Dedicated to the Memory of:
THOMAS EDWARD HUEY

For getting me interested in collecting this history, and furnishing most of the data from James G. L. Huey, who was his cousin, and my great-grandfather.

THANKS:

To Dr. J. Paul Reynolds for his valuable help.
To Miss Nancy Crockett and Mrs. Jessie Huey Laurence for their valuable contributions.
To Miss Emma Huey and Sisters for their help.
To Paul R. Huey, for his Andrew Huey descendants.
To James G. Huey, for his list of John McMurray Huey heirs.
To Landry Huey McMurray for his interesting data.
To Mrs. Sarah Huey Lewis for her splendid help.
To George B. Huey for History of Enterprise, Ala., Hueys.
and to many others that helped make this volume possible.

Although this history is far from complete, it is about the best we can do at this time.

We apologize for any errors we have made, as many years have passed since the beginning, and much information on any family depends largely on someone's memory, and scattered records.

We hope it will be of value and interest to you and your families, and that you will benefit from this knowledge, for many years to come.

“THE ARRIVAL OF THE HUEYS IN AMERICA”

During the Scotch insurrection in 1745, in favor of Charles Edward, the grandson of James the Second, (of the House of Stewart), who was called the “Pretender” who was an exile in France claimed the throne of England. He was supported by a strong element called the Scotch-Irish, they were decisively defeated at “Culloden” on April 16th, 1746. His adherents emigrated to America that year (1746) in great numbers and settled in the Carolinas, (particularly North Carolina). Among them were several brothers named “Huey”. Intelligent, highminded, God-fearing men, they brought their great principles with them to the land of their adoption and in the contest for Liberty and Independence they freely shed their blood; offered wise counsel and sacrificed both money and property on Freedom’s altar, and some of them like the followers of the Pretender at Culloden in “Death were laid low with their back to the field and their feet to the foe, and leaving in life no blot on their name, looked proudly to Heaven from their death bed of fame”.

Dear Cousin George Huey:

Yours of the 10th instant was received on yesterday, and as you ask for the genealogy of the Huey family, and being the natural custodian of the history of our race, I will at once proceed to furnish the main facts as I have them from the records through my father, from my grandfather, James Huey, many years ago. Premising that I am the oldest son of the oldest living sons, with issue, of the family, for nearly two hundred years, in unbroken succession. I do so now, being admonished that advanced years and feeble health counsel me to do whatever is done quickly.

We were originally of Scotch stock, who sailed from the shores of Scotland soon after the battle of the Boyne, in Ireland in 1690, by which, the Catholics of the Northern part of the island, were defeated by the forces of King William, and opening up the country to protestant immigration. The enterprising people of the adjacent coasts of Scotland availing themselves of the opening of a fine country emigrated in considerable numbers to the Emerald Isle, landing mostly in Londonderry, and spreading out in the direction of Belfast, occupied the Counties of Down and Antrim, forming what was designated the Scotch-Irish population of that fertile portion of the country, where our immediate race of people became Irishmen, though of pure Caledonian blood, and were of course in faith and practice real protestants. I have in my genealogical family bible, the names of the old fathers, whom I suppose were all respectable people, judging from the marriage connections formed. My great grandfather, Hercules Huey, was the son of James Huey and Margaret Huey, the sister of Lord Hercules Ellis, and my great grandfather in turn married Katherine Perssee, daughter of Sir Richard Perssee, a gentleman of wealth and political importance in that country, and from this marriage a considerable family has sprung up. Their eldest son, Alexander Huey, was trained for a military life, and through the influence of his mother's family, was made a captain of a war vessel in the British Navy, and sent on a cruise to the East Indies, where he probably died more than a hundred years ago, without issue, and with no especial record. James Huey, the second son, who was my grandfather, was a cabinet maker by trade, and a short time before our Revolutionary War had reached the Southern Colonies, sailing to America, landing in Charleston, South Carolina, and soon after his mother and family came to America, and settled in the Waxhaw Settlement, in the upper part of the State, in what was afterward designated as Lancaster District, South Carolina. Grandfather joined the Army under General Thomas Sumpter, and served till the close of the struggle, a part of the time under General Marion and wherever duty called him. He was in the battle of Camden under General Gates, and was there shot through the leg, but was able to get off the field after the defeat of the American forces. I have often seen the scar. He was a good rider and an expert shot with the rifle.

His mother lost her first husband in the old country, and married a second time to a man by the name of Abram Adams, who came with her to America, where both died sometime after the peace with Great Britain, and both lie buried in the graveyard at the old Waxhaw Church, Lancaster District, South Carolina. After the war closed grandfather married a Miss Polly Coffee, who lived a few months. When he married again, it was to his old sweetheart and first love, Miss Jane Walker, daughter of John Walker, and his wife, was a Miss Boyd, were immigrants from the County of Antrim, Ireland, the same from which he and family came to America. When John Walker settled in the old Waxhaw neighborhood, he opened what was then called a good country store, and soon accumulated a large stock of cattle, while his oldest son, Andrew Walker, took charge as herdsman. Being an expert horseman, when the British Army overran that country under Lords Rowdon and Cornwallis, he organized a company of which his cowboys made a part, and harassed the enemy a good deal in their foraging raids, and at one time after a desperate fight, took thirteen prisoners, and with them effected an exchange for his brother Thomas Walker, and five others who were then in Camden jail, among whom was Andrew Jackson, the distinguished hero of New Orleans, most of them were mere boys, and captured in the surrounding country. Andrew Walker's name appears with credit in several histories which I have seen, and I also remember the old man himself in his last years.

The children of the marriage of my grandfather to Jane Walker were Alexander Boyd Huey, my father, Robert Davis, who was your grandfather, John Boyd; James and Thomas Walker, together with Jennie Huey and who married a Mr. David Walkup.

Grandfather, like all our family, was natural mechanic, and was skillful with tools, and was made useful while in the Army making and repairing wagons, and after settling in life, followed that occupation in connection with his farm, where after my day, he was a good workman, using his old country tools, among which I remember the old navy barrel augers, which he always preferred to the American screw augers. Grandfather was born in Antrim County, Ireland, May 8, 1759, and died April 5th, 1836. Grandmother lived several years longer.

My father and your grandfather married sisters, daughters of William McCain, who married Elornor Johnson of an English family whose brother's son, Richard M. Johnson, distinguished himself as an Indian fighter and with his own hand slew the great Indian, Chief Tecumseh, and was afterward made Vice-President of the United States, at the time that Martin Van Buren was President. The McCains were also Scotch people with an admixture of English stock and were a quiet, peaceable and industrious family, the older ones taking an active part in the struggle for independence. Our grandfather, William McCain, with his grandfather, first settled in Pennsylvania, then removed to North Carolina and lived on Cane Creek, Mecklenburg County, and were all farmers, making themselves comfortable by tilling the soil.

Your Cousin,
James G. L. Huey

MEMORANDA IN THE LIFE OF JAMES GRANDISON LEROI HUEY

I was born June 28th, 1813, in the Waxhaw Settlement, Lancaster District, South Carolina, 4 miles East of the cornerstone of the line dividing the States of North and South Carolina, about 50 yards on the South side of the line of Mecklenburg County, North Carolina.

My father, Alexander Boyd Huey, was the eldest son of James Huey and Jane Walker, who lived on Cane Creek, Lancaster District, S. C. My grandfather, James Huey, was the 2nd son of Hercules Huey, and was born in Antrim County, Ireland, of Scotch parents, on May 8th, 1759, and came to the American Colony of South Carolina just before the Revolutionary War, and was followed soon after by his mother and family, who settled near where I was born.

When the war broke out in the South he attached himself to the Army under General Thomas Sumpter, and there remained until peace had crowned the efforts of the Colonies. Sometimes with General Marion and at last with General Greene, where he was detailed to repair and make wagons.

He first married a Miss Polly Coffee, who lived a few months, and then he sought his first love, Miss Jane Walker, daughter of John Walker, who had emigrated from the North of Ireland, not far from Belfast, and settled in the Waxhaws near where my grandfather lived.

On the 22nd day of December 1787, my father was born in less than 1 mile of my nativity. On the 27th of August 1789, my mother, Elizabeth Ross McCain, 4th child of William McCain, who had married Miss Eleanor Johnson, a sister to the father of Richard M. Johnson, who became Vice-President of the United States with Martin Van Buren when he was made President. She and my father were married on the 21st day of March, 1811, by Joseph Walkup, a Justice of the Peace, and soon after settled at the place where I was born on the 28th of June, 1813.

One child had been born to them in 1812, but soon died, so I was ever after regarded as the first born or the oldest child.

The next year after my birth, my father volunteered in the service of the United States, in what was then regarded as the second revolution, and was marched to the defense of Charleston and served until peace was concluded, being promoted to the rank of First Lieutenant and came home in the Spring of 1815, in a spell of sickness.

During father's absence in the Army, mother remained at the homestead and took care of the place as best she could and devoted her attentions to her only child, and when she heard father was sick, in company with father's brother, John B. Huey, traveled 60 to 70 miles on horse back to meet her sick husband, and the first remembrance of my father when he got home was to be afraid of his uniform, a blue coat faced with red, presenting a gay appearance.

Grandfather was a small man, about 5 feet and 8 inches high, and weighing 120 pounds, with fair skin, dark eyes and black curly hair.

He made a good soldier and was an expert rider and a good rifleman, being often sent on long rides with important dispatches, and at the battle of Guilford, North Carolina, was in hearing of the battle, at work repairing Army wagons. He lived to a good old age and died in his 76th year.

Grandmother was a large, well-built woman of brunette complexion. As her father and all the brothers, except Andrew had been taken prisoners and placed in prison, she and two sisters stayed at home and protected, as best they could, the family property.

Her youngest brother, Thomas, with a lad named Andrew Jackson, had been captured by the British at Waxhaw's meeting house and placed in Camden jail, hearing of which, grandmother prepared a sack of provisions and rode to Camden, a distance of more than 40 miles, and delivered it at the jail before sundown. Fearing to stop near the Army of Cornwallis, she started for home the same evening and rode and walked till her horse was exhausted, was directed by a bell to what seemed to be a fresh horse where she made the change and traveled all night, getting home in the early morning hours of the second day, having traveled 80 or more miles on her mission of mercy and love to supply the wants of a stripling brother and the illustrious Andrew Jackson.

I have the statement here, made from her own mouth, verified by those who knew of it.

Andrew Walker, elder brother of my grandfather, had under a commission from the Governor of South Carolina, raised a company of cavalry mainly composed of cowboys in the employ of his father who had a large stock of cattle. With this force he harassed the enemy and at one time captured thirteen foragers whom he exchanged for six persons held by the enemy, among whom were his brother Thomas, and the noble youth who afterwards made his mark on the world at the battle of New Orleans, and as President of the United States, Andrew Jackson.

The exchange of prisoners was effected by grandmother who went to Lord Rowdon's headquarters and negotiated as best she could, giving more than two for one and being roughly treated by that haughty Briton. Much of this history was told me by grandmother and her released brother. Grandmother was a skillful shot and all her life kept her own gun and used it when occasion offered.

Grandfather William McCain was a large soldierly looking man, and had much experience in the Revolutionary service and lived until 1822 or 1823, a thrifty pious man, and raised a large family.

So much for my progenitors to whom memory recurs with feelings of satisfaction, and I revere this memory.

Grandfather Huey raised five sons, Alexander Boyd Huey, Robert Davis Huey, John Boyd Huey, James and Thomas Walker Huey, and one daughter, Jeanett, or as she was called, Jennie, who all lived to become heads of families and become comfortable in life, but all have passed away many years since.

I cannot recall the time when I learned my letters, and as early circumstances would allow, was sent to a school taught by one, James

Thompson, boarding with an uncle, John Walker. What progress was made at school was lost before I could have benefits of another, and I was next put to school with Alexander J. Nesbit, a fairly good teacher with whom I remained one year, and after another long rest went a while to Mr. Joseph Hagins and after working a while on the farm, was placed under the tuition of Mr. Jennings B. Kerr, a capable good teacher, where I received most of my instructions. After leaving school I was invited by Rev. William Blackstock, an aged and learned minister of the Associated Reformed Secular Church, a branch of the Presbyterian denomination, to accompany him on a tour of missionary labors embracing the States of South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama and Tennessee, which required ten months to accomplish, and on the 29th day of January 1828, we left home, returning the first week in December of that year. After working a while on the farm, school was resumed under Mr. Kerr and continued for near a year when I returned to the fields, and on the 8th of August, 1831, getting a severe wound on my left hand, while it was healing I was offered a school near an Uncle Hugh J. McCain and taught six months with tolerable success and to the satisfaction of patrons. After a short spell of labor another school was offered and three months spent there. After that my father sold his land and the family prepared to remove to the State of Georgia, and early in December, 1832, we arrived in Harris County, Georgia, and settled near Uncle Robert D. Huey, on a good tract of land, spending the winter and spring improving the place on which a good living was made the first year and for a long time afterwards, and there both my parents died.

Uncle Robert Huey, having some mills to build, asked me to assist him, and showing some skill in mechanical work was offered a situation in the business by Mr. Richard Hingson, a good mill builder, and with whom I remained more than a year and by that time was able to undertake work myself, and the country being new and well supplied with water power made it profitable.

In the meantime, I was offered a clerkship in a store owned by Major Elisha C. Walker, in Talladega County, Alabama, and with him I remained a year and a half till the great crisis in the financial world took place in 1837, when he failed. Then my Uncle Thomas W. Huey of Lancaster District, S. C., proposed to buy a stock of goods and make me a partner and so I met him in Charleston to comply with it. A good stock was purchased and opened in Talladega on January 1st, 1838, and fair sales made and good business established.

On April 1st, 1838, I was introduced to Miss Virginia B. Maclin, with whom I became well pleased, both on account of her personal quality and good family, proposed marriage and was accepted on the 11th of October, 1838. We were married by Reverend Wiley W. Thomas, my wife's mother was Miss Elizabeth Briggs Mason of the distinguished Mason family of that name, embracing among them soldiers, statesmen, and jurists of high order. She married Benjamin Maclin, a well to do planter and gentleman, whose second child and oldest daughter was the woman who became my wife.

We settled in Talladega soon after our marriage, where on the 15th of June, 1840, our eldest son, Benjamin Maclin Huey was born.

We had six other children, Alexander Pearson, James Leroy, Elizabeth Mason, George Robert, Thomas Walker and Lelia Olivia. Alexander died on August 12th, 1842, James Leroy died September 9, 1855, George Robert died November 4, 1853, Thomas Walker died June 8th, 1875, Lelia Olivia died October 27th, 1857, leaving one son and one daughter now alive at the beginning of 1887.

In the fall of 1858 a sore appeared on the right breast of my wife, which was soon called a cancer, and though all possible remedies were applied, suffered till March 17th, 1859, when she died and was buried in Talladega. She was a woman of fair education for her time and of great personal energy in life, sound practical experience in life, a noble good wife and a tender devoted mother, a tall graceful person and what was called good looking. Peace to her ashes.

Soon after her death the secession of the Southern States brought on the war in which I could not fail to identify myself with my native South, as all true men did. My son, Benjamin, had just graduated at the Southern University and had begun to fit himself for the practice of law when he volunteered in Company E, 10th Alabama Volunteers, being mustered into the Confederate Army on the very day he was twenty-one years of age, and soon after marched off to Virginia, getting into the first battle of Bull Run. He remained in active service till just before the invasion of Pennsylvania, when he was promoted to Second Lieutenant and ordered to report to the Camp of Instructions at Talladega. Sometime after he was commissioned a Captain and ordered to raise a Company of youths under the age of eighteen, which he had partly done and was with them at the time of the surrender. In the meantime he had married Miss Sarah King, a young lady raised near Marion, Alabama, and brought her home on June 13th, 1863, in company with them came the bride's sister, Mrs. Margaret C. Holman, a nice looking young widow, whose acquaintance I made and was so well pleased with her that reasons appeared to induce me to offer my hand in marriage.

The war with the States closing in 1865 by the surrender of the Confederate Army, I then determined to close the affair with Mrs. Holman, and on the 9th of January, 1866, we were married at the home of her mother, Mrs. R. B. King, by Reverend T. F. Mangum, taking her soon after to my home in Talladega where we lived till the latter end of October, 1867, when we moved to my wife's place in Bibb County, Alabama, giving up all of my property to creditors on the close of the war which ruined so many estates.

At the opening of hostilities in April, 1861, an election for Major General of the 8th Division Alabama Militia was ordered, and someone, to me unknown, proposed my name for that place, and on the first Monday in May I was duly elected, having made no effort to secure the office.

I had in 1855 been nominated for Senator for Talladega without it, and after a contest was elected and served only one session. So these were all the public places I ever filled, assisting to remove the State Capitol from Tuscaloosa to Montgomery in 1846.

My only daughter, Elizabeth Mason Huey, was married in March, 1861, to Captain Walter Cook of the Tenth Alabama Volunteers, who a few days after joined his command and the next May was killed in the battle of Chancellorsville, in Virginia. He was a well educated lawyer and made a good soldier. Having taken my daughter to Richmond to see her sick husband, I was in that City during the terrible seven days conflict before the Confederate Capitol and though not under fire was a witness of much that took place at that eventful period.

Having joined a company of old men, I was soon after the battle of Chickamauga marched to a point near Chattanooga to assist in taking care of prisoners and captured arms and was witness of the terrible effects of war. The Yankee slain were still lying on the field of battle, the Federal officers declining to come under a flag of truce and bury their dead. Finding that we could be of little service after remaining several days, our Company was ordered back and so we returned. After the close of the war my son, Benjamin Maclin, moved to Perry County and settled on his wife's place and tried with free labor to make a support, a thing very difficult to do in those days. He afterwards completed his studies in the law and opened an office in Marion where he was enabled to do a profitable practice. He had born to him four sons and four daughters. He was elected as a representative in 1878 and Senator to the General Assembly in 1886.

After moving to Bibb County, it was my purpose to cultivate my wife's farm, which I did until the daughter of my wife married Charles L. Barker, when as the land would be his at my death, I gave up the place to her husband who took charge in 1877. I still lived with the family as I had a life estate in it by reason of my marriage with my wife. On the 8th of February, 1881, I was stricken with paralysis in the left side, which though only a moderate stroke was sufficient to disable me for any effective work ever after. On the 17th of September, 1883, being caught in a slight rain when returning from Church, followed by a chill, typhoid fever came on and at my time of life destroyed a tolerable vigorous constitution.

One short chapter shall be required to complete the record of a life void of results except to do evil to no man. Hoping that my grandchildren may be able to claim a good heritage and become honorable citizens, I can only lay claim to an humble name in this world and to ask God's blessings on all who bear the name and admonish them to strive to elevate and adorn an humble beginning.

James G. L. Huey

Note: It has been ascertained that the Huey family were Huguenots spelling the name Huet, and coming originally from France to Scotland and Ireland and thence to the Carolinas. Probably of the same family as that of Pierre Daniel Huet, French Scholar, Bishop of Arranchee, who lived 1630 to 1721.

PART OF MEMOIRS OF JAMES G. L. HUEY

The Rev. William Blackstock, a learned and able minister of the A.R.P. Church came to reside with us in 1825 and lived in a rented house nearby and boarded with my father. He had no family, having lost his wife many years before and was 70 years old and wanted to live near Tirzah of which church he was pastor. He had a good library and I spent evenings with him. He was by birth and education an Irishman, passing his collegiate life in Glasgow, Scotland, and attending the divinity school near Selkirk, near Edinburgh. Came to this country in 1796.

In 1827 William Blackstock was chosen as a missionary of the church and young Huey was taken as a helper on the trip. The darkest frontier life with the best of people who took in and fed strangers, believing in the goodness of all and asking no questions or showing suspicion. They started on the 29th of Jan., 1828. Crossed S. C. to Newton County, Georgia, where a church was organized near Snapping Shoals on South River a branch of the Momulgee. Then into Monroe County, Ga., where infants were baptised, and people visited there was no church. At this time his father's oldest brother, Robert Davis Huey, had settled there. Then to Macon. They planned to go to Tallahassee but South Georgia was not settled and they were advised to turn back through Alabama. They visited people in Atauqua and Dallas County, Alabama, where a large number of people from Camden and Waxhaw, S. C., had already gone. Then they went to Perry County, Alabama, and stayed with some Seceder friends, the Craigs and Barrons, baptizing their children and administering sacrament. Then up to Greensboro, Tuscaloosa and Franklin and Russell Counties of Alabama, where similar rites were administered. Crossed to Tennessee river through Gillas County, Tenn., then to Maury County, Tenn. After a week there we went to Obion near the Mississippi river and stayed there some weeks then down to Jackson near Memphis calling on people who desired ministerial aid. Then we turned Eastward through Maury, Williamson and Rutherford County, Tenn., entered the Cherokee Nation near Chattanooga, Tenn., crossed into Georgia by Gainesville, then to Milledgeville, through Burke County where the Synod was met, and reported and ended the mission. Returned through Augusta through Chester, S. C., and back home in December, 1828.

In 1832 his father sold out and moved to Harris County, Ga. His Uncle, Robert Davis Huey, had moved to Harris County from Monroe County and James Grandison Leroi Huey built gins and mills with him. James Alexander Huey, a cousin was sheriff of Harris County.

Moved to Kelly Springs, Ala., where he was engaged as a clerk for his cousin, Elijah C. Walker. Lived with the Walker family. In 1826 was in military and was an Aide to General William B. McClelland.

In 1834 his uncle, Thomas Walker Huey, of Lancaster County, S. C., asked him to go in business with him at Talladega, Ala., met his uncle in Charleston where goods were bought and shipped to Mobile, and by wagon up the old trail from Mobile and Chattanooga (nearly 300 years old). This partnership lasted until 1857.

Was a delegate to the convention which nominated James K. Polk for President.

COMMENTS OF
JAMES G. L. HUEY, AND OTHERS

*By E. Grace Jemison, in Historic Tales of Talladega.
Paragon Press, Montgomery, 1959.*

Talladega Post Office: Formerly in St. Clair County, was established on Jan. 19th, 1833, 2 months before it was chosen County seat, with Hugh G. Barclay postmaster. He served until May 8, 1840, J. G. L. Huey followed. . . .

During the years 1840 to 1845, the speculative merchants were moving out and the permanent merchants were moving in, who were destined to be instrumental in establishing Talladega as the trading center of several counties. Such names as Hardie, Henderson, Isbell, Huey, etc., and dozens of other moneyed business men of unquestionable integrity entered the mercantile business in Talladega. . . .

Politics is brought into the picture because Talladega County played a prominent part in the election of 1844. At that time, Felix G. McConnell was a leading Democrat, and was serving as US Representative in Washington. Other leading Democrats were Samuel F. Rice, Wm. McPherson, John J. Woodward, Thomas A. Walker, J. L. M. Curry, J. G. L. Huey, and Frank L. Bowden. . . .

In the meantime, a rival paper had appeared. In February of 1840 The Democratic Watchtower was founded by a company consisting of G. T. McAfee, Wm. Curry, D. A. Griffin, J. G. L. Huey, and Samuel F. Rice. Mr. Rice was editor. In 1842 John J. Woodward became editor. He was followed by J. G. L. Huey in 1844. . . .

An election took place on Oct. 26, 1850, for choice of Directors for the Alabama & Tennessee Rivers Railroad. Managers in Talladega County were James Isbell, A. R. Barclay, J. G. L. Huey and A. W. Bowie. . . .

For many years Isbell & Company were the only bankers in Talladega. They began operations in 1848. Several years later, J. G. L.

Huey opened a bank on the West side of East St. North, just North of the Public Square, but he closed it when the War between the States was declared, and it was never reopened. . . .

In an issue of the Talladega Watchtower in 1843, there appears an ad of the Riddle Brothers at Marie Forge, of implements on sale at the store of Huey & Co., in Talladega. . . .

Mill Irons, etc., made to the shortest notice. He will also keep a constant supply of assorted iron at the store of Messrs. T. W. Huey & Co., Talladega, etc. . . .

Another Company which dealt in marble products of their own quarry, was H. B. Oden & Co. The Odens had an insignia of their own and their grave stones can be located over the county and state also. In 1858 the firm of H. B. Oden & Co., consisted of Henry B. Oden, Andrew W. Bowie, James G. L. Huey and others. . . .

In the year 1854 James G. L. Huey, Supt. of the Sunday School and John T. Morgan, a young lawyer, walked out of the frame building and began conversation regarding the need of a larger and better place of worship. John T. Morgan purchased the lot. The idea of a new building was accepted, and building plans went forward immediately with James G. L. Huey, 2 others, as Trustees. . . .

Rev. James S. Lane, a local preacher and man of worth, James G. L. Huey, Sunday School Supt. and Class Leader, etc., John B. Huey, et al., Stewards. James G. L. Huey became Supt. of the Sunday School in 1842 and served in that capacity until 1867. . . .

Benjamin Maclin Huey, was born in Talladega, June 15, 1840, and died May 26, 1906, at Marion, Ala. He was the son of J. G. L. Huey, who built the home which is now known as the Educational Building of Trinity Methodist Church. He studied law in the office of A. J. Walker, was admitted to the Bar in 1866, and moved to Marion to practice his profession.

Benjamin Maclin Huey, was one of the two first graduates (J. V. Glass, being the other one) of old Southern University, July, 1860, now Birmingham-Southern College. . . .

The Democratic Watchtower of Talladega, dated Jan. 16, 1861, gave a detailed description of the celebration in Talladega following the news that Alabama had seceded. All homes and business houses were brilliantly lighted, and people went from home to home carrying and discussing the news. Bonfires burned in the streets. The Talladega Artillery under Capt. Morgan and the Alabama Rifles under Capt. Johnson, paraded in full dress uniform around the square. Fifteen guns were fired by the Artillery in honor of the South, after which the companies, with many citizens, repaired to the Court House, where patriotic and appropriate speeches were made by Maj. J. G. L. Huey, et al.

by Sergeant Benjamin Maclin Huey*

In Camp. July 12, 1862.

Miss Sallie E. King,
My Dear Friend:

Since my last, of the date of the 12th May, I have been in three hard fought battles. viz:—"Seven Pines," "Gaines Mills" and the one fought on the 30th "near Darbytown Road." Strange to say, I have escaped unhurt from them all with the exception of two bruises from a spent minnie ball and a spent grape shot. Seven of my company have been killed and fifteen wounded, and our Colonel was also killed and our Major wounded. Whilst I am deeply affected at the loss of some of my associates, I am at the same time particularly thankful for the divine protection which still preserves me, "sane meus in sano corpore". We have signally defeated the enemy in a number of pitched battles, and that, too, when we had to charge their breastworks, and their batteries. Our brigade (consisting of the 8th, 9th, 10th, and 11th Alabama Regiments) charged three successive lines of breastworks and two batteries on Friday the 27th at "Gaines Mills" and took them, running the enemy before us like sheep and shooting them down in numbers. I imagined the Williamsburg fight was a pretty severe fight, but I never went through such a storm of canister, grape shot and minnie balls in my life as I went through on the 27th and 30th June. Hundreds of our men were mowed down, but we faltered not, and the enemy always ran. I obtained a number of trophies from the battle field including two beautiful Sergeant Swords, and a lot of Counterfeit Confederate notes struck off by one "S. C. Upham of Chestnut Street Philadelphia". Enclosed I send you one of them as an evidence of the baseness of the means resorted to by the Yankees to break down our Government. On the lower margin of the bill you will observe the words—"Chestnut Street Philadelphia" which they failed to trim off. Please accept as a trophy this facsimile note, since it is perfectly valueless in every other sense. I also will enclose a letter from a Yankee snip to a gentleman friend. Excuse the soiling of it as it was unavoidable. The letter is an exception to the most of the Northern letters-being far superior to the generality. But perhaps snip Sallie I have wearied you with these accounts of battles, since you see so many statements in the papers, and so I will change the conversation or rather the subject, and see if I can write something else (I hope) more interesting.

Well! What shall we discuss next? Shall it be the weather, that old hackneyed theme? Then let it be—for the heat and dust have been intolerable during the two weeks of our forced marches and fighting, but on yesterday we had a genial shower which was grateful alike to the soldiers and farmers, and today it is much more pleasant. My Father and Sister Bettie (Mrs. Capt. Cook) have been in Richmond for three weeks or more, and now whilst I am writing this letter to you, Father sits near me and says "to whom are you writing my son, that you are taking so much pains". But I give him an evasive reply and write on, as I wish to finish my letter before he leaves, so that I can put it with his budget of letters and have it mailed in Alabama. Father and Sister came to Richmond in reply to a telegram from myself informing them of the dangerous illness of Capt. Cook of our company. By their arrival all the inducements, except one, have been removed that would naturally call me home as all of our small family except a youthful brother are here now. That exception consists in a desire to once more see the beautiful streets of the miniature city of Marion, drive at a dashing pace down the Hamburg road, and above all to have the supreme pleasure of once more being in the company of a certain darkeyed, black haired maiden, whose image still occupies my dreams, still cheers my lonely hours. And the great question is "Would I be welcome as a particular friend, or received as a mere acquaintance?" I will only hope the former and disbelieve the latter until I am undeceived. In my last I stated, Sallie, that if my letters were unpleasant to you that a short note would relieve you, but that I should construe your silence into a tacit consent for me to enjoy the pleasure of writing from time to time. If you have written such a note, it has never reached me, and I hope you will never pen lines of such import to me. I should be delighted to receive a letter or even a note from you at any time Sallie, providing you did not pass sentence against me in the note or letter. With what pleasure do I not look forward to that day when the war ends, and we who are spared can return to our friends and homes. That day will come sooner or later, and then the happiness I anticipate is beyond measure. But I will not look too far into the future, and for fear of wearying you, I will close. Sweet be thy dreams, Sallie, and thy slumbers light and now once more a sweet good night. Believe me sincerely as ever your

A STATEMENT OF THE GENEALOGY OF
COL. B. M. HUEY OF MARION, ALABAMA

1st, on the Huey side.

James Huey of near Londonderry, Antrim County, Ireland, was born there about 1680, of traditional Huguenot stock, who are said to have left France in or about 1660 or 1670, under religious persecution, and their name in France was said to have been Huet—the t being silent at end of word in French, was silent and the name pronounced in France, Hue, with the accent on the final e, and hence it became corrupted in Ireland to Huey.

This James Huey, above named, was married in 1712 at or near Londonderry, Ireland, to a Miss Margaret Ellis, a sister of Lord Hercules Ellis of said County of Antrim, who (Lord Ellis) as said to be an English gentleman who was heir to estates granted by the crown to loyal ancestors, or to him,—Said James Huey lived and died in Ireland.

Hercules Huey, son of just above named parents, was born near Londonderry, Ireland, about 1713, and married Miss Catherine Persse, a daughter of Sir Richard Persse, of Antrim County, Ireland, in 1740 and they lived and died in Ireland.

James Huey, son of last above named parents, and who was my great grandfather, was born near Londonderry, Ireland, May 7th, 1759, and migrated when quite a youth, with other persons of Huguenot descent, to South Carolina, and settled in Lancaster District, (or county) and died there on 5th April, 1836. He entered the Continental army and served about three years as a revolutionary soldier, and was taken prisoner and confined in prison stockade at Camden, S. C., until exchanged. Young Andrew Jackson, and his older brother (Jackson) were in prison at same time with James Huey. After the independence of the U. S. was accomplished, this James Huey was married on the 8th February, 1787, to Miss Jane Walker of Mecklenburg, N. C., a daughter of John Walker, Esq.

Alexander Boyd Huey, son of said last named James Huey, and Jane Huey, was born in Lancaster District, S. C., on the 22nd of December, 1787, and was married on the 11th March, 1811, in Mecklenburg County, North Carolina, to Miss Elizabeth Ross McCain, a daughter of Mr. William McCain of said county. This A. B. Huey, was my paternal grandfather.

James Grandison LeRoi Huey, (my father) was born of the last named A. B. Huey, and Elizabeth Huey, on the 28th June, 1813, in Lancaster District, S. C., and was married on the 11th October, 1838, to Miss Virginia Victoria Maclin, a daughter of Mr. Benjamin Maclin and Mrs. Elizabeth Briggs Mason Maclin, of Greenville County, Virginia, (near Petersburg, Va.).

Benjamin Maclin Huey, son of the last above named parents, was born in the town of Talladega, Ala., on the 15th June, 1840, (oldest son and first born). He married on the 9th June, 1863, in Perry County, Alabama, Miss Sarah Elizabeth King, the 2nd daughter of Capt. Edwin Woody King, and of Mrs. Rhoda Bateman Langdon, (who was a daughter of Mr. Levi Langdon, of Meriden, Connecticut, and was a niece of Hon. Charles C. Langdon, who at the time of his death was Secretary of State of Alabama. Said Capt. Edwin W. King, was a son of Capt. Elisha Ford King, who was originally from Georgia, and was also a nephew of General Edwin D. King, the father of the late Hon. Judge Porter King of Marion, Ala., father of the Hon. Porter King, now of Atlanta, Ga., who was lately mayor of said city.

From this marriage there have been born to B. M. & S. K. Huey, the following children, who are all still living. To wit—Edwin King Huey, (married to Miss Elizabeth Hardy, of Meridian, Miss., a daughter of Capt. W. H. Hardy, atty—have son named Cecil Hardy Huey.) Eugene LeRoi Huey, Benjamin Maclin Huey, Jr., (who was married to Miss Martha Hain of Dallas Co., Ala.), Estelle Virginia Huey (now Mrs. W. B. McBride, wife of William Burt McBride, now of Cincinnati, Ohio), Sarah Huey, Neva Langdon Huey, Thomas Ford Huey, and Clara Augusta Huey. Mr. and Mrs. McBride have two children viz, William Burt McBride, Jr., and Estelle Virginia McBride.

Second, On the Maclin Side,

My Maternal great grandfather, Mr. James Maclin, is said to have migrated from Scotland in the early days of the colonies, to Virginia, and had the following children, viz.

1. James Maclin, who died without heirs.
2. Mary Maclin who married Capt. John Smith and left one son, Dr. George Smith, of Greenville County, Va.
3. Susan Maclin, who married a Mr. Reid of Va., and who left one son, B. F. Reid, of Limestone Co., Ala., also daughter, Ann Eliza, who married a Mr. McKinley of Atlanta, Ga.
4. Thomas Maclin, who married Julia Edmonds, and the only descendant of him is his great grandson, Mr. Thomas Maclin Hobbs, who lives at Athens, Ala., and his lovely wife and two or three children.
5. Benjamin Maclin, who was my grandfather, and married Miss Elizabeth Briggs Mason, of Va., who was a cousin of Hon. John Y. Mason, of Va., and was Secy. of U. S. Navy in 1844 under Wm. Henry Harrison, President U. S., also a cousin of Hon. James M. Mason, of Va., who was a M. C. from Va., in U. S. Congress in 1856 and 1857, and was Confederate Minister to England during war. He, Benjamin Maclin, left the following children, viz—Wm. J. Maclin, Virginia Victoria Maclin, (who was my mother), Elizabeth Maclin, who married Hon. Austin Butts, atty, of Petersburg, Va., and left several children, of whom Mrs. Susan Guy, of Memphis, Tenn., widow of Wm. Guy, (Gen. Polks Quartermaster General during Confederate war). Also Dr. Thomas L. Hauldane Maclin, who married a Miss Maryann Binford of North Alabama, and who now resides in Marion Union Parish, La., with her children. Also Dr. Robert Maclin, who married and died many years ago either in Tenn., or Miss., near Saulsbury, Tenn.
6. John Maclin, who had four sons, viz—Joseph, Alfred, Harvey, and Littleton Maclin, who moved to Maryland long years ago, and married there and left a large family, some whose descendants now live in Baltimore, Md.
7. Rebecca Maclin, who married a Mr. Hauldane, and had no heirs.
8. Elizabeth Maclin, who married a Mr. Lundie of Va., and they had four sons, of whom were Wm. Y. Lundie, an old bachelor, and Thomas Lundie, who left a number of children, of whom are Mrs. Martha L. Sloss of Birmingham, Ala., widow of the late Col. J. W. Sloss, the great iron master of mines and foundries there, and Ben Maclin Lundie of Newman, Ga., and Peter Lundie of Oxford, Mississippi.

My grandfather—A. B. Huey, was a soldier in the war of 1812 with Great Britain, and was stationed at Charleston, S. C., and was elected Lieutenant in his company of troops. He served until peace was made. He was—after his removal to Harris Co., Ga.—a judge of one of the low courts of Ga., for one term. His only living son, Dr. Robert W. Huey, lives at Crystal Springs, Mississippi, and is married but has no heirs, or rather, children. A lot of my first cousins live at Talladega, Ala., and James A. Huey is the clerk of the Circuit court there, and has been for fifteen years and more, and is now the nominee of the Democratic party for a new term of six years for same position. My Father, James Grandison LeRoi Huey, was a Major General of the Ala. State troops, at opening of Confederate war in 1861, and was at one time State Senator from Talladega District. My only sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Neva Marsh, has no children and lives in New York City, New York. All of my brothers and sisters but her died before marriage.

HUEYTOWN, ALABAMA

FROM A COUNTRY SETTLEMENT TO A CITY IN 135 YEARS

By: Simon J. Smith
2021 30th Avenue
Hueytown, Alabama.
Published: July 8, 1960
Bessemer Advertiser

In 1825 Abner McGee entered a tract of land in what is known today as Hueytown. Eleven years later Octavus Spencer entered another tract in the same community. In 1833 Mortimer Jordan purchased thousands of acres from these gentlemen in this community. This estate was sold at auction and otherwise to other people from 1842 when the big auction was held.

John Crooks, Sam and Jesse Huey and Calvin Waldrop had settled in the lower part of the county near what later become known as Toadvine. Calvin Waldrop's father, Joe, entered land in Toadvine country in 1823. The Huey's obtained land on Valley Creek near the Rock Creek settlement.

In 1842, John Crooks bought land from Mortimer Jordan on the road from Mortimer Jordan to Dolomite. For this land he paid $4.00 per acre. In 1866 Sam Huey bought 1100 acres from the Jordan estate for $4.41 an acre. Calvin Waldrop also bought land from the Jordan estate about the same time. Jesse Huey, Sam's twin, purchased 750 acres of land from the Jordan estate, his land reaching almost to the Honeycutt Hill.

Jesse Huey married Catherine Lacy in 1849 before he moved to Hueytown. His brother, Sam, married several times, all his wives dying before any children were born until he finally married Matilda Waldrop. To this union were born several children, but two of his sons were responsible for Sam's moving from the Toadvine country to Hueytown.

There came a June freshet that washed everything the Huey family had away. Sol and Van, sons of Sam Huey, told their father that they were not going to stay where they could not be sure their crops would be washed away. They were leaving, and he could come with them or stay there. He elected to go with them and so it was that he bought the 11 acres of land from the Jordan Estate.

Calvin Waldrop began early to acquire land down on the river. He entered a tract along the Locust Fork of Warrior River in 1836. At various other times he entered land in that vicinity until in 1860 he owned some 600 acres. He built a two story log house near Alliance School about 1859. That house still stands. But in 1866 he sold this house to Jasper Vines and bought the land he owned in Hueytown.

Mr. Waldrop had an intense interest in public affairs in this county. The records of the old County Commissioner's Court, are replete with the deeds of Calvin Waldrop in public affairs. So he was a decided asset to this progressive community.

The Hueys have not only given in the community their name but they have been a decided influence for the character of its citizenry. From them came a missionary who carried the Gospel to foreign land in the person of Miss Alice Huey, granddaughter of Sam Huey. Before her, her grandfather, Sam Huey, served as one of the County Commissioners. Sons of Van Huey who was a son of Sam Huey, have filled many public places in Public offices in the county. Major Tom Huey, was the personnel board of the Civil Service in this county for many years. Mr. Rose Huey was clerk of the Circuit Court in Bessemer for a long time. Sam Huey was at one time Deputy Probate Judge. A granddaughter of Sam Huey, Mrs. Mae Huey Dabbs, was a teacher in the county schools for years.

Sons of Jesse Huey did their part in the development of the Community by educating their children to teach in the schools and to enter the business world. One of them, M. W., was in the wholesale grocery business for years. His brother, Newman Huey, was associated with him, making many friends for the firm. Mrs. Elizabeth Huey Higdon is a prominent teacher in the county schools. Mrs. Alma Huey Vines is the wife of Mr. Howell Vines, Author of two novels. She taught for a number of years before becoming associated with the State Welfare Board at Montgomery.

One of Jesse Huey descendants has made a decided reputation for himself in the business world. Hiram Huey attended the University of Alabama and took a business administration course, majoring in banking. Today he is an official in the First National Bank of Birmingham with his office in the Bessemer Branch. . . .

My first impression of Hueytown the day I rode through it on a one-mule wagon from my home on the river to Bessemer was that it was a community of beautiful homes. The first home that struck me as being pretty was the Nelson Huey home, built of wood to give the appearance of brick. On past the store in Hueytown I remember a house on the left of the road where M. H. Bailey lived that I thought was a beauty. The next house I remember still stands but has been brick veneered and refinished. I thought it was the finest home I had ever seen. Mr. Will Coston lived there and his son, Roscoe, lives there today. I think the next fine home in Hueytown was that of Mr. Bascom Vines off the road about a half block.

Of course none of those homes would be in the class with many of the lovely dwellings that dot the Hueytown landscape today. However, it is not the homes that make Hueytown one of the finest cities in the United States. It is the people who live in those homes. It will be noted that in the list of business establishments of Hueytown, not one beer hall nor package store, not any other place that sells beer and whiskey is listed. Nor, will one be listed for a long time is my prediction.

Was born in Antrim County, Ireland, some 13 miles West of Belfast, May 8, 1759, and died in Lancaster District, S. C. His tombstone inscription taken from Tirzah Cemetery, states:

"In memory of Capt. James Huey who died April 6, 1836 in the 77th year of his age leaving a wife, four sons and one daughter to mourn their loss. He was a regular member of the church, an affectionate husband, a kind parent, and an obliging neighbor. In our struggle for Independence, he bore an active and manly part; and the same heroic spirit which fired his youthful breast never ceased to animate him while the pulse of life continued to Vibrate".

Proof of James Huey's Revolutionary services is his Account Audited in the S. C. Archives: Columbia, S. C.

Old Waxhaw Presbyterian Church, Cradle of Presbyterianism in the Up-Country of S.C. Founded about July 1755. Lancaster County, S.C. Picture furnished by Landry Huey McMurray.

OLD WAXHAW PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

"The Waxhaws", deriving its name from an extinct tribe of Indians, was settled in the early 1750's by immigrants from Virginia and Pennsylvania. Receiving their grants in Anson County, North Carolina, they met in the Waxhaws a smaller group of settlers who were establishing their claim under the South Carolina Government.

Never long in one place without religious services, these Scotch-Irish pioneers were no doubt, engaging in some form of corporate worship soon after their arrival. The first sermon recorded was delivered in February 1753, by John Brown, a young probationer from Penn. The Rev. Hugh McAden preached at the Waxhaw "meeting house" on Nov. 23, 1755, while on a mission through Piedmont Carolina.

Calling for their minister a Scotch schoolmaster, Robert Miller, the Waxhaw congregation received from him and his wife, Jean Pickens, their first title to Waxhaw Church property. This deed, dated Mar. 9, 1758, for 4½ acres included a house for divine services, a retiring house and a spring.

After an unsuccessful mission among the Cherokee Indians, the Rev. Wm. Richardson accepted the pastorate of Waxhaw Church in 1759. "His widely extended ministry, lasting till his death in 1771, did much to make the waxhaws the Presbyterian center of the South Carolina back country". (Meriweather) His remains were reinterred in the handsome Davie Memorial in 1927 along with those of his illustrious nephew and namesake, William Richardson Davie, and other members of the Davie family.

The first meeting house, on the east side of the graveyard, was used as a hospital during the Revolutionary War. It was burned by the British after a skirmish at the church April 9, 1781. The next building burned by accident after the Great Revival of 1802. The third church, built on a 4½ acre tract purchased from Robert and Jane Thompson in 1808, was used until the present edifice was erected in 1896.

Many notable ministers have served this congregation during its long history, one of the most distinguished being the Rev. J. H. Thornwell, D.D. Concerning this church, he wrote, "It was here in her (church's) schoolhouse the classics were first taught in South Carolina. It was here in one of her camp meetings that the singing of hymns (instead of Psalms) was introduced in public worship . . . It was here in this historic church on April 12, 1785, that the Presbytery of South Carolina held its first meeting.

Old Waxhaw Presbyterian Church, pioneer church of this denomination in upper South Carolina, stands today as a citadel of the "Faith of Our Fathers".

HISTORY OF THE HUEY FAMILY,

By Irish Ancestry Guild, Dublin, Ireland.

Historical Facts, Commentary and Huey Personalities.

To trace the origin of the Huey families we must go to County Down, the chief towns to-day of which are Newry (13,624 population) and Bangor (20,615). It was here that the name Huey originated as an Irish name.

In 1700 we find the spelling Huey in Irish Parish registers.—The Visiting Huey who travels to the land of his ancestors, will find the site of his ancestors clan-lands some six miles south-east of the present town of Newry. Standing there, he will find that he is in the Mountains of Mourne, and that the scenery is a beautiful one, with hills and valleys all around and the sea only a few miles away. It was here that the song “The Mountains of Mourne”—that slope down to the sea, was written.

—There are approximately 150 members of the Huey family in Ireland, mostly around the County Down. In the days of 1100 A.D. this district was thickly forested, and the Hueys had many cattle. The word Eocaid, in fact, is a Gaelic word meaning “rich in cattle”, so that the word Huey commemorates a rich, cattle-owning Chief. The Huey's also owned herds of swine, and fed them on acorn and mast in the thick forests.

—There was another family called Huey in the anglicised form who in 1500 A.D. still owned ancient clan-lands in County Meath, near Dublin.

The Scottish branch of the Hueys quickly disappeared from history, or at least from the records.

Andrew Jackson, Sr., was one of the nearest neighbors of our ancestor John Walker, only about 1¼ miles between their houses. I located the spring that the Jacksons got water from a couple of years ago, this is all that is left of the Jackson site.

The old abandoned Walker Cemetery right in back of Cap't. Andrew Walkers son's (John Walker, Esq) old home place is in fair condition, a rock wall surrounds it. I have a picture of some of the grave stones.

Meet Mrs. Laurence—Leader With A Purpose.

Rock Hill Woman Knows No Barriers; a Dynamic Leader and Prominent Figure in Affairs of State.

Rock Hill, S.C. May 22, by Harper Gault—They said she could not live when she lay unconscious 21 days after a train-automobile crash that claimed the lives of two members of her family, but she did live. Then they said she'd never walk, but she did walk, did Mrs. C. Fred Laurence of Rock Hill to become one of the most dynamic leaders of South Carolina womanhood and a prominent figure in affairs of state.

President of the Woman's Council for the Common Good and the only woman member of the State Board for Promotion of External Trade and having only retired after three years as president of the State Federation of Women's Clubs Mrs. Laurence has perhaps traveled further, talked more, turned out more news copy, and engaged in more arguments as an ambassador for South Carolina than any other one person or certainly more than any other South Carolina Woman. . . . ENTERPRISE, ALABAMA HUEYS

By G. B. Huey

I am writing this as a continuation of and an addition to, The Huey Family History given us by Gen. James G. L. Huey of Confederate Army and who was double first cousin of our grandfather, Dr. Robert Emmett Huey who was a Surgeon in Confederate Army—and—by our father, G. W. Huey (George Washington Huey) and Julia Huey.

Our father and mother, G. W. and Julia Huey, were both born in the dark War years of the 1860's and suffered many hardships caused by the war but both managed to get good educations.

Our father attended Southern University at Greensboro, Ala., and the University of Alabama. Our Mother was tall and beautiful with very black hair and brown eyes. When I was a little boy she charmed us with her music.

Next month I reach my three score and ten years, I am the oldest of three children still living. My brother Robert being two and half years younger than I, and my sister Lola seven years younger.

God his filled this world with beautiful things beyond description and I have enjoyed seeing them and admiring them in wonderment—but with grandchildren no other beauty will compare and to them goes much of my prayer.

ITEMS OF INTEREST FROM THE FILES OF JESSIE HUEY LAURENCE, ROCK HILL, S. C.

The Huey family is of French Huguenot ancestry. At one time the name was spelled Huet, one branch on leaving France settled in County Antrim, Ireland. James Huey who was born in County Antrim, May 8, 1759 moved to S.C. shortly before the American Revolution. He was a soldier in the war for independence, taking part in the great campaigns in the Southern colonies under General Sumter, Marion and Greene. The son of this Revolutionary soldier was Alexander Boyd Huey, who was born on December 22, 1787, in S.C. He married Elizabeth Ross McCain, whose father was a soldier in the Revolution. In 1811 they settled in the Waxhaws Community of S.C. Alexander B. Huey was a soldier, a Lieut. in the war of 1812. From S.C. he moved his family to Harris County, Ga., and in 1833 settled in Talladega County, Alabama.

The next generation of the Huey family was represented by General James Grandison Leroy Huey, who was born in the Waxhaws settlement, Lancaster District, S.C., June 28, 1813. He was about twenty years of age when the family settled in Alabama, and he became a merchant, planter and banker in Talladega County, was a member of the Alabama Senate in 1845 and in 1861, at the outbreak of the war between the states, became a Major General in the Eighth Division of the Ala. Militia. General Huey married Virginia B. Maclin of Virginia.

Benjamin M. Huey was born in Talladega, Ala., June 15, 1840, son of General James G. L. Huey. His education was given him at Emory College at Oxford, Ga and in 1860 he graduated A.B. from Southern University. He studied law in Talladega until June 1861, when he joined the Confederate Army as a Sergeant of Co.E. 10th Ala Infantry. For Gallantry in action he was promoted to Captain at Williamsburg. In July 1864 he raised and became Captain of a company of infantry and was assigned duty at Mobile. While he was away on furlough the company was captured by Admiral Farragut. Following the war he resumed the study of law at Marion, Ala., with former Gov. A. B. Moore and Honorable W. W. Brooks, was admitted to the bar in 1866 and practiced until 1869. He was elected mayor of Marion in 1881; was a member of the State Legislature in 1878 and was elected to the State Senate in 1886. On June 9, 1863 he was married to Sarah E. King, daughter of Edwin W. and Rhonda (Langdon) King.

J. M. Huey was born in DeKalb, Ga., May 16, 1838 and in April 1844 his entire family emigrated from Ga and settled on Mudd Creek, in the Western part of Jefferson County. His Father, engaged in farming. Young Huey received his first training in the rudiments of education. In his tenth year he commenced going to school when the log schoolhouse was in vogue. In the fall of 1885 young Huey moved with his family to a point six miles South of Jonesboro and was sent from there, Oct. 1, 1858 to attend school under Professor McKinnon. During the winter of that year young Huey served as assistant engineer under Capt. Fox, who was chief engineer and had the contract to build the branch road from Montevallo to the Ala Mines. In the fall of 1861 he went as a volunteer in the 18th Ala Regt. Co.G. under Capt. James Hanghey. On Oct 12, 1867 he married Annie E. McWilliams.

Thomas Edward Huey, engineer, was born on April 21, 1883 and was the son of John Marvin Huey and Annie Elizabeth McWilliams Huey, Mr Huey was educated in the private and public schools at East Lake, graduated from Howard College in June 1904, with the B.S. Degree. He took a limited course in civil engineering; practiced civil engineering and surveying for a period of eight years after graduation and later engaged in the fire insurance business. On June 20, 1906 he married Julia Jones, daughter of Dr Capers Jones and had one son, Thomas Edward Huey Jr.

Clinton Melvin Huey, jurist, was born at Yates City, Ill., Oct. 12, 1870 and was the son of John D. and Lucy Jane Wasson Huey, He received his education in the public schools and at Monmouth College. Samuel Baird Huey, lawyer, was born in Pittsburgh, Pa., Jan. 7th 1842. He graduated from the Central High School as the valedictorian of his class in 1850 and entered Princeton College where he completed the course in 1863. From college he went into the U.S. Navy and was attached to the San Jacinto and Yantic with an interval of service on the staff of Rear Admiral Bailey. After his admission to the bar in 1868 he spent the first four years of his professional career associated with his preceptor Mr Bullitt. The Joseph Walkup, Justice of the Peace who married Elizabeth Ross McCain to Alex Boyd Huey on Mar. 21, 1811 was one of the sons of Capt. James Walkup, my Revolutionary ancestor

From a journal by my grandfather Samuel Huey Walkup. A Journal of my travels from N.C. through S.C. Ga, Florida from Feb. 28, 1843 until June of the same year. I crossed the Broad River at Howell Ferry got to Uncle Sam Hueys at night and spent 4 or 5 days there with great pleasure, particularly in the company of Cousin Ann with whom I visited, pulled candy and had intelligent and pleasant discourse. She is very lady-like (and man liked) and sensible. There was rain all the time I stayed there. Left Uncle Sam's on March 6. (This was Samuel Young Huey the only brother of his mother Elizabeth Johnston Huey Walkup. Only son of John Huey and Elizabeth Johnston.)

Mar. 9. I got to James Hueys who very much resembles Thos. Huey. He was ill from a dislocated shoulder though kind. He had married about three months before a Miss Davis, a homely old maid whose temper had been soured by man's neglect to woo, here I staid until Sat. (This was at Abbeville, S.C.) Mar. 11 Set off with Cousin James Huey to Mr Johnstons 4 miles for dinner. The old man is somewhat of a granny, old, garrulous, infirm, very kind with al. Leroy, his son was not at home But he had 4 old, ugly, conceited girls who run down "the good old North State" me" "non profante". Johnston accompanied me 4 miles on my way, showed me the birth-place of the Hon. John C. Calhoun. On June 8, he writes, "Passed through Chester, met McDonald, he knew the road well to Col. Hueys. June 9 got home satisfied and an unprofitable and unpleasant trip.

From a small notebook in which are his family records, is this:

John Huey died April 5, 1803 age 47 yrs and his wife Elisabeth Hoey (nee' Johnston) died Jan. 11 1802 Age 46 years. Taken from Cousin Betsy Torrence record 1871. Sometimes he writes it Huey, sometimes Hoey. On Feb. 7, 1823 the new home of Robert Walkup & Elisabeth Huey burned. In the fire they lost 4 sons who were sleeping upstairs. Also killed was Joseph Huey, age 19 yrs 11 mos & 11 days, the son of Samuel Y. Huey. The oldest boys and their cousin were leaving for college next day. Their bones are buried under a large marble slab in old Waxhaw Presbyterian Churchyard. My grandfather who was 5 yrs old was sleeping downstairs with the parents and the girls.

Robert Walkup, Elizabeth Huey, her parents, his parents and many other members of the family are buried in historic old Waxhaw.

My Grandfather Samuel Huey Walkup was Col. of 48th N.C. Inf. Army of Northern Va. CSA. In the last ten days of the war he was promoted to Brig. Gen. Had the papers in his pocket at the surrender at Appomattox.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS AND APPRECIATION

Much do we owe to the loyal people who so generously gave of their time and talent to contribute the articles and histories in this book. Without them, this book could not have been written.

Some of the greatest triumphs of Genealogy have been the results of the activities of crusaders who have taken their time and spent their money on their family history, and it has been thru the help of these devoted people that has made these histories available.

After publishing Huey Family History, (Vol. 1. Dec. 1963.) I received many letters inquiring about the Huey Family that I couldn't answer or be of any help. I felt like the job already done was not complete.

Upon receiving from Edward O. Huey, Genealogy of the Huey Family, 1700 to 1908, compiled by John S. Huey in 1908, I realized that another book was in order.

It wasn't long until I received Seven Generations of Huey's, from Robert M. Huey, which was given him by Samuel R. Huey. The dates and names were copied from John H. Huey's bible, which is now the property of Dora Doerr.

With these two lists of Huey's and their descendants, I began to write each person I had heard from, asking that they get up a list of their family and send it to me.

Miss Sydney M. Kilpatrick did an excellent job on the history of the Louisiana Huey's.

Mrs. Xerline Huey Coughlan, and other members of the family did a splendid job to bring up to date the history compiled by Miss Catherine Lawn Huey, in 1924.

Mr. Wm. Franklin Huey and Mrs. J. F. Huey for Douglasville, Ga. Huey's.

Mrs. B. F. Wells, history of Ireland & Tennessee Huey's, from the records of Miss Janie Huey.

Mrs. W. A. Huey, for her corrections and extensions to date.

Mr. James S. Huey, for his family from John Huey, b. 1792.

Mr. Malcolm S. Huey for his contributions.

Mrs. E. P. Guy and Mrs. James W. Smith for their help.

Mr. Melvin D. Huey, for his family history.

Mrs. F. M. Ballard for her many contributions.

Miss Juanerta Benedict for her family from Daniel Huey, in 1820.

Mr. Albert Huey Wolfington for his assistance.

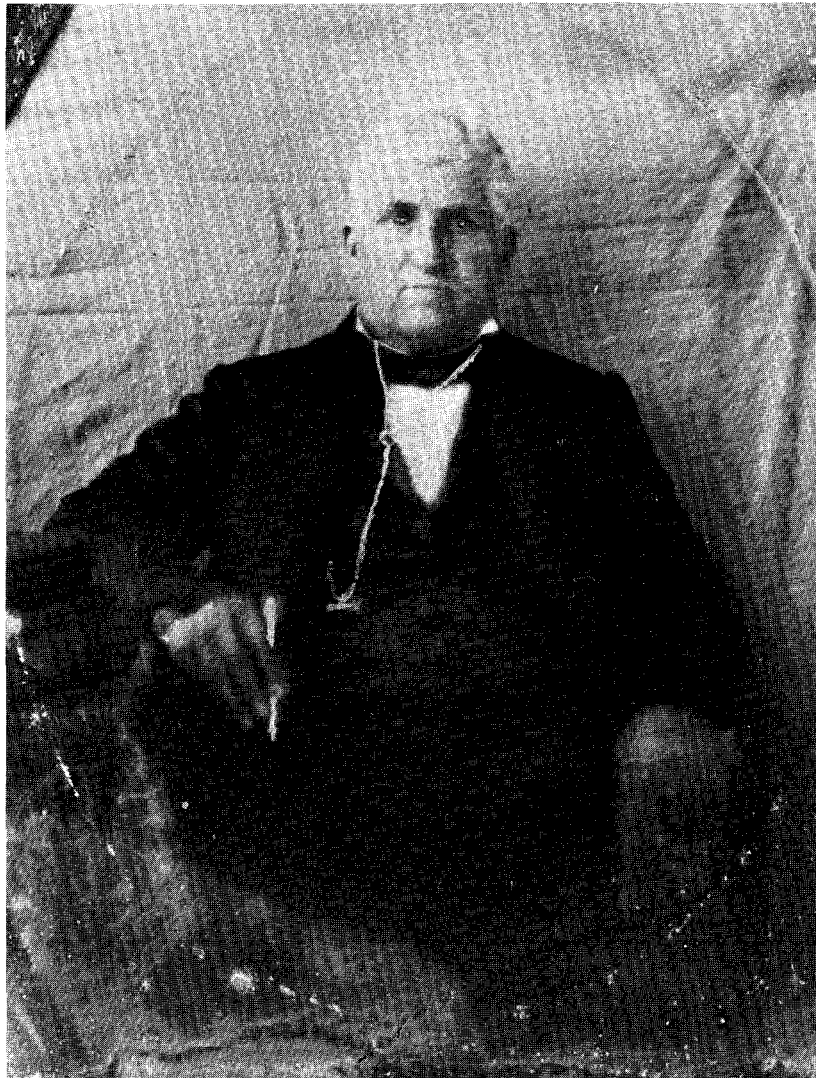

Mrs. M. E. Surratt for her data.

Mrs. Bertha R. Huey for her help.

And I personally want to thank all of the above and those not mentioned above for their generous help and assistance.

While I am sure this book is far from complete, I hope it will be of value to you and others for many years to come.

INTRODUCTION

To the Huey Family:

More than ten years ago my wife, Myra C. Huey, whom many of you will recall through correspondence with her, entered upon the task of collecting from every source available the data concerning my genealogy on the paternal side.

From this data I have compiled a genealogical table of the Huey family, which will at first greatly surprise and even startle you, as it did me, will, I doubt not, prove of unusual and lasting interest to you and to your children, and to your children's children, and will, I trust, be a source of pleasure in many ways to you and to them.

From a thorough and exhaustive search and examination of all the books and records in the Newberry Library, as well as in the Public Library here in Chicago, relating to the genealogy of early inhabitants of this country, directing our search particularly to those bearing the Huey name, and from correspondence with a certain Miss Harriet Huey of Philadelphia, who is deeply interested in the subject, and who has exhausted the Pennsylvania Archives, and also from a letter of J. C. Huey of Bellevue, Iowa, and from correspondence with a Frank W. Hughey, an attorney in Pittsburg, whose family name used to be spelled "Huey" and whose father has an old family bible, containing a register of births, deaths, etc., of his immediate relatives of that name, it appears that the Hueys originally came from the French Huguenots, who spelled the name "Huet".

It further appears from European history that they were driven from France, together with about 50,000 Huguenots families, on account of religious persecutions resulting from the Revocation of the Edict of Nantes by Louis XIV, October 22, 1685. They had enjoyed a degree of religious tolerance under the Edict of Nantes, which was signed by Henry IV May 2nd 1598, and regarded by these Huguenots as the charter of their liberties, until its revocation in 1685, when the religious persecutions and atrocities became so intolerable that they had to flee the country, some going to Holland, some to England, some to Ireland and others to America; that one Paulus Huey came to America from Rotterdam and Deal in 1740 on the ship "Samuel", Hugh Percy, Captain. He took the oath of allegiance in December 1740.

In "30,000 Emigrants of Philadelphia", one of the books examined, mention is made of Johannes Wilhelm Huey, coming from Holland to America October 26th 1741, on the vessel "Snow Mollie", from Rotterdam and Deal, John Cranch, Captain.

Early records say there were four Huey brothers in Pennsylvania in the Revolutionary War times—Patrick, Samuel, John and Joseph; that they quarreled over the war, two of them sympathizing with the war policy, and two of them opposing it, the first two going South as a result of this disagreement.

This old bible record spoken of gives the name of one Joseph Huey, and recites that he was married to Jean Erwin, March 13, 1737.

At any rate we are safe in saying that the Hueys, when they came to America, settled in Pennsylvania; and there are many people of that name now living in Philadelphia and vicinity and in Pittsburg and vicinity; and while we have not as yet been able to obtain positive proof that they are our own blood kin, yet I have not the slightest doubt but that they were derived from the same stock.

Our earliest ancestor in the Huey line to whom I have been able to trace our ancestry back in a direct line, and whom I have, therefore, placed at the head of this genealogical table, is Robert Huey, who lived in Lancaster County, Penn., near Churchtown, before 1770, dying there in that year.

In conclusion . . . my wife particularly desires me to say for her, that if this book shall awaken in the members of this large family, already bound together by the ties of nature, a livelier interest in each other's welfare, and should be instrumental in arousing and cultivating in us that spirit of loyalty to each other that is born of kinship, she will feel amply repaid for her labors; and her one hope and wish is that this introduction by us, of you, to your heretofore unknown kinfolds, will be but the beginning and cultivation of a wider and fuller acquaintance, a freer intercourse and good-fellowship between us, that will ripen into a more unswerving loyalty on the part of each of us, for the Huey name.

With best wishes to all, I am,

Very sincerely yours,
John S. Huey

(There were 16 pages in this introduction, and naturally we had to just pick out the main points of interest.)

COPY OF LAST WILL AND TESTAMENT OF ROBERT HUEY

I, Robert Huey, of the Township of Salisbury, County of Lancaster, and Province of Pennsylvania, yeoman, being undisposed and weak of body but of perfect mind and memory, blessed be God for the same, and calling to mind the mortality of my body and knowing that it is appointed for all men once to die, do make, constitute and ordain this my last will and testament, that is to say, principally and first of all I recommend my soul to God who gave me, and my body I recommend to the earth to be buried in a decent Christian-like manner at the discretion of my executor, not doubting but at the general resurrection I shall receive the same again by the mighty power of God, and as touching such worldly estate as it hath pleased God to bless me with in this life, I give, bequeath and dispose of the same in manner and form following, viz:

Item. I will and allow that all my just debts, together with my funeral charges, be paid and discharged.

Item. I give and bequeath to Esther, my well beloved wife, the one-third part of the rents and profits of my real estate during her natural life, also one horse agreeable to a contract made and contracted betwixt me and said wife before marriage, which contract I allow to be punctually fulfilled to her for her part of my estate. Also it is my will, and I allow, that she shall have the bound girl, namely Mary Allen, on condition that she pay five pounds to my estate, which said Mary cost me.

Item. I give and bequeath to my son, James Huey, or to his heirs, the sum of twenty shillings.

Item. I give and bequeath to my son, Henry Huey, the sum of twenty Shillings.

Item: I give and bequeath unto my two daughters, namely, Elizabeth and Mary, to each one of them the sum of one pound.

Item: I give and bequeath unto my grandson, Robert Usher, the sum of 200 pounds to be paid within one year after my decease; also the young black mare now two years old to be for his proper use and benefit and to be kept on the premises for him for one year after my decease, also he is to have his own boarding, washing and lodging here said year.

Item: I give and bequeath to my grandson, namely, Samuel's son, Robert Huey, my plantation whereon I now live, all my lands and all my estate, both real and personal, after the above legacies and debts are fully paid and discharged, to him and his heirs to be for him and their proper use and benefit forever, and it is my will and I allow that the whole of his legacy or part of my estate, personal and real, be at the order of my executor until he comes to the age of twenty-four years, but if it please God to call by death either of my two grandsons, namely Robert Huey and Robert Usher, them not leaving a legitimate issue, in that case it is my will and I do order that whichever of the two survives shall have the legacy or part willed to the other in case he had lived. Moreover, I constitute and appoint my trusty friend, John Wilson, whole and sole executor of this my last will and testament, and I do hereby utterly disannul and revoke all and every other and former will or wills, testaments, legacies or bequeaths or executors by me in anywise before this time made, willed, named or bequeathed, ratifying and confirming this and no other to be my last will and testament.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and seal this 23rd day of June, Anno Domini One Thousand Seven Hundred and Seventy.

THE HUEY'S OF LOUISIANA

JAMES HUEY

Tradition claims that our Huey family is of French extraction, having been driven from France to Scotland and Ireland during the Huguenot oppression. The name was spelled in many ways, thus—Hewett, Hewitt, Huet, Hughey and Huy.

The earliest Huey ancestor we have located was James Hughey, who on Feb. 12, 1742 bought 340 acres of land in Augusta County, Va. James Huey removed out of this colony, thus placing the date of his going to South Carolina.

The land he bought in Chester Co. S. C. as James Huey, Sr., was conveyed at his death to James Huey, Jr., as legatee and was sold in 1811 by this son, the only known child.

JAMES HUEY, JR.: b. Augusta Co. Va. ca 1742, d. Ouachita Parish, La., 3-6-1839, moved with family to Chester Co. S. C. when about 14 years of age, m'd Sarah Mason. Served in S. C. Militia during revolution from 1777 to 1782 under Generals Green, Lacy and Sumpter.

Sold his property in Chester Co. S. C. in 1811 and in Jan. 1812 came overland with his wife, 8 children, 10 negroes, and other members and connections of his family, via the State of Georgia, to Ouachita Parish, La. They stopped for rest and food in Adams Co. Miss., near the Pipes' home where their daughter, Winifred, met and married Charles Pipes. In Jan. 1822 he reserved 1/5 of his estate and divided the remaining among 7 of his 8 children. Mason, the oldest son, had been given his share before the family left S. C.

Their known children were: 1. Elizabeth; 2. Mason; 3. Dorcas; 4. Winifred; 5. Susannah; 6. Jane; 7. John; 8. James, Jr.

1. ELIZABETH HUEY, b. Chester Co. S. C. circa 1772, d. Ouachita Parish, La. after 1855, m'd Thomas Cockerill, in S. C.

Children: 4.

1. Moses Cockerill, farmer, b. 1793 in S. C., m'd Elizabeth - - -

DONALD E. HUEY, of Florissant, Missouri, has an old Bible printed in 1747 which had the following notes from small town newspapers and from notes which were evidently used when it was displayed at community fairs.
"Bible 167 years old. Property of Mrs. Margaret C. Pope. Brought from Ireland by John Huey, grandfather of Mrs. Pope. During the persecution in Ireland this Bible was buried in the ground to keep it from being destroyed."
Newspaper clipping adds these facts. "This book was printed in Edinburgh, Scotland, in 1747, by Richard Watkins, 'His Majesty's Printer', and is a good specimen of the printer's and binders art. Mrs. Pope received the book from her father, John Huey, and it has been in the family since a few years after it was printed.

In the Bible was this note, dated Dec. 10-49: "Margaret C. Pope was a sister of my father, William M. Huey. Signed, Wm. C. Huey, born, Oct. 1-1883".

In the Bible there is a list of owners of the Bible but there are no dates and the information is just enough to tease.

John Huey married Catherine - - - .

His son, John Huey married Margaret Craig.

His son, John C. Huey, married Jane Couch.

His daughter Margaret Huey married Wm. Pope.

Her nephew W. C. Huey, married Minna B. Eaton.

His son, Donald E. Huey (who showed me the Bible) married Ruth Steiger.

History of Marion and Clinton Counties, Illinois, by Brink, McDonough & Co., Philadelphia. Corresponding Office, Edwardsville, Ill. 1881.

Page 266-7, Clement Township, Clinton County:

First Land Entries in this township, April 26, 1815.

Among the early Justices of the Peace were Turner Nichols, Joseph Outhouse, and Joseph Huey, the former probably being the first in the township.

This neat little prairie village is situated on the O. & M. Railroad, about four miles East of the County seat. It was first laid out in the Spring of 1858 by Joseph W. Huey, and situated on sections 22 and 23. In 1860 Daniel Collins made an addition to the town, and in 1867 two others were made and known as the Steel and Huey Additions.

The first house in the village was a frame dwelling, and was hauled from near Lost Creek about 1852 and used by Joseph W. Huey for a dwelling. It is yet in existance.

The first merchandising was done by Joseph W. Huey in 1854. The store was situated on the ground now occupied by Oliver Outhouse's mercantile house. It was a small one-story frame building, suitable for a country store.

Incorporation—Clement was incorporated as a village the 9th of March, 1867. The first councilmen elected were: Joseph W. Huey, Jacob Klein, C. S. Anderson, Henry Strang and Michael Reitman.

Charles J. Huey, farmer and teacher, born in Clinton Co. Ill., 1851.

Libbie V. Osborne, wife of Charles J. Huey, b. Milwaukee Co. Wis. 1859.
