Foreword

THIS little record is the result of study and research for a much larger and more comprehensive work on the Halsted and allied families (New York and New Jersey branch). When it was evident that the larger work would take years instead of months to complete, it was decided to publish this little booklet, containing in condensed form, much valuable data regarding the family.

I present it, therefore, to the Family, and hope at some future date, not too distant, to be able to publish the larger work, for which much valuable information and data have already been collected.

LAURA A. DAVIS SHOPTAUGH.

CALEB HALSTED<sup>5</sup>

The Bible containing the family record of Caleb Halsted<sup>5</sup> also included the family record of his son, Dr. Caleb Halsted<sup>6</sup>, (not printed here), and may have belonged to both Calebs, passing from one to the other. Caleb Halsted<sup>5</sup> was fifth in descent from Jonas Halsted<sup>1</sup> (1610-1682) who came to America from England about 1642 and assisted in founding settlements in Long Island and perhaps in Connecticut.

Caleb Halsted<sup>5</sup> lived at Elizabeth, the first capital of New Jersey, which his ancestors helped to found. His home at Halsted's Point, during the Revolution, was used by patriots as a lookout, and several times was invaded, inflicting heavy losses; Caleb<sup>5</sup>, taken prisoner in one of these raids, managed to escape.

Parents of Caleb<sup>5</sup> were, Caleb<sup>4</sup> and Jean (Pearsall) Halsted; the latter was daughter of Henry and Ann (Williams) Pearsall; Caleb<sup>4</sup> (1689-1721) was the son of Timothy<sup>3</sup> (1658-1735) and Abigail (Carmen) Halsted; Timothy<sup>3</sup> was the son of Timothy<sup>2</sup> (1633-1703) and Hannah (Williams) Halsted; the latter was the daughter of Michael and Ann Williams.

Caleb and Rebecca Odgen Halsted were members and liberal supporters of the First Presbyterian Church and are buried in the First Presbyterian churchyard at Elizabeth. Ninety-one Ogdens and many Halsteds sleep in this churchyard. Rebecca Ogden Halsted was fourth in descent from John Ogden<sup>1</sup>, "The Pilgrim," who came to America from England in 1637 and assisted in establishing towns in Connecticut, Long Island and New Jersey. John Ogden was a member of first Colonial Assembly; member of Governor's Council; Governor of English towns in New Jersey, 1673, in absence of English Governor.

Rebecca Ogden was the daughter of Robert Ogden<sup>3</sup> and Phebe (Roberts) Baldwin, who was dau. of————— Roberts and Hannah Bruen, and widow of Jonathan Baldwin.

This Bible may have belonged to both father and son also, as the record is complete for both families. John Halsted<sup>6</sup>, son of Caleb Halsted<sup>5</sup>, was a member of a large family that was patriotic and distinguished. His brothers, Dr. Robert and Dr. Caleb Halsted, were eminent physicians and surgeons who rendered valuable services to the Revolutionary cause. His sister, Ann (Nancy Camp), was toasted by General Washington at a public dinner in Morristown, for her patriotic feats. Two first cousins were Governors of New Jersey: the Hon. Joseph Bloomfield and the Hon. Aaron Ogden.

John Halsted<sup>6</sup> served all through the Revolution on monthly tours; he was in the First Regiment, Essex County Militia. His wife, Phebe Wade, was the daughter of David<sup>4</sup> and Phebe Ball Wade; David Wade was a wealthy planter of Connecticut (Wade) Farms, New Jersey, who sustained heavy losses during the Revolution through enemy raids.

Phebe Wade Halsted was fourth in descent from Benjamin Wade<sup>1</sup> who came to America from England and settled first in Long Island about 1660, and then in Elizabeth, New Jersey, 1675, or earlier. John Halsted<sup>6</sup> moved to Hanover, Morris Co., New Jersey in 1796; after the death of his wife, in 1817, he removed to Cincinnati, Ohio, with his two youngest daughters. His son, Robert Wade Halsted, had already established his home there. John Halsted died in Cincinnati, Ohio, in 1841.

Robert Wade Halsted<sup>7</sup>, son of John Halsted<sup>6</sup>, served in the War of 1812-14. Immediately after his marriage to Elizabeth Munson in 1814, he removed from New Jersey to Cincinnati, Ohio, making the trip by land to Pittsburg, then down the Ohio River on a raft to Cincinnati, Ohio, which then consisted of a few log huts. Later he moved to Indiana, became a large land owner in Franklin County and acquired extensive properties in nearby towns; he also owned a grist mill and a lumber mill on Whitewater River.

Elizabeth Munson was seventh in descent from Thomas Munson<sup>1</sup> "The Pioneer," who in 1637 emigrated to America from England, and helped to found New Haven and Wallingford, Conn. Thomas Munson<sup>1</sup> received a grant of land at New Haven in recognition of his services in the Pequot War; representative in Colonial Assembly 27 sessions; Captain New Haven County forces King Philips War.

Elizabeth (Betsey) Halsted's father, Solomon Munson<sup>6</sup> and her grandfather, Captain Stephen Munson<sup>5</sup>, served in the Revolutionary War. They and their families were members of the First Presbyterian Church in historic Morristown, New Jersey. Solomon Munson<sup>4</sup>, father of Captain Stephen Munson<sup>5</sup>, was "ruling elder," 1754, and probably till his death; Captain Stephen Munson<sup>5</sup> was made a "ruling elder," 1764; in 1775 he was chosen deacon, which position he held till his death. Solomon Munson<sup>6</sup> was baptized 1762. Three generations of Munsons were on the membership rolls of this famous church. Robert Wade Halsted died in 1859; his wife in 1876; bur. in Halsted Cemetery on old Halsted Estate, Franklin Co., Ind.

Descendants of Robert Wade Halsted<sup>7</sup> have lived in Franklin County, Indiana, for a century and a quarter. Other descendants are scattered over the central, western and other states.

HENRY DAVIS (EMELINE HALSTED')

Henry Davis, who married Emeline Halsted9, daughter of Oliver Halsted<sup>8</sup>, was the son of Thornton Davis, Franklin County, Indiana, and grandson of Travis Davis of North Carolina. Henry Davis' mother was Sarah Wakefield Davis, daughter of William Wakefield, who owned a large plantation and slaves in South Carolina. William Wakefield was the son of Thomas Wakefield and a descendant of Abel Wakefield, who came from England to America and received a grant of land in what is now Baltimore, Maryland. William Wakefield served in the War of 1812-14; moved from South Carolina to Bartholomew County, Indiana, and later moved to Iowa with his son, Tiner; died about 1873; buried in Appanoose County, Iowa. Three of Wm. Wakefield's children married children of Travis Davis: SARAH married THORNTON DAVIS; John married Becky Davis and Betsey married Lewis Davis, a Christian minister who served through the Civil War as a Chaplain.

In 1868 Henry and Emeline Halsted Davis, with their two children, emigrated to Missouri, and in 1869 established their home in Putnam County; here they lived, reared their family and died. They were active members of the Christian Church in Unionville, Mo., and liberal contributors to its support; he was a Deacon in the church till his death.

Henry Davis died October 11, 1913; his wife died June 15, 1915. They were buried in the Unionville Cemetery.

Alice Davis Hall Painter died July 20, 1943; Bertha Crow Davis d. Oct. 22, 1929; Benjamin F. Davis d. March 24, 1932.

Of the Henry Davis family now living, four live in California —three in Los Angeles, one in Oakland—and one in Missouri. Lillie Davis Summers and her husband maintain two homes, one in Unionville, Missouri, where they have business interests, and the other in Los Angeles.

(This Bible Record is from the two Bibles of Henry Davis and his wife Emeline Halsted. One of these Bibles is now owned by Asa Hall, only son of Alice Davis Hall, and the other by Sarah Davis Spence).

This Bible is owned by the author and includes two generations: those of the children and the grandchildren. The Reverend J. A. Shoptaugh, who married Laura A. Davis<sup>10</sup>, was a man of outstanding ability and great piety; he was a graduate of Christian University, (now Culver-Stockton), Canton, Missouri, with A.B. and B.D. degrees. Leading pastorates were in Denison, Texas, Pueblo and Denver, Colorado, and Oakland, California. He founded two churches in Oakland. He was the son of James Noah Shoptaugh, school teacher, who till his death was an elder in the Pleasant Hill Christian Church near Paris, Illinois. His paternal grandparents were Nicholas Shoptaugh, born in Nelson County, Kentucky, 1798, and Sarah H. Morrison Shoptaugh.

The Reverend Shoptaugh's mother was Anna Brinkerhoff Shoptaugh, daughter of Henry Brinkerhoff<sup>7</sup> and Calphurnia Helms Brinkerhoff; his maternal grandparents were Jacob and Abba Brinkerhoff, Bergen County, New Jersey.

Joris Dircksen Brinkerhoff, born 1609 in Drenthe, Holland; came to America in 1638; received land grant at Brooklyn; magistrate 1654-60; in 1656 and till his death an elder of Old First Church, Brooklyn, New York, which he helped to found. He married in 1631 Susanna Dubbels; they are the ancestors of the Brinkerhoff family in America.

Four Christian churches in Edgar County, Ill., were established by ancestors: two by Shoptaughs and two by Brinkerhoffs. They are live active churches today.

JAMES ANDREW SHOPTAUGH, born August 19, 1870.

Henry Nicholas Shoptaugh, November 3, 1918; buried in Evergreen Cemetery, Oakland, California.

James Andrew Shoptaugh, January 9, 1935; buried in Evergreen Cemetery, Oakland, California.

Josephine Smith, who married George Shoptaugh<sup>11</sup>, is the daughter of the Reverend Milo J. Smith and Laucie Pittenger Smith. The Reverend Smith is a minister of the Christian Church who held pastorates in Indiana before his removal to California in 1926 to accept the Secretaryship of the Christian Churches of Northern California, which position he held for several years. The Reverend and Mrs. Smith have a family of four daughters and two sons. The sons rendered distinguished service in World War II. The paternal home is in Berkeley, California.

George Shoptaugh is a printer and publisher and has his business and residence in Oakland, California. He and his wife are active members of the First Christian Church; he is an elder and she a deaconess; they are both musical. Three generations of Shoptaughs are on the rolls of Oakland First Christian Church.

William Arthur Steward, who married Anne Shoptaugh<sup>11</sup>, is the son of Arthur Wilbur Steward and grandson of John Marshall Steward, early settler and miner of Butte, Montana.

Arthur Wilbur Steward attended Notre Dame University, South Bend, Indiana, and the University of Montana, Missoula, Montana, and Armour's Institute of Technology, Chicago. He married Emaline Flora Friday, daughter of William Friday and Emaline (Addington) Friday, Northampshire, England.

Their son, William A. Steward, studied at the Chicago Academy of Fine Arts and the Art Institute in Oakland. His wife, Anne Shoptaugh, studied at University of California, College of Arts and Crafts and the Art Institute. They have established their home in Mill Valley, a few miles north of San Francisco. Mr. Steward is a member of the firm of Conley, Baltzer and Steward, advertising agency in San Francisco.

EARLY ANCESTORS

JOHN MOSS, (1603-1701), was in New Haven, Conn., in 1645; rep. in the General Court there. 1667 helped to found Wallingford; rep. Wallingford at General Court. His grand daughter, Mary Moss, married Solomon Munson<sup>4</sup>.

ROBERT BASSETT, son of John and Margrey Bassett was appointed chief drummer, New Haven Colonial Troops, June, 1654. His daughter, Emma, married Daniel Pearsall of Hempstead, L. I.

EDMUND PEARSALL was a merchant of London; his son, Thomas, married Mary Brent, dau. of William Brent of Gloucestershire and London. Henry Pearsall, son of Thomas and Mary Brent Pearsall, married Ann Williams. Their son, Daniel Pearsall (1652-1703), married Emma Bassett, dau. of Robert Bassett; their daughter, Jean Bassett, b. 1695, married in 1716, Caleb Halsted<sup>4</sup>, s. of Timothy<sup>3</sup> and Abigail Carman Halsted.

WILLIAM BRADLEY, b. 1619 in England, whose daughter Martha married Samuel Munson<sup>2</sup>, was a soldier in Cromwell's army; came to Conn. 1637, a founder of North Haven and Wallingford; representative in General Court six terms. William Bradley m. Alice, dau. of Roger Pritchard of Springfield, Mass.

WILLIAM LOOKER, from Jamaica, L. I., to Elizabeth, N. J., 1676; appointed 1695 a deputy to the legislature. His daughter Ann married Benjamin Wade<sup>1</sup>.

JORIS DIRCKSEN BRINKERHOFF, ancestor of American family, came to N. Y. in 1638; magistrate 1654-60.

EARLY ANCESTORS

The WAKEFIELD family is a very old and distinguished one both in England and in America; the name Wachefeld is mentioned in the Domesday Book, 1086; beginning with the early 13th century the name Wakefield is frequently found in English literature and history; in "Book of Dignitaries," under list of Bishops, 1375: "Henry Wakefield, Archdeacon of Canterbury, Lord Treasurer of England."

The MUNSON or Monson family of Eng. have a recognized history in the English Peerage extending over five centuries, according to Burke; John Monson, living in 1378, was the lineal ancestor of the English titled line, and probably also of Thomas Munson, the Pilgrim, founder of the American family of this name, who is believed to be the son of Sir Thomas Munson, (1564-1641). The line of descent is as follows: Thomas<sup>1</sup>, Samuel<sup>2</sup>, Samuel<sup>3</sup>, Solomon<sup>4</sup>, Stephen<sup>5</sup>, Solomon<sup>6</sup>, Betsey<sup>7</sup>, who married Robert Wade Halsted.<sup>7</sup>

There are records of OGDENS in Eng. as early as 1150; the earliest known ancestor of John Ogden<sup>1</sup> the Pilgrim, is Robert Ogden of Hampshire, England, 1453, from whom are descended all the American Ogdens.

The Ogden line of descent from Robert Ogden, England, 1453, is: Robert<sup>1</sup>, Richard<sup>2</sup>, William<sup>3</sup>, Edward<sup>4</sup>, Richard<sup>5</sup>, John Ogden<sup>1</sup>, the Pilgrim, who came to America in 1637, Jonathan<sup>2</sup> Robert<sup>3</sup>, Rebecca Ogden<sup>4</sup>, who married Caleb Halsted<sup>5</sup>.

The name Halsted is spelled two ways: with and without the a; all the Bible Records printed in this work spell the name without the a. In recent times the spelling has been Halstead.

MISCELLANEOUS DATA

The names Halsted, Wakefield, Wade, Munson and Ogden are of great antiquity; all are believed to have been in the Domesday Book, that remarkable and valuable statistical survey of all England, ordered by William the Conquerer and completed in 1086, giving minute details of English life, property, names of property owners, etc.

Halsted Street in Chicago, Ill., perhaps the largest straight street in the world, was named by Mayor W. B. Ogden in 1837 in honor of Caleb Ogden Halsted<sup>7</sup>, (Matthias<sup>6</sup>, Caleb<sup>5</sup>) (1792-1860) and William Mills Halsted (Robert<sup>6</sup>, Caleb<sup>5</sup>; (1788-1863), wealthy industrialists, from New York City, who made large real estate investments in Chicago, and ceded to the city valuable property rights. The Halsted men were cousins and Mayor Ogden was a relative.

Records show that in the early nineteenth century Halsteds, Ogdens, Munsons, Mills, Olivers, Longworths, Wades and other interrelated families moved to Cincinnati, Ohio, the new, fastgrowing city on the Ohio River; they had a part in the building of the "Queen City of the West."

Edward Ogden<sup>4</sup> of England, b. 1540; married, 1563, Margaret Wilson, dau. of Richard and Margaret Wilson. Richard Ogden<sup>5</sup> of England, b. 1568, married Elizabeth Huntington, dau. of Samuel Huntington and Margaret Crane Huntington. The latter was an aunt of Jasper Crane.

ELEVENTH GENERATION

Eugene Hall Kent<sup>12</sup>, son of Oshia May Hall<sup>11</sup> and (1st m.) Allen Romaine Kent, served with distinction through World War II, married Mary Alice Lötham, dau. of Dr. Joseph R. Latham, noted physician and surgeon of New Berne, N. Carolina. They live in Washington, D. C.

Oshia May Hall Kent<sup>11</sup>, dau. of Mary Davis Hall<sup>10</sup>, a graduate of University of Chicago, married Walter Eisenhower, a relative of General Eisenhower. They lived in Washington, D. C. for many years, but have now established their home in Los Angeles. They have a daughter, Ann.

A. B. Casady<sup>11</sup>, son of Mabel Davis Casady Whittaker<sup>10</sup>, industrialist; business interests and home are in Oakland, Calif.; has a wife and daughter, Patricia.

Lola K. Spence<sup>11</sup>, daughter of Sarah Davis Spence<sup>10</sup>; musician and artist, married Frank Bruce, business executive; they maintain their home in Los Angeles where they own extensive properties. A brother, Todd Spence, owns large apartment house and other properties in Los Angeles.

Dow Summers<sup>11</sup>, son of Geo. and Lillie Davis Summers; business executive; manages the extensive business interests of his parents at Unionville, Mo., where he lives with his wife and daughter, Sue Ellen.

Arther and Rhoda (Shoptaugh) Armstrong maintain their home in Chicago where they have resided for many years; they have four children: George, Anna, Willis and Howard. Willis and Howard Armstrong rendered outstanding service in World War II. Their cousin, James Williams, was in the front lines in France in World War I.

Births:

George Helms Armstrong, August 4, 1912; Anna Elizabeth Armstrong, December 31, 1913; Willis Eugene Armstrong, August 6, 1919; Howard Elmer Armstrong, July 2, 1921.

INCOMPLETE LINEAGES

Lineages on several ancestral families are incomplete—the Bruen line: Hannah Bruen Roberts, whose daughter Phebe was mother of Rebecca Ogden Halsted<sup>4</sup>, probably has ancestor John Bruen or Obadiah Bruen who are directly descended from King Edward I of England, and through him of King Alfred the Great, William the Conqueror, Charlemagne, etc. These brothers helped to found cities in America: in Connecticut and New Jeresey. The names of Obadiah Bruen and John Ogden were on the Royal Charter of Conn., 1662, (of Charter Oak fame). Obadiah Bruen was one of the founders of Newark, N, J.

The Ball line: Lucy Ball Munson<sup>6</sup> and Phebe Ball Wade<sup>4</sup> probably have a common ancestor with George Washington, through his mother, Mary Ball.
