Preface

"Oh that mine adversary had written a book" quoth the afflicted Job; and let him tackle the Rice family chronology, say I, and Nemesis has him by the scruff. ¶ There are too many Rices and few of them are wildly enthusiastic upon the question of their origin. When Mary A. Livermore, that Queen of the American Platform, was nearing her eightieth year, she wrote me that 'the question of where she was going to she thought upon by day and by night.' Now I had early formed the bad habit of sleeping at night, after I had said my "Now I lay me," and even by day I seldom worried over the question of a tropical futurity. ¶ That great and good woman has long since departed and I do not know the result of her nocturnal introspection. If she could read this history of her Ancestors she would learn whence she came, but I hope she has ere this, met the good Deacon, and knows all about it without having incurred insomnia. It must be told, however that there was once a question as to the Deacon's whereabouts after "life's fitful fever." It was in this wise. Upon the return of one of Deacon Rice's grandson's to the patrimonial fields and ancestral acres he viewed his grandfather's grave and sadly remarked to the old sexton, "Well, John, the old Deacon has joined the great majority." "Oh, Sir," replied the enlightened sexton, "I wouldn't just like to say so Sir, the Deacon he was always considered a very fair sort of a man Sir." And so he was, and I have endeavored to give his history faithfully and impartially, not being deterred for a moment by the apathy encountered when seeking information from some of the wisest & best informed of the Deacon's posterity. At first it seemed a futile and frenetic search, likely to be "a great cry for little wool," as the Devil said when he tried to shear the pig. However it soon transpired that these antipathetic and recusant relatives were only sporadic cases & kindly "first aid to the genealogist" was furnished, until we are in possession of many facts in regard to the family history that were quite unknown when the "chronology" was written in 1856.

I have only planned to preserve in this little book the main facts regarding the Deacon, his children & grand-children, with their dates and records. & Almost any one of the present generation will be able to connect by tracing backwards, for surely any of us can tell who were our great-grand parents. There is an immense and ever increasing number of german Rice families in the U. S., & more are on the way. I am informed, in a hectic letter from an aspiring german Rice, that there is "one entire Township of Rices, in Switzerland." May the Lord preserve them, in Switzerland. Among the descendants of Deacon Edmund Rice I have found almost every famous New England name. & The families of many of our Methodist & Episcopal Bishops, of poets, authors, statesman, clergymen, inventors, financiers, actors, musicians and politicians are descended from Deacon Edmund or some of his family.

Directly descended from Deacon Edmund Rice, amongst many others, are found the well known families of: Adams, Allen, Abbott, Alvord, Arnold, Alden, Ainsworth, Brigham, Brewer, Ball, Burke, Brintwell, Barber, Bouker, Barton, Baker, Bannister, Belcher, Bigelow, Bachellor, Boyd, Bacon, Bartlett, Bancroft, Brooks, Baxter, Buckminster, Barnum, Briggs, Bowman, Barrows, Bugbee, Butterfield, Bascom, Babcock, Bradford, Bryant, Bagley, Baldwin, Boynton, Barnard, Bullard, Cutler, Carpenter, Coolidge, Curtis, Clifford, Chapin, Clarke, Cotton, Cook, Childs, Coffin, Cheney, Chandler, Crawford, Chase, Cushing, Cooper, Crosby, Dudley, Dole, Dwight, Dennison, Dana, DeGraff, Dickerson, Day, Dodge, Denio, Draper, Eames, Eaton, Erskine, Emerson, Edwards, Endicott, Fairbank, Fletcher, Fiske, Fay, Force, Froeman, Foster, Francis, Fuller, Fales, Farnsworth, Farrar, Field, Gary, Goodenow, Goddard, Gates, Goodale, Greenwood, Goldthwaite, Garfield, Gilman, Gray, Gerry, Grosvenor, Gordan, Hubbrd, Howard, Holbrook, Haven, Howe, Hamilton, Hoffman, Hart, Hale, Hoyt, Huntington, Holland, Hosmer, Hall, Hodges, Jackson, Jennings, Johnson, Kendall, Knight, Knapp, Kellogg, King, Kinsman, Kemp, Kingsbury, Lowell, Leland, Lamb, Livermore, Looker, Laurence, Luther, Lucas, Longfellow, Lee, LeCaine, Lewis, Morse, Moore, Maynard, Munroe, Miles, May, Manning, Manchester, Mann, Merrick, Marsh, Mead, Morrill, Morton, McClure, Mason, Newton, Newhall, Niles, Oakes, Osgood, Orcutt, Olmstead, Parmenter, Pratt, Parker, Paine, Peck, Putnam, Pierce, Philipps, Prentice, Perry, Proctor, Prince, Peabody, Phelps, Pulsifer, Perkins, Phipps, Potter, Randall, Raymond, Reed, Ranny, Ross, Russell, Stone, Swift, Spoford, Snow, Sturtevant, Sherman, Symms, Shaw, Simpson, Sprague, Spencer, Stiles, Stillman, Toombs, Taylor, Trowbridge, Train, Tarbell, Tillotson, Trask, Torrey, Upham, Valentine, Welles, Wells, Ward, Wheelock, White, Wheeler, Willard, Whitney, Walker, Wilder, Warren, Whipple, Woolson, Willis, Whitcomb, Warner, Wright, Weed, Webber, Williams, Wadsworth, Washburn, Winchester, Waite, Woodward, Young. 🌿 🌿 🌿 🌿

All these can be definitely traced and for any one who can produce a grandfather "By the name of Rice," I will gladly supply the data that will complete the ascent to the Deacon, if he be of the Deacon's blood.

The Founders of the Rice Family.

N illuminated pedigree of the family of Rice in the possession of Lord Dynevor, drawn and attested in the year 1600 by Ralph Brooke, York Herald, and continued by different hands to the present time, makes Sir Rhys Ap-Thomas Fitz-Urian, K. G., to be eighteenth in paternal descent from Vryan Reged, Lord of Kidwelly, Carunllon & Yskenen, in South Wales and Margaret La-Faye, his wife, daughter of Gorlois Duke of Cornwall. Sir Rhys Ap-Thomas, 19 th. in descent from Gorlois, was the founder of the English house of Rice. ¶ Of this distinguished person, Fuller, in his "Worthies", writes: Sir Rhys Ap-Thomas of Elmalin in Carmathanshire, was never more than a knight, yet little less than a Prince in his native country.

¶ To King Henry VII., on his landing with a small force at Milford Haven, Sir Rhys repaired with a considerable accession of choice soldiers, marching with them to Bosworth field, where he right valiantly behaved himself. That thrifty King, afterwards made him a Knight of the order and well might he have given him a garter, by whose effectual help he had received a crown."

At the Battle of Bosworth, however, Henry made him a Knight Banneret, and in the 21 st. year of that King's reign he was elected a Knight companion of the most noble order of the Garter. In the next reign he was Captain of the Light Horse at the battle of Therouenne, and at the siege of Tournay, in 1513. ¶ Sir Rhys was the son of Thomas Ap-Griffith & his first wife, the daughter and heir of Sir John Griffith, of Abermarlais. (The second wife, and mother of the brothers of Sir Rhys, was Elizabeth, daughter of Philip Duke of Burgundy.) ¶ Sir Griffith Rice, son and heir of Sir Rhys Ap-Thomas, was made a Knight of the Bath at the marriage of Arthur, Prince of Wales, in 1501. To William Rice, of Bohmer, in Buckinghamshire, a grandson of Sir Griffith, a coat of arms was granted in the 2nd. year of Philip & Mary, May 1555. This Wm. Rice was in the 22nd. generation from Gorlois, Duke of Cornwall and 21st. in the male line from Vryan Reged, Lord of Kidwelly. The 9th. in descent from Sir Griffith Rice is the present Lord Dynevor.

(Arthur de Cardonnel Rice, of Dynevor Co., Carmathan, M. A. Oxford, D. L., born Jan. 24, 1836, succeeded his father the 6th. Baron, in 1878.) He is descended from George Rice & Cecil De Cardonnel, through George Talbot 3d. Baron Dynevor.

This George Rice, of Newton, M. P., was the son of Edward Rice, M. P. for Carmathan, and the grandson of Griffith Rice, M. P., in the last Parliament of King William and the first four of Queen Anne. The Barony was not created until Oct. 17, 1780- (George III.) Thus the branch of the Rice family bearing the Dynevor Arms and succeeding to the Peerage, is, in point of age, far behind the younger branch, entitled to the Arms granted by Philip & Mary in 1555, and used in Mass. by the descendants of Deacon Edmund Rice. There is a good and sufficient reason for this but it is too lengthy to explain fully in these pages. In brief, the effete elder branch ran out of male heirs in the year 1756 & it took a patent from the crown to keep up the title, by allowing the earldom to revert to the heirs, male, through Lady Cecil De Cardonnel Rice. * Such a crisis in the Rice family will be * quite unthinkable to one who reads further in this little book.

¶ Deacon Edmund Rice was modestly descended from Sir Griffith Rice, Knight of the Bath, (1501) being his great great grandson, and was therefore 24th. in descent from the Duke of Cornwall, & 23d. in the male line from Vryan Reged. * The writer (and all the Rice's of his generation in the U. S.) is in the 9th. generation from Deacon Edmund Rice and thus the pedigree can be certainly and accurately traced (see Burke's Peerage; Lodge's Peerage, &c.,) for 33 generations, while there are now some representatives of two succeeding generations. Antiquity is not my private property, and it has been a long and difficult chase, this search for the origin of the family. ¶ It took much research in the British Museum and years of study at home and abroad. It is perhaps fortunate that I can not hark back to the time when we would find our ancestors barking a good-morning from a hole in the ground or grinning a cimmian greeting from the top of a cocoanut tree. Let us be content with the eleven hundred years covered by the 33 generations from the great Lord of Kidwelly.

¶ Deacon Edmund Rice was born in Buckinghamshire, England in the year 1594; probably in the little town of Sudbury, which is only 8 miles north of London, for he gave the name of Sudbury to his home town in Massachusetts in 1638. When the future Deacon was born the wreckage of the Spanish Armada still strewed the shores of England and Elizabeth had yet a decade to reign. Shakespeare was 30 years old & Sir Walter Raleigh was yet in possession of his head. Sir Francis Drake was alive and Peter Paul Rubens was just beginning to dabble in paint. Francis Bacon and John Smith (later of Pocohontas fame) were young men. Oliver Cromwell; Wm. Penn; John Bunyan & John Milton were yet unborn. He lived in the time of Rembrandt and as an ancestor was as great a success as was Jonathan Edwards, who came an hundred years later. There exists no portrait or verisimilitude of the Deacon. ❀ ❀ ❀

❀ Little Willie was drawing a picture. "Willie", said his mother, "What are you doing?" "Making a picture of God," replied Willie. "Tut-tut," said Willie's mother, "No one knows what God looks like." "Well, they will know when I get this done" replied Willie, and, like Willie, I have some confidence that when I have written this little sketch of Deacon Edmund Rice, for the delectation of his posterity, we will know what our great ancestor was like. ❀ ❀

In 1627, the Deacon & his wife Tamazine were living in the village of Berkhamstead, 28 miles north of London, in Hertfordshire. ❀ Their first three children were doubtless born in Sudbury, Bucks..

and the Parish Register at Berkhamstead contains the record of 5 others who were baptized in that Parish. The Deacon and his wife, with seven of these children, (one had died and one was born during the voyage,) landed in Massachusetts in 1638. They came in the early Post-Mayflower period & the Deacon has always been known as Edmund Rice the Pilgrim. ❀ ❀ ❀

Why did they leave Hertfordshire and come to New England? We do not know. Most of our information is unauthenticated conjecture. Any one who has an expurgated edition of Mrs. Hemans' poems will find that female poet asking many questions in regard to the motives & designs of the Pilgrims. "What sought they thus afar"? Jewels? the wealth of seas?" Scarcely. Did they intend following the black flag and becoming corsairs & pirates, emulating future Captain Kidds? The spoils of war?" Did they contemplate despoiling the Aborigines? If so it worked the wrong way. The Deacon & his family were pretty thoroughly despoiled before they got through with the business. By elimination we are almost forced to the conclusion recited in the poem-that they "sought a faith's pure shrine." It is rather difficult for us to get an angle on the Deacon's intentions. ❀ ❀ ❀

There were amongst the founders of New England, many eminent ministers such as Hooker, Cotton and Williams, Eliot and the Mathers, & the Deacon himself had several Bishops who followed in his train, besides some other queer old pieces of theological confusion. If they came purely from religious motives they probably suffered many disillusion. Yet we are astonished at the way these people clung to their belief and we do not realize the pleasure they derived from it. Mortification has its raptures and religion can supply one with almost carnal sensations, while persecution even had its debaucheries. The Aborigines with patient & persistent devilry supplied an abundance of the last named "thrills" and our ancestors, with remarkable tenuity, lived 80, 90, and 100 yrs., content with these conditions. It was surely not a "short life & a merry one." ❀ ❀ ❀

¶ There were other reasons however that Mrs. Hemans has overlooked. During the reign of Charles I and the Cromwellian period many family antipathies developed. Families were divided and the younger & older branches, in families of the nobility, had a very beautiful natural & mutual disdain for each other. ❀ ❀ ❀

Many of the younger sons, who did not inherit titles and estates hastened to put the seas between themselves and old England. It is possible, yea probable, that some such touching regard for the older branch of his father's family may have actuated the future Deacon in his hegira to the Colonies. ¶ He came before money began to talk or monkey dinners were given at Newport.

Happy lives are said to make dull biographies & the Deacon led an uneventful but strenuous and hard working life. He must have spent a considerable portion of his time dodging the Indians, but here again he was a success. Neither his own nor any of the dozen little Rice scalps ever adorned any tepee but his own. Through the various burnings of Deerfield and other towns the Deacon's "noble impes", as Chaucer would call them, were preserved, intact. ¶ He was the father of twelve children; which probably steadied his conception of sub-lunary affairs, and he appears to have been upon very good terms with God, as represented by the church in Sudbury. He was an honest man & never got four hams out of a hog. ¶ If he could come back to us now he wouldn't know the difference between an incubator and an egg-plant, but it is highly probable that he knew all about several other things of which his descendants are woefully ignorant. In his day the song which intimates that every member of the household, with the exception of the head of the family, performed manual labor, would have been tabu, on the ground of untruthfulness and being a libel on the Deacon and also on his wife & daughter Ann. No, the Deacon surely worked, six days in the week, at least, and the inventory of his estate shows that he acquired a very respectable fortune for one so circumscribed and surrounded.

¶ It was not advantages but disadvantages that made the Deacon great. He never used a safety razor nor had his appendix removed. He was educated by actualities and he never got goose flesh. Some of his descendants have lived to an age to have regained such infantile graces as a total want of memory, understanding and interest in life, but the Deacon never withered at the top.

Mrs. Eddy's boasted descent from King David is not a thing to be more proud of than the fact that she is a granddaughter, in the seventh generation, of Deacon Edmund Rice.

The village of Tremont, now sometimes called Boston, in Massachusetts, was but 8 yrs. old when Edmund Rice, Tamazine & their 8 children reached Plymouth. In 1633 the Rev. Jno. Cotton came to Tremont and renamed the village in honor of his birthplace, Boston in Lincolnshire, England.

In 1633 there were only 307 persons living in Boston. We do not know how many were living there in 1638 but we do know that the Deacon & his wife with the bizarre name, added a full half score to the number and then and thereafter did their full share towards populating the Colony and the future Commonwealth.

In 1858 a chronology was published which listed 1400 families & over 7000 individuals having one common Ancestor in the person of Deacon Edmund Rice. What his descendants would number at the present date it would be difficult to estimate.

The first we hear of Edmund after his arrival in Mass. he is living at Sudbury, known as "the plantation near unto Concord" & incorporated in 1639 by the name of Sudbury.

He lived on the east side of the Sudbury river in the southerly part of what is now Wayland. He was Selectman in 1644 and for years thereafter, & was made a Deacon in the Church in 1648.

In 1656 he was one of thirteen petitioners who besought the general court for a new plantation.

This being granted, and the plantation being recorded under the name of Marlboro, the Deacon & his family moved into that village in the year 1660. Here he had 50 acres of land granted to him and here he lived and died.

His wife Tamazine had died, in Sudbury, June 13, 1654; and on March 1, 1655, he married "Mercie", widow of Thomas Brigham, of Cambridge. ❀

Mercie & her first husband had come to Mass. in 1635, and she was left a widow in 1654.

The Deacon was intrusted with various important duties by the General Court, which he discharged with a fidelity that occasioned repeated calls for his services. The records of Sudbury & Marlboro contain ample evidence of his vigilant & fatherly care in promoting the welfare of those infant settlements. He died at Marlboro, May 3, 1663, and was buried at Sudbury. ❀ ❀ ❀

WAY back, in the early days of the Rice family in Mass., one Alpheus Rice, petitioned the Court to change his name to that of Alpheus Royce; giving as a sufficient reason that he "greatly feared at the present rate of increase the Rice family would entirely over run New England and all identities would be lost."

Moreover the name of Royce was more elegant and aristocratic. ❀ ❀ ❀

This was a bung-starter and the good Judge sat up and began to count noses. What did he find? He began at Deacon Edmund, and his fingers were all used up and he was well on the second round before he had counted the Deacon's sons and daughters. Then he began on the Deacon's grandchildren. ❀ The Deacon's English born sons had started out to break all laws of entail & primogeniture. Henry, confessed to ten children; Edward to eleven; Thomas to fourteen; "Bus", "stop!" cried the Judge, "The motion prevails," and Edw. Royce he was. It was no good; nix kum heraus, he proceeded immediately to beget 12 little Royces.

This proved that God meant him to be a Rice. ❀

Verily "a live dog is better than a dead lion." But all the same some good may have come from this first census. A Senate or House Investigating Committee must have reported or given their ideas on supply and demand.

Henry, Edward and Thomas having bulled the market, the bears had it for awhile; Lydia, the next member of the family, limited her family to one child. Benjamin raised his Ebenezer, his only child, while Edmund was so mortally scared that he never married at all. Mathew came in with a 9 spot, and Joseph & Samuel responded with a royal flush- having 10 each. ❀ ❀ ❀

After this, the perpetuity of the race and the safety of the Colony being assured, all competition ceased.

The Indians had burned Deerfield and various other out posts but they could not decimate the ranks of the Colonists so as to make any visible showing. It was an unequal contest and they gave it up. ❀

The Rices had it.

A few facts in regard to the family of the Deacon's first-born.

No. II. Henry Rice, the first member of the Deacon's remarkable family, was born in Buckinghamshire, England, in Jan. 1617; came with his parents to Mass. in 1638 and married Elizabeth Moore of Sudbury. Resided in Sudbury & Framington, where he died Feb. 10, 1710-11, at the age of 93 years. His wife died Aug. 3, 1705. Children:

13. 1. Mary, Sept. 19, 1646, m. Thomas Brigham.
14. 2. Elizabeth, Aug. 4, 1648, m. John Brewer.
15. 3. Hannah ——— m. Eleazer Ward.
16. 4. Jonathan, July 3, 1654, m. Martha Eames.
17. 5. Abigail, June 17, 1657, m. Thomas Smith.
18. 6. David, Dec. 27, 1659, m. Hannah Walker.
19. 7. Tamasin, Feb. 2, 1661, m. Benj. Parmenter.
20. 8. Rachel, May. 10, 1664, m. Thos. Drury.
21. 9. Lydia, June 4, 1668, m. Sam. C. Wheelock.
22. 10. Mercy, Jan. 1, 1670, m. Elnathan Allen.

The will of Henry Rice, proved Feb. 29, 1710-11, makes his sons, Jonathan & David executors and the inventory is 527 pounds 11.0. A sum equal in this day, to five times that amount, which goes to show that; with a family of 77 grand-children and 88 great grand-children, it still paid to be a Pilgrim Father.

The lines of all these married sons & daughters can be accurately traced and certified to, but it is beyond the scope of this little work to trace any of the families in their intricate and remote ramifications. Through the one son Jonathan (16.4), Henry had 53 great grand-children.

Jonathan was the Ancestor of the Cutlers;- Manasseh, Ephraim, Wm. P. Cutler, Julia and Sarah. All distinguished in various lines.

Manasseh was the originator of the Ohio Company and sent out the first colony of settlers to Marietta, O. in 1788. Ephraim, his son, was one of the little band, and was a Member of the Constitutional Convention of Ohio, in 1802. Ephraim's children, Wm. P., Julia and Sarah, were eminent authorities on pioneer history and published the "Cutler" books.

Through David Rice, (18.6), Henry was the Ancestor of the Haven's, altho there were many inter-marriages of Haven's and Rice's. The two Bishops Haven, Gilbert & Erastus O.* were descend-

* Erastus Otis Haven, D. D., LL. D. was born Nov. 1, 1820. In 1863 was elected to the presidency of Michigan University, Ann Arbor, Mich., where he remained until 1869, when he became President of the Northwestern University, Evanston, Ill. In 1872 he was made Sec. of the Board of Education of the M. E. Church. In 1874 became Chancellor of Syracuse University. Elected a Bishop of the M. E. Church 1880. Died Aug. 2, 1881.

ed directly from Hannah (Bent) Bellknap, whose first husband was Richard Rice, and whose mother was Hannah Rice, the grand-daughter of Henry and Elizabeth (Moore) Rice. ❀ ❀

Gilbert Haven, one of the Bishops of the M. E. Church was born in Malden, Mass., Sept. 19, 1821. Chaplain of the 8th. Mass. Regt. under the command of Gen'l Butler, Editor of Zion's Herald 1867. Elected Bishop by the General Conference of 1872, author of several volumes of travels and sketches. Bishop Haven died Jan. 3, 1880.

Mary Rice (13.1) had 8 children by her husband Thomas Brigham. This Thos. Brigham was the son of Thos. Brigham who "embarked in the 'Susan & Ellen' April 1635, then aged 32", and with his wife Mercie and two children came to Cambridge, where he died Dec. 8, 1653. ❀ ❀

His widow Mercie became the 2d. wife of Deacon Edmund Rice, and the mother of No. 11 & No. 12 of the Deacon's children. Thus Mary(Rice) Brigham's children, were the great grand-children of Deacon Edmund Rice; but grand-children of his predecessor -Thos. Brigham- his wife's first husband. ❀ Two of Mary's children married Howes (then spelled How) and one married a Ward.

These are the first intermarriages with the Wards & Howes but I could enumerate at least 20 more in each family. The Deacon became the progenitor of all the Mass. Wards and Howes, amongst whom should be named Elias Howe, Samuel Gridley Howe and his distinguished wife, Julia Ward Howe*, now in her 91st. year, Timothy O. Howe, P. M. Gen'l of the U. S., John Q. A. Ward, one of our most famous sculptors, etc., etc. ❀ ❀

Hannah Rice (15.3) married another Ward, Eleazer, son of Deacon Wm. and Elizabeth Ward of Sudbury & Marlboro. He was slain by the Indians, on the road between Marlboro and Sudbury, in April 1676, aged 27 years. His widow married Richard Taylor, Oct. 17, 1777. By the first marriage there was one child and by the second there were four.

Tamasin Rice (19.7) married Benj. Parmenter and left a large posterity, of whom are the Adams family, the Brewers, the Burkes, and the Springs, along with a liberal sprinkling of the Parmenters. ❀

* Julia Ward Howe, 7th. in descent from John Ward, a soldier in Cromwell's army is also descended from Deacon Edmund Rice through the Cutler family. Her mother was Julia Rush Cutler. Mrs. Howe's sister, Louisa Cutler Ward, married Thomas Crawford, the eminent Sculptor. Francis Marion Crawford (1854-1909) was their son and 8th. in descent from John Ward & Deacon Edmund Rice.

She survived her husband, who died in 1737. He had been impressed into the service against the Indians in 1676 and was one of the foremost warriors in this family. ❧ ❧ ❧ ❧

Rachel Rice (20.8) married Thomas Drury, who was the first Town Clerk of Framingham; its first representative in the Gen'l Court 1701; Captain, Selectman, etc., etc. He died in 1723. Rachel & Thomas Drury had 9 children. Their 3 sons Caleb, Micah & Uriah, married three sisters; Elizabeth, Abigail and Martha Eames. Thomas married another Ward; Rachel married a Fairbanks; Elizabeth a Morse and John a Goddard. ❧

Lydia Rice (21.9) married Samuel Wheelock in 1692. She was the mother of 10 children, 9 of whom married and had large families. Her daughter Martha married Ephraim Pratt, July 9, 1724. ❧

This Ephraim Pratt, of Shutesbury is the one mentioned in Dwight's Travels, Vol. 2, page 358, viz; Rev. Dr. Timothy Dwight, Pres. of Yale College--who visited Mr. Pratt on Nov. 13, 1803, and remarks of him that "he was born at East Sudbury, Mass., in 1687, & in one month from the day of our visit to him will complete his one hundred and sixteenth year." ❧ ❧ ❧

"His memory was still vigorous, his understanding sound, and his mind sprightly in its conceptions."

"We were informed by him & by his host that he had mown grass for one hundred and one years successively. Four of his sons are now living, the eldest of whom is 90 and the youngest 82 years of age." See President Dwight's Travels.

Mercy Rice (22.10) married Elnathan Allen. They had Eight Children, the oldest of whom, Obadiah, married Susannah Pratt, May 17, 1720 (daughter of John & Ruth Pratt; brother of Ephraim of Shutesbury.

Thankful Rice married a Whitney & Israel married Elizabeth Wheelock. After these various "crossings" in the Rice, Pratt & Wheelock families the patriarchs Ephraim Pratt of Shutesbury, & Henry Rice of Framingham, whose combined age was 209 years, could safely gather up their loins, what was left of them, and depart in peace. The country was saved again.

But it was Abigail Rice (17.5) who was to be her father's proudest asset. Abigail married a Smith to be sure, but she was the great grand-mother of Abigail Smith* who was the wife of John Adams & mother of John Quincy Adams; the only woman in the history of our country who has been both the wife and mother of a President of the United States. ❀ ❀ ❀ ❀

* Abigail (Smith) Adams, born in Weymouth, Mass. 23d. Nov. 1744, died in Quincy, Mass. 28th. Oct. 1818. Her father was for more than forty years minister of the Congregational Church in Weymouth. Abigail was among the most remarkable women of the American Revolutionary period. Oct. 25, 1764 she was married to John Adams, who became President of the U. S., was a member of the Continental Congress, & a signer of the Declaration of Independence. She was the mother of three sons & one daughter. Her Son John Quincy Adams was 6th. President of the United States and 6th. in descent from Deacon Edmund Rice.

Some Enlightenment as to the Posterity of the Deacon's Second-born.

Edward Rice (3.2) was twice married. His first wife was Agnes Bent. All his children were by his 2nd. wife Anna. All but the last two children were born at Sudbury. Edw. & Anna removed to Marlboro. He was Deacon of the Church there and died Aug. 15, 1712. He was born in 1619 and therefore 93 years old. ❀ ❀ ❀

Edward Rice owned the farm that had belonged to Deacon Edmund, the Pilgrim, and deeded it & other lands to his son Edmund, April 1, 1686.

Deed recorded Aug. 16, 1734. A good deed long delayed. Children of Edward & Anna Rice. ❀

¶ While Deacon Edward did not have so large a posterity as some others of his father's family, he yet had an embarrassment of riches in 47 grandchildren (through 6 children) and 162 great grandchildren (through but 5.)

The female lines are not here traced beyond the 2d. generation. The little Caleb (28.6) and the two little Lydias (24.2 & 25.3) early departed this life and fortunately, for they would have inevitably married Pinkhams; and while Deacon Edmund Rice could claim for his own many of the best and most famous New Englanders, there was never a Lydia Pinkham in the family, for the Deacon was a modest man and never played to the grand-stand.

The 4th. child John Rice (23.1) by his wife Tabitha had 11 children, 8 of whom married and left large families. John resided at Sudbury, on a part of the homestead of his grandfather, Deacon Edmund Rice and near his brother Deacon Edmund Rice. This second Deacon Edmund married Joyce Russell, of Cambridge, Oct. 12, 1680. In 1707 he represented Sudbury in the General Court. He died Sept. 25, 1719, in his 66th. year. He left 5 children.

Daniel Rice (27.5) married the 5th. Ward & carried it by a large majority. They had 8 children, naming the first one, born Oct. 29, 1682, Bethia & the 8th. one, born exactly 20 yrs. later, Hopestill, (born Oct. 27, 1702.) This was characteristic of the family.

It is a family tradition that one of its members, when questioned by a village enumerator, confessed to 56 years and a husband, and to the next question, "Have you any children?", she cheerfully responded "Not yet!"

¶ Anna Rice (30.8) married her cousin, Thomas Rice and not being superstitious they had 13 children every one of whom lived to maturity.

The 9th. one, Adonijah (born Aug. 11, 1696), was captured by the Indians, Aug. 8, 1704, carried to Canada and never returned. The set was scarcely broken however for they still had the full dozen, with such choice names as Ashur, Jason, Jedediah, Perez, Vashtai, Noah, and Beriah. Dorcas Rice (31.9) married Thomas Forbush & left 5 children. Benjamin Rice (32.10) married Mary Graves and had 9 children, amongst whom we find Azariah, Zerubabel & Damaris.

It was a rabbit proposition. They were in the 3d. generation and had run out of names.

¶ In this line of Edward Rice, traced through the daughters and granddaughters, we find many persons of note in New England & elsewhere.

The Virginia & Ohio Rices are descended from Edmund (26.4) son of Edward; & from Isaac (54.8) son of Mathew.

The Willard family, of whom the late Francis E. Willard, & Joseph Willard, Pres. of Harvard College were the most distinguished members, are in this line of descent from Deacon Edmund Rice.

Harriett Hosmer, the sculptor, is descended from both Edward & Mathew Rice. She was born in Mass. 6th. Oct. 1830. She took a course in Anatomical instruction at St. Louis and alone travelled in the western wilderness and visited the Dakota Indians. Going to Rome with Charlotte Cushman, in 1852, she entered the studio of Gibson, the English Sculptor, and before many years was acknowledged the foremost woman sculptor of the age. Her colossal figure of "Zenobia" was completed in 1859, followed by a statue of Thos. H. Benton, cast in bronze, now in Lafayette Park, St. Louis.

Besides her skill in sculpture, Harriett Hosmer had decided talent for designing and constructing machinery, and devising new processes, such as converting the ordinary limestone of Italy into marble, and a peculiar process of modelling in clay & wax. Miss Hosmer resided in Rome until a short time before her death and died Feb. 21, 1908, at the age of 78 years.

Our pride is flattered to its innermost fibre when we learn that the most successful writer the world has ever known, Mary Baker G. Eddy, founder of Christian Science, is descended from Deacon Edmund Rice in this line of Edward Rice his second-born.

An effort has been made by some recent investigator to establish Mrs. Eddy's descent from David, King of Israel. Of King David as a direct Ancestor & Solomon his son as a mere side issue, Mrs. Eddy could well be proud, or, if descended through Solomon, she can at least be sure that there was adequate ground for a large relationship.

Deacon Edmund Rice, however, was an eminent success as an ancestor and not to be despised. True he did not have as many wives as did Solomon. His collection was small but choice, & when we come to tracing his posterity we can be perfectly cock-sure that Mrs. Mary Baker Glover Eddy will come nearer to immortality through her inheritance from the Deacon, than through any application of Christian Science. By this I mean that she will probably live an hundred years- * she is now in her 90th.; & has the magnificent record of Longevity of the Rice and allied families, to stimulate her.

* Mrs. Eddy died Dec. 4th. 1910.

Elbert Hubbard saw Mrs. Eddy when she was 87 years old & describes her thus. "She is so great that she keeps her own counsel, receives no visitors, makes no calls, writes no letters, and never goes inside a Church more than once a year. Her face shows experience but not extreme age. Her eyes are not dimmed nor her face wrinkled. The day I last saw her she was dressed all in white satin; her hat was a milliner's dream. Her gloves came to the elbow and were properly wrinkled. Her step is light, her form erect- a slender, handsome, queenly woman. Her form is the form of Bernhardt."

What matters it that no man ever has been able to understand her book, "Science & Health", or that no man ever will understand it? Her sayings are as dark as those of Dickens' Captain Bunsby. "What I says, I stands to." "Whereby, why not?" "If so, what odds? Can any man say otherwise? No! Awast then." No matter, she is the first & only woman who has made four millions of dollars after she was 80 years old. She is the greatest general & most efficient organizer the world has to-day. Let her chase her literary tail. She would be an ornament in the family of any old Puritan Deacon.

Being the Posterity of Thomas Rice calculated & tabulated by means of Geometrical Ratio and the aid of Logarithms.

Thomas Rice (4.3) was the third of the Deacon's Buckinghamshire sons, born 1620-1626, which allows us considerable latitude in guessing at his age. At any rate he was but a youth when he came to Sudbury, where he married Mary King; afterwards they removed to Marlboro- but not until the birth of 6 children had been recorded at Sudbury. At Marlboro the Parish Clerk got a new book and entered up 8 more.

¶ If the reader does not see what this meant to Marlboro he is utterly devoid of imagination.

Fourteen children! It was the making of Marlboro, as we shall see later.

Two of these children died young. Twelve married, and Thomas Rice became the grandfather of 75; the great-grandfather of 253 plus, for some lines have been lost, thank God.

The first child, Grace, died an infant. The second child, Thomas, married his cousin Anna Rice (30.8) Nov. 10, 1681.  He represented Marlboro in the General Court several years and is said, by the Boston Gazette of Dec. 26, 1768, to have died at the age of 94 years.

¶ Thomas Rice & Anna Rice were the parents of 13 children and their son Charles was the grandfather of Persis Rice, (born Nov. 19, 1737), who married General Rufus Putnam, * Jan. 10, 1765. She was a sister of Enoch Rice, who married Olive Bruce and became the ancestress of the large family of Rices now colonized in & about Los Angeles, California. ❀ ❀ ❀

Gen. Rufus Putnam * was born Apr. 8, 1738, at Sutton, Mass. He entered the Army at 19 years of age & was appointed Military Engineer, by the Continental Congress. In Jan. 1783 he was commissioned Brigadier General. He was Superintendent of the Ohio Company and leader of the settlement at Marietta, O. in 1788. In 1789, Washington appointed him a Judge of the Supreme Court of N. W. Territory. On May 5, 1792, he was appointed Brigadier General in the Army of the U. S. In Oct. 1796, he was appointed Surveyor General of the United States, which office he held until 1803. He was a member of the Constitutional Convention of Ohio in 1802. At the time of his death he was the last surviving General officer of the Revolutionary Army, excepting Gen'l Lafayette. Gen. Putnam was deeply interested in Sabbath Schools & Missions and he formed, in 1812, the first Bible Society west of the Alleghenies. Gen'l Putnam & Persis Rice were married Jan. 10, 1765. They, with a family of eight children & two grand-children came to Marietta, Ohio, in 1788. ❀ ❀

Gen'l Putnam died in 1824, in his 87th. year; Persis Rice Putnam in 1820, aged 83. Five children survived them & their descendants are widely scattered through the west & are amongst its leading and influential citizens. Gen'l Putnam had the Rice family arms painted above his fire-place in the old mansion at Marietta. A copy of the painting is given in this little book. It is pretty conclusive evidence that Gen'l Putnam's children were descendants of William Rice, of Buckinghamshire, England, [supposed to be the Deacon Edmund's grandfather,] when he adopted & used this Coat of Arms, granted to the aforesaid Rice in 1555, by Mary of Eng.

Peter Rice m. Rebecca Howe, who died in 1749, aged 81, and Peter died Nov. 28, 1753, aged 95 plus. To Peter and Rebecca were born eleven children, called euphoniously, Elisha, Zipporah, Zephaniah, Cyprian, Pelatiah, Elnathan, Peter, Abigail, Deborah, Rebecca, & Abraham.

Ephraim Rice (40.7) m. 1st. Hannah Livermore, of Watertown; and Mary Noyes of Sudbury 37 years later. There were eleven children.

One of these John, was Ancestor of Dr. William Rice of Springfield, and of his eminent sons Wm. North Rice and Charles Francis Rice. *

* Dr. Wm. Rice, born in Springfield, Mass. Mar. 10, 1821, was the grandson of Nathan Rice, & 7th. in descent from Deacon Edmund. He was graduated from Wilbraham in 1840, and received his M. A. from Wesleyan University in 1853. He died Aug. 17, 1897.

Dr. Rice was a member of the New England Conference for 16 years, when, his health failing, he became City Librarian at Springfield, an office which he held until his death. Dr. Rice was 15 years President of the Board of Trustees of Wilbraham Wesleyan Academy, the oldest Literary Institution in Methodism in the U. S.

He was 25 years a Trustee of Wesleyan University at Middletown, several times a delegate to General Conference and the author of two valuable works; "Moral & Religious Quotations", 1860 and "The Pastor's Manual", 1863. He was Chairman of the Committee on Revision of the Methodist Hymn Book in 1876. Dr. Rice was a great Librarian. He raised the no. of volumes in the Springfield Library from 6800 to 100,000 and raised $357,423 for buildings & library purposes. The "Wm. Rice Building", in Springfield, cost $100,000. Dr. Rice married, in 1843, Caroline Laura North, of Lowell. They had four children; of whom Wm. North Rice, is a Prof. and has been acting President of Wesleyan University.

Dr. Charles Francis Rice is an eminent member of the New England Conference and Caroline Laura is wife of Prof. Morris B. Crawford of Wesleyan University. A grandson, Edward L. Rice, is Prof. of Biology in Allegheny College. Through this line of Ephraim also came the ancestors of Clara E. Barton the famous President of the American Red Cross Society. (See the Military Record of the Rice family for sketch of Miss Barton.)

Gershom Rice, (41.8) m. Elizabeth Haynes & here we find a most remarkable instance of longevity. Gershom himself died in 1768 aged 102 years.

A few years prior to this date he gave out the information that of his Parents 14 children, excepting 2 that died in infancy, all had lived to advanced ages and that the sum of the ages of the 12 persons was at that time exactly one thousand yrs.

At least two of them were still living at the time this remarkable statement was made.

Gershom & his wife Elizabeth had but 6 children, three sons and three daughters. Each of the three sons had 9 children but the daughters accomplishments have not been recorded.

One of these 27 grandsons had a Deacon's family of 10 children, eight of whom averaged 81 1-2 yrs.
each in point of age; with two living to bring up the average. The longevity of this branch of the family has prevailed in a remarkable degree in the 6th. & 7th. generations.

James Rice (42.9) m. Sarah Stone & died in Worcester 1730. They were the parents of 10 children
9 of whom married and had large families.

Frances Rice (43.10) was born Feb. 3, 1670, and as she was the 10th. child, Thomas, her father, was due, about this time to become a Deacon.

For doing her parent this great honor Frances had length of days added unto her, and died at 96 yrs.
of age, if the Boston Gazette could be relied upon to tell the truth. Frances married Benjamin Allen of Weston and they had six children.

Jonas Rice (44.11) married Mary Stone of Sud-bury, a sister of the wife of his brother James.

Judge Jonas Rice commenced the permanent settlement of Worcester and is known as the "First Settler" or "Father of Worcester".

When past 80 yrs. of age he was elected one of the Justices of the Court of Common Pleas for the County of Worcester, in which office he died.

This election was an unquestionable evidence that he had retained his mental & bodily faculties to a remarkable degree, exceeding then as he did by ten years the age at which many Judges are required by law to retire from the bench.

Judge Rice left 5 children * and his son Adonijah

* Silence Rice's grand-daughter, Margaret Bigelow, married, [Sept. 10, 1765], Nathan Longfellow [born Dec. 30, 1743.] Nathan was the son of Jonathan Longfellow of Machias, Maine, and brother of Stephen Longfellow.

Nathan & Stephen were in the 4th. generation from Wm. Longfellow, who came from Yorkshire and settled in Newbury in 1675. Stephen graduated at Harvard in 1798, was delegate to the Hartford Convention 1814 & Member of Congress 1823-1825. He compiled 16 vols. of Massachusetts, and 12 vols. of Maine Reports, and was the father of Henry Wadsworth Longfellow.

Margaret Bigelow was the mother of eleven children, one of whom, Betsey, born Oct. 17, 1788, was the mother of the late Roswell D. Hitchcock, President of Union Seminary, N. Y.

was the first white child born in Worcester, Mass. (Nov. 7, 1714). Adonijah was in several campaigns against the French & Indians. (See Military Record of Rice's.)

Grace Rice (45.12) m. Nathaniel Moore, Feb. 10, 1701-2. He was the "third settler" and Deacon of the Church in Worcester from its foundation.

We have no record of the family, but can safely assert that there were at least ten children.

No Deacon's admitted without that number.

One son, Nathaniel, born 1715, resided at Worcester where he died July 19, 1811, aged 96; and his wife, Mehitable, died Apr. 25, 1809, aged 89.

"He had resided in Worcester more than 95 years, and lived with his wife 69 yrs. and was a man of exemplary piety & benevolence. Thus ended the life of an honest man." --Massachusetts Spy.

We do not know when Grace Rice Moore died, but the Boston Gazette says that she was living, at the age of 94, on Dec. 19th. 1768. She is probably dead now.

Elisha Rice (46.13) the unlucky 13th. child of Thomas & Mary Rice, was a proprietor of Worcester and living there in 1719, where he had 30 acres of land granted to him in 1718.

He died at 82, leaving only seven children, but here we strike a rich vein.

There were two Elishas, one Elijah, Julia, Eliakim, Silas, & Zebulon. Elijah Rice, about 1748, married Hulda Keys, and died at Holden, Mass, in March, 1818, in his 97th. year. His daughter Zeriah married Thadeus Colburn, and moved to Vermont. Now Zeriah Rice Colburn had a son whom she named in a curious manner. She called him Abiah, beginning with her A-b-abs and adding the last syllable of her own name.

Abiah Colburn, when he had a son, began at the other end of the Alphabet, added the last syllable of his own name and called him Zeriah or Zerah. This Zerah Colburn was one of the greatest natural mathematicians the world has ever produced and a brief sketch should here be given, that we may keep his memory green.

Zerah Colburn was born in Cabot, Vermont, Sept. 1, 1804 & died Mar. 2, 1840. When only six years old he began to manifest extraordinary powers of computation. He mentally solved problems involving the use of numbers containing four and five places of figures with greater ease and rapidity than that to which experienced mathematicians could attain.

The question "How many days & hours in 1811 years?" was answered correctly in 20 seconds.

When he was nine years old he was able to solve questions like the following: "What is $999,999^2 \times 49^2 \times 25$? The result occupied 17 places of figures. He immediately gave the factors of 294, 967, 297, which French mathematicians had supposed to be a prime number. His performances show that his mental processes were inconceivably rapid and his memory very powerful.

After exhibiting his son in the middle & southern states, Abiah Colburn took him to England, Scotland, & Ireland and finally placed him in the Lycee Napoleon in Paris where he remained 18 months. He attracted the attention of the Earl of Bristol, who placed him in Westminster school for three years. After his father's death, in 1824, young Colburn returned to the U. S., entered the University of Vermont and taught French for a living. He eventually became a Methodist preacher and in 1835 a professor of languages in Norwich University, Vermont. In 1833 he published a book of memoirs. At one time, while in England, Zerah studied for the stage. He soon abandoned this idea & engaged for a time in performing Astronomical calculations for Dr. Thomas Young, then Sec'y. of the Board of Longitude.

In London, where he was exhibited for two years, his performances were almost incredibly difficult. Princes, nobles, philosophers, teachers & the public were equally astounded. He gave, in less than half a minute, the no. of seconds that had elapsed since the Christian era. He extracted the square root of numbers consisting of six figures and the cube root of numbers consisting of nine figures in less time than the result could be put down on paper. He was asked one day the factors of 171,395. There are seven pairs of factors by which that number can be produced, and only seven; the boy named them all as rapidly as they could be put down. He was required to name the factors of 36,083. "There are none", was his instantaneous reply; and he was right.

Again the number 4,294,967,297 was proposed to him to find the factors. Now certain French mathematicians had asserted that this was a prime no.; but the German Euler, had discovered that its factors are 641 & 6,700,417. This wonderful boy, then aged 8 years, by the mere operation of his mind, named the factors in about twenty seconds. He could raise numbers consisting of one figure to the sixteenth power in less than a minute. He was totally unable to explain the processes by which he effected his calculations.

"God put it into my head," he said one day to, an inquisitive lady, "but I can not put it into yours." Zerah, like other members of his father's family, had one more finger & one more toe than the regular number. Perhaps this aided him in his miraculous calculations. We do not know. ❀

It is a matter so subtle that it has never been explained. His relative & kinswoman, Mary Baker G. Eddy was also born in Vermont. Does any one know how many toes she had? ❀ ❀

And now we come to Zebulon Rice, youngest son of Elisha, & on whom a double portion of Elisha's mantle fell. Zeb. was in a class all by himself, a class called "Sweepstakes". He lived in Sudbury, Lancaster, Boyleston & Ashburnham. ❀

His widow, Susanna, died in Asburnham, Dec.17, 1823, aged 92 yrs. & on her tombstone might have been engraved, to parody an old English Epitaph,

Some has no children & some has 'steen,
Here lies the mother of seventeen.

Susanna was a valuable adjunct & with remarkable regularity added the little Rice's to the flock. ❀

Beginning in 1750, with little Josiah, very few bad seasons or total failures are found in the Rice crop.

The years 1762--'63, '64, '65 & '66, were eminently successful; '67 appears to have been a bad year; but again in '68, (the Constitution having been changed) '70, '72--'74 & until 1776 the family increased with frightful regularity. On June 5, 1776, just one month before the Declaration of Independence was signed, Susanna added no. 17, &, anticipating that document, she declared 'That in the course of human events it became necessary for her to be free & independent' and retired to private life. ✱

She lived 48 years after her Declaration of Independence, surrounded by an army of children, grand-children & great grand children. It is a curious list of names, these seventeen, beginning with Josiah & ending with the pet name of Dolly. Dolly was very distantly related to Josiah, he being the 1st. of his mother's children & she the seventeenth.

On the Family of Samuel, the Deacon's Sixth Son.

Oh, Look Who's Here!

Samuel Rice, (8.7) was the Deacon's Sixth son & 7th. child. . . . He was baptized at Berkhamstead, England, Nov. 12, 1634 (Parish Register.)

His immediate predecessor, little Daniel, was baptized Nov. 1st. 1632, and buried Nov. 10, 1632.

Daniel was a nine days wonder & was promptly replaced a little less than eighteen months later by Samuel, who, to make reparation for his little brother's delinquencies, married three several times. ❀

His second wife was Mary Brown, his third was Sarah White, but ere he ran farther in the chromatic scale he was rudely cut off by death at the early age of 51 & thus effectually handicapped in his laudable efforts to run the connubial spectrum. His first wife was buried Oct. 30, 1667. His second died at Concord June 18, 1675. They had probably retired to Concord as a place of safety or a refuge from the Indians. ❀ ❀

His third wife survived him & doubtless married again. Her first husband was James Hosmer, Jr. who was killed by the Indians in the "Sudbury fight" in the Spring of 1676. ❀ ❀

The oldest child, Elizabeth, (56.1) left four children the youngest of whom, Mary, married Hezekiah Rice, & thus turned all the grand-children back into the Rice family again. She left 6 children but we have no knowledge of any children by the first three of Elizabeth and Peter. ✻ ✻

The second daughter, Hannah, (57.2) married Jonathan Hubbard of Concord, March 15, 1681, where he died July 17, 1728 aged 70. She died, at Concord, April 9, 1747, in her 90th. year, leaving eleven children and the dog, if, perchance, the hungry canine had survived his keen disappointment. ✻
Considering the fact that this venerable Mother

Hubbard had been a widow for almost 20 years & had a round dozen of mouths to fill, it is not at all improbable nor a matter of surprise, that,

"When she got there,
The Cupboard was bare."

We are not surprised, but gratified to know that, being a Rice, she "got there" and it is all we could expect of her. We have very little further knowledge of the good woman. She left a large posterity, and was an Ancestress of Gov. John Davis & other eminent Davises (not including Jeff.)

All that we have to regret in the history of this venerable relative is the fact that she became somewhat careless in dress, as she grew older; a matter which attracted considerable publicity and will doubtless perpetuate her name and gown.

The third child, Joshua (58.3) resided at Marlboro & died June 23, 1734. He was a proprietor of Worcester & had 30 acres of land granted to him there in 1718. He returned to Marlboro before 1730 & his widow, Mary Rice, died there Dec. 1766, aged 95 yrs.

They had four sons and one daughter. The son became a Deacon (Oct. 14, 1742) & had the regulation number of children.

Edmund Rice (59.4) the 4th. child, married Ruth Parker, of Roxbury, Nov. 15, 1692 & became, in an accidental and curious way, the ancestor of a famous Indian Chief, in manner & form as follows. Edmund & Ruth were the parents of 12 children, (only 2 or three of whom married Rices), of whom were Silas, Timothy, and Nahor. Now Thomas Rice (35.2) and Edmund Rice (59.4) were cousins, and resided in Westboro. ✻ ✻

On the 8th. of Aug. 1704, while the people in the fields were spreading flax a short distance from the house of Thomas Rice, a band of Indians rushed out of the woods, where they had concealed themselves, and killed little Nahor aged 5, (probably on account of his name.) knocking him in the head. At the same time they seized Silas & Timothy, aged 9 and 7 respectively, sons of Edmund Rice, & 2 others, Ashur and Adonijah, aged 10 and 8, sons of Thomas Rice, and carried the four little boys off to Canada. ✻ ✻ ✻

Silas and Timothy were adopted by the Indians and had Indian wives, and children by them. To Silas Rice the Indians gave the name Tookanowras. Timothy was named Oughtsorangoughton and became the third of six chiefs of the Cognawaga tribe.

In that capacity he addressed a speech to Col. Burgoyne, employed in an expedition against Canada, in the French, War of 1755. (Afterwards Gen'l. Burgoyne, who surrendered himself & his army to Gen'l. Gates, at Saratoga, in the Revolutionary War.) Timothy Oughtsorangoughton Rice visited Westboro, in Sept. 1740, with an interpreter, --he having lost his mother tongue,-- and viewed the place where he had been captured; of which he had a perfectly clear remembrance, together with all the circumstances under which he was taken. ¶ He also knew & well remembered several persons then living in Westboro. ¶

He was urged to remain amongst his people in Sudbury, Marlboro & Westboro, but nothing said or done could induce him to remain. He was filled with contumacy and contravention; he did not want to stay & he said so. ¶ So he returned to Canada, to his copper-colored wife and his copper-stock. Both Silas and Timothy were living in the Summer of 1790. Silas was then 95 & Timothy 93 years old. ¶

That these two aged chiefs of the Conawaga tribe had many children we are certain. The only certified record of any of them is the following:-

"Eunice Williams, born Sept. 16, 1696, was captured at Deerfield and taken to Canada in 1704. She died in 1786 aged 90. She married John De Rogers, an Indian and had three children."

1. John, who was killed at Lake George in 1758.

2. Sarah, married in 1758, an englishman named Williams.

3. Katherine, married Francis Ilere Rice & had one son, Thomas Rice, who married Marian De Rice, "a daughter of one of the Captive Rice's from Marlboro, Mass." Thos. and Marian De Rice had 10 children some of whom were living, in Canada, as recently as 1831, and probably have many Indian descendants now in that Country.

Samuel Rice, through the line of his son Joshua, was the Ancestor of many of the descendants of the remaining children of Edmund Rice, who did not turn Indian. Dinah married a Brigham, and left 5 children; Huldah married Sam'l Wheelock and left 6 children, Seth married Dorothy Robinson of Marlboro, begat 7 children and died, a Deacon, in 1796, aged 91. His widow Dorothy, died June 21, 1801, aged 93. Thankful married Josiah Rice, (a cousin again) and left 5 children, Josiah died in 1792, aged 92.

Edward Rice (53.8) died July 20, 1741, in his 70 th. year. He left 10 children, but for some reason never was made a Deacon. This should be investigated.

Abigail Rice (64.9) has been discovered to belong to another branch of the family. She was daughter of Timothy Rice, (whose father Richard Rice, of Concord & Cambridge, died June 9, 1709, aged 100 years,) and Abigail Marrett.

Abigail Rice married Captain Palmer Goulding, Sen. who had commanded a company at the reduction of Louisburg, June 17, 1745.

Abigail and the Captain had Palmer, Ignatius, Peter & Abel, and a daughter Martha. Martha, true to the traditions of the family, married Wm. Rice (son of Luke Rice of Shrewsbury) and had 10 children.

All the Morses are descended from Samuel Rice (8.7) in the same generation as from Sam'l Morse, who came to Mass. in 1635 & died 1654. In this line are Jedediah Morse, the great geographer & Samuel F. B. Morse, inventor of the electric telegraph.

JOSEPH RICE (9.8) was the Deacon's 8th. child & the last one born in Hertfordshire. He was the "toddler" on the outward voyage and his "nose was out of joint" before the voyage was done.

He was forced, by circumstances over which he had no control, to take to spoon victuals. The voyage had been long and not utterly devoid of "squalls", for the Deacon's wife with the Arabian Night's name had added another to the passenger list. This was little Edmund, born at sea, in 1638, a man without a country; born when his mother was away from home, & named, in honor of the Deacon, Edmund.

The usurping Edmund died. No one knows when. No record of his ever having married, or of his residence, or death, or settlement of any estate ever belonging to him has been discovered.

Joseph lived. He lived and had 4 wives; not simultaneously nor contemporaneously, but quite continuously.

Joseph Rice was baptized at Berkhamstead, Hertfordshire, England, March 13, 1637. Coming at a tender age to Mass. Colony he considered it his duty to become a Pilgrim Father. Like a good Democrat he married early and often. In rapid succession we find his wives to have been, 1st. Mercy; 2nd. Martha; 3d. Mary; 4th. Sarah. Beyond this and the fact that the names of his ten children are recorded at Sudbury we have no further knowledge of his marital exploits.

The date of his death we do not know. He was living as late as Feb. 10, 1684, and that is the last we know of him. He was but 47 years old at that date, so that, with the remarkable longevity of the Rice family staring him in the face, we are left with a large field for conjecture as to what matrimonial pyrotechnics he may have performed in his declining years, if he had any. We are only certain that he was married four times and with this paucity of bliss we are satisfied that he was fully prepared to die; and that he entered into Abraham's bosom calmly and unregretfully.

74. 9, Sarah, Feb. 14, 1680-1, d. June 1681.
75. 10, Phineas, Aug, 24, 1682, m. Elizabeth Willard.

Of Rebecca we know nothing more. Martha Coolidge resided at Watertown & had 6 children. Her husband died at Watertown in 1724, aged 77, (son of John Coolidge of Watertown 1639. A Representative in 1658 and died 1690.)

Caleb Rice, the 4th. child, married a Ward. (It was becoming a habit). Was a Deacon in the Church at Marlboro from 1718 till his death Jan. 5, 1738-9. (His gravestone says he was 77 years, 7 mos. and 7 days old). As all good Deacons should he had 10 children; 4 sons & 6 daughters. Caleb, his 4th. son was graduated from Harvard University 1730, and became first minister of the Gospel at Sturbridge, Sept. 29, 1736. Died there in 1759.

Caleb's son Nathan, born Aug. 2, 1754, was graduated from Harvard University in 1773. He was an officer in the Army of the Revolution, & during the quasi war with France, 1799 and 1800; was commissioned Lieutenant Colonel and stationed at Oxford. He returned to Hingham upon the disbanding of the Army & died there, April 17, 1834, aged 80 years.

His son Charles Rice born Nov. 28, 1781, entered Harvard in 1797, but died Aug. 17, 1799. Another son, Caleb, Dec. 5, 1784, graduated from Harvard, 1803, & died 1849.

A daughter, Sophia, born Feb. 12, 1797, married Gamaliel Bradford* (Harvard 1814) M. D. Their children (4) are in the same generation from Gov. Bradford & Edmund Rice.

By his other 9 children the Deacon had a large posterity. It is not traced through the daughters. Mary, we know, married David Stone, (Dec. 10, 1710,) and resided at Watertown, where he "died Oct. 7, 1750, aged 78, having lived 56 years without sight."

* Son of Capt. Gamaliel Bradford, Lieut. in Rev. and 5th. in descent from Gov. Wm. Bradford who arrived in Mayflower Dec. 1620. Gov. of Plymouth Colony from 1620 to 1657, with the exception of 5 yrs.

If this was not the origin of "stone-blind" it is at least an early example to the real thing.

Their daughter Mercy Stone, born Feb. 2, 1713-14, married Rev. David Goddard born 1706.

A graduate of Harvard, 1731, and minister at Leicester.

Joseph Rice (70.5) married Mercy Kerley of Marlboro, Nov. 10, 1708. His 2nd. wife was Elizabeth Robinson. His 3d. wife was Jane Corey, of Boston. He died Dec. 3, 1745. His widow, Jane, died 1762. They had, amongst them, 6 children. At least one of whom married a Ward.

Mary, the 5th. child married Thaddeus Bond & her name is perpetuated to this day, by many eminent persons of that family. This is in no wise meant to advertise Boston Bond.

Jonathan Rice (73.8) was Deacon in the church at Sudbury, and, being a deacon, had 10 children, of course. Jonathan died, full of years and honors, June 7, 1772, aged 92 & his widow Anne, died Dec. 23, 1773, also aged 92. They had 9 daughters & one son, William Rice, who married Mary Estabrook and had 7 children & many, many Grand children.

The last of Joseph's children, Phineas, (75.10) married Elizabeth Willard, Oct. 2, 1707, resided in Sudbury & was a representative in the General Court. He seems to have been the literary member of his father's family & is described in the Boston newspapers, Sept. 5, 1768, as being "a gentlemen of an enlarged soul, bright parts, a penetrating wit, tenacious memory and well acquainted with both men and books. Perhaps his superior could scarce be found in New England." A newspaper of 1910 could scarcely do better than that.

This erudite member of the Deacon's family died aged 86, & left 5 children. Through one of them (Joseph) he was the ancestor of the late eminent financier, Spencer Trask, who was killed Dec. 31, 1909, on the N. Y. Central R. R. near N. Y. City.*

* Spencer Trask was born in 1844, Son of Alanson Trask and Sarah Marquand. His Grand-mother Trask was a daughter of Mary (Rice) Goodale. Spencer Trask was graduated from Princeton and engaged in the Banking business with his Uncle Henry G. Marquand. From its beginning he was president of the Edison Light & Power System. To the general public he was better known as a promoter of philanthropic and educational projects & as a patron of Art, then as a banker. He was one of the founders and for 15 years a trustee of Teacher's College; one of the founders and a trustee of the Kindergarten Association; a trustee of the General Theological Seminary; the principal founder of the National Arts Society & President of the Reservation Commission which has sought to preserve the Springs at Saratoga. Mrs. Trask is a well known writer, and has recently written a play "The Little Town of Bethlehem", which has been produced by the Ben Greet Players. ~~JS~~

Being a General Round-up of the Deacon's Other Children, Even Unto and Including the Twelfth.

Lydia Rice, (5.4) was the first child born to Deacon Edmund & Tamazin Rice after the removal from Buckinghamshire to Hertfordshire. ❀

The Parish Register at Berkhamstead informs us that Lydia was baptized Mar. 9, 1627. She married Hugh Drury and resided in Boston.

Her husband was a member of the Artillery Company, 1659, and subsequently its Lieutenant. ❀

Lydia and Hugh Drury had but one child John, born at Sudbury, May 2, 1646. ❀ ❀

John married Mary, and their one child, Thomas, the son of the house and the hope of the family made his calling & election sure in the Rice family by marrying, when 19 years old, his father's first cousin, Rachel Rice, (daughter of Henry, oldest son of the Deacon), and thus all of Lydia's descendants are doubly descended from the old President of the Company, Deacon Edmund. ❀

Next after Lydia comes Mathew Rice, (6.5) baptized at Berkhamstead, England, Feb. 28, 1629.

Matthew, as it was afterwards spelled, lived to the Patriarchal age of 89 years and some months, married at Sudbury, July 7, 1654, Martha Lamson, and became the father of only nine children. By a very narrow margin he thus escaped being a Deacon; a man with fewer than 10 children apparently being utterly proscribed. ✠ ✠

In this rather remarkable family of eight daughters and one son the lines will not be traced here.

Sarah Rice, the eldest daughter, married John Looker, & had 4 children, the 3d. of whom, Henry Rice Looker, to make assurance doubly sure, married, in 1716 Mary Rice, (daughter of Ebenezer, son of Benj. 10 th. son of Deacon Edmund,) Shebeing his 2d. cousin. They became the Ancestors of Gov. Othniel Looker, 5th. Gov. of Ohio.

Apropos of this marriage of cousins, Coleridge once debated with Charles Lamb, the question of consanguinity and proved, to his own satisfaction at least, that the marriage of cousins was eminently sane, proper, just & right, and fraught with the best results for humanity. Coleridge certainly had ample backing & justification for his argument in the family and descendants of the Pilgrim Deacon.

Matthew's only son Isaac died Feb. 4, 1717-18 leaving 5 children; all daughters. This mistake was later rectified by the marriage of the 2d. dau. Martha, to William Rice, & they were the progenitors of the Ohio Rices, through the line of Matthew. In the death of Isaac Rice, the male descendants of Matthew, (6.5) in direct line, became extinct. His mother, Martha Rice, survived him & was past 90 at the date of his death, in 1717-18.

Benjamin Rice (11.10) was the 10th. child of the Deacon & the only son born in Mass. He was born, according to Sudbury records, May 31, 1640, and died Dec. 19, 1713, aged 73. ❀ ❀

Benjamin married Mary Brown, of Sudbury, about 1662, and resided there. Benj. Rice, on May 23d. 1685, sued Dr. William Avery, of Boston, for malpractice, verdict for defendant. ❀ ❀

An extract from the records of this suit relates that "one, Daniel Pond, testified that 10 years ago Benj. Rice came to my house in Deadham, with his feet frozen, and lodged there. Dr. Wm. Avery's son Benj. cut off one foot at the lowest joint and staunched the blood with a musquash skin." The old Dr. does not appear, from Pond's Extract, to have been present at the operation, & the malpractice, if any, was not chargeable to him, but to his presumptuous and irresponsible son, who adventured this feat of surgery purely on his own account. Benj. Rice was the first member of the family on record who got cold feet.

His son Ebenezer married Bethia Williams in 1698 & died in Sudbury June 21, 1724. Bethia Rice died July 6, 1721.

They left a family of 8 daughters and one son.

The oldest daughter, Mary Rice, mentioned under Matthew (6.5) became a progeniter of Gov. Looker of Ohio. Only 2 other daughters married and we do not know that they left any posterity.

The only son, Ebenezer Rice II. (born Nov. 24, 1709) married his second cousin, Anna Rice, and had 7 children. Three of these never married; two died in infancy, while Joseph & Benjamin, twins, born

Feb. 12, 1745, married twins, Mary Green * and Sarah Green. * And thus, so far as the tribe of Benjamin is concerned, endeth the chapter, all his posterity having gone to Greens. ❀ ❀

When little Benjamin, her 10th. and last child was in his 15th. year Tamazin Rice, died. (at Sudbury, June 13, 1654.) The record of her death is the only one wherein her name is found. She was doubtless a faithful, wise & prudent Pilgrim Mother. She had made her husband a Deacon. The careful observer who has read thus far in the Rice family history must be aware of an omission on the part of the Apostle Paul when he imparted to Timothy that "a Bishop must be the husband of one wife." He should have added that a Deacon shall be the father of 10 children. This seems to have been one of the rules of the Church in Mass. Colony. ❀ ❀ ❀

And so Edmund Rice became a Deacon, but not until after his son Benj. was born. All honor to our Grandmother Tamazin, she of the gypsy name. The Deacon's sincerest tribute to her worth was in speedily replacing her. ❀ ❀

* Verdant Green, Hettie Geen & Darius Green, are not of this family.

It was not long before he began to wear his Sunday hat on week days & "sit up" to Dame Mercie Brigham. He was only 60, a mere "broth of a lad" for that family, and in the light of his youthful countenance the widows weeds soon wilted. Mercy & the Deacon were married Mch. 1, 1655, but the wedding was strictly private owing to the fact that the Deacon was not yet out of mourning for his first wife.

The bride herself was only getting into lavender. Her 1st. husband, Thomas Brigham had been dead but 17 months. But marriage was a good thing & Mercie knew it and when the Deacon died she married again in 17 months, & she said "she didn't care!"

To the Deacon & his second wife were born two more children, both daughters. Ruth (12.11) was born Sept. 29, 1659, when the Deacon was 66 yrs. old. Ann (13.12) was born Nov. 19, 1661, when he was 68. Ann was the Deacon's swan-song. Ruth and Ann were the penultimate & anti-penultimate Rices of their generation.

Beyond the fact that both Ruth & Ann were happily married, (for we know to whom and when & where), we know nothing more of the after life of these two sisters.

Ruth married Samuel Welles and removed to Weathersfield, Conn., in 1684. They were the direct ancestors of Hon. Gideon Welles, Secretary of the Navy in President Lincoln's Cabinet.

Ann married Nathaniel Gerry, of Roxbury, Nov. 12, 1685, (son of Nathaniel Gerry and Ann Douglas, who were married at Roxbury, Oct. 14, 1685.)

Just how many children these younger sisters had we do not know. We only know that none of the Deacon's daughters were born in years when the peach crop failed & by only 7 sons he had 65 grandchildren.

And so our imagination, like a soaring Hippogriff, journey's straightway toward infinite numbers. Let some other chronicler straighten out the Welles and Gerry families and tell us, (for we do not know when she died.)

"How old was Ann?"

This Little Chapter telling the story of their descent from Deacon Edmund Rice is only meant for the posterity of Wm. Rice of Va. and Ohio, [1780-1827] for unto us it was given to inherit from the Puritan Deacon, through 2 of his English born Sons a double portion of Rice characteristics and obliquities.

William Rice, born 1697, was the 3d. son of Deacon Edmund Rice, (born Dec. 6, 1653) and Joyce Russell; Dea. Edmund was the 2d. son of Deacon Edward Rice, (born 1619) & his wife Anna; Edward was the 2d. son of Deacon Edmund, the Pilgrim.

Martha Rice, (born 1693) was the daughter of Isaac Rice (born May 1, 1668) and Sybil Collins; Isaac Rice was the son of Matthew Rice, 1629, 5th. child and 4th. son of Deacon Edmund Rice, the Pilgrim.

¶ Now William Rice (1697) & Martha Rice (1693) being great-grand children of Deacon Edmund & full second cousins on the Rice side, concluded, very sensibly, that this degree of consanguinity was not sufficient, & accordingly they were married at Sudbury, Mass., Oct. 7, 1719. William was at this time 22 years old and was the youngest member of his father's family. He had 2 brothers and 2 sisters. The oldest sister Joyce, married Samuel Abbot and became the progenitor of the long line of Abbots, who have been "Makers of History" in the U. S. ❀ ❀

Martha (Rice) Rice was born Oct. 17, 1793, and so was 26 years old plus 10 days, when she was married. She evened up this discrepancy by departing this life some years in advance of her younger husband. We do not have the exact date of her death, but William married on May 10, 1733, Hannah Graves, and there were soon 2 more Rices added to the family. These were Beulah 1735 and Micah 1740.

Martha, before her departure, had added to the Deacon's posterity 3 sons, and a daughter called "Sibleth." The sons were, Isaac Rice, born June 10, 1720; William, July 10, 1722; and Elijah, June 4, 1728. Elijah followed his parents example and married Elizabeth Rice, his 2nd. cousin, and became the father of a large family of double Rices. The father, William Rice, lived in Sudbury, until his death in 1769, aged 72. ❀ ❀

The second son, William, in whom we are most interested, born July 10, 1722, married Abigail Willis, of Sudbury, Aug. 16, 1753.

He was then living at Natick, & was 31 yrs. of age. They had four children born in Mass., viz: Isaac; Sarah; Ruth; and Abel. Abel was baptized at Natick, June 27, 1768. This is the last record we find of the family in Mass., for William & Abigail left that Commonwealth about 1769 and settled in Virginia, living throughout the Revolutionary War in Fairfax County. Here Abigail Rice died and William married again. We do not know whom he married, but it was probably not a Rice this time unless he returned to Mass. to hunt one.

To this union three sons were born; Samuel, Richard and William. The little William, born 1780, and brought up at the heels of the Revolution, was his father's 7th. child, tho' not a 7th. son. Living near Alexandria & Mt. Vernon it was probably a common sight for him to look upon the Father of his country and see the Washington family coach-and-four, as it started to Church at Powhick or Alexandria, or bore George & Martha to Gunston Hall to visit George Mason.

Just across from Alexandria, in Prince George Co. Maryland, dwelt the Hawley family. The first Hawley, Samuel, came to New England in 1639, just one year after Deacon Rice settled in Sudbury.

The Hawleys and the Rices had intermarried in Massachusetts & Connecticut and were related thru many lines. It was quite natural therefore that the boys of the Rice family, in Fairfax, should frequently cross the river and pay extended visits to the Hawleys of Prince George.

Samuel & Richard do not seem to have been hard hit, or if hard hit did not make good, or, possibly, (but this seems highly improbable in our family) there were not enough daughters of the house to go around; however this may be, when William Rice, the father died in 1804, the three boys at once started west, and after a long & adventurous journey settled in Belmont Co., Ohio.

In a short time Elizabeth Hawley appeared upon the scene, she having found an opportunity of coming to the Ohio Country with a family with whom she lived until her lover, Wm. Rice, could clear the land and build his log cabin. ❧ ❧

In 1810 William & Elizabeth were married and at once moved into this house, which is still standing and occupied. It was an exceedingly well built and commodious house for those days in Ohio. It consisted of 2 large rooms down stairs with a cut stone outside chimney at either end of the house;

a "lean-to" or shed, extending the entire length of these 2 rooms and also having a cut stone chimney; while above, an unusual luxury, were 2 half-story bed-rooms.

All this luxury had been provided by the hard work of William, aided and assisted by his two older brothers, Samuel and Richard. At the same time they each built cabins for themselves, but they were not so extensive or elaborate. One of them still stands, but the other was washed away, many years ago, by a freshet & the creek bed now marks its site.

In this "luxurious" cabin home were born the six children of Wm. and Elizabeth Hawley Rice.

This was the order and succession:

Charles Hawley Rice, born Nov. 25, 1811; died Oct. 8, 1898, aged 87.

Nancy Rice, born Feb. 17, 1813, died Apr. 11, 1904, aged 92.

Jemima Rice, born Nov. 10, 1814; died Nov. 25, 1814, aged 15 days.

Hannah Rice, born Oct. 20, 1816; died 1905, aged 89.

Richard Rice, born Feb. 17, 1818; died May 2, 1870, aged 52.

Elizabeth Rice, born March 25, 1821; died July 27, 1850, aged 29.

Our great-grand mother, Elizabeth Hawley Rice, did not long survive the birth of her last child and died during the summer of 1821. Her husband, Wm. Rice died in the Fall of 1827; the little home was abandoned and the 5 children were parceled out or divided around amongst the relatives and neighbors and were never to see or know much of each other thereafter. ♣ ♣

Both Wm. Rice & Elizabeth, his wife were buried at the little "meeting-house" grave yard known as "Hurford", 1 mile west of Bethesda, Belmont Co. O. A spot long neglected and the graves now almost obliterated.

The oldest son Charles Hawley, who was but eleven years old at the time of his mother's death, went immediately to the home of his Uncle Richard Rice, only a few rods distant from his birth-place, lived there during the winter and went to school to John Correy, at Burr's Station (now Bethesda.) In the Spring of 1828, after his father's death, he went to the home of John Williams, two miles east of Barnesville, in Belmont Co., to learn the Tailor's trade. With John Williams he lived four years & nine months. ♣

John was the son of Daniel Williams, of Chester Co., Pa., and the father of Casper Williams; all well known Orthodox Friends or Quakers. ♣

From this good family the young Tailor obtained a peculiarly valuable training, & acquired principles of integrity and honesty that were characteristics with him throughout his long & remarkably eventful life. His parents, in Va., and Maryland, had been Methodists, under the preaching of Bishops Coke, Asbury & Whatcoat; but Chas. Hawley Rice early joined the Friends, before the division in 1828, & eventually went with the Gurney branch in 1854.

In the Fall of 1832 he went to Salem, Ohio and attended school during that winter. The teacher was Dr. John Shreve. Of his schoolmates who attended that school with him during the winter of 1832-'33, one still survives in the person of Mrs. Mary Koll, at that date Mary Johnson- she was then 22 years old and Chas. H. Rice was 21. Mrs. Koll has recently passed her one hundred & first anniversary (Jan. 10, 1911) & is in good health.

The children of Dr. Benjamin Stanton and his wife Martha (Townsend) Stanton were also in this school. The oldest, Rebecca, born the same year as Chas. H. Rice, recently died, but a younger daughter in school that winter, Mrs. Laura Barnaby, now resides in Pasadena, Cal. and is in her 91st. year. What a school it must have been and what a teacher! He had been an officer in the American Revolution. He helped to capture and to guard Major Andre, & died at 95 years and 8 months, after living to greet Louis Kossuth to the City, of Alliance. And at least two of this Hero's pupils are living in this year of Grace. 1911 !!

Verily his works have not "followed him" very rapidly, and it has been an hundred and fifty and five years since he began them. ✻ ✻

In March 1833, the young Chas. Hawley, was taken violently ill, for the first and last time in his 87 years & was cared for at the home of Casper Williams until "Harvest time". In July he went to Cleveland, on foot; worked for a short time in a little shop on Superior Street, north side, about 1--2 block from the "City Square." He walked thence to Milan, in Huron County; thence to Lower, Sandusky and on to Tiffin, in Seneca Co., where he sewed in a tailor shop, until the latter part of Oct.

¶ When he returned to Salem, Nov. 1st. 1833, he had $40.00 in cash & enough cloth for a new coat. During this winter he again attended school & in the Spring of 1834, went to Damascus, O., where he established himself, in a neat little shop on the south side of Main St. ("Old State Road") about a half block west of the centre of the village.

While attending school in Salem he had met Margaret Pettit, (also born in Nov. 1811) and one day, in May 1834 saw her, with her younger sister, Charity, coming through town, walking down to the office of their older brother, Dr. Wm. Pettit, M. D. He followed them down the street, in his shirt sleeves, just as he had left the tailor's bench, and secured an introduction to the fair Charity, in Dr. Pettit's office. All was not strictly comme il faut, but Charity, doubtless flattered, and true to her name, could forgive or 'cover' a multitude of sins'. He called that evening and "sat up" till midnight

It was "love at first sight": the real thing. Two weeks later he went to visit her at her home near Hanover, and from that date till the 28th. of the next Jan. he never failed to visit the Pettit home every other Saturday night.

On the 28th. of Jan. 1835, Chas. Hawley Rice and Charity Dean Pettit were married, by Friend's ceremony, in the old Sandy Spring Meeting House, a mile north of Kensington, (at that time Ingram Station.) Charity had been a pupil of the famous Platt R. Spencer, and the wedding certificate, now owned by the writer, is a beautifully engrossed document, written by Spencer's own hand, and signed by some 50 or more relations & friends as witnesses to the Ceremony.

Certified to by this multitude of witnesses it is a pretty sure thing that our Grandparents were firmly & securely married & if any further attestation be wanted we find endorsed underneath the above list the names of some 30 persons who attended the celebration of their Golden Wedding 50 years later, or on Jan. 28, 1885.

Three years beyond that date did they live happily together, before death dissolved this certified contract, but it had been an eventful 53 years.

They began housekeeping in a house that stood on the present site of the Wesleyan M. E. Church Building, in Damascus, O. In Sept. 1835 they moved to Hanover, O. and here at the home of James & Elizabeth Raley their first and only child was born, on Nov. 27th. 1835. Very properly he was named William Pettit Rice, for on the Rice side of the house there was the long line of Williams, and on the Pettit side it was the name of his grand father & of his great-grand fathers for 4 generations back.

There were many upheavals & removals from this date onward. A number of years were spent in Minnesota, Wm. Pettit Rice taking with him his young bride Rachel (Hole) Rice, and in Minnesota their 2 oldest children were born. Harrassed by the Indians & driven from their homes the Parents, Children and Grandparents returned to Ohio, where Chas. Hawley & Charity Dean Rice spent a happy life and grew gracefully older until she died, in Alliance, Ohio, Nov. 19, 1887, aged 73. ❧

After 53 years of connubial bliss, Chas. H. Rice knew to a certainty that it was a good thing and with the courage of his convictions, at the age of 78, he married Deborah Bentley Trescott, a Quaker lady of high culture and genuine worth, who was to him a loving and faithful wife for ten years.

She was held in high esteem and loved by every member of the family and the marriage in old age was an unqualified success. Chas. Hawley Rice died in Alliance, Ohio, Oct. 8, 1898, at the age of 87 years and his widow died May 9, 1905, aged 80 yrs.

Of the other 4 children of Wm. & Elizabeth Rice the record will be brief, tho in some instances it covers a remarkably long life. Elizabeth, the youngest child, made her home with her oldest brother, Charles, and died at the early age of 29 yrs. She was an invalid for many years & was tenderly cared for by the brothers and their wives. She died July 27, 1850, and was buried at the Augusta Friends' Meeting House, near East Rochester, O.

Nancy Rice, the oldest daughter, married Henry Burton, Jan. 4, 1836. Henry Burton was born June 3d, 1806 and died Sept. 2, 1855. After his death Nancy Rice Burton married Charles Walker who died in 1889. To Nancy and Henry Burton were born 6 children, all now deceased. Only three of these children left posterity & Nancy Rice Burton had but 18 grand-children. Her second son, David, born Apr. 27, 1843, married Lavina Ford, Feb. 22, 1870. He died Jan. 9, 1891, leaving a widow and seven children, in Brown County, Indiana. ❀

The third son, Henry Burton Jr., (born Aug. 10, 1848) married Sarah Hawley, Feb. 19, 1885 and died at Toledo, Illinois, May 20, 1909. He is survived by the widow, 3 sons and a daughter.

A daughter of Nancy & Henry Burton, Ella, married Newton Parsley, and left four children, Mary, Frank, Newton and Jasper. ❀ ❀

Hannah Rice, the 4th child, married three times; Daniel Murdock; Israel Murdock and Wm. Lockridge. She died at Caryle, Iowa, 1905-aged 89 years. Richard Rice, the second son & 5th child of Wm. and Eliz. Rice, after the death of his parents was raised and educated by Jeremiah Harris who lived on Stillwater Creek in Belmont Co. Ohio.

He married, March 2nd 1841, Mary Mason, born

July 18, 1820, in Green Co. Penna. She had come into Ohio with her parents in 1826 and was in her 21st year at the date of her marriage. Richard Rice died May 2nd 1870 and was buried at Antioch, Monroe Co. Ohio. Mary Rice, his widow still lives (1911) and at 91 years of age is a remarkably handsome, intelligent and strong woman.

The writer visited her a few months ago & found her in the fullest possession of all her faculties, bright, cheerful and happy; able bodied and a perfectly sound piece of human mechanism. Only 2 of her eight children are living and with her daughter, Charity Ellen, widow of William Twinem she makes her home. It is also the home of her grand daughter Mabel Twinem Harmon, her husband & 2 children; thus making a delightful family of 4 generations under the one roof. Pearly Twinem, only son of Charity E. and Wm. Twinem with his 2 children Mabel and Catherine are next door neighbors.

All these live at Mt. Vernon, O. and constitute an ideal Patriarchial group or family.

The only other surviving child of Richard & Mary Rice is Henry Allen Rice, who resides in Nebraska and has one daughter, Bessie Lea (Rice) Martin. She has 2 children, Eunice & Mary Catharine. Through other children now deceased Richard and Mary Rice had 7 other Grand-children; and 4 other great Grand-children.
