were many Indians in the vicinity, but the settlers effectually guarded themselves against their depredations."

Dea. Felton's will, dated Nov. 24, 1762, proved Sept., 1776, mentions wife Jehoadan, sons David, Ebenezer, Amos, Benjamin, Nathaniel, the executor; and grandchildren Benjamin, Mehitable, and Sarah Southwick. The 10 children were all b. in Old Salem, Mass.

Mr. Felton m. 2d, in 1749, Hasadiah Howe, b. March 26, 1725, dau. of Ephraim Howe, and granddau. of Capt. Eleazer Howe all of Marlborough (App. L.) In 1761, Jacob Felton was one of the six wardens in town; also one of the committee of nine, for 5 years, to seat the meeting-house so called. In 1762, was constable and collector of taxes. In 1766, was chosen a committee to provide a school master for the year; he was grand jurymen for the year 1773. He was sergeant of a company in 1757; and commissioned lieutenant July 1, 1762, in the second military company of Marlborough, whereof Jesse Rice was captain and Artemas Ward of Shrewsbury was colonel of the regiment.

In 1770, the town of Marlborough chose two committees, one for the East part, the other for the West part; they were to sell town lands, formerly town ways. The West part committee was Gershom Rice, Lieut. Jacob Felton and Col. Edward Barnes. Jacob Felton served till his demise in 1789. Lt. Felton was chosen in 1777 (the year after the Declaration of Independence) a selectman of the town. Jacob Felton bought several hundred acres in Cheshire county, N. H. In 1761, the 28 proprietors of Township Monadnock numbers 4 and 5 in Cheshire county, met at the house of Col. Abraham Williams in Marlborough, Mass., and chose three assessors for the New Hampshire lands, viz.: Noah Church, Lt. Jacob Felton and Dr. Ebenezer Dexter. Mr. Felton served several years. The places were afterwards called Fitzwilliam and New Marlborough, or Marlborough in New Hampshire. Two of his sons settled in Cheshire county, N. H. Jacob Felton's house erected in 1752 was within two furlongs northwest of Marlborough Lake. It is now, 1886, standing about two furlongs westerly of where it was built, one of the oldest houses in town. Mr. Felton purchased his house spot of Zerubbabel Rice, who married a sister of Mr. Felton's first wife, and Mr. Rice was uncle to Mr. Felton's second wife. Mrs. Felton's father, Ephraim Howe, gave them 8 acres adjoining their home place. Lieut. Jacob Felton died Nov. 20, 1789, in his 77th year, and on the day his eldest son was 48 years of age, and just 26 years before the compiler of this Felton Family was born. Mrs. Felton died Feb. 25, 1819, aged almost 94 years. She died just 68 years after the birth of her oldest daughter. The compiler was present at her funeral. The last few years she could read without spectacles. She did not want her descendants to have her first or christian name. In 1762, a school house was built near Jacob Felton's where it stood upwards of 30 years. Lt. Felton had 6 children by his last wife.

(202.) i. TIMOTHY FELTON³, (Timothy⁴, John³, John², Nathaniel¹.) b. Dec. 8, 1765; m. in 1788, Mary Putnam, bapt. Jan. 26, 1767; daughter of Dea. Joseph Putnam of Danvers, who was a nephew of Gen. Israel Putnam of the revolutionary war. Mr. Felton was a tanner, and in 1793, and 1794, was living in Litchfield, N. H. He afterwards settled at Warner in the same state. He was a selectman in Warner in 1800, and 1801, and Justice of the Peace. History of Warner says, Mr. Felton was remarkable for extensive reading and general information. Hon. Levi Bartlett of Warner, says he was a man of sound judgment, correct morals, of superior intelligence, and well posted in history. In April 1787, Timothy Felton, then 21 years of age, transplanted an elm tree, at the junction of Andover and Prospect streets, at Felton's Corner, now in Peabody. The dimensions of the "Big Elm" in 1883, were—circumference, 26 feet, height, 80 feet; estimated to contain ten cords of wood. Timothy Felton, Esq., died Jan. 15, 1856, aged 90 years, 1 month. They had 3 children; the birth of only one recorded on Danvers' records.

Nathan Felton was a merchant at Felton's Corner, in Danvers, before and after 1803. He took a prominent part in the concerns of the town; was Justice of the Peace; Town Clerk 28 years; a selectman several years, and representative 15 years, first in 1805, last time in 1822. The following item taken from an Essex County newspaper in 1883: Nathan Felton's house was near the "Big Elm"; the L or ell of his house was standing in 1883, supposed to be about 175 years old; and in it was where "Old Square Felton" (as he was familiarly called,) performed the duties of town clerk for the old town of Danvers for twenty-seven years. Until within a few years Mr. Felton's house was owned by his grandson, Nathan A. Felton. In 1883, T. J. Osborn of Peabody owned the building. John Felton, an uncle of Nathan Felton, Esq., owned and lived at the place, before 1800. Nathan Felton, Esq., died Feb. 26, 1829, aged 58 years. Mrs. Lydia Felton died Nov. 28, 1832, aged 61 years.

At the centennial celebration of Danvers, June 16, 1852, Dr. Andrew Nichols of that town, read a lengthy poem. The following is from Dr. Nichols' poem:

The name of Felton, too, by many here,
In reminiscence must be held most dear.
One, our Town Clerk for twenty-eight full years,
A selectman as long,— and for fifteen,
A representative,— among compeers
Highly respected, must have been, I ween,
Worthy a place in our centennial song,
Worthy a place in hearts, that well him knew,
For friends ne'er met him, but he kept them long,
For his was humor, wit and wisdom too;
His manners gentle, his affections strong,
In Nature's quiet gifts surpassed by few.

Capt. Nathan and Lydia Felton had 5 children.

March 3, 1778, daughter of Levi Fay, then of Marlboro, Mass. (App. Y for Fay.) The 31st day of March 1796, when 19 years of age, he commenced teaching school in his native town, Marlboro, and taught 250 weeks, within the next 8 years. One year he kept 46 weeks, 5½ days in a week; had in all 778 scholars. The last of June in 1799, Mr. Felton with Joel Cranston, Esq., who was 12 years his senior in age, opened a store in the north part of Marlboro, near Barnard's Mills, so called, afterwards Feltonville, under the firm name, Cranston & Felton. In March 1799, when Mr. Felton was 23 years of age, was chosen an assessor, and was re-elected 26 years. He was a land surveyor, and in 1801, surveyed all the roads in Marlboro; 69 roads, 89 miles in length; he followed surveying more or less every year afterwards. He had for many years the greatest share of the municipal business of the town. At the annual town meeting, March 1808, he was elected moderator; and was elected at the following March meetings in 1811, to 1815;

the last year named he resigned on being elected town clerk, which office he held for 13 years. In 1815, he was elected a selectman and held the office 11 years, and chairman the last 9 years. In 1820, Marlboro elected inspecting school committee for the first time, William Draper, Esq., Benj. Rice, Esq., Dr. John Baker, and Silas Felton were elected, and re-elected in 1821. Silas Felton was Justice of the Peace, and represented the town in the General Court three years, in 1821, 1823 and 1824. In May 1828, was appointed post-master in Feltonville, which took its name from Mr. Felton.

Silas Felton, Esq., died on Saturday, Aug. 16, 1828, aged 52 years, 6 months. His sickness was short, his disease was pleurisy. It is supposed he made more figures to count than any other person living in town before his departure.

The following extract from a newspaper printed in 1828: "He sustained for several years, with honor to himself and the town, some of the highest offices in the gift of his fellow townsmen, and was a man universally respected for his probity and industry."

(1270.) ii. NATHAN BUCKMAN FELTON⁷, (Benjamin⁶, Benjamin⁵, Joseph⁴, Skelton³, Nathaniel², Nathaniel¹.) b. Nov. 11, or 12, 1798, in Pelham, Mass., the part now Prescott, Mass. In 1805, his parents, with their family, moved to Windham County, Vt. In 1818, he entered Middlebury College, one year in advance, whence, in 1821, he graduated with high honors. He read law with Martin Field, Esq., of Newfane, Vt., 1821 to 1823; with Jonathan Hunt, Esq., of Brattleboro, 1823 and 1824, and in the office of W. C. Bradley, Esq., of Westminster, Vt.; was admitted to the Bar in 1825, and moved to Lebanon, N. H. and commenced the practice of his profession. He was postmaster in Lebanon about 10 years, 1825 to 1835. In 1835, was appointed clerk of the Supreme Court of Grafton County, N. H., and moved to Haverhill in that county. He held the office 12 years. In Sept. 1852, was appointed Probate Registrar of the same county, and continued till 1856. He represented Haverhill in the General Court in 1853, and probably other years. The late

Hon. Edmund Burke, member of Congress from N. H., said, June 1853, that Mr. Felton, "was one of the most intelligent and able members of the House of Representatives of that State."

At a celebration in Lebanon, July 4, 1826, Nathan B. Felton was the orator of the day. The oration was published the same month in the New Hampshire Patriot. It said, "Mr. Felton has done great credit to himself, both as a patriot and scholar. His topics were well chosen." In July 1876, Centennial year, fifty years after the oration was delivered, it was republished in the Granite State Free Press, a newspaper published in Lebanon, N. H. Mr. Felton m. May 22, 1836, Ann Redding. No issue.

In January 1875, then 76 years of age, he was a magistrate of Haverhill, and presided in the examination of the Piermont tragedy. A correspondent of the Boston Journal then said of Mr. Felton that he was "a gentleman of discriminating mind and excellent judgment." He died Dec. 22, 1876, aged 78 years.

Below are two extracts from the White Mountain Republic published at Littleton, Grafton County, N. H., of Dec. 28, 1876. "The town of Haverhill, N. H., has suffered a great loss in the death of one of the most esteemed citizens, Nathan B. Felton, who died at his residence on the 22d inst. of apoplexy." "As a member of the legal fraternity Mr. Felton was one whose counsel was sought by the wisest and best. He was not only learned in the law but a long and remarkably industrious life had made him familiar with the sciences and arts. He had for a long time been one of the leading lawyers of the State, and his name was ever a synonym for honesty and integrity. Probably no man lives who possesses to a fuller extent the entire confidence of every one who knew him than did Mr. Felton." He died at the ripe age of 78 years, leaving a bereaved widow and a large number of mourning friends. "Funeral services were held at the Congregational church on Christmas day, at which time Hon. Evarts W. Farr and Hon. Wm. H. Duncan, as representatives of Grafton County Bar, spoke in fitting praise of him who for more than half a century had been the 'Alpha and Omega' of the profession."

(1638.) i. CORNELIUS CONWAY FELTON⁷, (Cornelius C.⁶, Thomas⁵, Thomas⁴, Daniel³, Nathaniel², Nathaniel¹.) b. in Newbury, Mass., Nov. 6, 1807; graduated at Harvard College in 1827; he taught school a few winters when in college: one winter in Bolton and one in Concord, Mass.; had charge of Livingston County, N. Y., high school two years 1827 to 1829. He was an instructor in Harvard College as tutor, professor, and president about one-third of a century; he was tutor from 1829 to 1832; from 1832 to 1834, professor of Greek language; 1834 to 1860, Eliot professor of Greek literature. In 1849, he was chosen faculty regent of the college by Pres. Jared Sparks, a new office, and next to the president. In 1860, by the unanimous approval of the friends of the college, Prof. Felton was chosen the 20th president.

In 1851 and 1852, Prof. Felton delivered a course of lectures before the Lowell Institute in Boston on the Greek language and Greece, "filled with interesting information in regard to that classic land." Twice he visited Greece, and a volume of nearly 400 pages of his letters was published in 1864. He was called one of the finest Greek scholars America has yet produced. He was the author of a number of works. Felton's Greek Reader; Felton's Agamemnon, with notes; Felton's Translation of Homer's Iliad, with notes, pages 598. Translated works from German and from French. He contributed to Appleton's New American Cyclopædia, eight articles, viz: Agassiz, Athens, F. Bowen, Demosthenes, Euripides, Greece, Greek Literature and Homer. He was the author of a life of Gen. William Eaton in Sparks' American Biography and in 1852, he edited a selection from the writings of Prof. Popkin, his predecessor in the Eliot professorship, with an introductory biographical notice. In 1848, he received from Amherst College the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws. He had served on the school committee in Cambridge, been a member of the Board of Education of the State of Massachusetts, appointed in 1854, and one of the Regents of the Smithsonian Institution at Washington, D. C., appointed Feb. 13, 1856, by the United States Senate.

Prof. Felton m. in 1838, Mary Whitney, b. May 5, 1815, daughter of Asa and Mary Whitney; she died April 12, 1845, aged 30 years. He m. second, Sept. 28, 1846, Mary Louisa Cary, daughter of Hon. Thomas G. Cary of Boston. Some of the newspapers said in speaking of the wealth of the literary men of Cambridge, that Prof. Felton had been equally fortunate in his matrimonial connections in regard to wealth with the other professors, viz: Everett, Palfrey, Longfellow, Lowell and Norton, by marrying fortunes in expectancy or possession. Pres. Felton died at the residence of his brother at Chester, Pa., Feb. 26, 1862, of enlargement of the heart, aged 54 years, three months and 20 days. The announcement of his death was received with general regret throughout the country.

The following lines are extracts from a sermon preached in the Appleton chapel, Cambridge, March 9, 1862, being the Sunday after the funeral of Pres. Cornelius Conway Felton, by Rev. Andrew P. Peabody, preacher to the Cambridge University:

In the estimate of our late President's claims on our grateful remembrance, we cannot forget how large and unique a place he filled in the world of letters. Few men have attained so high a position in one department, with so generous a culture in all. While he was unsurpassed in the language and literature to which his labors were given for so many years, it was impossible to point out his deficiencies in any branch of learning.

Among his moral traits we are first reminded of the genial elements of his social nature. He can never have made an enemy; he never forgot or lost a friend. And who ever had so many friends, or friends more devoted and loving? There was no possible claim on his regard or kindness which he was not prompt and persistent in recognizing. He loved those near his own plane, because he could enter into their thoughts, and they into his,—those far below it, because he could lift them up,—the prosperous, because they could aid his beneficent plans,—the poor and depressed, because he could give them help and comfort,—the aged, from natural reverence,—the young, from sympathy with their exposures, difficulties, and temptations.

We who have known him the longest can recall not an act or a word which we do not love to remember. Steadfast in the right no power on earth could make him swerve from his convictions of duty. His force of character, hidden on ordinary occasions by his gentle and sunny temperament, appeared impregnable whenever it was put to the test. From the most arduous, thankless, and painful duties he never shrank; and in prompt decision and fearless energy for difficult emergencies he was no less conspicuous and admirable, than in those amiable and graceful qualities which adorned his daily life.

An extract from Prof. Parker's address, of the Law School at Cambridge:

The acquisition and diffusion of knowledge was not only the business of his life,—it was a passion with him. Whether in the professorial chair, pouring forth his rich stores of Grecian literature,—or among the Regents of the Smithsonian Institution, diffusing the blessings of science through that great national instrumentality,—or as a member of the Board of Education of the State of Massachusetts, devising the best means for advancing the character of the instruction in the common schools,—or in the State Normal Schools, uttering words of encouragement to those who were there qualifying themselves to become instructors,—or in the hall of the Lowell Institute, delivering courses of lectures on literature and science to the inhabitants of a great city,—or in the occasional assemblages of persons met together for the purpose of listening to his addresses on science, literature, art, agriculture, or politics,—and even in the more humble duty of a member of the committee for examining schools in this city, he was sure to instruct and delight his auditory by the accuracy of his knowledge, the fulness of his illustrations, the humor of his anecdotes, his manifest and great interest in his subject, his evident pleasure in imparting information to others, and the geniality and friendship of his general deportment.

In the pure gold of his character, as thus portrayed, there was none of the alloy of an unworthy selfishness.

The loss of such a man is beyond estimation.

March 12, 1862, Hon. Edward Everett addressed the Board of Overseers of Harvard College, and then offered the following resolutions:

I hold, Sir, in my hand, a resolution, which I beg leave to offer to the acceptance—I venture to hope the unanimous acceptance—of the Board:—

Whereas, It has pleased Divine Providence to remove by death the late honored and beloved head of the University at Cambridge,—

Resolved unanimously by this Board, that the Overseers of the College, in common with its officers and members of every degree, and the friends of the institution throughout the country, have suffered in the decease of President Felton the loss of a devoted and faithful head of the University, whose whole life has been consecrated, with rare singleness of purpose, to its service; a zealous friend and supporter of education in every department; an efficient promoter of every liberal and public-spirited enterprise; an active and patriotic citizen and member of the community, who added to his great merit as a public servant the most amiable personal qualities, and all those virtues and graces which adorn and dignify every relation of social and private life, and constitute the model character of a man and a Christian.

Mrs. Mary Louisa Felton died May 31, 1864.

Prof. Felton had 2 daughters by his first wife, and one daughter and two sons by his last wife.

There is a Felton School, a Felton Building and Hall, and a Felton Street in Cambridge, Mass.

(1639.) ii. SAMUEL MORSE FELTON⁷, (Cornelius C.⁶, Thomas⁵, Thomas⁴, Daniel³, Nathaniel², Nathaniel¹) b. July 17, 1809, in Newbury, Mass.; graduated at Harvard College in 1834. He studied civil engineering. In 1839, he was appointed a commissioner with Prof. Simon Greenleaf and Dea. Levi Farwell to make boundary lines in regard to taking ice on Fresh Pond, Cambridge. Mr. Felton was civil engineer and superintendent of the Fitchburg Railroad from its commencement in 1842 until 1851. In Feb. 1851, the employes on the Fitchburg Railroad presented Samuel M. Felton, the retiring superintendent, with a service of silver plate, valued at about 265 dollars, as a testimonial of their regard. In 1846, Mr. Felton, with Hon. J. M. Williams and Eliab Gilman, was a referee in the suit against the Maine Extension Railroad; $20,000 involved in the decision; counsel, Bell, Bartlett, and Farrar for the plaintiff; Choate, Derby, and H. W. Fuller for defendants. He has been one of the referees in several somewhat similar cases. In 1850, Mr. Felton and Mr. Edwards were appointed agents by the Troy and Greenfield Railroad Company to go to Europe on business.

In Feb. 1851, Mr. Felton was chosen president of the Philadelphia, Wilmington and Baltimore Railroad and moved to Philadelphia, and served as president until after the close of the late civil war. He was president at the time President Lincoln made his wonderful entrance into Washington, before his inauguration, at the peril of his life, in Feb. 1861.

When the first troops passed through Pennsylvania and Maryland in April 1861, Gen. B. F. Butler had interviews with Pres. Felton and said "I may have to sink or burn your boat," "Do so," replied Mr. Felton and immediately wrote an order authorizing its destruction if necessary.

Several years ago a writer speaking of railroad managers, said, "Great praise is also due Mr. Felton of the Philadelphia, Wilmington and Baltimore Railroad for the able management of that line of travel. The accommodations furnished by that road, the promptness with which the troops and supplies have been despatched, and the alacrity with which the repairs were made after the destruction of the bridges by the Baltimore secessionists, entitle Mr. Felton to the gratitude of the people. We are apt to forget valuable services done off the field of battle, but the railroad manager, who faithfully and energetically does his duty, is as much entitled to the praise of the people as the general who wins the victory. To Messrs. Smith and Felton the country owes a debt of gratitude which can never be paid, because their services are not likely to be rightly estimated."

In 1876, Mr. Felton was president of the Pennsylvania Steel Company, near Harrisburg, for manufacturing hammered steel rails. It is said it is the largest and one of the most successful establishments of the kind in the country.

In 1879, Mr. Felton was one of the Board of Arbitrators with Judge Brigham and Pres. Phillips of the Eastern Railroad, to whom was referred the question of deciding what rebate, if any, should be allowed the Fitchburg Railroad by the State, in order to operate the Troy and Greenfield Railroad through the Hoosac Tunnel.

In 1884, Mr. Felton attended the semi-centennial reunion of the Harvard College class of 1834, in Mass.

II., May 9, 1821; m. Harriet N. Felton, b. Aug. 15, 1822, daughter of Cornelius C. Felton, Sen., (No. 769.) They resided at Charlestown, Mass., till about 1857, when they moved to Lancaster, Mass., and settled on George Hill. Mr. Parker fitted for college, but entered the office of Mr. ——— Baldwin, civil engineer, where he studied his profession, civil engineering. He was subsequently associated with his brother-in-law, Samuel M. Felton, Esq. Mr. Parker has been identified with the building of some of the leading railroads in the country. He built the bridge across the Susquehanna River at Havre de Grace, which is justly regarded as a work of great merit.

It is said that at one time during the war, he acted, at the request of Secretary Stanton, as superintendent of the military railroads. He and his family lived at Chester, Pa., about two years. He was representative to the General Court from Lancaster in 1870, 1871 and 1872. Had 7 children; the first four children were born in Charlestown, the next two at Lancaster.

In 1877, Mr. Parker's Lancaster tax was 291 dollars, and the next highest tax payer after Nathaniel Thayer the wealthiest citizen in the town.

(1644.) vii. JOHN BROOKS FELTON⁷, (Cornelius C.⁶, Thomas⁵, Thomas⁴, Daniel³, Nathaniel², Nathaniel¹.) b. in Saugus, Mass., June 9, 1827. He graduated at Harvard College in 1847, and was a tutor in Greek there in 1849 and 1850. In 1849, he delivered a poem at Cambridge called "The Horse shoe," and had it published in a pamphlet. He graduated in the law school at Cambridge in 1853, with the degree of L. L. B. He settled in San Francisco, Cal., where he was a prominent lawyer. His legal attainments were of the highest character, and he was probably the leading member of the San Francisco bar, says a California newspaper, and it also says, "As a Supreme Court petitioner he had no superior, and before this tribunal he had always a very large practice, and was generally successful in his cases."

It is said he probably received as large fees as were ever paid any lawyer in the United States; his fee in one case where employed by James Lick, the millionaire, was $100,000. Some newspapers have it, Mr. Felton once received one of the greatest fees on record, one quarter of a million of dollars for the management of a single suit.

In politics he was a Union man, acting with the Republican party after the advent of the rebellion.

Mr. Felton was an elector in two presidential elections, and twice ran in the nominating conventions for the candidacy for the United States Senate. It is said he was a fine scholar in both the French and Spanish languages. He was a member of the Board of Regents of the University of California.

Mr. Felton was a resident of Oakland and served one term as mayor of the city, and always evinced a great deal of pride and interest in its local government and prosperity.

He m. in 1862, Kate Baldwin, daughter of the late J. G. Baldwin, Justice of the Supreme Court of California. Hon. John B. Felton died in Oakland of paralysis, May 2, 1877, aged almost 50 years; left a widow and two daughters.

2404. i. One daughter, b. about 1865.

2405. ii. A daughter, b. about 1872.

Two more extracts from a California paper; In a very quiet and unostentatious manner Mr. Felton gave a great deal to charitable objects. His most intimate friends say he was a wit of the highest order—a flashing, brilliant wit, which they enthusiastically declare to have equalled Curran's and was of that high-minded generous quality which never wounded the feelings of its subject.

(1645.) viii. FRANKLIN ELIOT FELTON⁷, (Cornelius C.⁶, Thomas⁵, Thomas⁴, Daniel³, Nathaniel², Nathaniel¹) b. in Charlestown, Mass., April 7, 1829. He graduated at Harvard College in 1851. The town of Felton in Santa Cruz County, Cal., (and eight miles from Santa Cruz,) on the Southern Pacific Railroad, we suppose was named for Mr. Felton.

The Big Tree Grove in Felton and Camp Felton are 7½ miles from Santa Cruz. One writer says, "the Big Tree Grove of Felton is one of the most beautiful and interesting places to visit in the State. Running through the grove is the San Lorenzo river, where good fishing can be had. The trees are magnificent in proportion and the forest grand and extensive. Camp Felton, among the red woods of Santa Cruz County, is about one mile from the big-tree grove, in the heart of one of the most picturesque regions of California. No one has really seen the beauties surrounding the beautiful watering place of Santa Cruz, unless a visit is paid to the grove in Felton."

SUPPLEMENT NO. 2.

In Oct., 1876, we received an interesting letter from Rev. CYRUS ERASTUS FELTON of Pittsburg, Pa., but before this date of Chicago, Ill. His grandfather, Erastus Felton, moved West from one of the New England States. It was all the information he had in regard to his origin. He had four sons, Erastus, Jr., Thomas, Levi and one more, the name he had forgotten. Erastus Felton, Sen., lived near 70 years. Erastus Felton, Jr., also had four sons, Rev. Cyrus Erastus, b. about 1830, Josiah, who was lost in the late civil war, John and William, both living in 1876. Erastus Felton, Jr., died at the early age of 37 years.

Rev. C. E. Felton was preaching in Chillicothe, Ohio, in 1860. He preached several years in St. Louis, Mo., and Chicago, Ill. In March, 1883, moved to Baltimore, Md., and became pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church, Mt. Vernon Place, in that city. Rev. Dr. Felton had two sons living in 1876, George and Jae Felton.

SUPPLEMENT NO. 3.

When Rev. C. F. LeFebvre settled in Sherbrook, Canada, about 1828, he found among his parishioners a widow Felton, and her three sons and three daughters; the family being the first in wealth and station in that part of the country. The sons were:—Hon. Wm. B., Lieut. John and Charles B. Felton. One daughter was a school teacher, one married a purser in the navy, and one married a merchant.

Hon. WILLIAM B. FELTON had amassed a considerable fortune as naval store keeper at Port Mahon, in the island of Minorca. He came to Canada about 1816, and a large tract of land was given him by the government as a settler. He was a member of the Governor or Legislative Council ten or more years from 1823. It is said he expended his large fortune, about $150,000, in the purchase and improvement of land which never brought him anything, so that when he died his widow was left with a bare competency. The interests of his brothers were embarked with him in his land operations.

Hon. William Bowman Felton married a Spanish lady and had 3 sons and 8 daughters. His widow and two sons were living in Sherbrook in 1856: W. L. Felton, Esq., the advocate and publisher of the St. Francis Telegraph; E. P. Felton, Esq., a notary in the Square of Sherbrook. The third son, many years before 1858, went to Australia. Hon. Wm. B. Felton's daughters all married; the oldest one married the Chief Justice of Quebec.

Lt. JOHN FELTON in 1852, was Crown Land Agent, Main St., Sherbrook. He was a signal midshipman on board of the Victory, Lord Nelson's flag-ship at Trafalgar, and was promoted to the rank of lieutenant; but having lost a ship, sloop of war Cassia, in the West Indies afterwards, he was deprived of his rank. The case being one of hardship, and Mr. Felton being an aged and respected citizen, when the Prince of Wales was on a visit to Sherbrook, Aug. 30, 1860, on being informed of the particulars, he restored Mr. Felton his rank together with pay. The act gave great satisfaction, and was loudly applauded. It was a fortunate thing for him, for his affairs, after the death of his brother William, were at a very low ebb. Lt. John Felton married a Spanish lady, but had no issue.

CHARLES B. FELTON, brother of Lt. John Felton, had a grant of land of 200 acres. He married and had several children. He moved to New York, and suppose was living in 1858, with some of his children.

SUPPLEMENT NO. 4.

In 1856, ELI F. FELTON of Andes, Delaware County, N. Y., wrote that he came to America in 1820, from Birmingham, Warwickshire, England. His grandfather, George Felton, was a clock-maker in Buford, Shropshire, and moved to Birmingham about 1786, with five sons and four daughters. George Felton's ancestors were brought up in Shropshire, one of the four western counties of England. Thomas Felton, (an uncle of Eli named above,) was a silversmith in Hinckley, Leicestershire, when Mr. Felton left England in 1820. His uncle had a record of the Feltons back to Oliver Cromwell's time. John Felton, another uncle, lived in Australia and had a large family. One of Mr. Felton's uncles came to America before 1790. Eli, George and Thomas were common among his grandfather's descendants. An Eli Felton died in N. Y.

city in 1845, who was his relative; there were two Eli Feltons in the same city in 1856, his relatives. Mr. Felton's brother, Frederick Felton, died at Gibraltar about 1849. There was one Mr. Felton in Birmingham, when he left England, in 1820, a baker by trade, who did not belong to their family.

SUPPLEMENT NO. 5.

A few Feltons of North Carolina, Georgia and Alabama. In Nov. 1855, we received a letter from THADDEUS W. FELTON, postmaster at La Grange, Ala. His father was William Felton from N. C., where he had brothers, Bolin and Boon Felton, who lived and died in that state. Their father was Elisha Felton and had brothers, John, William, Cater and Noah Felton. The five brothers resided in Halifax Co., N. C.

DR. WILLIAM H. FELTON, a member of Congress 6 years from Ga., 1875 to 1881, says his grandfather, Job Felton, removed from North Carolina to Georgia about 1785, and died an aged man. Dr. Felton's father, John Felton, was born in 1790, and lived 80 years. Hon. Wm. H. Felton was born June 19, 1823; graduated at Georgia Medical College. Dr. Felton also wrote, "There was one of the old brothers, (sup. of his grandfather,) who lived in the lower counties of North Carolina, and some members of that family are in Macon Co., Georgia."

SUPPLEMENT NO. 6.

Most of the Feltons in Pennsylvania are of German lineage; their ancestors were from Germany. We called upon a few in 1876, Centennial year.

In 1834, JACOB FELTON of Nicholson, Pa., was agent for newspapers.

From 1843 to 1846, ANTHONY and A. C. FELTON, gardeners, were connected with horticultural exhibitions in Phila., receiving several premiums.

In 1856, ANTHONY WAYNE FELTON of Sterlingville, Wyoming County, says, that his great-grandfather, Henry Felton came to Phila. from Germany. His grandfather, Henry Felton, Jr., who was born in Philadelphia, had five sons, viz.: Henry, Jr., George, Christiana, Jacob and William.

THOMAS FELTON of Northern Liberties, Phila., whose estate was settled in 1794, had sons, Thomas, Jr., James and George Washington Felton.

PHILIP FELTON of Phila., whose will was set up in 1825, had sons, Philip, Jr., and John Felton; the last named, John Felton, was a representative in 1842; his son, Samuel K. Felton, was living in Philadelphia in 1876.

WILLIAM FELTON of Borough of Frankfort, Philadelphia County, in 1826, had brothers, Michael and George Felton; George had a son, William Felton.

In 1856, there were 10 names of Feltons in the Philadelphia Directory, (besides Samuel M. Felton, who was from Mass.) In 1876, there were 18 names; two of these from Mass., Samuel M. and Matthias Felton. A few of the remaining 16 were printed Felten, "ten" instead of "ton."

In 1854, GEORGE W. FELTON was postmaster at Feltonville in Philadelphia County, Pa.

In 1876, A. L. FELTEN, Corner of Park Avenue and 31st St., Phila., had in Agricultural Hall, on the Centennial grounds, a table 60 feet in length, containing 500 varieties of fruits and vegetables; was awarded a prize medal and diploma.

SUPPLEMENT NO. 7.

JOHN FELTON, who was born in Newburyport, Mass., about 1810, says he is a genuine Felton. His reputed father was living in 1855. In 1830 and 1833, John Felton was living in Rowley, Mass.; the former year he had his name changed to John Grayham Milgrove, and the latter year changed back to John Felton. He married Miss Judith Morse Sargent of Dunbarton, N. H. Mrs. Felton died May 22, 1851, aged 34 years. They had two daughters, both born in Bradford, Mass.

i. SARAH G., b. in 1842; m. Julius O. Johnson of Enfield, Conn.

ii. MARY A., b. Aug. 8, 1845; died in Georgetown, Mass., Aug. 17, 1846, aged 1 year.

In 1855, Mr. Felton and Mr. and Mrs. Johnson resided at Springfield, Mass. In 1868 to 1872, Mr. Felton was a shoe-cutter in Marlboro, Mass. In 1880, he lived in Lowell, Mass. Mr. and Mrs. Johnson have two daughters. Residence, Lowell, 1880.

i. MARGARET B., b. Oct. 11, 1864.

ii. SARAH E., b. Jan., 1867.

There are Felton families in Mass. we have not traced; some of them have lived in several towns. One family, Robert Felton and wife, born in St. John, N. B.

- xiv. ABIGAIL, b. in Jan., or June, 1689; living in 1712.

xv. One child, it is said, was born a few weeks after the father was executed.

It is also reported that some of the children of John Proctor, viz: Mrs. Elizabeth Very, Abigail Proctor and Mary Proctor received from the General Court about 1712, the sum of £11, 5s. apiece as compensation for damages for the imprisonment and death of their father in 1692.

After 19 persons had been executed and one pressed to death in 1692, the awful delusion vanished.

APPENDIX E.—FOOT.

PASCO FOOT was in Salem in 1637. Feb. 6, 1653, had 8 children baptised, viz: John, Malachi, Samuel, Elizabeth, Mary, Isaac, Pasco, Jr., and Abigail. Mr. Foot died in 1670. Zachariah and Elizabeth Goodale's seven last named children were baptised in Salem Village, (now Danvers,) March 23, 1690. We may expect a good genealogy of the Goodale and Goodell families within a few years, by Abner C. Goodell, Jr., Esq., of Salem, Mass.

APPENDIX G.—WATERS.

In 1637, RICHARD WATERS, the emigrant, had ten acres granted him in Salem, near Cow-house river, sometimes called Endicott river, now Waters river. Before the erection of a bridge the ferry was known as Waters' ferry. Waters river is in Danvers and Peabody. Richard Waters m. Joyce, dau. of William Plaise, who died in Salem about 1646. Mr. Plaise and Mr. Waters were gunsmiths. Mr. Waters had 10 children; 4 sons, John, James, Ezekiel and William; 6 daughters.

JOHN WATERS, bapt. in 1640, (son of Richard, Sr.;) m. Aug., 1663, Sarah Tompkins, a sister of Mrs. Mary (Tompkins) Felton, wife of John Felton, No. 2. They had 10 children. John Waters' estate settled in 1714. The sons were: John, Jr., b. July, 1665; Richard in 1669; Nathaniel in 1671; Samuel, b. in 1675. The youngest daughter, Abigail, b. in 1683; m. in 1704, John Jacobs.
