Supplement to the Genealogy

of the

JACOBS FAMILY

as descended from

“John Jacobs of Perkiomen.”

The publication of the above genealogy has shown many errors and more omissions, many of the former due to incorrect information received. The compiler regrets that greater interest has not been shown by the return of more information such as was asked for in the introduction to the pamphlet ; all corrigenda received to this date have been embodied in this supplement, and it is expected that additional information will be published in this form in the future. Thanks are extended to all those who have made the publication of these pages possible.

The compiler is sorry that numbers were not given to families in the eighth and ninth generations, and suggests that such be now inserted, 1 to 71 inclusive for the former, and 1 to 15 inclusive for the latter ; hereafter the families in these two generations will be referred to by these numbers, and additional families will be designated by the next following numbers. It would be well to add the proper Arabic numerals to the VIII.'s and IX.'s in the last columns of the seventh and eighth generations, and to change the parenthetical references in the ninth generation to VIII. followed by the family number used as suggested above.

In order to make the work as concise as possible, changes are here noticed as belonging to a person by her or his generation, family and letter ; or to her husband (“husb”) or his “wife” ; or to a family by its generation and number : e. g. the first addition shows that Israel Jacobs died in 1796, and that his wife died in 1781. Names are not given unless to show errors or additions. Where more than one correction in a family is necessary the family numbers are not repeated.

It is suggested that corrections and additions may be made by writing in the place shown the matter here given, or it may be better to indicate by underlining that the supplement should be consulted for further information at such place. Additional families are given without printing on the reverse so that they may be cut out and pasted on the blanks following each generation in the pamphlet. Additional names in families already given should be pasted near inside edges only of pages so as to be continuous with matter already given, and yet not interfere with succeeding families.
