PREFACE.

As very little has appeared in print relative to the Firman or Fairman family, I have thought it worth while to give to those who are interested in the subject the benefit of recent researches among the records of Enfield, Ct., Wilbraham and Springfield, Mass., as well as material gathered from many other sources. The compiler takes this occasion to acknowledge his indebtedness to Rev. John Fairman of Bernardston, for material aid received from him in the preparation of the work, and to members of various families for records furnished. While this genealogy is not as full as the compiler might desire, it is hoped it may serve to stimulate some future historian to gather up the stray threads of family life and weave them into completeness.

Much care has been taken by the compiler to render the records as correct as possible, but as many of the items have come through several hands, it is possible errors have crept in, which it is hoped the reader will kindly overlook. Any additions or corrections will be thankfully received by the compiler.

DESCENDANTS OF JOHN FAIRMAN, OF ENFIELD, CONN.

Like many other names, that of Fairman has passed through a variety of changes during more than ten centuries. In the old German we find the name given as Fuhrman; in the Anglo-Saxon, Ferdmon, a soldier; in Domesday Book, Farman and Fairman; in the Hundred Rolls of England we find John Fayermann and Richard Fayrman; in England the name has long been a respected one and is sometimes found as Farman, Firmin, Fyrmyn, Ferman, etc. In this country it remained for many years as Firmin, then Ferman, and lastly Fairman.

The English coat of arms of Firmin is "a demi-dragon, wings indorsed, vert. (holding between the feet a garb, or.) Motto, "Firmus Christo"—strong through Christ.

In passing it may be well to give a few extracts gathered from some old numbers of the Essex Institute Collections and the New England Historical Genealogical Register, connecting, in all probability, the Fairman family of England with that of early New England.

"Giles Firmyn, of Stoke Nayland, diocese of Norwich, England, made will June 4th, 1597, proved July 16th, 1597, in which he names wife Katherine, sons Josiah, John, Giles and Henry, and daughters Frances, Anna and Sara."

"John Fyrmyn, of Hartest, Co. Suffolk, made will dated June 20th, 1549; names wife Agnes, sons Thomas, Edmund, Robert and Mylherei, and daughters Barbara, Joan and Anna."

"John Fyrmyn, of Aeton, Co. Suffolk, made will February 14th, 1600, calls John Fyrmyn his heir; names his brother Richard, and kinsman John Fyrmyn."

"Richard Fyrmyn, of Sudbury, Co. Suffolk, made will dated November 2d, 1616; names wife Margaret, sons of his brother, William, deceased; four sons and daughters of brother, Thomas, deceased; daughter of brother, Nicholas; devises certain amount to daughter of brother, John; to Joseph Firmyn, of Nayland, tanner; to John Firmyn, clerk, son of John Firmyn, of Forerth; to Gyles and Thomas, sons of Thomas Firman, deceased; to his brother, Roger; to kinsman, John Firmyn, of Hadley, England, shoemaker; brother, Nicholas; kinsman, Christopher Fyrmyn, and kinsman, Joseph Fyrmyn."

The parish register of Sudbury, Co. Suffolk, contains the family record from 1569 to 1615 of Edward, John and Richard Fyrmyn. Various other abstracts from wills might be cited of the English Firmyns, but those given must suffice.

There was a Josiah Firmin at Boston in 1640, and John Firmin at Watertown in 1630; the latter, according to Savage, perhaps went home and came again from Ipswich, in Suffolk, in the Elizabeth, 1634, aged 46; they may have been, and probably were, the sons of the first testator cited above.

There was a Giles Firmin, an apothecary of Sudbury, who came to Boston in 1630, was deacon of the church, and died in 1634. His son, Giles, born in Suffolk and educated at Cambridge, lived some time at Ipswich, Mass., and returned to England in 1654 and became rector at Shalford, Co. Essex; removed thence, in 1662, to Ridgewell, where he died April, 1699.

Thomas Firmin took freeman's oath in Boston, May 22d, 1639. He was a merchant and had a large property. He died in 1648, survived by his wife, Sarah.

JOHN FIRMIN, OF WATERTOWN, MASS.

I have made diligent search for the emigrant ancestor of our John Firman, of Enfield, but, although I have failed to prove the fact, I am strongly of the opinion, shared with Savage in the Genealogical Dictionary, that he was John Firman, of Watertown, for which reason the various accounts recorded of him are given in this connection.

Bond says, in his history of Watertown, "John Firman came over in 1630 and settled in Watertown, where his wigwam was burned November 10th, 1630. He was admitted a freeman May 18th, 1631. He returned to England and embarked from Ipswich for New England April, 1634, then aged 46; he was a deacon and selectman 1638; he died before 1653; was a grantee of eight lots, two of which were home stalls. His heirs sold his lands in Watertown to Barnabas Farr, of Boston."

The following extracts are found in the town records of Watertown:

"Feb. 28, 1636, John Firmin had an allotment of 9 acres of plowland, being one acre to each person, and cattle valued at £20."

From this record it may be implied that there were quite a number of persons in John's family, as cattle were not largely in evidence at that date.

"July 25, 1636, John Firmin had a division of 60 acres."

"June 26, 1637, John Firmin had a division of 9 acres at West Pine Meadows."

"Dec. 30, 1637, John Firmin was one of 11 men to conduct the civil affairs of the town."

"April 9, 1638, John Firmin had a division of 6 acres at the town plot."

"John Firmin had an Homestall of 6 acres, also an Homestall of 7 acres."

"16th day, 11 mo., 1648, ordered that John Firman's heirs have a just rite to a Farme as other townsmen have."

The records do not disclose the fact who the heirs of John Fairman were, if they did they would probably reveal what might decide the matter of his connection with John Fairman, of Enfield. It is quite probable that John Fairman was a brother, or near kinsman of the Josiah, Giles and Thomas before mentioned as emigrating to this country about the same time, which is in accordance with the tradition which obtains among the descendants of John, of Enfield, at the present time. The names of the English Firmans have been well remembered in the American line, notably those of John and Richard.

JOHN FAIRMAN, OF ENFIELD, CONN.,

is the progenitor of the families traced in this genealogy. The first notice we find of him is this entry, found in the Town Records of Salem, Mass., p. 21, vol. 1: "John Firman, his daughter Elizabeth born of Elizabeth, his wife, the 11th, 12th mo., 1674." The next indication of him is his name, with others, signed to a petition made

May 12, 1683, from those who had been given grants of land at what was then called "Fresh Water Brooke," now Enfield, Conn. The original paper is found in the Archives' Room at the State House, Boston. John Fairman, or Firman, as the name was then written, doubtless came from Salem with the other earliest settlers of Enfield about 1682-3. Hinman says: "He lived in the lower part of Enfield and died out of town" in 1684, he was survived by his wife Elizabeth, as we find she gave a deed of land in E. to her son James in 1712.

Children:—

- I. Elizabeth, b. in Salem, 11th, 12 mo., 1674.
- II. Sarah, m. 1692 Simon Rumrill, who settled in Enfield and had Simon, b. 1696; Ebenezer, b. 1701; John, b. 1704. See also b. m. for 1707/1708/1710/1711/1712

In 1705 he sold a parcel of land in Enfield to his brother James, the deed of which was signed by himself and wife Sarah. He removed to Killingly as early as 1714, where he sells his right in real estate in Enfield, inherited from his father, John Fairman, to his brother James. The facts concerning him and his descendants have been gathered from the Registry of Deeds at Springfield, Mass., and from the church and Town Records of Killingly, Conn.

His wife was doubtless the daughter of Ephraim French, an early settler of Enfield, who died there in 1716. This Ephraim was probably the son of the emigrant Thomas French, who took freeman's oath in Boston Nov. 6, 1632, but removed to Ipswich, Mass., in 1639. He is recorded as having bought land in Springfield in 1755, and as selling land in Enfield in 1756. Have been able to learn but little of him or his family, but have good reason to suppose he had a son.

He first removed from Enfield to Newtown, Conn., about 1743, thence to Bedford, N. 11. Benjamin<sup>3</sup> Fairman (James<sup>2</sup>, John<sup>1</sup>), b. about 1721; m. Nov. 11, 1742, Hannah McGregory; she d. Dec. 3, 1749. His intention of marriage to Abigail Beaman was published March 10, 1749-50 in Enfield, where he seems to have spent most of his life. Hinman, in Conn. Settlers, says that he died in Havana, but gives no date; as he was living in 1760 there is no doubt that he joined with many others in Connecticut in the Anglo-American conquest of Cuba in the summer of 1762, and with other thousands succumbed to the climate, and was buried near Havana in an unknown grave.

Hannah, the first wife of Benjamin Fairman, was b. Aug. 11, 1719, was the daughter of John and Hannah (Pease) McGregory. John McGregory was an early settler in Enfield; m. Aug. 12, 1712, Hannah Pease; she was b. March 15, 1693, and the daughter of Robert and Hannah (Warriner) Pease; Robert Pease was born March 25, 1667, and the son of Robert and grandson of the first Robert Pease of Salem, Mass., and the cousin of John and Robert Pease, the first worthy settlers of Enfield. His wife Hannah, b. 1674, was the daughter of Joseph and Mary (Montague) Warriner; Joseph being the son of William and Joanna (Scant) Warriner, the pioneer settler of Springfield. Mary, the wife of Joseph Warriner, was the daughter of Richard and Abigail (Downing) Montague of Boston. Richard Montague was b. 1614, and was the son of Peter and Eleanor (Allen) Montague of Boneng, Parish of Burnham, Buckinghamshire, England. The Montagues were descended from Drago de Montagu, who came from Montagu les Boes, France. He was in the battle of Hastings under Robert Earl of Morton, and for his services was rewarded by the bestowal of several manors in Somerset.

The Montagu coat of arms was "argent, three fusels. in fess gules, between three pellets, (or veggrossos)." Richard Montague came to New England about 1637 and married Abigail Downing. He finally settled in Hadley, Mass., where he d. 1687. The author of the Downing Genealogy, says Abigail was the daughter of Rev. Dr. Downing of Norwich, Eng., who was descended from Sir Jeffry Downing, the founder of the house, who m. Elizabeth, the daughter of Thomas Wingfield, who was descended from William the Conqueror, who married Maud, daughter of Baldwin V., Count of Flanders.

Dr. Fairman became a member of the Baptist church of South Windham, Vt., in December, 1837. He received his preparatory instruction at Townsend Academy, Townsend, Vt., at Black River Academy, Ludlow, Vt., and finally at Hancock Literary and Scientific Institution, Hancock, N. H. He entered the sophomore class in Waterville College (now Colby University), Waterville, Me., in September, 1847, and graduated in 1850. He was principal of Litchfield Liberal Institute, Litchfield, Me., from 1850 to 1853. The next ten years he was at the head of Yates Academy, Yates, N. Y. From 1863 to 1867 he was principal of Medina Academy, Medina, N. Y., and in the latter year he went to Nunda as principal of Nunda Academy. In 1868 he was elected as professor of mathematics in Shurtleff Academy, and began his work there the following year. From 1873 to 1875 he was principal of Cook Academy, but in September of the latter year he returned to Shurtleff, where he occupied the chair of mathematics till his death.

The degree of LL. D. was conferred upon him by Shurtleff College in June, 1873.

Dr. Fairman excelled as a teacher because he loved his work, and thoroughly comprehended his methods, and had the happy faculty of imparting his well digested knowledge to those who came to him for instruction. His methods of training were thorough, and no student remained long under his care without imbibing something of his enthusiasm for the studies in hand.

Dr. Fairman was also a profound Bible student, and never failed, at the proper time, to illustrate in the class room the harmony between science and revelation. His life was a beautiful illustration of the possible exaltation of character by the combined influence of Christian and scientific culture.
