- III. NOTES, HISTORICAL AND GENEALOGICAL, OF FAMILIES OF THE NAME OF FREEMAN, DISTINCT FROM PARTS I. AND II., OR WHOSE CONNECTION IS NOT CLEARLY ASCERTAINED.

"An old man was seated upon a monument, and busily employed in deepening with his chisel the letters of the inscription. . . . Motives of the most sincere though fanciful devotion induced him to dedicate years to perform this tribute to the memory of the deceased. He considered himself as fulfilling a sacred duty, while renewing to the eyes of posterity the decaying emblems of their forefathers." — Vide Sir Walter Scott's mention of "a stroll" into a deserted "burial-ground."

FREEMAN GENEALOGY.

SECOND EDITION.

THE present volume differs in no respect from the first and private edition, other than that business notices which appeared on the covers of NUMBERS successively issued and intended for the kin only, are here omitted as of no interest to the public.

The present edition has been yielded to the suggestion of friends who have thought it expedient that such of the general public as may desire a copy of the work to complete a private collection of genealogies, or for similar laudable purpose, may find it of convenient access.

Entered according to Act of Congress, in the year 1875, by

in the Office of the Librarian of Congress, at Washington.

ARMS.

Azure ; three lozenges, or. Crest : a demi-lion rampant, gules, holding between his paws a like lozenge. Motto : Liber et audax.

INTRODUCTORY.

IT is more than half a century since we initiated a habit of collecting and arranging materials such as are embraced in the following pages. Tedious to one's self, and uninteresting to the reader, would be particular mention of periods of labor, intervals of suspension, incentives to a completion of the work, or discouragements that often seemed to forbid its further prosecution. At no time, however, have we been devoid of reverence for ancestry, or of a wish to contribute to a perpetuation of their memorial. But even now, after long-cherished intentions of giving some day to the press a Freeman Genealogy, we would, because of unpreparedness, postpone the attempt, were it not for apprehension that a duty already too long deferred may in that case be delayed forever. THEREFORE, without any further indulgence of presumptuous hope of a more auspicious future, we venture to gather up the materials that lie before us, and, without their being perfected as we have desired, submit them for the benefit of whom they may concern ; with the trust that the volume will not be without interest to some of the thousands of Freeman lineage, and that, at least they may be of assistance to some one in future genealogical investigations. The argument long operative, that time may secure a more full and accurate report, has ceased to exert a controlling influence. The compiler feels that life is both short and uncertain, and presents these pages as they are.

That an extended genealogy, — a work that has been aptly defined “the history of the succession of families ;” the accomplished result being sometimes denominated "a genealogical table," and often, not improperly, "a genealogical tree," the record beginning with the trunk or root, and extending to embrace the remotest branches,—that such a work, reaching through many generations and encircling numerous families widely scattered, can be perfected, no omission or error occurring, is a success not to be expected; as any person conversant with the difficulties invariably attendant on such investigations will concede. If the present result be no exception to the general rule, it will not be justly chargeable upon the compiler that he has not taken great pains and used due diligence to make the genealogy accurate and complete as possible.

If by any it be objected that the succeeding pages are from beginning to end "a simply matter-of-fact document," presenting nothing of fiction or romance, nothing designed for mere embellishment, and little thrown in for the sole purpose of obviating the tedium of otherwise necessarily dry statistics, we are free to confess that such has been the rule to which we endeavored to adhere. The labor has been severely restricted, and to an indifferent eye may seem whimsically akin to the work of him whose acquaintance Sir Walter made in the churchyard at Dunnottar; but nevertheless, kind reader, indulge us in the pleasure of saying, our employment has not been entirely uncompenstative; for we have found filially-serious satisfaction in endeavors to remove the moss of age from lineal and historic events, that the record may be legible to such as incline to read.

We only add a few words explanatory:—

I. In the pages following, the issues of the FEMALE BRANCHES of families are recorded for but one generation. The children follow the surname of the father. The line thus limited and suspended (for otherwise our labor would seem interminable) is thenceforward left for future genealogies to be written in memorial of surnames which by marriage were assumed. Many thousands of lineal descendants are thus of necessity passed by, whose names it would have given us pleasure to have proudly inserted.

II. Let it also, for the convenience of the reader, be noted, that the double-dating, which occurs in the mention of early generations, is in conformity with early practice. In all public records prior to the year 1752, the "Old-Style" manner of dating prevailed. March was the first month, the year beginning March 25. This mode of reckoning has presented sometimes, to readers not bearing the fact in mind, singular discrepancies. For instance: Mather's Magnalia tells that President Chauncy died February, 1671, and that he "attended commencement July" of the same year; again, Peter Hobart died January, 1678, and was "infirm the whole summer" of that year. These illustrations, cited from the books, are appropriate. It is well also to bear in mind, that, between the 1st and 25th of March, there was no uniform way of disposing of the days,—they being sometimes applied to the latter year. The New Style proposed by Pope Gregory XIII. in 1582, and gradually adopted by civilized countries, became that of Great Britain and her American Colonies in 1752; from which time January became the first month, instead of March. To correct dates of the Old Style, or Julian manner of computation, to conform to the New Style, or Gregorian method, ten days are usually added to all dates to the close of 1699, and eleven days after. But even this does not strictly conform to the exact solar year; and much speculation has, in consequence, sometimes been expended in efforts to determine the precise date of remote events.

III. Permit a word also touching the plan of genealogy. It is simple: the Arabian figures mark the numbers in the line of descent; the Roman letters number the children of a family. To trace back the line of descent, take the Arabian number prefixed to any name, and refer that to the person whose issue is given, and repeat the same with each preceding generation. Thus: Nos. 51, iv., show that John Freeman was the fourth child of Edmund Freeman, numbered 15 of the succession. Turning to No. 15, Edmund of the third generation is found to be the son of Edmund No. 3, of the second generation, &c. Or to further simplify the matter, and make it apparent beyond all doubt, let it be said, The column of figures on the left margin of the page is, from beginning to end, the general enumeration ; and, when any such number is starred, the asterisk denotes reference to a distinct paragraph where the name and issue of the individual may be found.

IV. Let it further be noted, that in order to condense our record, and avoid prolixity, abbreviations are used ; such as b. for born, m. for married, d. for died, s. for son, y. for young, æ. for aged, bap. for baptized, ad. for admitted, dis. for dismissed, res. for resided, rem. for removed, grad. for graduated, prob. for probably, and others which in their connection will obviously suggest their own meaning. Wherever (?) occurs, it may be understood to indicate uncertainty. Towns once mentioned will, in connection, thereafter be designated by the initials ; as, S. for Sandwich, or by Be. for Barnstable, Br. for Brewster, &c.

PART I.

MEMORIAL OF MR. EDMOND FREEMAN OF SANDWICH, AND HIS DESCENDANTS.

REGRETTING the absence of definite, positive, and reliable information in regard to the place of nativity of our Ancestor, or the precise date of his birth, we can only gather such facts as remain, and submit them to the reader. Family tradition has it that "he came from Devonshire." There are circumstances indicating that he came "from Oxford." He was born, as is supposed, in the year 1590.

Touching the future of his life, we are in no uncertainty. He came from England in the year 1635, in "the ship 'Abigail,' Richard Hackwell master." The loading of the ship was begun in May; and, "after considerable delay," "The Abigail" "sailed from London," arrived safely in this country, and "with her came many passengers."

It has been truly remarked, that "the ten years between 1630 and 1640 witnessed by far the greater part of the early emigration to New England." It was so multitudinous, and so marked by one character, that the jealousy of the parent government was alarmed; and in 1634, just previous to the contemplated arrangements of our Ancestor for his departure, Laud, Neile, and others were appointed Commissioners of Colonies with both civil and ecclesiastical authority. Emigration was impeded, and much embarrassment occasioned, by a requirement that no one embark without a certificate of conformity to be furnished by the minister of the parish to which the applicant belonged. The emigrant ships were in consequence sometimes delayed. The interests of trade alone prevented the execution of prohibitory measures with unexceptional and continuous effect. In fact, after a while the hostility to emigration was found so futile, that it scarcely checked, and at last, perhaps, even aided, the progress of expatriation; so that before 1640 New England probably contained not less than ten thousand English inhabitants. It has been said, no doubt correctly, of those generally "who left England for the New World in the West" from 1620 to 1660, that "they were stanch supporters of the rights of the people, and with them departed the very heart of England's manhood."

The delays to which the ship in which our ancestor came over was subjected will be found indicated by the fact, that, although the vessel commenced loading in May, certificates were secured by those who intended to embark in her, at different periods of considerable interval. Among others, were the following bearing the name of FREEMAN; viz.: In a certificate bearing date, "July 1, 1635," are the names of "Elizabeth Freeman, æ. 12 yrs.; Alice Freeman, æ. 17 yrs.; Edmund Freeman, æ. 15 yrs.; and John Freeman, æ. 8 yrs." "Edward Freeman, husbandman, æ. 34," and "Elizabeth Freeman, uxor, æ. 35," are in another certificate of the same date. Previously, "June 17," certificates were furnished embracing "Marie Freeman, æ. 50; Jo: Freeman, æ. 9; Sycillæ Freeman, æ. 4." The admiralty register also, after an interval, reports: "John Freeman, æ. 35; Thomas Freeman, æ. 24;" and "Edmund Freeman, æ. 45." The last named, we suppose is our ancestor; the four first mentioned, viz., Elizabeth, Alice, Edmund, and John, being his children. The lists of early passengers to New England, as they appear in the admiralty office, further show that "Anthony Freeman, æ. 22," received a certificate, "Sept. 4, 1635, to embark in the ship 'Hopewell.'"

Whether all whose names are on the lists embarked, and actually came over, we are not able to determine; we can only trace with a probability approximating to certainty, besides those already mentioned as constituting the immediate family of our ancestor, the name of "John, æ. 35," who, beyond question, was an original proprietor of the township of Sudbury in 1639, and who probably had a daughter Elizabeth who married Thos. Gates.¹ Nor can we satisfactorily account for the apparent absence of any mention of the wife of our ancestor. Our opinion is, that she came over in the ship "Abigail," with her husband and children.

It has, we confess, been a question with us, whether she was the person mentioned as "Elizabeth, uxor, æ. 35," and whether the "Edward, husbandman, æ. 34," was not intended for Edmund, a mistake being made either in the record or in transcribing. But then, the ages given would in neither case favor the idea of these being parents of the four children first mentioned in the lists.

It has been said, and no doubt with good reason, by writers engaged in antiquarian and genealogical research, that it was sometimes thought justifiable and expedient, under the severe and arbitrary restrictions upon emigration imposed by the government, that those impediments should be evaded or eluded by "occasional blinds."² Be this as it may, we are unwilling to resort to a conjecture of evasions, however justifiable might have been their end; and therefore we forego useless speculation on these subjects, and, notwithstanding regrets that research and inquiry³ touching these preliminary points must end so unsatisfactorily, content ourself with what is certain, and supported by indubitable evidence.

GENEALOGY.

First Generation.

MR. EDMUND FREEMAN, from England, was at Saugus, alias Lynn, in 1635. Mr. Lewis, in his History of Lynn, says, "This year many new inhabitants appear in Lynn, and among them worthy of note *Mr.*¹ Edmund Freeman, who presented to the Colony twenty corsletts, or pieces of plate armor."²

MR. FREEMAN was subsequently in the Plymouth Colony, and with nine associates was soon recognized by the government as a suitable person to originate a new settlement. He was admitted freeman at Plymouth, Jan. 2, 1637; and, after being a short time resident in Duxbury, obtained leave of the Colonial Government to commence the establishment of the first English town on the Cape. The grant is indicated by the record: "Plymouth, April 3, 1637. — It was agreed by the court, that these ten men of Saugus¹—viz.; Edmund Freeman, Henry Feake, Thomas Dexter, Edward Dillingham, William Wood, John Carman, Richard Chadwell, William Almy, Thomas Tupper, and George Knott—have liberty to view a place to sit down, and have sufficient lands for three-score families upon the conditions² propounded to them."

² This armor MR. FREEMAN probably brought with him, under an impression that in possible conflicts with Indians it might be convenient and effective. It was said of him, that "he came over as agent of men of the first respectability in England."

The enterprise thus originated and projected, a large number of persons from Duxbury, Plymouth, and Lynn, but chiefly from the latter place,—the ancient Saugus,—removed to the location selected; and, about two years later, the first successful settlement within what came to be known as Barnstable County was legally incorporated as the town of SANDWICH.

MR. FREEMAN'S status may be inferred from the fact, that, of the fifty-eight who became entitled to shares in the division of lands, his portion was much the largest. His position in the Colony is evidenced by successive elections as assistant to the governor in direction of public affairs. He was early appointed the head of a court of three, "to hear and determine controversies and causes" within the several contiguous townships. When, after a residence of many years in the Colony, select courts were established by Government in each county, he was one of the selected. Indeed, we find him always prominent, active, influential.

During the Quaker troubles in the Colonies, which reached Sandwich sixteen or seventeen years after its settlement, his counsels were for moderation; and, so far from consenting to severities, he stoutly remonstrated against all illiberal enactments and their enforcement.³

There can be found no blemish in his protracted and event-

² One of the conditions was the extinguishment of the Indian title.

³ A memorable circumstance, significant of the infatuations that marked this critical period, is the fact that, after the notorious Geo. Barlow had been appointed by Government a special marshal to enforce the laws against offending Quakers "and their encouragers," Barlow, well knowing Mr. F.'s disapprobation of these measures, had the audacity to call upon him for "aid." Promptly and indignantly refused, Barlow

ful life, no dark spot in his whole history. Pre-eminently respected, always fixed in principle, and decisive in action, nevertheless quiet and unobtrusive, a counsellor and leader without ambitious ends in view, of uncompromising integrity and of sound judgment, the symmetry of his entire character furnished an example that is a rich legacy to his descendants.¹

The record of his decease in 1682 at the ripe old age of, as is supposed, ninety-two years, is all upon which we can predicate the date of his birth. His WILL bears date June 21, and was presented for probate Nov. 2, 1682. The following is the authenticated record:—

“THE LAST WILL AND TESTAMENT OF MR. EDMOND FREEMAN, SENIOR, exhibited to the Court of his Majestie, held at Plymouth the 2^d of Nov. 1682, on the oaths of John Fish and Nathan Nye, as followeth:—

“The 21 day of June, in the year of our Lord one thousand six hundred eighty and two, I EDMOND FREEMAN, the eldest of the name in Sandwich, being in a good measure in health of body, and of capable understanding and memory, do declare this to be my last will and testament; hereby renouncing and making void all other and former wills and testaments made by me, the said Edmond Freeman, by my knowledge or privity.

entered complaint at Plymouth; and, whether as a show of deference to enactments or for a feint of consistency, a fine of ten shillings was imposed! Self-respect, doubtless, forbade a murmuring word. Reticence is, on such occasions, the only manly and truly Christian revenge. Time sobers reflection. Even Doctor Cotton Mather came at last to be of Mr. Freeman's views, saying of the course adopted to suppress a seeming infatuation, “If any man will appear in vindication of it, let him do as he pleases: for my part, I will not.”

¹ Gov. Hutchinson's History makes prominent mention of Mr. Freeman and fifteen others, as “the founders of the Colony of New Plymouth, the settlement of which Colony occasioned the settlement of Massachusetts Bay, which was the source of all the other Colonies of New England.” It adds, “Virginia was in a dying state, and seemed to revive and flourish from the example of New England.” It continues, “I am not preserving from oblivion the names of heroes whose chief merit is the overthrow of cities, provinces, and empires; but the names of the founders of a flourishing town and colony, if not the whole British empire in America.”

"Item. First, I make, constitute, and ordain my three Sons, namely, my son Edmond Freeman, and my son John Freeman, and Edward Perry, to be my executors, and my Daughter Elizabeth Ellis, executrix, of this my last will and testament.

"Item. My will is that all former conveyances of lands by me given shall stand and remain in full force and virtue.

"Item. For the disposing of my estate, my just debts being first paid, I do give unto my two sons, namely, my son Edmond and my son John Freeman, all my lands on the easterly side of the lands given by me to my Grandson Matthias Ellis, on the same range to run as the said Matthias his land doth, from the northeast corner-bound of said land unto the northerly end of all my land, only provided and excepted that land which is called the Rye-field, and the meadow which is called Hedges-meadow, the which said Rye-field and Hedges-meadow, I do give to my Grandson Thomas Paddy.

"Item. My lands which are to the westward and to the northward of my grandson Matthias Ellis his land by me given to him, all my said westward and northward lands to be divided into three parts; and two of said three parts I do give unto my son Edward Perry, and the other said third part I do give unto my daughter Elizabeth Ellis, all which aforesaid given lands I do freely give unto my aforesaid sons and daughter, to them and their heirs and assigns, to have and to hold forever. Furthermore, the one-half of my lands at Waquanchett, I give unto my grandson Thomas Paddy, to him and his heirs and assigns forever.

"This is my last will and testament.

It is evident that our Ancestor's chief arrangements in regard to his worldly property were made some years previous to the execution of the preceding WILL. His children had severally shared in his estate; and in 1678 a deed of gift vested in his grandson, Matthias Ellis, valuable property including the dwelling-house, in consideration of natural love and affection and service rendered.¹

Our venerable and honored Sire was buried on his own land on the hill in rear of his dwelling. The site, though not greatly elevated, presents an extended view both of the sur-

¹ It may gratify some descendant of the venerated patriarch, to know the tenor of the conveyance to Mr. Ellis, and we therefore present a copy:—

“Know all men by these presents that I, Edmond Freeman the eldest, of Sandwich, in the Colony of New Plym., being in the confines of America, called New England; for and in consideration of the natural love and affection which I bear to the said Matthias Ellis, being my kinsman in blood, that is to say my grandson; and for diverse other good causes and considerations, as living with me until he the abovesaid Matthias came unto man’s estate, being a support unto me in my old age and weakness: Wherefore, I the said Edmond Freeman at this present do alienate, give, and grant, enfeoff and confirm, unto the aforesaid Matthias Ellis, his heirs and assigns, all that my now Dwelling House and Orchard, situate and being in Sandwich aforesaid, with one quarter part of my lands belonging and adjoining thereunto, both upland and meadow, the upland being by estimation thirty acres, be it more or less,—the upland being bounded on the western side at the corner of the Old Field, having a red-oak tree marked on four sides; and so ranging downward north-easterly until it comes to the meadow; and from the aforementioned marked tree ranging upward by a southwesterly line until it comes to the cross-street way; and so ranging easterly unto a Rock near the aforementioned dwelling-house, with a marked small pole near unto the Rock; and so to range upon the southwesterly line to the old fence, unto a bush marked; and from the aforesaid Rock ranging northeasterly to the Marsh. It is to be understood that the breadth of this land by the cart-way in the cross-street way is to be the breadth that it is from the fore-mentioned Red-oak marked on four sides, unto the forementioned Rock; and likewise to be the same breadth at the Marsh as it is betwixt the marked tree and the Rock aforesaid; and for the aforesaid meadow, it is an entire piece of meadow of and by itself, being bounded by the Earthen cartway that goeth into the Neck, and so bounded by a Ditch called the Divell’s Ditch, and further bounded by a point of upland that extendeth to the aforesaid Ditch, having a little Run of Water running through the meadow with the swamps that are adjoining; with all and singular the appurtenances belonging thereunto, with the now dwelling-house, fences, and other privileges and appurtenances thereunto belonging; and furthermore, one quarter part of the land and meadow in the rounding landscape and bay. This is the oldest burying-place known in Sandwich. His remains, with those of his wife, still rest there under the rustic monuments familiarly known as "the saddle and pillion."

Neck, the which is adjoining the aforementioned premises, the upland being by estimation twenty acres, be it more or less; bounded upon the northeasterly corner with a heap of stones and a forked small walnut pole by the stones; and so ranging from the aforesaid heap of stones and forked walnut unto a great Rock that lyeth easterly of Joseph Dotey's house, and from the aforesaid Rock to the cart-way that is by Kerby's Field; and the cart-way to be the bounds until it comes to the Earthen Bridge, and to range to the fence of Michael Blackwell's meadow; and so from the aforesaid fence unto a point of upland lying over against the mouth of a Creek on the further side of the River, the which Creek divideth betwixt the meadow of Wm. Swift, Sr., and Thos. Gibbs, Sr., and so from the forementioned point; ranging about southeast along under Sagamore Hill near and unto which Hill there is a great Rock like the ridge of a house; and so ranging unto the aforementioned forked walnut and heap of stones; and for the Marsh meadow adjoining the aforesaid upland in the Neck; being by estimation twelve acres, be it more or less, bounded upon the southwest by the fence of Michael Blackwell's meadow; and bounded by the River all along upon the western side until it comes to the point of upland aforesaid, and the range running to the aforesaid mouth of the Creek that divideth betwixt the meadows of Wm. Swift and Thos. Gibbs aforesaid. All which the aforesaid premises, of the House, with the greater part of the land and meadow adjoining the House, be it more or less, with the greater part of the land and meadow lying in the Neck, being more or less; according as it is particularly bounded, both that adjoining to the house, and also the land in the Neck; all which the forementioned parts and parcels of land and meadow with all the appurtenances and privileges thereunto belonging, in any kind, according to the forementioned extent of the bounds, both upland and meadow, with orchard and orchards, edifices, or whatever the appurtenances, benefits, easements thereunto belonging, — I, the aforesaid Edmond Freeman, do for myself, my heirs, executors, and administrators, by these presents, alienate from myself, my heirs, and executors, and do give, grant, and confirm and enfeoff, and by these presents do fully and absolutely alienate, give, grant, and confirm, unto the aforesaid Matthias Ellis, his heirs and assigns: To HAVE and to HOLD all the aforementioned premises of housing, lands, and meadowlands, unto the only proper use and benefit and behoof of the aforesaid Matthias Ellis, his heirs and assigns forever. And I. the aforesaid

The spot of earth where the dust of our progenitor reposes, hallowed in the remembrance of past generations, and recognized by the aged who have kept themselves cognizant of well-authenticated traditions, is situate about a mile and a quarter west of the Town Hall in Sandwich, and near the angle made by the ancient county road leading from Plymouth, and the somewhat more modern highway, by which the road leading from Plymouth to the Cape is made to diverge from the former to the right in a more direct course. The location of the grave is, without the least shadow of doubt, part of what was the homestead of our ancestor, and within a few hundred feet

Edmond Freeman, do by these PRESENTS order that the aforesaid Matthias Ellis shall be fully and absolutely possessed of the before mentioned premises and every part and parcel thereof, when it shall please GOD to take me, the aforesaid Edmond Freeman, out of this natural life;— And likewise the aforesaid Matthias Ellis shall have liberty to improve and enjoy the aforementioned premises for his own proper inheritance forever, with whatsoever privileges and appurtenances thereunto belongeth, when my days in this life are expired. And I, the aforesaid Edmond Freeman, do fully and absolutely ratify and confirm this my DEED GIFT unto the aforesaid MATTHIAS ELLIS, his heirs and assigns forever. of what was rear of the dwelling conveyed by deed of gift to the dutiful Matthias Ellis.¹

The reference already made, to the burial-place of the aged progenitor of so many bearing the family name, and of many thousands more bearing other names because descended in the female line, all now widely scattered over every part of the Union and in other lands, needs explanation. We have spoken of the humble and rude monuments familiarly known as "THE SADDLE AND PILLION." Called in his latter days to bury his WIFE, — and this was only a few years before his own decease : the town records show that "MRS. ELIZABETH FREEMAN died Feb. 14, 1675-6," — the bereaved husband feeling that some memorial should mark the spot where had been committed to earth the mortal remains of her who had until now been the companion of his earthly pilgrimage, and knowing that monuments wrought by the sculptor were not easily to be obtained, bethought himself of a substitute. Summoning to his aid his two sons, and his grandson Matthias, soon after the funeral, he led the way to a large stone, or rock, in a neighboring field, — which stone strikingly resembled a pillion. This was taken, and, by oxen driven by Ellis, was hauled to the recent grave. Putting it in place, he then caused yet another to be brought from the field; and this stone, having in form, as was conceived, a resemblance to a saddle, was placed beside the former to designate the precise spot "where ere long another grave must be digged." Admonished by bereavement now added to the infirmities of age, that the time of his own departure could not be far distant, he had thought proper to provide, in the absence of monuments more desirable, these fancied emblems of the conveniences on which in the prime of life and to old age he and wife had often travelled together. His injunction then was, "Here, after death shall have called your father, bring my earthly remains, and lay by the side of your mother; place the saddle upon my grave, and so let us rest until the resurrection day." The command was of course heeded by survivors.¹

We are sorry to say that the present condition of the spot, which should be venerated and hallowed as a trysting-place, is far from satisfactory to our sense of what reverence for paternity demands. With grateful feeling we are permitted to say, the monuments placed two hundred years ago over the two graves have never yet been disturbed. The ploughshare has often passed over the old homestead which was conveyed by deed of gift to young Ellis; but the saddle-and-pillion graves remain.² In this gratulatory acknowledgment, all who recognize the obligation to embalm in memory the virtues of a worthy ancestry will sympathize with us.³ We have hoped that, before this volume closes, arrangements might be made

³ It was a gratification, some thirty or forty years ago, to know that the sacred resting-place marked by the saddle and pillion had come again into possession of the blood and name; and we were assured that it was the intention of successive owners that at least the spot which contained the ancestral graves should be religiously reserved from all common and to effect the security, preservation, and suitable care of this repository of the honored dead.

Our ancestor having prior to the closing scenes of life, and finally by will, distributed his property among his kindred, the probate inventory shows only a small amount of assets.¹

secular use. We have, on a former page, represented the two graves as occupying a slight eminence: a recent visit to the spot showed before us not only the immediate surroundings of landscape, including West Sandwich, with Sagamore Hill, and the southern borders of Plymouth; but beyond the bay, in distant prospect, the curve of the lower towns on the Cape, extending from Barnstable to Provincetown. Anomalies may exist here and there, even among civilized peoples, of instances capable of neither patriotic nor filial regard. It is a sad sign anywhere, if the dust of ancestry be not guarded with befitting filial fidelity betokening that their memory is reverently and affectionately cherished; and if the graves of the fathers be left to be trodden down by the foot of strangers and brutes, unprotected and dishonored, the sentiment naturally recurs, that filial ingratitude and disrespect is one of the gravest offences with which humanity can be chargeable.

¹ Curiosity, at least, may be interested in the document; and we therefore insert it verbatim et literatim:—

We pass on to the enumeration of successive Generations, to be accompanied with genealogical statistics, and such brief remarks, biographical and historical, as may be pertinent. The earlier generations will be found as complete as reliable data of whatever kind can make them. When we shall come to later generations, it may happen that some descendants—possibly in some cases entire families, with perhaps the exception of a few fragments—are left out; which may be attributed to the failure of persons whose aid we invited to make report. We have found among correspondents a surprising difference both in intelligence and interest in such inquiries.

Second Generation.

The issue of MR. EDMOND FREEMAN and his wife ELIZABETH were :—

- *2. I. ALICE, born in England; married Dea. William Paddy, Nov. 24, 1639.
- *3. II. EDMUND, b. in Eng.; m. Rebecca Prence, April 22, 1646; and 2d. Margaret Perry, July 18, 1651.
- *4. III. ELIZABETH, b. in Eng., prob. 1625; m. John Ellis.
- *5. IV. JOHN, b. in Eng., prob. 1627; m. Mercy Prence, Feb. 13, 1649-50.
- *6. V. MARY, who m. Edward Perry about 1653.

The question who was the WIFE of Edmond Freeman, sen., has led to a variety of conjecture. It has sometimes been supposed she may have been a Bennet; but for no other reason than that her daughter Elizabeth Ellis named her first-born Bennet, and her son John named one of his children Bennett,—occurrences that naturally suggest a possible reason for the introduction of a surname for a Christian name. The custom, a genealogist well understands, was not infrequent in those days; the mother's maiden name being selected for at least one of the sons, or perhaps grandsons. It has been conjectured also that her name was Beauchampe; the reason for which supposition is founded alone on correspondence that does not necessarily imply it.¹ Mrs. Freeman may have been

¹ The letter to which reference is made is to Mr. Freeman's son-in-law; and, together with the remarks of the custodian of Old Colony Records who copied it, is as follows :—

Coddington for his discharge, which I gave him; and my bro. William Freeman did make his account, and he paid me as followeth: first he paid me for goods sent you about five years since as I remember, £11.10; about five years since he paid for a bill of exchange £12; and he hath paid to me in moneys £196.10; more he is yet to pay, and doth promise to pay Sept. next £24, = £244. "Your Loving Cousin JOHN BEACHAMPE.

"To my Loving Cousin Mr. William Paddy, merchant in Plymouth."

The "bro. Coddington" mentioned in Mr. B.'s letter, was, without doubt, William Coddington, the grantee of Braintree, in whom were early discoverable Quaker affinities, and who was conspicuous in Rhode Island. It was quite natural that there should be found sympathy of thought between him and his brother-in-law Mr. Freeman, when the Quaker troubles arose.

Mr. Russell, the custodian, says, "The name Beachampe is sometimes spelt Beauchamp. Mr. B. was among the 'merchant adventurers,' and a decided and valuable friend of the Colony. The letter may throw some light on the relationship of our early ancestors. It shows the family connection between him and Mr. Paddy, which is nowhere else found that I know of. There are many deeds of Edm. Freeman to others, and other documents showing him to have been Mr. B.'s agent."

Third Generation.

Issue of ALICE FREEMAN, who m. WILLIAM PADDY.

7. I. ELIZABETH, b. in Plym., Nov. 12, 1641; m. Jno. Wensley, and Feb. 5, 1710-11, d. in Boston.
8. II. JOHN, Nov. 25, 1643; d. in Boston, Jan. 8, 1661-2, æ. 18.
9. III. SAMUEL, Aug. 1, 1645; removed to Barbadoes.
10. IV. MERCY; m. Leonard Dowden, and d. in Boston, 1695.
11. V. THOMAS, Sept. 6, 1647; m. Deborah Wayte, who d. March 22, 1697. He d. in Boston, Feb. 3, 1690.
12. VI. JOSEPH, Sept. 10, 1649; d. inf't in Plym., Feb. 18, 1649-50.

The above ALICE, eldest child, and who came with her father from England 1635, she being then æ. 17, d. in Plymouth, April 24, 1651. Her husband, DEACON PADDY, m. 2d, Dec. 3, 1651, the widow¹ of Capt. Bazaleel Payton, and rem. to Boston, where he d. Aug. 24, 1658.²

² Of Dea. P. it may be noted, he came over in "The James," 1635; was made a freeman at Plymouth, 1636; became a deacon in the Plymouth Chh; was a deputy to the first General Court held at Plymouth, 1639; and was some time treas. of the Colony; "a prosperous merchant; a man of large estate, of great usefulness, influence, and piety."

In 1830, "June 13, as workmen were digging up a portion of the foundation of 'the Old State House,' at the head of State Street, a stone was found which was doubtless at the head of his grave." The inscription was, "Here lyeth y^e body of Mr. William Paddy, æ. 58 yrs.; departed this life Aug. 24, 1658." On the opposite side of the stone was this:

Issue of MR. EDMOND FREEMAN, JR., who m. 1st REBECCA PRENCE, and 2d, MARGARET PERRY.

- *13. I. REBECCA, ³b. in Sandwich; m. Ezra Perry.
- 14. II. MARGARET, Oct. 2, 1652.
- *15. III. EDMUND, Oct. 5, 1655. m. Sarah.
- 16. IV. ALICE, March 29, 1658.
- *17. V. RACHEL, Sept. 4, 1659; m. John Landers.
- *18. VI. SARAH, Feb. 6, 1662; m. Richard Landers of Falmouth, Jan. 6, 1695-6.
- *19. VII. DEBORAH, Aug. 9, 1665; m. ~~John~~ Thomas Landers.

MR. EDMOND FREEMAN, JR., was a Deputy to the General Court from the town of Sandwich 1669, seven years.

Mr. F.'s 1st wife, REBECCA, was dr. of Gov. Thomas Prentice, by his first marriage; viz., to Patience, dr. of the venerable William Brewster, who came over in "The Mayflower," 1620. Mr. Brewster, b. 1560, and educated at the University of Cambridge, Eng., was ruling elder of the Leyden Church. He came to Plymouth with the early Pilgrims, continued, highly esteemed, and died in Plym., April 16, 1644, æ. 83. Mrs. F.'s father, Gov. P., was from Lechdale, Eng.; and coming to Plym., 1621, — probably in the ship "Fortune," though Farmer says, in the ship "Anne," — "was Governor of the Plymouth Colony more than twenty years: greatly distinguished." His biographer says of him, "His appearance was peculiarly dignified and striking; he had a countenance full of majesty, and was therein a terror to evil-doers." He d. March 29, 1673, and was buried at Plym., April 8.

"Here sleeps that | Blessed one whose lief | God help us all to live | That so when time shall be | That we this world must leave | We ever may be happy | With blessed William Paddy." It has been a question whether this latter inscription was not cut by some admiring friend who volunteered an impromptu offering, officiously, after the erection of the monument. Mr. Drake, historian, says, "Dea. P. left a large estate for those days, nearly £3,000." His will, Aug. 20, 1658, was pr. Sept. 21. "Dea. P. had nine chn., three of them by the 2d wife; and one of them was Wm., b. Sept. 16, 1652."

Mr. F.'s 2d wife, MARGARET, whom he m. July 18, 1651, — the former wife having died soon after giving birth to her only child, — may have survived her husband. They resided in Sandwich; but the date of decease of either, we are unable to state positively.

Issue of ELIZABETH FREEMAN, who m. JOHN ELLIS.

20. I. BENNET, b. in S., Feb. 27, 1649-9.

21. II. MORDECAI, March 24, 1650-1; m. Sarah —, who d. a wid. Oct. 25, 1716. He d. Feb. 20, 1709-10.

22. III. JOEL, March 20, 1654-5.

23. IV. MATTHIAS, June 2, 1657; m. Mary Burgess, prob. abt. 1678, and died Aug. 21, 1748.

The husband of the above ELIZABETH died doubtless abt. 1677; for at that date his estate was being administered by "his widow, and son Mordecai." In the letter of admn. "the late husband" is called "JOHN ELLIS, JR." We cannot, however, discover from aught on the records that he was not senior of all of the name of John Ellis found therein. In 1659 he is mentioned as "Lieutenant John Ellis," and "kept an ordinary in Sandwich." His descendants are numerous, widely dispersed, and highly respectable.

- 32. IX. PRINCE, Feb. 3, 1665-6; d. young.
- *33. X. NATHANIEL, March 20, 1669, "youngest son;" m. Mary, ^{Howland} abt. 1690.
- *34. XI. BENNET, March 7, 1670-1; m. Dea. John Paine of E., March 14, 1689.

The preceding MAJOR JOHN FREEMAN, frequently mentioned in the public records, first as "Lt.," subsequently as "Capt.," and later as "MAJOR," and whom a daughter of Gov. Prence, was resident in Sandwich. He prob. remained, either just before or after marriage, only a few years. Dec. 30, 1649-50, Jonathan Fish of S. deeded to him lands at "Skauton Neck in S., called by the Indians Arquidneck;" also, same date, Thomas Dexter conveyed to him "lands at Ploughed, or Skauton Neck, next to the lands of Edmond Freeman, Sr., Gent., said lands formerly belonging to Edward Wallaston, late inhabitant of Sandwich." A few years after, removed to Eastham, he is mentioned in records as "among the earliest settlers, with Gov. Prence." He was somewhat conspicuous in the military, doing service in the Indian wars. Through life he was a large landholder. In 1676 the sachem of Satucket, now West Brewster, conveyed to him, i.e. "John, Sr., of E.," certain lands; and these were re-conveyed by him, in 1696, to his son John of H. In 1691 "the town of Eastham mortgaged to Mr. John Freeman two islands as security for the payment of £76, it being the town's proportion of the expenses of obtaining the new charter from England." In 1695 another deed from him was made of "lands which belonged to my father Prence and Bradford, — lands which belonged to their purchase-grant." Major F. was many years prominent in public affairs, and has to this day been regarded as "one of the fathers of Eastham." He was Deputy, from 1654, eight years; Selectman, from 1663, ten years; Assistant in the Government, from 1666, several years; and late in life, Dec. 7, 1692, was appointed to the Bench of the Court of Com. Pleas. Through a long course of years he was a DEACON of the Eastham Church.

MAJOR FREEMAN'S wife MERCY d. Sept. 28, 1711, æ. 80. He d. Oct. 28, 1719, æ. 92. In the graveyard in E. is a headstone saying, "Here lies the body of Maj. John Freeman who d. Oct. 28, 1719, in the 98th yr. of his age." By the side of this is another, saying, "Here lies buried the body of Mercy Freeman, wife to Maj. John Freeman, who d. Sept. 28, 1711, æ. 80." The age on the first tablet is, we are confident, a mistake, — perhaps the error of the stone-cutter, but in any event an error in computation.

Owing to the early demise of several of the numerous family of Major John Freeman, they are not all individually mentioned in his will; which circumstance, together with the imperfect condition of the public records, has led to mistakes on the part of some who have aspired to the solution of genealogical difficulties; and their fancies have led to complications, making confusion worse confounded. A diligent student will, however, find all things explicable. The will of Major F. bears date June 1, 1716, and was pr. Nov. 4, 1719. It mentions the "eldest son," then living, "executor;" and also "son Edmd.; Nathaniel, youngest son;" g-s. Wm.; sons John Mayo and Jno. Paine; drs. Mary Knowles, Hannah Mayo, Patie. Paine, Rebecca Freeman wid. of Thomas, and g-dr. Lydia Godfrey. The will provides "freedom for my Negroes," with "four acres of land, a horse, and a cow;" and, showing commendable regard for the comfort of the emancipated, says, "I desire my children to put them in such way that they may not want." An "agreement of heirs" is on record, signed Jan. 29, 1719-20, by "John, Nathl., Samuel, and Mary Knowles, Jno. and Hannah Mayo, Patie. Paine, John Paine, Sarah Freeman widow of Edmd., Isaac eldest son of Edmd., Thos. Gross for Experie. dr. of Edmd., Isaac Doane for Ruth dr. of Edmd., Saml. Hinckley for Mary dr. of Edmd., Ebenezer s. of Edmd., Jona. Snow for Thankful dr. of Edmd., Thos. Cobb for Mercy dr. of Edmd., Isaac Pepper for Elizabeth dr. of Edmd., and by Daniel Cole."

The above MR. EDWARD PERRY d. Feb. 16, 1695. His will, 1694, pr. 1695, mentions "wife MARY executrix," and "six children." It also provides legacies for his "son Edward" and others. We have already intimated that the marriage of Mary Freeman and Mr. Perry was "prob. abt. 1653." This was the time when "Thos. Tupper was presented for neglect to marry Edwd. Perry." The trouble was, that P., having his sympathies with "the people called Quakers," declined the services of either clergyman or magistrate. For this offence, and for persisting in it, he was several times before the Court, and finally for rejecting the official services of the governor, who as the near relative of parties had been requested by the Court to see the marriage legalized, was mulct.

- *54. VII. WILLIAM, Dec. 4, 1700; m. Mary Bodfish, Dec. 6, 1726.
- *55. VIII. SARAH, Dec. 6, 1703; m. Isaac Nye, Feb. 7, 1725-6.
- *56. IX. ISAAC, Oct. 20, 1706; m. Deborah Foster of Be., Nov. 22, 1733.

The above MR. EDMUND FREEMAN d. May 18, 1720, æ. 65. His will, Dennis, May 13, 1720, pr. May 23, mentions "wife SARAH," two drs., and seven sons. It gives "to the eldest son a double portion;" and among the bequests are "lands in the Connecticut Colony." His decease seems to have been unanticipated; for, in hasty preparation of the will, there was a neglect to name an executor. An "agreement of the heirs was signed June 15, 1720, sustaining the provisions of the will, and confiding to the widow SARAH the duties of admn." The signers were "the widow, Edmd., Benj., Jno., Thos., Joseph, Wm., Isaac, Timothy Nye and Mary his wife, and Sarah Freeman;" and to these was joined the name of "Ebenezer Wing as guardian to the three younger children;" who, as will be seen, were Wm., then æ. 20, Sarah, 17, and Isaac, 14. The widow's discharge as admx. was Feb. 22, 1722-3. She survived until Nov. 12, 1742, when she d. æ. 90. We have desired to determine beyond doubt what was her maiden name, and have with apparent reason supposed that she was a SKEFFE, but cannot affirm that it is absolutely revealed. The conjecture that it was Skeffe has been somewhat discouraged by its not appearing as Christian name of either of her children. It is, however, given on the birth of a grandson. The name was undoubtedly introduced by reason of some family connection. This we have always regarded as certain; and, in 1854, we received corroborative evidence in a letter from our estimable cousin and very intelligent correspondent, Miss Julia Moulton of Mansfield, whose descent was from Skiffe Freeman, b. 1723, s. of Edmd. b. 1683: "My father says the Skiffs, formerly of Windham, were cousins to us; and Edmd., b. 1655, m. Sarah Skiff."

Mr. Edmund Freeman, Jr., was through the greater portion of his life a resident in Sandwich, where all his children were born and settled. But late in life he resided, as the date of his will shows, in Yarmouth, in that part of the town since known as Dennis, and now North Dennis. His residence there was for a short period only, and is understood to have been in consummation of negotiations and exchanges of property with the Halls, who removed to Sandwich. Mr. F. seems to have been pre-inclined to look for more eligible quarters than either S. or any other portion of the Cape afforded; for in 1702 he, in company with Mr. John Nye of S., viewed and "purchased one thousand acres of land in Windham, Ct., lying in that part of the township since known as Mansfield. The Indian name of the tract purchased was Nawbesetuck, and was set off from Windham a distinct town the next year."

Corroborative of the conviction that the above RACHEL m. MR. JOHN LANDERS, is the fact that Thos., father as is supposed of sd. Jno., died in S., Nov. 11, 1675, and his "inventory was presented by Mr. Edm. Freeman, Jr."

66. IV. SARAH, July 2, 1702.

67. V. RECOMPENSE, Sept. 7, 1704.

The above SARAH d. in S., Feb. 9, 1732-3. Her husband was originally of Sandwich, but had lands in Falm., 1704. There is a discrepancy in the records: the F. rec. says they were m. Jan. 18, 1697; the S. rec. shows that "Mr. Richard Landers was m. to Sarah Freeman by Justice Skeffe, Jan. 6, 1695-6." In 1730 the above MR. L. was on record as "a Quaker in F." The circumstance that the celebrant was Mr. S. strengthens the supposition that the mother of the above Sarah was a Skeffe.

- *83. XI. MARY; m. Fudah Berry, 1713.

The above MR. JOHN FREEMAN, JR., resided in that part of Harwich now called Brewster, and was one of the eight persons who constituted the original Church in H., Oct. 17, 1700. He m. 1st, SARAH, dr. of Wm. Merrick. She was b. Aug. 1, 1654, and, as we learn from Dea. John Paine's diary, died April 21, 1696. Mr. F. m. 2d, "the widow of Capt. Elkanah Watson of Plym., drowned at sea, 1690." She, the above MERCY, after becoming again a widow, died Sept. 27, 1721, æ. 63; and admn. on her estate was granted to Nathaniel Freeman of H., Oct. 4, 1721.

Mr. Savage savagely remarks in relation to the widow Mercy, "Tradition exults in saying that three of her daughters married three of Mr. F.'s sons." It is proper, therefore, to state here, that Mr. Savage is not strictly correct, and might on review have found occasion to add additional corrections to his already profusely and perplexingly errataed genealogical work. There was, however, some foundation for his disingenuous sarcasm: Capt. Watson had by his wife Mercy, who was a Bradford, four children; viz. Jno. 1678, Phebe 1681, Mercy 1685, and Mary 1688. One of the drs. m. a son of Thomas Freeman, and the two other drs. m. sons of John Freeman. Mr. F. had no issue by his 2d wife.

MR. FREEMAN died July 27, 1721, æ. 70. His will, April 2, 1721, pr. Aug. 10, mentions "my wife Mercy; sons Jno., Nathl., and Benj.; my drs. Sarah Snow, Pate. Crosby, Susanna

Mayo, and Elizabeth Freeman; the children of my dr. Mercy Foster dec.; the male chn. of my dr. Mary Berry dec.," and a "daughter of Berry, Sarah Gray;" and a son of Edwd. Gray, late of Yarm., dec." It may be here noted, as perhaps a contribution in aid of future investigations, that the will designates "the lot originally belonging to my bro. Thomas and myself, and now one-half in possession of Joseph, as my sons Jno., Nathl., and Benj. have divided it;" also "land that was Jonathan's dec., now in possession of Hatsuld;" and "lands which I hold in partnership with Micaijah Snow and Jno. King." It also mentions "Mrs. Rebecca Freeman, wid. of my bro. Thomas dec."

DEA. THOMAS FREEMAN was one of the persons who were of the first church in Harwich. He was elected Deacon,

Nov. 28, 1700. He was many yrs. Town Clerk, Treas., and Selectman; resided in that part of H. now called Brewster; and died Feb. 9, 1715-16, æ. 62. His will, Feb. 4, mentions "wife Rebecca; sons Thomas, Edmd., Joseph, Prince, Hatsuld; and drs. Mercy and Rebecca." Other chn., viz., Jona., Joshua, and Hannah, had died before. His eldest son, Thomas, who was executor to the will, d. the next year. MRS. REBECCA FREEMAN, the wid. of Dea. F., b. Oct. 30, 1655, was dr. of Jonathan Sparrow, Esq., and survived her husband many yrs. She died, Feb. 1740, æ. 86. Her will, June 13, 1729, pr. March 18, 1740, mentions "sons Edmd. and Hatsuld; son-in-law Paul Sears; and drs. Mary Sears and Rebecca Wing." The births of all Dea. F.'s family are recorded in both E. and H., except the last, viz., Rebecca, which is on the H. record only. We think there is no doubt that she m. 1st, "Joseph Vickerie of H.;" and 2d, "John Wing of H., July 24, 1723."

The above LIEUT. EDMUND FREEMAN d. Dec. 10, 1717. He resided in Eastham, in that part called Tonset; was a man of distinction, and many years selectman of E. It is not possible to determine with absolute certainty the order of the nativity of his family. The imperfect condition of municipal records, together with the fact that there were several of the name nearly contemporary, has sometimes made it difficult for novitiates to discriminate, and has led to confusion in their genealogical offerings.¹ There is no question that Lieut.

¹ We shall be at some pains to furnish facts and references that may hereafter serve to enlighten earnest inquirers. We will first state that Mr. William Merrick, Sen., the father of the first wife of John Freeman, No. 25, brother of the above Lieut. Edmd., directs in his will, Dec. 3, 1686, — which will, he tells us, was made when he was 86 years of age, — that after the payment of specific legacies “to my wife Rebecca, and sons William and Stephen, what more of my estate be left shall, at my wife’s decease, be equally divided amongst all my children, my grandchild Ruth Freeman to have an equal share amongst the rest of my children.” The presumption being, that one of Mr. Merrick’s drs. had married a Freeman, and had a dr. Ruth living when Mr. M.’s will was made: there is ground for the conjecture that Lieut. Freeman first married RUTH MERRICK, whose sister Sarah was wife of his bro. John. Now, Sarah, b. Aug. 1, 1654, who m. John Freeman Dec. 18, 1672, at the age of 18, had no daughter Ruth. Mr. M.’s only other drs. were Rebecca, b. July 28, 1648; Mary, b. Nov. 4, 1650, who m. Hopkins 1667; and Ruth, b. May 15, 1652. It would seem, then, that either Rebecca or Ruth m. a Freeman, and had an only child then living. We have no reason to suppose that Rebecca married; and are thus led to the conclusion that the

F.'s wife was SARAH, and that she was dr. of Samuel Mayo. Letters of adm. were granted to "Sarah, widow, and Isaac, eldest son, Feb. 25, 1717-18;" and mention is made in probate of "three sons and nine drs." In the final settlement, Feb. 12, 1718-19, appear the names of "Isaac, Ebenezer, Edmund," sons; and of the drs., "Ruth Doane, Sarah Higgins, Mary Hinckley, Experience Gross, Mercy Cobb, Thankful Snow, Elizabeth Pepper, Hannah Remick, and Rachel Freeman." Moreover, the will of "Mrs. Sarah Freeman, the widow of Lieut. Edmund Freeman," March 26, 1736-7, pr. March 5, 1745, mentions "my six daughters, Thankful Snow, Mary Hinckley, Mercy Cobb, Hannah Remick, Rachel Gray, Sarah Higgins; and my son Edmund, and the chn. of my son Isaac dec."

Ruth of the above family was the eldest child of Lieut. F. by a first marriage. Another source of perplexity to investigators has been the mention by Mr. John Sunderland in his will, 1700, of "Sarah Freeman," as his "daughter." To obviate difficulties touching this matter, let it be noted that Samuel Mayo's wife was Tamzin Lumpkin, who, becoming a widow, married, 2d, Mr. Sunderland. Sarah, the dr. of said Samuel, and the wife of Lieut. Edmund Freeman, became, as will be perceived, Mr. Sunderland's step-daughter. We may further note, as tending to throw some light upon apparent entanglements, the "agreement of the heirs of Maj. John Freeman, Jan. 7, 1719-20," signed by "John and Nathl. Freeman; Samuel and Mary Knowles; John and Hannah Mayo; Patience Paine; John Paine; Sarah Freeman, widow of Edmd.; Isaac, eldest s. of Edmd.; Thos. Gross, for Exp., dr. of Edmd.; Isaac Doane, for Ruth, dr. of Edmd.; Benj. Higgins, for Sarah, dr. of Edmd.; Saml. Hinckley, for Mary, dr. of Edmd.; Ebenezer, s. of Edmd.; Jon. Snow, for Thankful, dr. of Edmd.; Thos. Cobb, for Mercy, dr. of Edmd.; Isaac Pepper, for Elizabeth, dr. of Edmd.; and Daniel Cole." The last-named signer, Mr. Cole, is understood to have been the attorney of Mr. Remick, whose wife's interest in the estate rendered it necessary that she should be represented in the agreement. Whether Mr. Cole was in any way akin to the family, it is not necessary here to demonstrate; but it may be convenient, for future reference, to note that said Cole, in his last will, calls Mr. Remick cousin, and gives "a silver cup, marked M. F., to Mary, the dr. of Samuel Freeman," which dr. m. Daniel Freeman. There is before us also a deed, 1717, from "Daniel Cole of Eastham," to "my loving friend and cousin William Freeman, of Harwich," made "in consideration of love, good will, and affection."

Issue of WILLIAM FREEMAN, who m. LYDIA SPARROW.

- *133. I. LYDIA; m. Richard Godfrey of Chatham, Feb., 1701.
- *134. II. WILLIAM, Feb. 24, 1686, "eldest son;" m. Mercy Pepper of Eastham, Oct. 16, 1711.

MR. WILLIAM FREEMAN, son of Major John, d. 1687, just at the opening of life. Not mentioned in his father's will, this circumstance, together with defects in the town records, has led some engaged in genealogical research to overlook a portion of Major John's family, and even assign them to another origin. A careful observer will, however, see that Major John's last testament is not without reference, indistinct though it be, to the above son. The mention of "grandchildren William and Lydia Godfrey," suffices. Probate records show that "LYDIA, widow of William Freeman, was appointed admx. May 31, 1687;" and in the final settlement the widow, son William, and dr. Lydia, are severally named. Moreover, Jonathan Sparrow, Esq., of E., also mentions in his will, "my two grandchildren, William Freeman and Lydia Godfrey."

Tradition says that the above William Freeman conceived a settlement at Portanumcut, Pleasant Bay, territory belonging to "the purchasers or old-comers," and which, after 1694, was a part of the township of Harwich, and is now within the bounds of Orleans. He erected a house there; but, "his wife not liking the locality, the frame was taken down, and removed to another place."

- *140. VI. LYDIA, Oct. 14, 1703; m. Elisha Freeman, May 7, 1725.

The above NATHANIEL FREEMAN, ESQ., who resided in that part of the present Orleans, formerly the Indian Skaket, was "one of his Majesty's justices, and of the Court of Com. Pleas." He was also town clerk and selectman of Eastham, and "long prominent in public affairs." His wife, MARY, d. Jan. 29, 1742-3, æ. 76. He d. Jan. 4, 1760, æ. 91. It has been a question who was his wife. We are confident that she was Mary Howland. Zoeth Howland had a dr. Mary, b. Feb. 23, 1665; and there has existed a tradition among Howlands, that "this dr. Mary m. a distinguished man on the Cape, named Freeman." The circumstance that Mr. F.'s dr. Abigail, who m. Smith, named a son Zoeth, helps confirm the conviction that Mrs. F. was a Howland.

The above MRS. BENNETT PAINE d. May 30, 1716, and her grave is in "the old burying-ground" in Eastham. DEA.

PAINE kept a journal which is still extant; and in it he says, "She d. æ. 45: 2: 5, being great with child, and within two weeks of the time of travail; having lived with me in the married state upwards of 27 years. She was indeed the desire of my eyes, and the joy of my heart, a most profitable and pleasant companion, a most loving and obedient wife, a tender and compassionate mother, a kind mistress, a courteous neighbor, and a steady and fast friend; but above all, and that which crowned all, she was a good Christian, — one who delighted to attend the worship of God, both in public and in private, and was not a stranger to closet communion with God." DEB. P., b. March 14, 1650-1, s. of Thos. and Mary of E., m. 2d Alice Mayo, Feb. 18, 1719-20, and d. Oct. 18, 1731, æ. 71. The graves of both are in "the old burying-ground" in Orleans.

MR. EDMUND FREEMAN removed, with his large family, to the State of Connecticut, and settled in Mansfield, where his wife KEZIA died April 20, 1764, æ. 77, she having been b. 1688. He d. June 1, 1766, æ. 83. His will, May 28, 1765, was pr. June 12, 1766. MR. F. resided in the South Parish of M.; which place we visited in 1834, finding the chimney only of the old mansion, indicating the location of the house where our great-grandfather died, and where his grandson Hon. Jonathan Freeman was born soon after the removal of his parents from Massachusetts. Interest in lands bequeathed invited the removal; and the family name thence became numerous in Connecticut. In the old burying-ground in M., we found graves, on the monuments of which were inscribed: "Here lyeth interred y^e body of | Mr. Edmund Freeman | born at Sandwich, Aug. 30, 1683, and | departed this life June y^e first, 1766. | Job xix. 25, 26, 27;" and, "In memory of | Mrs. Kezia Freeman, late Consort of | Mr. Edmund Freeman, who | departed this life | April 20, 1764, aged 77 yrs."

Jan. 18, 1710-11, was dr. of Joseph Foster, who was some time resident in Barnstable, and some time in S., and originated from Marshfield. At the time of the marriage, the above couple were "of S." Our father's memo. has a note appended to notice of this family, saying, See Yarmo. records. We have failed to find there the additional light needed to clear up some matters that have received much attention. We trace to Hardwick some members of the family, and are led to the conclusion that others went in that direction. We find that one of the sons there named a daughter "Sarah Pope;" but who was the "Sarah Freeman" that, Aug. 18, 1748, "of Sandwich," m. "Ezra Pope of Newport," we are, after much investigation, unable to discover.

- *359. IV. DAVID, b. in Fairfield; m. Abigail Davis of Barnstable, March, 1753.

MR. ISAAC FREEMAN, "eldest son" of Lieut. Edmund of Eastham, m. a dr. of James and Rebecca (Thacher) Sturgis, March 16, 1715-16, and rem. to Fairfield, where he d. before 1736, as appears by his mother's will. His widow, BETHIA, returned to Yarmouth, and m. 2d, Job Gorham of Be. As some mistakes, and apparently much perplexity, have seemed to attend efforts to determine the genealogy of Lieut. Edmund Freeman's family, we may be excused for entering minutely into details. Mrs. Sarah Freeman, wid. of Lieut. Edm. of H., d. 1746, and in her will left legacies to "the four sons of my s. Isaac dec." Two of these, minors, chose, Sept. 24, 1746, their "brother Isaac of Boston" their guardian. Their mother, who had become a Gorham, and again a widow, d. at Be., July 11, 1769, æ. 73. Her birth was Feb. 19, 1695-6. Mrs. Abigail, the widow of David Freeman, administered her estate Aug. 8, 1769. She, Mrs. Bethia Gorham, had by her 2d marriage only one issue, a dr. Sarah, bap. Aug. 13, 1736, who prob. d. young. Our estimable correspondent, Miss Hinckley of Lowell, relates the following: "Bethia Sturgis was a very attractive young lady, possessing both personal and mental charms. Her hand was sought by two gentlemen of great respectability, Freeman and Gorham. Both urged their suit with great earnestness. She had so warm regard for, both, that, in the unsophisticated tenderness of her heart, she forbore giving preference to either, and left it for the two lovers to decide betwixt themselves. . . . No blood was shed; but Freeman was declared victor, and rewarded by the hand of the fair Bethia When she became a widow she returned to the scene of her youthful conquests. Mr. Gorham had remained single; and she crowned his constancy by becoming his wife."

Issue of EBENEZER FREEMAN, who m. ABIGAIL YOUNG.

*365. VI. ISAAC, b. prob. 1733; m. Thankful Higgins.

MR. EBENEZER FREEMAN, son of Lieut. Edm. of E., "settled at Billingsgate, in that part of Eastham since known as Wellfleet," and, according to tradition, "was the first Freeman who settled there." In the graveyard at W. are stones showing that "he d. June 11, 1760, æ. 73," and that his wife d. June 12, 1781, æ. 94. His wife, ABIGAIL, was dr. of David and Ann (Doane) Young, and b. Dec. 28, 1688, in E. The eldest son, Eben., adm. his father's estate July 1, 1760; which son, in a will dated Wellfleet, Sept. 12, 1774, pr. Nov. 19, app. "my bro. Isaac executor," and made him his "sole heir." There cannot be a doubt that the above Eben., Sr., was father of the Isaac who m. Thankful Higgins; for the graves of both Isaac and his wife Thankful are near the grave of the above Eben., as also the grave of the son Edmund who d. 1753, and the grave of the dr., "Mrs. Genet," who d. 1771.

- 441. VIII. ELIZABETH; m. Nathaniel Batey of Boston, abt. 1768.

MR. ELEAZER FREEMAN'S will, Dec. 11, 1782, pr. May 9, 1784, mentions "my wife; the chn. of my s. Prince dec.; my g.-chn., the chn. of my dr. Phebe Paine dec.; my three surviving chn., viz., Mary, Elizabeth, and Eleazer." It will be perceived that Mr. F. d. æ. 83; his widow also was very aged, and May 5, the next year, was provided with a guardian by appointment of her s.-in-law Nathan Smith. A "covenant for an amicable division of the estate and for the support of the wid. REBECCA" was made May 25, 1785; and by that instrument it appears that the heirs were as follows: "Eleazer the executor; Nath. Batey, and his wife Elizabeth a dr.; Josiah Paine, s. of Phebe a dr. and wife of Thos. Paine, which g.-s. signed in behalf of himself and bros. and sisters, viz., James, Enoch, Seth, Daniel, Clement, Phebe, — the last five being minors; Nathan Smith signed in behalf of Zoheth, gone to sea, and his other chn., viz., Gideon, Isaac, Thomas, Lewis, Fanny, Polly, Lucia, — minors, all chn. of his late wife Mary, a dr. of sd. Eleazer dec.; Nath. Knowles and his wife Jerusha, in right of sd. Jerusha, a dr. of sd. Nathan Smith, and g.-dr. of sd. Eleazer dec.; also, by Phebe, Tamzin, and Ruth Smith, chn. of sd. Nathan Smith; Martha Freeman, wid. of Prince, a son as guardian to his chn. Warren, Sylvia, Prince, Ruth, Nathaniel, and Charles, — minors, chn. of sd. Prince dec., and g.-chn. of sd. Eleazer."

The preceding MRS. LYDIA FREEMAN was dr. of Nathaniel Freeman, Esq., of Skaket, alias Eastham, and b. Oct. 14, 1703. Her husband MR. ELISHA FREEMAN was a descendant of the Watertown branch; and for this reason his posterity, in successive generations, will be given in PART II.; the discontinuance of the female issue after one generation being the rule. MRS. LYDIA above was m. to her husband, son of Samuel of Eastham, b. Dec. 9, 1701, May 7, 1725. With her husband, she settled early in Rochester, where their children were born; and there she probably died. Her husband went from R. to Liverpool, N.S., abt. 1760, with her nine children, and was there reported "a widower." The Liverpool records also tell that "with him came to L. a family of six sons and three daughters."

*463. X. MARTHA, March 15, 1759; m. Roger Hovey, July 6, 1783.

The above MR. EDMUND FREEMAN was b. in Sandwich 1711, and grad. H. C. 1733. On leaving college he engaged in teaching, and spent some time in NobsCUSset, — a part of the original township of Yarmouth, now known as North Dennis. The house in which he there resided, we explored in 1860; attracted simply by filial interest, for it was in that house our father was born. Our GRANDFATHER removed to Mansfield, Conn., about 1741-2. There, recognized as an educated and intellectual gentleman, he settled as a practical farmer, and continued to the close of life, dying Feb. 11, 1800, æ. 89. A large proportion of Mr. Freeman's college classmates became clergymen. Let it suffice to say Mr. F. was from youth to his grave practically and intelligently a consistent Christian. He married Aug. 7, 1736, MARTHA, dr. of Nathaniel Otis, Esq., of Sandwich.¹

¹ Inscriptions copied from the "old graveyard" in M. indicate the date of decease of both our grandparents: "In memory of | Deacon Edmund Freeman | who died Feb. 11, 1800 | in the 89th yr. of his age. | The memory of the just is blessed. | .Prov. x. 7." "Sacred to the memory of | Mrs. Martha Freeman, | the late virtuous consort of | Deacon Edmund Freeman, | who departed this life Jan. 22, 1790 | in her 72d year. | Prov. xxxi. 28."

The reader will excuse us if we essay to preserve on these pages, instead of indulging in comments of our own, a reminiscence or two selected as best illustrative of character:—

1. An extract from a letter in our hand, addressed by Dea. Edmund Freeman, and bearing date Mansfield, Feb. 6, 1776, addressed to his son Russell: "I observe in your letter a probability of your going into the army in defence of our all in life. . . . I hope you have consulted your own ability, and duly weighed the importance of the cause, with the fatigues and hazards attending. If you should go, by no means fail of engaging the gracious presence of God with you for your leader, guide, shield, and protector; and God grant that, if you are called to battle in his and his people's cause, you may through faith in him wax valiant in fight, and put to flight the enemies of tyranny and merciless oppression! To GOD I commend you, and with GOD desire to leave you and my other children."

2. We have in possession also a letter from our grandmother, addressed to our honored father, as follows: "Mansfield, Jan. 8, 1783. — DEAR SON, I can't bear to miss so good opportunity as by Mr. Thacher,

Our GRANDMOTHER was b. Dec. 11, 1717. Her father, b. in Barnstable, May 28, 1690, was son of Col. John Otis, and bro. of Col. James Otis. He resided in S. many yrs., holding various offices of public trust, prominently that of register of probate for Barnstable County. Her mother was Abigail, b. Oct. 2, 1687, dr. of Rev. Jonathan Russell, ordained at Be. 1683. She m. Mr. Otis, Dec. 21, 1710, who d. in S. Dec. 1739; his widow surviving him many years as a revered member of the family of her son-in-law the above Edmund. She d. in Mansfield, March 20, 1774.¹

just to acknowledge my thankfulness to you for your repeated kindnesses to us. Your sister Patty not yet married,—expect she will be the latter end of winter; is going into the new world to live,—talks of going up in a sleigh. Your brothers think it will be much better for him to settle there than here. They expect to settle in Hanover, near your bros. Jonathan and Otis. . . . Give my love to my daughter and to all yours as if named, and accept the same for yourself.

“Very respectfully, your careful mother,

“MARTHA FREEMAN.”

¹ On a visit to Mansfield, 1834, we found her grave with the monumental inscription: “In memory of | Mrs. Abigail Otis, | the pious and virtuous con- | sort of Mr. Nathaniel Otis, and daughter | of the Rev. Jona. Russell of Barnstable | where she spent the greatest part of her very | useful life. She died at Mansfield, March, 20 | 1764, ætat 87. | ‘The righteous shall be had | in everlasting remembrance.’” Dr. Stiles, President of Yale, has said of her, “She was a very remarkable woman, of superior excellence and exceedingly good natural abilities, of natural dignity and respectability, of considerable reading and extensive observation. She had all along in life been much conversant among ministers, gentlemen of the court, and persons of the first respectability; ever learning and imbibing something profitable, and took singular delight in the conversation of instructive characters." See the History of the Three Judges of King Charles I.

It may not be amiss to say in this connection, that our great-grandmother, the above ABIGAIL, was g-dr. of Rev. John Russell of Hadley, and sister of Rev. Jona. Russell; who succeeded his father in the ministry at Barnstable, and d. 1758. It was the Hadley minister who secreted the judges many yrs. A royal mandate issued March 5, 1660, for the arrest of Whalley and Goffe; and they, finding themselves discovered by an Indian in hunting, and deeming it prudent to change their place of concealment, left the "cave-in-the-rocks" near New Haven, and, travelling only at night, went Oct. 13, 1664, to Hadley. Parson Russell, perhaps by previous arrangement, received them, and became their protector. They remained under his roof; and it has been said that in 1664-5 Dixwell, another of the regicide judges, joined them. There was a tradition at Hadley, that two persons unknown were buried in the minister's cellar. Dixwell, it is generally believed, was buried at New Haven; and it is now thought that the bodies of Whalley and Goffe were also removed thither. The papers of the judges remained in the house of Mr. Russell until his decease 1692; and then passed to his son, who removed to Barnstable, and d. 1711. The papers then remained in possession of his son Rev. Jona. Russell, Jr., who d. 1758. "MRS. ABIGAIL RUSSELL OTIS spent much time in their perusal, and became familiar with their contents."

The above MR. PRINCE FREEMAN was b. in Sandwich, Mass., 1713; and m. RUTH, dr. of Theophilus Hall of M., Dec. 6, 1739. She d. May 19, 1740; and he m. 2d, ELIZABETH, dr. of Samuel Stetson of M., Sept. 15, 1742, who d. March 10, 1744; and he m. 3d, REBECCA, dr. of Wm. Johnson of M., Dec. 12, 1745. MR. F. rem. to N. H. abt. 1760, and d. June 25, 1781, æ. 68. The name PRINCE as a Christian name has been common among the descendants of both Edmund Freeman No. 3, and John Freeman No. 5, since their connection with the family of Gov. P. The governor wrote his name Prence, but the prevailing orthography has long been Prince.

- *590. I. IRENE, b. in Dux.; m. Rev. Zedekiah Sanger of Dux.
- 591. II. OLIVE; m. James Shaw, April 1, 1772.
- 592. III. SARAH; m. Ira Wadsworth, 1783.
- *593. IV. SAMUEL; m. and settled in Minot, Me.
- *594. V. CHANDLER; m. and settled in Minot.
- *595. VI. JOSEPH; m.

The above DEA. JOSEPH FREEMAN and wife went in 1784 from Duxbury to Bakerstown, Me., the part where he located being set off as Minot in 1795. "He set up public worship, in his house, wherein, Sept. 8, 1791, the first Congregational church was gathered. He was chosen deacon 1792." From historical documents we glean the following items; viz., "He had been town-clerk in Dux. several yrs. He d. March 12, 1792, æ. 67; his wife CAROLINE d. a widow, 1795.

Issue of LYDIA FREEMAN by PEABODY BRADFORD.

596. I. PEABODY, b. March 3, 1757, "son of Peabody Bradford."

The above LYDIA of Duxbury, dr. of Joseph, had by P. B. a son Peabody who was probably the same who m. "Widow Hannah Freeman, July 29, 1788," and "was living in Bakers-town, 1850, a very aged man," perhaps in that part of B. called "Auburn." Both Minot and Auburn were formerly a part of Bakerstown. He "had a large estate there."

193.

Issue of HANNAH FREEMAN, who m. SILAS TUPPER.

598. I. ANNA, April 9, 1758, in S.; m. Samuel Gifford of S.; rem. to Vt., and d. abt. 1836.

599. II. SARAH, April 1, 1760; m. John Fish of S., and, with the family, went to Vt., and d. April, 1847.

600. III. SAMUEL, March 22, 1762; "went with his parents to Barnard, Vt."

601. IV. POLLY, b. in S.; m. Nathaniel Atkins of B.

602. V. HANNAH, b. in S.; m. "Elisha Freeman in B."

603. VI. SILAS, b. in S.; was resident in B., 1860.

The above couple, HANNAH and her husband SILAS TUPPER, went from Sandwich to Barnard, Vt. She d. Jan. 4, 1796. He d. March 28, 1801, in Barnard. We have supposed it possible that the "Elisha Freeman" who m. their dr. Hannah was emigrant from Conn., and was perhaps son of Sylvanus of Mansfield; but are not confident.

194.

Issue of THOMAS FREEMAN, who m. PHEBE HALL.

- *604. I. WILLIAM, July 12, 1757, in S.
- *605. II. THOMAS, April 1, 1762, in S.; m. Rebecca Swift of Roch.
- *606. III. JOSHUA, April 10, 1764, in S. It is said he "settled in Moretown, Vt., as early as 1818."
- *607. IV. ELISHA, Oct. 3, 1766, in S.; m. Hannah Tupper; and 2d, Sarah McIntosh, July 4, 1813.
- *608. V. STEPHEN, Dec. 11, 1768, in S.; m. Sarah Jones, Dec. 3, 1791, in Barnard.
- *609. VI. LYDIA; m. John Newton, Jan. 15, 1778, of B.
- *610. VII. MARY.

The above MR. THOMAS FREEMAN, called in records "Jr.," and who was m. to Phebe Hall, in S., Oct. 9, 1752, was some time in Carver, and then some time in Hardwick; and went thence to Barnard, Vt., being amongst the earliest settlers, June 15, 1775. There was a tradition of him in B., that "he came from where he heard the guns of the Bunker-Hill battle." As the births of his five sons are on record in Hardwick, as well as S., it is thought that he sojourned there before finally settling in Barnard. Thompson's Vermont says, "The settlement at Barnard was begun March, 1775, by Thos. Freeman, his son William, and John Newton." Again, the Hist. of Vt. says, "Thomas Freeman, Jr., came to B. June 7, 1775; he is now, 1842, living, and the only survivor of those who spent the first winter there." We suppose there can be no doubt that Mr. Thos. Freeman, Sen., had other children than the five sons whom he took with him from Sandwich; and, satisfied of the fact, we have added the names of Lydia and Mary, both of whom we sup. were b. in S.; Lydia being the first-born child, — prob. abt. 1754, and Mary "bap. Sept. 16, 1759."

195.

Issue of REBECCA FREEMAN, who m. JONATHAN NYE, JR.

- 611. I. OLIVER, bap. April 4, 1762, in Hardwick.
- 612. II. MARY, bap. Aug. 5, 1764, in Hardwick.
- 613. III. HANNAH, bap. Oct. 12, 1766, in Hardwick.

MR. ELISHA FREEMAN d. Jan. 20, 1823, in Lee. His wife Elizabeth was dr. of Jno. Percival of S., and b. Nov. 3, 1748. They rem. to Lee abt. 1775. She d. in Lee, a widow, May 14, 1832.

Issue of JOSHUA FREEMAN, who m. MEHITABLE BLOSSOM and LYDIA BLACKWELL.

- 628. I. LEVI, Dec. 29, 1770, in Sandwich; d. æ. abt. 21, unmarried.
- 629. II. JOSEPH, Sept. 9, 1773; d. æ. abt. 19, unmarried.
- 630. III. HANNAH, Feb. 18, 1775; m. Thos. Eldred of F., Feb. 12, 1795.
- 631. IV. REBECCA, Aug. 10, 1778; m. David Crowell of F., Nov. 27, 1800.
- *632. V. WILLIAM, Aug. 19, 1780; m. Mehitable.
- 633. VI. JOANNA, Jan. 18, 1783; d. æ. abt. 17.
- *634. VII. JOSHUA, Feb. 21, 1786; m. Nabby Fuller, Nov. 19, 1813, and rem. to Worcester.
- 635. VIII. MEHITABLE, March 20, 1789; m. Joseph Bliss 3d, of Barnstable, Oct. 16, 1809, and rem. to Illinois.
- *636. IX. THOMAS N., July 22, 1791; m. Deborah F. Nye, June, 1820.

The above MR. JOSHUA FREEMAN, in his will, 1810, mentions "wife LYDIA; sister Mary; sons Wm., Joshua, and Thos.; drs. Hannah Eldred and Mehitable Blish; and the son of my dr. Rebecca Crowell dec." Mr. F.'s 2d wife was wid. of Micah Blackwell. Her maiden name was Tobey; she m. Mr. F., May 15, 1796, and "d. abt. 1804. of a prevailing fever which also took off the two eldest sons."

204.

Issue of NATHAN FREEMAN, who m. MARY.

- 637. I. JANE, bap. in Hardwick, July 19, 1761.
- 638. II. DELIVERANCE, bap. in H.; m. Jonathan Childs, Jan. 13, 1778.
- 639. III. NATHAN, May 30, 1762.
- 640. IV. JOSEPH, May 1, 1764.
- 641. V. SARAH POPE, bap. Sept. 14, 1766.
- 642. VI. JOSEPH, bap. May 13, 1770.

At what time the above MR. NATHAN FREEMAN went to Hardwick, and whether other members of the family removed thither, are matters that elude research. The H. records say that Mr. F. "died Nov. 8, 1769." His grave-stone says he was "æ. 34." Hardwick records also say, "Capt. Nathaniel Whitcomb m. widow Mary Freeman, Oct. 17, 1779." She, prob. was wid. of the above Nathan, whose last born was posthumous. The occurrence of the name "Sarah Pope," given to the fifth issue of the above parents, revives a question which we have not been able to solve, viz., "Who was the Sarah Freeman of S., who m. Ezra Pope of Newport, Aug. 18, 1748?" The daughter above was doubtless named for her, and hence the fact is suggestive touching paternity.

The above MR. THOMAS FREEMAN "d. of small-pox," Jan. 19, 1766, and was a resident of that part of H. now S. Orleans. "The disease of which he d. was contracted at Col. Ryder's in C., where he had been called to render medical aid, he being somewhat skilled in the art of healing." His inv. March 28, 1766. The division of estate, April 29, mentions "wid. Dorathy; sons Thos., Isaac, and Timothy." The afore-said Thomas, Sr., was app. "Justice for the Portanumquit-Indians," 1765. His widow DORATHY was a member of Mr. Bascom's ch. in O. Sept 26, 1781, "recejved at her house, she being sick." She d. 1782.

290.

Issue of JAMES FREEMAN, by MARY FREEMAN.

- *723. I. JAMES, b. in Orleans ; m. Ann Eldridge of C., Dec. 8, 1763.

The above JAMES FREEMAN charged by "Miss Mary," his cousin, dr. of Prince, with being the father of her child born out of wedlock, went to Provincetown, and d. 1741, unmarried. The son of this unfortunate Mary was, with his mother, bap. in O., June 8, 1740. She was pub. to Isaac Smith, 1744.

292.

Issue of SAMUEL FREEMAN, who m. MARGARET and MARY.

- *724. I. SAMUEL, JR., April 9, 1736, in H. ; m. Mercy Snow of H., Dec. 16, 1756.
725. II. BASHUA, May 30, 1738, in H. ; m. Eliakim Higgins of O., Dec. 16, 1756.

- *730. VI. JOSIAH, Feb. 20, 1754, in H. ; m. Sarah Bee of Liv., and 2d Mary Cobb.
731. VII. SETH, Jan. 8, 1756, in H., by 2d m. ; he d. in Liverpool.
732. VIII. DOANE, Aug. 14, 1757, in H.
- *733. IX. BENJAMIN, April 13, 1759, in Bristol, Me. ; m. Elizabeth Nickerson, July 7, 1782.
734. X. MARGARET, May 19, 1761, in Liverpool, N.S. ; d. in Liv.
735. XI. SARAH, March 20, 1763, in Liv. ; d. in Liv.
736. XII. LYDIA, Nov. 20, 1764, in Liv. ; d. in Liv.
- *737. XIII. JAMES, Sept. 24, 1767, in Liv. ; m. Hannah Barss, Dec. 11, 1792, in Liv.

The FATHER of the preceding large family, b. 1715, removed to Liverpool, N.S., about 1760. In deeds and other documents he is styled "Esquire," which in N. S. prob. denoted a magistrate or provost marshal, as early as Oct. 26, 1773. We are unable to determine with absolute certainty the family names of the persons he married; but we think there cannot be much doubt that his first wife was a Smith, and his second a Doane. We are confidently assured, that, in addition to the children recorded as born in Harwich, was yet another not mentioned above; viz., Kezia, who. m. Prince Higgins of E., Jan. 16, 1766, and whose descendants are in Orrington, Me.

294.

Issue of MERCY FREEMAN, who m. THOMAS WATERMAN.

- 738. I. JONATHAN, Dec. 17, 1730, in Plympton; m. Hannah Soule.
- 739. II. ABIGAIL, May 16, 1733; m. James Thomas.

The above MERCY, who was dr. of Jonathan Freeman by his wife Mercy Bradford, and b. 1711, was step-daughter to Lieut. Isaac Cushman. Her mother, becoming a widow, m. 2d Cushman, and the family were taken by him to Plympton. MR. WATERMAN, who m. the dr. MERCY, was b. 1707, s. of Robt. by wife Mary Cushman. The above "MRS. MERCY" d. prob. abt. 1760; for Mr. W. m. his 2d w. Joanna Harlow, Jan. 5, 1763. Mr. W. d. in Plympton, 1789, æ. 62.

297.

Issue of CAPT. WATSON FREEMAN, who m. SARAH GRAY.

- 745. I. PHEBE, June 1, 1725, in H.; prob. m. Moses Mayo, March 10, 1742.
- *746. II. ELKANAH, March 31, 1727; m. Abigail Mayo, Oct. 11, 1750.
- 747. III. SARAH, March 29, 1729; prob. m. Benj. Cobb, March 21, 1750.
- *748. IV. ISAAC, Oct. 25, 1733; bap. 1734; prob. m. Elizabeth Cole, Dec. 30, 1756.

- *750. VI. WATSON, 1739; bap. Feb. 25, 1739; m. Thankful Freeman, March 18, 1762.

Issue of JOSHUA FREEMAN, who m. PATIENCE ROGERS.

- *751. I. JOSHUA, JR., May, 1731; bap. May 23, in H.; m. Lois Pierson, June 19, 1750.
- 752. II. MARY, April 7, 1735, in H.
- *753. III. GEORGE, 1739; m. Martha Thorne in Portland, Feb. 14, 1760.
- 754. IV. REUBEN, 1741; bap. July 12, 1741, in H. See Parson Stone's record.
- 755. V. WILLIAM, 1743; bap. May 15, 1743.

The above "CAPT. JOSHUA FREEMAN" became a resident in Portland, Me.; but at what precise time he removed from Harwich is a question somewhat complicated by Willis and other writers, as is also his age. This much, however, is certain: He m. PATIENCE ROGERS of Ipswich, Sept. 17, 1728, who was dr. of Daniel and Sarah (Appleton) Rogers of I. and b. Sept. 4, 1710 ; d. Dec. 31, 1769, æ. 59. Willis's Hist. of Portland says, "Capt. Joshua Freeman of Plym. removed to Portland previous to 1740 ;" also says, "his son George was an infant when his father came." Both these statements are probably conjectural. Mr. W. evidently speaks not by book saying, "he was buried Sept. 1, 1770, æ. 70 ;" for he d. Sept. 23, 1770, æ. 64. Mr. W. is probably correct that in P. he was sometimes distinguished by the sobriquet "Fat Freeman." In the newspaper announcement of his marriage, he is reported as "of Plymouth." It is also understood that he was, for a brief period, resident in Plym., and may have been an innholder there: Enoch Freeman in his diary, 1729, reports himself as "lodging at Capt. Joshua Freeman's in P., after getting lost in the Sandwich woods."

Issue of EDMUND FREEMAN, JR., who m. MARY CLARK.

- 756. I. HANNAH, Oct. 25, 1732, in H. ; prob. d. young.
- 757. II. EDMUND, Oct. 10, 1734.
- 758. III. SCOTTO, Feb. 20, 1736 ; prob. d. young.
- *759. IV. MARY, June 12, 1739 ; m. Jonathan Hopkins, abt. 1761.
- *760. V. PHEBE ; m. David Foster, Nov. 2, 1768.
- *761. VI. SETH ; bap. Oct. 25, 1761 ; m. Abigail Rogers, Sept. 30, 1773.
- *762. VII. HASKELL, bap. Oct. 1761 ; m. Huldah Crosby, 1781.

MR. EDMUND FREEMAN above d. about 1776. His will, Sept. 30, 1775, pr. July 9, 1776, mentions "wife Mary ; sons Seth and Haskell ; dr. Phebe Foster ; son-in-law David Foster ; grandsons Scotto Hopkins and Edward Hopkins ; and g-dr. Elizabeth Freeman." His wife MARY, whom he m. Oct. 7, 1731, was dr. of Scotia Clark (so recorded, but the prevailing orthography at present is Scotto). She was b. April 17, 1712.

She joined the ch. in H. June 7, 1764. Her husband had previously joined, Oct. 25, 1761. He was chosen deacon April 6, 1776, and d. the same year. The will of his wife MARY, widow, 1797, appoints "Seth of H., executor." Records say that "Mr. Edmund Freeman, Jr., was published 1760, to Betsey Beals of Boston:" we fail to determine with certainty who he was; perhaps he was the above son b. 1734?

Issue of THACHER FREEMAN, who m. ANNA GRAY.

356.

Issue of ISAAC FREEMAN, who m. ANN SMETHURST.

814. EDMUND, Oct. 15, 1750, in Marblehead.

The above ISAAC FREEMAN is undoubtedly the person to whom reference is made in the "Memoir of Quincy" by his son, p. 55, where he says, "It was Isaac Freeman who, in 1748, in ship 'Bethel,' during the war between England and France, and Spain, captured 161 chests of silver, and 2 chests of gold," &c.

357.

Issue of EDMUND FREEMAN, who m.

815. I. A SON.

There has been perplexity attending investigations touching the above Edmund and his bros. Miss Hinckley, excellent authority both because of her intelligence and commendable interest in family matters, says the above "Edm. was a merchant in company with his brother James," and that "after James died, 1763, he became a sea-captain, and, during the French Revolution, captured a Spanish galleon, and became rich." Does Miss H. confound Edm. with his bro. Isaac? or is Mr. Quincy under some mistake in regard to the name? Miss H.'s statement is corroborated in measure by the fact that "Edmund's portrait, at Dr. Huntington's, is taken with a globe and compass, — indicating a seaman's profession." But, as Miss H. mentions "also portraits of Col. Edmund and Capt. Isaac Freeman," we are somewhat confused and led to question our own understanding. There seems, however, to be no doubt that the above Edm. married; for Miss H. says, "his widow m. 2d Capt. Pete of the Br. Provinces."

Issue of JAMES FREEMAN, who m. DEBORAH TASKER.

816. I. STILL-BORN, in Marblehead.

817. II. NANCY, Sept. 9, 1760; d. July 29, 1762.

*818. III. DEBORAH, Sept. 13, 1763, "after her father's death;" m. Joseph Hinckley, Nov. 4, 1783.

MR. JAMES FREEMAN d. May 27, 1763, æ. 34. A notice of his decease, dated Marblehead, May 30, 1763, says, "Of virtue, integrity, filial duty, conjugal tenderness and affection, sincere and steady friendship, charity, hospitality, and benevolence, an amiable example; living, beloved; and, now dead, lamented by all who have known him." His decease occurred "only a few years after marriage." He was buried under the Episcopal Church at M. His WIDOW m. 2d Col. Wm. Bourne of M., his 2d wife; and, again a widow, d. May 30, 1810, æ. 77. Col. B. was son of Sylvanus Bourne, Esq., of Barnstable.

Miss H. says, "Mr. James Freeman was a very respectable merchant at M., and left a large property to his widow, who was tenderly attached to him. His slave "Cæsar Freeman, and Cæsar's wife Venus, were brought up in the Episcopal Church." Of MRS. DEBORAH, the wife of James, it is said, she was dr. of John and Deborah Tasker, her father being a Judge of the Mass. Province, and contemporary with Sir William Shirley the gov., who sent to Judge T. his portrait now in Lowell. Judge T. was b. in Pembroke-shire, Wales, Sept. 1707, and d. 1761. He m. Deborah Skinner of Marble-head, a widow. "MRS. DEBORAH FREEMAN was an uncommon woman; uniting, in youth, beauty and elegance of person with sound good sense and a highly cultivated mind, commanding the respect of all who knew her. She was always addressed Madam."

Issue of DAVID FREEMAN, who m. ABIGAIL DAVIS.

819. I. THOMAS DAVIS, March 25, 1757, in Be.

The above DAVID d. abt. 1769. His widow Abigail was app. "Gn. to Thos. Davis Freeman, s. of David and g.-s. of Mrs. Bethia Gorham, late of Be., dec.," July 11, 1769; and was also app. Aug. 8, same year, to adm. on sd. Bethia, widow. The will of "MRS. ABIGAIL FREEMAN, widow, Sept. 18, 1788, pr. Nov. 12, gives to her "sister Lucy Garrett, and to Sarah Parker wife of Isaiah," all her property "in case my son Thos. D. does not return." A query here suggests, Who was the "Lieut. Freeman of the 54th Regiment," who, as reported in "The New York Gazette," Aug. 28, 1780, "d. on Monday morning last, and the same evening was buried"? The above David was "g.-s. of Mrs. Bethiah Gorham, who was a Sturgis," and then the wid. of Isaac Freeman, "late of Fairfield, dec." She m. 2d Job Gorham, 1735, at which time she was "of Fairfield, Conn." Wid. Bethia Gorham of Be., b. Feb. 19, 1695-6, d. July 11, 1769, and had by her 2d m. a dr. Sarah bap. 854. II.

The above family rem. to Falm., Me. The mother d. Oct. 5, 1773.

Issue of ISAAC FREEMAN, who m. RUTH HATCH.

*855. I. RUTH, Nov. 24, 1754; m. Henry Prentiss of Boston, Sept. 17, 1775.

The above MR. ISAAC FREEMAN d. Dec. 22, 1757. MRS. RUTH FREEMAN was dr. of Benjamin Hatch of H., and b. 1733. She, becoming a widow, m. 2d, Jonathan Freeman, the bro. of her dec. husband. The father of the above Isaac gives in his will, 1770, "to Ruth the only heir of my s. Isaac." We think it beyond doubt that the above wid. Ruth m. 2d, Jonathan Freeman; for a "discharge for legacy," June 5, 1773, by Jonathan and Ruth Freeman, to Solomon Freeman executor, "£90 left by the father," seems conclusive; it being evident, that, although the dr. Ruth is called the "dr. of Capt. Jonathan," step-dr. was intended.

Issue of JONATHAN FREEMAN, who m. RUTH FREEMAN and ABIGAIL BROWN.

*856. I. JONATHAN, 1761, in Cambridge.

The above was a ship-master, and afterwards a merchant in Boston. He resided some time in Cambridge; and subsequently in Milton, in occupancy of "the Foy House on Milton Hill," which in 1869 was yet standing. He d. Sept. 27, 1796. "His widow survived him but a few months."

As difficulty has attended investigations in regard to both of the two preceding families, we make this note : The Prentiss Genealogy, 1852, says, Hy. Prentiss who m. Ruth Freeman 1775 was son of Rev. Joshua of Holliston ; was b. 1749 ; d. Aug. 31, 1821 in Medford æ. 73, and was buried in King's Chapel cemetery. Prentiss was a merchant in Boston and one of the memorable Tea Party, 1773. He was also a Capt. in the Rev. army during the war, and was at the crossing of the Delaware at Trenton. His wife Ruth d. Jan. 16, 1800, æ. 45. The compiler of the Prentiss Genealogy evidently mistakes in supposing she was the dr. of Jonathan Freeman. She became, as we have said, his step-dr., her mother having m. Capt. Jonathan Freeman when her only child was abt. 3 yrs. old. That he m. Abigail Brown, whose husband had d. 1789, is not improbable ; and that Capt. F.'s matrimonial connections were "Hatch, Freeman, Stone," we sup. has reference to his 1st wife's maiden name, her name by 1st marriage, and to the 2d wife, who, before her marriage to Brown, may have been a Stone.

- *862. VI. SOLOMON, May 22, 1770 ; m. Abigail Clark, Sept. 11, 1793.
- *863. VII. DESIRE, June 5, 1774 ; m. Benjamin Foster.

HON. SOLOMON FREEMAN d. March 11, 1808, æ. 75. One record says he d. March 8, æ. 75 : 1 : 3. His 1st wife, MERCY, was dr. of Dea. Chilingsworth Foster, and d. May 4, 1760.

His 2d wife, DESIRE, was dr. of Joseph Doane, Esq., of E., and d. Nov. 20, 1807, æ. 78:11:5. His biographer says, "He was highly esteemed for his excellent qualities of mind and heart; was called to many important trusts, and always acquitted himself with honor." Mr. F. was, at the time of his death, a senator, having represented the county twenty years. He had also been selectman, rep., and judge of the com. pleas. His residence was Brewster.

Issue of PRINCE FREEMAN, who m. MARTHA FREEMAN.

Before proceeding to an enumeration of another generation, we wish to embrace the opportunity that yet remains to note a contribution made by Mr. Murphy, our minister at the Hague, to the Historical Magazine, from the city records at Leyden, and copied into Mr. Drake's "Founders of New England," p. 86. We regret to have omitted it in its proper place on p. 27. Our attention has just been called anew to the subject by that always observant and astute antiquarian, our esteemed friend J. Wingate Thornton, Esq.; and we present with it a valuable extract from his letter, embracing just what we would say: "Richard Masterson of Sandwich, Eng., married Mary Goodall of Leicester, Eng., Nov. 26, 1619. His brother-in-law JOHN ELLIS witnessed the ceremony." Mr. Thornton adds, "Probably this Richard Masterson was afterwards of Plym.; and the son of John Ellis may well have been he who m. Elizabeth Freeman. Very closely linked by domestic and religious ties were the founders of Plymouth Colony; and previous neighborhood had much to do with the make-up of the various settlements." Mr. Drake mentions John Ellis, Henry Wood, and others connected with our early colonial settlers, as names found in the Leyden records.

Seventh Generation.

The first winter his wife was the only female in town. He soon after settled in Lebanon, the township adjoining. He was first known as "Capt.," afterwards as "Col. F." He commanded a company in the Rev. war, and was at the surrender of Burgoyne. He filled various civil offices, and was "through life firm and zealous in his country's cause, discharging with good reputation every duty." Of distinguished uprightness and integrity, he commanded universal respect and esteem. Early a professor of the Christian religion, his faith firmly established, and his walk eminently illustrative of true discipleship, his religion gave a lustre to his every act until "he came in good old age to the grave as a shock of corn cometh in its season fully ripe." He died in Lebanon, Aug. 26, 1813, æ. 76. His first wife was from Mansfield, and d. Sept. 13, 1777; his 2d wife was also a Porter, b. in M., widow of Jno. Estabrook of Lebanon; and to her he was m. Feb. 19, 1778.

[Fraternal affection here demands a record in memory of a beloved sister, SOPHRONIA GIFFORD. On the marriage of our honored Father to his 2d wife, our Sister Sophronia, the dr. of our Mother by her 1st marriage, was adopted into the family as a dear child and beloved sister, and was brought up as if one of the above twenty children, greatly endeared to us all, as she was through life to all who knew her. She was b. Nov. 28, 1789, in Falm., where her father and mother then resided. She married Capt. Kimbal Perry of S., Jan. 19, 1815; and d. in Rochester, April 1, 1852, æ. 63. Capt. P. was s. of Dea. Daniel Perry of Sandwich, b. May 17, 1788, and died one week after the decease of his wife. Our brother Abraham W. Freeman says in a letter, June 6, 1852, "If there be such a thing as happiness beyond the grave, she must enjoy it. I never knew one so perfectly amiable and good as our sister Sophronia." Her dying request was to be "buried near dear Father Freeman."]

Our honored father, the preceding NATHANIEL FREEMAN, was b. in North Dennis, March 28, 1741, O. S., and d. in Sandwich, Sept. 20, 1827, in the 87th year of his age. Removed to Mansfield when in infancy, his minority was spent in Connecticut. Upon completing a course of medical studies under the direction of Dr. Cobb of Thompson, Conn., he returned to the seat of his ancestry in Sandwich, and was at once established here in his profession. See a memoir of him in Thacher's Medical Biography. His monumental stone, a pyramidal structure of modest pretensions, cut from granite, bears the following inscription : —

“Here lies the body of NATHANIEL FREEMAN, Doctor of Medicine, a lineal descendant in the fifth generation from Edmund Freeman, the original purchaser and settler of this town. Eminent in his profession, he also distinguished himself as an ardent friend of liberty in the popular movements that preceded the Revolution. He was an active and prominent member of the Massachusetts Congress in the memorable year 1775, and representative of the town in the first General Court held under the new government. He was thrice elected representative at subsequent periods, and was called by his fellow-citizens to various other places in the civil and military service of the Commonwealth ; twelve years a brigadier-general in the militia, thirty-six years a judge of the court of common pleas, and forty-seven years register of probate for the county of Barnstable. He was twice married, and was father of twenty children, of whom eighteen lived to mature age, and fourteen survived him. He left his family as their principal inheritance the precious example of a long, useful, honored, patriotic, and Christian life.”

DR. FREEMAN'S 1st m. was with TRYPHOSA COLTON of Killingly, Conn., May 5, 1763. She was b. March 18, 1743 ; and d. July 11, 1796, æ. 53 : 3 : 23. He m. 2d ELIZABETH GIFFORD, wid. of Josiah of Falm., April 7, 1799. She was b. Oct. 6, 1767, dr. of Mr. Jno. Handy of S. ; and d. a widow, May 27, 1841, æ. 74.

Although the events of DR. F.'s patriotic life are interwoven in history, his early aspirations were not toward military life, nor primarily for distinction in civil life. His future, like the career of his friend and co-patriot Gen. Joseph Warren, was determined by the force of circumstances. Giving himself in 1765, soon after marriage, to the practice of medicine in the town of his fathers' sepulchres, he soon became distinguished as physician and surgeon. A regular course of legal reading was, by the advice of his maternal uncle Col. Otis, undertaken, for the single reason that the exciting topics of the day seemed to render it expedient that men called to occupy prominent positions should fortify their minds for exigencies that might arise. Records and correspondence, from the hour in 1773, when he presented resolutions in sympathy with the spirited action of the town of Boston, show that his influence was prominent not only at home, but in every general and patriotic movement abroad. The minutes of "the Body of the People," in 1774, make it evident that that was no ordinary movement instigated by demagogues, but the procedure of high-minded men resolved to resume abused delegated power. There was a full and perfect understanding between leading patriots in other parts, and himself, in regard to the duty and importance of the movement.¹ The journals of the General

¹ Thacher's Military Journal of the Rev. War has the following, p. 14 : "At a regular term of the Court of Com. Pleas at Be., Sept. last, I witnessed the following prompt procedure. A body of about 1,200 men assembled, and obstructed the passage to the court-house door. The leader of this assemblage was Dr. Nathaniel Freeman of Sandwich, a bold son of liberty. Col. James Otis, the chief-justice of the court, preceded by the sheriff, approached, and demanded admission. Dr. F. replied that it was the intention of the people to prevent the court being opened to exercise those unconstitutional powers with which they were invested by parliament. The venerable chief-justice in his Majesty's name commanded them to disperse, and permit the court to enter and proceed to business. But his Majesty's name had lost its power : it can have no charms with sons of liberty. The judge said he had acquitted himself of duty, and then retired. This proceeding had been discussed and concocted prior to the court term ; and Col. Otis, himself a staunch Whig, was, it is believed, not only apprised of, but actually acquiesced in, the bold measure."

Court convened in 1775, of which he was a member, and which "took up government" on recommendation of the Provincial and Continental Congresses; especially the construction of important committees, and the appointments following,—evidence his standing then and there. Elected lieut.-col. of militia, and subsequently col., and appointed superintendent for the county during the war; his position in the house of rep. 1778, 1779, and 1780; the many honors conferred in quick succession,—all bespeak high estimate of his various public and patriotic services. His military appointment, 1781, of BRIGADIER-GENERAL, he resigned after good service, the moment he thought he might do it with justice to his country's claims; and on that occasion Gov. HANCOCK, before yielding consent, gave utterance to the commendation, "An officer whose patriotic services shone so conspicuously during a long and arduous revolution which tried the souls of men in whatever station called by the voice of their country to act." Gov. H. dying before the discharge was made, it became the duty of SAMUEL ADAMS, lieut.-gov., to forward the papers, and Gov. A. wrote, "The spirit of liberty, under whose benevolent

A letter addressed by Dr. F., May 2, 1775, to "the chairman of the general committee of safety," is illustrative of his patriotic energy: "Any further orders from the hon. com., in the cause of God and my country, I am ready to execute with the greatest pleasure." See Am. Archives, vol. ii.

It cannot be supposed that Dr. F.'s bold and determined advocacy of the Revolutionary cause would not excite the ire of Tories; nor was he himself surprised by their desire to secure his extinction. A dastardly attempt to assassinate him was made, an account of which, written by Judge Thomas of Plym., may be found in Edes' "Boston Gazette." The "Body of the People" again were alert, impromptu, to vindicate the honor of the cause against internal enemies; and an account of its doings was written by Gen. Goodwin of Plym. We have given, though with much forbearance, particulars of these proceedings, in our History of Cape Cod. The names of the would-be assassins, and their individual confessions made on their bended knees, with rope about their necks, at the foot of the liberty-pole, we omitted in commiseration of the feelings of their descendants. Dr. F.'s intercession in behalf of the culprits prevailed to prevent more summary expression of the public indignation.

guide your conduct has been so eminently distinguished during our late conflict with despotism, is equally recognized in you by the present as by our lately departed commander-in-chief; and he expresses his confraternity with you in friendship, and in the united love of our common country, whose government is established on the solid foundation of equal liberty and the rights of man."

HON. JONATHAN FREEMAN was forty years Treasurer of Dart. College, and occupied a leading place in all public affairs. He was rep. of U. S. Congress, 1797 to 1801; was also of the ho. rep., senate, and council of N. H., and enjoyed through life an enviable reputation in the State of his adoption. By his marriage with SARAH, the dr. of Jeremiah Huntington of Norwich, Conn., Feb. 2, 1775, he became united to a companion of "great intelligence and exalted character." She d. Sept. 18, 1846, æ. 98, having long survived her husband.

Dr. Lord, the President of Dart. College, has said of her, "An example like hers, of uncommon religious excellence, deserves specific commendation. Mrs. F. was one of the few remaining of that venerable class of Christians who serve to connect the present century with the past, and to temper the thoughtlessness and inconsistency of the one with the wisdom, gravity, and consistency of the other. Her Christian life was one of the best patterns found in any age. She made a profession of religion almost in childhood. Her whole life was unclouded. Through life she was a diligent student of the Bible, and evinced extraordinary knowledge of divine truth. She was always devotional; in the absence of her husband and after his decease leading her family in domestic worship, as well as training them in the duties of religion, and commemorating the death of her Saviour in her chamber when no longer able to do so in public. Her whole life was eminently and beautifully Christian. She walked with God soberly, practically; and died in peace, full of faith, honored by the church, blessed by her posterity, praised by her own works in the gates." HON. JONATHAN FREEMAN d. Aug. 20, 1800, æ. 63.

He represented the town of H. in the legislature; was also a magistrate, and as a citizen greatly respected and beloved. A few years previous to his decease, and shortly after our father's death, we journeyed through New Hampshire, our chief object being to make the acquaintance of our numerous relatives, and especially to visit the above hitherto unseen uncle, the only surviving brother of our grandfather's family. Were it consistent with our plan, we would like to quote largely from our notes mention of several days most agreeable intercourse with our Hanover kinsfolk, not omitting the mention also of our only surviving aunt, Mrs. Martha Hovey, who, much to our gratification, came down from Thetford, Vt., purposely to meet us. Both uncle and aunt bore a striking resemblance to our deceased and venerated father.

The above HON. RUSSELL FREEMAN of Hanover was five years a member of the State council, and in 1797 speaker of the house of rep. His tragical death demands more than a mere passing notice. He d. Dec. 18, 1805, æ. 55 : 4, in Haverhill, N.H., murdered by a monster in human shape bearing the name of Josiah Burnham.

MR. FREEMAN was one of the early settlers of Hanover. With other original proprietors "commencing their farms in the rough," he had "brought-to" his lands, with a success usually attendant on skilful industry, and had erected a commodious dwelling and all appendages requisite to a well-ordered estate ; was singularly happy in his domestic relations ; and, being a man of much reading and of brilliant accomplishments, was not merely in good repute, but was a townsman greatly popular and highly esteemed.

Mr. F.'s wife ABIA, whom he m. Oct. 10, 1776, was of a family emigrate to Hanover from Conn. After her bereavement she removed with her children to Onondaga, N.Y., and m. 2d Mr. Moody Freeman, her former husband's brother.

A circumstance that seems to denote, if not a premonition of death, at least a special providence, is that a short time before his sad taking-off, Mr. F. wrote and enveloped an "address to his children," and placed it in his escritoire among other valuables. Found after his decease, though not intended by him for publication, surviving friends caused a private edition to be printed, a copy of which is now before us. Written when there was neither known nor apparent reason to apprehend nearly approaching dissolution, it seemed to survivors a voice from the dead. It is proper to add that Mr. F. was not the only victim of the assassin's ire : "Capt. Joseph Starkweather" was killed by the same hand, at the same fatal hour. A ten-inch sheath-blade was thrust into the abdomen of each. Burnham declared, when arrested, that he had carried the weapon "in his sleeve nearly three years to defend himself from insults." The pretended excuse of the murderer for this double crime was that he had conceived an affront by his victim's known disapprobation of profanity and vulgarity.

The assassin expressed no regret or remorse, but "wished it were in his power to serve three or four others whom he named, in the same manner."

"Mr. Starkweather was an excellent young man of 27, and d. in about 4 hours after the blow; Mr. F. survived the stroke about 13 hours, sensible, and able to converse." The unhappy man who perpetrated the deed was older than either of his victims, "having 40 years before been expelled from college, and his subsequent life, having generally been of a character not commanding respect." The shocking tragedy caused great excitement in Haverhill and neighboring towns. Various publications called forth by the event are now before us, among which, besides the newspapers of the day, are the "Sermon preached at the Execution of Josiah Burnham," and "An Analysis of Burnham's Life and Character as Communicated by Himself."

CAPT. MOODY FREEMAN d. in Clarkson, N.Y., July 16, 1828, æ. 75. He was a practical farmer, and of remarkable probity. His 1st wife was KEZIA, dr. of Prince Freeman, a cousin. She b. Dec. 10, 1756, d. March 9, 1810, in Clarkson, whither they had removed and settled early. His 2d wife was ABIA, wid. of Hon. Russell Freeman. She was in Onondaga, 1807, and rem. the spring following to Pembroke, Genesee Co., N.Y., and d. Aug. 1820.

The adoption of the name Moody into the family as a Christian name is thus explained: Rev. Joshua Moody, b. in Eng. 1633, and brought over by his father 1634, and grad. H. C. 1653, was settled at Portsm. 1658; and his dr. Martha m. Rev. Jona. Russell of Be. abt. 1680, who was father of the above Capt. Moody Freeman's grandmother Abigail, who m. Nath'l Otis. Similar reasons exist for the Christian names Russell and Otis. It may not be irrelevant to preserve here an extract from notes of a filial visit to ancestral graves in M., in 1833: "At Mr. Moulton's was seen Grandmother Otis's 'dressing-box,' — an antique and curious piece of workmanship about fifteen inches square, ornamented with tortoise, ivory, and ebony, having large protruding hinges, a massive clasp-lock, &c." This relic of which filial veneration takes note was brought from Port Royal by our gt.-g.-f. Moody when he was "chaplain in the Royal army," and descended through our g.-m. Otis to Mrs. Moulton. On investigation since the preceding extract was penned, it does not appear to us certain that Rev. Joshua Moody was a chaplain in the army: we think the reference was made to his son Rev. Samuel Moody, who was at Louisburg 1745.

Issue of ROLAND FREEMAN, who m.

1399. I. NATHANIEL, 1774.

1400. II. ROLAND, 1778.

The MARY who m. Heman Stone, 1767, is "supposed to have been a sister of Roland;" but our data is, we find, not corroborative, and we now therefore distrust the item, although it is evident "there was a landholder in Harwich by the name of Roland Freeman, 1771." Our apology for retaining the item is, that it may aid inquiry, by being suggestive.

659.

Issue of HEZEKIAH FREEMAN, who m. MARTHA.

- *1494. I. SAMUEL.

"CAPT. HEZEKIAH FREEMAN d. in Norwich, Conn., Oct. 13, 1816, æ. 76." His wife MARTHA d. Aug. 11, 1831, æ. 90. We suppose the above "Sam'l of Norwich," his son. It is clear that Capt. F. was resident some time in Liverpool, N.S.; though prob. for a short time only. There was considerable emigration from the counties of Barnstable and Plym., in that direction, just after the middle of the last century. Capt. F. may have commanded the vessel which took out a large portion of the earliest emigrants. The first entries made in the town records of Liverpool were in 1762. On the 1st page is this: "Liverpool, Feb. 20, 1762, these births, deaths, and marriages, hereinafter to be mentioned or to be registered by me Elisha Freeman, Proprietor's clerk." This Elisha was doubtless of the Samuel Freeman line, and went from Eastham. The first death recorded is, "Mary West, last from Plym., widow, d. Jan. 21, 1762, æ. 50." The names next, successively, on the records, are of Harding, Abbe, Nickerson, Waterman, Young, Döten, Tribble, and Morton, who are all said to be from Plym., prob. because they embarked there. The first record of families is, "The children of Edward Doten and Phebe his wife, born in Plym., respectively 1743, 5, 8, 1751, 4, followed by the mention of a "dr. Phebe b. in Liverpool, Oct. 6, 1761," — prob. the first-born in Liverpool. Capt. Hezekiah Freeman next appears in Norwich, Conn., as per letter of attorney dated Norwich, Oct. 29, 1815, in possession of the family of Snow Parker Freeman, Esq., who says, 1850, "This Capt. H. F., mariner, was bro. of my g.-f. Joseph."

Issue of SMITH FREEMAN, who m.

Snow Parker Freeman, Esq., of Liverpool, has a deed dated Sept. 25, 1773, which he writes is "from my gt.-uncle Smith Freeman, mariner, then of Boston, to my gd.-f. Joseph of Liverpool."

1539. IV.

We are not absolutely sure that the above ISAAC is he to whom reference is had in the Mass. Gen. Court Journal, whose wife, June 13, 1782, petitions that she, "wife of Isaac of Boston," may have "leave to sell real-estate" in Harwich; and again petitions, June 17, 1783, as "wife or widow," her "husband having been absent three years, and in all probability lost," and she left "with four children." If our apprehension of the case be right, it was probably the same Isaac who, Nov. 16, 1780, petitioned the gen. court, on account of "losses sustained at Bunker Hill." Whether either was Isaac, No. 740, s. of Capt. Watson, and he who m. Cole, needs demonstration; as also who was the Isaac who "m. Mary Stewart, late of Boston, in H., July 16, 1752." Neither do we know where is the record of the four chn. of Mrs. Elizabeth (Cole) Freeman.

750.

Issue of WATSON FREEMAN, who m. THANKFUL FREEMAN.

1796. II. ANN E. D., Oct. 25, 1798; d. June 12, 1857, in Winslow.

MR. EDMUND FREEMAN, eldest son of Hon. Nathaniel of S., was some years resident in Boston as a practical printer and editor, distinguished by editorial abilities and sterling wit. He there published "The Herald of Freedom," 1788, of which the late J. T. Buckingham says, "it was a paper remarkable for the boldness of its tone in narrating current events." See Hist. Coll., vol. ii. p. 148. Mr. F. d. July 1, 1807, æ. 43, in Winslow, Me. His widow d. Feb. 6, 1866.

HON. NATHANIEL FREEMAN, JR., who m. POLLY FORD.

Grad. H. C. 1787; was twice elected to Congress, and continued a member from 1797 to his decease Aug. 22, 1800 æ. 35. See Hist. Coll., vol. i. p. 561. In "The Massachusetts Centinel," July 21, 1787, is the following editorial "critique"—it is so denominated—on "the literary performances at Harvard College Commencement Anniversary;" which article informs us, "The two principal performances were the orations of Mr. John Quincy Adams and Mr. Nathaniel Freeman, Jr. The first of these certainly declaimed on a well-chosen subject, in a manly, sensible, and nervous style of eloquence. The public expectations from this gentleman, being the son of an ambassador, the favorite of the officers of the college, and having enjoyed the highest advantages of European instruction, were greatly inflated. This performance justified the preconceived partiality. He is warmly attached to the republican system of his father, and desecanted upon the subject of 'Public Justice' with great energy. Mr. Adams' indisputable superior in style, elegance, and oratory is the graceful Mr. Freeman. It was thought almost impossible for him to exceed his accomplished rival who spoke before him; but to Freeman every thing was easy. They were both considerably agitated when they arose, and seemed to recover a decent confidence after the interval. Freeman was not deficient in elegance of diction; in mellifluousness he was unequalled. He has happily imitated the plain and just model of eloquence which has been attended with the most flattering success in this country. In short, these young gentlemen discovered those qualities that must insure them eminence; and we hope, for the sake of their country, they may be rivals in the cultivation of those talents through life." It is proper to add that Mr. Freeman's was the concluding performance. Mr. Russell's commendations appear the more flattering to both, if it be considered that the graduating class that year was unusually large, numbering fifty-one, and embracing, besides those already named, William Cranch, Abiel Abbot, James Bridge, Timothy Fuller, Joshua Cushman, James Lloyd, Thaddeus M. Harris, Samuel Putnam, Hezekiah Packard, and others who became distinguished in public life. It may be added that, at the commencement in 1790, when members of this class received their second degree, Mr. F. was selected to deliver an English oration, the subject of which was "The Prospects of the United States of America." Mr. Freeman, having studied law, gave early promise of eminence in the profession. He was brigademajor sixteen years, and, as we have stated, twice elected to Congress. His early and sudden death was greatly lamented. His widow m. 2d, Capt. Samuel Parker of Portland, Me.

Issue of SARAH FREEMAN, who m. SHADRACH FREEMAN, Esq.

The above MRS. SARAH FREEMAN had no issue that survived its birth; but was through life pre-eminently more than a mother to early orphan children of her husband's connections, and is held in loving remembrance, — her remarkably unselfish and beautiful life being the admiration of all who knew her. She d. Nov. 14, 1852, æ. 74. Her husband d. June 13, 1854, æ. 84.

HON. RUSSELL FREEMAN, who m. ELIZA J. STURGIS, died suddenly of angina pectoris, whilst temporarily in Boston, Jan. 9, 1842, æ. 60. His acknowledged ability, quick perceptions, ready wit and geniality, secured for him warm esteem, and made him widely known. A lawyer by profession, he several times represented his native town in the Legislature; was some time of the Executive Council, and also several years Collector of the Port of New Bedford. His widow died in New York, April, 1870, and was buried in Sandwich beside the grave of her husband.

It might, if admissible, be pleasant to cite many illustrations of characteristics and acts that made Mr. F. popular and admired. They are such only as would in no way be derogatory to our brother's heart or fame. But we doubt the propriety of a rehearsal of them here; for we have no ambition to cater to the idle amusement of the curious, nor any wish to chafe the sensibilities of others.

- 1832. III. CHARLES EDWARD, October, 1826, in Newbern.

BISHOP FREEMAN was consecrated Oct. 26, 1844, as "Bishop of Texas, Arkansas, and the Indian Territory of the Southwest." He died at Little Rock, Ark., April 29, 1858, æ. 69. At the time of his elevation to the episcopate, he was rector of Emanuel Ch., Newcastle, Del., and many years previous of Christ Ch., Raleigh. He received the honorary degree of D.D., 1839, from the University of N. Carolina. For a more extended notice of this excellent prelate, see the Church

Journals, and his Memoirs published by the Prot. Epis. Book Society and S. S. Union. It may be remarked, however, that during the fourteen years of his episcopate, his duties called him to traverse a territorial region that at the time of the present writing (1875) is served by five bishops, who all, no doubt with good cause, complain of the vast extent of their several dioceses. "Bishop F. travelled on horseback over the territorial extent of all these five dioceses after he was three-score years old, the hearty and robust young clergymen who attempted to travel with him breaking down by their efforts. Thus much may be said for Bishop F.'s sturdy New England stock,—and it may be added, for his Old England stock." BISHOP FREEMAN'S wife, ANN YATES, dr. of Col. Wm. Yates of Va., and widow of Hon. Wm. Gholson, was a most estimable Christian lady, and an excellent helpmeet for a bishop. She died June 18, 1855.

1844. XII. ISABELLA ANNE, April 25, 1856.

The FATHER of the preceding twelve children was married, Dec. 26, 1821, in Raleigh, N.C., to ELIZABETH, dr. of Capt. Geo. Nicholls. She was b. Feb. 28, 1798, in Charleston, S.C., and died March 12, 1833, in Plym., Mass., where, on the summit of the Pilgrim burying-ground, her remains and those of her eldest son were interred. He married 2d, HANNAH HUNTINGTON, dr. of Hon. Frederick Wolcott, April 21, 1834. She was b. Jan. 14, 1803, and d. Feb. 26, 1838, in Manayunk, Penn.; and her interment is among the sepulchres of the Wolcotts in Litchfield, Conn., where was also buried beside her the little daughter bearing the mother's name. MR. F. m. 3d, ISABELLA, dr. of Hartwell Williams, Esq., of Augusta, Me., Nov. 18, 1841. She was b. July 31, 1816.

Of the subject of this note we have little to say; indeed, are not sure that propriety does not enjoin entire silence. Suffice, then, a remark that quite early engaging in school-teaching; then a student at law; next called to the charge of the classical department of Newbern Academy, and, in 1821, elected principal of that institution; licensed in 1823 to preach; ordained by presbytery an evangelist early in 1824, and Nov. 3, the same year, installed over a church in Plym., Mass., in which position he remained nearly a decade of years; subsequently in orders in the Episcopal Church, and in charge successively at Philadelphia, Bangor, and Augusta; finally the projector of a collegiate institute in his native place in 1844,—these references may serve as do “foot-prints” to scientists in geological explorations to direct inquiry if any one shall care to know further. They will, at least, tell that the writer was no idler, but was actively intent on a life of usefulness. That he was not negligent of suitable opportunities for good through the press, his “Religious Liberty,” “Yaridee,” “Psalmody,” “Plea for Africa,” “History of Cape Cod and its Thirteen Towns,” and other publications, give assurance; whilst this present writing may suggest that he is not liable now, in his seventy-sixth year, to imputation of recreancy to reverence due to ancestry.

A revery naturally enforced by the preceding statistics of vicissitudes moves us to add, before closing the article, one other word, if allowable: we have a suggestion to make, a wish to express; viz., that, whenever the time shall arrive that our grave must be prepared, it may be found convenient that it be near the spot designated by our ANCESTOR for his own burial, and where, beside the remains of our ancestral Mother, his dust reposes; that THERE we may with him await that resurrection of which he spake, and toward which he looked forward in trustful hope and confident expectation.

The above MR. EDMUND FREEMAN d. in Mansfield, March 9, 1868, æ. 86. His WIFE was dr. of Eliphalet and Anna Dimmick. Mr. Freeman inherited the old homestead in M. We trust it may be pardoned if we advert once more to our visit in 1834 to scenes of ancestral interest. Filially intent, all we saw and heard — the old mansion in which our grandfather reared his numerous family, and so long resided;¹ the old well;² the orchard grown from seeds planted by him after he had reached the age allotted to man;³ and various and

² We regretted the disuse of the old well. It was so filled up that we could not drink of its waters; nor had we the satisfaction of surveying the old well-pole and oaken bucket. For these disappointments we sought alleviation by rambling among ancestral graves; and thence returned to explore more leisurely the venerable mansion in which our cousins were waiting, happy to give us continued good cheer. Our first act, after returning to this domicile in North Mansfield, was to take the compass that had belonged to our grandsire, and ascertain that the house faces exactly south; a discovery not made because the fact itself is interesting, but in the indulgence of inclination to use the instrument with which our grandparent had long years before laid out the township of Hanover, "where he invested considerably in wild lands."

³ When planting this orchard, he was, we were informed, asked by his pastor, the Rev. Dr. Welch, — the elder Dr. W., — who happened to be passing, if he expected to eat of the fruit; to which he replied tersely, "It will be of service to somebody." He lived to enjoy the fruit of that orchard; and sons and grandsons made cider and perry of its fruit before he died. This orchard, however, be it noted, was not the oldest. From an orchard on the north side of the house we ate pears taken from a tree set out by our grandfather when he first removed to the place,—a tree transplanted from Cape Cod.

¹ In the house, we saw the room in which our grandparents died,—“the west-room;” also the adjoining, called “Grandmother Otis’s bedroom,” where she not only lodged, but, being through life “a conscientiously religious woman,” was in the habit of seeking retirement at self-appointed and faithfully observed hours for “private devotion.” All was interesting to filial reverence; but nothing was contemplated by us with more satisfaction than the much-worn rude wooden button which she had so often turned to fasten or unfasten the door at the times of her retirement for intervals of prayer. In this, emphatically her Bethel, she died. This room, with “the west room” and “the west bedroom,” constituted the part of the house built by our grandfather, and stood as seventy-five years before,—the floors of oak, the walls ceiled, the massive timbers overhead naked to the eye. The part which he found standing when he came to M. was taken down about 1814, and a modern style substituted. Until then the part demolished had been called “the old room,” and was the chief accommodation for many years. Near by, aside from other “improvements” of modern date, stood “the old barn,” concerning which our uncle Frederick used to say his earliest recollections were of his father being engaged in hauling for it the heavy timber from the forest. That barn was still in good preservation in 1834.

The above MARY, the wife of Nathan Freeman, Esq., d. Jan. 23, 1854, in P. We shall, on another page, take pleasure in noting a commendable act, the bestowal of a public benefit,—the gift of a portion of a large estate, by Gen. Hersey, a descendant of Olive Freeman, No. 1486. We may now mention here the act of the above NATHAN FREEMAN, in the erection of a stately edifice at a cost of more than $7,000, which he presented to the town of Provincetown; the lower floor of the building to be used for a Public Library, the second floor by the Young Men's Christian Association, and the third floor devoted to art purposes; the rental to secure $30 per annum to the public library, $30 per annum to the aforementioned association; and the balance, $190, to insure and keep the building in repair. Mr. F., president of the Provincetown Bank, has thus shown himself to be a man of foresight, utilitarian as well as generous. We have foreborne, hitherto, to mention in these pages the acts of the living; but, in the present instance, our friend has drawn so near the close of age allotted to man, that we may be excused for this one departure from our usual rule.

- *2177. VII. HELEN WATSON, Aug. 26, 1839 ; m. Leonard Farley of Washington.

The above WATSON FREEMAN, ESQ., who m. EVELINE FESSENDEN, July 23, 1827, was b. in Boston, Nov. 29, 1798. His educational opportunities were chiefly academic. Engaging early in mercantile pursuits, but subsequently called to state and federal offices, he filled each in turn with unexceptional fidelity and ability. His appointment as U. S. MARSHAL was continued under the administrations of both Pierce and Buchanan. In politics he was loyal to principle, from which official station had no allurements to divert him; and his genial and noble qualities secured general respect and esteem. Withdrawing from active public life in which his business energy had become proverbial,* he found congenial recreation on his estate in Sandwich, where, his mansion being in near view of ancestral graves, he cherished the location with filial pride, and cultivated and improved it with judgment and taste. MR. F. d. suddenly of apoplexy, Oct. 19, 1868, æ. 71, in Sandwich, and rests in his own family place of sepulture in Forest Hills. None could have lamented his unexpectedly early departure more sincerely than the writer.

- 2182. V. ALICE, Oct. 27, 1833; d. Aug. 5, 1849, in Boston.

* MR. FREEMAN was well known in Boston many years as deputy sheriff. His recollection of important matters and transactions, involving the history of business men of all degrees, became a depository such as few persons ever possessed; but all was safe in his keeping. True to his office, always courteous, with a high sense of honor, his integrity was inflexible. Mr. F.'s marshalship covered an eventful period; requiring not only fidelity, but great firmness, and unmingled reverence for law. Neither his personal honor, bravery, nor faithfulness in performance of duty, was ever questioned; these characteristics were a synonyme of the name of their possessor.

The above MR. HOYT d. Oct. 3, 1872, æ. 83. It is understood that his widow survives; but our information (1875) touching this family is questionable. The imperfection of the statistics presented in this paragraph and others in its connection, we feel constrained to think is attributable to either culpable indifference or neglect somewhere; we will not say to churlishness,—though inattention to just and reasonable requests is hardly consistent with good-breeding.

We have thus reached another of those cycles that mark the procession of time, and are forcibly reminded of the remark of the Preacher (Eccl. i, 4): "One generation passeth away, and another cometh." Of the EIGHTH generation perhaps a majority survive; some yet accounted young, others in the meridian of life, others evidently destined to be numbered soon with the generations that are gone. A few, comparatively, of us who have come down from a former generation, are left standing here and there like thinly scattered forest-trees whose denuded branches tell the effects of successive winters' storms. FIVE generations had fallen asleep before we came on the stage. Of the SIXTH we had personal knowledge of only a small number. In the SEVENTH, of which we are a humble component part, our acquaintances were, of course, more numerous; and yet of them how few are left!

As we are to proceed to extend our "memoranda in aid of genealogy" to include a portion of the NINTH generation, with which our intercourse has necessarily been less than with the immediately preceding, and shall next endeavor to embrace in our statistics the TENTH, or so many of them as are accessible, — whose numbers, mostly unknown to us, give evidence that the race is not like to become soon extinct, — we may with propriety take this occasion to tender to each and every individual of these later generations our KINDRED GREETINGS.

If our young friends shall feel interest in our labors, — and we cannot forego the impression that some do, and that many will; for the wisest and best of mankind have ever cherished regard for ancestry and race, — we would again assure them that we have faithfully endeavored to secure all information to which access was found touching the generations gone. We do not expect to be able to gather so successfully even the names of all whose record is of a later date: we would, indeed, willingly do it, for the heart's affections grow not old; though, as all know, every labor must sooner or later terminate. There seems a decree that man's eye shall grow dim, his native energy and elasticity fail, the limbs become feeble, and the memory wane.

Should omissions occur, the cause may be found referable to the dilatoriness of persons, who, if they will, may yet find easy pleasure in aiding our wearisome toil by furnishing desired data.

The above MR. K. born May 15, 1837, grad. Bowdoin Coll. 1857, and at H. C. Law-School; is a counsellor-at-law in St. Charles, Mo.

The MOTHER of the above Mrs. K. died the same hour in which the daughter was born. Of well-constructed and diligently cultured mind, of native gentleness and consistent piety, her excellence is worthy of especial record as an incentive to them who come after. On her tombstone is appropriately inscribed, "Her children rise up and call her blessed; her husband also, and he praiseth her." Earnest prayers that daily ascended from her devotions are surely treasured in heaven. Nor in this connection with the remembrance of MRS. F., shall any considerations prevent the mention also of her lovingly devoted and cherished ward, on whose gravestone in the same cemetery may be seen, "In memory of NANCY, a faithful (African) servant in the family of Rev. F. Freeman, who d. Nov. 21, 1831, æ. 27 yrs. 'Honor and shame from no condition rise: act well your part, there all the honor lies.'"

The above CLARA J. ALEXANDER, whom Mr. F. m. June 5, 1861, died, and he m. 2d JOSEPHINE PEARSON, Aug. 1871.

Descended from distinguished stock, and reared under the best advantages, the MOTHER of the above Mr. F. was not only one of Heaven's best gifts, but a truly remarkable woman. We would feel more than justified in saying in this connection what might offend against a dogma of the schools. Without asserting that she was immaculate, we believe it is due to survivors to make mention of excellence wonderful as rare; and do therefore conscientiously and deliberately, in full view of our responsibility and nearness to eternity, express the firm conviction that it were, and is, impossible to decide from any known thought, word, or deed of hers, that she was in any theologic sense a sinner. After often and often revolving the question with the utmost seriousness, we have always been, as now, without evidence that she was in any moral sense imperfect. The declaration is not hyperbole; it is not the unweighed or extravagant utterance of conjugal partiality: it is the sincere and careful expression of conviction enforced by remembrance. Her heavenly loveliness and the elegance of her person seemed to every beholder identical. Ever in unaffected meekness resting her faith wholly in the SAVIOUR whom she truly loved and faithfully served, with never a thought of merit of her own, none will doubt she was "saved by grace," though when that work of grace was begun is a question the answer to which can only be known by light which may issue from the throne of God.

MR. FRANKLIN FREEMAN d. June 15, 1849, æ. 30:7; and his widow m. 2d J. P. Sparrow.

Having now reached this close of an enumeration of the ninth generation, we remark that a subject impressed as a duty to be presented before the close of the volume may as well be introduced here where shall be found no pretext for suspicion that it is so placed to invidiously designate or draw attention to any person, family, or neighborhood in particular.

It must be evident to an observant reader of this Genealogy, that our fathers' morality and regard for the proprieties of life forbade marriage betwixt near relatives. We do not propose to enter upon a dissertation touching "prohibited degrees;" nevertheless we venture, in passing, the suggestion that intermarriages of near kindred are not, in our opinion, commendable; for statistics give strong testimony against them. Whether such alliances are or are not violations of the law of God and of nature, we have with satisfaction seen that records of the earlier generations furnish no examples — hardly a solitary instance — to encourage such marriages among the already nearly allied of races of the same descent.

By inconsiderate and sometimes injudicious admixture of bloods, among all races and in all ages, much has been done to change, deface, or vitiate original family traits, — a topic on which we may not here enlarge, and simply invite careful attention to our note in the History of Cape Cod, vol. i, pp. 216–218. But an unnatural commixture or blending of kindred bloods is an evil of grave moment, against which the intelligence and moral sense of any people should interpose; for it brings surely a depravation of humors which, if not tending to scrofula, may lead to effeminacy, and enfeeble the intellect.

PROMISCUOUS.

We have closed the memoranda of the generations of MR. EDMOND FREEMAN of Sandwich, unless, indeed, the addition of a few promiscuous names, touching the classification of which we are in doubt, be an exception. Unable, as at present advised, to determine the exact place each should occupy, we append these names with such data as may possibly assist in the solution. The Christian name, first in each entry, is that of a Freeman; the numerical column is continued merely for convenience of reference:—

1. "MRS. HANNAH" of H. was pub. to Capt. Wm. Dyer of Boston, June 26, 1727.
2. CHRISTIAN m. Sarah Remick, 1753, of H.
3. DELIVERANCE m. Joseph Maker, Dec. 26, 1753, H.
4. ABIGAIL m. Stephen Young, Feb. 20, 1755.
5. HANNAH m. Capt. Samuel Knowles, Oct. 16, 1731, E.
6. MARY m. Hatsuld Knowles of E.; Oct. 28, 1765.
7. ANN, of T., m. Isaiah Higgins of E., May 28, 1767.
8. JOSEPH, of W., m. Susannah Lumbert of T., April 7, 1774.
9. THANKFUL, of H., m. Dr. Theoph. Hopkins, in E., Jan. 4, 1781.
10. DESIRE, of H., m. Reuben Snow, December, 1798.

We throw aside remaining notes, and reject further quotations, lest, without adopting the complaint of Solomon, that "of making many books there is no end," we be led despairingly to ejaculate, There seems to be no end of this.

EXPLANATION.

We here submit as retrospective of Part I. (although it may also be regarded as, in some sense, prefatory to Part II.):—

That, in giving precedence to Part I., there was no design to intimate that Mr. Freeman of S. was senior to Mr. F. of Watertown, whose Memoir next succeeds. The questions of priority by birth or otherwise, we were not, and are not now, prepared to decide. That Mr. Samuel Freeman was earliest of the two to emigrate, there can be no doubt.

The reasons why the Memoir of Mr. F. of S. appears first in the volume are simply these: Our attention was naturally earliest engaged upon genealogical statistics of our individual ancestor, and location and other circumstances favored the research. It became by and by convenient, and in fact necessary, to extend our inquiries to the history of the Watertown branch. A son of Mr. S. F. removing early to Eastham, the descendants of the two emigrant brothers became numerous on the Cape, and somewhat historically intermixed as well as by alliance. A full and concise history of the one involved in degree the necessity of an accompanying record of the other. We therefore concluded to proceed with Part I. as begun, and devote Part II. to the Watertown race.

When the thought occurred to us of publishing the result, our hope was that a direct descendant eminently qualified to take up the subject, would ere long undertake its compilation, and present it. There seemed at times to be a tendency in that direction. When this hope expired, persons who we had thought could and would perform the task, passing away by death, one after another, leaving at last only one known by us whom we might still wish to have undertake and present it, we suggested to him our desire. His responses, always courteous, were inconclusive on this point; and to our regret it became finally improbable that the advanced age of more than ninety years would allow the fulfilment of our expectations. As the only apparent alternative, we resolved to incorporate with our already partially prepared Freeman genealogy, a genealogical exhibit of the Watertown branch. We were moved to this the more because mistaken conjectures and erroneous statements made both by respectable antiquaries and recent novices had in some instances found publicity, and needed correction. This we may now with all good conscience affirm, that we have been painstaking and just with Part II., as if the whole were alone a history of our own progenitor. There has been no possible reason why it should be otherwise.

THE NAME.

A word touching the origin and significance of the ancestral name may not be inappropriate.

There can be no doubt that SURNAMES of some sort have been used from time immemorial. They became fixed as hereditary titles in English families about the time of the Conquest, but did not come into universal use as additions to the Christian name until somewhat later. We find them, in 1085, inscribed in the authentic record of exchequer called "Domesday Book."¹

Surnames, introduced by the Normans, had, as is evident, a manifold original:—

1. They were primarily formed, doubtless, by the simple addition of the word "son" to the name of the father,—John's son becoming for instance, by and by, Johnson; Richard's son, Richardson, &c.

2. Soon names suggested by a man's occupation or trade began to appear; and hence the names of Baker, Smith, Carpenter, Fuller, Brewer, Tinker, &c. John-the-baker became contracted to John Baker, &c. The custom once introduced by the conquerors of making titles hereditary, the masses were not slow in following the fashion.

3. Another fertile source of nomenclature was location. Thus John-on-the-hill naturally became, by and by, John Hill. The same may be remarked of Wood, Bush, &c.

4. Complexion, costume, &c., quickly suggested almost endless variations and additions.

5. Another original of names was, clearly, the existence of some peculiar quality in the individual,—moral, physical, accidental, or otherwise,—of which illustrations may be cited such as John-the-strong, becoming John Strong; and, as is related of Edmund, a Saxon king, that he was surnamed Ironsides; or of persons who could not be subjected by invasion, but by well-chosen position, persistence, or valor, maintained their independence, never in vassalage or made tributary, and who were appropriately denominated FREE. Of this number, it naturally followed that John-the-freeman came to be called JOHN FREEMAN; and from the FREEMEN of an early day has, as is claimed and legitimately concluded, come down to us our PATRONYMIC.

ARMORIAL BEARINGS.

Should we close without more especial reference to heraldic diplomas, the reason must be found alone in the fact that we attach not the slightest importance to them.

Not only void of all enthusiasm or extravagance touching either the value or meaning of such devices, we are often led to smile at weakness exhibited by "Shoddy" et id omne genus, telling that the shallow have higher appreciation of the weightiness of such insignia than have adepts in the lore.¹

Proficients in heraldry may, for aught we shall object, have valid reasons for cherishing high regard for ensigns armorial; and we have no inclination to controvert the generally received idea that "the ancient coat of arms represents the origin and reputation of the original stock." For the gratification, therefore, of whom curiosity may interest, we have given place on a previous page to a fac-simile of a faithfully preserved relic, handed down both by etchings and embroidery, through generations of our ancestral line. Nevertheless we would have it distinctly understood that we find no occasion either to challenge for, or deny to, our progenitor's, armorial distinctions. We are well content that to us is left the NAME. Sincerely do we wish each descendant who shall bear it to maintain with filial pride the RIGHT to it in its full force and happy significance. To such as do, we fraternally INSCRIBE the preceding pages, fully in accord with the sentiment expressed by Lord Bacon, that "it is a reverend thing to see an ancient castle not in decay: how much more to behold ancient families which have stood against the waves and weathers of time!"

¹ We affect no facetiousness, nor do we aim to offend; but our thought involuntarily reverts to a reminiscence of significant burlesque that long years ago arrested our eye in a cursory looking-over the columns of a journal whose jocosity was ventilated on this wise: "Petroleum's equipage is out to-day, — the panels blazing bright with a coat of arms as big as a dinner-plate. We suppose that he will be sending out for a pedigree, and that we shall soon be told that the Petroleums came over with the Conqueror; and, perhaps, that the first Norman knight of the name married a Saxon heiress whose line went back through Hengist and Horsa to the great Thor himself."

CLOSE OF PART I.

Some who we are confident would have hailed with pleasure the issue of the preceding sheets have passed from earth since our work was in progress; and deeply do we lament their departure. Only in fact a few of the elders remain to the present time. The hope that our AGED KINDRED would be gratified by a faithful record of ancestry and descent, and that its perusal might light an approving glow on their thoughtful brow, was one of the chiefest inducements to the toil of publication.

Submitting now the result, and resigning the task of further research to later members of the lineage, we cherish the fond hope that to them severally may ever fully and honorably be applicable the observation of the Wise Man, "THE GLORY OF CHILDREN ARE THEIR FATHERS."

PART II.

MEMORIAL OF MR. SAMUEL FREEMAN OF WATERTOWN, AND HIS DESCENDANTS.

WHATEVER impediment may attend the inception of an attempt at a full and reliable memoir of MR. SAMUEL FREEMAN of Watertown, whether it be difficulties created by the varying accounts of writers or by a paucity of material, we are sure of one fact, — he came over from England in 1630 with that great influx of emigrants that were contemporary with, and many of whom accompanied, Gov. Winthrop.

In 'Thompson's Long Island,' it is said that "Gov. Winthrop, father of the Massachusetts Colony, arrived, 1630, with a fleet of 14 vessels and 840 passengers." 'Lewis's History of Lynn' tells that "in 1630 John Winthrop arrived with 11 vessels and 1700 passengers." 'Farmer's Register' says, "SAMUEL FREEMAN, born in England, came in 1630 from Devonshire with Gov. Winthrop and is supposed to be brother of Edmund of Sandwich."

Gov. W. arrived in Salem June 12, 1630; and the same year "MR. FREEMAN applied for admission as freeman." That he was in Watertown in 1630 is certain; and tradition says "he owned $\frac{1}{4}$ part of the township, being a proprietor." 'Winthrop's New England' tells us that "Mr. Freeman's house in Watertown was burned Feb. 11, 1630-1." There has also been a tradition which so intelligent and reliable gentlemen as Rev. James Freeman, D.D. of Boston and William Freeman, Esq. of Cherryfield have repeated, that "Samuel Freeman of Watertown belonged to a family of eight or ten sons." It is further said that "MR. FREEMAN died in England whilst on a business visit to his native land, soon after the birth of his son Samuel."

GENEALOGY.

First Generation.

THAT the wife of MR. SAMUEL FREEMAN was APPHIA, is evidenced by 'Watertown Records;' and 'Winthrop's History, vol. i., p. 49, by Savage,' speaks of "Samuel, son of Samuel and Apphia Freeman, born 11th of 3d mo., 1638."

It would be a task to follow and disprove the preposterous statements that have found their way into the press touching the question of MR. F.'s conjugal relationship. Most absurd is the report of an alleged union between the widow of Mr. F., and Gov. Prence. Absurd though it be, we cannot proceed with our genealogical narration, and feel that we are faithful to history if we pass without rebuke the manufacture of genealogical crudities that have long tended to perplex and embarrass sincere and legitimate research. Permitted to occupy pages ostensibly devoted to reliable facts, such errors demand at least some notice.

It was with surprise that, long years ago, we read in 'Farmer' that "Samuel, son of Samuel, lived in Watertown, but his son Samuel settled in Eastham." Here was a sufficiency of confusion. Greater was the surprise when, later, we found 'Willis' asserting that "the widow of Samuel married Gov. Prence in 1644, and settled in Eastham with her son." Willis ought to have known better. But, when 'Savage,' as if to make confusion worse confounded, proclaimed "Edmund and John were brothers of Samuel but it is not known whether it was a son or grandson of Edmund, who in 1640 married Rebecca, daughter of Gov. P. who had previously married his widowed mother," our already wary distrust of such outside testimony was increasingly intensified. And when, lastly, the 'Historic Genealogical Register' stepped forward on divers occasions, as if not merely to qualify but perpetuate the complexity, saying, with a stolidity that ought not to pertain to a magazine that claims reliance, "Gov. P.'s third wife was Mary, the widow of Samuel Freeman," that which had already become sufficiently a vexed question was, to say the least, not thereby settled. Like the cord which annexed the yoke to the draught-tree of the Phrygian's chariot, the knot seemed not uneasy to untie, and no sword of Alexander volunteered to cut it; for, in fact, no one much cared. Members of the families most interested felt, doubtless, that truth is not to be moved from its foundation by preposterous theories and wild speculations of strangers, nor by unsupported assertions of any or every novice who all infledged may aspire to genealogical distinction.

If we now occupy space more than we at first intended in dispelling mists that have surrounded the subject, the reader will understand it is because the putting forth of this Memorial furnishes a fitting occasion. We do not assume that we will now cut the Gordian knot, — this might seem preposterous; nor do we promise the reader that we will untie it; but, if we may be pardoned a few truthful suggestions, whoever will may untie it, and be welcome to any honor that shall ensue. We remark, then, —

1. It is certain that Gov. Prence died in 1673; and that his wife Mary survived him and went to reside with friends in Yarmouth. It is also certain that Yarmouth records say that "Mrs. Mary Prence, late wife of Gov. P., died Dec. 9, 1695, and was buried Dec. 11." Her grave is still to be seen in "the Howes' burying-ground" in that part of the ancient Yarmouth now known as North Dennis. She spent a portion at least of her widowhood in D. with her daughter, the wid. of Jeremiah Howes; and in possession of descendants of Mr. H. were, a long time, "Prence-papers." Mrs. H. was dr. of Gov. P. by his wife Mary Collier, reported to have married the Gov. April 1, 1635. The first wife of Gov. P. was, as is well known, Patience Brewster, who d. 1634. By the two marriages Gov. P. had nine children; one of them being Rebecca by the 1st m., who m. Edmund Freeman the 2d of S.; another was Mercy who m. John Freeman and went to E.; another, Sarah, b. 1650, m. Howes.

2. When Gov. P. "took up his residence in E.," he was accompanied by his son-in-law John Freeman of Sandwich. Samuel Freeman, a cousin, from Watertown, came subsequently, and influenced by other considerations than have been conjectured by theorists. Fanciful theories in genealogical matters, although absurd, often cause serious trouble to persons engaged in research. The circulation of the fancies even of a novice, the persistency with which they are repeated, and the ready encouragement received from the managers of certain magazines, is not to be commended.

3. It ought to be sufficient for dispelling the errors that have called for these remarks, that the specified near relationship said to exist between Samuel Freeman of E. and Gov. P., was never recognized by early branches of either family. Moreover it seems incredible that Gov. P.'s widow, if she were the own mother of Mr. Samuel Freeman, should have been oblivious to the fact that her claims on him and the blood were both tender and imperative; and, if Mr. F. cast off his own mother in her old age to the care of Mrs. H., it is not creditable to him. From such reproach, facts abundantly shield him. For this reason, varied and conflicting accounts that otherwise were hardly worth notice have justified and demanded this protracted comment. At the same time, let it be understood that our reference to theoretical absurdities is also because requisite ad fidem veræ historiae, peradventure our remarks may be of useful suggestion to future investigators.

4. Any relationship or family connection between Mr. Samuel Freeman and Gov. P. we have always believed to have no other foundation than the marriage of Gov. P. into the Collier family, and Mr. F.'s connection also with that family by marriage. If we are implicitly to credit authentic records, it is plain that Mary Collier being the 2d wife of Gov. P. has served for the conjecture that Mr. F.'s mother was meant; and, aided by the fact regarded as confirmatory, that Mr. F. came in possession of the estate of Gov. P. in Eastham, theorists have, regardless of the evidence of purchase and choosing to put it as 'Mr. Pratt,' in his 'History of Eastham,' ventures to say, "succeeded to Gov. P.'s estate," found, in their own opinion, satisfactory support!

5. We have now, before we dismiss the subject, to say one word further. Improbable as it may appear to some that Mr. Samuel Freeman was in any way the son-in-law of Gov. P., it is nevertheless indisputable that Gov. P. did so call him. Gov. P. was not the man to claim a relationship that did not exist. Gov. P. made a deed Jan. 20, 1671, which was acknowledged by himself and wife Mary before Josiah Winslow, assistant; and, in that conveyance says, "In consideration of £30 to me in hand paid by my beloved sonne in law Samuel Freeman of Eastham," . . . "my house-lot in E., 18 acres of upland," &c.; which deed is "recorded with the O. C. Records, vol. iii. pp. 201, 202." Now, if it shall, on thorough examination, appear that certain statistics are at fault, and that instead of "Gov. P. m. Mary, the daughter of William Collier, April 1, 1635," it should be read WIDOW, it will then be seen that she was the mother of MRS. Freeman who was a Southworth. This new denoûment will not surprise us.¹

¹ We have, at this moment of writing, no access to records where may be had a full investigation, and have neither time nor physical ability to resort to them for a full and decisive solution of the question. We therefore rest content with the above suggestions.

Second Generation.

I.

Issue of MR. SAMUEL FREEMAN and his wife APPHIA.

- *2. I. HENRY; admitted freeman at Watertown, May, 1645; m. Hannah Stearns, Dec. 25, 1650, and 2d, Mary Sherman, Nov. 27, 1656.
- 3. II. APPHIA.
- *4. III. SAMUEL; b. May 11, 1638, in Watertown; m. Mercy Southworth of Plymouth, May 12, 1658.

The above MR. SAMUEL FREEMAN, the progenitor, died in England, about 1639, whilst on a visit for the transaction of business, at his former home.

Third Generation.

Issue of HENRY FREEMAN, who m. HANNAH STEARNS and MARY SHERMAN.

- *5. I. JAMES, who m. Rachel.
- *6. II. SAMUEL, Dec. 13, 1657 ; married.
- *7. III. JOHN, Sept. 14, 1662.
- 8. IV. HENRY.
- 9. V. LYDIA, Nov. 5, 1669.
- 10. VI. THOMAS.
- 11. VII. MARY.

We regret the necessity of using only, or chiefly, fragmentary materials in elucidating the genealogical history of any of the earlier descendants from Mr. Samuel Freeman of Watertown ; but we find no alternative. We cannot create. We will use our best endeavor to avoid all that is merely conjectural and which if stated might mislead. Of the above HENRY and of his issue we know very little, although we have searched diligently for any and every line of information available. The 'History of Watertown,' so called, is very unsatisfactory ; its genealogical details are imperfect and somewhat erroneous. The only items of the least importance gathered from its pages are, "May 31, 1648, Henry Freeman of Watertown, for release from a bond, mortgaged his house in favor of John Freeman of Westminster ;" another item being, "There is no record of any children of Henry ; but probably James of Boston, and Samuel of Sudbury, were his sons." Again we learn that Henry's "first wife, Hannah Stearns, was buried June 17, 1656," and that "there was no issue by the first marriage." One account has it that "Henry m. Ann Stearns, dr. of Isaac."

MR. HENRY FREEMAN "had the paternal estate." He d. Nov. 12, 1672, and his widow m. 2d ——. Family traditions have it that "HENRY had one son only;" and that "the widow of Henry married Sherman, supposed to be son of Rev. John, the minister of Watertown."

3.

APPHIA FREEMAN we have noted as a daughter of Mr. Samuel Freeman, simply because the occasional mention of her, and other circumstances, impress the idea that there was a daughter Apphia. If Henry was admitted freeman 1645, he must have been born early as 1624, which gives at least fourteen years between his birth and that of his brother Samuel; and these facts and others attendant leave a margin for thought, if not legitimate speculation, and induce increased regret that we know so little of the immediate family of Mr. Samuel Freeman of Watertown; and that in our entrance on this part of the genealogical tour we must be limited to the two sons, Henry and Samuel.

4.

Issue of DEACON SAMUEL FREEMAN, who m. MERCY SOUTHWORTH.

- 12. I. APPHIA, b. Dec. 11, 1659; d. Feb. 19, 1660, in Eastham.
- *13. II. SAMUEL, March 26, 1662; m. Elizabeth Sparrow, Feb. 5, 1654, and 2d Bashua Smith, about 1693.
- *14. III. APPHIA, Jan. 1, 1666; m. Isaac Pepper of Eastham, Oct. 17, 1685.
- *15. IV. CONSTANT, March 31, 1669; m. Fane Treat, Oct. 11, 1694.
- *16. V. ELIZABETH, June 26, 1671; m. Abraham Remick, and 2d Merrick,

- 17. VI. EDWARD, d. young.
- *18. VII. MARY; m. John Cole, about 1793.
- *19. VIII. ALICE; m. Nathaniel Merrick.
- 20. IX. MERCY.

The above MR. SAMUEL FREEMAN became deacon of the church in Eastham, 1676. He was rep. 1697. A man of pecuniary resources and of financial ability, he was of service to the town in times of peculiar straits. Of how large a portion of the Prence-estate he became purchaser, we are not informed, except the one purchase to which we have already referred in a previous page. Gov. P.'s landed property was valuable, comprising many acres of the best lands in E. and adjoining towns. Mr. F. d. Nov. 25, 1712, æ. 75. Mr. F.'s wife, MERCY SOUTHWORTH, whom he m. May 12, 1658, was dr. of Constant Southworth, who was some time assistant in the Plymouth Colony.¹

¹ 'Judge Davis' has said, "Constant and Thomas Southworth came over with their mother Alice, 1622; and she soon after married Gov. Bradford. There had been an early attachment, and marriage had been prevented by parents of the lady, objecting to the inferior rank and circumstances of Bradford. She now, a widow, came over purposely to marry him." She was a dr. of Alexander Carpenter of Wrentham, England; her first husband, Constant Southworth, died in England. By the 2d marriage, Aug. 14, 1623, she became the wife of Gov. Bradford. Her son Constant Southworth m. a dr. of William Collier of Duxbury; and their daughter above, viz., MERCY, married MR. FREEMAN. It may be noted that one of the sisters of Mrs. F., viz., Alice, married Benjamin Church; another, Mary, married John Alden. The father, Constant Southworth, died 1697, in Duxbury. He was a freeman in 1637, and volunteered against the Pequots. He was deputy from Duxbury, 1649; treasurer of the colony many years; assistant 1670 to 1675, also commissary general. Judge Davis has said, "His family connections served to increase his influence, — especially his being step-son to Gov. Bradford, and father-in-law to Church."

Fourth Generation.

Issue of JAMES FREEMAN, who m. RACHEL.

21. I. SAMUEL; who died unmarried, in Boston, of small-pox, 1728. His will was, "Boston, April 16, 1728." It is said, "Thus the eldest branch of this family became extinct."

MR. JAMES FREEMAN'S will bears date Nov. 10, 1710. He is said to have been "a brewer in Boston." His widow RACHEL m. 2d Richard Shute of Boston. She, "Nov. 20, 1729, being wife of Shute," joined her husband in deeds conveying property of her "former husband James Freeman," and of her "son Samuel Freeman," given to her by the Will of the said Samuel;" the aforesaid deeds conveying "to Enoch Freeman of Eastham, alias Boston, all the real and personal estate, goods, and chattels in any way appertaining by virtue of the last will and testament of James aforesaid, also by virtue of the will of Samuel the son, late of Boston, deceased, bearing date April 16, 1728."

It has been alleged, we know not how authoritatively, that, upon the decease of James Freeman, "the estate at Watertown fell illegally into the hands of Mr. Sherman, or Richard Shute who married James's widow." The 'Appendix to Genealogical Reminiscences,' by Wm. Freeman, Esq., of Cherryfield, informs us that "a prosecution for recovery was some time talked of, and something of the kind actually set on foot, but without success."

SAMUEL FREEMAN, b. Dec. 13, 1657, son of Henry, is reported to have m. Stearns, and it has been supposed that he settled in Sudbury; but we can regard as certain only the fact that "there was a Saml. Freeman in Sudbury, 1704." We have been much disappointed in our examination of Watertown Annals; but, whilst we have looked in vain for light from its pages, we give to the Annals credit for the undoubted information that "Samuel, b. May 11, 1638, went probably to Eastham on the Cape." In the next, we give as the total result of our inquiries in a Watertown direction, only a few additional items, viz. :—

7.

JOHN FREEMAN is supposed to be a son of Henry; and it is asserted, "There is reason to believe that, besides the eldest son James, Henry had a Samuel, John, and Lydia; perhaps Thomas who by wife Mary had Thomas b. Dec. 17, 1664; and perhaps Henry and Mary." We are further told, "James adm. on John of Newton, April, 1705"; also that, "there was a John of Sudbury, as early as 1644; and Joseph, b. 1645, was prob. son of this Jno., and rep. of Sudbury 1691." And yet further, "It has been supposed that John of Sudbury was bro. of Saml. of Watertown, and Edm. of Sandwich." So far as this corroborates a tradition that Edm. of S. was bro. of Saml. of W., and had a bro. Jno., we accept it; but turn away from such uncertain statistics, with better hopes and more reliance, to trustworthy data furnished by Cape Cod records, and carefully kept registers found in other parts.

13.

Issue of SAMUEL FREEMAN, who m. ELIZABETH SPARROW and BATHSHEBA SMITH.

- *22. I. PRISCILLA, Oct. 27, 1686; m. Capt. John Sears, May 31, 1704.

- *23. II. SAMUEL, Sept. 1, 1688; m. Mary Paine, Oct. 9, 1712.
- *24. III. ELIZABETH, April 19, 1694; m. Isaac Pepper, Fr., Feb. 21, 1716-17.
- *25. IV. BARNABAS, Jan. 31, 1695-6; m. Mary Stone, Dec. 10, 1734.
- *26. V. NATHANIEL, May 7, 1698; m. Mary Paine, Oct. 11, 1723.
- *27. VI. DAVID, Jan. 28, 1699-1700; m. Ruth Freeman, Feb. 15, 1727-8.
- *28. VII. ELISHA, Dec. 9, 1701; m. Lydia Freeman, May 7, 1725.
- 29. VIII. JAMES, Aug. 4, 1704.
- *30. IX. ENOCH, May 17, 1706; m. Mary Wright, Aug. 31, 1742.
- 31. X. SIMEON, Feb. 23, 1707-8; who prob. d. unm. Enoch mentions him as d., 1732.
- *32. XI. JOHN, Jan. 5, 1709-10; m. Bethia Cobb, 1741.
- 33. XII. ABIGAIL, July 10, 1713; d. July 16, 1714.
- *34. XIII. ABIGAIL, May 5, 1715; m. Isaac Higgins of E., July 5, 1733.
- 35. XIV. BATHSHEBA; d. young.

The above SAMUEL FREEMAN was a long time in charge of the militia of Eastham. He was 6 yrs. selectman, and 19 yrs. rep. Pratt says, "He was a man of large property, for the times; always much engaged in public affairs, and a liberal supporter of education and religion." He is sometime called in the town records "capt.," and afterwards "deacon." His 1st wife was dr. of Jonathan Sparrow, Esq., of E.; and his 2d was "relict of Samuel Smith of E., and dr. of Barnabas Lothrop, Esq., of Be., she having been left by Smith a widow, Sept. 22, 1692. MR. FREEMAN d. Jan. 30, 1742-3, æ. 82. His wid. was surviving 1749; for Jan. 29 Enoch writes, "my honored mother Bathsheba of E." Mr. F.'s will, Dec. 13, 1742, pr. Feb. 10, mentions "BATHSHEBA my wife; sons Samuel, Barnabas, Enoch, and John;" also "children of my son David dec., viz., David, Ruth, and Bathsheba;" and gives "to Samuel and Joseph Smith, children of my wife by her former husband." These sons of "Samuel Smith, Jr.," by his m. with Bathsheba Lothrop, May 26, 1690, were b. respectively, Feb. 13, 1690-1, and Oct. 9, 1692, the last being posthumous. The elder m. Abigail Freeman, dr. of Nath. of the Edm. branch, Oct. 9, 1712. See Part I. These step-sons each receipt, "April 26, 1728, to my honored father and guardian Samuel Freeman," for "legacy of my father Samuel Smith."

Issue of APPHIA FREEMAN, who m. ISAAC PEPPER.

- 36. I. APPHIA, Feb. 24, 1687, in E.
- 37. II. MARY, Aug. 7, 1690.
- 38. III. ISAAC, JR., July 29, 1693; m. Elizabeth Freeman, Feb. 21, 1716-17.
- 39. IV. ROBERT, Feb. 15, 1695-6.
- 40. V. ELIZABETH, July 11, 1698.
- 41. VI. JOSEPH, Nov. 1, 1700; d. May 1, 1703.
- 42. VII. SOLOMON, Jan. 15, 1703.
- 43. VIII. JOSEPH, Feb. 24, 1704-5.

The above ISAAC PEPPER was, says Savage, "prob. son of Robert of Roxbury." He adm. on his father-in-law's estate 1712, a final settlement being made Oct. 17, 1719.

15.

Issue of CONSTANT FREEMAN, who m. JANE TREAT.

- *44. I. ROBERT, Aug. 12, 1696, in Truro; m. Mary Paine of E., April 5, 1722.
- 45. II. JANE, Sept. 20, 1697; d. Feb. 19, 1698, in E.
- 46. III. JANE, March 5, 1698-9, in E.
- *47. IV. CONSTANT, March 25, 1700, in E.; m. Ann and Jane.

48. V. MERCY, Aug. 31, 1702; m. Caleb Hopkins of E., Oct. 8, 1719.
- *49. VI. HANNAH, May 3, 1704; m. Micah Gross of T., Aug. 20, 1725.
50. VII. EUNICE, Nov. 25, 1705; m. William Crocker, March 4, 1733.
51. VIII. ELIZABETH, Feb. 4, 1707-8; m. Lombard.
- *52. IX. JONATHAN, June 9, 1710, in Truro; m. Rebecca Binney, Sept. 23, 1731.
53. X. APPHIA, Jan. 14, 1713; m. Samuel Bickford, Oct. 6, 1731.
- *54. XI. JOSHUA, July 4, 1717; m. Rebecca Parker, Oct. 9, 1746, and 2d, Rebecca Knowles.

MR. CONSTANT FREEMAN, b. 1669, removed to Truro, where he d. June 8, 1745, æ. 76. His will, March 17, 1744-5, mentions "drs. Jane, Mercy Hopkins, Hannah Gross, Eunice Crocker, Elizabeth Lombard, Apphia Bickford; and sons Robert, Jonathan, Joshua, Constant." The will was pr. July 9, 1745; but it was found necessary that the estate be administered, and Sept. 19, 1758, the wid. JANE was app. admx. She d. soon after, i.e., Sept. 1, 1729; and the same year Isaac Freeman of Truro adm. on her "as admx. of Constant, late of Truro." Mr. F.'s wife was dr. of Rev. Samuel Treat, the faithful and distinguished minister of Truro. She was b. Dec. 6, 1675. For notice of Mr. Treat, see "Freeman's History of Cape Cod." From the marriage of the parents of the above family, descended the learned and noted minister of King's Chapel, in Boston, Rev. James Freeman, D.D., who, speaking of his gt.-gt.-g.-sire has said, "His sermons and manuscripts exhibit learning; the doctrines are defended with ability and ingenuity, and the applications are tremendous. His voice was so loud that it could be heard at a great distance from the meeting-house where he was preaching, even in the midst of the winds that howl over the plains of Nauset; but there was no more music in it than in the discordant sounds with which it mingled." These remarks of

Dr. F. will be understood to be his impressions caused by the perhaps hyperbolic descriptions of others; for Dr. F. could not have been an ear-witness. That the Truro pastor was not remarkable for captivating oratorical powers, may be fairly inferred from an instructive and somewhat amusing anecdote handed down, of his preaching for his father-in-law, the minister of the Old South Church in Boston, who was also some time President of Harvard College. Being invited to preach for Dr. Willard, it may naturally be supposed that Mr. Treat gave one of his best sermons. The congregation were not aware that he was their pastor's son-in-law, and did not receive the discourse with favor; and some did not hesitate to hint to the doctor a wish that the services of the stranger might not again be invited. They doubted not that he was a pious and worthy man, but — "such horrid preaching!" Dr. W. listened patiently and courteously to his parishioners' criticisms, and, invectives, and borrowing from Mr. Treat the sermon, delivered the same, a few weeks after, from the pulpit. The audience were now "charmed;" Dr. W. had really "excelled himself;" he had never before preached so "excellent" a sermon. "You preached," said they, "from the same text that stranger had; but what a difference!" When told "it was the identical discourse preached by the stranger, my son-in-law Mr. Treat," the pastor might, with much propriety, have addressed the sapient critics in the words of Phædrus, "En hic declarat, quales sitis judices." The effect of the disclosure the reader can better imagine than we describe. Mr. Treat was a talented, laborious, and faithful minister of Christ, and son of Gov. Robert Treat of Conn. He was grad. H. C. 1669.

She was executrix; and, May 22, administration was granted to the "said widow and to her father James Paine;" he "of Be." being son of Thomas of E., who m. Bethia Thacher, dr. of Hon. John, and b. Aug. 13, 1700. She m. 2d Edmund Howes of Yarmouth, Oct. 11, 1729, who residing in B. d. June 2, 1777, æ. abt. 37.¹

¹ This 2d marriage was followed by an unfortunate and tragic event, which, though not constituting legitimately a part of genealogical record, we mention as one of the incidents growing out of an irredeemable Continental currency. In January, 1777, this paper currency was at five per cent discount; in July it was at 25 per cent; and before the end of the year three dollars in paper would not command a silver dollar. The depreciation was rapid until a paper dollar was worth only two or three cents. Mr. Howes had sold to a Mr. Doane the property since known as 'the Dr. Savage estate,' and had been paid in Continental money, which almost immediately after became worthless. Mr. H., being thus reduced to poverty, went into the woods and hung himself! It is a singular fact that his only son also committed suicide.

The above MR. ELISHA FREEMAN went with his own, and other Plymouth and Barnstable County families, to Nova Scotia about the year 1761. In the Eastham records the only mention of him is the record of his birth. He doubtless settled early in Rochester, and there his children were born ; and from thence went to Liverpool. His brother Enoch mentions him in his diary, 1732, which was all the light we could obtain until, in 1854, corresponding with John H. Freeman, Esq., of Liverpool, he politely entertained the subject of our inquiries, and furnished us with a memorandum of welcome interest carefully prepared by Whitman Freeman, Esq., of Milton, N.S., embracing "the original stock beginning with the above ELISHA who, as traditioned, emigrated from Plymouth about 1760 with a family of six brothers and three sisters. It was understood that Mr. F. was a widower when he arrived at L. The first entry in the original book of records of the town of Liverpool is in his handwriting, and is as follows: "Page 1, Liverpool, Feb. 29, 1762; these births, deaths, and marriages, hereafter to be mentioned or to be registered by me, Elisha Freeman, Proprietor's Clerk." Mr. F.'s wife LYDIA probably d. in Rochester, Mass. She was dr. of Nathaniel Freeman, Esq., of the Edmund branch, and b. in Eastham, Oct. 14, 1703.

and settled in Portland, which was then a part of Falmouth. His first essay after leaving his native town was to engage in merchandise in Boston. From thence he went to Falmouth, 1742, and there became one of its most prominent citizens, being rep. 1748, 55, 56, 74; judge of the com. pleas. for Cumberland County, 1760-88, a period of 29 years. He was also register of deeds, the first appointed there, and continued through life. He was Judge of Probate 1770, 13 years; and also held various other offices. His wife d. Jan. 7, 1785. He d. The above Mr. Freeman was the first of the family who settled in Maine.¹ Mr. F. was remarkable for accuracy and thoroughness in recording passing events. The habit was early formed. We are inclined to draw largely on his diary; and will be justified in doing so, even if it were merely to rest our readers and ourselves from the tedium of constant and almost uninterrupted recitals of successive births, marriages, and deaths. We have, however, a further object in view: the extracts will be biographically illustrative, and may contribute graphic perceptions of early times. We wish, indeed, that many other young men in that period of our country's beginnings had kept journals, and kept them as well as did young Enoch Freeman of Eastham. It would have done much to alleviate the paucity in public records of those distant beginnings, and furnish better ideas of rural life and its every-day surroundings.

¹ It is far from agreeable to comment unfavorably on the mis-statements or blunders of writers who, it is to be presumed, have aimed at historical accuracy. We often see errors, and pass them by as unworthy of criticism; but at other times an honest regard for truth forbids silence. We are forced to say, 'Mr. Willis, historian of Portland,' is singularly unfortunate in his statements, whether he touches on the Watertown, Eastham, or Portland branches of the race of Freemans. Strangely does he mistake the above Enoch for, or confounds him with, another. He says "Enoch, who graduated H.C. 1729, m. Cushing, 1787;" he also calls him "the 8th son of Samuel of Eastham, and grandson of Samuel of 1630," and tells us that "Samuel of E., b. 1660, d. in E. 1743!" We wish ourselves to be accurate, and think we do right to guard our readers against impressions being made through mistakes that might otherwise seem to compromise our own reliability.

We know not precisely the nature of Mr. F.'s earlier negotiations with Richard Shute · but, Jan. 1731, we find entered on his diary, "Bought the lower estate of James Freeman, once of Boston, brewer, left by will of his son Samuel late of Boston, deceased. . . . James Freeman's executors sold six acres of land in Sudbury." Again he says, "May 21, 1732, had a deed of the lower estate of Mr. Samuel Freeman of Watertown;" also "settled with Mr. Shute; paid £150." Again he says, "Aug. 31, 1736, Capt. Rd. Shute died this day, 70 years old."

Mr. F. also recorded in his diary the fact that the year of his graduation, 1729, he "entered the compting-house of Mr. Hall, commission merchant in Boston, as clerk;" and that in 1732 he "became partner." He has also told us that "in 1742, led to the Eastern country to purchase lumber," he "settled there." There he continued engaged in mercantile pursuits until called by his fellow-citizens to duties of more public interest. Besides civil offices sustained by him, he was some time a military man and commandant of a regiment on the Eastern Frontier in 1748.

It is remarkable not only that he held so many important civil offices, but that he held them so long. His biographer, Alden Bradford, LL.D., says of him, "He was a zealous republican during the Revolutionary war, and his patriotism and zeal in support of civil liberty were always conspicuous." See also 'Willis' Deane,' p. 363, which represents him as "among the benefactors of his age." It may be noted, that necessarily Mr. F.'s earlier commissions were under the crown; viz., colonel 1748, naval officer 1749, and collector of the port 1750 to 1774. When, in 1774, he was chosen member of council, "the choice was negatived by the governor, on account of his well-known Whig principles." Mr. F. is represented by his biographer as "sanguine; arbitrary; of great moral worth, integrity, energy, and usefulness."¹

animus of his life is patent. We catch a glimpse of the society in which he moved, and become familiar with primitive scenes of activity and interest. Even the last entry made in his diary at Cambridge, "I have this day graduated," is something; but the next line, "packed up, and am going home," seems truly eloquent with the story of the successful scholar's tender yearning for the parental roof, as was the former brief item in exultation at having reached the first goal of his ambition. Neither railroad-car nor stage-coach was at that day at the service of traveller, nor was even "the coaster" to be found in waiting often for passenger who would make the trip from Boston to Nauset: so our bachelor-of-arts must needs, in eager haste to rejoin the loved ones at home, make the journey on foot. Primitive forests somewhat formidable intervened; and our friend found it necessary in one instance, when night came, to add to the variety of his record a doubtless annoying confession. "Got lost in the woods," and was glad after the fatigue of the day to find lodgings at the house of an old friend who had migrated from the Cape. When arrived at home, on the 14th day of the month of his taking leave of his kind mother Harvard, it was soon evident to family and neighbors that habits of early training had survived his long absence, so naturally and willingly did he at once fall in with the routine work of his father's farm. The entry for the first day was "Binding up." But this was not all; as if to certify that the good people of the neighborhood were in no danger of ennui from lack of excitement, he adds to his journal, "Three whales were brought in to-day at Billingsgate." Moreover, although no doubt wholesomely fatigued by lending a diligent helping-hand in gathering up "the corn," he foregoes his bed in youthful eagerness to witness "the good luck" which had befallen his neighbors, and hies away after nightfall to the scene of successful fishing. The next day, the fates would so have it that he must enter in his diary, "Blundered in finding the way." We sympathize with him; for we have known what it is to get bewildered in the woods. The woods had not become so obliterate, even low down on the Cape, as to render a stroll from Eastham to Wellfleet perfectly secure from all liability to wander aside from the direct course of travel. A few years of absence is all-sufficient to bring about surprising changes in the growth and appearance of a thrifty forest. Our young adventurer was, however, "bound to see the whales," though it should take the entire night to grope his way. The next morning, true to the work he had volunteered on the farm, he borrowed a boat, and "rowed home." Scholastic years at Cambridge had, it seems, somewhat impaired the rustic firmness of his hands, so that he must needs enter in the diary, on the 15th, "Hands blistered," which was followed on the 16th by another single word, "Rested." But, on the 17th, he was again in manly performance of the duties of the field, and "reaped;" on the 18th, "Bound-up;" and, on the 19th, "Helped cart in the grain, and fitted for the sabbath," — which last entry brings to mind a good old New England custom.

Without following the entries day by day further, we will turn to where he "goes to Barnstable to engage in school-keeping." We find him, by-and-by, noting a characteristic though trifling occurrence, which, no doubt, gave pleasure to many, — the act of a kind-hearted old mariner, which he mentions on this wise: "Capt. Thacher threw oranges about town for the boys;" and adds, "This was the last day of my school at Barnstable." The next is, "My school at Eastham commences to-day." In prosecuting his diary he neither omits to mention "Tom Knowles brought in a whale to-day;" nor forgets having "discoursed with Mr. Rogers, the pedagogue of Sandwich;" nor having "heard Mr. Smith marry his first couple in Barnstable;" nor having been "present at the ordination in Yarmouth," where "Rev. Mr. Dennis prayed, Stone preached, Russell gave the charge, and Webb the right hand of fellowship." Nor does he fail to record the fact that "in January, 1735, were seventeen days of intense cold, — the bay frozen down to the fort." From the diary we learn also that he loaned to his young friend Zohith Smith, "£9 and a ruffle-shirt to commence with," attentions which probably made the young hearts of both friends glad. We learn also that, June 3, 1736, he visited "Hingham to attend the wedding of Capt. Thos. Lothrop;" and, "June 19, sold Cuffee Gall, negro woman, to Mr. Crowell for £92.10." One other entry only will we quote, which shall be from later memoranda. In 1754, his "bro. Samuel, 10 yrs. old, and two younger bros., underwent the operation of shaving the head to receive that indispensable of the day, — a wig." The quotations made are, we confess, heterogeneous, and neither genealogical, biographical, nor strictly historical, — except that, being of a date so remote, they are both biographically and historically suggestive.

From correspondence with MR. E. P. FREEMAN of Yale College, 1857, afterwards of St. Louis, we gathered that the tradition has been that "LIEUT. SAMUEL FREEMAN, the first Freeman who settled in Sturbridge, came from Medfield, bringing a wife MARY whose maiden name was Chubb; he set up a tavern, and, with the assistance of Col. Marcy, a blacksmith shop." LIEUT. F. "d. Dec. 31, 1772, supposed to be æ. abt. 51." Now, the age of the Samuel of E., b. 1716, would be 56. Here, then, is a difference of 5 years between the imputed age and that shown by record. Many circumstances persuade us that the disappearance of the Samuel of E., b. 1716, who is said to have "gone to Connecticut," — so Mr. Barnabas Freeman informed us in 1854, — is only to be explained by the tradition and facts recited. We accept, for reasons that seem perfectly satisfactory to us, the belief that this Samuel of E. found, on "going abroad to seek his fortunes," a home in Southbridge, formerly a part of Sturbridge, Mass.; and that his wife was MARY CHUBB. If we be wrong in the identity of the person, we shall, at worst, preserve the genealogy of the man of Southbridge, and the issue can be set aside as belonging to some other branch of family lineage. HON. SAMUEL FREEMAN above d. in Portland, June 18, 1831, æ. 88: 3. He m. 1st MARY FOWLE of Watertown, Nov. 3, 1777. She, dr. of John Fowle, was b. Nov. 21, 1749, and d. Jan. 7, 1785, æ. 35. He m. 2d, BETSEY widow of Pierson Jones, and dr. of Dr. Enoch Hsley of Portland, Feb. 7, 1786. She was b. Oct. 6, 1754, and d. March, 1831, æ. 76. Few men have had committed to them so many public trusts as were executed by MR. FREEMAN above; and it may be added without contradiction from any source, these trusts were all fulfilled with ability, promptness, and fidelity.

MR. FREEMAN was in early life some time "engaged in school-keeping." He "also engaged in trade, and acted occasionally as attorney before any regular member of the legal profession established an office in town." His "singular facility in the despatch of business, and his accuracy and good judgment, pointed him out for public confidence; and he soon came to be regarded as one of the most reliable, active, and useful of citizens."

In 1774, MR. F. was on the "Com. of Cor. on the Alarming Situation of Public Affairs;" and at "a general meeting of committees of the several towns," of which meeting his father was chairman, acted as clerk. The design of these meetings in various parts of Massachusetts was, as is now well understood, to obtain control of public opinion in preparation for foreseen exigencies. He became a delegate to the Provincial Congress, and, by the congress that assembled at Watertown, was unanimously elected secretary.

Under the new régime, Mr. F. was a Justice of the Peace 1775 to 1810, and was many years engaged as a magistrate in the discharge of duties that have since devolved on a Municipal Court. In 1776 he was app. also postmaster, an office which he continued to hold until displaced by Jefferson. The post-office, it will be understood, was first opened under the direction of Massachusetts, June 3, 1775. It was taken in charge by the United Colonies, Oct. 4, following.

MR. F. was Reg. Probate for Cumberland County 1775, 36 yrs.; clerk of the County Court, 1775, 46 yrs.; Judge of Probate, 1804, 17 yrs.; Judge of the Sup. Jud. Court, 1795, until Maine ceased to be a province of Massachusetts.

MR. F. was also president of the Marine Bank of Portland from its origin to the expiration of its charter; president of the Board of Overseers of Bowdoin College, 1816; and through a long course of years was deacon of the 1st church in Portland. He was selectman of Portland 25 yrs.; and was several times of the college of electors for President of the United States.

Always an advocate for learning, he gave a college-education to five of his sons. His habits of industry, benevolence, and patriotism have been chronicled by his biographers; and an elaborate and faithful memoir of him has also been written by his son, William Freeman, Esq., of Cherryfield. His indefatigable industry as an author and compiler is attested by numerous publications, among which were 'Smith's Journal,' the 'Clerk's Magazine,' the 'Town Officer,' the 'Probate Auxiliary,' and 'The Massachusetts Justice.'

Mr. Freeman has been represented by those who knew him, as "in person tall, erect, of good figure, with large nose, benevolent and grave countenance, and resembling Washington." Of his dress it has been said, "He wore short breeches and shoe-buckles to the last, but yielded the wig, cocked-hat, and expansive coat." We have endeavored to do justice to our subject, but conceive that his best eulogium is found in the words, "He was the friend of the widow and orphan."

266. IX. ELIZABETH; m. Calkins of Halfmoon, N.Y.

The above CAPT. ELISHA FREEMAN was son of Robert, and born in Truro, Mass., 1731. He is represented as having been, like his father, an "eminent Christian," his "long life of faith and love" terminating at the age of 99 years. His memory is revered by his posterity. 'Sketches of his life, containing an account of his shipwreck and remarkable deliverance, as also his religious exercises and the special dealings of God's Providence during a life of 88 years,' is the title of a book now before us, "written by himself;" and, as appears by an "Introduction" prefixed "by a friend," written to gratify a desire of his numerous descendants, relatives, and friends, to become acquainted with the leading incidents of his life. This remarkable book was pr. "at Ballston Spa, 1819." We have been strongly inclined to copy the contents of the sketches, entire; but the space requisite can hardly be yielded in this genealogy. We trust his descendants will choicely preserve the relic, and adjudge it worthy of reprint for the benefit of a numerous progeny.¹

¹ By the book it appears that CAPT. FREEMAN was in early life a mariner; removed to Norwich Landing, and in 1761 sailed with other settlers to Nova Scotia, and settled in Cornwallis. In 1769, having made a trip to Halifax, and reloaded with government stores, he was returning to the Bay of Fundy, when at night, in a thick fog, his vessel striking a rock before undiscovered, but since known as 'Freeman's Woe,' his vessel was wrecked. The following spring he settled, with wife and four children, on lands granted him by government. No other family was at that time in the place; but there at Amherst was added a daughter who was the first English child born in town. The only assistance procurable for his wife in her sickness was the aid of a French woman, to obtain whom he travelled on snow-shoes to the next town. He remained in Amherst "until the war between England and America," when being required to take the oath of allegiance to the king, and declining, he experienced the

SAMUEL DEANE FREEMAN, b. May 29, 1781, grad. H.C., 1800, was a lawyer well read in his profession, and of brilliant intellect; but did not long practise at the bar. With principles pure, generous, and exalted, and a heart tempered by gentleness, fidelity, and love, his life was without blemish. Whilst inheriting a sound mind in a sound body, too close application to study without the rest required by the physical system taxed the powers of thought so intensely and unre-mittingly, that with nerves naturally sensitive, a spirit quite mercurial, a taste exquisitely refined, an imagination most vivid, and a disposition always confiding, he became intellectually the "Charles Lamb" of his age, devoid of moral infirmity, appearing to realize in the communion of his own thoughts the truth of the saying, "nunquam minus solus, quam cum solus." The public lost the benefit of talents and virtues that had given promise of greatly distinguished usefulness. He d. Sept. 17, 1831, æ. 50, unm. His bro. Jonas of Lexington, Aug. 29, 1806, whom "after a companionship of singular felicity during 55 years," MR. F. was called to resign to the grave April 29, 1861. We may not add more concerning either of them; for MR. F. is happily yet with us, a truly wonderful instance of the kind dealing of a good PROVIDENCE. Although at the time of this present writing he is more than a nonagenarian, — his mind vigorous, and chirography remarkable for its beauty as is its diction for clearness and fine sense, — we indulge the fond hope that years of usefulness and honor are yet before him.

COL. CONSTANT FREEMAN, who m.

The above COL. F. was son of Capt. Constant, and grandson of Constant who m. Ann Larkin, Oct. 20, 1726. Col. F. was born in Charlestown, and was baptized there Feb. 27, 1757. He is said to have entered the Boston Latin School 1766. At what time he became connected with the army we cannot fully ascertain. We distrust the report of a correspondent, that "he was an officer of the army during the whole of the revolutionary war." That he was some time of the United States Army, and "down to the termination of the war of 1812, when he held the rank of colonel," there can be no doubt; nor, that "on the reduction of the army he was made 4th Auditor United States Treasury, holding that position at the time of his decease, April 27, 1824. Our inquiries have not been followed by entirely satisfactory results. A reason assigned has been that "at his death his WIFE, at his request, destroyed all his papers."¹ Col. F. left no issue.

REV. JAMES FREEMAN, D.D., who m. MARTHA CLARKE.

The above DR. FREEMAN, son of Capt. Constant, and brother of Col. Constant, was b. in Charlestown, April 23, 1759. His wife MARTHA was widow of Samuel Clarke of Boston, 1788, and daughter of Obadiah Curtiss of Newton.

We learn from the General-Court Journal that soon after completing his collegiate course, 1777, Mr. Freeman was desirous of "permission to go to his father," who, from prudential considerations, had retired to British territory, and was located in Quebec. The father had been an officer of the fort in Boston Harbor, holding by royal commission. At the time of "the evacuation," 1776, he betook himself to Canada. The "petition" of the above James, which was presented to Court April 21, 1780, in "behalf of himself, brother, and sister," was granted.

In 1782, having returned to Boston, Mr. Freeman became "reader in King's Chapel." The American Bishops not seeing fit to admit him to orders, he was, Nov. 18, 1787, instituted by laymen of the congregation, "minister of the people worshipping in said chapel." Thus was introduced, and by successive steps consummated, a remarkable change.² Rev. Mr.

¹ It is said that "the papers of Col. F. were thoroughly examined before burning;" and that "an eye-witness declares them to have been personal and private." It is also said that "Col. F. joined Arnold and his army, in the autumn of 1775, when in the neighborhood of Quebec." — See 'Mem. of the Soc. of Cincinnati of Mass.,' by Drake.

² An event which has long and often been subject of reference in diverse discussions deserves additional historical mention since its nature is not unfrequently misunderstood. We may therefore very properly state that "the Episcopal ministers of Boston, and many of the people of their charge, left town at the time of the evacuation;" and public religious services according to the liturgical forms were, ex necessitate rei, for a time suspended. The "Old South" congregation which, during the five years in which the desolations of their own place of worship were being restored, were given the occupancy of "the Chapel," being in 1782 about to vacate it, the few remaining proprietors of the Chapel determined to restore their former mode of worship, and to this end employed Mr. Freeman as "lay-reader." At the end of three years, during which time the authorized liturgy and prayer-book were again in use, the "reader," having not as yet received ordination, applied to the American Bishops for orders. The application, first to Bishop Seabury of Conn., and second to Bishop Provost of N.Y., was unsuccessful. In this dilemma, or exigency as some may choose to call it, a Unitarian minister from England, being in Boston, suggested to Mr. Freeman the expedient of "lay-ordination," and the idea was accepted. The ordaining act seems to have been a very simple ceremony: "a church-warden, laying one hand on Mr. F.'s head, and with the other presenting a Bible, enjoined him to make it the rule of his faith and practice." In process of time an emasculated liturgy followed; and, the temporals of King's Chapel being in the direction of strangers to the early influences and teachings of Episcopacy, a new order of things succeeded. It may be remarked that the Mr. Hazlitt to whom we have referred as the adviser of Mr. F. was the person whom Mr. F., in a letter now before us, addressed, 1789, to our honored father, recommends as "a gentleman of great abilities and learning, a man of worth, and rational Christian, exceeding proper to supply the place of the late minister of Sandwich," — Rev. Abraham Williams, deceased. Those who are conversant with the ecclesiastical and religious commotions and changes of the latter part of the eighteenth and the opening of the nineteenth century, will recognize Mr. H. as having been instrumental, by the developments which followed his return to England, and the reports which soon reached Boston and neighborhood, in producing not a little perturbation among some pastors and their flocks. This was before the theological views which Belsham and Priestly inculcated were openly avowed by any considerable numbers here. It were a mistake to suppose that the counsels of Mr. H., or the desire of Mr. F. to introduce his friend into the ministry in S., indicated the already mature growth of Arian or Socinian predilections in the congregations of Massachusetts. Mr. F.'s correspondence with our father had reference to mutual readings of authors then prominent in incipient theological debate; but, aside from this, they were also much interested in antiquarian and historical investigations. There is no question that Dr. James Freeman became prominent among those whose theological views were in sympathy with his own; and there can be no question either as to our father's religious views, for his sentiments are fully set forth in an elaborate quarto now before us, "Concerning GOD the OBJECT and MAN the SUBJECT of RELIGION." REV. DR. FREEMAN, although not the peer of Mayhew or Chauncy or Cooper, must ever be regarded as a representative man, notwithstanding it has been justly remarked by a scholar of his own affinities, that "he has left no monument of intellectual force."

The above LOUISA, who m. Mr. Davis, 1786, in Quebec, is reported as having "had a large family."¹ Her husband,

¹ For convenience we here note that the father of MRS. DAVIS was the third of the name of Constant descended from Mr. Samuel Freeman of Watertown whose son became resident in Eastham. Her father, "Capt. Constant, b. May 12, 1729," was son of Constant by his marriage with Ann Larkin Oct. 20, 1726. That he was in command in Boston Harbor has been already stated. We are told that "he was a shipmaster, and traded with Canada;" it is also said that "he and his family were in Quebec during the revolutionary war, and as Americans were under sur-

We cheerfully give data that has been handed to us, and which would otherwise have escaped our particular notice as unimportant. We may note further that "Capt. Constant's brother Nehemiah was in command of Fort Independence, Boston Harbor, 1812, who had issue that died young."

¹ MR. DAVIS was res. in Portland, 1752; and the solicitor-general in Boston, 1803. For particular notice of him, see 'The Bar of Maine;' 'Hist. of Cape Cod,' vol. i. 308, and ii. 230; and 'Tudor's Life of Otis;' and their reference to the militia-company which marched from Barnstable on hearing of the Lexington battle, — the narrative of which led the "solicitor" long years after to say, on reading it, "I was the drummer-boy of that company."

To the above gentleman, WHITMAN FREEMAN, ESQ., of Milton, b. May 11, 1792, who m. 1st AZUBAH DEXTER, Dec. 11, 1817; 2d ANN KEMPTON, April 30, 1829; and 3d EXPERIENCE FREEMAN, Dec. 30, 1852,—we were long since indebted for intelligent, accurate, and thorough memoranda which greatly aided and encouraged genealogical inquiry. We hoped some day to meet with him, and, with fervent fraternal grasp, express to him our gratitude and high esteem; but he has lately, 1875, ceased from earth, and entered at a ripe old age into his heavenly rest. We turn to our files, and copy from his letter of 1855 the following testimony: "Our ancestors located themselves in this Province; and, as did they, so have their posterity pursued an honest, industrious, and sober life. I think I may with propriety say that they are, with but few exceptions, men who fear God and honor their rulers, and women ready to every good work: not many wise, not many noble; but the name of Freeman is generally a good recommendation in this community; thanks to a GRACIOUS PROVIDENCE who has so kindly preserved and prospered our family, while many others who came to this place, and commenced settling,—their families have been separated, and their name cannot now be found." We record this honorable testimony with great pleasure, and doubt not that, coming from so excellent source, it will be appreciated by all who knew the venerable man, and so are certified of his high position, intelligence, extended and careful observation, and conscientious judgment.

Having now presented, as far as we have been successful in gathering material, the memoir of the Watertown branch of the name, we propose to proceed, after a few desultory paragraphs, to Part III. of our genealogical memoranda. Let the reader understand, however, that we are not yet fully determined whether to exhaust the Notes prepared ready at hand, or by and by to cast the bulk of them aside as perhaps not absolutely of such appreciable interest to either our lineage or the public as to justify the expense of production.

A well-known literary gentleman, not of our kin, in a letter bearing date "Boston, Dec. 20, '75," after indulging in pleasant and complimentary remarks upon what he terms "your elegant and interesting genealogy," continues on this wise: "If you meet with a pecuniary response sufficient to cover one-half the cost of publication, it will be an experience without parallel in such matters; for people care most for the present; few think of the future, and fewer still of the past. 'Let the dead bury their dead,' they say, and laugh derisively at the thoughtful man who would show them the block from whence they were hewed. The millions have no future, no past, only the present,—wherewithal to be clothed, fed, and housed; and of the few in affluence very few are sufficiently educated to understand, much less value, the things which the philosopher studies as the source of light and life. So you must be quiet, and submissively take the contemptuous indifference of your unthinking animal contemporaries, who, whether in silks or rags, will be forgotten with the ignoble herd when your name shall be a household word in future."

We give room to our correspondent's caveat and forebodings, chiefly from respect for his kindness and generally correct observation; but we claim, in justice to our race, the right of saying that we cannot accept his criticisms as applicable. We are constrained to think he knows not the men concerning whom we hope better things. His diatribe is, we confess, sufficiently discouraging ; but not thereby cast down, we shall continue the issue of our publication, trusting that if the event fail to establish beyond doubt our friend's title to a distinctive appellation, prophetique, he will nevertheless accept the result, and find it occasion for cheerful amende. "Nous verrons."

We never intended our present work as a metre for ascertaining the capacity of any one's reverence for ancestry, or generous devotion to the memory of the departed. If the putting-forth of this genealogy shall indirectly contribute to such disclosure, it will be an operation for which our intent is not responsible. We have aimed at higher ends ; the chief that we have coveted has been the satisfaction of performing a filial and fraternal duty. No syllable of complaint has been uttered by us, nor have we importuned any individual for pecuniary aid or payment. If, when published, the list of recipients of these pages shall show final credits for equivalents, acknowledgment will be due ; if, peradventure, omissions shall silently indicate a lack of sympathy with the genealogical record, we submit.

It may here be remarked, that a further emission has been recommended by gentlemen entitled to high respect, who suggest that "as an auxiliary to genealogical literature the work ought not to be limited to a private edition, but be offered for general circulation." The suggestion is under advisement.

PART III.

NOTES, HISTORICAL AND GENEALOGICAL, OF FAMILIES
OF THE NAME OF FREEMAN, DISTINCT FROM PARTS
I. AND II., OR WHOSE CONNECTION IS NOT CLEARLY ASCERTAINED.

WHATEVER mental abatements of its numerical correctness we may feel constrained is fair, courteous, and due to self-respect and unfettered inquiry in accepting the reports of traditions respecting the fraternal relations between EDMUND and SAMUEL Freeman who left England for a new home in "the New World," we see no reason to doubt that the FATHER of these emigrant brothers was amply blessed with a goodly number of SONS.

We are assured in Parts I. and II. of the genealogical tables embraced in preceding pages, that the aforementioned brothers existed. Mr. Beauchampe's letter tells us of WILLIAM remaining for a time in England; and tradition cannot be considered at fault in the intimation that JOHN of Sudbury is to be added to the fraternal list. We neither make confident assertion, nor express unqualified belief that either STEPHEN of the Passaic, or any other who may be suggested in the thoughts of the reader, should be assumed as belonging to the fraternity.

'Mr. Burke' has intimated, "the field of adventure" belonged "almost exclusively to the junior members" of English families, who, "the eldest son and heir being provided for, are forced upon the arena to achieve a position and support for themselves." It is not strange, then, that necessity for exertion induced some to remove to a new country where every man may be the peer of his neighbor, and where emulation and ambitious effort may be cherished and quickened, instead of subsiding to a strata overshadowed by favored ones to whose height there must ever remain an apprehension that all may not attain.

Let it be understood that we do not enter upon this part of our present work, claiming that any whose lineage we may attempt to trace are undeniably, or even presumptively, our kindred. Let it also be remembered that in our various labors to gather materials we have not had such end in view. In efforts to collate with some degree of fulness and certainty the line of descent from our own ancestor, we found it expedient to extend our research, and thus became possessed of material which, instead of throwing away, we are quite willing to have preserved for the benefit of future inquirers who may account it worth only what in their sober judgment shall appear to be its value. With our mind thus expressed, and for this reason only, we offer the memoranda which follows.

I. MEMORANDA OF MR. JOHN FREEMAN OF SUDBURY.

By the English 'admiralty records' it appears that there were several bearing the name of John Freeman registered as intending passage in the ship "Abigail," 1635. The first of the name, "John æ. 8," was beyond doubt the son of Edmund the proprietor of Sandwich. The "John æ. 35," it has been conjectured, with a probability amounting nearly to certainty, was he who is reported as original "proprietor of Sudbury, 1639. Whom he married we are unable to say;¹ but he was probably father of the Elizabeth who m.

¹ 'Mr. Carlton Gates' of Yonkers supposes that the wife of the afore-said John Freeman was the Elizabeth named in the admiralty records. He cites an original document: "Whereas Thos. Gates of Norwhich, alias Preston in the colony of Conn., having m. Elizabeth the daughter of Mr. John Freeman," &c. It has been conjectured by some that the "Jo. and Sycillae mentioned in the admiralty rec. were children of said John;" and that the "Marie" mentioned was sister. Others have supposed that possibly she was the wife, or that possibly the record has not been accurately deciphered. We have not traced with any great degree of care the genealogy of the Sudbury Freemans: future researches of antiquaries may be rewarded with success.

Thomas Gates, 1670. It is also supposed that this John was father of Joseph registered in Sudbury 1645, who was rep. of S. 1691. Boston records of 1645 mention the birth of this "Joseph son of John of Sudbury, 1644." Moreover a Joseph was in Marlboro', alias Sudbury, 1676.

II. MEMORANDA OF MR. STEPHEN FREEMAN OF THE PASSAIC.

In 'records of the first church in Newark,' STEPHEN FREEMAN is mentioned as "of the company from Milford, Guildford, and Branford, for settling a town on the Passaic River in the province of New Jersey in 1666." Mr. F. was at Milford 1639, or soon after, and is on the "list of after-planters," whose "first general meeting was held Nov. 20, 1639." There is evidence also of his being there in 1646 and later.

By the use of a few isolated facts and by collating materials, we are enabled to submit a few items that may assist further inquiry: Mr. Stephen Freeman married Hannah, "dr. of Capt. John Atwood, one of the pillars of the Milford Church." Their issue was I. Hannah, b. 1655; II. Mary, 1658; III. Samuel, 1662; IV. Martha; and V. Sarah, who m. Thos. Judd of Waterbury. MR. FREEMAN was dismissed to the Fairfield Church 1664.

From Connecticut history it appears that "in consequence of dissatisfaction with the union of the New Haven and Connecticut Colonies, Rev. Mr. Pierson and almost his whole church and congregation removed to New Jersey, leaving the town almost without inhabitants."¹

MR. FREEMAN died 1675. The children above named are mentioned in his will. It is supposed that his widow Hannah m. 2d Robert Porter of Farmington.²

² See 'Records of the First Church in Newark,' also 'Notes by Congar and Whitehead.'

SAMUEL FREEMAN, supposed to be issue of the above Stephen, m. Elizabeth Brown, dr. of John of Newark, who in his will, 1690, mentions her as daughter. This Samuel was in Newark, 1687. His issue were, "I. Stephen, b. in Newark, 1696, and d. in Morris County, Oct. 21, 1782, æ. 86; II. Samuel, who d. Oct. 21, 1782, and was bu. in Orange; III. Benjamin, who d. Jan. 17, 1789, æ. 77, in Morris; Jedediah, who d. Oct. 1811, æ. nearly 86, and was bu. in Orange; and Abel who d. April 30, 1803, æ. 78, and was bu. in Orange."¹

III. VARIOUS TRADITIONS.

TRADITIONS are found everywhere, and are variable according to location.

By an elderly gentleman originating from New Jersey, we were in 1856 assured quasi confidently that "the Jersey tradition is, that four bros. from England — possibly New England — settled in New Jersey; two of them in Newark, one in Rahway, and another in Morristown."

A gent. in Newark, equally confident, but whose theory we are constrained to regard unreliable as that of our Schenectady informant, said in 1848, "A Freeman, whose name was probably John, came from Oxford, Eng., bringing wife and children, in company with William Penn's first colony, June, 1681, and was drowned in the Delaware River in the act of landing his chattels; and from his family originated the New Jersey Freemans." It is proper to state that this account has seemed to us, on analysis, to be a theory of modern production, unsupported by a single line of history.¹ Enter-

¹ We are led to question whether the last two named were sons of the Samuel who m. Brown. We would not mislead inquiry, nor uselessly multiply fragmentary matter; but, as the simplest incidents are sometimes serviceable, we mention that in 1746 there was in Orange both a "Dea. Samuel" and a "Samuel, jr.," and that in 1744 one of them "brought two wolf-heads to Sam. Harrison, who marked them according to law, and gave a ticket for them." A "Stephen, jr., d. in Hanover, 1762," whose will names "bro.-in-law Matt. Fairchild."

¹ In 'Watson's Annals of Philadelphia in the olden time,' is mention of "Peter Freeman, a resident during the Swedish rule, pointed out by the authorities in 1657, as a subject for taxation." Also in 'Colonial taining due respect for the gentleman, and regarding his memoranda of issues, exhibited to us, as reliable, subject only to the natural and inevitable mistakes inseparable from such statistics, whilst we felt constrained to reject the theory as unworthy of acceptance, we nevertheless followed out at much length inquiry until the result became so extended and formidable that it embraced nine generations and more than five hundred names. These we now lay aside, though constituting a genealogical table the obtaining of which from all available sources cost us considerable pains, — our investigations pursued perhaps not so persistently, extensively, and continuously, as if we had a more direct and personal interest in the result, but quite as conscientiously; our motive being, first, to ascertain what connection existed between these and the branches from Sandwich and Watertown; and, second, to determine whether there were probable reason for regard to the legend of the arrival on the Delaware.¹ Our conclusion is that, unless there be a penchant, unperceived by us, in favor of the reproduction of the farce of “Japhet in Search of a Father,” it will be well for our Fersey cousins to look to the Passaic, rather than perambulate the shores of the Delaware, or unavailingly scrutinize the passports of the Penn colony.²

Records of Pennsylvania, running back to 1684, mention is made of grantors of lands, viz., James Freeman, 1684-6, Mark, Elizabeth, James, Benj., John, Wm., and Tristram B., 1775-1793; but there is nothing to maintain or suggest the above theory.

¹ Supposing the man alleged drowned was John, or any other, the legend that he left a widow and three sons Edward, Henry, and Samuel, proposed one of these, viz., Henry, as the progenitor; and this Henry, it was said, was apprenticed in Philadelphia, married a French woman, and located in Woodbridge, N.J.

² Until we inquired of that aged, intelligent, and remarkable woman, Mrs. Ashbel Freeman, whose father was Mr. James Freeman, born in Woodbridge, 1740, she had never heard the legend; but cited quite another tradition received from the lips of her father, viz., that “the ancestry came from New England.”

IV. MEMORANDUM IN REGARD TO SETTLERS IN CUMBERLAND COUNTY, NOVA SCOTIA.

By information obtained from Snow Parker Freeman, Esq., of Liverpool, in 1854, it appeared that there were generations of Freeman's in Cumberland County, supposed to be descended from the same stock from which are Parts I. and II., and the Sudbury and Milford branches. Being put in communication with William White Bent, Esq., living in Amherst, and member of the Provincial Parliament, we learned that his father-in-law MR. SAMUEL FREEMAN was "yet living in A., upwards of eighty years old, in retention of health and all faculties, and the only male survivor of a large family of bros. and sisters." Mr. Bent wrote, "The old gentleman was highly pleased at the prospect of a publication of a family genealogy. He said that his father WILLIAM FREEMAN came to Nova Scotia from London many years ago, and from him the Freemans in this part of the province are descended, and have become numerous." This MR. WILLIAM FREEMAN was a "highly respectable man; many years a member of P. P.; a magistrate, and judge of the com. pleas." Mr. Bent's letter bears date "House of Assembly, Halifax, February, 1855."

V. ADDITIONAL MEMORANDA.

1. Mention is made in 'Thompson's Long Island,' of REV. BERNARDUS FREEMAN of Schenectady, who settled at Flatbush 1705, and d. 1741; a man of fine talents, well educated, and possessed of a good share of general literature." He was a minister of the "collegiate churches" in Kings County. Among his other published works was a volume of sermons, and also "a mirror of self-knowledge," — being a collection of ancient moral and philosophical maxims, and entitled "De Spiegel der Selfkennis."

2. 'Chalmers' Political Annals' says, touching the charter of Massachusetts, that "His majesty's pleasure was signified by SIR RALPH FREEMAN upon direction of the lord-keeper of the great seal." 'Evelyn' also mentions dining "with Sir Ralph Freeman" among other "noted men" of the day.

3. From 'Enconium Cornubia,' it appears that "MR. THOMAS FREEMAN, a Gloucestershire man, entered Magdalen College 1607, when about sixteen years of age, and took the degree of B. A." He then "set up for a poet, and was shortly after, according to 'Wood,' held in esteem by Daniell, Owen, Donne, Shakespeare, Chapman, T. Heywood, and others." He "produced, in 1614, two books of epigrams."

4. Mention is made in the 'Books,' of "RICHARD FREEMAN, an eminent lawyer and reporter, 1707-10, who owed his rise to James II., and was Lord Chancellor of Ireland." Mention is also made of "SIR JOHN FREEMAN of Brompton, Eng." "EDWARD DEANE FREEMAN, ESQ., whose seat was Castle Cor," is mentioned by 'Burke.' Our letters from European correspondents have done little to add to former knowledge, indeed have been in general unsatisfactory. We may mention WILLIAM PEARE WILLIAMS FREEMAN, ESQ., who, writing from Buntisfield, Scotland, Aug. 4, 1853, says, "I find nothing further back than John Freeman, Esq., of Fawley Court, who d. 1707." A letter from JOHN FREEMAN, ESQ., of Gaines, Hereford, July 25, 1853, says, "My ancestor came from a parish called Suckley in the county of Worcester; and the first who possessed the property where I now live was Bellingham Freeman, who received it from a Mr. Arden, the uncle of Miss Gowan, whom he m. 1679; and it has descended from father to son until the present time."¹

5. The 'Syracuse Journal' has said, "The founder of Syracuse was JOSHUA FREEMAN, b. in Dutchess Co., and settled in Onondaga

¹ In freedom of expression concerning heraldic devices, we intended no stigma on their enlightened advocacy, much less on early generations whose names are found on heraldic rolls. The world has already furnished too many instances of the crime of filial disrespect, since the day of —

"Th' irreverent son
Of him who built the ark, and for the shame
Done to his father heard the heavy curse
'Servant of servants,' on his vicious race."

Valley 1800. He was the originator of the canal project, a judge, and member of the legislature. He came to reside where Syracuse now stands, in 1819. He d. in North Carolina in 1848; but his memory will survive as long as Syracuse exists,—the man who, above all others, promoted its early growth.”

VI. MISCELLANEOUS MEMORANDA.

We have already wandered sufficiently into the obscurity of genealogical statistics, and feel no inclination to extend our transcripts unnecessarily. Random notes, the materials long since gathered, might possibly be of interest to a few, whilst to most others they would be of no value; but no sufficient reason for their publication can be imagined other than the selfish thought that it will be a wholesome relief to have our own mind entirely disburthened of matters studied over and over, and with which has been associated much perplexed non-success. We shall, however, pass by much that we formerly noted.

1. We will slightly refer again to the account given us of him who, if the theory to which we have adverted on pp. 448 and 449 is to be regarded as entitled to consideration, was progenitor of numerous families in New Jersey and elsewhere. It has been said of MR. HENRY FREEMAN that he “was apprenticed in Philadelphia, and, not relishing the treatment he there received, took himself off to Woodbridge, and there, on reaching his majority, married; and then, returning to Philadelphia, was prosecuted by his former master for breach of contract, and mulct in £9 damages. Then returning to Woodbridge he settled there, and by industry and enterprise secured an ample fortune, so that he died leaving large landed possessions.”¹

¹ A will admitted to probate April, 1761, and dated Perth Amboy, purporting to be the will of John, son of the above HENRY, says, “I give to my eldest son Henry, meadow-land which I had of my honored father Henry.” Then follow the names of said John’s other children; and mention is made of “Joseph and Henry, my brothers,” of whom he had purchased lands. We may note that “the youngest son of the first Henry” (who, by the way, is said to have “had ten sons”) was killed by lightning, striking and burning his barn, about 1790.

This is, to say the least, circumstantial, and is perhaps worthy the consideration of those who would investigate the history of the people of that State. It falls not within our duty to pursue the subject to any great extent.

It is known that one of the earliest settlers at Woodbridge was from Newbury, Mass., Dec. 11, 1666; and no doubt the localities from whence "the new-comers" came were generally various as were their motives for change of place. Some found their way to "West Jersey" from New England, some from other parts; all influenced doubtless by a laudable desire to better their location and worldly circumstances.¹

2. If we shall now be inclined to notice also particularly an individual case or two connected with New Jersey and other parts, it is because the notes before us tell of native energy of character, of vicissitudes, enjoyments, and trials, in both seaside and frontier life, and show how economy, industry, and judicious investments have crowned enterprise and perseverance. We select, with this view, one instance, — that of MR. ASHBEL FREEMAN, b. 1755, the son of Isaac of Woodbridge; and whose 2d wife was Zeruiah, the daughter of James, b. 1740, and whom he m. in Woodbridge 1794. We notice this instance, not because of kinship or any especial acquaintance with the parties or with any member of the line, except that acquaintance furnished by our files of correspondence, and only that we deem our memoranda as apropos, and are willing to preserve data with which unknown and polite correspondents were so obliging as, notwithstanding age and peculiar circumstances, to favor us. We take pleasure in recognizing, though at this distant day, their kindness.¹

Mrs. F.'s life was a remarkable experience, as is evident by her interesting letter, 1857, written when she was 81 years old, and had been a widow 34 years. Her husband d. June 9, 1823, æ. 68, in Farmersville, N.Y. She tells us, "My father, b. 1740, said his forefather was from England. Three brothers came over: one settled in Massachusetts, one in Connecticut, and one in New Jersey."² My husband, b. 1755, told me the same. My father's ten children are all now deceased but Jeremiah and myself. My husband was a distant relation of mine, a widower with four daughters."³

¹ Mr. F. was a widower, æ. 57, with four daughters, when he took to wife his cousin Zeruiah, she being 37 years his junior. The connection was pleasant in its experience; and it is noticeable, that of the large family of eleven children, the issue of Mr. F. by his two marriages, all were daughters, viz., four by his 1st m., and seven by the last. If ever a man influenced by his business avocations might reasonably covet the co-operation of sons, we would think this an instance. Still there was in all the domestic relations of this family entire harmony and much felicity.

² It has been said, and the remark has become almost proverbial, that the traditional saying, "Three brothers came over," is repeated by almost all descendants of early settlers. In the present case, we suppose there were more than three. It is to be noted that Mrs. F. had evidently never heard of the tradition (?) of the coming of her ancestor with Penn's colony to Philadelphia!

³ In the letter of this intelligent and remarkable woman, addressed to us June 27, 1857, she continues: "My father was a very industrious person, and carried on the tannery business. They saw hard times in the Revolution. I was four weeks old when the British came into the Hook. It was necessary for my parents to hide their clothing and all provisions, to keep the British from stealing them. An uncle lived close by who had a large family, and my life was a very pleasant one. I was always very resolute and ambitious, and went ahead. I was in my 18th year when I went into my husband's family. I got along with the children very well. I had four children whilst in New Jersey; and then Mr. F. sold out, and removed to Herkimer Co., N.Y. His eldest daughter m. Smith Freeman, and removed to the same place. It was almost a wilderness. I would not have consented to remove; but Mr. F. would follow the sea, and was from home most of the time. We now had hard work, and fared pretty hard. Mr. F. commenced building a sawmill, and then a gristmill and a carding-machine and dwelling-house. By this time I had seven girls,

MRS. F. gives clearly a truly faithful account of herself. We have felt no regrets in devoting so considerable space to her letter, and that of her daughter.

3. Without transcending limits upon which we have fixed, we now present a memoranda made at OLEAN, N.Y., 1854, of information obtained from MRS. FREDERICK FREEMAN, then about 84 years old, and her family. Their testimony was, "We have heard that our ancestor came from England, and was in the Revolutionary war under Washington. We are under the impression that his name was JOHN, and never had trouble till I lost a brother; a mother, and my sister Nancy, who had m. Gage Bloodgood and lived on the adjoining farm, d. I also lost my youngest daughter the same year, 1807, drowned in the mill-race. We lived in Herkimer until 1815. Mr. F.'s girls by the 1st m. were all m., and my two eldest were m. and going West; so both Mr. F. and myself concluded to sell out and go too. My eldest daughter and her husband moved to Batavia; my 2d daughter, who m. Bard, came along with us, and lived on the farm. We saw some hard times; we came a year before 'the cold season,' and had to give $16 per barrel for flour, $35 for pork, 14 shillings per bushel for rye, and every thing was dear in proportion. We had to build a dwelling-house, barns, and shed; lumber was very dear. Wolves were killing our sheep, and bears our hogs. All our neighbors we could call by the sound of the horn. We went to keeping tavern, and Mr. Bard carried on the farm. My husband went to building a gristmill, as there was a good mill-seat on the farm. Two other daughters m.,—one to Judge Ten Broeck, the other to Mr. Read. The Ten Broeck farm adjoins ours. Mr. F. was now taken with hectic-fever, and was never well after, though he had all his improvements ready but the millstones and bolting-cloths when he d. I have lived ever since with my two daughters who were born lame, until last Nov. 10, when Hannah d. æ. 51. She was a pleasant child. Catharine is now living with me. Mr. F. made provision in his will for these daughters. They have earned a great deal with their needle; the latter kept school seven years before her father d., and after that took in sewing, and attended to my business. I had at first a great deal of bad luck,—losing my stock by murrain and hoof-ail; but, for all, the LORD has blessed me with prosperity. Notwithstanding I have seen many dark days, I am now in my 80th year, and, but that my eyes have troubled me the year past, can do a great deal of my work."

We forbear all comments on this letter. It tells how opulence crowned the old age of the widow and her crippled daughter, and more than all blessed their declining years with a humble and quiet spirit of gratitude and that he was settled in Orange Co." We give the information just as we received it. Mrs. F. was a widow, bright, intelligent, active.

4. A memorandum obtained at Westfield, N.Y., from MR. KASSON FREEMAN æ. 74, in 1854, tells his story, viz., that his "grandfather went from Conn. to N. Marlboro', Mass. His name was prob. JOHN, who m. a Cleaveland.

5. A memorandum of information obtained in 1856 from REV. ZENAS FREEMAN in Rochester, N.Y., says his "grandfather was THOMAS of Morristown, N.J., who d. in Hamilton, Madison County, to the GIVER of all good. We venture now to give an extract from a letter dated 1847, from the afflicted but loving and dutiful CATHARINE: "Father was b. in Metuchias, N.J.; mother in Woodbridge. My parents rem. to Herkimer when I was but two years old. I have a faint idea of things as they appeared when we moved along the road. It was a wilderness. Father took up a tract that had a mill-seat upon it. We built first a log-house, and then a sawmill. My father's brother had moved to H. before him, and was a millwright. My uncle Bloodgood, husband of my mother's youngest sister, was a carpenter. Father proceeded to build a dwelling-house, gristmill, carding-machine, &c. By this time my mother had seven daughters. The sixth was born lame, the same as myself. I never thought of my lameness. My father was extremely kind, and my sisters thought I must go wherever they did; so I went to school. I became very fond of reading. Every moment was a pastime. My mother was a very hard-working woman. My father had a great deal to do, and was much away from home on business. He was very precise in his dealings, had the good-will of all the settlements around him, and prospered in all his undertakings. How often have I listened to his affairs and to his experiences in the Revolution! When he proposed moving again into the wilderness, it was just what suited my fancy. Father trapped and hunted; and I kept account of the wolves, bears, deer, wild-cats, &c., taken. My sister had to use crutches; I walked with a cane. Father purchased a piano for sister and me, with which to amuse ourselves. I have taken all the comfort any one could, and have never yet seen a person with whom I would be willing to change situations. I knew no trouble until my sister's health began to decline. Last fall she departed from this world, reconciled, as she said, to the will of her HEAVENLY FATHER. It seems as though I could not be reconciled to her death. Mother is in her 81st year; but she superintends her farming-business altogether, and does considerable work. I shall be 58 next December."

N.Y., about 1810, and had a son Fuirier b. 1766, and d. 1847, æ. 81, having removed from Elizabethtown, N.J., to Whitesboro', N.Y., thence going to Rushford; also had a son Thomas, who resided in Pittsburg, Penn., and was sheriff."

6. A memorandum obtained from MR. ASHER FREEMAN of Middleport, N.Y., 1857, says his "great-great grandfather was JOHN, who in his will, Preston, Conn., July 8, 1725, appointed his bro. Joseph executor. Said Joseph declining, the widow Abigail served."

7. A memorandum from DR. ALFRED FREEMAN of New York, whose family we opine is to be classed with the branch of EDMUND of S., says, "My grandfather was BENJAMIN, known as 'the miller,' who went from Preston, Conn., to Salem, Washington County, N.Y., and d. there, having had sons Phineas, Andrew, and Gauger." This family, DR. F. says, "originated from Mass., and settled in Groton, Conn."

Memoranda furnished by Miss Campbell, 1856, whose "mother was a grand-daughter of EZRA FREEMAN of Easton, Washington County," mentions also "a Gideon Freeman residing formerly near Buffalo, a reputed cousin of the above family."

OUR records close here. We have additional simply one remark only to offer, which will be found on the page following.

THE keeping of GENEALOGY is not a new thing, although it has become, among unworthy descendants, a much neglected duty. The oldest records of mankind tell us how careful in tracing their descent were the earliest and best of the race; and their exactness in this matter seems to have been ordered by special providence of GOD. The Greek word Γενεαλογία (GENEALOGIA), signifies a list of ancestry, or description of the stock, lineage, or pedigree, of a person or family. The common Hebrew expression for it is סֵפֶר תּוֹלְדוֹת (SEPHIR TOLEDOTH), i.e., Liber generationis.
