HUMPHREY NICHOLS

HIS ANCESTORS AND DESCENDANTS

SOME time prior to the year 1738 there appeared in Newark, New Jersey, as a permanent resident, one Humphrey Nichols,—a lineal descendant of the well-known Sergeant Francis Nichols, of Stratford, Connecticut,—the ancestor of several hundred people now living, and the central figure in this historical record.

We know little of his early history. Conger, probably following Orcutt's error (see page 4), says that he was "from the Land of Steady Habits" (meaning Connecticut) but the fact is that, although his father, Isaac, was baptized at Milford, Connecticut, he himself was brought up on Long Island at Newtown in the household of his uncle Joseph Nichols No. 1123, (see Appendix B). It is interesting to know that the tradition has persisted among his Newark descendants that his earlier years were spent on Long Island, where we now know that his two sisters, one at least of his three brothers, and three of his uncles formerly resided. His father was Isaac Nichols 3rd, son of Isaac Nichols, Jr., of Stratford, Connecticut.

Our earliest glimpse of Humphrey Nichols in Newark, is the record of his "making the gallows and setting it up," for which he was paid 10 sh. 6d. in 1738. He was engaged in the erection of Trinity Church in that city, and also the new kitchen adjoining the court house, and for "doing the same" he received £54 in 1753. March 4, 1739-40 he made an agreement with "Widow Elener Baldwin of Newark" (whom I will show in Appendix D to have been probably a connection of his grandmother, Mary (Baldwin) Nichols) for the leasing of half an acre of land "at the northeast corner by Upper Neck* gate" in Newark for three years at ten shillings yearly; and the location of his residence at this point is shown on the appended old map of Newark.

May 28, 1764 Humphrey Nichols made his will#, dated that day, and it was probated July 17, 1764. The business accountbook kept by his son

* The "Necks" were points of upland jutting out into the meadows; the "gates" were in the fence dividing the upland from the meadows.

WILL OF HUMPHREY NICHOLS. "In the name of God, Amen, I Humphrey Nicholls of Newark in the County of Essex and Province of New Jersey this twenty eighth day of May in the year of our Lord one thousand seven hundred and sixty four Do make this my Last Will and Testament—Imprimis I will that my just Debts and Funeral Charges be paid out of ye estate. ———

Item, I Give and Devise to my two sons Robert Nicholls and Moses Nicholls and to their heirs and assigns forever equally to be Divided between them share and share alike twenty three acres and fifty five hundredths of an acre of swamp and meadow lying at the Place called the Great Swamp within the Great Neck of Newark afd, being the Westernmost Part of the Tract of swamp and meadow I lately purchased from the Executors of Colen Josiah Ogden, and divided by a line run by Samuel Hayes from the road south westerly to a Ditch in the meadows, they paying the Proportionable Part of the Consideration sum I am indebted for the whole tract agreeable to the quantity hereby Devised to them, and Whereas I have already advanced out of my estate to each of my sd sons Robert and Moses the sum of forty pounds, I will that sd sums amounting to eighty pounds, together with their sd pro-

Robert does not mention his death, but contains several significant entries. "Monday, May 28, went to the Borough after widow Haris to nurse father." (Each day thereafter, except Sunday, he shows that he was working somewhere.) "Wednesday, June 6, about home. Thursday, June 7, went to get my father's will proved." It is therefore probable that Humphrey died Sunday, June 3, and was buried Wednesday, June 6, 1764. Friday, June 8, his son spent the "forenoon a prising my father's goods." Thursday, July 5th, 1764 he "had a vendew to sell of the goods of my father," and January 26, 1765 he "paid William Grant 8/ for the funeral charges of my father." Monday, July 22, 1765 he had another "vendew selling of the lands of father's estate. Gabriel Ogden bought the lot on the hill for £130, Isaac Ogden the house and marsh for £36, the land on the lower part of the Swamp at 3- 10/ pr acre, Moses Nichols the other at 3-10-3 pr acre."

Humphrey Nichols' wife was Abigail Wheeler, daughter of Joseph and Sarah Wheeler, of Newark, New Jersey. Her father died in Newark in 1727 and he mentioned his wife Sarah, and children Mary, Patience, Abigail, Ephraim, Stephen and Dorcas, "all under age," in his will (dated Feb. 22, proved Sept. 15, 1727). Record of a legacy in 1768 to Abigail Nichols from the estate of her brother Ephraim Wheeler, and statement in the old private papers of Dr. Gideon Searing (Appendix A) that her maiden name was Wheeler, complete her identification.

The father of Humphrey Nichols was Isaac Nichols 3rd, twin brother of Jonathan Nichols (nothing is known of Jonathan, and he probably died young.) Isaac and Jonathan were posthumous children of Isaac Nichols Jr. and wife Mary (Baldwin) Nichols, of Stratford, Conn., whose ancestry is fully given in Orcutt's History of Stratford, Conn. Mary Baldwin, wife of Isaac Nichols, Jr., was a daughter of Richard and Elizabeth (Alsop) Baldwin, of Milford, Conn.* When her husband died, early in 1690, leaving her with three small children, Francis ae. 14, Richard ae. 12, and Joseph ae. 10, and endowing her with none too much of this world's goods, she went apparently to her parents at Milford, and there, in the old "Records of the First portionable part of the sd Consideration sum above mentioned be by them paid on the Bond they are Bound with me in to the executors of sd Josiah Ogden for the payment of the consideration for sd lands.

Item, I Give and Bequeath to my daughter Sarah Nicholls the sum of fifteen pounds to be paid her by my Executors hereinafter named, one year after my decease.

Item, I Give and Devise all the Remainder of my Real and Personal Estate to my Sons Robert, Moses, Lewis and Isaac Nicholls and unto my daughters Sarah and Abigail Nicholls and their heirs and assigns forever, to be divided Between them in manner following, to wit; to each of my sd sons and their respective heirs and assigns two equal tenth parts in ten equal Parts to be Divided, and to each of my sd Daughters, their respective heirs and assigns one equal tenth Part thereof.

Item, I hereby give and Devise unto my Executors hereinafter named, to the Major Part the Survivors or Survivor of them Power and Authority to sell and convey if they, the Major Part or the Survivors or Survivor of them shall think fit all or any Part of the sd Remainder of my estate and out of the monies arising from sd Sale to pay to each of my sd Children their heirs and assigns their several proportions above mentioned.

Item, I hereby Constitute and appoint my sons Robert Nicholls, Moses Nicholls and Lewis Nicholls Executors of this my last Will and Testament making Void all former wills by me made heretofore and ratifying and Confirming this to be my last Will and Testament. In Witness I have hereunto sett my hand and Seal the day and year above written."

Church, Milford", on page 39 we find this entry,—“Children baptized by Rev. Mr. Andrew. 1690, July 20. Isaac & Jonathan twins sons of widow Mary Nichols of Stratford Church, born after father's death.”

That Humphrey's father was Isaac Nichols is ascertained by an old bible and some old papers collected by Dr. Gideon Nichols Searing, b. 1809, d. 1879, No. 112432B3, of Hempstead, Long Island, who was an antiquarian and collector and deeply interested in genealogy and family history, and a very painstaking man. These Searing papers, one of which was photographed for me in 1907, show (see Appendix A) that an Isaac Nichols of Stratford, Conn., had the following children: 1, Humphrey Nichols “of New Jersey”; 2, Robert Nichols, unmarried; 3, William Nichols “killed at Cuba, had three children, Samuel, William and Sally” (another paper says, “killed at Carthage, Lieut. in the British service,” which is more correct); 4, Matthias Nichols “died without children”; Rebecca Nichols who was mother (not wife as the papers say) of Jacamiah Smith; and 6, a daughter who married a Dibble of Danbury.

The identity of Humphrey's father Isaac Nichols with the Isaac Nichols posthumous son of Isaac Nichols Jr. of Stratford is determined by extracts from old letters of Mrs. Mary (Nichols) Wiswall, whose father was George Nichols, a nephew of the posthumous Isaac. (See Appendix B.)

The following brief extracts from her letters are most valuable:—“My father always said that Long Island Nichols—Stratford Nichols and Waterbury—Newtown—Newark in New Jersey—all came from one original stock—and he must have known as he had the family records—handed down.  My grandfather lived at Newtown Long Island till my father and my uncle James Nichols were both men grown.  Humphrey Nichols own cousin to my father who settled at Newark New Jersey was brought up at Long Island with my father he always spoke of him as a brother he was father to Abigail Nichols. She lived at my fathers a long time When I was a child—afterwards when I lived with my brother at New York she was there also her brother Isaac Nichols who I was acquainted with.  Aunt Kate Dibble at Danbury was a Nichols, sister to Abby Nichols father—own cousin to my father.”

A study of Appendix A and B will show that the Searing papers and the Wiswall letters are supplemental and confirmatory.

This brief account of Humphrey Nichols would not be complete without reference to an unaccountable mistake made by Orcutt in his History of Derby, Conn., and also in his History of Stratford, Conn., which led at least two published works and many of Humphrey's descendants into the error of believing that he was son of Samuel Nichols* and Mary Bowers, of Derby, Conn. Orcutt's History of Derby states, "Samuel Nichols married Mary, settled in New Jersey." Orcutt's History of Stratford says, "Samuel Nichols and wife Mary removed to New Jersey, probably Newark." Lyman H. Weeks in his "Prominent Families of New York" seems to have blindly followed Orcutt when he says, "Samuel Nichols, born 1665, married Mary Bowers of Derby, and afterwards settled in New Jersey. He was the father of Humphrey Nichols who settled in Newark in 1765." None of these authorities give evidence, and all are positively wrong (see full discussion in Appendix C). "Samuel Nichols, of Derby," made his will in 1736 (filed at New Haven) leaving all his personal and real estate to relatives of his wife Mary Bowers who had previously died, and naming no children. His wife Mary Bowers died in Derby June 9, 1736. Deeds signed by Samuel Nichols of Derby, Conn., and wife Mary, over thirty in number and covering practically the whole range of time from 1682, the date of their marriage to 1736, the date of her death, afford such overwhelming evidence that it is hard to see how Orcutt can have made this mistake, though it may have been due to the fact that Mary Bowers, wife of Samuel Nichols of Derby, was sister of Rev. Nathaniel Bowers, of Newark, N. J., and some of Samuel Nichols' deeds were to his nephew, Rev. Nathaniel's son, John Bowers,—though he was also "of Derby, Conn."

The chief object of the compiler in publishing this record has been to correct the above error and to establish the correct descent. There have also been included in this work the brothers and sisters of Humphrey Nichols and his and their descendants through male and female lines to recent times. Limitations of space require the omission of most dates after 1800, though the compiler will be glad to furnish such from his very full cards as well as to receive any corrections and additions. While every effort has been made to secure accuracy and avoid omission as to these later data, yet it must be remembered that most of them were secured by correspondence with the usual proportion of uninterested descendants.

Acknowledgment is gratefully rendered, for assistance in collecting and publishing this material, to the following, among others; Mr. Walter S. Nichols of Newark and his son, Mr. Alexander M. Nichols; Mr. George L. Nichols of New York; Mr. William J. Nichols of Bridgeport; Mr. George E. Nichols of Halifax, N. S.; Rev. Arthur S. Peck of Sanford, Florida; Mr. George H. Nichols, Jr. of Hoosick Falls, N. Y.; and Miss Mary A. Hart of Arlington, N. Y.

EXPLANATORY

THE LOGICAL GENEALOGICAL REFERENCE SYSTEM. The number belonging to each child is derived from that of its father by placing at the end of the number assigned to the father a letter for each daughter and a figure for every son in the order of birth. Thus, if a person's number is 124B3, he is the third son of the second daughter of the fourth son of the second son of the eldest son. Also, he belongs to the fifth generation.

The purpose of this work makes the arrangement by generations more suitable than the usual order. All descendants will be found in the same order in each successive generation,—first the sons and then the daughters, in order of birth in each family. A plus sign + denotes that the person so indicated will appear in fuller detail on a later page. A bracket [] denotes a date or fact which is not established with certainty.

FRANCIS NICHOLS was son of Francis Nichols of Ampthill, Bedford County, England, and his wife, Margaret Bruce (see English Ancestry in Appendix E). He was a brother of Col. Richard Nichols, Governor of New York in 1664, who returned to England and never married, and who was described as "a little above the medium height, of fine, stately appearance, with a fair, open face, a magnetic gray eye somewhat deep set, and hair slightly curled at the ends."

* English Ancestry, see Appendix E.

Francis Nichols appears in Stratford, Conn., in 1639, among the first settlers.* He was apparently a widower when he came, and was accompanied by his four children, John, Isaac, Caleb, and a daughter whose name is unknown, and who married Richard Mills, another of the first settlers of the township. He married a second time in 1645, Anna, daughter of Deacon Barnabas Wines, of Southold, L. I., by whom he had a second daughter, Ann. After Francis Nichols' death, his widow was thrice married; first, to Mr. John Elton, a wealthy planter of Southold; second, to Capt. John Tooker, of Setauket, L. I.; and third, to Col. John Youngs, son of Rev. John Youngs, the first minister at Southold. The Rev. Ephraim Whitaker in his History of Southold, L. I. says: "For nearly thirty years I have been carefully making a list of the early settlers who left written evidence (in town records and deeds) that they were full grown men within the lifetime of the first pastor John Youngs, i. e. from 1640 to 1672." In the list of owners and inhabitants is found "Francis Nichols," which would indicate that after settling at Stratford he, for some reason, temporarily lived at Southold or at least held property there. The records of Southold frequently speak of the estate of Mrs. Francis Nichols left to his second wife and also to his daughter Anne, wife of Christopher Youngs, grandson of the Rev. John Youngs. Sergt. Francis Nichols died in Stratford, probably intestate, and it is likely that his property was distributed to his children before his death. The inventory of his personal effects is on record, and amounted to a fairly considerable sum for those early times.

That Francis Nichols was early recognized as a military man, is evidenced by an enactment of the General Court of Connecticut in 1639, the year of his first appearance in Stratford, whereby he was assigned "to train the men and exercise them in military discipline."

A list of the first settlers of Stratford and maps showing Francis Nichols' residence therein appear on and after page 10.

July 9, 1691, Rev. Joseph Webb, fr. Fairfield.

ISAAC NICHOLS SR., was born in England and lived and died in Stratford, Conn. He was the owner of much real estate, was engaged in a flourishing mercantile business, and was a prominent and substantial citizen of the town. From 1650 to 1680, Joseph Hawley built vessels at Stratford and also sold foreign cloths, groceries, and other goods, and certain records attest that Isaac Nichols Sr., conducted a like business. He lived next to his father, his house lot running through from Main Street to Elm Street, as it is now called. His will, made Sept. 28, 1694, and probated Nov. 6, 1695, mentions "wife Margerie," and leaves his son Benjamin "on account of the great care he hath taken of me and my concerns and the affection I bear for him, all real estate," &c. It further mentions children of his daughter Mary Chancey, daughter Sarah Burritt, children of son Isaac deceased, children of son Jonathan, deceased, children of son Ephraim, daughters Patience and Temperance and Margerie, and daughter Elizabeth Webb,—also his Indian servant George. It states that he had given to all his other children as he was able at their marriage or afterwards.

112. ISAAC NICHOLS JR., wife MARY BALDWIN, m. [Sept. 1675, see Amer. Ancestry Vol. 8, p. 117.] He was b. Mar. 12, 1654 at Stratford; d. 1690 at Stratford. She was bapt. Nov. 6, 1653, dau. of Richard and Elizabeth (Alsop) fr. Milford; m. 2nd before 1712 Daniel Comstock fr. Lyme, Conn.

CHILDREN: 1121. FRANCIS, b. June 3, 1676; m. 1st Sarah (———), who was "buried Oct. 26, 1716 at her father's at Bushwick"; m. 2nd pub. July 5, 1717 at Jamaica, L. I. to Mary Smith; 1 ch. 1122. RICHARD, b. Nov. 26, 1678; d. Sept. 20, 1756; m. June 3, 1702 to Comfort Sherman, dau. of Theophilus and Sarah (Mitchell) fr. Middletown, Conn.; 8 ch. 1123. JOSEPH, b. Nov. 1, 1680; d. Mar. 10, 1733 at Waterbury, Conn.; m. Elizabeth Wood. 1124. ISAAC NICHOLS 3RD. + 1125. JONATHAN, bapt. July 20, 1690 at Milford, Conn.; twin with 1124, "sons of widow Mary Nichols of Stratford Church, born after father's death," (nothing more known).

ISAAC NICHOLS JR. spent his whole life in Stratford, Conn., and died there leaving no will. His property was inventoried June 12, 1690; the widow relict and his brother Josiah Nichols being ordered by the court "to settle the estate and order the children." The identification of Mary, wife of Isaac Jr. was reached through a deed at Derby, Conn., (see Appendix D). Some time between the death of Isaac Jr. and the year 1712 she married Daniel Comstock of Lyme, Conn., a widower with two children,—Sarah Comstock, b. Apr. 4, 1685, m. (———) Oliver,—and Ann Comstock, b. Mar. 13, 1686-7 m. Benjamin Graham,—Daniel's first wife being Alse [Alice] DeWolf, daughter of Balthazar. Daniel Comstock seems to have died Dec. 25, 1725 "of Lyme, Conn." leaving a will dated Nov. 25, 1725 naming no wife.

CHILDREN OF ISAAC NICHOLS JR. (uncles of Humphrey Nichols.)

According to a letter of Rev. George Huntington Nichols of Hoosick Falls, N. Y., lately deceased, who was a descendant of Richard No. 1122 and who made most extensive research with exceptional advantages, "Isaac Nichols Jr. died when he was thirty-six years of age, leaving a widow Mary and three sons, Richard, Joseph and Francis.* After Isaac Jr.'s death his widow and the above sons (boys) removed to Long Island where the boys grew up. Richard in 1700 returned to Stratford and Bridgeport; Joseph located at Waterbury, Conn.; Francis remained on Long Island. From this Francis I am told a large family have descended, but I have no trace of them." The Waterbury records state that Joseph's first two children were born in 1712 and 1714 "on Long Island" and on May 20, 1715 "Joseph Nichols of Newtown upon Long Island" bought land in Derby, Conn. and removed there soon after; was "of Derby" 1723 to 1739 and then bought in Waterbury where he died in 1733. Richard's later history is well known. Francis is of interest because so little has been known about him, and because it is likely that Isaac 3rd, father of Humphrey, spent his boyhood near him. Francis was indifferently styled "of Jamaica" and "of Hempstead" in deeds ranging from 1705 to 1718. In 1708, he is called "tailor" but elsewhere and several times he is called "Innholder of Jamaica." He married twice,—first to Sarah who was "buried October 26, 1716 at her father's at Bushwick." His second wife was Mary Smith whose marriage to him was published at Jamaica, July 5, 1717. His daughter Catherine "of Francis and Sarah Nichols" was baptized at Jamaica Sept. 18, 1715. In "The Origin and History of Grace Church, Jamaica" (H. O. Ladd) 1914, page 273 under baptisms appears the entry "...bert ye son of & Jane Nichols Oct. 22, 1719." and it is indexed as "Gilbert." I append facsimile of the entry, with torn edge in the old book in the vaults of the local Trust Co. Minute scrutiny convinces me that the entry should read, "Baptism. Robbert ye son of Wm. & Jane Nicols 9ber 22, 1719 at Jamaica." I submit as probability that William was son of Francis Nichols, 1411, and the possibility that his son Robert was ancestor of the large community of Nichols living from very early times at Middle Island, L. I., in which the name Robert often recurs,—in which case they would be the “large family descended from Francis” referred to by Dr. George H. Nichols (above).

*Like all the other Nichols genealogists, he had no knowledge of the other two sons, Isaac and Jonathan (posthumous twins), recently discovered.

1124. ISAAC NICHOLS 3rd (baptized with his twin brother Jonathan at Milford, Conn., July 20, 1690. Nothing is recorded of his death or marriage. Probably removed very young to the neighborhood of Jamaica, Long Island, with his brothers, and possibly lived with or near his eldest brother Francis, who was “Innholder of Jamaica.”)

CHILDREN: 1124A. REBECCA. 1124I. HUMPHREY NICHOLS.+ 1124Z. ROBERT, d. y. 11243. LIEUT. WILLIAM.+ 1124B. CATHERINE.+ 11244. MATTHIAS.

ISAAC NICHOLS 3rd was baptized at Milford, Conn., July 20, 1690 with his twin brother Jonathan, and he was born after the death of his father which was evidently not earlier than the first of that year. This baptismal record fixes the approximate date of Isaac's birth which doubtless occurred at the house of his mother's parents, Richard and Elizabeth Baldwin of Milford. He must have married at about the age of seventeen, judging from the birth of his daughter Rebecca, Oct. 9, 1707. His wife's name is unknown, and he furnishes an excellent example of how an entire generation can have its records wiped out of existence,—though no better place could be found for such an occurrence to take place than in western Long Island where ancestries are pieced together with difficulties only appreciated by those who have attempted the task. The British who camped all over that region were no respecters of tombstones or public documents. Wills were relatively few and often filed with private persons, and church records have been indifferently preserved even up to more recent times. We can infer that Isaac 3rd and his wife were not long-lived, and that they had little or no property to will or deed. We find their daughter Rebecca at the age of eleven living with Richard Alsop of Maspeth Kills, L. I., according to his will of Oct. 11, 1718;—“I leave to Rebecca Nicoll, who now liveth with me, a two year old heifer.” (Note that Elizabeth Baldwin of Milford, grandmother of Rebecca's father, Isaac 3rd, was born Elizabeth Alsop.) Another daughter, Catherine, 1124B, who was born in 1715, according to her age at death, may have been adopted by her uncle Francis, 1121, and may be identical with the “Catherine, dau. of Francis and Sarah Nichols” who, as we have shown was baptized at Jamaica Sept. 18, 1715. The son Humphrey we have seen to have been brought up by his uncle Joseph at Newtown, Long Island, near Jamaica. It is strange that while Isaac's daughter Catherine Dibble named a son “Joseph”, presumably after her uncle, Isaac Nichols' brother, and while many of the descendants of Isaac's son Humphrey repeat the name “Isaac,” yet none of the descendants of Isaac Nichols 3rd were named after his brothers Francis and Richard.

Fortunately, however, for the world, whatever the sad or hopeful experiences through which they had previously passed, they came, and through them the nations have been and are honored.

ANCESTRY OF

ABIGAIL WHEELER

WIFE OF HUMPHREY NICHOLS

HUMPHREY NICHOLS AND HIS BROTHERS AND SISTERS

11241. HUMPHREY NICHOLS, wife ABIGAIL WHEELER. He d. June [3], 1764 at Newark, N. J. Will dated May 28, 1764, probated July 17, 1764. She was dau. of Joseph and Sarah (Crane) Wheeler of Newark, N. J.

CHILDREN: 112411. ROBERT.+ 112412. MOSES.+ 112413. LEWIS.+ 112414. HUMPHREY, d. y. 112415. DAVID, d. y. 112416. ISAAC.+ 11241A. SARAH.+ 11241B. ABIGAIL, d. unm.

HUMPHREY NICHOLS will be found fully noted in the introduction.

11243. LIEUT. WILLIAM NICHOLS, wife SARAH EMBREE, m. Apr. 1, 1728 at Hempstead, L. I. He d. Apr. 9, 1741 at Cartagena, Columbia, South America. She was dau. of Samuel.

CHILDREN: 112431. WILLIAM.+ 112432. SAMUEL.+ 11243A. SARAH.+

LIEUT. WILLIAM NICHOLS, brother of Humphrey Nichols, married in Hempstead and his three children were born there. His son Samuel Nichols and his daughter Sarah Searing continued to reside at Hempstead, but his eldest son, William Nichols Jr., married first a Huntington girl and made this his residence for a time; and after this wife's death William Jr. married a party from Smithtown, L. I., and some of his descendants continued to live there, but his will, made Jan. 4, 1784, proved Feb. 28, 1784, says he was then "of Huntington." Lieut. William's marriage and the baptisms of his children are recorded in St. George's Church, Hempstead. His profession was probably the military career and he was with the forces of the British when on Apr. 9, 1741 he was shot leading a charge at Cartagena, South America; and it is a family tradition that his body was identified by certain moles upon it. August 27, 1740 "William Nicols (sic) of Hempstead, yeoman, and his wife Sarah sold to Peter Smith Junior" (the "Junior" is important as establishing the parentage of his aunt Rebecca's husband, Peter Smith) "of Flushing, yeoman, all and singular the lands and tenements which at the time of executing hereof doth belong to sd William Nicols (sic) scituate in the Township of Hempstead and all goods and chattels belonging to said William Nicols (sic) including Negro man called James and one Negro girl called Tabb, both slaves, together with all houses, barns, stables, orchards, lands, meadows, fences, tenements, edifices &c., being the entire estate, real and personal, of ye said William Nichols" (sic). This conveyance was no doubt in anticipation of his call abroad and fixes approximately the time of his departure on the expedition from which he never returned. March 1, 1743 administration was granted upon his estate to Peter Smith.

1124A. REBECCA NICHOLS, husband PETER SMITH JR., m. Feb. 4, 1732 at Hempstead, L. I. She was b. Oct. 9, 1707; d. Nov. 4, 1788, buried at Hanover, N. J. He was b. 1710; d. Jan. 16, 1771, buried at Hanover, N. J.; son of Peter and Esther Smith.

HEZEKIAH SMITH.+ 1124A4. OBADIAH SMITH.+ 1124AA. SARAH SMITH.+ 1124AB. MARY SMITH.+ 1124A5. PETER SMITH.+ 1124AC. CATHERINE SMITH, b. Feb. 11, 1751; d. Apr. 21, 1754.

REBECCA (NICHOLS) SMITH has marriage to Peter Smith recorded in St. George's Church, Hempstead, as well as baptisms of her sons Uriah and Jacamiah. She died at the home of her son Dr. Peter Smith, at Chatham, N. J., but was buried in Hanover Township. Her gravestone in the Old Whippany, N. J. churchyard reads, "In memory of Rebecca, Wife of Peter Smith who departed this life Novbr. 4th, 1788 Aged 81 Years & 25 Days." Her husband's in the same place reads, "In memory of Peter Smith who Departed this life Janry 18, 1771 in the 61 year of his age." Both are accompanied by poetry. They lived on the road leading from Hanover, N. J., to Florham Park. A very attractive description of their farm in Hanover is to be found in the New Jersey Archives, Vol. 26, p. 416; until a few years ago, it was owned by Carnot and William Meeker. The residence was located about where the Meeker barn now stands. The names of the parents of Peter Smith, Jr. are given in the old deed dated May 8, 1736, which commences as follows: "This indenture made between Peter Smith Sen^r of ye Township of Hempstead in Queen County, yeoman and Esther his wife of ye one part and Peter Smith Jun^r of ye same place, son of ye said Peter Smith Sen^r aforesaid of ye other part witnesseth, that in consideration of ye natural love and affection which he hath and beareth unto his son Peter Smith Jun^r &c. (property bounded on one side by Jakamiah Mitchel and on other by John Smith Rock.)" Among her descendants was the wife of the author of "America."

1124B. CATHERINE NICHOLS, 1st husband NEHEMIAH DIBBLE. She was b. 1715; d. Nov. 1, 1802 at Danbury, Conn. He d. Sept. 23, 1774 at Danbury, son of Wakefield and Jane Fyler. Resided at Danbury, Conn.

CHILDREN: 1124B1. NEHEMIAH DIBBLE, JR.+ 1124B2. DANIEL DIBBLE. 1124B3. JOSEPH DIBBLE, b. Aug. 14, 1749; died at the age of one hundred; unm.

2nd husband THADDEUS BENEDICT, m. Nov. 1, 1787 at Danbury. He was b. Nov. 1, 1728; d. Jan. 20, 1805; m. 1st Feb. 2, 1741 to Abigail Starr, who d. Apr. 6, 1785, dau. of Benjamin Starr; m. 2nd Catherine (Nichols) Dibble. He was son of Thomas and Abigail (Hoyt) Benedict.

CATHERINE ((NICHOLS) DIBBLE) BENEDICT spent her life at Danbury, Conn. The birth of two of her sons and her second marriage are recorded there. Her grave stands in the Old Town or Congregational Cemetery in that city, and the stone reads, "In Memory of Catherine Benedict who died Nov. 1, 1802 in the 87th year of her age." Her last husband's stone is in the same cemetery, a short distance away. Nehemiah Dibble's will, dated Sept. 10, 1774, names his wife Catherine and sons Nehemiah, Daniel and Joseph. (Note the name of her grandson, "William Nichols Dibble" (1124B13) as additional proof of her Nichols ancestry.)

DESCENDANTS OF HUMPHREY NICHOLS AND OF HIS BROTHERS AND SISTERS

First Generation From Humphrey.

112411. CAPT. ROBERT NICHOLS, wife ELIZABETH JOHNSON, m. Nov. 16, 1760 at Newark. He was b. Sept. 6, 1735; d. Nov. 13, 1814 at Newark, N. J. She was b. Apr. 8, 1741; d. Dec. 21, 1813 at Newark, dau. of Samuel and Hannah.

CHILDREN: 1124111. DAVID.+ 1124112. JEDEDIAH JOHNSON.+ 112411A. SARAH.+ 1124113. SAMUEL.+ 1124114. ISAAC.+ 1124115. MOSES.+ 1124116. AARON.+ 112411B. ABIGAIL.+

ROBERT NICHOLS was a Captain of the Second Regiment Essex County Militia, and lived and died in Newark, New Jersey, and his burial on the south side of the First Church burying ground was witnessed by John Camp when a boy and described by him to Nichols descendants now living. The two story, frame, double house in which he lived, remodeled, still stands on the east side of Washington Street between Marshall and Court Street, (see map). He was a farmer, and a house and boat builder (and a maker of coffins, when required, as a branch of his regular business), employing two or three apprentices; and was a man of some prominence, being called upon on many occasions in arbitrations by those relying on his good judgment. He was accorded the distinction of reading the Declaration of Independence, one Fourth of July, and, joining the church in his later years was very active in its support. Capt. Robert was pursued by the British on the run across the Newark meadows and barely escaped with his life. A chapter of the D. A. R. in New York bears his name.

112412. MOSES NICHOLS, of whom little is known. He resided in Newark, and presumably died there. Probably Margaret Nichols who died in Newark Feb. 6, 1807, ae. 53 was his widow. "The widow of Moses Nichols" is several times mentioned in Newark. They had only two children, names unknown, who died in infancy; funeral of one of them held Feb. 10, 1785. The location of the house of "Moses Nichols' widow" is shown on the old map of Newark on the first page of this book.

112413. LEWIS NICHOLS, wife MARY THOMPSON, m. Dec. 24, 1767 at New York. He was b. Sept. 21, 1744; d. May 30, 1791 in New York City. She was b. July 11, 1744 at New York; d. Feb. 10, 1822; dau. of James and Margaret (Ramsay).

CHILDREN: 112413A. MARGARET.+ 1124131. JOHN HUMPHREY, b. Oct. 6, 1770; d. Aug. 13, 1771. 112413B. ABIGAIL, b. Oct. 25, 1772; d. Aug. 17, 1775. 112413C. MARY, Feb. 11, 1774; d. Apr. 6, 1801. 1124132. JOHN, b. Sept. 3, 1775; d. Mar. 7, 1852. 112413D. ANTOINETTE, b. Oct. 20, 1784; d. Apr. 26, 1820, unm. 112413E. SARAH.+ 112413F. HARRIET.+ 112413G. ANN, b. Mar. 28, 1783; d. Apr. 7, 1836, unm. 1124133. LEWIS, b. Nov. 24, 1779; d. Sept. 15, 1805, unm.

LEWIS NICHOLS was a prosperous "cabinet maker" who lived and died in New York City, owning considerable property in the business section of the city. General Hazen in 1790 occupied one of the two houses owned by his wife Mary Nichols, on the west side of Broadway, between Leonard and Franklin Streets. These houses with an adjoining lot, were sold to Contoit in 1808 for $10,000, which was paid in silver, brought on a cart to her house,—and Contoit's Garden was established there. Lieut. William Torrey came to live, in 1790, with General Hazen, under whom he had served in the army and so became acquainted with Margaret Nichols, daughter of Lewis and Mary, who lived next door, and married her in 1793. The births and baptisms of the children of Lewis Nichols are to be found in the records of the First Presbyterian Church. Early in his married life he seems to have made his home at Bottle Hill (now Chatham), New Jersey, for we find in a newspaper of March 23, 1779 notice of his "Public Vendue, the 29th inst by the subscriber at the place where he now lives, near Bottle Hill. A quantity of mahogany furniture such as clothes presses, dining tables, breakfast and tea ditto, chairs, small looking glass, and a new riding chair. Vendue to begin at 10 o'clock in the forenoon. Lewis Nichols." His will made May 9, 1791 was proved June 6, 1791 and that of his wife was dated June 25, 1811 and proved Feb. 26, 1822. Both give their residence as New York and extensive property was left to their children.

112416. ISAAC NICHOLS, 1st wife CORNELIA VAN DEURSEN, m. Jan. 12, 1785 at New York. He was b. [Apr.] 1748; d. Nov. 23, 1835 at Brooklyn, N. Y. She was b. Aug. 28, 1754, dau. of William and Catherine (Gilbert).

CHILDREN: 1124161. ROBERT HUMPHREY, b. Dec. 13, 1785, d. y. 112416A. CORNELIA.+ 112416B. CATHERINE, b. Oct. 2, 1789; d. June 18, 1885, unm. 1124162. ROBERT HUMPHREY.+ 1124163. LEWIS.+

2nd w. ELIZABETH VAN DEURSEN. She was b. Apr. 14, 1784; d. Sept. 15, 1861; niece of first wife and dau. of Abraham and Elizabeth (Phillips).

CHILDREN: 112416C. ANNE.+ 112416D. ELIZABETH, b. Nov. 4, 1810; d. July 24, 1892; m. Joseph L. Brown. No issue. 112416E. SUSAN ALICE.+ 112416F. CAROLINE MATILDA.+ 1124164. MOSES, d. y. 1124165. EDWIN, d. y. 1124166. WILLIAM, d. y.

LIEUT. ISAAC NICHOLS was born in Newark, N. J., and saw considerable service during the Revolutionary War, having entered the America Army as a private in 1775, was in the whole of that wonderful and unfortunate expedition of the Northern Army under General Arnold against Quebec, and was appointed Adjutant of the 4th Regiment, commanded by Colonel Holmes. In 1776 he was a Lieutenant in Col. Nicholson's Regiment, raised at Quebec, was at the siege of Fort Schuyler and the capture of Burgoyne's Army. He was in the actions of September 19th, October 7th, and other skirmishes; and at the Battle of Rhode Island, October 14th, 1778, where he commanded his Company in the absence of his Captain, was twice wounded. He served the town of Brooklyn as Justice of the Peace during a period of about 18 years. At his death his remains were escorted to the tomb by the mayor and civil officers of the City, by four military Companies of Brooklyn, and two from New York, forming the largest funeral which was ever known in Brooklyn and Captain Brower's Infantry Company fired a volley over the grave of the dead veteran.

11241A. SARAH NICHOLS, husband ISAAC CAMP. He d. abt. 1779, administration granted to his wife Oct. 25, 1779; son of William and Phebe; lived at "Canoe Brook," (now Livingston and Northfield), N. J.

CHILDREN: 11241AA. PHEBE CAMP. —1. WILLIAM CAMP. —B. ABIGAIL CAMP. —2. ISAAC CAMP JR.

112431. WILLIAM NICHOLS JR., 1st wife HANNAH BRUSH, m. Feb. 4 or 12, 1754 at Huntington. He was b. Oct. 29, 1731; d. 1784. She was b. Mar. 17, 1734; dau. of Samuel.

CHILDREN: 112431I. ZOPHAR.+ 1124312. SAMUEL.+ 1124313. PLATT, d. in Havana ante. 1820. 1124314. JACOB.+

2nd wife RACHEL SCIDMORE, m. Mar. 23, 1779 at Smithtown, L. I.

WILLIAM NICHOLS JR. seems to have lived and died at or near Huntington, L. I., since his first marriage and his will are dated there. This was the residence of his first wife and probably this accounts for his locating here. In 1778 he signed the "Oath of Allegiance" in Huntington, L. I. Nothing more being known of William Nichols Jr., his will is appended in full.

In the name of God, Amen. I William Nichols of Huntington, Suffolk County being weak in body I give to my wife Rachel the bed and bedding which belonged to her before her marriage and red broadcloth cloke; also a fine Shift which belonged to my former wife. The remainder of my former wife's clothes and some small baby's clothes to be equally divided between my two sons, Zophar and Samuel. Unto my son Platt, the best suit of my own wearing apparel, the remainder of my clothes unto my youngest son Jacob. The rest of my movable estate and my house and farm to be sold and all debts, funeral expenses, etc. to be paid. Any remainder to be equally divided between my said four sons, allowing my eldest son Zophar, five shillings more than the rest. Josiah Rogers and sons Zophar and Samuel executors. Jan. 4, 1786. Proved Feb. 28, 1784. Witnesses: Zebadiah Bunce, Phineas Snell, Tailor, Philander Vaughan.

112432. SAMUEL NICHOLS, wife MRS. FREELOVE (WRIGHT) WOOD, m. July 31, 1768. He was b. Feb. 16, 1733; d. Apr. 8, 1798. She was b. Apr. 22, 1743; d. May 28, 1822; m. 1st Oct. 14, 1759, Samuel Wood, who d. Dec. 14, 1762; m. 2nd Samuel Nichols; she was dau. of Elijah and Anna (Durland) Wright from Oyster Bay and Flushing, L. I.

CHILDREN: 112432A. ANN.+ 112432I. WRIGHT.+ 1124322. WILLIAM.+ 1124323. ELIJAH, b. Dec. 1, 1774; d. Sept. 1776. 1124324. SAMUEL.+ 112432B. SARAH.+ 112432C. FREELove.+ 1124325. GIDEON.+ 1124326. JOHN.+

When Lieut. William Nichols, father of Samuel, went to war it is probable that his wife Sarah Embree and children, William, Samuel and Sarah lived and the latter grew up at the home of her father Samuel Embree in the neighborhood of Hempstead, L. I. The earlier records of Hempstead mention the ear mark of William Nichols' cattle as, "A crop on the ear and two nicks under it which was his father in law's, Samuel Embree, who died June 26, 1729." Samuel Nichols probably continued the life of a farmer, at the same time being an extensive buyer of farm and timber land. Tradition indicates that his home was some four or five miles north of Hempstead, possibly near Jerusalem. Some twenty old deeds of his, now extant, give his residence as follows:—1764-1778 Hempstead, (two of them speak of him as "Innkeeper"); 1778-81, Oyster Bay, (his wife Freelove was brought up near Oyster Bay at the place called Norwich); 1792-95, Flushing; 1795-96, North Hempstead. Samuel Nichols was fond of life and music and played the violin. He was the owner of negro slaves, and it is said that he would sometimes entertain them at the barn with his violin to the amused protest of his wife. The baptisms of Samuel and Freelove Nichols, adults, are recorded at Oyster Bay, Jan. 30, 1775 and their children were baptized there later. His wife is buried in the Old Town Burying ground, now Fulton Park, Hempstead.

11243A. SARAH NICHOLS, husband DR. JAMES SEARING SR., m. Oct. 14, 1761, at Hempstead, L. I. She was b. Feb. or Oct. 22, 1736; d. Sept. 6, 1815. He was b. Jan. 28, 1740 at (—————), L. I.; d. Sept. 29, 1802. Physician, res. at Hempstead, L. I.

CHILDREN: 11243A1. WILLIAM SEARING.+ 11243AA. SARAH SEARING.+ 11243A2. DANIEL SEARING.+ 11243A3. JAMES SEARING JR.+ 11243AB. ANN SEARING.+ 11243AC. FRANCES SEARING.+ 11243AD. ELIZABETH SEARING, d. y.

DR. JAMES SEARING SR. was married at Hempstead by Rev. Samuel Seabury, rector of St. George's Church. He was noted as a surgeon and served as such in the Colonial Army and was at the Siege of Ticonderoga. He left a written account of this which was published by the New York Historical Society. Being possessed of a comfortable fortune, his home was large and palatial for those days. The large domain with the original part of the house was purchased for the Searing family from a brother of the Rt. Rev. Richard Channing Moore, second Bishop of Virginia, who was a relative. Dr. Searing's practice of medicine extended over a large area in all the central portion of Long Island. In those days, a physician was not only the regular practitioner, but was likewise the Surgeon, the Doctor of Dental Surgery and the Chemist. His office in the old homestead was a fully equipped chemist's shop and full supply of drugs would be carried on his rounds of visits. His apothecary scales and his pestle and mortar are in the possession of a descendant. The following obituary was printed in the local paper of 1 October 1802, (Hempstead, L. I. "Inquirer"): "At Hempstead, on Friday last Dr. James Searing, aged 66. Few men left this stage of life more justly regretted. In the line of his profession he was indefatigable, no distinction with him, always attentive to visit the poor or the rich. He was a true friend, kind husband, tender father and a sincere Christian."

1124A1. JACAMIAH SMITH, wife PHEBE. He was b. Sept. 12, 1732; bapt. Jan. 4, 1737, at Hempstead, L. I.; d. Feb. 16, 1799 at Elizabeth, N. J. Residence, Connecticut Farms, N. J.

COL. JACAMIAH SMITH seems to have been a man of prominence in the affairs of that part of New Jersey centering around the old Elizabethtown. He conducted a hotel at "Connecticut Farms, in the borough of Elizabeth, within four miles of the town," according to one of his advertisements in the New York Journal of April 9, 1767, in which advertisement he states that he still carries on his business of axe making. The Journals of that time also show that he interested himself in the public affairs of the country. He was a Colonel in command of Elizabethtown troops. His advertisements also show that he was an extensive breeder of pedigreed horses. The following extract from the New York Gazette of January 20, 1779 will give some insight into his surroundings. "Will be exposed to sale at publick vendue on Wednesday the third of February, the following tracts of land, lying as follows;—One piece containing 28 acres within four miles of Elizabeth town on the road that leads to Morris and Sussex, very convenient for a merchant or tavern, the latter has been kept 20 years; there is a good dwelling,—house, large barn, Smith's shop, two coal houses, chair and corn-house, with other necessary buildings; 120 young apple trees mostly grafted with the best fruit which bears plentiful; one other orchard with fifty trees of natural fruit. Thirty six and one third acres joining the above, with the best collection of fruit. One other tract of land lying within one mile of the above land with an orchard that will produce 30 barrels of cyder in a year, well watered and good mowing land, contains about 50 acres. One other farm lying in the township of Newark at a place called Canoe Brook, ten miles from the town, containing 133 acres on which is a dwellinghouse and barn, and a large orchard where 60 barrels of cyder may be made in a year. There is plenty of timber and water, some very good swamp fit for hemp. Any person having a mind to view the premises before the day of the sale, may call on the subscriber. The sale to begin at ten o'clock. A few axes may be had of the subscriber made of the best Rawley's steel, for country produce.

REV. HEZEKIAH SMITH was a clergyman of some prominence in the earlier history of the Baptist Church. A book entitled "Chaplain Smith and the Baptists, being the Life, Journals, Letters and Addresses of Rev. Hezekiah Smith" (Reuben A. Guild) throws much interesting light on his life and contains many references to his parents and relatives including, as has been already noted, a reference to a visit to "Aunt Kate Dibble at Danbury." He mentions "brother Happy Cook" (1124AA) "brother Jacamiah Smith" (sometimes erroneously spelled Jeremiah in the work), "brother Obadiah, brother Uriah, Sister Mary Ellison and sister Sarah." Appleton's Cyclopedia of American Biography states that he graduated at Princeton in 1762 and soon after was ordained to the ministry at Charleston, S. C. In 1764 he visited New England and preached for some time in Haverhill, Mass. In 1765 a Baptist Church was organized in this place and he became the pastor filling the position for forty years. He performed extensive missionary tours through destitute parts of Maine and New Hampshire. 1776 to 1780 he filled the position of chaplain in the American Army in Gen. Nixon's Brigade, becoming Brigade Chaplain Aug. 18, 1778. The medicine chest which he used through the war, his commission, an invitation to dine with Washington, and his mahogany dining table, clock and silver tankard are, or have been, in possession of his descendants.

Sally Nichols born Oct. 22, 1736.

* Miss Mary A. Hart, No. 1124325BA, a descendant of Humphrey Nichols' brother William, has been most helpful in furnishing me copies of the above papers. They were sent to me by her with the following letter:—

"About the year 1898 I was visiting in Hempstead, L. I., and in company with Rev. Arthur Searing Peck called upon the widow of Dr. Gideon Nichols Searing in that town in search of information regarding our ancestry. Dr. Searing had been much interested in relics and curiosities and records of the past and was great grandson of Lieut. William Nichols, brother of Humphrey Nichols. Mrs. Searing brought out to us a roll of old papers tied with a string and we each made a copy of them. My copy is as follows:—

(Signed) MARY A. HART"

Wm. & Sarah Nichols had 3 children, Wm., Sam'l, & Sarah.
 Wm's. child, Zophar, Sam., Platt & Jacob.
 Sam. Embree & his children, Mary, Hannah, Sarah, Abbey.
 Samuel died a young man.

Sanford, Florida

The above I can certify is a true record made from papers found by me in my grandfather's house (Dr. Gideon Nichols Searing) in a cabinet that was his where he had kept many books, curios and keepsakes. The papers were found and copied by me somewhere about the summer of 1900, while I was a student at St. Stephen's College, Annandale, N. Y. Although my grandfather died in 1878, some years before I was born, yet the handwriting was very distinct and was readily and immediately recognized as that of my grand-father by his widow Mrs. Sarah Searing and by my mother, Mrs. Jonathan Peck, who was his oldest daughter, her mother being Dr. Searing's first wife, Susan Amelia Hewlett.

Arthur Searing Peck.*

1 October, 1917.

* Mr. Peck, who formerly resided at Hempstead, L. I., was the first of those now living to make an extensive genealogy of the Nichols and Searing families of western Long Island. He had unusual facilities for this work, having access to the most valuable records of Dr. Gideon N. Searing and to Church Records, Town Records and private family documents in that region.

His note books are very full and show the most painstaking care. While he has preserved no verbatim copy of the old records, formerly in Dr. Searing's possession, which showed that Isaac Nichols was father of Humphrey Nichols and his brothers and sisters, yet the above copy of the entries in his book as he has arranged them, proves that there was no question in his mind upon this important point, and confirms the other documentary evidence.

With this name "Wheeler" as a basis, a thorough search of the records in the New Jersey Historical Society revealed her full name as Abigail Wheeler and her ancestry. The meaning of the word "two" in this line is not clear. It may refer to the figure "2" before the name of Humphrey Nichols in the preceding paragraph.

*In regard to the spelling of the names marked with an asterisk, Mr. Turney was not sure, owing to the illegibility of the writing, which also accounts for some of the minor errors in spelling which have not been specifically noted. There is also the obvious omission of the name of Isaac, eighth child of Humphrey Nichols.

APPENDIX B

MRS. WISWALL'S EVIDENCE.

Mrs. Mary (Nichols) Wiswall, (born Aug. 23, 1762, died May 3, 1847, granddaughter of Joseph brother of Isaac Nichols 3rd (No. 1124), Humphrey's father) married Judge Peleg Wiswall of Digby, Nova Scotia. Mr. E. E. B. Nichols of Liverpool, Nova Scotia, writing under date February 27, 1888, said of her; "I enclose several excerpts from old letters of Mrs. Wiswall. She was a perfect chronicler and full of revolutionary incidents. I am afraid we did not appreciate the gift as we should have done."

The letters from which the excerpts were taken, together with a large number of other letters and papers of Mrs. Wiswall, are now in possession of Mr. George E. E. Nichols of Halifax, Nova Scotia, son of the above, and he has kindly sent me the original letters from which the following fuller extracts are taken:—

"My grandfather and another brother settled at Newtown—Long Island there he married Elizabeth Wood who had only one sister and no brother—My grandfather lived at Newtown Long Island till my father and his Rev. Brother Uncle James Nichols were both men grown uncle James in college—when my grandfather who had large family sold his property—made purchase of a farm at Stratford—lived there about a year—they then went to Waterbury where lands were cheap—bought a tract of new land where old Mr. Nettleton and his son John lived—moved the family there and there I think my grandfather died. Humphrey Nichols own Cousin to my father who settled at Newark New Jersey was brought up at Long Island with my father he always spoke of him as a brother he was father to Abigail Nichols whom you must remember She lived at my fathers a long time When I was a child—afterwards when I lived with my brother at New York she was there also her brother Isaac Nichols who I was acquainted with." From another letter dated 22 September (1842 added in pencil by her niece some years ago): "  Humphrey Nichols was another cousin, father of Abby Nichols, who settled in Jersey at Newark,  Aunt Kate Dibble at Danbury was a Nichols, sister to Abby Nichols father—own cousin to my father—and also to Nathaniel Nichols at Newtown."

Mr. George E. E. Nichols who sent these letters wrote, "Mary Nichols, daughter of Capt. George and Susanna Nichols of Waterbury, Conn. removed after the revolution to Kingston, N. B., making her home with her eldest sister Ann, wife of Rev. James Scovil, the Rector of that parish. Later she visited Annapolis Royal and about 1800 became the second wife of Hon. Peleg Wiswall of Digby, N. S., Judge of the Supreme Court. She was a woman of unusually strong character, sound intellect, fearless and very hospitable. Mrs. Wiswall carried on a great correspondence for those early days. The younger generation seem to have appealed to her for information more than once—probably because she was about the youngest of her brothers and sisters."

APPENDIX C

DISCUSSION OF ORCUTT'S ERROR

Jersey Genealogy

No. 5341—NICHOLS—Humphrey Nichols was not a son of Samuel and Mary (Bowers) Nichols of Derby, Conn.

To date, the only evidence for the above ancestry is: (1) Orcutt's History of Derby states: "Samuel Nichols married Mary, settled in New Jersey."

(2) Orcutt's History of Stratford states: "Samuel Nichols and wife Mary removed to New Jersey, probably New-ark."

(3) Lyman H. Weeks, in his "Prominent Families of New York," 1897, page 426, seems to have blindly followed Orcutt when he says, of the above Samuel Nichols: "Samuel Nichols, born 1665, married Mary Bowers of Derby in 1682 and afterward settled in New Jersey. He was the father of Humphrey Nichols, who settled in Newark in 1765." None of these authorities gives evidence and all are positively wrong.

Proof: (1) Will of above Samuel Nichols, New Haven, and more than thirty deeds signed by Samuel and Mary Nichols of Derby, Conn., are on file there covering practically the whole range of time from 1682, the date of their marriage, to 1736, the date of her death, and mention no children. Deeds are to John Bowers of Derby, son of his wife's brother, Rev. Nathaniel Bowers of Newark, N. J., and to kinsfolk of his wife and to strangers. His will gives all his personal and real estate to relatives of his wife, Mary Nichols. All the earmarks of death without progeny.

(2) Division of property dated May 26, 1727, signed by Samuel Nichols and Mary Nichols his wife, both of Derby.

(3) Old land records of Derby, Conn., have entry: "Mrs. Mary Nichols died in Derby, June 9, 1736."

(4) Will of Samuel Nichols, dated September 3, 1736 (apparently shortly after his wife's death), says, "I, Samuel Nichols, of Derby, Conn., * * * To my cousin, John Bowers, of Derby, Conn., son of Nathaniel Bowers, late of Newark, in New Jersey, dec'd, all my land and buildings * * * To my cousin, Nicholls Moss, of Derby, son of William * * * all my wearing clothes" (Nicholls Moss was a son of a brother of the Samuel Moss who married Barbara, widow of Nathaniel Bowers, the brother of the testator's wife, Mary—a long way to go to leave his clothes if he had any children of his own). "To my cousin, Mary Tomlinson, wife to Jonah Tomlinson, all the remainder of my moveable estate" (Mary Tomlinson, nee Moss, was daughter of Samuel Moss and Barbara, widow of Nathaniel Bowers, brother of testator's wife, Mary. * * * "My aforesaid cousin, John Bowers, to be sole executor." In the probate of this will an appended receipt from William Moss, father of the above Nicholas Moss says, "His uncle, Samuel Nichols."

APPENDIX D

IDENTIFICATION OF MARY (BALDWIN) NICHOLS

The identification of the wife of Isaac Nichols Jr., No. 112, previously known only as Mary, I reached through a deed in Book A1 of Derby Conn. deeds page 4, dated March 22, 1674, where "Isaac Nichols of Stratford, Junior," sold to Ebenezer Johnson of Bagasset (Derby) a "parcel of meadow formerly given to me by my honored mother in law Elizabeth Fowler." Witnesses John Fowler (Mary Baldwin's half brother) and Daniel Buckingham (Mary Baldwin's half sister's husband.) The only available "Elizabeth Fowler of Milford" proved to be Elizabeth Alsop who married first Sergeant

Richard Baldwin of Milford who died there July 23, 1665. She then, a widow with nine children, married Nov. 1, 1670, Lieut. William Fowler, a widower with ten children,—quite a combined family. One daughter, Mary Baldwin, bt. Nov. 6, 1653 married sometime before 1712 Daniel Comstock of Lyme, Conn., (of course her second marriage after the death of her first husband Isaac Nichols Jr. in 1690.) Daniel Comstock was a widower with two children at least. Milford deeds, vol. 4 p. 260 "Nov. 22, 1911, Daniel Comstock of Lime and Mary Comstock wife of said Daniel Comstock,  being by ye court that made distribution of ye estate left by our hon'd father, Richard Baldwin of sd Milford left out of ye sd distribution &c." Further confirmation of the identity of Mary Baldwin with Mary, wife of Isaac Nichols Jr. is found in Derby deeds, vol. 3, p. 591, "Dec. 8, 1727, Barnabas Baldwin" (sister of Mary) "of Milford to Joseph Nichols" (son of Isaac Jr. and Mary) "of Derby, for love and goodwill toward the said Joseph Nichols as my near kinsman" (Barnabas Baldwin was Joseph Nichols' uncle.)

SUGGESTIVE LINEAGES

It is possible that Humphrey Nichols leased his land in Newark from the widow of his father's third cousin.

APPENDIX E

NICHOLS ANCESTRY IN ENGLAND*

Sergeant Francis Nichols, the great-great-grandfather of Humphrey, was born in England about 1595. He came to Stratford, on its settlement, with Rev. Adam Blakeman and his associates and was accompanied by three sons, John, Isaac and Caleb and a daughter whose Christian name is unknown. He was then a widower. Although there is no known record in England of his first marriage or of the birth there of his children, there is no question but that the children who accompanied him to Stratford were born in England. This is clearly established by contemporaneous Stratford evidence and is accepted by all Stratford historians and Nichols genealogists. He was one of the "original proprietors" of Stratford and at once took a prominent social and military position there. There is no authenticated American record of him prior to his arrival in Stratford, but there is direct evidence in England that he went to America (or was supposed to have gone) in 1634.

Early in the year 1639, the Rev. Adam Blakeman, an influential divine of the Church of England, heading a company of some seventeen families, left Wethersfield, Conn., and located at what is now the town of Stratford. "Most of these seventeen families had been in America for four or five years, and some, if not all, had relinquished comfortable homes." (Orcutt, p. 183). Blakeman and many of his associates arrived in Boston in 1634 and 1635, and it is probable, from the English evidence, that Francis Nichols was in America not later than 1634. This closely coincides with the statement in the manuscript records of Rev. George Huntington Nichols that "Francis Nichols seems to have come to New England landing at Boston 1635 and located temporarily at Watertown, Mass., and afterwards at Wethersfield, Conn., before settling permanently at Stratford." He was a younger son of Francis Nichols of Ampthill, Bedfordshire, England. This Francis was a barrister and a man of standing as he is described in the English records as "of the Middle Temple" and "one of the Squires of the Bath" and as may be inferred from his own marriage and the marriage of his only daughter, Bruce, to Baron Frecheville of Staveley, Derby. He died in Ampthill on the 6th of September, 1622,† and had four sons, William,

*The ancestry of Sergeant Francis Nichols of Stratford is now so well established and has been so well covered in books of reference and genealogies of various branches of the Stratford Nichols family that it seemed unnecessary to encumber this record with any lengthy reference to them. Since the manuscript went to the printer, however, the appended letter, written at the request of the author by Mr. George L. Nichols, eighth in descent from Sergeant Francis, and a well known lawyer of New York, has been received. Mr. Nichols has devoted great time and expense to an exhaustive study of the English ancestry and his letter has so admirably and systematically marshalled all the evidence in this important matter with citation of authorities, and the subject is of so great interest to all of the descendants of Sergeant Francis Nichols, that it has seemed best to incorporate the letter, with Mr. Nichols' permission, as a fitting conclusion to this section of the Appendix. The remaining portion has therefore been rewritten, and condensed into a short summary of the matters of more general interest to the casual reader.

The English Ancestry
Humphrey Nichols

Edward, Francis (Sergeant Francis of Stratford) and Col. Richard (the first English Governor of New York) and a daughter (Bruce above mentioned). The first Nichols ancestor of Francis of Ampthill, of whom there is any authentic record, was his great-grandfather, Robert Nichols, "a citizen of London," who died in 1548. His grandfather was Thomas Nichols, the eldest son of Robert, who died in 1561, and his father was Antony Nichols, the second son of Thomas, the date of whose death is unknown. Judging from the wills of Robert, Thomas and Francis and from what is known of Antony, the family evidently had social position and considerable wealth.[‡]

Francis of Ampthill married Margaret Bruce (mother of Francis of Stratford), who was the daughter of Sir George Bruce of Carnock, a direct lineal descendant of King Robert Bruce the first of Scotland.[†]

Both the Nichols and Bruce ancestries are shown in detail on the foregoing chart.

OCTOBER 29th, 1917.

DEAR MR. TORREY:

I am in receipt of your request to supplement my letter to you of July 18th last by more fully covering the English ancestry of Sergeant Francis Nichols of Stratford. I take it that your request does not imply that I should make any elaborate argument in support of a now accepted fact or that I should give citations of authorities or the details of an investigation which extended over a period of some years, which was made both by myself personally and by expert genealogists employed by me, and which involved the examination of all available records, the sifting of facts and the correction, or harmonizing, of apparently conflicting dates and records (for, as every genealogist knows, dates and records in England during the first half of the Seventeenth Century not infrequently are erroneous and require correction).

I shall, therefore, confine myself to a more or less categorical statement concerning the salient points on which, as stated in my previous letter, is based my opinion that the descent of Sergeant Francis from Francis of Ampthill does not admit of any reasonable genealogical doubt and, I do not hesitate to add, any doubt whatever.

The history of the former in America has bearing on his English ancestry and a brief preliminary reference to that history will not be out of place. Stratford was settled in 1639 (Scribner's History of the United States, Vol. 2, page 31). It was founded by seventeen families who came, under the leadership of Rev. Adam Blakeman, from Wethersfield, Connecticut. Francis Nichols was of this company; that is clearly established by the Stratford records. It is, therefore, presumable that he had previously

[‡]The will of Robert Nichols was proved in London June 20th, 1548 and left "a mansion in London and large landed property" and the will of Thomas Nichols was proved in London January 31st, 1561, and left "real estate in various parishes of London and Tottenhall Court etc. to his sons Robert, Anthony, Richard and John and, besides family legacies, £100. to each of the four hospitals of London and liberal remembrances to other charities." (See the introductory chapter, entitled "The Ancestors of Sergeant Nicholls", of the work on "Sergeant Francis Nicholls and Descendants of His Son Caleb" by Walter Nicholls, former Librarian of the Bridgeport, Connecticut, Public Library and one of the leading genealogists of the Stratford branch of the Nichols family). The will of Francis Nichols (dated September 2nd, 1624) was proved November 10th 1624, and mentions his lands in London and Middlesex, lease of a certain park and the stewardship of the honor of Ampthill and leaves all his property to his wife, Margaret, and Lord Bruce, in trust "for the benefit of his children to be apportioned according to their deserts". This synopsis of the will of Francis of Ampthill is taken from a manuscript Genealogy in the N. Y. Historical Society and it will be noted that the date of the will and the date of the probate thereof as given in the manuscript conflicts with the date of the death of Francis, as given in the Bedfordshire Parish Register. As the accepted date of his death is 1622, it is presumed that error was made in copying the records of the will and its probate.

[†]The crest, coat of arms and motto of the Ampthill Nichols are well known and are described in Crozier's General Armory (William Armstrong Crozier) 1904, a work dealing with American families and their descent, as follows (page 97):

 "Sergt. Francis Nichols, Stratford, Original Proprietor, cast his fortunes with this company and had joined Blakeman either in Wethersfield or in Watertown, Mass., from which place Blakeman had gone to Wethersfield, or in Boston on Blakeman's arrival there in 1635. A careful examination of the authorities, and of the arrivals in Boston in 1634 and 1635 leads me to the conclusion that Francis Nichols came to America in 1634 with Robert Seabrook, Thomas Sherwood and (perhaps) William Judson—also original proprietors of Stratford—who came over in the ship Frances in that year; and this conclusion, so far as the date is concerned, agrees with the will of Sir William Crawford (vide post). This period was at the high tide of what Wilson, in his History of the American People, calls "The Swarming of the English." "During the ten years, 1630 to 1640, a great and ever increasing immigration poured steadily in at the Bay. These were years when there was no Parliament in England, the years during which the Government at home seemed intolerable and the Puritan Colonies in New England most inviting to all Englishmen who took their politics and religion seriously. No fewer than twenty thousand people came within that period to seek homes in New England. In 1634 fourteen ships came in at the Bay in the single month of June and the next summer eleven came in a single day." (Wilson, Vol. 1, p. 138). The immigrants were not confined to one sect but "included Roman Catholics and members of the Church of England as well as Puritans and Protestants." Aside from any political, religious or personal reason, the immigration of Francis and his family, having regard to the prevailing craze and to the fact that he was then a younger son, is not a matter of surprise. I have, however, a theory (I admit a purely speculative one admitting of no proof whatever) that, in view of the absence of any obtainable records in England of his marriage to his first wife, and of the birth of his children thereby, and in view of the biblical names of some of his children, a marriage which was unsatisfactory to his aristocratic parents, probably on religious grounds, afforded a personal reason. He was a military man and a man of birth and the position he at once took in Stratford accorded with his previous training and social standing in England and especially in London where his father and his ancestors for three generations had been land owners and people of position.

When I first commenced putting my genealogy in shape, I accepted without question the descent of Francis of Stratford from Francis of Ampthill; and the descent of the latter from Robert of London (1548) was, I found, a matter of clear, established and unbroken record. As to the former the statements made to me in my youth by the older members of my family were so positive and categorical, they were so fully supported by others who had made a special study of the Stratford Nichols genealogy and with whom I either personally conferred or of whose opinion I was advised by others, and the Ampthill Nichols coat of arms had for so immemorial a period been used by so many different and widely separated descendants of Sergeant Francis that, as I say, I unqualifiedly accepted his descent from Francis of Ampthill. I do not, however, like "nearly" or "supposedly" in genealogies and when, on making my investigations covering Francis of Stratford's descendants, I saw that Orcutt, in his History of Stratford, said (writing of Col. Richard Nichols, the youngest son of Francis of Ampthill) "It has been supposed from the conflicting accounts given of his brother Francis that he was possibly the Francis who after some years of disappearance settled in Stratford" and, in another connection, that "there is no doubt that Sergeant Francis was nearly related to Col. Richard Nichols", I determined to make my assurance doubly sure. Much genealogical water has run under the mill since Orcutt wrote (you have shown that he is by no means infallible) and it was plain sailing on this side. No further investigation was needed other than the examination of the more recent books of reference and the more extended obtaining of the opinions and statements of various descendants of Sergeant Francis. I determined, however, to carry my investigation to England and I was met with an initial difficulty that, for greater surety, led me to cover the entire Nichols grounds. It was soon easy to establish, by the valuable and always legitimate genealogical argument of elimination, that Francis of Stratford could only have been the son of Francis of Ampthill. Any possibility of his being the genealogically well known Francis Nichols of Leicestershire was absolutely disposed of by the "Visitation of Leicestershire" of 1619 and it was equally impossible (speaking from a genealogical standpoint) that he could have been immediately descended from the Islip, Cornwall, Northampton, Glamorganshire or any other branch of the Nichols family of which there are any available public records in England. I say "immediately" descended as it is generally claimed by historians and genealogists that all the Nicholises in England came from one original stock which can be traced back to a remote period (see Note). I have no question whatever but that this claim is well founded but the Ampthill branch of the family cannot be traced farther back than Robert of London. Anything beyond him is in the nature of pure speculation and, not being susceptible of either direct or indirect proof, has no place in a genealogy which lays claim to accuracy. Notwithstanding the result of the process of elimination in England and the remarkably strong evidence in this country, the difficulty above referred to required explanation. This difficulty was the will of Col. Richard Nichols and the inscription, based thereon, on a mural monument in the Ampthill Church and a brief discussion thereof is necessary. By his will, Col. Richard provided that a marble monument to his memory should be erected at Ampthill and mention thereon made of his father and mother, his brother William and his "brothers, Edward and Francis, the former dead at the Hague and the other at Paris during the late Usurpation". He further requested that "if through haste he had omitted gifts to any of his friends, his executors would supply the deficiency." Col. Richard was killed May 28th, 1672, at the Battle of Solbay and his will which was written on the warship on which he was stationed, the "Royal Prince," at Nore, was dated May 1st, 1672, and it was proved the following June. In accordance with the terms of the will, a mural marble monument was erected in the Ampthill Church with an inscription which, after reciting that Col. Richard was the son of Francis and Margaret Bruce and giving a list of his positions and achievements, said "He had for his brothers besides William who died at an early period, Edward and Francis, both of them Captains of Foot, who impatient of the slavish tyranny which at that time oppressed England, preferred exile, if exile it can be called, to follow after a banished King and dying departed for their Heavenly Country, the former at Paris and the latter at the Hague." Note the conflict between the will and the monument, the former stating that Francis died at Paris and the latter that he died at the Hague. The monument, which was erected by Col. Richard's executors at a later date, is of no importance as independent evidence, as the inscription thereon followed (except for the conflict above referred to) the specific instructions of the will. Aside from the direct documentary evidence to the contrary the will, having regard to all the circumstances and to the conditions prevailing in England for many years before it was written, would at the best be unsatisfactory and inconclusive evidence. The "Usurpation" mentioned in the will and the "Exile" mentioned on the monument covered the Cromwellian Protectorate (1644-1660). During all of this period Col. Richard was himself an exile and prior to it he was fighting in the civil wars on the Royalist side. "During the civil war he commanded a troop of horse on the Royalist side and he followed the Stuarts into exile and he served with the Duke of York under Marshall Turenne." (The International Encyclopædia, Vol. XIV, p. 549.) His mother's will shows that she thought her son, Francis, was alive in 1652, and from the language used, that he was in America (see post). The father of Col. Richard died when the latter was very young and in view of what is well known of his military and social career, of his fighting on the Royalist side during the civil war and of his exile with the Stuarts from 1644 to 1660 and in view of the total disappearance from England at an early date without mention, trace or record (other than Richard's own will written at a much later date) of the son of so well known a family as the Nichols of Ampthill, it is not to be wondered at that Col. Richard jumped at conclusions regarding his brother. The circumstances under which his will was made, his reference to any omission caused by "haste" and his allusions to his father who had died some fifty years before the will was made, to his brother William who had died "at an early period" (1625) and to his other brothers, show his desire to give expression to filial and fraternal feelings and preclude, on the face of it, any pretense of family or historical accuracy. Nevertheless, the will and monument, coupled with the complete disappearance of Francis from England without record there of his first marriage or the birth of his children thereby, were responsible for the error (now so thoroughly disproved by subsequent discoveries) of John Gough Nichols, the English genealogist, in his "Genealogist and Topographer" and of the London College of Arms and Heraldry in assuming that Francis died at the Hague (or Paris?) without issue. John Gough Nichols is also in error in his Ampthill dates as can clearly be shown by a careful comparative study of the birth and death dates (definite or approximate) of the various members of the Ampthill family; for instance the date of the birth of Col. Richard is given by him as 1624 or 1625, whereas the Ampthill Parish Register gives the date of his father's burial as September 6th, 1622; and his sister Bruce, who is supposed to have been younger than he, died a married woman in 1629. In making these errors, he undoubtedly relied on the alleged and obscure "Visitation of Bedfordshire" which says that Richard was aged 3 in 1628, and based them on the manifest errors therein contained. As a matter of fact there was no official "Bedfordshire Visitation" in 1628; the only Visitations recorded being in 1566, 1582, 1634 and 1669.

In view of the documentary evidence, the foregoing discussion may have been unnecessary. As, however, the question involved in the monument and the will has never, to my knowledge, been fully covered, it may not be without interest. American genealogists refer to it without extended comment.

Against the wholly, under the circumstances, unsatisfactory and inconclusive evidence of the will we have both authority and record. Walter Nichols, a prominent genealogist of the Nichols family, in his work on "Sergeant Francis Nichols and the Descendants of His Son Caleb" (a work which categorically states the descent of Francis of Stratford from Frances of Ampthill) says: "Of the sons of Francis and Margaret (Bruce) Nichols chroniclers tell us 'Edward and Francis held military office in the Royalist cause and were compelled to flee the country and never returned, and that Edward died at Paris, while Francis went to the Hague, thence to the Continent of North America which was commonly called in England at that period, the Indies.' While erroneous in its inference as to the apparent time and cause of Francis leaving England, the above statement is important as showing, at least in the opinion of the chroniclers, that Francis disappeared from England and never returned and that he went to the Hague (not Paris) and from there to America. In the Prerogative Court of Canterbury, England, was found the will of one, Sir William Crawford, of Beckerings Park, Bedfordshire, dated February 27th, 1634, and probated May 28th, 1636, by which the following legacies are left: 'To Margaret Bruce, wife' (then widow) 'of Francis Nichols, £50 and to Francis Nichols, Esq., now in the Indies, £150.'" The will of Margaret (Bruce) Nichols is dated April 20th, 1631 (the year following the death of Sergeant Francis in Stratford communication being slow in those days) and by it she left all her effects "to the relief of her son Francis now abroad". Abroad in those days meant America or distant foreign countries and not places on the Continent contiguous to England (e. g., the Hague and Paris); just as with us at the present time "going abroad" means in common parlance going to Europe or the East and not to Canada, Mexico, Cuba or even South America and as to the "Indies" it is a matter of common knowledge that for a long term it was the generic term used in England to describe the Western Continent.

I now come to the final and culminating point. Next to official records, and not infrequently exceeding them in importance, are family records and, though unfortunately they are lost, yet we have conclusive evidence of the existence of family records proving the descent from Francis of Ampthill. This evidence consists of the old and extremely valuable letters of Mrs. Wiswall, the originals of which are now in your hands, and of the existence of which I had no knowledge until after my investigations were completed. Mrs. Wiswall, who died at an advanced age in 1847, was a direct descendant of Sergeant Francis. In one letter she writes as follows in reply to an inquiry regarding the Nichols ancestry of Sergeant Francis:

"My father always said that Governor Nichols, Long Island Nichols, Stratford Nichols and Waterbury, Newtown, Newark in New Jersey all came from one original stock" (N. B. This statement is identical with one made to me by my great-aunt, a daughter of Isaac Nichols. G. L. N.) "and he must have known as he had the family records, handed down which he sent home by our cousin James Nichols, son of my father's oldest brother, who lived where he died at Waterbury. Before his death he gave the family papers to my father. His son James (clergyman), the one my father sent them by when he went for orders, about 1773 or 1774, found the property worth several thousands; a distant branch of the family upon it. Commenced a suit as he would not give it up. Had one letter from his lawyer saying no doubt he (could) recover it. But American war came on and he never heard anything more from his lawyer. He thought he had died in time of Rev. War. So the papers were lost. My brother John, took degree about that time intended for the Church. Was expected to have followed and looked further after the property but the War prevented and the family records were lost."

The property above referred to was undoubtedly either (or both) all the personal effects of Margaret Bruce Nichols left by her will to her son Francis or the real estate left by Francis Nichols of Ampthill, or entailed by him or his ancestors, to which the heirs of Francis of Stratford were entitled by reason of his older brother's dying before him without issue. Be this as it may, the categorical and circumstantial written statement of facts by Mrs. Wiswall exceeds the realm of tradition and shows that, for many years prior to 1773 and probably well back in the Seventeenth Century, there were family records in existence showing the descent of Sergeant Francis from Francis of Ampthill which were sufficiently formal and definite and sufficiently backed by legal proof for English counsel to advise that a lawsuit to recover an inheritance could successfully be based thereon. The existence of these records, and the facts they proved, were unquestionably known to the early members of the family and account for the subsequent widespread and accepted tradition. In my judgment, the Wiswall letters are, as I have said, conclusive and, if I had known of their existence before I commenced my investigations, I would have been entirely satisfied to have relied on them alone and would have been saved a great deal of time and labor.

I lay no claim to be an expert genealogist nor, in view of the unfortunate loss of the family records, do I claim that the descent of Francis of Stratford could, at this late day, be proved in a court of law but how few American genealogies coming through a very early immigrant could so prove the connection with the foreign ancestor? As you know, my opinion as to the Ampthill descent was arrived at independently of the Wiswall letters and, even if they had not been discovered, the case would still be complete. Assume that they had not been discovered and that we did not have their categorical statement as to the "handed down" records of descent to offset the statement of the will of Richard Nichols. Even in such case, in view of the known facts regarding Francis while he was in Stratford, of the military and social position he at once took there, of the greatly unsettled conditions, politically and otherwise, in England during the first half of the Seventeenth Century, of the then great difficulty of travel and communication, of the documentary evidence above recited, of the admitted disappearance of Francis and family from England at an early date, of the widely diversified and immemorial tradition, of the long established and wide spread use of the Ampthill Nichols crest and coat of arms by his descendants, of the powerful genealogical argument of elimination, of the opinion of the leading genealogists of the Stratford Nichols as set forth in published works and in less formal genealogies, and of the advice specifically furnished me by experts employed by me whose specific instructions were to make their investigations thorough and to seek only the unvarnished truth, the will of Col. Richard, a will written in haste and evidently in contemplation of death in battle and by a man who for many years was absent from his country and out of touch with his family, and the subsequent errors based on the will, would not present, on the sifting and marshalling of the facts, circumstances and evidence, the slightest difficulty to my mind. As you once very aptly said, a really doubtful pedigree is worse than no pedigree at all and if, speaking, as I said in my letter of July 18th, as a lawyer, I had any doubt reasonable or otherwise that I was descended from Francis of Ampthill I most certainly would not claim the descent or use, as I do, the Ampthill coat of arms and crest. Trusting that this unduly long letter has not transcended the limits and object of your request, I am,

Very truly yours,

NOTE.—One genealogist says: "The name of Nicholas from which Nichols is derived is a very old name in European history and was brought into England about the time of the Norman Conquest, 1066 A. D. Since that time the name has been spelled in a great variety of ways, some of which are Nichols, Nicholls, Nicols, Nicoll, Nichol, Nichol, Nickoles and several other varieties." Another authority (National Cyclopaedia of American Biography, Vol. III, p. 210) says: "The origin of the ancient family of Nichols, written at various periods Nycol, Nicol, Nicoll, Nicolls, Nicholls, Nichal and Nicholl, has been by antiquarians variously and largely treated upon. It is stated that in the time of Edward the Confessor, one Nicholas de Albine, also Nigell or Nicholl, came over from Normandy and was the common ancestor of the Nichols family. In the County of Chester, Robert Fitz Nigell, or Nicholl, flourished soon after the conquest. * * * John Fitz Nicholas held court in 1307 for the manor of Nicholls, in the Hundred of Hinckford, Essex, called in the rolls the Manor of Nicolls, or Fitz Nicolls. John Fitz Nicholl held the same manor from 1327 to 1337." Here follows a reference to the Nicholls of Essex (date not given), William Nichols (1479) of Hardwick, and John Nicoll (1598) of Glamorganshire. This latter authority makes no attempt to give the immediate English ancestry of Sergeant Francis. I might also add incidentally that it repeats the old error in "supposing" that Humphrey Nichols was descended from Sergeant Francis through Samuel. G. L. N.

APPENDIX F

ENDORSEMENT AND CORROBORATION.

Mr. Wm. J. Nichols, Bridgeport, Conn., who has most extensive records of the Nichols families wrote;—"Your discovery of Isaac, son of Isaac Jr., practically settles the matter of Humphrey's parentage. Since the private papers in possession of Mr. Peck show conclusively that Humphrey's father was Isaac, and also Mrs. Wiswell's letter states positively that Humphrey was cousin to her father (George of Waterbury, son of Joseph, son of Isaac Jr.) I have no question that the correct line is,—Francis, Isaac Sr., Isaac Jr., Isaac, Humphrey."

Mr. Walter S. Nichols of Newark, N. J., the authority on those of the name in that vicinity wrote, "Your evidence of the ancestry of Humphrey Nichols is apparently conclusive. It corresponds with the findings of a professional genealogist as a result of a painstaking investigation which he made some fifteen or twenty years ago."

Dr. George Huntington Nichols of Hoosick Falls, N. Y., since deceased, wrote in 1892 (before I began my research) to a descendant of Humphrey Nichols, "I have little doubt that you are a descendant of Francis Nichols" (No. 1121) "who was a great grandson of Francis of Stratford 1639." This was a deduction from his independent research which was very extensive indeed along his individual line, and it was before the discovery of the private Searing papers and of the Isaac 3rd, No. 1124, brother of Francis No. 1121, which would unquestionably have modified his deduction to accord with the later discovered facts. But it is interesting that he had independently made Humphrey a descendant of a son of Isaac Jr. (Dr. Nichols was descended from Richard Nichols No. 1122).

E. HENRY LACOMBE
COUNSEL

July 18th, 1917.

My dear Mr. Torrey:

I herewith return the manuscript of your book on Humphrey Nichols. I have read it with great care and interest and with the exception of a few typographical errors, which I have noted, I find nothing to suggest. It has been a great pleasure to me to have been, as you so kindly say, of any assistance to you and to have had any part, even if only a slight one, in the preparation of a work which will be of the greatest value and interest to any one interested in the genealogy of the Nichols family; a genealogy the importance of which I am afraid that few members of our family appreciate.

Although investigations made both by me personally and under my direction, here and in England, conclusively established, in my judgment, the truth of the accepted family traditions that Humphrey was in the direct line of descent from Sergeant Francis Nichols of Stratford, that the latter was the son of Francis Nichols of Ampthill and brother of Col. Richard Nicoll (Nichols) and that the mother of Francis of Stratford was Margaret Bruce, daughter of Sir George Bruce, of Carnock, I am very glad to see that the results of your independent researches are the same and support in these respects both my investigations, which were made many years ago, and the more recent authorities on the subject. The only point in our genealogy as to which I have ever had the least doubt was the immediate ancestry of Humphrey. There never was the slightest question in my mind as to his descent from Sergeant Francis, but I was never fully satisfied to rely, as I have been doing, on the bare, but generally credited, assertion of Orcutt on which was based the assumption that he was the son of Samuel. All descendants of Humphrey are indebted to you for disposing of this one doubtful point by proving Orcutt's error and for your long and painstaking research which resulted in discovering Humphrey's father and his correct line to Sergeant Francis. I have examined with great care your documentary evidence and have weighed with equal care the arguments and deductions of your book, as amplified in our many conferences, and, speaking as a lawyer, you have, in my opinion, conclusively established Humphrey's line through the three Isaacs. Your discovery of his father, Isaac 3rd, was a genealogical find of the first magnitude. The English Nichols ancestry as set forth in your work is identical with the result of exhaustive researches I long since had made in England by a well known genealogical expert. Your Bruce distaff line is, in its greater fullness and accuracy, an improvement over the one I had.

I am, perhaps, in a better position than most to appreciate the difficulties that you have had to contend with and all the time and labor that have been involved in the preparation of your book, but any one who has any familiarity whatever with the genealogy of our branch of the family cannot fail to appreciate the importance of what you have so successfully accomplished. Your work shows great care and genealogical scholarship, and above all truth, and I personally thank you for it. I also congratulate you most heartily and share in the sense of obligation which all members of the family must feel they are under to you.

Sincerely yours,

Geo. L. Nichols.
