DESCENDANTS OF WILLIAM PRICHARD

It is fitting, perhaps, in the very beginning hereof to state the origin of the name of PRICHARD with the writer's reason for believing the foregoing to be its only proper spelling. Besides the foregoing the same name frequently appears as—PRITCHARD; PRITCHETT; PRITCHET; PRICHETT; and PRICHET.

In a little volume published by W. and R. Chambers, of London and Edinburgh, entitled "CHAMBER'S MISCELLANY" will be found an article dealing with "Names of Persons," which is numbered 106, and from which the following is copied: "Patronymics, or names derived by modification from the father's name, form a very large class of surnames. This, as already observed, was one of the oldest expedients in name-making. The most obvious kind of English patronymic is made by affixing son, as Williamson, Johnson. Others consist of the father's name in the possessive case, the son being suppressed; John Williams was originally John William's (son); William Jones was William John's (son); Harris corresponds to Harrison. The Normans prefixed Fitz (Lat. filius, son), and formed names like Fitz-Alan. This is exactly parallel to the Gaelic Mac (son) in Macadam, M'Alaster. The Welsh form of the word is Map, which shortened into ap, gives ap Griffith, ap Roger, ap Rhys. Where the p is capable of coalescing with the first letter of the name, the a is dropped, and we have Prodger, Price, Pritchard (ap Richard)."

Now why did the author say "Pritchard (ap Richard)", when in the same breath he said "where the p is capable of coalescing with the first letter of the name, the a is dropped"? Surely when we have ap Richard and drop the a we have left simply P-Richard. To insert the "t" is to depart from the origin of the name.

In BURKE'S LANDED GENTRY will be found the lineage of the Prichards of Pwlllywrach, Glamorgan co., Wales. Here the name is correctly spelled. William Prichard may or may not have belonged to that family, the lineage of which is here copied as matters of interest to others of the same name who may not know their pedigree beyond their great-grand-father, and yet who may not find it difficult to persuade themselves that they belong to this ancient family, even though they may have no proof. Believe it if you choose. Who is likely to question it, if you draw the book upon them?

(The following is copied from BURKE'S LANDED GENTRY.)

"Prichard of Pwlllywrach.

Capt. Hubert Cecil Prichard, of Pwlllywrach, co. Glamorgan, Lord of the Manor of Calwinston, and patron of that living, late Capt. East York's Regt., b. 6 Feb. 1865; s. his mother 1898.

LINEAGE.—The ancient family of PRICHARD, formerly of Llanover, now of Pwlllywrach, is lineally descended from Caradoc Vraich Vras, Earl of Herefore and Prince between Wye and Severn. He reigned from A. D. 520-570, and m. Tegau-Eurvron, dau. and sole heir of Belenaur, King of Monmouth. His eldest son,

Cawrdaf ap Caradoc, Prince between Wye and Severn, who left issue, a son,

Gloyw ap Caw, Prince between Wye and Severn, whose son, Hoyw ap Gloyw, Prince between Wye and Severn, governed Fferregs about 640. His son, Cynfarch ap Hoyw, Prince between Wye and Severn, lived about 680, and left issue, a son, Cyndeg ap Cynfarch, Prince between Wye and Severn, whose son, Teithwalch ap Cyndeg, Prince between Wye and Severn, assumed the government of Fferregs and Brecknock. His country was invaded by King Offa, who was repulsed by Prince Teithwalch. Fferregs was also invaded by the Mercian Prince Ethelbald. Teithwalch left issue, a son,

Tegid ap Teithwalch, Prince between Wye and Severn, who lived about 780; his son, Tangwydd ap Tegid, Prince of Brecon, Regulus of Radnor and Builth. In his time Wales suffered greatly by the incursions of Egbert, King of the West Saxons. He left issue, a son, Anarawd ap Tangwydd, Prince of Brecon, Regulus of Radnor and Builth, his son, Gwendydd ap Anarawd, Prince of Brecon, Regulus of Radnor and Builth, was contemporary with Rodri Mawr and his sons (A. D. 860). He left issue, a son, Gwengy ap Gwendydd, Prince of Brecon, who reigned about 890 and 896, and left issue, an elder son, Hydd Hwgan ap Gwengy (Sir Huganus "of John de Cast"), Prince of Brecon. In 914 he was defeated by Ethelfreda, wife (and afterwards widow) of Ethelfred, Earl of Mercia, and his castle of Breconamere taken by storm. The Prince rallied at Derby, but was finally slain by Ethelfreda. He left issue, a son, Dryffyn ap Hwgan, Prince of Brecon; he was one of those "eight tributary princes", known in English history as rowing King Edgar down the river Dee. He m. the Princess Chrisly ap Meyric ap Edwal, and left issue, an eldest son, Maenarch ap Dryffyn, Prince of Brecon, who m. Elinor, dau. of Eineon ap Seliffe, Lord of the Comnod, and had issue,

1. Trahearne, Deputy Steward of Caerlion, 1454, Penrhos Castle and estate descended from him to Sir Roger William of Penrhos Castle. 2. Howel.

The 2nd son,

Howel ap Ievan, Lord of Llanover, of Curt y Porthir (i. e. the court with the long porch), m. Jane, heir of Ievan ap Trahearne ap Meuric ap Gwylim Sais ap Madoc, of Llanover. Howel was bur. in the Abbey of Strata Florida. His son, Jenkyn ap Howel, of Llanover Court, m. the dau. of Gwilym ap David Gwarin, of Lanfoyst. His eldest son, Richard ap Jenkyn, of Llanover Court, m. Anne, dau. of William ap John ap Roger, Lord of Gwemdda, High Sheriff for Brecon in 1554, by Margaret, dau. of Lewis Philip, both of which families were of lineal male descent from the house of Herbert. His eldest son,

WILLIAM ap RICHARD (or PRICHARD), of Llanover Court was buried at Llanover, where his memorial brass is still to be seen over his tomb, with this inscription—"Here lyeth the bodies of William Prichard, of Llanover, Esq., and of Matthew Prichard, of Llanover, Esq., his sonne and heire, lineally descended from the bodye of Cradocke Vraich Vras, Earle of Hereford, and Prince between Wye and Severne". He m. Elizabeth, heiress of Watkin ap Hugh, of Killwch (by his 2nd wife, Margaret, widow of John Griffiths, and dau. of Sir Richard Herbert, of Ewyas, by Margaret, dau. and heir of Sir Mathew Cradoc, of Swansea, Elizabeth was thus of the house of Herbert by both father and mother) and had issue,

1. Matthew.
2. Charles, Vicar of Llanover, 1583.
3. Valentine, High Sheriff of Monmouthshire 1609, J. P. 1620.

1. Anne.

The eldest son,

Matthew Prichard, of Llanover Court, High Sheriff, co. Monmouth, 1596; d. 1622; m. Sissylt, dau. of Edward Lewis, of Vann, co. Glamorgan (High Sheriff 1548, 1555, 1559) by Anne, dau. of Sir William Morgan, of Pencoed Castle, and had issue,

1. William (see St. George and St. Michael, by G. Macdonald) of Llanover, and Goytre Manor, ruined himself by paying the fines of the royalist prisoners, and sold the estate of Llanover. His dau. Maud, was bapt. at Goytre, 22 Nov. 1617. The address to Oliver Cromwell, in 1655, was signed by "William Prichard of Monmouthshire."

2. Jenkin, or John, bapt. 2 April, 1599, was Captain in the army of Charles I. At the destruction of Reglan Castle in 1646, he sent his infant son William to Chorley, in Lancashire, in the care of a collector of excise. His son, Thomas Prichard, m. Miss. Dalrymple, niece of the Earl of Stair, and resided at Hampton Court. Another son, William, was Mayor of Preston 1643, and being ex-Mayor at the time of the Pretender's arrival in Preston, it is said of him that he was as faithful as his ancestors to the Stewart cause. 3 Benjamin.

The 3rd son,

Benjamin Prichard, after the destruction of Reglan Castle, suffered voluntary exile during the Commonwealth; but at the Restoration returned and obtained the estate known as the Manor House of Goytre, within the Llanover Manor. His son William Prichard, of Goytre Manor, b. 1686, sold (about 1730, Goytre Manor, the last and only remaining part of the estate held by the Prichards at Llanover, to Charles Hanbury Williams, and went to reside at "The Hill," Trostre, New Llanover; m. 3. Evelyn Mary, m. Capt. Charles Gilbert Carnegy, I. S. C., eldest surviving son of Gen. Carnegy, C. B."

* * * * *

Tradition says that William Prichard was born in Wales, where he was kidnapped and brought to Virginia, landing at or near Norfolk, when about fourteen years of age, in company with his brother John who was a few years his senior; and that upon their landing in Virginia the boys were apprenticed to Virginia planters by the captain of the ship upon which they had been carried away from their native land.

William Prichard emigrated from Russell County, Virginia, to Greenup County, Kentucky, in the year 1811. The records in the office of the clerk of the county court of Russell County show that, in the year 1800, he purchased a tract of land there which he sold in 1810. In 1805, at the November Court, (Book No. 3, page 469 of the first records of Russell County) the following order was entered: "Ordered that William Pritchett and William James Sen'r be exempted from paying county levies and poor rates on account of their age and bodily infirmities." From this it may be assumed that William Prichard was then about seventy-five years of age. If then there is any truth in the tradition aforesaid he must have landed in Virginia sometime between 1740 and 1750, perhaps about 1744. His wife's name was Dorcus; but whether, before marriage, it was Dorcus Glover or Dorcus Lunsford, there is some difference of opinion in the family at the present time with a little, perhaps, in favor of the name of Lunsford. After the death of her first husband she was married to Solomon White in Greenup County, Kentucky. She died in 1839 at the home of her son, James Prichard, on the waters of Bolt's Fork in what is now Boyd County, Kentucky; and was there buried. The writer is of opinion, that William Prichard lies buried among a clump of locust trees that still stand in the midst of a meadow near the Big Sandy River a short distance below the house in which his son, Lewis Prichard, lived at the time of his death. No one at the present time appears to have any accurate information as to the time or place of his death or burial. It is likely that he remained unmarried until old age because his oldest child was not born until 1796, and some of his children claim Norfolk as his birth-place, but this is doubtless an error. This son's name was James, and he served in the war of 1812, being stationed at Norfolk, Virginia.

Among the records in the office of the clerk of the county court of Norfolk County, Virginia, will be found many deeds made by William Pritchard and Mary, his wife, between the years 1784 and 1814; the latter date, however, being subsequent to the time when the subject of these lines emigrated to Kentucky. The Norfolk County records also disclose a John Pritchard who died sometime between 1784 and 1791; for, in the latter year, it appears that this William Pritchard, as his administrator, and Mayson Pritchard, as his relict, conveyed certain of his land to one Dugald McDugald. From the fact that this William Pritchard outlived the said John Pritchard by some twenty-five or thirty years, it may be that William was the son of John; and from the similarity of names among the children and descendants hereinafter enumerated to those above mentioned, it may be that the John Pritchard mentioned above, was the brother, mentioned in the tradition aforesaid, of the William Prichard whose descendants appear hereafter. A little strength may be added to this presumption from the fact that James Prichard served at Norfolk, Virginia, in the war of 1812, the year succeeding his father's emigration to Kentucky, having perhaps gone to Norfolk to visit his relatives before following his family to Kentucky.

It is claimed by some of the descendants of William Prichard that he served in the Revolutionary War. That may be true, but the writer has been unable to find any authentic evidence of such fact. William H. English, in his history of the "Conquest of the Northwest, and Life of George Rogers Clark," gives the name of William Prichard as a Sergeant in the regiment of Clark in his expedition against the British posts in Indiana and Illinois. However in Crozier, W. A., ed.—Virginia County Records; volume 1 (Spotsylvania County 1721-1800) page 534, the following appears: "William Pritchett, decd., late of Spts. Co., was Sergeant in the Revolutionary War. (May Court, 1835.)" The writer assumes that the Sergeant William Pritchett of Spotsylvania County was none other than the Sergeant William Prichard of George Rogers Clark's regiment, and not the man whose descendants are herein enumerated. In this connection it may be observed that Mr. T. K. Cartmell, in his book entitled "Shenandoah Valley Pioneers and their Descendants.—A History of Frederick County", at page 105 states that "Ensign Reese Pritchard of" Hampshire County, now West Virginia, was an officer in the regiment of George Rogers Clark. His name, however, does not appear in the list of Mr. English which is generally considered the most authentic roster of that regiment ever published. It is therefore likely that Mr. Cartmell has confused Reese Pritchard with William Prichard of Spotsylvania, between whose respective families the writer has discovered no relationship.

The records in the office of the clerk of the county court of Brunswick County, Virginia, reveal the fact that a man bearing the name of William Pritchett emigrated from Dinwiddie County to that county in 1765; and that his will was probated in Brunswick County in 1795, as was also the will of his son, William Pritchett, in the year 1813. The revolutionary war records disclose the names of many Prichards in the New England States as well as in other eastern and central states, but the writer has been unable to trace any relationship between any of them, or of any of the many other Virginia Prichards whose names have appeared in the course of his research, to the subject of this title.

If the tradition related at the beginning hereof should be nothing but a myth; then, of the many war records which the writer has examined, the following may or may not prove to be that of the subject of these pages, viz:

12 Massachusetts Soldiers and Sailors In the War of the Revolution. 774--775.

“PRICHARD, William. Marblehead. Capt. John Selman's (8th) co., Col. John Glover's (21st) regt.; receipt for advance pay, signed by said Prichard and others, dated Cambridge, June 27, 1775; also Private, same co. and regt.; muster roll dated Aug. 1, 1775; enlisted May 30, 1775; service, 2¼ mos; also company return dated Camp at Cambridge, Oct. 9, 1775; company marched to Cambridge June 22, 1775; 'time out' Dec. 31, 1775; also, order for bounty coat or its equivalent in money dated Marblehead, Jan. 3, 1776; also, Private, Capt. Francis Felton's (Marblehead) co.; enlisted Jan. 8, 1776; service to Feb. 29, 1776, 1 mo, 24 days, in defense of sea-coast.”

“PRICHARD, William. Private, brigantine 'Massachusetts', commanded by Capt. Daniel Souther; engaged Aug. 19, 1776; discharged Dec. 21, 1776; service 4 mos, 2 days; reported entitled to 1 share of prize money."

"PRICHARD, William. Conductor; engaged July 30, 1778; discharged Sep't. 23, 1780; service, 26 months; reported employed in (late) Deputy Quartermaster General's Department at Boston."

From the dates above given the three records likely relate to one person, and the first record becomes especially interesting in that it details the service of William Prichard in Col. John Glover's regiment; Dorcus Glover being the name, as claimed by many of her descendants, born before her marriage by the wife of the William Prichard whose descendants appear in the following pages.

So far as known William Prichard left only four children, viz: James, John, Lewis and Elizabeth. It is said that John emigrated to Indiana at an early date, but the writer has been unable to ascertain anything of him or his family there. The families of James and Lewis as hereinafter detailed are almost complete. In some instances, however, as in the case of Elizabeth's family, the descendants either could not or, through indifference, would not give the information necessary.

JAMES PRICHARD, the son of William Prichard, was b. 3 May, 1796, d. 21 Sept. 1877, in Boyd Co., Ky., m. 5 Dec. 1818, to Elizabeth Stewart who was b. 26 July, 1802, in Giles Co., Va., her parents being Absolem Stewart and Tobitha (Clay) Stewart. Mr. Prichard was at one time sheriff of Lawrence Co., Ky., and afterwards, for many years, justice of the peace of both Lawrence and Boyd counties, Ky. He served in the war of 1812. His children were as follows: 1. George W.; 2. William Allen; 3. James; 4. Wylie; 5. Lewis; 6. Martha; 7. John Wesley; 8. Kenaz Farrow; 9. Charles Napoleon; 10. Noah; 11. Jerome T. The families of each appear hereafter in the order above set out.

¹GEORGE W. PRICHARD, son of James Prichard, b. 29 April, 1821; d. 1901; m. 21 Sept. 1843, to Olivia A. Bolt, who was b. 25 July, 1827. They lived at Grayson, Ky., for many years and were highly respected. They had ten children, viz:

²ALLEN PRICHARD BANFIELD, b. 16 June 1850. He never married. After spending a number of years with great success in the general practice of medicine and surgery in Lawrence and Boyd Counties, Ky., he made the eye, ear, nose and throat a specialty; and, in his preparation for this work, took special training in the schools of Europe. In recent years he has made Catlettsburg, Ky., his permanent home; and has gained a far reaching reputation in his special line of practice. Reference is here made to a book entitled The Big Sandy Valley by William Ely, pages 185 to 187, where special mention is made of Dr. A. P. Banfield and the stock from which he sprung. Want of space will not permit a repetition here of the many splendid things there related of this man.

²JOHN MILTON BANFIELD, b. 7 Aug. 1852, d. 1 July, 1853.

Dec. 1836, d. 29 Oct. 1887, m. 29 Aug. 1859 to Amelia C. Stewart. He read law under Mr. Frank Canterberry in Louisa, Ky., and was admitted to the bar in 1858. In 1869 he was elected to the State Senate in Ky., and served four years as such, during which time he was elected Clerk of the Senate. He joined the Baptist Church in 1885 and thereafter lived as a consistent christian. At a meeting of the Boyd County Bar which passed resolutions relative to his death the following is part of what was said: "He was a lawyer by nature as well as education, endowed with rare gifts of advocacy. He could think in form, collate into grammatical sentences the most intricate legal subjects, and dash them off like a flash with the word of mouth, or write them in haste in brief. Among the men in this country there was no keener nor shrewder organizer in politics, no franker partisan. * * * * If there was ever a man that did make a young lawyer feel at ease, it was he. He did by his presence here instill confidence to the timid and embarrassed young attorney." To the foregoing union four children were born, viz:

²CLARA GREENWOOD PRICHARD, b. 5 July, 1861; m. Earl Stockwell, now dec'd.

²ANNIE LEE PRICHARD, b. 29 Jan. 1864; d.

²GERTRUDE PRICHARD, b. 6 April, 1865, m. 25 Mar. 1891, John A. Lair of Goshen, Rockbridge Co., Va. Their children were:

³HALLIE MAY LAIR, b. 21 June, 1893, d. at age of 14 months.

- ³FLORENCE GERTRUDE LAIR, b. 18 Sept. 1895.
³JOHN PRICHARD LAIR, b. 13 April, 1905.
²MINNIE LEE PRICHARD, b. 6 May, 1867, m. 18 Mar. 1885,
 Hugh Marshall Mitchell of Shelocta, Ind. Co., Pa.
 Their children were:
³HUGH KENTON MITCHELL, b. 23 Dec. 1885, m. 21
 April, 1907, to Carolyn Kerr.
³LEONIDAS JAMES MITCHELL, b. 30 April, 1888.
³MINNIE NADEANE MITCHELL, b. 28 Dec. 1891, d. 3
 Oct. 1908.
³MARSHALL CLYDE MITCHELL, b. 25 Nov. 1893, d. 30
 Aug. 1894.
³COLLIS P. HUNTINGTON MITCHELL, b. 14 Aug. 1895.
³LAWRENCE NAPOLEON MITCHELL, b. 8 Aug. 1900.
³PAUL PRICHARD MITCHELL, b. 14 Dec. 1905.
²HALLIE PRICHARD, b. 31 Oct. 1869, d. 6 May 1893.

- ¹NOAH PRICHARD, son of James Prichard, b. 14 Oct.
 1841, d. 19 Mar. 1908, m. 6 Nov. 1862 to Ariminta Reeves who was b. 18 Aug. 1846. To this marriage were born twelve children, as follows:
²MARTHA PRICHARD, b. 24 Dec. 1863.
²EMMA PRICHARD, b. 24 Dec. 1865, d. July, 1885.
²JOHN MILTON PRICHARD, b. 19 Feb. 1868, m. 11 Sept.
 1895, to Ida Lillian Cyrus who was b. 24 Oct. 1863.
 They have never had any children. This man fully exemplifies the pluck and energy so prevalent in the Prichard Family. He began without a cent; worked his way to an education in medicine; took the first location offered at a lumber camp in the mountains of West Virginia; stayed right with his practice, saving his money until he had accumulated more than he cared to keep under his pillow or in his boots at night, and more than he could conveniently carry with him during the day; so he obtained a few days leave of absence, went to Charleston where his relative, Dr. Lewis Prichard, was the President of the Charleston National Bank. Having learned from him the advantages of keeping his money in a good solvent bank, and the system of making deposits and drawing checks he deposited his savings in The Charleston National Bank; and, from that time, he has never been without a substantial balance to his credit. He has now given up the general practice, and has made a specialty of the eye, ear, nose and throat. He has a splendid office at Ashland, Ky., where he enjoys a large practice, is highly respected by all who know him; owns a fine home and lives in comfort, peace and happiness. None deserve more credit, and few have improved their opportunities to a greater extent.

LEWIS PRICHARD, son of William Prichard, b. 12 June, 1800, d. 23 Nov. 1879, m. Lucy Toler, who d. 30 Dec. 1883. The following is the account of the death of Lewis Prichard contained in a newspaper then published in Catlettsburg, Ky., viz:

“DIED: Lewis Prichard, at his home in this county on the 23rd inst., near Round Bottom, at the age of 79 years. He was born in Russell County, Virginia; and emigrated with his parents to Kentucky when 11 years old. He was married in early life to Lucy Toler who survives him—also do 8 children. This another of our old pioneers has passed away. ‘Uncle Lewis’ as he was familiarly called by everybody, leaves behind him as a heritage to his children, an untarnished life. He was a genial friend, a kind neighbor, and a devoted husband and father; and he will be missed by many of the poor who always turned to him for relief and never were refused help. He was the soul of good humor and wit, was fond of regaling his neighbors and friends with a ceaseless number of good jokes and anecdotes. He never saw the dark side of life, but was always cheerful and contented. One noticeable fact in his life is that he never executed his note to any human being. Peace to his ashes. ‘He rests well’ ”

The following is the account of the death of Mrs. Lucy Prichard as published in a newspaper of that date, viz:

“On Sunday morning last, about 9 o’clock, Mrs. Lucy Prichard died at the old family homestead in Boyd Co., near Buchanan Postoffice, at the advanced age of about 82 years. Her death was not unexpected by her devoted children and friends, as her physical powers had become so much exhausted that she had been confined to her bed for about five months.

Mrs. Prichard was the widow of Lewis Prichard, Sr., deceased, and was the mother of twelve children, nine of whom were sons and three daughters. Seven sons, to-wit: William, Joseph, Lewis, of Grayson, James, Robert H. and C. C., of Catlettsburg, and Richard, of Louisa, and two daughters, Mrs. Lucinda Faulkner and Mrs. Sarah Vaughn, survive their mother. Mrs. Prichard had lived upon the farm where she died for about 50 years, and there raised her large family of children whose characters and positions in social and financial circles bear testimony of the careful and faithful training they received from a devoted and loving mother.

No mother was ever more beloved and venerated by her children or held in higher esteem by her neighbors than was Mrs. Prichard. Her work upon earth was well done; it is finished, may she rest peacefully in the world beyond the 'dark river'."

Their first home was on the waters of Rush Creek, in Lawrence County, Kentucky, a short distance from their last and permanent home. At the time of their marriage Mr. Prichard could neither read nor write, but his wife soon taught him these accomplishments. He has related to his son, Lewis, how when a boy he had worked for the persons who then owned the farm on which he last resided; and, how at that time, he longed for such a farm, until his longing became the central point of his ambition which he finally accomplished. This incident is descriptive of a characteristic which he transmitted to his posterity from whom it may be observed to emulate on all occasions. Mention can scarcely be made of a single object upon which a descendant of Lewis Prichard has centered his desire that has failed of accomplishment.

The children of Lewis Prichard, Sr., were twelve in number.

¹CHILD, a son, who died in infancy, unnamed.

¹SARAH PRICHARD, daughter of Lewis Prichard, b. 4 May, 1823, in Lawrence Co., Ky., d. 27 July, 1898, in Richardson Co., Neb., m. 26 Jan. 1846, in Wayne Co., W. Va., to Abraham Vaughan, who died many years ago. Their children were as follows:

²ABRAHAM GIRARD VAUGHAN, b. 1861, in Lawrence Co., O., d. in infancy.

²LAURA LUCINDA VAUGHAN, b. 24 Jan. 1864, in Lawrence Co., O., m. 21 Feb. 1881, to Leander C. Prichard, the son of William Prichard, of whom mention is made hereafter. They have no children.

¹MARY ANN PRICHARD, the third child of Lewis Prichard, was b. 16 May, 1824, in Lawrence Co., Ky., and d. 17 Sept. 1846, in Lawrence Co., Ky. She was never married.

¹WILLIAM PRICHARD, son of Lewis Prichard, b. 9 June, 1827, d. 12 Feb. 1906, m. 15 Mar. 1853, to Caroline Newman who d. 10 Jan. 1881. He was an industrious well to do farmer, and owned the second farm below that of his father on the waters of the Big Sandy River in Boyd Co., Ky. To this marriage the following children were born:

²LEANDER C. PRICHARD, b. 15 Jan. 1854, in Boyd (then Lawrence) Co., Ky., m. 21 Feb. 1881, to Laura Lucinda Vaughan, of Richardson Co., Neb. They have never had any children. They reside at Falls City, Neb. Mr. Prichard is sober, energetic and capable. His wife is a strong minded sensible woman.

²COLUMBUS B. PRICHARD, b. 4 Oct. 1856, d. 27 Nov. 1879, m. 14 Mar. 1878, to Alice Newman of Wayne Co.,

W. Va. Immediately after their marriage they emigrated from Kentucky to Neosho Co., Kan., where Mr. Prichard died, and where their only child was born. He was:

³CLYDE C. PRICHARD, b. 23 Dec. 1878, at Neosho Co., Kan., d. 14 Dec. 1908, at Portsmouth, O., m. 30 Oct. 1904 to Annie L. Staley, at Catlettsburg, Ky. They had one child, viz:

⁴LOIS ALICE PRICHARD, b. 19 Feb. 1906, at Portsmouth, O.

²JAMES PRICHARD, b. 1859, d. 8 Jan. 1881. Unmarried.

²LAURA ANNIE PRICHARD, b. 24 Jan. 1862, in Boyd Co., Ky., d. 8 Jan. 1881, unmarried. The following is the newspaper account of the death of James and Laura Prichard which has been found in an old scrap-book: "On last Saturday James and Laura Prichard, son and daughter of Mr. Wm. Prichard, of this county, died of typhoid fever, aged: James 23, Laura, 19. We regret to say that Mr. Prichard's wife and two more of his children are suffering with this terrible disease, with little hopes for either to recover. This is truly a sad occurrence, and the many friends of the family here extend to them their heartfelt sympathy.

"Later—Mrs. Prichard died last Monday morning and the two children are no better."

²VIRGINIA A. PRICHARD, b. 1 July, 1864, in Boyd Co., Ky., d. 25 Feb. 1894, in Wayne Co., W. Va., m. 23 Oct. 1891, to Hamilton M. Bloss at Huntington, W. Va. On the day she died her only child was born, viz:

³VIRGINIA ALICE BLOSS, b. 25 Feb. 1894, in Wayne Co., W. Va.

²ROBERT L. PRICHARD, b. 4 Aug. 1866, in Boyd Co., Ky., m. 4 April 1890, at Ironton, O., to Belle Lana, who was b. 24 Oct. 1868. To this marriage were born three children, as follows:

³WILLIAM PRICHARD, b. 23 Jan. 1892.

³REBA PRICHARD, b. 20 Nov. 1894.

³DELBERT PRICHARD, b. 4 Nov. 1897.

¹ANDREW JACKSON PRICHARD, son of Lewis Prichard, b. 28 Sept. 1828, d. 6 Feb. 1868, m. 17 April, 1856, to Nancy Jane Burgess who was b. 17 Feb. 1837, and d. 21 Jan. 1878. He was a prosperous farmer; a good neighbor; a handsome man—tall and straight, and weighing about 165 pounds. He built a splendid brick house on his farm in Lawrence (now Boyd) Co., Ky., on the waters of the Big Sandy River, about eight miles above its mouth, and within a short distance from his birth-place, and lived there until his death. He served by election, in the Kentucky Legislature from 1855 to 1857, as a delegate from Lawrence County. His election was not due to any political influence, but was purely a compliment to his merit, and manly bearing toward all his neighbors. His children were:

²GEORGE A. PRICHARD, b. 11 July, 1857, d. 19 Aug. 1857.

²THOMAS JEFFERSON PRICHARD, b. 25 Dec. 1858, d. 5 Oct. 1904, m. 5 Nov. 1889, to Mariamne Fretwell, at Paris, Ky. Before attending a medical college, he studied medicine under the direction of his uncle, Dr. Lewis Prichard, at Grayson, Ky. After finishing his course in the study of medicine, and receiving his diploma, he located in the City of Huntington, W. Va., where he built an immense practice, and became an eminent physician and surgeon. He accumulated considerable wealth; and his death, due to blood poison, occasioned deep regret and sorrow in the City of Huntington, where he was greatly beloved. To the foregoing marriage were born the following children:

³EDWARD FBETWELL PRICHARD, b. 20 May, 1891.

³THOMAS TAYLOR PRICHARD, b. 15 May, 1893.

²EMILY LUCY PRICHARD, b. 23 Feb. 1861, m. 23 Feb. 1881, to Watson L. Andrews. They now reside at Ashland, Ky. Their children are as follows:

³ERNEST BICKMORE ANDREWS, b. 8 Nov. 1883.

³WATSON L. ANDREWS, JR., b. 7 Oct. 1887.

³JACK PRICHARD ANDREWS, b. 14 Jan. 1897.

²JAMES LEWIS PRICHARD, b. 16 May, 1863, d. 25 Nov. 1907, m. 21 Jan. 1895, to Fannie Marr, daughter of Thomas L. Marr, of Catlettsburg, Ky. He was a very successful business man, and resided at Huntington, W. Va., at the time of his death, where he was in charge of a large cold storage house. His children were:

³PAULINE MARR PRICHARD, b. 1 Oct. 1896.

³THOMAS JEFFERSON PRICHARD, b. 26 Feb. 1899.

³FANNIE BELLE PRICHARD, b. 5 May, 1901.

³MATILDA JANE PRICHARD, b. 2 Mar. 1903.

²ALICE LEE PRICHARD, b. 2 Jan. 1866, d. 27 Jan. 1866.

²JENKINS ANNE PRICHARD, b. 15 Feb. 1867, m. 4 Nov. 1891, to George Washington Calvin, who was b. 2 June, 1866. Their children were as follows:

³VINCENT PRICHARD CALVIN, b. 14 Mar. 1896.

³EMILY ELIZABETH CALVIN, b. 15 Feb. 1904.

¹LUCINDA PRICHARD, the daughter of Lewis Prichard, b. 13 Mar. 1834, m. 30 April, 1857 to William Ballard Faulkner, who d. 21 July, 1874. For many years they lived upon a farm near Mt. Savage Furnace in Carter Co., Ky. After the death of her husband Mrs. Faulkner continued to live upon this farm, but she finally sold it after her mother became feeble with age and moved back to the home of her childhood on the waters of the Big Sandy River where she cared for her mother until her death; after which she purchased the interest of her brothers and sister in the home place and continues to live there. She is a woman of remarkable intelligence, and a splendid manager. She had nine children, as follows:

²MARY ELIZABETH FAULKNER, b. 11 Nov. 1859, d. 15 Dec. 1863.

²LUCINDA FAULKNER, b. 23 May, 1860, d. 10 Aug. 1887, m. 12 Feb. 1882 to William Hornbuckle. She had only one child, viz:

³LUEFFIE HORNBUCKLE, b. 3 Dec. 1884, m. 18 Oct. 1903 to Herman Lakin who was b. 4 Nov. 1873. Their children are as follows:

⁴LUCINDA LAKIN, b. 3 Aug. 1904.

⁴HAZEL HENRIETTA LAKIN, b. 12 May, 1906.

⁴CARRIE AMELIA LAKIN, b. 11 Nov. 1907.

²GEORGE B. FAULKNER, b. 1 Oct. 1861, m. 10 Dec. 1900 to Anna Belle Alley, of Boyd Co., Ky., where they reside upon a farm near Catlettsburg. He is a man of intelligence and ability. He has no children.

²SAMANTHA JANE FAULKNER, b. 8 Dec. 1863, d. 12 July, 1887, unmarried.

²ANDREW JACKSON FAULKNER, b. 12 July, 1865, d. 16

Sept. 1906, m. 10 July, 1891 to Cora Bromfield, who now resides in Ashland, Ky. To this union the following children were born:

³EDITH L. FAULKNER, b. 22 Jan. 1894.

³GEORGIA O. FAULKNER, b. 15 May, 1896.

³KARL P. FAULKNER, b. 15 June, 1899.

²LEWIS FAULKNER, b. 19 July, 1868. He has never married. He is a devoted and dutiful son; and has always lived with his mother assisting in the work, and managing her farm, and dealing in live stock. He is a man of good business sense; and has been very active and energetic until prevented of late years by superabundant flesh. He weighs 375 pounds.

²OSCAR FAULKNER, b. 8 May, 1870, d. 30 Sept. 1872.

²EMILY FAULKNER, b. 7 Feb. 1872, m. 18 Oct. 1893 to Hugh M. Smith of Pueblo, Colo., who was b. 28 Nov. 1867. They reside at Pueblo where Mr. Smith is in the employ of the Post-Office Department as a mail carrier. Of their marriage the following children were born, viz:

³JAMES BALLARD SMITH, b. 6 Dec. 1894.

³LUCINDA IRMA SMITH, b. 18 Mar. 1902.

³MABEL FERN SMITH, b. 12 May, 1906.

²WILLIAM BALLARD FAULKNER, b. 10 Dec. 1874. He is a fine specimen of physical manhood, weighing about 225 pounds. He has never married; but has lived with his mother and directed the active work upon her farm along with his brother, Lewis. He is an intelligent, sober and dutiful son, and a good citizen, commanding the respect and admiration of all his neighbors.

¹JOSEPH PRICHARD, son of Lewis Prichard, b. 3 Nov. 1836, in Lawrence Co., Ky., m. 1861 to Caroline Compton, in Wayne Co., W. Va. He was a black-smith by trade, as was also his brother William Prichard. About the close of the civil war he moved from Kentucky to Richardson Co., Neb., where he opened a black-smith shop, and obtained all the work that he could do. He shortly bought and paid for a splendid farm, and is now a well-to-do man. He is sober, upright and respected in his community. He now resides at Falls City, Neb. His children are as follows:

²PERIBBE PRICHARD, b. 14 Aug. 1862, in Lawrence Co., Ky., m. 24 Oct. 1883, to Nathaniel D. Auxier, in Richardson Co., Neb., where they reared their family composed of the following children:

³WALTER TALMAGE AUXIER, b. 31 Oct. 1887.

³EDWARD ELMER AUXIER, b. 15 Oct. 1889.

³MAUD ETHEL AUXIER, b. 25 Mar. 1891, d. 26 Dec. 1893.

³RUTH EDNA AUXIER, b. 16 Aug. 1892, d. 26 Dec. 1893.

²MARY LUCY PRICHARD, b. 6 June, 1864, in Lawrence Co., Ky., m. 13 Feb. 1887, to Edward Everett Auxier, in Richardson Co., Neb., where their children were born as follows:

³MABELLE AUXIER, b. 12 Dec. 1887.

³HOMER JOSEPH AUXIER, b. 24 Feb. 1891.

³GRACE AUXIER, b. 30 April, 1892.

³ETHEL EMERT AUXIER, b. 19 Jan. 1896.

³EDWARD JENNINGS AUXIER, b. 10 Jan. 1899.

³CLOYD RAYMOND AUXIER, b. 8 July, 1900.

²OLIVER BUCHANAN PRICHARD, b. 11 June, 1866, in Richardson Co., Neb., where he m. 16 Mar. 1893, to Mary E. Culley, of the same county. They never had any children.

²CORA LUTICIA PRICHARD, b. 20 Mar. 1868, in Richardson Co., Neb., m. 19 Jan. 1896, to Clinton Hiram Simpson. They reside at Hiawatha, Kan., and have two children, viz:

³IRL DEAN SIMPSON, b. 8 April, 1900.

³OLIVER CLINTON SIMPSON, b. 9 June, 1905.

²HUBERT JOSEPH PRICHARD, b. 27 June, 1871, in Richardson Co., Neb., m. 15 Nov. 1893, to Ada E. Kimmel, of the same county, where their children were born, as follows:

³ALBERTA PRICHARD, b. 20 Aug. 1894.

³WILBUR JOSEPH PRICHARD, b. 4 Feb. 1898.

²JACOB PRICHARD, b. Nov. 1873, in Richardson Co., Neb. where he d. 27 Sept. 1878.

²GEORGE W. PRICHARD, b. 29 April, 1876, in Richardson Co., Neb., m. 29 Dec. 1897, to Pink Bloomer, of the same county, who d. 17 Feb. 1909, in said Richardson County where their children were born. He then m. 18 Oct. 1910, Otie Fisher, of Falls City, Neb. His children are—

³HARRY HUBERT PRICHARD, b. 26 Jan. 1899.

³GUY JENNINGS PRICHARD, b. 7 July, 1901.

¹LEWIS PRICHARD, the son of Lewis Prichard and the grand-son of William Prichard, was born January 19, 1839, upon the farm now owned and occupied by his sister, Mrs. Lucinda Faulkner, on the waters of the Big Sandy River, near Kavanuagh Chapel, about twelve miles above Catlettsburg, in what was then Lawrence (now Boyd) County, Kentucky. He was one of twelve children, and did general work upon the farm until he reached the age of manhood. His father chose for him the trade of shoe-maker, and he labored as such for a time. The need of education impressed itself upon him at any early date, and he availed himself to the fullest extent of the three months in the year during which the country school was taught. Afterwards he taught the same school for one term of three months which he has since declared to be the longest he ever spent. He began very early to deal in timber; buying the standing trees at a very small price, and conveying the logs to the river where he sold them at considerable profit; thus earning sufficient money to enable him to attend the public school at Catlettsburg for a short time. In 1858 he studied under Professor Benjamin H. Thaxton at Marshall Academy, now Marshall College, in Huntington, West Virginia. The civil war paralyzed business in north-eastern Kentucky, checked commerce, and prevented travel. At the beginning of the war there were large quantities of fallen timber along the head waters of the Big Sandy River which were carried away by the high water, the owners of the timber being afraid to follow and reclaim their property during the period of the war for the reason that the entire country along the headwaters of the Big Sandy River during that time was beset with thieves and cut-throats. Much of this timber was caught and held by Lewis Prichard upon his father's farm; and, as no one came to claim it, he rafted and floated it down the Big Sandy and the Ohio to Cincinnati where he sold it and, in this way, saved something more than a thousand dollars. With this he was enabled to obtain some further education. He then entered school at Decatur, Ohio, where he remained only a short time owing to the sectional feeling that existed there during the progress of the war. He next entered a school taught by Professor Louse, at South Salem, O. After remaining there a short time he entered a school taught by Professor Holbrook at Lebanon, O., and was there when President Lincoln was assassinated. This act occasioned an outbreak of sectional feeling at Lebanon, which led him to retrace his steps homeward again. In the year 1865 he entered upon the study of medicine at the University of Michigan, where he remained for two years, finished his course, and was graduated with honors. Of his timber money he then had left only enough to pay his fare to Cincinnati. There he met Mr. James Bartram who was greatly pleased to advance him twenty dollars, and he soon reached his home again where his father, in appreciation of his pluck, presented him with a claim for five hundred dollars against Mr. John D. Mimms of Catlettsburg, Kentucky, which was paid forthwith. This was all he ever received from his parents' estate except the sum of eight hundred dollars which he obtained for his interest in his father's farm after the death of his parents, and after the real need of it had passed away. In the Spring or early Summer of 1867

he began the practice of medicine in Grayson, Carter County, Kentucky, having become associated with Dr. William D. Jones who was then the leading physician in that county. Not long afterwards Dr. Jones retired from active practice leaving his young associate alone in the midst of a large and growing practice. He proved himself equal to the occasion and, by the most untiring devotion to duty, steadily arose in his profession until he was acknowledged by all to be the leading physician and surgeon in northeastern Kentucky. On January 7th, 1868, he was married by the Rev. John T. Johnson of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, to Sarah Belle Mead, the fourth child of Henry Armstead Mead, at the latter's home, just opposite Iron-ton, Ohio, and about half a mile below the village of Russell, in Greenup County, Kentucky. Twenty-eight dollars was the sum of all his wealth on his wedding day and, of this, he gave fifteen dollars to the preacher. In the course of the six months following their marriage her father gave Mrs. Prichard various sums of money aggregating $1250.00 all of which she turned over to her husband. During the first few months of their marriage they boarded at the home of Mr. Elias P. Davis, a highly respected citizen of Grayson. About two months after his marriage Dr. Prichard purchased a small cottage on the out-skirts of Grayson, surrounded by some ten or fifteen acres of land, at a cost of $1100.00. On this miniature farm they lived until after all their children were born. Here Dr. Prichard planted a splendid apple and peach orchard and cultivated the balance of his land at such times as he was not attending the sick, while his wife did all her own house work including the washing, mending, cooking and care of her children. By economy and industry their property steadily increased, and Dr. Prichard dealt considerably in real estate besides having a small drug store in one corner of which he conducted a small banking business which he disposed of in the latter part of the year 1875 when he went to New York for a post-graduate course in surgery. The following newspaper clipping of that date appears in an old scrap book kept by Mrs. Prichard: "Dr. L. Prichard has sold out his stock in the Grayson Banking Company and has ceased to be president of that institution. James Osenton is now president. The stockholders are now James Osenton, C. C. Magann, Merritt Magann and E. B. Wilhoit. Dr. Prichard is going to the city of New York to attend the lectures on surgery." In 1884 Dr. Prichard became one of the charter members of The Charleston National Bank which was promoted by his brother-in-law, Mr. Charles P. Mead who became its president during the second year of its organization when it had a capital stock of $50,000.00. In 1888 Mr. Mead died and Dr. Prichard succeeded him as president of the bank, its capital stock being then $75,000.00. Under Dr. Prichard's progressive management the bank has steadily grown until in the year 1912 it has a capital stock of $500,000.00, a surplus of $500,000.00 and undivided profits amounting to perhaps $100,000.00. This stands as a fitting testimony of his business ability. He owns almost half of its capital stock, besides large blocks of stock in some fifteen other banking institutions, and some 20,000 acres of coal lands in West Virginia, besides considerable other property. Among the descendants of William Prichard, Dr. Lewis Prichard easily commands the highest rank in the world of business. His wife joined him in Charleston, West Virginia, in the fall of 1889. Since that time his home has been continuously in Charleston where he holds a place among its very best citizens, being honored and respected by all who know him. He has three sons—

²HENRY LEWIS PRICHARD, b. 25 Dec. 1868, m. 16 Oct. 1895, to Emma Elizabeth Walker, at the First Presbyterian Church, Charleston, W. Va., by Rev. John C. Barr. She was b. 6 Aug. 1871, and is the daughter of the late Henry S. Walker who was, perhaps, the greatest political orator that West Virginia ever had. Mr. Prichard was graduated at the University of Notre Dame, Ind., in June, 1890, in the sciences. Since that time he has been connected with The Charleston National Bank of which his father is president, he being its cashier for the past ten or twelve years, and having by his care and watchfulness contributed largely to the growth of the bank. He has two sons—

³HENRY LEWIS PRICHARD, b. 9 Sept. 1903, at 8 o'clock p. m., eastern time, at Charleston, W. Va.

³FREDERICK WALKER PRICHARD, b. 26 Dec. 1906, at 9 o'clock p. m., eastern time, at Charleston, W. Va.

²FREDERICK CHARLES PRICHARD, b. 1 Mar. 1871; m. 24 Oct. 1894, to Alice Clare Wilson at the residence of the bride's father, Hardy Wilson, at La Porte, Ind., by the Rev. E. B. Newcomb. She was b. 31 Aug. 1873. They never had any children.

He studied for a number of years at the University Notre Dame, Ind. He now lives in the City of Huntington, W. Va., where on February 14, 1912, the following was published concerning him in a newspaper of that place: "The name of Fred C. Prichard rightly belongs to any 'Who's Who' estimate of the citizenship of this city. True, he has only lived here something like two years, and was before coming a comparative stranger to our people, but it took much less than two years to show the discerning that Mr. Prichard belonged to that forceful, aggressive class of men who build cities and help to make any community in which they live worth while. Mr. Prichard was born in Grayson, Carter County, Kentucky, forty years ago, and is of the sturdiest Welsh stock which has settled in this part of the United States. His experiences have been of a varied character, and they all tend to develop the well rounded, self reliant, successful man that he is. He never knew what idleness was from his earliest boyhood and he does not know what it is now; but he does know all about work with his hands and brain. His early experiences included the farm, the tobacco warehouse, and similar occupations, but his education was not neglected in the meantime, and he was just as earnest and assiduous in his studies as in all things else. He passed four years at the University of Notre Dame, at South Bend, Indiana, where his studies included a complete course of civil engineering. He went to Charleston after his university course, and in and about that city worked for eight years, being employed variously in a bank, a wholesale grocery, and in the conduct of a retail business. In 1899 he went to Fayette county and took the position of first superintendent of the White Oak Fuel Company. He subsequently became interested in other mines and in the ownership of mining properties, and it is needless to say that he made a success of all these enterprises. Shortly after going to Fayette County he became associated with Mr. Houghton A. Robson, in his business enterprises and that association continues. In February, 1909, he and Mr. Robson bought the lot upon which the Robson-Prichard building now stands, and shortly thereafter Mr. Prichard took up his permanent abode in this city. In the fall of 1909 work on the ten story building began, and while the building was under the supervision of competent architects, Mr. Prichard was himself the most competent person in that supervision, and saw to it that the most conspicuous structure yet erected in the city was built strictly according to plans and specifications. In addition to the ground upon which this building is erected, Mr. Prichard and his associate own a frontage on either side of Ninth Street, aggregating two hundred and seventy and one-half feet, a portion of which is improved property, and all of which in the near future will be built upon. They are interested as half owners in a sixty foot frontage on Seventh Avenue, facing what will be the new station grounds, and own several other pieces of valuable real estate in the city, as well. It was a good day, in fact one of the best days for this city, when Fred Prichard's trained eye looked up and down its streets and avenues, and realized that here was the place to pitch his tent for life. Within the year last past, he has organized the Huntington Banking & Trust Company, with a capital of three hundred thousand dollars, the active management of which is in his hands. This institution has grown steadily from its first day of business, the twenty-second day of last May, and now has more than a half million dollars of assets. Mr. Prichard married Miss Alice Clare Wilson, of Laporte, Indiana, seventeen years ago, and is a thoroughly domestic man in his habits, being always at home when he is not at work. The foregoing facts indicate why Mr. Prichard must be reckoned among the 'Who's Who' folk; and in view of the fact that he has unshaken and unshakable faith in the city of his home and has now reached the point of ripened experience, and trained, undiminished energy, what he has done for the city may be regarded as only a promise of what he will do hereafter towards its growth and development. In manner, Mr. Prichard, while prompt and decisive, is always quiet and unassuming, as men of force and high capacity most often are, and as men know him better, their admiration will not be confined to his business talents and energy, but they will learn to esteem him for many fine and gentle qualities which he possesses, and which association and knowledge will discover to them. Twenty years from now Fred C. Prichard will have surely established his place as one of the city of Huntington's greatest builders and developers. He is already that, but his good works will only cease to grow when he ceases to live."

²(ARMSTEAD) MEAD PRICHARD, b. 9 Sept. 1875, at 7 o'clock p. m. (standard time), at Grayson, Carter Co., Ky., m. 7 Jan. 1902, to Lydia Bahlmann Robson, at the residence of her uncle, Houghton A. Robson, at Charleston, W. Va., by the Rev. R. E. Vinson, of the First Presbyterian Church of that city. She was b. 1 Nov. 1880, in Fayette Co., W. Va., and d. 19 June, 1910, at Charleston. Mr. Prichard then m. 10 Oct. 1911, Betty Douglass Robson, at the home of her parents in Culpepper Co., Va.; the ceremony being performed by the Rev. Charles Clemens. Mr. Prichard was christened and baptised simply as Mead Prichard, the further name of Armstead being added many years thereafter. He studied at the University of Notre Dame, Ind., from Sept. 1889, until Feb. 1896. He then began to read law at his home in Charleston, W. Va. He studied law at the University of West Virginia from Sept. 1896 until June, 1897, and was awarded the degree of Bachelor of Arts in Law by that University. He was admitted to practice law in the Circuit Court of Kanawha County, W. Va., June 21, 1897, and continued such practice until Aug. 1910, when he entered The Charleston National Bank as Assistant Cashier. Two children were born of his first marriage—

³BELLE MEAD PRICHARD, b. 15 Aug. 1905, at 9:20 o'clock, a. m. (eastern time), at the residence of Dr. L. Prichard, in Charleston, W. Va. She was baptized 26 June, 1910, at the First Presbyterian Church, Charleston, W. Va., by Rev. Ernest Thompson, its pastor.

³LYDIA ROBSON PRICHARD, b. 4 Jan. 1908, at 5 o'clock a. m. (eastern time) at her father's cottage, Charleston, W. Va. On the evening of May 26th, 1910, although both she and her sister were just recovering from measles, their parents took them out in the night air and showed them Halley's Comet which was plainly visible in the west, its tail stretching far back across the sky.

¹JAMES PRICHARD, son of Lewis Prichard, b. 16 Oct. 1841; d. 3 Dec. 1910; m. 10 Aug. 1870, to Henrietta Smith, at the residence of the bride's father, Lindsey Smith, at Round Bottom, Wayne Co., W. Va. They never had any children of their own, but assisted in raising several of their relatives' children. Round Bottom is now called "Prichard" in honor of this man who lived there from shortly after the close of the civil war until his death, conducting a small country store, trading in land and live stock, and amassing considerable wealth. He was a man without education such as is acquired in the school room, but he had large experience in the school of business, and was a man of many parts.

¹ROBERT H. PRICHARD, son of Lewis Prichard, b. 28 Feb. 1844, d. 17 June, 1899, m. 16 Jan. 1873, to Mary Elizabeth Campbell, at the residence of the bride's uncle, Mr. H. A. Mead, in Greenup Co., Ky. He was a man of good sense and judgment. He lived in Catlettsburg, Ky., and was at one time a large timber dealer. He owned and occupied the house erected and occupied by John D. Mimms as a residence, and which is now owned and occupied by George Clay. No man in Catlettsburg stood higher in the estimation of his neighbors than did Robert H. Prichard. Toward the end of his life the accumulation of superabundant flesh unfitted him for business; and his affairs, under the direction of his subordinates, went to pieces. His children were:

²COLBERT CECIL PRICHARD, b. 10 Nov. 1873, d. 19 Feb. 1875.

²MARY A. PRICHARD, b. 19 Nov. 1875, d. 19 Nov. 1875.

²LUCY PRICHARD, b. 26 Oct. 1876. She was graduated at Vassar College in June, 1899, and has taught ever since, being Principle of the High School at Huntington, W. Va., at this time. She is a woman of splendid sense and education, and has the faculty of commanding the respect and admiration of her pupils.

²KARL C. PRICHARD, b. 23 Jan. 1879, m. 2 June, 1908, to Elizabeth Anna Morrison, at the residence of the bride's father, Charles A. Morrison, at Easton, Pa. In 1902 he was awarded the degree of Ph. B. by Lafayette College, at Easton, Pa. In 1906 he was graduated in medicine at the Jefferson Medical College, Philadelphia, Pa. He spent one year (1906-1907) in hospital work at Easton Hospital, Easton, Pa.; and since that time he has been engaged in the practice of medicine at Huntington, W. Va. He is sober, attentive to business and capable, and is measuring up well to expectations.

¹COLUMBUS PRICHARD, son of Lewis Prichard, b. 16 Sept. 1846, m. 15 Dec. 1871, to Virginia Caroline Burgess who was b. 12 Mar. 1847 and d. 5 July, 1902. Until recently he conducted and owned a large wholesale grocery store in Catlettsburg, Ky., where he accumulated a great deal of wealth. He now lives in Ashland, Ky. His children were:

²TAYLOR BASCOM PRICHARD, b. 6 May, 1873, d. 15 Dec. 1874.

²CHARLES HAMPTON PRICHARD, b. 25 Jan. 1876, m. 24 Oct. 1900, to Ceres Kenner of Catlettsburg, Ky., who was b. 22 Aug. 1881.

¹RICHARD J. PRICHARD, b. 11 April, 1850, d. 21 Aug. 1903, m. 30 Jan. 1878 to Victoria Vinson, of Louisa, Ky., who was b. 28 June, 1860. He was engaged in the mercantile business at Louisa, Ky., for many years previous to his death; and occupied a high position as a mason and Knight Templar. His children were:

²LUCIE VINSON PRICHARD, b. 13 Jan. 1879, d. 20 Jan. 1902, m. to Edgar Brown Hager, of Ashland, Ky., who was b. 6 Dec. 1868. Their children were:
