"Sir, it certainly becomes the Church of God, in whose cause I speak, to endure blows and not strike them; but, may it please your Majesty also to remember that it is an anvil which has worn out many a hammer."

—THEODORE DE BEZA TO THE KING OF NAVARRE.

Author's Preface

THE initial reason for the compilation of this genealogy was an interesting but exhaustive search for my mother's ancestral line. She was a born LeVan of Western New York State. I had joined the Sons of the American Revolution by way of my great-great-grandfather, the Rev. William Coon of Berlin, Rensselaer Co., N. Y., and so pleased and pardonably proud was I that my paternal ancestors had fought for American Independence, it became an obsession with me to learn if a maternal ancestor had participated in that memorable conflict against the mother country. Moreover, family tradition had it that the LeVans were of Huguenot (French Protestant) extraction. This alone would have been sufficient to add zest to my researches, which reached into twenty-nine States of the Union and into Canada.

More than a year elapsed while in quest of my LeVan ancestry, and my LeVan Card Index had grown to cards on nearly 2,500 LeVans, hundreds of whom I had met. They urged me to "untangle all the LeVan genealogical knots and publish the results", for they wanted to know more than mere tradition as to the pit from which they were digged. When informed of the cost of publishing a 500 copy edition, they still continued to urge the project, saying,— "the freundschaft will loyally back you up financially." Thus urged, I decided to proceed, and have now finished my task as completely as it is practical.

The task of compilation has covered a generous portion of seven years, the material coming from personal interviews, correspondence, family bibles, other genealogies, the Pennsylvania Archives, court house records, wills, deeds, orphans court and partition proceedings, birth, marriage and death registers, etc., etc.

I want to express my gratitude for the assistance rendered in the early stages of my work by the Rev. J. Nathan LeVan of Easton, Pa. Of the many others who were correspondingly helpful I can here mention but a few: Rev. John Baer Stoudt, president of The Huguenot Society of Pennsylvania; Mrs. Edith White Birch, present secretary of the same society; Mrs. Mary Owen Steinmetz, former registrar of the same; Mr. James B. Laux, historian of the Empire State S. A. R.; Miss Minnie Fogel Mickley, first editor-in-chief of the D. A. R. magazine and author of "The Mickley Genealogy"; Mr. Addams Stratton McAllister, president of the National Genealogical Society; former Senator, the Hon. Fred-eric Godcharles of Milton, Pa.; Judge Samuel E. Bertolet of Reading, Pa.; the LeVan-Dreisbach Association of Columbia Co., Pa.; the LeVan Family Association of Western New York State; the Bertolet Family Association of Pa.; the Genealogical Society of Pa.; the Berks County Historical Society; Miss Annie Addams MacDonald, State Librarian, Harrisburg, Pa.; Mr. Thomas S. LeVan of Kutztown, Pa.; Mr. Royal T. LeVan, Sanborn, N. Y.; Mr. Eugene DeTurk, Kutztown, Pa.; Mr. Chester LeVan DeTurk, Oley, Pa.; and Mr. Aaron S. T. LeVan, Reading, Pa.

As far as I know, there is no incorrect data incorporated in my work. However, as I have found it necessary in a few isolated instances to correct such redoubtable researchers as Morton L. Montgomery and the Rev. A. Stapleton, I cannot presume my work to be without its faults.

I have thought it wise, economically, to incorporate only the names of individuals whose lines I have run back to the progenitor, Daniel LeVan of Picardy, France. This necessitates,—and I say it with profound regret,—that some five hundred LeVan descendants be left out of this compilation. These consist largely of LeVans of the West and South, and most of them I have run back from three to five generations, but have been unable to weave them into the LeVan fabric in loco. I feel sure that if all the LeVan descendants, to whom I mailed charts to fill in, had only returned them to me, many of these "lost LeVans" would be accounted for. As a matter of interest and LeVan loyalty, I shall be glad to give data I have, for return postage, to any LeVan descendants who may find themselves omitted from The LeVan Genealogy.

If my humble effort helps to heighten the morale of The LeVan Family, my work shall not have been in vain. To The LeVan Descendants, preacher-like, let me say in conclusion,—“Your Huguenot forefathers were of God’s nobility. See that you govern yourselves accordingly.”

Historical Section

IN the strictest sense, every LeVan descendant in this Genealogy has the blood of the Huguenots flowing in his veins. Many other Huguenot tributaries have by intermarriage swelled the coursing "mainstream", among them—the Balliets, Beavers, Bertolets, Boyers, DeLongs, DeTurks, Florys, Griesemers, Grimms, Herbeins, the Hillegas family, Hoyers, Kauffmans, LaBarres, Lorahs, Melots (Millots), Mickleys (Michelets), Mommas (Mummas), Phillipis, Sallades, Woodrings (Vautrins). All these families are of Huguenot name and descent. With these must be numbered all LeVan daughters' descendants, the name LeVan disappearing. Also, we must not overlook the many daughters of other names than LeVan but LeVan descendants nevertheless, and who, by marrying and having children, have still further hidden the course of the LeVan mainstream. All these are of Huguenot strain, an honor second to none.

The Huguenots were French citizens from all walks of life, who, following the protests of Luther the German and Calvin the Frenchman against conditions, traditions and outworn dogmas of the Roman Catholic Church, formed and constituted The Reformed Church of the great Reformation. Incidentally, let us remember that John Calvin, the earliest great spiritual leader of the Huguenots, was born in 1509 at Noyon, France, in the Province of Picardy, the native Province of our progenitors, Daniel LeVan and Marie Beau.

From the beginning, the Protestants of France had a "rough and rugged road to travel", persecutions starting with the Huguenot, Jean Le Clerk, being burned at the stake in 1525. Thousands of the adherents of the Church of Rome, the nobility as well as the common people, now espoused the faith of Protestantism, and the hotter the persecutions, the faster their numbers grew. The bulk of Protestantism, now estimated at over a million souls, became so formidable as to arouse the fears of the political authorities, and, beginning in 1560 under the regime of the Italian Queen Regent, Catherine de Medici, for sixty-nine years civil war drenched the soil of France with blood, the Papists fighting under the standard of the Dukes de Guise and the Huguenots under the Prince de Conde. When the Huguenot forces were victorious, the French government would make peace (?), lightening the political and religious restrictions on the Protestants. This, obviously, was only to permit the State to recoup its strength, for, led by Roman Catholic minds, the State authorities would make some flagrant breach of the "peace" under the flimsiest pretext, and political and religious restrictions were laid heavier than ever upon the French Protestants.

During the early period of this seventy years of almost continual internecine war, the massacre of twelve thousand Huguenot prisoners of war occurred at Amboise. Later, that great Huguenot leader, the Prince of Conde, was assassinated and his body dragged through the streets. Then, on August 22, 1572, the Duke de Coligny, able coadjutor of the slain Prince de Conde, was shot, but not mortally, by an assassin. On Sunday morning, August 24th, when the cathedral bell tolled in Paris, the Massacre of St. Bartholomew began with the stabbing of the noble Coligny by a servant of the Duke de Guise. It is generally conceded that the number of Huguenots slaughtered in this massacre went into many thousands. This climax of outrages violently shocked the entire Protestant world. On the other hand, Rome was so pleased with the wholesale murder of Protestants that Pope Gregory XIII. had a medal struck off in commemoration of the event. A specimen is preserved in the British Museum, London, England.

Peace endured for a brief time, until the Duke de Guise, a willing agent of the Pope, started civil war again. He routed the forces of Henry III., and, proceeding to Paris, made a gesture toward being made King himself. He was assassinated by order of Henry, Dec. 23, 1588. Henry, with the support of the Huguenots, now waged war against The League of the Holy Union, the followers of the assassinated Guise. He retook Paris, but, on August 2, 1589, was assassinated in turn by the murderer, Jacques Clement, who was "eulogized by the Romanists, and commended by Pope Sextus 'as an act comparable for the salvation of the world with the resurrection of Christ'."

Henry of Navarre, the Huguenot leader, now became King of France, succeeding the Catholic House of Valois. At last the Huguenots breathed in respite from persecutions and wars, when the shocking news smote their souls that Henry of Navarre had gone over to the Catholics! To the most careful observer Henry's reign affords a problem to solve,—whether or no he was a Papist at heart as well as politically. For, it was he who promulgated the Edict of Nantes in 1598, which, with its "limited toleration put an end to the terrible wars which had already cost France over a million of her subjects, reduced many of her towns to ashes, ruined her industries, and brought her to the verge of destruction."

Henry of Navarre (Henry IV.) was assassinated by a Jesuit, May 14, 1610, because he had defied the Pope and tolerated the Protestants. He was succeeded by the Queen Regent, Mary de Medici, the new King, Louis XIII., being only eight years of age. Both were manipulated by the Papal intriguers. Louis XIII., in 1620, sent an army into the Protestant Principality of Navarre, because they would not turn over their properties to the Catholic Church, and a reign of terror ensued in Navarre. Outraged, pillaged and robbed, the limit of endurance of all the Protestants of France was reached, and, on May 10, 1621, they agreed on armed resistance. For a time success attended them, and a temporary peace was affected, only to have the conflict renewed by Cardinal Richelieu, the power behind the throne of France, in the siege of La Rochelle, the stronghold of Protestantism. The Huguenots of this city were beleaguered for more than a year. After two-thirds of its inhabitants had perished, it capitulated Oct. 28, 1628, and, on Aug. 21st, Montauban, the last Huguenot strongholds surrendered, and the French Protestant struggle to maintain their guaranteed rights by force of arms was at an end.

The political power of the Huguenots broken, the Papists now began their "peace time" warfare against "the heretics", namely, the corruption of the ecclesiastical heads of the Protestant faith. They failed utterly, though practically all the nobility had been ensnared by being given preferred positions at Court. At least there was this respite for the Huguenots,—there was no more civil war.

And then, in 1676, Louis XIV. professed to have reformed from his fearfully scandalous immoralities, and, to prove it, he proceeded to "extirpate heresy" in his kingdom, which meant not so much the extinction of Protestantism as the absolute obliteration of all Protestants "cumbering" the soil of France.

"Among the modes of extirpation was the introduction of the Dragonades. This consisted of quartering the soldiery upon the Huguenots who were compelled to support them. The privacy of the home was broken up, all valuables were taken, defenseless women ravished, and all manner of horrors perpetrated by the brutal soldiery. The new regulations on marriage created scandalous situations for Protestants—they were not legally (?) married! The privileges of worship were so circumscribed that it was practically impossible to have public religious services. One by one the great Protestant churches were demolished, in many instances the wretched Huguenots themselves compelled to perform the work of demolition, and at the point of the bayonet! The situation was now terrible, and thousands sought relief by flight, which the authorities sought to prevent, but in vain."

To add insult to injury, the King, on Oct. 18, 1685, issued the Revocation of the Edict of Nantes, the edict of Toleration for French Protestants issued eight-seven years before by Henry of Navarre. With conditions intolerable at home, the Huguenots were forbidden to emigrate, and if they did, their property was to be confiscated by the State after four months.

Thousands, hundreds of thousands of Protestants,—some estimating the number from 500,000 to 1,000,000, including 15,000 of the nobility, fled the everlasting scorpion-love of their Catholic brethren, to accept asylum offered them by all the Protestant Sovereigns of the world. They settled in England, Switzerland, Germany, Denmark, Sweden, Russia, Holland and America, and even in Northern Africa and South America. Wherever Huguenots emigrated, their indefatigable industry, their skill, honesty and intelligence, made them invaluable assets to their adopted country, whether they were statesmen, manufacturers, artisans, mechanics, agriculturists, or from the professions. They were Protestants by faith, not by politics. Manufacturers and mechanics located in the cities, while agriculturists, naturally, took up the broken thread of their life in the country. More Huguenot refugees found an asylum in Holland than in any other country, and Amsterdam had the largest quota of these.

A vast number of emigrating Huguenots were apprehended and were sent to the "galleys",—prison ships. Here they were chained to their bench-seats, to man the oars, to sleep (?), to eat, in all sorts of weather, and night and day. Some were thus imprisoned for twenty-seven years! Of course, many perished.

The LeVan Family in Europe

The following was presented to the Editor by Mr. John J. Lewis (No. 1950), of Mt. Carmel, Pa., and purports to come from Vienna Heraldry, Vol. III., p. 177, and other sources. Unfortunately, Vienna Heraldry cannot be regarded as 100% authentic, but I incorporate the data, true or imaginary, as provocative of surmise.

The LeVan Family

An old French family of Knights and Nobles, who originally came from Norway and Sweden, from whence they spread themselves through France, Germany and England.

The first of the name, Kuebach LeVan, a leader of a Norwegian band, which he conveyed by ship to France, where they landed in the most northern coast of Normandie. He conquered the early inhabitants and made them submissive and tributary to him. Later he stormed the castle of Count DeBonneville, when all the inhabitants of the castle were slain except Beatrice DeBonneville, the beautiful daughter of the Count, who was spared and was married to Kuebach LeVan against her will. He died A. D. 952, and left a son, Hugo LeVan.

Several of the descendants joined Norman Grand Duke William, the Conqueror, and after the conquest of England, returned to Normandie. Nothing is known of them, only Bertram LeVan married in France, that is in Normandie. This descendant flourished and was held in high esteem during his lifetime.

Louis LeVan was a physician, who lived in La Rochelle in 1695. From France he went to Pfalz and studied at Heidelberg. He married Marie Kremer, and afterward finished his medical course. Soon after, the French invaded the Pfalz region, and Louis moved away from the Rhine. Where he went to, and where his descendants settled, is not known.

The Coat of Arms was borne by the first ancestor. In the shield is a lion. The crest is also a lion. The LeVan genius is a lion. The crown in the crest is that of one of the family who won the first prize in a tournament. (See Vienna Heraldry, Vol. III., p. 177).

The LeVan Family in Holland

The LeVan Family were among the refugees who fled from France to Holland, probably after the Revocation of the Edict of Nantes (1685). Family tradition says they were manufacturers of brocade and taffetas in their native country, and that they were of considerable wealth. The same tradition states that the mother,—Marie (Beau) LeVan, wife of Daniel,—thrifty and ingenious, employed an odd but clever ruse to bring some of their wealth out of France. She made a dress of "squares", into which blocks or squares she sewed gold pieces.

As so many other Huguenots did, the LeVans affiliated themselves with the Amsterdam Refugee Church of the Walloons who had preceded the Huguenots to Holland. We learn this from the baptismal records of this church, in which it appears that Abraham, son of Daniel LeVan and Marie Beau, was born May 20, 1698, and was baptized by Monsieur H. Colviens in the presence of Abraham Fabre and Susana LeVan as witnesses. A baptismal certificate, with the above record, was made out at Amsterdam the 18th of September, 1751, by Josias Belisargne, "ancien" or Clerk of said church, and was evidently secured by post from Holland by Abraham LeVan, son of Daniel LeVan and Marie Beau, who, in 1751 was located in Oley Township, Berks Co., Pennsylvania. The original transcript of this baptism is now (1927) in the possession of Miss Hester Moyer LeVan, 1020 Chestnut St., Reading, Pa., a great-great-great-granddaughter of said Abraham LeVan.

The LeVan Family in America

Rev. A. Stapleton, in his "Memorials of the Huguenots in America", published in 1901, and now out of print, says,—“About 1715 four sons of the refugee (Daniel LeVan) set out for Pennsylvania. They were Abraham, Isaac, Jacob and Joseph, the latter of whom died at sea. These were followed in 1727 by their brother Daniel, and all of whom settled in the limits of Berks County (Pa.).”

Morton L. Montgomery, in his "Historical and Biographical Annals of Berks County, Pa.", published 1909, says, p. 608,—“The family (LeVan) was founded in America by three brothers, Jacob, Isaac and Abraham, who fled from their native land in 1715 to escape persecution and came to Pennsylvania . . .” On pages 1048 and 1052 he also says these three brothers came to America “in about 1730, this fact being established by the record of land grants made to him (Isaac) bearing the dates 1731, 1734, and 1737-38, as well as grants made him along the Schuylkill river, this land aggregating in all over one thousand acres, most of which was in Exeter Township, (Berks Co., Pa.). Some of the property has remained in the family ever since.” Again, on p. 1066, he says,—“Jacob LeVan . . . came to America in 1717 with his two brothers . . .”. Both Rev. A. Stapleton and Mr. Morton L. Montgomery agree as to the date of arrival of the fourth brother, Daniel LeVan, namely, 1727. Naturally, for the State of Pennsylvania first began to keep record of its immigrants in 1727, and the name of Daniel LeVan stands third on the list that numbered thousands, as witness the Pennsylvania Archives in loco. See also page 7, “Names of Foreigners of Penna., 1727-1808”, by William H. Egle, late Librarian of the State of Pennsylvania.

“In the summer of 1727 Daniel LeVan embarked at Rotterdam in the good ship ‘William and Sarah’, Captain William Hill. The ship touched port at Dover, England, and then started on the long voyage to Philadelphia, where it arrived early in September . . . There were upwards of three hundred persons on the ship, of which 117 were males over sixteen years of age, and of this number sixty-two were ill on board at the time of arrival, and four had died on the voyage. Those who were well signed the Declaration, and the sixty-two, who were ill, were signed by the Clerk of the Board of the Provincial Council held at Philadelphia, September 21, 1727. Among the latter so signed was that of Daniel LeVan.” (See p. 1190, Montgomery’s “Hist. & Biog. Annals of Berks Co., Pa., 1909).

Messrs. Stapleton, Montgomery and Egle all drew much, if not all, of their LeVan data from the researches of the late Rev. Franklin Klein LeVan (No. 2109), one of the Founders of the Pennsylvania-German Society. As the names of Jacob, Isaac and Abraham LeVan, brothers of Daniel, do not appear in the record lists of arrivals after 1727, it is only logical to conclude they must have arrived here before that date. As to the "about 1715" or "in 1717" statements of Stapleton and Montgomery, I presume they followed the data of Rev. F. K. LeVan, who, in turn, must have followed family tradition. This is not unlikely, as the Rev. LeVan was born a mere one hundred years subsequent to the arrival of his progenitor, Jacob LeVan, one of the four brothers.

The four pioneer brothers, and the one sister, Anna Elizabeth (No. 7), settled within the confines of Berks County, Pa.—Abraham in Oley, Isaac in Exeter, Jacob in Maxatawny Tp., as also Daniel and the sister Anna Elizabeth.

Abraham LeVan (No. 2 in this gen.) lived a quiet, agricultural life in the beautiful Oley Valley a few miles from Reading, Pa. The roomy stone homestead he built about 1740 is still standing in the midst of its fair acres (179), owned in 1927 by his descendants, Heyman E. and Katie M. (LeVan) Bertolet, No.'s 2973 and 1530 respectively. A tenant works the farm for Mr. Bertolet. The pioneer lies buried with several generations of eldest sons and their wives in the private cemetery of the pioneer, a few hundred feet from the old homestead. His unrecorded will, a copy of which is in possession of his descendant, Mrs. Hannah (LeVan) DeTurk of Friedensburg, B. C., Pa., gave original data on the children and grandchildren of the pioneer. A transcript of said Copy of Abraham LeVan's unrecorded will is (1927) in the possession of the Editor of this genealogy.

Isaac LeVan (No. 3), who settled at what is now Jacksonwald, Exeter Tp., B. C., Pa., was probably the most well-to-do of the four pioneer LeVan brothers, owning over 1,000 acres of land, including numerous lots in the city of Reading. In 1770 he removed to Reading, where he died in 1783, as witness a caveat by two of his sons, issued to hold up the settling of his will until they had a chance to dispute it. He was associated in business with the celebrated Conrad Weiser of Reading and Womelsdorf, Pa., who, for so many years, was interpreter and intermediary between the Pennsylvania authorities and the Indians, preventing many uprisings of the latter. Together, Weiser and Isaac LeVan secured the original property for the congregation of the oldest Reformed Church in Reading, Pa. Isaac's niece, Esther, daughter of Daniel LeVan of Maxatawny Tp., B. C., Pa., married Conrad Weiser's son Benjamin who lived in Heidelberg Tp., B. C., Pa., and Isaac's own daughter, Judith, married Samuel Weiser. No greater factor in the early settlement of Pennsylvania existed than Conrad Weiser, save William Penn, and it is of note how closely allied the Weiser and LeVan Families were.

Stapleton first made the mistake, and then all historians who followed fell into the same error, of believing and stating that Daniel LeVan, son of Daniel the pioneer in Maxatawny Tp., B. C., Pa., was the individual who "was admitted to the Bar at Reading, Pa., in 1768, and became a lawyer of considerable prominence", filling every political office within the gift of the County. In the will of Daniel LeVan (No. 6 in this gen.), drawn in 1776, he says,—"until my son Daniel LeVan shall arrive to the age of twenty-one years (if he lives so long.)" Supposing him to have been as old as possible, that is twenty, and yet under twenty-one in 1776, he would have been born in 1756, making it an utter impossibility for him to be admitted to the Bar in 1768 at the age of twelve. The noted Daniel LeVan who was elected to nearly every County office, was a son of Isaac, the pioneer of Exeter Tp., B. C., Pa., as witness Deed, B2—78, "indenture made Nov. 11, 1774, between Isaac LeVan, Senior, of the Town of Reading . . . Gentleman and Mary Margaret his Wife of the One Part and Daniel LeVan of Heidelberg Township Berks County Attorney at Law of the other Part, witnesseth that the said Isaac LeVan and Mary Margaret his Wife, for the Natural Love and Affection which they have and bear for the said Daniel LeVan, their Son . . .". The Deed proceeds in detail concerning two tracts of land, and is "recorded Feb. 28, 1775, witnesses,—Henry Christ and George Nagel". A Deed of June 10, 1779, B7—37, shows Daniel LeVan, Attorney at Law, of Heidelberg Tp., B. C., Pa., had removed to Reading, Pa. The Deed is one of sale to him from his father, of Lot 72 in The Ground Plan of Reading, and proceeds to say,—“It is the same Lot of ground which Ann Eve Weiser, the widow and Relict, and also a Devisee of Conrad Weiser, deceased, by Indenture of the 5th day of January, 1761, recorded in the office for Recording of Deeds at Reading in and for the County of Berks in Book A., Vol. 2., pp. 252, 253 . . .”. This property is now, 1927, the N. W. corner of 5th and Court Sts., Reading. Daniel LeVan (No. 18), Attorney at Law, was an Indian interpreter prior to the Revolution, and of the 4th Company, Berks County militia. While Judge at Reading he was Chief Burgess. He was one of the judges of the Court of Justice established under the Constitution of 1776. He served as Treasurer of the County from 1779 to 1789, and as such had charge of the monies raised in the County for the militia; as Sheriff of the County from 1777 to 1779; as Prothonotary from 1779 to 1789, and again in 1791; and as Clerk of Quarter Sessions from 1780 to 1791. It will be noted that he was, at one and the same time, County Treasurer, Prothonotary, and Clerk of Quarter Sessions. He was buried at Sixth and Washington Streets, Reading, Pa., and, after interment of eighty-seven years, his dust was removed to the Charles Evans Cemetery in the same city. In his will, 1792, B—288, he provides for the disposal of his properties, totalling 1561 $\frac{1}{4}$ acres.

Jacob LeVan (No. 4) settled at Eagle Point, Maxatawny Tp., B. C., Pa. He was one of the first settlers of that region, and an extensive land owner, the present flourishing Borough of Kutztown being built on part of his estate. He erected the first grist mill in this section of the country. The mill is still standing (1927), an interesting and romantic symbol of bygone industry. He and his family used the front part of the mill as their home until their massive mansion was built, patterned after Jacob LeVan's ancestral home in Northern France. On the inside lintel of the door leading into the great hall was carved "1740", the date of its erection. To the Rev. John Baer Stoudt of Allentown, Pa., we are indebted for this excerpt from his article on "The LeVan Family", in "The Centennial History of Kutztown, Pa."

"The building was razed in 1844. The cellar, containing a spring of water, was arched, the masonry of the arch being so firm that it was only with difficulty it could be demolished. What a pity that this splendid example of colonial architecture was destroyed! The hospitality of its owners was famed far and wide, and under its roof were entertained many noted men of the Colonial and Revolutionary periods. It was from the balcony of the mill that Count Zinzendorf, of the Moravian Church in America, preached to the settlers in the fall of 1742, and also that Rev. Michael Schlatter, the organizer of the Reformed Church and the first Superintendent of Public Instruction (of the State of Pa.), preached to a large multitude of people, June 28, 1747.

The LeVan home was the stopping place for the Moravian missionaries on their journeys to the various German settlements in Pennsylvania and adjoining colonies and to the Indians, the most noted of whom were Count Zinzendorf, Bishop Augustus Gottlieb Spangenburg, Bishop John Christopher Frederick Cammerhoff and Rev. Leonard Schnell In 1756, the period of the French and Indian war, the Indians began to make incursions into the County, and massacred many of the settlers in Heidelberg and Albany townships in Berks County, and Lynn and Heidelberg townships in Lehigh County. Jacob LeVan was instrumental in organizing a volunteer company to protect the settlers . . . so they 'could plant their crops and repair their fences'. It was called The Maxatawny and Allemangle Independent Guard, and consisted of 24 men, who served . . . from April 3 to May 11. In 1758 Jacob LeVan was Commissary for the following frontier forts: Peter Doll's Block House, Fort Lehigh, Fort Allen, A Block House and Fort Evert. (See Pennsylvania Archives.) He was judge of the County Courts from 1752 to 1762."

Colonel Sebastain LeVan (No. 21), the eldest son of Jacob LeVan, first became active in the cause of the patriots when, on Dec. 5, 1774, he was elected a member of the Berks County, Pa., Committee of Observation, upon which he served, one of 15 members. From this Committee he was chosen a delegate to the Provincial Convention, Feb. 2, 1775. He was a delegate from the 7th Battalion to the Lancaster Convention in July, 1776, and subsequently served up to 1777, with the rank of Colonel of the 7th Battalion. He was elected a representative on the Standing Committee, serving later in the State Assembly during 1779-80, and also as a Councillor on the Supreme Executive Council for 1782-1784.

Daniel LeVan (No. 6), settled in Maxatawny Tp., B. C., Pa., a mile or so from his brother Jacob of Eagle Point. He built his stone homestead just over the hill from the present eastern terminus of the Borough of Kutztown, and beside the unimproved highway that ran from Reading to Easton. In 1755 this road was improved by order of the State after petition of thirty citizens of Berks and Northampton Counties, the list being headed by Conrad Weiser, and included two of the LeVan brothers, Jacob and Daniel. Traffic soon grew to such a volume that Daniel LeVan enlarged his original homestead, built probably as early as 1740, and, in 1765 (?), made it practically double its original size, and set up in business as proprietor of what is said to be the oldest hostelry in the eastern part of Berks County. In one of the longest and most explicit wills imaginable, and drawn up by his nephew, Colonel Sebastian LeVan, Daniel LeVan left this property to his son Daniel. In 1788 it came into the possession of Susanna (LeVan) Kemp and her husband, Captain George Kemp of the American Revolution, who conducted it for fifty-two years. It is still (1927) owned and conducted by the Kemp descendants of Captain George and his wife Susanna LeVan.

From Reading, in 1775, the First Defenders of the nation-to-be marched to Cambridge over the road that passes immediately in front of the LeVan Tavern, now Kemp Hotel. At the approach of Howe's army, the Continental Congress, in session at Philadelphia, adjourned precipitately Sept. 18, 1777, to meet in Lancaster, making their journey thence by way of Bethlehem, Allentown, Kutztown and Reading. In the "Diary of John Adams" he mentions stopping over night at the LeVan Tavern. On the evening of November 12th, 1777, there was a group of half a dozen men at LeVan's, whose conversation one might wish had been more fully reported. One was the Hon. William Ellery, a Signer of the Declaration of Independence, and, as Representative from Rhode Island, at this time a Member of the Continental Congress sitting at York, Pa. From his Diary under that date we learn,—“From thence to LeVan's about 15 miles from Snell's, where we lodged. Here we met Col. John Brown and four other New England men. Brown gave us an account of his expedition to Ticonderoga and of the Mode of Surrendry of the vaunting Burgoyne."

It is quite certain that most of the noted characters of the American Revolution passed over this "Easton Road", en route to and from York, Pa., where the Congress sat so long, and, with every probability, many of them "dined" or remained over night at the LeVan Tavern.

Abraham LeVan (No. 34), according to the Deed (parchment),—now (1927) in the possession of Mrs. Henrietta (LeVan) Wagner of Northampton, Pa.,—for his Siegfried Pa., (now Northampton, Pa.) farm of 209 acres, was "late of Maxtawny Township, County of Berks". The deed is dated in the year 1769, and is recorded in the Recorder's Office, Easton, Pa., Book E., Vol. 3, p. 142. Abraham was 21 years of age at the time, and it is obvious, by his father's will, that the father bought the farm for the boy in trust, but liquidated the debt in his will. In recent years Abraham's descendants sold about 50 acres of this property to the Atlas Cement Company, and, from this property this Company turns out over 75,000 barrels of cement every twenty-four hours.

Abraham LeVan (No. 34), June 18, 1777, was Adjutant of the 4th Battalion, Northampton Co., Pa., militia, which was under the command of Colonel John Siegfried. (See Penna. Archives, 5th Series, Vol. VIII., p. 303). Colonel John Siegfried,—after whom Siegfried, nor Northampton, Pa., was named,—and his Adjutant, Abraham LeVan, were brothers-in-law, each marrying the other's sister. The Colonel married his Adjutant's sister Mary, and Abraham LeVan married his Colonel's sister Magdalena. The Colonel and his eight Companies participated in the battles of Assunpink, Trenton, Princeton, Germantown, White Marsh, Monmouth and Red Bank. (See monument erected to Col. John Siegfried at Northampton, Pa., by the Daughters of the American Revolution).

Solomon LeVan (No. 176) was married in Lehigh Co., Pa., (see "Hist. of Col. and Montour Counties, Pa.",—J. H. Battle, 1887), to Mary Magdalena Balliet, daughter of John Balliet, Captain in the American Revolution, and his wife, Catharine Mickley, daughter of John Jacob Mickley, Jr., grand-daughter of John Jacob Mickley, Sr., gr. gr. grand-dau. of Louis Michelet of Metz and his wife Suzanne Mangeot, a Huguenot. (See "Mickley Genealogy", by Miss Minnie Fogel Mickley, Allentown, Pa.).

From Stapleton's "Memorials of the Huguenots", pages 83 and 84, we learn,—“Paulus Balliet arrived in the Lehigh Valley in 1738 . . . The family was of patrician origin . . . The Balliet Family is traced in many important relations until the XVth century, when a reformer of this name was one of the first to suffer for the cause of the Reformation in the Province of Languedoc.

At a later period, when the horrors of the Revocation (1685) burst upon this Province, Jacques Balliet fled for refuge to Salm, a small District between Alsace and Lorraine. The family soon found there was no safety for Protestants in France, and sought refuge in foreign lands. Of this Family were Paul and Joseph, grandsons of Jacques.

Paul Balliet was married prior to his emigration to Pennsylvania, to Magdalena Vautrin of Lorraine. The name is known in Pennsylvania, as "Woodring". Several of Mrs. Balliet's relatives, among them Abraham Vautrin and John Vautrin (Woodring), also came to Pennsylvania. The former settled in Lehigh and the latter in York County.

Stephen, the 3rd son of Paul Balliet, was a prominent man in his day, and filled many important positions (see Penna. Archives). He was a Colonel in the Revolution, in which capacity he rendered distinguished service to his country. Col. Stephen Balliet was given command of a Battalion at the opening of the Revolution. At the head of his command he participated in the Battle of Brandywine in 1777; he was Member of the Supreme Executive Council 1783-1786, Member of the Convention to ratify the Federal Constitution 1787, Member of the General Assembly 1788-1790, Member of the House of Representatives (Congress) 1794-1797, Revenue Collector 1797. He died August 4, 1821."

Mickley (Michelet) Family

"In the romantic Valley of the Lehigh and the region adjacent, a considerable number of Huguenots, principally Alsatians, settled at an early day. Among the first arrivals in Whitehall Township, Lehigh County, was John Jacob Mickley, who came to America in 1733 and was the founder of a prominent family. Jean Jacques Michelet (this was his French name) was descended from a noble and Protestant family of the city of Metz.

"In 1546 Michael Michelet was given the choice of recanting his faith or burning at the stake. He chose the latter, declaring: 'Inasmuch as God has given me grace to confess the truth, He will not deny me strength to suffer for it.'

"The father of Jean Jacques Michelet, Louis Michelet (1675-1750), was a young merchant of Metz when he was married in 1697 to Suzanne Mangeot, a pious and accomplished young lady of that place. No marriage of Protestants being legal in France, they proceeded to the free city of Zweibrucken (Deux Ponts,—"Two Bridges”), where they were married, and where they also remained until after the birth of Jean Jacques the same year (1697). Louis Michelet was an earnest, devoted man, and soon after his marriage began to exercise the office of the ministry. In course of time he became pastor of the Huguenot congregation in Zweibrucken, where he continued to reside until his death.

“Upon his arrival in America, John Jacob Mickley proceeded to Berks County, Pennsylvania, where he made his home with his kinsman, Jacob LeVan. A few years later he came to the Lehigh Valley where he married Elizabeth Barbara, daughter of Ulrich Burkhalter, and established himself on a large estate on which the village of Mickleys (near Allentown, Pa.) is situated. Here he died in 1769. Many of his descendants have shed additional lustre on the honored family name. His three sons served with distinction in the War of the Revolution, viz.: John Jacob, John Martin and John Henry. The first,—John Jacob Mickley, Jr., is noted as having brought the Liberty Bell from Philadelphia to Allentown, Pa., in September, 1777, in order to save it from capture by the British.” (See also “Mickley Genealogy”, in loco.)

Zion’s Reformed Church, Allentown, Pa., (1927), is the third structure (same denomination)—on the same site where the Liberty Bell was hidden during the American Revolution (1777). In 1908, under the auspices of the Daughters of the American Revolution, the Pennsylvania Legislature placed a large red boulder in front of Zion’s Reformed Church, bearing a splendid bronze tablet with the following inscription:

“In commemoration of the saving of the Liberty Bell from the British, September, 1777, erected to the memory of JOHN JACOB MICKLEY, commissary of issues and member of the General Committee from Whitehall Township, Northampton County, Pa., who, under cover of darkness and with his farm team hauled the Liberty Bell from Independence Hall, Philadelphia, through the British lines to Bethlehem, where the wagon broke down September 23, 1777. The bell was then transferred to Frederick Leiser’s wagon, and brought to Allentown September 24, 1777. It was placed beneath the floor of Zion’s Reformed Church where it remained secreted for nearly a year. This tablet is placed by the order of the Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, June 2, 1907, under the auspices of the Pennsylvania Daughters of the American Revolution, erected October 15, 1908.” (See photo of tablet in this volume).

James Addams Beaver, Governor of Pa.

Governor Beaver (No. 2042), was an American soldier and politician. He graduated at Jefferson College, Canonsburg, Pa., in 1856, and practiced law from 1859 to 1861. From 1861 to 1864 he served in the Federal Army, and in the latter year was mustered out with the rank of brevet brigadier-general. He was Major-General of the Pennsylvania National Guard until 1887, and from 1887 to 1891 was Governor of the State. In 1898 he was appointed a member of the President's commission for the investigation of the War Department, and afterward he served as judge of the Superior Court of Pennsylvania.

"In 1741 arrived from Alsace 'Dieble' (Dewalt) Beaver, aged 43 years, and sons John George, aged 21 . . . They located in the Alsatian Colony in the Oley Hills, a few miles south of Kutztown (Pa.) . . . The foregoing John George Beaver had a son, John George, Jr., who served with distinction in the Revolution. The latter had a son, Peter Beaver (1782-1849), who became a pioneer minister of the Methodist Episcopal Church and was one of the first ministers of that denomination in America to preach in the German language. He was one of the first ministers of this church in the interior of Pennsylvania and died at New Berlin in (now) Union County, where a granite monument marks his resting place and recounts his labors for humanity. Rev. Peter Beaver was the grandfather of General James A. Beaver." (Stapelton, p. 77.) Jacob, son of the Rev. Peter Beaver, was the father of the Governor.

He was a Member of Governor Wm. Leisler's Council in New Amsterdam, and, before that, in 1668, a Member of the Provincial Council (N. J.) under Governor Philip Carteret.

Ruth Woodhull, dau. of Richard, the Emigrant, was a lineal desc. of King Edward II. (see "American Ancestry", Vol. VII., p. 156; also "N. Y. Gen. & Biog. On the maternal side, Mrs. W. P. Coon is a desc. of Anneke Jans, famous for having owned part or all of the present Trinity Church, N. Rev. W. P. Coon served as Chaplain, rank of Captain, 113th Inf., 29th Division, American Expeditionary Forces in France during the World War. Upon his return fr.
