PREFACE.

FOR the sake of simplicity and clearness, the matter of this sketch is arranged in three parts. The first contains, in connection with the explanation of the name Lawrence, a concise account of some of the earliest and more important families and persons of the name in England, and is properly introductory to the second; which comprises within the number of sixty or more families nearly five hundred individuals whose lineage and descent from the original English ancestors, John and Elizabeth of Watertown, can be easily traced by means of the personal and family reference figures employed. The plan does not follow the course of consecutive lineal descent, yet embraces in successive families all those of the same generation. In addition to the births, marriages and deaths as they have been obtained, some not uninteresting and important historical facts have been inserted. The third and last part includes what has been ascertained of other persons of the name, supposed to have come early to this country, who settled in New England and New Netherlands.

To those of the family name and lineage into whose hands this may come, it is not necessary to say, that while there has been an earnest endeavor to secure accuracy in the statements and dates given, yet it will probably be found that many errors have occurred which will need to be corrected. It has been observed in some cases that the records of the town did not agree with those of the Church, nor these again with the family registers and the burial inscriptions. Hence discrepancies arise, which can be rectified only by close comparison and carefully drawn conclusions.

The request is therefore made, that any further particulars, by which what has been hereby commenced may be corrected and improved, may be furnished for the use of those who have been laboring to compile the history of this family and put it into such a form that, concerning those who are not it may be as though they were; while they who shall be will not be left entirely ignorant of those who have been.

The family may be truly said to have had not only a name but a character, for intelligence, probity, piety and usefulness. Enterprising and benevolent, many of them have lived to do good and be blessings in the world. The spirit of philanthropy and charitableness in the living Lawrences is but the spirit of their fathers of former generations, exercised in the possession of ampler means and over a wider sphere of influence.

Many have shown that if not born noblemen, as were others of their name aforetime in the "Father-land," they could and did become such, (noble men) and such let their descendants be.

My acknowledgments are due to several gentlemen from whom important aid has been received in the preparation of this memoir. Particularly would I express them to M. G. Cobb, Esq., of Charlestown, from whom valuable notes were obtained; to the Rev. Mr. Sewall, of Burlington; the Rev. N. Bouton, of Concord, N. H.; C. Butler, Esq., of Groton, whose history of that town, about to be issued, will contain interesting and important statements of the Lawrences of that place; also to Mr. Henry Bass, of Boston, Mr. Z. Hosmer, and Thaddeus W. Harris, M. D., Librarian of Harvard College. To Amos A. Lawrence, Esq., especially, should they be expressed, for the interest which he has taken, and the assistance he has rendered, in this work.

Imperfect though it be, yielding to the desire of esteemed friends, it is committed to the press for the use of the family, in hope that something enlarged and more complete may be published at some future day.

JOHN LAWRENCE.

PART I.

DEFINITION AND USAGE OF THE NAME.

The name Lawrence as applied to men, is of very early origin. The orthography of the word has been slightly varied in its common usage, yet the number of syllables, it is believed, has never been changed; nor the essential vowel and consonant sounds altered. Dissyllabic, with an a and either a single or double u in the first syllable, the second has always had for its vowel short a, or e, followed by ns or nce.

If not in its application to the same person as used in the same family for several successive generations, it has been found written in at least three, if not four various, yet similar ways; namely, Laurens, Laurence, Lawrence, and Laurance. The modern and almost universal orthography of the word is Lawrence. Its derivation we trace to the Latin Laurus—Laurentius. The latter form is that in which the name is found as first given to men. The signification of the word recorded by some one (not an indifferent scholar) on the first page of the Town Records of Hingham, Mass., may be regarded as pretty near the truth. "Christian names for men now most used with the signification, Lawrence—flourishing like a Bay tree."

LAWRENCE OF ITALY.

The first instance of an individual to whom the name belonged who lived in England, which has been ascertained, is that of Lawrence, a monk. In Collier's Dictionary the word is Laurentius. Harris, in his History of Kent, has it Lawrence. By birth a Roman, he came over from Italy to Britain in company with Austin and others, who labored for the propagation of Christianity in the Island. Upon the death of Austin, LAWRENCE, according to previous arrangement, was appointed to succeed him as Archbishop of the See of Canterbury. He is represented to have been a man of good learning and piety, who openly reprov'd the King, Eadbald, son of Ethelbert, for his vices, and succeeded in reforming him so far that he afterwards founded the Monastery of St. Austins, in the Abbey of which Archbishop Lawrence was buried, A. D. 916.

ENGLISH BRANCHES AND CONNECTED HISTORY.

It is, however, to one ROBERT LAWRENCE, of Lancashire, we are to look for the first individual of the name whose family and circumstances entitle him to be considered the Ancestor of the Lawrences of England. Born, probably, as early as A. D. 1150, he accompanied his sovereign, Richard Cœur de Lion, to the war of the Crusades, in the Holy Land, and so distinguished himself in the siege of Acre that he was knighted Sir Robert of Ashton Hall, and obtained for his arms, "Arg. a cross raguly Gu." — A. D. 1191.

Seized of Ashton Hall in Lancashire, his successors held this seat for many generations, and it has been said to have belonged, even of late, to some of Sir Robert's descendants. His son and immediate successor married a daughter of James Trafford, Esq., of Trafford, Lancashire, by whom he had a son and heir, James, who succeeded Sir Robert, his father.

JAMES married Matilda de Washington, daughter of John Washington, of Washington, in 1252. She was an heiress, the only daughter. The son and successor of James Lawrence "living in the thirty-seventh year of Henry III.," by Matilda, was John, who married Margaret, daughter of Walter Chesford, whose son, named John, succeeding his father, married Elizabeth, daughter of — Holt, of Stably, in Lancashire, and died A. D. 1360.

Sir ROBERT, a knight, son and heir of John and Elizabeth Lawrence, married Margaret Holden, of Lancashire, by whom he had sons: first, Robert, ancestor of the Lawrences of Standish, Crich Grange and Sevenhampton; second, Thomas; third, William; fourth, Edmund; — ancestors of other principal branches of the name in England.

I. Sir ROBERT, son of Sir Robert and Margaret Lawrence, born before 1454, married Amphilbis, daughter of Edward Longford, Esq., of Longford, and had sons: first, James, a knight, styled "Sir James of Standish," to distinguish him from another of the name living at the time. He married Cecily, daughter of — Boteler, Esq., of Lancashire, an heiress, and had issue, two sons and a daughter.

Sir Thomas, first son of Sir James and Cecily Lawrence, married

Eleanor, daughter of Lionel Lord Welles, and thus acquired estates in the counties of Lincoln, Nottingham and York. Sir John, a son by this marriage, the seventh knight in a direct line, is said to have possessed, in 1591, thirty-four manors; but being outlawed for crime, died without issue, an exile in France. Cecily, a daughter, married William Gerard, ancestor of the Bromley family of Gerards, to whom Ashton Hall and other estates passed, about 1600.

Robert, second son of Sir Robert and Amphilbis Lawrence, married Margaret, daughter of John Lawrence, Esq., of Rixton, in Lancashire, by whom he had Sir Robert, who married a daughter of Thomas Stanley, Esq., and died in 1571. Also John, who commanded a wing of the English army under Lord Stanley at the battle of Flodden Field, and died without issue, aged thirty-eight years. William, a third son, born 1509, or before, married Isabel Molyneux, daughter of John Molyneux, of Chorley, in Lancashire, and held great estates — Sevenhampton, &c., in Gloucestershire, the manor of the Sea House, Somerset, &c. He had several children, of whom John, Doctor of Laws, was Archdeacon of Worcester, &c. Robert, born at Withington, 1521, married for his second wife Eleanor, daughter of John Stratford, of Farncot, by whom he had: first, William, who received from his father the estates of Shurdington. He married, and had Anthony, his heir, who also married, and had a son William, who died without issue, and the estates went to Littleton Lawrence, Esq., of Cricklade.

Robert, second son of Robert and Eleanor Lawrence, died without issue, 1585. He was of Sevenhampton. Anthony, a third son, married a daughter of William Gradwell, Esq., of Gray's Inn, and had by her Anthony, his heir, a daughter Frances, or Elisabeth, who married William Rogers, Esq., of Sandiwell, and a son William. Anthony Lawrence, Esq., married Mary, daughter of Giles Broadway, Esq., and had two sons and three daughters. Robert Lawrence, Esq., was of Sevenhampton, and the second son, and married Mary, daughter of John Rogers, Esq., of Hazleton, and was the ancestor of "Walter Lawrence, Esq., said to be the last heir-male of the elder branch of the Shurdington family, who died in May, 1810," and likewise of John Lawrence, living unmarried, in 1806, aged 73 years, who was Rector of Sevenhampton.

Nicholas, third son of Sir Robert and Amphilbis Lawrence, living in 1454, married, and had a son Littleton Lawrence, Esq., of Cricklade, who inherited estates under the will of William Lawrence, Esq., of Shurdington, which are still held by his descendants.

The arms of this branch at Shurdington and Sevenhampton, &c., were: "Argent, a cross, raguly gu." Crest — "The tail or lower part of a fish erect and coupé." Estates "in Gloucestershire." Seat, "Sandy-Well Park."

II. THOMAS, second son of Sir Robert and Margaret Lawrence, was the father of Arthur Lawrence, Esq., who was seated at Prior's Court in Gloucestershire. This Arthur was ancestor of John Lawrence, Esq., of Delaford, in Iver, Bucks, and of Chelsea, Middlesex, who was created a baronet in 1628. He married Grisel, daughter of Jarvis Gibbon, Esq., in the county of Kent, and died in 1638.

Sir John Lawrence of Chelsea, his son and successor, married, and had a son, Sir Thomas, who married, but had no issue, and was the last of this baronetcy, which was established in 1628, and became extinct in 1717. It is said that this person just named spent all his estate, and about 1700 emigrated to Maryland, in America.

III. WILLIAM, third son of Sir Robert and Margaret above, born 1425, or before, fought under the Lancastrian banner at St. Albans, in 1455, where he fell, and was buried in the Abbey of St. Albans.

IV. EDMUND, (the youngest of the four sons of Sir Robert Lawrence, who married Margaret Holden,) is said to have married a daughter of Miles de Stapleton, a descendant of the distinguished family of that name of Norman extraction, found in England, by which marriage he derived his title.

CRICH GRANGE BRANCH.

The founder of the Crich Grange branch of Lawrences was Sir Oliver, whose father was Nicholas Lawrence, of Agercroft, and his grandfather, Sir Giles Lawrence, of Standish. The son and successor of Sir Oliver was Edward Lawrence, of Crich Grange, who died August 28, 1601. He left a son, Sir Edward, who was knighted in 1619, and died about 1630. It was his daughter, probably, who married, in 1641, William Floyers, Esq., of Floyers, Hayes and Berne. His son, Sir Edward, who was knighted in 1643, at Oxford, married, in 1623, Grace Bruen, daughter of Henry Bruen, Esq. At his death, which occurred in 1647, he was succeeded by a son, Sir Robert of Crich Grange, Isle of Purbeck, who married, in 1639, Jane Williams, daughter of John Williams, of Tyneham, by whom he had a son, John Lawrence, his successor, in 1666, who, before his death, sold all his estates to one Nathaniel Bond, Esq.

HUNTINGDONSHIRE AND HERTFORDSHIRE BRANCHES.

One of the most important branches of the Lawrences of England, is that, probably, in the line of which we find Henry Lawrence, President of Cromwell's Council.

John, called also John de Wardeboys, a descendant of one of the younger branches of the Lancashire family, was an Abbot, and lived in Ramsey, Huntingdonshire, as early as about 1500.

John Lawrence, a nephew of the Abbot, styled in evidences Generosus, also lived in Ramsey at the same time. He married, and had, first, William, who was at one time Sheriff of Huntingdonshire and Cambridge, and removed to St. Ives, where he settled. Second, Agnes, who married Gilbert Smyth, of Fenton; third, Emma, who married Gabriel Throckmorton, of Ellington, in Huntingdonshire. John Generosus, their father, died in 1538, and was buried in the Abbey of Ramsey. The Prelate survived him a few years, having before his decease, made William, the son of his nephew, one of his executors; to whom, also, with his sisters, Agnes and Emma, he left his silver plate, curtains, hangings, &c. He died in 1542, and was buried in the Abbey of Ramsey, where he had lived an Abbot for about forty years.

This Prelate was very active in promoting the dissolution of the Monasteries then existing, for which services he received ample compensation from the reigning sovereign, in the way of titles, grants and pensions.

William Lawrence, settled at St. Ives, the grandfather of Henry, the associate of Cromwell, married for his first wife, Frances Honston, by whom he had sons, William and Henry. By Margaret Kaye, whom he married for his second wife, he had another son, Robert, who was ancestor of the Lawrences of Brokedish, in Norfolk, and died in 1597, at Emneth, Norfolk.

William, senior, of St. Ives, died December 20, 1572, and was buried at St. Ives, leaving, by will, to his son Henry, his heir, the plate of his uncle, Sir John, late Abbot of Ramsey, and his own armor. Henry married Elizabeth, daughter of John Hagar, of Bourne Castle, Cambridgeshire, and had by her John, who was knighted at Windsor Castle, in 1603. He died, and was buried at St. Ives, February 25, 1580-81. Sir John, his son, knighted (1603) by James I., married Elizabeth, only daughter and heir of Ralph Waller, Esq., of Clerkenwell, in Middlesex, and died February 10, 1604. He was buried at St. Ives. He had by his wife, Elizabeth, two sons, Henry and John, both mentioned in the will, who now became heirs to the estate of Ralph Waller, Esq.

Henry was about four years old when his father died. In 1622 he entered Emmanuel College, Cambridge, where he continued to pursue his studies. He took a Bachelor's degree in 1623, and a Master's in 1627; after which he distinguished himself as one of the leading republicans of his day, being associated with Waller, Hampden and Cromwell.

Educated a Puritan, it is stated that, to avoid the severity of the Bishops and Courts, he went to Holland, and while there published, at Amsterdam, (1646, it is said) a book "of our Communion and War with Angels," dedicated to his most dear and honored mother, the Lady Lawrence, with a spirit of filial affection highly commendatory to both mother and son.

HENRY Lawrence, Esq., of St. Ives, married Amy Peyton, daughter of Sir Edward Peyton, Bar't, of Cambridgeshire, and had issue, seven sons and six daughters.

- I. HENRY, the eldest son, who administered the estate of his father and sisters at their decease. He married, and had sons, Henry, who died unmarried, and Edward, who was created a baronet in 1748, and died without issue the year following, aged 90. Henry, their father, died in 1669.
- II. EDWARD, who died in 1657, leaving his father heir to an estate at St. Margaret's, alias Thele, in Hertfordshire. In the chancel of the Church at St. Margaret's, is this monumental inscription:

"Here lieth the body of Edward Lawrence, Esq., and also of the Lady Martha, daughter of Richard, Earl of Barramore, by Martha, his wife, sister of said Edward, who deceased in the year of our Lord 1657."

Arms — "A cross raguly gu.," &c.
- III. JOHN, who went to Jamaica in 1676. His will is dated in the year 1690. He had a son, John, a member of the Assembly, at one time, who had six sons, of whom James, the third, was of Fairfield, and died in 1756, leaving Richard James Lawrence, said to be the representative, while living, of the male line of President Henry Lawrence, of St. Ives.
- IV. WILLIAM, who was born in Holland, and naturalized by an act of Parliament, November 27, 1656.
- V. FRANCIS, who died October 16, 1672.
- VI. BENJAMIN, and the other not ascertained.

Of the daughters, Martha married, in 1656, Richard, Earl of Barramore, and was the mother of Lawrence, Earl of Barramore, and of Martha, (the Lady) who died as above. The Lady Barramore died in 1664.

Elizabeth, born in 1632, died February of 1662, in her thirtieth year.

Theodosia, born in Holland, and naturalized at the same time with her sister Martha and brother William, died September 2, 1664, aged about 20 years. Henrietta, the youngest daughter, born about 1652, died September 30, 1664, in her thirteenth year.

The Lawrence Mansion at St. Ives is said to have been occupied by Cromwell, from 1631 to 1635-6. Henry Lawrence, Esq., was twice chosen a member of Parliament for Hertfordshire; namely, in 1653 and in 1654; as also for other parts of England. He was made President of the Protector's Council in 1654, and in 1657 was gazetted one of the House of Lords. He died intestate, A. D. 1664, a man of learning and worth to rank in the estimation of Milton, with Montague and other distinguished men of that time. He was a man of noble qualities, a republican, a Puritan.

The provident piety of his wife has preserved his memory in the following lines inscribed at St. Margaret's Chapel, Hertfordshire:

"Here lieth interred the body of Henry Lawrence, Esq., sometime of this place, who married Amy Peyton, daughter of Sir Edward Peyton, of Iselham, in the county of Cambridge, knight and baronet. He had issue, seven sons and six daughters. He departed this life August the 8th, 1664, in the sixty-fourth year of his age."

"Also lie buried in this place, four of his children, &c. The said Amy Lawrence, in memory of her loving consort and children, hath caused this stone to be laid here."

The arms are — "A Cross raguly Gules, without a chief impaling Peyton." The crest — "A fish's tail." Another author gives — "A chevron in chief, three crescents."

JOHN, brother of Lord Henry Lawrence, married, and had children — at least, a son, Thomas, whom he left his heir at his death, in 1670. Dr. Thomas Lawrence married, and had a large family. He was a physician, as is stated, "to five crowned heads," and died in 1714. His eldest son, who was an officer in the navy, had a son, Thomas, distinguished in his profession, and made President of the College of Physicians, &c. A son of this gentleman was Sir Soulden Lawrence, Justice of Common Pleas. Elizabeth, a daughter, married Edward Griffith, Esq.

The Lawrences of Studley and Hackfall, in Yorkshire, were of this branch.

Descendants of HENRY Lawrence's family are now living, in parts of England, as one Henry Lawrence, Esq., of Cowesfield, in Wilts, 1843.

It is stated that the Essex branch of this name took their origin ("as appears by certain old documents") from the grandfather or great-grandfather of the President. Between the Essex and Norfolk branches there was a connection, as is believed, not many generations back. The Lawrences of Colchester also are said to have descended from the stock of the President, at an early period.

COAT OF ARMS.

To speak at any length of the Arms obtained and borne by the various branches of this name will not be expected. There is not space, nor would it be of special benefit. For definitions of the terms used, and an account of the several kinds, with their modifications, augmentations, and the general object for which arms were conferred, reference can be made to the systems of Heraldry, Histories of Arms and of Peerages, and Encyclopedias published. See, also, No. 3 of the Historical and Genealogical Register, Boston.

The arms of Sir Robert, of Ashton Hall, conferred by Richard I., namely: "Argent, a cross raguly gules," were those of the Lancashire branch generally.

Also, "He beareth Ermine, a cross raguled gules, by the name of Lawrence, of Lancashire."

The Gloucestershire portion of the family had the same as already given. Likewise the Buckinghamshire Lawrences. Thus — "Argent, a cross raguled gules is borne by a family of the name of Lawrence, in Buckinghamshire and Gloucestershire." "Crest — The tail (or hindmost half) of a Chub (fish) inverted, and erect."

“Raguled” is a term used “to represent the rough-hewn stems of a tree from which the branches have been rudely lopped.” The arms of the Iver branch were nearly the same as above — “A cross raguly gules.” “On a chief of the second, a lion passant guardant, or.” Sir Edward of St. Ives, made a baronet in 1748, had the same.

Henry Lawrence, the President, had arms, “A cross raguly gules without a chief.” Motto — “Nil Admirari,” of which quotation from Horace, Pope has given the sense in these lines :

“Whether we dread, or whether we desire,
In either case, believe me, we admire:
Whether we joy or grieve, the same the curse,
Surprised at better, or surprised at worse.”

The words will, however, be better understood, by taking the whole sentence, which reads thus :

“Nil admirari propè res est una Numici, Solaque quæ possit facere et servare beatum.” which Smart has rendered into simple prose, as follows : “To admire nothing is almost the one and only thing, Numicius, which can make and keep a man happy.” — See Horace’s Epistle, 6 Ad Numicium, Lib. I.

The coat of arms (with a crest used) is here given. Thus :

INDIVIDUAL LAWRENCES.

The following are a few persons of the name of Lawrence, with some incident or statement concerning each, without attempting to trace the family relation or descent.

VICARS, RECTORS, AND ARCHDEACONS.

RICHARD, was Vicar of Pirton, chapel of Ickleford, Hertfordshire, under the patronage of the Prior and Convent of Hertford, in 1357.

JOHN, was a Rector of Stevenage, under the patronage of the Abbot and Convent of Westminster, in 1408.

ROBERT, Prior of Belleval, was executed for refusing to own the supremacy of the King, May 4, 1535.

AUGUSTIN, was Vicar of Norton, in Hertford, under the patronage of the Bishop of London, in 1561.

JOHN, was of Oxford, a Bachelor of Civil Law, in 1523. Made Archdeacon August 10, 1554, in the second year of Queen Mary, and afterwards deprived of the same. He died in 1568.

MARRIAGES.

ALICE, daughter and co-heir of Sir John Lawrence, knight of Ashton, in Lancashire, married, before 1500, Cuthbert Clifton, of Clifton.

JOHN, Rector of Stopham, married, about 1620, Frances, daughter of Walter Bartelott, Esq., of Stopham, Sussex.

JOHN, of York, living in 1634, married Ann Pawson, daughter of Christopher Pawson, of Leeds.

SIR JOHN, knight of London, married, about 1651, Catharine, daughter of Sir Richard Stone. This John was probably Mayor of London, at one time.

IN CIVIL OFFICES, &C.

JOHN, was Mayor of the borough of St. Albans, in the year 1567.

THOMAS, was Bailiff of Hertford, in 1596. Is it improbable that he was father of these children whose baptisms are entered at Hertford?

1st, Edward, baptized June 2, 1588,

2d, William, " " 6, 1590,

3d, John, " " 11, 1591.

" All sons of Thomas Lawrence."

EDWARD, who was Mayor of Hertford, in Hertfordshire, in 1624, '29, '37, 45 and 57. An Edward Lawrence was Mayor also in 1666, '74, '79 and 80. There were probably two of the name during this time, in Hertford.

THOMAS, was of University College, Oxford, and at one time a Gentleman Commoner of St. John's College. He was son of Sir John Lawrence, of Chelsea, Middlesex. On the 9th of September, 1663, when St. John's College was visited by the King and Queen, and the Duchess of York, he was a member of that College, and was appointed to speak an address to the royal visitors.

WILLIAM, who became a Gent. Commoner of Trinity College, Oxford, in 1631, was the eldest son of William Lawrence, Esq., of Wraxhale, in Dorset, and was born about 1614. He remained three years at Trinity College, and then removed to the Middle Temple, where he became distinguished for his knowledge of municipal law, and as a counsellor. He married a sister of William Sydenham, one of the Lords of Cromwell's Parliament, and was made a Judge for Scotland. He continued in this office until the restoration of Charles I., when he returned to England, and to the practice of law. Various works, written by him, were published in 1680 and 1681. He died in the parish of Bedfont, near Stanes, in Middlesex, somewhere about 1682.

SCHOLARS AND DIVINES.

GILES, was admitted Doctor of Laws, February 12, 1578. He was born in the borough of Gloucestershire, admitted a scholar of C. C. College, Oxford, in 1539, prob. Fellow of All Souls College, in 1542, and was appointed Archdeacon of Wilts. September 18, 1564. He was the successor of one John Lawrence, his father, or uncle, and was in great esteem for learning. A certain writer says of him, "This Dr. Lawrence was the light and ornament of the University; brought up and nourished in the bosom of Pallas, in whom nature and unwearied industry had infused and placed all the Greek treasures and riches imaginable." He was living in 1584.

GEORGE, was born about 1615, the son of George Lawrence, of Stepney, near London. He was admitted a Commoner of New Inn at the age of 17, in 1632, and took degrees in the arts. (M. A. 1639.) He became a violent Puritan and a great admirer of the Scotch covenant. In 1642, the time of the rebellion, he was a lecturer of St. George's Church, in Butolph Lane, by Little East Cheap, London. He subsequently took the covenant, and became a preacher in another church in London, then minister of the Hospital of St. Cross, near Winchester, but upon the restoration of the King, was silenced. He continued his labors, however, in London, until his death. Sermons and other works written by him were published, from 1642 to 1675. In 1658 a sermon was published, preached October 13, of the same year, "On the death of Oliver Cromwell," from 2 Chronicles, xxxv: 24: "A good prince bewailed by a good people." In answer to a letter of inquiry as to the common report that

Richard Baxter studied at New Inn with him, among other things he says, "As to myself, my faults are no disgrace to any University, for I was of none, and have little but what I had out of books and from country tutors. Weakness and pain helped me to study how to dye, that set me on studying how to live, and that set me on studying the doctrine from which I must fetch my motives and comforts, and beginning with the necessities, I proceeded to the lesser integrals by degrees, and am now going to see that for which I have lived and studied."

THOMAS, was the son of a minister, and born in Dorsetshire. He became a scholar of Baliol College, Oxford, in 1614, when only 16 years old, and was made a Fellow of All Souls College, in 1618; afterwards a Bachelor of Arts, and proceeding in this faculty became a noted preacher in the University, was Chaplain to the Earl of Pembroke, Prebendary of Litchfield, Doctor of Divinity, Chaplain in Ordinary to Charles I., and by the influence of Archbishop Laud, was appointed Master of Baliol College, and Margaret Professor of Divinity in the University, in the year 1637. He was accounted famous for scholastic divinity, a profound Theologist, and exquisite in the excellences of Greek and Latin. He signed the requisition of the visitors of the University, August 3, 1648, and died December 10, 1657. He was buried at Colne, parish of Somersham, in Huntingdonshire.

The authorities for most of the contents of this sketch are these named: Collier's Dictionary and Guillim's and Newton's Heraldry; Harris's History of Kent, England; Burke's History of the Commoners of England; Burke's Extinct and Dormant Baronetcies; Clutterbuck's History of Hertfordshire; Wood's Athenæ Oxonienses; Gentleman's Magazine; Strype's Annals and Neal's History of the Puritans; Historical Records and Manuscripts.

PART II.

THE GENEALOGY.

- (1) JOHN LAWRENCE, of Watertown, is supposed to have come to this country early in the year 1635; landed, probably, at Charlestown, and proceeded thence by the Charles River to Watertown, where he settled. It is highly probable that he was the "John Lawrence" who embarked in the ship Planter, bound for New England, having received a certificate from the minister of Great St. Albans, Hertfordshire. He may, therefore, be regarded as a native of St. Albans — by what parents is not yet satisfactorily ascertained — and was born in 1617–18; so that he could not have been more than 19 at the birth of his first-born. There are many circumstances tending to confirm the opinion that he was quite young when he settled in Watertown. He received, February 28, 1636, three acres of land, his share of a grant then made to the townsmen, one hundred and six in number. This was the first lot by division, which he received, and afterwards several other lots, as is shown by town records. He was admitted a freeman in 1637. "In 1650 there were sold by the town, at a general meeting, (for the payment of ten pounds due unto John Sherman from the town) unto John Lawrence and others, fifteen acres of common land (called King's Common)."

"December 22, 1652, agreed in general meeting, that John Sherman shall make conveyance, &c., to John Lawrence and others of the land sold them."

"In 1654 Hugh Mason received of John Lawrence, clerk, £2–17–6, money for town or parish use."

We have not room to enumerate the lots of land, some ten or more, of which he received the grant or ownership, by purchase. Whom he married is not known, except that (as might perhaps be expected, since not a Mary) she was an Elisabeth, and possibly a passenger with him in the ship Planter. He had by this his first wife, thirteen children, born in Watertown. About 1660 he removed with his family to Groton, where his wife Elisabeth died, August 29, 1663. He married for his second wife, Nov. 2, 1664, Susanna Batchelder, daughter of William Batchelder, of Charlestown, by whom he had 2 daughters.

John Lawrence, senior, died at Groton, July 11, 1667, leaving his sons Nathaniel and Joseph, and his wife Susanna, executors of his will.

The widow, Susanna Lawrence, died July 8, 1668.

(A JONATHAN LAWRENCE and REBECCA RUTTER were married 5-9-1677, in Cambridge.) Jonathan of Groton, as is seen by his will, "Gave to y^e town of Groton £100; to y^e Church of Christ in Groton £40, to be laid out for y^e procuring of some silver vessel or vessels for y^e church's use, as they shall order. Also, £20, y^e income to be annually paid or accounted for to y^e settled or ordained minister."

Extracts from the will of John Lawrence, senior, deceased 1667 :

- 1st, Of himself—"I commend my soul into y^e hands of him who gave it, and my body to y^e earth, to a decent burial, in full hope of a joyful resurrection, when in my flesh I shall see God."
- 2d, Of his wife—"I will y^t besides what hath been formerly, by legacy, contract, or otherwise engaged to my wife, and is her due, there be added to it three score pounds. And my will is y^t she have free and full liberty in the first place, and before any other legacy be paid to make choice, out of the whole Estate, either lands or moveables," provided, if of lands she shall take of land and meadow proportionable," "provided also, that foure oxen be reserved out of the moveables." "And if she will live in the house during the time of her widowhood it shall be without molestation."
- 3d, Of his children—"I will that after my lawful debts and engagements are paid, y^e residue of my estate be disposed to every of my children born to me by my former wife, to every and each of you an equal portion."
- 4th, Of Mary—Only provided y^t my daughter Mary shall have but half y^e portion with y^e rest, to teach her a remembrance of her disobedience and unfaithfulness to me in my distress; and y^e other half of y^e portion shall fall to my son Zechariah, being y^e youngest and incapable of present shifting for himself." The will was witnessed by Samuel Willard and Wm. Lakin, called his "loving friends."

He was admitted a freeman in 1671, was early chosen a Deacon of the Church, engaged actively in town affairs, was a Representative of Groton in the General Court, under the charter of William and Mary, and thus lived a useful life. His first wife, Mrs. Sarah Lawrence, died in Groton in the year 1684. He removed from Groton to Charlestown, as it seems, and thence to Lexington, where he died, April 14, 1724, aged 85 years.

NOTE. While for variety the arrangement of families is somewhat promiscuous, there is a general chronological succession according to their generations, which, with the references used will serve to make it easy to trace the lineal descent of any individual whose name or family is given. The figures placed before the number of any family refer back to the name of the person, where the birth and parents of such person are found, and his place marked in the whole number. The figures at the end of the line refer forward to his family, thus, -25. Those small ones at the end of the name indicate the generation, as ^{1, 2, 3}.

John Lawrence and Anna, his wife, were received into the communion of the Church in Lexington, Feb. 9, 1698-9. She died Dec. the 19th, 1732, aged 63 years. He died March 12, 1746-7, aged 79 years, 7 months. He was a man of understanding and piety, active and useful, and sustained important offices and relations in society, devoting himself to the support of schools and the institutions of the Gospel. A few clauses from his will are here given :

- 1st. Of himself—“ Calling to mind the mortality of my body, and knowing that it is appointed for all men once to die, I do make and ordain this my last will and testament, that is to say, principally and first of all, I give and recommend my soul unto the hands of God who gave it, hoping through the merits, death and passion of my Saviour Jesus Christ, to have full and free pardon and forgiveness of all my sins and to inherit everlasting life; and my body I commit to the earth, to be decently buried at the discretion of my executor, nothing doubting but at the general resurrection I shall receive the same again by the mighty power of God.”
- 2d, “ I will that all those debts and duty I owe in right or conscience to any manner of person or persons whatever shall be well and truly paid, or ordained to be paid in convenient time after my decease, by my executor hereafter named.”
- 3d, Of Samuel — “ I do give unto my son, Samuel Lawrence, one hundred pounds, old tenor, out of my estate, beside what I have given him. Out of which all his just debts due in this country shall be paid, and the remainder to be refunded to him if living; if not, to be equally divided amongst my other children, it being in full of his part out of my estate.”
- 4th, Of Anna and Sarah — “ My will is that my daughters, Anna Bancroft and Sarah Fisk, have one hundred pounds a piece, old tenor, out of my estate.”
- 5th, Of four of his sons — “ My will is that my sons, John Lawrence and William and Benjamin and Amos Lawrence, do have one hundred and twenty pounds a piece, old tenor, out of my estate.”
- 6th, Of Jonathan — “ I constitute, make and ordain my son, Jonathan Lawrence, my only and sole executor of this my last will and testament.” He received, among other things, all his father's “lands in the township of Townsend, undisposed of.”

EPITAPHS.—“Here lye the remains of Col. WILLIAM LAWRENCE, who departed this life May 19, A. D. 1764, Anno Ætatis 67.

“He was a gentleman who, in military life, rose from the rank of Capt. Lieut. to the command of a regiment. In the year 1739, he was made Justice of the Peace, afterwards Quorum Unus, a special Justice of the Court of Common Pleas for the county of Middlesex, and a standing Justice of that county. He for many years represented the town of Groton, with the districts of Pepperell and Shirley in the General Assembly of this province. In all his public trustments he acquitted himself with fidelity and honour. In private life his behaviour was becoming his Christian profession. He was remarkably industrious in the improvement of time, just in his dealings, a good neighbour, a faithful friend, patient of injuries, and ready to forgive them; grateful to benefactors, very ready in affording assistance to the widow and fatherless, and merciful to all proper objects of pity. He was a strict observer of the Lord's Day, a constant and serious attender on the public exercises of religion, and devout worshipper of God in his family.”

“Blessed are the dead who dye in the Lord.”

“Here also lies Buryed the Body of Mrs Susanna Lawrence, Relict of the above named Col. Wm Lawrence. She was a woman of Piety and good sense, an industrious, prudent wife, an indulgent parent, a good neighbour, a faithful Friend, a hater of Hypocrisy and Guile, a lover of Hospitality, Patient under affliction and Resigned to the will of Heaven in death, by which she was called out of the world to receive the Rewards of a faithful servant, on the 10th of September, in the 80th year of her Age, A. D. 1771.”

"Memento Mori." — "Here lie the remains of Abel Lawrence, Esq., son of the late Col. Wm. Lawrence, and Susanna, his wife. Being formed by the God of the spirits of all flesh with superiour intellectual abilities, he was called forth in early life to the management of public business, and acquitted himself therein with honor. He was for several years a member of the General Court, and a Justice of the Peace. He was affable in his disposition; when he saw any in distress he felt for them, and was ready to relieve them to the utmost of his power. He was pious without ostentation — believing in a state of immortality, he endeavoured to secure happiness therein by the exercise of repentance towards God and faith in our Lord Jesus. After patiently enduring a long and distressing illness, he submitted to the stroke of all Conquering Death, on the 20 Sept., A. D. 1770, Anno Ætatis 41."

- (244) VI. BETSY,⁶ b. March 24, 1777, m. Henry Marsh, Esq., of Dalton, Mass. Had several children, many years a widow, d. 1847, at the residence of her son-in-law, Dr. Kirtledge, Hinsdale, Mass., aged 70 years. H. Marsh, Esq., a son, lives in Ohio, and has a family of enterprising children.
- (245) VII. SALLY PERRY,⁶ b. March 9, 1779, m. Marshal Jones, of St. Johnsbury, Vt., his 2d wife, with whom she now lives, a faithful woman.
- (246) VIII. SOLOMON WILLARD,⁶ b. April 26, 1783, m. Mary Cole, lives in Dalton, Mass., has children, Hubbard, son, Mary and Harriet, daughters. These were all born in Winchester, N. H., where Rev. Micah Lawrence settled.

Rev. Micah Lawrence, son of Jonathan, of Lexington, entered Harvard College 1755, when in his 17th year, graduated in his 21st, 1759, was a short time engaged in teaching, at Worcester, 1760, and at the age of 25 was ordained and settled as pastor of the Church of Christ in Winchester, N. H., Nov. 14, 1764. The Rev. Joseph Ashley had preceded him, as the first minister of the town. He was a graduate of Yale College, 1730, ordained and settled in 1736. The Church having been dispersed by an irruption made upon the settlement, was gathered anew and reorganized at the settlement of Mr. Lawrence. The council convened for the purpose, consisted of Rev. J. Ashley, (moderator,) and delegate from Sunderland, Rev. William Lawrence, (who preached the sermon,) and delegate from Lincoln, Rev. Jonas Clark, with Deacon James Browne, and Jonathan Lawrence, delegates from Lexington; Rev. John Hubbard, (scribe,) and delegate from Northfield, and the Rev. C. Sumner, from Keene, N. H. The articles of agreement were signed by Micah Lawrence, Josiah Willard and Phillip Goss. Rev. Mr. Lawrence labored here for thirteen years, with a good measure of success. His style of writing was characterized by method, clearness, closeness, and strength. In doctrine scriptural and sound, in order and discipline careful and unyielding, his constant reference was to the law and the testimony. Highly conservative in spirit, and loyal beyond most of that day, his political sentiments became the occasion of disaffection among a portion of the people; yet it was not until after a second or third council had acted upon the matter, that a dismission was obtained, the only ground of dissatisfaction being a suspicion that he was "unfriendly to the war." After 1777 he preached in other places, and died in Keene, N. H., 1794, aged 55 years. Mrs. Eunice Lawrence died in Keene, N. H., 20th Oct. 1788, in her 44th year.

Dea. Samuel Lawrence died in Groton, the 8th of Nov., 1827, aged 73 years.

He was one of those who rallied at Concord to oppose the progress of the British troops. At the time the news of their approach reached Groton, he was in the field; when, mounting his horse, he rode through the adjoining towns, giving the alarm, and returned in season to join his company at the meeting house. In the battle of Bunker Hill he received a slight wound, and his hat and coat, pierced with the balls of the enemy, were preserved for many years. At the time of his marriage, while the ceremony was in progress, the tolling of the meeting-house bell called out the minute men, whereupon he parted from his bride as soon as the rite was finished, and marched to Rhode Island, but shortly returned, on furlough, for a few days, after which she did not see him again until the birth of their first-born. He continued in the service till the close of the war — was promoted Major, and fought in many of the hardest battles of the Revolution. Respected and beloved by his townsmen, they willingly elected him to those offices in which he would serve. Hospitable and kind in his manners, he is still remembered for the cordial welcome and comforts his house afforded. He was a religious man, and for many years before his death, a Deacon in the Church. In connection with others, he originated and established, for the good of the community, the Institution now called, with great propriety, the "Lawrence Academy." In this school his sons received their early education, and well have they remembered its origin, and the advantages they there enjoyed. (For particulars of this school, reference can be made to the catalogue of 1846. Rev. James Means, A. M., principal.)

A talented and amiable young man, beloved in a large circle of friends and acquaintances, who, after having studied law with his father and given promise of success in practice, was compelled to seek for health by travel in foreign lands, but died of consumption, leaving a widowed mother, and sisters to mourn.

Hon. Luther Lawrence was a graduate of Harvard College, in 1801. He studied law, and had a good practice in his own and the neighboring counties. He was elected a member of the State Legislature, and chosen speaker of the House. After his removal to Lowell, his professional business increased, yet he never encouraged litigation, but rather advised against it. Elected Mayor of the city, he was very much interested and did much for the improvement of the place, evidence of which is still seen. His large, athletic person and manly bearing, united with native firmness and integrity of character, gave him that address and influence so desirable in men of station and active life. With good natural abilities, he possessed extensive acquired knowledge, a faithful spirit and habits of active usefulness. He was killed, suddenly, (while showing to a friend and relative, Tyler Bigelow, Esq., of Watertown, the large mill of the Middlesex Company,) by falling into an open wheel pit, April 17, 1839, when in the 61st year of his age.

William Lawrence, Esq., has charge of the paternal farm and mansion in Groton, which he has greatly improved, and rendered one of the most pleasant and valuable of country estates. On this farm he worked several years after his brother Amos removed to Boston, sometimes spending the winter in teaching school. By his own exertions and enterprise in commerce and manufactures, (with the inheritance of his wife,) he has acquired a large property, of which he has given and is now bestowing liberally, for benevolent objects. The Lawrence Academy, in Groton, has received a rich and permanent endowment, by the donation of $15,000 to the funds of the Institution, from this gentleman. A Library, of about 2000 volumes of most valuable books, for the use of the students, apparatus for experiments and illustrations in the sciences, the large and commodious houses on each side of the Academy, occupied for boarding, and the residence of the Principal, with the general improvement of the grounds, and the erection of the iron fence in front, to enclose the buildings, are a few instances showing the taste, spirit and ability of the man and of his brother Amos, who is associated with him in this enterprise. He was a Representative in the Legislature for several years, and took an active part in effecting that arrangement known as the "Suffolk Bank System," so useful in securing a uniform currency in New England. Affable and intelligent in society and in all business transactions fair and just, he manifests towards all classes of persons with whom he meets, a spirit of kindness and good will.

Mrs. Sarah Lawrence died Jan. 14, 1819. He married, for his second wife, Mrs. Nancy Ellis, widow of Judge Ellis, and daughter of Col. Robert Means, of Amherst, N. H., by whom he had these :

(406) IV. MARY MEANS,⁷ b. April 15, 1823, d. Dec. 8, 1828, aged 5 years.

- (407) V. ROBERT MEANS,⁷ b. Sept. 17, 1826, d. Nov. 1, 1845, aged 19 years.

This gentleman was engaged in mercantile business quite early in life, having been for a considerable time a clerk with Mr. Brazer, in Groton. He entered into business in Boston, during the time of the embargo, and has been uniformly successful in whatever he has undertaken. Discriminating, careful and persevering, he soon gained a handsome property. Having persuaded his brother Abbott to come to Boston, after a short time he made him a full partner in business. They became importers of English goods to a large amount, and afterwards made investments in manufacturing. For some years past Amos has not been actively engaged in business, though still a partner in the firm of A. & A. Lawrence & Co. Devoted to the well being and happiness of others, to works of private charity and objects of public good, the streams of income from business and invested capital have been diverted to these noble purposes, by which the accumulation of wealth beyond the principle he has adopted, is safely prevented. As a merchant and capitalist, his rank is with noble equals, while as a philanthropist and benefactor, he has a higher place than many of equal ability can claim. To Williams College, he has given generously. To the Academy in his native town — but it is not convenient nor necessary here to enumerate the many instances of his benefactions. A very pleasing one, however, is seen in the establishment of the “Children’s Infirmary, at 716 Washington street,” (Boston,) “where patients between the ages of 2 and 15 are received, and the children of the poor provided for without expense to their parents.” It is earnestly hoped that this experiment in doing good will be entirely successful. Bunker Hill Monument, too, will be a witness, while it stands, to the exertions and liberality of this individual, for its final completion. Nearly all the public charities of the last twenty-five years have received aid at his hands. The interests of education, humanity and patriotism thus nobly befriended, will furnish a memorial that shall outlive the monumental pile. For many years he has suffered from ill health, not being able, much of the time, to eat at the same table with his family. He has, within a few years, been deeply afflicted by the death of his only daughter, Mrs. Mason, of Salem, and of his youngest son, Robert Means; yet in patience he has possessed his soul, maintaining that cheerfulness of spirit ever induced by the firm belief that God afflicts only in mercy.

Mr. Jonathan Lawrence died in Lexington, about 1840.

(²⁴²) Family No. 55. Hubbard,⁶ m., Feb. 22, 1801, Mary, daughter of Maj. Phillip Goss, born in Winchester, June 11, 1780. Maj. Phillip Goss was son of Phillip Goss, of Winchester, N. H., who was a descendant in the 3d generation, of Phillip Goss, born in Concord, Mass., "a Captain in the French war," who died at Cape Breton.

Hubbard and Mary had these, born in St. Johnsbury, Vt.:

(412) I. LOUISA,⁷ b. Jan. 4, 1802, m. Sept. 4, 1827, Zelotes Hosmer, of Boston. They have four children, Samuel D., James and Mary, twins, and Henry Zelotes. Residing in Cambridge.

(419) VIII. JOHN,⁷ b. May 21, 1814.

(420) IX. WILLIAM GOSS,⁷ b. Aug. 3, 1816, d. April 19, 1817, aged 7 months.

Dea. Hubbard Lawrence died Sept. 20, 1816, aged 43 years.

He went from Winchester, N. H., to St. Johnsbury, Vt., about 1800, and there resided until his death. He was a man of warm and generous feelings, good sense and sound judgment. As a parent, affectionate and faithful, as a husband, kind and attentive; an obliging neighbor and useful citizen. Deeply interested in the improvement of society, he did much for its advancement. He was actively engaged in the organization of the first Church of Christ in the town, of which he was chosen a Deacon, with Mr. Stowell his associate, who is now living.

Mrs. Mary Lawrence married, for her second husband, Jan. 14, 1823, Selah Pomroy, Esq., of Stanstead, L. C., to which place she removed, where, also, she died, April 17, 1837, uttering, with her latest breath, "I am happy," "I am going to my Saviour." The words of discourse at her funeral, "Blessed are the dead that die in the Lord, yea, saith the spirit, for they rest from their labors, and their works do follow them," were most happily chosen, and fully expressive, as a memorial of her life and death in Christ. Yet "she is not dead, but sleepeth," and ever present in memory's view is still the object of sweetest remembrance and of strongest, most heartfelt affection.

(235) Family No. 56. Abbott,⁶ m. June 26, 1819, Katherine, daughter of Timothy Bigelow, Esq. He was born in Worcester, April 3, 1767; the son of Col. Timothy Bigelow graduated at Harvard College, in 1786, studied law and commenced the practice in Groton. For many years he was a member of the State Legislature, and for eleven years Speaker of the House. He died May 18, 1821, aged 54 years. His wife was a daughter of Oliver Prescott, son of Col. William Prescott, born in 1731, graduated at Harvard College, 1750, and died in Groton, 1804, aged 73 years.

The children of Abbott and Katherine Lawrence are these:

- (421) I. ANNIE BIGELOW,⁷ b. April 28, 1820, m. 1846, B. S. Rotch, of New Bedford.
- (422) II. JAMES,⁷ b. Dec. 6, 1821, graduated at Harvard College, 1840.
- (423) III. GEORGE,⁷ b. died in infancy.
- (424) IV. JOHN ABBOTT,⁷ b. " " "
- (425) V. TIMOTHY BIGELOW,⁷ b. Nov. 22, 1826.
- (426) VI. ABBOTT,⁷ b. Sept. 9, 1828.
- (427) VII. KATHERINE BIGELOW,⁷ b. Feb. 7, 1832.

Hon. Abbott Lawrence, with the other brothers named, has also been extensively engaged in commerce and manufactures. At the end of the first year of his partnership with his brother Amos, (at whose request he came to Boston,) on account of losses experienced, he was worth less than nothing. The second year turned the scale, leaving a balance on the other side. The whole charge of the goods was shortly given into his hands, while Amos had the management of the finances. From their large and profitable foreign business, they acquired good credit and a heavy capital, when they entered upon the business of manufacturing on their own account. Since the very severe illness of his brother, in 1829 and '30, Abbott has been at the head of business, having the principal control of the affairs of the House.

This gentleman has been long and well known as the advocate of Home Industry, and in all business transactions, though successful beyond many of his day, has ever acted upon principles of the strictest integrity, with a generous regard to the rights of others and the best interests of the country. Some voyages to China, in which he was associated with William Appleton, Esq., turned out well, as also investments made in other ways from time to time, by which there has been an increasing accumulation of property. Nearly all the more recently incorporated companies at Lowell have been originated by him, and in all which he has undertaken there has been uniform success. Of late he, as first and most influential, has been actively interested with his brother Samuel, of Lowell, in the plan and works of the "New City," so called.

Abbott, Samuel and the other brothers, with those who have formerly made investments in company with them, at once subscribed the sum of three and a half millions of dollars to carry out the intentions of the company according to the plan proposed, by which a manufacturing city of no inferior model will in a few years be brought to take its place among the existing cities of New England. His services in public life as a Representative in Congress, as a commissioner from his state to negotiate the "Ashburton Treaty," the part he has taken in the internal improvements of the country, his written and unwritten views and statements on subjects of a political, financial and general character, these are all before the people, and have not failed to secure that high esteem, and have that weight of influence which from their nature they were calculated to procure; nor are his character and services less appreciated abroad. In a late tour through England he received marks of attention and respect which were as unexpected as they must have been acceptable to one who has rendered public service. But it is not necessary to speak further of one so well known. If deeds show a man's spirit, his is well and fully shown to the world:—in the rich gift recently made of $50,000 to the Trustees of Harvard College, to establish a more enlarged and experimental system of instruction in the natural and practical sciences—in the more recent donation to the Franklin Library Association of the “new city,” Lawrence, of a sum to be invested in such scientific and other works as will tend to create “good mechanics, good Christians, and good patriots,” and in the many other and constant offerings of his hand to the objects of public charity and general improvement. When such men live, Science and useful Learning have patrons and friends, Humanity and Christianity, advocates and supporters, and progress is made towards a more enlightened and happy state of human society.

- (²⁹⁷) Family No. 57. SAMUEL,⁶ m. April 2, 1833, Alison Turnbull, of Baltimore, and has children born in Boston and Lowell.
- (428) I. CHARLES,⁷ b. May 27, 1835, d. in Lowell, April the 15th, 1842, aged 7 years.
- (429) II. HENRY,⁷ b. April 28, 1837.
- (430) III. GEORGE,⁷ b. Jan. 22, 1839.

- (433) VI. NISBET,⁷ b. Nov. 29, 1844.
- (434) VII. SAMUEL,⁷ b. Sept. 27, 1846.

This gentleman, the youngest of the Groton brothers, continued with his father, at home, until nearly of age, when he left to live with his brother William, in Boston, by whom he was soon taken into business as a partner. Their foreign trade called him many times to England, and gave opportunities for acquaintance abroad as well as for increasing his skill and knowledge in the transaction of business at home. The natural vivacity of his spirit, his free, affable manners and the native generosity of his heart, procured him the good will and confidence of those whom he met in business or as acquaintances, while he was rendered the favorite of his family and friends.

A few years after his firm became interested in the business of manufacturing at Lowell, he removed from Boston to Lowell, where now he has a very commodious and pleasant residence a little out of the city, upon an elevated site, with grounds admitting almost any desirable degree of improvement. His extensive operations in manufacturing, and general acquaintance with the wool growers and dealers of the country, added to his own personal ability and enterprise in business would go far towards placing him at the head of the Woollen Manufacture of New England. Of the "new city," Lawrence, he and his brother Abbott may be considered the projectors and founders. By his endeavors and the aid of his associates in the business, there has been accomplished, in one year, what is indeed remarkable, if not unparalleled in the history of towns and labors of human enterprise in this country.

With a lady for his wife highly accomplished and amiable, he has in his family "a good list" of fair and happy children. They have, as yet, buried one only,—their first-born, as seen above.

(473) II. SARAH,⁸ b. July 5, 1845.

Amos A. Lawrence, Esq., is a graduate of Harvard College, in 1835, and engaged in manufacturing business ; a gentleman interested in works of usefulness, inquisitive for the past, and desirous to render service to the future generations of his name, which he may be considered to have done by the interest taken and the exertions made to discover the fathers, and gather their history, tracing backward the course of their descent for many generations. Among the instances of his active benevolence is the gift of $10,000 to aid in founding a College in Wisconsin, to be under the control of the M. E. Church, the site of which is chosen and charter given.

PART III.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Of other persons of the name of Lawrence, early settled in this country, the following statements have been gathered:

1. HENRY, of Charlestown, in 1635. — On the list of those who became inhabitants of the town that year, is the name of Henry Lawrence. He may have come from England the same year, though his name is not found among the lists of arrivals examined, neither is he mentioned as one of the original settlers of the town. "In the first division of land on Mistick side, of ten acres to a house, five of which were given in for aftercomers, (made 20-2-1638, as appears,) Henry Lawrence received five acres." He is several times mentioned on the town records, yet we have found no notice of his marriage, family or death.

2. THOMAS, of Hingham, in 1637. — He is given as a landholder for that year, and was admitted a freeman the year following. In 1638, he became "lawful owner of four hundred acres of land, bounded westward with Cedar Swamp, and eastward with the land of Thomas Clap, &c." In 1647, there were "given unto him, by the town, two acres of Salt Marsh, &c."

He married Elisabeth Bates, a sister of James Bates, of Dorchester, whose children were —

I. NICHOLAS, born in Hingham.

II. MARY, " " " married, 28-8-1658, Thomas Moseley, of Dorchester.

III. ELISABETH, " " " married, in 1658, Wm. Smead.

Mr. Thomas Lawrence died Nov. 5, 1655, at Hingham. The "Widdow Lawrence," named on the town records, shortly after the decease of her husband, removed with her family to Dorchester, where her son Nicholas married, and had by Mary, his wife: 1. PATIENCE, born in Dorchester,

June 13, 1658, and died young. 2. MARY, 3. REBECCA, 4. NICHOLAS, 5. BENJAMIN, and possibly another.

Nicholas Lawrence, senior, died in 1685. Nicholas, his son, married, Nov. 3, 1681, Mary Harris, and had, 1. PATIENCE, born Aug. 12, 1682. About this time, he removed to Charlestown, and after the death of his wife, married again, as is found. 2. "ABIGAIL, daughter of Nicholas and Abigail Lawrence, born Aug. 26, 1693," died Nov. 5, 1713, aged 21 years. They were admitted to the Church in Charlestown, Feb. 15, 1707-8. Nicholas Lawrence died Feb. 28, 1710-11, aged 49 years and 8 months.

3. THOMAS, of Milford, Conn., in 1639. — In the list of settlers and voters of the town, bearing date, Nov. 20, 1639, is the name of Thomas Lawrence; but nothing is found as to the time when he came to this country, nor of his after residence. Was he the ancestor of the Hon. Myron Lawrence, of this State? (His father was born in Canaan, Conn., May 6, 1762, and was the youngest of a family of 13 children, of whom 11 have had families. He lives at present with a son, in Middlebury, Vt. Asa, his eldest son, died in Vermont. Jeremiah died in Nantucket. Abiram, with a large family, lives in Kentucky. Jonathan has a large family in New York. Joseph holds the paternal farm in Canaan, and has several children.) Or does this Thomas, of Milford, afterwards appear on Long Island?

4. JOHN, of Flushing, in 1645. — In the appendix to the History of Long Island, Vol. II., there is an account of three individuals of the name, brothers, it is stated, who first landed in New England and went to the Province of New Netherlands. The earliest date respecting them given, is in 1644, when John, the eldest, with six other persons, received the grant or patent of Hempstead. The next year, John and William were in the number of eighteen persons to obtain from Governor Kieft, the patent of Flushing, where John afterwards had his residence until his removal to New Amsterdam. Immediately after the organization of New York, he was chosen an alderman, about 1664. Subsequently he was several times mayor and councilman, from 1675 to 1698. He was appointed Judge of the Supreme Court in 1692, which office he held until his death, in 1699. His will, left on file in New York, and written, as it is said, in his own hand, states that he was then more than 80 years old. When? at the date of the will? No record of his marriage has been obtained. By Susanna, his wife, he had six children, three sons and three daughters.

- I. JOSEPH, deceased without male issue, before 1699.
- II. JOHN, married Mrs. Sarah Willet, but had no issue.
- III. THOMAS, lived a bachelor.
- IV. SUSANNA, married, 1st, Gabriell Mienville, 2d, Wm. Smith, and survived both, childless.

V. MARTHA, married Thomas Snawsell, of New York.

VI. MARY, who married Wm. Whittingham of Harvard College, 1660, and a native of Ipswich, but settled in Boston. The male line of this family ceased with this generation.

5. WILLIAM, of Long Island, in 1645.—He had his residence on Lawrence's or Tew's Neck, of which he was the owner. He was a magistrate of Flushing, under the Dutch, and held both civil and military offices under the English government. He was twice married, and had, by his first wife — Elisabeth? —

I. WILLIAM, afterwards Major William, who married in 1680, Deborah Smith, by whom he had nine sons and three daughters.

II. JOHN, married Elisabeth —, and had 9 children; died in 1714.

III. ELISABETH, who married in 1672, Thos. Stevens, of Newtown.

By Elisabeth, eldest daughter of Richard Smith, whom he married in 1664, he had seven other children.

IV. MARY, supposed to have died unmarried.

V. THOMAS, married in 1692, Mary Ferguson, of Queen's Co.

VI. JOSEPH, married Mary —, and is said to have had three sons and a daughter. 1. RICHARD, who married about 1718, and had ten children, of whom a son, Effingham, married — Farmer, of Long Island, and went to London. 2. ELISHA, who, with another brother removed to New Jersey, where he married, and was the ancestor of Capt. James Lawrence, of the Chesapeake, noted for his dying charge, "Don't give up the Ship." 3. JOHN, born about 1702-3, who went to New Jersey and married about 1728, his first wife, who died while he lived in Newport, R. I. Of his children by her, Joseph died at Providence, about 1812, at the age of 80 years or more. David, born in Newport, in 1738, lived in Providence; the David, probably, who was one of a Committee of Inspection, &c., (appointed by act of Congress) in 1774, mentioned in the History of Providence. He is supposed to have removed from Providence to Hudson, N. Y., where he died, in 1809. Thomas is named by another authority as a son of John Lawrence; and likewise two daughters, who married. By his second wife, Mrs. Elisabeth Little, he had no issue. He died in Providence, in the year 1781, aged nearly 80 years.

VII. RICHARD, fifth son of William Lawrence, married in 1690, Charity Clarke, by whom he had children.

VIII. SAMUEL. IX. SARAH, married James Tillet. X. JAMES.

William Lawrence died in 1680, possessed of a large property, and has descendants in England and various States of the Union.

6. THOMAS, of Newtown, in 1655. — The youngest, it is thought, of these brothers, if related to them, — he is mentioned in a list of the landowners of the town, drawn in 1655, and with six others, received the patent of the town from Governor Nicoll, in 1666. He died in July, 1703, at Newtown, and left children.

I. JOHN, who lived in Newtown and married Deborah Woodhull. He died Dec. 17, 1729, leaving a widow and three sons.

II. THOMAS. III. WILLIAM, who was one of the council of the Province, under Queen Anne, from 1702 to 1706.

IV. DANIEL. V. JONATHAN. Their descendants are very numerous in different parts of the country.

7. GEORGE, of Watertown, in 1657. — His name appears on the town records as early as the 29th of the 7th month, 1657, when his marriage is given, and in the succeeding pages, births of his children are recorded. It is possible that he was born in this country. No evidence of this has been discovered, nor on the other hand, of his arrival from England. He lived to be an old man, as is found. George Lawrence died March 21, 1708, "an aged man." By Elisabeth, his wife, he had children, as follows :

I. ELISABETH, born 30-12-1658, married, Jan. 29, 1678, Thomas Whitney.

II. JUDITH, born 12-3-1660.

III. HANNAH, born 24-1-1661.

IV. JOHN, born March 25, 1664.

V. BENJAMIN, born 2-3-1666, married, July 4, 1689, Mary Clough, of Charlestown.

VI. DANIEL, " " " Twins, " Nov. 1695, Hannah Mason, of Charlestown.

VII. GEORGE, born Jan. 4, 1668, married, Aug. 16, 1691, Elisabeth Holland.

VIII. MARY, born Dec. 11, 1670, married, April 5, 1689, John Flagg, of Boston.

IX. GRACE, born June 2, 1680.

Mrs. Elisabeth Lawrence died May 28, 1691. The descendants of this family have lived in Watertown, Waltham, Weston and Charlestown, of this State, and in other States of New England, and the Union.

8. ROBERT, of Portland, in 1680 and '85. — In the History of Portland is found the name of one Robert Lawrence, who, about 1686-7, married the widow of George Munjoy, of that place, and thus entered into possession of considerable property. He improved, for some time, the farm belonging to the Munjoys, and had a good deal of dispute with different individuals ; a man by the name of Davis, in particular, about the title of some lands. It would seem that he had some military spirit, as he was made a Lieutenant, and in 1689 was one of a Council of War held in Falmouth. He held a garrison a short time — was promoted Captain, and was mortally wounded in the attack made on the Fort, in 1690, by the French and Indians. He left no children, nor is any thing known of his origin and relation.

9. JOHN, born in the Isle of Jersey, England. — He married, (was published) Aug. 28, 1713, Marian Beauchamp, of Boston. He was a “sea captain,” and had children, one of whom, John, went to Connecticut, settled in Hartford, was Treasurer of the State, in 1774, and for several years succeeding. He has a grandson, William R. Lawrence, now living, in Hartford.

N. B. One or two families added since the first arrangement was made, by a mistake in copying, have been placed in the wrong generation, as No. 49. Other additions, by sentences or paragraphs, will probably appear disconnected and loose. The whole is summary, and not expected to be permanent, at least, in this state. This is the first attempt to sketch some particulars of the kind, and as new and more authentic statements are obtained, it is in contemplation to make a more systematic and complete arrangement of the whole, that the family history may be possessed by those of the present and succeeding generations, in a more full and valuable form.

Any information of individuals and families, descendants of John Lawrence, of Watertown, males or females, correctly ascertained and clearly stated, whether from Town Records or those of the Church, Family Registers, or Burial Inscriptions, may be communicated, (and will be gladly received) by mail, or otherwise, to the subscriber, John Lawrence, Boston, care of Z. Hosmer, Esq., Milk street.

P. S. Having understood that objections have been made to this little work by some persons whose names are recorded in it and who feel some delicacy on account of certain facts concerning them which it contains, the writer deems it important to state that in the preparation of the sketch he has proceeded entirely on his own responsibility and without the assistance, consent or knowledge of those by whom such objections are made.

If, therefore, any think that they are noticed too much, it is because their history was better known and more easily obtained, while of those concerning whom too little may have been said we hope to speak more fully hereafter.
