P R E F A C E

This record starts with David Roe, immigrant ancestor of one branch of the Roe family in America. Two questions are immediately suggested: "Who were the forebears of David Roe?" and "What are the other lines of Roes in America?" These questions are discussed briefly below but complete answers cannot be given.

FOREBEARS OF DAVID ROE

These are not known but it seems certain that they were English. While David Roe was at Flushing, Long Island, John Roe, another immigrant, was active in the Township of Brookhaven, fifty miles to the eastward. There is no record proof, but these men may have been brothers. Each had two sons named John and Nathaniel and two daughters named Mary and Elizabeth. The daughters could have been named for the wives of the two men. John is a common name but that a son in each family should have been given the name Nathaniel suggests a memory of a common forebear or relative.

Back in Suffolk, on the east coast of England, lived the Rev. Nathaniel Roe, a graduate of Cambridge University (1589) and rector of Benacre, Suffolk, 1614-1645. He was associated in some way with the Rev. John Youngs* who came to America in 1640 and was active in Southold, Long Island, during the lifetimes of David and John Roe. The suggestion is obvious that David and John Roe may have been related to Nathaniel Roe of Benacre and that both named sons after him. However, since Nathaniel Roe was an educated man and David Roe could not sign his own name, it is not likely that the relationship was that of father and son. There has been no attempt to trace the genealogy of Nathaniel Roe of Benacre.

One authority has listed the following English counties as "homes" of the Roe family in Great Britain: Lincolnshire, Somersetshire (Bridgwater), and Nottinghamshire. Another writer adds Hertfordshire. Burke's "General Armory" lists seven armorial bearings authorized for individuals named Roe, six of them featuring a roebuck, and all seven based upon the Norman shield. Sir Thomas Roe, 1581-1644, educated at Oxford, was a distinguished diplomatist and scholar. In a register of graduates from Oxford University one counts thirteen bearing the name Roe in the 129-year period 1440-1569, averaging one every ten years. Nathaniel Roe of Benacre could have been related to any or all of these. In the library of the Society of Genealogists in London is a chart showing seven generations starting with William Roe, son of Roger, buried at Macclesfield 1650. Among the individuals shown on this chart are Samuel Roe of Grays Inn (probably a lawyer), William Roe, rector of Pitchford, Herts., born 1683, and his son Samuel, vicar of Stotfold, B. A., Kings College, Cambridge University. In more recent times, the name Roe has been favorably known through its association with British aviation. Humphrey Verdon Roe and his brother Sir Alliott Verdon-Roe developed the Avro biplane and founded the firm of A. V. Roe & Co., Ltd., in 1910, which built planes for the Royal Air Force in World Wars I and II.

OTHER LINES OF ROES IN AMERICA

Lines descending from John Roe of Brookhaven have been recorded through six generations and the compilation is available in manuscript form in several libraries. This and the present record of David Roe are the only records known undertaking to trace complete lines of descendants from immigrant Roes. In Appendix B are listed some of the names and collateral information of the Roes which have been encountered by the present compilers and which could not be connected with either of these two genealogies. That there were many immigrants named Roe capable of founding additional lines is amply shown by such records as are available. For example, "Emigrants from England, 1773-76", published 1913 by the New England Historic Genealogical Society, lists Joseph Roe of London, age 15, and Roger Roe of Somerset, age 23, as licensed to sail to Philadelphia as indentured servants. There must have been many more of the name in earlier years.

There has inevitably been much confusion of the names Roe and Rowe. These are two distinct families but clerks and recorders, especially in earlier days when exact spelling was ^{not} considered important, frequently mixed up the spellings of the two names because they were pronounced alike. In old records the two spellings are often found in the same entry, applying to one individual. Many individuals are known to have arbitrarily changed the spelling of their own names, adding further to the difficulties of research. But in more recent times the two spellings definitely indicate different lines. Statements that Hugh Roe might have been a third brother of David and John Roe and that the line terminating with Major General Charles F. Roe, commander of the New York National Guard, was related to David or John Roe do not take account of the spellings of the names. Hugh was a Rowe and the General's immigrant ancestor was Matthew Rowe.

ORIGINS OF THE ROE FAMILY

An account of the ancient history of the family was published in 1890 by Rear Admiral Francis A. Roe, son of Isaac Roe, No. 118, herein. It is entitled "Historic Records of an Old Family," and undertakes to show that the name was of Norse origin, was carried to Normandy and thence to England, and that other Norsemen took the name direct to Ireland. Admiral Roe's interesting account of the early history of the family has been copied and referred to many times by others. It still represents the only effort to trace the name back to ancient times. However, it does not attempt to connect the English Roes of more modern times with these ancient Norsemen, leaving the question of the origins of the line of David Roe still uncertain.

DAVID ROE OF FLUSHING

A genealogical record of the first six generations in the line of David Roe of Flushing was published by Clarence Almon Torrey in 1926, after many years of research. In the thirty years that have elapsed since that publication, no errors of major importance have been discovered but many additional data have come to light, enabling more complete statements to be added at many points throughout the book. Also, work had gone forward in collecting material on the seventh and eighth generations. It is now possible, therefore, to present a revised record of the original six generations plus a new compilation of parts of the seventh and eighth.

The record of the seventh generation herein is incomplete and, of course, the names in the eighth generation have been included only when available, no search having been made beyond the seventh. Whereas earlier generations remained for the most part in New York and New Jersey, the seventh and eighth had become quite widely distributed throughout the country and the compilers were in many cases unable to find descendants or relatives who could furnish the information needed.

When working on the record of John Roe of Brookhaven and Some of His Descendants, Mr. Torrey was afforded important help through the loan of records of the late Hon. Alfred Seelye Roe of Worcester, Massachusetts, by his daughters, Misses Annabel C. Roe and Harriet E. Roe. Mr. Roe had circulated printed forms among Roes throughout the country about seventy years ago, his purpose being to secure data on the descendants of John Roe of Brookhaven. However, many of the completed and returned forms were eventually found to pertain to descendants of David Roe of Flushing. These were used in the present revision and the assistance thus afforded is gratefully acknowledged.

and SOME OF HIS DESCENDANTS

* * * * *

1 DAVID¹ ROE, immigrant ancestor of one branch of the Roe family in the United States of America, was an early settler at Flushing, Long Island. Owing to the destruction of the Flushing land records by fire in 1789, the year in which he became a resident of Flushing is unknown, but it was probably about 1666. His taxable property was listed in 1675 as follows:

Landes 16
madoes 6
oxen and boles 02
Cowes 6
thre yer oldes 01 to yere oldes 02
yerlinges 01
swine 06
shepe 16

In 1683 another rate list was made from which it appears that he was taxed on the following real and personal property, showing a considerable increase over his holdings in 1675:

Upland acres 20
Meadow acres 15
Horses 1
Oxen 4
Cowes 6
3 yere olds 5
2 yere olds 3
1 yere olds 7
Swine 2
Sheep 20

He was among the well-to-do citizens of Flushing, owning lands, farm stock, carpenter's tools, and two slaves, Sam and Hannah. Only six persons in Flushing paid a higher tax than he in 1683.

David Roe's farm was on the east side of a small bay in the shore line of Queens County on Long Island Sound. The small bay came to be known as Roe's Cove but when, in 1786, the Roe farm passed into possession of the Powell family, the name was changed to Powell's Cove and it remains so today. A residential development was started in 1908, known as Malba, largely upon land originally included in David Roe's homestead. (See Appendix D.)

Although there is no evidence that David Roe ever joined the Society of Friends, it is likely that he was in sympathy with their views. His daughter Elizabeth is mentioned in their records. Samuel Bowne and Francis Doughty, both members of the Society, were named in David Roe's will as "my loving friends". Samuel Bowne was a son of John Bowne who had suffered imprisonment and banishment for allowing the Friends to hold meetings in his house. Flushing, under Dutch rule, had been a center of an important struggle to establish religious freedom. David Roe, coming there shortly afterward, could not have been unaware of this struggle and its aftermath. The old Quaker meeting house, still in use, was built in 1695 and it is possible that David Roe, with his carpenter's tools, assisted in its construction.

His wife Mary was living in 1698 when the New York Provincial Census was taken but she is not mentioned in his will, dated Dec. 26, 1702. He died before July 12, 1707, when his will was proved. ^{As this document is of considerable interest, it is copied here in full:}

He was said to have been buried on his farm. (See Appendix D.)

Patience.

- i Elizabeth, b. about 1668; m. about 1688, Samuel Tatem of Flushing. They had four children who were living in 1698. Her husband was a member of the Society of Friends and presumably she became a member. She d. Dec. 4, 1699, and he m. (2) Dec. 13, 1701, Mary Southwick of Rhode Island. She was probably a daughter of Josiah and Mary (Boyce) Southwick, b. in November, 1664, at Salem, Mass.
- 2 ii Nathaniel, b. about 1670; m. (1) Elizabeth ———; m. (2) Mercy (——) Price.
- 3 iii John, b. about 1672; m. (1) ——— Hedger; m. (2) Grace (Mills) Ward.
- iv Mary, b. about 1677; she was single in 1698 when the census was taken, but m. Amos Smith before Dec. 26, 1702, the date of her father's will.

of Jamaica

2 NATHANIEL² ROE (David¹), born about 1670, probably in Flushing, N. Y.; married (1) about 1694, Elizabeth -----; after her death he married (2) Mercy (-----) Price, a widow, whose daughter Susanna became the wife of his son William.

He inherited all of his father's lands in Flushing and probably added to his holdings by purchase. His will, dated May 25, 1726, proved Aug. 2, 1738, mentions his wife Mercy, his five sons and his wife's daughter Susan or Susannah Price. ~~-----~~ Widow Mercy married (3) Aug. 26, 1754, as his second wife, Edmund Concklin, widower, of Ulster County, N. Y. He was a son of Nicholas and Sarah (Hunt) Concklin, born about 1697.

From a military record in 1710 it appears that Nathaniel Roe was in Goshen, Orange County, N. Y. In this record he is called "Capt." He was back in Flushing in July, 1711, when he is mentioned in the list of inhabitants having provisions in their possession. He is recorded as having served in 1715 in a militia company in Flushing.

Children of first marriage, born in Flushing:

- 4 i David, b. about 1695; m. Deborah -----.
- 5 ii Nathaniel, b. about 1702; m. Mary -----.

Children of second marriage:

- 6 iii William, b. about 1705; m. Susanna Price.
 - iv John, b. about 1709; was mentioned in 1726 in his father's will and was living in 1738 when it was proved.
- 7 v Benjamin, b. about 1712; m. Ruth Miller.

She was also a great-granddaughter of John Wickes and his wife Mary who came over in the "Hopewell" from Staines, Middlesex, England. John Wickes was a son of Robert Wickes, gentleman, of Staines. He became a resident of Warwick, R. I., where he held important offices for many years. He was killed by Indians in King Philip's War in 1675.

3 JOHN² ROE (David¹), born probably about 1672 in Flushing, N. Y.; married (1) ——— Hedger, daughter of Thomas and Elizabeth (Burton) Hedger of Flushing, born about 1675. She was a granddaughter of Thomas Hedger, Sr., who emigrated to Warwick, R. I., prior to 1638, probably from Royston, Herts., England. He is recorded as a sergeant in a company of militia at Warwick, R. I., and as a member of a jury. John Roe and his family moved to Gloucester County, N. J., between Oct. 1, 1696, and March 1, 1697/8, where he had bought three parcels of land aggregating 400 acres. His home was on Queen's Road on the East Branch of Timber Creek, now Gloucester River, comprising the tract he had purchased from Isaac Wood in 1696.

His wife died and he married (2) Grace (Mills) Ward, widow of William Ward of Upton, Gloucester County, N. J. She became a widow upon the death of Ward August 21, 1702, but the date of death of John Roe's first wife is not known, nor the date of his second marriage. It is possible that the three youngest children were children of the second marriage but circumstantial evidence suggests otherwise and they are all accordingly listed as children of the first marriage.

When John Roe's wife Grace was baptized in the First Presbyterian Church of Philadelphia April 2, 1710, she was called "Grace Roe wife of John of Cohanzey," from which it appears that he then resided in Salem County, N. J. He returned to Gloucester County, N. J., before Aug. 10, 1711, when his will was made. He died before Oct. 9, 1711, when the inventory of his personal estate was taken.

The widow of John Roe lived in Evesham Township, Burlington County, N. J., for a number of years, but returned to Gloucester County before her death. She died intestate before Jan. 25, 1758, the date of her probate.

Children mentioned in John Roe's will:

8 i John, b. about 1694; m. Elizabeth Siex.

ii Benjamin.

iii Deborah.

iv Susanna.

v Uriah.

9 vi Henry, b. about 1705; m. Hannah Cheesman.

10 vii David, b. about 1707; m. (1) Elizabeth (———) Taber; m. (2) Ursula Hurff.

viii Jemima.

 4 DAVID³ ROE (Nathaniel² David¹), born about 1695 at Flushing, N. Y.; married Deborah ——— who is mentioned in his will, dated July 20, 1758, and proved March 23, 1767. He was a member of the Flushing company of militia in 1715. He was a vestryman in the Presbyterian Church at Jamaica in 1717. He is called "Gent." He married at Jamaica, L. I., N. Y., Nov. 10, 1717, Elizabeth Siex. They lived at Jamaica for about a year after their marriage and then settled on some land in Gloucester County, N. J., formerly owned by his father. Before April 15, 1728, they removed to Hempstead, L. I., and lived there until 1734 or later when they removed to Oyster Bay, L. I. At Hempstead they attended St. George's Episcopal Church where five of their children were baptized. 2 HENRY³ ROE (John² David¹), born about 1705, made his will Feb. 25, 1750, and it was proved March 13, 1750. According to the inscription on his tombstone he died Jan. 31, 1750, aged 45, but this date is obviously incorrect. His death was due to smallpox. He was said to have been very tall. A man of keen business talent, he acquired large tracts of land which included cedar swamps in southern New Jersey and 500 acres near New Whippany, Morris County, N. J. He was putting up a sawmill when overtaken by his final illness.

On his tombstone in Wallan's graveyard, near Blackwood, N. J., is found a row of capital letters:

H.A.S.D.N.J.J.R.H.U.J.

which long excited the wonder of antiquarians. These letters proved to be the initial letters of the names of his wife and their children, arranged in the order of their births.

Henry Roe married Hannah Cheesman, daughter of Richard and Hannah (Stringham) Cheesman (mar. lic. Feb. 16, 1729). They resided in Gloucester Township, Gloucester County, New Jersey. After his death she removed to Philadelphia. She was probably the "widow Roe" who was buried Nov. 29, 1776, according to the records of the Old Swedes' Church in Philadelphia.

His real estate holdings in Flushing were extensive. His will, dated March 24, 1788, proved Oct. 1, 1796, mentions sons David, John and William and daughters Elizabeth Wright, Mary Thorne and Catherine Roe. His son William received the dwelling house and farm which had belonged to Ezekiel's grandfather Nathaniel Roe, "formerly upon land belonging to John Thorne upon the Road which leads to Flushing Town." To his son John, Ezekiel willed the home and land at Bayside which he had purchased of Colonel Ludlow and which continued in possession of his descendants for four generations. Ezekiel's will also mentioned land which had belonged to his father David Roe. Among the items which the will directed to be sold were three slaves.

*Eugene C. Roe (grandson of John Roe, No. 61), a lawyer, wrote in 1924 that this situation could be explained if it were known that Elizabeth Thorne was a Quaker. Quaker marriages and marriages by contract were legal in her day and inferentially William Roe and Elizabeth Thorne might have been married in that way. "The acknowledgment of these sons and Elizabeth Thorne as their mother presumes a civil-contract marriage and makes them legitimate."

12 WILLIAM⁴ ROE (David³ Nathaniel² David¹), born about 1722 in Flushing, N. Y.; married Martha ———. His will, dated Dec. 26, 1780, proved Nov. 5, 1782, mentions land in Flushing and in Gloucester County, N. J. *"Betsey" Roe, an adult, was baptized Oct. 2, 1791, at St. George's Church, Flushing. There is also a record of the marriage of Elizabeth Roe of Flushing to William Phillips of Poughkeepsie, Nov. 13, 1797. Either or both of these entries could have referred to William Roe's daughter.

13 DAVID⁴ ROE (David³ Nathaniel² David¹), born, probably, about 1725, in Flushing, N. Y.; married (1) ——— (Lawrence?); married (2) Sarah Phillips (mar. lic. Dec. 30, 1773). 14 JOHN⁴ ROE (David³ Nathaniel² David¹), born, presumably, about 1727, at Flushing, N. Y.; married Grietje Stryt who may have lived in or near Fishkill. He witnessed the will of Oliver Smith of the Precinct of Goshen Dec. 22, 1761. His name is on the tax list of Goshen Township in 1775. On June 21, 1775, he was recorded as exempt from military service on account of age and infirmities. He was residing in Goshen Township Aug. 20, 1791, when he deeded land to Daniel Conkling. His sister Susannah wrote in a letter April 15, 1794: "Brother John is as well as can be expected." There is no record of the date of his death nor of the settlement of his estate. No authoritative list of all his children has been found, Elizabeth being the only one that can be positively listed here.

(The following are tentatively listed as children of John Roe because in each case such data as are available seem to suggest this possibility. Actual proof, however, is lacking. She could have been a daughter of Caleb and Phebe Smith of Goshen, N. Y., who had nine children, among them a son Timothy and a daughter Phebe. Caleb Smith's will was made Dec. 27, 1731, and was probated April 22, 1734. Phebe (———) Roe might, alternatively, have been a daughter of Simon Rumsey and his wife Phebe of Goshen; he died early in 1753. Jonas and Phebe Roe resided in Warwick Township, Orange County, N.Y. His will, dated Jan. 17, 1798, at Florida, N.Y., was proved April 12, 1798. His wife was not mentioned in the will, indicating that she was probably deceased. (See No. 4-vi.) She was born July 2, 1733. Their farm of about 500 acres was about a mile and a half south of what is now Chester, Orange County, N. Y. The farm is still owned and operated by direct descendants of Nathaniel Roe. Susanna Roe joined the Presbyterian Church in Goshen July 19, 1783. She died Oct. 11, 1813, and he only two days later. They were buried in the family cemetery on their farm where their gravestones still stand.

"Capt." Nathaniel Roe, as he is called in contemporary records, was captain of the local militia company. His name appears with sixty others as signers of the General Association dated at Goshen, N. Y., April 29, 1775, and again as a signer of a document issued by the local Committee of Safety and Observation in June of the same year. He rendered service with the Third Regiment of Orange County Militia (Colonel John Hawthorne) during the Revolution for which he was entitled to land bounty rights.

His widow Deborah signed a deed in 1833.

Benjamin Roe was a member of the Sixth New York Regiment in the Revolution. The D. A. R. Lineage Book says he was an artificer in Captain Hugh McConley's company, a corporal under Captain Richard Bailey in 1777, and served several enlistments under other commands.

19 BENJAMIN⁴ ROE (John³ John² David¹), born 1720 in Gloucester County, N. J.; afterward lived in Hempstead, Oyster Bay and Westchester County, all in N. Y. According to tradition he served in the French and Indian War and was killed in an engagement near Lake George. However, there is a record of his enlistment April 1, 1760, in Captain Gilchrist's company of Westchester County militia, well after the end of active fighting in that war. He is called a "cordwinder" (cordwainer, or shoemaker) in the record of his enlistment and his height was shown as 5 feet, 3 inches.

He married about 1750, Hannah Kniffen, daughter of Joseph and Hannah (——) Kniffen of Rye, N. Y. They probably settled in Rye or White Plains. In 1795 his widow resided in New York City with her son Charles.

20 WILLIAM⁴ ROE (John³ John² David¹), born about 1739 at Hempstead or Oyster Bay, Long Island, N. Y.; married Mary Feke (see Appendix C), daughter of Charles and Catherine (Tillear or Tilley) Feke, of Oyster Bay (mar. lic. March 24, 1764). She was born Oct. 20, 1743. Her father, Charles Feke, was a brother of the noted American painter, Robert Feke. Hannah Feke, sister of Mary's great-grandfather, had married John Bowme of Flushing, a pioneer in the cause of religious freedom (see No. 1). William and Mary Roe lived in Lattingtown, Oyster Bay Township, on a piece of land which was purchased in 1771 for 12 pounds from his wife's brother-in-law, Prior Townsend. William Roe was a "cordwainer" (shoemaker).

In the early part of the Revolution he was a sergeant in Captain Richard Manee's company of Colonel Josiah Smith's regiment of Queens County militia. He remained at home, however, after the British defeated Washington's forces on Long Island, "furnishing secret intelligence to the American cause in the Fall of 1777 and after, until he was informed against and then he had to flee to the Main (mainland) to escape British vengeance."* He returned in May, 1782, under a flag of truce, to remove his family to the vicinity of Stamford, Conn. He was captured Dec. 11, 1782, with others, by Hessians and probably remained a prisoner until the close of the war.

In 1786 he was living near Maysville, Ky., as appears from a petition signed by him and others in that year, asking that Mason County be set off from Bourbon County. The county seat of Bourbon County was at Paris, making it necessary for the petitioners to "pass through a dangerous Indian Country". Mason County was established in 1788. William Roe's name is found in the land records of Mason County in subsequent years. He was appointed a constable of Mason County May 27, 1789. During this period he became a "vendue master" or auctioneer, licensed to act as such in Mason, Bracken and Fleming Counties. There is no record of settlement of his estate. The census of 1810 indicates that his wife was also living at that time and records him as a shoemaker and the owner of five slaves.

William Roe and family were members or adherents of the Baptist Church. Some of the meetings of the local congregation were held at his home in Lattingtown, Long Island. He was baptized June 13, 1773. His wife's ancestors had been members of the Society of Friends but her grandfather had been converted to the Baptist faith and had served afterward as a lay preacher at Oyster Bay. She was probably a member of the Baptist Church when she was married.

Children, probably all born at Oyster Bay, L.I.:

53 CHARLES⁵ ROE (William⁴ John³ John² David¹), born Sept. 27, 1771, probably in Oyster Bay Township, Nassau County, L.I., N. Y.; married Feb. 10, 1794, Barsheba Watson, daughter of Michael and Mary (-----) Watson, then of Mason County, Ky. She was born March 23, 1778, in Virginia. Michael Watson was probably born about 1738, married (1) about 1760, and is known to have lived in Virginia and Pennsylvania before moving to Kentucky. He died in Mason County, Ky., Feb. 19, 1819. He was of Scotch-Irish descent.

Charles Roe bought a farm of one hundred acres on the North Fork of the Licking River in Mason County, Oct. 25, 1796, of George Stockton. They probably resided there until the family removed to Montgomery County, Ohio, near Dayton, about 1804. In the county records for 1806 he is named as the applicant on behalf of the Baptist Union Congregation of Dayton for land upon which to build a church. The application was granted and the church was erected. Charles Roe sold his farm Aug. 23, 1815, and removed to Wayne County, Ind. His removal, and perhaps that of other members, brought about the end of the church's activities. On May 8, 1816, he bought land several miles southwest of Hagerstown in Wayne County, Ind.

His next removal was to St. Joseph County, Ind., before Aug. 10, 1833, when he bought a farm of about 200 acres at the northwest corner of the intersection of what is now Adams Road and Portage Highway, about five miles north of South Bend. His wife died Aug. 13, 1838, and he died five days later, Aug. 18, 1838. They were buried on their farm, on the west bank of the St. Joseph River, where several grandchildren had been previously buried.

Charles Roe died intestate. His son William was appointed administrator of the estate and lived on the parental farm. Charles Roe had disposed of a considerable portion of his property during his lifetime by gifts to his children, probably at marriage or soon after.

Like his father and grandfather, he was a farmer and a shoemaker. He was described by his grandson, Charles B. Roe, as about 5 ft, 9 in. or 10 in. in height, weighing about 150 lb. His hair was black. In accordance with the custom of the times, he wore knee breeches. He was quick and active in his movements and a great worker. In one day he made thirty sugar troughs and a pair of shoes and attended a barn raising in the afternoon.

His wife was "heavy set", weighing 160 or 170 lb. She was somewhat inclined to take life easy but was a good housekeeper. She had a fine black riding horse which was kept for her exclusive use.

APPENDIX C --- THE FEKE FAMILY

Of all the families related by marriage to the line of David Roe of Flushing, the Feke family has been traced back to an older line than any other. There are records of Fekes in England as early as 1353, 1416, and 1435, but the earliest individual of that name who can be tied with any degree of assurance to the line descending to the branch in colonial America was William Feake of Wighton, Norfolk, who dated his will in 1496. A genealogical record of the line of William Feake has been compiled by George E. McGracken, Ph. D., of Drake University and published in the New York Genealogical and Biographical Record in four successive issues, beginning with July, 1955. Dr. McGracken has studied all other available compilations of the line, of which there are several, and provides references to many of them. His work, however, is not only the latest but beyond doubt the most scholarly and complete.

The Roe family is connected with the Feke line with the marriage of William Roe, No. 20 herein, and Mary Feke, daughter of Charles and Catherine (Tilllear) Feke of Oyster Bay, Long Island, N. Y. Descendants of William and Mary (Feke) Roe can trace their further descent from William Feake of Wighton through successive generations as follows, numbers being those assigned by Dr. McGracken:

1. William Feake, b. -----, will dated 1496, probated 1500;
m. Marianne -----.
2. James Feake, b. about 1484, m. -----.
7. James Feake, b. -----, m. Agnes -----.
13. William Feake, b. -----, m. 1564 Mary Wetherall.
32. James Feake, b. about 1567, m. Judith Thomas.
49. Lieut. Robert Feake, b. about 1602, m. Elizabeth (Fones) Winthrop.
91. John Feake, b. about 1639, m. Elizabeth Prior.
125. Rev. Robert Feke, b. 1683, m. Clenence Ludlam.
134. Charles Foke, b. 1713, m. Catherine Tilllear.
140. Mary Feke, b. 1743, m. William Roe (No. 20 herein).

William Feake, No. 13 in the list^{above}, was a goldsmith in London and became wealthy. A coat of arms was assigned, but whether directly to William or to one of his relatives is not known. It is the same as recently registered in the American Roll of Arms of the New England Historic Genealogical Society as the arms of William's grandson Robert Feake (No. 49 in the list above). They are described as follows: Sable a fesse dancetté or, in chief three fleurs-de-lis argent; Crest: Out of a coronet or demi-ostrich with wings spread argent holding in the beak a horse's shoe. William's wife Mary Wetherall was probably a daughter of Thomas Wetherall, also a London goldsmith.

James Feake, No. 32, was also a goldsmith. His wife, Judith Thomas, was a daughter of Robert Thomas, citizen and draper of London to whom were granted arms thrice in the month of February, 1606, on one occasion his residence being stated as Spanby Hall, Lincoln.

Lieutenant Robert Feake, No. 49, came to America with the Winthrop fleet of 1630 and was made freeman the following year. He married in 1632 Elizabeth (Fones) Winthrop, daughter of a London apothecary, and a niece of Governor John Winthrop of the Massachusetts Bay Colony. Elizabeth had previously married in England her first^{cousin}, Henry Winthrop, son of the Governor, who died in 1630. Robert Feake was made a lieutenant under Captain Daniel Patrick and served on a committee to prepare fortifications. He served three years as a member of the Massachusetts General Court and then three years as a selectman at Watertown. He was made guardian of his nephew, Tobias Feake, who was later elected schout by his Dutch neighbors in Flushing. Tobias was the first signer of the well known Flushing Remonstrance and it was he who presented the document to the authorities of New Amsterdam, for which he was promptly imprisoned. Later still Tobias became a captain in the Royal Navy. In middle age Robert Feake began to show signs of insanity and he died tragically in 1660/1, after being a public charge for five years.

Dr. McCracken's scholarly genealogy of the Feake family quotes several documents showing that the behavior of Robert Feake's wife, Elizabeth, was far from the standards of decorum recognized at that time. These are all to be found in the issue of October, 1955, of the New York Genealogical and Biographical Record. However, in her historical novel, "The Winthrop Woman," Anya Seton depicts Elizabeth as playing a nobler role and as the unfortunate victim of adverse circumstances. Miss Seton writes in her "Author's Note": "This book is built upon a solid framework of fact; from these facts I have never knowingly deviated, nor changed a date or circumstance." Miss Seton is said to have spent four years of intensive research upon the subject.

Robert's eldest child, Elizabeth, married as his second wife Captain John Underhill, noted Indian fighter of Killingworth, Oyster Bay, Long Island. Robert's second child, Hannah, married John Bowne of Flushing, a Quaker, pioneer in the cause of religious freedom who suffered imprisonment and banishment at the hands of the Dutch authorities in New Amsterdam. John Bowne's son Samuel was a close friend of David Roe of Flushing, No. 1 in this record.

Rev. Robert Feke, No. 125, born and raised a Quaker, was converted and became an ordained minister of the Baptist faith, serving in the Baptist Church at Oyster Bay, Long Island. He was also a farmer, blacksmith and mill owner. His eldest son Robert was the noted portrait painter.

Charles Feke, No. 134, was a cabinet maker at Oyster Bay, Long Island. He signed the Long Island Loyalist petition of 1776. He changed the spelling of his name to Feeks.

APPENDIX D — LOCATION OF DAVID ROE'S HOME

at FLUSHING, LONG ISLAND, NEW YORK

David¹ Roe died in 1707. No deeds of land to or by him are recorded, but he left a will which is in the Surrogate's archives. However, the will merely identified him as "David Roe of Flushing" and devised all his "housing Barnes orchards Lands and meadows" without stating even indirectly where they were located. Search over many years has failed to uncover any direct evidence. There are several clues, however, providing in their entirety a fairly acceptable hypothesis.

1. David¹ Roe left all his lands in Flushing to his elder son Nathaniel². His other son, John, lived in New Jersey. Nathaniel² Roe had five sons, the eldest being David³ and the only one of the five known to have remained in Flushing. Accordingly, it can be assumed that he inherited the original homestead. In his will, made in 1758, David³ Roe gave "the dwelling place where I now live" to his third son David⁴ who willed to his son Lawrence⁵ "all the dwelling house wherein I now live, Barn and all other out Houses and all the land thereunto adjoining." David⁴ Roe died in 1785 and Lawrence sold in 1786 a 140-acre tract of land adjacent to Roe's Cove (now Powell's Cove) believed to have been the homestead of his ancestors. There was at least one dwelling on the property in 1786.

2. Several old deeds found in the Register's Office refer to "Roe's Cove", clearly indicating the small bay or inlet shown on all modern maps as Powell's Cove. The indication is clear that one or more individuals of the Roe family owned land adjacent to the Cove in the earlier days and that the name was changed after the land passed to the Powell family in 1786. The name "Roe's Cove" could easily have originated in the ownership of the land adjacent on the East by David¹ Roe, as suggested.

3. The following deeds are listed in Alex Lobel's "Deeds of Queens County," and three of them are also to be found in the Register's Office:

- A-43 - 1686/87 - Nicollas Parcells to William Fowler.
- A-64 - 1693 - Richard Wilday to Stephanus Van Cortland.
- B1-306 - 1695/96 - Richard Wildey, late deceased, to John Griffin.
- B2-326 - 1707 - Charles Doughty, James Jackson and Elias Doughty to William Hallet Esqr. of Newtown.

Each one of these deeds describes the land being conveyed as bounded upon one side or the other by lands of David Roe. The first one listed, A-43, transfers land adjacent to "the upland of Tewes Neck," an old designation for College Point on the west side of Powell's Cove. The next two describe property adjacent to that of Tho. Wildey and the last one states that the property transferred was formerly owned by Tho. Wildey. All these properties were undoubtedly close to each other and all abutted upon the property of David¹ Roe. They substantiate the assumption that David Roe's land was in the area north of Flushing and east of College Point.

4. A map was prepared in the Topographical Bureau, Office of the Borough President of Queens, New York City, in which Flushing is located, and entitled "Ownership as of 1800, compiled from records in the Queens Borough Register's Office, etc., " dated August 19, 1935. This map shows an irregular tract of 140 acres lying on the east side of Powell's Cove. This tract was conveyed by Lawrence Roe, No. 33 herein, to John Powell in 1786 by deed recorded in liber W, page 129, in the Register's Office. This is the piece of land to which probabilities point as the former domicile, or at least a part of it, of David¹ Roe.

5. Professor Alfred S. Roe of Worcester, Mass., accumulated much data on Roe family history. Many letters, newspaper clippings, etc., he pasted into an old blank book, now in the Library of the New York Genealogical and Biographical Society, entitled "Roe Scrap Book". Therein is a newspaper clipping not identified as to the name of the newspaper from which it was cut, but apparently taken from a newspaper published on Long Island. A pencilled date places the time of publication in March, 1895. It records the burning of an old farmhouse on the "Old Powell Estate, overlooking the East River". It was the house built in 1786 by John Powell when he bought the 140-acre tract from Lawrence Roe. The newspaper account proceeds:

"The earliest record of the property that can be found shows that it was in the possession of David Roe, father of Lawrence Roe, from whom John Powell purchased it. He lived in a log hut and traded with the Indians. He is said to have been buried on the farm in the center of one of the large fields.

"Although the ground around where the body is said to have been interred nearly 200 years ago has been tilled by Powells and Nostrands for several generations, a plough has never furrowed the earth directly over the supposed grave. Although the spot has not been marked by even so much as a rough boulder, all have had so much respect for the first white owner of the farm that they would not disturb the sod which marked his resting place."

The writer of the newspaper article has his David Roes slightly mixed. The father of Lawrence Roe was David⁴ Roe, not David¹ Roe. Otherwise the article is perfectly lucid and consistent.

6. The Flushing Evening Journal of Nov. 17, 19 and 22, 1923 (microfilm in Long Island Collection, Queens Borough Public Library), records the finding of the skeletons of twelve Indians and two white men during grading operations at Malba. The exact spot was under the paving of what is now Whitestone Bridge Boulevard (approach) at the corner of 10th Avenue and Parsons Boulevard. This is well inside the property lines of the 140-acre tract sold by Lawrence Roe in 1786 to John Powell.

D I S C U S S I O N

It is desired to emphasize the following points:

- a. The name "Roe's Cove", applied prior to 1786 to a small bay on the north shore above Flushing.
- b. The location by reference in old deeds of David Roe's property as east of Tewe's Neck, or College Point, on what is now Powell's Cove.
- c. The location of the Roe homestead by engineers and lawyers on the east side of Powell's Cove, as shown on the map prepared officially in 1935 to show ownership in 1800.
- d. The traditional description of David Roe's homestead and burial place by a newspaper writer in 1895, tallying with all the other indications.
- e. The finding of human remains on the old Roe homestead in 1923 at a point which could easily have been the old David Roe burying ground.

If the burial plot uncovered by workmen in 1923 (paragraph 6 above) was actually the sodded, unploughed spot described in the newspaper clipping referred to in paragraph 5 above as the place where David Roe was buried, one of the two skeletons of white men could have been that of David¹ Roe. The vicinity was undoubtedly his homestead and the spot where the skeletons were discovered is the only one in the area where any signs of burial were found. David¹ Roe may or may not have owned all the 140-acre tract sold by Lawrence Roe in 1786, but his holdings were extensive, as indicated by his will and by the deeds cited in paragraph 2 above. He might even have owned much more than the 140 acres sold in one piece 79 years after his death.

So, it may be considered possible, perhaps probable, that David¹ Roe lived on the east side of the Cove named for him, upon a considerable piece of land, upon which he was buried in an unmarked grave.

If one accepts these indications as probable, it may be asked, what became of the remains dug up in 1923? They were re-buried in The Old Newtown Cemetery at the corner of Justice St. (now Justice Ave., extended) and Toledo St. (now 92nd St.) in Elmhurst. The old cemetery was acquired by the City and the site now lies under the southerly end of the Newtown Playground. The disposition of the remains of all those buried in the Old Newtown Cemetery, including those transferred thereto from Malba in 1923, is lost in municipal red tape and devious shruggings of responsibility.
