FOREWARD

The family name "Randolph" originated from Randolph the son of Ribald who was a cousin of William the Conqueror of England, both descended from Rolf the Norseman who conquered Normandy in the year 912 A.D. The family name Fitz Randolph (Fitz being the Norman-French prefix meaning "Son of") originated with Robert Fitz Randolph son of Randolph and grandson of Ribald. It was Robert Fitz Randolph who built the Castle of Middleheim about the year 1190 on land inherited by his grandfather Ribald.

Ribald came into possession of large areas of land in the northern part of England, probably about 100,000 acres which had been given to his brother, Alan Rufus, by William the Conqueror in return for services rendered by Alan whose army comprised nearly one third of the forces of William the Conqueror in the conquest of England. These large estates remained in possession of the Fitz Randolph family through many centuries of English history. Just here we might also mention that Bardolph, a brother of Alan and Ribald, was ancestor of the Lords of Ravensworth from whom the family of George Washington descended. The Fitz Randolph families in England were connected by blood and marriage with numerous royal families, among them Edward IV and Richard III, kings of the House of York, also Henry VII and Henry VIII.

The name Fitz Randolph is one of the very few that continued in prominence from the eleventh century throughout English history. Many other family names came into being only to lose prominence after a few years or to be lost entirely, but the family of Fitz Randolph remains of importance in English and American life to this day. Many members however have dropped the prefix "Fitz". It should be continued at least by the initial "F" if not by the entire word. I am sorry that I did not know earlier of the history connected with the name.

In this pamphlet an attempt has been made to follow the direct family line from Edward Fitz Randolph, the Pilgrim, who came to Plymouth Colony in 1630 and is progenitor of the family in America, to Daniel F. Randolph, my great grandfather. From Daniel's family forward to this date the writer has attempted to list every descendent. Important date and marriage connections are given for nearly everyone with biographical sketches for a few. The information is not complete. Further facts and corrections from everyone will be appreciated.

One branch of the descendents of Thomas, Daniel's older brother, is included following the descendents of Daniels. A few of the descendents of Mary (Randolph) Hill, Daniel's aunt are also included.

FIRST GENERATION (In America)

No. 1

EDWARD(1) FITZ RANDOPH, the Pilgrim, (Son of Edward, great grandson of Christofer of Langton Hall, Nottinghamshire, England.) The exact date of his birth is not known but according to record he was baptised July 5, 1607. Among the seven hundred pasengers who came over on the eleven vessels which comprised the "Winthrop Fleet" and which was known as "The Great Emigration" of 1630 is the following entry, "Edward Fitzrandolph of Sutton-in-Ashfield, Notts, Scituate. This gives Edward's former home and his destination in the new world.

He settled in Plymouth Colony (now Massachusetts) and was married May 10, 1637 to Elizabeth Blossom by Lothrop. She was the daughter of Thomas and Ann (Heilson) Blossom, born in Leyden, Holland in 1620. Thomas Blossom and his family started to America in 1620 with the first voyage of the Mayflower and Speedwell but was one of those who were forced to turn back because of the unseaworthiness of the Speedwell. On May 1, 1629 six vessels left the shores of England, among them the famous Mayflower and it is thought that Thomas Blossom and his family were on this ship.

In 1639 Edward and Elizabeth moved from Scituate to Barnstable, Plymouth Colony where their several children were born. In 1669 they moved to Piscataway, East Jersey. Here he died about 1684-5. He was buried at Piscataway town. No stone is there, but at a battle there with the Brittish an earth breastwork was thrown up over his and other graves and is there yet. Some of the stones of Thomas's family are partly buried. Elizabeth survived him, living to the age of ninety three.

SIXTH GENERATION (In America)

No. 7

DANIEL(6) FITZ RANDOLPH, (David(5), Samuel(4), Jonathan(3), Thomas(2), Edward(1) of Shelvyville, Ind., and Bloomfield, Iowa. b. Mar. 30, 1803; d. Sept. 17, 1855; m. Mar. 16, 1831 Elizabeth Wishard, b. Jan. 26, 1807, d. July 25, 1889 dau. of Abram and Sarah (Reynolds) Wishard. Elizabeth was the oldest of ten children and at one time lived on the Licking river not far from the Mammoth Cave in Kentucky. Daniel and Elizabeth are buried in the Lester Cemetery two miles southwest of Belknap, Iowa.

Daniel brought his family to Iowa from Shelbyville, Indiana about 1854. As a small boy I remember of my grandfather, Alva F. Randolph, Daniels son, telling about his older brother driving their oxen and covered wagon across bank full streams as the family came from Indiana.

Daniel and his family lived for a number of years on the farm two miles north of Bloomfield, Ia., now owned by Roy Denny (1951). He operated merchandise vans which traveled through the country selling goods. He is reported to have hauled goods from Keokuk, Iowa to Des Moines. After he died his widow and family purchased the one hundred acre farm west of Pulaski where they lived for several years. This farm was later purchased from the heirs by Alva (7) F. Randolph.

Children:

SEVENTH GENERATION

No. 8

ALVA(7) FITZ RANDOLPH (Daniel(6), David(5), Samuel(4), Jonathan(3), Thomas(2), Edward(1) of Bloomfield, Iowa. Born Mar. 23, 1843 Shelby Co., Ind., d. Nov. 28, 1921 at Bloomfield, Iowa,, bur. IOOF Cem. Bloomfield. He married Elizabeth Ann Korn March 31, 1870 and they moved to a small farm west of Dean Station southwest of Moulton, Appanoose county, Iowa where their six children were born.

When he was about eleven years old his parents came to Iowa and bought a farm north of Bloomfield (Owned by Roy Denny—1951) where they lived for many years. After the death of his father the mother and the children who were still at home bought and moved to the 100 acre farm west of Pulaski, Iowa. When Alva was about twelve years old he became ill at school and started home alone. He became exhausted and lay down in the snow, the effects of which left him deaf for the remainder of his life. He could speak to others but he always carried a small slate in his pocket for those who could not use the finger alphabet. When the youngest son, Alva Jr., was about two years old the family moved from Appanoose county to the farm near Pulaski formerly owned by his mother. He lived there until he retired to Bloomfield about eight years before his death.

While in Appanoose county the family lived in a true pioneer fashion. They lived in a log house. The family cut wild grass along the Chariton river for winter hay for livestock. Corn was planted with a hand planter in tracks made by a marking cart. He and his older sons cut, hued, and smoothed railroad ties with a broad axe. In the evening, by kerosene lantern light, they would often shave barrel hoops from hickory saplings. These were sold for an income from their forty acre farm. On leaving Appanoose county the forty acre farm was traded for a team of horses, a set of harness, a wagon, and a saddle.

JAMES SAMUEL FITZ RANDOLPH "Samuel F." (Alva(7), Daniel(6), David(5), Samuel(4), Jonathan(3), Thomas(2), Edward

(1), of Bloomfield, Iowa. Son of Alva F. and Elizabeth Ann (Korn) Randolph. Born Jan. 2, 1871 Appanoose Co., Ia. Died Dec. 31, 1954. When about 16 years old his parents moved to a farm three miles west of Pulaski, Ia. Samuel after finishing grade school graduated from the Southern Iowa Normal at Bloomfield. He taught school for seven years. He was married Mar. 6, 1898 to Stella Jamaica Good, b. Sept. 27, 1875, dau. of Richard and Susan (Bateman) Good of near Bloomfield. Stella's father and mother had emigrated from Cork county Ireland before their marriage.

Samuel and Stella purchased a 106 acre farm in Perry Township where they lived for four years. Their two sons, Oris Hugh and Vernard Richard, were born there. In the fall of 1901 they moved to a farm near Wesley Chapel Methodist Church southwest of Bloomfield. In 1916 they purchased and moved to the 360 acre farm four miles southwest of Bloomfield. The son, Vern, now owns this farm. They next purchased a farm adjoining Pulaski where they lived for eight years before retiring to Bloomfield.

Samuel took an active part in community affairs. Among the many public offices held were, secretary of the school board, president of the Davis County Farm Bureau, state representative from Davis County in the 44th General Assembly, member of the county well-fare Board, county committee for the Farm Security Administration, and many others. They are members of the First Christian Church, Bloomfield.

INDEX

Maiden names of married women used when known.

The numbers in parenthesis following the name indicates the Randolph generation in America starting with Edward the Pilgram, i.e. Edward (1), Thomas (2) etc.

The characters before names along the left hand margin of the book number brothers and sisters of a family.

Order of Characters:

- i, ii, iii, iv, etc. — brothers and sisters of one parentage.
- a, b, c, — brothers and sisters of the next generation.
- 1, 2, 3 — next generation.
- (i), (ii) — fourth generation from the named ancestor.
- (a), (b), (c) — fifth generation.
- (1), (2), (3) — sixth generation.
