INTRODUCTION

THE living members of the Hampton family in America and their relatives represented in this history have good cause to be thankful. They are a favored people, both because of a worthy ancestry; and because there were those among that ancestry who were intelligent enough and altruistic enough to make and preserve family records sufficient for an outline history of the family going back in an unbroken line about 200 years, to their first ancestor in America. Herein is a stimulus toward noble living for our young people, not possessed by some families.

If the making of this book should impress on the minds of those interested in it, the importance of making records it will result in good not anticipated.

The sources of the historical matter contained in this book are chiefly the following:

1. The accounts of her life, her kindred and relatives and their homes, given by my mother, Asenath Hampton Doan, to her children, much of which was treasured up in my memory.

2. The records in the family bible of John and Mary Betts Hampton.

3. Personal association in early life with my grandfather, John Hampton, and with several of the fourth and fifth generations.

4. A written record of her parents' family and other kindred and relatives made and given to me by my mother at my request many years ago.

5. A letter in answer to inquiries sent me by my aunt, Mary Ann Robins, in 1889.

6. Dr. E. D. Buckman's papers of Doan history in which he traces the genealogy of Asenath Hampton because she had married a Doan.

7. A record made by John Hampton, of Viola, Iowa, similar to that of his sister, Asenath, and loaned me by his daughter, Anna.

8. A very large portion has been secured by laborious correspondence, extending over a period of five years with persons of the fifth and sixth generations.

The writing required in this correspondence, together with the arranging of the matter and then making a final copy for the printer, was all done after the writer was seventy-six years of age, and without the aid of glasses, except the occasional use of a lens or "reading glass."

Immense labor and care has been taken to secure accuracy in everything and yet such is the ease with which mistakes may be made in copying figures, that it is too much to hope that no error will be found.

Two errors in dates have already been detected in the writing of correspondents and corrected.

The work is one of love and good will and was done without expectation of pecuniary rewards.

Origin of the Pennsylvania Hamptons in America.

TRADITION.

There is a tradition in this branch of the Hampton family in America that three brothers of the name of Hampton came from England and settled in three different states.

This is as I remember hearing my mother, Asenath Hampton Doan, relate it in my childhood, except that she named Pennsylvania as one and was not so positive about the other two states.

But my brother, James Doan, had it four, instead of three of them, and that there were two sets of children by the same father, two being half brothers to the other two and that they settled in four different states, and thought he had this direct from our grandfather.

It is certain that grandfather believed that the South Carolina Hamptons were of the same stock as the Pennsylvania Hamptons.

HISTORY.

“JOSEPH HAMPTON, from England, married Mary Canby,” about September, 1722. He was born probably in the last decade of the seventeenth century, 1690 to 1700.

“Mary Canby, his wife, was born the 12th of the 9th month, 1697, and died the 4th of the 8th month, 1794, and was buried at Wrightstown” aged nearly ninety-seven years.

In the above statement about Joseph Hampton and Mary Canby, the sentences inclosed in quotation marks are copied literally from the family records and together with the names of their children to be copied below, constitute all that for a longtime was known to the decendents of John and Mary Betts Hampton about our great ancestor and his wife.

The following interesting items about Joseph Hampton, the progenitor of the Pennsylvania Hamptons, I obtained from Dr. E. D. Buckman, of Philadelphia, who in gathering materials for a history of the Doan family, also spent some labor in tracing the lineage of my mother, Asenath Hampton, because she had married a Doan. His statement is substantially as follows:

"The exact time of his coming to America or to Wrightstown, is not yet discovered, but the records of Buckingham Monthly Meeting show that he made public declaration of marriage with Mary Canby on the 9th day of the 8th month, 1722.

"Joseph became the ancestor of the Bucks County Hamptons and his posterity is widely scattered over the northern states of this Union, though many of them remain denizens of Bucks County.

"Dr. Charles W. Smith, in his brief history of the first settlement of Wrightstown, relates that Joseph Hampton came there in 1724, and purchased of Zebulon Heston, 250 acres, a part of the Richardson tract. This adjoins the Doan's tract on the south. This tract or a large portion of it has descended to Moses Hampton, who as late as 1876, was owner of it.

"Joseph Hampton was an active business man, an exemplary member of society and did much to encourage improvements. He built what has long been known as the Anchor Tavern and for many years kept a public house for the entertainment of travelers."

Dr Buckman also gives a diagram of Asenath Hampton's lineage in which he shows that Mary Canby was the daughter of Thomas Canby, born in England, in 1667, and Sarrah Jarvis Canby, of Abington, his wife, whom he married, 1683-9-2.

In speaking of Joseph Hampton's declaration of marriage with Mary Canby, Dr. Buckman adds, "Her father, Thomas Canby, in the same meeting, and on the same day, declared his intention of marriage with Mary Jane Bestam who became his third wife."

Children:

2 I BENJAMIN.

3 II JOHN b, 12th of 1st month, 1724.

III SARAH, who married a Wilson.

IV MARY, who married James Stokes.

Second Generation

BENJAMIN (2) HAMPTON (Joseph 1) born probably in 1723, and died probably in 1815. He lived to be ninety-two (92) years old and died sitting in his chair. He was in the habit of taking a nap after dinner, sitting in a chair, and so it happened his dying was not noticed by the family.

I have this statement about his age and death from my mother. He married Ann Wildman.

Children:

- 7 I BENJAMIN, Jun.
- 8 II OLIVER.
- 9 III JAMES.
- IV MARY, who married Dr. John Watson.
- V ANN, who married Joseph Duer.
- VI ELIZABETH, who married Joseph Coleman.

JOHN (2) HAMPTON, (Joseph 1) born the 12th of 1st month, 1724, died 10th of 9th month, 1775.

He married Ann Croasdale daughter of Jeremiah and Grace (Heaton) Croasdale, who was born the 18th of the 11th month, 1730. Both Grace Croasdale and her daughter, Ann Croasdale Hampton, were approved ministers of the gospel among the Friends.

Children of John (2) Hampton and Ann Croasdale:

- 4 I ASENATH, born 15th of 11th month, 1749.
- 5 II SARAH, born 3rd of 10th month, 1751.
- 10 III JOSEPH, born 17th of 8th month, 1753.

- IV HANNAH, born 6th of 7th month, 1756, died same year, 12th month, 25th.
- 11 V DAVID, born 24th of 10th month, 1757.
- 12 VI JONATHAN, born 2nd day of 9th month, 1760.

- 6 VIII ANN (3), born 3rd of 4th month, 1767.

Daughters of This Family and Their Children:

4

ASENATH (3), (John 2, Joseph 1), married Isaac Comly. Their children were: 1 Martha, 2 John, 3 Isaac, 4 Joseph, 5 Ezra, 6 Ethan, 7 Jason.

JOHN COMLY, the second child and oldest son, was the most noted descendent of the original Joseph Hampton, that had appeared in his day.

He was an approved minister and teacher among the Friends and eminent in both positions. His name is in the list of teachers in the Westtown school, the oldest and most noted of the Friends schools in America, having entered as teacher (or principal) 1800-6-11, and retired in 2nd month, 1802.

He was the author of an elementary English Grammar, much used among the Friends and noticed by Gould Brown in his "Grammar of English Grammars."

A large book has been published entitled "Life and Religious Work of John Comly."

5

SARAH (3) HAMPTON, (John 2, Joseph 1) second daughter and second child of John and Ann Croasdale Hampton, married Isaac Smith.

Their children's names were: Eber, Hannah, Sarah, David, Isaac, Asenath, Jonathan and Rachel.

ANN (3) HAMPTON, (John 2, Joseph 1) youngest child and daughter of John and Ann Croasdale Hampton, married John (or Jeremiah) Livsey. Their children were: Asenath, John, Samuel, Jesse and Jason. John Livsey, the oldest son married Sarah Roman, a woman of beautiful Christian character, and moved to Ohio.

He lived on Goshen Run, near Wolf Creek, about two miles from Chesterfield (Postoffice Chester Hill) Marion township, Athens, now Morgan Co., O.

He was a man of note in his neighborhood. Was township trustee and was once appointed as "Viewer," to help lay out a state road authorized by the legislature.

Later in life he left his farm (a good one) and lived in Chesterfield. His children were: Oliver, Hannah Ann, Jesse, Jeremiah and Lovina. Oliver married Elizabeth Boswell in Chesterfield and lived there a while but died early. Hannah Ann married Daniel Mott, and lived a few miles south of Plymouth, Washington Co., O. Had no children. Good people.

Jesse went to Belmont Co., O., and lived near Barnesville. Married Elizabeth Patterson, had several children. He was in California in 1905, a bright, good man. Two of his children, Charles Livzey and Anna (Livzey) Hall, were living near Barnesville, O., in 1905.

Jeremiah, a pleasant boy, injured himself plowing a field of heavy limestone clay soil. He lingered in poor health, did some painting in an amateur way, very creditably. Later he was able to do some work but his mind became effected and he spent the latter part of his life in the Athens, Ohio, Insane Asylum.

Lovina married Joseph Boswell, a brother of Elizabeth, who had married Oliver; went to California; husband died and she married a Hall(?) and lived in Pasadena in 1905.

After the death of the elder Livzey, the mother, Ann Hampton Livzey, and some of the other children moved to Ohio about 1839 or 1840. Asenath, Samuel and Jason, I believe, came with the mother; all unmarried. All but Samuel returned to Pennsylvania. He married Rebecca King, a daughter of James King, of Penn Township, Morgan Co., Ohio. About the time of the rebellion in the sixties of the last century he moved to Troy Township, Athens Co., Ohio, and became a near neighbor of his cousin, Asenath Doan. Samuel and Rebecca Livzey's children were: (1) James, (2) Thomas, (3) John, (4) Ann, (5) Lewis, (6) Samuel, (7) Martha, (8) Emmor and (9) Sarah.

Third Generation

7

BENJAMIN (3) HAMPTON, JR., (Benjamin 2, Joseph 1) married MARY POWELL (or POWNELL.)

Children:

I MOSES. It seems quite possible he was the ancestor of Benjamin Bowles Hampton, the editor of Hampton's Magazine, but it is also quite possible that Oliver's son, Charles, may have been so, instead of Moses. (See Appendix).

II SARAH.

III BENJAMIN. Married Hannah Morris and became the ancestor of the Jersey Hamptons, who had their seat originally at Quakertown, Hunterdon Co., N. J.

IV JOSEPH. It seems highly probable that this is Joseph Hampton, born about 1785, who married Mary Rumidge and became the ancestor of the Utah Hamptons. (See Appendix).

V HANNAH.

VI MARGARET.

VII MARY. (Twin of Ann VIII).

VIII ANN. (Twin of Mary VII).

IX CATHARINE. (See Appendix).

8

OLIVER (3) HAMPTON, (Benjamin 2, Joseph 1) married first,———; second, Margaret Kitchen, John Kitchen's widow. Their son's name was Charles. Oliver and his brother James (named next below) had the reputation of being the best penmen and scholars about Wrightstown.

9

JAMES (3) HAMPTON, (Benjamin 2, Joseph 1) was a school teacher many years and died unmarried.

10

JOSEPH (3) HAMPTON, (John 2, Joseph 1) born 1753-8-17, married Mary Baker and settled in Catawissa.

Children's names: Mary, David, John, Joseph, Abner, Samuel, Hannah, Amos, Jonathan, Ann and Noah.

11

DAVID (3) HAMPTON, (John 2, Joseph 1) born 1757-10-24, married Rebecca Phillips, daughter of Aaron Phillips.

Their children were: Joseph, Mary and Mercy.

Whether any of this family moved to Ohio is not known to the writer, but a "Public Friend," (Quaker preacher) who was a cousin to Asenath Hampton Doan, visited her in Athens Co., Ohio, in the fall of 1850, who it seems likely was this Joseph.

12

JONATHAN (3) HAMPTON, (John 2, Joseph 1) born 1760-9-2, married 1783-4-16, Elizabeth Phillips, born 1762-7-25; he died 1832-10-10; she died 1843-5-30.

Children:

13 I THOMAS, born 1784-2-7.

II ELI, born 1787-7-13, died 1855-7-12.

14 IV MARY, born 1792-9-24.

V ELIZABETH, born 1797-9-1. Married to — Mendenhall.

VI JONATHAN, born 1797-10-15.

Part, and perhaps all, of this family moved to Ohio.

Children:

I EPHRIAM ROMAN, born 1814-8-1, married Ann T. John, 1838-9-20, in Chesterfield, Morgan Co., O. Children: 1 Rachel, 2 Isaac, 3 Mary Jane, 4 Jesse, 5 William, 6 Amos, 7 Eli H., 8 Elwood D., 9 Sarah Elizabeth. They lived near Plymouth, Washington Co., O.

II EZRA ROMAN, born 1816-4-21.

III SARAH ANN ROMAN, born 1818-4-19.

IV AMOS ROMAN, born 1820-8-23.

V HAMPTON ROMAN, born 1823-3-27.

VI ABRAHAM ROMAN, born 1827-2-12.

VII ELIZABETH H. ROMAN, born 1831-9-30. A pleasant, Christian woman. Did not marry. Lived at the old ladies home in Marietta, O., the latter part of her life.

Mary and Isaac Roman after going to Ohio, lived first at Blue Rock, Muskingum Co., later in Morgan and Athens Counties.

CARY (5) HAMPTON, (Thomas 4, Jonathan 3, John 2, Joseph 1). Married Sarrah Way in Chesterfield, (now Chester Hill) Morgan Co., O., about 1838. (?)

Lived at Southland, a few miles from Plymouth, Washington Co., O.

I ELVINA, who married Wm. Hoyle and lived a few miles from Viola, Ia., in 1905.

II THOMAS, married and had several children.

III HANNAH ANN, unmarried.

THE BETTSES AND CARYS.

Before treating of the history of the remaining member of the family of John and Ann Croasdale Hampton, it will be well to have some account of the Betts family, of Bucks Co., and also of the Cary family, whose blood mingled in the veins of Mary Betts, whom he married. These are our ancestors equally with the Hamptons. According to my mother's account, the Bettses were originally from Wales.

THOMAS BETTS, of Long Island, married Susannah Field, in New Jersey, and settled in Bucks Co., Pennsylvania.

Their Children:

- I THOMAS.
- II MERIAN.
- III STEPHAN.
- IV SUSANNAH.
- V MARY.
- VI DAVID.
- VII PATIENCE.
- VIII RICHARD.
- IX ZACHARIAH.
- X WILLIAM.
- XI JOHN.

This list is according to Asenath Hampton Doan's record. Her brother, John Hampton, had a record with the same names, except John but were in a different order and substituted Mary Ann for John.

ZACHARIAH (2) BETTS, (Thomas 1) married 1st, Rachel Bye, had one child, Jesse. Married 2nd, Bethula Cary, children, Mary, Mirian, Samuel. Married 3rd Mary Lacy, children 1 Esther, 2 Mercy, 3 Thomas, 4 Rachel, 5 Susannah, 6 Joseph and 7 Zachariah.

JESSE (3) BETTS, (Zachariah 2, Thomas 1) married Hannah, daughter of Aaron Paxton. Children's names were: Benjamin, Rachel, Deborah, Mahlon and Charles.

MARY (3) BETTS, (Zachariah 2, Thomas 1) born in Upper Markfield, Bucks Co., the 26th day of 7th month, 1771, married John Hampton, of Wrightstown, the 20th day of 6th month, 1787.

She became the mother of twelve children. Her further history will be given in connection with that of her husband and their family.

MIRIAM (3) BETTS, (Zachariah 2, Thomas 1) married Joseph Lownes, son of William and Mary Lownes, of Upper Markfield. Their children: Charles, Bethula, Rebecca, Mary Ann, Josiah, Esther, Zachariah and William. Esther Lownes lived many years and died unmarried. "A worthy woman."

SAMUEL (3) BETTS, (Zachariah 2, Thomas 1) married Grace Kirkpatrick. Their children's names were: Zachariah, Mary L., Hannah K., Richard K., William C., Alice Eliza and Sarah.

I have no record of the marriages of the third wife's—Mary Lacy's—children.

The descendents of this Betts family have for many years been residents of Philadelphia, and reputed to be very worthy people.

SAMUEL CARY, "of English origin and dignity," married Sarah Stackhouse.

Children:

Asenath Doan's record:

- I SAMPSON.
- II SAMUEL.
- III ANN.
- IV MARY.
- V ASA.
- VI SARAH.
- VII BETHULA.
- VIII BEULA.
- IX HEPSIBA.

John Hampton's record:

- I SAMPSON.
- II SAMUEL.
- III ANN.
- IV SARAH.
- V HANNAHMEEL.
- VI JOSHUA.
- VII MARY.
- VIII THOMAS.
- IX BETHULA.
- X BEULA.
- XI HEPSIBA.

Ann married Manuel Walker and settled in Philadelphia, Penn.

Sarah married William Blakey, of Middletown, Pa.

Mary married Joshua Canby, also of Middletown.

Bethula married Zachariah Betts.

"Sarah Cary, nee Stackhouse, and her son-in-law, William Blakey or Blakley, were eminent ministers of the gospel in the society of Friends." The Carys were of the "gentry" class in England and brought with them to America, their "Coat of Arms," which it was common for wealthy and aristocratic families to have in England.

The Carys and Bettses became related by the marriage of Bethula Cary, daughter of Samuel, from England, with Zachariah (2) Betts (Thomas) as his second wife. And these two families became related to the Hamptons by the marriage of MARY BETTS, oldest child of this Zachariah Betts and Bethula Cary with

JOHN (3) HAMPTON, (John 2, Joseph 1) b, 1763-10-16, She was born in Upper Markfield, Bucks Co., Penn., the 26th day of the 7th month, 1771. This marriage took place the 20th of 6th month, 1787, when the bride was not quite sixteen years old. The Betts family were opposed to the marriage. Whatever other causes there may have been, the youthfulness of the bride must have been one.

John Hampton, the bridegroom was a young school teacher. Because of the opposition of the parents of the bride, they could not be married in the mode of the Friends and decided to be married by a justice of the peace. But the law required a notice or "publication of the bans," so our grandfather hit upon the plan of having a friend of his, follow closely on the heels of the poster of the notices and read them (three I believe) and then pull them down and destroy them. In this way he had a witness to prove that the lawful notice had been posted and also had been seen and read and yet the word of the coming wedding did not reach the ears of the bride's parents till after the marriage. It is hard to fence against cupid.

Dr. Buckman says: "John (Hampton) married 1788, 2nd month, 4th, (this date is probably an error) with Mary Betts, and in doing so disregarded the discipline of the society of Friends and was disowned for that act."

If they were disowned as it seems not unlikely they both were, they must have been reinstated for the children all seem to have had a "birth right" in the society.

But the Betts family evidently became reconciled whether the church did or not, for the bride was helped to an outfit for house-keeping, some items of which continue to exist to the present time. Grandmother (Mary Betts Hampton) at her death bequeathed to my mother (Asenath Hampton Doan) a heavy silver spoon, it being one of a set, or half set, given to her by her father with the letters "M. B." engraved on the handle; and because she was named for her grandmother, my mother gave it to my sister, Mary, who still holds it, 1907, as an heirloom. Another of these spoons is still in existence in Iowa.

Also our great grandfather, Zachariah Betts, was a carpenter and joiner and after this marriage, he had a large chest made in his shop, in the then current style, in a very neat and substantial manner, with a till at one end and with a lid on it and a secret drawer under it. That old chest, well preserved, was in my father's and mother's old home in Athens Co., O., late in the nineteenth century.

Moreover, I have heard my mother tell of her visits in childhood to her grandfather Betts', and of his pleasant home on the banks of the Delaware.

Beside help to begin housekeeping, our great grandfather, gave his daughter, Mary a large family Bible. It was in this wise. An edition of the Bible was to be published in America if subscribers enough could be obtained. Zachariah Betts subscribed for one dozen. He had eleven children and one dozen would supply one for each child and one for himself.

My mother said this was the first edition of family Bibles published in America (perhaps it should have been Pennsylvania.) The copy of the Bible given to Mary B. Hampton, is still in existence (Jan., 1906) in possession of Anna Hampton, Springville, Iowa., and contains valuable records.

Children of John and Mary Betts Hampton:

- 17 I CARY, born the 4th of 5th month, 1788.
- 18 II JESSE B., born the 21st of 7th month, 1789.

- 21 V ASENATH, born the 3rd of 3rd month, 1796.
- 22 VI ZACHARIAH, born the 25th of 1st month, 1798.
- 23 VII ASA C., (CARY?) born 7th of 5th month, 1800.
- VIII SARAH G., born the 26th of 3rd month, 1802, and died the 24th of 7th month, 1808.

- 27 XII CARY, 2nd, born the 17th of 7th month, 1814.

Whether their first home after marriage, was at Wrightstown, is not certain but seems probable. It is on record that their daughter, Asenath, was born there and that later they moved into the adjoining township of Middletown, near Newtown. From there the family moved in 1801, to Montgomery county, Maryland, and settled at a place called Sandy Spring, fourteen miles from Washington City. The older sons and perhaps the father, used to take marketing to Washington City.

In 1808, they moved to Fredrick Co., Maryland, and settled about four miles from New Market, and thirty-four from Baltimore.

They held their church membership with the Society of Friends, at a place called Bush Creek, which appears to have been near New Market. Their monthly meetings I believe were also there. Their quarterly meeting was at a place called Pipe Creek. Pipe Creek is a branch of the Monocacy river, and is north of New Market. Their yearly meeting was at Baltimore, which is a little south of east and distant about 30 miles from New Market. The Yearly Meeting owned a piece of land outside of the city where the horses of members from the country were pastured and cared for during the sessions of the meeting, while their owners were provided for by Friends in the city. Members of the family often attended these meetings.

The family home then consisted of what Uncle John calls "a fine fruit farm of 190 acres." I have many times heard my mother (Asenath Hampton Doan) tell of the fine fruits they had there especially cherries and apples. But such fruit, though so valuable now, at that day, thirty-four miles from a city and no railroads, would not be of much money value, however much health and comfort it might bring to the family. Two things seem to have conspired to cause their removal to Ohio. The only one assigned by Uncle John is that Maryland was a slave state. This to them, was a serious cause of dissatisfaction during all their sojourn of twenty-four years in Maryland. The other cause was an incumbrance on the land they could not remove. In the spring of 1825, after seventeen years in Frederick Co., and twenty-four in the state, they removed to Ohio, whither the oldest unmarried son, Zachariah, had preceeded them the year before to select a new home for them.

Their oldest living son, James, and the only married one of the family then, (Jesse having been dead over ten years) was living in Pennsylvania. He brought his little family consisting of a wife and two children, the younger only about six weeks old, down to the old home in Maryland, and came west with the rest of the family. They started about the first of May and came into Belmont Co., Ohio., where Zachariah had first located near Flushing, having been married barely a month.

There or not far from there, James and his family also located. But Zachariah soon moved on into Morgan Co., near Pennsville. The parents and most, if not all the rest of the family, proceeded on west and south into Muskingum Co., and settled in Blue Rock township, near the Morgan Co. line and near the present village of Ruraldale. In the neighborhood, at that day, there was a small settlement of Friends.

They had left behind them, in Maryland, a little grandson, Jesse Hampton, Jr., about ten years old, and his mother, their widowed daughter-in-law and three children, in their graves. Little Sarah, six years old, buried in Montgomery Co.; Cary, twenty-three, in Frederick Co., and Jesse B., twenty-five, in Anne Arundel Co.

Besides the parents, the family then consisted of three daughters: Bethula, aged thirty-four; Asenath, aged twenty-nine and Mary Ann, aged fourteen and their younger sons, Cary 2nd, aged eleven; Samuel, sixteen, and almost certainly, John aged nineteen years. Whether Asa went with them to Blue Rock, is not clear.

There was a little society of Friends organized at Blue Rock, but whether before or after the arrival of the Hamptons, is not known. True to their inherited ideas of the propriety of both religious and intellectual training of their children, they established a school and Asenath Hampton was the teacher for two summers.

The Doan family, into which Asenath married, had come from Bucks Co., Pennsylvania, in 1820. They had stopped in Jefferson Co., near Mt. Pleasant, for four years and then gone to Muskingum Co., in 1824, settling in Meigs, an adjoining township to Blue Rock, a few miles from the Hampton home.

The five and a half years at Blue Rock, were eventful ones to the family. Besides the death of James, there were several marriages. Asa married in a little less than two and one-half years after coming to Ohio, and Asenath, about fifteen months later, Samuel twenty months after her, Bethula three months after Samuel and John four and one-half months after Bethula.

Counting Zachariah's, we have six marriages in five years and fifteen days, and five of them in only nine days over three and a half years. Only Mary Ann and Cary 2nd, were left. Only one lived in convenient visiting distance, in those days of toilsome horse-back travel. Asenath was only three miles away, over the county line in Morgan Co. She was also three miles from the Doan home.

James' widow and children and Asa, Bethula and perhaps John were in Belmont Co., in a northeasterly direction over a days journey away, while Zachariah was west of the Muskingum river in Morgan Co., about 18 of 19 miles distant and Samuel two or three miles further in the same county.

In the fall of 1830, the family greatly reduced in size, moved to Belmont Co., and lived near Barnsville, and near "The Ridge" Friends' meeting house. Their grandson, Levi Hampton, James' second child, writes "Grandfather bought a farm two or three miles from the Ridge in a settlement called "Guinea," on account of the number of colored people living there."

At that time the father was 67 years old, the mother 59, Mary Ann 19 and Cary 16. Their little grandson Levi, was 5 years old. He had gone to live with them after James, his father's death.

About the spring of 1835, (?) they moved to Morgan County, O., near Pennsville and lived in a house built for them on the land owned by their son, Zachariah.

Only the parents with Mary Ann and little grandchild, Levi, composed the family.

In the summer of 1837, on the 14th of 7th month, the wife and mother died. She lacked twelve days of sixty-six years of age, and had lived with her husband fifty years and twenty-four days. She was buried at Pennsville, in the Friends burying ground. Mary Betts Hampton was undoubtedly a good woman. She must have had considerable energy and a spirit of enterprise, for at the time of their removal to Maryland, in 1801, she wanted to go to Ohio, instead, though it was still a part of the northwest territory and hardly cleared of Indians. She appreciated her good blood and breeding and was somewhat aristocratic in her feelings, though not in a bad sense. She was the mother of twelve children, eleven of whom lived to adult years. The average age attained by her children, including the little girl who died at six and one-half years, is over fifty-eight and one-half years. The average age of the whole family, including the parents, is sixty-six years, 10 months, 8 days. The average age of the children who lived to adulthood is sixty-three and one-third years. This is a good average for so large a family.

The subject of the average duration of human life is worthy of the attention of all lovers of their country and race. It tends to confirm the truth of Christianity and to show the value of the science of health. The average duration is generally assumed to be thirty years. Some statistics hardly sustain that view. It has been estimated at 28 and even as low as 26 years. Among the Jews, it is set down at 37. Only the Friends thus far have been proved to have a higher average than the Jews. Tables of mortality, prepared for life insurance companies, among the Friends, some years ago, placed it for them at about 45 1-2 years and for the general public at 40 3-4 years.

But more recent investigations show the average among Friends to be considerably higher, varying from 51 to 58 years, and among the Friends in England, in 1860, it was found to be 59 years. See "Justice to the Jew," by Madison C. Peters.

The statistics, if they were taken, of the larger denominations, and especially of such as are actively evangelistic, gathering in from all classes of society, could not in the very nature of things compare very favorably with the Friends. But if the older families of any of the Protestant churches whose ancestors for several generations, have maintained a generally good Christian character, could be selected by themselves, there can hardly be a doubt that the result would point in the same direction. "Godliness is profitable unto all things having the promise of the life that now is and of that which is to come."

At the death of the wife and mother, the husband soon with the daughter, Mary Ann, moved back to Belmont Co., and lived in a house on his son-in-law, Joseph Arnold's farm, close to the latter's home. Levi who had been a member of the family for about eight years, went to live with his mother, James Hampton's widow who had married his uncle Cary, second.

On the 6th of the 12th month, 1838, Mary Ann married Elihu Robins and her father continued to live with her. Not very long, possibly a little over a year after her marriage, she and her husband moved to Morgan Co., and her father went with them. They lived first in the same house on Zachariah's land where the parent's home had been when the mother died and later on a farm adjoining on the west.

After Mary Ann's marriage, he spent most of the remainder of his life with her, making, however, lengthy visits with his daughter, Asenath, whose home was 25 miles away in Troy township, Athens Co., O., and not far from the village of Coolville. This home was between the Big and Little Hocking rivers about two miles from the former, and four miles from the Ohio river.

He died at the home of his daughter, Mary Ann Robins, on the 3rd day of the 12th month, 1842, in the eightieth year of his age and was buried at Pennsville, in the same buying ground as his wife. He was a teacher at the time of his marriage but whether he continued to teach or if so, how long, is not known. He was also a weaver which in that day of the almost universal wearing of "home spun" clothing, was a very common and useful employment. This business was continued by the family in Maryland in connection with farming.

Though not of very great physical strength, he was naturally mechanical and used tools well. In the summer of 1840, when well advanced in his seventy-sixth year, he made a "five post hay barrack" for his son-in-law, William Doan. The roof was thatched with straw in the old style of the English and eastern Pennsylvania farmers and was a regular pentagon (five sided) at the base. The rafters made of oak poles came together at a point at their upper ends. The straw was prepared for him out of wheat thrashed with a flail and carefully kept straight as it had been in the sheaf. This he laid on laths made of small saplings split and tied onto the rafters with small withes. The straw was fastened in its place with narrow splints used as strings. The roof was built with the base or eave plates resting on supports near the ground and a tall post, perhaps fifteen feet high, standing in each of the five corners. Holes bored with a large auger about 15 inches apart in the posts with long, strong wood pins, made it easy to raise the roof, a corner at a time, as the space beneath was being filled with hay. Then in winter, as the hay was taken out, the roof was lowered in like manner. This made an excellent substitute for a hay barn which lasted several years.

The same summer, he made baskets from splints from young oak trees. The heavier work was done with an ax and a drawing knife, but the finer finishing, with a large pocket knife.

He had a singular peculiarity in handling tools. Being right-handed, he used tools generally as right-handed men do but a knife he used with his left hand and used it well. He explained this once to my father, by saying that when a boy he and other boys tried the experiment of using their pocket knives with their left hand and he continued it till he could use the knife better with his left hand than with his right.

He had lost his teeth when I remember him best, but I do not remember his ever having any difficulty in eating. Anna Hampton writes that her father told his children that their grandfather could eat anything after he had lost his teeth and that he believed his father's gums were so hard that he could have cracked a hickory nut with them.

He liked fish and greatly enjoyed catching them. I knew him to ride two miles one evening to the Hocking river and back again to set a large hook hoping to catch a large catfish. He rode down to the river again the next morning only to find the bait gone and no fish.

He never seemed happier in his old age than when going fishing with a company of his little grandsons. On one of these occasions, going wearily home after a day's fishing, he told us a story that has been so helpful to me all through life, that I insert it here. It was an Indian story and the event probably occurred on or about Penn's purchase of Indian lands. It ran thus:

"An Indian had killed a deer and hung it up on a tree to dress it. Having left it a while to cool, he returned later to take it home but found it was gone. He started out to find his venison, describing the thief as a "little, old, white man who had a short gun." His minute description of the thief whom he had not yet seen, surprised his white friends whom he met and he proceeded to tell how he knew these things. He knew the thief had a short gun because he saw where he had set it down against a tree. The muzzle of the gun had knocked off a piece of bark and the space between the spot on the ground where the gun had rested and the place where the bark was knocked off was so small, he knew the gun was short. He knew the thief was a little man because he had to get a chunk to stand on to get the deer down. He knew that he was a white man because his tracks showed that he turned his toes outward as he walked, whereas an Indian kept his toes straight before him. And he knew he was an old man because he took short steps up hill." This perhaps is not a new story to some of my readers, but if it should help the younger ones as it has helped me to realize the value of observation and reflection it will repay the writing of it. The moral is keep your eyes open as you go and think carefully about what you see. One of my observations has been that there are many people who do not look far ahead nor think down to the roots of things.

Like the Friends generally, our grandfather Hampton, favored all moral reforms. At that day two topics of this nature were prominently before the people, intemperance and slavery. He was opposed to both.

Talking thoughtfully, one Sabbath afternoon, on the question of slavery, he expressed the "fear that it would yet go down in an ocean of blood." This was twenty or twenty-one years before the beginning of the civil war, and when those dreadful days were passing by I used to think, sometimes, of grandfather's fears, expressed so long before.

Their son, John, bears this testimony in regard to the religious lives of his parents, John and Mary Betts Hampton: "They adhered strictly to Friend's principles and testimonies and from expressions of their peace and lively hope of a happy eternity, gave to survivors, the very comfortable hope that their end was peace and that they are eternally at rest."

Lineage of the Children of John and Mary Betts Hampton as far as it has been ascertained at this writing, February 7th, 1906.

*EXPLANATION—The Friends required a declaration of intention to marry in one session of a monthly meeting and continuation of intention in the next session, then the marriage at the next week day meeting, so that this marriage must have been over a month later or about the last of September, 1722.

CARY (4) HAMPTON, (John 3, John 2, Joseph 1) born the 4th of the 5th month, 1788, in Bucks Co., Penn., died the 21st of the 8th month, 1911. Unmarried. He was Buried in Bush Creek Friend's burying ground, Frederick Co., Maryland.

He was a carpenter. His wife was a good, pious young woman and a member of the Methodist church. He died the 14th of the 1st month, 1815, and was buried in his wife's family burying ground in Anne Arundel Co., Maryland. They had one child, Jesse, born after his father's death.

19

BETHULA (4) HAMPTON, (John 3, John 2, Joseph 1) born 1st of the 8th month, 1791. Married on the 21st of the 12th month, 1829, in Blue Rock Township, Muskingum Co., Ohio, where her father then lived, to Joseph Arnold, of near Barnsville, Belmont Co., Ohio. After the death of her husband she married Anderson Arnold, a cousin of her first husband. She died the 4th of the 12th month, 1855. Always a member of the society of Friends, and after her marriage held her membership at the Ridge meeting near Barnsville. She furnished a home for a while for her father and for her younger sister Mary Ann. No children.

JAMES (4) HAMPTON, (John 3, John 2, Joseph 1) born the 26th of the 6th month, 1794, at Wrightstown, Bucks Co., Penn. Married on the 4th of the 10th month, 1820, EMILY WALTON, daughter of Amos and Elizabeth Walton, of Lancaster Co., Penn. He was a weaver and a school teacher and taught both in Pennsylvania and Ohio. His son James Hiram writes:: "I remember a beautiful bedspread which my mother had and which she told me my father wove. My father was a fine penman. I have seen some of his ornamental writing that was exceedingly fine. He moved to Ohio with his father's family about the 1st of May, 1825, and settled in Belmont Co. He taught for several years, but his teaching became interrupted by poor health and he finally died the 24th of the 6th month, 1829, aged 35 years.

His youngest son has furnished a note which throws light on the cause of his father's death, as follows: "I have often heard my mother say that father's death resulted from the effect of an internal injury received several years before while handling a vicious cow and that he was never stout after he was hurt. That the immediate cause of his last sickness was a severe cold, contracted while sitting near an open window acting as clerk of the Ohio Yearly Meeting of Friends. I am of the opinion that it was pulmonary abscess rather than consumption."

(Signed` James Hiram Hampton.

- 30 II LEVI, born the 17th of the 3rd month, 1825.
- 31 III MARY, born the 3rd of the 1st month, 1827.

ASENATH (4) HAMPTON, (John 3, John 2, Joseph 1) born at Wrightstown Township, Bucks Co., Penn., on the 3rd day of the 3rd month, 1796. In 1801 was moved with her parents to Maryland and in 1825 to Ohio. Before leaving Maryland she had assisted her brother, Zachariah, in teaching a school in Loudon Co., Va. After going to Ohio she assisted her brother, James, in teaching in Belmont Co., at or near Flushing. She taught two summers in Blue Rock township, Muskingum Co. She married William Doan, son of Daniel and Mary Plumly Doan, on the 24th of the 1st month, 1828. He was of the seventh generation of American Doanes and descended from Deacon John Doane, of Plymouth colony. He was born in Philadelphia Co., Penn., 1799-4-20. Learned the coachmakers trade in Bucks Co., where his youth was mostly spent. Came to Ohio in 1820. Worked some at ironing wagons and at other blacksmithing in Ohio, but spent most of his life on a farm. Was very neat and mechanical in all his work. Was especially interested in the cultivation of fruit, and had the finest collection of apples and other fruits in the community where he lived. He was greatly interested in public affairs, especially such as involved a moral quality. Never scrambling for office, he became a leader of public opinion in his neighborhood whose motives could not be impugned. After Asenath's marriage she and her husband settled in Bristol Township, Morgan Co., about three miles from her father's and about the same distance from his father's. Here her children were born, as follows:

I JOHN HAMPTON DOAN, born the 10th of the 12th month, 1828.

II MARY DOAN, born the 3rd of the 9th month, 1830.

III JAMES DOAN, born the 22nd of the 2nd month, 1832.

IV ANN HAMPTON DOAN, born the 12th of the 2nd month, 1834.

Moved on New Years day, 1836, to Meigs Township, Muskingum Co., near the Doan homestead and also near Lytlesburg, about four miles from the Bristol home. Moved again in the fall of the same year to Chesterfield, (Athens) now Morgan Co., Ohio. Finally moved—15th of the 5th month, 1839 to Troy township, Athens Co., near Coolville, Ohio. Here was her home the remainder of her life. She died the 4th of the 12th month, 1885, and was buried beside her husband in the Friend's old burying ground in Decatur Township in Washington Co., Ohio.

She was a lover of learning and greatly admired good poetry. In her younger days, when books were scarce, she copied many pieces of poetry. Had also a love of flowers and shrubbery and cultivated them with taste. She guided her household affairs with discretion and governed her family well. She sometimes took part in business meetings of her church, but was more active in anti-slavery and temperance meetings. Living so long in her early life in a slave state, she saw much in the condition of the slaves which pained her keen sense of right and wrong. As early as 1838 she cheerfully consented to the opening of her house for the first anti-slavery lecturer that appeared when a public building could not be obtained. Her natural hatred of all things vile caused her to despise the traffic in intoxicating liquors and to take an abiding interest in the temperance cause. She was often called on to speak in the meetings of the temperance society which was organized near her home in 1842 and maintained for about ten years. Some of her opinions on religious subjects were not strictly orthodox, but her morality was orthodox. Perhaps her most striking characteristic was an intense desire to do right and to spread the reign of righteousness. In her last illness she was frequently delirious and at such times often praying vocally and the burden of her prayers was, "I want to do right. Lord teach me what is right." This thought was in harmony with her life. For further notice of Asenath Doan and husband, see Asenath Hampton Gable, No. 59.

ZACHARIAH BETTS (4) HAMPTON, (John 3, John 2, Joseph 1) born the 25th of the 1st month, 1798, at Wrightstown, (or possibly Middletown) Township, Bucks Co., Penn. Was moved with the family to Maryland in 1801.

There is no record of his early school days known to the writer but later he attended the Brandywine Friends Boarding School. He taught school in Loudon Co., Virginia, and perhaps, also in Maryland, before coming to Ohio. He came to Ohio in advance of the family, in the year of 1824. Attended the Ohio Yearly Meeting (at Mt. Pleasant, probably) in the fall of that year. He "took up" 80 acres of land near Pennsville, Morgan Co., and located a home for his parents in Blue Rock township, Muskingum Co. He taught school at Flushing, Belmont Co., and on the 20th of the 4th month, 1825, married SARAH GRIFFITH, at Red Stone Friend's Meeting House, near Cookstown, Pennsylvania. This church was a branch of the Ohio Yearly Meeting.

The land he had purchased in Morgan Co., "was all in the woods and heavily timbered." Here in the fall of 1825 he reared a log cabin into which they moved. Here their children were born as follows:

- 33 I WILLIAM, born the 14th of the 3rd month, 1826.
- 34 II RUTH COPE, born the 2nd of the 1st month, 1828.
- III LYDIA, born the 14th of the 8th month, 1830, died the 7th of the 6th month, 1845.
- 35 IV SARAH GRIFFITH, born the 18th of the 5th month, 1832.
- 36 V MARY ELMA, born the 8th of the 2nd month, 1835.

His principal occupation, afterward, was farming, including fruit culture.

"He studied surveying and did a little at that in the opening of the farms there in Ohio," his daughter, Sarah, says, and adds "he studied medicine but did not practice much except in his family, but went some as nurse." He remained on the farm near Pennsville, till the fall of 1851, when he moved his family to Iowa and settled near Viola, Linn Co., going overland in a "prairie schooner" and a buggy and they were just four weeks on the way. It was in October.

He died 18th of the 4th month, 1861. He was a zealous member of the orthodox society of Friends and active in the affairs of the church. He served as clerk of the meeting at Pennsville.

He was a lover and a cultivator of fruit and had a large collection of fine varieties of apples on his farm in Ohio, in a few years after it was opened up. Had a small nursery in the later years of his stay in Ohio and became a member of the county Horticultural Society. On one occasion he was appointed as a committee to name an apple which had not a satisfactory name. Was once a delegate to the State Horticultural convention at Columbus. He was a lover and a promoter of learning. In the winter of 1843, he with others, organized a "Phylosophy School," which held weekly evening meetings in the Friends' school house, between his home and Pennsville, for the study of natural phylosophy, or physics, as now more generally called. A Dr. Vail, of Pennsville, was a helper and likely a member of the organization. It was my privilege to be present one evening when the doctor was there with his electric machine. It was the first I had ever seen and the lesson learned and the benefit derived, remain to this day. The text book used was Comstock's Natural Phylosophy.

I was frequently at Uncle Zachariah's house that winter and seized every convenient opportunity to read that book. It was an inspiration and an uplift to me. My visits to his home were always pleasant and profitable to me and their memory is vivid to this day.

Like other Friends, he was opposed to slavery and aided runaway slaves when he could. His daughter says his home "was a stopping place on the underground railroad."

Politically, in his early life, he was a Whig. Later, he sympathized with the Republican party but never voted after its organization, his daughter Sarah, says.

SARAH GRIFFITH, wife of Zachariah Hampton, was born the 2nd of the 8th month, 1803, in Fayette Co., Pennsylvania, near Cookstown. She was the daughter of William and Sarah (Cook) Griffith and a descendant in the sixth generation on her mother's side, of Peter Cook, of Tarvin, Cheshire, England, and Elinor Norman, of Kingley, Cheshire, England, who were married at Newton, in Cheshire, December 7th, 1695.

Sarah (Griffith) Hampton, lived after her husband's death, over twenty-five years, and died 9th month, 22nd, 1886. She was also a zealous Friend. Both were buried at Hopewell church, near Viola, Ia.

23

ASA C. (4) HAMPTON, (John 3, John 2, Joseph 1) born 5th month, 7th, 1800, in Bucks Co., Penn. In 1801, was moved with his parents, to Maryland, and lived there with the family, as related in their history, till 1825. Then moved with them to Ohio. It is not certain whether he lived with the family at Blue Rock. He did live several years in Barnsville. His son, James, says he taught school several years in Barnsville, Belmont Co. Married ESTHER PATTERSON 10th of the 10th month, 1827, a native of North Carolina. She had two brothers, Laban, a "Thomsonian" doctor, who lived in Ohio, and later in Linn Co., Ia., and Lemuel, who lived in Belmont Co., O.

Children:

- 37 I MARTHA, born the 10th month, 8th, 1828.
- II JOSEPH, born 2nd month, 11th, 1830. "An ingenious, bright boy," but was short lived, dying in Mt. Vernon, Iowa, 11th month, 19th, 1850.
- 38 III BENJAMIN FRANKLIN, born 11th month, 22nd, 1831.
- 39 IV ELI GRIFFITH, born 5th month, 10th, 1833.
- 40 V JAMES W., born 1st month, 24th, 1835.
- VI RUTH, born 12th month, 19th, 1836. Her case was singular. In the first winter of her life, she had whooping cough in a malignant form. At one time was thought to be dying, if not already dead. But she rallied and till about two years old, her father thought her one of the brightest, if not the brightest child he had. But she became enfeebled mentally and was a great care. She died 4th month, 20th, 1852, in her sixteenth year.
- VII PHEBE, born 2nd month, 20th, 1839. "At the age of six years, she had scarlet fever, which left her with a very serious nervous affection, from which she never recovered. It effected her both physically and mentally, causing her to become a great charge during her entire life afterwards.

She died 12th month, 26th, 1905, and was buried at Palasade, Colorado, where she died."

41 VIII JESSE, born 9th month, 19th, 1843.

42 IX BETHULA ANN, born 4th month, 30th, 1846.

Asa Hampton, the father of this family, probably learned shoe-making, as well as farming, in Maryland, and likely practiced it in Belmont Co., for after going to Chesterfield, it was his employment for a while. Chesterfield was then in Athens, but since in Morgan Co. Whether he went directly from Belmont to Chesterfield or whether he first went to Pennsville, Morgan Co., for a few years, is not quite clear. His son, James W., thinks or has thought through life, that he was born at Pennsville. His birth occurred in January, 1835, and if it was at Pennsville, the family must have gone to Chesterfield soon after, for in October, 1836, they were living in a house, apparently at least, several months old which he had built in Chesterfield. Pennsville is six miles nearer Belmont, on the then commonly traveled road to the latter.

About the summer of 1837, he entered into partnership with a potter, named Jonathan Naylor, and engaged in the manufacture of what was then known as earthen ware. This was not long continued, probably because the clay in the neighborhood, was not well adapted to the purpose.

About the end of 1838, or early in 1839, he sold his home in Chesterfield, and purchased a farm near (about two miles north of) Plymouth, Washington Co., and about six miles eastward of Chesterfield. Here he remained till about the spring, probably, of 1845, when, because of the financial condition of the country in those days, he was compelled to sell his farm, not being able to complete the payment of the purchase price.

He rented in two places between Plymouth and Chesterfield. Then in 1847, he bought 40 acres of heavily timbered land for $200 in the edge of Athens Co., but not far from Plymouth and in a southwesterly direction. It was to be paid for in tobacco at $4.00 per hundred weight.

He built a double log house on it and cleared about 20 acres of the land which he planted, mostly, in tobacco. Had a good crop and paid for his land. In the spring of 1850, he sold the land for $400, and moved into Plymouth, where he remained about two months. In all these places where he lived near and in Plymouth, he did shoemaking, his growing boys being more and more able to do the farm work year after year.

“When he sold the little farm in Athens Co., he had to take the pay in a blind horse, at $50.00, and in personal notes for the rest. The notes he traded to a tanner named Harmon Rhodes, near Plymouth, for shoe leather, which he took to Iowa with him and manufactured into boots and shoes.”

“He started for Iowa about the 5th of the 5th month, 1850, with two teams going overland and taking his family, consisting of a wife and nine children, and making the journey in 27 days. At that time there were but seven miles of railroad in the state of Iowa. They arrived at Cedar Rapids, then a town of 15 or 20 houses, built mostly of sod or slabs, 6th month, 1st, 1850.”

“He then dropped back after a few days to Mt. Vernon, Linn Co. Opening a shoe shop there, he engaged in the business for two years, when he entered government land near what is now called Viola, also in Linn Co.”

He died of typhoid fever, 3rd month, 21st, 1854, and was buried at Viola Friends church. He was an industrious, laborious, energetic man, patient in his family and kind to all. His toilsome life excited my sympathy and the thought of it in connection with his early death, has been a painful one to me for more than fifty years.

His wife, ESTHER PATTERSON HAMPTON, was a mild tempered, kindhearted woman. Some time after her husband died, she left the farm and lived with her daughter, Martha, in Blackhawk Co., where she died the 22nd of the 3rd month, 1857, three years and one day after her husband and was buried at Poyner's graveyard.

JOHN (4) HAMPTON, (John 3, John 2, Joseph 1) was born at Sandy Spring, Montgomery Co., Md., the 26th of the 2nd month, 1806, moved with the family to Frederick Co., Md., in 1808. Moved again with the family in the spring of 1825, to Ohio, where he probably at first lived for a time with his parents, at Blue Rock township, Muskingum Co. Later he taught school in Belmont Co. The 5th of the 5th month, 1830, he married MARY WILLIAMS, at or near Somerton, O., in the bounds of Somerton Monthly Meeting of Friends.

She was the daughter of Samuel and Sarah (Arnold) Williams and was born the 4th month 28th, 1812, between Bridgeport and Mt. Pleasant, O., her daughter thinks.

Anna writes "Our mother was a good woman. Did her part in her household as near as anyone could. Was a good housekeeper and a good cook and if there was a good woman anywhere, I think she was one." She was a worker in our society, The Society of Friends. It appears that he moved to Pennsville, Morgan Co., not long after marriage, for his daughter, Sarah, whose birth occurred 12th month, 2nd, 1832, says she was born there.

About 1835, it is thought, he assisted his brother-in-law, Axum or Exum Bundy, in laying out the town of Chesterfield, then in Athens Co., but since transferred to Morgan Co.

In this new town he built a house which he lived in till the spring of 1839. He followed carpentering here as likely he had elsewhere. He returned to Belmont Co., in the spring of 1839, and continued to do carpenter work, living in several places and finally "bought a saw mill near Barnsville and lived there for several years."

In 1854, the family moved to Linn Co., Iowa. They went overland in two carriages and a wagon. Started 4th month, 5th, and arrived 5th month, 10th. Settled at Viola, where he purchased 80 acres of land of his brother Samuel. He added more to it afterward. On arrival he built a log cabin immediately in which they lived two years when his son Oliver and a cousin built him "quite a good house," in which he and his wife spent the remainder of their lives.

He was a farmer ever after going to Iowa, until he became unable to work, when at about eighty-four years old, he sold his farm to his grandson, Samuel Mott, but continued to live in a part of the house.

- 49 VII LOVINA, born the 27th of the 6th month, 1846.
- VIII JOHN, born in 1849, and died in 1850, near one year old.
- 50 IX EDWARD, born 2nd of the 7th month, 1851.
- X SAMUEL, twin to Edward, lived near two months.

He had good control of his family and governed without severity. When a boy I admired his family government. He was a member of the orthodox Friends and was an active worker in the church. He was an overseer and a clerk in the meetings of his society for several years. "Was strictly orthodox and a full believer in a Savior. He was a real peace man." Thus his daughter writes of him and adds: "I might say he was a very good man in his family." "He was a great lover of poetry and had many poems written down."

He was opposed to slavery and became a member of the first anti-slavery society organized in the community where he lived. This was in Chesterfield, in the winter of 1838. He never used intoxicating liquors as a beverage nor tobacco. Was temperate, industrious and steady going in his habits. Was in sympathy with the "Free-soil" and Republican parties in their antagonism to the extension of slavery but never an active politician.

He was much attached to his kindred and relatives and some years after going to Iowa, projected a plan for keeping up a correspondence among them by means of a budget of circular letters called "The Little Traveler," which has been continued since his death to this writing, June, 1907. This budget of letters traveling around among a dozen or fifteen families of the Hamptons and their relatives scattered about in several states, has kept them somewhat in touch with each other, and helped those who have written for it to retain some knowledge of the whereabouts of even some who did not write in it. Largely, by means of this "Little Traveler," the notion of preparing this history was developed and found to be feasible.

He died 4th month, 19, 1898.

SAMUEL BETTS (4) HAMPTON, (John 3, John 2, Joseph 1) was born in Frederick Co., Maryland, on the 9th of the 4th month, 1809. In the spring of 1825, when about one month passed sixteen years of age, he moved with his father's family, to Ohio, and settled on a farm at Blue Rock, Muskingum Co.

On the 23rd of the 9th month, 1829, he married ELIZABETH PIERPOINT, daughter of Jonathan and Ann Pierpoint, of Morgan Co., Ohio. The Pierpoint home was on Wolf Creek, a few miles south of Pennsville. They owned a flour and saw mill on Wolf Creek and Jonathan Pierpoint followed milling for many years.

They evidently came from Columbiana Co., Ohio, to Wolf Creek, but whence the husband came from to Columbiana Co., does not appear. His wife, whose maiden name was Ann Steer, was born in Loudon Co., Virginia. Her people, who remained in Loudon Co., were a good family, reported to have been in good circumstances before the civil war, but their home being near "the border," was plundered by both armies and they were left in destitute circumstances. They were Unionists.

Just where Samuel Hampton and his bride first made their home and what was his occupation at first, is not now known, but the home was no doubt near the Pierpoint mill, and the occupation farming or carpentry or both combined.

About five or six years later, he moved into the newly laidout village of Chesterfield, four or five miles away over the county line and then in Athens Co., where his occupation was carpentering and cabinetmaking. After a few years he built a brick house in the south end of the town which he occupied both as a home for his family and as a public house for the entertainment of travelers. After ten or more years in Chesterfield, in the spring of 1846, he moved back to the Pierpoint neighborhood and lived on a farm three miles south of Pennsville. Here he remained five years when in the fall of 1851, the family moved to Iowa, going overland in wagons. They were 21 days on the way. He purchased land near Viola, Linn Co., about 17 miles distant from Cedar Rapids, and engaged in farming. His daughter, Mary, writes: "He was naturally mechanical and very ingenious with tools—could manufacture a fine piece of mahogany furniture and as readily build a house or a barn."

She also refers to his being like his father in his love for fish and of fishing and says: "Times without number, do I remember his getting a few neighbors and fishing materials together and taking two horses and a wagon for an all night work in the Muskingum river near McConnelville. They usually came back with a good supply of nice large fishes which my father could not enjoy till his neighbors were supplied." Twice, also, while he lived in Chesterfield, he made a trip to the home of his sister, 20 miles away to fish, once in the Big Hocking river and once in the Little Hocking.

Of his anti-slavery opinions and practices, she writes: "Having lived in a slave state and witnessed much cruelty in the treatment of the slaves, he became greatly interested in their behalf and early espoused their cause. He was ever ready to assist them in obtaining their freedom. At one time he with a few of his friends, secretly fed a company of sixteen in a cave four miles from Chesterfield, Ohio. The slave owners were on their track and the usually quiet village was in a great state of excitement which, however, soon passed off as the hunters grew weary and left the place. It was now considered safe to proceed and the little band who were loyal to the slaves, sixteen in number, under cover of the night, escorted the fugitives to the next "underground station." There was $1600 offered for the capture of the slaves."

"Later, while living in Iowa, when the poor unfortunates found their way to his door, they were taken in a covered wagon as though going to market, at Dubuque, and from there forwarded to Canada. Of his moral and religious character, she writes: "He was a member of the orthodox branch of the Friends church, strictly moral and upright, although he did not experience a change of heart until he was 65 years of age. Would speak of it with great regret that he had lived so long without a religious experience. The change wrought a wonderful transformation. Always manifesting a meek and quiet spirit, now he became even more tender and Christ-like in his life, striving to better the condition of those about him and gathering in the children to teach them the scriptures. He died at the home of his son, Richard, in Davis Co., Kansas, of neuralgia of the heart, 11th month, 17th, 1883."

His wife, Elizabeth Pierpoint Hampton, "was a woman of a quiet temperament, ever ready to help the poor and unfortunate. Owing to poor health she seldom went from home. She was a warm friend of the slaves, and all that were oppressed, a real mother and a home maker." She outlived her husband a little more than a year and died 1st month, 20th, 1885.

MARY ANN (4) HAMPTON, (John 3, John 2, Joseph) was born 1811-2-1, in Frederick Co., Md. In 1825, moved with her parents to Ohio and lived in several places with them as related in their history. On December 6th, 1838, she was married to ELIHU ROBINS, in the Friends church at the "Ridge" near Barnsville, Belmont Co., O. They lived first on the farm of Joseph Arnold, husband of her older sister, Bethula, in Belmont, but moved ere long to Morgan Co., and lived on the farm of her brother, Zachariah, and later rented an adjoining farm a mile or more south of Pennsville.

In the spring of 1846, they moved to Iowa, going by the way of the Ohio and Mississippi rivers on steam boats.

They first lived at or near Salem, Henry Co. Had charge of a saw mill about four miles from Salem on Cedar Creek and engaged in lumber business.

In February, 1850, moved to Cedar Rapids, Linn Co., Ia., which was the family home ever after, except that the husband sought fortune in the Colorado mines in 1860, but like so many others, found it not. Previous to going to the mines, he had been a contractor and builder and a manufacturer of lime. Added packing and delivering of ice to his business.

After returning from the mines he bought a farm joining the city limits and engaged in gardening and raising small fruits. On September 27th, 1888, their home, a good, well furnished and nearly new house, was burned. "The family just escaped with their lives and got a few things out of the house." A heavy stroke truly. The wife 78 years old and the husband 80, but they had friends and fortunately an insurance of $1000 on the house and $500 on the furniture and were enabled to rebuild.

A little more than two months later on Dec. 6th, 1888, a company of their friends in Cedar Rapids, gathered at the home of their son, Oliver, and sent for them. It was a party in honor of the fiftieth anniversary of their marriage and a complete surprise. The gifts were many and valuable and well adapted to the condition of the family so soon after the fire.

She adhered to the orthodox Friends in whose fellowship she had been raised till after going to Iowa.

She had a natural gift for drawing and painting which to me, in my boyhood, seemed remarkable. She had to make her own paints and brushes of such materials as she could command. Her paintings were of flowers and birds only, I think, but impressed me as being so natural and good as to cause me many times in later years to regret that she could not have had the privilege of instruction by an artist.

She died Nov. 3rd, 1902, aged over 91 3-4 years.

Elihu Robins, her husband, was born in Belmont Co., O., in July, 1808, was raised in an adjoining county, (Guernsey it is thought). Like his wife, he belonged to the orthodox Friends in Ohio. He early espoused the Anti-slavery cause and on one occasion, at least, helped to aid runaway slaves to escape.

This was in 1843. In 1844 he voted the Liberty party ticket. When the Republican party was organized, as most Anti-slavery men did, he went into it and was an ardent Republican the remainder of his life.

Children of Mary Ann (Hampton) Robins:

CARY (4) HAMPTON, (John 3, John 2, Joseph 1) born 7th month, 17th, 1814, in Frederick Co., Md. His oldest brother who was also named Cary, having been then dead nearly three years, the name was given to him.

In the spring of 1825, he moved with his father's family to Blue Rock Tp., Muskingum Co., Ohio, and in the fall of 1830, to Belmont Co. He also lived awhile with his older brother, Zachariah, near Pennsville, Morgan Co.

Some time in 1835, he married EMILY (WALTON) HAMPTON, his brother James' widow, at her home on the farm of Lemuel Patterson, near Barnsville, Belmont Co., Ohio. The ceremony was performed by a justice of the peace. This being a violation of the law of the Friends church, they lost their membership therein.

Soon after marriage they moved some miles further west into Guernsey Co., and lived on the farm of a Mr. Solomon Eagin or Egan, and later at another place not far away.

About this time a great change came over their religious opinions. They became associated with the denomination called Disciples but popularly known as Campbellites, which title, however, they disclaimed. In 1838, or early in 1839, they moved to a place on the Ohio river in Washington Co., about five or six miles below Marietta.

In the spring of 1840, they moved over to the Virginia side and located a little higher up the river just above the foot of Muskingum Island, and about five miles below Marietta at a place called Cole's Wood Yard, where he engaged in supplying cord wood for the steamboats.

Here their youngest child, Asenath, was born.

In the early spring of 1841, he placed their goods and family on a small flatboat and floated down about 15 miles, to the mouth of the Little Hocking river, whence they were hauled out about four miles to the place of William Doan, his sister Asenath's husband, where he had already built a cabin and taken a lease of timber land to be cleared.

This was in Athens Co., O. Here he remained two years, supporting himself and family with some help from his stepsons, by doing labor of different kinds but largely by "turning" wooden bowls at which he was an expert.

It was here, probably, that he first exercised his gifts as a preacher. There was a little church of the disciples about a mile away and he was a very active member. He also began to visit other places.

In the spring of 1843, they moved a few miles away over the county line, into Washington Co., again, and in Belpre Tp., near the mouth of the Little Hocking river. Lived later in Decatur and still later, near Plymouth, both in the same county.

In the latter place he taught school and preached for the Disciples. "In 1846, or early in 1847, he moved to Meigs Co., and lived near Pomeroy. Here he practiced medicine having been studying for some time and having practiced a little, Hiram thinks while living near Plymouth.

On February 7th, 1850, his wife, Emily (Walton) Hampton, died. As before related, she had been the wife of his older brother, James, and mother of James' four children: Amos W., Levi, Mary and James Hiram. She was born 1798-10-24, in a Friends or Quaker family, in Penn., and continued to be a member of the society during the life of her first husband and through her widowhood.

Hiram writes: "I will say that my mother, during many of the later years of her life, was an earnest Christian and died in the triumphs of faith. I was not with her when she died. Did not know she was sick till after she was buried, but her dying message to me was: 'Tell Hiram I believe his father is in Heaven and I know that I am going and I want to meet him there.' Said 'Dying is hard, but O, the peace. Glory to God, I am going home to Heaven.'"

Solomon speaks of her life as an inspiration to others.

Children of Cary and Emily:

- 57 I EMILY, born 1836-4-30, in Guernsey Co., Ohio.
- 58 II SOLOMON ERNEST, born 1837-9-14.

- 59 III ASENATH, born 1840-7-2, in Wood Co., Va., now West Virginia.

After Emily's death, Cary "went to Bethany, Va., where he was a frequent visitor at the home of that noted character, Alexander Campbell, of whom he was a great admirer."

While at Bethany "he married in 1851, SARAH DAVIS, a noble Christian woman," his son Solomon, says, "and soon after located in Pike Co., O., and resumed the practice of medicine at a little town called California, and did well for a few years and then moved to Buckhanon Co., Iowa, where his wife died.

By his second wife he had one child:

MOHALA MELVINA, born —————, in Ohio.

He died at Mansfield, O., 1889-3-18. He was a ready and fluent speaker and labored strenuously to propagate the new doctrine he had espoused. Enjoyed debating on the subject and lectured much on temperance.

Asenath thought he voted the Prohibition ticket in later years.

JESSE B. (5) HAMPTON, (Jesse Betts 4, John 3, John 2, Joseph 1) was born in Anne Arundel Co., Feb. 20th, 1815, twenty-nine days after his father's death for whom he was named. In the year 1829, when in his fifteenth year, he came with his mother to Ohio to visit his father's people and spent part of the summer with them.

My mother's record says he married and settled in Anne Arundel, Co., but late in life she told me that he had been living in Baltimore and that the last report was that he had died and left no children.

AMOS WALTON (5) HAMPTON, (James 4, John 3, John 2, Joseph 1) was born 11th month, 12th, 1822, in Pennsylvania. Was taken by his parents to Belmont Co., O., in 1825. By death, left without a father's care in 1829, lived with his mother till after her second marriage. Leaving her he went first to live with his uncle and aunt, Joseph and Bethula Arnold, near Barnsville, O. In 1843, he went to work on the farm of Jonathan Bundy, at or near "The Ridge."

He married 1844-2-8, Jonathan's daughter, MARY BUNDY. They lived on her father's place a year and then went to a place called Stillwater, for a few years.

While living at "The Ridge," he taught school.

Amos and wife moved to Iowa in the spring of 1850, going by water to Keokuk. Thence to Salem, Henry Co., in wagons, where he engaged in farming till the spring of 1854, when they moved to West Branch, Cedar Co., where they remained till after the civil war. They sold out and went to Missouri to teach the freed men. "It was too soon after the war. The southern element was too strong. So they went into the edge of Kansas, Cherokee Co., and bought land," where he engaged in farming and gardening "and took produce to the miners at Joplin, Mo."

Here in Cherokee Co., he was approved as a minister among the Friends and engaged in work in behalf of the ex-slaves or freedmen. He was troubled with asthma and in 1883, went to Wilsey, a small place in Morris Co., and engaged in the grocery business. But his health did not improve. Here he died, 1887-6-16.

Mary Bundy Hampton, his wife, soon after his death, went to live with her sister and brother-in-law, Lydia and Jonathan Hampton.

LEVI (5) HAMPTON, (James 4, John 3, John 2, Joseph 1) was born 1825-3-17, in Pennsylvania. Brought by his parents to Belmont Co., O., when a few weeks old. After the death of his father in his fifth year, he was taken to live with his grandfather and grandmother Hampton, at Blue Rock, Muskingum Co., and continued to live with them as related in their history till the death of his grandmother in 1837, when he was a little over 12 years old, after which he went to live with his mother and her husband, his uncle Cary Hampton, in Guernsey Co. A little later he went to live with his aunt, Bethula Arnold, and her husband, near Barnsville, Belmont Co., and as he says, "to hoe his own row in the world."

In the fall of 1840, he went to visit his mother and her family in Wood Co., Va., now West Virginia, and stayed with them there and in Athens Co., O., a year, going back to Belmont in the fall of 1841. He worked at times for his uncle and aunt, Arnold, and stayed with them several winters and went to school.

In 1848 or 1849, he married LYDIA ANN PATTERSON, moved to Salem, Henry Co., Iowa., in 1850. Lost his wife a few weeks after going there in the 3rd month, 1850.

"Worked about for a few years." Then married MARY HACKET, he thinks, about the 9th month, 1855. About the year 1860, they moved to Hardin Co., Iowa, where they continued to live till the wife's death, 1895-11-

28. Was still living in 1905, "a lonely life near the farm on which they first settled in that county."

Friend. Republican. Has held office of overseer in Friends church.

MARY (5) HAMPTON, (James 4, John 3, John 2, Joseph 1) was born in Ohio, probably in Belmont Co., 1827-1-3.

Her father died when she was hardly two and one-half years old and she, with two of her brothers, one older and one younger, was left in the care of the mother, who after about six years of widowhood, was married to her husband's youngest brother, Cary. With them she continued to live at various places as related in their history, until about nineteen and one-half years of age, when with their consent, in 1846, probably, she left them at their home near Plymouth, Washington Co., and went to Belmont Co., and had her home with her brother, Amos, for one winter and part of the next summer. She returned to Washington Co., and had her home with her uncle, Asa Hampton, between Plymouth and Chesterfield. Here she was married Sept. 3rd, 1847, to DANIEL GEORGE ELLIS. They lived in Plymouth till May, 1850, when they moved to Linn Co., Iowa, but in the fall of that year, settled in Blackhawk Co., where her home was the remainder of her life. She died 1896-9-20.

She was a member of the Methodist Episcopal church. They furnished a home for a while for her younger half-sister, Asenath. Her husband writes: "Mary Hampton Ellis was a devout Christian and a noble woman loved by everybody." No children.

32

JAMES HIRAM (5) HAMPTON, (James 4, John 3, John 2, Joseph 1) was born 1829-2-21, in Belmont Co., O. When he was about four months old, his father died. When about six years old, his mother married her husband's youngest brother, Cary, and he lived with the family in various places as related in their history till in his eighteenth year, being a very helpful member thereof, as soon as he became old enough.

When about twelve years old and the family lived on the bank of the Ohio river, in Virginia, he had the privilege of boating, which he greatly enjoyed and probably spent there the happiest year of his life.

In 1846, with consent of his mother and step-father, he went with his sister, Mary, to Belmont Co., O., where his two brothers, Amos and Levi, lived. Here he lived about a year, working part of the time at low wages and going to school part of the time. He then went to his uncle Samuel's, in Morgan Co., O., and worked part of his place and turned wooden bowls part of the time. Then worked in a saw mill on Wolf Creek, with Wm. Pierpoint, one year. In the spring of 1850, in company with his sister, Mary, and her husband, D. G. Ellis, he moved to Linn Co., Iowa.

Here an arrangement was made for him to go with his brother-in-law and his uncle Elihu Robins who each had a yoke of oxen, up into Blackhawk Co., and take "squatter's claims," and go to work breaking prairie and building for each.

But the first night after they arrived and pitched their tent, the oxen were stolen. They were not found until fall so they went back to Linn Co., and spent the summer there.

His uncle decided not to go again but he and Ellis went and got good claims with both timber and prairie land and water.

"Nearly all the settlers were living on government land and had a sort of 'club law' for mutual protection. After they had worked awhile improving their claims, a fellow came along that thought he did not care for club law, and that it would be a nice thing to get improvements for nothing. So he 'entered' both claims and bid defiance to the squatters club." "But the squatters gathered in from all over the county and made him a visit and after much persuasion and some threatening he agreed to give them up if he could get his money back. Neither of them had the money but found a man that was willing to take the claims and give the fellow the amount of his purchase money and pay them for their improvements, This gave them the means to enter other unimproved land which they did."

He married 1852-6-27, MARY ANN POYNER, daughter of a Baptist minister, who had taken a farm nearby. She was born 1834-7-24, near Crawfordsville, Ind. Her father, Nathan Poyner, was born 1791-12-8, in Georgia, Moved to Ohio. A soldier in the war of 1812. Moved to Indiana, at an early day and to Iowa, in 1847. Of Scotch Irish descent, died 1867-5-16. Her mother, Nancy Poyner, nee Johnson, was born 1794-5-16, in Kentucky, of Irish descent. Died 1854-4-20.

Hiram and wife stayed in Blackhawk Co., till the spring of 1858, when they moved to Coffee Co., Kansas.

This proved to be a bad move. He entered a beautiful piece of prairie land which had a rich soil but the subsoil was a hard pan and hence the vegetation could not endure the long droughts to which the country was then subject. He spent most of the means he had in improving the farm, worked six years and every year except one, failed to raise enough to support his family. He then sold out for a good deal less than the farm cost him and returned to Iowa, much broken in fortune and rented a farm in Linn Co., two years and then bought a farm "on time" in Blackhawk Co., and worked there till he paid about $1,000 in interest. But the interest and taxes were about all he could make beside keeping his family. Selling this place he went out into Nebraska, and filed a claim on a half-section of land under the "Homestead and Timber Clause Act." But about that time there were several years in succession in which that section of the country was overrun with grasshoppers, so that they were obliged to abandon their claim and never moved to it but went and settled in the little town of Akron, in Plymouth Co., Iowa. There they stayed 20 years. Some of the time he worked with a team; some of the time rented land near town and some of the time did carpenter work. Also kept a small furniture store a while, and did anything he could do to make a living and send his children to school.

His health became so badly broken that his physician advised him to go south. He sold out his little possession at Akron, and in early April, 1896, moved to Mississippi, near Canton, Madison Co. Here he gained in health but lost financially. The land he bought was so poor that he had to buy so much fertilizer he could not make farming pay.

They sold out there and December 1st, 1900, started for Oklahoma, in a covered wagon, intending to take a homestead if they could but there were more applicants than land. Had a long season of typhoid fever at Mountain View, Oklahoma, in the fall of 1901.

As soon as he was able to travel, they went up into Iowa, to visit their children, while he was regaining his health. In the spring of 1902, decided not to return to Oklahoma, but to go to Washington. Had part of their goods shipped to them and gave part away.

He wrote in a letter dated June 25, 1905: "Here we are in the foothills of the Cascade Mountains, holding down a homestead. Have very little of this world's goods, but if we can just manage to make a comfortable living till the Master says 'it is enough, come up higher,' it is all I am particular about. My wife and I have been members of the Methodist church for over 40 years and are trying to live Christian lives."

Has held several offices he did not think worth reporting until urged to do so, as township trustee, assessor and school director and in church, steward, trustee, s. s. superintendent, treasurer of building committee and in a Good Templars Lodge, about all the offices.

Politically he has been Whig, Republican, Prohibitionist.

He died at the home of his daughter, Amy Alice Ellis, in Salem, Oregon, November 21st, 1910. He was personally known to the writer as a very good and helpful boy in the home and it has been no surprise to learn in after years that he was a good and worthy man. An aged minister who had once been his pastor and who had known him for nearly thirty years, testified to his Christian character, steady-going habits and useful life.

Was raised on a farm but also had a taste for learning. Remained at home on the farm with his parents till they moved to Iowa, in the fall of 1851, and went with them.

They went directly to Iowa. He had been teaching near Lisbon, Linn Co., and continued to do so till the spring of 1854, when they settled on the farm near Viola, same county, where they brought up their family.

XI ZACHARIAH W., born 1873-3-27, died 1905-2-19. "Studied Osteopathy" at Des Moines, and began practice at Ackworth. Was there less than a year when he contracted tuberculosis.

For want of data, only three of these children are treated separately. Their history is a sad one. All accounts agree in giving them high praise for moral and religious uprightness of life. Anna Hampton, who knew them all through the life time of most of them, says: "They were good children," and writes pathetically of them.

In answer to questions, one of the surviving ones, (Dr. Mary E.) writes: "I cannot give much data for publication concerning those whose memory is sacred to me but am glad to know their worth while they were with me and their reward is on high."

* See sixth generation.

Again in a letter she writes: "I am sorry I cannot do better about the incidents but there seems to be little for publicity. I could tell what others have said of some of the family, as that a friend said of sister Sarah: "The sight of her charmed me," she was so bright an example. Also of sister Anna, (Lydia Ann) Julia Otis of N. Y., said: "She was the most self-sacrificing girl I ever saw."

* "Chester Batty who was considered an authority, said of brother John: "I could not put my hand on his equal." Brother Zachariah was noted for his kindness at school as well as at home. I can only say, I grew up surrounded with loving hearts which reminds me of the lines:

"Hand in hand with angels
Through the world we go."

CHARITY WOOD HAMPTON, the mother of these children, died 1903-12-31. (?). William outlived his wife, two years, died 1906-1-8, in Linn Co., Iowa. He was a farmer most of his life. A very zealous orthodox Friend of the small band called "Primitive" and politically a Prohibitionist.

RUTH COPE (5) HAMPTON, (Zachariah 4, John 3, John 2, Joseph 1) born 1828-1-2, in Morgan Co., O., near Pennsville.

She lived with her parents on the farm where she was born till the fall of 1851, when in her twenty-fourth year she moved with the family to Linn Co., Iowa, where she died 1853-9-13.

In my few visits at her father's after she had attained young womanhood, she greatly impressed me as possessed of a really beautiful character, both spiritually and intellectually and apparently more thoughtful than many at her age.

Few and rare as those visits were, the memory of them has been helpful to me all through the nearly sixty years that have passed. An incident related in a letter she sent the writer from Iowa, reveals her character. On the evening before they were to leave the old home in Ohio, forever, she went down to the family spring near the house, and there in the silence of the evening, knelt and prayed. She was a lover of good poetry.

He was elected a representative in the general assembly of the state of Iowa, in 1863, and re-elected in 1865, serving till 1867. MARTHA (5) HAMPTON, (Asa 4, John 3, John 2, Joseph 1) born 1828-9-8, in Belmont Co., O., lived with her parents in several places in Ohio and went with them to Linn Co., Ia., as related in Asa's history. Married 1851-8-19, at Mt. Vernon, to ALBERT TAYLOR, born 1827-5-8, in Richland Co., O. "His parents died when he was small and he had no records of any kind." His daughter did not know his parents' names.

They lived first on a farm near Mt. Vernon, then moved in the fall, 1855, it is thought to Blackhawk Co., and lived on a farm between Raymond and Waterloo.

Here Martha died 1872-8-31, buried in Poyners cemetery.

I remember her as a very good, patient, helpful girl to her mother and the family. She did a great deal of work and had "a world of care" of the younger ones.

She was raised a Friend among whom she had a "birth right," but lost it by marrying "out of unity" and joined the Baptists.

My mother's record says, "she raised a well ordered family."

Her husband outlived her seventeen and one-half years. Part of the time on a farm, he owned, near Wolsey, S. D., but in later years, with his daughter, Mary Louisa, on one of his farms, near Raymond, Ia., died 1890-3-23, and buried in Poyner's cemetery.

BENJAMIN FRANKLIN (5) HAMPTON, (Asa 4, John 3, John 2, Joseph 1) born 1831-11-22, in Ohio, probably in Belmont Co., and lived with his parents in various places in that state, as related in the history of Asa, and moved with them to Mt. Vernon, Ia., in the spring of 1850. A little later went to Cedar Rapids, same county, and made his home, his brother James, says, with his aunt, Mary Ann Robins and her husband, "for some years" before marriage, which was about four years after going to Iowa. Helped his uncle in making brick. 1854-8-3, (wife said 1853 but changed it to Aug. 3, 1854, married CAROLINE AMELIA SHIPMAN, at Cedar Rapids. She had taught school several terms before to marriage. Was the daughter of Oran E. and Harriett (Griswald) Shipman. They were natives of New York. Oran was a member of the Disciple or "Christian" church and Harriett was a Methodist. A little later Caroline's parents moved to Waterloo, Ia., where her father kept a confectionary store and a meat market. He was at one time Mayor of Waterloo, and was also Trustee of the Poor.

Benjamin and his bride, first went to housekeeping on his mother, Esther Hampton's, farm, a few miles from Fairview and 20 miles from Cedar Rapids, where they remained two years and then moved to Waterloo, Blackhawk Co. There they owned a house and lot which they traded to Hiram Hampton for a 40 acre farm nearby, where they lived, she says, three years. Then moved to Shellsbury, in Benton Co. Here they both joined the Presbyterian church.

Benjamin's occupation after marriage, was farming and teaming. A Republican. In September 1862, enlisted in Reg. 28, Co. D., Iowa V. I.

The regiment was organized at Iowa City, 40 miles away where they remained three months. There his wife with some friends, visited him, taking her youngest child, little Gertrude, then in her third year, with her. "Young as she was she could pick out her father among the 1400 uniformed men there," her mother writes and "sang a song, carrying the tune though she could not talk plain." "It made some of the soldiers shed tears thinking of their own little ones at home."

He was given a furlough twice during his time of nearly two years service and they were the only times his family saw him afterward. His brother, James, says: "He was one who scaled the walls at Fort Donelson. Had his haversack shot away, a minnie ball striking his gun. He then charged the enemy with bayonet but came out without a scratch himself."

Later he took sick at New Orleans, and died July 7th, 1864. He was buried in the National cemetery at New Orleans.

His wife wrote, "I think he was a true Christian." His brother James and wife, Alice Irving Hampton, report that they visited Chalmetto cemetery in the spring of 1906, and found Benjamin's grave near the large monument.

Children:

69 I ADALINE ADELIA, born 1857-10-5.

70 II ESTELLA VICTORIA, born 1859-1-10.

71 III GERTRUDE, born 1860-5-12.

IV WILLIAM, born 1862-2-16. Lived two weeks.

Caroline Shipman Hampton, the mother of these children, was left a widow when the oldest was not yet 7 years old. She had their house and lot in Shellsbury, and says she "had a pension of $8.00 a month and $2.00 a month for each child till they were sixteen. Sewed for other people, kept her children in school and kept them together."

Writes tenderly of Benjamin and his brother, James, who "was very good to her and helped her quite a little." She had as she says a busy time with three children to care for, but also had the great satisfaction that they were good children.

After over nine years of widowhood, she was married 1873-9-14, to Daniel Sphan, with whom she lived over 27 years. He died 1900-11-22. He was a carpenter and they went to housekeeping at Vinton and then went to Tipton, Cedar Co., Ia., and from Tipton to Brighton, Washington Co., where she wrote on October 4th, 1907, she "had been living 15 years." She had "two children by her second husband, a daughter, Agnes Sphan, who was living near and a son, Edwin Sphan, who died at the age of four."

She lost her pension by remarrying, but after her second husband's death it was restored at $12 per month.

JAMES W. (5) HAMPTON, (Asa 4, John 3, John 2, Joseph 1) born 1835-1-24, he thinks at Pennsville, Morgan Co., O. Lived with his parents at several places in Morgan, Athens and Washington counties, going with them to Linn Co., Ia., in the spring of 1850. (See their history). From a little passed four years old, till nineteen, he lived the life of a farmer's boy, his father giving his sons their freedom at nineteen. "James began business by breaking prairie with five yoke of oxen in the summer of 1854. He bought the oxen on credit and sold them in the fall, his summer's work making him $350."

"In November he entered into partnership with Ulysses Doan and they opened a store at Fairview, Jones Co., Ia. After a few months, selling out to his partner, he joined his uncle, Samuel B. Hampton, in erecting a sawmill on the latter's farm near Viola. Not feeling satisfied with milling and eager to enter again into the mercantile business, he sold his interest in October, 1855, to Wm. Doan, for $1100 and went to Waterloo, Blackhawk Co., bought a lot for $100, built a house and started a store there in 1855, on a small capital. Goods were bought in Chicago, shipped to Davenport, 140 miles from Waterloo, and hauled out there in wagons. He did well and sold out two years later for $2,300." While here married SUSANNAH TEDROW, at Trenton, Ia., 1855-12-9.

"After selling out at Waterloo, he went on a tour of investigation for another place to locate, passing through northern Missouri and southern Iowa. He finally settled at Liberty, Clarks Co., Ia., in the fall of 1857, where he opened another store and in connection with it bought and sold farm stock which he drove 80 miles to Ottumwa, the nearest railroad station and shipping point, then the terminus of the Burlington road.

"In 1861, the store and all his goods were burned, leaving him indebted to Chicago merchants, $3500."

"He continued his stock dealing which became extensive. His last drove of hogs shipped in 1863, numbered 2200. In these two years he had made enough to pay his debts and had $3,800 to commence business again."

In 1863, he went to Mt. Pleasant, Henry Co., Ia., where he purchased a three story brick store house for $2,200, went to Chicago, with his $1,600 and purchased goods to the amount of $9,000, mostly on time. "In 1866 he bought the former home of Bishop Hamlin, in Mt. Pleasant, which became the family home while in Iowa."

"In the winter of 1885, he had a severe attack of pneumonia, contracted on a trip to the Gulf of Mexico. His health was so broken that he retired from business in March."

"In October, 1887, their home at the Bishop Hamlin house was burned down and he went with his wife and two daughters to California in search of health for him. Not finding the climate suited to him they returned as far as Denver, Colo., in Feb., 1888.

Here he built a house and Denver has continued to be his home. On 1902-4-29, his wife, Susannah Tedrow Hampton, died after a short illness though she had not been well for many years. Born in Somerset Co., Penn., 1834-8-12. At the age of six years, was moved with her parents, to Athens Co., O. In 1854, with three brothers, moved to Trenton, Henry Co., Ia. Was the daughter of Joseph and Barbara Ann (Geist) Tedrow. Joined the Methodist Episcopal church in 1865 or 1866. - 80 II ELLA ALWILDA, born 1860-2-29.

- 81 III HATTIE ANNETTA, born 1863-12-15.

"Some months after the death of his wife, James, with his daughter, Ella A. Gregg, and her husband, and their daughter, started on a tour of the Holy Land, Jan. 1903. Of this he wrote an interesting account. The trip beside Palestine, included a visit to the Maderia Islands, the principal parts of the Medeterranian from Gibraltar to Constantinople, Egypt, as far up the Nile as old Memphis, Greece, Italy, Switzerland, Paris and London. And last but not least interesting to them, no doubt, was the experience of a terrific storm at sea on the return voyage, taking 28 life boats off the ship and delaying their arrival at New York, two days."

James married 1905-1-25, MARY ALICE IRVING, aged 55, born 1849, in Columbia Co., Penn., near Bloomburg, daughter of Joseph and Christianna (Billig) Irving.

At the age of 13, Alice united with the Lutheran church, at Bloomburg. "Her father and mother were very earnest Christians and faithful members of the same church."

In 1877, Alice went to Scranton, Pa., to live and there united with the Presbyterian church, where she was very active. On going to Denver she united with the Central Presbyterian church and has been a faithful member ever since. (3-3-1908.) They spent their first winter after marriage in California. In the winter of 1906, they went to Florida and the Bahama Islands and in the winter of 1907, visited Italy, France, Switzerland and England. Built a new home in Denver, into which they moved, 1907-12-24. Although counting himself as retired from business in 1885, yet he wrote 3-3-1908, that he had built since located in Denver, four very good houses, two of them being hotels.

He joined the Methodist Episcopal church at Mt. Pleasant, Ia., but wrote in 1908, that his then wife, was such a good worker in the Presbyterian church, that he was attending that church.

Says, "I am a Republican from a way back."

JESSE (5) HAMPTON, (Asa 4, John 3, John 2, Joseph 1) born 1843-9-19, near Plymouth, Washington Co., O. Moved with his parents to Linn Co., Ia., spring of 1850. As a child he was active. The word "spry" may not be classic English, but I know of no word to describe him better at the time I knew him.

Although very young for such an enterprise, he was associated about 1857, with John Brown (Ossawatimie Brown) and James Lane ("Jim Lane") in their resistance of the slave holding propagandists, known as "The Border Ruffians," who terrorized and slaughtered the "Free State" settlers of Kansas.

Jesse's Quaker ancestry and associations had made him an ardent hater of slavery but had failed to take the fight out of him. After that he returned to his old home in Linn Co. When the civil war began, although under age, he enlisted in Reg. 13, Iowa V. I. Co., A. Was in several battles, the most eventful one being that of Pittsburg Landing or Shiloh, April 6th and 7th, 1862. He was on the battlefield 24 hours. Early in the morning of April 7th, he was wounded, having three fingers of his right hand shot off and a musket ball wound in his abdomen. He was sent home as soon as his wounds were cared for at the hospital at Mound City, near the mouth of the Ohio river. But his brother, James, having received news of the battle and seeing Jesse's name in the list of wounded, in a newspaper, started for the first train he could get, 80 miles distant.

Not knowing where to find him he stood at the gangway at Keokuk, while they unloaded three vessels of wounded soldiers, but his brother, Jesse, was not among them. He then went to St. Louis and searched six different hospitals. Not finding him he went to Cairo and searching, to no purpose, went to Mound City, where he learned Jesse had been cared for and sent home.

On arriving at home, Jesse first went to his brother Eli's, at Mt. Vernon, but soon after to James' home at Liberty, Clarke Co. After recovering sufficiently, he joined in partnership with James in buying and herding cattle for a short time but he never fully recovered from the effects of the wound and in a year afterward, was taken suddenly ill and died after three days illness, 1863-4-9. He was buried at Liberty, Clarke Co., Ia., where his grave is marked with a stone with coat of arms. Unmarried.

BETHULA ANN (5) HAMPTON, (Asa 4, John 3, John 2, Joseph 1) born 1846-4-30. She chose to be called Anna and so wrote her name and was so known by her friends. Lived with her parents near Plymouth, O., till they moved to Iowa., in the spring of 1850.

A little before the end of her eighth year, death deprived her of a father's loving care and three years and a day later, of a mother's also. She then lived several years with her sister, Martha, near Waterloo, Iowa. When a little past seventeen she went to her brother, James' home, in Mt. Pleasant, Ia., and attended the Iowa Wesleyan University.

At about sixteen she began teaching which she continued for about ten years or until her marriage except when going to school herself. She first taught near Waterloo, then near Mt. Pleasant and later in the graded schools of Mt. Pleasant.

One day before twenty-six years old, 1872-4-29, she married DANIEL A. RISSER, born 1844-4-28, at Cuyahoga Falls, O., son of Jacob and Barbara Risser. Over 19 years later and after a residence of 28 years at Mt. Pleasant, moved with her husband and children to Lincoln, Neb., 1891-8-29. While attending school at Mt. Pleasant, she was elected a member of P. E. O. college society.

When about sixteen, she joined the Methodist Episcopal church, became a Sunday School teacher and a member of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society. Was president of this society at St. Pauls church, Lincoln, Neb., after moving there. She "delivered two public addresses, one at Mt. Pleasant and one at Lincoln. Both were on women's influence on Christian work in foreign fields."

"Was brought up according to the principles and testimonies of the Friends and was a firm believer in their doctrines. Her services were made considerable use of in conducting affairs of the church." "She endeavored to live in harmony with the teaching of Christ and to bring her children up in the nurture and admonition of the Lord." She was a good scholar for one having only the opportunity of a common school education.

"Because of her husband's going on appointed duty to labor among the Indians in the Indian Territory, in the 10th month, 1871, she was left with the entire care of the children and her son, only about 15 years of age, to work a farm of 80 acres. Many times she was obliged to wait weeks to hear from him, there being no railroad nearer than from one to two hundred miles away from him and the plains only crossed at intervals by mule teams. And he being out with the wild tribes many miles from any other white man, made her anxiety doubly great. He spent about three years with the Indians, roaming about with them, living in tents, eating such food as they ate, trying to teach them the ways of civilization and restrain them from making raids on the whites who lived on the borders of their country."

"His health became so broken that he returned to his home and family, in the spring of 1874. He wrote a book entitled 'A Quaker Among the Indians,' which was published in 1875."

He gradually regained his health and lived on the farm till Lucinda's death, 1887-7-23. Her illness was several months duration which she bore with patience and resignation.

- 47 ANNA (5) HAMPTON, (John 4, John 3, John 2, Joseph 1) born in Belmont Co., O., 1840-4-3, and lived with her parents at several places near Barnesville, in that county, till the removal of the family to Linn Co., Ia., in 1854. She continued to live with her parents in the neighborhood of Viola, while they lived and then her home was with her sister, Sarah Mott and family, in the same community, till the summer of 1906, when she went with them to West Branch, Cedar Co., Ia.

She was evidently a very dutiful daughter. "Had most of the care of the home for quite a while," says, "I never had much school learning owing, to my great affliction in my speech which has been a very, very great trial to me of course, but I try to be resigned to my lot." "I feel in hopes many times, my life will not be an entire failure." "I have been a lifelong member of the orthodox Friends Society but never used very much. Was an overseer for a time in our little meeting." Speaking of her home with her sister and husband, she says: "I do enjoy it but it is not my own dear home and I spend many, many lonesome hours." Finally adds: "I have a soul to be saved or lost and hope and trust I may so live as to have a home in Heaven."

She took a lively interest in the preparation of this history and rendered much assistance in gathering materials for it. At a time when it looked doubtful whether sufficient data could be obtained for an intelligible and creditable history, because those who had expressed a desire to have the work done, yet neglected for month after month, for two or three years, to respond to appeals from the proposed editor for materials, Anna Hampton came to the rescue and sent, with encouraging words, a record her father had left of his family and ancestors. Without this timely help the work, after much talk, might have fallen through. This first help was followed up by many letters to the editor and to others of the Hampton family and relatives. Whatever success may be achieved in this undertaking, much of the credit will be due to Anna Hampton.

Her brother, Robert, writes: "Anna has led a rather obscure life, ever ready to administer to the needs and the comfort of others. She was faithful in caring for her aged parents and is now (7th mo. 26th, 1909) caring for her older sister who is slowly declining in health." "She has held some important offices in her church and has lived a very useful life." Unmarried.

SOLOMON ERNEST (5) HAMPTON, (Cary 4, John 3, John 2, Joseph 1) born 1837-9-14. "From 1843 to 1855, most of his time was spent in school, a considerable part of the time being at Bethany, Va.

"In the spring of 1855, he in company with his sister, Asenath, went to Blackhawk Co., Ia., intending to make their home with their sister, Mary and her husband, Daniel G. Ellis.

"In the fall following he went with Samuel Ellis, a cousin of D. G. Ellis, to Minnesota, and made his home with Thom Van Eaton, a brother-in-law of James Hiram Hampton. (Solomon's half brother). During the following winter, he had his fingers, toes, cheeks, and nose badly frozen in a blizzard which struck him and Mr. Van Eaton on their way home with a load of rails on a sled drawn by a yoke of oxen, while crossing a prairie two and one-half miles wide, which lay between the farm of Mr. Van Eaton and a timber lot which the latter owned on the Cannon river, 35 miles southwest of St. Paul."

"Early in the spring of 1856, he went to Goodhue Co., adjoining on the east and "squatted," that is laid claim to a quarter section of land through which ran the Zumbro river, hoping to hold it till the following September, at which time the government had issued orders that all lands not preempted, in this county, should be sold, he being under age, could not preempt it. He was building a hewed log house and had just raised it to the square when a party of gentlemen looking for a town site offered him a price for it which he accepted and immediately returned to Blackhawk Co., Ia., to attend the wedding of his sister, Asenath. He remained with D. G. Ellis, until the fall of 1857, and then taught a public school in that county."

"In the spring of 1858, he went with his brother, Hiram and family, to Neosho Co., Kan., where each bought 'government' land and while Hiram was hauling lumber from Kansas City, distant 100 miles, to build a house, he, Solomon, broke prairie with a two-foot plow and five yoke of oxen which they had purchased in Missouri, as they passed through from Iowa. While their little cousin Jesse Hampton, who came with them "chopped in seed corn."

"In the following fall owing to continued ill health, he returned to Ohio. During the next few years he taught school in the winter and devoted his spare time to the study of medicine."

"In 1862, he visited his father in Jefferson Co., Ind., who was practicing medicine there, and in August of that year he enlisted in the 77th Reg., (4th Cavalry) Ind. Volunteers. On the 2nd, of the following October, he received a gun shot wound in the left shoulder in a skirmish with Gen. Bragg's forces at Mt. Washington, twenty miles south of Louisville, Ky.

"The next day he was sent to Jefferson Co., Ind., on a furlough and made his home with his father.

"He was honorably discharged on account of the disability caused by the wound, the bullet having lodged near the spine and still remaining to date, July 29th, 1909.

"The disability was not such as to disqualify him for teaching school and studying medicine; and he devoted his time industriously to these vocations, attending his first regular course of lectures at the Starling Medical College, of Columbus O., in 1864, and his second at the Miami Medical College, of Cincinnati, O., at which he graduated in Feb., 1866.

"In the summer of 1865, he re-enlisted for guard duty in the 137th Reg., Ind. Vols. "One-hundred days service." In March 1866, he commenced the practice of medicine at Forks of Locust, in Carroll Co., Ky., and at once gained a large patronage as there was a great deal of sickness and no doctor nearer than Carrollton, the county seat, distant six miles. Some of his patrons of 1866, have been under his professional care continuously to the present time. (July, 1909.)

"Through the earnest solicitations of Capt. M. J. Hoagland, George H. Conway and others, he was induced to enter into a partnership with Dr. Harvey A. Moore, a graduate of the Jefferson Medical College, of Philadelphia, Pa., who was and for several years had been in bad health. This partnership continued till Dr. Moore's death in 1868.

"Capt. Hoagland, above mentioned, was the son of Major M. T. Hoagland, who served on Gen. Jackson's staff in the war of 1812, and the Mr. Conway was a son of Mr. Peter Conway and a brother-in-law of Major M. T. Hoagland, two of the most esteemed and influential families in the county, if not in the state.

Dr. H. A. Moore had married two of Major M. T. Hoagland's daughters, each dying within two years after marriage, the second wife leaving an infant daughter, born March 3rd, 1850, named MARY CAROLINE MOORE, whom the subject of this sketch married Dec. 22, 1870, at the home of her grandfather Hoagland, which had also been her home from infancy, in presence of a host of relatives and friends, the groom's best man being the present Chief Chemist of the Department of Agriculture, Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, who had been studying medicine with him for two years.

"In the spring of 1873, owing to continued ill health, Dr. Hampton and wife moved to a farm they had purchased in Hunter's Bottom, claimed to be the grandest spot in Kentucky—six miles above Milton, on the Ohio river, and resigned the greater part of his practice which by this time had become quite extensive as well as lucrative and engaged tenants to cultivate the farm. But before the end of the year his health greatly improved and he resumed and still holds considerable practice.

"In 1868 Dr. Hampton joined the Baptist church at Corn Creek, four miles south of Milton, and as there was no church in Milton, he at once set about building a church edifice with a Masonic hall over it and succeeded beyond his most sanguine expectations. On the 23rd of June, 1870, a church of about forty members was organized and the edifice paid for and solemnly dedicated in the presence of a large concourse of people.

"On the following day the Masonic Hall was duly dedicated by the Grand Master of the Grand Lodge, of Ky. Dr. Hampton being a member of both institutions, as he is today; and is now a Knight Templar Mason.

"On June 28th, 1909, this Milton Lodge No. 461 F. & A. M., made a record which is said in the annals of Masonry, to be unique. Dr. Hampton in the Masonic Hall which he was principally instrumental in building, nearly forty years ago, was the Worshipful Master; his oldest son, Moses Jackson Hampton, Senior Warden, and his second son, Harvey Moore Hampton, Junior Warden, and his youngest and only remaining son, Walton Lawrence Hampton, was the candidate upon whom the father and two sons conferred the sublime degree of Master Mason, in a thorough and impressive manner, aided by stereoptican illustrations on canvas. In honor of this event the lodge gave a royal banquet to the Hamptons and its members and invited guests.

"Dr. Hampton was editor of the W. C. T. U. column in the Milton News for many years. Is a strong advocate of prohibition. Has lived to see his own town and county "dry" and glories in the progress being now made and hopes to live to see the monster utterly destroyed.

"He was President of the Jefferson Co., Ind., Medical Society, a member of the Indiana State Medical Society, also of the American Medical Association when he assisted in organizing the Carroll Co. Medicio-Chirurgical Society, and was its first President. He is also a member of the Kentucky State Medical Society, of the Board of Health of Carroll Co., and also of the Board of Examining Surgeons of the Bureau of Pensions, located at Carrollton, the county seat of Carroll Co.

"Dr. Hampton took an active part in organizing "A. S. of E." and the Burley Tobacco Society in 1906, and was on the committee of the latter at Winchester, that drafted its constitution and by-laws and was the first President of the Carroll Co. Board of Control, the Burley Tobacco Society being composed of the various county Boards of Control.

"After the death of Major M. T. Hoagland, in 1869, and of Capt. M. J. Hoagland, in 1879, there being no male member of the family consisting then only of two maiden daughters of Major Hoagland, Ellen P. and Addie Hoagland, to care for them and the large estate left by their father, Dr. Hampton and family moved into the old home of his wife and are now living there, the aunts being now 90 and 72 years old respectively.

"Dr. Hampton and family are highly esteemed and respected by a host of friends and relatives."

ASENATH (5) HAMPTON, (Cary 4, John 3, John 2, Joseph 1) born 1840-7-3, at Coles Landing on Ohio river a few miles above Parkersburg, Va., (now W. Va.) was moved with the family to Ohio in her first year and lived in several places as related in Cary's life till after her mother's death in 1850, when she went to live with her aunt, Asenath Doan, in Athens Co., and remained over a year and in 1852, went to live with her father at California, Pike Co., he having married again. After her sister Emily's marriage she lived awhile with her at the same place. Lived a part of a year at Albany, Athens Co., with a family named Bean and went to school part of the time. She also lived with her older half-sister, Mary Ellis, at Waterloo, Blackhawk Co., Ia., going there with her brother, Solomon, in 1855.

Near Waterloo, Iowa, 1856-6-12, married to Solomon Levi Gable, born 1831-2-18, and son of Solomon and Elizabeth (Dull) Gable, of York Co., Penn., where he was born. Was a farmer.

They first lived at Waterloo. Spring of 1857, went to Van Buren Co., spring of 1858, moved to Detroit, Crawford Co. Her memoir sent by daughter, Ida Alice, says: "They came to Crawford Co., in 1858. First lived in Millford Tp., then in Denison, then in Coon Grove, and finally removed to the homestead in Millford Tp., which was their home for many years. In 1895 rented their farm and moved into Denison. They spent two winters in California."

She died at Denison, July 8th, 1907. The memoir adds: "She was converted in her childhood." (Youth rather). She was active in all departments of Christian work. In Millford township, she was the center of Christian activity of the country side. Superintendent of the Sunday School, President of the Missionary Society, Ladies Aid Society and at the head of all good work. Upon moving to Denison, she took the same active part in church and temperance work.

"While she endeavored to do her whole duty to her fellow men it was in the home that the purity and the strength of her character showed to the fullest. She was an ideal wife and mother."

A local newspaper at Denison, in noticing her death, uses this language: "Mrs. Gable was one of nature's noble women and leaves to her family and friends a heritage all can be proud of forever."

She "was a refined and cultivated lady and in her later years compiled a history of her family which makes a large book well written. In this history, she gives in detail her experience and related tales of hardships and hope which she experienced from the time she first came to Iowa. Few of the present generation will ever know what it is to go through the dark and cloudy days she has and few will have a brighter closing of their lives."

She made a copy of her family history for each child. Her son-in-law, G. P. Hirst, sent extracts from his copy of her history, from which the following items are copied.

Of her life at her Uncle Wm. Doan's, after her mother's death, she says: "My uncle's family were very kind to me and tried to make me feel at home. I soon became reconciled and very happy with them. They lived on a farm surrounded by the grand old woods of Ohio. I was fond of walking through them. There was a great charm for me in their grandeur and solitude. Uncle William was a very cheerful and pleasant old man and his society was much sought after by both young and old. His opinions on moral questions were in advance of the time in which he lived. His sincerity was so evident that he compelled the respect and gained the friendship of many who did not share his opinions."

"While I lived in the family, the question of slavery was being agitated. The principles of freedom and equality before the law, early entered Uncle William's soul and in later years seemed to possess his entire being. For many years he assisted runaway slaves. Some of the experiences of those days are thrilling. He was threatened by slave owners (rather by pro-slavery people in Ohio) for his outspoken opposition to slavery and likely would have been mobbed but for his coolness and courage."

"Speaking of 'Uncle Tom's Cabin,' then being published, in serial form, Mrs. Gable says, further: "From week to week Uncle William would ask me to read the story to him. He would become greatly excited while listening to the author's graphic account of the evils and injustice of slavery. When I read about Eliza crossing the river on the floating ice with her babe in her arms, the slave pens and auction sale of Emiline and other thrilling chapters he would walk the floor with rapid strides, often interrupting me with exclamations of wrath at the monstrous outrages of the slave traffic which, thanks be to God and brave good men, like Uncle William Doan, has become a thing of the past. The battle now is against the rum power and its similar horrors."

"Aunt Asenath fully shared the views of her husband and encouraged him in his advanced theories of reform. She was a model wife and mother with a heart full of love for every living creature. I shall always cherish her memory for her kindness to me when I was a motherless little girl."

"How well I remember her calm, peaceful face which nothing could disturb. She used the Quaker phraseology and dressed in the style of that sect. She wore a cap of plain fine white goods with a scarf of the same material around her neck and neatly folded over her bosom. Her dress was of some sober color and always scrupulously neat."

"She took a cold water bath every morning and was an enthusiastic advocate of the "cold water cure."

Mrs. Gable says further of her aunt, Asenath: "She was interested in my education and taught me many things not taught in the common schools of that time."

"This dear aunt lived to be nearly 90 years old and her husband died in his 85th year. They were honored and loved by all who knew them except those whose evil practices they so strongly denounced and even these had to respect them for their life of honest endeavor to serve the best interests of humanity."

March 30th, 1906, Mrs. Gable wrote to the compiler of this history, in part, as follows:

"I never went to school much after I left Aunt Asenath's. Have always read a good deal and have picked up a little learning from observation. I joined the Methodist Episcopal Church before I was married and have been a Methodist Episcopal ever since. I have been interested in temperance work ever since I learned the evils of intemperance in your father's house, when a little girl. I have been President of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union for many years, and hope to live to see the overthrow of the rum power.

Sincerely your cousin,

Asenath Gable."

In speaking of her early life "in a wild country," and the lack of such advantages of school as children of today have, she refers very tenderly to the hardships and privations her parents endured in those early days and in a Christian and philosophic spirit, says: "Those hardships and privations that my parents endured in my early childhood are not dark spots in my memory, but on the contrary are bright recollections; and then refers to the pleasure she has in having her aged father with her and in listening to him relate on winter evenings, the story of those early days.

From there she attended the seminary at Bornicia and except one or two visits to her parents, remained with them till her marriage to GRANVILLE PERCY HURST, 1889-2-6, at Sacramento, Cal.

“She was of beautiful form and person and a favorite in social circles where she moved, but she voluntarily gave up what is commonly called society and devoted her time to her home and family.”

“Later she took up the work of the Woman’s Christian Temperance Union and was soon regarded as a leader in the organization in the county and city where she lived.

“Her interest in and love for children was early recognized by her co-workers and she was elected County Superintendent of Mother’s Work, which position she held at her death.

“She was also superintendent of the local organization in her home city and was such when the end came.

"Her death was deplored by old and young and at a meeting of the W. C. T. U. to arrange to attend the funeral in a body, the whole assembly were in tears and many members sobbed like children.

"Mrs Hurst was an intense lover of the beautiful. The sky jeweled with stars or gilded with light, or variegated with clouds all filled her soul with the exalted pleasure that only poets and artists feel. And she was as fully alive to moral beauty. Every virtue or exalted quality of the heart and mind touched a responsive chord in her being. Taken all in all she was one of God's noblest women and was loved and prized through the wide circle of her acquaintances.

"Her love of nature found expression in pictures. Pictures in oil and crayon are among the souvenirs most cherished by her family.

"Her two daughters have inherited her love for art and nature; and the older, Veta, possesses a talent in that direction which amounts to genius and she will make art her life work."

At the time of her death, a highly appreciative notice of over a column's length, appeared in the "Home Alliance," a local paper of Woodland.

A memoir (The memoir was written by Emily Hopkin, State Treasurer of the W. C. T. U., of California) also appeared in the "Pacific Ensign," of San Francisco, closing with the following lines, taken from a poem by Mrs. H. A. Merritt, on the occasion of Mrs. Hurst's death:

"With friends a cordon round
With sympathies encircling all the world
How sweet to stay—how sweet to go
A most propitious moment to go hence.

"Now who will wear the purple or open wide
Her door to all, show warmest friendship
Living to bless each moment as it comes
To reach out hands of blessing everywhere."

She died August 14th, 1901. Was a Methodist, but liberal and tolerate of other's views.

Her husband, born 1851-10-7, near Milon, Missouri, was the son of William and Elmina (Sigler) Hurst. The father, a native of West Va., and the mother of Cumberland, Md.

Occupation, law; politics, formerly Republican but for 20 years afterward, Prohibitionist. Says: "My religion is to do good. Do not belong to any church but help to support several. I have at all times since 18 years of age, fought the liquor traffic and will fight it till I die or the saloons are gone.

"It may seem like a boast but it has been an ambition with me to show that a lawyer can be an honest man, need not be a liar nor the champion of wrong for hire or otherwise. How far I have succeeded, ask my neighbors and the business men of Woodland."

These two girls are our only children and comprise my family since their mother's death." (G.H.P., Mar. 20th, 1908.)

I JOHN HAMPTON DOAN, born 1828-12-10, in Bristol Tp., Morgan Co., O. Had never seen a school house till nearly eight years old, but after that attended about four terms and one month of Friend's schools in two and one-half years, at Chesterfield, Athens Co., O., where the family had moved in the fall of 1836. Moved again with the family, May 15th, 1839, about 20 miles and into Troy Tp., Athens Co. Because of the great distance to school and the need of his help on the farm, only had four terms of school, some of them not full terms, and a few lessons in a geography school in the next seven years.

Read a good deal and studied some at home. In the fall of 1846, walked one term, two and one-half miles to a select school of academic grade at Coolville, same county. Then walked 45 miles and engaged to teach a school for six months near Lytlesburg, in Muskingum Co., for $12 a month of 26 days each. Began teaching Dec. 7th, 1846, three days before 18 years of age. Had taught a geography school of evenings in the summer of 1843.

For three years following the school at Lytlesburg, worked on the farm in spring and summer, attended academic schools in fall and taught in winter. The only exception to this being a trip to Iowa, in spring of 1848, with a lot of fruit trees.

1850-9-15, married Lucetta Webster, of Savannah, (Guysville) Athens Co., O., daughter of Daniel B. and Lois (Stewart) Webster. Went in November following to Canal-Winchester, O., to teach the village school with his young wife as assistant. School a heavy charge. Ninety present one day in one room and of all grades from a-b-c-darians to a pupil in algebra.

Wife's health failed so before spring that she asked to be taken back to her father's which was done. She died March 20th, 1851. A Christian young woman with a taste for intellectual pursuits and a teacher of decided ability.

In spring of 1851, went to school at the Ohio Wesleyan University at Delaware, O., but returned in the summer to Canal Winchester, to teach a select school. Taught a district school in Pickaway Co., O., in the winter and returned to college again in the spring. Went in fall of 1853, to South Charleston, Clarke Co., O., to superintend and teach in the Union Schools there.

Aug. 20th, 1854, married Mary Jeannette Reed, daughter of John and Nancy Ann (Marshall) Reed who were from the eastern shore of Maryland, about Snow Hill.

She was born near South Charleston, 1833-7-27. Her grandmother Reed's maiden name was Jeanette Oliver (Ol-i-ve-re) in English, Oliver, of French family and probably of Heuguenot stock. Her grandmother Marshall's maiden name was Zippora Purnel and of Scotch family. Her grandfather Marshall's Christian name was William Alan.

She had lived several years with her parents in Henry Co., Ia., where her father died. Later she returned to South Charleston and lived with an aunt. Also had lived with an aunt in Philadelphia.

In August, 1855, he became principal of the Ohio Conference Seminary, at Coolville, Athens Co., and continued till the spring of 1859, when he was elected Supt., of Athens Union Schools and served two years and one term.

In the fall of 1861, became principal of Amesville Academy, same county, for one year, and in August, 1862, of Beverly College, Washington Co., four (4) years and one term retiring in November, 1866.

He had joined the Methodist Episcopal Church, at Canal Winchester, in December, 1850, and been converted and after leaving college became active in church work at South Charleston, where he was licensed to exhort in winter of 1854, and was Sunday School Teacher and Class Leader. Licensed to preach at Coolville, in 1856.

In March, 1866, was appointed as junior preacher to supply Sharon circuit, having eight churches located from 9 to 20 miles from Beverly. There he was to serve in connection with his work in the academy for two terms and then give all his time to the churches. March, 1867, admitted to the Pittsburg Conference on trial and sent to Lebanon Circuit with parsonage four and one-half miles from Marietta, one year.

Summerfield three years. Newport two, Deersville one, New Athens spring of 1874, to fall of 1876, counted three years.

That year the old Pittsburg Conference was divided, the Ohio portion becoming a part of the East Ohio. In that portion his lot fell and he was sent to Coldwell one year. Newport again three, Brownsville one, (New Matamoras) Beallsville two. Health failing in 1886, ceased regular work in the ministry.

Went to St. Mary's W. Va., where his oldest son was engaged in the tinning business, put a little capital into it and at the son's request, took charge, manufacturing tinware and doing roofing. Added stove selling and later gasfitting (or plumbing for gas). Retired in fall of 1903.

After going to St. Mary's he did nearly three years missionary work in the Belmont and Waverly Mission. In 1887-8 edited a temperance column in the "St. Mary's Oracle" (newspaper) during the campaign for an amendment to the state constitution prohibiting the liquor traffic.

In the summer of 1888, taught a Normal School at St. Marys. Had assisted in two such schools, one at Cold-well, in 1877, and one at New Matamoras, in 1884. Has continued to take a deep interest in education, visiting schools and attending teacher's institutes as opportunity offered. Has written a good many articles for newspapers, chiefly on moral and educational subjects.

While in the pastorate he introduced the use of Sunday School Institutes as a means of improving the schools in the region where he labored. Also introduced the observance of Children's Day in several places.

Had the reputation of excelling as a reader of hymns in public and as a leader of public prayer for which latter service he was often called upon in various kinds of meetings for many years.

Always cultivated and enjoyed pleasant relations with pastors and people of other denominations.

It fell to his lot to marry a good many people. While in the effective ministry he had 95 weddings recorded and remembered and 251 after going to St. Marys. In all at least 346.

Had a taste for the cultivation of the soil and of plants. Delighted in a good garden. Cultivated one in his eightieth year, mostly with his own hands. Wrote this history without glasses, except the occasional use of a lens to decipher obscure words or numbers, after he was seventy-six and furnished some material for a revised edition of the "Doan Family" history. Had begun collecting items as early as 1865. Espoused the temperance cause in his boyhood and was credited with doing successful work in it, in many places, especially at Newport, Deersville and St. Marys. Sometimes persecuted for activity therein. In 1904, with wife spent over eight months at Cooperstown, N. Y., with son, John K. Doan and family. In like manner spent part of two winters, 1907 and 1909, with son, Edward, at West Carrollton, Montgomery Co., O. April 16th, 1909, moved to latter place.

Learned the tinner's trade at New Athens, O., in a short apprenticeship, soon becoming expert. Followed the business for several years. Then took up gas-fitting and plumbing, soon coming to be considered a superior mechanic in any branch he attempted to learn.

Near Newport, O., 1877-10-4, married Diantha Allen, daughter of Ira and Diantha (McAlister) Allen. She was born near Marietta, O., 1857-5-8. She joined the Methodist church in youth and became an active member. Was a successful Sabbath School teacher for several years. A decendent of Ethan Allen, of Revolutionary fame. She had an uncle named Ethan.

Began business at Summerfield, O., in 1876. Moved to Caldwell in 1877, to St. Marys, W. Va., in 1881, and to West Carrollton, O., in 1909. Has always had a taste for reading and in this way has gathered quite a fund of general knowledge.

Was much in demand for a good many years as secretary of meetings or as clerk or judge of elections. Took a leading part in building a church at St. Marys, in 1885. Was trustee, steward and recording steward for a good many years, district steward for several years and conference steward twice. A very efficient worker in Sunday School for several years.

1. HARRY ALLEN, born 1878-7-24, in Coldwell, O. After going to common school and learning to set type in a newspaper office at St. Marys, W. Va., whither the family had moved in his childhood, he was selected by the county superintendent of schools, as a suitable student to represent the county in the corps of military cadets in the State University at Morgantown. Attended two years in 1895 and 1896. He was able to pass over the required course in Mechanic Arts in a few lessons because of his experience in boyhood in his father's tin shop. Could not finish the University course for want of means. He went two seasons with a corps of U. S. Engineers surveying the Ohio river for the purpose of selecting sites for dams and locks to promote navigation. He showed such proficiency and adaptation that he was given charge of a theodolite the second season and when the commander was sick was given charge of the daily reports of the work. He had quite a varied experience, having been assistant tinner, printer, steamboat clerk and assistant pilot, teamster, electrician in an iron mill and is now (1909) an electrician in Wheeling, W. 2. FREDERICK TOWNSEND DOAN, born 1882-10-23, at St. Marys, W. Va., on the Ohio river. He seemed to have an innate love of learning. Was anxious to go to school before of legal age. Had to begin his first term near a month late and it was further shortened by sickness at the end, yet he passed through the first and second readers. Was early put to studying music, at home. Then went to Marietta, O., 17 miles away, twice a week for his lessons. He was still so small that a steamboat carried him back and forth without charge.

When not quite fourteen years of age, he entered the Newport High School, a mile away and on the Ohio side of the river about a month after the school year began. Before the first term ended he was advanced to a class that had begun Latin a year before so that finished a four year's course in a little less than three years, having the first honor of his class at graduation. Later he graduated from a business college, at Parkersburg, W. Va. Became stenographer in the U. S. District Attorney's Office there and on quitting that service received a certificate from Judge Blizzard, the attorney, commending him to any who might need his services in which he stated that Fred had been in his employ nearly two years and that if he had any bad habits, he did not know what they were. Not long after, in March, 1905, he was employed by the State Treasurer, of W. Va., in his office at Charleston, the capital. He is now (Oct., 1909) serving his fifth year there.

When at Parkersburg, he continued his musical studies and came to excell greatly as pianist and pipe organist. Episcopalian, Republican.

3. WILLIAM ROE DOAN, born 1891-12-2, at St. Marys, W. Va. An attack of scarlet fever in his seventh year left him in a partially enfeebled condition and very susceptible to attacks of temporary illness which greatly interfered with his education for several years. He early showed a disposition to earn money for the support of himself and of the family. Was so faithful as an errand boy or a clerk that he could always have a place if anyone could. At 13 years was appointed page of the circuit court and won the good will of the judge and attorneys in a high degree.

Assisted an undertaker for a year or two and soon became able to trim a casket or prepare corpse for burial.

Went with the family to West Carrollton, O., in the spring of 1909. Worked in an automobile repair shop in Dayton, five or six weeks and then took charge of a car for the summer of 1909. Learning machine work with a motor car company, in Dayton, O., 1910.

4 HENRY HOUSTON DOAN, born 1858-10-24, at Coolville, Athens Co., Ohio. Was an enterprising child making plans for the future beyond what might have been expected at his age. Learned to set type in an amateur printing office in his 15th year and same time doing such mechanical work as repairing sewing machines.

In his 16th year he became a student in New Athens College, Harrison Co., O., but could not continue because of poor health. He then persuaded his father to get him a small printing press and let him do job printing. In this he was very successful doing beautiful work which was much admired.

His health grew worse and he sold his printing outfit and went to western Iowa, hoping to improve his health, and worked for several months in a printing office at Glenwood, Mills Co., Ia. Traveled a while for a firm in Chicago, that manufactured stereotype plates for newspapers and worked in an office there and in one in the coppermine region of Lake Superior. Came home to his parents at Caldwell, O., in winter of 1878, with health improved.

Engaged in a tin and stove shop with his brother for a while. Went to railroading but a terrible accident warned him to quit. Worked on a farm, then in Columbus, O., in a stove foundry and with the Columbus Buggy Co., and finally began work in life insurance business but was attacked with fever and died Dec. 23rd, 1884.

He made friends where ever he lived from childhood up and his parents when visiting him on his deathbed were surprised to find how many and how warm his friends were.

A fine singer from a little child and his services in song were much in demand. He was an official member of the Town Street Methodist Church, having been made a steward in six weeks after becoming a full member.

3. WILIAM REED DOAN, born 1861-10-9, and died 1863-5-24.

Went to the Ohio Wesleyan University, April 11th, 1887, and finished a six years' course in five years and one term. By hard work as steward of a club and in other ways earned his board most of the time and maintained his standing in his classes. Took great interest in the military department of the college and won in five military contests in four years. This brought him to the head of the battalion of college cadets with rank of Major. He justified himself in giving time and labor to military training in college life on two grounds:

First. Physical exercise and development.

Second. The cultivation of the faculty of attention which lies at the foundation of all learning.

He graduated in the full classical course in June, 1892, and went to Elyria, O., as general secretary of the Young Men's Christian Association. Married Susie May Bentley, 1892-12-8, at Lacrosse, Wisconsin, daughter of Edwin Edward and Susan Nevin (Shepard) Bentley and born 1870-9-21, at Lacrosse. Father born at Gallupville, N. Y., and mother at Nashua, N. H. After preparing for college at Lacrosse, she entered the Ohio Wesleyan University in 1888, and graduated in the full classical course in June, 1892. Her musical education has enabled her to be very helpful to her husband in his Y. M. C. A. work and also in the church where she is a member. She is an active member of the order of The Daughters of the American Revolution.

He resigned at Elyria and went to Denver, Colo., for the sake of his wife's health in the spring of 1893, and worked in a law and commercial reporter's office. In October went to Lincoln, Neb., as General Secretary of the Y. M. C. A., there.

Found scarcely 200 members on October 20th, and led in a campaign for an increase which resulted in an enrollment of 1,000 on March 7th, following, and of 1,125 in November, when he left.

While at Lincoln, he had received two calls to the Utica, N. Y., Y. M. C. A., the second of which he accepted. The Utica association greatly prospered and he remained there about six and a half years, going to Cooperstown, N. Y., as General Secretary, there, in the spring of 1900. While at Utica, he was elected to the same office in the Cincinnati, O., Y. M. C. A., but every member of the Board of Directors at Utica, urged him to stay there and he declined the call to Cincinnati.

In the annual of the college for 1899, his likeness appears four times, once as member of the graduating class, once as treasurer of the literary society, once as member of the Zeta Chapter of the Phi Alpha Gamma Fraternity, and once as president of the college Y. M. C. A. Became a "church worker" while in school and has been an efficient helper in church affairs since.

After going to West Carrollton, started an agitation against saloons which resulted in driving them out of the township except those inside of an incorporation, to the very great relief of the community.

Mary Jeannette (Reed) Doan, the mother of the foregoing seven sons of John H. Doan, greatly excelled in the number of things needed about a home that she could do and do them well. From weaving a rag carpet to fine needle work and fine knitting, there was scarcely anything she has not done and done well.

Besides cooking and other ordinary duties of a household, she cut and made her little boys' clothes, making her own patterns in the days before patterns were kept in the stores and ready-made clothes for children were not offered or were rare or poor. Excelled in the speed as well as in the quality of her work.

She was awarded a premium for the best specimen of home spun stocking yarn at a county fair at Marietta, Ohio. It was fully equal to the best factory yarn.

A Methodist and a church goer from her youth up. She taught her children religiously and so arranged her household affairs as to make room for family worship which she conducted herself when her husband was abroad.

She learned fancy (or Indian) basketry after she was seventy and produced beautiful specimens. At seventy-five was still making quilts of extra quality and beauty. Was very provident as well as economical always forecasting the wants of the coming season.

Was a very successful cultivator of flowers and foliage plants and was considered an authority on floriculture in her neighborhood. She took a lively interest in the things that interested her sons, whether work or play, and thus retained their sympathy and confidence and her influence over them for good.

Utah Hamptons

1 GRANT HAMPTON, of Salt Lake City, Utah, reports that his great grandfather Joseph Hampton was born about 1785, "evidently in Bucks County, Pennsylvania, where the family settled before the revolutionary war." That according to the testimony of his (Grant's) Aunt Mary Hampton Godbe, this Joseph Hampton married Mary Rummidge and that he was a Methodist.

Undoubtedly this Joseph was a descendent of "Joseph Hampton, from England," who settled at Wrightstown, Bucks county, Pennsylvania, and married Mary Canby, but through which of that Joseph's two sons Benjamin or John (known in this history as Benjamin 2, or John 2, because they were of the second generation of American Hamptons) does his lineage run?

If we can find the names of the parents of this Joseph (born 1785) the answer will be easy.

According to our records there were four Joseph Hamptons born among the descendents of "Joseph from England," during the last half of that century, or between 1750 and 1800: 1st Joseph 3, son of John 2, born 17th of 8th month, 1753, who married Mary Blaker and settled in Catawissa. 2nd, Joseph the fourth child in the list of eleven children of this couple. The language of the record of their marriage and settlement at Catawissa, certainly indicates an early removal, and it is hardly possible that this fourth child should have been born before their going there. He must have been born a hundred miles or more away from Bucks county.

3rd, Joseph only son of David 3, son of John 2. He must, it seems, have been the Quaker preacher Hampton, from Pennsylvania, cousin of Asenath (Hampton) Doan who visited her at her home in Athens county, Ohio, in the fall of 1850, because he evidently was the only male cousin of the Hampton surname living in far eastern Pennsylvania, at that time.

John 2 had four sons: 1st, Joseph 3, whose family had gone to Catawissa, sixty or seventy years before. 2nd, Jonathan, whose family all seem to have been in Ohio many years.

3rd, her father, John 5, who had taken his family to Maryland, in 1801, and to Ohio in 1825, leaving, so far as we now know only David's family, himself, wife and one son (Joseph) and two daughters, in far eastern Pennsylvania. Thus it seems hardly possible that Joseph born about 1785, who became the ancestor of the Utah Hamptons could have been a descendent of John.

4th. But there was a fourth Joseph descended from Benjamin 2. He was the fourth child of Benjamin 3, who married Margaret Powell (or Pownell). The name Benjamin recurring so many times among his descendants is very significant. If this Joseph is the greatgrandfather of Grant Hampton, of Salt Lake City, his father and grandfather were both named Benjamin and he had a brother Benjamin who became the ancestor of the Jersey Hamptons who had their seat at Quakertown, Huntingdon county, New Jersey. And it is not surprising that he should have a son and a grandson Benjamin and a great-grandson Horace Benjamin.

The name John occurs in every generation of the descendents of John 2, but no Benjamin except Benjamin Franklin named for Franklin, the philosopher and statesman, in the fifth generation, so far as our records show. Assuming this view to be correct, this Joseph's lineage may be briefly written as follows:

JOSEPH (4) HAMPTON, (Benjamin 3, Benjamin 2, Joseph 1), born about 1785, in Bucks county, Pennsylvania, married Mary Rummidge. He was a Methodist. Probably a farmer and lived in Chester county, Pennsylvania.

2 BENJAMIN (5) HAMPTON, born 1810-6-18, on a farm in Chester county, Pennsylvania. Married at Philadelphia, Patience Schull, of a Quaker family and born at Woodbury, New Jersey. They lived a while at Philadelphia, but moved to Saint Louis, in 1845, and to Salt Lake City, in 1853. Family all Christians. Husband of Methodist family and wife of Quaker family.

3 THOMAS (5) HAMPTON, (Joseph 4, Benjamin 3, Benjamin 2, Joseph 1, born probably in Chester county, Pennsylvania. About 1845, moved to Buffalo, N. Y., and died there. Wife's name Catherine _____. He was a plumber by trade.

BENJAMIN (6) HAMPTON, (Benjamin 5, Joseph 4, Benjamin 3, Benjamin 2, Joseph 1), born at Philadelphia, Penn., 1837-2-11, married at Salt Lake City, 1864-1-30, Adelade E. Grant. She died 1895-2-16, aged 49 years. They lived at Salt Lake City.

His son writes: "My father was one of the first men in Utah to enter the mining business. Built smelters at Rush Lake, Utah, and at T——, Utah. Both were profitable. Lost a lot of money in developing a big placer gold mining property at Osceola, Nevada. Is now (March 1911) largest owner in the biggest deposit of antimony ore yet discovered. Located at Coyote Canyon, near Marysvale, Utah. Is a Christian Scientist. Still living March 20, 1911.

Moved to Salt Lake City, in 185-?, married there to William Samuel Godbe, 1856-11-10. Her daughter, Mrs. Miriam G. Brooks, reports the mother's early life as uneventful; but adds "Mary Hampton Godbe's subsequent life forms one of the important events in the history of Utah, she being the first woman to come out openly against the depotism of the Mormon church.

"This epoch in Utah's history is known as the Godbeite movement, named after William S. Godbe who organized it in 1870 and was the beginning of a bitter warfare against the Mormon church which has continued ever since," March, 1911. Mrs. Godbe is still living at this date, not in fellowship with any church. In politics her sympathy is with the Republicans.

EDITORIAL NOTE. The foregoing geneology of a family of American Hamptons was furnished by Mr. Benjamin B. Hampton, one of them, and the editor of Hampton's Magazine. In regard to their place among American Hamptons, two questions seem naturally to arise: First. Do they belong to the Pennsylvania or Northern family or are they descended from some branch of the Southern Hamptons? If the former from which of the two sons of the original Joseph, Benjamin or John do they come?

Without attempting to decide in a positive way these questions without more light, I very strongly incline to believe that the Van Calen Hampton who was born March 25th, 1799, in Salem Co., New Jersey, was a great grandson of Benjamin, son of the original "Joseph Hampton from England, who settled at Wrightstown, Bucks Co., Penn., and married Mary Canby, about the fall of 1722.

My reasons are: 1st, Salem Co., N. J., was near enough to Bucks Co., Penn., for some of the descendants to have gone there without great effort in moving. 2nd, The Hampton tradition in reference to the brothers of our great ancestor, Joseph, given me in childhood by my mother, as I now remember it, placed them farther south. 3rd, the christian name Benjamin, seems to continue among the descendents of Benjamin 2, as John does among the descendents of his brother John.

Because the Friends (Quakers) counted their children as church members and I believe always so enrolled them, it might be wise in any Hamptons who know or believe themselves to be descended from the Pennsylvania Hamptons, to search the records of the early "meetings" (churches) of the Friends of eastern Pennsylvania, for help to trace their lineage.
