6. Jabez Hatch (Jabez, Josiah, Samuel, Walter, William) was born about 1738, possibly in Boston, though this is doubtful. Certain it is, however, that after his second year his home was in Boston, where he died July 16, 1802, aged 64. He bought out the other heirs of his father's property on Federal (Sea) Street, where he seems to always have lived. In April, 1772, he was appointed lieutenant of an artillery company in Boston with the rank of captain. April 17, 1775, he was invited by the Committee of Safety and Supplies, then sitting at Concord, to take command of a company of artillery. In November, 1776, he was appointed lieut.-colonel of the Boston regiment of militia, and in June, 1777, was promoted to be colonel of the same. This latter position he held until March 13, 1780, when he asked leave to resign to look after his private affairs. Sept. 21, 1780, he was appointed Deputy Quarter-Master General of the United States Army, under Col. Timothy Pickering, who was afterward in Washington's cabinet. In 1789 and 1790 he was one of the selectmen of the town of Boston. He was buried in Trinity Church, but his remains were moved to Forest Hills in April, 1872. He seems to have been the first of the family to stand on the block "with auctionary hammer in his hand," his name first appearing in that connection in the Boston Directory of 1827 as a member of the firm of Hatch & McCarty, 55 Congress Street. The next year he was alone, and thus continued, except during the year 1837, when the sign read Bagley & Hatch, and in 1839 when it was Hatch & Fearing. He married, Jan. 23, 1825, Susan Motley Carlton, who was born Aug. 4, 1806, and died Oct. 5, 1848, aged 42.

He was a sea captain during most of his life. He married, Jan. 7, 1833, Michal Collamore, born in Scituate, Mass., Aug. 13, 1802, eldest daughter of John and Michal (Curtis) Collamore. She died in Boston, Jan. 19, 1852, aged 49.

- i. MARY QUINCY.9
- ii. Maria Eliza.
- iii. LUCY PRENTICE.

- Samuel. Hatch (Jabez, Jabez, Jabez, Josiah, Samuel, Walter, William) was born in Boston, Dec. 6, 1812, and died in Boston, Feb. 13, 1893, aged 80. In his youth he worked in the crockery store of his brother-in-law, John Collamore, Jr., on Washington Street, where, a quarter of a century later, General Nelson A. Miles began his career. In 1836 he took out a license as auctioneer, and for fifty-seven years he continued active in this business. At first he was located at 69 Congress Street, but the next year moved to 31 Washington Street, opposite Milk Street. From 1840 to 1843 he was at 56 Milk Street, and after that for many years In 1868 he moved to 3 Morton Place (now on Water Street. part of Arch Street), where he remained until burnt out by the big fire of 1872. For a few months he was at the corner of Court and Washington Streets, but in 1873 moved into the Traveller Building on Congress Street, at the corner of State Street. At the latter place he remained until his death. From 1840 to 1851 Edward D. Clark was associated with him, the firm being Hatch & Clark.

An interesting chapter might be written about the estates that Colonel Hatch, as he was always called, has sold. The most interesting was the old Hancock House on Beacon Street, sold June 16, 1863, at one o'clock, to be removed in ten days. The same day (a grim reminder of the war) he sold the machinery, tools, etc., in the building on Clarendon Street, "lately used for the manufacture of bullets." April 9, 1868, he disposed of the Church Green property on Summer Street, by auction. May 21, 1874, the old Brattle Square Church; and seven years later (May 9, 1881) the new Brattle Square Church, built in 1871 and 1872, on Commonwealth Avenue; Sept. 14, 1881, the English High and Latin School building lot on Bedford Street; the Hollis Street Church, May 24, 1883. He advertised the Old South Meeting House to be sold June 8, 1876, to be removed in sixty days, but public spirit fortunately prevented the sale.

Colonel Hatch was a courtly gentleman of the old school, and the very soul of honor. He had a genial countenance, a strong, musical voice, and a commanding figure. He was a member of the Suffolk Club, of the Bostonian Society, of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company, and a 33d degree Mason, member of the Winslow Lewis Lodge and of the De Molay Commandery, Knights Templar. From 1853 to 1856, inclusive, he was in the Common Council; in 1857, 1858, 1861, a member of the Board of Aldermen; and in 1858 and 1859 in the Legislature. He married, Oct. 13, 1835, Lydia, daughter of Capt. Samuel Cook (1784–1876), of Salem. She was born April 11, 1811, and died Nov. 16, 1864. They had one son, William Edward, who died Jan. 19, 1848, aged one year and six months.
