THE KINCAID FAMILY IN MAINE.

* * * * *

By Rev. C. N. Sinnett.

* * * * *

Many misty legends and traditions cluster around the name of Patrick Kincaid, the Ancestor of this sturdy family in Maine. But out of these the character of this man looms like some strong lighthouse tower when the fog of a summer's morning has lifted and rolled it away. He was a man of hardy, independent spirit, and the light of his helpfulness and glowing faith shone out to all around him. He helped to make his home neighborhood one from which men were warned away from the dangerous and greedy rocks and shoals of life, and attracted to the deep waters of safe, happy and successful living.

The legends which have been handed down to us in the branches of the Kincaid Family are these: "Ancestor Patrick Kincaid came to America from Edinboro, Scotland. His brother John, being the eldest son, inherited the family property. We do not know to how much this amounted, but we suppose that he had a good time with it, for we have never heard anything more about him." "Ancestor Patrick Kincaid became dissatisfied on account of the partiality shown towards his brothers in Scotland, one of whom became a lawyer of some note, and he boldly stepped out to escape from all wranglings. Penniless, as he was, he felt sure that he could win his way in the New World."

Another says, "My great-grandfather, Patrick Kincaid, because his father only gave him a trade, while he gave all of his property to the older son, and told to Patrick to go to work, came to America. He often said that he could never stay in a country where so much difference was made between two sons in a family." "His Maine homestead was about two miles from Brunswick Village, to the west, as you turn north. This was always called the Kincaid District. Patrick Kincaid worked faithfully, and prospered so well that he could give each of his three sons a good farm, and have a fine property left to himself."

The family traditions state that Patrick Kincaid came directly to Brunswick, Me., from Scotland. But Mr. Francis Greene in "The History of Boothbay, Me." states that Ancestor Kincaid and his wife Mary were members of the First Church of Boothbay soon after 1760. "It might thus appear that he was a member of one of the sturdy colonies which came to that town. Removing to Brunswick, he entered heartily into the work of the Church there, and he was a deacon of Brunswick First Church in July, 1811, in a list of the members given by Rev. Ebenezer Coffin."

Ancestor Patrick Kincaid is buried beside his wife Mary in the old Paquoit Cemetery, a few miles from Brunswick. His gravestone states that he died Dec 27, 1817, aged 74 years. This shows that the date of his birth was about 1743. His wife was born in Aug or Oct, 28, 1748, and she died Dec 25, 1821. She is said to have been a dau of David Stanwood and Mary Hunt, and thus descended from two very strong old Brunswick, Me., families. She was a woman of great activity and sagacity, while her faith and helpfulness were of a sterling quality.

The children of Ancestor Patrick Kincaid inherited his industrious and sturdy qualities, with a great love of home and country, which has been handed down through many generations. These children are given as arranged by a grandchild, Mr. William Kincaid, Bradford, Pa.

(2) David Kincaid born Boothbay, Me., Aug 19, 1774; died Saturday, Feb 20, 1841, aged 66 years and 4 months. In 1814 he was a private at Bath, Maine, in the Military Company of Capt. Richard T. Dunlap. He was a very successful farmer and a man of great integrity of character.

His first wife, Affia Coombs was born at Brunswick, Me., Oct 14, 1785 and d Dec 15, 1808, in her 21st year. She was the dau of Anthony Coombs and Mercy Snow.

David Kincaid m (2) Feb 7, 1810 Abigail Waldron of Portland, Me., born at Barrington, N.H. Aug 22, 1789; died June 20, 1877, the dau of Abraham Waldron and Mary Ashley. This wife inherited many noble qualities from patriotic and public-spirited ancestors. "Four generations of the Waldron Family in England are given in Vol 8 of the New England Genealogical and Antiquarian Register, page 78. On pages 55 and 56 of Vol 9, the family of Major Richard Waldron is given. On page 86 is the statement, "Later generations of the Waldron Family are recorded in the Family History owned by N. Sheafe Waldron, Esqr., Major of the U. S. Marine Corps, he being a great-grandson of Major Richard Waldron." A tradition makes Abigail Waldron a descendant of this Major Richard Waldron, but she may have been descended from his brother William. The brothers and sisters of this Abigail Waldron were all born at Barrington, N.H.

The children of the 1st marriage of David-Kincaid were born at Brunswick, Me., and the dates, etc., are copied from the Kincaid Family Bible at Bradford, Pa.
