MAST FAMILY HISTORY

Bishop Jacob Mast Homestead as it appeared in 1908, Berks Co., Pa.

To all the members of this family,

Who so generously assisted in collecting the information necessary in compiling this volume and aided me by their encouragement and advice—

To all who stand in succession and of generations yet unborn,

In exemplifying in their lives the principles of the Gospel of Christ, making some little corner of the world better than we found it, and leaving a name for which your children will not need to blush—

To all my young clients, and the descendants who live after you, long after we are no longer,

Who should know the record of our fathers, that they may profit by their mistakes and imitate their virtues—

This volume is affectionately inscribed.

PREFACE

At the suggestion of my grandmother, she having presented me with a few manuscripts containing the earliest available records of the first and second generations, which had been compiled by my grandfather, John M. Mast, deceased, and with a few friends, Mast by name, who are descendants of Bishop Jacob Mast, they being greatly interested in the work, and having worked on this history at different times, they kindly offered to supply me with what they had secured, I consented to undertake this work, and thus began to compile a history of the Mast family.

The work was commenced in the spring of 1907. The family is an old one, originally from Switzerland.

I have made it my earnest endeavor to make the work as complete as possible. In some instances, however, the records are incomplete, owing to the lack of interest in the work by some of the descendants, who failed to respond to communications asking for information. However, I acknowledge myself greatly indebted to many of the friends who manifested a lively interest in the work, for their kind favors in furnishing information for the same. More prominent among those who gave me much assistance are the following: Harvey Hostetler, Council Bluffs, Ia.; Hervey Schnell, Millersburg, O.; Elhanen Zook, Downingtown, Pa.; I. H. Mast, Topeka, Ind., who has since passed to his reward; David Mast, Millersburg, O.; Frank Mast, Urbana, O.; Morton L. Montgomery, 36 N. 6th St., Reading, Pa., author of "Historical and Biographical Annals of Berks County, Pennsylvania."

LIST OF EXPLANATIONS AND ABBREVIATIONS

In the preparation of this work it will be observed that all the descendants are recorded as near as possible in the regular order of birth, from the oldest to the youngest, each generation being marked consecutively from first to last.

Beginning with the first (1) ancestor. Bishop Jacob Mast, all his children are named in the order of birth and to whom they were married. Then follows his oldest son John Mast, married to Mary Kurtz. See their family.

Number (2) second generation, following the word "generation" is the figure number (1) for the record of the father of John Mast's family. See family number (1). Then follows the oldest son Jacob Mast (third generation) and his children (fourth generation) next John, being the oldest, who was married to Sarah Dupold is followed down to the last of his descendants. Then the second in order of birth of the third generation, and so on until the end of the entire branch of John Mast of the second generation is reached. (2) Magdalena Mast, married to Christian Zook. See their family number 408. On the line with the word, "second generation," is the number 408, for the index number of the family; then following the word "generation" is the figure (1) for the record of Magadalena (Mast) Zook's father's family; see his family number (1). All families are numbered and recorded in the same form for this family history. On the right hand of the word "generation" is the number of their father's family record.

Where marriages occur between members of the connection, the husband generally carries the record. In all such cases a numbered reference is placed at the end of the record, giving name and marriage of the wife.

INTRODUCTION

The best lessons of our lives are those we learn from actual experience.

History holds up to our view the wisdom as well as the follies, the good as well as the bad acts of men who have lived before us.

From the experience and the necessities of the men of the past we learn how knowledge develops and how men make progress in arts, science and general intelligence.

The world's history is a record of events that have taken place in the development and progress of nations, tribes and peoples that have inhabited the earth since time began.

While arts, science, philosophy, inventions, education, literature, politics, religion, social science, war and the works of nature have all contributed to the records of history, by far the greater portion of history, by far the greater portion of the world's written history has been drawn from the events associated with war and politics.

Writers of history seem to have taken a special interest in recording and bringing before the minds of the people the glory of human strife, and in honoring and applauding those who have distinguished themselves in scenes of carnage and the destruction of human life.

Daniel Webster said, in one of his last great speeches: "There is still wanting a History which shall trace the progress of social life, in the intercourse of man with man, the advance of arts, the various changes in the habits and occupations of individuals, and improvements in domestic life."

We should rejoice for a History of Firesides by learning how our ancestors in their houses, were fed, and lodged, and clothed, and what were their daily employments, also to know more of the changes which took place from age to age in the homes of our Swiss and German ancestors, who were the pure material of the Teutonic nation; being stern, sterling and frugal.

The memorable Henry Clay of Kentucky, bore them this testimony, in the United States Senate, 1832: "The honest, patient and industrious German readily unites with our people, establishes himself upon some of our fat lands, fills capacious barns, and enjoys in tranquility fruits which diligence gathers around him."

Never before have people been more inquisitive and diligent in investigating the study of their ancestry than at this time.

Comparatively few of the many millions of the inhabitants of the United States know anything about their ancestors, or when their forefathers came to this country.

Though men are very prone, at the present day, to repeat what was long ago said, If we had lived in the days of our fathers, we would not have permitted their bones to fall into their graves and buried out of sight, unmarked, unnumbered and unsung. With but few exceptions however, the same may be said to the generations now living that was said to the scribes and Pharisees, "As your fathers did, so do ye."

But it is a matter of congratulation that some are turning attention to family genealogy, which requires great labor and time to compile one of this kind, enough may be found to show in whose loins the members of the same great family reposed over a century ago.

While this book contains biographical sketches of soldiers and of others who have no special regard for religion and religious principles, and of some of whom it may indeed be said that they have lived "without God in the world," yet the large majority of them are men who have been identified with the peaceful doctrines of the Gospel of Christ, men of more decided religious views, and who were devoted and fully consecrated to the teachings of the word of God, who suffered much for conscience' sake, and yet remained faithful, men who followed their Lord through evil report and through good report and who made it a principle of their lives never to do anything to the injury of their fellowmen.

We should be glad that a history of the "quiet people of the land" is to be brought before the public mind, or we may say, we are glad that a number of histories of this class of people are (before) being brought before the public, who are known to be earnest, devoted, faithful heroes that make up the bone and sinew of a nation, in their daily toil, on the farm, in the work shop, in the home and in their religious bearing, form another aspect of life which must necessarily be brought out in order to show what the people really are, and this is what a book of this kind will do.

Yet we should learn to hold family histories within certain bounds, knowing that they are useful; serve as a good purpose. Many of the lineal descendants of some progenitor have been dispersed abroad and become estranged, if not oblivious, to each other. Some genealogy or family record may be found, the history written up and by this means the scattered members be brought into touch with each other.

In the prophetic and messianic ages genealogies proved very useful. By referring to them the truth of the Scriptures have been established, especially in the descent of Christ as the Messiah.

But many of the Jews use their genealogies simply as a means to feed their vanity and make a display of their lineage. Even in this day some people delight in boasting about noted ancestry. The newly converted Jew was inclined to boast concerning his ancestry and consider himself superior to his Gentile brother who had no record of his ancestry.

Sects, societies, tribes, races, families and individuals are frequently inclined to make use of the same material as that used by the Pharisee of old.

Thank God that He no longer visits the iniquities of the fathers down to the fourth generation. See Heb. 8:12.

Evil habits and characteristics are brought down by nature through heredity and not by the Lord. Every man is judged according to his own works. Rev. 20:13. A covenant has been established on better promises Heb. 8:6. All who do his commandments have a right to the tree of life.

Let us take no credit because of achievements made by our relatives in past generations, neither discredit your ancestry if they have not left a marked influence for good as you are not responsible for their failings.

Similar instances may be discovered in the lineage of all of us if we were able to unfold and read the scrolls containing the lives of human souls in every age.

We all need to pray that God may direct our lives, leading us to higher planes of Christian living. It takes more than length of days to constitute a good old age, and therefore let our memories be stored with good things, so that we are prepared for the winter of life.

Let us never indulge in idleness for we are held accountable to God for all our gifts. A marred or a lost day anywhere along the years may lead to loss or even sore misfortune afterward. "Some things God gives often. The seasons return again and again, and the flowers change with the months; but the bright days of youth come twice to none." Thus each period in life has its own closing, its last hour, in which work is ended, whether well done or neglected. Indeed, we may say the same of each day; its end is the closing of a definite season through which we can never pass again.

What a fortunate thing it is that we measure time by days, weeks and months! Three hundred and sixty-five days, fifty-two weeks, twelve months, they go spinning by ever more swiftly when childhood is left behind.

The years are growing constantly fuller of interest in this amazing twentieth century. There are many still living who remember vividly the difficulties of travel to and fro, the length of ocean voyages and the time one had to wait for news if a loved one living several States distant, was ill. Journeys then took an entire day, which now would be very comfortably covered by an express train in the course of a morning; when it cost six cents to send an ordinary letter; when children were taught how to fold letters so that a space might be left for the address, envelopes being still unknown; when wax tapers, tallow candles or sperm oil furnished our means of lighting the home; when telegraph and the telephone were mere dreams in the brain of an inventor; when motor cars were unthinkable and the mention of a flying machine stirred practical folk to derision, one cannot but fancy that life was full of inconveniences. We are very fortunate in being dwellers on the earth in a period brim full of agreeable excitement and vibrating with ardent energy. Yet, as human nature remains much the same throughout successive generations, there is a strong probability that the essentials that make for happiness are little altered in the present and compare quite favorably, on the whole, with those which obtained in the past. Years come and years go, marriage ceremonies are performed and the sweet, old story of love, faith and hope is told over and over from sea to sea. Children are born and in their tiny hands they hold a treasure that cannot be computed on a commercial balance sheet.

The essentials are the same in every age, contentment, honor, integrity, a good name, the love of home and a home to be glad in.

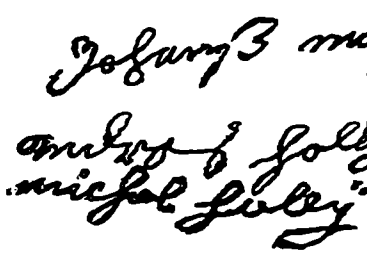

May the history of our lives be made sublime by that form of life which will develop within us a good strong character, making us grow more godlike and engage our thoughts more and more to that which is divine.

The Author.

1 FIRST GENERATION

Life Sketch of Bishop Jacob Mast

Bishop Jacob Mast was born in 1738 in Switzerland, Europe, of Swiss parents. He immigrated to America an orphan boy in company with his four sisters and younger brother John, all were in care of their benevolent uncle Johannes Mast, whom we have no record of his remaining days in this country, by tradition he was an aged widower or bachelor, and was presumably buried on the farm now owned by Mr. George D. Fahrenbach of Penn Twp., Berks Co., Pa. The old cemetery is in a dilapidated condition, by which a new barn has been erected, almost covering the whole burial plot.

The above is a true tracing of the names Johannes Mast, Andreas and Michael Holly as written on the original Immigrant List. Now on file in Division of Public Records, Harrisburg, Pennsylvania.

The following record of their emigration is in evidence:

Harrisburg, Penna.
Mar. 13, 1911.

To whom it may concern:

I hereby certify that the above is a true tracing of the above names as written on the original Immigration List, Ship, Brotherhood, Captain, John Thomson. Date, Nov. 3, 1750. Sailed from Rotterdam and last from Cowes, and arrived at Philadelphia. Now on file in Division of Public Records, Harrisburg, Pennsylvania.

(Signed) Luther R. Kelker.

Custodian of the Public Records of the Pennsylvania State Library. (The seal of the Department of the State Public Records is affixed to the document).

The party had sailed from Rotterdam in the ship Brotherhood, John Thompson, Captain, landing in Philadelphia, Pa., on Nov. 3, 1750. They selected their home near the site of the Blue Mountains, tradition says. All other early Amish Mennonites formed their first settlement in America at this place, which was known for nearly a century as the "Northkill congregation." The early members had located in Heidelberg, Lower Heidelberg, North Heidleberg, Penn, Bern, Upper Bern, Center, Upper Tulpehocken and Jefferson townships, Berks Co., Pa. The majority had lived in the vicinity of the Schuylkill River between Irish Creek and Northkill, where they had opened out farms. From 1754 to 1764 and even at a later period the settlement was exposed and almost exterminated by the torch, hatchet and scalping knife of the savages, and their midnight assault and slaughter." Hundreds fell victims to the relentlessly cruel savages, along the Blue mountains south and north of it, and along the Susquehanna, as far north as Penn's Creek. Among the massacred were many Germans—more than three hundred in all, including such as Hochstetler, Miller, Hartman, Hellman and Schleich which are family names popularly known in this history. Bishop Jacob Mast and his new life companion and father-in-law, Michael Holly, who had immigrated to America on the same vessel with the remaining members of the Mast family had now resided nearly ten years in the district of the Northkill congregation of Amish Mennonites. While thus in 1760 they were attacked by Indians and forced to seek another asylum from persecution by settling in Conestoga Valley, on a fertile tract of land forming the watershed between the Schuylkill river and the few larger tributaries of the beautiful Conestoga Creek, which name bears the signification of an Indian tribe, while on its banks are still found numerous Indian relics, such as darts and tomahawks.

A warrant was granted to Bishop Jacob Mast and a certain John Holly, Nov. 19, 1764, and the latter on Apr. 13, 1769 lawfully discharged all the rights and half part of the land to the former. The tract contained 170 acres and an allowance of six per cent for roads which was situated partly in the counties of Berks and Chester. It was purchased from Samuel Martin of Tredyfrin township, Chester Co., Pa., for £325.

On this tract of land Bishop Jacob Mast erected a comfortable log farm house, close to a lusty spring which flows directly from a stratum of limeless sandstone.

His brother John wandered through the wilderness to Randolph Co., N. C., which the reader may notice a brief account of his lineal descendants contained in the latter part of this volume and also a sketch of his sister Magdalena. The other three sisters are supposed to have died unmarried and buried near the spot of our progenitor, representing marked graves without inscriptions.

Here the once and again persecuted and oppressed Swiss family, separated from friends and much that makes life agreeable, hoped to unmolestedly begin the world anew. Here, surrounded on all sides by several clans of Indians they located in the gloomy, silent shades of a virgin forest, whose undisturbed solitude was yet uncheered by the murmurs of the honey bee, or the twitterings of the swallow, those never-failing attendants upon the woodman's ax. For the hum and warblings of those, they had not only the shout and song of the tawny sons of the forest, but also the nocturnal howlings of the ever watchful dog, baying at the sheeny queen of night as she moved stately on, reflecting her borrowed light. By way of variety, we imagine their ears were nightly greeted by the shrill, startling whoop of the owl or the crickets wail in the contiguous thickets.

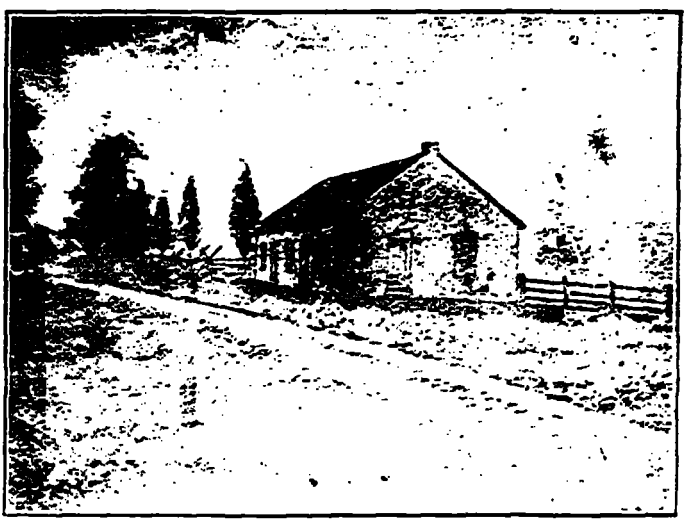

Presumably the Mast family were the first Amish Mennonite settlers to establish and organize a congregation of its kind in Conestoga valley which was the third settlement and the first permanent one in America. It is still known as the "Conestoga congregation."

Bishop Jacob Mast was elected to his office in 1788, was well educated for the times, and was a man of extensive influence. He always visited the various congregations on horseback, riding through dense forests, over great mountains and fording swelling streams, in which his life was also endangered by the red man of the forest. Yet he was in every way adapted to this situation.

His preparation was of the best order; and being undoubtedly driven from his native land by religious persecution, he must have rejoiced in finding such a pleasing situation, such inviting conditions. He knew the suffering of his forefathers through the days of martyrdom, his uncertain condition in his native land, and thus a sense of well-being induced his uncle Johannes to leave with him and his brother and four sisters. But in leaving the valleys and the beautiful mountain scenery of Switzerland so dear to him, he came to possess and enjoy a country equally favored for beauty, for health and for profit; and it was more highly favored in respect to a condition which was to him more important than all others combined—freedom.

He was sound, hopeful and trustful in religious convictions, which had fitted him admirably for his vocation.

He made many visits to his congregations, at least semi-annually, of which there were three located in Somerset and Cambria counties, Pennsylvania, known as "Gladyes," "Conemaugh" and "Castleman's River," two in Chester county, Pennsylvania, (called Chester Valley and Compassville), two in Lancaster county, Pennsylvania (called Conestoga and Pequeau), and three in Berks Co., Pennsylvania—one in Cumru, one in Maiden Creek and the third in Bern township (called Northkill).

The Mast family in America have sprung from an ancestry whose lines are well marked as far as they can be traced. These lines however are mainly found within the limits of agricultural industry, genuine morality and sincere earnestness in the performance of the duties of the Christian religion, coupled with a firm faith in its saving power. There are only several incidents where fame of arms-bearing or military skill was ever attached to any bearing the name of Mast.

The records of American history are practically silent and have little knowledge of the name. But the records of the Christian Church, especially of that branch of it known as the Amish Mennonite Church, are alive with the names of pioneers and heroes in the several generations of Masts that have lived since the establishment of the Church in America. First and foremost among these stands the name Jacob Mast, whom fancy pictures as a tall man, having a large and well-proportioned frame, very muscular, with light hair and blue eyes, a face indicating great firmness and resolution, and a body capable of enduring great hardships. How nearly this fancied representation of him may correspond with truth, cannot be said. But of this there is proof, that he was of great mental and moral force, practiced simplicity in attire, being a faithful and zealous servant for his Master and did much to advance the interests of his church.

In the year 1808 he gave up the wonderfully busy life when in the same year his neighbors carried his body out of his old home and buried it in a quiet spot on the broad acres he had tended and loved. His grave is marked with a carved sandstone bearing inscription near the northwest corner of the wall of what is known as Pine Grove Cemetery. His wife, Magdalene Holly, died Oct. 26, 1820, aged 80 years, and is buried by his side.

Their children had strong constitutions and in general had good health and lead temperate, moral, honest Christian lives and imparted these same good qualities to their children and grandchildren, for which give God the glory. During their childhood days they were commanded before retiring at night to all repeat our Lord's Prayer in concert.

The will of Jacob Mast and the memorandum account from his will which was written by his own hand in the German language. As there are in it provisions and composition somewhat singular in documents, and as they have lessons of instruction to the sincere Christian, and to a large number of the descendants of the author, they are full of interest and are herewith reproduced in full.

The above is a true tracing of the name as written on original manuscript preserved by the author.

As I consider my mortality and feel my weakness and imbecility, but of a good understanding, I have proposed to myself under the assistance of God to make my Will.

I order also when I die to be buried into the earth from which I came in a Christian manner and my soul I commend to the grace of God, further I order that the house in which we dwell shall be kept in order for my dear and beloved wife.

The (John Mast) family Bible is in the possession of Levi Mast, Sr., a grandson of Fam. No. 303.

An old letter is herewith produced in full, of which the original copy is preserved by the writer. Ten cents was the required amount to carry it.

Doylestown, Pa., Mar. 10, 1823.

John Mast,

Morgantown, Pa.

Dear Sir:—About two weeks ago I had wrote you a letter concerning the affairs of my sister, fearing that you may have not received the letter, I finally concluded to write to you again. In my former letter I had asked you to send that woman's trunk and spinning wheel to Philadelphia in care of my sister, Mary Payne. I have secured a home for the mother and her daughter. And they desire to have their money by the first of April.

Will you therefore kindly send the money with John McIntosh, the post-rider from Doylestown to Lancaster, and I will speak to him about the matter and also hand him a written order which you can demand when you shall meet him.

Last residence of Jacob Mast, prior to his removal to Ohio. Located in Caernarvon Twp., Lancaster Co., Pa.

He generally arrives in Morgantown, on Friday at two o'clock, while returning from Lancaster.

With sincere wishes your ever grateful friends,

Edward and Grace Griffin.

4. John Mast, b. Feb. 3, 1795; residence, Baltimore Co., Md.; d. Oct. 25, 1873; occu., farmer and Amish Mennonite minister. Prior to his removal with his family from Conestoga Valley, Pa., he was noted as one of the foremost farmers of his community. having exerted a marked influence upon the future development of Conestoga Valley, Pa., both in temporal and spiritual affairs. He provided for educational advantages by erecting a small country school house on the southwest corner of his farm. The school house was first opened as a private school and later leased by the Caernarvon School Board of Lancaster Co., Pa. In 1885 the building was changed to a dwelling house, but it was removed about ten years later. Mr. Mast also built two large Lancaster County barns with gable ends, built of stone, having erected one at the residence of the writer in 1841. He was united in marriage in 1850 to Elizabeth Kurtz, b. Mar. 1, 1798, a daughter of Jacob Kurtz; d. Feb. 7, 1881, in Baltimore Co., Md. America, arriving in Philadelphia September 9, 1749. From here he went to Berks County, Pennsylvania, where he bought a tract of 404 acres of land, and continued his former occupation of farming. He was twice married. His first wife died in Europe. His second wife (Catharine Ruegy) was his faithful companion during his labors in America. By the first wife he had one son; by the second two sons and one daughter.

In early life he united with the Amish Mennonites, and was afterward called to serve the church as minister and bishop. He was strictly plain in his appearance, rigid as a disciplinarian, strong in defense of the faith, and tireless as a worker, both temporally and spiritually. He became a shepherd of the first Amish Mennonite congregation in America, and ranks as one of the leading men in the church at that time. He lived the length of two ordinary lives—from 1703 to 1749 in Europe, and from 1749 to 1786 in America. He became a pious ancestor of a now numerous family in America. All persons bearing the name Hertzler whose names are recorded in this history are lineal descendants of Bishop Hertzler. A complete genealogical family register of the Hertzler family of America was compiled in 1884 by the late deceased John Hertzler of Port Royal, Juniata Co., Pa.

*Lena Swartzentruber is a grand-daughter of Caspar Swartzentruber, the progenitor of an honored Lancaster County family in Pennsylvania, whose members have been actively engaged for many years in agricultural pursuits. Caspar Schwartzentruber was born in the vicinity of Fraindsheim. Palatine, a province of France, now Bavaria in the German empire, and immigrated to America from there. He sailed Sept. 16, 1827, from Amsterdam, in the ship "Henry Clay," Captain Parker, and arrived in Baltimore, Md., Nov. 27, 1827. From there he went to East Whiteland Twp., Chester Co., Pa., having first gone to Philadelphia, Pa., in search of some friends of his sect. He finally came to a market place, where he eventually inquired of an innkeeper about a certain Christian Zook, who was living some distance from the city of Philadelphia. The inn-keeper directed him to the desired party and then this weary pedestrian in a strange country proceeded on his journey, covering a distance of about eighteen miles. A few miles from Paoli he passed a kind-hearted Quaker of whom he inquired again about the location of Christian Zook, who is the great great grandfather of the writer. The Quaker replied, "Just continue on your course until you meet a tall mighty oak, spreading its branches over the highway near a lane to your right side, which will lead you to your destination."

Here Caspar Schwartzentruber, being destitute and homeless, now formed acquaintance with this generous old farmer-preacher, Christian Zook, who gave him employment for several years.

Tradition tells us of an incident in which Caspar Schwartzentruber, after his arrival at the preacher's colonial mansion, told him of a family including a widow with six children whose husband died on the sea, while making the voyage in the same vessel, and that they are anxiously waiting on him to find some friend who would provide for them a home. Now as the old preacher's hospitality was always shared to immigrants, he drove speedily to Philadelphia with four horses hitched to a large covered Conestoga wagon, bringing the family to his home, where he provided them with food and shelter for three months. They lived on the loft of the spring-house, which is now used as a shop for cobbling.

The parents of these children were Peter Nafzinger, who was born June 7, 1790, at Illbach, Germany, and died on the sea, coming to America, Sept. 26, 1827.

He was married in 1817 to Jacobina Schwartzentruber, who was born in July, 1793, at Weinsheim, Germany, and died Jan. 15, 1869, at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. Magdalena Hartz, Morgantown, Pa. Among the children born to this union, of which all were born at Illbach except the youngest, were: viz., Daniel, b. Nov. 2, 1818; Elizabeth, b. Jan. 16, 1820; Magdalena, b. Apr. 28, 1821; Mary, b. Dec. 30, 1822 (died on the sea, Sept. 8, 1827); John, b. June 24, 1824 (died Feb. 18, 1847); Peter, b. Mar. 6, 1826; Jacobina, b. June 25, 1827.

As this family was making the voyage to America, they proposed to settle in Canada, where a number of their relatives by name of Nafzinger had located some years prior. The family has become prolific, though but few can be found bearing the original name, Nafzinger. They are in general a strong, hearty and robust race, leading temperate, moral and Christian lives.

5. David Mast, b. in 1798; address, Morgantown, Berks Co., Pa.; d.————————. He was better known as "Leather Davy," noted for his strength and endurance. As a genius in constructing simple devices for farming he was very seldom excelled by his neighbors in Conestoga Valley; neither as a financier, being a man of moderate means at the time of his death, though during an early period of his life it was supposed that he was once rendered almost insolvent, but he rapidly regained again while shipping hay to the army in the Civil War.

He had three Conestoga teams in operation at one time, the horses having represented a fine quality of breed, known as the "Conestoga." A well-known carter to one of these teams is still living in Conestoga Valley, namely, Moses Hartz, a person of ninty years of age, having been a continual resident of his present vicinity; he still possesses a clear and extensive memory of his experience as a carter in the former days of his life.

During an interview with the writer he related of having usually met the stage-coach on his trips to Pittsburgh and Philadelphia, which then won the reputation of being called the "Flyer." Carters were occasionally summoned together before leaving the inn to unite in a morning worship. He thus remarked that the present generation may be prone to imagine that their ancestors were less devoted to the welfare of their souls. Mr. Mast as an Amish Mennonite Deacon was presumably successor to his father in the congregation of Conestoga Valley, which was founded about 1765 by his grand-father, Bish. Jacob Mast, and afterwards became the first permanent Amish Mennonite settlement in America.

At the age of nineteen he accepted the great truths of Christianity, and was baptized in April 1817, by Bish. John Plank.

He was united in marriage Sept. 5, 1824, by Bish. Peter Plank to Fanny Byler,* b. in 1801; d. in 1855. To this union were born eight children, all in Caernarvon Twp., Lancaster Co., Pa., viz:

(1) Magdalena Mast, m. to Joseph Schertz.

(2) Barbara Mast, m. to John J. Stoltzfus.

David, b. ————; d. ————, of typhoid fever. Eli, b. ————; d. ————, was instantly killed by a runaway yoke of oxen, hitched to a cart. Fanny, b. ————; d. ———— ——; of typhoid fever. Annie, b. ————; d. ————, of typhoid fever. Aaron and Moses, b. twins, ——————; d. ————, of typhoid fever.

*Fanny Byler was an aunt to the late deceased David R. Byler of Morgantown, Pa., whose father was Jacob Byler, who was the son of Christopher Byler, the son of Jacob Byler, a native of Switzerland, who landed in Philadelphia, Oct. 8, 1737, in the ship "Charming Polly," from Rotterdam.

David Mast married as his second wife, Catharine Warye. To this marriage there was no issue.

*John J. Stoltzfus was a son of Jacob Stoltzfus.—See Fam. No. 406, also preceding No's. for the history of the Stoltzfus ancestors.

He was a highly respected citizen of Conestoga Valley. He began his career in life as a young man of little means. On Jan. 13, 1822, he married a young lady from the vicinity of Mohnton, Berks Co., Pa., known as Hannah Miller, who was a daughter of Christian Miller, an Amish Mennonite minister in Comru Twp., Berks Co., Pa. The young couple began farming at the place which is now known as the old John M. Mast homestead. He tells us that he found himself first on a large tract of land, which had been uncultivated and remained unproductive for nearly four years; the tract also contained neither a dwelling house nor barn. But as a typical Pennsylvanian of Swiss stock, having possessed a thrifty and economizing disposition, he gradually assumed enough of means to furnish him and his family a good livelihood.

A certain German historian wrote of recent years that the farms owned among the Swiss and Germans of Pennsylvania are often found to have descended from father to son for more than a hundred years, in many cases untouched by a mortgage, and they are among the most skillful and successful farmers in the world.

Travelers on the Pennsylvania Railroad are often surprised, as they pass through Lancaster County at the enormous size and peculiar construction of the barns. New Englanders, coming from a rocky soil, where all the crops that are ever gathered can be stored in an ordinary stable, are always very much amused, and think it a foolish waste of money for a farmer to build a barn five times as large as his house. They are not aware that they are passing through one of the garden spots of the earth, and if they knew the nature of its inhabitants they would have no fears of his spending a dollar or enclosing a square foot of space that was not absolutely necessary for the housing of his enormous crops.

Mr. Mast united with the Amish Mennonite church and also his life companion; they both remained faithful and active members until death. In his last conscious moments he was faintly heard singing a favorite German hymn. The remains were laid to rest in the Pine Grove Cemetery, near Elverson, Pa. To this union were born three sons and seven daughters, all in Caernarvon Twp., Berks Co., Pa., viz.,

(1) Isaac Mast, m. to Mary Kurtz.
(2) Lydia Mast, m. to Jacob Zook.
(3) Elizabeth Mast, m. to John Kurtz.
(4) Hannah Mast, m. to Jonathan Yoder.
(5) John M. Mast, m. to Rebecca Stoltzfus.
(6) Mary Mast, m. to Christian L. Fisher; married as her second husband John F. Stoltzfus.

The following family records from No. 119 to No. 170 contain a history of Hannah Miller's* grand-father, Daniel Miller and his lineal descendants. Thence will appear a full account of every lineal descendant of Stephen Mast.

119 FIRST GENERATION

Daniel Miller, b. ————, in Europe. He presumably came from Germany with his first wife, named ———— Kenagy. They emigrated to America in the ship "Patience," Captain Hugh Steel, from Rotterdam, last from Cowes, landing in Philadelphia Aug. 11, 1750. The young couple lived a few years in Berks Co., Pa., when suddenly Mrs. Miller was summoned to the spirit world. Daniel Miller returned to Germany and married Veronica Mishler, who was b. in 1736. He emigrated again with his second wife to America and settled at his former place of abode on a farm located near the present site of Shillington, Berks Co., Pa. To this union were born three sons and five daughters, all born in Berks Co., Pa., viz.,

(1) Christian Miller, m. to Catharine Kurtz.
(2) Elizabeth Miller, m. to ———— Kenagy.

A Note from Rev. Harvey Hostetler, author of the Hochstetler family history to the writer. A synopsis of it may here be in place.

Council Bluffs, Ia.
Jan. 11, 1909.

Mr. C. Z. Mast,
Elverson, Pa.

I am glad to hear from and to learn how well you are getting on with your history. I have just compiled the history of one of the grand-daughters of our Jacob of 1736 and I find I have eight hundred and eighteen families of her descendants in type written copy, and she had but six children. By the way she is the wife of Abraham Miller that you sent to me.

With best wishes, Yours fraternally,
Harvey Hostetler.

169 SECOND GENERATION 119

6. Fanny Miller, b. Sept. 18, 1769, in Berks Co., Pa.; m. to Joseph Kurtz. Their children are:

(1) Abraham, b. ————, d. ————; unmarried.

(2) John Kurtz, m. to Phebe Kauffman.

(4) Joseph Kurtz, m. to ——— Kauffman.
(5) Henry Kurtz, m. to ——— Kauffman.
(6) Samuel Kurtz, m. to ———Longnecker.
(7) Isaac Kurtz, b. ———; d. ———.
(8) David Kurtz, b. ———; d. ———.
(9) Susie Kurtz, b. ———; d. ———.
(10) Jacob Kurtz, m. to ——— Martz.
(11) Daniel Kurtz, m. to ——— Martz.
(12) Nancy Kurtz, m. to John Lapp of Loss Creek Valley, Pa.
(13) Leah Kurtz, m. to Jacob Summers.
(14) Veronica Kurtz, m. to Abraham Mast.—See their Fam. No. 1557.
(15) Elizabeth Kurtz, m. to ——— ———.

Daniel Miller's family descendants are a noble minded, worthy class of people. Those living in Berks Co., Pa., mainly speak the German language and in religion the majority are either German Lutheran or Reformed, being temperate, law-abiding citizens, free from vicious habits, drunkeness and immoral tendencies.

The name Miller in America has become just as popular as Smith or Jones. See Footnote of Fam. No. 1395 for a sketch of Moses Miller, who emigrated to America in 1817 from Alsace, Germany. Miss Estella Miller of Dundee, R. R. No. 1, O., writes that her ancestors when they first settled in America were also of German nationality. She is a daughter of Amos Miller, who was a son of Isaac Miller, who was the son of Moses B. Miller, who was the son of Benedict Miller, whose brothers were John, Henry and Jacob Miller; who lived in Ohio. Their father was Jacob Miller, the son of John Miller, who emigrated from Europe. Mrs. D. H. Yoder of Johnstown, R. R. No. 3, is in possession of considerable data concerning the above family; also D. D. Miller of Middlebury, Ind.

*Christian Zug when his first wife died visited Germany and there married as his second wife Anna Missler, widow, maiden name Dodereas. She had two sons, named Jacob Missler and Casper Feesebach. These were children that she had with her first and second husbands. Christian Zug after his marriage with Anna returned to Chester Co., Pa., and brought her sons with him.

Christian Zug by tradition was the son of John Zug, who was the lineal descendant of Hans Zaug. (See I. D. Rupp's Martyrs Mirror on page 1021 for Hans Zaug and on page 1023 for the action of Council at Berne), of Switzerland. In religious faith he was a Mennonite preacher. He was incarcerated in A. D. 1659, in the Department of Berne, Switzerland, with six teachers and elders of the same faith, under jurisdiction of the Zwinglian Reformed Church.

Family head, member Amish Mennonite Church.

Where the descendants of this family are living is not known to the writer.

They determined to lay hands on them and especially on the pastors and elders of the Church in order thereby to excite greater terror among the innocent members of the scattered fold of Christ. Seven of the teachers and leading elders of the Church were arrested and assigned to distinct prisons, namely: Uly Baumgarten, Anthony. Hinnelberg, Jegly Schlebach, Hans Zaug, Uly Baumgartner, Christen Christians and Rhode Peters. They were kept for some time at very hard labor, and supplied with bad food—spelt and rye—to save cost. Besides this they were greatly reviled, scorned and calumniated on account of their religious faith. It was at first asserted that they should be kept in this manner for life, to which fate they had surrendered themselves in patience and resigned themselves to the grace of God, but when it was ascertained that such measures had not the desired effect of shaking these people in their faith and religion, they fixed upon an other plan in Council in Berne, namely, that they should choose one of the following conditions: First, to go with them to church, or second, to be perpetually consigned to the galleys† as slaves, or third, to die by the hands of the executioner. A hard choice indeed, for the first concerns the soul, and the last two, the body. They remained incarcerated until in December A. D. 1671, when the States General and a certain Regent of the cities of Netherland and Holland petitioned the lords and council at Berne, Switzerland, for the liberation of the prisoners. They were liberated on the condition, namely, that they should leave the country and not return without special permission. They were all released upon the request of Lord Beatus and conveyed to Basle and there delivered to their brethren and friends, with whom they departed to the Department of Doermstein, in Germany. Mosheim says that the Mennonites after having been in a long uncertain and precarious situation, obtained a fixed and unmolested settlement in the united province of Holland, Europe, under the shadow of a legal toleration, procured for them by William, Prince of Orange (See Evert's and Peck's history of Lancaster Co., Pa., on page 326, or C. D. Davies' history of Holland, Europe,) the glorious founder of the Belgic liberty. This illustrious chief, who acted from principle in allowing liberty of conscience and worship of Christians of different denominations, was moreover engaged by gratitude to favor the Mennonites, who had assisted him in the year A. D. 1672, with a comfortable sum of money when his coffers were almost exhausted. It was resolved in full Council at Berne on Oct. 11, A. D. 1671, that such male persons that were young and strong should also be sent to the galleys, as six who were sent some time before. When Lord Beatus, of Berne, Switzerland, observed the resolution of the Council at Berne, he was excited to compassion and went to the authorities and requested them to delay the transportation of the prisoners until he would go to the members of their society in Alsace, France, and ascertain whether they would bail the prisoners, for the performance of the condition, namely, that they would leave the country and not return without special permission. Their friends in Alsace immediately accepted the condition and made the engagement with Lord Beatus in writing, whereupon he promised on his part to exert the utmost of his influence with the authorities of Berne, in the expectation that he could prevail on them to deliver the prisoners to Basle to their friends, and that they would obtain a residence for them in other countries.

Family head, member Amish Mennonite Church.

Christian and Magdalene Zug were buried in the Old Flat cemetery, located on the Lapp homestead farm, two miles northwest of the Valley Store; graves marked with white marble tombstones, bearing the inscriptions, respectively, "Died 8th of October 1826, hear ruhen dea gebeanen von Chrestean Zug, seni gastorbanem 75 stu eahr saenas altars." "Died 14 of August 1833, hear ruhen dea gabeanan von Magdalana Zug, ahawaeb von Chrestean Zug seni gastorbanem 82 seines altars."

Christian Zug as a minister ranks as one of the leading men in the early history of the Chester Valley Amish Mennonite Church.

Family head, member Amish Mennonite Church.

Henry Zook moved from East Whiteland Twp., Chester Co. to East Lampeter Twp., Lancaster Co. in Mar. 1834. For a complete genealogical family register of Christian Zug's lineal descendants, see "Hertzler Genealogy" which was compiled in 1884 by the late dec'd John Hertzler of Port Royal, Pa.

In the records of the Colonies the names of ten Zugs are recorded who arrived in Philadelphia, from 1727 to 1776, namely: Arrived in Philadelphia, Sept. 27, 1727, imported in the ship "James Goodwill," David Crocket, Master, from Rotterdam, last from Falmouth, three first cousins, Peter Zug, George Zeug, Ulric Zug, and first cousins of Johannes Zug, Moritz Zug and Christian Zug. See Fam's. 186, 1047, and for lineal descendants of Johannes Zug, see Fam. No. 70.

Arrived in Philadelphia, Sept. 21, 1742, imported in the ship "Francis and Elizabeth," George North, Master, from Rotterdam, Holland, last from Deal, England, three brothers, namely, Christian Zug, Moritz Zug, Johannes Zug. They selected their homes in Berne Twp., Lancaster Co., now in Centre Twp., Berks Co.,

Pa. in the vicinity of the Schuylkill River between Irish Creek and Northkill.

Christian Zug removed from there in 1770 to East Whiteland Twp., Chester Co., Pa. See Fam. No. 186. Moritz Zug removed from Berks Co., in 1770 to West Whiteland Twp., Chester Co., Pa. See his Fam. No. 1047. He bought of John Morris in 1775, one hundred and fifty acres of land in West Whiteland Twp., Chester Co., Pa. and deeded to his son Henry, of the same land sixty-four and three-fourths acres; price two hundred and seventy-one pounds.

In 1784 he deeded to his son Jacob, one hundred and four acres of land in West Whiteland Twp., Chester Co., Pa.; the price was nine hundred and eighty pounds. Tradition says Moritz Zug was named after Mourice of Nassau as a token of gratitude for the kindness he manifested to the Zug ancestors and other Mennonites when imprisoned in 1659 to December, 1771, for their religious faith in Switzerland.

Johannes Zug married and was the father of five children who were named:

(1) Hans Zug, b. May 15, 1756, m. to Magdalena Fisher. Their children are: one daughter, married to ———— Esh, and two sons, Jacob and Daniel, both of whom married and had offspring. Magdalena Zug died ————.

Hans Zug married as his second wife Anna Sharp, widow, maiden name Yoder. She died ————. Hans Zug married as his third wife, Barbara Hostetler, widow.—See Fam. No. 563.

There were no children born to this union. He died in 1820, in the vicinity of Belleville, Mifflin Co., Pa., known "als der dick Hans Zug."

(2) Christian Zug, m. to Magdalena Mast. See Fam. No. 408.

(3) Daniel Zug, b. July 20, 1760, married; residing when he died in the vicinity of Reading, Berks Co., Pa.; was a minister of the Amish Mennonite Church.

(4) Barbara Zug, b. Oct. 6, 1762; married to Jacob King.

(5) Elizabeth Zug, b. Aug. 27, 1763; d. Sept. 4, 1773.

Johannes Zug removed from Berks Co., Pa. to Honeybrook Twp., Chester Co., Pa.; d. May, 1790. He formed a settlement of Amish Mennonites, which tradition says, was composed of a few families by name of Miller, Zook, Fisher, etc. They were formerly members of the Chester Valley Amish Mennonite church, near Malvern, Pa. An old Amish Mennonite graveyard is located at the corner of a farm, situated about one mile North of the present site of Honey Brook, Pa., or nearly one fourth of a mile northwest from the Poplar Grove school house. There are no tomb stones to mark the graves of these early pioneers, but is enclosed by a substantial wall, with dimensions 4 feet high, 48 feet long and 18 feet wide. The material used in building the wall was hauled by David Mast of Fam. 108.

His family Bible, with the records of his children's births, was printed in 1534. No families are recorded in this Bible previous to his family. It was bought in Cherrick, Switzerland, and was in possession of Jacob C. Hertzler, near Allensville, Mifflin Co., Pa. in 1884.

Joseph Zug arrived in Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 15, 1750, in the ship "Royal Union," Clement Nicholson, Master, from Rotterdam, Holland, last from Cowes.

Jacob Zuch arrived in Philadelphia, Sept. 30, 1754, in the ship "Richard and Mary," John Moore, Master, from Rotterdam, last from Cowes.

All the autographs of the above Zugs were written when they declared their fealty to the province of Pennsylvania, and the King of Great Britain and his successors, and are variously spelled. Zug is an ancient name in Switzerland. There is a canton, river, lake, and town of that name in Switzerland. In 1884 the town contained three thousand inhabitants. On the 4th of Mar., 1435, in that part of the town of Zug nearest to the lake a frightful noise was heard succeeded by total disappearance of two streets with part of the town wall which sunk into the lake.

In 1594 a similar calamity occurred, and in 1795 a great part of the town was destroyed by fire. Zug is so ancient that its origin is past record. It is supposed to have been one of the towns destroyed by the Helvetian inhabitants mentioned in Caesar's Commentaries. See page 260 of Coghlan's hand-book of Central Europe.

5. John M. Mast, b. Oct. 10, 1829; address, Morgantown, Berks Co., Pa.; d. Mar. 22, 1901, with pneumonia; buried in Pine Grove Cemetery. He was a man of striking and impressive presence, being broad shouldered, well proportioned and of a handsome countenance. He loved "the simple life," and despised ostentation, and was seldom absent from church services, even up to the end of his life. He was a lifelong resident of Conestoga Valley, where he followed agricultural pursuits throughout a long and active life. During the Civil War he became extensively engaged in the manufacture of sorghum molasses, and raised well bred horses. As a skilled horseman he generally preferred to travel on horseback up to his very last years, visiting his seven children who still reside within a radius of one mile from the old homestead.

His memory of the great events of the first half of the nineteenth century was extensive and clear, as in regard to manners and customs, means of transportation, political changes, etc., all these and more he could vividly describe to the writer while he being ten to fourteen years of age.

When in company with his grand-children he frequently repeated that which his forefathers were heard priding themselves in what is so instructively expressed;

"Selbst gesponnen, selbst gemacht,
Rein dabei ist Bauern—Tracht.

He accepted his Savior in early youth and was m. Dec. 16, 1851, to Rebecca Stoltzfus,* b. Apr. 2, 1830, and still resides on the old homestead at this writing. To this union were born three sons and four daughters in Caernarvon Twp., Berks Co., Pa., viz.;

282 THIRD GENERATION 2

7. Daniel Mast, born in 1803, was for many years one of Conestoga Valley's most prominent and influential citizens. He was a minister of the Amish Mennonite church and cultivated a fine farm of sixty acres. His early intellectual training was received in the private schools of Morgantown, Pa., and afterwards continued in agricultural pursuits during his whole life. He was married to Rachael Blank who was a daughter of John Blank. She was born in 1805, died in 1873. Soon after his marriage he was elected a minister of the Amish Mennonite church and preached for several congregations. His total membership numbered about one hundred souls. He visited the different charges regularly every few Sundays according to a fixed schedule; every four weeks he visited the congregations in Berks Co., in the vicinity of Reading.

Undoubtedly there were many all through these sections who watched for the approach of the faithful old horse "Jolly," knowing that with him came one whose sympathy in time of trouble was always ready, and whose advice and instruction had made many a path straight for those on whom life had laid heavy burdens lighter.

He was well fitted in every way for a ministerial life, possessing a pleasing and winning personality, and an eloquence that made the preaching of the Word effective. He died at his residence on Aug. 18, 1883, aged 80y. and 11m.

The children were all born in Caernarvon Twp., Berks Co., as follows:

(1) John P. Mast, m. to Anna Zook.
(2) Sarah Mast, m. to David Stoltzfus.
(3) Anna Mast, b. Mar. 5, 1831; d. Sept. 4, 1834.
(4) Mary Mast, m. to Samuel Petersheim.
(5) Levi Mast, m. to Christiana Zook.
(6) Rachael Mast, b. Dec. 29, 1837; d. Aug. 20, 1840.
(7) Fanny Mast, m. to Christian Z. Beiler.
(8) Hannah Mast, m. to Jacob Stoltzfus.
(9) Rebecca Mast, m. to Eli Stoltzfus; married as her second husband, John Lapp.
(10) Lydia Mast, b. Aug. 9, 1848; d. it is thought, from injuries received at the hands of burglars, who seized her at the throat June 21, 1874.

Family head, member Amish Mennonite Church.

Bishop David Plank, of Bellefontaine, O., related a few years ago from the pulpit, that Daniel Mast told him after his ordination, nearly forty years ago, of a severe trial that seemed to defeat every design regarding the duties of his calling. He continued by saying that, "I finally went to the mountain and there prayed earnestly to my Lord and Redeemer to renew my strength and courage. My prayer was answered, which brought about a new epoch in my life, and I possessed a greater submission to the Divine Will."

283 FOURTH GENERATION 282

1. John P. Mast, born in 1826 was a lifelong resident of Caernarvon Twp., Berks Co., Pa. He received his education in his native locality. After completing his literary training, he began, early in life, in agricultural pursuits. He was united in marriage to Anna Zook,* who was born Jan. 12, 1828; died July 4, 1903, to which union was no issue. During his thirties he was ordained an Amish Mennonite minister and later elected bishop. He also in connection operated several large farms, and a flour rolling mill which is now owned and operated by the Morgantown Milling Co. Bishop Mast labored in season and out of season. He thoroughly understood the people, and they had full confidence in his advice and judgment in temporal as well as spiritual affairs. He was sympathetic and considerate of every one with whom he came in contact. His amiable disposition and even temperament made him one of the most approachable of men. His kindliness of manner commended him as a model preacher, and there was never any friction between him and his congregation. His members believed in him as no other man and he was held by them in the greatest affection as a counsellor, preacher and friend. He was amiable, charitable and always good natured, and his dear life companion always made the home a continual place of sunshine where hundreds of visitors were always welcome. There were few men who enjoyed a wider acquaintance throughout the adjoining counties of his own than Bishop Mast. As a preacher he was practical and eloquent. He drew his lessons from every day life, and his sermons were based on old-fashioned Gospel truths, and ran in a channel of thought that all could understand and at all times directed his hearers to prepare for the better land above. He addressed his people as a kind father would a child, and in this lay one of the sources of his popularity. He died June 11, 1888 while walking through a field. His death came instantly from heart failure. His name was for many years a household word through his entire section. Over one thousand people attended his funeral to pay the last tribute of respect for one who always showed a warm heart to all classes. The remains of Bishop Mast and his beloved wife were interred in Pine Grove Cemetery.

*Barbara Kauffman was the daughter of Joel Kauffman. He was a life long resident of Conestoga Valley, Lancaster Co., Pa., and possessing the same sterling qualities as those of his ancestors, all of whom were engaged in agricultural pursuits. He lived on the farm which is now known as the Gideon Zook farm: the barn was built by him in 1800. His father-Stephen Kauffman was born in Bern (now Upper Bern) township, Berks Co., Pa., who was the son of Stephen Kauffman Sr., who had been imprisoned with buried in the old David Mast family graveyard located in Caernarvon Twp. Their children, born in Lancaster Co., are:

(6) Barbara Zook, b. Feb. 22, 1829, in the vicinity of Beartown, Lancaster Co., Pa. She was never married and possesses a very clear and extensive memory of the past concerning the early members of the Mast family, with whom the writer had the privilege of having an interesting interview. While her place of abode is not permanent she resides at this writing at 450 E. Orange St., Lancaster, Pa. In 1881 she went to South Dakota and there purchased three quarters of a section of government land for $1.50 per acre. She sold it again in 1900, lived in Kan.,

Jacob Mast, John Hertzler and others for refusing military service in the Revolutionary War. They were condemned to be shot but the sentence was never executed and the peace loving prisoners were set free.

During a certain Indian assault on the early settlers, tradition tells us that Stephen Kauffman Sr., hurriedly took off his horses and rode to Baltimore, Md., in this absence his wife was suddenly attacked by the Indians at the window of the typical log house. She boldly defended herself with an ax by chopping their hands, after which they immediately fled to the woods, screaming fearfully.

The emigrant ancestor of this family is supposed to have been Jacob Kauffman who came to America on the ship "Phoenix," landing Sept. 15, 1749, with 550 other passengers from Zweibrucken, Nassau, Wurtemberg and the Palatinate. He and two brothers located in Lancaster County, Pa., but the land there was not what he wanted, so he did not remain long. He did not want to undertake the work of clearing away the forests which then covered that region, and land which could be converted into meadows, to raise hay to feed his stock, seemed to him more desirable, so with one brother he came to Berks county, settling in Bern (now Upper Bern) township. He took up a large tract of land in the fertile valley at the foot of the Blue Mountain near the present site of St. Michael's Church, receiving a patent Ala., O. and later in Kentucky, where she had a stock farm until 1909. She also devoted her interests during the winter season in working for land agents in the southern states.

He again after expiration of service re-enlisted and served until the close of the Civil War. Having then aspired to various pursuits, he finally embarked in the plumbing and tinsmith business at Ephrata, Pa., until 1888, when he removed to Lancaster, where he is at present holding the office of courtcrier. Their children, born in Lancaster Co., are:

for about seven hundred acres, part of which was meadow land, with an abundant water supply. He built a log house with a cellar adapted for defense against the Indians there being no opening which afforded an easy entrance, and an attack could be repelled by shooting from a window.

The few settlers then in the vicinity suffered much from the treachery and depredations of the Indians, and they accordingly took their guns with them when they went to and from their work. This state of affairs continued from 1754 to 1764, but with all their precautions about one hundred settlers were killed, a brother of Jacob Kauffman being among the number.

There had been numerous emigrations of Kauffmans during the colonial period and the name was variously spelled at the time they registered their names on the date of their arrival at Philadelphia.

Rupp's 30000 names furnishes a list of nearly thirty men. Few of these were non-combatants belonging to sects as the Quakers, Dunkards, Mennonites and Amish Mennonites.

534 FIRST GENERATION

Christian Schmucker, the ancestor of a large and representative family of the states of Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, was a native of Switzerland, and crossed the ocean on the ship "St. Andrew," controlled by James Abercombie, which landed at Philadelphia, May 8, 1752.

The name Schmucker has been spelled in four different ways by the members of the same family, Smucker, Smoker, Schmucker and Smuker. When Christian Schmucker arrived he registered his name "Schmucker." He became one of the early pioneer settlers of his sect in America, known as the Amish Mennonites, who formed their first settlement in Bern (now Upper Bern) Twp., Berks Co., Pa. His descendants have become so numerously inter-married with the Masts, to say nothing of his belonging, as the first representative, of a long established family, that this book would be incomplete without mention of him and also a genealogical record of his early descendants.

He was a farmer by occupation, exceedingly industrious and was known as a man of sterling qualities. During his life time there was little clear land in his locality and he often heard the howl of wolves in the forest around his primitive home, which later in life was superceded by a substantial house and barn, and was occupied by his descendants for five generations. In 1840 his great grand-son, Isaac Smucker, a Dunkard preacher moved from the old homestead to Ashland County, Ohio. Frequently the old pioneer ancestor of this prolific family stood in fear of the Indians who still roamed the forests after the date of his settlement, and whose attacks endangered the lives and property of the hardy settlers. (See account of Hochstetler massacre in footnote of Fam. No. 563.) His mortal remains were laid to rest in the old Amish Mennonite graveyard, in Comru township, and there, too, sleep scores of descendants of many noble pioneers. He was married to Catharine Hesster, who died Apr. 27, 1786. Among the children were:

(1) John Schmucker, m. to Barbara Stoltzfus.—See her F's. Fam. No. 355.

(2) Fanny Schmucker, m. to John Blank.

(3) Peter Schmucker, m. to Margaret Kinzers.

The Christian Schmucker pass, translated from the original copy in French, now in the possession of Mrs. Mary Falck, of 24 East German St., Lancaster, Pa.

The Governor, President and Counsellors of the Regency at Montbeliard by his serene highness our Lord the reigning Duke of Wurtemberg, Sa. Sa.

To all though unto whom this shall come known that Christian Schmucker, his wife, Catherine Hesster with four children, John Blank, his wife, Mary Eichelman with one child, Dorstius Alleman and his wife, called Baumgardter. Jacob Fame and his wife, Catharine Eicher with two children and Ulrich Stauffer Y. A——— on all of them Swiss Germans originally from the Canton of Berne, wishing to leave this country to find a convenient place abroad to seek their fortunes, they have applied for a passport for the surety of their voyage which was granted, therefore it is requested and required of all those to whom appertain to let them pass freely without any embarrassment, which offenses we will reciprocate in such cases in faith of which the present is out-horized with the ordinary seal of the Chancery and signed by one surety in Council the eighth of May One Thousand Seven Hundred and Fifty Two. By Ordinary Jeanmaire, Sec.

and sons Joseph and Christian made prisoners. Another son, John, resided near his father at the time of the massacre.

The writer with sincere gratitude shall ever greatly acknowledge the assistance rendered by Rev. Harvey Hostetler of Councils Bluffs, Ia., who supplied the history of Barbara Mast and her husband John Hostetler, for insertion in this family history.

Rev. Hostetler is about making arrangements to print a large history of his family. He has devoted many years to the formidable task in compiling the Hochstetler Family History in connection with William P. Hochstetler of Sugar Creek, O.

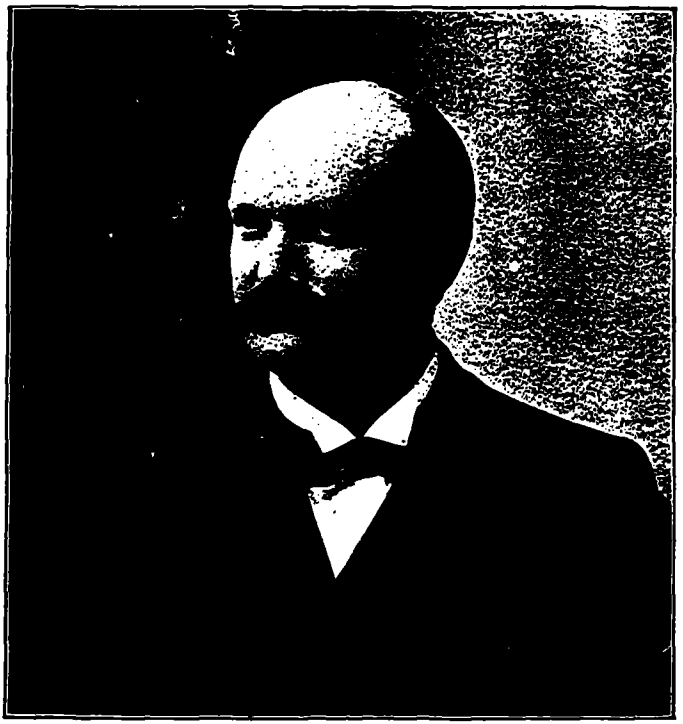

The authors of the Mast and Hochstetler family histories have formed an intimate acquaintance by correspondence in December, 1908, and while they worked together on a few families and frequently furnished aid with suggestions pertaining to their respective lines of work, however to this writing they have not had the privilege of meeting face to face although their meeting has been frequently contemplated and a social correspondence shall undoubtedly exist in the future.

Rev. Harvey Hostetler has been very successful with his compilation, and his clients can certainly enjoy the pleasure of an increase in their beneficent social influence among their relatives living in various parts of the world. He was born Feb. 13, 1857, near Summit Mills, Pa., the son of Jonas Hochstetler and his wife Elizabeth Kretchman, who moved to Marshalltown, Ia., Apr. 14, 1865. Graduated from the Marshalltown High School, 1876, from the State University of Iowa in 1881, and the Union Theological Seminary, New York, in 1884. Pastor of Presbyterian Churches at Vail, Iowa, 1884-9, Sioux City, 1890-7, Council Bluffs, 1901-6, President of Buena Vista College, 1897-1900.

*Lehman Oliver Boyer, the son of George and Mary Christena (Kenner) Boyer was the son of Michael and Eve (Koons) Boyer.

†The Boyers have direct connection in name and history with the Gallic Boii, widely distributed over Rhine regions in the time of wandering of races, and particularly active between the fourth and second century before Christ. Julius Caesar conquered them in part about 58 B. C. Both the Bavarians and the Bohemians get their names from the Boii, though the Bohemians are not Boii descent.

"Like other families, many of the Boyers, both in France and Germany, accepted the doctrines and consequences of the sixteenth century Reformation. In the complications that resulted from the revocation of the edict of Nantes by Louis XIV, king of France, in 1685 the Palatine was terribly devastated. Those who could escape Louis' fury found at last temporary refuge in parts of Germany, Holland and England. In the meantime, Penn, the proprietary governor of Pennsylvania, sympathizing with the refugees in Europe, helped to produce a veritable exodus from Europe. Through his agents he made it known among refugees in Europe that he was ready to grant land possessions on easy terms in Pennsylvania, and that liberty of conscience was to be allowed there. Among these refugees were the Boyers.

*About forty of them settled in Pennsylvania before 1775, some of them in Philadelphia and others at various points in the eastern counties of Pennsylvania. Wherever they settled they became identified with the colonial efforts to sustain ministers and schoolmasters, and to build the log church, the latter also serving as schoolhouse in many instances. There are now about 100,000 Boyers in America." (Extract from an address of the Rev. Dr Charles C. Boyer, at Boyer Reunion, Kutztown, Pennsylvania.)

*There are a half dozen or more distinct families in the United States bearing the name Mast, being variously spelled.—Maust, Mest, Moist or Mast. They are all of German and Swiss descent, but by far the larger number trace their line to the Swiss Fatherland.

Older and also present generations of the family to which this sketch is especially dedicated spelled the name Mast. The first representative of this family in America was Jacob Mast, who was imported from the Palatines in the ship Charming Polly of London, controlled by Capt. Charles Stedman, from Rotterdam, last from Plymouth, landing in Philadelphia on Oct. 8, 1837.

John Mast, a son of Jacob, was born Apr. 23, 1749. He was known as a prominent citizen in the early history of Berks Co., Pa. On Apr. 6, 1773 he married Anna Staehle, who was born May 24, 1753, daughter of Henry Staehle. Among the children born to this union, were:

Henry, b. Jan. 22, 1774. Jacob, b. Apr. 20, 1775. Christian, b. July 24, 1777. Johannes, b. Oct. 2, 1779. Sarah, b. Apr. 19, 1781. Abraham, b. May 14, 1783. Anna, b. Jan. 30, 1785. David, b. Nov. 7, 1786.

His long will may herewith be inserted in full as duplicated by his great-great-grandson, William E. Troutman from the document which is carefully preserved by the father of William E., known as Percival Troutman of Bernville, Pa.

In the name of God Amen. I, John Mast, of the township of Upper Bern, in the county of Berks and State of Pa., being in perfect health and sound mind, memory and understanding (thanks be to God for the same), being mindful of my mortality, do make and constitute this my last will and testament.

First and principally, I recommend my immortal spirit to the Almighty God, who gave us hope of a joyful resurrection and my body to the earth (when it shall please God to separate my soul and body) to be buried in a decent and Christian like manner, at the discretion of my executors hereinafter mentioned, and to such worldly estate, wherewith it hath pleased God to help me, I give and dispose therefore as follows:

It is my will and I do order and direct that my beloved wife, Anna, after my decease, if she should survive me, shall have the farm I now occupy, situated in the township of Upper Bern

1009 SECOND GENERATION 1

4. Jacob Mast, born in 1768 in Caernarvon Twp., Berks Co., Pa., died in 1852 with infirmities of old age, at his permanent residence, known as the Petershime farm or formerly the Owen Good farm, located north of the Conestoga Tavern. He was educated in the old pay schools of the county and his early training was all along agricultural lines, and he devoted himself all his life to the cultivation of farms in Conestoga Valley, "his sterling integrity, good sense and unostentatious sincerity of purpose won for him a high place in the esteem of the people and he was frequently called upon to fill positions of honor and trust.

Tradition tells us that he took part in laying the corner-stone of the new court house of Berks Co., Pa., at Reading, which was erected during the years of 1838, 1839 and 1840.

He was well proportioned in stature weighing about one hundred and sixty pounds and had dark blue eyes.

He was united in marriage to Barbara Kenege,* Apr. 22,

*Barbara Kenege was a daughter of John Kenege, who was married to Dorothy Nafzger, a daughter of Matthias Nafzger, a native of Switzerland, Europe.

Joseph K. Mast of Urbana, Ohio, who is a lineal descendant of Matthias Nafzger is in possession of the emigrant ancestor's family Bible, which was purchased in Switzerland in 1687.

Jacob Mast Homestead, Caernarvon Twp., Berks Co., Pa. See Fam. No. 1009.

1792, who preceded him in death, and his daughter Leah then accompanied him by attending to his household duties until he calmly passed from earth at an unexpected hour, like the last flickering of a candle. He had just been lying on his couch for a few moments of rest after the noon hour.

His mortal remains were laid to rest by the side of his dec'd companion in Pine Grove cemetery, where were buried his parents and scores of early pioneer settlers. Among the children born to this union, all on the old homestead are:

(1) John Mast, m. to Elizabeth Trego.

1010 THIRD GENERATION 1009

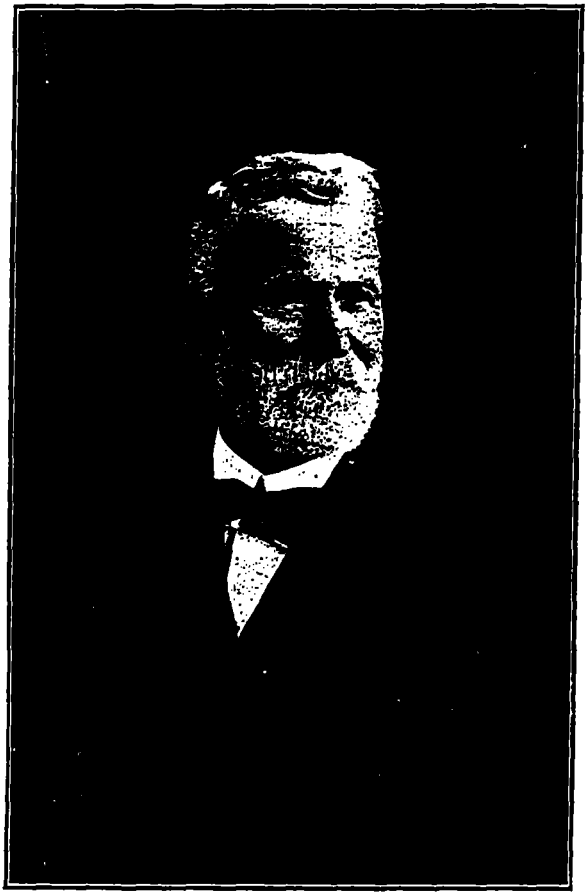

1. John Mast,* b. Oct. 29, 1793, in Caernarvon Twp., Berks

*John Mast moved in 1830 from Berks Co., Pa., to Champaign Co., Ohio. Prior to his removal to Ohio he taught in public schools southeastern Pa. He then bought a quarter of a section of good farm land in Champaign Co., O., at ten dollars per acre, without much money to invest in the land and his live stock and farming implements.

The young man soon found himself in a financial struggle, as the markets for his farm products gave no large returns and it afforded no good means of transportation in those days. He hauled his wheat over the mud roads to Dayton, Ohio, for thirty-three cents per bushel. But as the country became more densely settled, the land began to increase in value and the farmer was given better sale for his products, as grain, butter, cheese, poultry and eggs; the roads also afforded better facilities for transportation. Mr. Mast who was a remarkable business man and a highly respected citizen, both in church and state affairs, soon began to clear off his debts and became one of the foremost farmers in his county in which he resided. In 1865 he retired from his farm of 320 acres which he divided into smaller tracts for his children, reserving 65 acres.

He was a member of the board of education for 43 years, was a class leader in the M. E. church 54 years and served 48 years as steward and trustee.

Joseph Kenege Mast.—See Fam. No. 1020.

P. P. Mast—See Fam. No. 1011.

In municipal affairs he was always prominent, although in an unassuming way, having given faithful service as a member of the city council for twenty-two years, this service with the exception of one term having been continuous. He was for many years president of council, and was mayor of Springfield from 1895 to 1897. Mr. Mast at the age of five years came with his father from Lancaster Co., Pa., and settled on a farm near Urbana, O., where he spent the early years of his life until he attained his majority on the farm, with the exception of the time when he was attending college. He was a student of Ohio Weslyan University from where he graduated in 1849, having taken while there special interest in the scientific and Biblical courses.

After leaving college he spent part of his time with his parents, teaching school one year and devoting his attentions a part of the time to trading in grain and produce. Coming to Springfield in 1856, he engaged in partnership in the winter of 1856 and 1857 with Hon. John H. Thomas in the manufacture of agricultural implements. His partnership continued until 1871 when Mr. Mast bought Mr. Thomas' interest in the concern and organized the firm of P. P. Mast & Co., which is still enjoying a very prosperous existence, Mr. Mast having remained the president of the company until his death. He was also the president of the Springfield National Bank, which was opened in Springfield, Mar. 31, 1882. Mr. Mast was also one third owner of the Farm and Fireside and the Woman's Home Companion published by the firm of Mast, Crowell & Kirkpatrick which was organized by Mr. Mast, June 1, 1879.

Aside from his immense business interests, Mr. Mast's holdings in real estate were considerable. Many years ago he purchased the Bandarita Ranch in Mariposa County, California, on which are located several gold mines: among them being the "Bandaritha," "Martin and Wallings" and the "Bower Cave." At present none of these are being actively worked, although several of them proved at times very profitable. Mr. Mast owned also about 3,000 acres of land in the peach belt of Georgia and 3,600 acres of land in Trego County, Kansas, together with much valuable real estate in Springfield.

During his entire life Mr. Mast proved himself a very public spirited citizen, and made many donations to public and charitable objects; among which was a gift of $10,000.00 toward the erection of St. Pauls' Methodist Episcopal Church, of which he was a member from the beginning of its organization.

He was greatly interested also in Ohio Weslyan University, of which for many years he was a trustee, and to which he had several times made monetary donations. He was a regular attendant at the commencement exercises of that college. Besides this he was always very generous to charitable works. He was continuously a Sunday school superintendent for forty years, having started as superintendent of the Central Methodist Episcopal Sunday school and continuing in the same position when St. Paul's Church was organized.

On the annversary of his birth Jan. 4, 1850 he was married to Miss Anna M. Kirkpatrick, a most esteemable woman, died Apr. 21, 1895 with dropsy, both buried at Springfield, O. She was a daughter of Samuel Kirkpatrick and Blanch Derror of Galesburg, Ill.

They never had any issue, but three adopted daughters who were born to Mr. Mast's deceased brother, Isaac Wesley Mast.

Mr. Mast also graduated in the year 1849 from Delaware College, and at that time decided to enter secular business, he sold his farm in Champaign Co. in 1856 and came to Springfield, O., where he formed a partnership with Hon. John H. Thomas, then county recorder. In 1850 he married, as previously stated, and with this marriage he obtained some money. With the two small capitals united and the addition of a third partner, Philip Kershner, they bought out Doctor Kindleberger and his patent and commenced its manufacture, together with a Buckeye Grain Drill and a Riding Corn Plow. Their means must have been limited, as Mr. Mast had once made the remark to some one that in those early days he built a drill and took it out in his wagon to sell or barter in order to get the means to build another. They also took building contracts. Later Mr. Mast purchased the Driscal Carriage Co. and bought Mr. Thomas' interest, became sole proprietor and proceeded to organize the P. P. Mast Company, taking into the corporation several of the employees of the concern. Great success followed, and building after building on both sides of Warder Street arose and new buildings were necessitated for the business of the company.

Mr. Mast also organized the firm of Mast, Foos & Company in the West end making successful experiments with various articles of manufacture, finally settling down mainly to the construction of the Turbine Windmill, Buckeye Lawn Mowers and pumps. Then both concerns entered upon a great degree of prosperity.—Obituary.

*Mrs. Clara Glenn (Buck) Mast, was born Jan. 5, 1880. She is a daughter of Hon. Henris Edmund Buck and Jennie (Glenn) Buck, residing at 125 N. Liberty St., Delaware, Delaware Co., O.

Hon. Henris Edmund Buck was born in Delaware Co., O., Mar. 1, 1849, where he has spent almost his entire life. He is a prominent citizen of the town of which he was at one time mayor, as also was his father before him. He served as the county Probate judge. He has been very successful as a real estate agent, and is at present general manager of the Delaware Magnetic Springs and Northern Electric Railroad. He is vice-president of the National Numismatic Association. President of Ohio State Numismatic Association and member of the Delaware County Archaeological Association. Also has one of the best coin collections in the state of Ohio.

Mrs. Clara Glenn (Buck) Mast's father, according to the

m. Mar. 15, 1866, at Urbana, O., to Sallie J. Brown, b. Feb. 13, 1845, a daughter of John and Ann (Myers) Brown, of Urbana, O. Their children are:

(2) John Clinton Mast, m. to Sarah Augusta Kliekow.
(3) Charles Cordelle Mast, m. to Nellie Blanche Neer.
(4) Alfred Phineas Mast, m. to Arvesta Foltz.

Family head, member Methodist Episcopal Church.

Ephraim Mast was reared on his father's farm in King's Creek Valley, Champaign Co., O., and devoted most of his life to farming. He retired about 1899.

Buck family history was a son of Israel E. Buck and Sarah W. Van Deman Buck,* who was a son of Edmund Buck and Anna Hubbell Buck,† who was a son of Israel Buck and Phoebe Benedict Buck, who was a son of John Buck, who was a son of Ezekiel Buck (No. 3), who was a son of Ezekiel Buck (No. 2), who was a son of Ezekiel Buck (No. 1), who was a son of Emanuel Buck, who arrived in America in 1642.

*Sarah W. Van Deman's father was Henry Van Deman, who was a soldier of the war of 1812. He built the present Presbyterian church at Delaware, O., and preached there for about 37 years. His father was John Van Deman who emigrated to America from Holland and was sent out as a missionary.—See Van Deman Family History.

Henry Van Deman's mother was Mary Magdalene Hester, who was born in 1765, in Kingdom of Hanover, Germany.—See Hester Genealogy. For Anna (Hubbell) Buck's ancestors, see Hubbell Genealogy, and for the ancestors of Phoebe Benedict Buck, see Benedict Genealogy. All the books of genealogy referred to are to be found at the home of H. E. Buck, Delaware, O.

Mrs. Clara Glenn (Buck) Mast's grandfather was Isaac D. Glenn, who was a prominent farmer of Champaign Co., O. At one time he owned nearly 700 acres of highly improved land east of Urbana, O. He was a son of Edmund R. Glenn who was also a prominent citizen of Champaign Co., and owned the farm on which the beautiful town of Glendale, O., is now situated. The town was named after him. His mother was a Drake, a sister of Dr. Daniel Drake, who was noted as a doctor and writer, of early Cincinnati times.

†Anna (Hubbell) Buck's parents were Ephraim Hubbell and Elizabeth Collins. Elizabeth (Collins) Hubbell was a daughter of Benjamin Collins a Revolutionary soldier, the first settler in Lincoln township, (then Delaware), now Morrow Co., O.—See Collins Family History.

He enlisted Dec. 1, 1861, for three years in the Shultz Battery, Co. M. 1st Ohio Light Artillery, and participated at the battle of Shiloh, also in a few skirmishes between Louisville, Ky., and Pittsburg Landing. On Oct. 25, 1862 he was honorably discharged on account of physical disability. He returned home at the age of twenty eight and remained until the fall of 1869. He then moved with his family to Fayette Co., Ill., afterwards to Henry Co., Mo., and later to Anderson Co., Kan.

As this history was already prepared for publication there was finally found a convenient space for the obituary of Ephraim Mast as contained in "The Urbana Morning Tribune," of Friday, April 8, 1910.

Ephraim Mast, one of the best known residents of this city, passed away at the home of his son John C. Mast on South Main Street, Thursday morning at 4:45 after a lingering illness extending over nineteen weeks. The cause of his death was a complication of diseases. The deceased was born near the village of Kings Creek, on the twenty-ninth day of June 1841, and was sixty-eight years old when death came to relieve his sufferings.

Mr. Mast was taken seriously ill nineteen weeks ago and has been confined to his bed ever since. He was taken to the home of his son, Charles, in Boynton, Florida, where he spent several months in a vain effort to get back his health. After he had been there for some time his condition began to grow worse and he expressed a desire to come back to his home to pass his remaining days. During the long years in which he was a resident of this county, Mr. Mast made himself beloved by his kindly manner. He was as well known as any man in the county and counted his friends by the hundreds.

When quite young he united with the Methodist church and has always been a faithful member. He was a member of the First M. E. Church of this city and his death will cause general sorrow among its members as he was generally loved.

Funeral services over the remains will be held Saturday afternoon at two o'clock, from the residence of his son, John C. Mast on South Main street.

1083 THIRD GENERATION 1009

5. Jacob Kenege Mast, b. Oct. 12, 1803, in Caernarvon Twp., Berks Co., Pa. He was a highly respected and life long citizen of his native locality, having resided on the farm now owned by Mast Stoltzfus located one half mile south of Morgantown.

He is supposed to have served as the first Sunday school superintendent in the Methodist church at Morgantown.

His death was probably due to paralysis, as his body was found between 9 and 10 P. M. on Apr. 2, 1858, on the public highway, by a neighbor named Samuel Troop, who was on his return from market. Mr. Mast had just transacted some business and was riding on horseback. He was united in marriage to Fanny Gehman,* on May 4, 1830, an esteemable lady formerly residing in the vicinity of Hinkletown, Lancaster Co., Pa., born May 22, 1810, and died Jan. 23, 1890, both are interred in Pine Grove Cemetery. They reared a family of four sons and four daughters.

(1) Benjamin Mast, m. to Parmelia Parton.

*The Gehman family, one of the earliest in southeastern Pennsylvania, is well represented by the present generation, who are chiefly engaged in agriculture and are highly esteemed as honorable business men and useful citizens.

The early home of the Gehman family was in the Palatinate on the Rhine. The early members of the family to come to America were Christian Benedict, (or Bentz) and Hans. The Pennsylvania archives record the names of but two: "Christian, aged twenty-four years; and Benedict (Bentz), aged twenty years." Mention is also made of "Anna Geeman, aged twenty-three years." They landed at Philadelphia Aug. 11, 1732, like many others seeking the land of civil and religious liberty. They were Mennonites in religious faith.

It is further stated that Christopher Geeman (also spelled Gehman) settled in Hereford township, Berks county, prior to 1737, and became the owner of 300 acres of land. This tract has since been divided into three farms, all owned by his descendants. In 1759 Christopher Gehman paid a federal tax of ten pounds in Hereford township.

The Gehman who located in Brecknock township, in a part now belonging to Berks county, was, without doubt Christian Gehman, as his name appears in the tax list of 1759. It seems that the one who located in Hereford was Christopher, not Christian. The names are very near alike, and the same abbreviation is often used for both. The name Gehman is spelled on the records Geman, Geeman, Geyman, and in Bucks county it appears Gayman. The pioneer who located in Hereford township had three sons and several daughters. His eldest son, Abraham, bought a farm near Telford, Bucks county, occupied by the late Rev. Abel Horning Bentz or Benedict Gehman (born in 1711-12) is supposed to be the progenitor of Fanny (Gehman) Mast. He also settled in Brecknock township, in the vicinity of the present location of Gehman's Meeting House, and there took up land and there to this day are found many of his descendants. The Mennonite Meeting House near Adamstown was named in honor of Daniel Gehman, a son of the emigrant Benedict. The oldest members now living recall hearing their parents and grandparents talk of the relationship through the original emigrants.

(2) Isaac Mast, m. to Ellen Benson.
(3) Anna Mast, m. to Prof. Robert H. Skinner.
(5) Elizabeth Mast, m. to Rev. Silas Benson Best.
(6) Leah Mast, m. to John Wesley Knapp.

1084 FOURTH GENERATION 1083

1. Benjamin G. Mast, b. May 5, 1831; address, Willets, Calif.; d. Aug. 3, 1892; m. to Parmelia Parton, b. Jan. 11, 1840; d. in Aug. 1895. Their children are:

(1) George Mast, m. to Mary Norris.
(2) Charles Mast, b. Aug. 18, 1874.

1085 FIFTH GENERATION 1084

1. George Mast, b. Oct. 8, 1868; address, Willets, Cal.; m. to Mary Norris. Their children, born at Willets, Cal., are:

Oliva Blanche, b. Jan. 25, 1893. Mary Alice, b. July 25, 1896. Gladys Regina, b. Nov. 14, 1901. Benjamin Eugene, b. May 16, 1903. Margaret Leona, b. May 25, 1905.

1086 FOURTH GENERATION 1083

2. Isaac Mast, b. Oct. 14, 1835; residence, Philadelphia, Pa. He had been Pastor for a number of years of Ridge Avenue Methodist Episcopal Church, Philadelphia; d. of consumption in M. E. parsonage at Roxborough, Phila.; m. in Nov. 1866 to Ellen Benson, who died 1870 in Phila., Pa. Their daughter, Leah Beatrice Mast, was b. Aug. 18, 1868; residence, Dover, Del.; occu., private teacher; unmarried.

1087 FOURTH GENERATION 1083

3. Anna Mast, b. Mar. 14, 1838; residence, near Dover,

Del.; d. Sept. 4, 1889, with a long and painful illness. She was converted at the age of twelve, and educated at the Ohio Wesleyan University and Fort Edward Institute, and after graduating at the latter institution became its preceptress. It was here that she met Prof. Robert H. Skinner, to whom she was married in 1864. Shortly after their marriage they moved to a farm in Maryland, and later to Dover, as Professor Skinner had been elected principal of Wilmington Conference Academy. Here they remained till 1884, when they left the academy and moved to their farm near Dover, on account of Prof. Skinner's physical disability as in the latter part of his life he suffered with extreme pain, having received a wound on the hip while a lieutenant in the army, died in Oct. 1893.

Mrs. Anna (Mast) Skinner's life was of rare beauty. She was refined, cultured, and pious, and in the work of her husband as principal of the Academy she was in every way qualified to be to him a helpmeet. Her death was peaceful and triumphant. She was ready for the summons, and said that she desired to go. The funeral services were conducted at the home by the pastor of Wesley Methodist Episcopal Church, Dover, Del., assisted by the Revs. W. F. Tolbot and V. S. Collins. Interment was made at Lakeside Cemetery.

1088 FOURTH GENERATION 1083

5. Elizabeth Mast, b. Aug. 19, 1842; address, Morgantown, Berks Co., Pa.; residence, Shady Side Farm. She was reared on her father's farm and taught in public schools for a number of years. She is affiliated with the Massachusetts Society for the prevention of cruelty to animals and the American Humane Education Society; m. Sept. 8, 1868, to Rev. Silas Benson Best, who was b. Feb. 28, 1836. After his years of itinerating as a Methodist Episcopal Pastor, he retired in 1884 to Shady Side Farm, in Conestoga Valley; d. Mar. 2, 1888; buried in Pine Grove Cemetery. He was a son of Rev. David Best who died at Cambridge, Lancaster Co., Pa.; in 1840. His mother Lydia De Witt Best died in 1870, at Harrisburg, Pa. Their son Herbert Benson Best was born Feb. 15, 1873, at 4030 Ludlow St., Phila., Pa. His childhood days were spent in the city until about twelve years of age, when he moved with his parents to the country. They spared no pains in giving him a good moral and mental training.

At the age of sixteen he was left in charge of the duties on the farm on account of his father's death, which he has been performing to the present time. His constant, devoted care of his mother who was an invalid has proved him to bear an honest and upright reputation with an unfaltering courage. While developing into manhood his life appeared to unfold itself as that of a mechanical genius. He then aspired to different pursuits, yet he went about his work on the farm. He was one of the founders who built and organized the first telephone company in Conestoga Valley, established in 1902.

Mr. Best was appointed as its first superintendent known as the Conestoga Telephone and Telegraph Co. His services in the company has given an enterprise which is gradually assuming larger proportions, and the company is today enjoying a prosperous condition. Mr. Best is also engaged in the mercantile business.

*John Emerson is a lineal descendant of Ralph Waldo Emerson.—A note from Mrs. B. L. Emerson to the writer. A synopsis of it may here be in place.

Florence, Kan., Dec. 11, 1908.

Esteemed friend:

In regard to my husband's ancestors, as far as I have ascertained, John Emerson, married to Susan Mast is my brother-in-law a direct descendant of Ralph Waldo Emerson, the eminent writer of the "Essays" and other articles, they are from the old stock of Joseph Emerson, who came to America from England about the year 1630 and settled at Mendon, Mass., which is found in the "Emerson history," published by the New England Historical Society. My husband was the youngest son of Brown Emerson, his mother was Lucinda Spellman, his grandfather's name was Jacob Emerson, they came from Mass., to O., in an early day and now rest from their labors in the Presbyterian cemetery at Reene, O. My husband's name was Albert Brown Emerson, was a life elder in the Presbyterian church, died in Mar. 1004, aged 64 years, was Sunday school superintendent 14 years, active in all business affairs of church or state, was the father of eight children, who called him blessed, as he spared no pains to educate them. All are holding good positions.

Very truly,

to William Monteville Parker, who was born in 1881, a son of David and Alice (Brown) Parker, residing at Hamilton.

A letter from Mrs. Mary E. Gordin Swan of Mt. Vernon, O., is herewith reproduced in full which is explicit concerning her grandmother, Mary (Mast) Coffman and a few of the early members of the Mast family.

Mt. Vernon, O., Apr. 15, 1909.

Mr. C. Z. Mast,
Elverson, Pa.
My Dear Cousin,

I received your letter of recent date and in reply will state that it had been a great pleasure to me to hear from you. Learning that you are living in Conestoga Valley, it caused me to read your letter and the circular enclosed with great interest.

Which I had never rejoiced more in my life as to receive some knowledge about my dear friends and relatives in Conestoga Valley whom I had never forgotten their names nor their characteristics and manner of living.

I usually made many visits in Conestoga Valley during the early period of my life having had a special desire to become acquainted with the early members of the Mast family.

My first visit to your community was in president Harrison's campaign year of 1840. I was just old enough to have certain incidents impressed upon my mind, which they still enable me to recall them easily to memory.

My parents then lived in Chester Valley near the present site of Aldham Station.

My cousin John Coffman, who was uncle John's son brought mother, brother John and I up to Conestoga Valley in grandmother (Mast) Coffman's dearborn.

Our first visit was at uncle David Mast's. I remember of their son Christian and the coon on the wagon with a tiny chain on its neck and bells on the horses that had been hitched in the lead.

In 1854 my parents moved from Chester Valley to Knox Co., O. But I remained for a number of years in Philadelphia, having owned a dressmaking establishment there. I occasionally made costly suits for Mrs. Gen. Grant and also for many wives of the government officials at Washington, D. C.

Mary Mast Coffman Homestead in the vicinity of Malvern, Pa. See Fam. No. 1166

During certain periods when work was not so strenuous I made trips to Conestoga Valley, visited the following places: Stephen Mast's, Jacob K. Mast's, Daniel Mast's, Levi Mast's, Isaac Mast's, Joseph Schertz's, John Stoltzfus's, Catharine Reeser and your grandfather, John M. Mast, and doubtless called at every Mast home located between Elverson and Churchtown.

I suppose the majority of my former friends and relatives have nearly all passed away.

In regard to your inquiries concerning my grandmother, Mary (Mast) Coffman, I may state that she was highly respected and remained a member of the Amish Mennonite church, until death. She was skilled in needlework as in making home-made linen and worked in silk goods of all colors. I have in my possession pin cushions, and a pair of silk shoes that she had made and various other articles.

When my parents lived in Knox Co., O., they made frequent visits to my mother's cousin, Grace Mast, which was a days drive and they also kept up an acquaintance with the Mast's in the vicinity of Millersburg, Holmes Co., O.

Shortly after my marriage I moved with my husband to Cheyenne, Wyoming, where he had a large cattle ranch. In the meanwhile I had the privilege of going to Salt Lake City, Utah, having spent nearly two weeks in that city, I went to see the Mormon Bishop Hunter, who was in his ninety-second year. I told him that I was John Coffman's grand-daughter, and that his brother Rev. George Hunter, a Methodist minister was married to my mother's first cousin, Leah Mast.

He entertained me in a very cordial manner for he was so glad to learn about his former friends in Chester Valley and throughout the county of Chester, Pa., where he had migrated from with the Mormons when they left Chester Co., taking with him my uncle David Coffman's widow and daughter, Laura, who was only seven years old. My uncle, Daniel, Samuel and John Coffman, tried to persuade her to remain, but her mother would not permit her to do so. I immediately inquired to the Mormon Bishop about my aunt. He replied that she was not living, but that I should see her daughter Laura tomorrow. Finally he had Laura to call and see me. She appeared much surprised as she had not heard from her relatives for nearly forty years. I soon learned that she was the seventh wife of the Mormon Bishop Hunter. Later he married his eighth wife and then Laura left him with five of her children. He gave her a farm where she spent the remaining days of her life. She also left the Mormon faith and none of her children ever followed it.

I send my love to all and permit me to congratulate you in your formidable task; wishing you success.

From your sincere cousin,

Mrs. Mary E. Gordin Swan.

and came to America in the ship Anderson, landing at Philadelphia, Sept. 27, 1752 being a resident of the Northkill in 1757. His great-grandson, James, who lives on the old homestead has a large book printed at Ephrata, Pa., in which is printed in good German the name of the ancestor and the date, 1757. He owned one farm of 206 acres which he acquired in 1764, having purchased it from Adam Losh (Lesh), whose father, Johan Losh erected a house on the old homestead in 1753. This house which is of stone is in good condition today and the wall will be good for another century. This land Johannes Kurtz in about 1780 divided into two tracts: the deeds therefor calling for 101 and 120 acres respectively: the difference being due to the provincial authorities allowing six per cent for roads and other improvements.' The inscription on his tomb-stone in the private burial ground on the homestead reads: "Denkmal von Johannes Kurtz, Er war geboren in Europe in der Schweitz und storb im April 1796 alt 74 yahre." His wife Betty Richenback died in February, 1796, aged seventy-three years, and was the mother of these children: Jacob, who settled in the vicinity of Ephrata, Lancaster county, had three children—John, Jacob and Nancy, m. to John Kurtz, of another branch of the family in Cumru township, who founded Kurtz House. John also settled in Lancaster county. Stephen lived on one of the homesteads for some years and then removed to Mifflin county, where he died. Adam, m. to Anna Mast. ---

*Michael Kintzer, fourth son of Adam Kintzer, was a life long farmer living in Lower Heidelberg township where he owned the old Kintzer homestead two miles north of Womelsdorf. Here he made his home for many years and here he died, Mar. 9, 1883 at the age of seventy-three. He and his family were members of St. Daniel's Corner Church at the time of his death, but he is buried at the Hain's Church in the new cemetery where the Kintzers have a fine lot.

Michael Kintzer was married three times: First, to Catharine Stupp by whom he had four children: Frank, Israel, Adam and George. By his second marriage to Maricha Jones he had one son, Aaron, who died unmarried. By his third union with Matilda Kurtz who survives him he had four children as previously named.

Nicholas Kintzer, the progenitor of a family numerous in western Berks county, was born in Germany Nov. 15, 1715. When less than fifteen years old he crossed the ocean on the ship "Thistle" which arrived at Philadelphia, Aug. 20, 1730, and he came to live in Tulpehocken township, Berks Co., Pa., where he became a substantial citizen. In 1759 he was assessed £16 which, reckoning $2.66 to the Pennsylvania pound, amounted to $42.56 of current coin. This pioneer settler died Jan. 20, 1794 in the seventy-ninth year of his age. He is buried at the Host Church, of which he was a member. His grave is marked by a brown sandstone the inscription on which is still legible. His will which was made Dec. 15, 1791, and probated Mar. 5, 1794 is recorded in Will Book B, page 355. The executors were his son Jacob and Thomas Kurr and the following children are mentioned in the document: Jacob; Elizabeth, wife of Thomas Kurr; Margaret, wife of Godfrey Real; Catharine who died before her father, her children receiving her share; and Julia, dec'd.

third generation of a very prolific and important family in America, whose emigrant ancestor, Andreas Hoelley,* a native of Switzerland crossed the ocean in company with his brother Michael Hoelley in the same vessel which had imported Jacob Mast, progenitor.

The name Hoelley has been spelled in four different ways by the members of the same family, Holly, Holley, Hoelley and Hooley. When Andreas and Michael arrived in Philadelphia, on Nov. 3, 1750, they registered their names "Hoelley." Andreas Hoelley settled in Lancaster Co., now Lebanon Co., Pa., which bordered the Northkill settlement of the first Amish Mennonite pioneer settlers of America. His son John Hoelley who was also a native of Switzerland, lived in Bern Twp., Berks Co., Pa. (the same vicinity of his father), and is listed among the first taxables in 1754, of Bern Twp.

*Andreas Hoelley was a member of the Amish Mennonite Church. He died in the locality where he first settled and is supposed to have been buried near Hamburg, Berks Co., Pa. Tradition says that the early members of this family were low in stature, well proportioned, having a muscular frame capable of enduring great hardships.

member of the Mennonite Church. From the early part of his Christian life he was a willing worker in the church, always ready to make any sacrifice necessary for the spreading of the Gospel. He was a man of prayer and he exercised great faith. When any difficulty arose his first thought was to pray. Thus his life was propelled by the invisible Power through prayer.

With his faithful companion he arrived at Dhamtari in Oct. 1900. Six busy years were spent in the Mission. During these years of labor many souls have heard the Gospel message, many a Scripture verse repeated and many a hymn sung, as the result of his untiring efforts.

He had a carbuncle on his back and later blood poisoning set in which was the cause of his death. Twelve hours before he died, although his tongue was partly paralyzed, he joined in a few songs with his family and those who were with him. "There's not a friend, like the lowly Jesus," and "I am satisfied with Jesus every day," were sung. Then he closed his eyes and prayed for his wife, for his children, for the work and for himself. In this prayer he used the words, "Though this body perish and decay, Thou, O Lord wilt take the soul into glory."

Just as day was dawning he passed away. At four o'clock the same day many people gathered, high and low castes, rich and poor, to look for the last time on him who had loved them, a dunkard minister by the name of Stoll, from Raipur, conducted the funeral services. His text was John 11:26. After a short service the remains were borne to their resting place under the mango trees in the orchard there to await the coming of Christ at the last day.

Gideon Stoltzfus Homestead, Gap, Lancaster Co., Pa.—See Fam. No. 1426

No. 2, Lancaster Co., Pa. He is a respected citizen and retired farmer, also preacher, of Pequea Valley. He was ordained a minister in his thirties and advanced to the bishop's office not long afterward, being one of the most eloquent ministers among the Amish Mennonite churches of southeastern Pennsylvania. He has greatly endeavored to hold his congregations spellbound from worldly affections and superfluities.

He is known as a strict disciplinarian, being strong in defense of the faith and tireless as a worker both temporally and spiritually. He received a common school education and was brought up in the industrious habits that have characterized his long and useful life. In former years he was strong and vigorous, while his place in the field in harvest time had put many young men to shame by his energy.

He was united in marriage to Susana Mast who was born July 1, 1838.—See her F's. Fam. No. 53. To this union were born in Lancaster Co., Pa., viz.,

1432 FOURTH GENERATION 1407

8. Christian Hooley Stoltzfus, b. Oct. 11, 1839; address, Tuleta, Bee Co., Tex. He received a common school education of his day, and worked on his father's farm in Pequea Valley, Lancaster Co., Pa., until he became married to Mary Blank, near Intercourse, Pa., who was born Dec. 24, 1841, in Lancaster Co., Pa. She was a daughter of Samuel and Fanny (Umble) Blank, the former died in 1876, near Greenboro, Md.

In 1871 Mr. Stoltzfus with his father and a few of his brothers and sisters, viz., Elizabeth, Catharine, John B. and Jacob M., finally decided to settle in Knox Co., Tenn. It was a region which had been much devastated by the Civil War.

They were thus soon induced to ample opportunities in regard to agricultural interests, and erected a house of worship in which they had exerted much influence in promoting the welfare of their community regarding religious and educational principles.

Mr. Stoltzfus is much interested in educational affairs of which he was promoter of the Farragut School located near Concord.

In 1909 he removed to Bee Co., Tex., where he began farming on a large tract of land.

To this union were born five sons and five daughters in Lancaster Co., Pa., and Knox Co., Tenn.

*Catharine Greenawalt was born May 30, 1849 in Fairfield Co., O., died————. She was a daughter of Adam Greenawalt who was born Dec. 24, 1805 in Berks Co., Pa., being of German descent. He settled in Mifflin Co., Pa., and there married to Catharine Yoder, who was born Jan. 23, 1815 in the vicinity of Mattawana, Pa. She was a daughter of John and Susan Yoder.

In 1836 they moved from Mifflin Co., Pa., to Fairfield Co., O., removed in Sept. 1854 to La Grange Co., Ind., where they resided until death, having remained faithful members of the Amish Mennonite Church. They reared a family of nine sons and four daughters. Adam Greenawalt died Jan. 11, 1886, and his wife, Catharine died Nov. 18, 1883.

In Albany township, Berks Co., Pa., are found many descendants of the emigrant Jacob Greenawalt, and in that locality at in Mifflin Co., Pa., in which he bears a name so intimately connected with the agriculturists of Kishacoquillas Valley and of Belleville, that a history of the recent generations of the Zook family of Mifflin Co., Pa., would be a nearly complete history of the beautiful town of Belleville in the last century and more years, and could not be written without frequent reference to the achievements and efforts of the Zooks in every phase of its evolution from a settlement of a small country village to one of the finest towns in the county.

The Zooks have ever been noted for intelligence and general excellence of character, which has proved to the literary achievements of the memorable Shem Zook, who was a noted writer and church historian, and also in the wise administration of large interests in the Iron and Brass Foundry of Belleville. Under the firm name of Hertzler & Zook the two men have developed the property during the last years, the capacity of the plant being increased steadily until the annual product now amounts to hundreds of tons in the manufacture of stoves, farming implements, repairing, etc. Thomas E. Zook was reared on a farm near Belleville, Pa., where he spent the early years of his life until he attained his majority on the farm. He then became an employee on the Kishacoquillas Valley R. R. as fireman for several years, and later embarked in the iron industry. He was married Mar. 28, 1907, at Belleville, Pa., to Sallie M. Yoder, b. Feb. 16, 1874, least one place, Greenawald Station, perpetuates the name. It is variously spelled Greenawalt and Greenawald.

Jacob Greenawalt, born in Switzerland, came to America in 1738, and upon his arrival at Philadelphia was sold as a redemptioner to a man named Schuler. In 1741 he married Elizabeth Filhower, a native of Germany, then of Montgomery Co., Pa. In 1742 he and his wife located in Weisenburg township, Northampton (now Lehigh) county, Pa., where he claimed several hundred acres of land, upon which he erected a gristmill, oil mill and tan yard. He prospered at this place, where were born his six children, four sons and two daughters, namely, Jacob, Johannes, Abraham, George, Mrs. Grim and Mrs. Barbara Weise. All of these reared families of their own. The pioneer and his wife are buried at Ziegel's church, while others of the family are interred at Seiberlingville, and some at Jacob's Church, Jacksonville, Lehigh county. The Greenawalts are a strong, robust and healthy race and many have attained ripe old age.

A letter of invitation, dated Jan. 20, 1829, may herewith be inserted in full, concerning the object of Christian Mast in moving from Lancaster Co., Pa., to Holmes Co., O.

My dear Uncle:—I have taken the opportunity in writing you a few lines in order to let you know that we are all well and enjoying the bountiful blessings from God, hoping this letter may also find you in a comfortable state of health.

I have heard that you sold your farm and intend to move to our vicinity, have also been informed that you will not start on your long journey with your family and goods till the first of June, thus I will advise you to move into my tenant house and live there until you have purchased land and builded.

You shall have the privilege to raise sufficient crops on my land to feed your live stock during the winter season, and should you desire any flax sowed then let me know. Oats are 20 cents per bushel, corn and wheat is worth $1.30 per bushel at the canal.

Should you meet with John Mast occasionally then tell him that I am anxious to receive a letter from him as he had recently visited me.

Your loving Nephew,
Jacob Mast,
Millersburg, Holmes Co., O.

*Jacob Wanner's father was born in Chester Valley, Chester Co., Pa. The first American representative of the Wanner family in America was Martin Wanner, lived in the Palatinate, Germany, and came to America in August, 1732 landing in Philadelphia and after remaining at Germantown for several years, removed to Colebrookdale Twp., in Berks County.

In the Old World, however, the line is carried back for centuries. From an old manuscript it is learned that the name, Wanner, is recorded in the genealogical table book of the German noblemen at Vienna, Austria, among the nobles that resided in Wangen, Upper Swabia. The ancestral line is traced back to the year, A. D. 790. At this period Charles the Great, King of France, enlarged the city and surrounded it by high walls: this being completed he appointed Bertrande de Vanneres, a distinguished and experienced warrior as chief counsellor of the city. Bertrande de Vanneres was born in France and afterwards went to Germany. When he became a resident of the town Wangen he changed his name into Bertrand Wanner. His wife was Julia Kurtz from Ricordia.

The Escutcheon—two lilies were engraved upon his shield, and one on the helmet; these composed the escutcheon of his family in France. Besides two lilies he had engraved on each side of the one, a horn, as a sign that he was empowered to counsel and to protect the City. He died A. D. 832, and left two sons, named Winfred and Herbert, who bore the same escutcheon.

The family soon became very large, and a number still remain residents of Wangen where they are held in high estimation among the nobility. In the reign of King Ludwig their nobility was re-established and ratified, by order of the king. The escutcheon was improved and distributed among those that resided in Upper Swabia. By order of Charles V. of Germany the biographies of those most distinguished were written and placed in the archives at Vienna where they can be seen at the present day.

The two above mentioned were officers under the King, the one statoned at Augsburg and the other at Constance. On account of the unremitting war which raged at that time throughout nearly all Germany, only two of the Wanner family remained in Germany in the year 1539. Those were named Godfried and Henry Wanner. They were both Counsellors at Wangen, and from thence the Wanner lineage became divided into families.

(1) Godfred became the father of those that remained in the Swabia line, but soon some settled in Baiern and Switzerland. Godfried became chief burgess of Wangen. The name of his wife was Lucia Dollinger. He died A. D. 1592 and left three sons; named William, Anthony and Friederich. Of these William remained in Wangen, Anthony resided in Augsburg, and Friedrich went to Switzerland.

(2) Henry went to Frankfort-on-the-Main and became a trader in gold and silver. The name of his wife was Bertha Jannetka. He died in 1580, and left a son named Rudolf Wanner who died in 1580 and left a son who became a goldsmith in Frankfort and obtained great wealth; but during the Thirty Years' War he was plundered by the Spaniards and left but a small patrimony to his sons at his death. The foregoing is taken from the Europe Escutcheon Book and the family record in the library at Vienna.

Isaac H. Mast had labored several years in the compilation of this history for the interest of the writer and had frequently expressed the desire of seeing it completed. His loss was deeply felt everywhere. For a number of years he suffered from the results of a "slow heart." For months at a time it did not average more than forty beats per minute at times getting as low as 25. On Apr. 13, 1910 he ate dinner as usual then walked to the barn and returned in the course of an hour. He sat down in the rocker to rest and his life soon expired. Funeral services were held at the Maple Grove Church near Topeka, Ind., by A. J. Yontz and J. S. Hartzler. Text, II Cor. 5:1.

John Mast was born in 1740 in Switzerland, Europe. He emigrated to America in company with his uncle, four sisters and elder brother, Jacob, who was later known as Bishop Jacob Mast. Shortly after he was twenty years of age he left his brother, Jacob, who was then married and lived near the present site of Elverson, Pa.

Like other illustrious ancestors he possessed an idea that presented to his observing mind that by making various explorations there would finally appear to him a more suitable location. He wandered as a pedestrian through lonely forests and settled in Randolph county, North Carolina in the year 1764.

Tradition says that he never communicated with his relatives, thus the entire branch of this family remained oblivious to those in Pennsylvania until 1898.

He was married to a young lady by name of Barbara ———. Her maiden name is not known. To this union were born five sons and seven daughters, viz.,

(1) John Mast, m. to ——— ———.
(2) Joseph Mast, m. to Eve Bowers.
(3) Jacob Mast, m. to ——— ———; no issue.
(4) David Mast, m. to Nancy Ware.
(5) Nancy Mast, m. to James Curtis.
(6) Elizabeth Mast, m. to Leonard Eller.
(7) Hannah Mast, m. to Daniel Hoover.
(8) Mary Mast, m. to David Hoover.

(9) Molly Mast, m. to John Wagner.

(10) Catherine Mast, m. to Andrew Sheets.

(11) Susanna Mast, m. to Henry Fouts.

(12) Stephen Mast, b. in North Carolina where he grew to manhood and during a certain period of his life he decided to move to some other state finally coming to the state of Maryland. He located on a piece of land which now is supposed to be in the city of Baltimore. Being an old bachelor he gave a lease on the land. Said lease expired some twenty years ago. In 1833 he visited his two brothers and seven sisters in Miami and Montgomery counties, Ohio, for several weeks then returned to Maryland again. None of his relatives had been able to hear of him afterwards until the daily newspapers of Baltimore published an account about his land in the year 1895. This caused a great excitement among the various branches of Masts in the United States, but as a majority of the enthusiastic ones who tried to investigate the matter had found themselves lost in their genealogy nothing was accomplished towards claiming a right to some inheritance. The writer while being engaged on the compilation of this history had frequent applications from several parties in various states to furnish a clue to this matter. The general idea still prevails at this writing that Stephen Mast was a native of Germany.

2015 SECOND GENERATION 2014

1. John Mast, b. ————; in Randolph Co., N. C.; address, West Milton, Ohio; d. ————. In the year 1801 his two brothers Jacob and David Mast and seven sisters and their husbands all migrated to Ohio. 2072 FIRST GENERATION

Magdalena Mast was born in Switzerland about 1741. She was a sister to Bishop Jacob Mast, who had emigrated with her uncle Johannes Mast in the ship Brotherhood, landed at Philadelphia, Pa., on Nov. 3, 1750. She was married some years afterward to a young man from the Fatherland by name of Michael Troyer, who with his brother Andreas crossed on the same vessel. It is believed that Magdalena Mast and her husband lived in Somerset Co., Pa., or in Holmes Co., O. Among their children were Michael, Andreas, Abraham,* Joseph and David.

A sketch containing a number of historical fragments with interesting facts concerning the personality of Bishop Jacob Mast, who was a minister of some note in the church known as Amish Mennonite, with an early history of this church in America.

Some of Bishop Jacob Mast's near neighbors were Samuel Jacobs, Isaac Phillips, Jacob Waring, Conrad Smith, Joseph Talbot and two of his sons, Jacob and David Mast.

His Bible which was printed in 1557 in German at Zurich, Switzerland, by Johannes Weolfen is in the possession of Mrs. H. C. Gemperling, 450 East Orange St., Lancaster, Pa. who is a great-great-grand-daughter. There is also another family Bible held by Bishop Gideon Stoltzfus of Gap, Pa., which is supposed to have belonged to Bishop Mast, having descended to his son,

*Abraham became the father of Michael Troyer whose son Jacob Troyer, was reared in Holmes Co., Ohio, but later became married to Miss Magdalena Zook, a resident of Lancaster Co., Pa., where he finally lived the remainder of his life. She was a daughter of Henry Zook.—See Fam. No. 194 and preceeding accounts of the Zook ancestors.

Jacob Troyer and his wife Magdalena had reared one son, Henry L., who was born May 16, 1862 and lived at time of death near Suplee, Chester Co., Pa.; died on Nov. 19, 1904. He was married Jan. 29, 1887 to Anna Neuhauser, born Nov. 21, 1859 and died July 28, 1899; both are interred in Pine Grove cemetery located in Caernarvon Twp., Berks Co., Pa. Their children, born in Caernarvon Twp., Lancaster Co., Pa., are:

Jacob N., b. Aug. 6, 1888; graduated from Franklin & Marshall Academy, Lancaster, Pa., in 1907; address Bird-in-Hand, Pa. Anna N., b. May 13, 1893. Mary Magdalena, b. June 15, 1899.

Henry L. Troyer married as his second wife, Sallie Slider. To this union was born one son, Edgar S.

The descendants of Magdalena Mast and David Troyer have spread into nearly every state of the union and in half a dozen counties in Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois are found numerous representatives; many whose names are recorded in this book as having intermarried with the descendants of Bishop Jacob Mast.

Christian, the tenth child, whose eldest son, Jacob, kept it for many years. Then prior to his death he handed the Bible to the present owner. The coat and wedding vest of Bishop Jacob Mast is held beyond all price by the widow of the late dec'd. Abraham Mast of Millersburg, Holmes Co., Ohio, who was a great grandson, descending from Christian, the tenth child of the progenitor. Besides the articles already noted is a pickax being well preserved by the writer which was used by this illustrious ancestor to remove swamp weeds from low ground on the north side of his farm.

Many of the Amish Mennonites were severely tried during the dark days of the Revolutionary war as they were drafted into service being a nonresistant people and refusing to serve, they were imprisoned in Reading. So many of these people were thrown into prison that the women were compelled to work in the fields to support their families. According to tradition, those who were imprisoned for refusing military service were sentenced to be shot and a day set for their execution. A meeting was held in Reading prison to administer the Lord's Supper to the condemned brethren. But the execution was never carried into effect. Through the leading of a kind Providence friends interfered, particularly Henry Hertzell, pastor in the German Reformed church, who appealed to the authorities in behalf of those who fled from Europe to escape military service and who could not now be expected to do what their conscience forbade them do in Europe. The appeal was heard and the peace-loving prisoners were set free. Among those released from prison were John Hertzler, Jacob and Stephen Kauffman; the writer having spoken recently with a grandson of the latter known as Jacob Kauffman of Davidsville, Pa., about this historical incident contained on page 139 in the "Mennonite Church History," compiled by Hartzler and Kauffman. Others that were released at this time were John and Christian Zug and Jacob Mast who is supposed to have been evidently our progenitor who was some years afterward known as Bishop Jacob Mast.

The early Amish Mennonite pioneers were a hard-working class of people and as a rule rigidly honest. Wherever a new settlement was made, religious services were a necessary part of their work. They frowned down upon worldly amusements and stoutly opposed the introduction of anything new into their methods or worship.

They kept aloof from politics and worldly things generally and stood for complete separation from the world and practical piety in daily life. They were very strict in enforcing discipline upon their children and usually succeeded in bringing them into the church.

The Yoders were supposed to be the first members in America.—See footnote of Fam. No. 1261. In 1718 there were enough of them here to address a petition to William Penn stating their views with reference to attending courts, taking part in elections, and holding office—they having had conscientious scruples against these things. Penn was sick at the time but the council took up the petition and granted their requests. It is stated that in 1709 the London yearly meeting contributed £50 to the Mennonites (mostly Amish) who had fled from Switzerland, and were on their way to America. When the first settlers landed in Philadelphia they traveled up the Schuylkill valley and settled in Berks (then Philadelphia) county. Later on there were settlements made in Chester, Lancaster, Union, Mifflin, Somerset and Lawrence counties.

The character of these sturdy pioneers was well suited to their surroundings. Their rugged constitutions fitted them for the hardships of frontier life. They were hard-working people (mostly farmers) and while none were very rich, none were extremely poor. Their nonresistant faith, perfect honesty, and disinclination to meddle with the affairs of others saved them from many difficulties; although some of them did not escape the Indian's torch and tomahawk.

For nearly a century there had existed three Amish Mennonite congregations in Berks county, Pa. These districts were under the oversight of the ministers of the Church in Conestoga Valley or in the vicinity of Morgantown, Berks Co., Pa., for many years. Among some of these ministers who exerted a marked influence we may mention Peter Plank, Daniel Mast and his son John P. Mast.

The Amish Mennonite settlements in America were confined for some time to the county of Berks. But during 1754 to 1764 the settlements became gradually less in number on account of Indian depredations and thus the tide of emigration continued until about 1820 having formed settlements in Chester, Lancaster, Mifflin and Somerset counties. Prior to the Revolutionary war and by the beginning of the nineteenth century they had crossed the western boundary of the state. They are now found in various states of the extreme western and southern boundaries of the Union and also in Canada.

In numbers the church has progressed since its beginning being active in promoting the welfare of missions which have been started by the Mennonite Church. In various states there is no distinction between the two bodies while the majority have also become affiliated into one general conference.

The last member that survived the Amish Mennonites of Comru township, Berks county, Pa., was known as "Aunt" Polly Miller, who was born on Oct. 10, 1785 and died Apr. 26, 1867. She was never married and remained a consistent member until death.

They had never erected a house of worship as their necessities had always compelled them to worship in private houses. In 1766 Richard and Thomas Penn, proprietors of Pennsylvania, donated twenty acres of land to the Amish Mennonite congregation of Berne, now Upper Berne township, Berks Co., Pa., for church, school and graveyard purposes. A log school house was built on this land and the foundation wall was still visible during recent years.

The first Amish Mennonite church in America was built by the members of the second Amish Mennonite colony that was composed of a number of refugees from Berks county, Pa. and emigrants from Europe, who had come direct from Holland, Germany and Switzerland. The exact date of its erection is unknown, but it was probably built about 1790. The walls of the old church and the burial ground still remain and mark the place where once flourished a large congregation. The site of this old church is three miles north of Malvern, Pa. The writer and his father visited the place in June, 1907 and also the old homestead formerly the residence of the writer's ancestors of five generations ago. We found ourselves in a beautiful valley, known as Old Chester Valley, in a rich farming district where the fields were yielding a bountiful harvest from a fertile limestone soil. In this vicinity may also be found places of much interest in United States History; such as, Valley Forge about ten miles northeast of the ruins of the old church. Here the American soldiers were encamped during the winter of 1777 and 1778 in the dark days of the Revolution. The soldiers lived miserably in comfortless huts or on frozen ground with little food or clothing and became very troublesome to the farmers nearby; some farms being owned and occupied by these sturdy Amish Mennonite pioneers.

In 1895 the old church was still in good condition. The destruction of this edifice was caused by fire. A hitching yard adjoined the old structure but is now thrown into a field. In 1906 two huge marble stones could be seen lying a few yards from the church door which were called horse-posts in colonial times and were used for mounting and dismounting by those who came to church on horseback. These stones are no longer to be seen as they disappeared unknowingly. The wall surrounding the old burial ground known as "Old Flat Cemetery" was fast crumbling down, but through the benevolence of two kind-hearted descendants, Henry M. Hertzler of Elverson, Pa., and Elhanen Zook of Downingtown, Pa., and the aid of a few contributors a new wall built of stone and cement was erected which now stands as a memorial of past generations. About the last family that moved away from the church in East Whiteland Twp., Chester Co., Pa. was the Zook family who settled near Binkley's Bridge, Lancaster Co., Pa. in 1834. They remained to the last but were finally forced to move to another locality in order that they might worship with those of like faith. One family by the name of Lapp remained in the community and some of their descendants had resided on the old homestead until of recent years.

Among those visiting this congregation during its early history was Bishop Jacob Hertzler of Hamburg, Berks Co., Pa., who was the first Amish Mennonite bishop in America and founded the first church of his sect in this country. He was noted as a tireless worker and was long known as the overseer of the church in Chester Valley. At the age of eighty years he walked from his home to visit the members of this place in preference to riding on horseback, covering the distance of sixty-five miles in two days.

Among the noted and influential pastors of the Chester Valley congregation was Christian Zook who was noted as a zealous Christian worker and a strict disciplinarian. He preached regularly in the old meeting house and was also one of the first ministers to hold evening services at their house of worship. He also occasionally visited with his wife among the congregations located in adjoining counties having frequently traveled to Conestoga Valley in the vicinity of Morgantown, Berks Co., Pa., in an oxcart which was at that time a modern mode of conveyance,—the cart being uually covered with white muslin. The writer visited the old Zook homestead where these progenitors lived and found the farm in possession of a widow by the name of Malin. This farm has been in the hands of the Malin family ever since the Zooks departed this life. But on the writer's second visit to the old homestead in 1909 he found Mrs. Malin no longer living. She was a very intelligent woman and gave many incidents of interesting history related to her by her mother who attended services in the old Amish Mennonite meeting house giving the testimony that they were such "good, kind people," and endeavored always to leave behind them a marked influence for good.

The Zook family and others living in this vicinity were harassed greatly by the Revolutionary soldiers who became a perfect menace to the people. It is related that the soldiers had torn away all fences on the farm to build a fortress. Once when old mother Zug was taking her fresh loaves from the oven a group of hungry soldiers came up and snatched away all but one of the loaves, with which the frightened woman, hiding it under her apron, ran into the house, saying, "This one is for me," and the soldiers were merciful enough to let her have it. The Zook homestead is now owned and occupied by Millard Fillmore Ritter of Malvern, Pa. In looking about the old building our minds were filled with grave thoughts and our hearts full of deep emotion: We felt to say with the Psalmist, "The place thereof shall know it no more."

The weather being warm we, being fatigued with a long drive, felt very thirsty. We walked over to the fountain which we believe to be the largest and most beautiful we had ever seen. And after being refreshed by its cooling water, we wondered how many persons had quenched their thirst at this fountain after a hot, weary day of labor, and how many of these kept their souls refreshed by the Fountain of Life and are now with the Master in the realms of eternal rest. Bishop Jacob Mast by tradition had often visited the settlement of Amish Mennonites in Chester Valley which was one of the districts in his jurisdiction and undoubtedly he always enjoyed a welcome reception at the home of his daughter, Mary, who was married to John Coffman. They lived on the farm now located several hundred yards north from the present site of Sidley station on the Phoenixville and Fraser railroad.

Bishop Jacob Mast proved himself a leader of considerable ability promoting the welfare of the Church with all the vigor that he was able to muster. He had charge of all the Amish Mennonite settlements in America during the greater period of his bishopric. The settlements at that time were confined to the colony and later the state, of Pennsylvania. He had three districts west of the Susquehanna River which he generally visited on horseback. They were known as Kishacoquillas Valley congregation in Mifflin county and the Glaydes and Conemaugh congregations in Somerset and Cambria counties. The Glaydes settlement failed to remain permanent as the majority of its pioneers migrated west; a number of families became the founders of now flourishing settlements in the state of Iowa. The last member that survived the Glaydes congregation was Benedict Yoder who died in June 1910, at the age of ninety years.

A copy of the first federal census of 1790.

The census is by no means complete comprising the Jacob Mast (progenitor) descendants. The introduction to the book says many were opposed to the census fearing some additional taxes and also from religious scruples dreading the anger of the Almighty for numbering the people. Undoubtedly some of our ancestors took to the tall timber when they saw the census man coming.

A synopsis of letters and notes on various branches of Mast families living in the United States.

Myersdale, Pa., Apr. 3, 1909.

Mr. C. Z. Mast,
Elverson, Pa.

Dear Sir:—I noticed recently in the newspaper that you are compiling a history of your family and I would be pleased to learn whether I am connected with your branch of Masts. The orthography of our ancestors autograph was written Mast but later the spelling of the name was adopted Maust or Moist. My great-grandfather, Abraham Mast, and two brothers, Jacob and Christian, came from Europe. Jacob had settled in Virginia.

I advise you to come and see us as there are a great number of Mausts living in this community, hoping to receive an early reply,

Yours truly,
L. J. Maust.

The statement in L. J. Mausts letter concerning his ancestry of mentioning three emigrant ancestors as having been natives of Europe may not prove a reliable statement. The writers of the Hostetler and Mast family histories had during their researches formed a definite opinion that the Maust or Mast family of Somerset Co., Pa., may emanate from an early stock in Berks Co., Pa.—See Footnote of Fam. No. 781.

Council Bluffs, Ia., Apr. 16, 1909.

Dear Friend:—In reply to yours of Apr. 12, will say the family of Joseph Mast of Somerset Co. as I have it from Joseph J. Maust of Bayport, Mich., a brother of L. J. Maust was born in 1764 and died May 20, 1846. His children: Mary, 1784—1855, aged 68 years. John, Oct. 17, 1785—died young. Joseph, Jan. 2, 1786. Jacob, married to Magdalena Miller; Anna, John, Jacob. Daniel, Nov. 1791, married to Elizabeth Hochstetler; Henry, John, Jacob. John married to Shoemaker. Samuel, Nov. 1, 1800, married to Dorley Hostetler. Christian, Nov. 17, 1801. Lydia, Apr. 22, 1826—1849. Jonas, Dec. 10, 1830, married to Barbara Miller; Christian, Anna, John, Jacob, Susan, Fanny and Sarah with no dates of birth. One of them married Michael Gingerich. I am not yet clear about the daughter, Mary, that Lewis says married to Daniel Miller, the father of Daniel D.

Miller of Thomas, Okla. The dates I have of the mother of the Okla., man do not correspond with the dates I have of Mary, daughter of Joseph Maust. Her dates need more inquiries which I will make, having Mary out of account at present I have full lists of the descendants of Jacob, Daniel, Samuel, and Jonas, Mrs. Bishop Moses A. Mast of Baltic, Ohio is a granddaughter of Joseph who was born in 1786, and Joseph does not come into my family.

I have also some descendants of Christian Maust who married a Seeze. Hope you may succeed with the families in Berks Co., Pa.

Fraternally,
Harvey Hostetler.

Dear Friend,

I have very little knowledge of my ancestors but I am a descendant of Joseph Mast who moved in an early day from Somerset Co., Pa., to Holmes Co., O., and was compelled to return on account of the treacherous tribe of Indians who had then inhabited this section which Joseph Mast in course of time returned and became one of the pioneer founders of the first Amish Mennonite settlement in Holmes Co., O. I will herewith send you my family account for insertion.

Very truly yours,
Jacob N. Mast.

Jacob N. Mast, Fairview, Oscoda Co., Mich.; b. Jan. 7, 1854 near Shanesville, O.; son of Noah Mast, Jan. 11, 1829—July 17, 1899, d. with pleurisy and Elizabeth Miller, Dec. 24, 1824—Feb. 15, 1905, d. of bronchitis; m. Jan. 3, 1875 at Trail, Ohio, to Polly Ann Miller, a daughter of John M. Miller and Susanna Schrock of Winesburg, Ohio. Children:

Esadora, b. Dec. 10, 1875, m. to Homer Deetz, Shanesville, O.

Mr. C. Z. Mast,
Elverson, Pa.

Dear Sir:—In reply to your several inquiries touching the matter of my ancestors—there were four brothers the father of whom I do not at present know the name, arrived in New York City in the latter part of the eighteenth century; one of whom was named John Jacob Mast. He moved to Buffalo, N. Y., then to Cleveland, Ohio, later to Zanesville, Ohio; another named Michael Mast moved to Lancaster, Ohio; another named Peter P. Mast settled in some little village near Springfield, Ohio; the other brother, whose name I can learn later on and of whom I cannot give account after leaving New York City.

I think these brothers with their father were natives of the kingdom of Bavaria, Germany. In regards to your pedigree as to stature, etc., no doubt that we do not emanate from the same stock. Thanking you for the interest taken with regards and best of personal wishes for your success and health.

Yours very respectfully.
Will H. Mast.

P. S. I am most positive that my ancestors landed in New York City in 1750. A German by the name of Mast left an estate in one of the western cities of Pa. without heirs. According to your reply he is not connected with your branch.

The following letter was mailed by Mr. Mast of Coatesville, Pa. to the writer, of which the writer immediately corresponded for further information in details, but very little was secured besides the contents of this letter.

Chicago, Ill.,
Mar. 6, 1907.

Mr. W. W. Mast,
Coatesville, Pa.
Dear Sir:

In answer to your letter of the 25th in regards to the Mast family, I called on Wm. H. Mast on Hamlin Ave. to see if he was any relation of mine but he is not; he is from Ohio. He gave me your address and told me maybe you could tell me where they were located. My sister intends to go to Pennsylvania this summer and she said she would like to locate some of my father's people. My father was born in 1814 but I do not know where he was born. His people lived in Reading. My father had one brother living in Reading and he was in the mercantile business.

In regards to your letter of the 13th, I finally succeeded in locating my aunt (father's sister) and so I asked her about my family. My cousin (her son) wrote to me and gave me the following information:

My father's brothers and sisters were Mary, Daniel, George, Catharine (my aunt) Willie, John, Benjamin (my father) and Betsy. My grand-father's name was John Mast. My aunt's name is Mrs. Brown; she lives in Birdsboro, Pa. My parents were married in 1853, in Newringgold, Schuylkill county, Pennsylvania and lived there until 1874. There were fourteen of us children, seven of whom are living and seven are dead. Thanking you for the trouble.

Yours truly,
Mrs. J. J. McNamara,

Mr. C. Z. Mast,
Elverson, Pa.
Dear Sir:—

I was born at Oley, Pa. on Nov. 28, 1890. I am single and teaching school is my chief occupation, being a member of Friedens Reformed Church.

My father is Frederick G. Mast, married to Emma W. Houck. He together with his two brothers Peter G. Mast of Bowers, Pa., and Geo. G. Mast of Pottstown, Pa., and one sister, Mary B. Mast, wife of Rev. Chas. Dry, Mifflinville, Columbia Co., Pa., are the children of John Mast, deceased, of Rockland township, Berks Co., Pa.

On account of my grand-father's death when my father was very young neither he nor I know very much about the history, although we are very interested. I am positive that some useful information can be had by applying to Mrs. George Brown, Stonersville, Pa. in care of Mr. Frank Brown same address. She is a sister to my grandfather, John Mast.

Wishing you success in your formidable task.

Yours,
John E. H. Mast,

Mr. C. Z. Mast,
Elverson, Pa.

Dear Cousin:

I received yours of 2nd, inst, and will answer it first. In reference to other immigration of Masts. I think that my statement to you was something like this: A. F. Mast, now of Davenport, Ia., was born in Brunswick, Germany, Oct. 1, 1819; his father was Erhard Mast and his mother, Caroline Mast. They all came to this country in 1833 and settled at Wheeling, W. Va., and in 1840 located in Iowa where they still live. They can trace no relationship to our ancestors. I think I said to you also that about the same time, 1833, a family of Masts immigrated from Germany and settled near Baltimore, Md. I met one of the descendants of this family named Miller, who formerly lived in this town and who gave me these facts. This family claimed that a great fortune was held in Germany for the Mast heirs and this man told me that P. P. Mast of Springfield, Ohio, now deceased, had investigated it. I took no stock in it at all and scarcely have thought of it since. Clarence Mast, son of Emery Mast, son of John Mast, my father's brother, wrote me at one time that he had found one or more persons of our name in Indiana who could not be traced back to our family stock. I notice by the papers and by the telephone directory that a man of our name has come to this city and is now in some sort of business on the south side of the city. A few years ago there was a barber in Burlington, Iowa, named Mast. I never hunted him up or sought to trace relationship with him. All these items lead me to believe that the name is common and the family large in Germany and Switzerland and that it would be an impossible task to trace it.

I have now reread your two unanswered letters and find that when I shall have filled in the one blank, just left, I shall have answered all your inquiries.

Yours very truly,
I. N. Mast.

Hesston, Kans., Aug. 17, 1910.

Mr. C. Z. Mast.
Elverson, Pa.

Dear Friend:—As I had recently related personally to you while visiting at your home and also in your community, which you may undoubtedly recollect about a family by name of Mast living in my state.

Several days ago I found an opportunity of meeting Mr. D. L. Mast of Burlington, Kans., on a railway train and while our time was limited, I immediately demanded his family account which I am sending you as found on an old envelope.

He was unable to give any information concerning his ancestry therefore I presume that he is no descendant of Bishop Jacob Mast 1738-1808, who had emigrated from Switzerland in 1750. He also stated that he had three brothers residing at Burlington, Kans., and J. J. Graybill of Moundridge, Kans., is in possession of considerable data on their stock.

Very truly yours.
Christian Hertzler.

An account of the D. L. Mast family of Burlington, Kans., may herewith be inserted as enclosed in the letter from Christian Hertzler of Hesston, Kans. D. L. Mast, married to Laman B. ————; born in 1872. Children: Mildred M., b. in 1904. May Crilley, b. July 19, 1910.

A brief history of an important Mast family, originally from the kingdom of Wurtemberg, Germany. Inserted from page 1508 of "Historical and Biographical Annals of Berks County, Pennsylvania."

George L. Mast, an employe of the Philadelphia and Reading Railway and a well-known man in Reading, where he is serving as an alderman, is American born, of foreign ancestry.

The early home of the Mast family was in the kingdom of Wurtemberg, Germany, where the great-grandfather of George

L. was a prominent and influential man. He entered into negotiations to marry his son, John, to a very desirable girl there, but the son objected, following the dictates of his own heart and wedding a poor seamstress. In his turn the son, John, became prominent and was given high office. On one of the great political issues of the day, however, he cast his lot with the people in opposition to the king and was obliged to flee from Germany to America, leaving behind his little son, Jacob B., then two years old. On reaching the new world John Mast located at Stony Point, Rockland township, Berks county, Pa., where he lived with his eldest son, John, who became extensively engaged in farming, and reared a large family. Among his children were George, Daniel and John.

Jacob B. Mast was born in Wurtemberg, Oct. 24, 1826 and grew to manhood there. He became a good mechanic and went to France where in Alsace-Lorraine he secured the position of building boss, retaining it three years. While there he married Elizabeth Lehman, daughter of Jacob and Elizabeth Lehman. Mr. Mast met an agent from the United States who persuaded him to come to America. They entered into a contract and Mr. Mast, his wife and one child, and about 400 others, boarded a vessel for the United States, but the agent became stranded, and instead of coming to the United States, he landed the whole shipload of French and German emigrants at Maracaibo, Venezuela, and basely deserted them. The cocoanut palms and blue sky afforded them their only shelter. Mr. Mast, his wife and one child were taken into a Spanish doctor's family as servants. One of Mr. Mast's duties was to look after the water supply. Water was carried for general purposes from several miles away by means of large bottles strapped over the back of an ass. While performing this task he came to a sawmill operated by an American Consul named Taylor. Two Spaniards were sawing a log of wood, and were needlessly exhausting themselves through a lack of knowledge or want of energy to better the condition of their machinery. Mr. Mast asked for a file and filed their saw for them. Mr. Taylor then asked him if he could file a circular saw and he replied that he could. He was immediately offered employment and arrangements were made with the Spanish doctor. Mr. Mast easily acquired the Spanish language, and then went before the authorities and secured the freedom of all his fellow passengers—many of whom had died of yellow fever, among them being Philip Lehman, a brother of Mrs. Mast. Under the guidance of Mr. Mast the value of the sawmill was greatly increased. He inaugurated several improvements so that the monthly output was greater than that of the whole previous year. Consul Taylor recognized his ability and when the desire to reach his originally intended destination caused Mr. Mast to tender his resignation he offered him for another year double salary, $100.00 in addition and passage to New York. This offer was refused, as Mr. Mast greatly desired to see his father and brother, John, who had come to America more than twenty years before and whom he had never really known. While in Maracaibo his family had been increased by the birth of a daughter, Hannah L., (said to be the first white child born there of European parents), and a son, James L. Mr. Mast and his family embarked in a condemned vessel that had laid along the coast for several years, and of which his wife and daughters, Elizabeth and Hannah L., were the only female passengers. When about half way over, struggling with their battered vessel, a privateer who intended to rob them saw their condition and furnished them with good food and water. After ninety days they landed at New York, and from there went to Philadelphia, and thence by wagon to Stony Point. There they remained a short time, Mr. Mast following his trade at twenty-five cents per day and paying ten per cent. of his net earnings for the use of his tools. He then went to Lobachsville in Pike township, where he lived about a year, walking to and from Pottstown, where he had secured work as a bridge builder with the Philadelphia and Reading Railway. After working seven days as a journeyman he was made boss bridge builder for the whole system. After he had built many bridges he was transferred to the car shops at Reading for the repairing and building of freight and passenger cars.

In 1843 he moved his family to Reading and purchased his first home for $425. On Aug. 4, 1847, he became a naturalized citizen of the United States. In the early fifties Jacob B. Mast entered the hotel business on Ninth Street, where now is located the Orphanage of St. Paul's Catholic Church; and then, in order, to Ninth and Washington Streets, Seventh and Penn Streets, "Jefferson House" at No. 137 South Seventh Street, Ninth and Laurel Streets and at No. 835 Penn Street. He next moved to No. 823 Walnut Street, and accepted a position with the Philadelphia and Reading Railway Company as lumber foreman, remaining in their employ until Aug. 16, 1880, when he died. In 1872 he was elected a director of the poor, in which office he rendered the poor, especially the children, great service. He was benevolent and kindly of heart, and was the benefactor of the needy. Mr. Mast became quite a linguist, speaking fluently English, Spanish, French and German. Of the twelve children born to him and his wife, four are living: Hannah L., who married John Bauman and has two children living, Albert G. and Ellen L. James L., a printer at Slatington, and former editor of the Slatington Star, who served as first lieutenant in the Second U. S. Artillery in the Civil War and was one of the "First Defenders." George L. Ellen L., unmarried, who lives with her brother, George L. Mrs. Elizabeth (Lehman) Mast was born Apr. 9, 1818, and makes her home with her son, George L. Jacob B. Mast helped to organize and build St. John's German Lutheran Church, and was the building master.

George L. Mast was born May 12, 1858 in Reading and was educated in the public schools, supplementing the education there acquired by a course in the business college conducted by Chester N. Farr and D. B. Brunner. He then learned the trade of tinsmith under George W. Dauth, secured a position in the works of the Philadelphia and Reading Railway Company and for thirty-one years was in the employ of that corporation. He was married Oct. 11, 1881, to Bertha Louise Smith, a teacher, and the daughter of Frederick Smith, a shoemaker. The children born of this union are as follows: Paul, born 1882, a machinist with the Philadelphia and Reading Railway. Albert F., born 1883, who holds a position similar to his brother's and like him is also married. James E., born 1891, who graduated in 1908 from the Reading high school and is now a civil engineer. Carl H., born 1892, a member of the class of 1909, Reading high school.

A continuation of the Wurtemberg Masts found in Vol. II., page 1564 in "Historical and Biographical Annals of Berks County, Pennsylvania."

John R. Mast, the court crier and custodian of the law library of Berks County, and member of Select Council from the Third ward, Reading, is a native of Reading and was born Sept. 21, 1853, son of George and Elizabeth (Reifsnyder) Mast. He was married to Minnie H. Hillegass, a daughter of Jacob S. Hillegass, of Reading. Mr. Mast is a most affable gentleman and is widely known in the city of Reading and throughout Berks County. His uniform courtesy has made him friends among all classes of people. He has been a member of Trinity Lutheran Church since boyhood.

George Mast, father of John R., passed most of his life in Reading where he died at the age of eighty-four years. He is buried in the family lot in the Charles Evans cemetery. He was a carpenter by occupation. His wife, Elizabeth (Reifsnyder), of Chester County, Pa., preceded him in death about ten years. They had a family of four children, two of whom died in infancy, the other two being John R. and Sallie, the latter the widow of H. E. Reifsnyder and residing at Reading.

John Mast, grandfather of John R., was born in August, 1786, in Wurtemberg, Germany, and when a boy was apprenticed to learn the carpenter trade, which he mastered thoroughly in accordance with the strict ideas of his native land. Like many other young men of the day, he emigrated to America in order to escape being drafted for service in the Napoleonic wars and he arrived in Berks County in 1812. Here he first hired out to help on the farm of William Bieber in Oley township. However he became well and favorably known in the pursuit of his trade and many of the older large barns in Oley township today bear good evidence of his honest work. He was often employed by Gen. Daniel Udree at the Oley furnace and by Daniel Young at the Rockland forges, doing such carpenter work as was needed at those places. Strong, honest and industrious, he was a good citizen and prospered well. He bought a small farm from Daniel Young and cultivated it thoroughly with true German thrift. He lived to his ninety-ninth year, making his home at Dryville, and is buried at Mertz' Church in Rockland township. His wife, whose maiden name was Smith, died about ten years previously. They were the parents of nine children, three of the sons being Daniel, George and John.

—Mongomery's History of Berks County, Pa.

History of Veronica Holly and her husband, Joseph Johns, with interesting facts concerning the personality of Joseph Johns, his manner of life and also as the founder of Johnstown, Pa.

Many of the writer's aged clients, a number of whom are residing in Berks, Lancaster and Chester counties, Pennsylvania had frequently inquired on such occasions where the writer had visited their homes whether the members of the Johns family are lineal descendants of Bishop Jacob Mast, 1738-1808.

This question was in course of time easily solved. While some aged members of the Mast family still claim an intimate relationship their social beneficence appears to have been held by marriage connection of over a century ago, as the wife of Joseph Johns, being known as Veronica Holly was a sister to the life companion of Bishop Jacob Mast.

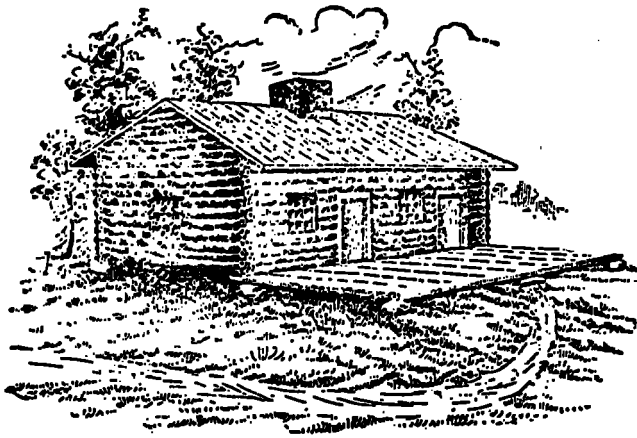

While the writer was in the vicinity of Johnstown, Pa. for a few days during the month of February in 1911 he eventually formed personal acquaintance with Joseph W. Johns of Holsopple, Pa. who was a great grandson of Joseph Johns and Veronica Holly, living on the old homestead farm to whom the writer acknowledges himself indebted for the following information concerning the Johns family, which will undoubtedly be read with great interest by aged readers who still have a faint recollection when their grandparents drove in the dearborn on long journeys across the Allegheny mountains until they reached a number of their relatives located several hundred miles west beyond the Ohio River. They thus seldom failed to stop on their journey with the Johns families and others residing in Cambria and Somerset counties, Pennsylvania.

Joseph Johns, according to a statement once made by his grandson, Joseph, was born in Germany, but others believe that he was born in Switzerland as the religion to which he belonged (Amish Mennonite) was at that time made up almost wholly of Swiss and their descendants. His name, as he spelled it in German, was Shantz (pronounced Shontz) hence it is that many now living remember having heard the old Swiss and German settlers of that neighborhood denominate the neucleus of the present city of Johnstown, as "Shontz's Town." When the historian takes a retrospective glance over the history of the village and town of Conemaugh and town and city of Johnstown, he must become convinced that Joseph Johns was a man of more than ordinary intelligence and prescience as well as of sterling integrity and moral worth. In fact, his mental vision partakes of the nature of the prophetic, taking into consideration the time in which he lived. Some time between 1764 and 1768 Mr. Johns immigrated to this country when somewhere between sixteen and nineteen years of age and some time afterward was married in Berks County to Franey Holly; "Franey" is a short name for Veronica. Her father, Michael Hoelley, and his brother, Andreas, were natives of Switzerland having crossed the ocean in the ship "Brotherhood" controlled by Capt. John Thomson with 300 passengers from Rotterdam, last from Cowes, landing in Philadelphia Nov. 3, 1750.

After their marriage Mr. and Mrs. Johns resided for some time on a farm near Berlin, Somerset County, where several of their children were born, but about the year 1793 Mr. Johns bought 249 acres of land for £435, 15 shillings on which part of Johnstown stood some twenty-five years ago, then from James McClenachan, later known as McLanahan who were residents and of the city prior to when the town was almost destroyed by a flood which occurred on May 30, 1889, sometime during that fall or next spring he built a one-story log house of two rooms with a chimney in the center and a fireplace in each room as shown in an accompanying cut. The appearance of the picture would indicate that the logs instead of being put up in the ordinary position were placed with the flat sides together; the outer surface of them appearing to have been left round. One thing is certain, the house was better than the average house of the time.

The above cut represents the first house in Johnstown built by Joseph Johns, probably in 1794 which was torn down in 1812. It was about sixteen by thirty-two feet and was divided equally into two rooms. On the kitchen side were a crane and a Dutch oven where the cooking and baking were done. The water used for household purposes was procured from a spring down the bank and near the Stonycreek—so close that when it was high the river water covered the spring. The path in the picture is the one leading from the house to the spring.

A broadax and foot adz which Mr. Johns may have used in the construction of this house may still be seen. The broadax is particularly unique having a socket about three inches in length extending from the eye, and both implements are now susceptible of carrying the keenest edge and of accomplishing the work for which they were intended as well as any like implement of the present day. The house was located on the right bank of Stonycreek, facing on Levergood street, on property owned (twenty-five years ago) by Dr. William Caldwell. Between Levergood and Bedford streets was the barn and back of this was an orchard planted. The spring was on the bank of the Stonycreek and during freshets was submerged with water.

Besides the articles already noted are household utensils which indicate by their character that the home of Mr. Johns was that of a well-to-do man. The bed on which he and his wife slept may be seen. The bedstead is of black walnut painted light brown. His chest which descended to his son, Joseph, in whose house it was broken open by burglars along in the 50's is made of poplar and is about 5 ft. in length, 22 in. deep and 22 inches wide on the outside with the usual till at the left end. The bottom, sides and ends are each one piece of board, and the lid is made of one board, about two feet in width showing plainly where it had been burst open by the midnight prowlers, who, it is some satisfaction to know, with the exception of one who turned informer were sent to the penitentiary for the offense while most of the money was recovered. There may be seen a bread plate, two cups and a small dish having the appearance of being composed of German silver or Brittannia metal, a coffee mill and what purports to be of Mrs. Johns' manufacture—flaxen thread doubled and twisted—and a homemade linen shirt bleached to immaculate whiteness and well made, the wedding shirt of the second Joseph Johns.

After Mr. Johns and his family had lived for about six years on the present site of the city of Johnstown, Pa., he began to develop an idea that had probably presented itself to his observing mind when from his first home in Somerset county, he explored the Stonycreek with its sinuous windings down to its mouth—that here, where the Shawnese wigwams had formerly stood, was a suitable site for a town for people of another race. Accordingly he had a town plot located between the land that he kept for a farm and the Point; which plan with annexed stipulations, provisions, and exceptions he called the "Charter of the Town of Conemaugh." He had recorded in Prothonotary and Recorder's office in Somerset county on November 3, 1800, as may be seen by reference to that instrument, the Magna Charta of the present city of Johnstown. To facilitate the work of making out deeds for lots in the new town, Mr. Johns had blank deeds printed in large unique script of that time leaving little to be done except to fill out the name of the purchaser, receive the consideration and have the deed duly executed. One of these instruments bears date 10th January, 1803 and conveys lot No. 37 to Daniel Wirtz for the sum of $7. This deed is signed, Joseph Shantz, in German, while the name of his wife who made her mark is in English.

It is a matter of regret to the public spirited citizens of Johnstown that Mr. Johns did not end his life there, and his remains lie entombed within the limits of the city he projected, but such was not to be for in the spring of 1806 he moved with his family to a farm near Davidsville, Somerset county. On March 30, 1808 he sold the residue of his Johnstown land to John Anderson and William Hartley of Bedford. It will thus be seen that Joseph Johns was never a citizen of Cambria County which, although laid out by virtue of an act of the Legislature in 1804, was not regularly constituted until the latter part of 1807 or the beginning of 1808; Mr. Johns being assessed in Somerset county in 1807, Quemahoning township had been by that time divided by a line which is now the southern boundary of Cambria county, all north of that line being Conemaugh township, with the voting place at Beulah.

Some of Mr. Johns' near neighbors were Jacob Lear, Sr., Peter Goughnour, Jacob and Abraham Good and David Stutzman, Abraham Hildebrand, Justice of the Peace, and afterward Associate Judge of Cambria county.

Besides the farm purchased from Stover which contained 180 acres Mr. Johns bought two other tracts of land; but lived on the former until his death on January 18, 1810 and was buried in a family burial plot on his farm, where his wife who survived him twenty-three years also lies interred. Two plain slabs of marble mark the graves. His wife rests by his side, the inscription on her tombstone being. "Franey Johns; died December 15, 1833; aged 76y, 8m, 18d."

Three years after the death of Mr. Johns who passed away without leaving a will his property was partitioned by process of law; his son, Joseph, securing the homestead on which the old man died and one of the other tracts, he being the highest bidder. He held both until 1867; when after the death of his wife he sold both to his son, Joseph, whose son, Joseph No. 4, an industrious young farmer now resides on the old homestead.

The original Johns Family Bible, once the property of Joseph Shantz, Jantz or Johns, the founder of Johnstown, Pa., and the good old German from which that city took its name, is still good for another century and it was carefully rebound in Johnstown in February 1884. The Bible gave evidence of having seen a great deal of usage during the one hundred and thirty nine years that it has been employed in teaching lessons of piety, virtue and wisdom. It is well preserved by the members of the Johns family and valued beyond all price.

The record of birth was religiously kept in it by Joseph Johns, the emigrant ancestor, and by his son after him. Both made their entries in German and both spelled their name Jantz. The writing of both is still perfectly legible. Nearly one hundred and thirty one years ago the first entry was made.

Mr. Johns had married Fanny Holly as formerly stated, a comely lass, with whom he fell in love while living in Lancaster county and before his removal to Berlin. Whether he was living in Berlin at this time or in Lancaster county is not known, but his wife bore him a child and he "put it down" for posterity to see. Then other children came to bless the union, and he put them down. This is what he wrote:

July 3, 1779. Born through the hand of God, a son, and I called him David Jantz.

Jan. 22, 1782. Born through the hand of God, a daughter, and I called her Barbara Jantzin.

Jan. 22, 1786. Born through the hand of God, a daughter, and I called her Veronica Jantzin.

Jan. 16, 1792. Born through the hand of God, a son, and I called him Joseph Jantz.

Jan. 27, 1794. Born through the hand of God, a daughter, and I called her Sarah Jantzin.

The latter were called "Jantzin" out of respect for their sex, it being the feminine form of the name.

David died when young near Berlin. Barbara married John Bontrager and for a number of years they lived on a farm on Quemahoning Creek in Conemaugh township, but subsequently emigrated to La Grange county, Indiana, where Mrs. Bontrager died in 1872.

Veronica married her cousin, a John Holly, whose father used to live on a farm near Davidsville. The couple went to Canada to live and from there to Ohio where Mrs. Holly died in 1875.

Sarah married Christian Eash and lived with him in Conemaugh township until 1863 when she died.

Joseph took the old homestead farm and died there in 1868. He had eight children, seven of whom were living in 1884. Daniel lived in La Grange county, Ind. Catharine, the wife of Samuel Schrock, was his neighbor, and so was John; the first Sarah died and the second Sarah was the wife of Joseph Thomas of Conemaugh township. Joseph lived on the old farm. Annie, wife of Samuel Yoder, lived in Paint township and Christina lived with her husband, Samuel Kauffman, in Conemaugh township. The children are named in the order of their age. Joseph is still living at this writing being eighty-five. Their names and the dates of their birth are also recorded in the old Bible in the same unique form as that adopted by their grandfather.

Grandmother Johns survived her husband about twenty-five years, her death occurring on December 15, 1833. He was about sixty years old when he died. The only relative he was ever known to have in this country was a sister, who was married to a man named Kirschner, but where she lived we are unable to ascertain. None of the Johns family have ever lived in Johnstown since the old folks moved away nearly one hundred and seven years ago.

There is not a person living in Johnstown today who ever saw the founder of the city, but all honor his memory, and he will never be forgotten. His descendants are plain, honest, religious people and are now found in different parts of the state of Pennsylvania and in the West.

Valediction

Dear Friends: As I reach the close of this volume and ere I lay down my pen, I wish to add a few parting words. In the preparation of this work I am greatly indebted to many of the friends for favors in furnishing much information. And I also extend my sincere thanks to those whom I visited in their homes, and who gave me much desired information while traveling in my own state and repeatedly in the adjoining counties; having examined county records, newspaper files and libraries.

How gladly would I visit you in your homes and have a hearty handshake with you all, if it were possible. "Grace be with you, mercy, and peace" (II Jno. 1:3).

To our pioneer ancestors whose names and deeds are written in this book we owe a debt of gratitude for their unflinching courage in the performance of duty and devotion to God. Nearly two centuries ago, having been deprived of the blessings of religious liberty to worship God in a manner acceptable to themselves in the "Fatherland," they fled across the ocean to the shores of our beloved America. But these inglorious persecutions were not without their compensations. They have mingled in the development and progress of this country. Their presence was as obvious as a river or like the falling of the dew which shows itself in the refreshing of the landscape. Here they carved out their homes, subdued the land and seldom had they figured much in public worldly affairs that were beyond the limits of local politics, their careers were bounded by a limited horizon and they served their day and generation in the simple station of rich privileges, religious and national liberty. In their typical log houses they remembered the God of their fathers and from their humble firesides grateful songs of praise ascended to the God of every blessing.

As humble tillers of the soil, they were in every way adapted to their situation. Their preparation was of the best order, and driven from their native land by religious persecutions, they must have rejoiced in finding such a pleasing situation, such inviting conditions. Every act was performed by muscular exertion and endurance, with the assistance of horse power. The plow, the harrow, the scythe, the sickle and the rake were important aids then and by comparing the past with the present we can readily appreciate the vast difference. Their farming implements were rude and simple in construction and continued so for many years. The whole of the eighteenth century passed away without any improvement. But their devotion was equal to the task for they were up with the sun in the morning; and with the moon in season. They were never behind for they could not be without great loss and inconvenience. About half of the nineteenth century also passed away without any material advancement beyond the days of 1700, of 1750 and of 1800. Labor-saving machinery had begun to be introduced within a score of years before 1850; and this naturally led to an improvement in farming implements. We no longer see from ten to thirty or forty persons engaged in haymaking and harvesting on our farms; as they were seen one hundred, indeed only thirty years ago. A farmer and his own family with the aid of his horses and improved farming machinery can carry on all the work from beginning to end successfully.

Dear reader, let us take counsel of the fathers. Consider the motives that led them to leave their beloved homes in the far-off Fatherland, to brave the storms and perils of the wilderness home on these shores. It was not simply to better their conditions in temporal affairs of this life, but as followers of Jesus the salvation of their souls and freedom from religious oppression for themselves and their offspring were the paramount motives. They fought well the battle of life and lived in peace with all mankind. And thus they have passed on to their reward. May their self-denying godly lives and examples rest with benedictory power upon us, while we bide our time and follow in their footsteps, preserving unsullied the family name; and as life goes on, we may experience more and more how illusive are the promises from this world and how empty is all that it bestows. Let us ever fix our thoughts on the love of God, the tenderness of Christ, the silver wings and the refreshing dew of the grace of the Comforter, when questions come whistling like empty winds and roar like brawling streams through the narrow banks of contemporary religion. O, dear reader, do not deceive yourself! Remember that God sees through shams, remember that God does not care for anything except the heart. He will not in the least value you for your professions or for your observances; but, "as he who hath called you is holy, so be ye holy in all manner of conversation." If you want men to respect your character, let men see in you a purer standard than their own, a loftier stature, a kindlier sympathy. For the centuries do homage to real goodness; it is fairer than the morning or the evening star, it is the reflection of the life of Christ, "it is as a city set on a hill."

Dear reader, are you a follower of Jesus? If not, let me remind you of the saintly, godly ancestors whose forms have so long slept in their quiet graves, of their suffering for the faith, their victory in death, their crowning in the Father's house, whence they await the homecoming of the faithful ones. Let me point you to the Savior they loved and to the God they served. May I entreat you to do likewise, for things are passing. Our friends whose names are recorded in this family history are dropping off from us. And some day we will realize that our strength is giving way; our relish for earth will be going, and then the world will no longer wear to our hearts the radiance that it once wore. We have always the same sky above us; but the freshness that our hearts extract from youth and the glory that seems to rest on earth and life will fade away forever. Sad and gloomy truths to the man who is going down to the grave with his work undone—not sad to the Christian; but rousing, exciting and invigorating. If it be the eleventh hour, we have no time for holding hands; but we should work the faster through the changefulness of life; while we constantly hear that another and another are gone before us through the noiseless rush of a world which is going down with gigantic footsteps into nothingness. Dear reader, let us not slack our hands from work but pray to the Father of man who has redeemed all the earth and whose Gospel fits every race, that He might lift our eyes to a world-wide vision, widen our sympathies, enlarge our plans, invigorate our efforts and build up our faith.

May the loving spirit of Jesus so guide us in the ways of peace and safety, that we may depart this life with a steadfast hope of our salvation in our most blessed Lord and Savior.

Let us be kind;
Around the world the tears of time are falling,
And for the loved and lost these human hearts are calling—
Let us be kind.
To age and youth let gracious words be spoken,
Upon the wheel of pain so many weary lives are broken,
We live in vain who give no tender token—
Let us be kind.

Let us be kind.
The sunset tints will soon be in the west,
Too late the flowers are laid then on the quiet breast—
Let us be kind.
And when the angel guides have sought and found us,
And heaven and home shall brighten all around us—
Let us be kind.

Heredity and its Limitations

A few remarks on hereditary taints on subjects which concern the happiness of us all. To any one who has studied the laws of life, will come with special force and interest, the transmission of certain mental traits of prominence and certain physical traits of equal prominence, facts which all acknowledge but which few can understand.

This doctrine of heredity is no new discovery. Men must have seen from the very dawn of human history that parents transmit to their children not merely their outward form and features, but many of the moral tendencies of their nature. This doctrine of heredity was one of the chief articles of the Christian creed for many centuries, and stated in a form which justly provoked fierce moral resentment. The doctrine of Original Sin was the theological anticipation of the scientific doctrine of heredity, just as the doctrine of Monotheism was the theological anticipation of the scientific doctrine of the unity of the material universe and the universal supremacy of law.

Have you ever stopped to think why our nation has made such remarkable progress regarding arts, science, philosophy, invention, education, literature, religion, social science, etc? The question can easily be solved, when we learn that the natural-born American citizen has descended from a noble ancestry—a mixture of the most remarkable and successful men and women of the different nationalities of Europe. The same traits of character which distinguished his ancestors in this respect found expression under different conditions and in a more remarkable degree in their descendants, thus our generations inherited from that hardy and robust stock an iron constitution capable of great physical endurance and a capacity for hard, continuous work, which many have developed those distinguishing traits of their illustrious ancestors: a strong love for piety, loyalty to conviction, courage in the face of obstacles, and sound judgment in organization.

In studying ancient tribes and races of the Orient, many of whom have lost their last shred of popularity, there is a vital meaning for everyone of us in this Oriental aphorism and also concerning some of the American Indian tribes in our government reservations, where their physical and mental power have likewise melted into weakness. The ringing challenge comes to us as resulting from a dense mingling among themselves. Frequent intermarriages in a continuous line of descent has been said by eminent physicians to cause disease, as madness, consumption, epilepsy, scrofula, cancer, nervous affections and nonprocreation, which are handed down to posterity by imprudence, constituting a small measure of mental and physical power.

This is a natural law in regard to marriage, says Combe, "that the parties should not be closely related to each other in blood. This law holds good in the transmission of all organic life. Even vegetables are deteriorated if the same stock be repeatedly planted on the same ground. In the case of the lower animals, a continued disregard of this law is almost universally admitted to be detrimental, and human nature affords no exception to the rule. It is written in our organism, and the consequences of its infringement may be discovered in the degeneracy, physical and mental, of many nobles and royal families, who have long and systematically set it at defiance. Kings of Portugal and Spain for instance, occasionally apply to the Pope for permission to marry nieces. The Pope grants the dispensation, and the marriage is celebrated with all solemnities of religion. The blessing of Heaven is invoked on the union. The real power of his holiness, however, is put to the test. He is successful in delivering the king from the censures of the church, and his offspring from the civil consequences of illegitimacy; but the Creator yields not one jot or little of His law. The union is altogether unfruitful, or children miserably constituted in body and imbecile in mind are produced; and this is the form in which the Divine displeasure is announced." In Turkey, it is said of a simpleton, "He is of the Emirs." The Emirs constitute the hereditary nobility, and are the descendants of Fatimah, the daughter of Mohammed. They have intermarried so long and extensively, that their imbecility has become a by-word, even among those who revere the memory of the prophet.

In this country, intermarriage between relatives is practiced to an extent which calls loudly for interference. Authoritative statisticians have shown most plainly that a large percentage of the insanity and idiocy found in our asylums is attributed to this violation of nature's law—and how many other diseases are produced thereby it is difficult to estimate. Speaking of the physical effects of intermarriage between blood-relatives, an editor of a widely known Southern newspaper says, that, in the county in which he was raised, "for twenty generations back certain families of wealth and respectability have intermarried, until there cannot be found in three or four of them a sound man or woman! One has sore eyes; another, scrofula; a third is an idiot; a fourth, blind; a fifth, bandy-legged; a sixth, with a head about the size of a turnip; with not one of the number exempt from physical defects of some kind or other."

Thus a man may as well marry a half sister as a full cousin, though the marriage between parties first mentioned would not be tolerated in any community in Christendom.

No candilates for marriage should possess the same temperment when they are nearly alike electrically and yet we have idiots, maniacs, consumptives, etc, who are in a majority of instances, the production, directly or indirectly, of bad and unhappy marriages. As a nation's greatness depends upon the character of her population, it is the duty of every government to bestow at least as much attention upon the improvement of her human stock, as agricultural societies expend upon the improvement of the breeds of their horses and cattle.

To have enterprising and intellectual men and women, we must have boys and girls who are well developed physically and mentally. To look for these without due regard to adaptation in marriage, is as foolish as to expect "the olive to grow on the craggy summits of Pike's peak or Mt. Everest, or the pineapple to expand amid the graciers of Grinderwalde." Parents are in a great degree responsible for the physical infirmities and mental imperfections of their children. They are particularly so, when the natural law against the intermarriage of relatives has been violated. Once put in operation a discriminative system of granting marriage licenses, such as I have suggested, and the marriage of nieces, cousins, and other blood relatives, will be discontinued.

Health and happiness can never exist where temperance is not and where piety is not a consistent visitor there is no solace or balm against the cares, disappointments and vicissitudes of life. All that is bright in the hope of youth, all that is calm and blissful in the meridian of life, all that is soothing in the vale of years are derived from temperance and religion.

It is true that the whole conditions of our lives have been determined for us by our ancestors. Our strength of muscle, the soundness of our heart and lungs, the limits of our intellectual capacity, have all been settled for us by our birth, and as the result of the moral character of our ancestors our moral life is one of comparative ease or of severe difficulty. But though the conditions of life have been determined for us, our life itself is our own, and that has not been determined for us. The material with which we should work has been given—the way in which we should treat it has not been given. We may have been born sluggish. We have to determine whether we will yield or not to our natural tendency to sluggishness. We may have been born with susceptibility to violence of temper. It does not follow that our temper is to be violent; we must determine whether we will struggle with our susceptibility, and subdue and chain down the temper which would hurry us into many grievous offences. We may have been born with a tendency to sullenness and to gloom; but listening to the teaching of the Christian faith and discovering that joy is an element of Christian perfection, it becomes just as much our duty to struggle against sullenness and gloom as to struggle against any gross sensual vice, as we must set our whole heart and strength to resist and subdue our natural tendency.

Some of the noblest forms of moral life may be found where to your eyes and to mine there is the least dignity and grace. You were born under felicitous circumstances, but to reach the virtue which you attained without effort, another man may have to exert incessant energy. His dearly bought excellence, though inferior to that which you have easily achieved is to God infinitely nobler and more precious than the goodness which you, without effort, have accomplished. Each man has to "give an account of himself to God."

One man is placed under conditions not of his own choice; conditions to which he was destined—which make it possible for him to do very little beyond getting the rough ore of goodness out of the black and gloomy mine. He has got it with the sweat of his brow, with pain, with peril. To him God will say, "Well done!" Another man has the ore at his feet to start with. It is not enough for him to bring that to God. For him there is a different task. In the fires of self-discipline he has to liberate the ore from its dross, and to produce the pure metal. It is enough that one man should bring the rough ore to God; this man must bring pure metal extracted from it. And a third has the metal to begin with. He fails disastrously, unless he works it up into forms of noble usefulness and gracious beauty. Each man will have to "give account of himself to God," and only God can judge of the worth of each man's work, because only God knows the conditions under which each man's work is carried on. We, perhaps, have frequently looked round upon friends of ours to whom the conflict we have to maintain is altogether unnecessary. The foes we have to contend with they never meet. The victories which we have to win for ourselves were won for them generations ago by the ancestors whose blood is in their veins. Shall we complain? God forbid. Let us do for posterity what their ancestors have done for them, taking the rough conditions of our actual life, making the best of them, winning no praise from men for what we accomplish—for they know not the difficulty of the work—rejoicing in this humbly and reverently; that we have to give account of ourselves to God.

Life offers to each but one garden,
One springtime in which to sow;
We can fill it with fairest flowers,
That will gladden all the years,
Or make it a dreary tangle of briars,
To be reaped with remorseful tears.
