THE PITMAN NAME IN OLD ENGLAND

The name "Pitman" is said to be derived from residence in vicinity of a pit.

Johannes Piteman is mentioned in One Hundred Rolls in 1273.

A Family of Pitman has been seated at Dunchideock house, County Devon, for several generations and is recorded in the parish register from the year 1552.

THE NAME IN NEW ENGLAND

Thomas Pitman, born 1614, settled in Marblehead, Mass. Mark Pitman, born 1622, settled in Marblehead, Mass. William Pitman, born 1632, settled in Oyster River, N. H. FAMILY OF THOMAS PITMAN

Thomas Pitman, whose ancestry is unknown, first appears in Marble-head in 1645, when it is recorded, in the Quarterly Court Records, he was surety for Timothy Allen. He is one of the 44 householders in 1649, having two cows rights, and listed in 1674 among the 114 householders.

The court records also state he was chosen and sworn constable, for Marblehead, November, 1658, and 28-1-1659 we find him complaining to the court that "James Smith and wife who were adhering to the Quakers and an evil example to others" absenting themselves from public worship. September of the same year he is allowed two shillings for attendance at court — "the same to be paid by the delinquents." He was one of the committee on "sealing the meeting-house" and in 1664 and 1665 appears on a jury of inquest on the death of John Bartol, "found dead in the sea," and an Indian "found dead in the highway at end of town," which duty he again performed in 1672 and 1676.

He served on the Grand Jury in 1666 and again in 1671-1672, also 1676. He was chosen one of the Selectmen in 1668, and held that office also in 1669-70-75-77-79 and 80. His son, Thomas, Jr., holding the same office in 1683.

His age in 1669, from his own deposition, was 55 years, making his birth about 1614. The son, Thomas, Jr., deposed at the same time, giving his age as "about 17 years."

He took "the oath of fidelity" before Samuel Ward, commissioner for Marblehead, December 18, 1677.

Thomas Pitman, senior, united with the First Church in Marblehead in 1684, shortly after it was organized, his son John uniting at the same time. His wife, Jane, three daughters, Sarah Dodd, Mary Fortune and Elizabeth Russell, also his daughter-in-law, Charity, wife of the son John, were among the original members transferred from the First Church in Salem, when the Marblehead Church was organized in August, 1684.

The son Thomas, Ir., was made "freeman" in 1683 and united with First Church in 1687.

This record of the early days proves them to have been a family of patriotic and worth-while citizens.

Thomas Pitman, senior, was owner of considerable property in Marble-

November 4, 1657, Thomas Pitman of Marblehead, fisherman, purchased house lot and barn, which he left by will to his son Thomas.

This piece of property was evidently on Orne Street, foot of Washington, as the "brook" ran across it. The old brook ran down Doak's Lane to Little Harbor.

June 8, 1661, and March 16, 1669, land was deeded to him at Forest River Side, bordering on the bridge, on the present road to Salem.

May 12, 1677, he purchased a lot of land appraised at 30 pounds at his death in 1694.

This was near Legg's Hill, the old road to Salem crossing the lot.

January 28, 1684, he purchased a lot of swamp-land of Lt. Samuel Ward, appraised, when he died, at 15 pounds.

This was probably the marsh-land lying between what is now Elm and Pond Streets which Cowell Street crosses.

As early as 1680 he owned house and land on Franklin Street. His will, 1694, gave this house to his son Thomas for his lifetime, the remainder of the property to his heirs. A division was made according to will, July 15, 1695. On March 21, 1716-17, these heirs, sixteen in number, for 122 pounds, conveyed the house and land to Rev. John Barnard. Mr. Barnard took the old house down and built the present one.

Thomas Pitman died 1694 and his property was divided, according to will, among his children, namely: Joseph Pitman, Sarah Dodd, Mary Fortune and the children of his son John, and daughter Elizabeth Knight, who died before the making of the will, and Thomas Pitman, Jr., to whom the heirs evidently sold out in 1696-97.

Thomas Pitman born, as he deposed, 1614; married evidently Jane. (----) and died 1694.

PITMAN NOTES

Thomas Pitman, Jr., married Margaret Stilson, 1696. She was widow of James Stilson, who, when crossing the water at Muscongus in a canoe, was killed by the Indians in 1686-7. The youngest child was taken from its mother's arms and burned, and the wife and two children, James and Margaret, taken captive to Canada. On her release from Canada, she married Thomas Pitman, March 30, 1696.—New Eng. Gen. Register, Vol.

Margaret Stilson united with the First Church in 1686. She died, 12 mo., 1750; age, 92.

THE GALE FAMILY

The ancestors of the Gale Family in New England were four brothers, who came from Old England:

John was of Boston in 1634.

Richard was of Watertown in 1640.

Edmund was of Cambridge in 1642.

Hugh was of Kittery in 1652.

EDMUND, of Cambridge, made Freeman, 1660, had seven sons, one of whom, Ambrose, was at Salem May 17, 1663, later at Marblehead.

Ambrose², Edmund¹, baptized —; probably married first in England. He had five children, three of whom were baptized at Salem. Mary, his wife, died Feb. 5, 1694-5, from grave stone record, Old Burial Hill. He married second, Aug. 19, 1695, Deborah Girdler, at Marblehead. She is mentioned in a deed of 1698, and Deborah Gale was admitted to the First Church in 1695.

He first purchased land in Marblehead, Dec. 4, 1663; was then called fisherman. Next purchase, June 28, 1666, when he is called a planter. He became a frequent dealer in real estate, in deed of which he is called fisherman, planter, cooper and merchant. It was evidently his business to buy fish, pack and send to market.

He was appointed by the General Court "a commissioner to end small causes" at Marblehead, June 1, 1677, and Oct. 11, 1682, he was appointed Surveyor of damaged goods for the same port. He was one of the founders of the church in Marblehead in 1684, and its leading member. His wife, Mary, was admitted in 1686.

He is listed as one of the 114 householders in 1674. He served the town as selectman for eleven different terms from 1656 to 1681; his son Ambrose, Jr., holding the same office in 1687, also that of Clerk of the Church and Town Clerk in 1698.

Ambrose Gale subscribed fifteen pounds toward building the new church on Franklin Street, April 10, 1695. He was one of the committee to "seat" the subscribers in the new church, not an enviable position, as their rank depended on the amount given. His own seat was at the S. E. Window, Pew No. 6. His son Ambrose, Jr., who subscribed five pounds, but gave ten, was given Pew No. 13 at the west door.

He died August, 1708.

HAD FIVE CHILDREN AS FOLLOWS:

I. Benjamin³, baptized at Salem, May 1, 1663. II. Elizabeth³, baptized at Salem, May 1, 1663; married Thomas Roots of Boston.

III. Charity, baptized at Salem, July 17, 1664.

IV. Ambrose³, baptized 1665.
 V. Deliverance³, baptized —; married Benjamin James, Nov. 24, 1692.

Charity Gale³, Ambrose², Edmund¹, baptized 1664; married 1st John PITMAN, 1681, he died 1694; 2nd, Mark Haskell, 1696.

AMBROSE GALE LANDS IN MARBLEHEAD

In 1663 Ambrose Gale bought of Christopher Latimore upland and marsh-land on Franklin Street. He had a house here which, in the division of his real estate, came to his son Benjamin, fisherman, who died 1714, when the house was sold to Robert Girdler.*

Fort Sewall was called Gale's Head in 1723. Ambrose Gale bought this lot of land from Moses Maverick, except the Fort and Highway thereto, Aug. 15, 1674, for thirty-six pounds. Mr. Gale used it for his fishing business and built a fishing stage and fish fence upon the lot and continued to use it for fishing purposes for many years. It was owned in 1700 by his son Benjamin, for the fishing business.

Ambrose Gale owned a lot of land bordering on Washington Street, which for love he conveyed to his son Ambrose, Jr., March 3, 1686. Ambrose, Jr., died 1717, and his three daughters divided the estate.

Land bordering on Doak's Lane early belonged to Rev. William Walton, which was later the property of his son Samuel, who conveyed it to Ambrose Gale in 1686. It was part of Mr. Gale's orchard and he conveyed it to his son-in-law, Ephraim Sandin, whose brother, Arthur, became the first innholder in Marblehead.

Ambrose Gale also owned one-eighth of the Coy Pond lots at his death in 1708, and one-eighth of land in the Plain Farm, both of which were near the Salem and Swampscott lines.

^{*}Sidney Perley in "Marblehead before 1700" pictures the Ambrose Gale house on Franklin Street at No. 17. This is wrong, as the one mentioned in the deeds as passing down to Capt. John Selman is the Selman house at No. 19 Franklin Street. Capt. Selman was a grandson of Ambrose Gale, Jr., and great-grandfather of the writer.

HOOPER FAMILY

Robert Hooper first appears in Marblehead as master of a shallop, hired of Moses Maverick, a wealthy business man of the port in 1663.

ROBERT HOOPER¹, fisherman, first appears as a householder, Dec. 26, 1663, when he bought land in Marblehead. He is called "planter" in 1680 when he buys another lot of land.

He deposed a case in Court, 1668-9, giving his age as about 62. This would place his birth in 1606 or thereabout, and make him old enough to be father of John, Robert and Henry, the other very early residents of Marblehead.

In the list of householders in Marblehead dated Oct. 7, 1664, Robert Houper is credited with one cow.

Elizabeth, his wife's affidavits that relate to land at Peach's Point, Scott's Cove, near which the Hoopers lived, give her age as 72 years.

We have no list of his children, but the presence at Marblehead at that time of John Hooper, who lived next door, and of Robert, Jr., a tax payer, before the close of the life of the older Robert, and marriage of Robert, Jr., and Henry soon after, showing that they had been born early enough to have been sons of the first recorded couple, makes it reasonable to suppose that the three were sons of Robert and Elizabeth, and the pedigree is so constructed. He died after Dec. 2, 1686.

CHILDREN - PARTIAL LIST

I. John², born as he deposed, about 1641.

II. Richard² (daughter), so called in deeds passed 1680-1704-1711; born about 1646; married about 1665, Edward Holman.
 III Robert³, born about 1665; married Anna Greenfield; he died 1689; child, Robert Greenfield Hooper³ had large fishing business and fine mansion. He died about IV. Henry², born about 1665; married Mary Norman, widow of Joseph Norman.

JOHN² (ROBERT¹), born as he testified, 1641; married Christian -There is some reason to believe she was the daughter of Samuel and Ann Cody of Boston and Salem, since Ann in her will, Oct. 9, 1678, bequeaths a pewter platter to John and Christian Hooper and their children, mentioning Elizabeth and John. John Hooper was one of the persons who made oath to the will at Salem Court, although not one of the witnesses, which would point to his having some near relationship. Christian was born about 1645.

May 7, 1685, he sold to Edward Holman one half the ground on which the fishing stage they were jointly building was standing, with all rights; his wife, Christian, joining in the deed May 31, 1687. If he was son of Robert and brother-in-law of Holman, this partnership would be very natural. He was one of the citizens who signed a call for a town meeting March 14, 1673. His name under Robert Houper and spelled the same, is in the list of persons owning rights to pasture cattle on the Common, Oct. 6, 1674, and credited like Robert with one cow. John Hooper was member of the committee chosen March 20, 1676, to look after the stint of cattle upon the Common, i. e. to determine whose cattle and how many should be pastured there.

The wife, Christian, united with the First Church in 1685, and in her name seven of the children were baptized Aug. 23, 1685. John Hooper died before December 12, 1709, when his widow, Christian, was appointed administratrix. The inventory showed carpenter's tools, half a stage, flake yard and warehouse for the fishing business, dwelling house and land adjacent, etc. Division of the estate was made July 1, 1713, to "John Hooper, the cldest son, a double portion." In 1718-19 the remaining heirs quitclaim their rights in the estate to their brother, John Hooper, son of John Houper.

- V. Joseph³, baptized Aug. 23, 1685. VI. Benjamin³, baptized Aug. 23, 1685.
- VII. Deliverance, baptized July 21, 1689.

John² (John², Robert¹), baptized Aug. 23, 1685, married Abigail, daughter of Job Williard, Sen., mariner, of Salem and Boston, born in Salem, 26-5-1662. His wife inherited land in Salem, 1694 and 1701.

DESCENT FROM ROBERT HOOPER

Generation

- 1. Robert Hooper married Elizabeth before 1641.
- John Hooper married Christian Cody before 1685. John Hooper married Abigail Willard, 1690.
- Abigail Hooper married Abiel Pitman, 1714.
- John Pitman married Charity Ashton, 1736. John Pitman married Elizabeth Cruff, 1762. Thomas Pitman married Elizabeth Florence, 1788.
- 8. Henry F. Pitman married Eliza Smith, 1831.

THE ASHTON FAMILY

The Ashton family was living in Marblehead before 1700. The immigrant ancestor was probably the Jacob Ashton who was at Salem about 1650.

There is a confusion of marriage between this family and Mary Page since the records state.

John Ashton married Mary Page, 1691. Joseph Ashton married Mary Page, 1700. Joseph Ashton married Mary Page, 1713.

I interpret this to mean that the first Mary married John Ashton, had a son, Joseph, baptized Nov. 28, 1697, who married another Mary Page in 1713 (rather young but young marriages were the rule in the early days), and we do not know his age at the time of baptism. The descent comes from this last named Joseph.

CHILDREN OF JOSEPH AND MARY PAGE ASHTON

- I. Abigail baptized, 1715; died young.
- II. CHARITY, baptized 1717; married John Pitman, Dec. 9, 1736.
- III. Jacob, baptized 1719. IV. Abigail, baptized 1725.

As before noted, Charity Ashton Pitman administered on her husband's estate in 1748, and in 1750 her brother Jacob was appointed guardian of their two living children, John and Mary.

LINE OF DESCENT FROM ASHTON FAMILY

Generation

- John Ashton married Mary Page, 1691.
- Joseph Ashton married Mary Page, 1713. Charity Ashton married John Pitman, 1736. John Pitman married Elizabeth Cruff, 1762.
- Thomas Pitman married Elizabeth Florence, 1788.
- 6. Henry F. Pitman married Eliza Smith, 1831.

THE CRUFF FAMILY

The name Cruff, spelled also Craft and Cruft, is found in Marblehead before 1700, but the particular branch from which Elizabeth Cruff, who married John Pitman, Jan. 14, 1762, sprang, has not been located.

John and Mary "Hooper" Cruff had daughter, Elizabeth, baptized 1729. John and Ann "Green" Cruff had daughter, Elizabeth, baptized 1739. William and Mary "Bray" Cruff had daughter, Elizabeth, baptized 1744.

John and William were both sons of the first mentioned John and Mary "Hooper" Cruff, baptized the same day, Sept. 22, 1717; and our Elizabeth probably comes from one of the two brothers.

THE FLORENCE FAMILY

Name spelled Florance, Florence, Florey, Flourey, Flowers, Flury and Le Fluerie, which probably is the original name.

The first record of the name in Marblehead is the marriage of Charles Le Fluerie to Mary Hancock, Jan. 24, 1725, at St. Michael's Church.

HENRY, who married Mary Mason, Feb. 16, 1742-43, may have been a younger brother, although they do not, as is usual, carry down the same family names in their lines.

Henry Florence owned considerable real estate as the Essex Co. Deeds show that Jedidiah Blaney and Bethia, his wife, convey land to Henry Florence, Jan. 3, 1765.—Essex Deeds, Vol. 112, page 258.

Florence, Jan. 3, 1765.—Essex Deeds, Vol. 112, page 258.
Charity Rolls conveyed to Henry Florence land bordering on Rolands

Hill, Aug. 25, 1765.—Essex Deeds, Vol. 113, page 175.

James Bowdoin and Elizabeth, his wife, both of Boston, convey to Henry Florence of Marblehead, land formerly of Abraham Roundey, bounded as follows: Southeasterly on street leading into said town of Marblehead, westerly on the way leading from the street to Blaney's house, northerly on the twenty-two feet way leading up the Hill to an eight foot alley, northeasterly on the alley with privilege of the passageway eight feet wide "at all times forever," with the dwelling house, barn and all edifices thereon standing, for eighty pounds.—Historical Society File, No. 5744.

This was evidently in the region of Bassett Street as Perley, in "Marble-head before 1700," states, that Bassett Street was an ancient way at the foot of Severitt's Hill, so called.

Inventory of the estate of Henry Florence, mariner, by John Florence, John Weber, Jno. Grush, Elisha Gatchell and Samuel Gatchell, dated Aug. 5, 1776, is on file at the Probate Court, also a letter of caution from William Pyncheon against eldest son Philip administering on the estate, and a statement signed by the following representative citizens declaring said eldest son fittest person.

Robert Hooper, Ir. Samuel Hooper John Russell Stephen Sewall Elisha Gatchell John Weber Benjamin Boden Mich. Coombes

There is no date to this paper and later records show that the second son, John, was the administrator of the estate.

As the vital records of the town show that the Florence family were Church of England people, the Episcopal Church is evidently meant here. Martha Lee and Nathaniel Tracy for the estate of Jeremiah Lee, recovered judgment against the estate of Henry Florence, late of Marblehead, mariner, through his son John, administrator, April 22, 1784, it being the tract of land where said Henry formerly lived, situate on the main street leading from Roads land to a passage way leading over Severett's Hill, so called, also messuage and land on other side of said passage way S. W. on land leading to Blaney's Tan Yard, also land near Hay Market bounded N. E. on highway leading to Rope Walk., S. E. on highway leading over Rowland's Hill, so-called, S. W. on land of Capt. Nathaniel Lindsey, N. W. on land of Jane Chapman. April 23, 1784.

Sept. 15, 1787, Russell Trevett and wife, Lydia, administrators of estate of Anna Devereux, recovered the same judgment against the estate through John Florence, administrator.

John Florence is called "Tide waiter."

VIII. Hannah³, baptized 1759, St. Michael's Church.

IX. ELIZABETH³, baptized Jan. 8, 1769, St. Michael's Church; married Thomas Pitman, 1788.

Henry Florence had two sons, John and Philip, who served in the Revolution. As there is no record of the son Henry, he probably died early.

Of Mary Mason, wife of Henry Florence, we know little. Mary, daughter of Elizabeth, was baptized at St. Michael's Church, Nov. 3, 1728, which is all the record found.

LINE OF DESCENT FROM HENRY FLORENCE

Generation

- 1. Henry Florence married Mary Mason, 1742.
- 2. Elizabeth Florence married Thomas Pitman, 1788.
- 3. Henry F. Pitman married Eliza Smith, 1831.

THE SMITH FAMILY LINE

Samuel Smith, pioneer ancestor of this line in Marblehead, was said to have been a Spaniard who came in one of the sailing ships and took the name of "Smith." Nothing is known of his ancestry.

He married Jan. 21, 1802, Mary Dennis, daughter of John Devereux and Rebecca Hailes Dennis, of Marblehead.

THE DENNIS FAMILY LINE

JAMES DENNIS¹, whose ancestry is unknown, appears in Marblehead about 1670 when he made deposition in court, giving his age as about 29 years. The same year he was appointed constable for Marblehead.

His wife's name was Mary.

Savage, in his genealogical dictionary, gives a James of Boston, wife Mary, with son John, born 1653, and John again, 1655, both dying young. As the James of Marblehead would be too young to be the father of these boys, they may have been his brothers.

The will of William Charles, dated Dec. 31, 1672, calls James Dennis "cousin" and makes him, with the widow, Sarah Charles, executor of the will, which speaks of "My cousin Mary, his present wife." Mary, Jr., and James, Jr., are mentioned in the will.

James Dennis and Marie Dennis were witnesses in court, June, 1673. Mary Dennis, age about 33, deposed in court June, 1677, testifying to the will of the widow Charles, in which are mentioned as heirs: Mary

Dennis, Jr., James, Jr., Acnes and Agnes. James Dennis and Mary, his wife, were administrators of this will.

In June, 1677, James Dennis was allowed as tithing man. He was on the Grand Jury and one of the committee for the inspection of cattle rights in 1678, one of the Sclectmen in 1680 and the same year one of the five men who signed the contract for the building of a wind-mill for grinding corn, on "Wind-mill" now "Training-field Hill." The said mill not being up to contract the owners refused to pay for the same.

He owned two rights in the Lower Division in 1724.

He died, 9 m. 1730, age 94, from the record of the First Church.

CHILDREN AS MENTIONED IN THE WILL OF WILLIAM CHARLES AND LATER THAT OF THE WIDOW CHARLES

I. Mary, Jr.2

II. JAMES, JR.²
III. Acms², may be misprint for "Amos."
IV. Agnes² or Annis.

James Dennis, Amos Dennis and Annis Trevis (Trefry) were left part of the "Humphrey Farm" by the will of William Charles in 1672. James Dennis is called blacksmith; Amos Dennis, fisherman; Thomas Trefry, shoreman; "in right of his wife, Annis," all of Marblehead. Mary, Jr., is not mentioned here and may have died after the making of the will.

The Humphrey Farm was a 500-acre tract of land lying between Forest River and Swampscott. It was here a spot was selected for the building of Harvard College. The eastern part of Swampscott as it was before 1867 belonged to John Humphrey.*

JAMES DENNIS², James¹, born before 1672; married Sarah Pitman, March 25, 1682. She was probably sister of Thomas, the progenitor of the Thomas Pitman Line in Marblehead. She united with the First Church in 1688 and had several children baptized in her name at the same time as follows:

- I. Amy³, baptized Nov. 18, 1688.
- II. Benjamin², baptized Nov. 18, 1688.

1795 — Schooner "Edward"

1795 — Schooner "Rebecca" which was captured in 1812; from record in George Cloutman's letter book.

ELIZABETH DENNIS, who married John Doak, 1717, was a daughter of either James and Sarah Pitman Dennis, baptized Feb. 17, 1694; or Amos² and Elizabeth Russell Dennis, baptized Sept. 17, 1699, both sons of James, the pioneer ancestor.

This makes the third line of descent from the Dennis family. On the Pitman side through Mary Dennis, who married Samuel Smith, and on the Garney side through Susanna Dennis, who married Ambrose Lovis, and Elizabeth Dennis, who married John Doak - if our supposition is true that Margaret Doak was a daughter of the said John.

DEVEREUX ANCESTRY

JOHN DEVEREUX, mariner and fisherman, whose ancestry is unknown' came to Salem, Mass., in 1630, when a boy of fifteen. He was an early settler in Marblehead, where ten acres of land was granted him in 1636-7. When Marblehead was set off from Salem as a separate town in 1649, he was chosen one of the first board of Selectmen and subsequently was active in the affairs of the town. He first rented, then purchased the farm near Marblehead, which the General Court of Massachusetts had granted to Rev. Hugh Peters. Several depositions of his made before the Court at Salem show he was born about 1615, and he died before May 20, 1695, when his will, dated 4th Sept., 1693, was proved at Salem. Nothing is known of his wife, Anne, who, as one record states, was "of gentle birth and ancient estate in England."

John Devereux of Marblehead, age about 80 years, testifieth and saith, "yet about ye yeare of our Lord one thousand, six hundred and thirty, I came over from Old England to New England and ye place of my abode and residence has been at Salem and Marblehead ever since and when I came hither here was an old squah called Old Squaw Sachem ye Squaw of ye Deced Sachem which had thre reputed sons vis John, Janes and George, who were ye reputed Schacems and Owners of all ye lands in these parts of Salem, Marblehead, Linn and as far as Natick and in those days ye land where Salem Towne now stands and ye lands adjacent was called Nahumkege by ye Indians and English Then inhabiting in these parts"

Sworne — Marblehead Dec. ye 24 — 1694

John Devereux was one of the committee to purchase this land and take a deed from the Indians for the town of Marblehead.

Devereux Farm, a tract of 350 acres, was granted to Rev. Hugh Peters by the town of Salem, 163—. He went to England and gave his property into the care of one of his deacons in Salem, Chas. Gott, who for 100 pounds conveyed it to John Devereux of Marblehead, fisherman, July 1, 1659. It is described as follows: bounded westward toward Forrest River, Tinker's Island lying on ye cast, being bounded southward toward ye river-head and Thorgmortons cove lying toward the northwest.

Mr. Devereux built a house on the eastern part of the lot. He died, spring of 1695. In his will, dated Sept. 4, 1693, he provided as follows: "I give and bequeath unto my son Robert Devereaux two-thirds of all my land within the stone wall, now lying in Marblehead, being three hundred acres more or less with my dwelling house & Barne, only I give unto my son Robert's son Joseph, twenty acres of land within ye stone wall which is out of the two thirds of my son Roberts land before mentioned, which land lying next to Marblehead comon jying to my land without the stone wall, when he shall be 21 years of age.— to remain in the family and name of Devereauxes from generation to generation in way of intall forever & ever"—

The other one-third was devised to the three sons of the testator's deceased son Humphrey Devereaux (Joseph ½, Humphrey ¼, Ralph ¼).

After the decease of Mr. Devereux, the daughter of Hugh Peters claimed title to the land, alleging that Dea. Gott had insufficient authority to execute the deed. The widow, Anne Devereux, was advised not to contest her claim, she being one of the executors. The son Robert, to whom % were given, obtained a deed from Elizabeth Barker of London, England, only daughter and heiress of Hugh Peters, sometime heretofore of Salem, clerk, deceased, June 29, 1704.

Robert Devereux lived here, being a tanner, and died many years

How long the house stood after 1704 is unknown, but was probably torn down and a new one built.

In 1811 Captain John Devereux, sixth of the name, was living in the mansion, which with its enormous tract of land had been handed down from father to eldest son for five generations. He was then a man of wealth and owner of nine ships. Later, to pay his honorable debts, he sold the house and moved to the house opposite the "Seedhouse," where he died of a broken heart.

HALES NOTES

The will of Chas. Henry Wotton of Wotton in the county of Kent, and Earl of Bellmont within the Realm of Ireland, 6 Oct., 1683, proved July 14, 1688, states he is to be buried in the Cathedral Church of Canterbury and a monument to the value of 500 pounds to be erected, gives to his wife, "My manor in Belsie in Hampstead, Middlesex, with plate, linen &sc. brought from Swakeston House in County of Derby to my house in Belsie," mentions also "my dear and loving nephew, Chas. Stanhope, younger son of the truly noble and my honored good brother Philip, Earl of Chesterfield, my dear and loving nephew Philip, Lord Stanhope's eldest son and heir apparent of my said dear brother, my dear and loving nephew Edward, Lord Noell, Baron of Litchfield, my dear and loving kinsman, Edward Hales, son and heir apparent of Sir Edward Hales, of the County of Kent, Baronet, the right heirs of Thomas, Late Lord Wotton my grandfather."

-New England Genealogical Register, Vol. 50, pages 531-536.

Chas. Henry Wotton, Baron of Wotton, was by patent 9 Dec., 1680, credited Earl of Bellmont. He died 1682-3 when all his honors were extinct. Six years after his death Richard Coote, Lord Coote and Baron of Coloomy, was created Earl of Bellmont. The latter was second Governor of Massachusetts under charter of William and Mary. He was born 1636 and died in New York March 5, 1701.

THE WOOD FAMILY LINE

THOMAS WOOD¹ appears in Marblehead records in 1712, when he had a daughter, Elizabeth, baptized at the First Church. He was then twice married. His second wife, Elizabeth, died 17 day 3 month 1723. That she was Elizabeth Ryan, the following record shows.

Thomas Wood conveys to Wm. Curtis "1/5 part of a certain messuage to wit, an old house and garden and cow lease at lower end of town known as house and land of Philip Harding and Timothy Ryan which 1/5 part is my right in right of my wife, Elizabeth, one of the daughters of Timothy Ryan deceased." June 5, 1723.

—Essex Deeds, Vol. 42, page 139.

Wm. Curtis had married another daughter of Timothy Ryan and the land was evidently in the vicinity of what is now Harding's Lane.

Thomas Wood made pre-nuptial agreement with Elizabeth Bartlett on August 23, and was married to her, Sept. 23, 1723. She was daughter of William and Sarah Bartlett of Marblehead, baptized Sept. 16, 1694. She was probably a near neighbor since the Bartletts owned the Fountain Inn property. Her father in his will proved April 14, 1735, leaves to my son-in-law, Thomas Wood, and his wife, Elizabeth, six acres of land on the highway to Boston and half a cow lease.

-Essex Probate, Vol. 320, page 185.

CHILDREN OF THOMAS AND ELIZABETH (BARTLETT) WOOD

I. Abigail², baptized June 17, 1724; died young.
II. Rebecca², baptized Jan. 30, 1725-6; married Capt. Edward Hales.
III. Elizabeth², baptized March 24, 1727-8; died young.
IV. Elizabeth², baptized April 27, 1729.
V. Abigail², baptized Sept. 5, 1731; married 1st, Peter Hulin, 2nd, John Lewis.
VI. William², baptized Sept. 1722

VI. William², baptized Nov. 11, 1733. VII. Martha², baptized Nov. 9, 1735.

After the death of Elizabeth "Bartlett" Wood, he married 4th Sarah. and on May 27, 1761, they convey to Peter Hulin of Marblehead one messuage, "being half the house I live in, it being the north-east end of said house and being in Marblehead, also piece of land at the north-east of said house to my barn."—Essex Deeds, Vol. 110, page 43.

Thomas Wood of Marblehead, sailmaker, "for love and affection which I do bear to my loving daughter, Rebecca Hales, of Marblehead," give all the ground whereon the bedroom of the said Hales house now stands with four feet of ground at south-west along the length of said house, bounding on the land I sold John Grandy. Feb. 20, 1761.

Thomas Wood, sailmaker, died between Dec. 25, 1764, the day he made his will, and Sept. 9, 1765, when it was probated, leaving "my dwelling room, the little room adjoining, one half the cellar, garden and barn, with all my movables, to my daughter, Mary Dove, who is sole executrix." The remainder of the estate was to be divided among his children.

-Essex Probate, Vol. 342, page 320.

On Nov. 20, 1765, Matthew Tarney and wife, Mary, Edward Hales and wife, Rebecca, John Lewis, fisherman, and wife, Abigail, Jane Girdler and Sarah Hudson, widows, of Marblehead, for 56 pounds, 8 shillings, conveyed to John Green of Marblehead, "the south-west part of the dwelling house of our Honoured father, Thomas Wood, deceased, at the little harbor in Marblehead with piece of land adjoining thereto, the whole bounded northeasterly by the parts of said house now belonging to John Lewis and on the other part by the highway together with the barn of said Thomas, situate on a rock to the north-east of said house."

-Essex Deeds, Vol. 117, page 192.

Possibly, this "barn on a rock" was the one known in Marblehead as "Back of Nowhere," which was back of Joe Girdler's barn. This barn was built against the ledge of Old Burial Hill at the junction of Pond and Orne Streets. As one could not get behind it, hence the name. Rebecca, daughter of John Lewis before mentioned as owning part of the Wood property, married Joseph Girdler in 1788. The little three-cornered piece of land, where the Girdler barn stood, was, in my school days, cultivated by the Stacey family who owned the double house across the street, which may be the original Wood house.

THE BARTLETT FAMILY

There were two Bartlett lines in Marblehead descended from John and William Bartlett.

WILLIAM BARTLETT¹, Frampton, Dorsetshire, England, may have been the William who was in Salem Court in 1653 and Newbury in 1661.

Robert, born about 1638. Magdalene Bartlett deposes that this William was father of Robert Bartlett of Marblehead, July 17, 1684.

CAPT. ROBERT BARTLETT², born in England, about 1638; married, 1st Mary Walton, daughter of Rev. William Walton, before 1669; and 2nd, Rebecca Boobyer (widow of William Pinsen or Pensent), Dec. 24, 1702. His will, dated Feb. 2, 1714, was proved June 27, 1717. He was living in the neighborhood in 1666. Had land in Manchester. He was one of the Selectmen of Marblehead in 1678.

Robert Bartlett was quite a land owner in Marblehead, his estate including a lot of land extending from the sea to the old Lynn road; another tract nearer Swampscott which may be the Old Bartlett Farm, the plan of which is in the archives of the Marblehead Historical Society; and another lot extending from Rowland's Hill to the harbor, which formerly belonged to Rev. Wm. Walton and came into the possession of Robert and Mary (Walton) Bartlett in 1683, he having paid part of the debts against the estate of Mr. Walton. He was then called youman and fisherman, and was then living in a dwelling house on the land, but nothing was known of the house or its location after 1700.

REV. WILLIAM WALTON

Descent traced from 1250 to Simon de Walton, Chaplain to Henry III, and Justice of Common Pleas, Bishop of Norwich, 10 March 1257.

Rev. William Walton, born in England, took degrees at Emanuel College, Cambridge, Eng., in 1621 and 1625. Settled at Seaton, England (Devonshire), where he preached about seven years. Like many others of his day, he hated the Popish tendencies of the English church and rebelled against the genuflexions, crossings, candles, &c., and came to this country with John Harvard and hundreds of others, simple and plain Puritans of that decade, 1630-1640.

He settled first in Hingham and staid two years. The Rev. Peter Hobart was already preaching in the old "Ship Church," so he went to Marblehead as a missionary to the churchless community there. He evidently regarded his position in England, under the Episcopal Church, as no longer valid when he left that church. As Rev. Mr. Hobart was already preaching, there was no call for him to preach in Hingham, but he staid long enough to have a cove, an arm of the salt marshes, named for him "Walton's Cove."

Savage places him at Hingham, Sept. 18, 1635.

Some question having arisen as to whether Rev. William Walton, first minister of the church at Marblehead, was an ordained minister of the Established Church of England, I quote the following from the "Transactions of the Devonshire Association for the Advancement of Science, Literature and Art," Vol. 30, 1898, and from "Somerset and Dorset Notes and Queries," Vol. 6, page 1361. "William Walton, probably of Somerset, entered Emanuel College, Cambridge, England, in 1617. He took his degree of B. A. in 1621; M. A. in 1625. He signed the Articles as a Deacon in the Diocese of Briston 22 September 1621 (showing that he was ordained soon after graduation), and also the register as incumbent of Seaton, Devonshire, in 1627.

-Jan. 22, 1913, Notes of M. I. G., Boston Transcript.

William Walton made Freeman, March 3, 1636. Commenced preaching at Marblehead, 1638; died August or Sept., 1668; service, 30 years.

"In 1639 there appears to have been preaching from the record of Feb. 15, that three acres of land were granted by the Salem authorities to Rev. William Walton 'to build upon.' Nine years later, Oct. 6, 1648, we find an entry which is believed to be the first recorded act of the people of Marblehead, agreeing to a tax for the minister's support. His allowance was forty pounds for that year."

-From Manual of First Congregational Church.

"From the brief accounts that have come down to us, we gather that the ministry of Mr. Walton was a very happy one. He seems to have been the right man for the town. Without ordination, unable to administer the sacrements or to perform the ceremony of marriage, he was a man among men; wise, discreet and faithful, and when he died in 1668 his loss was keenly felt by the whole town."

-From Historical Sermon by Rev. John N. Williams, Bi-Centennial of First Church. August. 1884.

"In Oct. 1668 William Walton, the faithful and zealous missionary, died, after serving his Master and the poor people of Marblehead for a period of thirty years. Coming to them as a missionary to preach the gospel, he became, without ordination as a clergyman, a loving pastor, a faithful friend and a wise and prudent counselor. His advice was sought on all matters of public or private importance and when obtained was usually followed without question. That his loss was felt as a public bereavement by the entire community, there can be little doubt."

-From Roads' History and Traditions of Marblehead.

"William Walton emigrated with the colonist who came from Hingham, Norfolkshire, Eng., to America, and settled the town of Hingham, Mass. He remained there until 1638, when he removed to Marblehead and began his missionary work of thirty years in that place. He was earnest, judicious and faithful. He lived in the house of Matthew Craddock near Little Harbor, on the south-east side and about half way down Doak Lane. Mr. Craddock died in the winter of 1640-1, and his widow, Rebecca, who had married Richard Glover, conveyed the house and land to Mr. Walton for 15 pounds in 1650.

Rev. William Walton died about Nov. 1668; his wife, Elizabeth, survived him and was living in 1670. His house was scantily furnished, but he had a library which Rev. Mr. Higginson and Mr. Hale appraised at 20 pounds."—From Perley's History of Salem.

Besides the lot of land at Little Harbor, William Walton owned a large tract extending from Rowland's Hill to the harbor front. After the death of Mr. Walton the Court agreed that the widow, Elizabeth, should have the use of the estate as long as she lived. As administratrix of the estate for forty pounds worth of debts due creditors of the estate, she conveyed one-half the premises with the old barn thereon to her son, Nathaniel Walton, and daughter, widow Martha Munjoy. The widow died in 1682 and the surviving children agreed, March 29, 1683, that their sister Mary's husband, Capt. Robert Bartlett, yeoman and fisherman, should have half of this lot where his dwelling stood, he having paid twenty pounds of debts due creditors of Mr. Walton's estate.

The spring under Old Burial Hill on Orne Street was called Walton's Spring.

The Goldthwait Line

Thomas Garney¹ first appears on the records of Marblehead through his marriage to Margaret Doak, December 21, 1752.

This marriage is recorded under the name of "Gardner." Whether this was a mistake in recording or his original name, is uncertain. There is a long line of Gardners descended from Thomas Gardner, one of the Old Planters of Salem, but there is no evidence that he came from this family.

CHILDREN RECORDED UNDER "GARNER"

I. Thomas, born 1755, from Family Bible, not on town records.

II. Michael, baptized Nov. 20, 1757.

III. John, baptized Dec. 2, 1759.
IV. Anna, baptized May 22, 1763; died in infancy.
V. Anna, baptized Aug. 19, 1764.
VI. Benjamin, baptized Nov. 30, 1766.

Two of these children, Michael 1757 and Anna 1764, are recorded as children of Thomas and "Mary," which is evidently another error in recording.

In spite of the fact that Thomas Garney was in the local militia before the Revolution, there is no record of his service during that period and no record of his death. His three sons, Thomas, Jr., Michael and John, were all in service, but the Thomas Garney, noted in "Mass. Soldiers and Sailors of the Revolution," as a private in Capt. William Bacon's company, Col. John Glover's Regiment, was evidently Thomas, Jr., since the Day Book of James Gregory, who was pension agent for the widows in 1838-39, states "Margaret Garney, widow of Thomas Garney, maiden name 'Tewksbury'; aged 80 years, married in 1778." Says "her husband was in the Marblehead Regiment under Capt. Bacon and also on Brig Tyrannicide'."

THE DOAK FAMILY

The marriage of John Doak to Elizabeth Dennis, Nov. 7, 1717, is the first record of the Doak line in Marblehead. Although Margaret, who married Thomas Garney in 1752, is not included in the list of children recorded to this couple, she was evidently a daughter since she names her own children, John, Benjamin and Michael, names which appear in the list of children of John and Elizabeth.

THE AMBROSE GRANT LINE

Ambrose Grant¹, whose ancestry is unknown, married in Marblehead:

1st Elizabeth Smith, Dec. 16, 1708; died before 1717.

2nd Sarah Page, Jan. 20, 1717.

3rd Rebecca Charder, Sept. 12, 1759.

He is not mentioned in the will of Francis Grant, dated 1717, from whom about all the Grants in Marblehead descend.

The families of Grant and Grandy were confused in the early days and the name "Ambrose" appears in both.

Two sons, by his first marriage, died before 1738, as on Feb. 7, 1738, Thomas Elkins, William Ingalls and Richard Lawrence were appointed to appraise the estate of Ambrose Grant, Jr., and on Sept. 8, 1739, Power of Attorney to John Redding of Marblehead, "trusty and well beloved son" to take administration of the goods of my said sons, John Grant and Ambrose Grant, deceased, was signed.

BROUGHTON LINE

JOHN BROUGHTON¹, a sea captain and merchant of Marblehead in 1720, like many living there at that time, doubtless came as a mariner from the south of England or the Channel Islands and possibly by way of the Barbadoes, the Carolinas or Virginia. He was progenitor of a race "who seemed like descendants of the sea kings." Through four generations, for over one hundred years, every male member of the family was master of a vessel, and every female member the wife of a sea-captain.

His family arms transmitted by his son Nicholson, to a granddaughter now living (1883) were "Argent, a Chevron between three Mullets Gules."*

On December 3, 1718, he married Sarah, daughter of John and Sarah (Maverick) Norman and granddaughter of Lieut. Richard Norman of Marblehead. She inherited their residence from her grandfather, Moses Maverick, one of the "proprietors" of the town, and was a widow when admitted to the First Church, July 5, 1741.
