FOREWORD

Many years ago, the author became interested in collecting the history of his mother's family, and after much time and research, and quite a bit of expense, the author now presents this completed work before the public. I wish to thank all of the various kinsfolk who assisted me in any way, and I especially wish to thank the ones who have already contributed for their patience. Especially do I wish to thank Cousin Charles Heiner (173b) of East Berlin Township, York County, Pennsylvania, who was so kind to advise with me and let me have access to his notes, which consisted of the family of Henry Heiner (4e), and his brother's and sister's and the family of Frederick Heiner (4f). Also, I wish to thank Dr. Alfred Jaeger, of Munich, Germany and those who assisted him in his research. Also, some of the statements were based on information given by Wolfgang Menzel, in his "Germany," Vol. II.

If any errors occur, I wish to apologize for them, and say that I am sure they occurred in copying from one set of notes to another.

The Author

ORIGINS

According to Heintz, the German name Heiner, Hyner, Hayner, Höenir, Hüner, Heinard, Hanner, Höhenir, etc., is possibly derived from the word "Haginer" which means "master of a hedged-in dwelling" which indicated a farmer or landholder. Pott, another authority, groups it with "Heinert, Heinhardt, etc., meaning "strong as a hedge." Such a title might have been given one of the early Heiner ancestors for some outstanding deed, performance, or characteristic, and there is the possibility that the Coat-of-Arms could have been awarded for some such deed.

Should we desire to go into mythology for the name, we find that Höenir, spelled practically the same, was one of the Aesir and a brother of Odin, and assisted him in the creation of the first man and woman, Ask and Embla.

In the name "Hüner" the "ü" is the German umalat and has an "ue" sound. The correct pronunciation of the name is "Haner." It is highly possible that the family had its earliest origins near Heinersdorf, Saxony, which place could have been named for the family. However, even though the root word is found in Saxony under various spellings, there is no definite proof that this is a fact.

According to research by Dr. H. Meissen of Linnich, near Aachen, there was a family of nobility from the old County of Valkenberg, known as von Höen. Because the name Hüner or Höner comes from "Höen" (the "oe" pronounced as "u"), the diminutive being added would make it Höener or Hiner. This family was of the Protestant Faith, as a result of the Reformation, and were residents in the predominately Catholic Duchy of Jülich, and the name was probably changed for confessional reasons, and Leonhart Hüner might have gone from this predominately Catholic Duchy of Jülich to Weinheim, Kurpfalz, Germany, a predominately Protestant Country. The fact that Johannes Heener (Hainer or Heiner) who was from Birschen, Sovereignty of Ostenbach and who first settled near Rhinebeck, N. Y. in 1720 (Birschen or Virsen being in the Lower Rhine Valley and in the same vicinity), would tend to locate the place from whence the Heiners of New York originated. The records of Weinheim suffered severely in the disturbances leading to the Thirty Years War and in that war, and many of the citizenship records among them, hence it is difficult to ascertain the point of origin of the ancestors of Leonhart Hüner. However, we can conclude that they came from this part also, and originally from Saxony, where the name maintained its original spelling. The various changes were probably the result of local pronunciations. The main difficulty in tracing the direct line was due to the fact that the family never stayed in any one place over two or three generations.

Coats-of-Arms were bestowed upon persons by the Emperor, as a result of heroic achievement, or sale; later by the Princes of the various states; and in most cases the Coats-of-Arms of citizens were chosen by them, though some were granted to them. The Heiner Coat-of-Arms is found in the "Wappenbuch" by Siembacher, and is the only one found, and is found in the section allotted to Saxony. Inasmuch as Siembacher does not designate which Heiner family carried the shield, nor at what time, every Heiner family is entitled to the use of this Coat-of-Arms, according to research by Dr. Alfred Jaeger of München, Germany. Each of the nations of Germany originally had two colors into which the shield was divided, one the ground color and the other the figure represented upon it. The colors were the same in every family belonging to the same nation, the figures alone varying. French shields were white and red; Swabians, red and yellow; Bavarians, white and blue; and Saxons, black and white. However, the rapid succession of different reigning families and the intermixture and exchange of feudal possessions was productive of great confusion in the ancient colors of the four principal nations of Germany. In the Heiner Arms, the golden cock in the lower half of the shield on a green so-called Dreiberg (Three Hills) is exactly the same position as the three branches of the rose in the upper half of the shield. The three hills might be indicative of the ancient residence of the Heiners. However this may be, the first authentic record of the family is that of Leonhart Hüner of Weinheim. As said before, it is presumed that he came from the vicinity of Jülich and the lower Rhine country, and because of the fact that Herman Göessgens, a prominent citizen of Weinheim, who came from the Duchy of Julich, was godfather of Herman Hüner, might be said to substantiate this idea.

An interesting item arises because the early Hüners of Weinheim were physicians (or barbers), and after a lapse of many generations, various members of the family are again following this profession.

CHAPTER I

FROM WEINHEIM TO AMERICA

Leonhart Hüner, died in Weinheim, Kurpfalz, Germany about 1597. He married Agatha (Schneider?) in Weinheim, and had issue. As previously stated he possibly came from the Duchy of Julich, or the lower Rhine country, with Herman Göessgens who is believed to have been the godfather of Herman Hüner (1). The following items are found concerning her:

- (1) Wehrbuch I, page 391, dated November 11, 1597 mentions the house of the widow as the neighbor's house of Lorenz Hodt and Heinrich Hammelbach.
- (2) Wehrbuch I, page 550, dated Oct. 9, 1598, looking back to the year 1595, reads: "Vester Schneider and wife, Martha, sells to her brother and brother-in-law, Michael Schneider and wife, Petronella, one-half morgen of a vineyard in Wolff. On the one side, Hans Hennell and on the other side the buyer himself." There is pledged against the Schaffnerei Weinheim, 25 gulden redeemable Hellergelds. Leonhart Hüner's widow, Agatha, put up 5 gulden and the seller's son, George Schneider, 20 gulden.? Otherwise interest free and proper. About 115 gulden. Happened in Anno 1595. Placed in Wehrschafft on Oct. 9, 1598.
- (3) Leonhart Hüner's widow, Agatha, sells Anno 98 Ascensionis Domini to the Honorable Georg Schneider and wife, Magdalena, one fourth of a vineyard in Wolff? of Asmus Hammelbach, on the other side Hans Fischer Maurer. Interest is one bucket of wine from the Schaffnerei Weinheim and the 25 gulden redeemable Hellergelds pledged against the Schaffnerei. Sale made for 20 gulden. The buyer to pay 20 gulden and the seller to contribute another 5 gulden and so pay off the 25 gulden pledged against the Schaffnerei. Placed in Wehrschafft Oct. 9, ano 1598.
- (4) Wehrbuch II, page 412, Lorentz Hodt sells to Sylvester Schneider his lodging in the Large Quarter, on the one side young Leonhart Schmidt, on the other side Leonhart Hüner's widow.
- (5) Wehrbuch II, page 417. On Dec. 12, 1609, Agatha, Leonhart Hüner's widow, sells to Hans Hasenauer, also a citizen, Gertraut, his wife, their lodging in the Large Quarter. On the one side Sylvester Schneider, on the other side, Claus Bauer and Mrs. Wambolita.

SAMUEL POTTS POINTER, FATHER OF REBECCA POINTER, WIFE OF
FREDERICK HINER (4f)

Between Sherburn Mills and Upper Blue Licks, on the river, about 3 miles from Sherburne. Born Loudon Co., Virginia, 1769, 5 years old when I came to Brownsville. Lived there 15 years, or thereabouts. Came to Kentucky first in November, 1788. There was one hewed log house, at that time, in Washington. Old Daniel Peck lived in it. But there was a heap of cabins. Also but one hewed log house in Lexington, a swearing man lived there, name forgotten. I think he rented the house. Was in Lexington, time of Harmer's Campaign. If I should have gotten $2.00 more, I would have gone. A fellow that stood by listening as we made our bargain said he would take what Charles Landers was offering me to go as his substitute.

It was 13 miles from Lower Blue Licks to first house toward Lexington. One Smith lived there. Kept liquor. Hunters from Lexington, that went out to hunt, put up there. Had pack horses with them to carry the wild meat on. Masterson's Station was 15 miles to the right of Lexington. Christmas eve, 1788, the snow fell nearly one-half leg deep. That night we stayed there. The next day the sun shined warm, and in two days it was all gone.

I made my home at Crossplain's, Boone's old station. John Henrys, Jno. Bledsoe (Bletcher, we called him), old Robert Franks, Rd. Cheney, and Geo. Shaup, a one-handed man, was in that neighborhood. Henry and Chaney I had known up in Virginia. The station was evacuated, but these men I have named, kept arms. There was no station there any more. Daniel Boone, at this time, was living at Boonesborough. My father wanted (Daniel Boone) me to come and live with him, and I wouldn't. I had a step-mother. My grandfather had raised me. So I came off down to Chaney's and Henry's at the Crossplains. I went with this Henry through Lexington to Masterson's. It was peace then about Lexington and Crossplains, but not to the right of Lexington about Masterson's. Every few weeks troubles broke out about there. The Irish Station was 3 miles this side of Millersburgh. Became a Station afterwards. Only this family living there as I first came. Had settled out on a/c of the ranch. Cane was plenty there. I got in one Elijah Phillip's boat, coming down at Wheeling. As I came along, leaving Limestone, I had left 5 or 6 wagons behind at the L B L. I had been with them the day and also the night before. They traveled so slow I wouldn't stay with them. I started on as soon as I could see. Five miles on, just as the sun got to the top of the trees, I saw 3 guns with their muzzles pointed over a log that had been cleared out of the road and lay close by the roadside. I looked for Indians, but couldn't see any. I kept my eye directed to them and passed on. When I had passed, I saw about 20 steps from that log, 3 Indians behind some brush eating. Saw them from their shoulders up. I passed on about a 100 yards to a turn in the road, and then went on faster and faster till I got to Smith's. Smith said no hunters had been out there yet, but Indians had been about there a day or 2 before. Old Col. McDowell said these 3 Indians took me to be a spy. If I had turned back they would have shot me at once. If I had turned they would have supposed there was danger before. Never heard more of those 3 Indians. I lived at F. Smith's near Boone's Station. I had know him in Pennsylvania. I worked with Eli Cleveland, harvesting, 10 days, 1789. He lived at the mouth of Boone Creek. Had hounds to hunt. Cleveland lived in a neck. Had a place posted to keep in deer. If anybody went in to shoot they would set the dogs on them. 'Twas said the dogs were dangerous, but they never troubled me. Cleveland was rich, rich! 'Twas said he hadn't slept with his wife for 14 years.

Major Netherland's I knew nothing of. There was word every few days from C. to Lexington that if anybody wanted to go up to meet him at Limestone (to P.) Stron, a Cap't that lived down about C. (Cap't Strong) not at for there were only the 2 families there, they were living near the river. Cap't. John Bartletts and Capt. Benkhans when I went down. My business was with them, as the Capt's. It was to get loading for one Mr. McDaniel that lived at Washington, and kept a little grocery there. Two log cabins were between the fort and the river. Harmar's troops were there then. Bartlett and Benham had gotten from the Indians, 300 bear skins, 50 dress-patterns of deer-skins, besides the 5 horses loads of skins and furs. McDaniels was taking them to Philadelphia to pay a debt. McDaniel moved over by Chillacothé and McArthur married a (Genl. McArthur) daughter of his. (Genl) sent word to be ready at Maysville by the 15th day of March, 1791. I got down to Maysville on the 11th. When I got down there, Strong was there. Said he could not provide for anymore. (Maysville was then called the Point of Limestone.) He had 53. The boat couldn't hold all that he then had with the loading. I don't know what it was loaded with. Mr. Forscythe that I had known in Pennsylvania had gotten in the cast. Strong's said my company he would be glad of. If I had had provision I could have gone. I came out to Washington to one Benjamin Roebuck's to get meat and bread provisions. I worked and got a ham and a loaf bread. It rained wonderfully over night, the night of the 14th and I couldn't get down till the 15th; 2 o'clock. Jacob and Mathew Boone were then both living in Limestone. Jacob Boone told me he knew the boat was 5 miles up the river. I never could hear of another boat to start till June. Worked for Roebuck a month on Tom Marshall's place; and for John Young, that lived in Washington (covering a house and kitchen that joined to it. I then went down to Citi for Mc-Daniels and after we had gotten back awhile, started up the river on the 9th of June. This was the first boat that went up after Strong's. His boat and this last boat were keels.

Strong's boat only got 8 miles above the mouth of the Sciota, the boat came down back again. Twenty-five of the 53 were out on the bank, 23 of these were killed. The other three were ahead as spies, and got back to Washington. There was then no settlement on the Ohio above Bill Brooks. It was all a wilderness to the mouth of the Sciota. That day week, after the boat started, it came back. Eight days after. I think it was Sunday they started and Sunday they got back. They returned in a day, next morning—having gone down all night. The river was high and they had gone (very high) up slow. Dick—an Irishman, was wounded in the boat and the only one in the boat hurt. The bullet sunk just below his ear (think his left ear) was just buried in his neck. It was thought there were 300 Indians. They shouted, and made a great noise. William Huey, John Barker and James Stafford, that were along, were 3 that had been out in Harmar's Campaign. Mr. Huey jumped on an Indian, that shot a white man in the river. The boat had had to go close to shore, so they could touch bottom in poling. Huey shot 4 times after he shot the Indian in the head, making in all 5 times, before another man rose up in the boat, and didn't know what execution he did after the last fire. The place was in a little narrow bottom, about 50 yards being before (place) any raised ground appeared.

P. 20. Dunkard's empties into the Monongahela, where I was viz. at Worley's. Sixteen of us stationed there. Worley's and Varner's were in sight. All good deal, as if one. Part at the one, part at the other. Only one mess at Varner's. All mustered at Worley's. Leg, lived on Dunkard's Creek, one and one-half miles from Worley's and Varner's. Longs was 5 miles above Leg's, Stradler's about 4 miles below Leg's. Leg's was between Worley's and Long's. Stradler's.

Worley's, I lived at.

Bryce's.

Varner's.

Long's, near Morgantown.

There were 60, odd of us all together in the Co.: but we were the farthest out. We pursued, after a delay of a week or 10 days, but only to the head waters of Wheeling. We cut Alexander Leg's grain, and attended to some little things for him. I heard that he sent a letter from Quebec, the fall after he was taken, saying that he expected to be on his farm in the spring. They were to come and live with him, and I wouldn't. I had a step-mother. all alive and well.

JAMES HINER (7a)

James Hiner was born Dec. 23, 1823 between Poplar Plaina and Plummer's Mills, Fleming Co., Ky., and died Jan. 10, 1883 in Granbury, Texas and is buried in the Acton Cemtery. He spent his early days in Fleming Co., Ky. and in 1841 sold his personal property. He arrived in Texas in the year 1843 and settled on the frontier in what was then Robertson Co., but later became Navarro County in 1846. In 1847 he joined the Methodist Conference and served stations in Navarro and Johnson Counties, 1847-1861; assigned to the Acton Circuit 1871-1873; Weatherford Circuit, 1873-1875; and Granbury Circuit, 1875-1878; superannuated in 1878 because of ill health. All the territory composing these circuits extended on both sides of the Brazos from George's Creek to Sanchez and included Wade Chappel, Kickanoo, Long, and Fall Creeks, and as this territory was exposed to Indian invasion, he found it necessary to arm himself with Winchester and six shooter as well as Bible and Hymn Book.

With the outbreak of the Civil War, he recruited a company at Camp Henderson, near Cleburne, Texas, for the Confederate Army, and in 1862 recruited another company and was made its captain. This company made forced marches to the scene of the war in Arkansas, during which march he became incapacitated for service and was honorably discharged. The remainder of the war he served as a collector of tithes and clothing.

After the Civil War, he removed with the county site from Old Buchannan to Cleburne, where he served by appointment and later by election as County Judge of Johnson County, Texas, which office he held until his removal to Acton in 1871. While at Cleburne, he served as first Worshipful Master of the Cleburne Masonic Lodge and donated the property upon which the lodge hall was located. In 1867 he held a noted revival in Cleburne, assisted by Rev. Ben D. Austin. Upon his superannuation he was elected County Judge of Hood County, Texas from 1878-1880, and County Clerk from 1880 to Jan. 10, 1883, the date of his death.

When the Granbury College was organized, Rev. Hiner was instrumental in getting the approval of the District Conference of 1875, and served on the Board of Trustees until his death. In 1889 this college was transferred to Weatherford, Texas and became Weatherford Junior College, though Granbury College continued to operate many years thereafter.

Judge Hiner studied law while residing at Buchanan and had been licensed to practice to a limited extent, and though never brilliant, yet when the occasion called forth his powers he was always found equal thereto. He served as one of the defendant's counsel in the trial of Capt. W. G. Veal before the Annual Conference of the Methodist Church in Ft. Worth, where he acquitted himself in such a manner as to draw the encomiums well merited from his brethren and friends.

He married first to Miss Paralee Williams in Navarro County, Texas, about 1849, and had issue. She died and he married secondly to Martha Margaret Abney on Nov. 4, 1859, and had issue.

He also was Worshipful Master of Acton Masonic Lodge; and Worshipful Master of Granbury Masonic Lodge.

REV. ROBERT HINER (7b)

Rev. Dr. Hiner, a venerable and much loved minister of the Methodist Episcopal Church, died at the home of J. B. Howe in Carrollton last Saturday of a complication of pneumonia and other troubles. Rev. W. F. Taylor conducted the funeral services at the Carrollton Methodist Church, Monday afternoon.

Dr. Hiner was one of the most prominent ministers in the Methodist Church and his name was several times considered for the office of Bishop. A very large concourse of sorrowing relatives and friends attended the funeral and accompanied the remains to their last resting place.

HERMAN HÜNER (1)

Herman Hüner was the son of Leonhart Hüner and Agatha Schneider? and was born about 1590 and died June 19, 1654 in Weinheim, Kurpfalz, Germany. He was a barber or physician and surgeon, and the following items are found concerning him:

- (1) Testament Register, Book II, page 252: On August 25, 1625, Herman Hüner, barber, is remembered in the Testament of Hans Philipp Orth, who is ill with the pest in Hüner's home and is remembered with a loan of four Reichsthaler because the testator needed him in his illness.
- (2) "Testament Register," Book I, page 247: The Honorable Herman Hüner, barber, appears as a witness in a settlement of a fortune of Wolf Greber. Set for Aug. 12, 1625.
- (3) "Testament Register, Book II, page 270: Herman Hüner or Höhner is witness to the marriage ceremony of his widowed mother-in-law, Margaretha, widow of Leist, with George Behr, March 5, 1625.

- (4) "Testament Register," Book II, page 270: Herman Hüner is witness to the testament of Mrs. Margarete Heilman, October 6, 1634.
- (5) "Testament Register," Book II, page 290, Herman Hüner is witness to the marriage of Hans Rutz with the widow of Peter Kuntzel, January 15, 1626.
- (6) "Testament Register," Book II, page 380: Herman Hüner, citizen, is witness to the marriage ceremony of Hans Weisbrot with the widow of Hans Philipp Menges, December 20, 1635.
- (7) "Testament Register," Book II, page 439: Citizen and barber Herman Hüner again appears in the testament of 20-year-old Jost. Höchster, who is critically ill in Hüner's home, and bequethes to Huner's daughter, his father's sister's daughter, a vineyard that lays next to Hüner's vineyard, July 22, 1650.

Herman Hüner married first to Magdalena Leist, daughter of Michael Leist and Margarethe Trommeter, in Weinheim, Kurpfalz, Germany and had issue; married second to Anna Regina Höchster, widow of Hans Müller, but no issue.

ORTLEIB (ORTLEPP)

In his work "Germany," Wolfgang Menzel points out that by the middle of the 14th Century, or at the height of the Middle Ages, the Graf or Count in the ancient Gau, no longer stood at the head of free-born men and equals, though he still exercised the Office of Penal Judicature (Zentgraf or Zentgrafen) and bore the banner, the highest command during war, and these had been heredity in his family. Also, the emperor, as a means of raising revenue, bestowed titles by sale, and as a result there existed numbers of counts who were neither provincial nor popular judges. During this time, also, the weaker families were attacked and partially ruined by more powerful neighbors and reduced to submission, and in order to continue free, many of them became inhabitants of the cities, as was also the case of the free peasantry.

From the fact that the Office of Penal Judicature (Zentgraffen) was exercised generation after generation by the Ortlepp Family, we may conclude that they were members of the provincial nobility. The word "von" was not a title of nobility, but could be used by anyone to designate his country, village, or family, hence we could either use it or not use it to designate the members of this family, as Heintz von Ortlepp "the Elder," if we so desire. With the exception of three generations, when one branch of the family was resident in Leuterhausen, the family lived in and near Schriesheim and were of the provincial nobility (Zentgraf) of the dominion of Strahlenberg, which included Schriesheim to about 1520.

1. Heintz von Ortlieb "the Elder" was born about 1310 and lived near Schriesheim; married about 1535 and had:

2. Heintz von Ortlepp "the Younger," born about 1340 and mentioned in a document in 1381 (G.L.A. wrk. Pfalz Spec. 43/219, No. 5), married about 1363 and had:

3a. Contz von Ortlepp, born about 1365; Chairman of Court of Penal Judicature (Zentgrafen); member of the council of Schriesheim in 1407 and 1414.

3b. Claus (Nicholas) Ortlepp, born about 1367 near Schriesheim; went to Leuterhausen and served as Mayor of that village; married Engelin (Agnes) about 1390 and had:

4a. Heintz Ortlepp, born about 1392 in Leuterhausen.

4b. Weigold Ortlepp, born about 1410 in Leuterhausen and was the eighth child and youngest of three sons; married about 1435 and had:

5. Hans (John) Ortlepp, born about 1440 in Leuterhausen; married and had:

6. Weigold Ortlepp, born about 1470 in Leuterhausen and returned to Schriesheim about 1500 (evidently the Office of Penal Judicature had become open to his line again); married into the influential family of Bersich and had:

7a. (son), probably Chief of Penal Judicature (Zentgraf).

7b. Hans (John) Ortlepp, born about 1503 in Schriesheim, and died about 1551; manager of the Courtyard of the Augustiner Monastery; married Margaretha about 1525 and had:

8. Hans (John) Ortlepp, born about 1530 in Schriesheim; also a merchant in Weinheim and member of the City Council in 1584; died about 1590; married Catherine, widow of Nickel Anthi (Supplemental Marriage Contract in Testament Book, Weinheim I, folio 6/7) and had:

9a. John Ortlepp, born about 1559 in Weinheim, but took over office (or succeeded to the office) of Chairman of the Court of Penal Judicature in 1590 in Schriesheim; Mayor of Schriesheim and possessed most of the land in the village; resigned office of mayor in 1610; died in 1616 and son, Hans Philipp Ortlepp (10) succeeded him as Chairman of Court of Judicature; married about 1584 and had issue.

9b. (son), who attended University of Heidelberg and also studied in Helmstadt, and after graduation served as actuary in Wolfenbuttel and made a name for himself as author and composer of manuals and handbooks in the science of finance.

9a. John Ortlepp and had:

10. Hans Philipp Ortlepp, born about 1591 and died 1622/1623 in Schriesheim; citizen of Schriesheim and succeeded father as Chairman of Court of Penal Judicature; married Barbra about 1615 and had issue. After his death his widow married Adam Friederich, a relative of his, who made a sale for his little stepson in 1625 (Wehr book, Schriesheim I, 366). Hans Philipp Ortlepp and Barbra had:

11. John Philipp Ortlepp, born about 1618 in Schriesheim and grew up as step-son of Jacob Fillbrunn, Post Master of Neckarhausen; possessed extensive holdings in Schriesheim; member of Council and took over for the rest of the term as the last unofficial lawyer; Chairman of Court of Penal Judicature until his death in Jan. 31, 1686 in Schriesheim; married Margaret Becker (4)—see Becker—and had:

12. Rosina Ortlepp, baptized in Schriesheim Sept. 3, 1656 with Rosina Kühler (6)—see Anthis—as godmother; married first to Alexander Philbrunn, Imperial Postmaster of Neckarhausen, but no issue; married second to Hans Adam Hüner, Citizen and Physician (barber) of Weinheim, Kurpfalz, Germany in Trinitatis 1681 and had issue—See Hüner (Heiner). Rosina died April 20, 1731 in Weinheim.

PFRANG

1. Peter Pfrang, Citizen of Weinheim, Kurpfalz, Germany, was a member of the Council in 1571 and died before 1589; mentioned in Rent Records by Schonaur in 1559 (G.L.A. Karlshrue, 66/7702, folio 79r) with his wife and seven children; married Margaretha Wolleb(?), and had in addition to six others:

2. Agatha Pfrang, married Leonhart Müller, of Weinheim, and had issue. See Muller.

ANTHIS

The name Anthis was used by the brothers, Philipp and Anthis, which was the given name of their father, as the family name, as is found from many references in Wehr Book I (bes. page 691). Their father always referred to himself as Anthis or Antonius Bender. Since Bender at that time was the customary designation for one working in coopery, it can be assumed that it was not a real family name but that the family through several generations, and always in one branch carried the occupational designation "Bender" as the main name.

1. Anthis Bender "the Elder" belonged to the Council in Weinheim in 1563 and is last mentioned in 1566, in which year he probably died. He married and had:

2. Anthis Bender "the Younger," born about 1534, Citizen of Weinheim and died about 1591; married and had in addition to others:

3. Philipp Anthis, born about 1561; Citizen of Weinheim and cloth weaver, who is first mentioned in 1592; married first to Ollilia Bürckel, who died soon thereafter; married second to Maria Müller on July 8, 1594 and had issue; married third to Maria Stoltz, widow of Pastor Georg Wendelin Geyer of Schriesheim (marriage Contract, Testament Record, Weinheim II, folio 2) but no issue; died about 1618. Philipp Anthis and Maria Muller had:

4a. Hans Philipp Anthis, who sold the Schwaben Mill to Hans Kühler, the second husband of Margaretha Anthis.

4b. Margaretha Anthis, born about 1597 and died between 1651 and 1663 in Weinheim, Germany; married first to Hans Becker (3), Citizen of Weinheim and had issue:—see Becker; married second to Hans Kühler, miller of Weinheim (Marriage Contract Jan. 1, 1630), who had acquired the Schwaben Mill from Hans Philipp Anthis (4a) in 1628; married third to Hans Weisbrodt, Citizen of Weinheim on Aug. 16, 1650 (he died 1651/53). Margaretha Anthis and Hans Kühler, her second husband, had:

5. Hans Michael Kühler, whose wife, Rosina, was godmother to Rosina Ortlepp (12)—see Ortlieb or Ortlepp.

MACK

1. Elbert Mack, born about 1533; emigrated to Schriesheim where he was known to be the owner of one-half mill in 1553, which is in existence yet and known as Carq' Mill (Citizenship Record, Local Archives, Weinheim); probably married a daughter of Martin Seifferlin, miller of Weinheim, about 1560, whose mill "the Lower Herren Mill" came into his possession in 1594; Village Mayor before 1597, but resigned in 1597; died 1602 and was survived by three sons and one daughter (Wehr Book, Schriesheim I, 127). He had:

2a. Elbert Mack, born about 1563 in Schriesheim; acquired the Lower Herren Mill, in Schriesheim, from his step-brothers and sisters in 1604; member of Weinheim City Council in 1611; acquired an oil mill in 1623; named Chairman of Court of Penal Judicature, which jurisdiction comprised about 20 villages around Schriesheim; married first to Barbra Heilman (3)—see Heilman—and had issue; married second to her cousin, Liebner—see Liebner.

- 4. Margaretha Becker, born about 1620; married Hans Philipp Ortleipp (11) and had issue—see Ortlepp.

LEIBNER

- _____ Leibner, of Weinheim, married and had:
 - 1a. Catherine, married Philipp Heilman (?)—see Heilman and had issue.
 - 1b. Jost Liebner, born about 1539 in Weinheim; served as Village Mayor; married and had:
 - 2a. Thomas Liebner, born about 1568, Citizen of Ladenburg, married and had issue.

2b. Catherine Leibner, born about 1572; married Hans Müller (3), Councillor in Weinheim, and had issue—see Muller.

2a. Thomas Leibner and his wife had:

3. _____ (daughter), who became the second wife of Elbert Mack (2a), upon the death of her cousin, Barbra Heilman, the first wife—see Heilman.

MULLER

1. Hans Müller, of Weinheim in 1555 and who died before 1568, was probably the father of:

2. Lenhart Müller, of Weinheim, who died between 1584 and 1591; married Agatha Pfrang—see Pfrang—and had:

3. Hans Müller, Councillor in Weinheim, died between 1615 and 1620; married Catherine Leibner (2b)—see Leibner—and had:

4. John Müller, Citizen and Councillor of Weinheim, born about 1610, and died Sept. 1, 1667; married Barbra Mack (3e), of Schriesheim—see Mack—and had:

5. Apollonia Müller, born about 1637 in Weinheim and died Dec. 15, 1693 in Weinheim; married Hans Bartel Hüner, Citizen and Physician (barber), of Weinheim on June 15, 1661 and had issue—see Hüner or Heiner.

Melchior Trommeter, Citizen of Weinheim, died in 1588; married Gertrand _____ and had:

2. Margaretha, married Michel Leist, Citizen of Weinheim, and had issue—see Leist.

LEIST

1. Michel Leist, Citizen of Weinheim, died 1623/25, married Margaretha Trommeter, and had:

2. Magdalena Leist, married Herman Hüner, Citizen and Physician (barber) of Weinheim (1) and had issue—see Hüner or Heiner.

OTHER HINER FAMILIES

HEINER FAMILY OF NEW YORK

The ancestor of this family was Johannes Heener (Hayner, Hainer, or Heiner), who was from Birsen, Sovereignty of Ostentbach, Germany and who first settled near Rhinebeck, N. Y., and signed an article to remain on the Livingston Manor in 1720. In 1748 he purchased land in Dutchess County, N. Y., where the name is signed as Johannes Hainer; and later he went to Renssellear County, N. Y., where he bought land on which the town of Haynersville stands today. This is a very small place with just a few houses and a small tavern. In 1776 Johannes Hayner had a license to sell beer, wine and spiritous liquors granted by the Mayor of the City of Albany, Abraham C. Cuyler. On July 27, 1710 he married Catherine Mussier and had three sons, of which there is record:

1. John Heiner, Jr.
2. Samuel Heiner, born at East Camp, N. Y., married Rebecca Feller of Rhinebeck, N. Y. and three sons and three daughters, four of them marrying.
3. Jacob Heiner, born 1734 and is supposed to have died young. These items are found in "Fellows History of the Hudson River Valley." There was also a Philip Heiner, who was supposed to have been a son of Johannes Heener, but no definite proof of this. There was a Philip Heiner who married Eve Trever (Dryver) and their children were: Anna Heiner, born Nov. 18, 1764; Philip Heiner, Jr., baptized Feb. 5, 1767; Petrus Heiner, born March 25, 1770. This item is found in the genealogical records of New York, viz: Albany Records, 5th Book 1765-1771; the Albany Collection, Genealogy of the first settlers of Albany.

HINERS OF VIRGINIA

According to tradition of this family as furnished by Howard R. Hiner, Box 174, Monterey, Va., there were two brothers, John (1) and Alexander (2) who came from Germany to Pennsylvania when young. John (1) went to Virginia in 1775 and bought land at head of Blackthorn Creek, Augusta County (now Highland Co., W. Va.), Va.; married Magdalena Burner and had issue. Alexander Hiner (2) remained in Pennsylvania, but nothing is known of him. The family history of John Hiner and Magdalena Burner (1) is found in "A History of Highland Co., W. Va.," by Oliver F. Morton. A son of John Hiner (1) and Magdalena Burner, John Hiner, married Rachael Hoover, and went to Indiana from Virginia and a descendant of his, Dr. John Hiner Gus, of Staunton, Va., states that there were seven brothers who came from Germany and settled in Pennsylvania. A great grandson of John Hiner (1) and Magdalena Burner, Rev. William Marshall Hiner, was a Methodist minister in Kentucky.

Another Hiner, Robert L. Hiner, 6430 Central Ave., Indianapolis, Ind., is a descendant of David H. Hiner, who was born Sept. 11, 1814 in Augusta County, Virginia, and married Catherine Nehr in 1837 in Virginia, and his first three children were born in Virginia. In 1842 they migrated in a wagon train, with several other families, to Ross Township, Clinton County, Ind., where he bought land and resided there until his death in 1892. His grandson was the Robert L. Hiner (mentioned above) who is connected with the Red Ball Transit Co.

OTHER HEINER FAMILIES OF PENNSYLVANIA

Information from E. T. Hiner of Louisville, Ky.: My great grandfather, Jim Heiner, and his brother, John, came from Hesse, Germany to fight in the Revolutionary War. They were captured in a swamp and refused to return to Germany. Jim Hiner settled in Pennsylvania and later purchased 700 acres of land where Cincinnati now is. Jim sold this land and bought land in Ripley County, Ind., where he lived until his death. John Hiner drifted away from Jim and was never heard of. Jim Hiner had three sons: Tom S. Hiner, who was a river man and at his death was buried at the mouth of the Cumberland River; Bob Hiner, who was a horse trader and died at Cairo, Ill.; David A. Hiner, a steamboat pilot, who died in Mound City, Ill. . . . Jim, father of E. T. Hiner, lived in Breckenridge County, Ky., from 14 years of age and died at Stephensport, Ky.

John Hiner, born in Pennsylvania, married Katherine; went to Indiana in 1820 and settled near Napoleon, Indiana, and had:

1. John Hiner, lived near Napoleon, Ind.; married and had issue.
2. Abraham Hiner, left Napoleon, Ind., and went to Iowa before the Civil War.

1. John Hiner and had:

1a. John Hiner, deceased.

1b. William Hiner, lived near Batesville, Ind.

1c. Gilly Ann Hiner, married Albert H. Butt and had:

2a. Butt, twin of Rev. Wilford C. Butt.

2b. Wilford C. Butt, a Lutheran minister of Coroydon, Ind.; married and had issue.

2c. Raymond Butt, lives near Napoleon, Ind.

Samuel Hiner, probably a brother of the John Hiner (1), who went from Pennsylvania to Indiana in 1820, was born in Pennsylvania and went to Indiana in 1820 also. He was born in 1807 and later went from Indiana to Fleming County, Ky., where he married Rosalinda McGregor and had issue. He was a Captain in the Mexican War. By his marriage he had:

1. James McGregor Hiner, born Sept. 19, 1841 in Fleming County, Ky.; farming at time of Civil War, but enlisted Oct. 12, 1861 from Flemingsburg, Ky., as Pvt. in Co. H, 16th Kentucky Volunteer Infantry, Brig. 3, Div. 231 A. C. In 1862-1863 he was confined to quarters because of illness; detailed a short time as Gen. Cox's safe guard; participated in Battles of Iva Mt., Piketown, Jonesville, Kinston, London, Strawberry Plains, Buzzard Roost, Resaca, Atlanta Campaign, wounded at Battle of Franklin, Tenn., Spring Hill, Ft. Anderson, Wilmington, and Gen. Joe Johnston's surrender. He had a cousin, Samuel Hiner, who was killed at the Battle of Chickamagua. He was honorably discharged in North Carolina in July, 1865; married first to Alice Ewing (Jan. 22, 1853-Oct. 28, 1885) on Feb. 18, 1869 and had issue; married second to Ida Malsbury on Feb. 10, 1886 and had issue. Ida Malsbury Hiner died Sept. 17, 1890 and he married thirdly to Fannie Mandelove, who was born Sept. 20, 1847, on Dec. 3, 1891.

2. Joseph Hiner, served in 10th Kentucky Cavalry in Civil War.

1. James McGregor Hiner and Alice Ewing had:

3a. Jesse Hiner.

3b. Harry Hiner.

3c. Morgan Hiner, who lives near Greensburg, Ind.*

3d. Grace Hiner.

3e. Maud Hiner.

3f. Mary Hiner.

3g. Samuel Hiner.

FAMILY OF HEBER J. HEINER.

OGDEN, UTAH

This family was of Waldorf, Germany, and the earliest known ancestor, was born in Waldorf, Germany in 1657. His son was John Jacob Heiner, who was born 1708 in Waldorf, Germany; married and had: Walden Heiner, born May 23, 1742 in Waldorf, Germany. Walden Hiner's son was Johannes Heiner, born Oct. 17, 1777 in Waldorf, Germany. Johannes Heiner's son was Martin Heiner, born March 17, 1818 in Waldorf, Germany and died March 11, 1897 in Morgan, Utah. The mother of Martin Hiner was Eliza Hondorf. Martin Hiner, married Aldegunda Ditzel (born June 11, 1815 in Wasungen, Germany and died Nov. 24, 1894 in Morgan, Utah. Martin Heiner and Aldegunda Ditzel had: (1) Mary Heiner, born July 28, 1839 in Wasmungen, Germany; (2) Amelia Heiner, born Feb. 20, 1841 in Wasmungen, Germany; (3) John Heiner, born July 1842 in Wasmungen, Germany; (4) Anthony Heiner, born June 24, 1844 in Wasmungen, Germany; (5) George Heiner, born March 26, 1846 in Baltimore, Md.; (6) Elizabeth Heiner, born April 4, 1848, Franklin County, Penn.; (7) Daniel Heiner, born
