

KINKADE GENEALOGY

KINKADE GENEALOGY

There are two versions of why our particular branch of the Kincaid clan moved from southern Scotland to the north of Ireland. One version is that about 1610, King James of England confiscated more than half a million acres in the north of Ireland. He was determined to settle these district colonies from England and Scotland. The lands were divided into portions of 2,000, 1,500 and 1,000 acres according to the capacity of the undertakers. The Order of Baronstage was instituted by King James and this title was conferred in connection with these plantations. Thus emigration from England and Scotland was encouraged and enforced by the Crown. It was at this time that our ancestors went from Scotland to Ireland. (By John Henry Kinkade, Marysville, Ohio) (F-4)

The other version runs like this: The Kincaids were at that time (1610) all Scots, one clan inhabiting one parish (a division like our township). The King had trouble with his Scotch subjects. Many of them were rebellious and were suspected of disloyalty. Among such was a part of the Kinkade clan. Parliament passed an act of sequestration, which was in effect confiscating the property of those found to be disloyal, and as a mark of distinction their names were spelled Kinkade, and they were transferred to Ireland. Since that time our family may be traced in the line of kindred. Since the reign of King James of England all who spell the name KINKADE are in our line of kin; those who spell it KINCAID or any other way with only one "K" are of the Scotch line. (By John Thompson Kinkade, E-3)

Whether the move was accompanied by a noble title or was the result of being banished, the Kinkade line as we know it now dates from the reign of King James. About the middle of the 18th century, the first Kinkade of whom we have any record, John Kinkade, left Ireland and came to the United States. For purposes of identification, his father is, in this study, designated as A-1. John, the son, is designated B-1. His children are designated as "C", his grandchildren as "D", his great-grandchildren as "E", etc. The number that follows the letter is for the purpose of identifying specific individuals in each generation. Example: D-11, David Kinkade is the great-grandson of the original Kinkade in Ireland and is the grandson of the first Kinkade in the United States.

At present this study is quite incomplete. Many of the descendants are identified--but often nothing is known of their descendants. For those who are known, it is possible to trace the ancestry right back to the original Kinkade in Ireland. Individuals who find themselves or their fathers or grandfathers listed here can do the same. Relationship with other persons bearing the name Kinkade can be determined simply by going backward until a common ancestor is found.

Won't you please help complete this study by identifying one of the people listed as your ancestor and then supplying me with information about those not yet listed--or additional information about those who are listed. Very helpful in identification are the : (1) Full names of the husband, wife and children. (2) Date of birth, ~~death~~ and marriage. (3) Maiden names of women who married Kinkades--and the full names of the men that Kinkade women have married. (4) Place of birth, places lived, and occupation. Biographical information will be of interest although it will not be included in the initial study. Already much of the information known about the Kinkade family has been placed with leading genealogical societies and genealogical libraries. Those now living may possess knowledge of the family that will be lost to their descendants for all time if it is not preserved in a study such as this.

I hope to have a wide-spread mailing of the following list. The names and addresses are being obtained from the telephone directories on file in the San Francisco office of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company. While they list the major communities of the United State, they do not pretend to cover all of them. They tell me only those persons bearing the name of Kinkade. Won't you help me to reach people bearing other names who possess information about the family? Send them this list--or give me their names and addresses so I can send a list. Let's make the study as complete as possible!!!!!!

One last, but extremely important point. Many of the names on the following list appear again and again in successive generations or in different families of the same generation. To avoid confusion, will you always: IDENTIFY THE PERSON YOU ARE DISCUSSING BY USING HIS OR HER LETTER AND NUMBER! This is the number that is found immediately in front of the individual's name. Thank you!

I am Hulme Kinkade (H-46) of 30 Van Tassel, San Anselmo, California.

THE KINKADES IN THE UNITED STATES

In the following list, the number in front of the name indicates two things: (1) the generation of the individual, and (2) the number by which this particular individual can be identified when talking about him. If known, the name of the spouse is given to aid in identification. The numbers that follow identify the individuals ancestors, with his father first, then grandfather next, etc. (Families are easily identified--with the same father, they are brother or sister).

There it is--the Kinkade family tree as I know it today. My apologies for any errors. Let me know about the errors and I'll correct them. Let me know about ^{pages} those omitted and I'll add them to the list. "B" through "I"--eight generations of Kinkades in the United States. But where are the younger people. Some of the "I" designations are grandparents by now. Let me know about the "J's" and the "K's".

The great bulk of the names enumerated in the above list were taken from two genealogical studies. One of them was compiled in 1901 by John Harry Kinkade of Marysville, (H-41) Ohio. The other study was made in 1932 by Benjamin Dixon, who grew up in Kahoka, Missouri --but at that time was with the U.S. Navy. I have a copy of John Harry Kinkade's study. I have used a library copy of Benjamin Dixon's study. If anyone has a copy that they would be willing to part with, I'd certainly welcome the opportunity to add it my growing library of Kinkade genealogy. I understand that Mr. Dixon has compiled a supplement to his study. I am trying to borrow a copy.

I would like to express my appreciation to my uncle LeRoy Kinkade (G-66) of Tahlequah Oklahoma, Emma Meyers of Hayward, California. Gladys Shaeffer of Roseville, California and Rachel Kinkade Roberts (G-3) of Sunnyside, Wash. for encouragement and for the material they supplied me.

I have contacted about seventy-five libraries and genealogical societies to see if there have been any additional studies made. The only result has been references to scattered individuals. If you know of such studies, let me know how I can obtain a copy!

Goodbye for now!

Your relative
