DESCENDANTS OF FRANCIS HIGGINSON	i
NOTE	52
OLD RECORD	53
INDEX	57

For a long time doubt existed and still exists as to which of the early Higginson clergymen is represented by the frontispiece here given. There are three of these portraits which I am inclined to believe to be of Francis and not of his son, John.

1. One of these, in the Boston State House, is pronounced by experts to be the original, though having an unexplained date upon it which has always cast doubt over the identity of this portrait.

2. There is another at the Essex Institute in Salem which was given to it by my father in 1835 and was regarded in his day, as it is even now by many, as a portrait of the Rev. John, the son of Francis.

3. There is yet another at Worcester, in the possession of the American Antiquarian Society which is obviously a copy of that in Boston, yet is believed in Worcester to represent Francis Higginson, the first immigrant.

The best authority on the whole subject should be the Rev. Dr. William Bentley, of Salem, Mass., the most esteemed of all antiquarians in his day. He, it was, who gave this third copy to the American Antiquarian Society and who in his "Description of Salem" (Massachusetts Historical Society's Collections for 1799, p. 275) says:—"There is an half-length painting of Francis Higginson in the council chamber, at Boston, in the old state-house". Farther tradition as to the details relating to these three portraits may be found in my "Life of Francis Higginson", pp. 131-133.

INTRODUCTION.

On Saturday, the 25th of April, 1629, two ships set sail from Gravesend for the two months' voyage to America. One of these was the "Talbot," and the other the "Lyon's Whelpe," and on the former of the two was Francis Higginson, first religious "teacher" in Salem, and first of the name to set foot on New England soil. Following is the "agreement" or "true note of the allowance that the New England Company gave by common consent and order of their court and counsell granted unto Mr. Francis Higginson, minister, for his maintenance in New England, April 8, 1629."

"1. Imprimis, that 30 l. in money shall be forthwith paid him by the Companyes treasurer towards the chardges of fitting himself with apparell and other necessaryes for his voyage.

"2. Item, that 10 l. more shall be payed over by the said treasurer towards the providing of books for present use.

"3. Item, that he shall have 30 l. yearely paid him for three yeares to beginne from the tyme of his first arrivall in New England; and so to be accounted and paid him at the end of every yeare.

"4. Item, that during the said tyme the Company shall provide for him and his family necessaryes of diett, housing and firewood; and shall be att charges of transporting him into New England: And at the end of the said 3 yeares, if he shall not like to continue there any longer, to be at the charge of transporting him backe for England.

“5. Item, that in convenient tyme an house shall be built, and certayne lands allotted thereunto ; which during his stay in the country and continuance in the ministry, shall bee for his use ; and after his death or removall the same to be for succeeding ministers.

“6. Item, at the expiration of the said 3 yeares an 100 acres of land shall be assigned to him and his heires forever.

“7. Item, that in case hee shall depart this life in that country, the said Company shall take care for his widdow during her widdowhood and aboade in that country and plantation ; and the like for his children whilst they remaine upon the said plantation.

“8. Item, that the milke of 2 kyne shall bee appointed towards the chardges of diete for him and his familye as aforesaid, and halfe the increase of calves during the said 3 years : But the said 2 kyne, and the other halfe of the increase to returne to the Company at the end of the said 3 years.

“9. Item, that he shall have liberty of carrying over bedding, linnen, brasse, iron, pewter, of his owne, for his necessary use during the said tyme.

“10. Item, that if he continue 7 years upon the said plantation, that then 100 acres of land more shall be allotted him for him and his for ever.

He was also promised a “man seruant to take care and look to his things, and to catch him fish and foule and provide other things needfull and also two maid seruants to look to his family.”

Francis Higginson was baptized August 6, 1586, at Claybrooke, Leicestershire, England. He was the son of the Rev. John Higginson, who was a graduate of Jesus College, Cambridge, B. A. 1564-5, and M. A. 1568, and was afterwards vicar of the parish of Claybrooke from 1571 to 1624. There is a tradition in the Marlow (England) branch of the family that he lived and performed his duties as a clergyman until the age of one hundred and four, when he was suddenly drowned by the rising of a brook as he was returning from church. However this may be, we know that he was vicar for fifty-three years.

Of the still earlier progenitors of the family, little is on record. We know that one Joane Higginson, who may have been the paternal grandmother of Francis Higginson, dying a widow in the sixteenth century, bequeathed £7 a year to the poor of Berkeswell, County Warwick, England.

Francis Higginson was, like his father, a student of Jesus College, Cambridge, taking his B. A. degree in 1609-10, and perhaps that of M. A. in 1613. It is said that he became curate and assistant to his father at Claybrooke. We are not told how long he held this position, but it is clear that he became more and more dissatisfied with the Established Church as it then was, until finally he became "a conscientious non-conformist."

In the beginning of the year 1629, a large number of rich merchants obtained a charter from King Charles I, by which they were incorporated under the title of "The Governor and Company of the Massachusetts-Bay in New England," and their purpose was to send over ships with "godly and honest men" to begin a plantation there. Accordingly Francis Higginson was one of those asked to set sail with his family for the New World, and he arrived in Salem Harbor on June 29, 1629. With him came Samuel Skelton, another minister, who was to divide with him the duties of the church in Salem.

In Francis Higginson's Journal we find the following :

" This day [June 29, 1629] by God's blessing . . . we passed the curious and difficult entrance into the large and spacious harbour of Naimkecke [Salem] . . . It is wonderful to behold so many islands replenished with thicke wood and high trees, and many fayre greene pastures." " We rested that night with glad and thankful hearts," he also writes, " that God had put an end to our long and tedious journey through the greatest sea in the world." " The governour [Endicott] came aboard to our ship," he adds, " and bade us kindly welcome, and invited me and my wiffe to come on shoare, and take our lodging in his house, which we did accordingly."

" Our passage was both pleasureable and profitable," the Journal goes on ; " a pious and christian-like passage," he also calls it. " We received instruction and delight," he continues, " in behoulding the wonders of the Lord in the deepe waters, and sometimes seeing the sea round us appearing with a terrible countenance, and as it were full of high hills and deepe vallyes ; and sometimes it appeared as a most plain and even meadow. And ever and anon we saw divers kynds of fishes sporting in the great waters, great grampuses and huge whales going by companies and puffing up water-streames. Those that love their owne chimney corner, and dare not go farre beyond their owne townes end shall neever have the honour to see these wonderfull workes of Almighty God."

" Through God's blessing," Francis Higginson remarks, " our passage was short and speedy, for . . . we performed the same in 6 weeks and 3 dayes."

In addition to the length of the voyage, " the wind," says the Journal, " caused our ship to daunce, and divers of our passengers and my wiffe specially were sea sicke." Also two of his eight children became ill " of the smallpocks and purples together," and one of them, Mary, died during the voyage.

In spite of these seeming vicissitudes, the voyagers arrived safely at their objective point, Salem, then composed of some half dozen houses. Two hundred of the new planters settled there, and the rest at Massachusetts Bay, where they began to build a town which they called Charlestown.

Francis Higginson lived little more than a year after his arrival in Salem. He was active in all interests connected with the people, and was prominent where any important decisions or reforms were to be acted upon during the periods of terrible privation which weakened the Massachusetts Bay Colony. The main work of preaching fell on his associate, Samuel Skelton; but we hear of one very remarkable sermon preached by Higginson a few weeks before his death, which Governor Winthrop and a large company of settlers came to hear. The people first worshipped in a temporary building of one story. Near the site of this there is, to-day, a narrow lane called Higginson Place.

In August, 1630, Francis Higginson died, of "hectic fever," according to one chronicler; of consumption, according to another. He left a widow and eight children, for whom the colony provided until Mrs. Higginson's death in 1640. The eldest son, John, was the most prominent in after life. The other children died comparatively young, with the exception of Francis, who returned to England and became a clergyman in Westmoreland. From childhood John Higginson took a prominent part in the affairs of the colony, at thirteen becoming a member of his father's church. Later, he became pastor of the church at Guilford, Connecticut. In 1659 he was setting out for London, to reside there with his family, when the vessel was driven by bad weather into Salem harbor, and he was persuaded to remain there and take charge of his father's church, founded thirty years before. He was ordained in August, 1660, doing continuous duty there until his death and winning for himself the title of "the Nestor of the New England clergy."

John Higginson died at the age of ninety-two, much revered and beloved by all the colony. His funeral sermon was preached by the Rev. Cotton Mather, and published in 1709 under the title of "The Happy Dismissal of a Holy Believer, a Funeral Sermon on the death of the Rev. John Higginson, with Memoirs of his life." Shortly before his death John Higginson wrote so curious and interesting a document for his children's further instruction that a part of it is here given.

DESCENDANTS OF FRANCIS HIGGINSON.

FIRST GENERATION.

1 Rev. Francis¹ Higginson, son of Rev. John Higginson, Vicar of Claybrooke, Leicestershire, England, was baptized Aug. 6, 1586, at Claybrooke; died Aug. 6, 1630, at Salem, Mass.; married Ann —, ¹ who died probably Feb. —, 1639-40, at New Haven, Conn.

Francis Higginson was educated at Jesus College, Cambridge, taking his degrees, B. A., 1609 and M. A., 1613.² He was ordained deacon at Cawood Castle Sept. 25, 1614, by Toby Mathew, Archbishop of York when he was called curate of Scredingham. He was ordained priest at Bishopthorpe Dec. 8, 1614, by the same archbishop. (Archiepiscopal Registry of York; Institutions Sandes, 1572-1619, fo. 431, 433). Scredingham, now called Scrayingham, is in the East Riding of Yorkshire, eleven miles from York. He was collated (instituted) Apr. 20, 1615, by the Archbishop of York, the patron, to the rectory of Barton-in-fabis in the county of Nottingham and deanery of Bingham, which he resigned Apr. 4, 1616. (Archiepiscopal Registry of York ; Institutions Sandes 1572-1619, fo. 437, 447; N. E. Gen. Reg. Vol. LII, p. 348). Barton-in-fabis is six miles southwest of Nottingham, near the border of Leicestershire.

¹The parish register of St. Peter's, Nottingham, contains the following marriage record: "Franciscus Higginson duxit uxore Ana Herbert Octavo die Januarij 1615." (Phillimore's Nottingham Marriages.)

²Life of Francis Higginson by T. W. Higginson. Arthur Gray in his History of Jesus College (1902), says: "Francis Higginson, admitted at Jesus in 1608, but B. A. of St. John's in 1609." A personal letter from Arthur Gray says: "Of Francis Higginson the only record is in the Bursar's Accounts for the year 1608-9, when the Bursar accounts for 3/4 his fee for admission to the College as a pensioner."

It is stated that Francis Higginson was for a time settled at Claybrooke as curate and assistant to his father. It appears certain that he was connected with the parish of St. Nicholas, Leicester, between 1617 and 1629, styling himself "minister" and afterwards "lecturer." (N. E. Gen. Reg. Vol. LII, p. 348). Under date of May 17, 1627, in an account given in the State Papers of the doings of the Puritans in and about Leicester, his name is prominently mentioned. (State Papers (Domestic Series) of Chas. I, Vol. LXXXIII, no. 13).

Nichols, in his History of Leicestershire, records the fact that, "Mr. Francis Higginson, a Reverend Divine and sometime Preacher of God's word att the parish of St. Nicholas in this Borough of Leicester, gave divers bookes for and towards the better furnishing of this Library [the town library of Leicester]; videlicet:

"Oecolampadius in omnes Prophetas et Job.

Strigelius in omnes Psalmos.

Sarcerius in Epistolas Dominicales.

Sarcerius in Evangelia Dominicalia."

(Nichols' Leicestershire, Vol. 1, p. 506).

Upon invitation of the Massachusetts Bay Company to go to New England, Francis Higginson sailed from Gravesend, in the Talbot, Apr. 25, 1629, and on June 29 landed at Salem. Here was founded the first church in the Massachusetts Bay Colony, when, on July 20, 1629, "the people made choice of Mr. Skelton for their Pastor and Mr. Higginson for their Teacher. And accordingly it was desired of Mr. Higginson to draw up a confession of faith and covenant in scripture language." This covenant was signed the "6 of 6th Month, 1629," and one year from that date, Aug. 6, 1630, Francis Higginson died. (Morton's N. E. Mem. p. 145; White's N. E. Cong. pp. 2, 13; Mather's Magnalia, Bk. I, chap. 4).

Ann,¹ the widow of Francis Higginson, was an inhabitant of Charlestown in 1631 and was living there in 1637. She probably removed to New Haven with Theophilus Eaton and his company in 1638, as she was not at Charlestown in June of that year. (Wyman's Charlestown; Charlestown Land Records).

SETTLEMENT OF MRS. HIGGINSON'S ESTATE.

25th of Feb: 1639.

Mr^s Higgingson, late planter of Quillipieck, dyeing wth out makeing her will, & leaveing behinde her eight children, an inventory of her estate being taken, the court disposed of her estate and children as followeth wth the consent and approbation of M^r John Higginson her eldest sonne.

The said John Higginson, the charges of his educatiō considered, is onely to have his fathers books, together wth the value of 5*l* in bedding for his porcō.

Francis Higginson the second sonne and Tymothy the third sonne, their educatiō allso considered, are to have each of them twenty pounds for their portions.

¹There was a tradition that Ann, wife of Francis Higginson, was a sister of Gov. Theophilus Eaton, but Hannah, sister of Gov. Eaton, was unmarried when named in her father's will in 1616 (New Haven Hist. Soc. Coll. Vols. iv, p. 186; vii, p. 5). She married Dec. 5, 1622, Joseph Denman, in the parish of St. Mary Woolchurch Haw, London, where on Dec. 3, 1622, Theophilus Eaton married his first wife, Grace Hiller. (Par. Reg. St. Mary Woolchurch). The mention in letters of Col. John Higginson, dated 1692 and 1700, of "Tho: Hayler" and "Coz^r Hayler" suggests a relationship between the Hillers of the parish of St. Mary Woolchurch and Rev. Francis Higginson. (Higginson Family Letters, MSS.; Mass. Hist. Soc. Coll. 3d S., vol. vii, p. 219).

Theophilus Higginson though well educated, yett in regard of his helpfulness to his mother and her estate, is to have forty pounds for his portiō.

Samuell Higginson is allso to have 40*l* for his portiō, and to be wth Mr. Eaton as his servant for the full tearme of 2 yeares from the first of March next ensueing.

Theophilus and Samuell are to have the lott wth all the accommodatiō belonging therevnto, equally to be devided betwixt thē, for fifty pounds of their portiō^s.

Anne Higginson her daughter, is to have forty pounds for her portiō, and her mothers olde clothes, together wth the remainder of the estate when the debts and other portions are payd.

Charles Higginson is to have 40*l* to his portiō, and to be wth Thomas Fugill as his apprentice vnto the full end and tearme of nine yeares from the first of March next ensueing the date hereof. And the said Tho : Fugill is to finde him what is convenient for him as a servant, and to keepe him att schoole one yeare, or else to advantage him as much in his educatiō as a years learning comes to, and he is to have the benefitt of the vse of his portiō till the said tearme be expired, and att the end thereof to pay itt to the said Charles Higginson, if he live till the said nine years be expired, butt if he dye before, then the said Thomas Fugill is to pay the said portiō to the rest of his brothers thatt are alive att the end of the said nine yeares.

Neophitus Higginson being wth Mr. Hoffs in the Bay of Mattacusetts, is to remaine wth him and to be brought vp by him till he attayne the full age of 21 yeares, and in the meane time, Mr. Hough is to haue 40*l* of the estate, w^h he is to pay to the said Neofatus att the end of the said tearme as his portiō.

When the farme att Sawgus is sould, itt is to be equally devided among the brothers. (New Haven Colony Records, Vol. 1, p. 29.)

He was for a while the schoolmaster at Cambridge and then, being helped by some Rotterdam merchants, went to Leyden where he studied and also to other places in Europe. (Mather I, 330). According to the old record he remained in London for some time and then was settled at Kirby Steven. He was presented the rectory of Kirby Steven by Philip, Lord Whar-ton, Sept. 22, 1654. (Bodleian Library at Oxford). "Mr. Francis Higginson, Vicar of Kirkby Stephen, buried 20 May, 1673. The last sermon he preached was the 11th of May, 1673: and his text was 68 psalm & the 20th virste." (Parish register of Kirby Steven).

The old record states that he was captain of a man of war in Cromwell's time, afterward captain of an East India vessel, and died at the age of 44. In 1652, he was appointed master of the ship Nightingale; in 1655 was commander of the Mary at Portsmouth; 1657 to 1659 commander of the State's ship Selby. (State Papers, Domestic Series, Vols. When his mother's estate was settled in 1640, he was apprenticed to Thomas Fugill for nine years. He is mentioned in New Haven Colony records in 1648 as "mariner of the ship Susan", and again, July 3, 1649, by the wife of Theophilus Higginson when she called him "brother".

NEOPHYTUS, b. —; d. "at the age of 20". In the settlement of his mother's estate is said to be with Mr. Hough in Massachusetts Bay where he was to remain till of age.

SEVENTH GENERATION.

25 John⁷ Higginson (Stephen,⁶ Stephen,⁵ John,⁴ John,³ John,² Francis¹), born Jan. 15, 1765, at Salem, Mass.; administration of his estate was granted to his brother Henry, May 10, 1820, when he was called late of Boston, merchant, married between Sept. 3, 1796 and May 27, 1797, at Paris, France, Josephine², daughter of Eti-

¹Grandparents of Hon. Henry Cabot Lodge.

²The following is an account, translated from the French, describing the life of Josephine de la Porte in her grandmother's home. Mme. de Brégét was the sister of that Mme. de Monthulé, daughter of the Farmer-General Haudry de Sucy, who occupied the chateau of Sainte-Assise near the chateau of Seine-Port which the Duke of Orléans, father of Philippe-Egalité, occupied during the summer.

"When I saw this Aurora and Diana, she was merely rather a forlorn mortal who had preserved of her divine attributes only a charming voice and fine knowledge of the world.

"Mme. de Brégét, on the contrary, was very stately and majestic, yet very simple and quite womanly. They lived together on the Champs Elisées, in a charming house whose garden adjoined that of the Hotel de Beaujon and where they had strolled about freely. Mme. de Brégét had no family around her except her two young grandchildren, aged respectively eighteen and twenty years of age. One of them was Alphonse de la Porte, a fine and charming young fellow of good ideas and attractive ways, whom illness carried away in his prime, a few years later. The other, his younger sister (Josephine de la Porte) was pretty enough and pleasant enough, and wished for a husband, but was not married because her grandmother's fortune was not sufficient to secure that, as in many cases enne-François comte de la Porte, chevalier, seigneur d' Eydoche, Bocsosel, et Marlieu, regimental colonel in the old Marine, chevalier of the royal and military order of St. Louis. Her mother was Mille. Herbert, daughter of a French noble, N—— de Brégét, officer of the guard of Monsieur, the brother of Louis XVI.

He married 2nd, Elizabeth ——.

John Higginson was appointed ensign Nov. 30, 1786, and was a recruiting officer during Shays' Rebellion. (Pynchon's Diary). In 1792 he went to Paris, as appears in a letter dated Sept. 3, 1796, from his father, Stephen Higginson, to Timothy Pickering, then Secretary of State, in which he offers his son John, as a candidate for the office of U. S. Consul. The letter says: "He has been settled in Paris four years, is master of the language, has an extensive acquaintance among those in administration of the French government and has much influence with them. This information I have from Americans who have been there and have derived much benefit from his agency with the executive committees, &c. He has acquired there a good property and has now many important claims upon the French government for me and others, which he will remain to pursue. . . . I should be glad to have him appointed if there be a vacancy, as I suppose, and no fitter person appears to take it."

happens. The poor girl ended by being bestowed, with her full consent, upon a kind of rich American savage, Higginson, who dropped her after a while before or after some great folly that she had committed and with scandal for she was very foolish, which at last expelled her from good society.

"Mme. de Brégét fulfilled with pleasure those duties as grandmother which called upon her for balls and entertainments. These gatherings were charming. On the days when they did not dance, the guests played games in a large hall and the young people gathered in a smaller one. This brought glory to me because the fertility of my genius caused me to be elected the leader of the group. Mézy had some merit and they owed to him 'the Discovery of the Lost Rabbit,' but he was quite subordinate to me." (Souvenirs du Baron de Frénilly, Pair de France (1768-1828), publiés avec introduction et notes par Arthur Chuquet, Membre de l'Institut, Paris, 1909, p. 208).

In a second letter, May 27, 1797, Stephen Higginson writes "but I have late information from France of his [John] being there married and under such circumstances as render his abode there very probable, which may and perhaps ought to be an objection to his being in any office under this government. Though I shall still have perfect confidence in him, persuaded that I know fully his principles and feelings, it is not to be expected that others without the same evidence can have the same convictions." (Pickering MSS. Vols. V, p. 225 ; XXI, p. 133).

In 1810, John Higginson accompanied his sister, Susan Cleveland Channing and her husband on their voyage to Rio Janeiro and from there sailed for the Cape of Good Hope. (Life of William Henry Channing, pp. 31, 39). He is said to have died at Richmond, Va.
