* * * * "because
I cannot add a splendor to my name,
Reflective from a royal pedigree,
You interdict my language; but be pleas'd
To know, the ashes of my ancestors,
If intermingled in the tomb with kings,
Could hardly be distinguished. The stars shoot
An equal influence on the open cottage,
Where the poor shepherd's child is rudely nurs'd,
As on the cradle where the prince is rocked,
With care and whisper."

PREFACE.

IN collecting information relative to the "Richardson Family," I have in several instances continued the names of the children, even after they have been lost in marriage. This has been done because Mr. Richardson, the ancestor, having arrived in this country only one hundred and thirty years ago, has not now many descendants bearing his own name; having had but five grandchildren, and nine great grandchildren. In my investigations, have not been actuated by any foolish pride to show a descent from some titled personage of the Old World, but only to collect true facts.

It has been always a source of regret that information was not gained from Mr. Jeffrey Richardson, who died in 1805, relating to his ancestors, but such were the busy and stirring scenes of that period of our country, that little attention was given to pedigree and ancestry.

The name of Richardson is very common in Woburn, Ms., and was in Billerica, Ms., besides other neighboring towns; but there is not the least evidence to show any relationship to our branch.

I have also refrained from referring to various offices of trust and honor formerly, and now, held by several of the "Richardson Family," knowing their modesty would prefer all allusions to ~~the subject to be made by some future writer.~~

Among the ensuing descendants of Mr. Jeffrey Richardson, I find there were of the name—Mary, 13; James, 11; John, 9;

Sarah, 7; Anne, Charles, and Jeffrey, 6; Elizabeth, Jacob, Thomas, Nancy, Sarah, William, and Francis, 3; Nathaniel, Benjamin, Martha, Rebecca, and Abby, 2.

Also, among forty-five recorded deaths, between the ages of 1 and 5 years, 11; 5 and 10, 2; 10 and 20, 3; 20 and 30, 5; 30 and 40, 6; 40 and 50, 4; 50 and 60, 2; 60 and 70, 4; 70 and 80, 2; 80 and 90, 6;—total, 45, the average being 43 years.

It is impossible to thank all individually, for assistance given me in collecting these items; and I would therefore choose this opportunity to express my sincere thanks to all those who have aided me.

STATISTICS.

It has always been understood by the family that Mr. Jeffrey Richardson came from, and lived in the county of Yorkshire, England.

"Tradition's pages
Tell not the planting of the parent tree," as regards the town he lived in, however.

Nothing, I believe, is known of his father, except he was by occupation a brewer.

There is some doubt as to the correct date of Mr. Richardson's arrival in this country; also as to where he first landed, though by some it is thought to have been on the Jersey Coast. All efforts to ascertain the place of marriage have proved unsatisfactory, those who possessed the knowledge of these events, having "passed away," ere inquiries on the subject were commenced.

He lived for several years in Pond Lane, (now Bedford Street,) which took its name from the adjacent marshy land, near the Latin School; but at the time of death, was residing with his daughter, Mrs. Scott, in Winter Street.

1720. We first find mention of Mr. Richardson in Boston.

1739. Feb. 23. The first authentic record: "Thomas Richardson christened (in Trinity Church) by Rev. Addington Davenport."

1743. Apr. 3. Jeffrey Richardson, (8) christened by Rev. Addington Davenport.
1744. In a plan of pews taken this year, at Trinity Church, is recorded "Jeffrey Richardson, owner of pew Now 124 in the gallery."
1747. The following inscription is copied from a gravestone, in the Granary Burying Ground, being Mr. Richardson's youngest daughter. The stone lies side of her mother's.

Elizabeth Daur,
To Mrs. Jeffrey &
Mrs. Anne Richardson, aged 17 months.
died Oct ye 24,

1747.

1753. Capt. Hetherenton was wrecked off Martha's Vineyard, and his widow continued to reside with parents, in Pond (Bedford) St.
Dec. 16. Their son George was born, and baptized at "Trinity Ch."
1755. Mr. Thomas Richardson, (7) commenced time with Thomas Symmes, tailor, in Devonshire Street.
1758. Mr. Jeffrey Richardson, (8) commenced apprenticeship as a Rope maker with John Gray, whose ropewalks extended from Milk Street to Cow Lane (High Street.)
1759. Sept. 13. Mr. Jacob Richardson, (6) who was living at Newport, R. I., kept a bookstore, and as will be seen, married a Miss Hammond. She was a descendant of William H., of London, who married a sister of William Penn, the Quaker, about 1621. Her brother married Mary Scott, a niece of Dr. Benjamin Franklin, and died in the hospital of the Jersey Ship, 1781, at New York.
1760. July 14. Mary R. (5) married to Capt. Scott, of London, Eng., by Rev. William Hooper, of Trinity Church. Many years he commanded the packet "Minerva." They lived in Winter Street, near Winter Place, till after her father's death, when moved to Woburn, Ms., remaining through the war, and at its close, moved to Boston, and lived in Ackmuty's Lane, (Essex Street,) opposite Dr. Adams's Church. House now demolished.
1763. June 27. Mr. Thomas Richardson, (71) was published, and his marriage took place at Mr. Symmes' house, on Tremont Street, near the Metropolitan House. The house was demolished some years since, but from its peculiar structure is well remembered.

1764. Oct. 4. Mrs. Hetherenton (4) was published to John Soren, a baker, in Marlboro', now Washington Street.
1766. Her son, George, (9) went to Norwich, Ct., and was married; died in 1800, leaving five children.
1766. Mar. 31. Mr Jeffrey Richardson (8) was married by Dr. Sewall, of "Old South Church"; and this year commenced business for himself, near to Mr. Gray's Ropewalks.
1770. Mar. 5. Will long be remembered as the day of the "Boston Massacre." Mr. Jeffrey Richardson (8) being present, was supposed to have been killed, as the description of Samuel Grey (killed) answered to him. At a trial of the British soldiers, his deposition was taken, and annex a copy of it.

(No. 6.)

I Jeffrey Richardson, testify and say that on Friday the 2nd inst about 11 o'clock, A. M. eight or ten soldiers of the 29th regiment armed with clubs came to John Gray's ropewalks, and challenged all the rope-makers to come out, and fight them.

All the hands then present to the number of 13 or 14 turned out with their mouldring sticks, and beat them off directly. They very speedily returned to the ropemakers, reinforced to the number of 30 or 40, and headed by a tall negro drummer, again challenged them out, which the same hands accepting again, beat them off with considerable bruises. And further I say not.

Jeffrey Richardson (signed)

The above sworn to before

Richard Dana, }
John Hill. } Justice* of the Peace.

1771. Mar. 9. He purchased a lot of land in Cow Lane, (High Street).
1771. June 8. ~~He purchased an adjoining lot, on which was a dwelling~~ house. This was near corner of Atkinson Street, and it is supposed he lived here, till he purchased the estate corner of "Cow" and "Griffin's Lane" (High and Pearl Streets.)

1774. Oct. 25. An application was offered for change of pew No. 124, to No. 123, in Trinity Church.

The Boston Port Bill having passed Parliament, Gov. Gage prevented intercourse between town and country.

1775. Aug. Mr. Jeffrey Richardson, (8) wife and family went to Dighton, Ms., to house of John Clouston.

Sept. 29. Mr. Jeffrey Richardson, (11) died, and was buried in the Granary Burying Ground. The battle at Lexington recently occurring, and great excitement prevailing, no tablet showed his burial, the old folks saying, "it was in the time of the siege." He was a man though of retiring disposition, yet possessed of strong prejudices, and was a very constant attendant at Trinity Church.

Am told such was the non-intercourse between Boston and the country, prior to his death, that he would sit at his door, in Winter Street, watching with much interest the market wagons as they passed by.

1776. Mar. Mr. Jeffrey Richardson, (8) and family (the British having evacuated Boston,) returned from Dighton.

1778. May. Mr. R. (8) records the following: "Received of Engine Co., No. XI, $3 pr piece, which I delivered to John Champney, to hire 3 men for the Continental Army, (it being our part,) by order of Col. Hatch."

1778. Oct. 5. He joined the "Free & Independent Whig Society of Observation." Edward Proctor, John Lowell, Esqrs., admitted same evening.

1779. June. Mr. R. (8) records the following: "Received $20 from Engine Co. XI, and delivered it to Capt. John Champney to hire four men for the continental army per orders of Col. Hatch."

Oct. 12. Thomas Richardson (7) entered the army, and was engaged in the battles of Ticonderoga and West Point.

1780. Mrs. Jeffrey Richardson (2) died; and the following is copied from gravestone in Granary Burying Ground:

Here lyes buried the Body of Mrs. Ann
Richardson, wife of Mr.
Jeffrey Richardson,
Who died January ye
5th, 1780, aged 48 years.

1780. Capt. Scott, (5) like his brother-in-law, was lost at sea. For many years he sailed between Boston and London, commanding Ship "Minerva," and on last voyage was in sight of home, when was wrecked on Marshfield Beach.

A singular incident occurred, which like others, must for present remain unexplained.

His brother-in-law (8) was awoke early one morning, hearing his name called, and remarked to his wife, "Brother Scott (5) has arrived and called me." She intimated, "it was probably only a dream." After a few moments again was started, and getting up, told wife, "Bro. Scott surely called me;" but finding no one at the door, retired to sleep, having made a minute of the event, so much was he impressed by it. Within a few days, news was brought that early that morning he had been awoke, Capt. Scott was wrecked and drowned near Marshfield shore.

His widow lived in Essex Street some years.

1782. Mar. 5. The General Court resolved that 85 men be raised in Boston for completing and recruiting the Mass. Line of troops: "ordered, that the Assessors with a Committee be directed to class the inhabitants into 85 classes in proportion to taxes, and appoint a person at head of each class, and deliver to him a list as the persons stood in October last, which shall be the rule by which each person shall pay toward procuring a man for said class." Mr. R. was sixth largest of No. 8,—£11. 6. 0.
1784. Aug. 18. Mr. R. bought house and land corner of High and Pearl Streets, where he lived till the fire of 1794.
1789. Nov. 1. Mr. Jeffrey Richardson Jr., (39) christened by Rev. Samuel Parker, of Trinity Church.
1790. Mr. Richardson (8) was chosen Surveyor of Hemp, which office he held till 1803, when resigned.
1790. Mr. Thomas Richardson, (7) who, since close of war, resided in the city, died and buried in the Granary Burying Ground.
1791. May 12. Mr. Jeffrey Richardson (8) took a deed of pew No. 99, in Trinity Church, which he occupied till death.
1792. Mr. Jeffrey Richardson (8) and Capt. Parker, who were for many years apprentices to John Gray, purchased of James Brackett &

Son, the Schooner "Abigail;" Capt. P. commanding, and James Brackett, Jr., mate, and entered into trade with Martinico, &c.

1793. July. Mr. John Soren (4) and Oliver Peabody Holyoke, of Boxford, Ms., kept a grocery store, 44 Cornhill, and at 8 Dock Square. Mr. S. sailed in Ship "Enterprise," from Hamburg to Surinam, as supercargo, and came across British transport ship "Isabella," which, being apparently in distress, Mr. S. attempted to aid, when he was seized by Captain of "Isabella," pretending the "Enterprise" was a French vessel, and took her into Teneriffe. After much trouble the vessel was freed, and sold at a loss of £400.

1793. Mr. Jeffrey Richardson (8) petitioned Legislature, and bought a tract of land running parallel with Pearl Street, and between the walks of Thomas Davis and Samuel Emmons, near one he formerly hired and bought of Harvard College, on which he built a ropewalk.

1794. July 30. There were three pirates to be hung; and Mr. Howe rose early to build fires in the ropewalk, that some jobs might be completed, and the workmen be allowed the privilege of witnessing the execution. In his hurry, some tar overboiled, and caught some loose hemp and tarred yarn about the floor on fire, which very soon spread to the neighboring walks, and thus was the entire tract from Milk Street to the water's edge, and beyond Atkinson, on High Street, to Hutchinson (Pearl) Street entirely laid waste by the fire. There was little or no insurance, and it is said this great fire led to the establishing of insurance offices.

Mr. Richardson (8) had only remarked the previous eve to a neighbor, he would not change situations with any mechanic in Boston; but now in twenty-four hours his dwelling, brick-store, ropewalks, &c., entirely destroyed.

"The number of buildings consumed was 96; of these, 43 were dwelling-houses. The whole loss given in to the 5th of November, by an hundred and fifty sufferers, amounted to $209,861.53, exclusive of several large sums not exhibited."

The subscriptions for the aid of the sufferers was liberal; and a meeting was held at once in Faneuil Hall, for their relief. The town immediately took measures to prevent the rebuilding of the ropewalks; and it was voted "that there be granted to the six owners of the ropewalks in this town, lately destroyed by fire, a piece of marsh land and flats at the bottom of the Common in said town, upon certain terms and conditions." One condition was, "they build a sea-wall at their own expense."

Mr. R., with five others, accepted the grant.

After the fire, Mr. R. and family hired house on Milk Street, adjoining "Birth-place of Franklin," and in four months, a new house on old spot was erected, in which Mr. R. died, and which within a year has been demolished, and given place to granite stores.

1796. Aug. 31. The city gave a deed of land on which a ropewalk was built near Common, to Mr. Richardson (8).
1796. Mr. Soren and wife (14) went to England, and petitioned the British Government for compensation for loss of Ship "Enterprise." Mary Ann and Martha Maria (26, 27) were born in London, and baptized in "St. George," the Martyr's Church. Mrs. Soren, on return home, resided in Dorchester.
1799. Capt. Parker's wife died, and buried at Middleton, Ms. The following is the epitaph on gravestone.

In memory of Rebeckah Parker widow of Capt. Benjamin Parker,
Who Died Dec. 22, 1799,
aged 36 years.
"Life is a blessing that cant be fold,
The ranfom is too high;
Justice will ne'er be bribed with gold
That man may never die."

Mrs. Parker was possessed of much beauty. Her husband followed her the next year, and buried in the "Common" Burying Ground. Their daughter was adopted by Mr. Richardson (8). The intimacy with Capt. P. gave name to Mr. R.'s youngest son, ~~(113) Benjamin Parker.~~

1800. Sept. 29. Mr. Richardson (8) commenced building a house in Pleasant Street.

1800. John S. Richardson (67) had kept a "Circulating Library," with his father, at head of Long Wharf, Newport, R. I., and at his death, left the house to his sisters, who continued the library, and there resided till their deaths.
1801. Sept. 28. Mr. Richardson (8) commenced building another store in High, near Atkinson Street, adjoining former store.
1802. July 10. Mr. Elnathan Richardson; (73) a very fine young man, was killed while gunning near Newport, R. I.
1802. Mr. Soren (14) returned from London.
1803. Capt. Nathaniel H. Richardson (72) sailed for Boston, pr "Fredonia," from London, and the vessel was never heard from.
His wife's mother owned the estate foot of Temple Place, half of which was recently occupied by Charles C. Holbrook & Co.; and at his death, Mrs. Richardson returned home, and with her mother, kept a millinery store on this spot.
1804. Mr. Richardson (8) sold his ropewalk to Isaac P. Davis, Esq.
1804. Mr. James Scott, (32) who for several years had been foreman of Mr. Richardson's ropewalks, now built a small "walk" in his yard in Elliot Street, for manufacturing twine, &c., which he continued till his very sudden death in 1808.
1805. Oct. 26. Mr. Richardson (8) died. He was one of the most active and enterprising men of his time, possessed of strong attachments, benevolent, and one of the oldest worshippers at Trinity Church.
He was witness at the trial of the British soldiers in 1770, and an active Whig of the Revolution. The Columbian Centinel mentions his death, and the Boston Episcopal Charitable Society, of which for many years he had been a member, attended his funeral. His body rests in his own tomb, in the "Common" Burying Ground.
1805. Capt. Soren again visited England about the ship "Enterprise."
1805. Nov. Mr. Jeffrey Richardson (39) commenced life as an apprentice, afterwards clerk with John and Samuel D. Harris & Co., who were then one of the wealthiest firms in Boston. Mr. Jonathan Harris, the senior member of the firm, had just built his immense house, afterwards called "Harris's Folly," on corner of High and Pearl Streets.

1811. Dec. 1. Commenced Iron business in the store on the east corner of Kilby and Central Streets, and removed 1812. June 1, to corner of India and Milk Streets. Mr. James B. Richardson (110) now entered his store as apprentice, having been with Samuel May, Hardware Merchant.
1815. Mr. Soren (14) returned to Boston, receiving no benefit from the British Government, and went into the Tea Trade, in Court Street.
- His son John (28) is now cashier of Boylston Bank.
1815. Mr. Jeffrey Richardson (108) became one of fifty to build Central Wharf.
1815. Mar. 22. James Scott (32) died. He had carried on a book bindery at 31 State Street. He was quite a politician and military man. Resided in Cambridge Street, near bridge. Was much beloved, and though dying early, "won a host of friends." Buried in the Richardson Tomb, in the "Common" Burying Ground, under arms, by the Independent Fusiliers, being an officer of their company.
1817. Jan. 1. Mr. Jeffrey Richardson, (108) having obtained at auction, the first choice of stores on Central Wharf, now completed, chose No. 2, and with his brother James (110) moved there, continuing the Iron business to the present time. The firm now commenced as J. & J. B. Richardson.
1817. Mr. Benjamin P. Richardson (113) commenced his apprenticeship with J. & J. B. Richardson (108, 10).
1826. Mr. Benjamin P. Richardson (113) entered the firm of J. & J. B. Richardson, which was changed to J. Richardson & Bros.
1828. Lieut. J. Davis (18) died at St. Augustine, Florida, of consumption. An interesting narrative of his pious and true life, as a soldier for the cross, as well as of the army, was published by the Charleston, S. C. Unitarian Book and Tract Society.
1837. Dec. 2. Mrs. Jeffrey Richardson died Early in life she made a profession of religion, in which she trusted as well in bereavement as in joy.

— "Of the thousand strings which waken—
The sleeping harp within the human heart,
The longest kept in tune, though oft forsaken,
Is that in which the mother's voice hath part."

1838. Mar. 4. Miss Virginia Davis (28) died at Cambridge, Ms., having been placed there by her step-father, Capt. Wilcox, U. S. N., to attend school. Since her father's death, (18) just mentioned, her mother (18) died, and thus early left an orphan, seemed peculiarly adopted by her Heavenly Father. "Her mind was of the highest order, united with a modest and undisguised disposition. Miss D. became a Christian in health, loved religion early, and early walked with God."

After her death, a little book was published on her life, called "The Dying Child of Heaven."

1841. Mr. James B. Richardson (110) purchased an estate in Summer Street, and moved from Gridley Street, where he had lived the last twenty-three years.
1843. Dec. 3. Mrs. Jeffrey Richardson (8) died, aged 80 years, and was buried in the Richardson Tomb, in the "Common" Burying Ground.

The Christian Witness contained an article commemorative of her many virtues, which had endeared her to an extensive circle of friends. Her death, though a deep bereavement to her children and grandchildren, was associated with feelings of gratitude that her life had been so long spared, so usefully spent, and so quietly and hopefully closed.

1850. Oct. -Mr. Benjamin P. Richardson (113) moved from house corner of Atkinson and High Streets, to Hancock Avenue.
1851. Oct. 4. Mr. Jeffrey Richardson (108) moved from the old Mansion House, High Street, built 1794, to Tremont Street, where he now resides.
1856. May 24. Mr. Benjamin P. Richardson (113) bought estate in Boylston Street, where he moved, and now resides.
1858. Rev. Jacob R. Scott (57) has been Pastor of Baptist Church in Petersburg, Va., Portland, Me., Fall River, Ms., Rochester, N. Y., and now over Church in Yonkers, N. Y. He graduated at Brown University.
1858. Rev. James L. Scott (56) has been Rector of Episcopal Church, Clappville, Ms.; now over churches at Washington and Marbledale, Ct. He graduated at Trinity College, Hartford, Ct.
1858. The Old Homestead, Pearl Street, belonging to Mr. Jeffrey Richardson, was sold to Elisha Niles Holbrook and Jonathan Preston,

Esqs. ; and also the former residence of Mr. James B. Richardson, on Gridley Street, to different parties, and on the spot is now erected granite stores known as the "Richardson Block."

1858. Mr. B. P. Richardson also sold his former residence, on High Street, to Alexander Read, Esq., and it is partially changed to a store.
1859. This entire neighborhood is changed ; hardly to be recognized as the place of ten years ago. The slow but advancing tread of granite warehouses, and increase in value of land, caused the residents to gradually sell or build, and remove to other parts of the city for a residence.

The dwellings at the upper and lower end of High Street, plainly indicate they were not built for the present occupants.

This street was formerly called "Cow Lane." An octogenarian lately told me, that he lived in this street when first married, and his wife would complain she was ashamed of such a name for the street, and unpleasant for her to invite her friends to "Cow Lane." He says, "I told her to talk with all the neighbors she visited ;" and thus many were led to complain of the name, and soon "Cow Lane" became of the Past, and "High Street" succeeded it.
