FOREWORD

IT IS recorded with deep sorrow that Mrs. Perry Williams Harvey (Kate Hanna), whose energy and patience are largely responsible for the gathering together and coördination of the information printed in this volume concerning the Hanna family, died at Pebble Hill Plantation, her estate in Thomasville, Georgia, on May fifteenth, 1936.

In thinking of the patient research represented by this book, and also of her belief in securing a lasting and coherent account of her family as a group I am reminded of the deep significance of Goethe's words when he said:

"Even beyond the limits of our being, we are able to maintain and secure. We transmit discoveries, we hand down sentiments as well as property."

Such an instinct I know to have been at the source of her interest in doing her part to collect and preserve these annals.

It is needless to repeat that she had the earnest coöperation of many other members of the Hanna family in achieving a result which establishes and preserves the family unity not only for the present time but for future generations.

PREFACE

WHEN Benjamin Hanna died in New Lisbon, Ohio, July 16, 1853, he left instructions in his Will that his executors should divide his personal property into ten equal parts and should then cause some disinterested person to cast a lot for each of his nine surviving children and for the heirs of one deceased child — beginning at the eldest, down to the youngest. He had already before his death (in 1847, as stated in the codicil to his Will), divided his real estate, giving a farm to each child. He left also a legacy of one thousand dollars to each.

In accord with these instructions the lots were cast and the distribution was made on October 15, 1853. The executors kept a careful record of each lot and its contents, together with a record of the value of the gift of real estate (carefully equalized by money gifts, whenever the plots happened to be of unequal size and value) made to each child by Benjamin Hanna before his death, and also the legacy of $1,000 left to each. These bequests were balanced against any sums debited to the various children, and a final accounting and settlement was made at the end of a period of some years.

The book containing this record of the Estate of Benjamin Hanna is a valuable historical document of the Hanna family, and it seemed that there were members of the family who would be interested to possess a copy of it. It was in this idea that the present volume had its inception.

It is natural that in reproducing this Estate Book of Benjamin Hanna some facts should be given about himself, his forefathers, and the children to whom the various lots described in the book were distributed. The undertaking has extended considerably beyond the limits at first set for it, but its scope and aim remain substantially the same, and the book is still a record of Benjamin Hanna and his children. It was found possible to collect many old daguerrotypes and pictures to add to its interest: various members of the family have generously loaned such material, and many more have spent considerable time and trouble in looking up data referring to their own immediate family line. It is hoped that the preservation of their family records in a form which is at once permanent and accessible will be sufficient return for effort spent in assisting to make the book as accurate and complete as possible.

Special acknowledgement must be made for the assistance given by Miss Flora Hanna, whose records, compiled first by her father, Kersey Hanna, and then carried on by herself, have been in constant use for reference; while to her also is due, in many cases, the possibility of communicating with members of the family scattered in distant parts of the country. Unhappily, she did not live to see the publication of the book.

Mrs. S. Prentiss Baldwin (Lilian Converse Hanna) also has been most generous in lending pictures and documents for reproduction, and her help and interest have been of the greatest value.

Miss M. Josephine Smith has been the editor, assembling, checking and arranging the material and taking all the arduous responsibility which falls to the share of the editor of a work of this kind.

The records tell their own story, and explanatory material has been added wherever it was available and could add to the clearness or interest of the facts presented. Every effort has been made to give the data as accurately and completely as possible; where a blank occurs it is due to failure to obtain information, not to lack of effort. Some errors there doubtless will be; in a few cases conflicting dates have been given and at such times, when absolute verification has been impossible, the date accepted has been that supplied by the most closely related family member from whom a record was obtainable. In other cases records had been lost or destroyed, or were for some reason inaccessible, and the data could only be given from memory. Those who have ever undertaken, even in a small way, to collect family records, will realize the many vicissitudes to which they are subject, and they will not be too critical of such errors as may have found their way, despite all efforts to the contrary, into the following pages.

THE HANNA FAMILY

THOMAS HANNA, the first American representative of the Hanna family, came from the North of Ireland in 1763, bringing with him his wife, Elizabeth Henderson Hanna, and six children, one of whom died and was buried at sea. He settled in Buckingham County, Pennsylvania.

Robert Hanna, the son of Thomas, moved to Westmoreland County, Pennsylvania, and his name is found as one of the two representatives of that county on the secret Provincial Committee which met in Philadelphia in July, 1774, to draw up "Instructions" to be presented to the Assembly then sitting at the State House, in compliance with which that Assembly appointed delegates to the "First American Congress." In 1779 Robert Hanna moved to Virginia, where he, together with John Lynch, laid out the town of Lynchburg, Virginia; the two men tossed pennies to decide which of them should name the town, and John won the toss — hence the name Lynchburg. About 1780 Robert Hanna joined the Society of Friends. Later he settled in Columbiana County, Ohio, where he, his son Benjamin, and his grandsons were closely associated with the life and progress of the county over a number of years. Robert Hanna died July 16, 1837, in Carroll County, Ohio, and was buried in the Friends' cemetery at Augusta, Ohio.

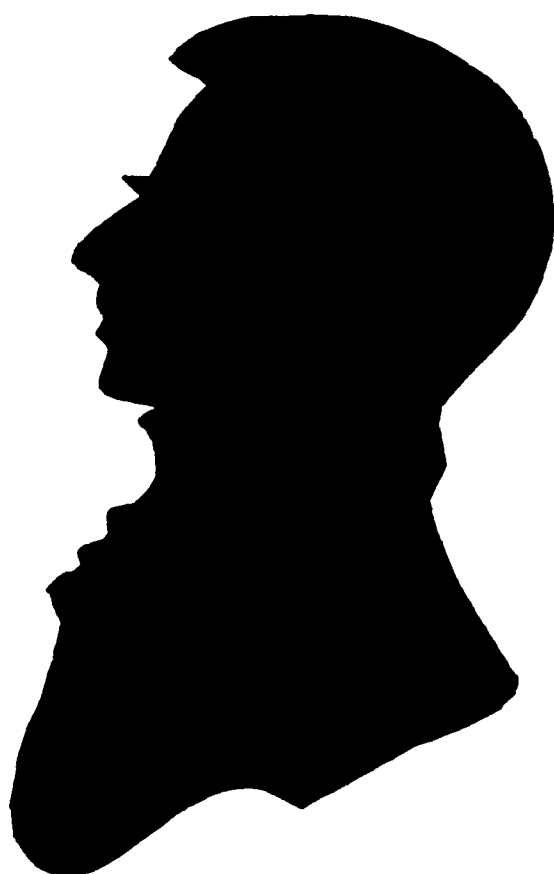

Benjamin Hanna lived in Springfield, Columbiana County, in the earlier part of his life; he also belonged to the Society of Friends, and on December 15, 1803, he and Rachel Dixon were married according to the Quaker custom by solemnly plighting their troth to each other in the Middleton Meeting House, in the presence of many witnesses who signed the marriage certificate.

Rachel Dixon Hanna was a woman of rare courage; several stories attesting this fact have been handed down to her descendants. The women of those pioneer days were in the habit of meeting from house to house for friendly intercourse, and it was customary for them to carry small spinning-wheels with which they industriously occupied their fingers during these social hours. One winter's day, Rachel Hanna was returning on foot through the forest after one of these gatherings; she carried her spinning-wheel in her hand and her little dog ran by her side. Suddenly a pack of wolves came yelping through the trees; the little dog, terrified, took refuge beneath the skirts of his mistress, but she, nothing daunted, faced the hungry beasts, keeping her eyes firmly fixed upon them as she paced backwards toward the outlet of the forest and home. In the meantime her husband, Benjamin Hanna, had become anxious and set out to look for her; he met her at the edge of the forest, the wolves slowly but surely following her, and held at bay only by her fearless demeanor and steady gaze.

In 1817, Benjamin Hanna built a home for himself in New Lisbon, Columbiana County, Ohio; and he lived there until 1822, when he built the "Corner House" for a residence and store; there his youngest son, Kersey, was born, and each of his sons in turn first set up housekeeping there. In 1828 he built a third home, which he occupied in January, 1829, and which, although in a somewhat altered condition, is still standing.

Benjamin and Rachel Hanna had thirteen children, two of whom died in childhood; and of the remainder all but two survived him. The names and dates of these children and their descendants, down to the present day whenever it has been possible to complete the record, will be found in the tables which follow.

BENJAMIN JONES

Benjamin Jones was born in 1731 in King George County, Virginia, and died in November 1754; he had an older brother and a sister in Virginia. The brother, Judge Joseph Jones, was a member of the House of Burgesses from King George County, served on the Committee of Safety in 1755 and in the Convention of 1776; he represented Virginia in the Continental Congress and was appointed Judge of the General Court in 1778. The greater portion of his estate went to his nephew, James Monroe, son of his sister Eliza (Jones) Monroe, and later fifth President of the United States.

HISTORICAL NOTE ON THE SOCIETY OF FRIENDS

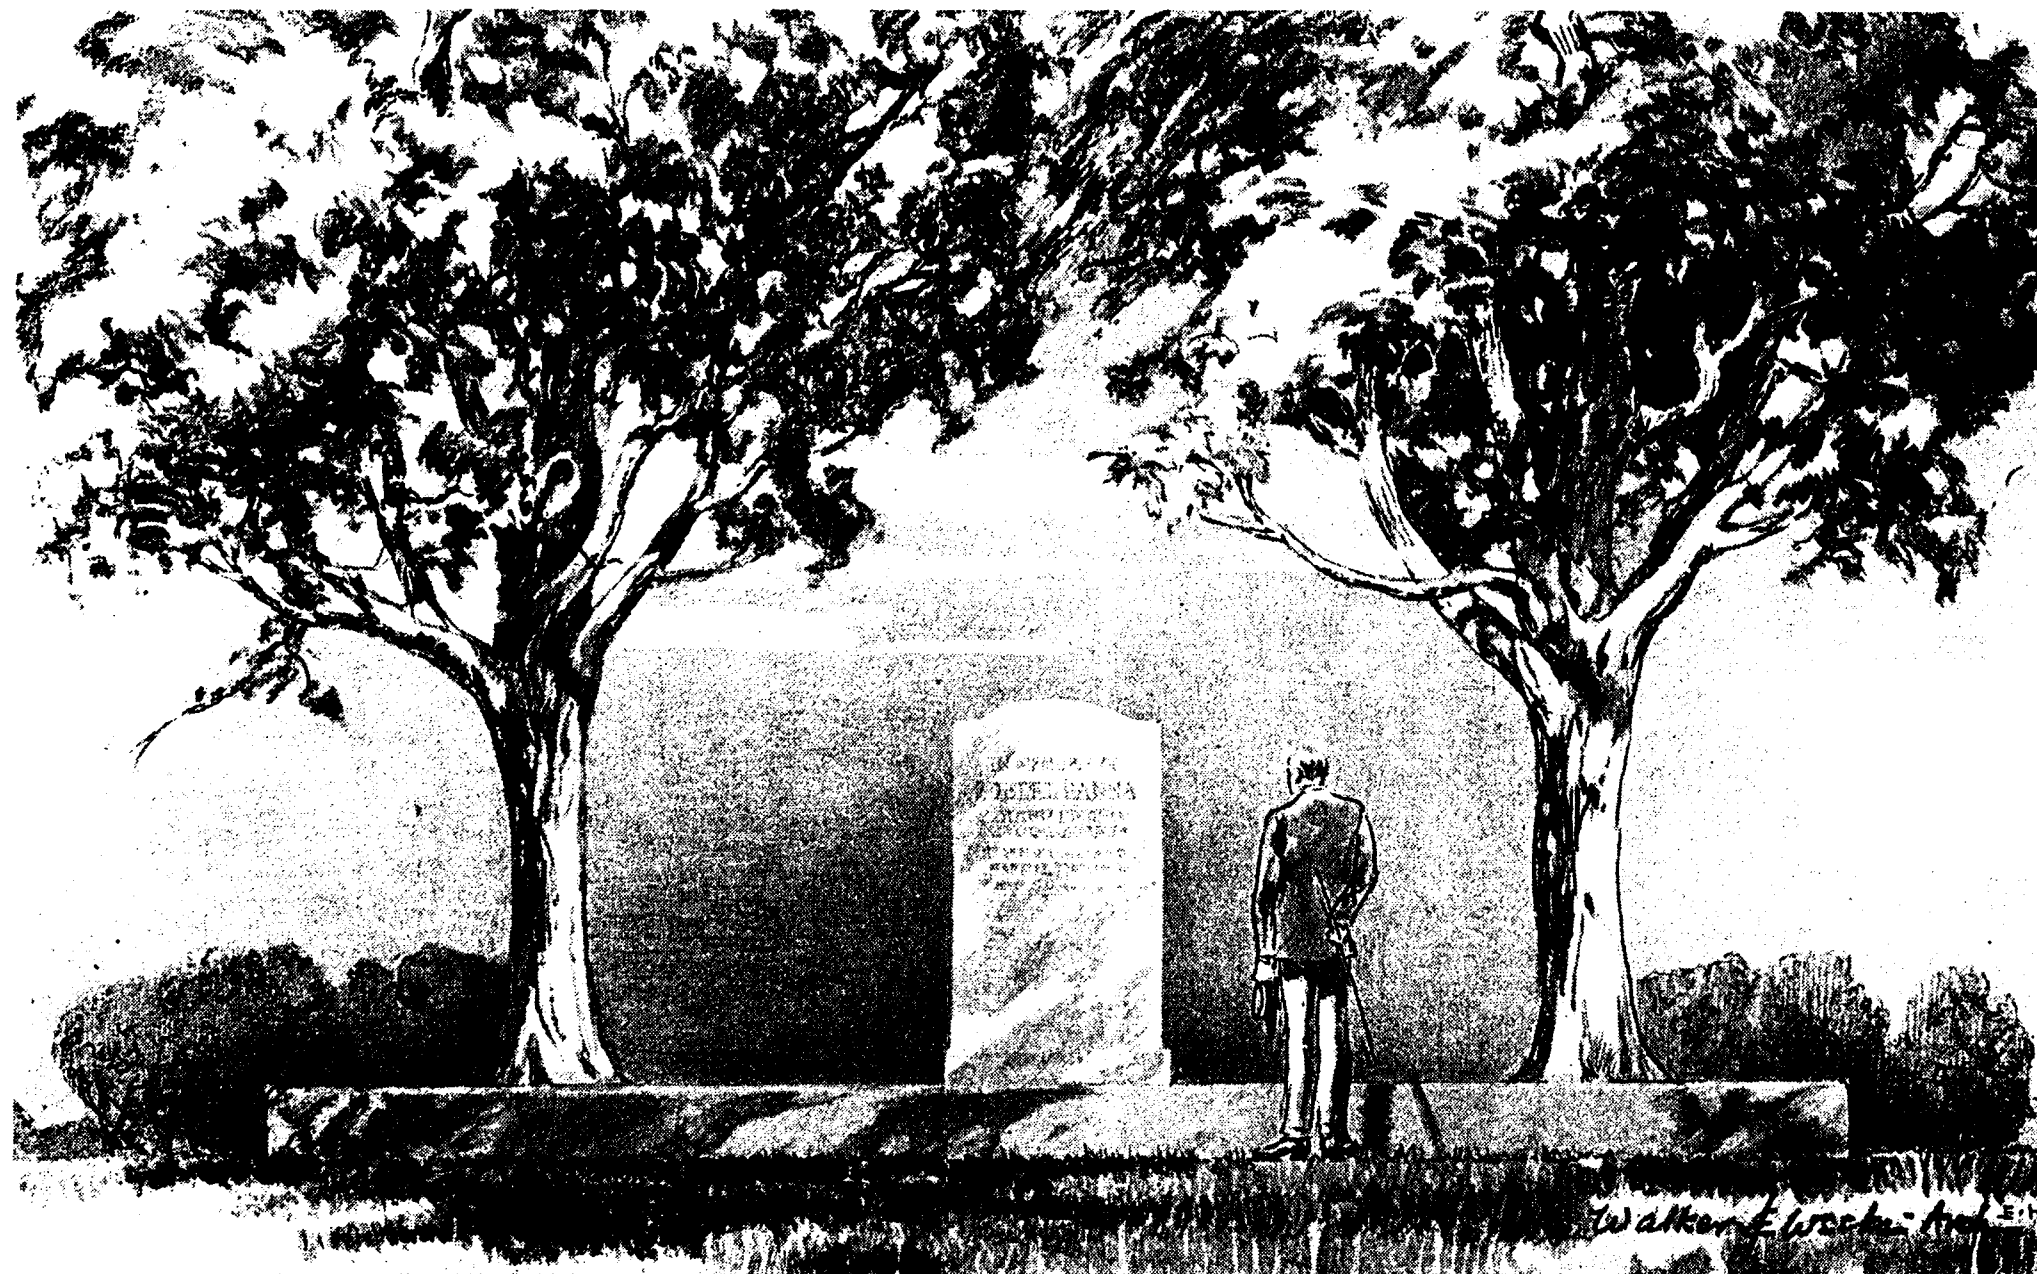

The letter from Catharine Jones Hanna is of particular interest because of its reference to a division in the Society of Friends, to which Robert and Catharine Hanna both belonged. While the letter is not dated, it seems reasonable to suppose that Catharine Hanna's distress of mind was caused by the separation which occurred in 1827 in the Philadelphia Yearly Meeting, and later in others. Since then two bodies have claimed the title "Religious Society of Friends," commonly distinguished by the names "Hicksite" and "Orthodox," although not recognized or officially used by either body.

The name "Hicksite" came from Elias Hicks, a Long Island minister, whose ministry was the immediate cause of the schism. The Orthodox party held that unsound doctrines caused the division; while the followers of Hicks, while admitting differences in doctrine, maintained that the chief cause was a too arbitrary exercise of authority by the Orthodox party.

In the separation two-thirds of the Philadelphia and New York yearly meetings were "Hicksite," in Baltimore four-fifths, and in Ohio the division was about equal; in Indiana there were comparatively few Hicks sympathizers. No separation occurred in New England or in North Carolina Meetings, these continuing to be identified with the Orthodox bodies, which were officially recognized by the London Yearly Meeting.

AGREEMENT FOR CARE OF THE ROBERT HANNA MEMORIAL

THIS Memorandum of Agreement, made this [first] day of September, A. D., 1926, by and between CHARLES E. RICE of Alliance, Ohio, TRUSTOR, and the ALLIANCE FIRST NATIONAL BANK of Alliance, Ohio, TRUSTEE, witnesseth as follows:

That, Whereas, on or about the 7th day of June, A.D., 1924, the TRUSTOR above named purchased and now owns a tract of land located in the Southwest quarter of Section Thirty-five (35), Township Sixteen (16), Range Five (5) of Columbiana County, Ohio, being a tract of land containing one-half ( $\frac{1}{2}$ ) Acre more or less, located at the Southwest corner of a Twenty-six (26) Acre tract of land and bounded on the North by land of Charles Brogan, on the East by land of Charles Brogan, on the West by land of the N. Pim heirs and on the South by the property of the Friends Church of Augusta, Ohio, for the purpose of a burial place for members of the Hanna family, and

Whereas, it is the desire of the TRUSTOR herein to preserve said tract for such purpose and to have the same kept in proper order and condition for all time.

NOW THEREFORE, it is agreed that the TRUSTEE herein named shall take charge of and manage said premises and see that the same are kept in good order and condition out of the funds hereinafter specified.

It is further agreed that the said TRUSTOR has this day paid and delivered to the TRUSTEE the sum of FIFTEEN HUNDRED DOLLARS ($1500.00), the receipt of which is hereby acknowledged by the said TRUSTEE, which sum shall be perpetually held in trust by said TRUSTEE, with the power, authority and duty to invest the same in proper securities of its own selection and to expend the income, after the payment of any expenses in connection with said trust in the beautification, care and preservation of said grounds, so that the same may be kept at all times in suitable and fit condition as a cemetery and memorial ground, said expenditures to be made from time to time as may be needed or required therefor. In the event there should be any surplus of income arising from said trust fund, in excess of what may, in the discretion of the TRUSTEE, be required for said purposes, the TRUSTEE may in his discretion and at such times as it may determine, add to the corpus of the fund such portion of such surplus as in its discretion it may determine is not needed or required for said purposes, and any amount so added shall become part of the corpus of said trust fund, it being understood that the original amount and any amounts so added shall be designated as the corpus fund and shall be forever maintained inviolate.

It is further agreed that in case the TRUSTEE, by reason of termination of its trust powers for any cause, or for any other cause, said TRUSTEE is hereby given the right and authority to transfer this trust to some other suitable corporate Trustee, preferably located in the City of Alliance, Ohio, or in the locality of these grounds, which Trustee of the Trust shall enjoy the same rights and be subject to the same obligations and duties as the TRUSTEE herein named to carry forward the purpose of said trust, provided, however, that in case such transfer should become necessary or desirable during the lifetime of the TRUSTOR herein, the TRUSTEE shall not name such successor trustee unless and until the TRUSTOR shall be first given thirty (30) days notice of such proposed transfer, and said TRUSTOR shall have the right to nominate the Trustee to be substituted for the TRUSTEE named herein. But if said TRUSTOR shall not within said Thirty Days nominate such Trustee, the TRUSTEE shall then name and designate the Trustee to succeed the TRUSTEE named herein.

It is further agreed that the said TRUSTOR shall execute and deliver to said TRUSTEE a Trust Deed conveying the premises herein before described, to be held by said TRUSTEE in trust for the purposes named herein.

It is further agreed that the fee of the TRUSTEE for the investment and control of said trust fund and the collection of the income thereon, shall be not to exceed five percent (5%) of the gross income of said trust fund from year to year and that said TRUSTEE should be allowed such further fees as may be necessary in exercising proper supervision, control and care of said premises, in any case not to be less than Ten Dollars ($10.00) per annum.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF said CHARLES E. RICE as TRUSTOR and the ALLIANCE FIRST NATIONAL BANK of Alliance, Ohio, as TRUSTEE have hereunto set their names and signatures this first day of September, A.D., 1926.

THE PROVINCIAL COMMITTEE OF 1774

FROM "Carpenter's Hall and its Historic Memories," by Richard K. Betts. Published by the Company. Pp. 7, 8:

"Among the early events in the history of Carpenters' Hall, were the memorable sessions of the 'Committee of the City and County of Philadelphia,' to initiate measures for calling a Provincial conference — to effect which an invitation was extended to the various counties of the Province, to meet the Philadelphia Committee in conference on the 15th July then next following. On Fourth of July, (by a singular coincidence) 1774, the latter appointed a sub-committee to prepare 'instructions' which the then great leader of Constitutional Rights, John Dickinson, thought 'a duty, in order to be ready for the Provincial Committee when it should meet.' This great 'Provincial Committee,' (so it was styled), pursuant to the call referred to, also met at Carpenters' Hall, and remained in session there till its important and effective labors were completed. July 22nd, 1774. Its chairman was Thomas Willing; clerk, Charles Thomson. The members were from —

"This list is given, since it is rarely to be met with, and includes the names of those who formed the second link (the Non-Importation Resolutions of 1765, of the merchants of Philadelphia, being the first) in the local efforts to assert Constitutional rights. This committee, 'in a body, waited upon the Assembly then sitting' at the State House, and presented the 'Instructions' to appoint delegates to represent Pennsylvania in the intended Congress, and to require them, for and on behalf of the citizens of this Province 'strenuously to exert themselves to obtain a renunciation on the part of Great Britain of all powers of internal legislation for America, or of imposing taxes, &c., and a repeal of every statute affecting the Province of Massachusetts Bay, passed in the last session of Parliament.'

"These 'Instructions,' with the argumentative part upon which they were predicated, were esteemed so admirable as to elicit a formal vote of thanks to their author, John Dickinson, rendered publicly from the chair, 'for the application of his eminent abilities to the service of his country.'

“The Assembly, by vote the day following, complied with these instructions, and appointed delegates to the ‘First American Congress.’

“It has been asked, why did these most important conferences hold their sessions in Carpenters’ Hall. Why did Congress meet there instead of the State House. It was well understood in 1774, the Governor feared the effect of the patriotic movements upon his interests in the Province, and his influence and authority were exercised in opposition to them. We cannot enter into the feelings of these patriotic men as they stood with their lives in their hands. John Dickinson, the great leader, and advocate of Constitutional rights, was appealed to by his friends to pause; it was confidently asserted, ‘you will be hanged, your estate will be forfeited and confiscated, you will leave your amiable wife a widow, and your charming children orphans, beggars, infamous, because of your doings.’ When the use of Carpenters’ Hall was asked for, the Company was convened to consider it, and the minutes of that meeting show that they felt the responsibility of their doings. The ‘Royalist’ warned them of the confiscation of their Hall, and ‘that their necks might be inconveniently lengthened.’ The names of all present were carefully kept off the record, and it simply says ‘on the question being put, ‘shall they be allowed to meet here.’ voted that they shall.’ It was not until Governor Penn fully realized that the sceptre of power had already slidden from his grasp, and from motives of policy that he consented to be the bearer of the petition of Congress to the King. In his examination before the House of Lords, Nov. 10, 1775, in which he is pleased to style himself ‘the bearer of an olive branch’ from America, he clearly manifests his fear that the Americans would adopt ‘the desperate resolution of calling in the aid of foreign assistance.’ After he sailed for England, there was no difficulty in using the State House.”

legacies herein before bequeathed as practicable to collect from debts due my estate and put at interest on good mortgage security on real estate, the interest to be paid annually for his support and education if necessary and the principle and any remaining interest that may be due to be paid to him when he shall arrive at the age of twenty two (22) if he shall live to arrive at that age, if not then this legacy shall be equally divided among my other heirs named in will. Fifth: It is my will that after my death my executors shall proceed to divide and appraise all my real estate that shall remaine, after paying my debts in the following manner viz: That two of my executors if no more than that number shall be liveing and able to attend to it, shall divide into ten (10) lots or parcels of as near eaqual value as possible, for which purpose they are hereby authorised to divide lots and tracts of land. When they have so divided it they shall appraise each lot or parcel separately, and when they have so divided and appraised they shall cause some disinterested person or persons to draw lots for each of my Sons and daughters herein before named in the third item. The first shall be for the eldest and so on according to age to the youngest, the lots to be so drawn that no preference shall be given to one over another. The lots so drawn shall determine which lot belongs to each heir, and my executors are authorized to make a good and sufficient title, to each for the property thus assigned to him or her. It is to be understood that the real estate, the use and occupancy which is herein before bequeathed to my wife, is to be included in the property thus divided, and appraised subject to her life estate. Sixth: It is my will that soon after the death of my wife, if she shall survive me, if not soon after my death that two or more of my executors shall divide my Chattle property which shall remain after paying my debts and legacies herein before made into ten (10) eaqual shares of as near the same value as possible and appraise and value each lot seperately and cause the same to be drawn for in the same manner as provided for in dividing my real estate, and the same shall be delivered to each of my sons and daughters named in the third item according to such drawing. It is not to be understood that debts due my estate or money on hand shall be included in the division of my Chattle property, but that they shall be applied as directed in this will. It is further my will that if either of my sons or daughters named in the third item of this will shall die before the distribution, of my estate, that their share shall go to the heirs of such deceased son or daughters.

THE CORNER HOUSE, NEW LISBON, COLUMBIANA COUNTY, OHIO

Built in 1822 by Benjamin Hanna. It was his residence and store.
The third floor was added later for business purposes. His youngest son, Kersey, was born there, and all the sons first set up housekeeping there.

Seventh: In the division of my property both real and personal by lots herein before provided for if the share of each of my sons and daughters among whom such divisions is herein before directed to be made, shall not be eaqual in value such inequality shall be remedied and the several shares made eaqual out of moneys on hand or debts due my estate, provided such moneys and the proceeds of such debts shall be sufficient for that purpose, if not then those that may draw the largest share shall pay those drawing less shares untill all are made to share and share alike in the division of my whole estate.

Eight: It is my will that if my beloved wife shall survive me that all copartnerships in which I may be engaged at the time of my decease shall be continued by her in the same manner as nearly as practible as they were by me before my decease. But the parties may by mutual consent dissolve such copartnership at any time. It is my will that my executors shall assist and advise with my said wife in the management of her business. Ninth: It is my will that after the payment of my debts and the division of my property by lots as herein before directed and the eaqualising of the several shares and the payment of such other bequest as I have made, there shall be remaining any money on hand or debts due my estate the latter shall be converted into money and the whole of the residue thus found to be left, shall be divided between my sons and daughters before named share and share alike. Tenth: Having full confidence in my executors herein after named, it is my will and I hereby direct, that they shall not be required to give bond or security for the performance of these duties, as my executors. It is further my will and I hereby direct that there shall not be a return made to the Court of my property by my executors and that there shall be no other appraisement made thereof than that provided for in this will.

Eleventh: It is my will and desire that my executors shall not make any forced collection of debts due my estate when in their opinion such forced collections will materially injure or oppress the family of the debtor. Twelfth: I hereby constitute and appoint my sons Joshua Leonard Levi and Robert Hanna executors of this my last will and testament, Lastly: it is my will and earnest desire that every thing contained in this my last will and testament shall be carried out by my executors and heirs according to its true spirit and intent, without any resort to law or by the aid of the law or any settlement with the Court further than is indispensable

SUSAN MCFARLANE RICHARDSON LATHROP

Born June 24, 1803.

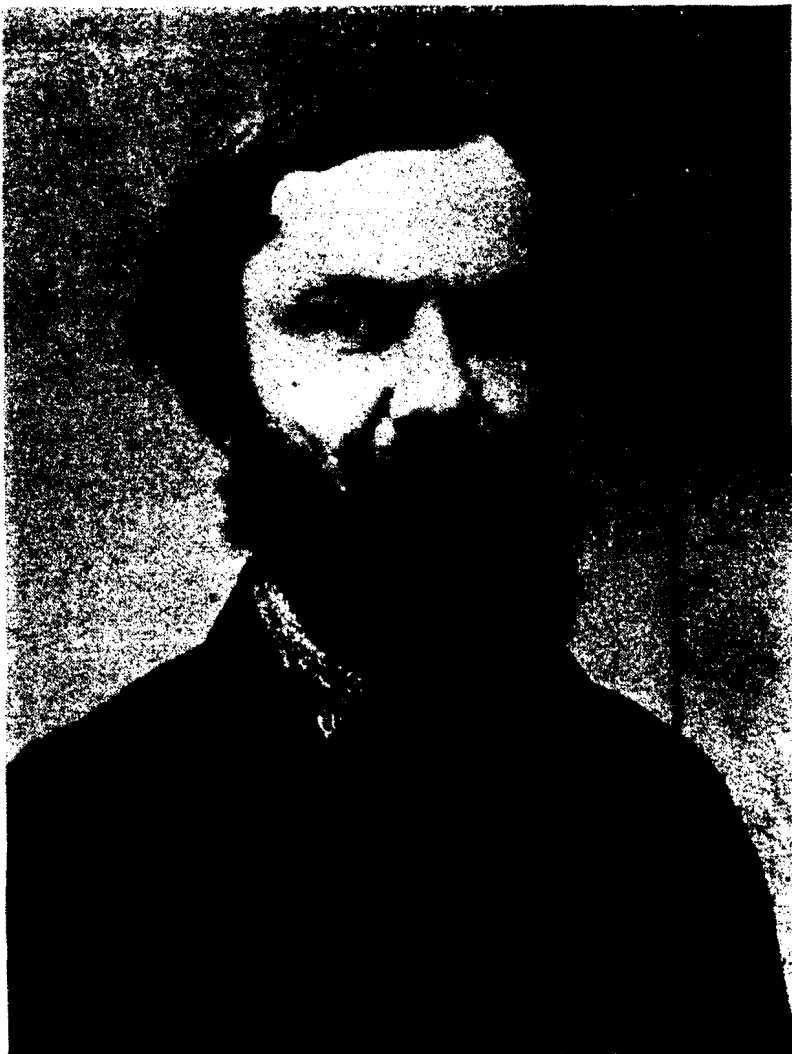

Died December 17, 1875.

NOTE:—There seems to be some uncertainty as to whether Susan McFarlane was married once or twice before her marriage to Joshua Hanna. According to a record in the possession of Miss Flora Hanna, Richardson was her name after her first marriage, and her second marriage was to Joshua Hanna; the name Lathrop does not occur. However, in a Bible dated 1829 and inscribed “Presented by Benjamin and Rachel Hanna to Joshua and Susan Hanna 2nd. Mo. 23rd, 1830,” there is the following insertion in the handwriting of Joshua Hanna: “Joshua Hanna and Susanna Lathrop were married on the 3rd of February, 1830.” This Bible was in the possession of Mr. Robert C. Hanna, who stated that he could find no reference to any marriage to a Mr. Richardson, but that he had heard that there was a marriage to a Mr. Richardson prior to the marriage to Mr. Lathrop.

In the old records the name “McFarlane” is spelled in three ways—“McFarland,” “McFarlane” and “MacFarlane.” Joshua Hanna spelled it “McFarlane,” both in the old Bible referred to above, and also in a letter signed by him.

FLOOR PLAN OF LEONARD HANNA'S HOUSE,
NEW LISBON, OHIO

AGREEMENT BETWEEN LEONARD HANNA AND SAMUEL REYNOLDS

Memorandum of an agreement made and agreed upon this twenty-eighth day of March one thousand eight hundred and thirty-eight by and between Samuel Reynolds of the town of Salem, Columbiana County, State of Ohio, of the one part and Leonard Hanna, of the town of New Lisbon, County and State aforesaid, of the other part witnesseth:

That said Reynolds agrees to build a house for said Hanna according to the plans and specifications hereunto attached, and furnish all the materials necessary for building and finishing the same—excepting nails, hinges, screws, glass, locks, latches, paints and oil, and (   ?   ) work, in one year from the tenth day of May next, said house to be located on out lot number nine as laid out by Marten Helman, adjoining the town of New Lisbon. The materials to be of good quality and the work executed in a neat, substantial and workmanlike manner.

The said Hanna on his part agrees to and with said Reynolds in consideration of the foregoing materials and work to give him, the said Reynolds, three hundred and twenty-five dollars in store goods at the store of B. L. & R. Hanna in New Lisbon during the progress of the work, one hundred dollars in money and his, the said Hanna's bay horse Billy also during the progress of the building; and give to said Reynolds a good and sufficient title to the following described land, viz: The South East quarter of Section number twenty-five, township number two South, Range number ten, in Hancock County, State of Ohio—at the time of the completion of the building.

It is further agreed between said parties that any failure to describe or specify any part of said building necessary to make a proper and complete finish thereof, shall not excuse said Reynolds from executing such part or parts without additional charge, and that if any alterations are made in the plans or specifications which shall increase the cost of the building said Hanna agrees to pay said Reynolds whatever such alterations shall be reasonably worth more than the original plan. That if any alteration or alterations shall be made which shall diminish the cost of the building said Reynolds agrees to deduct whatever amount such alteration shall be worth less than the original plan, and that said Hanna shall have the right at any and all times during the progress of the building to make such alterations as he shall think proper and to reject any improper materials and give directions in the execution of the work.

It is further agreed by the parties that any plan or specification not hereunto attached at the time of signing may by agreement of parties be subsequently attached and considered a part of the original plan. It is further understood between the parties that said Hanna shall have the right whenever any part of the work is done at variance with the plans and specifications or in an inferior manner to stop it and prevent its being so done.

In witness whereof the parties have hereunto set their hands and affixed their seals the day and year first written.

(Signed) SAMUEL REYNOLDS (seal)
LEONARD HANNA (seal)

Upon further consideration it is agreed between the parties to the foregoing article of agreement that the house shall be a frame building instead of a brick.

(Signed) SAMUEL REYNOLDS (seal)
LEONARD HANNA (seal)

Received May 10th 1838 of Leonard Hanna his bay horse Billy, as mentioned in the foregoing article.

(Signed) SAMUEL REYNOLDS.

Received October 16th, 1839 of Leonard Hanna a good and sufficient title to the South East quarter of Section Number 25 in Township No. 2 South of Range No. 10 in Hancock Co., as mentioned in the foregoing article of agreement.

COUNTY FAIRS IN EARLY DAYS

From "Ohio Patriot," Lisbon, Ohio, Sept. 12, 1905
1846-1905

The first county fairs were held in the old malleable iron works building at East End. The house limits of the town were the old Harbaugh home, where Lepper Library now stands, Mrs. Emily Jordan's and I. C. Bean's properties; all that part was known as Brook's meadow. The first public meeting of which record is preserved was April 15, 1846; Samuel Myers, president, H. I. Clever, secretary; William E. Russell, Jacob Harbaugh, B. W. Snodgrass, W. D. Morgan, S. Myers, Robert Hanna, C. M. Aten, constituted committees to draft constitution and nominate officers.

The State law for the encouragement of agriculture had been enacted the previous February, John Martin representing this county in the corporate State society.

The first officers were: Samuel Myers, president; William Kemble, vice-president; John McClymonds, secretary; Fisher A. Blocksom, treasurer; managers, Leonard Hanna, Warner Peters, James Q. Caldwell, W. E. Russell, Jacob Harbaugh. The by-laws required all competitors to be members of the Society.

The first fair recollected by Mrs. Maria Connell Roach, the oldest citizen of Lisbon, 94 years of age, was esteemed a great show; she received a premium for the best quilt. Friend Edward Broughton, with the great cattle shows of England in mind, left rather disgusted with the stock exhibit — he wished he had taken his old muley cow, "better than any shown."

Prize-winners of the fair of '46 were not numerous. Speed horses were unheard of. The 1905 premium list would read like a fairy tale to the participants at the fair in '46. The total premiums on horses amounted to less than $17, and were won by Levi Hull, Freeman Morrison, Jacob Harbaugh, Stacy Hunt, John Neill, George L. McCook, Peter Spiker, William Green. The cattle premiums paid were less than $11, and were won by Isaac Astray, William Green, John Ferrall, William Kemble and William Kirk. Jacob Harbaugh's one dollar was the only premium paid on hogs.

Premiums on plows were determined after a plowing match, the winners being Lentzenhizer & Reitzell, and Anthony Taylor. The award for the best one-horse buggy made in the county went to Samuel H. Eells. James H. Shields had the best set of chairs; Adam Rentz the best boots, and Edward Richards the best saddle. No entries were made for linen, cloth and flannel in 12-yard pieces; none for 20-yard pieces of satinett made in the county. William Kemble's corn and oats, each on not less than three contiguous acres, won nine dollars. Vegetables were classed as roots. The Society's president won fifty cents on best apples.

The miscellaneous premiums were pocket Bibles, and one dollar each to the following: Mrs. B. Blockson, splendid Lone Star quilt; Stacy Hunt, manufactured silk; James Miller, new construction bee-hive; Hugh McClain, hive, bees and honey; Jacob Rummel, washing-machine patent; James Starr, a fanning-mill. Such, according to record, were the premiums of that year.

As deserving special mention, the Board named sweet potatoes of mammoth size, shown by the Messrs. Denermandio; sweet pumpkins, by Dr. McCook and others; neat patchwork, by Mrs. C. M. Aten and Keziah Watson; black silk shawls, needleworked by Mrs. E. Borden; counterpane, Mrs. Blackburn; fancy fly-brush, Stacy Hunt; "school apparatus worthy of public attention," Nathan Hunt; ingenious puzzle by Martin Robbins; and hand trunk by P. M. Snodgrass.

The financial statement after the first recorded fair showed $77 paid in annual subscriptions, the same amount received from the county treasurer; all expenses of the fair were $72.

In 1904 the receipts were $5,806, with a balance of more than $1,000 in the Society's pocket; this growth is proportionate with that of the grounds, attractions, etc.

In '47 John Ferrall was president; William W. Longshore, vice-president; Leonard Hanna, secretary; John McClymonds, treasurer; with E. B. Hastings, Mellard Hanes, Samuel Martin, John Fleming, Moses Mendenhall, as managers. The township vice-presidents were as follows: Joseph Patton, Liverpool; John Smith, St. Clair; Milton McCarter, Middleton; John N. Dixon, Unity; Abel Lodge, Fairfield; Joseph Straughn, Perry; Samuel Bowman, Center; John Fleming, Wayne; Hugh King, Franklin; Jacob Dutton, Hanover; John Battin, West; Dr. Deelenbaugh, Knox; Dr. William Farmer, Washington; Lewis Walker, Butler; William Kemble, Elkrum; John Crafts, Madison; William Ogilvie, Yellow Creek; Henry Hoke, Salem. Benjamin Hanna was chairman that year.

The next entry, dated April, '51, shows a revision of the constitution, a roll of 112 members; the autograph list is interesting, not only for the names of men who later had wide fame, but also for the recognized worth of many never known outside their immediate community. Nothing in the record book is so tempting as this leaf of names — the Hannas, of course, Benjamin, Leonard, Robert and Kersey; John McCook, A. L. Brewer, W. D. Ewing. But the magic of the record is in its power to take one into the past, to see these men active in town life. G. F. Adam, for instance, who came to this country with Captain Beck. Men praised his wagons, women his neat picture-frames and cornices; but these were trifles to the beautiful blocks he had made for a little neighbor girl — an apron full of new ones each morning. Did ever shavings fall so glistening and curling from any other plane as from that in the old shop on Jefferson Street?

The autograph of Erastus Eells, made familiar by his long service on the school board, recalls the shadows in which every home at some time was enveloped; for when death came he ministered, since for many years he was the only undertaker within a wide radius. Thus each name, in turn, has sentiment-waking power.

Popular premiums at this time were "Thomson on Fruit," and the Ohio Cultivator.

In '53 the present grounds were bought by John McClymonds; the plat drawn by that master of penmanship, Abijah McLean, shows seven and a fraction acres in the piece retained by the Society, and five and a fraction in the tract known as the Jesse Holmes or Seminary place, which was sold to R. D. Hartshorn; a small place was also bought of Joseph Strawn. Right of the Society to use water from the spring on the Holmes place, and right of that place to use the driveway to the street, were reserved. The Society now owns 27 acres, having bought west to about the limit.

The Seminary place has had a romantic history. Jesse Holmes, the founder of an excellent academy for young men and women, stood high in the regard of the thrifty Quakers, who sought the highest culture for their youth. He married Rebecca Hanna, and was buried in the Hanna cemetery. Thomas S. Woods was secretary when the sale was consummated; and $1800.00 was the price of the entire tract. Thirty thousand feet of lumber, transportation, etc., cost $327.37.

James Scott's bid for a building 40 x 100 at $400 was lowest and was accepted.

A controversy over the award to lady equestriennes led to a decision that no more premiums would be offered; but ladies were allowed to drive or ride in the ring when it was not otherwise in use. Elizabeth Fife enjoyed the distinction of being the only woman member of the Society.

General William Larimer delivered an interesting address at the fair of '53. Joseph M. Springer built fence that year at 55 cents a rod, the secretary being careful to state that it was a lineal measure rod. Special premiums were: diplomas to Silver & Temple for daguerreotype display; to T. S. Hamilton, for the model of a farm-house; one dollar each to Miss Hays, Mrs. Duncan and Mrs. Harper for fine needlework; subscription to five copies of The Ohio Cultivator were sent to Wayne Township as premium on a train of working oxen.

The secretaries to '61 were J. H. Quinn, Kersey Hanna, W. J. Jordan — the latter serving the longest term; T. S. Brown, succeeded by J. G. Huston, who made the last entry in the books.

The constitution was again revised in '56, to bring it into harmony with the State law; D. Anderson's name appears for the first time in the list of members. For several years appropriations—at one time twenty dollars—were made to the teachers' association for educational premiums. K. F. Randolph, I. B. Harris and S. S. Crow had charge of this department.

In '57 the ring was enlarged, making it 97 yards north and south, 54 yards east and west. Silver cups, and The Ohio Farmer figured as premiums. Among the presidents were James Sterling and F. H. Zepernick. Hack-drivers repaired the road to the ground. Thirty-five cents was the limit allowed for meal tickets. Young men offered premiums of a silk dress, not to cost more than $15, and a shawl, not to exceed $10, for the best bread baked by a young or unmarried woman.

John McClymonds, of whom the grounds were bought, delivered deed in October, '57, the requirements of the sale having been met.

Thirty-three dollars was the secretary's salary. In 1858, The Ohio Patriot, Buckeye State, and Columbiana Telegraph advertised the meeting. That year the Board passed a resolution favoring the taxing of dogs, and a law preventing cattle from running at large. The time of the fair was changed from October to September; Salem Local and Beaver County being asked to fix theirs a day later to avoid conflict. This was one of the Resolutions: "Past experience having taught the value of early seeding, the Board recommends farmers to have all seed wheat in before the middle of September.” — From “The Ohio Patriot,” Lisbon, Ohio, September 12, 1905.

Executors act with the several heirs showing the amount which each heir has received in the disposition of real estate as made on the 15th day of 2nd month 1847. The amount charged to each heir on a book kept by Benjamin Harrison for that purpose. The amount paid by one heir to another to equalize the disposition of real estate. The amount received by each heir in the disposition of personal property and the amount paid by executors to each heir of residuary legacies.

These acts with each heir is made for the purpose of showing what amount each has received and shall be entitled to receive from the estate.

The provision of the will provide for the payment of a specific legacy of $1000 to each heir & that any charges made in a book referred to shall be considered as payment on that legacy which was regarded in the character of out fit be-gacies & that any charges which shall exceed the $1000. shall be deemed as debts due the estate. Therefore this act is kept merely for the purpose of the accounts by which all these things shall be shown.

The above cards are inserted in a small, cardboard case, inscribed: "E. P. Atlee, 180 Race St., Philadelphia. 1818. Presented to Leonard Hanna, 1827."

The case, containing these cards, has been presented by Mrs. S. Prentiss Baldwin (Lilian Converse Hanna), daughter of Dr. Leonard Hanna, to the Cleveland Medical Library.

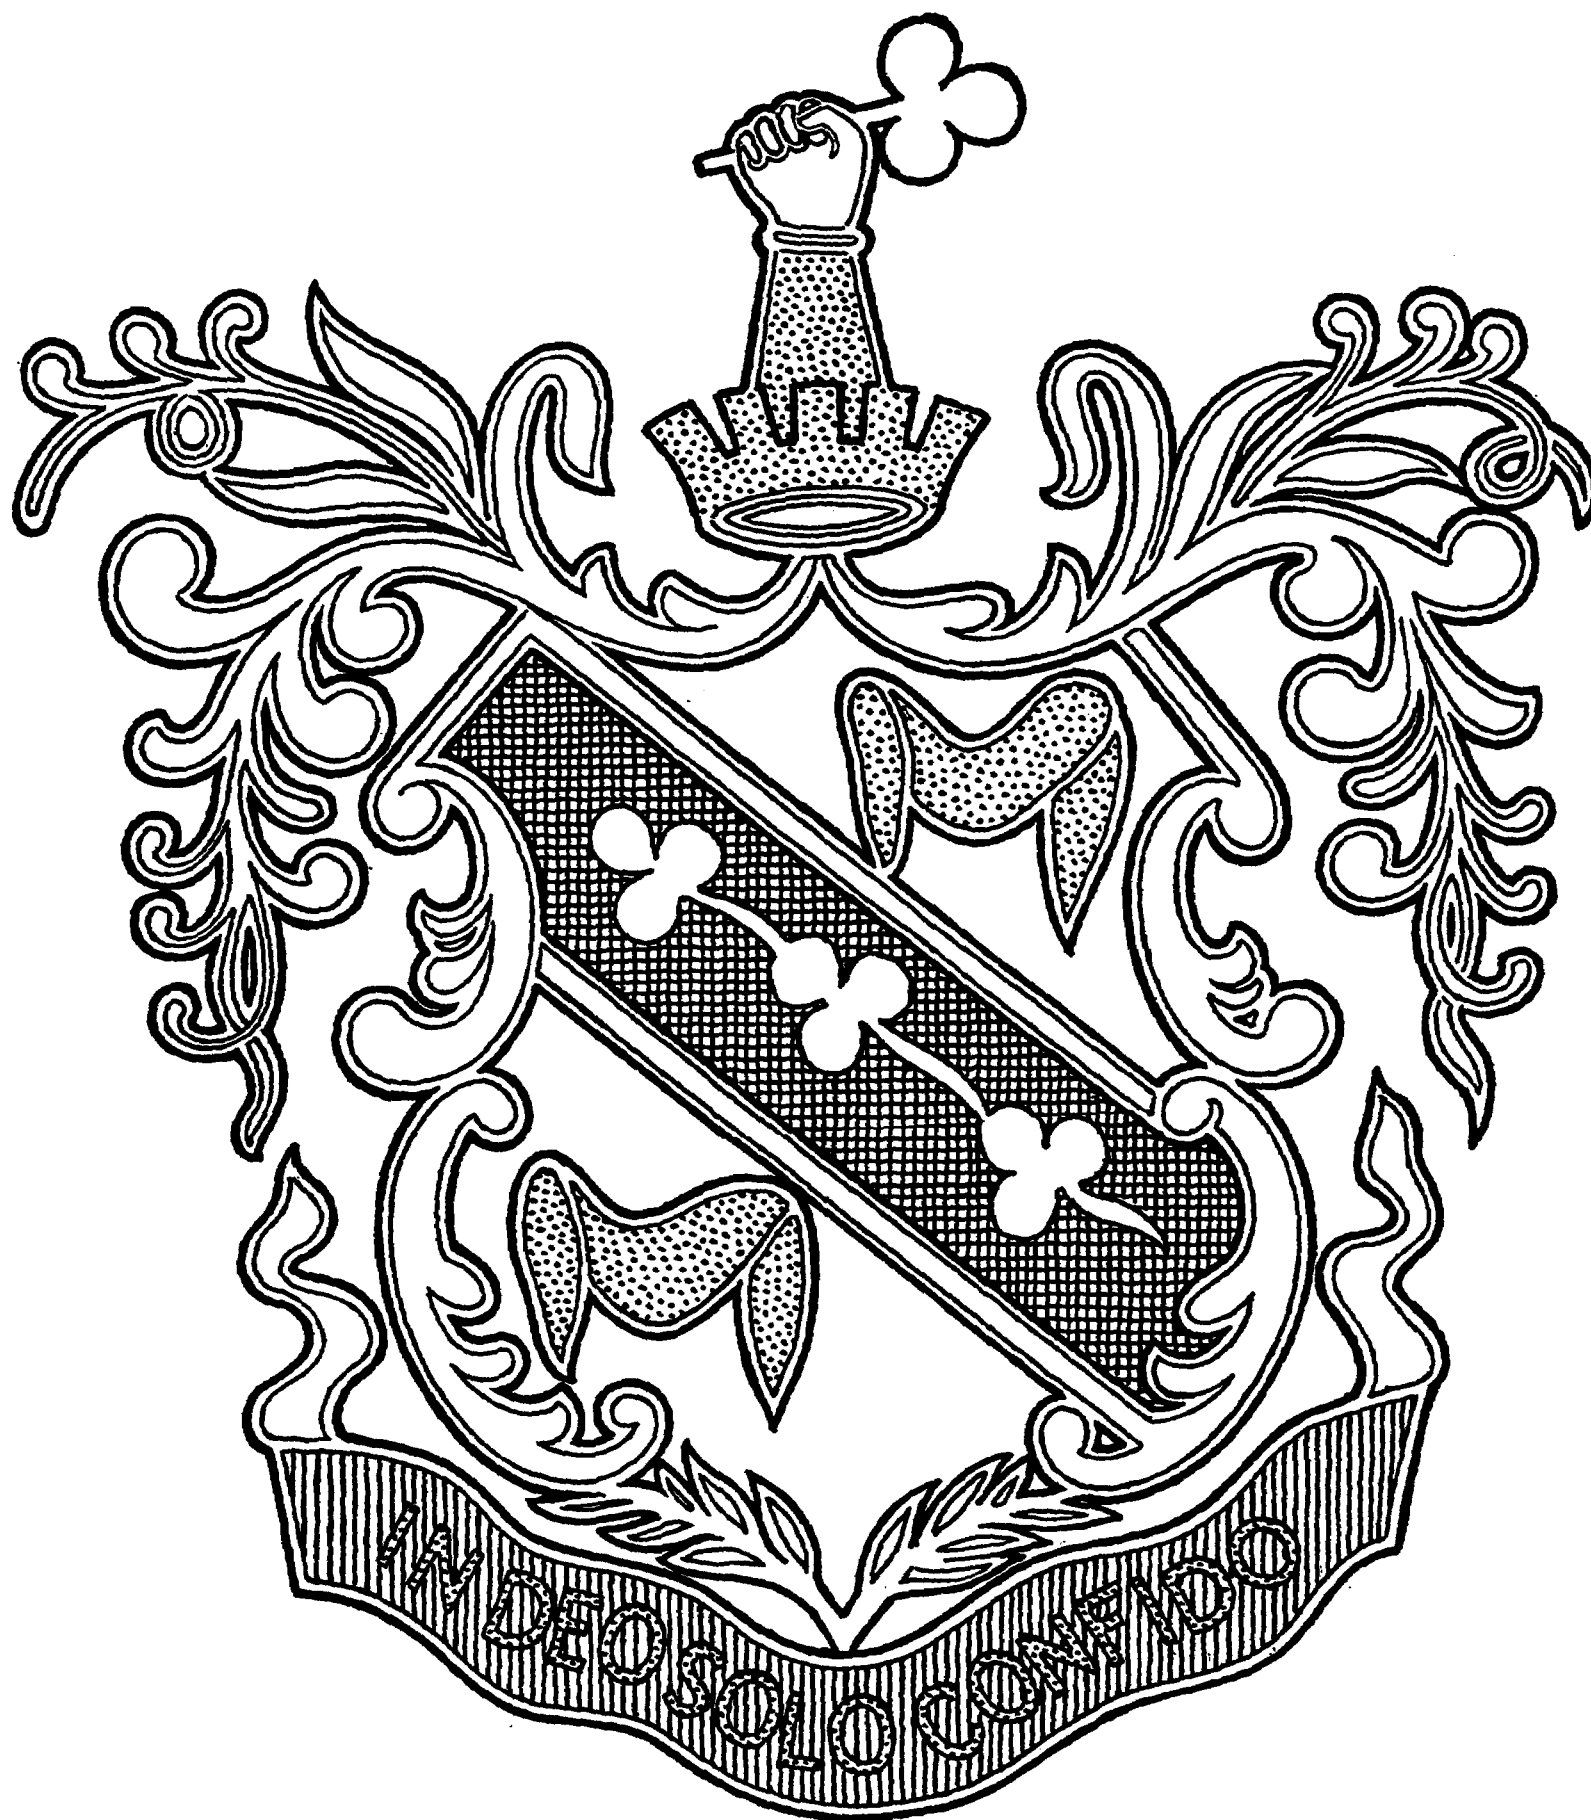

SAMANTHA CONVERSE, 1819.

(Done in water color; blue dress, white ruff, blond hair—a little red, though she had what was known as “flaxen” hair.)

The original is the property of Mrs. S. Prentiss Baldwin, her daughter.

The pictures here reproduced are from portraits on glass in the possession of Mrs. S. P. Baldwin (Lilian Converse Hanna). The art of making these portraits seems to have been lost, and the earliest found in this country seem to date about 1800, although references to it are found at a much earlier date, and older examples of the art are found in European countries. The process is described as being closely allied to that of engraving. Gold leaf was applied to the under-surface of glass, the profile was outlined on it and the shading was traced in fine lines with an engraver's tool. Sometimes the back was painted all black, sometimes white or pale colors were used. The artists best known for this type of portraiture were John Wesley Jarvis, Joseph Wood, A. B. Doolittle, Charles Peale Polk, I. Fagan.

(For the above information and for further interesting details and reproductions see “House and Garden, November, 1929).

DIARY OF MRS. SAMANTHA M. HANNA

Wife of Doctor Leonard Hanna

on their trip to Lake Superior during some year between 1840 and 1852.

July 4—Left home and after a cold ride of thirty-five miles and encountering a rain storm of an hour and a half and meeting something less than one thousand live Yanks in waggons and buggies and seeking independence, put up for the night with "Mine Host" Folger in Ravenna, where some scores of the descendants of the Pilgrims evinced their enjoyment of the liberty of their progenitors on the light fantastic toe.

July 5—Left Ravenna early and proceeded on our way to the city of trees and shrubbery; arrived 5 o'clock, put up at the American—Our friend from Pittsburg arrived the same evening—and after a pleasant chat and supper we retired to rest.

July 6—Waited till about ten A. M. for husband to find out whereabouts of divers friends, connections etc., and being so near dinner time concluded not to go out till afternoon, when to our regret it began to rain, and it rains yet, (Friday morning) with a poor prospect of anything better or brighter in the weather. From my feeling, should suppose it to resemble in some slight degree an English rainy season—not perhaps of sufficient continuity to excite the cut-throat mania, but effectually damping the ardor of one's spirits. Friday evening—the rain is over and a strong wind succeeds. Went this afternoon to see Cousin Adaline and called on an old and cherished friend—one dear to my heart.

July 8—Saturday morning—Last night so stormy that boats could not run and were obliged to put into port.—This morning wrote a long letter home and took a long walk out to the Garden of McIntosh & Co., saw many pretty flowers, trees, shrubs, etc. and I could have spent a day there wandering over the grounds, very pleasantly indeed, but must hurry back to take passage on the great steamer "Sultana."

Saturday—noon—Took passage on board the "Sultana" but the lake so rough that I became sick immediately and was not able to be up until the next morning when we found ourselves in Lake St. Clair gliding along smoothly and pleasantly.

SAMANTHA MARIA CONVERSE HANNA

MRS. LEONARD HANNA

Sabbath—morning—The weather fine and the scenery along the St. Clair and Huron River beautiful. Saw a great many Indians on the Canada shore strolling along Indian-like in their blankets, etc. Passed Fort Gratiot and entered the Huron passing Pt. aux Barques we lost sight of land for some distance. One feels solemn out on the broad expanse of water with naught above but the firmament—around on every side one vast extent of water. When night came I felt sad, I thought of home of the dear ones there and wondered why it was there was such a desire to roam.

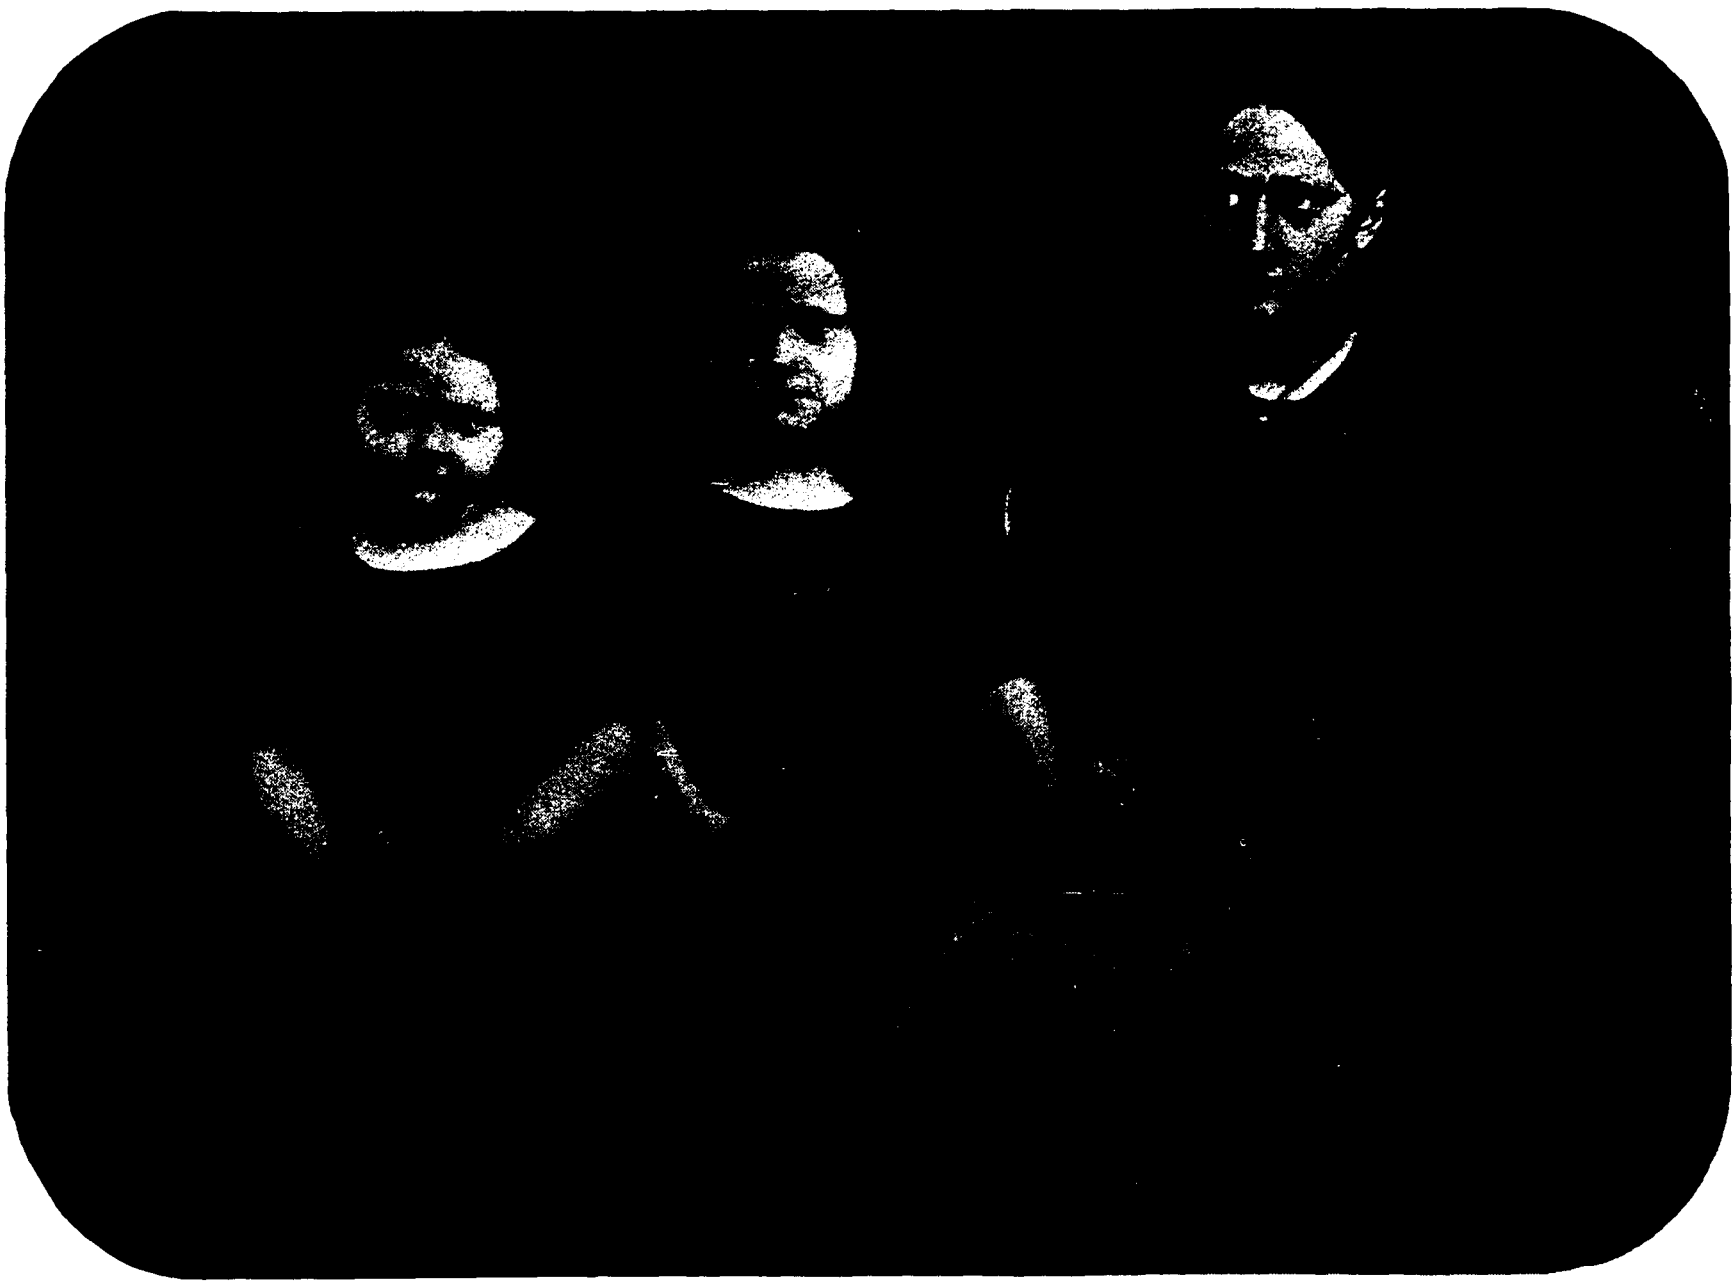

Arrived at Mackinaw 6 o'clock Monday morning tired out—after breakfast rested ourselves etc. and then took a stroll out on the beach to visit some Indian wigwams. Saw squaws in abundance sitting flat on the ground engaged in the business of cleaning fish.—I think this place should have been named Fish-Port. We have them served in different ways morning, noon and night.

Monday P. M.—Visited the fort which we found quite deserted, no troops, the grounds occupied by two families and instead of the marshaling of arms, children were sporting joyously about.

Tuesday morning—July 11—Attended the funeral of Miss Biddle, a young lady of much celebrity, her father a man from the States and her mother an Indian. The procession presented a singular appearance to one not accustomed to such scenes,—mixed up of citizens and Indians, each in their native costume, the service Catholic with all their mummary and form. In the afternoon rambled several miles over the Island, visited the cave Sugar Loaf, old Fort and had a most delightful time in the evening, walked to the Mission House to call on friends there and after our return ate a glass of splendid ice cream—and then what next ? —went to bed—time enough I assure you.

Wednesday morning—12th—Wrote a letter home and after dinner took a ride in a Mackinac Boat to visit the Arch Rock—found it one of the greatest wonders I ever beheld. Disappointed in the evening in getting a boat for the Sault, so must stay another day.

Thursday morning, 13th—Took a long walk to the farm of old Mr. Davenport, an old soldier who has been on the island since 1796—After dinner wrote a long letter to Mrs. Paine and in the evening at 10 o'clock took passage on board the "Detroit" for the Sault Ste. Marie.

Seville Samantha Hanna   Salome Maria Hanna   Helen Gertrude Hanna

MRS. LEONARD HANNA AND HER DAUGHTERS
(Helen Gertrude, Lilian, Mrs. Leonard Hanna, Seville, Salome.)

Friday noon—arrived at the Sault—found it a much larger place than I expected and excellent accommodations. Called on Mrs. Spaulding and daughters—found them very agreeable and pleasantly situated.

Saturday morning—The sun rose bright and clear and promised a fair day, but like our hopes and anticipations often, dark clouds have obscured the whole area—it looks gloomy and sad. At noon it became clear again and we sallied forth to see the wonders of the place—made several calls and spent the afternoon with Mrs. Jones. The place and society I like much more than Mackinaw. There are not so many wonderful places to see, but the rapids are beautiful;—The Indians seem to be in a much better condition and the country around not so barren.

July 16—Bright and cold, the weather is more like October than July—I would like much to take a peep in at home and see the dear ones there. We have not even the pleasure of hearing from them. Expect this morning after breakfast to launch out upon the great Lake of Lakes on the “Propeller Independence.” We leave our Canton friends here, but hope to meet them again when we return Monday afternoon. We did not as expected get off from the Sault until about 8 o’clock in the evening and today we are far out on the mighty deep. The weather is fine but very cold and the lake resembles one vast sheet of glass. We are too far from the shore to enjoy the land scenery and so we resort to reading, knitting etc. to while away the time.

8 o’clock—I have just been on deck to look at a sunset on Lake Superior and I never beheld anything more beautiful—the surface of the lake is so smooth that it reflects the golden clouds in beauty, and above, below and all around is one vast expanse of magnificent splendor. I could feast my eyes for hours on such a scene until completely lost in wonder and admiration of that Being who made and created all that is good and great.

Tuesday morning—A sunrise on Lake Superior—I am not able to describe, not having as yet witnessed one but I presume they have them just as fine as elsewhere.

4 o’clock P. M.—We have just made a short stop at Copper Harbour—did not find it as much of a place as I supposed—A company of our gentlemen went down to visit the Fort but us ladies choose to remain at Mt. Brockway. After leaving Copper Harbour a few miles we enter Eagle

HOME OF MRS. LEONARD HANNA

(Lot bought from Gamaliel Herrick; Mrs. Hanna on the porch.)

Harbour—one of the most delightful little spots I ever beheld. It looks as if it might be made a place where fairies would delight to dance. As usual when the boat landed we rushed on shore—found the ground covered with winter-green, whortleberries and the forest composed of splendid varieties of evergreens. I looked and wished, in vain, that some of them could be transported home to adorn the grounds at Cottage Hill. Dark when we left the Harbour and quite a high wind. Arrived at Eagle River at midnight, the waves dashing and the sky obscured with threatening clouds;—our boat anchored half a mile from shore and we must be landed in a small boat. I then wished myself anywhere but on Lake Superior but there was no alternative—so into the boat we got frightened quite to death—our perilous adventure soon over and we once more on terra-firma. After the joyful meeting of brothers with brothers and father and child, we went to bed—not with such accommodations as we have at home quite, but such as are the style at Eagle River.

Wednesday morning—After breakfast started for Clifton or Cliff Mine in a waggon, but I soon got tired of the exercise so took it on foot about two miles—the road an abrupt ascent nearly the whole distance and the scenery grand. Such piles of rocks I never beheld, they seem to tower above the very clouds—the weather warmer much than we have had since we left home—a hard thunderstorm in the evening—music on the Guitar by Dr. Clarke—with a stroll around the mines closed the performance for the day.

Thursday, July 21—Cloudy and cold—Sat about rather lazily in the morning until about noon then took a walk about the Copper City—examined a most splendid cabinet and received a pretty present of specimens of silver, one from Capt. Jennings. After dinner went up to another location to call on Mrs. Bacon and after an hour or two of pleasant chat returned to our boarding house. Took leave of our husbands this evening, who leave in an open boat for Ontenogan. I felt sad not to go along as it was for that purpose I came but the uncertainty of a pleasant boat back, and other circumstances rendered it necessary for me to abandon the trip.

Friday—Took a walk to the mine to collect silver ore, but as we were not likely to make a fortune at it, we gave it up and after dinner, with Dr. Clark for an escort, took one of the most delightful walks imaginable. We ascended a cliff about two hundred feet and strolled along the edge of projecting rocks for a mile at that astonishing elevation. It is impossible to describe one's feelings in witnessing such a view—vast height—vast extent—vast forest and more vast cliffs in the distance—inspire one with an overwhelming sense of greatness beyond description. The different locations visible with their varied sources of busy hands, seeking and digging the oceans of minerals from the bowels of the earth, the call of the Capt to his men at work, the ringing of the bell, reach our ears from the valley below and remind us that it is earth that we inhabit, but a beautiful one abounding in all and everything that is vast great and wonderful.

We found our way down from the Clouds by a less precipitous route and gave Mrs. Bacon a call on our return—but to return to the common place scenes of life after such a flight was I assure you a great come down.

Saturday 23rd—Disappointed today in our expectations going a-fishing and so we have spent it rather quietly—just got word that the Propeller is in and we must make arrangements to take our leave of Clifton—Sorry to leave our husbands behind but no alternative.

Sunday morning 24th—Clear and bright a hasty breakfast and bustle to get off—Adieu to Clifton—for a long time and perhaps forever. Our friends accompanied us to the lake and after an affectionate farewell we once more set sail on board the Propeller—a delightful trip to Copper Harbour but in the evening the sky overcast with clouds and it became very cold. Monday morning—it rained hard and the lake very rough, I was very sick not able to be up all day and a most gloomy time. Arrived Tuesday morning at the Sault again and met with a great disappointment in not getting letters from home. Just three weeks gone and not one word from our family. Just parted with father and Susanne and I am left alone in a strange place tired and almost sick—expect to take up quarters with Mrs. Jones and remain until the doctor comes down from Antenagon—alone but not lonely—It is really a pleasure to get away from the confusion of a steam boat into a pleasant room entirely to oneself especially when there is none about you care for.

Wednesday morning—Pleasantly established with Mrs. Jones and feel quite at home but O, what cold weather. We have a good fire in the stove. Saturday morning—I am spending the time very pleasantly indeed several very agreeable ladies have called and yesterday spent the afternoon with Mrs. Spaulding. The society is very good so much better than expected that I am very much prepossessed in favor of the place—a stranger might spend a month in Lisbon and not receive half the attention that I have here. Indeed it makes one almost ashamed of our town.

ERASTUS SMITH

Daniel Smith, born —, died —.

Erastus Smith, born December 1, 1803.

Died October 8, 1878.

Married June 26, 1839, Mary Ann Woodward, born March 29, 1812, died August 18, 1867;
daughter of Colonel Woodward, of Ashford.

NOTES

“Daniel Smith lived opposite the Wylls Atwater place. He was father of Sherman and late Hon. Erastus Smith, of Hartford.” — (History of Plymouth, Conn., p. 343.)

Erastus Smith, the second son of four children, was born in Plymouth, Conn.; he moved to Windsor, then to Hartford. In his early life he was a school teacher, and he studied law under Judge Butler of Plymouth, at the school in Litchfield, and at New Haven. He began the practice of his profession in Windsor, then moved to Hartford, where he practised from 1830 to 1878. He was a Commissioner of Deeds from 1857 onwards, Commissioner of the U. S. Circuit Court from 1868 onwards.

He was a member of the First Church in Hartford, his name appearing as member of a committee there in 1852; and in “The Memorial History of Hartford County, Connecticut” his name is given as one of the incorporators of the Connecticut Historical Society. He was deeply interested in the prosperity of the city, a generous contributor to many of its public institutions, and one of the original trustees of the Wadsworth Athenaeum. He was noted for his wit and his inattention to his personal appearance. He helped to organize the Western Reserve Historical Society, Cleveland, Ohio.

QUOTATION FROM THE DIARY OF FANNY WILSON MANN,
THE FIRST MRS. LEONARD C. HANNA

Written at Mother's [Mary Ann Mann's] dictation, Wednesday, April 12, 1876, Buffalo, New York.

[Note by Mrs. Howard Hanna]: My mother [Fanny Wilson Mann, the first Mrs. Leonard C. Hanna] was married in May, 1876, so this was written just before her marriage.

My great-grandfather was John Wilson, squire, an educated Irish gentleman, born in Dublin, possessed of lands, cattle and distilleries. He married Margaret Campbell, a descendant of the clan of Campbells in Kernan, illustrious from the time of Wallace and Bruce, died about the age of 80. Shortly after their marriage they came to America and settled in Pennsylvania. Their lineal descendants were: James Wilson, Margaret Johnson, Sallie Van Dyke, Jane Clark, Bettie Foster, John Wilson, Hugh Wilson, Polly and Kate Wilson, died unmarried.

The second son, John Wilson (grandpa) married Fanny Sevier, daughter of Rev. John Reed Sevier, Baptist denomination, spent his pastoral life in Avon, N. Y., and died much lamented and loved by all who knew him. His wife was Achsah Harrington, direct descendant of the "Mayflower" Pilgrims. Their children were: Lucretia Hurlburt, Joel Sevier, Fanny Wilson, Nancy Muril, Harlos Lewis, Sarah Almira Fisher, Melvina Angeline (red-headed), Mary Ann Monson (blonde), Benjamin Lewis.

- (a) Embarked at Ipswich, England, April 10, 1634, in the "Elizabeth," William Andrews, master, Richard Woodward (otherwise written Woodhead), aged 45, wife Rose, aged 50, son George, aged 13, and son John, aged 13. He settled at Watertown and was admitted freeman September 2, 1635; his name is on the earliest list of proprietors of Watertown. His wife Rose died October 6, 1662, aged 80 (this record makes her date of birth 1582, whereas the age 50, recorded at the time of her embarkation in 1634 would make her birth date 1584). Richard Woodward owned one homestead of 12 acres, another of 10 acres, also 12 other lots, amounting to about 310 acres. He bought a mill in Boston, September 8, 1648, which he sold December 26, 1648. He resided in Cambridge in 1660. At his death his estate was administered by his sons, George and John.
- (b) In April, 1669, George Woodward (son of Richard), was a witness in court, his age given as 50 years, which would make his age 15 at the time of embarkation (instead of 13 as given in the sailing record); he would thus be two years older than his brother John. He had 8 children by his first wife Mary; after her death he married Elizabeth Hammond, daughter of Thomas Hammond of Newton, and her father in his will left her 100 acres on Muddy River, Brookline, probably the same land on which her son George afterward settled. George Woodward resided in Watertown, Mass., and was selectman in 1674.
- (c) The birth of Amos Woodward (son of George), is not recorded, but he was one of the administrators of his father's estate. He was admitted freeman October 10, 1677; died in Cambridge, October 9, 1679, "aged 38"—probably should be 33, as he was witness in court April, 1668, then aged 23, and said to be of "Flint's Farm, Cambridge". It appears by his will that he left neither wife nor child; it was probably his wife Sarah, daughter of William Patten, of Cambridge, who died in Cambridge September 24, 1677. He gave his right and title to the house and land in Watertown "which was our father Woodward's" to brother Daniel Woodward.
- (d) John Woodward (son of George), was a weaver and resided on the South side of the river, near Newton Upper Falls. He was Highway Surveyor, 1686; Constable, 1694; Selectman, 1701 and 1712. He erected a house which was standing in 1854 and then occupied by descendants of the fifth and sixth generations. He married, before 1674, Rebecca Robbins, daughter of Richard and Rebecca Robbins; (she was baptized in Cambridge about 1647). Her father executed a deed to his daughter and her husband John Woodward, June 7, 1681, of 30 acres, apparently on South side of river at Cambridge.

Elizabeth Woodward, b. May 22, 1749, d. January 18, 1814; married January 16, 1773, Joel Ward, b. —, d. about 1832; son of Ichabod Ward, of Attleboro.

(e) Daniel Woodward (son of George), was given his father's homestead in the settlement of the estate; it is supposed that he was the Daniel Woodward of Medford licensed by the Court, May 1, 1690, to keep an inn.

(f) Richard Woodward (son of John), purchased land in Canterbury Conn., November 8, 1708.

(g) Jonathan Woodward (son of John), was selectman 2 years.

(h) Joseph Woodward (son of John), purchased land in Canterbury, Conn., deed dated June 10, 1710. He married Elizabeth Silsby, June 24, 1714, at First Church of Canterbury, Conn.

(i) Ebenezer Woodward (son of John), was a deacon, of Newton, Mass. His son, John, was Captain; selectman 7 years, and Representative 2 years; Moderator of Town Meeting in 1776, that passed unanimous vote instructing Congress to declare the Colonies independent. He was in the battle of Concord; and loaned $100 to the Town in March, 1777, to pay the soldiers.

(j) Joseph Woodward (son of Joseph), was baptised March 20, 1726, at First Church of Canterbury. He removed to Ashford 1767. He held many civil offices in Windham and Ashford—he held the most important offices in the gift of the townsmen during 26 years.

(k) Joseph Woodward (son of Joseph II), a soldier of the Revolution. He removed to Leicester, Vt., about 1841.

(l) Jason Woodward (son of Joseph II), a soldier in the Revolution and afterwards received commission of Colonel. He died in Ashford.

(m) John Woodward (son of Joseph II), served in Revolution.

(n) William Woodward (son of Joseph II), was taken prisoner at Fort Washington November 16, 1776, and died a prisoner next December 30.
