GOODHUE

1 William Goodhue born in England 1612-13 emigrated to America 1635-6. Before leaving England he married Marjory Watson of Kent, which was probably his native place. She died at Ipswich, Mass. Sept. 30, 1668. She was mother of all his children; all born in Ipswich, Mass.

Children

- 2 I. Joseph, born 1639
- II. William, born 1645, married Hannah, daughter of Rev. Francis Dane of Andover. Buried in Chebacco, now Essex, Mass.
- III. Mary, married 1668, Thos. Giddings of Ipswich.

1 William Goodhue, married second Sept. 7, 1669, Mary (Webb) Osborne (Widow of Henry Osborne; Hammett says daughter) of Ipswich. She died Sept. 7, 1680. He married 3d, July 26, 1682, Bethia Grafton, Widow. She died Dec. 6, 1688. He married 4th, Dec. 3, 1689, Remember Fisk, Widow, of Wenham, Mass. She died Feb. 16, 1701-2. He lived with William² in that part of Ipswich called Chebacco, now Essex when he was old. He died 1699-1700, aged 85 years.

From family record of Wm. Goodhue of Salem, Mass. It was gathered by him from town records of Ipswich, from An Historical Address delivered by Rev. David Kimball at Ipswich, Mass. 1820 and from other papers by which it appears that in Nov. 1636 the Rev. Nathaniel Rogers, formerly minister of Assington in Suffolk, Eng. came over to this country and was soon followed by William¹ Goodhue, Nathaniel Hart, Robert Lord (another of our ancestors), Nathaniel Day and 13 others. Said Goodhue was deacon of the First Church in Ipswich, was high in reputation as a man of piety, integrity and wisdom.

GOODHUE

For many years he served the town as Selectman, Moderator, and Representative. Joseph his son was deacon of the 1st Church and William deacon of the 2nd Church, now Essex. Both men as history says of like respectability with their father.

Daniel Goodhue of Salem, Mass., born 1759, when he was in England, found and copied the coat of arms granted first to Lord Vicount Goodhew 1565. Earliest date to which the Goodhue family has been traced in England is 128- in County of Kent. Name usually spelled Goodhew.

1 William Goodhue took the freeman's oath Dec. 7, 1636; he had a house lot in Ipswich, 1635 and afterwards much other land by grant and purchase. 1639 Granted to Wm. Goodhue 6 acres of planting ground on the south side of the town river, butting on the same river No. W., and upon meadow grounds of John Perkins, Jr. So. E., having a planting lot of Mathias Buttons on the east and having a planting lot of John Perkins on the West. Also 6 acres of land lying on the town river about 1/2 a mile above the Mill having a parcel of ground of Thos. Bird's on the east and a planting lot of Henry Archer's on the North, and 10 acres of land granted to Nath'l Bishop on the South. Also 2 miles up the river 26 acres more or less also he is possessed of a house being about 3 rods of ground lying in the street called the east end, etc., having a house lot of John Winthrop on the So. W., and a house lot formerly granted to Robert Cole and now in the possession of Isaac Cummings on the No. E., etc. Entered on the Town Book 9th day of 2nd Mon. of 1639. 1644 Feb. 27, granted to Wm. Goodhue 8 acres of Marsh and 4 of upland.

1646 Apr. 5, he purchased of John Newman (ancestor on my mother's side) an house in "Brook St. alias Hog Lane", etc. In the deed which was acknowledged Apr. 19, 1649, he is styled Wm. Goodhue weaver.

In 1649 he possessed an houselot at the end of High St. near the river adjoining houselot of John Winthrop, and also an house with 6 acres of land which his father-in-law Watson purchased for him of Doct. Giles Forman in London, after Doct. Forman had removed from this country. Mr. Goodhue seems to have possessed considerable property, and have attained to rank and influence. He was a Commoner in 1641; one of Major Dennison's Subscribers in 1648; one of the 27 who paid the highest taxes in 1664; Selectman in 1664, and had the right of voting in town affairs in 1679. He was deacon of the Church from 1658; and Representative to the General Court 8 years between 1666 and 1683; he was one of those fined and imprisoned for resisting the arbitrary proceedings of Sir Edmund Andros in 1687.

The inhabitants of Ipswich 1687 resisted the order of Sir Edmund Andros for levying a tax on the King's subjects. For this act of the town John Appleton, William Goodhue and four others were arrested, brought before the Court in Boston and tried, they were fined, etc. The act of resistance has been called the foundation of American Democracy and was the beginning of those events which 88 years afterwards culminated in the Revolutionary War. It is commemorated in the Ipswich town seal which has on it "the Birthplace of American Ind. 1687." This long article is very interesting. Reg. 70, p. 103.

1697, July 29 William Goodhue and Mary his wife who sign with marks, release Henry Osborn claim to estate of Mary Marchant, John and Henry Osborn the same. William Goodhue was tythingman 1697.

2 Joseph Goodhue, born 1639 at Ipswich, Mass., married July 13, 1661, Sarah, daughter of Elder Whipple. In an agreement between the 4 parents executed on the marriage day Joseph enters into possession of his father's farm, and is entitled to his father's dwelling house and lot after the death of him and his wife, and 22 acres of salt marsh, which had been bought with 10 pounds of that 25 pounds sent by Joseph's Grandfather Watson from England in 1646. John Whipple gives to his daughter 40 pounds, etc. (It is too long to copy). She died July 23, 1681 and left 10 children. She left a farewell address, very remarkably worded and written about ten days before her death to her husband and children, printed in Cambridge, 1681. (The Copy of a Valedictory and Monitory Writing, Left by Sarah Goodhue; Printed in Salem by Samuel Hall 1770; Printed in Portland by Jenks and Shirley 1805; Printed in Cambridge, New England by Metcalf & Co. Boston 1850.

2 Joseph married 2nd, Rachel Todd (Widow) Oct. 15, 1684. She died at Ipswich 1691. He married 3d, Mercy Clarke (Widow) July 4, 1692. He died at Ipswich Sept. 2, 1697 age 56. He had been Moderator, Selectman, Assessor, Representative to the General Court and Deacon of the First Church. (See Todd)

Children by Sarah Whipple

- I. Joseph, born May 13, 1662, died young.

Child by 3d wife, Mercy Clarke

XIII. Samuel, born Apr. 6, 1696, married 1717 Abigail Bartlett of Newburyport, Mass. (See Vital Records). 2nd wife, Rebecca Caldwell.

Rachel Todd's daughter Anna Todd, married 1700 Edmund Heard, 3d son of Edmund Luke 1st. Hammett's Notes of Ipswich, p. 120 give names of children who survived Joseph Goodhue. According to Mr. Felt, the children surviving him were William, Mary Norton, Margery Knowlton, Sarah Kimball, Susanna Kimball, Joseph, and Ann Todd his step daughter. He also had Ebenezer, Benjamin and Samuel.

2 Joseph, born 1639, was freeman March 11, 1673-4; representative 1672-3; he came into full communion with the Church Feb. 22, 1673-4, was selectman 1697. See other article for his marriages. Mary Goodhue was appointed guardian of Samuel, son of Deacon Joseph her husband, being under 2 years of age, Dec. 6, 1697. 1699-1700, Feb. 5, Thomas Knowlton appointed guardian to Hannah Goodhue, daughter of Mr. Joseph Goodhue, yeoman, etc. "being a minor 14 years of age and upwards." "An account of Sundry Goods Deacon Joseph Goodhue late of Ipswich took into his hands of Estate of Josiah Clark deceased upon his marriage to Mercy Clark the relict of said Joseph." Mr. Joseph Goodhue had the 12th lot of 18 feet between the bridge and Samuel Ordway's shop, Mar. 23, 1692-3.

3 Joseph, born 1686-7 in Ipswich, married June 5, 1708, Sarah, daughter of Samuel and Martha (Smith) Smith, of Ipswich. She was born Nov. 23, 1690. All children born in Ipswich. (Ipswich Vital Records, Vol. 1, p. 163)(See Smith)

All these children in Newbury Vital Records, Vol. I, pp. 183-4. C.R.9.

I have a very interesting book entitled Mrs. Abigail Goodhue Bayley "A Pilgrim of 90 years" By D. O. Norton. Published in Boston, Mass. Sabbath School Society, 13 Cornhill. 1849.

GOODHUE

On October 29, 1923, Mother and I motored to Kingston, N.H. "over the Plains" which she describes driving over in the Chaise with her husband when he went there to preach from Newburyport. While there I looked up the records of her mother's birth and marriage which I found in the town clerk's records, also her father's and mother's first names, Hezekiah and Elizabeth Sleeper. Mr. Nicols, the Town Clerk, took me to his sister's, Mrs. Stevens, who had the records. P. in old book, 26; p. in new book, 269. (See Sleeper). A most interesting day.

4 George Goodhue died intestate Aug. 28, 1774. The date I found in Abigail (Goodhue) Bailey's Journal.

5 Samuel Goodhue, born June 16, 1751, (Newbury V.R. says bapt. this date) married Nov. 20, 1773, Martha, born Sept. 5, 1747, daughter of Robert and Ann (Foster) Mitchell (See Mitchell) of Newbury, Mass. Intentions also published. He was a sea captain and died at sea. (Newbury, Mass. Vital Records, Vol. II, p. 331, and New England Hist. and Gen. Register 30, p. 83.)

Children

I. Susanne, born Mar. 12, 1774, married Benj. Adams, Sept. 15, 1796.

Intentions also recorded.

6 II. Samuel, born Jan. 28, 1778, was bapt. First Presbyterian Church (Old South), Newburyport. Married Sept. 23, 1802, Elizabeth Slade, daughter of William and Mehitable Elizabeth (March) Blunt of Newburyport. (See Blunt for letter about Samuel and Elizabeth Slade (Blunt) Goodhue.) She died May, 1815.) Age 39 yrs See Newburyport Vital Records, Vol. I, pp. 158-9 and Vol. II, pp. 48, 189, 643. He married 2nd, Dec. 26, 1816, Rebecca French of Newburyport. He was a sea captain and died in Calais, Maine. (Record in our family Bible.)

GOODHUE

Clark University
Worcester, Mass.
July 6, 1922.

My dear Mrs. Fuess:

I regret very much not having had the time (I am my own secretary) to answer your letter before now. William Blunt of Portsmouth was my ancestor, and all I know about him at the present moment is that his grave is in one of the old cemeteries in Portsmouth. I find, in my mother's papers, the following epitaph: (See Blunt and March)

"Sacred to the beloved memory of Mrs.
Elizabeth, Relict of the late Mr.
William Blunt and daughter of the Rev.
Edward March, who died September 13, 1828, aged 83. Firm in duty, dignified in deportment, faithful in all the tender relations of life, an ornament to society; in a word, a Christian. There remaineth a rest to the people of God."

I am very glad to be put in communication with any of my grandmother Davis's connections. I have a grown daughter named after her, Mary Shannon.

Very sincerely yours,
Signed: A.G. Webster.

6 Samuel Goodhue married 2nd, Rebecca French of Newburyport Nov. 2, 1816. He was a sea captain and died in 1841. (Goodhue Genealogy says Baring, Maine. I think it was Calais as his daughter lived there and he lived with her the last part of his life. My father had Calais written in the family Bible, too.)

Children, bapt. South Church of Portsmouth, N.H.

- I. Richard Evans, born Jan. 20, 1803. No record.
- 7 II. Samuel, born Apr. 24, 1805 (Newburyport Birth V.R.)
- III. Martha Ann, born Feb. 10, 1807, married Oct. 11, 1830, at South Church, Portsmouth, Benj. Franklin Jones of Calais, Maine. Married 2nd, Thos. Galvin, June 19, 1837, of the same place. She died in Germantown, Penn. One of her children, Laura Wood Galvin, born 1843, married Austin William Utassy of Pesth, Hungary. My father always corresponded with her.

GOODHUE

(See my letter from her beyond). She died July 1922. She had three children:

I. Laura, born 1868 in Philadelphia, Pa.

II. George, born 1870

III. Charlotte, born ; died 1881.

IV. Elizabeth, born Apr. 3, 1811, married Apr. 16, 1829 in Newburyport, Henry G. Brackett of Lowell, Mass.

V. Susan Adams, born May 11, 1815. Name altered by the Gen. Court from Sally Shannon. Married Jan. 17, 1807, John Langdon Shannon. (Her descendants are Martha Shewall, Robert Shewall who married Caroline Rogerson, a cousin on mother's side through the Johnsons, and Julia Shewall, born about 1874 who married Sewall Cabot. (List of children from Essex Institute, Vol. 39, p. 89. Baptisms of all from Church Records, Portsmouth, N.H. and Newburyport V.R. Vol. 1, pp. 158-9.)

Children by 2nd wife.

VI. Mary Greenleaf, born 1819, married Samuel Jones of Dennyville, Maine.

VII. Charles Henry, born Apr. 1821; died young.

VIII. Caroline Pillsbury, died young

IX. Charles Henry, born May 12, 1827, married July 15, 1847, Louise Sargent of Boston.

X. Caroline Pillsbury, born in Newburyport May 12, 1834, married June 1, 1854, John Henry Lacosté of Boston.

GOODHUE

6 This Samuel born Jan. 28, 1778, was the one who brought home the beautiful china tea cups and saucers, sugar bowl, cream pitcher, slop bowl and four large plates; Crown Derby, made 1749-1830, Mark 2 Cross Swords, 3 dots in different colors. Very valuable. Abbot and Nora have a miniature of him. My father, Francis Abbot Goodhue, wrote on a label which is on the back of the miniature "Father of Capt. Samuel Goodhue married Miss Blunt then Miss Rebecca French, died in Calais, Me. My grandfather." May 1899 Andover, Mass."

Nonquitt, Massachusetts.
June 26/22

My dear Mrs. Fuess,

Your interesting note is before me, but I can give you but little information, as genealogy was never one of my fortes. I will tell you what I know. My Mother, Martha Ann Goodhue, my Uncle, Samuel Goodhue, and Aunt Lizzie Goodhue, were born in Newburyport, Mass. I remember as a little child of seven years, seeing my Grandmother Goodhue (Elizabeth Slade (Blunt) Goodhue, who was as I remember handsome and lovely. Their parents died early in life and Aunt Shannon, related to the Davis's of Brookline, took my mother and brought her up. She married Franklin Jones when she was 18 - and had three children. Two died when quite young and Mr. Jones died when the youngest was a baby.

My Mother married again Thomas P. Galvin of Portland, Maine, and removed to Calais, Me, where I with four others were born. When I was seven years old we moved to Philadelphia, which has been our home ever since.

My Uncle Sam Goodhue was a sea captain, taking the long voyages to China. He married and his home was in Brooklyn, N.Y. He had two sons, Sam and Frank. Frank married Miss Cushing. Since my Uncle's death, I have lost sight of the sons. I believe they are ~~both~~ living. Mother's Sister Lizzie married Mr. Brackett. Henry was his name. They lived in Waltham, both are dead and their two children Sarah and Maria, both married but leaving no issue. The Blunts of New York I knew as a girl when they visited us. Eliza Blunt is now living, and as I understand from Miss Julia Shewell my cousin, now Mrs. Sewell Cabot, of Brookline, could give you all information. I know of no heirlooms existing.

Sincerely

Laura W. d'Utassey. (b. 1843)

7 Samuel, born in Newburyport Apr. 24, 1805, married June 10, 1842, in Beekman St. Church, N. Y. City, By Rev. Gardner Spring, Mary Columbia, daughter of William and Hannah (Russell) Williams of Newburyport, Mass. (See Williams and Newburyport Birth Vital Records and Newburyport Vital Records Vol. II, p. 189)

GOODHUE

From newspaper clipping in family Bible:

"At New York on Friday last by Rev. Dr. Spring, Capt. Samuel Goodhue of the Ship Franklin of Newburyport, to Miss Mary Williams daughter of the late Capt. Wm. Williams of Newburyport."

He went to sea when very young as so many men did in those days. He was a well-known shipmaster in the East India Trade and China, making long voyages to India and England. He sailed ships for Mr. Joshua Hale of Newburyport and for New York firms. The family lived at #2 Garden St., Brooklyn, N.Y. about five minutes walk from the Wall St. ferry so he could be near his business for he always sailed from New York. It was a single medium sized brick house in an excellent location. Uncle Lawrence Cushing was an intimate friend of Uncle Sam's and lived with him and grandmother and grandfather Goodhue for over a year while he was in business in New York. Uncle Lawrence told me that Grandfather Goodhue was a man of sterling qualities. One time he was asked to load his ship more than its capacity. He refused. For his honesty the underwriters gave him $1,000. Somewhat reserved in manner, but kindly disposed, cheerful and even tempered, moderately active, good company and very hospitable. He was of medium complexion, a large heavy man. He had side whiskers which were always well trimmed. He was very handsome. After he retired from the sea he was in business in New York. Inspector in the Atlantic Marine Insurance Co. of N.Y. He joined the Newburyport Merchant Marine Society Nov. 28, 1844. The very rare set of Chinese China mother has, one of his grateful passengers bought in China and gave to him. He died Oct. 10, 1866. Lost overboard on the boat coming from New York to Boston. He and Grandmother Goodhue, when he got older, spent summers in Newburyport. They were coming this time for a visit. He had had a shock of paralysis and had not recovered. Abbot and Nora have his portrait which was probably painted by Lawson. I had a copy made of it in 1928 by Alexander James (son of the late Wm. J. James of Harvard University). At the time of his death he was master of the Ship Franklin.

The ships my Grandfather commanded are the following: List and description taken from record at Newburyport Custom House Sept. 1928. (The papers are going to be catalogued and sent to the Peabody Museum, Salem, Mass.)

Ship Pacific built at Newburyport by John Currier Jr., in 1842. Samuel Goodhue, Master. She was 138 ft. long, 28 ft. 11 in. wide, 14 ft. 5 1/2 in. deep and registered 531 2/95 tons. She had a square stern and a billet head. She is in Lloyd's Register of 1858.

Ship Franklin built at Newburyport in 1832 by John Currier Jr., John Coffin, Master. She was 113 ft. 10 in. long, 24 ft. wide, 12 ft. deep and registered 301 41/95 tons. She had a square stern and billet head. In Lloyd's Register of 1858. Samuel Goodhue was Master of this ship at the time of his marriage 10th of June, 1842.

Ship Talbot built at Newburyport by John Currier Jr., in 1837, John Story, Master. She was 140 ft. 9 in. long, 31 ft. 2 in. wide, 15 ft. 7 in. deep, and registered 623 91/95 tons. One deck, square stern, billet head.

Ship Nestorian built at Newburyport by John Currier Jr., in 1848. She was 151 ft. 2 in. long, 31 ft. 8 in. wide, 15 ft. 10 in. deep, and registered 697 56/95 tons. She had a square stern and 2 decks, and a male figure head. Samuel Goodhue, Master, 1848-49. In Lloyd's Register of 1858.

Ship Geneva built at Newburyport in 1837, Joshua Hale, Master. She was 128 ft. 8 in. long, 27 ft. 10 1/2 in. wide, 13ft. 11 1/4 in. deep, and registered 457 83/95 tons. She had a square stern and a billet head. Two decks. Samuel Goodhue, Master 1849. In Lloyd's Register of 1858. A painting of this ship is in the Newburyport Historical Society. I have a photograph of it. It has written at the bottom "Geneva of N. Y. S. Goodhue Commander, passing Elsinore Castle, Oct. 9, 1844." This ship went also from California to Boston. Sold 1862. The Essex Institute, Salem, Mass. had a negative of the painting of the Ship Geneva. George Noyes the photographer in Newburyport has this negative and some of the other ships here mentioned.

Ship Huguenot built at Newburyport by John Currier Jr., in 1845. Owners Joshua, Thos. and Josiah Hale. John C. Green and John Currier Jr. Samuel Goodhue, Master. She was 166 ft. long, 35 ft. wide, 17 ft. 6 in. deep and registered 934 82/95 tons. She had a square stern and a billet head. She was set afire by lightning June 12, 1846. (Old Ships of New England, published by Lauriat 1923, Plate #63. A letter from Alexander Graves Perkins, Newburyport Sept. 1928 says ".....Capt. Goodhue commanded the Huguenot when she left Newburyport (The Decatur towed her down the Merrimac to sea). My grandfather is mentioned as mate." Mr. Perkins has a picture of the Huguenot painted in a terrible storm and the lightning is shown striking her.

GOODHUE

Letter from the U.S. Customs Service, Office of the Collector, Dist. #10.
Number of Letter 91579. Written to me from N.Y. August 14, 1928.

Mrs. Claude M. Fuess,
P.O. Box 108,
Dublin, N.H.

Dear Madam:

Receipt is acknowledged of your communication of August 10th, making inquiry as to possible record of vessels of which your grandfather, Captain Samuel Goodhue, was master during the period 1832 - 1863.

We have examined our old index books for a number of years near the dates given, and find certain records as follows:

The ship "Geneva", Capt. Samuel Goodhue, of 457-83/95 tons burthen, arrived at the Port of New York on November 25, 1844.

The ship "Huguenot", Samuel Goodhue, Master, of 934 tons burthen, arrived at the Port of New York from Liverpool on March 7, 1846.

The ship "Nestorian", Samuel Goodhue, Master, of 698-56/95 tons burthen, arrived at the Port of New York from Liverpool on September 30, 1848, and again on March 9, 1849.

In the four cases above cited we have on file the list of passengers carried and the signature of Captain Samuel Goodhue appears on each.

While we have a book record of the ship "Geneva, - Goodhue - Master, arrived at New York, May 3, 1847", we have no other papers concerning this particular trip. With regards to the other vessels mentioned, the Franklin Pacific and Talbot, we do not find any records of these where Goodhue is named as Master.

Very truly yours

Dear Sir,

We arrived here this day after the hardest passage that I have ever experienced to the Eastward from the 8th until 31st ult heavy gales from South to N. W & N N E with the worst kind of seas. in the first gale the whole body of the cargo between decks, settled to leeward and Ship commenced leaking, increasing in every gale until the 24th it looked very serious with us, having to keep before the wind, and sea, off our course, for safety, or lay too, in every gale, with the seas breaking over us like a ledge, ship with a list to port, although we had shifted the cargo between decks over to starboard until full fore & aft up to the deck obliged to keep the pumps constantly at work, mate hauled up with his arms full of biles. Crew suffering by having all their clothes and bedding wet in the Fore Castle. on the 25 lying too & scudding part of the day Ship leaking faster than we could pump the water out. And no appearance of weather moderating held a consultation with all hands, and judged it to be absolutely necessary, for safety of property and lives, to lighten the Ship of part of the cargo between decks, and did so, by passing 500 Bags Barley through the Fore Castle and after Hatch, overboard, when finding that the leak had decreased, and that we could get all the water out of her, stopped heaving over cargo.- on the 28th being moderate for a few hours, got over the bows, and stopped in part, a severe leak under the lower head knees in the wood ends. And have since discovered that our leaks have been altogether in the upper - works, as since we lighten'd have been able in the worst of weather to keep free with two good spells an hour, and in moderate weather scarcely any water.

We arrived off here, within 25 miles of Loop Hd land in sight, on the 8th inst. Took a gale from N East and got into 13 Long. We are now just inⁱⁿ season to escape a severe gale which is now blowing from S W. Brig Georgian came in Company with us. left N York a week after us.

We are now lying about 18 miles below Limerick, which is as high up as a ship of the draft water can get without grounding. I shall go up tomorrow morning, and enter, and make all exertions in my power to commence discharg^g

Am in hopes to get this away by the Steamer on the 17th from Liverpool, and write you by a Packet next week.

8 III. Francis Abbot Goodhue, born June 19, 1850, Brooklyn, N.Y.

Married Jan. 17, 1877, Elizabeth Johnson, daughter of John Newmarch and Mary Lawrence (Brown) Cushing of Newburyport, Mass. They were married at 12 o'clock noon in the Cushing house, corner of First and High Sts., in the parlor, left side of front door as you enter, by Pastor of Old South Church, Rev. Wm. N. Newell, Jr.

He died Jan. 31st, 1905, about 10.30, at his desk at his office 32 India St., Boston, while dictating to his private secretary. He had a stroke. The burial services were held in the Cushing home and were conducted by Dr. Alfred E. Stearns, Headmaster of Phillips Academy. He was buried in our Goodhue lot [#]1122, in the Oak Hill Cemetery, Newburyport, Mass.

8 Francis Abbot Goodhue attended the Brooklyn Polytechnic and was a member of the Excelsior Base Ball team. Played 2nd base. Seth Low was Captain. When in Newburyport summers, he was the chief one to get up the dancing and sailing parties.

Dear Sir;

We beg to inform you that we have engaged the services of Mr. Francis a Goodhue to take charge of our Boston office from March 1st, 1892, in the place of Mr. Dawson Miles, deceased, who had been with us for the past twelve years as manager.

Mr. Goodhue has been connected with the Boston office of Messrs. Wm. Pickhardt & Kuttroff for the past sixteen years as salesman.

Soliciting your patronage, we remain

Very respectfully yours,

E. Sehlbach & Co.

After this, until the time of his death, he was manager of the Boston office of the firm of Farbenfabriken Co. of Elberfeld, Germany. He did a tremendous business.

They have offices in Boston, Philadelphia and Chicago, and do an extensive business. The Boston branch was established about twenty years ago. It is at No. 16 Hamilton Street, and is under the management of F. A. Goodhue. The premises here occupied comprise a spacious store and basement, and several people are employed in the place, while two salesmen represent the house on the road from this city. A large stock is always kept on hand here, and includes alizarine and aniline colors of all kinds and for all purposes, and of highest grades. The trade and large consumers are supplied on the most favorable terms. The lowest prices are quoted to dealers and manufacturers, and all orders are promptly attended to. Mr. Goodhue, the manager in this city, is a native of Massachusetts, and lives at Andover. He is a man of energy and thorough business experience, and is well known in commercial circles and in social life. He is an active member of the Dry Salters' Club, and the Down Town or Exchange Club, and belongs to the Masonic order and other societies.

Goodhue--In this city, suddenly, Jan. 31, aged 54 yrs 7 mos 12 ds. Interment at

Died.

Goodhue--In Boston, suddenly, Jan. 31st, Francis Abbot Goodhue, 54 years, 7 months, 12 days. Funeral services at Mr. Cushing's residence, 94 High street, at 2.30 p.m., Friday. Burial private.
 Friends are kindly requested not to send flowers.

The Phillipian, Wednesday, February 1, 1905.

Died Jan. 31 Frank A. Goodhue. Buried Feb. 3.

In the sudden death on Tuesday morning of Mr. Frank A. Goodhue the community and the school have suffered an irreparable loss. No personality has stamped itself more indelibly or more potently on the hearts and lives of hundreds of Phillips Academy boys. No life could be more genuinely missed from the community. Students and teachers alike mourn the loss of one who for years has proved himself a wise counselor, a true and loyal friend. Andover can never be quite the same Andover without Mr. Goodhue. For years, Mr.
 Goodhue has filled a unique place in the life of the school. Every interest dear to the students was dear to him. In free and unrestrained companionship with the boys he found the keenest delight. No school function was complete without his presence. In the serious work of the institution, in its material successes, in its social life, in its athletic victories and defeats, his words of counsel, congratulation and advice were eagerly sought and heeded. Beneath his hospitable roof scores of boys have gathered year after year and have been quickened by the touch of his great warm heart. He believed in boys and the boys trusted him. They brought to him their doubts and their perplexities and his cheerful optimism gave them new strength and stirred to new life all that was best and manliest within them. In the years of school life, when the restraining influences of the home have been left behind, many an Andover boy has found in Mr. Goodhue's home the influences which he needed to strengthen him against temptation and to keep him true to his best and highest ideals.

No one who has enjoyed the rare privilege offered in that home will be likely ever to underestimate its value in his life. Years after their school days were over boys would return to it to pay their grateful tribute to the part it had played in their lives. In college and in business they knew that Mr. Goodhue's interest followed them and they loved to come back to tell him of their successes, or perhaps failures, treasuring his words of praise and commendation, and knowing that his sympathy was unbounded, and his encouragement a source of untold strength. We can ill spare such a life from our midst, and while our hearts go out in loving sympathy to his family in their bereavement, we rejoice to feel that though that life has been taken from us its influence lives on in our lives and in the lives of hundreds who like ourselves have felt its sympathetic touch and have been quickened by its unselfish devotion.

It is with great sorrow that we hear of the death of Mr. F. A. Goodhue. Always one of the best friends of the school and a hearty supporter of its athletics, his loss will be felt not only by the fellows here now but also by the alumni. All of us will remember for a long time the speeches he has given before Exeter games and at celebrations, in which he was always a leader.

Funeral of Mr. Goodhue.

The funeral services of Mr. Francis A. Goodhue were held in Newburyport at the home of Mrs. Goodhue on Friday afternoon at 2.30. The services were brief and were conducted by Principal Stearns of Phillips Academy, who spoke of the place Mr. Goodhue had filled for so many years in the life of Andover and his great interest in and influence upon the life of the school. The Academy was represented by about 50 students and a dozen members of the faculty. All school exercises were suspended during the afternoon. A wealth of floral tributes bore eloquent testimony to the esteem in which Mr. Goodhue was held by a wide circle of friends. The interment was private.

GOODHUE

Andover Townsman, Friday, February 3, 1905.

Francis A. Goodhue.

Francis A. Goodhue, one of Andover's best known residents, died suddenly at his office in Boston, Tuesday morning. He had not been in the best of health for some time, but when he left home in the morning appeared to be in his usual health.

He had resided at 15 School street for many years, coming to Andover from Brookline to educate his children in the academies. He was in the aniline business in Boston, and went to and from his office, which was at 32 India street, every day.

Apoplexy is assigned as the cause of death.

Mr. Goodhue was born in Brooklyn, N. Y., 54 years ago, and after his marriage to Miss Cushing, of Newburyport, removed to Brookline, Mass.

Besides his wife he leaves a daughter, Elizabeth, and two sons, F. A. Goodhue, Jr., who has just been elected manager of the Harvard football team, and L. Cushing Goodhue, a student at Phillips Academy.

In the death of Mr. Goodhue a great, cheerful spirit has left our midst. It was good to look upon him and to hear his hearty voice. His welcome was ever ready, and his presence was a source of pleasure and good feeling. We shall miss him and remember him.

Mr. Goodhue was an alert, keen and accurate business man. His powers of organization, adaptation and arrangement were visible in every department of his extensive business. It was a delight to go through his offices and store-rooms under his clear-headed guidance. Everything was marvelously systematized and under perfect control. Mr. Goodhue possessed in an exceptional degree the power of economic and convenient concentration in all his business manipulations. He was a valuable and valued officer of a great industrial company, and had earned the honors to the efficient, unselfish service he so freely performed.

As a citizen Mr. Goodhue had not interested himself in public affairs, but he had been within his own large circle an active worker for everything that promoted the public good. His home life was his chief pleasure and his doors were ever wide open to shed the most generous kind of hospitality. As a patron of Phillips Academy he came to be a much beloved friend of that institution, and his help and advice always contributed largely to all of its interests.

No better tribute could be presented here to his part in Andover life than the words of Principal Stearns, which we clip from this week's Phillipian. (See Phillipian Notice).

Fashionable Wedding at Newburyport.
(Special Dispatch to the Boston Herald)

Newburyport, Mass., Jan. 17. One of the most fashionable weddings which has occurred here for years took place today, and was attended by all the elite of the city. Over 50 invitations were issued to the wedding, and over 200 to the subsequent reception. The bride was Miss Lizzie J. Cushing, daughter of John N. Cushing, Esq., and niece of Hon. Caleb Cushing. The groom was Mr. Frank A. Goodhue, also of this city. The nuptials were celebrated today in honor of Hon. Caleb Cushing, this being his 77th birthday. The ceremony occurred at 12 o'clock at the residence of the bride's father, Rev. W. W. Newell, Jr., of the Old South Church officiating. The rooms were elegantly and tastefully decorated with flowers. Over the happy pair was suspended a large bell of roses, surmounted by a white dove. During the reception hours the newly-married couple were baptized in accordance with the ritual of the Unitarian Church, and received into that fellowship by Rev. Mr. Vinal of Kennebunkport, Me., the ceremony being beautifully impressive. The presents were numerous and costly. The wedding party took the 5:20 train for Boston.

Coat-of-Arms.

(Mother has this coat-of-arms).

Newburyport, Aug. 23 - '94.

Dear Mr. and Mrs. Goodhue--

* * * * * The Coat of Arms I am very glad to hear pleased you. It came into my mother's possession on the death of an older sister of her mother's a good many years ago. It was laid away and slipped out of mother's mind - but I am sure the frame and all are as originally put together - except probably ^{the} glass - because we have other frames of the same description and period - which was probably between 1790 & 1810. My mother's mother was Emily Haskell - of Gloucester, Mass. - her mother was Mary Goodhue - "daughter of Deborah Fellows and Jonathan Goodhue of Ipswich." They were it appeared - the parents of my mother's mother's mother - Mary Haskell.

I hope that your mother has been and is well and enjoying this beautiful summer - please remember me most kindly and cordially to her, whose stay with us we always remember with a great deal of pleasure. And believe me with most sincere regards to you both -

WEDDING

FUESS-GOODHUE

A very pretty church wedding was solemnized on Tuesday afternoon, June 27th, 1911, at 3.30 o'clock in Phillips chapel, Andover, Mass., when Miss Elizabeth Cushing Goodhue, only daughter of Mrs. Francis Abbot Goodhue of School street, became the bride of Claude Moore Fuess, one of the instructors at Phillips Academy, whose home is in Waterville, N. Y.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Markham W. Stackpole of the Chapel church, before a large gathering of friends and relatives of the contracting parties. The bridal procession entered the church to the strains of the wedding march played by Prof. Joseph N. Ashton.

The bride, who was unattended, made a charming appearance in a princess dress of white satin with a square court train, over which she wore a tunic of old lace from a Spanish mantilla. This mantilla was brought from Spain by a great-uncle of the bride many years ago, at a time when he was minister to that country, and has been an heirloom in the Cushing family. Miss Goodhue's veil was of white tulle and orange blossoms, and she carried a shower bouquet of valley lilies. The groom was attended by Warner Taylor of Columbia University, New York City. The bride was given away at the altar by her brother, F. Abbot Goodhue of Boston.

The ushers were L. Cushing Goodhue, brother of the bride, Albert Hale of Dedham, Claude T. Wilson, Arthur F. Warren, George Westcott, Jr., and Adelbert J. Smith, all of New York.

The church was decorated for the occasion with rambler roses and daisies.

GOODHUE

After the ceremony, a reception, which was largely attended, was held at the home of the bride, guests being present from Boston, New York, Chicago, and many other places. Mr. and Mrs. Fuess left late in the afternoon, amid the congratulations of their friends, for their wedding trip. After September 15 they will be at home at 138 Main street, Andover.

10 John started school at Mrs. Amy Briggs, Arco Building, Main St. Andover, Mass., Sept. 24, 1917 and graduated from there June 1924. That fall he went to the 7th grade at the Stowe Grammar School on Bartlet St., Miss Putnam, Principal. John stayed there until Feb. 1926 (8th grade) when he had to leave on account of not being well. March 1, 1926 he began going to Mr. John Manning of Porter Road, a most learned and cultured gentleman on the old school. George McLanahan of Washington, D. C. was spending the winter at Alfred Stearns's and he decided to go with John to Mr. Manning. The two boys had a wonderful time together and a most profitable three and a half months of learning. June 1926 John took the Phillips Academy entrance examinations, and passed them. He enrolled as a day pupil in the Junior class at Phillips Academy when school opened Tuesday, September 14, 1926. The fall of 1928 he went to room at 9 John Phelps Taylor Hall with Frank Platt of Rye, N. Y. and took his meals at home. The fall of 1929 he roomed alone at 28 Bishop Hall and boarded at Mrs. Mary Jackson's on School St. John has always been a fine looking boy, brown hair, deep blue eyes, good all-round normal, honest, generous, interesting and intelligent boy. On the Glee Club, Dramatic Club, Phillipian (School paper), and the Varsity Soccer Squad at Phillips Academy. He plays the piano, a good game of tennis, etc. On Feb. 2nd, 1930 John was invited to become a member of the F. L. D. Society at Phillips Academy. He accepted.

Cambridge, Mass.
June 27, 1887.

This may certify that I have this day, in the City of Cambridge, baptized, according to the usages of the Congregational Church, Francis Abbot, son of Francis Abbot Goodhue.

Andrew P. Peabody,
Pastor Emeritus of the University Church.

(At Cousin Sarah Toppan's house, 154 Highland St., Cambridge, Mass.)

Abbot went to the primary school, Marion St., Brookline; Stowe Grammar School, Bartlet St., Andover; Phillips Academy five years, graduating June, 1902. He was Football Manager, member of the P. A. E. Society, etc.; Harvard College, 1906. While at Harvard he was Football Manager, member of the Institute of 1770, Hasty Pudding, A.D. Club and on many committees of importance. He was always called "Honest Abe". He wanted to go into Banking or Railroading that fall, but Mother wished him to try one year at the Law School to see if he would like to be a lawyer. He was at the Harvard Law School 1907. At the end of the year he still felt he would like to go into a bank. The fall of 1907 he started in the First National Bank on Federal St., Boston. In 1912 he was made President of the Brookline Trust Co. 1913 he was elected a Vice President of the First National Bank, Boston in which capacity he served until he was made President of the International Acceptance Bank, N. Y. in 1921.

GOODHUE

When I was seven years old, I started going to the primary school at Coolidge's Corner, Brookline. After that I went to the Grammar School, which was on Francis Street. In the fall of 1893 I enrolled as a day pupil at Abbot Academy, Andover, where I remained until June, 1898.

From my earliest childhood I enjoyed driving and riding a horse. I was taught to drive when I was two years old and we always had a horse until 1915, when Mother bought her first automobile. Some of the happiest hours of my life were spent driving with my Grandfather Cushing in the chaise behind his spirited bay Morgan horse, Ethan Allen, to the counting house at the wharf in Newburyport, and riding and driving my combination saddle horse, Sammy, on the many beautiful drives around Andover. Our first horse, Nellie Miles, who lived to be twenty-seven years old, was next to Sammy in my affections, with the beautiful, kind and gentle Brown Mare following third. These faithful horses and our two dogs, Blarney, an Irish setter, and Tan, an English setter, are buried under the apple trees at Dan Haggerty's on Morton Street, Andover. Our first dog, a Gordon Setter Rap who was Abbot's and my constant companion for many years, died before we left Brookline. We had many other animals at different times, a goat, an alligator, etc.

My life in Brookline was uneventful; school, going to church and Sunday School at the Harvard Congregational Church, childrens' parties, skating, coasting, going to Gilbert Sullivan Operas, etc. The Mikado I recall seeing seven times. When we came to Andover in 1893 I really began to live. We first discovered Andover in 1884, when the Doctor said we must go to an inland place as I had had whooping cough followed by pneumonia. That summer we took the Towne house on Salem St.; the next two summers, a house which belonged to a Mr. Hammond on the same street. From 1887 to 1892 we went to Andover for June and September and to Magnolia for July and August. The summer of 1892 we had Prof. Graves house in Andover. That fall we returned to Brookline for the last time; again the first of June 1893 we went to stay for a month at the Mansion House (Harriet Beecher Stowe's House); then to Magnolia for July and August, and back, as usual after Labor Day, to the Mansion House where we lived until July 1895. Those summers we went to Magnolia as the following years through 1899. The fall of 1895 Father hired an old fashioned white house at 15 School Street, which Mother bought in 1920 and still lives in. The house I have always liked, and is associated with the happiest of memories. 1900-1903 we went to The Birches, on Lake Mooselukumeguntic, Maine. 1904-1908, Newburyport at my Mother's home. 1909-10, Europe. 1911 I was married and that summer my husband and I went to The Birches at Lake Mooselukumeguntic; 1912, Andover; 1913, Magnolia where we had the McDonald Cottage, on Lobster Lane, now called by the fashionable name of Ocean Drive; 1913-18, Little Boar's Head, N.H.; 1919-1929, Dublin, N. H., a place we all love as we did Magnolia in the old days, before it was spoiled by the newly rich people.

I have always loved the town of Andover and all the beauty of the place. From the very beginning of our living here I have been interested in Phillips Academy. There were seven girls in our original crowd: Carrie (Reed) Wadhams, Cornelia (Gould) Murphy, Elizabeth (Smith) Clarke, Mary (Smith) Churchill, Isabel (Chapin) Gould, Eleanor (Thomson) Castle and myself. Later Helen (Baldwin) Burdick joined our inseparable group, when she came to Andover. It was a continual good time of dances, picnics, riding, coasting, skating, etc. We always had girls visiting us from out of town, and always there were many attractive boys at school to give us wonderful times. Father and Mother enjoyed young people so our house was the meeting place not only for my set, but for Abbot's and Cushing's friends.

Jack (my husband, as I always have called him) and I on our return from Maine, 1911, went to live at 138 Main St., a nice little house, where John was born. The fall of 1913 we moved to the South West apartment in John Phelps Taylor Hall. We thoroughly enjoyed our stay there. September, 1914, we went to live in the house, which was built for President Tucker of Dartmouth College, when he was a Professor in the Andover Theological Seminary, which stood at the corner of Phillips and Main Streets until 1928, when in July it was moved to Hidden Field. It was all ready for us to go into on our return from Dublin in September. It seems a strange coincidence that I live in this house to which I used in the early nineties to come from Brookline to visit Margaret Tucker. I have always loved this large sunny house, even though it is a perfect example of Queen Ann architecture!

I was asked to join the Massachusetts Society of The Colonial Dames of America in 1909. I have enjoyed the meetings and the Eligibility Committee I have been on for some years. The New England Historical and Genealogical Society of which I am a member has always given me pleasure and interest.

Our family connections have always been small. My Grandfather Goodhue died before I was born. Uncle Sam Goodhue never married. Grandmother Goodhue and he lived together in Brooklyn. It was always a pleasure when they came to visit us. My Grandmother and Grandfather Cushing lived to a good old age. Grandmother was small, graceful and very bright but was a very nervous person. Never was there such a wonderful man as Grandfather Cushing,- kind, jolly, possessed of fine judgment and every other splendid quality. All the five children were very handsome. Uncle Lawrence never married. Uncle John was engaged to a lovely girl, Natalien Hale of Bradford, but he died in 1891 after a week's illness of typhoid fever. He graduated from Harvard in 1887, and later from the Harvard Law School. He had just entered Judge Lowell's office in Boston a few months before he died. He was tall, handsome, and a remarkable shot. He loved to hunt and always had fine setter dogs. As he was a sterling character of high intelligence, there seemed only success awaiting him. With his death ended this branch of the Cushing family. My handsome Aunt Marianna, or Aunt Annie as I called her, I thought the world of. She had snapping dark brown eyes and was a brunette. She married Thomas Gillies Todd and had four children, cousins I have always liked. Polly married William A. Barron and had one child, William A. Barron, Jr. He married Emily Wesselhoft and has two boys. Gillies married 1st Agnes (Havermeyer) Cattus; 2nd, Margaret (Sutherland) McDowell; 3d, Florence (Smith) Herman. No children. Cushing died unmarried in his forties, and Nell has never married. Aunt Annie died of consumption. Mother was considered even more beautiful than Aunt Annie. She has blue eyes, and high coloring. Aunt Margaret has never married. She is a very handsome aristocrat, grey eyes and dark hair. All three sisters had the wonderful qualities of Grandfather Cushing. I cannot in this writing tell how wonderful I consider my mother, brothers, their wives, children, my husband or my son.

I forgot to mention that we went on many short trips when we were young to Lakewood, N.J., New York City, Old Point Comfort, up the James River to Richmond, Quebec, Albany, Buffalo Exposition, etc., and five Easter vacations, 1899-1904, Dad took us all to Washington, D.C. where we stayed at the Hotel Arlington. 1904 Nell Todd and I went to St. Paul, Yellowstone Park, Missoula, Coeur d'Alene, Butte, Salt Lake City, Colorado Springs and St. Louis. 1906 she and I went to Miami, Palm Beach, St. Augustine, Jacksonville, Savannah and Washington.

BALLARD

The name Ballard is an ancient one in England. There were two Ballard families in New England. One was founded by William Ballard of Andover, Mass.; the other by William Ballard of Lynn, Mass.

1 William¹ Ballard was born in England, as his name and associations here show, and about the year 1617, as by a disposition at a later time. He is believed to have sailed on the "Mary and John" from England, March 26, 1634. He would have been 18 years old at this time. In 1645 he owned land in Newbury and in 1643 his name appears on the records of Dedham in the Colony, as giving bond to pay fines imposed on two men convicted of "mutinous and turbulent speech". He undoubtedly spent the greater part of his life in Andover, Mass., where his name appears first on the earliest entry in the town records, giving a list of "the names of all the free house holders, in order as they came to towne." His is the 16th name, and as is known, the names before and after his moved from Newbury to Andover in 1644, he may be presumed to have come then too.

An early disposition gives his age and shows his hospitable spirit. The document is dated 1662 and relates to a neighbor's lawsuit * * * * *.

William Ballard was engaged in the war against the Narragansett Indians, better known as King Philip's War, in 1675-76. He served in the garrison at Chelmsford, Mass, where he was on duty on Jan. 25, 1675-6 and drew pay of 02.08.00. He was then 59 years old. The name of William Ballard's wife was Grace but her surname is not known. He died July 10, 1689 and she died Apr. 27, 1694, both in Andover.

Rev. John Blunt died in 1748, age 42. It has been said of him (Rambles about Portsmouth, p. 88) "He appears to have been a useful man and a highly approved preacher. On his death the town voted to continue his salary for 9 months and to present her with 200 pounds for funeral expenses." He was the 3d pastor at the New Castle Church. His widow married 2nd Judge Hill of South Berwick, Maine, son of Capt. John and Mary (Frost) Hill.

5 William, born 1733, married 1st Elizabeth Slade. (Ref. Reg. 43, p. 428. Slades of Portsmouth, N.H. Within half century of 1746, were Benj. and sister Elizabeth, 1st wife of Wm. eldest son of Rev. John Blunt.) She died Feb. 27, 1769. Nine days after her baby Elizabeth died. (I copied above record from the Vital Records at the Concord State House, Aug. 1, 1928). William married 2nd, Sept. 9, 1769, Mehitable Elizabeth, daughter of Edmund and Mary (Pepperell) March. (See March). (Amesbury, Mass, Vital Records). Newbury, Mass. Vital Records, Vol. II. p. 51, Wm. My dear Mrs. Fuess:

I regret very much not having had the time (I am my own secretary) to answer your letter before now. William Blunt of Portsmouth was my ancestor, and all I know about him at the present moment is that his grave is in one of the old cemeteries in Portsmouth. I find, in my mother's papers, the following epitaph:

"Sacred to the beloved memory of Mrs. Elizabeth, Relict of the late Mr. William Blunt and daughter of the Rev.
Edward March, who died September 13, 1828, aged 83. Firm in duty, dignified in deportment, faithful in all the tender relations of life, an ornament to society; in a word, a Christian. There remaineth a rest to the people of God."

I am very glad to be put in communication with any of my grandmother
Davis's connections. I have a grown daughter named after her, Mary Shannon.

Very sincerely yours,

Signed: A. G. Webster.

BLUNT

Claircroft, New Russia, Essex County, N.Y.

My dear Mrs. Fuess-

I am very much interested in the letter which I received from you last evening - and I wish so much that I could personally meet you.

I may have met one of your family - Captain (Samuel) Goodhue (My grandfather. E.G.F.) - who lived in Brooklyn, N.Y. at one time. And Miss Charlotte Galvin and her brother Edward, I think, who was a Unitarian Minister. Elizabeth March who married Wm. Blunt was our mutual ancestor; she was the daughter of the Rev. Edmund March of Newcastle, Maine. And I possess some of her letters, written to her son, Edmund March Blunt, who was my grandfather.

Elizabeth Blunt who married Samuel Goodhue was my grandfather's sister. And I think, became a member of the family of her sister - Mrs. Shannon. I am so sorry I cannot be more exact in details - but I am losing my eyesight, and cannot look up particulars. Later in the season I expect to be with my nephew, Harrison N. Blunt, of Palmerton, Carbon County, Pennsylvania.

You are probably aware that Wm. Blunt, our earliest Blunt ancestor in this country, settled in Andover, Mass. Whether he is the same Wm. Blunt who is recorded there ten years later, in 1642, and who married Elizabeth Ballard of Andover, we are not quite sure. The family of Blunts seem to have come from Bristol, England, and seem to have been Iron Mongers.

If the automobile trip you are about to take after Sept. 1 - should be in the direction of Elizabethtown, Essex Co. N.Y. - I shall be so glad to see you at my cottage in New Russia - four miles south of Elizabethtown. And will be very glad to show you some photographs of old portraits of our mutual ancestors.

BLUNT

Julia Cabot has, I think, the originals of Elizabeth March Blunt and her great-grandmother Shannon. I like to see old family portraits to trace the resemblances to various descendants - Mrs. Shannon, who was considered a very beautiful woman, is more like my sister - Mrs. Geo. E. Waring - than any portrait that was ever taken of her.

Mrs. Chas. K. Cobb of Chestnut Hill also looks like it. So that it seems as if that must be a characteristic portrait of the Blunts. * * * *

Yours very truly

Eliza S. Blunt.

BOLLES

English Bolleses. The name of "Boels" is found in the Roll of Battle Abbey as given by Hollingshed Dechesne from a charter in the Abbey in a list of the Conquerors of England under William of Normandy, among whose names appears the names of "Bolls". The name occurs frequently in Doomsday Book.

For generations the family resided in the Co. of Lincoln. A Sir John Bolles, born 1581, lived at Scampton. He was knighted in 1627. The pedigree from Illingworth, taken in connection with the epitaph of George Bolles, oldest son of Sir John Bolles, exposes the error of a family tradition of the American Bolleses, that Joseph Bolles of Wells, Maine, was the 3rd son of Sir John Bolles of Scampton. This erroneous tradition grew out of an entry in the family Bible of that Major Charles Frost who married Mary, the daughter of Joseph Bolles of Wells, Maine. That entry describes Mrs. Frost as "Mary, daughter of Joseph Bolles, 3d son of Sir. John Bolles of Scrampton, Baronknight." My brother-in-law, Major General J. A. Dix, examined the entry, and describes it as interlined in a different hand from the rest of the record of Mr. Frost's marriage. The mis-spelling of Scampton casts doubt on its accuracy; and when we remember that Joseph Bolles, in his own hand, on the Wells town record gives the year of his birth as 1608, while the epitaph of George, the oldest son of Sir John, proves that George was born in 1612, we see that Joseph could not have been the 3d son, while the pedigree in Illingworth shows that he could not have been the child of Sir John at all. I have not been able to trace the English lineage of our ancestor Joseph Bolles of Wells, Maine.

The first of our name who came from England to America was Joseph¹ Bolles, the precise period and place of whose arrival I have been unable to ascertain.

BOLLES

In the year 1640, the earliest date which I can find connected with his name, he was engaged in trade at Winter Harbor, near the mouth of the Saco River in the then Province of Maine. He afterwards removed to Wells, Maine (Id. p. 58) where he held the office of Town Clerk from 1654-1664 during which period his dwelling house and the first volume of the town records were burned by the Indians. (York Cty. Reg. Vol. 7, p. 259). The following copy of his family is from his autograph in the Wells Town Records.

1 Mr. Joseph Bolles was borne in Feb. 1608 and Mary Bolles his wife in Mar. 1624.

2 I. Mary Bolles their daughter, borne 7 Aug. 1641, married Major Chas. Frost (no date given). Her father's will shows she was married before its date Sept. 18, 1678. She died Nov. 11, 1704. (See Frost.)

II. Thos. Bolles their oldest sonne, b. 1 Dec. 1644

III. Sam Bolles was b. 12 Mar. 1646, married Mary Dyer

IV. Hanah Bolles b. Nov. 25, 1649, married either a Becke or a Chadbourne

V. Eliz. Bolles b. 15 Jan. 1652, married Mr. Lecke

VI. Joseph Bolles, b. 15 Mar. 1654, married Mary

VII. Sara Belles b. 20 Jan. 1657, married a Becke or a Chadbourne

VIII. Mercy Bolles b. 11 Aug. 1661

Mrs. Bolles was probably daughter of Morgan Howell who owned land at Cape Porpoise, and who devised and bequeathed to her and her children all his estate and property, and appointed her Executrix of his will, Nov. 17, 1666 (York Co. Reg. II, 120, and IV, 3 and 49).

BOLLES

Mr. Bolles died at Wells, Maine in the fall of 1678. His will is dated Sept. 18, 1678 and was proved in Nov. His whole family survived him and his wife was living in 1684. He was a large land owner. He was a man of high character and universally respected. At his death his real estate, reduced already by divers grants to his children was appraised at 530 pounds. In July 1653 Commissioners of Mass. held court at Wells and appointed him "Clerk of the Writts with power to grant Warrants and Attachments", etc. (Mass. Col. Rec. Vol.IV. pp. 142-3). In 1660 Archdale Gorge's agent gave Mr. Bolles a commission as Counsellor and Magistrate. In 1664 he was Deputy and Commissioner for the Governor of the Province of Maine. (York Co. Reg. XV, 256).

From Boston Transcript, Aug. 3, 1921. 8962. 7. Bolles, Howell, S.C. D.R., June 22, 1921; S.N.L., July 20, 1921. The will of Morgan Howell should be read in the light of a contemporary resident of Cape Porpus in 1666, a hamlet of a few score people. Each one knew every other person in the settlement, and it was not necessary to specify for legal or identification purposes the relationship of a legatee. Everybody knew that Mary Bolles was, or was not his daughter. The language of the will seems to me to offer no other solution than that of a father bequeathing to his natural heirs, but without formally calling them daughters. He bequeathes to Mary Frost, Senior, "for her share," certain personal property which he had "formerly promised her." A share meant a legal share by heirship, and if Mary Frost was given "her share", what about Mrs. Mary Bolles, who received the real estate and was made executrix? This involves, of course, two daughters named Mary, but that is not impossible or improbable. In the town of Wells, adjoining Cape

Porpus, were two brothers named Francis Littlefield, called "Senior" and "Junior" to distinguish them. Mary Frost, Senior, named in Morgan Howell's will may have been the wife of Nicholas Frost, as Charles Frost, his son, who married Mary Bolles (daughter of Joseph) did not have a daughter Mary until after Howell's death. I suggest that Mary Frost, Junior, named in Howell's will, was the wife of Charles Frost, his Bolles granddaughter.

BRAY

- 1 John Bray with his wife Joan came from Plymouth, England. He was a ship-builder at Kittery Point and died 1689-90. Administration was granted Jan. 11, 1693-4 to William Pepperell, Joan Deering, and Mary Bray on estate of Joan Bray, deceased.

- I. John
II. Joan, married 1678, Clement Deering
2 III. Margery, born 1660, married 1680 William Pepperell.
(See Pepperell)
IV. Mary, married Joseph Deering

John Bray left England in 1660 and settled at Kittery Point. At the time of young William Pepperell, senior Mr. Bray was already rich in his business of boat building and by his integrity and thrift became a man of extensive influence among the primitive people who dwelt along the shores of the Piscataqua River. Mr. Bray had brought his family with him from England one of whom was Margery, a little girl of two years. 15 years later when Pepperell (who pursued fishing as an occupation) traded with Mr. Bray for boats, he met Margery. They married in 1680. She survived her husband 7 years and died at Kittery April 30, 1741, in her 81st year. She was born at Plymouth, England. (The account of William Pepperell is most interesting).

Mr. Bray's family was one that could be traced back for many generations and he held valuable estates in the Old World and added possession in the New World. His daughter Margery and Colonel William Pepperell were married 1680 in the parlor of the Bray homestead which is still standing in Kittery, Maine (1901) after a lapse of over 240 years since its erection, a splendid monument to the builder. Close at hand Mr. Bray granted his daughter and Husband a lot on which to build a house, and took his son-in-law into partnership. They were the foremost shipwrights and merchants of the day. Their wharf and warehouses were known in the old world as well as in the new. More than a hundred vessels annually visited the grand bank. Others trading in the southern ports of the colonies and the West Indies as well as in European markets. It has been said of Margery Bray Pepperell (from Prof. I. F. Frisbee's "The Hero of our Heroic Age, a sketch of Col. Wm. Pepperell") "She exemplified at once the Greek and Christian ideal of beauty and her high spiritual intuition became to her husband's vigorous qualities a sixth sense which enthused ever his efforts with the highest purpose." A long account, most interesting, of their children and life is in this Volume, Essex Inst. 37.

DEERING

1 Roger Deering came from Dartmouth, Devonshire, England.

George Deering came from England about 1635 and settled at Black Point, Scarborough, Maine. He died about 1645 and his widow married Jonas Bailey. Deering was a planter and shipwright. Many Genealogies say he was father of Roger Deering but this has been disproved. (Abstracts of English Records gathered principally in Devonshire and Essex in a search for the ancestry of Roger Deering, c. 1624-1676, and Matthew Whipple c. 1560-1618. By Mrs. B. D. Danielson.)

1 Roger Deering was in Kittery before 1663. Signed a petition there in 1673 and died June 26, 1676. His widow Joan married William Crafts. She was a widow again in 1696 and died about 1713. Feb. 23, 1691 administration was granted to William Crafts and his wife on the estate of John Deering deceased, son of the said Crafts and his wife. Probate Records at Alfred, Maine Jan. 20, 1727-8 - Mary Deering aged about 78 deposed that "33 years past Joan Crafts lived in the house where John Hix and his mother Sarah Hix now live and that about 14 years past the said Crafts died in possession of said house reputed to be the estate of Joseph Deering". William Crafts's license to keep an ordinary was renewed May 26, 1785 and after his death Joan Crafts continued in the business of an innkeeper. Her inn was "near the Meeting House". The children of Roger Deering were:

- I. Roger, married Mary -----
- II. Clement, married Joan Bray
- III. Thomas, married Elizabeth -----
- IV. Joseph, married Mary Bray
- V. John, died unmarried
- 2 VI. Joanna, married Joseph Couch. (See Couch).

Note 2353. DEARING, DEERING. For many years it has been generally thought that Roger Dearing (or Deering) of Kittery Point, Maine, was the son of George Dearing of Scarboro', Maine. This statement has been printed and copied by so many reputable genealogical publications that it has come to be accepted as a fact. A number of students of Dearing ancestry, however, have long been of the belief, in the absence of unsupporting proof, that Roger was not the son of George Dearing. This theory has received substantiation from the very extensive researches made in England at the instance of the late Mr. Charles Deering of the International Harvester Company, which show no proof of the alleged parentage though it is probable some relationship existed between the two men. The data and documents collected by Mr. Deering have lately been published by his daughter, Mrs. Barbara Deering Danielson, for the benefit of students of genealogy, not only in Dearing lines, but in those of other English families, especially Whipple. This volume will be found in libraries of genealogical societies. From the material presented it is evident that the parentage of Roger Dearing is still an unsolved problem, though record appears of his marriage in Dartmouth, England, whence he came to America, first appearing at Kittery in 1663. He died there in 1676. Descent from this pioneer ancestor is traced through his four sons, Roger, Jr., Clement, Thomas, and Joseph and also through female lines. W.M.E.

Comment on Note 2353. Dearing, Deering. C.E.B., Oct. 21, 1929. It seems to me that the entry from the Loddiswell parish register as it appears in the Deering book is perfectly plain, that it reads 1624, May 1, "Roger the . . . of Elizabeth Deering" and that the editor has suggested that the words "base son" may have originally filled in the part not now legible. It might have been more accurate to have written: 1624, May 1, "Roger the [base sonne?] "of Elizabeth Deering," or to have said: 1624, May 1, "Roger the . . . of Elizabeth Deering" and then to have explained that the part not now to be deciphered may have read "base sonne." The editor of the Deering book is an excellent professional genealogist and to me her meaning seems quite clear as to what is the original entry and what her comment.

FOLSOM

On the 26th of April , 1638, the ship "Diligent of Ipswich" England of 350 tons burden, John Martin, Master, set sail from the mouth of the Thames for Massachusetts Bay, having on board 19 families, in all 133 persons. 12 families from old Hingham, the rest from the immediate vicinity and they all had embarked for the purpose of joining a colony settled in Hingham, Mass. 1635-37. John Folsom 23-4 years of age, his young wife to whom he has been married about a year and a half, attended by 2 servants, his wife's father and mother, Edward and Mary Clark Gilman of Hingham, and three younger brothers, Edward (not 21 years), John and Moses, 2 younger sisters, Sarah, and Lydia (who married Daniel Cushing 1645) and 3 servants of the family were fellow passengers. Their departure seemed to be ecclesiastical matters. In an account of the family, published in the "Exeter News Letter" from which a large portion of names and dates in the present record have been taken, there is mentioned a tradition that "as several John Smiths were in the company, one of them who came from the town of Foulsham, was, for the sake of being distinguished from the others, familiarly called 'John Foulsham' and by this name on his arrival in New England he chose to be known. So it became his and his posterity's name." There is a deed signed by John Foulsham, 1672 recorded in Vol. XI. p. 287, in the Registry of Deeds for the County of Rockingham (N.H.) in which some property is conveyed from him to his daughter commencing, "whereas there is an intent of marriage between George March, the son of Hugh March of Newbury, Mass. and Mary Foulsham, daughter of John Foulsham alias Smith of Exeter." There is a long account of why he changed his name at this point in the story. They think it was his mother's maiden name. "He was nevertheless a lineal descendant of the Foulshams".

FOLSOM

The party landed at Boston August 10, 1638 and went right to Hingham, Mass. He resided there 10 to 12 years. He was not without tokens of good will of the people there. Edward Gilman had obtained a grant of land at Rehoboth, near the Rhode Island line in 1641. In 1647 his name is recorded in Ipswich. Soon he went to Exeter, N.H. where his sons were in business. John Foulsham with his wife and their children followed the Gilmans to Exeter, not earlier than 1650. The 1st authentic record of their residence in that town is year 1655. After his removal to Exeter, the name of "Goodman Folsom" appears in 1659 on the list of "Selectmen". He obtained a grant of land in 1660 also his sons. In 1662 he was a jurymen, etc. The first traceable ancestor of John Folsom is:

Roger Folsom of Nector, County of Norfolk, England, whose will is dated 1534.

William, son of Roger Folsom, married Agnes Smith, alias Foulsham of Besthorpe.

Adam of Besthorpe, son of William, married Emma -----; will dated 1565; Owned land in several places also Hingham.

Adam, son of Adam of Besthorpe, married Grace ----- He had lands in Hingham. Died 1630.

Adam, son of 2nd Adam, of Hingham, married Agnes ----- Died 1627.

These facts came from reliable information. George Folsom visited England and explored every source of information. He states Adam (4) in descent from Roger left a son John. Those who accept the "alias Smith" can hardly consider him the son of Adam the third, but of Adam's sister who married a Smith. Through her he was grandson of the previous Adam.

Folsom alias Smith (Ante XXX, 207) As the tradition has prevailed extensively that the emigrant John Folsom was John Smith in England, the following record from the MS. of the late Hon. John Kelley of Exeter, N.H. may throw some light on the question. "Adam Folsom alias Smith, of Hingham, Eng. made his will 1627 in which he names sons John, Adam and Peter. John his son came to Hingham, Mass, in 1638 and in the diary of Parson Hobart of that town, it is found that his children were baptized, etc." (See Kelley's MS.)

9430. 3. FOSTER, H.J.M.E., Jan. 11, 1922. In the Foster Genealogy it is stated the Reginald Foster of Ipswich was the son of Thomas and Jane (Carr) Foster, of Brunton, England; that his wife's name was Judith; that he died in Ipswich in 1681. The ancestry of Reginald is carried back to the time of William the Conqueror though no proofs are given of the correctness of this line. The names of seven children are given, all said to have been born in England. There has been published in England, by the Northumberland County History committee, a history of Northumberland, in several large volumes. In volume two, page 109, it is stated that Reginald, son of Thomas and Jane (Carr) Foster of Brunton, married Ann ----, and was buried Oct. 16, 1656. (Bamburgh Registers.) Ann, "late wife of Mr. Reynold Foster of Brumpton, buried Sept. 3, 1676 (Alnwick Register). They had two children: Grace, buried March 11, 1655 (Bamburgh Register); and Thomas Forster of Lucker, buried in Lucker chapel, Oct. 30, 1677 (Bamburgh Register). J.P.

Sir Richard Foster, the first of the name, was brother-in-law of "William the Conqueror." The Latin name was "Forestarius," meaning keeper of the "Royal Forests," hence eligible to marry into the minor or side lines of royalty, Sir Richard was the son of Baldwin IV, a forester descended from "Anarcher the Great" of Flanders, whose grandson married Alfrith, the daughter of "Alfred the Great."

Reginald, with wife Judith, came from Exeter, County Devon, England, to Ipswich, Mass. 1638. No record is made of her family name. H.F.L.B.

FROST

There is conclusive evidence that Nicholas Frost was on the coast of Maine as early as 1632. He probably returned to Eng. for his family and came again in 1634. He was chosen constable in 1640 and he served repeatedly as one of the Selectmen. He was a man of force and leadership and reared a distinguished family.

An old family Bible is said to contain the following record. (There is some doubt of the genuineness of this Bible.)

1 "John Frost. Borne Nov'br ye 17th 1558 Near Cornbre Hill, Cornwall.
Anna Hamden Borne Oct'r ye 8th 1565 near Caer Bran, Cornwall. John & Anna, Bertha Cadwalla Borne ffeb'y ye 14th 1610. Sailed for America in April.

Arr'd on June 1634 in the same year. In ye Ship Wulfrana, Alwin Wellborn, Master ffrom Plymouth, Devon."

2 Nicholas Frost above named settled at Leighton's in 1634. He died July 20, 1663. The tradition that his wife and Anna were killed by the Indians July 4, 1650 needs more evidence.

3 Major Charles³Frost (Nicholas² John¹) married Mary, daughter of Joseph and Mary (Howell) Bolles (or Bowles) of Wells, Maine. The date of the marriage is said to have been Dec. 27, 1675 but it must have been at least ten years earlier. He was killed by the Indians July 4, 1697 in the 65th year of his age as the inscription on his tombstone says. His wife was born Jan. 4, 1641, in York, Maine, and died Nov. 11, 1704. Major Charles Frost left a large estate dated 1690. (Frost Family, By descendants of Joseph, son of Hon. John Frost. FROST Memoir of Charles Frost, By Usher Parsons.

Charles Frost, born in Tiverton, Eng. 1632. Came with his father, Nicholas Frost, to the Pascataqua River (Portsmouth, N.H.) at about 3 or 4 years of age. His father was a native of Tiverton and resided near "Lemon Green" over against Bear Garden. He had one daughter who married Charles Brooks a brazier in Crown Alley, London. He was born about 1595, arrived at Pascataqua River about 1635. Settled at the head of Sturgeon Creek, south side of Frost Hill, where he died July 20, 1663. He brought a wife and three children. Wife not mentioned in the will dated 1650. Inferred she died before. Charles oldest son received 211 pounds, he took homestead and 500 acres of land. John, 2nd son, who left a widow named Sarah, had 300 acres of land in York, Maine, with marsh valued at 65 pounds, rest in money. Wm. Leighton for wife Catharine, Elizabeth married William Smith and Nicholas mentioned. Nicholas Frost died childless. He was an uneducated farmer but was a trustworthy and esteemed man from the fact he held responsible offices, Selectman, Constable, etc. Charles Frost became a distinguished man in civil and military life. He was killed by Indians on return from church July 4, 1697 at Eliot, Maine. He married, age 44, Mary, daughter of Joseph Bolles of Wells, Maine. Had three sons and six daughters.

Ffrost.

The site of the old garrison can still be seen quite a little distance down the hill from the burying ground. Crossing the highway we go down into the middle of the field, where the land slopes abruptly to the marsh. On this spot, under the old garrison house, which was razed to the ground in 1760, after standing 130 years. The old cellar was then used as a dumping ground for all loose materials about the field. A great many years later this field was plowed, and much to the surprise of all, there came up a beautiful crop of tobacco all around the edge of the old cellar later a spoon was found a gold ring..... a bottle with Sir William Pepperell's name blown into the side. The old garrison house was vacated in 1736, when the Frost family, then in it, moved into a new house near the burying ground. That house too has disappeared but the little brook by "the Nicholas Ross home" still runs on its way to the marshes as it did on that sad Sunday evening, July 4th, 1697.

GILMAN

- 1 Edward and Rose (Rysse) Gilman
- 2 Edward and Mary (Clarke) Gilman came from Hingham, England. They sailed on the 26th of April, 1638, on the Ship Diligent of Ipswich, Eng. in company with his daughter Mary and son-in-law John Folsom and his three sons, Edward who married Elizabeth Spaeth, John and Moses, and his two daughters, Sarah who married John Leavitt, and Lydia who married Daniel Cushing in 1645. They landed in Boston and went right to Hingham, Mass. Edward Gilman acquired a grant of land at Rehoboth near the Providence line in 1641. In 1647 his name is recorded in Ipswich. Soon he went to Exeter, N. H. where his sons were in business. He died before Oct. 2, 1655, when administration of his estate was granted to his widow Mary.

HOWELL

Note: The following information was received from Ethel P. Hall,
Librarian Maine Historical Society, Portland, Maine. ^{12, II, 198}₂₉

"* * * one of our expert genealogists says that Morgan Howell was a childless man. Went more or less to the Bolles home (who were gentlefolks) and left Mary his property. He does not call her daughter or her children grandchildren in will, which is pretty strong proof. Authorities differ but this is what I am told. * * * * Mary really was not a Howell according to what light we have."

LORD

1 Robert Lord married Catharine

2 Robert Lord, born in England 1603, died Aug. 21, 1683 in his 80th year. Buried in old High Street burying ground, Ipswich. Son of Widow Catharine Lord of Sudbury, England who was of Ipswich 1637. Freeman in 1636. Deputy to Gen. Court 1638. Appointed Searcher of Coin for this town 1654. Town Clerk and Clerk of Court. The latter office included duties now performed by Clerk of Probate and Register of Deeds. He was First Clerk of Norfolk Court which held from Mar. 1648 to Apr. 1649. He married Mary Waite, born in England in 1630. Mary Waite, Robert's wife, was daughter of Samuel and Mary (Ward) Waite of Wethersfield in Essex. She survived Robert.

Children

- I. Thomas, born 1633. Lived in Charlestown

LORD

Robert Lord's estate was valued at 645 pounds. Mr. Lord was a useful and upright man. The Lords came from Sudbury, in the Parish of St. Gregory, Suffolk, England. Will of John Lord, cousin of Robert, in Reg. 50, p. 111-2 dated and proved July 1655. Katharine (Catharine) mother of Robert received a grant of land in Ipswich in 1641 within a few months after conveying to John Lord of Sudbury, Eng. her interest in the Messuage, etc. in the Parish of St. Gregory referred to in John's will. "At Finching field when I went down to Essex in 1891 I found this entry in the register." 1630 Nov. 11, Robert Lord, Mary Waite. Found no baptisms of this couple. Probably took his wife to Sudbury, England. Finchington Registers apparently began in 1617. Signed Henry F. Waters.

MILLER

1 Rev. John Miller was early of Roxbury and by some writers thought to be of Dorchester also came to New England in 1634 with wife Lydia and son John. He was bred at Gonville and Cane's College, Cambridge where he took his A.B. in 1627 and in the Maqualia is included by Mather in his "first Classes". While in Roxbury he was an elder of Eliot's Church. From 1639-1641 he was an "assistant" to the Rev. Ezekiel Rogers of Rowley, where he also filled the office of town clerk. In later years he received and declined an offer to go to the Woburn Church, and in 1642, on account of his health, declined a mission to Virginia on which it was proposed to associate with him the Rev. George Phillips of Watertown and Rev. William Thompson of Braintree. The same year he was a grantee of Newbury. Johnson in his "Wonder Working Providence" says that he remained in Rowley until called to Yarmouth, Cape Cod, Mass., 1641, whither he went in 1646 as the successor to the famous Marmaduke Matthews; after the death of his wife which occurred in Boston Aug. 7, 1658 (Boston Records Lydia wife of Mr. John Miller, Minister of Yarmouth, died at the house of Thomas Bumstead of Boston Aug. 7, 1658) he seems to have preached "where any temporary want existed" until about the time of the settlement of Groton where he went with the first settlers for a vote Mar. 18, 1662-3 requested the Rev. John Miller "to continue with them". His ministry at Groton was short; he died at Groton June 12, 1663. He is said to have been a man of high literary attainments. Mr. Miller had several children born at different places.

1 John Miller, Roxbury, Yarmouth, Rowley, Groton, Mass. He was first town clerk of Rowley, Mass.

PEPPERELL

Essex Inst. Vol. 21, p. 161, By Luther Dame, has a most interesting account of the life and character of Sir William Pepperell and of Col. William, his father, and his beginning in this country. Started as a fisherman and letting boats. Amassed a large fortune and was a respected and influential man.

Essex Inst. Vol. 37, p. 265 has a most interesting account of Col. William Pepperell, his wife Margery, her father, and of their children. They were educated in an excellent manner, which included a faithful religious training.

William Pepperell, the founder of the family, came from England in 1676. He was born in 1646 in Tavistock, a town of Devonshire in England. He came of ancient lineage and gave early evidence of marked abilities which made him a conspicuous and honored man in the provinces later. Frequent trips from the old world to the new made him see the advantages in a business point of view in the new world. He came on certain fishing expeditions to the banks of Newfoundland and while employed in these he decided to abandon the sea and with a Mr. Gibbons went into business of curing fish at the Isles of Shoals. In 1660 he removed to Kittery in the Province of Maine. Here in 1660 Mr. John Bray and his family had settled. They came from Plymouth, England where his family could be traced back many generations and held many valuable estates, while adding possessions in the new world. He had several children. His daughter Margery married Col. William Pepperell in the parlor in the Bray Homestead now (1901) over 240 years old. Close at hand Mr. Bray gave them a house lot and took his son-in-law in partnership. They were the foremost shipwrights and merchants of the day. Their wharves and warehouses were known in the old world as well as the new. More than a hundred vessels went to the Grand Banks and others to the colonies of the West Indies and European ports. It has been said of Margery Bray (Prof. I. F. Frisbee's "The Hero of our Heroic Age, a sketch of Col. Wm. Pepperell"), she exemplified at once the Greek and Christian ideal of beauty, etc. A fort as early as 1700 was erected and called by Pepperell's name. He held office of Justice of the Peace 1690-1725. 1715 he was appointed Judge of the Court of Common Pleas. They had two sons and six daughters. The Pepperells helped all they could in public worship and were pillars of the Church where Rev. John Newmarch (my ancestor on the Cushing side) was sole pastor until 1751 and died in 1754. Col. William Pepperell took his eldest son Andrew in partnership and after his death he took his son William. They dealt in lumber, fish, provisions and naval stores. They were the largest merchants in New England. Their money and estates expanded. They could ride from Kittery to Portland, Maine on their own estates owning many other valuable properties; the greater part of the towns of Kittery, Saco, and Scarborough, Maine. Col. William Pepperell passed away Jan. 15, 1734. What the children inherited is most interesting. Madam Pepperell died 1741. An extract of her death in the "Boston Post Boy".

The large hall of Sir William Pepperell's mansion on the Maine side of the Piscataqua is recorded to have been lined in his lifetime with upward of 50 portraits of members of the Pepperell and Sparhawk families, several of which were later rescued from disintegration or destruction by the old-time antiquary, the Rev. Dr. Burroughs of Portsmouth, and by him preserved on the walls of the Portsmouth Athenaeum, where they may now be seen.

PEPPERELL

In the N. Y. Times May 1923, there is an article about two portraits of Andrew and Jane (Eliot) Pepperell. Just found he is brother of the two sisters I descend from - Mary Pepperell Frost and Margery Whittemore.

Children

- I. Andrew, born 1681, married Jane, daughter of Robert and Sarah Elliott. She married 2nd, Charles Frost, son of Major Charles and Mary (Bolles) Frost.
- 2 II. Mary, born Sept. 5, 1685, married 1st Sept. 4, 1702, Hon. John Frost. (See Frost). He was the 2nd son of Maj. Charles and Mary (Bolles) Frost, of New Castle, N.H. (See Frost.) She was the mother of 17 children. Her husband was a conspicuous figure of the period. He commanded an English ship of war, held prominent political positions and at the time of his death, Feb. 25, 1732, was a Member of the Governor's Council. Mary (Pepperell) Frost married 2nd, Rev. Benjamin Coleman, D.D. of Boston, Aug. 12, 1745, being his 3d wife. He died 1747. Married 3d, Sept. 3, 1751, Rev. Benjamin Prescott of Danvers, Mass., where she died April 18, 1766, age 81.
- 2 III. Margery, born Sept. 15, 1689, married 1st, Nov. 14, 1706, Capt. Pelatiah Whittemore. (See Whittemore.) He was lost at sea in a shipwreck near the Isles of Shoals after they had been married ten or twelve years. She married 2nd, July 4, 1730, Judge Elihu Gunnison. All children were by the 1st marriage. It is thought from the examination of her records that only one of her four children lived to marry. Her daughter Mary (Mrs. March) is mentioned in her grandfather's. (Col. Wm. Pepperell) will with her brothers', in 1733, but not mentioned in her grandmother's will 6 years later. Mrs. Margery Pepperell Whittmore Gunnison is named in her mother's will in 1739 but not in that of her brother (Sir William) 20 years later. This is the nearest we can determine the time of her death from all available records.

IV. Joanna, born 1692, married Dr. George Jackson

V. Miriam, born 1694, married Andrew Tyler of Boston, son of Capt. Thomas.

VI. William, born June 27, 1696 (Sir. Wm. Bart.), married Mar. 16, 1723, Mary Hirst, daughter of Grove and Elizabeth (Sewall) Hirst of Boston. He was made a Baronet after the siege of Louisburg; an eminent and worthy man. He was the greatest merchant of New England and by popularity obtained command of the expedition against Louisburg, Nova Scotia; was made Baronet for his services and was the latter part of his life the most prominent man in the Province.

VII. Dorothy, born 1698, married 1st, Andrew Watkins; 2nd, Hon. Joseph Newmarch

* VIII. Jane, born 1701, married 1st, Benjamin Clark of Kingston, N.H.

Col. William Pepperell's 8 children had - each son a wife, the 6 daughters had 12 husbands between them and 40 children.

* Jane, born 1701, married 2nd in 1729, Wm. Tyler, brother of Andrew the husband of her sister Miriam. She had two children by Clark. Married 3d, in 1760, Rev. Ebenezer Turell of Medford, Mass.

Genealogical Gleanings, England. Will William Pepperell of St. Stephens by Launceston in City of Cornwall June 1655, proved by Jane Pepperell his widow and William Pepperell his son, etc. The Testator may be grandfather of Sir William Pepperell. William Pepperell his father, born about 1646, died Feb. 15, 1733-4 in 87th year. Usher Parsons, in biography of Sir William, states father born in Tavistock. 10 years later Reg. XX, he calls him native of Wales. The Wentworth Genealogy (ed. 1878, p. 307) calls him native of Cornwall. He had three sisters, one married a Phillips, the 2nd married a Gilbert and the 3d, Grace, was unmarried. Tradition says he spoke broad Welsh. Col. Wm. Pepperell, a wealthy merchant, died Feb. 15, 1734. He was a magistrate. (Reg. 38).

Boston Transcript, Aug. 15, 1927. By the way, in the rooms of the New England Historic-Genealogical Society is an interesting collection of Pepperrell papers, including commercial documents from the old Pepperrell counting rooms, personal letters and the like. The accounts of the firm were kept in a good clerical hand, columns carefully ruled and the figures as meticulously fashioned as any in the present era, while the ink, manufactured to last for centuries, has faded but little, and the penmanship is as legible as on the day it was written. It will be in prime condition long after the paper on which this statement regarding it has been blown away as dust on the wind.

PICKETT

1 July 1925

The Genealogical Department,

The Boston Transcript, Boston, Mass.

I am interested in the query of C.M.F. No. 2980 recently published in your department, in so far as it relates to the PICKETT family. I cannot supply the information asked for, but perhaps C. M. F. would be willing to add to the following information, which is all that I have found in my family records collected by my father some fifty years ago, few references are given. I have made a very brief search, the results of which I have added.

There are a number of early Pickets mentioned in "The Tremain Family" Vol. I, p. 306, as of New London, among them John Picket who married Ruth Brewster, 14 Mar. 1651. He is said to have died at sea returning from the Barbadoes in 1667.

John Picket was sworn freeman at Salem 27:12:1649, and was a witness at Salem 30:4:1652, and I find in the Boston records that John son of John and Elizabeth Picket dyed 14:6:(16)57. I have not been able to connect these with the following.

1 Nicholas Picket, of Marblehead, a fisherman, born 1648 in England, signed a petition in 1668. Deposed on 25 Apr. 1692 his age as 43 years. Took oath of fidelity Dec. 12, 1677. "Nicholas Picket and wife Demores (Dorothy) of Marblehead July 1675". Will dated Nov. 8, 1688. John Northey was head of a family in Marblehead in 1648, his will proved 1691, in it he mentions his grand children John and Dorothy Picket.

PICKETT

Children of Nicholas and Damores (Northey) Picket

- I. Henry, married Mary ? No children. Died about 1701
- II. Nicholas, born about 1678, married Oct. 28, 1703 Jane Bubier.
He was a fisherman and had seven children. Died 1725
- 2 III. John, born about 1680
- IV. Dorothy, born 1682, married Thomas Stephens Dec. 5, 1704

2 John Picket of Marblehead, a shoreman and fisherman, born about 1680, died 1763. Married 1st, Elizabeth (born Mar. 1, 1689), daughter of John and Grace (?) Kelley, Jan. 17, 1703-4. She was baptized Apr. 15, 1688; She died 1720. He married 2nd, Oct. 31, 1721, Elizabeth Scivery who died before him.

Children of John and Elizabeth (Kelley) Picket

PICKETT

3 Joseph Picket of Marblehead, bapt. Oct. 10, 1714; died Apr. 15, 1775.
 Married 1st, Mary Horton Sept. 30, 1736. (Unitarian Church Records, also Marblehead Record, Vol. 2, p. 332.) Married 2nd, 1753, Bethia Bartlett, daughter of William and Mary (Andrew) Bartlett and widow of George Jackson.
 She died before 1783.

Children of Joseph and Mary (Horton) Picket

- I. John, bapt. May 29, 1737
- II. Hannah, bapt. Dec. 24, 1738, married Jos^d Herrick, Lyndeboro, N.H.
- III. Joseph, bapt. June 8, 1740, died young
- IV. Joseph, bapt. Oct. 11, 1741, died young
- V. Elizabeth, bapt. Nov. 15, 1741. Wtin to Joseph. Died young
- VI. Nicholas, bapt. May 8, 1743, married Mary Lee, one child.

Died 1771-2

- VII. Mary, bapt. Feb. 3, 1745, married Jno. Savage, Lyndeboro, N.H.
 Married 2nd, Capt. Russell. (I have no record that states that Mary married any one except Capt. Russell).
- VIII. Richard Norton, bapt. Feb. 8, 1747, married widow Tabitha (Batchel) Curtis, lived in London.

Children of Joseph and Bethia (Bartlett (Jackson) Picket

 Married 2nd, Nov. 12, 1789, widow Rebecca (Pettyplace) Hooper.
 2 children. Married 3d, May 21, 1805, widow Bridget (Ridgeway) Whitnor, no children.
- X. Elizabeth, born July 16, 1801, died 1851.

PICKETT

I am descended from William and Dorothy (Skinner) Pickett and have further information on that line, but I understand that C. M. F. is not interested therein. Very truly yours, Richard K. Hale.
559 Chestnut Hill Ave., Brookline, Mass.

All children in Marblehead Vital Records.

The above records copied from a paper by Perley Derby 1876. His papers are in a Salem Library.

The Vital Records Department, Concord State House, wrote to me that there is no marriage record of Mary Pickett and Jno. Savage. All Lyndeboro's records are at Concord.

Mr. Hale has William Pickett's (born July 2, 1754) Bible. On a slip of paper dated 1817 in the Bible is written "My honored father Mr. Joseph Pickett died in Marblehead, Apr. 14, 1775, and was buried on Sunday evening before the battle of Lexington."

In a Bible I have, which Mary (Pickett) Russell (sister of above William Pickett) gave to her daughter Hannah (Russell) Williams (See Williams) on her wedding day is the entry under the death column "Grandfather, Joseph Pickett, Apr. 15, 1775, aged 60 years."

RANDALL

The summer of 1925 my cousin Cushing Toppan was in England. I paid his expenses to Weymouth to hunt up the parents of my great grandfather, Capt. William Williams (born in Weymouth, Eng.) of Newburyport, Mass. My father had written on a slip of paper that Capt. William Williams's father's name was Richard Williams (See Williams) of Weymouth, England. I found in "The Gravestone Records of the Highland Cemetery", Newburyport, Mass., the following: "Mrs. Mary Williams was born Nov. 22, 1736 in Weymouth, Eng. and died August 2, 1810, age 73 years." C.R.1 First Religious Society Unitarian. A copy of these records I gave to Cushing Toppan. He went to the Postmaster, Mr. T. H. Rogers, 30 Culliford Road, Dorchester, Dorset, Eng., and he told Cushing to see the Vicar of Fordington. The following records the Vicar gave to T. H. Rogers, and he sent them to me the winter of 1926.

The Family of Randall

The Randalls of Dorset were an enterprising race who rose to considerable distinction in trade by land and by sea; the Randalls of Cerne Abbas intermarried with the Washingtons - cousins of the Great President of U. S. A. - and the Church of Cerne Abbas has many tombs to these Randalls with their coat of arms carved thereon. Thomas Washington, Gentleman, was married at Cerne Abbas Dorset, to Mary Randall, Jan. 4, 1676 and had several children of whom Mary married Peter Jolliffe of Poole, son of the famous Peter Jolliffe who captured a French pirate and was rewarded with a gold medal by King William III. which medal was sold by Messrs. Glendenning in London in April 1926 for 208 pounds. The exact relationship of Thomas Washington to the famous George Washington has not been decided, but he was a near kinsman.

RANDALL

Confining our attention only to the Randalls of Weymouth we begin there with Hugh Randall who flourished at Weymouth in the reign of Queen Elizabeth and died in 1591. His will is in London at Somerset House (PCC 30, Sainberbe). Unfortunately all the Early Weymouth registers are lost so that it is only possible from wills and other casual documents to trace the family. However in 1640 "William Randall" signed the protestation roll and was therefore over the age of 21. He dwelt in Melcombe Regis just over the river at Weymouth. A generation later Thomas Randall of Weymouth made his will dated 1680. (Blandford Probate Court).

Coming to Mary Randall the wife of Captain Richard Williams. She must have been daughter to William Randall who was married at Chickerell (adjoining Weymouth) May 7, 1741 to Elizabeth Boyte, and James Randall of Weymouth who married Sarah Thomas of Melcombe Regis 1754 was her brother. She was under age Aug. 5, 1757 when she married Richard Williams.

Report on Weymouth Registers

There are none before 1800. Marriages took place at Wyke Regis and are registered there. Baptisms took place in Weymouth old Chapel and are lost. All burials were at Wyke. The following is the marriage of Richard Williams. The Vicar was on holiday and so no certificate was obtainable though it was paid for and will come later.

"Richard Williams of the Parish of Weymouth, Dorset, Mariner, under age and Mary Randall under age were married in this Church by licence this fifth day of August 1757, by me Michael Fesling, Rector.

Witnesses. Elizabeth Templeman

William Bussell

RANDALL

Both Richard Williams and Mary Randall sign the register in excellent handwriting. (See Williams).

It would seem probable the Mrs. Mary Williams born Nov. 22, 1736 in Weymouth, Eng., buried in Newburyport, was Capt. Richard Williams' wife, and came after his death to Newburyport with her son Capt. Wm. Williams. She would have been under age August 5, 1757 which would be all right for the marriage record. But she could not have been William and Elizabeth (Boyte) Williams' daughter for they were not married until 1741. If the Mary Randall who was daughter of William and Elizabeth (Boyte) Randall married Richard Williams, then who is this Mrs. Mary Williams?

RUSSELL

The following account of Louis Rouisillon or Louis Russell has been handed down in the line of his son William, in our family, and those of Albert Hale's, Charles Rantoul's, Florence Osgood's, and Harriet Perkins', through the line of his son John, in Charles Rogerson's and Georgiana Balch's. Georgiana Balch has in her notes, "Lewis Russell came from France in the year 1695. Died about 1784, aged 89 years. Another place is written, Lewis Russell was born in France in 1700."

Louis Rouisillon or Louis Russell came from France when quite a boy. His father took passage on a vessel bound to Boston for himself, his wife and his son and nurse, during one of the revolutions of the Country. After conveying his family on board the vessel, he determined to return once more to his villa, hoping to secure some important papers concealed there. His wife fearing for his life declared if he must go, she also would go with him. They left intending to return in a few hours but they never came. After waiting some time, against the protestations of the boy's nurse and his countrymen (many of whom had likewise taken passage in the vessel) the Captain sailed. The boy was at once adopted and cared for from that time by each and every Frenchman on board as though he belonged to them individually. The nurse died on the passage. The vessel landed in Boston. Young Lewis came, with some of the other refugees, to Marblehead where he married after some years and settled.

When LaFayette visited this country in 1825 he said he was convinced Louis Rouisillon belonged to an ancient family of Paris, France, of much wealth and advised the family to investigate the truth of the case, as he well knew the Rouisillons of Paris, and believed they would be well satisfied with the result. This was said after examining some books and papers left the young man, which he had always by the advice of his countrymen carefully preserved, but which after that event mysteriously disappeared.

A note from the Gen. Dept. Boston Transcript says he landed in Marblehead about 1717. Harriet Perkins's records give Capt. Savage as Captain of the ship which brought Lewis Russell to America.

The descendants of Lewis Russell I have mentioned have in their Bibles and genealogical notes he married Tabitha Girdler of Marblehead. No date given. In a Bible I have, which Mary (Pickett) Russell, wife of William² (Lewis¹) gave to her daughter Hannah (Russell) Williams on her wedding day is the entry under births:

"Grandparents" Lewis Russell b. May 29, 1700
Mary Russell b. July 26, 1709

In death column:

Grandparents Mary Russell, 10 May 1775 aged 66 yrs. 9 months and ten days
 Lewis Russell, 29 June 1793 aged 93 yrs. and 22 days.

In Vol. II, p. 374 of the Marblehead Vital Records is the marriage record of Lewis Russell and Mary Savage, 24 Dec. 1727. There is no record of Lewis Russell marrying Tabitha Girdler. It seems from above to prove he married Mary Savage. (See beyond for article on Savage and Rouissilon from Gen. Dept. Boston Transcript of April 26 and May 10, 1920).

I replied to the Transcript article above referred to and received this letter:

My dear Mrs. Fuess:

I am pleased to receive the names and dates of birth of the children of Lewis Russell and Mary Savage.

RUSSELL

I shall be delighted if we can find proof that Mary Savage was a sister of my ancestor Capt. John Savage (1706-1792) of Rutland and Pelham, Mass. and Salem, N.Y. who married his step-sister Eleanor Daughter John (1) Hamilton of Rutland, Mass.

I am planning to have printed next year the data &c. I have collected of the children, grand children and great grandchildren of John (1) Hamilton and his second wife (Mrs. Savage) under the title of "John Hamilton of Rutland, Mass., and Some of His Descendants."

My record is only of the four daughters of John Hamilton and the three sons of his second wife and their children and grandchildren, giving all the known dates of births, marriages and deaths with the names of their children.

The Christian names of the parents of your ancestress Mary (Savage) Russell, (if she was the sister of Capt. John Savage) are not known with certainty but are supposed to have been Edward Savage and Mary daughter of Captain Hamilton.

According to the tradition of the Savage family of Salem, N. Y. her grandfather Captain Hamilton was an officer in the English army. In crossing the river at the battle of the Boyne in 1690, Captain Hamilton rode (the third man) from the king and is supposed to have been an A.D.C. of King William.

Mrs. Savage-Hamilton had by her first marriage three sons: Edward born about 1704 and John and Abraham (twins) born in 1706. My ancestor Capt. John was ten years of age when his step-father and family came to America, about 1716.

RUSSELL

I know of no one interested in this family and it is probable that I have collected more material about them than any person living but I am nearly a thousand miles from my home and Hamilton papers and can give you but little assistance until after my return to Yuma, Colorado, about June 15th.

As near as I can judge from the ages, it is probable the Mr. Russell of Salem, N.Y. was a grandson of Mary Savage. Have you proof that Mary Savage was a daughter of Mrs. Savage-Hamilton? *

* * * * *

If Mary Savage was a sister of my ancestor Capt. John Savage, she was born in the north of Ireland - probably in County Londonderry - and came to America in 1716, with her step father John Hamilton and family. Mrs. Savage, the second wife of my ancestor John Hamilton of Rutland, Mass., was a widow with three sons when she married John Hamilton some time between the birth of my ancestress Eleanor Hamilton in 1714, and their coming to America. The Savage records I have only mention the three sons but there may have been other children of whom I have no knowledge. I only have record of four daughters of John Hamilton, but think he may have had several sons. Two of John Hamilton's daughters married two of his second wife's sons. Mary Hamilton married Edward Savage and Eleanor Hamilton married Capt. John Savage. The father of Capt. John Savage is supposed to have been driven out of France and married a daughter of Captain Hamilton, an officer in the English army.

Very Cordially, (Miss) Jennie M. Patten.

* * * * *

* I have a good record of my Savage line from the Hamilton-Savage down several generations but no proof that Mary Savage was a sister of Capt. John Savage.

*8049. 1. Savage, Rouissillon, Lewis. C.M.F., April 5, 1920. A correspondent of the Transcript claimed that Mary Savage was the daughter of the second wife of John (1) Hamilton of Rutland, Mass., by her first husband (probably) Edward Savage.

The record of his family by Hon. Edward Savage (1745-1833) of Salem, N.Y., only mentions her three sons: Edward, Abraham and John. Edward and John married daughters of their step-father John (1) Hamilton.

The record mentioned states that the sisters of the wife of Captain John Savage (1706-1792) were: Mary, wife of Edward Savage; Elizabeth Sloan; and Martha McAllister.

Elizabeth Hamilton, born in 1694, died in Lyme, N.H., in 1787, married in Boston, Mass., Feb. 13, 1723, William Sloan of Palmer, Mass., and Lyme, N.H. Mary Hamilton, born in 1707, died in Rutland, Mass., Feb. 10, 1767, married in Westboro, Mass., Nov. 24, 1726, Edward Savage of Rutland, Mass. Martha Hamilton, born probably in County Londonderry, Ire., died in Salem County, New Jersey, married in Rutland, Mass., March 26, 1734, Archibald McCollister (McAllister). Eleanor Hamilton, born in 1714, died in Salem, N.Y., March 7, 1783, married in Rutland, Mass., Jan. 15, 1733, Captain John Savage (1706-1792) of Rutland and Pelham, Mass., and Salem, N.Y.

Will C.M.F. kindly give the names of the children of Lewis Russell and Mary Savage? Did one of their sons settle in Salem, N.Y.?

The Savage and Russell families of Salem, N. Y., were very intimate but the writer has no record of their relationship.

RUSSELL

A granddaughter of John (1) Hamilton stated that the family lived in "Derry", Ireland. Derry was the early name of Londonderry, Ireland. Captain John Savage was ten years of age when he came with his mother and step-father to America in 1716.

It is probable that they came with James (1) Hamilton and Hugh (1) Hamilton and their families. J.M.P.Y.

*8049. 1. Savage, Rouissillon, Lewis. C.M.F., April 5, 1920. Louis Rouissillon or Russell married Dec. 26, 1727, Mary Savage in Marblehead. Children: John, born 1728; Lewis, born 1731; Elizabeth, born 1734; Elinor, born 1738; Hannah, born 1741; William, born 1744; a son; Tabitha, born 1750. I know nothing more of her.

Edmund Lewis married a daughter of John (2) (Louis 1), Oct. 19, 1769. Tabitha was born July 5, 1752. Edmund Lewis was born 1750. They died in Danvers. I do not think any of them went to New York. A.A.L.

In my Bible, (see copy beyond) right under "Grandparents" Lewis Russell and Mary Russell births, she writes their children's names.

Georgiana Balch's Bible has "John's marriage and his father's, Lewis Russell's, marriage were both in Marblehead."

John Russell was again married. He died before his last wife (no name given). Perhaps this second wife was Tabitha Girdler. His children were Lewis, John, William, Samuel, Mary and Tabitha (who was mother of thirteen children).

Tribute to Departed Virtue.

Died, at Newburyport, on Monday last, Capt. William Russell, in the 74th year of his age. He was born in Marblehead, and removed, many years since, to Newburyport. He was a man of great size and strength, hardy, rough, decided and bold; all the traits of language, feeling and manners of his birthplace seemed concentrated and were exemplified in him. His strong good sense and inborn magnanimity were early displayed in his profession as a sea-faring man. In the revolutionary war, he distinguished himself for discretion, coolness, bravery and humanity, as first officer of an armed vessel from Marblehead. Called the Gen'l Ward.

No man that ever lived, could more safely say, I never flattered power nor bowed to wealth, than William Russell. His independence was native and unconquerable; he spoke as he thought, and acted as he felt.

He would not flatter Neptune for his trident,
Or Jove his power to thunder. His heart's his mouth;
What his breast forges that his tongue must vent.

Through the course of his busy, active life, his honesty, honour, and courage were never for a moment obscured. No man ever had a more thorough contempt for hypocrisy, fraud, canting, and hard-heartedness, and he spoke his contempt in language too direct to be misunderstood. The blaze of his honest indignation withered and scorched the pitiful, niggardly, and mean in spirit. Though he was unyielding to rank and fortune, and rough even to those he loved, for it was his nature and his habits, yet there was a class to whom he was kind and tender as a ministering angel. They were those on whom fortune had frowned and the world had neglected; to them his manners, yea the very tones of his voice lost all their harshness; and he relieved their wants with delicacy, and soothed their sorrows with sweetness and sympathy. His strength, courage, and hardihood, place him in the ranks with Wallace and Bruce, and his active philanthropy on the page with Howard and with Penn.

Soon after the great conflagration in Newburyport, when all was distress and confusion, and the good people of the neighbouring country were sending in articles of food and raiment for the immediate relief of the sufferers, a just distribution of these things became no easy task, for some were importunate who lost but little, and others were reluctant to apply for assistance who had nothing left. At this important moment, Russell was appointed by the town sole almoner of the donations, and the duty was discharged to the satisfaction of all. He performed this arduous task more easily as well as more justly than others could have done, for charity, with him, was a service as well as a sentiment.

Peace to thy ashes, generous Russell! If thy debts are forgiven as thou hast forgiven thy debtors, thou art now enjoying the fruits of thy labours. When thy Saviour was an hungered thou hast given him food; when he was thirsty, thou hast given him drink; when in prison, thou hast visited him; for inasmuch as thou hast fed the hungry, clothed the naked, and healed the broken-hearted, he has said "thou hast done it unto me." O Charity! thou art not only here on earth twice blessed -- blessed in him who gives and in him who receives -- but hast the future, the imperishable, the Redeemer's blessing on thee. When the pleasures of wealth are gone; when the visions of glory have faded; when the marble has mouldered and the column fallen; when human records are defaced and letters themselves forgotten, the deeds of heavenly charity shall live in the remembrance of Eternal Justice, and brighten through the ages of immortality. That treasure which moth and rust cannot corrupt, nor thieves break through and steal, is but too seldom "garnered up." Boundless wealth and countless honours never charmed the dull, cold ear of death, nor killed the worm, nor arrested putrefaction; but those deeds which wipe the tear from misery's eye and soothe the pang in the breast of wretchedness take from death his sting, and from the grave its victory.

SAVAGE

*8049. 1. Savage, Roussillon, Lewis. C.M.F., April 5, 1920. A correspondent of the Transcript claimed that Mary Savage was the daughter of the second wife of John (1) Hamilton of Rutland, Mass., by her first husband (probably) Edward Savage. (Transcript Apr. 26, 1920).

The record of his family by Hon. Edward Savage (1745-1833) of Salem, N.Y. only mentions her three sons: Edward, Abraham and John. Edward and John married daughters of their stepfather John (1) Hamilton.

The record mentioned states that the sisters of the wife of Captain John Savage (1706-1792) were: Mary, wife of Edward Savage; Elizabeth Sloan; and Martha McAllister.

Elizabeth Hamilton, born in 1694, died in Lyme, N.H., in 1787, married in Boston, Mass., Feb. 13, 1723, William Sloan of Palmer, Mass., and Lyme, N.H. Mary Hamilton, born in 1707, died in Rutland, Mass., Feb. 10, 1767, married in Westboro, Mass., Nov. 24, 1726, Edward Savage of Rutland, Mass. Will C. M. F. Kindly give the names of the children of Lewis Russell and Mary Savage? Did one of their sons settle in Salem, N.Y.?

The Savage and Russell families of Salem, N. Y. were very intimate but the writer has no record of their relationship.

A granddaughter of John (1) Hamilton stated that the family lived in "Derry", Ireland. Derry was the early name for Londonderry, Ireland. Captain John Savage was ten years of age when he came with his mother and step-father to America in 1716.

It is probable that they came with James (1) Hamilton and Hugh (1) Hamilton and their families. J.M.P.Y.

SHAW

1 Roger Shaw was in Cambridge, Mass., 1636. Freeman, 1638. Came to Hampton, 1647. Large landholder and influential man in town affairs. He was born in England. Married there 1st Anne ----, 2nd, Susanna, widow of William Tilton of Lynn, Mass. He was selectman in 1649 and 1654. A constable, also in the latter year, a commissioner for small causes in 1651 and he represented the town to the General Court in 1651-2-3. He died May 29, 1661. She died 1655. He is known to have had seven children.

SHERMAN

The name Sherman was borne in many parts of England, more than 600 years ago. It was written in various ways, Shearman, etc. It was of English origin and came from the trade or occupation of wool worker or maker of woolen cloth. The shearer clipped the sheep and the shearman or sherman made the wool into cloth and was known also as a clothier, or woolen manufacturer. The Shermans in Dedham, Essex, many of whom were in the trade are described in wills as clothiers. Dedham also called Delham and Dyham and Byham is a village and parish in the Hundred of Leyden in the northern part of Essex near the River Sour. At the beginning of the 14th century, cloth workers from Bruges settled in Dedham. The family under consideration is the early one of Yaxley in Suffolk, and later of Dedham. Yaxley is a small village and parish in the Hundred of Hartesmere in the northern part of Suffolk. (There are long and interesting accounts of the families, wills, etc.)

1 Edmund, of Dedham, Essex, Clothier, born about 1548, married 1st Anne Pellatte at Dedham, Apr. 25, 1570 (Reg. 50, p. 414) She was buried at Dedham, June 8, 1584 (Id. p. 417); married 2nd, Dedham, Sept. 11, 1584, Ann Clere (Id. p. 414), daughter of Nicholas Clere of Colchester, Essex, Clothier, Alderman, and elected M. P. Mar. 23, 1576 and again in 1578 (Essex Review 4, p. 240). Edmund Sherman was buried at Dedham Dec. 22, 1600 (Reg. 50, p. 417). His will dated Aug. 1, 1599, proved Apr. 30, 1601, (P.C.C. Woodhall 24).

SLEEPER

1 Thomas Sleeper, born about 1616, was at Hampton soon after the settlement of the town. Land granted him by 1646. He lived many years near the Jesse Lamprey place, but later on at Shaw's Hill on the road leading from the schoolhouse in the easterly part of the town to Little River. His place was a frontier house. From him and his descendants that part of the town was called Sleeper-town, since corrupted into Sleepytown. He died July 30, 1696 and his family afterwards removed to the newly incorporated town of Kingston, N. H. where his wife Joanna died Feb. 5, 1703. She was brought to Hampton for burial.

WAITE

1 Samuel Waite of Wethersfield, County Essex, Eng. was the progenitor of the Waites of Malden, Mass. and probably those of Ipswich. The Chandler MSS. and recently discovered Reddington letter enable us to form an apparently complete list of his family. He married Mary Ward (See Ward). She appears in Chandler's pedigree of Ward, in the Bodleian Library, to have been daughter of Ward of Rivenhall, County Essex, but earlier MS. of Chandler, in the British Museum, as I am informed by Mr. Dean, shows that this may not have been intended. Other circumstances render it possible, perhaps probable, that she was daughter of Rev. John Ward of Haverhill, County Suffolk, and Susanna his wife. If so, she was sister to the celebrated Nathaniel Ward of Ipswich, New England.

Children

- 1 I. Mary, born in England; married about 1630 in England Robert Lord (See Lord), afterwards clerk of the courts and register of deeds in the County Essex, New England, who died at Ipswich Aug. 21, 1683, age 79.
- II. Samuel, married Helen Cross
- III. John, born about 1618, married 1st Mary, daughter of Joseph and Rose Hills in England; 2nd, Sarah, widow of Jacob Parker of Chelmsford, Mass.
- IV. Joseph, married Margaret, daughter of Matthew Lawrence. Joseph lived in Ipswich
- V. Ann
- VI. Thomas
- VII. Susan, married Reddington

WAITE

VIII. Abigail

IX. Sarah

One of these daughters married Thomas Whiting, probably.

Mary Ward daughter of Rev. John Ward of Haverhill, Mass. (From Memoir of Rev. Nathaniel Ward, by John Ward Dean).

Letter of Mrs. Susan (Waite) Reddington concerning the estate of her brother, Rev. Joseph Waite of Sproughton, Eng. We are indebted to H. F. Waters of Salem for the following letter from Essex County Court Papers, Liber. 27, folio 143. Its recipient Robert Lord of Ipswich, Mass. was clerk of the courts of that city. Robert Lord, according to the late Rev. Dr. Felt, married Mary Waite (History of Ipswich, p. 67) and died April 21, 1683. Chandler's pedigree of Ward informs us that Mary eldest child of Samuel and Mary (Ward) Waite of Wethersfield, Co. Essex, Eng., married Robert Lord (Dean's Memoir of Nathaniel Ward, p. 129). Susan Reddington, writer of the letter was the Susan Waite of the Chandler pedigree. The will referred to was that of the Rev. Joseph Waite, rector of Sproughton, in Suffolk, a brother of the writer. The letter speaks of different members of the family and is from Susan (Waite) Reddington to her brother-in-law Robert Lord.

WATSON

Margery Watson of Kent, Eng., married William Goodhue (See Goodhue) just before they emigrated to America in 1635-6. She died at Ipswich, Mass., August 28, 1668. She was the mother of all his children. They were all born in Ipswich.

In Hammett's Papers #1, The Early Inhabitants of Ipswich, Mass, 1633-1700, p. 119, there is a reference to William Goodhue receiving from his father-in-law Watson a house with 6 acres of land, which said Watson purchased from Doct. Giles Firman in London, after Doct. Firman had removed from this country.

WHITTEMORE

The family of Thomas Whittemore settled at Hitchin, County Herts, from about 1560. Name spelt Whitamor, etc., always with three syllables. Nothing is known of the origin of this family, but the will of Thomas shows he had relatives of the name in London. It is probable he was a malster or brewer in London and that his only connection with Hertfordshire was by settling there after his retirement from business.

The following is a verbatim copy from the Parish Register of Hitchin Vicarage, Hitchin, Hertfordshire, England, which was copied and sent me by L. Henley the Incumbent of said Parish (1867).

1 Thomas Whittemore senior, the father of our American ancestor, had brothers William, born 1540 and Rowland who died in 1613 and we have Thomas, son of the foregoing William, married in 1591 (from P. 172).

Thomas, the father (is styled on the Parish Register as Senior) was Church Warden in 1612; was buried Apr. 26, 1617. In his will he left 20 pounds to Trustees to give to the best sort of poor people in Hitchin (from record of Hitchin Charities). Mary his widow buried Dec. 8, 1604.

2 Thomas, son of Thomas (Senior) came from England in 1641 and settled in that part of Charlestown which is now embraced within the limits of the town of Malden, Mass. Thomas married 1st -----; 2nd, Sarah Deardes (Widow) Apr. 14, 1623; 3d, Hannah -----, who married 2nd Benj. Butterfield.

WILLIAMS

The summer of 1925 my cousin Cushing Toppan was in England. I paid his expenses to Weymouth to hunt up the parents of my great grandfather, Capt. William Williams (born in Weymouth, Eng.) of Newburyport, Mass. I gave to him my two clues.

"Mother's (Mary Columbia (Williams) Goodhue) grandfather's name was Richard Williams, lived in Weymouth, England not far from London, was in West India Trade. Capt. of vessel in the Fruit business and when home in summer season led the Orchestra in the Opera at King George III summer resort, near Weymouth. He was considered the best Musician in London on the violin. Richard Williams died in Spain on one of his Fruit Voyages." (Written by Francis Abbot Goodhue, my father).

I found in "The Gravestone Records of the Highland Cemetery", Newburyport, Mass. the following: "Mrs. Mary Williams born Nov. 22, 1736 in Weymouth, Eng. and died August 2, 1810, age 73 years." C.R.1. First Religious Society, Unitarian (See Records First Parish Church).

Cushing on arriving in Weymouth, went to the Postmaster, Mr. T. H. Rogers, 30 Culliford Road, Dorchester, Dorset, Eng. He told Cushing to see the Vicar of Fordington a noted genealogist. The following the Vicar gave to Mr. Rogers, and he sent it to me March, 1926. I sent two guineas to each for their work.

Family of Williams of Weymouth, England.

The family of Williams has resided in or near Dorchester, Dorset, from the year 1474 when John Williams (afterwards high Sheriff of Dorset) had a house in Dorchester. His son John Williams, born 1473, settled at Heringstone between Dorchester and Weymouth and the family has resided there ever since. The present squire of Heringstone Park being Captain Berkeley Williams (born May 4, 1865). Younger members of this family continue in Dorchester where the chief representative of the name was Richard Williams of Dorchester, chandler and merchant, whose wife was Christian, daughter of Thomas Snelgar of Shaftsbury, Gentleman, (see will of Thomas Snelgar, dated April 8, 1634. Proved 1639. P. CC. 90 Harvey).

Pedigree of Williams of Weymouth,County Dorset.

The earliest trace of Williams at Weymouth appears in the year 1640 When the following members of the family signed the Protestation roll of Loyalty to King and Church.

William Williams Senior)
William Williams Junior)	of Weymouth Nicholas Williams and)
Bartholomew Williams)	of Wyke Regis

Wyke Regis is the mother parish and Weymouth was then a chapelry in that parish.

William Williams of the united borough of Weymouth and Melcombe Regis "merchant" made his will December 2nd, 1646. Proved 1657. (P C C. 89 Ruthen). He says: "I desire to be buried in the Churchyard of Wyke Regis. I bequeath my house in High Street, Weymouth and my garden in Nicholas Street to my sonne Nicholas Williams "but if my son doe not come home out of Captivitie they are to pass to my daughter Agnes" My daughter Mary Davies". This shews that his son Nicholas had gone on a voyage and had been captured by the Turks or Algerian Pirates. William Williams was kinsman to Mr.

WILLIAMS

Andrew Buckler of Weymouth, nephew to Sir Walter Buckler in 1655. (See will of Andrew Buckler). There is also a will of Mary Williams of Weymouth proved in 1654. (P C C 253 Alchin).

A certain Clare Williams widow lived at Weymouth in 1649. The will of John Wall of Bredport, mariner, 1649 (151 Fairfax) mentions "my house in Weymouth occupied by Clare Williams of Wyke Regis Widow."

In 1695 Thomas Williams of His Majesty's Ship "Plymouth" mentions in his will proved in 1695 (P C C 163 Trby) "My daughter Williams of Wyke Regis".

Mr. Winston Williams lived in 1695 at Ward Mill in Knighton, was killed in a duel at Melcombe town end in August 1701 and his burial entry at Melcombe Regis reads thus:- 1701. August 7th Mr. Winston Williams of Weymouth was buried."

Close to Wyke Regis is the parish of Fleet. In 1669 July 25, William Williams and Agnes Rich were married at Fleet Church.

In the next parish of Chickerell occurs the following marriage:-
1731. William Williams and Margaret Carter. Both of the parish of Fleet were married February 13th. The Registers of Fleet should be searched but owing to the absence of the Vicar hitherto they have been inaccessible. The Baptism of Richard Williams the sea Captain does not occur at Wyke Regis where a whole day was spent in searching the exceedingly voluminous registers and Melcombe Regis registers were also searched and his baptism not found.

All the wills in Blandford Probate Court have been searched up to 1800 and the only Williams of Weymouth is that of John Williams who died 1764 leaving sons William, Anthony and John, and daughters Mary Northover and

WILLIAMS

Hester Williams. He owned a house and garden in Wyke Regis.

Children

I. John Williams, Esq.

II. Winston Williams, Esq., of Weymouth, slain in a duel at Melcombe, 1701.

6 Winston Williams, of Weymouth, married a sister of John Galpin of Dorchester. (See Moules Weymouth Corporation Record, p. 86.) 1701 Mr. Winston Williams and Mr. W. Freke in the Excise Collector Bowers House at Weymouth drank punch to a great height, a quarrel arising at 8 P.M. they went to Melcombe Towns End and fought with swords. Williams was stabbed in the stomach and died about 1 A.M.

WILLIAMS

Probably of the same family was:--

Captain Richard Williams of Weymouth, a bachelor and under age in 1756 when he obtained marriage licence described therein as "Mariner". Married Mary Randall of Weymouth. She was under 21 when she was married by licence Aug. 5, 1757. William Williams their child was born Jan. 26, 1767, went to America. Died at Newbury, Mass. Sept. 2, 1841.

(In order to elucidate the family, a careful search should be made in Weymouth and Melcombe Regis Registers. This will cost 2 guineas).

Weymouth, England Register

There are none before 1800. Marriages took place at Wyke Regis and are registered there. Baptisms took place in Weymouth old Chapel and are lost. All burials were at Wyke Regis. The following is the marriage of Richard Williams. The Vicar was on holiday and so no certificate was obtainable though it was paid for and will come later. "Richard Williams of the Parish of Weymouth, Dorset, Mariner under age and Mary Randall under age, were married in this church by licence this fifth day of August 1757 by me Michael Fesling, Rector.

- I. William Williams, born Aug. 6, 1814, 20 minutes before 11 o'clock P.M. Married Oct. 5, 1843 at Gloucester, Mass., by Rev. Wm. Lamson, Abby K. daughter of John Brown, Esq. The marriage notice in this family Bible calls William Williams attorney-at-law. He was Mayor of Gloucester 1879-1882. He had three children; a daughter Abby (Mrs. Robert M. Kershaw of Gloucester, Mass.,) J. C. Williams who lives near the Groveland Bridge, (% United Shoe Co. 1925) Haverhill, Mass., and William, born Aug. 20, 1844.

- 3 II. Mary Columbia Williams, born May 11, 1817, 6 P.M.

3 Mary Columbia Williams's middle name was given to her because she was born in the District of Columbia, in Georgetown, D.C. She married June 10, 1842, at 2.30 P.M. in the Beekman St. Church, N.Y. by the Rev. Gardner Spring to Captain Samuel Goodhue. (See Goodhue). Newspaper clipping pasted in the Bible says (All records from this Bible) "At New York, on Friday last by Rev. Gardner Spring, Capt. Samuel Goodhue of the ship Franklin of Newburyport to Miss Mary Williams, daughter of the late Capt. Williams of Newburyport." She died July 24, 1899.

I recall Mother, Cushing and I were visiting Grandfather Cushing in Newburyport; Abbot and Father were visiting Alfred Stearns at his camp at the First Connecticut Lake, N.H., when the telegram came from Uncle Sam (he and Grandmother Goodhue lived in Brooklyn) telling of her death. We all went to the services at the Chapel at the Oak Hill Cemetery. She used to spend the summers in Newburyport and winters in Brooklyn. I remember going to see her when I was in Newburyport, and of her visiting us at our home on Marion St., Brookline. She was a very talented painter on china, etc., and did beautiful needlework. She played the piano very well even when she was quite old. She wore glasses and was nice looking. I always liked her. I have a few plates and tiles she painted.

Uncle Lawrence Cushing was an intimate friend of Uncle Sam's and lived with him and Grandfather and Grandmother Goodhue for over a year in Brooklyn while he was in business in New York. He said Grandmother was of medium height and slender, capable, and an agreeable woman, and quite musical, and a skillful needlewoman. Capt. Samuel Goodhue was a well known ship master in the East India trade and China, sailing for N. Y. firms. The last of his life he was Inspector of the Atlantic Marine Insurance Co. He was a man of sterling qualities, somewhat reserved in manner but kindly disposed. He was in command of Ships Franklin, Pacific, Talbot, Nestoria, Geneva (I have a picture of this in front of Elisnore Castle, Denmark, where the scene of Hamlet was laid). He lived at #2 Garden St., Brooklyn Heights, N.Y. at the time of his death.

Obituary Notices.

Newburyport Herald, Wednesday, July 26, 1899.

Goodhue.--On July 24, 1899, at her residence, 1,448 Pacific st., Brooklyn, Mary C. Goodhue, in the 83d year of her age, widow of Captain Samuel Goodhue. Funeral and interment at Newburyport, Mass.

Brooklyn Eagle.

Mary C. Goodhue.

Mary C. Goodhue, widow of Samuel Goodhue, died at her home, 1,448 Pacific street, Monday, in the 83d year of her age. Her death was caused by heart disease, following an attack of the grip. The fatal attack was sudden, she having been in apparent good health up to within a few hours of her demise. Mrs. Goodhue was a descendant of the Williams family, the founders of Newburyport, Mass., and all her male ancestors were ship masters. Her husband was Samuel Goodhue, a ship captain in the China trade for half a century. They lived in Garden place in this borough, thirty years ago, where her two sons were born. They both survive her. The eldest, Samuel Goodhue, with whom she lived since the death of her husband, thirty years ago, is a flour dealer, and has been a member of the New York Produce Exchange for thirty-nine years. Her other son, Francis Abbot Goodhue, of Boston, is married to the niece of Caleb Cushing, formerly minister to Spain. Mrs. Goodhue's mental and physical condition was remarkable up to the time of her death. She was an artist, and some of her best paintings, pottery and tile ornamenting were done after she was 70.

WILLIAMS

They were in demand from lovers of art. She had voyaged to the East with her husband many times and her stories of her travels were always interesting. The funeral and interment will be at Newburyport.

Death of Mrs. Mary Columbia Williams Goodhue at Brooklyn, N.Y.

Mrs. Mary Columbia Williams Goodhue died in Brooklyn, N.Y., Monday evening, after a very brief illness. Mrs. Goodhue was the only daughter of the late William and Hannah Russell Williams, who resided on Fair street, Newburyport, Mass.

Born in the District of Columbia in 1817, the early years of her life were passed in this city. In musical circles she was most favorably known, and as a pianist she ranked very high, being among the very few of 60 years ago fortunate enough to be the owner of an instrument, which was a wonderful novelty in that period. Marrying Captain Samuel Goodhue, she was his companion in many voyages to far away ports. Retiring from commerce, until the death of Captain Goodhue their home was in Brooklyn, where as his widow she has resided until her death.

Always retaining a strong affection for Newburyport, she has until within a short period of time passed several months each year among her kindred and friends in this city, who always retained the most pleasant associations with their kinswoman and early associate.

Mrs. Goodhue was of fine ancestry. Her father, William Williams, born in England, became identified with commerce after coming to the United States, and during his later residence in Newburyport he was connected with the customs department of the government. On her maternal side, from Hannah Russell she derived noble blood of the highest patriotism, and although the surname of Russell has been lost by marriage the descendants are represented in some of the very best families in the city. The name Columbia was given out of respect to her birthplace. A brother of Mrs. Goodhue, bearing her father's name, is remembered by the people of Gloucester as having ably filled the highest positions of responsibility.

WILLIAMS

Mrs. Goodhue leaves two sons and three grandchildren. The place of interment will be in Oak Hill cemetery, and the services will be at the family lot this afternoon.

"I hope you will like the small sketch of Maiden Castle. The monument seen in the distance is one of the land marks in the County of Dorset.

If you were entering Weymouth Harbour it would appear behind the houses encircling the bay. As a matter of fact, it is in the parish of Portesham, four miles from Weymouth, and it represents the memorial to Sir Thomas Hardy, Nelson's Captain on board the Victory. He owned all the property on this Estate, and his home in Portesham is still occupied by a direct descendant of the famous admiral, ie. Mr. Hardy Manfield.

Maiden Castle, as you probably already know, is a pre-historic camp - the largest in England - and in the world. It was at one time held by the Celts and, afterwards, by the Romans. It is the property of the Duchy of Cornwall.

The Vicar of Fordington says, unfortunately, the clergyman at Wyke Regis was from home when he called and, therefore, he could not obtain signed certificates but he will get them later on. He thought further enquiries ought to be made at other parishes in the neighbourhood, but this would mean time and expense." (From a section of Mr. Rogers' letter received April 26, 1926).
