“Like leaves on trees the race of man is found,
Now Green in Youth, now withered on the Ground;
Another race the following Spring supplies;
They rise successive, and successive fall;
So generations in their course decay;
So flourish these, when those are passed away.”

--Homer's Illiad, Pope Translation.

DEDICATION

This book is affectionately dedicated to my parents, William Henry and Nancy Elizabeth (Cook) Grimes, who passed on to me a combination of hereditary material and instilled into me at an early age a philosophy which has enabled me to live a happy and - I hope - a useful life; and to my wife, Charlotte Ella, who has been my inspiration.

FOREWORD

The information contained in this publication concerns my ancestors and relatives, the Grimes, Cooks, Morrisises, Johnsons, Montagues and related families, who were among the early settlers in Wayne County, Tennessee. The period covered is 1800 to 1960. The information was collected over a period of years from many different sources. Much of it came to me through correspondence with friends and relatives who had personal knowledge of the facts or who obtained them from Bible records, grave markers, old land grants, census reports and other such sources. Histories and other books, dealing with the lives of the early settlers of Virginia, North Carolina, Kentucky, and Tennessee, have been consulted freely and have yielded important data. The information has been gathered for my own satisfaction; and, though the story is incomplete and inconclusive in many details, the facts as I have them are recorded here for the benefit of any who, now or in the future, may find them interesting or helpful. My thanks are extended to all who have helped in this enterprise.

HOW TO USE THE INDEX

The names of all persons recorded in this book are listed in alphabetical order in the index. The numbers following the names refer to numbers assigned to the different individuals and not to page numbers. Where two numbers follow the same name in the index, the person so named is recorded in two different places in the book. For instance, following the name Claude Grimes in the index are the numbers 75 and 75 (underlined). By turning to number 75 in the book, it will be seen that Claude Grimes is listed as one of the sons of Isaac Wilson Grimes Number 30 (underlined). Then by turning to number 75 (underlined) there will be found a record of Claude Grimes' family. If reference is made to number 30, it will be seen that Isaac Wilson Grimes was a son of James Eli Grimes Number 10 (underlined, etc.). By following the numbers as suggested, the lineage of any individual can be traced forward or backward. To find the relationship existing between two persons, trace the line of each back until they unite in a common ancestor.

SECTION I - THE GRIMES

The name of Grimes or Grymes is believed to be of Scandinavian origin and to have been derived from the ancient Anglo-Saxon baptismal name of Grim, being adopted as a surname by the sons of one so called. It is found in Ancient British and early American records in the various spellings of Grim, Grims, Gryms, Gryme, Grime, Grymes and Grimes, and others, of which the form last mentioned is most generally used in America today.

Families of this name were to be found at early dates in the English counties of Cambridge, Norfolk, Surrey, York, Warwick, Chester and London. Records indicate that they were, for the most part, of the landed gentry of Great Britain.

While it is not definitely known from which of the many lines of the family in Great Britain the early immigrants of the name to America were descended, it appears from old records that bearers of the name Grymes or Grimes were among the earliest British Colonists in the New World.

Among the first of the name in America were John and Walter Grimes of James City County, Virginia, in 1635. William Grimes or Grymes of the same County in 1638; Arthur Grimes of Charles River County, Virginia, in 1638; Samuel Grimes of Boston, Massachusetts, before 1639; and the Rev. Charles Grymes of York County, Virginia, in 1644.

Descendents of these and other early Grimes immigrants to America have in the course of time spread to all parts of the country and have made relatively large contributions to the advancement of American civilization. They are in the main a hardy, energetic, shrewd, conservative and self-reliant race. Favorite names for male progeny are John, Willian, Henry, Charles, George, Benjamin, James Joseph, Thomas, and Robert.

Descendants of one branch of the Rev. Charles Grimes family are discussed in a book, "The Grimes Family" by Mary A. Grimes, published by Lund Press, Inc., Minneapolis, Minn., 1946. In this book it is pointed out that Lucy Grimes, a great granddaughter of the Rev. Charles Grimes, married Henry Lee of Virginia and became the mother of "Light Horse Harry Lee" and the grandmother of Robert E. Lee. It is also stated in this book that several descendents of the Rev. Charles Grimes immigrated to Georgia with their slaves, soon after the Revolutionary War. It is quite possible, though there is no proof, that some of these may have attached themselves to the small colony of white settlers from North Carolina and Virginia, then forming around Nashville, and later moving into Maury and Wayne Counties, Tennessee.

The name Grimes appears among the first white settlers in Tennessee. James, John, and Henry Grimes were recorded as members of the "Wautauga Settlement" formed by immigrants from Virginia and the Carolinas in the extreme northeastern part of Tenn. in 1772.

In Middle Tennessee, in what later became Montgomery County, was William Grimes in 1788, while Frank Grimes was recorded on Brush Creek in Robertson County in 1796.

Maury County was established about 1807, and six families by the name of Grimes are listed in the U. S. Census reports for 1820 as living in this county. They were:

(a) William Grimes, over 45, who had two daughters and five sons. Three of the sons and one of the daughters were between 16 and 26 years of age. One of the sons was probably Wilson (1).

(b) William Grimes, under 26, with a wife and a young daughter.

(c) James Grimes, under 26, with a wife and a young daughter.

(d) John Grimes, over 45, with a wife and no children.

(e) John Grimes, under 45, with a wife and six children, two boys under ten, four girls under 16.

(f) John H. Grimes, under 45, with a wife and three sons under ten.

Wayne County was created by an act of the Legislature in 1817 and two families, by the name of Grimes, are listed in the 1820 census reports for this county. They are Henry Grimes, under 45, with a wife, two grown sons, a grown daughter and seven slaves; and Isaac Gore Grimes (403) under 45, with a wife, one young son and one slave. Other Grimes, who are known to have settled in Wayne County in early days, are Wilson Grimes (my ancestor) in 1826 and John Grimes about 1835.

John Grimes was b. in Williamson County, Tennessee, about 1814. He later settled on Mill Creek in Wayne County and in 1836 m. Elizabeth Stubblefield, b. 1817, in Georgia. They were the parents of the following children: Sarah, James, Robert, John, Jr., Martha, Mary, Amanda, Millard, Henry, Benjamin, and Eliza. John was a son of William and Sallie (Little) Grimes who - according to Williamson County, Tennessee, marriage records - were married in Williamson County, Tennessee, April 15, 1813. William came to Tennessee from South Carolina. He d. 1855. John Grimes and Wilson Grimes (1) though neighbors on Mill Creek were probably not related. John was a republican and was of Irish descent. Several of his sons fought in the Federal army. Wilson was a democrat and probably of English descent. His sons served in the Confederate army. Some of the John Grimes descendents married into the Hollingsworth family. Anderson Grimes, Luther Grimes, and several of the Hollingsworth relatives were living on Mill Creek in 1910. Luther who never married was the only son of John Grimes, Jr., and a grandson of John Grimes. Land records show that Henry Grimes, above, entered land in Range eleven, Section 5, adjacent to the John L. Cook (182) farm on Hardins Creek, and in Range eleven, Section one, adjacent to the Nathaniel F. Johnson (382) farm.

1. Wilson Grimes

Wilson Grimes (1), my great grandfather, was born November 9, 1801, and died in Wayne County, Tennessee, September 4, 1866. He was a farmer and a Primitive Baptist preacher. On March 26, 1822, he married Rachel Carr, b. October 11, 1804, d. August 1, 1852. In 1826 he moved with his family from Maury County, Tennessee, to Wayne County, Tennessee, where he settled on Mill Creek, in the Philadelphia community. The writer has obtained from the Department of Archives and History, Nashville, Tennessee, copies of three land grants issued to Wilson Grimes. Two of the grants were signed by Governor Aaron Brown, September 25, 1846. The consideration for the land was 12 1/2 cents per acre. A third grant was signed by Governor Isham G. Harris, June 11, 1861. These grants were for land situated on Mill Creek, a fork of Hardins Creek in Range 11, Section 5, and constituted a part of the 313-acre Wilson Grimes farm. In later years this place was owned by one of Wilson's sons, Henry Stanford Grimes (13), and still later (1900) by my father, William Henry Grimes (29). At the present time (1957) the place is owned by Jack Shull. Wilson Grimes (1) and wife are buried in an old cemetery just north of the home site on this farm.

The parentage of Wilson Grimes and Rachel Carr Grimes is not definitely known, nor is the place of their birth known. It seems reasonable to assume that they were born in one of the counties near Nashville, Tennessee, and that their parents migrated to Tennessee from North Carolina or Virginia. This assumption is based upon the facts recorded in history (H.T., p. 128 and 140) that the first white settlement in Middle Tennessee was established on the banks of the Cumberland River, where Nashville now stands, in 1779, and that the early settlers were principally from North Carolina and Virginia. There were only a few thousand white people in Middle Tennessee in 1800. It is known that there were some families by the name of Grimes among these.

Descendents of Wilson Grimes (1)

Wilson (1) and Rachel (Carr) Grimes were the parents of 14 children. The three oldest children were born in Maury County, Tennessee, and the other eleven were born in Wayne County, Tennessee.

180. Martin Cook

Nancy Elizabeth Cook (196), my mother, who married William Henry Grimes (29), was a granddaughter of Martin Cook, b. December 14, 1798, and Catherine (Katie) Murchison, b. November 11, 1802.

Martin Cook (180) and Katie Murchison were married in Wayne County, Tennessee, in 1820. They established their home on a farm known later (1900) as the Rich Moore place, near Olive Hill. The writer is in possession of old deeds to three different tracts of land which were purchased by Martin Cook and which apparently formed a part of this farm. Two of the deeds were from John Hollingsworth for tracts of 50 and 80 acres and were recorded September 12, 1844. The price specified was $750.00. The third deed, for 25 acres, was from Martin Cook's father-in-law, Kenneth Murchison. It was recorded February 18, 1853, and the price was $250.00. The land was described as being situated on Hardin's Creek in Wayne County, District 7, Range 11, Section 5.

Katie Murchison's father was Kenneth Murchison who emigrated to this country from Scotland. In the settlement of Kenneth Murchison's estate in 1868, the following parties signed as his other heirs: John McCarin Hood Murchison, Robert Murchison, Mary Harris and Tipsie Baughman. Apparently these were his children or grandchildren. The name of his wife is not available.

Martin Cook, according to a letter written in 1922 by his grandson, Dr. K. L. Cook (193), a practicing physician of Clifton, Tennessee, was a descendent of Mordecai Cooke of Virginia. Dr. Cook's letter was published in 1923 in a book, "Two Families of Virginia, Cooke and Booth," by Dr. and Mrs. W. C. Stubbs. I quote from this letter:

"My great grandfather Cook either came from Virginia or South Carolina, and it is my understanding that he was a son of Mordecai Cooke. My great grandfather Martin Cooke came to Wayne County in 1812. His family consisted of three boys, Martin, John and Daniel, and two girls, Katie and Elizabeth, and by second marriage, Fred.

"Martin, Jr. married Katie Murchison and had three sons, John L., Kenneth, and William, and two daughters, Elizabeth, married Thos. Moore and had six children, and Nancy, married B. S. Hardin, and had five children. John L., (my father), married Mary Ann Johnson, and had 10 children,"

There were many Mordecai Cookes in Virginia during the 18th century, and we do not know which of these was Martin Cook's father. However, they were all, according to history, descended from Mordecai Cooke, the immigrant, who was recorded in Greer's "Immigrants to Virginia" as being in Elizabeth City County, Virginia in 1639. Several descendents of Mordecai Cooke, the immigrant, are reported in Dr. Stubbs' book as having settled in Kentucky and Middle Tennessee between 1790 and 1820.

Martin Cook (180) referred to in Dr. Cook's letter as Martin, Jr., and John Cook, probably his brother, were recorded in the U. S. census report for Wayne County, Tennessee, in 1820. They were both reported to be young married men without children. The only other Cooks recorded as being in Wayne County in 1820 were Jonathan, Christian, and William Cook, all young married men with children under 10 years of age, and John Cook, Sr., over 45, with a wife under 45, two sons over 16 and a son and a daughter under 10.

If Dr. Cook was correct about his great grandfather being named Martin, then Martin must have died or moved away from Wayne Co. before 1820. There appears to be some reason, based on age and family status, for thinking that the man recorded as John Cook, Sr., may have been the person referred to as Martin.

The author has no information on the descendents of Martin Cook's (180) brothers, John and Fred, or of his sisters, Katie and Elizabeth, but his brother, Daniel, may have been the Daniel Cook who settled in Camden, Alabama, about 1820. Mrs. Carrie (Cook) Rouse now living in Camden, Alabama, informs me that her grandfather was named Daniel Cook and that he was born Feb. 14, 1795, in Chesterfield, Darlington District, South Carolina. (Martin Cook was born 1798). She states that he grew up in Camden, S. C., fought in the War of 1812, passed through west Alabama, liked the country and after the war married Martha Norwood of Darlington District, S. C., and settled in what is now Camden, Alabama, about 1820. Several years later Daniel's wife died and about 1844 or 1845 he married, second, Caroline

McWilliams. By his first wife he had several children who grew up and moved to Louisiana and Texas. Frank Cook, Mrs. Rouse's father, born Jan. 28, 1847, was Daniel Cook's oldest child by his second wife. There were two other children by this marriage who lived and died in Camden, Alabama. Daniel Cook died in Camden, Alabama, in 1878.

From Dr. Stubbs' book, mentioned above, we learn the following facts about Mordecai Cooke, the immigrant.

He came to America, from England where his relatives lived in the counties of Suffolk, Norfolk, Essex, and Hereford. He was recorded as an immigrant in Elizabeth City County, Virginia, in 1639, and was in York County, Virginia, in 1646. In 1648, Susan Peasley, widow of Michael Peasley, of Roccasin, York County, Virginia, was known as his wife. The story handed down through many generations that his first wife was scalped by the Indians and that his second wife was Joan Constable, a redheaded Jewess, brought over among the "Virgins" for wives of the colonists has been proved to be a myth. Mordecai Cook patented 1174 acres of land on Mock Jack Bay, in Gloucester County, Virginia, on October 20, 1650. Here he established his home and raised his family. The place was named "Mordecai's Mount". This place remained in the Cooke family for more than 100 years. Upon the death of Mordecai 5 Cooke (Mordecai 4 - Mordecai 3 - Mordecai 2 - Mordecai 1) in 1769 "Mordecai's Mount" passed by will to his mother, Sarah Smith Cooke Throckmorton, and the name was changed to "Church Hill".

Mordecai Cooke, the immigrant, died before 1667, but he and his wife Susan Peasley Cooke, left four sons, Mordecai, Thomas, Giles, and John, and a daughter Elizabeth. All of these children married and had issue. The four boys had a total of twelve sons who became the progenitors of a large number of Cookes who were prominent in Virginia and the Carolinas during the 18th and early 19th centuries. Law and medicine were favorite professions of this line of Cooks. Many of the male descendents bore the name of Mordecai, John, Thomas, Giles and William.

In the first edition of Dr. Stubbs' book, published in 1896, the following statement is made regarding Mordecai Cooke and his descendents: "Settling in Gloucester in 1650 at 'Mordecai's Mount', the Cookes have always been large landholders. 'Wareham', 'Woodlawn', 'Woodbury', 'Cedars', 'Beechly', and 'Chalk Level', are also old homesteads of this family

"The Cookes have always been a brave, hospitable, and peace loving people. They have filled prominent places in parochial, State and National governments. They have intermarried with the best families of the country, and today their blood may be found co-mingled with that of hundreds of other families in almost every State in the Union, but notably in the Southern and Middle Western States. Wherever found, the gentle, persistent, hospitable, sport-loving spirit of the Cookes is apt to reveal itself."

The following notice which appeared in a local paper in Gloucester County, Virginia, in 1888 regarding the death of Francis Whiting 5 Cooke (Mordecai 4 - John 3 - Mordecai 2 - Mordecai 1) will give some idea as to the prominence of the Cooke family. "Mr. Cooke was born at the 'Cedars', in this county, on the 9th of July 1802, and died at the place of his nativity. Mr. Cooke at the time of his death was one of the most respected and perhaps oldest citizen of this county. He was of the ancient family of the Cookes of 'Wareham' at which place he was laid to rest with his ancestors on the 6th day of the month. His family have been conspicuous in this county and in the state for more than two hundred years, holding many offices of trust and confidence, and they always by their high character, domestic virtues, and lavish hospitality, deserved the respect and esteem of the people among whom they lived. His father was Col. Mordecai Cooke, who for some time represented this county in the Colonial House of Burgesses. One of his brothers was Col. Giles B. Cooke, a distinguished citizen of Norfolk, a leading lawyer of that city and her representative in the General Assembly. Another brother was Col. Mordecai Cook, of Portsmouth, perhaps during his life the most prominent citizen of that city. He was known over the Commonwealth as a member of the Legislature and as the Grand Master of Masons, and his portrait now adorns the Grand Lodge rooms at Richmond. One of his sisters married Mr. D'Arcy Paul, of Petersburg, so well known for his piety and good works, and whose memory is so dearly cherished by the Methodist Episcopal Church, of which he was for the most of his life a leading member. One sister, Mrs. Rose, of Portsmouth, survives him."

Nancy Murchison Cook, dau. of Martin (180), b. July 27, 1836, in Wayne County, Tennessee. She m. (1) January 21, 1868.

Benjamin Stansbury Hardin, b. January 14, 1831; they lived near a big spring on Eagle Creek about four miles South of Clifton. This place was later (1950) owned by William Edd Moore (216). Benjamin was a first lieutenant in the 9th Tenn Cavalry which was mustered into the Confederate Service at Waynesboro, Tenn., August, 1862, (H. T., p. 773). He d. March 11, 1881. She m. (2) Sol S. Hudiburg. They lived near Olive Hill. She d. October 27, 1916, and was buried beside her first husband in the Shady Grove Church Cemetery on Hardin's Creek.

Benjamin Stansbury Hardin was a son of Amos Hardin who was b. December 18, 1802, d. February 14, 1880, and a descendent of Col. Joseph Hardin for whom Hardin County, Tennessee was named. Col. Joseph Hardin was b. near Richmond, Virginia, and d., probably in Roane County, Tennessee. He settled "Hardin's Valley" in Knox County, Tennessee. During the Revolutionary War, he and his brothers, John and Benjamin, and a brother-in-law, Frederick Hambright, were living in Lincoln County, N. C. On July 26, 1775, Joseph and Benjamin Hardin and Frederick Hambright were signers of the Tryon Declaration of Independence.

According to Worth S. Ray, in his book, "Tennessee Cousins," Col. Joseph Hardin came with his surveyors from Union County, Tennessee, in 1815, and in 1816 located his military claim of 2000 acres, with grants of 1000 acres for each of his sons, along the banks of the Tennessee River in what is now Hardin County. His sons are listed as James, Gibson, Amos, Benjamin, Robert, and John (who was killed by the Indians near Lookout Mountain, Tennessee). He also had a daughter Margaret who m. Minnian Steel.

In 1817 the Hardin boys, with several other families, left Roane County Tennessee for their new claims. One party came by water and landed at the mouth of Hardin's Creek. They settled on the east side of the Tennessee River opposite where the town of Cerro Gordo now stands. The other party came over land and settled on the head waters of Hardin's Creek. The Hardins were Whigs and were active in politics. After Hardin County was established, November 13, 1819, the first session of the Hardin County Court met at the home of Col. James Hardin, January 3, 1820, and he was elected county court clerk. Wayne County was established about the same time and the first session of the Wayne County Court met at the home of Benjamin Hardin, who was then living on Factory Fork, a tributary of Shoal Creek, at the crossing of the Natchez Trace. Benjamin Hardin was elected the first sheriff of Wayne County. He was also one of the first justices of the county. After the death of Col. James Hardin his widow and children moved to Kentucky.

While Worth S. Ray states that Hardin County was named for Col. Joseph Hardin it is stated in Goodspeed's history of Tennessee that the county was named for Col. John Hardin of Revolutionary fame. As noted above Col. John was a son of Col. Joseph.

A Reunion of the Martin Cook
Descendents, in Wayne Co., Tenn., August 6, 1898.

A local Wayne Co. newspaper carried the following article in the August 11, 1898 issue:

"Saturday, Aug. 6th, on Hardin's creek, near Shady Grove, was a memorable day to the descendents of the Martin Cook family.

"In 1820 Martin Cook and Katie Murchison were married and raised their family, consisting of five children, at the Rich Moore place. Of the five only three were married, viz. Elizabeth to Thomas Moore, John to Mary A. Johnson and Nannie to B. S. Hardin, all of whom reared large families on and near Hardin's creek. Of the Thomas Moore lineage there were present at the reunion himself, two sons, Richard and Ed, with their families, and one daughter, Mrs. Alansen Brown, and her daughter, Miss Nannie of San Marcos, Tex.

"Of the John Cook family there were present his widow, three sons and four daughters, John, Doctors Kinney L. and Tim, Nannie Grimes, Fannie Walker and Kate Farris, accompanied by their families, and Miss Belle Cook. Also the families of Mr. W. M. Cook and Mrs. Mollie Deberry, deceased. Of the B. S. Hardin family present were his five children, John, Mrs. Kate Hudiburg and family, Lee, Nena and Bennie, with their mother, Mrs. S. S. Hudiburg, also Mr. Hudiburg. Eighty-six of the Martin Cook posterity still survive; of this number seventy-four participated in the joys of the occasion. Everything to make the occasion a grand success was done, under the direction of Dr. K. L. Cook, who was marshal of the day.

"Those present who were not directly connected with the family were Mrs. J. W. Johnson and daughter, Miss Estelle, of Alabama, Mrs. Dillon and daughter, Miss Lillie, Mr. Joe Webster and wife, Misses Willie L. and May Hardin, and W. A. Johnson, all of whom with the relatives, seemed to enjoy themselves very much. Some were old and decrepit, with gray hairs adorning their temples, some young and gay, full of frolic and glee, but all alike mingled together in pleasant conversation, enjoying the festivities of the occasion.

"Each family came with their baskets loaded with the choicest and most toothsome viands. When dinner was announced a short but appropriate prayer was offered by uncle 'Tommie' Moore, senior member of the family, then each fared sumptuously until the appetite of the inner man was thoroughly gratified.

“Many appropriate songs were sung and played on organ and violins, which lent inspiration and charms to the pleasantries of the day. After the repast was over all assembled in groups of families and were photographed, that they might have something to recall the happy event. With the aged, nothing is needed as a gentle reminder, it will ever be fresh in their memories, the change that each succeeding year may bring, will be noted minutely, but with the youths whose minds are engrossed with the gayety of worldly pleasure it will ere long be effaced from their memory.

“One thing of which the family may well be proud is the purity of the character of the women, whose fine personal appearance is only exceeded by their gentleness of nature and deeds of kindness. A marked characteristic of the men is their spirit of enterprise and generosity, always loyal to their party and friends, actuated in all things by noble impulses of right.”

(A) THE MORRIS LINE

326. William Morris

Catherine Morris (347) married James Eli Grimes (10). She was a granddaughter of William (326) and Rebecca (Grimes) Morris. William was born August 16, 1774. Rebecca was born November 6, 1782. This branch of the Morris family is said to have emigrated from Pennsylvania to North Carolina and then to Tennessee.

There were two prominent Morris families in Pennsylvania during the early history of that state. One family was headed by Anthony Morris, II. He came from England to Burlington, New Jersey, in 1682, and to Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, in 1685. He was a justice of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania, 1693-1698, the mayor of Philadelphia, 1703-1704, and a representative of the Assembly of the Province, 1698-1704.

The second Morris family was headed by Robert Morris who was born in Liverpool, England, January 31, 1734, and who came to Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, in 1747. Robert was one of the signors of the Declaration of Independence. He was a member of the Pennsylvania Assembly, 1776-1781 and 1785-1789, and a United States Senator from Pennsylvania, 1789-1795. He was a man of wealth and is known in history as the "Financier of the American Revolution." Some of the William Morris relatives believe that they are descended from Robert Morris, but my records are not complete in this regard.

It is indicated in Tennessee history that William and Rebecca (Grimes) Morris came to Tennessee between 1780 and 1810, with the early settlers from North Carolina and Virginia who established a colony on the banks of the Cumberland River where Nashville now stands. William was recorded as a lieutenant in the 25th Regiment of Light Infantry in Dixon County, Tennessee, in 1809. Isaac Morris, apparently a brother of William, b. in North Carolina, came to Tennessee in 1810. He settled first in Sumner County, then in Dixon County, and in 1822 in Henderson County. Some of his descendents still live in this part of the state. William and Rebecca moved from Dixon County, Tennessee, to Logan County, Kentucky, in 1814. After a few years they returned to Tennessee and settled on a farm, later (1900) known as the Keaton farm and still later (1950) as the Van Davidson farm on Hardin's Creek, in Wayne County. According to Tennessee History (H.T., p. 877) the Morris family entered land in Wayne County before 1820 (the first settlers arrived in this county about 1812). William Morris is listed in the 1820 U. S. census reports for Wayne County and at that time had a wife and ten sons, seven under sixteen years of age. William fought in the War of 1812 and participated in the Battle of New Orleans. (H.T. p. 877). He was a Whig and he died in Wayne County May 4, 1859. His wife, Rebecca, was a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church South. She died August 22, 1845. They are buried on a hill on their old home farm in Wayne County. Over their graves there was standing in 1957 a marker inscribed: "Remains of Father, Mother, and Son: William, Rebecca, and John Morris." No dates or other information are given.

My mother, Nancy Elizabeth [Cook (196)] Grimes was a granddaughter, on her mother's side, of Nathaniel F. and Frances (Montague) Johnson. Nathaniel F. Johnson (382) was b. October 13, 1808, and Frances Montague (409) was b. April 10, 1810, in Breckinridge County, Kentucky. They were married March 8, 1831, in Wayne County, Tennessee. They established their home on Hardin's Creek in the Shady Grove Community. Records in the Department of Archives and History, Nashville, Tennessee, show that a land grant for 47 acres and 144 poles, in Range 11, Section 1, of Wayne County, was issued to Nathaniel F. Johnson. The land was surveyed April 22, 1841, and the grant was signed by Gov. William Trousdale, April 23, 1850. Nathaniel F. d. January 22, 1868, and was buried on the Johnson farm. His widow d. January 19, 1885, and was buried in the Cook Cemetery.

Very little is known about Nathaniel F. Johnson's people. According to Tennessee history (H.T., p. 764), his father, John Johnson, was among the first settlers on Hardin's Creek in Wayne County in 1816. Presumably he, like most of the early settlers in Middle Tennessee, came from North Carolina or Virginia. He was listed in the U. S. census reports for Wayne County in 1820 as having a wife, four sons and one daughter. The daughter is known to have been Nancy, who married William Montague (406), a brother of Nathaniel's wife, Frances. One of the sons (name unknown) was the father of Captain Johnnie W. Johnson, who fought in the Confederate Army and later made his home and reared a family in Florence, Alabama. According to a grave marker in the Morgan Cemetery, on the Clifton-Waynsboro road, John Johnson was born in 1777 and died October 6, 1865.

Frances [Montague (409)] Johnson was descended from Peter Montague who came from England to America in 1621. Her line of descent is recorded under Section III, Part C - "The Montague Line."

(C) THE MONTAGUE LINE

391. Peter Montague.

Frances Montague (409) who married Nathaniel F. Johnson (382) was a direct descendent from Peter Montague (1603-1659) who came from England to Jamestown Virginia on the "Charles", in November, 1621. Peter was a son of Peter Montague, Sr. and Elenor (Allen) Montague of Boveney, Buckinghamshire, England. Peter had three brothers, William, Richard and Robert, and three sisters, Elizabeth, Anna and Margaret. Richard also came to America. He arrived on the "Speedwell" in 1634. He married Abigail Downing, settled in Hadley, Mass. and was the ancestor of the New England Montagues. Peter settled in Virginia, married Cicily Mathews, and was the ancestor of the Southern branch of Montagues.

Peter Montague (1603-1659) descended from Drogo-de-Montacute, who was born in Normandy, about 1040. Drogo was a close personal friend of Robert Earl of Moriton, favorite brother of William Duke of Normandy.

Drogo joined in William's expedition against England, landed on the coast of Sussex in September, 1066, and was in the Battle of Hastings, which was won by the invaders October 14, 1066. He was the first Montacute, later changed to Montague, in England and was awarded large tracts of land in the county of Somerset when William ascended to the throne.

Note: Information on the Montague line was taken from the book, "Montague Genealogy". I am indebted to Elsie Morris Smith (379) for the loan of this book.

His children were: Nancy J., Caroline C., Martha A., William J., James P., Emeline, Adeline, Thomas J., Alfred O., Earintha, Abner J., Mary F., and - by his second wife - Robert A. He wrote the following brief history of himself in 1878.

"I was born in Granville County, N. C. Dec. 15th, 1798. My Father's name was Wm. Montague, my mother's maiden name was Mary Owen. My parents moved to Breckinridge County Ky. in 1801 or 2 where we lived until my father's death in 1814. Mother then moved to Maury County, Tenn., in the spring of 1815 with her 8 children, 4 boys and 4 girls. The daughters Charlotte, who married Issac Grimes; Nancy, who married Morgan Ross; Fannie, who married Nathaniel Johnson, and Mary, who married Isaac Ross. The sons were Thomas, myself, John and William. I was married to my first wife, Clarissa Jones, in Maury County, Jan. 7, 1819, where I lived until the spring of 1822 when I moved to Wayne County, with my wife and two children, where I have spent the remainder of my days. We had 12 children, 5 sons and 7 daughters, named as follows: Wm., James, Thomas, Abner and Alfred, Earintha, Adaline, Nancy, Caroline, Martha, Emeline and Fannie, all of whom lived to be grown, except Abner, who was burned to death when quite a child. We lived comfortably and happily together until it pleased God to take her from us. She died in July 1846, in the triumphs of a living faith. I married my present wife, Acenath Coleman, in January 1847, by whom I had one son, R. A. who died in early manhood. My first wife and I lived together 27 1/2 years, with my last wife, to this writing, 31 years (to his death, 36 years). I have tried to be content with my lot through life, and have lived as happily as could be expected with the loss I have sustained — having lost my first wife and all my children but 3, one son and two daughters (one daughter, Nancy, died two days after him) but still I am blessed with fortitude to bear all, knowing that the Lord giveth and taketh away. Nearly all of them have left evidence of their acceptance with God. The three living are professors, and live not far from the old home.

"I have living at this date, 1878, 3 children, 26 grandchildren and 34 great-grandchildren.

"I professed religion soon after I moved to this county, but did not join the church until the fall of 1845, when I joined the Baptist church at Philadelphia the year it was constructed. I have tried to live a consistent member, but of this I leave others to speak."

Author's Note: When I was a very small child my father rented land from Abraham Montague's widow, Acenath, and we lived in the old Montague home. Up the road about one mile lived one of Abraham's sons, Alfred, who at that time was a dignified old gentleman with long white beard. He was a large and prosperous farmer and by the general consent of his neighbors the leader in the local church, school and other worthwhile community enterprises. He was typical of the members of the Montague family as I knew many of them in later years. They were men and women of strong moral character, with energy, ambition, and leadership ability.
