REMARKS BY THE COMPILER.

While preparing the material for a paper read in 1898 before the Herkimer County Historical Society, I gathered from many records genealogical data relating to the family of William Feeter. The search was extended to Germany and Canada and the notes thus collected formed the nucleus of the appended genealogy.

The coat of arms was obtained from Mr. Lucas Vetter, of Musberg, Germany, and verified by correspondence with members of other German branches of that family. It can also be found in Siebmacher's German Heraldry. In southern Germany many families of the yeomanry and free peasantry have coats of arms and use them to this day, without making any claim of belonging to the nobility.

It is not claimed that the family genealogy is complete, and I would request that corrections and additions be sent to me for future use.

I take this occasion to express my thanks for assistance to many members of the family with whom I have corresponded, especially to Jacob W. Feeter, Esq., of New York, Abram E. Bellinger, Esq., of Little Falls, Mrs. James Weatherwax, of Manheim, and Mrs. Elizabeth Staring, of Little Falls, and to acknowledge with gratitude that Messrs. G. Herbert Carman Feader, of Fleming, Assa., Canada, and Mr. Howard C. Fader of Hainsville, Ontario, Canada, have done all the work relating to the Canadian branches of the family.

THE VETTER FAMILY.

A Paper Read Before the Herkimer County Historical Society, at Herkimer, N. Y., October 8th, 1898.

The immigrants from Germany commonly known as the Palatines, and their early successors were of the same importance to New York state as the Puritans, Pilgrims and Huguenots to other American colonies. Driven from home by religious persecution or by the disastrous consequences of religious wars, they all became the pioneers of civilization on this continent. The very outpost of white men in the country of the fiercest of the aborigines, the Iroquois confederation, were those pious and thrifty Germans, who, coming from the valleys of the Rhine and the Danube, from the Vosges and the Black Forest, from the Palatine, Baden, Wuerttemberg and the Alsace, entered the wilderness, braved its dangers and settled right amongst the most warlike tribe of all, the Mohawks.

Is it not strange that many of the best works on American history hardly mention the early German immigration? The influence of the German pioneers as a factor in the civilization of parts of this great country, and especially of the beautiful Mohawk Valley, is passed over, and the present generation knows little of their early struggles, of the hardships and privations they had to suffer, and of the many patriotic services which they rendered.

It is our aim to reclaim from oblivion the early history of this advance-guard of white man's supremacy and to collect all such data and traditions which can still be ascertained. Time has effaced too many of them!

FEETER GENEALOGY.

Some time last winter a member of the Feeter family asked me about the correct German spelling of the family name. Making some investigations and corresponding with some members of the family, I became interested in the history of it, pursued it as far as I could, and I present to you now what I have been able to ascertain by diligent research. The name of the family was originally "Vetter," and I shall use that name in this paper until the actual change of the name occurs.

The Vetter family can be traced to one Lucas Vetter, whose death occurred in the year 1433 near Derdingen, in the present Kingdom of Wuerttemberg, in the southwestern part of Germany. He evidently was the father of many children, nearly all of whom had descendants, and the name Vetter, (meaning cousin) appears not only frequently in his native land, but can be found in many parts of the present German empire. Many men of note and more than local fame trace their origin to this Lucas Vetter. The late prime minister of Wuerttemberg, von Vetter, several well known artists, and the general of that name, famous during the Hungarian revolution of 1848, belong to the same family. The original Lucas Vetter was a blacksmith and freeholder. It was the custom in families to name the eldest son after the father, and he would generally follow the trade of his father. So we find that one Lucas Vetter, blacksmith, would succeed the other. Starting with the Roman Catholic church records, in which we find the first one of that name, we have to continue our searches after the end of the sixteenth century in the Lutheran church books. Numerous Vettters appear as "births" upon those ledgers of our existence, and again they disappear as "deaths," but through all this tangle of records runs steadily the name of the eldest son of the oldest branch, the Lucas Vetter, blacksmith and freeholder. Counting the Lucas Vetter who died in 1483 as the first, we find that Lucas Vetter the eighth was born in the year 1696, on November 23d, and was married in 1722 to Katharina Lenninger (name is indistinct in the original record.) It is probable that he removed from his home in or near Derdingen to Schoenaich, because we find the subsequent entries relating to this branch of the family in the records of the Lutheran church at Schoenaich, Kingdom of Wuerttemberg. His eldest son was Lucas Vetter, the emigrant. It is certain that he had at least one brother, John, and possibly another, John Jost, or Hanjost.

Lucas Vetter the eighth had one brother, William, who served all during the wars of that period under that great chieftain, Prince Eugene of Savoy. A prominent branch of this Vetter family in Germany descends from him, and I am to that branch indebted for great assistance in my research.

Lucas Vetter the eighth died prior to 1753. In the Lutheran church register of Schoenaich, we find under date of November 8, 1753, the following entry: "Married, Lucas Vetter, blacksmith, son of the late Lucas Vetter, freeholder and blacksmith, and Agnes, daughter of the late freeholder and farmer, Jacob Wacker. Text of my sermon, Psalms 128:5-6: 'The Lord shall bless thee out of Zion: and thou shalt see the good of Jerusalem all the days of thy life. Yea, thou shalt see thy children's children, and peace upon Israel.'"

There is something prophetic in those verses as if the new groom then contemplated the long trip to America. During the summer of 1754 he and his young bride left their native land and sailed on the good ship Neptune for the new world. On board of ship, as shown by the following certificate, a daughter was born: "September 19, 1754, was born on the high seas, in ship Neptune, of Christian and honorable parents, Anna Catharina; her father was Lucas Vetter, her mother Agnes (born) Wacker, from Schoenaich in the County of Wuerttemberg. The witnesses to her baptism were Michael Nestel, blacksmith, and his wife Dorothea. May the Lord grant that this child may remain faithful to her God and its baptismal covenants.—Extract from Church Register, S. W. Best, Chaplain of the Vessel.”

While many of the immigrants became “white slaves” for their passage money, Lucas Vetter must have been blessed with the goods and riches of this world, as we find that within the first year of his residence in this country he purchased two farms. He settled to the north of Stone Arabia and probably devoted his time to farming and following his trade, which, always one of the most useful ones, was of great importance in a new country. It is stated that he became at an early time well acquainted with Sir William Johnson.

By Chapter 1089 of the Colonial Laws, passed on July 3, 1759, he became a naturalized citizen. In 1761 he appears in records as one of the original applicants for the Royal Grant, and in 1768 he became one of the three principal patentees of the Byrne Patent in Schoharie County. (See Landpapers, office of the Secretary of State, Albany, N. Y.)

From various records it appears that in 1762 one Johannis and Johannis Yost Veeder or Vetter lived near Lucas. Tradition in the family here says that all Feeters descended from Lucas, the immigrant. It is more than probable that John came to this country and had descendants, who changed their name to Veeder or Vedder and mistakenly are considered as part of the well-known Holland Dutch families of that name. John Jost or Hanyost came over here, but according to tradition preserved in the German branch, returned soon to his native country. John Jost's eldest son, Lucas, born in 1758, died in 1800 in Germany, and one of his sons died in the war of Napoleon against Russia in 1812, and a grandson died only last year at Schoenaich. The trade "smith" is still followed by that branch of the family, which is now represented by one single male descendant, Lucas Vetter, living at Musberg, Germany.

From the records of the Stone Arabia Lutheran Church we learn the following about the family of Lucas, the immigrant: Wilhelm, his eldest son, was born January 6, 1756. Consequently Lucas, the other son, must have been younger than William. The records do not state when he was born.

As the Canadian branches of the family claim that Lucas was the eldest son, the following dates are referred to:

Marriage of Lucas and Agnes, November 8, 1753.

Birth of Anna Catharina, September 19, 1754.

Birth of William, January 6, 1756.

This seems to dispose of this claim.

If heretofore Lucas was always the name of the eldest child, it must be borne in mind that William was named after Sir William Johnson, the patron and friend of the family.

Agnes Vetter died prior to 1765. In 1766 Lucas Vetter married again and his second wife was Maria Eva, the daughter of Captain Peter and Lena Serviss. By this intermarriage with the Serviss family, which was related to the first wife of Sir William Johnson, Lucas Vetter became still more closely attached to the Johnsons.

In 1767 a daughter, Anna, was born. Tradition says that the names of the next children were Philip, Elizabeth and Christine. The youngest child was John Vetter, born in 1779, who became the ancestor of the Hainsville branch of the family, now spelling the name Fader.

The elder Lucas, bound by many ties to the Johnson family and influenced by a Tory wife, followed the fortunes of

FEETER GENEALOGY.

Sir John and removed in 1780 to Montreal, where he died about 1785. His son Lucas had grown up at Johnson Hall as a favorite of the old baronet, and a playmate of the younger members of Sir William's household, and as soon as hostilities began he enlisted in the Johnson Greens and fought on the side of the British during the whole of the war. After the Revolution he settled on bounty lands near Matilda, Canada, which lands are still in possession of the family. He died in 1842, leaving many descendants living in many parts of Canada and the United States, respected and useful citizens of their respective communities. This branch of the family spells the name "Feader."

Wilhelm, the elder son, and the ancestor of all the United States branch of that family, was brought up on the home farm and enjoyed such education as the Stone Arabia schools afforded. The great majority of the citizens of that vicinity were, like the Vettters, of sturdy German stock and many of them descendants of Palatine forefathers. They objected to the feudal manor which Sir William tried to create, they feared and they detested especially the foppish and arrogant manners of Sir John and his set. When the storm between the mother country and the colonies began to rise, there were no more patriotic and loyal Americans in the colony than the Germans in Stone Arabia. With them Wilhelm had grown up, and likely as a boy had listened to their discussions and complaints. Possibly home life with a Tory step-mother had separated him early from home influences and she may have prejudiced his father against the boy who associated with the so-called rebels.

In 1776 the Vetter family lived at Johnstown village and removed that same year to where now the city of Amsterdam is. Williams' affiliations did not suit the rest of the family and he left home. The tradition among his descendants is that he alone of the family embraced the cause of the Colonies, and that finally he alone remained in the United States. The Canadian branch believes that several of the children remained here. I have not been able to verify this tradition.

In the latter days of his life Mr. Feeter dictated to one George Heller, a school teacher, a short narrative of his experiences during the Revolution, which has since been arranged by Jacob W. Feeter, Esq., of New York, his grandson, and from which I quote freely and partly verbatim: During the spring of 1776 William enlisted in the company of Captain Emmanuel DeGraff at Amsterdam, Tryon county, and took part in scouting expeditions to Johnstown, Caughnawaga and the Sacandaga river. In June, 1777, he was drafted into the militia and joined the company commanded by Captain Abraham Yates, which went up to Fort Stanwix, and from there to the Wood Creek, to obstruct the passage of that river by felling trees across. From there he returned to Amsterdam. His parents and brothers were enraged at him for taking up arms against the king, and he was ordered to leave his home forever, an outcast. He left Amsterdam and went to his former home at Stone Arabia, staying sometimes at the old homestead, but more often at the home of the patriotic Gray family living in his neighborhood. At Stone Arabia he enlisted in the company of Captain Suffrenus Cook in Col. Klock's regiment. Whether or not he took part in the battle of Oriskany is uncertain, but he mentions in his memoirs that he took part in numerous scouting expeditions of that time. In the spring of 1778 he was drafted for three months and went with Captain Samuel Gray's company to Unadilla to look for Tories and Indians. When the company reached Fort Herkimer, William was sent with an Indian prisoner back to Stone Arabia. After he returned from there the fort was attacked by Indians and Tories. The company did not go to Unadilla, but was finally ordered to the Geisenberg, near Fort Plain, in the present locality known as Dutchtown, and remained there until the massacre of Cherry Valley, to which place it marched after that affair with the rest of the regiment. Feeter and another man were sent ahead as scouts to locate the enemy. The militia buried the dead and returned to the Geisenberg.

An Indian band had made five prisoners at Stone Arabia and the company to which Feeter belonged was sent in pursuit, but the redskins escaped.

In February, 1779, Feeter enlisted again in Samuel Gray's company which was to convoy and protect thirty bateaux of provisions and ammunition from Schenectady to Fort Stanwix. The opening of the river did not occur until April and the company was furloughed. While on furlough Feeter went with Captain Gray and others in pursuit of some Indians to Tillaborough. The transports arrived at Fort Stanwix on April 18, 1779, and Col. Van Schaick of the Continental Army took his command and the boating party to Fort Brainington on Oneida Lake, from whence he set out to destroy the Onondaga Castle, leaving the boatmen as a rear guard. The whole party returned to Fort Stanwix on April 25, after complete destruction of the Indian villages. The Gray company returned with the boats and thirty Indian prisoners to Schenectady. Twice more that spring they brought such transports to Fort Stanwix. In June, 1779, the whole of Captain Gray's company volunteered to join the division of Gen. James Clinton and took part in Sullivan's famous campaign. History records the valiant services of the boatmen who moved this big body of troops from Cooperstown down to Tioga and Wyoming, and during this campaign carried provisions, ammunition, prisoners and the wounded. The company finally reached Easton, Pa., and from there marched home to Stone Arabia, which they reached in November, 1779. During the battle of Newton, so family tradition says, the two brothers met, Lucas being there as a soldier in the Johnson Greens. Verily, not the only instance during the Revolution when brother met brother face to face as foes.

Again, in January, 1780, Feeter enlisted in Gray's company, and all summer they were busy navigating the river to Fort Stanwix, Fort Schuyler, Fort Dayton, Fort Herkimer and Fort Plain. On one of their trips they were warned by friendly Indians that Brant with a large force laid in ambush for them above Fort Schuyler, and they quickly sent for reinforcements. The company "being soldiers and sailors too," to quote Kipling, had only a small fighting force. Gen. Van Rensselaer with some quickly collected militia came to their assistance and convoyed the party safely to Fort Stanwix. During October, 1780, William spent a furlough at Stone Arabia, and while there the battle of Stone Arabia took place. He joined immediately the pursuing party and went with them to Fort Herkimer. Until ice stopped navigation he continued in the boating service. Early in 1781 he enlisted in the levies commanded by Marinus Willett and took part in many scouting parties. In July of that year he helped in the surprise and pursuit of Jacob Klock, a former militia officer who had turned Tory. Feeter was one of the scouts; they routed Klock's party completely, captured arms and one scalp, which Andrew Gray took with him to Stone Arabia.

Another Tory party attacked early in September the fortified house of Jacob Timmerman in St. Johnsville. A troop of levies, among which was Feeter, followed the Tories to the northern part of the Jerseyfield, but they escaped.

It would be too lengthy to enumerate all the different

scouting parties of which Feeter was a member. Willett kept his soldiers constantly moving and the service was very hard; long marches, lack of shelter and proper food and many false alarms proved great hardships to the troops. Feeter was variously stationed at Fort Plain, Fort Plank and Fort Herkimer during the years 1781-82.

In October, 1782, a large force composed of British troops, Indians and Tories under Butler and Ross appeared in the Mohawk valley. Feeter and two other young men started from Stone Arabia and traveled twelve miles to join Willett at Anthony's Nose, on the Mohawk river. He moved toward Caughnawaga along the south side of the river, when he was informed that the enemy was marching towards Johnstown by way of Tribes Hill. Willett sent from Caughnawaga William Feeter and William Wallace as scouts to find the enemy, which they located at Johnstown, near Johnson Hall. Wallace returned and Feeter stayed at the jail with Captain Liddle and his guard of six men. When Willett arrived in advance of his troops, Feeter guided him within sight of the British, and he and Captain Liddle observed the enemy until Major Finck arrived with succor. Finck and Feeter were in advance of the troops who pursued the British until they were checked by superior numbers and until Finck gave orders to retreat, which was done. Soon Col. Willett came up with some militia and drove the enemy from the field. Many of Feeter's friends and neighbors from Stone Arabia had been wounded and he was ordered to proceed there to bring help and assistance for the wounded. Without rest or food he started for that place and returned early next morning, but, to his regret, too late to join in the pursuit.

Before the end of the war many Tories had returned and occupied their old homes again. This enraged the loyal party, and parties similar to the white caps of today would visit the homes of the Tories at night and flog them within an inch of their lives. Proceedings were begun against some of the Whigs and a number were cast into jail, but liberated soon afterwards by their friends, under the leadership of Wilhelm Feeter, who opened the jail with bars and sledges. That was the end of it.

With the ending of the war Feeter returned to peaceful pursuits. All the lands owned by his father had been confiscated under the acts of attainder, and he had no property of his own. He had to make a hard fight for the recovery of his own share. He sold, soon after the war, all his interests in Stone Arabia and elsewhere and purchased his homestead farm near Little Falls, northwest of the Revolutionary Fort Riemensnyder, on Glen's Purchase. It is the farm now in possession of the Goodell family, pleasantly located and being fine dairy land. Of course only a small part of the land had been cultivated before the Revolution, and the young soldier-farmer had to clear the forest and break the virgin soil.

Early in 1782 he married Elizabeth Bellinger, daughter of Adam Bellinger and Marie Elizabeth Petrie, born March 23d, 1765, who for 49 years was his loving wife and helpmeet. Twelve children were born to them, five sons and seven daughters; Adam, Eva, wife of Jacob Scott, William, Jr., George Henry, Elizabeth, wife of Daniel Timmerman, Mary, wife of John C. Bellinger, Catharine, (Katy,) wife of Peter Staring, Nancy, wife of William Himes, Dorothea, (Dolly,) wife of Abram Eysaman, Delia, wife of Jacob Small, Johannes (John) Feeter and Peter Feeter. Nine of these had many children and the number of his descendants is large.

His new home was located in a German neighborhood, all the friends were descendants of the early immigrants and there, at the Riemensnyderbush, around that old Lutheran Church, and the old burying ground, existed in those early days a larger settlement than at the site of the present city of Little Falls. William Feeter soon occupied a leading position; his earthly goods increased from year to year, and he became the owner of many good and broad acres of land, and when his children started in life he had given them a fair education, and was able to give them a good start for the future.

Mr. Feeter was appointed Justice of the Peace in 1791, and held that position for many years. Soon after the war he joined the militia and rose gradually to the rank of Colonel of the Herkimer regiment of infantry (the later 27th), which he commanded until and during the beginning of the second war with Great Britain.

Colonel Feeter was not only prosperous but public spirited, and contributed liberally to all worthy enterprises. He was one of the original contributors to the Octagon Church at Little Falls; he continued his association with the Stone Arabia Church during his life and was the main support of his own, the Yellow Church, near his home. One of his granddaughters, who remembers him well, describes him as a man not above medium size, of dark hair and complexion, quick in motion and quicker in temper, but kind of heart. He loved sociability and liked to enjoy the good things of life in wise moderation. His greatest enjoyment seemed to be the social gatherings on German holidays, Easter, Christmas and New Years, and in the fall a harvest festival for all his numerous family, help and neighbors, and at each time he offered plenty of good cheer and a hearty welcome. Another of his granddaughters, still living, described the celebration of a New Year's evening to me. The large and commodious house was thrown open, fires blazed in all the fire-places, many candles lighted the rooms, the tables were set in nearly every room of the house, and turkeys, chickens, roast pigs, hams and numerous "Mohawk Dutch" dishes loaded the tables and in the middle of each stood a steaming bowl of punch. After the meal was disposed of the Colonel arose and sang a German hymn and then said a prayer of thanks. Then he would wish them all a Happy New Year, usually adding for each a separate teasing remark which set them all in the best of humor. Later on the tables would be cleared away and the dancing began. Abram Eysaman and Peter Staring, two of his sons-in-law, would play the fiddle, and everybody, old and young, would join in the fun. In the intervals, the Colonel, who was a fine singer, would sing to their great delight patriotic and German folk-lore songs, and often he would call on Katy Staring and Dolly Eysaman and have them perform some solo-dances, as they both were graceful and skilled dancers.

He became a communicant of the Lutheran Church on Nov. 1st, 1778, at Stone Arabia. He was a regular attendant at church and insisted that all his family and help join him, which was not always agreeable to the younger set on account of the length of the sermons.

In politics he was always a Federalist.

In later years he suffered greatly from his wounds and the burdens of age made his quick temper still more fiery. Like many of the heroes of the great struggle for freedom he felt somewhat disappointed in the results. The favors shown to many of the notoriously disloyal families would make the old soldier very angry, and it was best at such times not to go near him. But there was no man more highly respected in the community than the Colonel, and no father more beloved than he, and it is not the idle word of a chronicler that with his death, which occurred in 1844, in his 89th year, there passed away one of the sterling characters of his time.

It would extend this paper too far if I attempted to mention many of his numerous offspring. There was George Henry, well known as an attorney, as a public speaker and as the agent of the great Ellice estate; Johannes, the last to depart of all; Adam, a soldier of 1812, the eldest son, and the father of James and grandfather of James D. Feeter, who is now the eldest male descendant of the oldest branch of all the Feeters, Feaders and Faders in North America and Germany.

A number of his descendants enlisted during the present war and several fought during the war of the rebellion in the Union army.

THE FIRST MAIL CARRIER WEST OF ALBANY.

What Energy and Industry has Accomplished in the Mohawk Valley Within Eighty Years Past.

Eighty years ago there was not a post office west of Schenectady, and no regular postal route even as far as that. What little mail business there was transacted at that point was carried between Albany and Schenectady as chance occurred.

In 1797, Col. William Feeter, who was then living three miles north of the village of Little Falls, Herkimer County, established the first mail facilities through the Mohawk Valley, as a private enterprise. The entire mail that then went west of Albany was carried on horseback. Perhaps it will not be amiss here to state that Col. William Feeter was born at Stone Arabia, in this county, February 2d, 1756. His father, Lucas Feeter, who was a native of Wuerttemberg, Germany, stood high in the confidence of Sir William Johnson. At the commencement of the Revolution, and after the death of Sir William, the Feeter family were so much under the influence of the Johnsons that all of them, excepting William, followed the fortunes of Sir John Johnson, and went with him to Canada. William Feeter remained and took an active part in the Revolutionary War. He was frequently entrusted with hazardous and important duties, which he never failed to discharge with promptness. After the war he settled upon his farm in Herkimer County, and cultivated the same for upwards of fifty years. He reared a highly respected family of twelve children, and died at Little Falls, May 5th, 1844, at the ripe age of eighty-eight years, lamented by a large concourse of friends. During his life he was an active member of the Fairfield Lodge of F. & A. M.

Mr. Feeter being a man of marked intelligence and feeling the disadvantage that the people were laboring under through being deprived of facilities of getting letters, and more particularly newspapers, of which there was none printed west of Albany at that early day, conceived the idea of establishing a mail route on private account. Thus, as stated above, in 1797 he fitted out his son, Adam, who was then a lad of sixteen years, with a good horse, well equipped with saddle and bridle, and large saddle bags, and sent him forth upon his mission. Young Adam's duty was to procure subscribers for newspapers and carry all letters entrusted to him between Albany and Little Falls on both sides of the river, and at Johnstown and vicinity, through the Royal Grant north of Little Falls, and at German Flatts, and nearly to Utica, which was then the border of civilization, or nearly so. Adam met with signal success in procuring a large number of subscribers which he had to supply at their doors, and also was intrusted with all the letters sent and received by private individuals along his route, and also had the business of what few merchants then were trading in the valley. At that time there was only one store at Little Falls, kept by John Porteous, who done a thriving business, both with the white settlers and Indians, there being at this time a considerable number of the latter in this vicinity. The only other store of any importance west of Schenectady was kept by one Kane just east of the village of Canajoharie, on the bank of the Mohawk River. The stone dwelling occupied by him, with its antiquated roof, is still standing as an ancient landmark, but is in a dilapidated condition. These two merchants were his best patrons, and Adam in his older days remarked to us, the merchants, Porteous and Kane, frequently gave me much encouragement when I was "desperately tired and sore of riding and cold and wet."

The writer has listened more than once to accounts of Adam's hardships and narrow escapes in various ways during the three years of his mail service. His customers being on both sides of the river it was necessary to effect a crossing quite frequently. This generally had to be done by fording, for at that day there were no bridges and very few ferries. Frequently the stream was much swollen, which would compel him to swim his horse to the great danger of losing his life. In such instances he would get completely wet, in which condition he would be compelled to ride the remainder of the day. The trip would generally occupy from four to five days, and was performed by him during three years without interruption. The writer has frequently conversed with him in his old age about Mohawk Valley matters in his younger days and gained much valuable information from him. At the time he was occupied in the mail service there was not a white family in the valley which he did not know, and I have frequently heard him refer to many of them as among the most prominent, such as the Yates, Clutes, Barhyghts, Schermerhorns, Tolls, Mabies, Van Antwerps, Myers, Swarts, Truaxes, DeGraffs, Marcelluses, Van Slykes, Putmans, Vosburghs, Conynes, Fishers, Fondas, Dockstaders, Veeders, Sprakers, Wagoners, Klocks and a host of others. During his visits to Albany he became acquainted with the Governor and all the State officials, who entrusted him with the transmission of State papers for Schenectady and points in the valley, and occasionally they presented him with an extra fee for promptness of delivery and close attention to duty. It was his pride to mention that in three years he had never missed a trip, lost a single letter or paper, and had always delivered all monies and valuable securities to the perfect satisfaction of every one.

In 1800 a government mail route was established, which was offered to him, but he declined, choosing to pursue a more domestic life. Shortly after this he married, and commenced the milling business at a place now called Ingham's Mills, in Herkimer County, which business he followed for a few years, but not finding it to agree with his health he disposed of it and purchased a farm in Manheim, where he spent the remainder of his days. He died in 1865, at the advanced age of eighty-three years. His memory will long be cherished by a large number of relatives and admiring friends. He lived to see the valley changed from a sparsely settled country to beautiful and well-cultivated farms, with numerous thriving villages, large and extensive manufacturing, turnpike, plank and railroads, and telegraph lines; verily, wonderful improvements and inventions. And this was the man that carried the first mail in the Mohawk Valley! This was the pioneer in the mail service west of Albany, which now stretches to the Pacific coast, with its thousands of branches.

We have been informed lately that the weight of mail matter now carried and distributed west of Albany will not come much short of one hundred tons per day. All this has been accomplished within the space of eighty years. And now as we are chronicling the above the New York papers come to hand with the astonishing news that arrangements are about completed between the Postmaster-General and the H. R. & N. Y. C., Lake Shore and Northern Indiana Railroads to establish a daily mail line between New York and Chicago, (*) which will consist of four cars, each sixty feet long, and will not occupy more than twenty-four hours in running from one of the last named places to the other. It is calculated that the weight of mail matter by this daily line will not be less than forty or fifty tons a day. We are a progressive people, and no one dares to venture a prediction as to what advance will be made in the eighty years to come. We can only say in regard to mail matters, that the small beginning commenced by the sixteen-year-old lad, Adam Feeter, now employs thousands of men, many horses and wagons, and a large amount of steam transportation to accomplish the needed service.—Fonda Democrat.

OBITUARY NOTICE OF ADAM FEETER

At his residence in the Town of Manheim, on the 15th day of April, 1865, Mr. Adam Feeter, in the 83d year of his age.

The death of this aged citizen ought not to pass without a special notice.

Himself the son of a Revolutionary Patriot, he has spent a protracted life, as a private citizen, in the daily practice of the duties and virtues of humanity, as a citizen, a neighbor, a son, a husband and a father, and has descended to his grave, leaving to his children, what in reality, is their most precious inheritance, the unstained character of

“An honest Man, the noblest work of God.”

As our aged citizens successively pass from amongst us, it is natural that the mind should revert to their earliest years, and follow them as they float along the stream of time, marking the changes that have been wrought out in their passage from the vigor and buoyancy of youth to the decrepitude of age, and their quiet descent to their final rest.

Whilst yet a youth, the subject of this notice was employed for a period of three years as a carrier of newspapers and the mail weekly from the City of Albany to the “Royal Grant.” The expedition was performed on horseback, and was attended with great labor, and required perseverance and resolution to accomplish it. Neither the bridge which spans the Mohawk nor the turnpike was then in existence. What changes has he witnessed during his protracted life! The Turnpike, the Canal, the Railroad, and the Telegraph, have successively wrought mighty revolutions in the business relations of life, and in the social conditions of our citizens.

Such retrospections with the consciousness that the subject of this notice, in early life, was an actor in scenes which preceded all of these improvements, and that he regarded with interest their successive developments, must assuage and moderate the grief of his family and friends at the departure of this venerable citizen.

A NEIGHBOR.

DEATH OF JOHN FEETER.

An Aged and Highly Respected Resident of Little Falls Passes Away.
A Worthy Son of a Patriotic Sire.

Little Falls, May 22, 1892.

The venerable John Feeter passed away at 7:45 Saturday morning at his home on Burwell street, death having been caused by old age. He had been failing in health for the past few months and was confined in bed only four days. He was conscious up to Thursday night and had lucid intervals from that time to the end. Death came peacefully, and thus passed away another citizen whose life had been part of the history of Little Falls and Manheim. He is survived by his wife, Nancy Failing, aged 82 years, and the following children: Jacob Feeter, a prominent lawyer of New York, Mrs. Margaret Alden, Mrs. Gertrude Crittenden, Mrs. Mary Easterbrook, New Haven, Conn., Mrs. Parmelia French, Buffalo, and Mrs. Cynthia Walker, Utica. Also seven grandchildren and nine great-grandchildren. "Uncle John" Feeter, as he was familiarly known, was born at the old Feeter homestead, now known as the Goodell and Pickett farms, in the town of Manheim, November 30, 1804. He was the eleventh child of Colonel William Feeter and wife, and was the last of that remarkable and historic family of twelve children. He was married to Nancy Failing of St. Johnsville, September 17, 1829, and they lived together over 63 years. Mrs. Feeter, who survives, passed her 82d milestone May 13. Mr. Feeter followed farming a number of years and came to this village 31 years ago and did considerable contracting. He built the highway leading to Timmerman's hotel and set out the large trees that surround Eastern Park. He also assisted in the building of the Old Yellow Tavern Church. His brother, Adam Feeter, was the first post-rider between Newport and Albany, and for two years his father, Colonel Feeter, who was a close friend of General Herkimer, maintained the expense of this ancient mail service. The federal government recognized his valuable services and subsequently awarded a contract for conveying the mail, which was continued by the family for many years. When Adam Feeter died the funeral services were held at the Manheim Center Church. The late Judge Beardsley, who was in attendance at the conclusion of the services, arose in his place and paid a high tribute to the deceased for the many kind and brave acts that he had performed.

FEETER GENEALOGY.

Colonel Feeter, the father of this large family, was one of the bravest patriots in this section during and before the Revolutionary period. He was a warm friend of Sir William Johnson but espoused the federal cause. He belonged to the corps of forty picked men, who were known as the Tryon County Bull Dogs. There were other Feeters living here then, who were the followers of Brant, the Indian sachem, and fled to Canada, where they remained and slightly changed their name by prefixing a Mc. This change of name is denied by the Canadian branches. Still there is some evidence that one part of the family adopted the Mc. Their descendants are now numerous in Canada. Uncle John had an old flint lock musket he prized very highly that was carried by his father during the Revolution. It is in an excellent state of preservation, and it was his habit for more than twenty-five years to load the gun on the first day of January and fire it precisely at seven o'clock in the morning. On the stock of the gun there is a breastplate embedded which contains the following inscription: "Presented to Colonel Feeter by Henry Yauney of Johnstown during the first year of the Revolutionary War and carried by him during the seven years' war."

Uncle John also had another gun that had a history. It was one that the famous hunter "Nat" Foster shot the Indian with in the north woods and was used by him for many years as a trapper and hunter.

The record of the Lutheran Church in Manheim kept by Colonel Feeter between the years 1812 and 1844, and preserved by John Feeter up to the time of his death, will be turned over to the Church for future reference. The corporate name was changed to the Franckean Lutheran in 1832. A new church is now built on the site and the pulpit is supplied by Rev. Mr. Young. The record book of births and baptisms as started by Colonel Feeter is quite valuable and is as frequently referred to as the old record of Rev. A. G. Rosecrantz.

The first records are "William Feeter, born Feb. 12, 1756; Elizabeth Bellinger, (his wife,) born March 23, 1765." The last record is, "George Willard, baptized July 10, 1845. Parents, John F. Windecker, Laney his wife. Sponsors, William Hayes and wife."

There are but few old families in town that are not related to the deceased and the aggregate of relations if counted would figure in the hundreds. The late Hon. James Feeter was his nephew.

The funeral will be held from the house Wednesday, at 2 P. M., Rev. C. S. Richardson officiating. Between the hours of 12 and 1 P. M. an opportunity will be given to all those who desire to see the remains.

HON. JAMES FEETER.

Death of an Aged and Respected Resident of Little Falls—Sketch of a Long and Active Business Career.

LITTLE FALLS, Jan. 24, 1892. Hon. James Feeter died at his home on Ann street last evening at 6:30 o'clock. He had been ill four weeks, and last evening sank rapidly. The closing hours were peaceful to the aged merchant, who was conscious to the last, and seemed to suffer no pain. His death, although not unexpected, was hastened by his enfeebled condition. Thus passed away a respected resident, whose remarkable business career covered a period of fifty-eight years in the same location. Hon. James Feeter was born at Inghams Mills, in the town of Manheim, Jan. 14, 1806, and was consequently 86 years old. He was married to Cynthia Small, Sept. 24, 1829, who died in 1878, after they had lived together nearly fifty years. Two children were born to them, the late William Feeter and James D. Feeter, cashier of the Little Falls National Bank, who survives. Mr. Feeter was the grandson of Col. William Feeter, who participated in the battles of Oriskany, Stone Arabia and other important engagements, and the son of Adam Feeter, who was the first post-rider in this section of the state. The latter died on the night that President Lincoln was assassinated, at the advanced age of 83 years. In 1831, Mr. Feeter moved to this village, which then contained a small population. Three years later he engaged in the grocery business with Orrin Searles, and subsequently purchased his interest. In the spring of 1842 he met reverses by losing his entire stock of merchandise by a freshet, which was caused by a cloudburst that choked up the creek in the rear of his store, now known as Skinner run. Some of the goods were found floating about St. Johnsville, so strong was the current and volume of water. He bought his goods of a firm in New York by the name of McCoon & Sherman, and wrote them a letter giving the details of his misfortune, mentioning the fact that he had money enough left to cancel his indebtedness, and would like to make arrangements for another stock of goods, providing they could wait for their pay. A reply came back requesting Mr. Feeter to bring an empty canal boat to New York and get what he wanted. In 1849 his store burned with the contents, which was a total loss. Many men would have been discouraged with this second calamity, so soon after the flood, but not so with Mr. Feeter, who went to work with his remarkable business perception, built up a large brick block and laid the foundation of a large and valuable property, which was accumulated by honest and fair dealing.

FEETER GENEALOGY.

Mr. Feeter was one of a family of eight children, two of whom still survive, Mrs. Margaret Ayers, and William A. Feeter, aged 76, who resides in the old homestead at Snell's Bush.

In politics he was an uncompromising Republican and the life-long friend of Thurlow Weed and Roscoe Conkling. In the fall of 1847 he was elected to the assembly from the second district of Herkimer on the whig ticket by a majority of 213, after a most exciting contest, over Judge Vickery, democrat, a noted politician at that time of the town of Ohio, and was one of the first whigs in the state legislature. The district was 600 democratic, which was overcome by the Herkimer democrats voting for Mr. Feeter. The Barnburners supported the regular Democratic ticket, and L. L. Merry of Ilion, who was younger than Mr. Feeter, was elected at the same time from the first district on the whig ticket by the same majority. The deceased was prominent in politics in those days and was on intimate terms with Governor John Young, Millard Fillmore, then state comptroller, and Christopher Morgan, secretary of state. The Whigs had 70 majority in the legislature and Amos K. Bradley was speaker. When the Republican party was organized Mr. Feeter did good service for better government in this locality, and was recognized for his valuable services by his party in being chosen a member of the state committee and presidential elector from this congressional district. He also was elected several times as president of Little Falls. He was one of the organizers of the Little Falls National Bank, besides being a stockholder in the old National Herkimer County Bank. He was a constant attendant of the Emmanuel Episcopal church, and his funeral will be held from there Tuesday, at 2 P. M.

RESOLUTIONS.

At a special meeting of the Board of Directors of the Little Falls National Bank, held at the bank on the 25th day of January, 1892, the following being present: Hon. R. H. Smith, James H. Ives, George Nelson, James H. Bucklin, Hon. S. M. Richmond, Hon. E. C. Rice, Isaac Small, Arnold L. Eaton, the following resolutions were adopted:

Whereas, The death on the 23d inst. of Hon. James Feeter, one of the founders and charter directors of the Little Falls National Bank has been brought to our notice, and we, as his late co-directors, desire to pay tribute to his memory;

Resolved, That by the death of Mr. Feeter, we are deprived of an associate whom an acute faculty of observation and long business experience made a safe adviser in all fiscal matters, and the loss of whose sound counsel and ever ready assistance is deeply felt by our board; the stockholders of this bank have lost an officer whose efforts have largely contributed to its present prosperity, and who deservedly possessed their entire confidence.

Resolved, That as directors and stockholders of this bank, and as citizens of this community, we deeply regret his death and extend to his family and friends our sincere sympathy.

Resolved, That the officers and employes of this bank attend Mr. Feeter's funeral at 2 o'clock on the afternoon of January 26, 1892.

Resolved, That these resolutions be inscribed in our book of minutes, and published in the local papers, and that a copy be presented to the friends of the deceased.

FUNERAL OF JAMES FEETER.

The funeral of James Feeter was solemnized at Emmanuel Church at 2 P. M. this afternoon. The Rev. Ernest Mariett conducted the burial services of the Episcopal Church. The choir chanted the burial anthem and the De Profundis in an impressive manner. Most of the business places along Main street were closed out of respect to the memory of the deceased. The bearers were James H. Ives, J. H. Bucklin, A. W. Shepherd, P. A. Conyne, E. C. Rice, Luke Snell, S. M. Richmond and C. E. Teall. The interment occurred in the Church street cemetery.

HON. JAMES D. FEETER.

James D. Feeter, descended from one of the oldest and most historical families in the Mohawk Valley, was born in Little Falls June 26, 1840, and is the only surviving son of the late James Feeter. He received a common school education and for many years was associated with his father in the grocery business.

In 1879, the Little Falls National Bank was organized, and in 1880 James D. Feeter commenced his career as a banker as assistant cashier of that institution. Amos A. Bradley was the cashier and Seth M. Richmond president. On the death of Mr. Bradley in 1889, Mr. Feeter was advanced to the responsible position of cashier, and on the death of Mr. Richmond in 1895 he was made president, a position he has honorably and efficiently filled since that time. Largely through the superior qualifications of Mr. Feeter as a financier this banking house is one of the solid financial institutions of the Mohawk Valley. It is said of Senator Feeter that during business hours and when behind the counter or seated in the counting room of the Little Falls National Bank he demands all that is the bank's due ; but on the outside, after banking hours are over, he is the most liberal, genial and affable of men. He is a member of Little Falls Lodge, No. 181, F. & A. M., Astorogan Chapter, No. 161, R. A. M., and Little Falls

FEETER GENEALOGY.

Commandery, No. 26, K. T., past Exalted Ruler of Little Falls Lodge, No. 42, B. P. O. Elks, member of the Fort Orange and Albany City clubs, of Albany, N. Y., and other social and fraternal organizations.

He is a large realty owner in Little Falls and his private business is an extensive one. He is a good judge of human nature and is freely consulted by his friends on business matters, who place great reliance upon his judgment. His career as a banker, business man and citizen is marked with success and characterized by honesty, integrity and fair dealing.

In politics, Senator Feeter inherited stalwart Republicanism from his father. Since boyhood days he has always taken a deep interest in the affairs of his party and for many years has occupied a prominent position in the councils and conferences of party managers. For several years he served as acting chairman of the Republican County committee, and under his careful management the party was united, harmonious and always victorious.

He has represented his town in county conventions and his county in State conventions many times. In 1876 he was elected a delegate to the Republican National Convention in Cincinnati and voted for Conkling for President as long as he was a candidate. He was one of the eleven delegates from New York who voted for Blaine instead of Hayes, when Conkling's name was withdrawn.

Herkimer County's political history has been marked by most vigorous and long-continued factional contests, one of the most notable of which culminated in 1896, when the Republican County Convention split in twain and sent two sets of delegates to the State Convention. But so free from partisan bias, and so eminently fair had been the course of Senator Feeter through it all, that his name appeared in both sets of delegates and at the State Convention he occupied the unique position of being a recognized regular delegate and at the same time a contesting delegate for the position he already held.

Many times Senator Feeter has been urged to accept nominations at the hands of his party and refused, being always content to fight in the ranks. In 1898, at the urgent solicitation of his personal friends he announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination of Senator in and for the 33d Senatorial district, composed of the counties of Herkimer and Otsego.

At this time the Republican organization in Herkimer County was divided into factions, and partisan feeling ran so high that a good portion of the Republican County ticket had been defeated in the fall of 1897, but the candidacy of Senator Feeter in 1898 saved the party in Herkimer County; for the leaders of all factions united in his support and in the convention that followed, he was the unanimous choice of all the delegates and was accorded the privilege of selecting the delegates to the Senatorial Convention. At the Senatorial Convention held in Richfield Springs Senator Feeter was nominated by acclamation and without opposition, a distinction that had not previously been accorded to any man in the district in a great many years.

In the election that followed Senator Feeter received 13,933 votes and his Democratic opponent, Geo. M. Bristol of Otsego County, received 10,874, making his majority 3,059 in the district. Senator Feeter's majority in Herkimer County that year was 2,131, while the majority for Governor Theodore Roosevelt was 1,170. He carried his home city by 654 majority, the largest majority ever given a Republican candidate in Little Falls.

Entering the Senate at the beginning of 1899 Mr. Feeter was appointed Chairman of the Committee on Internal Affairs of Towns and Counties, and a member of the following committees: Cities, Revision, Banks, Public Health, Commerce and Navigation. Senator Feeter is not an orator, but he has a plain, straightforward way of expressing his opinions and conclusions that immediately won for him the respect and esteem of all his associates around the Senate circle. While he is a strong partisan and an ardent and faithful organization Republican, he maintained an independent attitude in the consideration of important legislative measures. Personally he was on most pleasant terms with the Democratic Senators as well as the Republican members, and when he asked a personal favor in the consideration of a local bill he received favors from the opposition without question.

In 1900 Senator Feeter went before his constituents and asked for a renomination. He had no opposition in Herkimer County and was the unanimous choice at the Senatorial Convention. At the election that followed he received 16,052 votes in the district and his Democratic opponent, Andrew Murphy, Jr., of Mohawk, 11,538 votes, making his majority in the district 4,513.

In Herkimer County Senator Feeter's majority was 2,828, while the majority that President McKinley received was 2,708.

In matters pertaining to the welfare and advancement of his native city Senator Feeter has always taken a very deep interest and contributes liberally to industrial, charitable and religious projects. Many years ago he was elected village treasurer. He also served a few years as a member of the Board of Fire and Police of the village of Little Falls, and the first Mayor of Little Falls, Charles King, appointed him a member of the Board of Public Works when this municipal board was organized under the city charter. He continued a member of the Board of Public Works until he resigned in 1898 to accept the nomination for Senator.

In 1881 Senator Feeter was united in marriage to Miss Ella Craig, daughter of the late Alexander Craig. He is very fond of home associations, and most of his time after business hours is spent at his pleasant home on Ann street."

DEATH OF WILLIAM S. FEETER.

In Little Falls, Nov. 20, 1882, suddenly, of paralysis of the heart William Small Feeter, aged 33 years, 3 months, 9 days.

Deceased was a son of Hon. James Feeter, of this village, and he has always made this place his home. In his earlier years he attended school at the Little Falls Academy and subsequently studied two years at Fairfield Seminary. He afterward took a two years' business course, at Peekskill Seminary, graduating at the same time with two or three others from this village, and also with a son of Gen. Fremont, with whom his relations were quite intimate. Upon his return home he at once entered the National Herkimer County Bank, as book-keeper, in which position he remained for twelve years, securing the good will and cordial best wishes of his co-workers and of the officers of the bank. He subsequently rendered about two years service in the Little Falls National Bank. A little more than two years ago he married Miss Carrie Nelson, daughter of the late H. C. Nelson, deceased, who survives him. Funeral services will be held from his late residence on Monroe street, on Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

GEORGE A. FEETER.

Died March 7th, 1888.

This morning our venerable townsman, James Feeter, received a telegraph dispatch announcing the death of his brother, George A. Feeter, which occurred at his home in Grand Rapids, Mich., at midnight last night. The cause of his death was not stated in the dispatch and all that Mr. Feeter knows concerning his brother's illness is that about a week ago he was suffering from rheumatism.

George A. Feeter was born in the town of Manheim 68 years ago. For many years he was engaged in the grocery, flour and feed business in this village and amassed quite a large property, but twelve years ago he met with business reverses and failed. He built and lived in the handsome residence on Gansevoort street now owned and occupied by Joseph Mullen. Mr. Feeter moved to Grand Rapids about seven years ago and engaged in the grocery and flour business. About 1853 he married Miss Ursula Wright (sister of Miss Harriet Wright, principal of the Academy,) who survives him. They had one child, Frank, who married Miss Addie Ingham of this village, and died here about ten years ago, leaving a widow and two children.

Mr. Feeter leaves the following brothers and sisters : James Feeter, of this village; William A. Feeter, who resides on the old Feeter homestead in Manheim; Mrs. Margaret Ayers, of Amsterdam; and Mrs. P. W. Putman, of Fultonville.

For more than twenty years Mr. Feeter was a prominent merchant in Little Falls, and one of its most active citizens. Reverses against which no man can provide, overtook him and the earnings of a life-time were lost. Well advanced in years he moved to the west to seek his fortune, leaving all the tender associations of home behind him. His death under such circumstances is peculiarly sad. The remains will be brought to this village for interment.

FRANK A. FEETER.

From the Journal and Courier, May, 1878.

The fell destroyer is indeed reaping an abundant harvest just now in our community. Home after home is enshrouded in the deepest sorrow over the loss of those most loved.

Among the sad afflictions of the hour none brings to the hearts of friends sincerer or more poignant grief than the death of Mr. Frank A. Feeter, which occurred in this village on Saturday last. Frank had long been ill, and to those who noted the insidious progress of his disease it had long been apparent that recovery was very improbable if not altogether hopeless; yet his buoyant nature until recently sustained in his heart, or at least in his outward expression, the confidence that he would after a little be well again. Last fall, accompanied by his ever-faithful wife, he went to Minnesota to spend several months in the hope that the climate would prove beneficial. At first his highest hopes seemed about to be realized, but subsequently it became evident that no improvement was being obtained, and early in the spring he returned to Little Falls, resignedly bearing up under so bitter a disappointment and calmly awaiting the end—always cheerful, patient and loving to the dear ones about him even in the midst of intense suffering.

Frank's youth was spent in Little Falls where he was ever a favorite of his companions. He was active, honest, generous, open-hearted, of noble impulses, of most pleasing manners, and of more than ordinary ability. After a preparatory course at Phillips Academy at Andover, Mass., he entered Yale College in the year 1866, remaining there until the year 1869; having won the high esteem of his teachers and the warm friendship of his fellows. At this time he decided to devote himself to mercantile pursuits. He entered at once into active business in Little Falls with his father, George A. Feeter, continuing at his duties until the business was closed by the reverses of 1876. During this time he became considerably interested in local politics and in 1874 he was chosen chairman of the Democratic committee for this county, which position he held until the time of his death. He was zealous, industrious and ever faithful to the trust thus reposed in him, doing his utmost to advance the interests of his political organization. Had he lived, his labors, thus freely and self-sacrificingly given, would doubtless have been rewarded by his appointment to some honorable position within the gift of his party.

His age was nearly twenty-nine years. His funeral will be attended from his late residence on Ann street this afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Tradition says that three brothers Small came from Germany to America. The records show that Jacob Schmall (Small) was a native of Thal Itter, Upper Hesse, Hesse-Darmstadt, and that he was a mining smith working up to February 18, 1760 in the copper mines at Nieder-Sonnenfeld, Germany. He was married at Ringwood, N. J., on June 28, 1772, by Wilhelm Graaf, pastor of Hackensack, to Susanna Beltzer. He left Ringwood after working there 20 months, on April 13, 1773. He was employed there in the iron mines as blacksmith and edge-tool maker, and earned the good-will of his employers, as still shown by his existing papers. He went to New York city, then he leased some lands in the Mohawk valley and moved there about 1774. He was an active patriot during the whole of the Revolutionary War and a captain of militia and as such in charge of the extreme western settlements. His name is on the Oriskany monument.
