INTRODUCTION.

IN the early spring of 1912, in connection with some business in the Probate Court, I passed some hours in the Barnstable Court House and to pass the time when not in court looked up the wills and administrations upon the estates of the early settlers of our name. I found much that was interesting and was particularly struck by the will of my great, great grandfather Thomas Sturgis (1722-1785). In it he named his six sons, all of whom survived him, and I realized that four of these sons had left families and that many of their descendants were well known, and some very prominent in the business and social world both in this country and in England. Finding a wealth of material in the possession of the New England Historic Genealogical Society I there examined the Plymouth Colony Records, the Barnstable Town Records and other sources of information and with the assistance of J. Gardiner Bartlett, Esquire, obtained what I believe to be practically complete data as to our branch of the Sturgis family in the early Colonial times. I owe also to Mr. Bartlett the data with regard to the parents of Edward Sturgis in Kent.

My branch of the Sturgis family is descended from Thomas Sturgis, the youngest and only surviving son of Edward Sturgis, the first settler. I have traced the descendants of the other sons of Edward Sturgis, Samuel and Edward Jr., to some extent but have devoted my attention chiefly to the descendants of Thomas. Coming to the four sons of Thomas (grandson of the first Thomas), William, Russell, Thomas and Samuel, I have succeeded in obtaining a substantially complete record of the descendants of William, Russell and Thomas down to the present time, including the tenth generation from the first Edward. The line from Samuel is complete with the exception of the later descendants of a few of Samuel's children.

For the descendants of William and Thomas I am indebted to Mrs. Thornton K. Lothrop and Miss Louisa Hooper in the case of William, they being his great granddaughter and great great granddaughter, respectively, and to Miss Fanny Torrey Sturgis of Boston and Francis K. Sturgis, Esquire, of New York in the case of Thomas, they being his grandchildren. For the descendants of Russell Sturgis, practically all my information was obtained from the "Descendants of Nathaniel Russell Sturgis" edited by Francis Shaw Sturgis of Boston. Without his work I could not have traced the largest branch of the family. For the descendants of Samuel Sturgis, I am indebted to Miss Sarah R. Sturgis of Winthrop, Massachusetts, and for the descendants of his daughter, Mrs. Joshua Bates of London, to the Honorable Oliver Brett of England.

SOMERBY AND OTHER RECORDS

THE name of Sturgis, spelt in various ways, appears in English records in different parts of England.

In the 2nd Volume of Bridge's History of the County of Northhampton, London 1791, there is a reference to Frat. Tho. Sturges under date of November 1450 as an "encumbant" of the Church at Hemington.

According to the Somerby Manuscripts (N. E. Gen. Hist. Society), it appears from the Subsidy Rolls, Time of Edward, 1327, that a family of Turgis was seated in Northhamptonshire at that time in the village of Finedon and in a work published by the Public Record Commissioners, entitled "The Abbreviation of the Pleas," it appears that in the 22nd year of the reign of Edward I, 1293, Henry Abbott, Cirencester, Lord of the Manor of Rothwell, was empleaded by William de Turgis because the said Abbott did not admit the King's brief by right.

From the Herald's Visitation of Bedfordshire in 1582, Harleian Manuscript, No. 2109, page 285, the family of Richard de Turgis appears, who left two daughters. From the Herald's Visitation of London in 1633, Harleian Manuscript, No. 1476, page 109, it appears that Thomas Turgis of Petworth, Sussex, and sometimes Mayor of Chich., married twice. By his first wife he had William Turgis who married Thomasine Ebbotts and by his second wife he had Thomas Turgis of London, grocer, who was living in 1633 and who left a son Thomas and a second son Samuel, who left a son Simon.

The two names of Sturgis and Turgis seem to have been separate and distinct long before 1633. For example, Mr. Somerby found in the Abstract of Wills proved in the Prerogative Court of Canterbury the will of Richard Sturgis, citizen and fish monger of London, dated July 16, 1470. He left a wife Katherine and sons John and William and daughters Elizabeth and Grace. In Kent however the two names appear to have been used to designate the same persons. In Canterbury Marriage License July 19, 1616 the marriage of Elizabeth Sturges alias Turges, daughter of Edward Sturges alias Turges, is recorded. The three names of Turges, Sturges and Spurges appear in Kentish Records.

Other data in the Somerby Manuscripts are as follows:—

John Sturgis of Basingstroke died December 30, 1503; wife Elizabeth and son James.

Thomas Sturgis of Clipston in Northhamptonshire, husbandman, left a will dated October 23, 1570, wife Johan and sons Thomas and Roger. The will gives each of his children's children sixpence. Speaks of his lands and tenements at Bosworth.

Thomas Sturgis, being beyond the seas in Barbary, nuncupative will gives his mother £200, his sister Elizabeth £150, and the residue of his property to be divided among his brethren. The will was proved by his mother, Alice Sturgis, in 1596.

John Sturgys, Esquire, prisoner in the Fleet, by will, dated March 17, 1606, gives all to Cicely Collier, his contracted wife.

Edward Sturgis of Clipston, County Northhampton, left a will, dated December 12, 1622, and directed that he be buried in the Church. He gave Matthew, son of his brother John, £10, to brother John Chapman of Faxton £10, to brother Robert £5 a year, appoints his brother John and James, the son of said John, executors.

Mr. Somerby also found in the Proceedings in Chancery in the time of Queen Elizabeth, deposited in the Tower of London, that Francis Sturgis, Esquire, was Lord of the Manors of Bullrising and Cranworth, both in the County of Norfolk.

He also finds that Robert Sturgis, son of Francis Sturges of Cranworth, County Norfolk, aged seventeen, entered Caius College, Cambridge, May 17, 1584.

There are also in the Somerby Manuscripts references to the different parish registers: —

In that of Foulshaw, County Norfolk, it appears that July 17, 1604 William Sturges and Mary Willie were married; that John, a son, died October 15, 1604; Ann, a daughter, September 1, 1606; and that April 13, 1606 another daughter Elizabeth was baptized. Under date of October 23, 1607 it appears that a Catherine Sturges was buried.

From the Register of Willingham, County Norfolk, it appears that in 1571 Francis Sturges, gent, was baptized.

In St. Peter's, Sudbury, County Suffolk, it appears that in 1594 Thomazine, daughter of Christopher Sturges, was baptized and within the space of two months in 1597 it appears that this Christopher lost his wife, two daughters, and a son and on July 30, 1598 married for a second wife Maryon Hutt, widow.

From the Parish Register of Hardingham, County Norfolk, it appears that in 1586 Francis Sturgis, gentleman, married Nazareth Thwaite and on December 24, 1587 their son Thomas was baptized.

From the Parish Register of Boston, Lincolnshire, it appears that November 29, 1627 William Sturges was married to Dorothy Drewry. The same Register shows, under date of March 3, 1625, that Rebecca, daughter of Edward Sturgesse, was baptized and on January 25, 1629 William, son of William Sturges, was baptized.

From the Parish Register of St. Giles, Kingston, Kent, (N. E. Hist. Gen. So.) it appears that Thomas Sturgis married Mary Hogben September 26, 1597 and that Mary Sturgis was buried in 1665. From the date of the marriage these may have been the parents of Edward but this is mere surmise.

W. B. W. Phillimore in his list of Northhampton and Rutland wills mentions the following: —

Thomas Sturgeons of Clipston 1524-7.

Roger Sturge of Clipston 1527-32.

Roger Sturges of Clipsham 1548-61.

Robert Sturges of Clipston 1567-9.
Everard Sturgis of Sibbertoft 1570-77.
Roger Sturgis of Clipston 1578-89.
Robert Sturges of Faxton 1610-11.
Philip Sturges of Hannington 1618.
William Sturges of Sibbertoft 1628.

The list does not give the exact date of the probate of the wills, but only states between what dates they will be found in the record.

The name of Sturgis also appears in the following Parish Registers:—

In the Canterbury Marriage Licenses, 1568 to 1619, David Sturges of Graveney, husbandman, married Alice Allen of Preston, January 23, 1604; Jacobus Sturges married Alice Carr of Maidstone, January 6, 1595; John Sturges married Margaret Austen, November 28, 1608; Thomas Sturges married Katherine Lambe, October 10, 1610.

In St. Mary's, Leicester, p. 3, Edward Sturges was buried January 10, 1601.

In St. Botolph's, Bishopsgate, pp. 1, 7, John Sturges married Mary Haddon, May 23, 1568.

STURGIS GENEALOGY

According to the generally accepted Sturgis genealogy the Sturgis family of Yarmouth and later of Barnstable, Massachusetts, are supposed to be descended from Roger Sturgis of Clipston, presumably the Roger Sturge of the Phillimore list, whose will was dated November 15, 1530. He married Alice and had Richard, Robert, Francis, Ellen and Agnes. Richard Sturgis had Roger Sturgis, John Sturgis and Thomas Sturgis. Roger Sturgis married Agnes and had Robert Sturgis of Faxton and John Sturgis.

Robert Sturgis of Faxton (comp. Phillimore list) left a will, dated April 9, 1610, proved September 19, 1611, the deceased being buried at Faxton, January 2, 1611. He had a son Philip Sturgis of Hannington, whose will was dated May 26, 1618 (comp. Phillimore list), proved July 2, 1618, the deceased being buried at Hannington, June 18, 1618.

Philip Sturgis by a first wife had Edward Sturgis, Robert Sturgis and Elizabeth Sturgis and by a second wife, Anne Lewes, Alice, baptized January 16, 1608; Anne, baptized September 29, 1609; and William, baptized October 10, 1611.

Edward Sturgis, the son of Philip, married Alice and had Alice, baptized December 23, 1619; Mary, baptized October 2, 1621; Edward, baptized April 10, 1624, who according to the tale went to New England with his father; Rebecca, baptized February 17, 1626; and, as the tree reads, "other children born in this country." A copy of this tree is on file in the New England Historic Genealogical Society.

Even if we assume that there was an Edward, son of Philip, who married Alice and that the line of the family down to that Edward is correct, it is impossible to maintain the proposition that the Edward Sturgis who came to this country and first appears in New England in 1634 at Charlestown, Massachusetts, was that Edward.

The Edward Sturgis who came to Charlestown, Massachusetts, in 1634, where on January 10, 1634-5 he received a grant of four acres of land (Charlestown land records in New England Register, Vol. 20, page 110), lived a long life and appears frequently in the Records of the Plymouth Colony, dying in Sandwich, Massachusetts, in 1695. If his son Edward, his third child, born in 1624, according to the tree, came with his father to this country, the senior Sturgis lived to be at least one hundred years old and, moreover, the wife of Edward Sturgis in America was named Elizabeth and not Alice. Moreover it is clear from the Province records that Edward Sturgis did not return to England and yet we find in All Saint's Church at Holdenbury a tablet to the memory of Alice Sturgis, wife of Edward Sturgis, who died January 20, 1659, and Edward Sturgis, her husband, of West Haddon, who died October 22, 1670 (Baker's History of the County of Northampton). The will of Philip Sturgis devised lands in West Haddon to his son Edward. There can be no doubt that this Edward to whom the tablet was erected was the son of Philip and not the Edward Sturgis who came to Charlestown in 1634.

RECORDS OF THE COUNTY OF KENT

It is well known that many of those families settling on Cape Cod in the second quarter of the seventeenth century came from Kent and a partial examination of the records of East Kent reveals a possible source from which our Edward Sturgis sprang. It appears in the Worth Transcripts that "John Sturgis the son of Edward Sturgis was crystned the XXVIJth of Aprill, 1578." Assuming that this John was the eldest son, Edward Sturges was born probably about 1557. He is called "Edward Sturges alias Turges" in the marriage license of his daughter Elizabeth (supra). From 1581 to 1595 he appears in the registers of Woodnesborough and from 1596 to 1622 in those of Tilmanstone. In the license for his last marriage he is called of Eastry (Canterbury Marriage Licenses, April 17, 1623), but later in that year he removed to Sturry where he was buried January 23, 1624/5. His will, dated January 13, 1623/4 mentions lands in Barham and was proved February 9, 1624/5 (Arch. Cant., vol. 67, fol. 380). Woodnesborough, Tilmanstone and Eastry are adjoining parishes about ten miles east of Canterbury, while Sturry is two miles north of it. In his will Edward Sturges described himself as "the elder of Sturry, co. Kent, yeoman" and left to his son John one shilling and to Edward Sturges, son of John, forty shillings when 18 years old. The name of John Sturges appears at various times in the registers of Tilmanstone, Woodnesborough and Eastry. He married first, by license, at Tilmanstone, November 28, 1608, Margaret Austin (Tilmanstone Register). She was buried at Eastry, April 3, 1622 (Eastry Transcripts). Of this marriage there were four children:—

1. Margaret, baptised at Tilmanstone June 3, 1610, who probably died young.
2. Edward, baptized at Woodnesborough, January 30, 1613/14 (Woodnesborough Transcripts). He was given a bequest of 40 shillings to be paid him when 18 years old by the will of his grandfather Edward Sturges (supra).

3. Elizabeth, baptized at Woodnesborough, May 10, 1618.
4. Andrew, baptized at Eastry, March 31, 1622.

The examination of the records in East Kent disclosed but two later mentions of the name Edward Sturges and neither seems to apply to this Edward Sturges, son of John. If he was the Edward Sturges who emigrated to America, as seems probable, he would have been 21 years old when he received his grant of land in Charlestown (supra).

THE CONNECTICUT BRANCH

About 1660 a John Sturges appears in Fairfield, Connecticut, but there seems to be no connection between him and Edward. The name John Sturges appears frequently in the records of East Kent and it may be that he was a kinsman of Edward. For the Connecticut branch reference is made to Solomon Sturges and His Family, Grafton Press, New York, 1907.

FIRST GENERATION

EDWARD STURGIS (A) IN NEW ENGLAND

In 1639 the Town of Yarmouth, Massachusetts, was founded and shortly afterwards, in the same year, Edward Sturgis became one of the first settlers, for in April of that year his name appears in an address to the Governor of the Province (Savage, Vol. 4, page 229). The first direct mention of him in the Plymouth Colony Records (Vol. 2, page 9) is under date of March 2, 1640-1 when he was elected Constable for Yarmouth. This must have been Edward the elder for at this time, if his son Edward was born in 1624, the boy was only sixteen years old.

On March 7, 1642-3 (Vol. 2, page 52) Edward Sturgis was among those propounded to take up their freedom at the next court, that is, to be admitted to full rights of citizenship. In August 1643 lists were made in every town in the Colony of all males able to bear arms from sixteen to sixty years of age. Among the fifty-two names in Yarmouth appears Edward Sturgis (Vol. 8, page 194) and had there been an Edward Sturgis, Junior, born in 1624, he would have been on this list. As Edward Sturgis is not called "Senior" on the list it is evident that there was no other Edward Sturgis then in Yarmouth unless a child.

The Plymouth Colony Records are full of entries relating to this Edward Sturgis. He seems to have been a man of education and was very active in the affairs of the Town and of the Colony and it was said that he had more plate in his house than all the rest of Yarmouth (Swift's History of Yarmouth, page 53).

On June 2, 1646 he was made a Surveyor of Highways for Yarmouth (2-102). On the 7th of July 1646 (2-105)

he was "lycensed to keep an ordinary and draw wyne at Yarmouth, provided Mr. Thacher draw out his." It seems that in those days it was rather a distinction than otherwise to be selected for a license and Edward Sturgis did not apparently always conduct his business in a way to meet with Puritan approval as will be seen.

On June 4, 1650 (2-155) he was created a member of the Grand Inquest. The parsons of the day needed defenders for on March 4, 1650-1 (2-165) Edward Sturgis as a member of the Grand Inquest "presents Emanuell White of Yarmouth for villifying of Mr. John Miller, minister of aforesaid Towne, and Robert Allen of Yarmouth for villifying of Mr. John Miller's ministry."

On June 5, 1651 (2-156) Edward Sturgis was admitted freeman and sworn and on the same day was created Surveyor of Highways in Yarmouth.

June 8, 1655 we find him again appointed a member of the Grand Inquest (3-78) and on June 5, 1658 (3-146) he was appointed to represent Yarmouth in a dispute with the Indians.

An amusing entry is found under date of October 2, 1658 (3-150) "Mr. William Hedge being psented for threatening to have the blood of Edward Sturgis upon some smale difference betwixt them the Court do censure him to pay to the countries use the sum of ten shillings."

On June 3, 1662 (4-15) he was again appointed Constable of Yarmouth.

FIRST MARRIAGE OF EDWARD STURGIS

As this brings us down to the point where his sons first appear, it seems well here to take up the question of his marriage, of which there is no record, but judging from the age of his children it seems reasonably clear that he married first early in 1640, soon after he had gone to Yarmouth. The name of his first wife was Elizabeth, who seems to have been Elizabeth Hinckley, baptized at Harrietsham, County Kent, England, 20 September 1617, the daughter of Thomas and Anna Hinckley and niece of Samuel Hinckley, who came from Harrietsham to New England in the spring of 1635 with his wife and four children, settled first at Scituate and late in 1639 moved to Barnstable, the adjoining town to Yarmouth (New England Register, Vol. 65, pages 317, 319). I have it on the highest authority from one who has actually seen the ship's list that Elizabeth, a niece of Samuel Hinckley, came out with him and his family. She was in his household at Scituate, and I believe continued in it there, and at Barnstable for five years until the spring of 1640, when she met Edward Sturgis and married him. That this marriage took place is supported by the fact that among the children of Edward and Elizabeth we find first the name Samuel, the name of Elizabeth Hinckley's uncle and foster father, her own father having died in 1634 in England, a son Thomas named for Elizabeth's own father, a daughter Hannah (same as Anna) named for Elizabeth's own mother, and Sarah named for Elizabeth's foster mother, the wife of Samuel Hinckley. Moreover, Governor Thomas Hinckley, first cousin of Elizabeth was selected, as will appear later, to act in the settlement of the estates of two of the sons of Edward Sturgis.

FIRST REFERENCE TO EDWARD STURGIS, JOINTLY WITH HIS SONS

In the Plymouth Colony Records for 1663 (4-52) there is the first reference to Edward Sturgis jointly with his two sons Samuel and Edward Jr., Edward being referred to for the first time as Senior, and he is always afterwards referred to as Senior and his son Edward as Junior down to the date of the death of Edward Jr. at Yarmouth, December 8, 1678. The entry in question gives the particulars of liquor brought into the Town of Yarmouth since May 1663 and invoiced: Edward Sturgis Sr., 10 gallons of sack and 12 pounds of lead; Samuel Sturgis, 10 gallons; Edward Sturgis Sr., 10 gallons; Edward Sturgis Jr., 10 gallons; Mr. Hedge, Edward Sturgis Sr. and Samuel Sturgis, 17 gallons.

In Plymouth Colony Records (4-54) there is an interesting minute:

“In regard to much abuse of liquors in the town of Yarmouth this court doth call in any lycence formerly given to Edward Sturgis Seni^r and do require that hee forbare to draw wine or liquors for the future without further order from the court."

This does not seem to have affected the standing of Edward Sturgis for on the 8th of June following he was elected a Deputy to the General Court, and again in 1666 and 1667. In 1667 he was also appointed a Selectman of Yarmouth.

In 1668 there seems to have been a new move against the traffic in liquor (4-183):

"Memorandum; that Samuel Sturgis, Edward Sturgis, Elisha Hedge, Thomas Starr, John Crow Juni^r, Abraham Hedge, John Mocoy and Marke Redly be sent for to the next court to give a reason of their bringing in such great quantities of liquor into the Colonie."

In 1670 Edward Sturgis was again appointed a Selectman (5-35) and his son Samuel Sturgis, Constable (5-36), and on July 5th of that year (5-43) "Edward Sturgis Seni^r is allowed to keep an ordinary att Yarmouth and required to keep good orders in his house in that respect, that rude fellows be not found or suffered there to misde-mean themselves." From that time on for a number of years Edward Sturgis acted as Selectman, Surveyor of Highways, and in 1672 was again Deputy to the General Court. He was in all a Deputy for five years (Freeman's History of Cape Cod). In 1676 after the death of Samuel we find Edward Sturgis Senior and Edward Sturgis Junior among the larger taxpayers, the first paying £7-11-3, and the second £6-14-1 (Freeman, p. 195).

SECOND GENERATION

CHILDREN OF EDWARD AND ELIZABETH STURGIS

I. Samuel (B) born probably late in 1640 or early in 1641, first appears in the Colony Records March 3, 1662-3 when fined with Elisha Hedge for a misdemeanor and gave bond for good behavior; a carouse apparently, for he and Hedge were declared not so guilty as the others (4-31). He was Constable in 1670 (5-36). On March 4, 1673-4 he was appointed temporary administrator on the estate of John Gray, who had married his sister Hannah Sturgis, and that he was appointed rather than his brother Edward Jr. seems to establish the fact that Samuel was the eldest. Samuel died at Yarmouth, November 3, 1674 and on March 1, 1674-5 administration on his estate was given to his widow Mary Sturgis, Elisha Hedge, a brother of the widow, Edward Sturgis Jr., John Freeman and John Miller, assisted by the advice of Mr. (Thomas) Hinckley who was then Governor of the Colony (5-160). Samuel Sturgis married about 1667 Mary Hedge, born in Yarmouth in 1648, daughter of Capt. William Hedge Sr. who in his will, dated June 30, 1670, mentions his daughter Mary Sturgis (N. E. Register, Vol. 7, page 235). She married a second time at Yarmouth, October 1, 1679, Major John Coggeshall of Newport, R. I., being his third wife (Austin Gen. Dict. of R. I., page 49).

II. Edward Jr. (B) was born probably in 1642 and is first referred to in the Plymouth Colony Records in March 1663 when the amount of liquor imported by Edward Sturgis and his two sons is mentioned (4-52), the terms Senior and Junior indicating that Edward, the son, had then grown to manhood. From 1663 to 1678 Edward Sturgis Jr. is mentioned in various records until his death December 8, 1678. About November 12, 1678, he made a nuncupative will which was written down on November 15, 1678 and witnessed by his mother, Elizabeth Sturgis, John Sunderland and Joseph Gorham and on June 3, 1679, was probated, these three making oath to the above facts. This will gave one third of his estate to his wife and two thirds to be equally divided among all his children except that his son Joseph Sturgis was to have £20 more than the rest, and his daughter Desire Sturgis was to have his silver tankard. His property was inventoried at over £900 (Plymouth Colony Record). On March 2, 1679-80 Mr. (Thomas) Hinckley, Mr. Barnabas Lothrop and Mr. John Miller were appointed to divide the estate among the widow, Temperance Baxter, and the children, the widow to have one third and two thirds equally to the children, except the eldest son to have £20 more (Plym. Col. Rec., Vol. 6, pages 32, 33). It is to be noted that here again, as in the case of Samuel, Governor Hinckley is brought in to superintend the administration of the estate, certainly strong evidence of relationship as he does not appear to have acted in that capacity for other families.

In 1690 under the new charter granted by William and Mary, the province of Massachusetts Bay was created and the General Court moved to Boston, and at that time the Plymouth Colony Records came to an end. Shortly afterwards the Probate Courts were established and the probate records of Barnstable County begin. On the 5th of April 1694 partition of the real estate of Edward Sturgis Jr. was made between his four sons, Joseph, Edward, James and Samuel, the land being said to contain about 100 acres (Barnstable Probate Records, Vol. 1, page 98) and the commissioners were Mr. Jeremiah Howes, Mr. John Miller, Joseph Rider, John Rider Sr. and Jonathan Hallett.

Edward Sturgis Jr. (B) married about 1663 Temperance Gorham, born at Marshfield, May 5, 1646, daughter of Capt. John and Desire (Howland) Gorham. She remained a widow for a brief space and at Yarmouth, January 27, 1679-80 married Thomas Baxter, by whom she had three sons, and died March 12, 1715.

III. Mary (B) baptized at Barnstable June 1, 1646, who probably about 1665 married Elisha Hedge.

IV. Elizabeth (B) born April 20, 1648, who probably married William Hedge Jr.

V. Joseph (B) born April 6, 1650 and died April 16, 1650, aged ten days.

VI. Hannah or Anna (B) born probably early in 1654, married for her first husband in 1670 John Gray of Yarmouth and had a son John Gray, who was born in July 1671 and died March 31, 1732, aged sixty years, nine months, according to his gravestone in Brewster. As has been seen, administration was granted on the estate of John Gray to Samuel Sturgis (B). For her second husband Hannah married in 1676 Jabez Gorham in Bristol, R. I., and had eleven children (See N. E. Register, Vol. 54, page 168; also "Gorham Wast Book" in Mayflower Descendants, Vol. 5, page 180, which states that Jabez Gorham married widow Gray, sister to Sarah Sturgis).

VII. Sarah (B) born about 1656, married in 1678 Joseph Gorham of Yarmouth (Gorham Wast Book). They had eight children, the oldest Sarah, born January 16, 1678-9 and the youngest, Josiah, born December 2, 1692 (N. E. Register, Vol. 52, pages 358, 359).

VIII. Thomas (B) born in December 1659, died at Barnstable, June 30, 1708, aged 48 years, 6 months, (gravestone). He married about 1681 Abigail Lothrop, born December 18, 1660, eldest daughter of Barnabas Lothrop, son of Rev. John Lothrop, and Susanna, daughter of Thomas Clark (Harris).

There may have been two other children, one born in 1644, who died young, and another in 1652, who may have been the John Sturgis who was in Rhode Island in 1672 (Savage).

SECOND MARRIAGE OF EDWARD STURGIS, SENIOR

His first wife, Elizabeth, died in 1679, and in 1692, when he was 79 years old, he married Mary Rider, a widow, and a marriage agreement was drawn up and signed by Edward Sturgis Sr. April 20, 1692 (B. P. C., Vol. 2, page 14). The intent of the agreement was apparently to assure to the widow Rider the preservation of her property. The address is interesting: —

“To all people to whome these presents shall come, Edward Sturgis Sen^r of Yarmouth in ye Colony of New Plimouth in New England in America Yeoman sendeth Greeting, ss. Know ye that whereas there is a marriage by ye Grace of God shortly to be had and solemnized between me ye said Edward Sturgis and Mary Rider widow and Relict of Zechariah Rider late of Yarmouth aforesaid deceased. In consideration whereof and for divers other good causes and considerations me hereunto especially moving as well for our better support and stay of livelyhood during ye coverture if said marriage take effect as for her support afterwards in case she should survive me. I ye sd Edward Sturgis do therefore by these presents” etc.

It is interesting to note that Sturgis is spelt “is” in the record. The same spelling is found in the probate proceedings on the estate of Edward Sturgis Jr. in the Plymouth Colony Records and in the partition proceedings already referred to in the Barnstable Probate Court, although in these last proceedings the commissioners in concluding spelt the names of the sons “es.”

There is in the rooms of the New England Genealogical Society an original deed of real estate, dated February 5, 1688, said to have been drawn by Colonel John Thacher, signed by Edward Sturges and Thomas Sturges, his son, each with great care spelling the name “es,” showing that the same men sometimes spelt the name one way and sometimes another.

DEATH OF EDWARD STURGIS, SENIOR

It will be seen that Edward Sturgis Sr. outlived his sons Samuel and Edward Jr. but his youngest son Thomas survived him and was appointed administrator of his estate. There is an entry in the records of the Town of Yarmouth in October 1695 to the effect that Mr. Edward Sturgis of that town had died in Sandwich, which was 55 years after his first election as Constable of Yarmouth. If we are right in our surmise that Edward Sturgis was the son of John Sturges of Woodnesborough in Kent and was baptised there January 30, 1613/14, he was 81 years old at the time of his death.

November 9, 1695 administration was granted by the Probate Court upon the estate of Edward Sturgis to Thomas Sturgis (B), his son, and John Miller (B. P. C., Vol. 2, page 11). The appointment of administrators was apparently in those days preceded by the filing of the inventory. This was filed and sworn to by the widow, Mary Sturgis, before the Judge of Probate, November 5, 1695 (B. P. C., Vol. 2, page 10) and things apparently went badly for the first Edward Sturgis in his later years for we do not find any of the plate attributed to him in his more prosperous days. His estate was much involved, as appears from a release signed by his second wife (B. P. C., Vol. 2, page 15) in which she released all interest in her husband's estate to his administrators for £23. The release recites the marriage agreement of 1692 (supra) and recites that, "for as much as ye said Edward Sturgis is departed this life and hath left ye said Mary his wife ye surviviour and ye sd Mary taking into her consideration that ye estate of her deceased husband ye said Edward Sturgis is much entangled in debts and shee not being willing to take ye trouble that may accrue about ye premises and willing to be in quiet hath with ye advice & council of ye said John Miller and Joseph Rider afore-sd received and excepted of Twenty and three pounds in silver money in full satisfaction for her part of and in ye estate of her deceased husband ye sd Edward Sturgis."

THIRD AND LATER GENERATIONS OF DESCENDANTS OF SAMUEL STURGIS (B) AND EDWARD STURGIS JR. (B).

DESCENDANTS OF SAMUEL STURGIS (B) AND MARY HEDGE.

The eldest son, Samuel (C) born about 1669, married October 14, 1697, Mrs. Mary Oris, widow of Nathaniel Oris. They had Nathaniel (D) born January 8, 1699 and died in 1711; John (D) born June 6, 1701; Solomon (D) born September 25, 1703; Mary (D) born February 14, 1706; Moses (D) born June 18, 1708; Jonathan (D) born November 1, 1711; and Nathaniel (D) born February 2, 1714. This Samuel Sturgis (C) lived in Barnstable while his first cousin of the same name, son of Edward Sturgis Jr. (B) (infra), lived in Yarmouth. He lived to a great age for his will was not probated until March 2, 1762 (Book 12, p. 255). He refers to his sons, John (D), Solomon (D) and Jonathan (D) as having deceased. He lived in Boston about 1750 according to a London letter of April 3, 1750 to Samuel Sturgis Esqre., Boston (Bourne Papers).

There is no record of John (D), the second son, nor of Moses (D), the fourth son.

On October 10, 1744 (Vol. 6, page 383) administration was granted on the estate of the third son, Solomon (D) to his father Samuel Sturgis (C) and the estate was insolvent.

On June 13, 1752 (7-254) administration was granted upon the estate of Dr. Jonathan Sturgis (D), presumably the fifth son, to Chillingsworth Forster Jr. (sic), blacksmith. The estate was insolvent and an allowance was granted to the widow. There was no mention of children.

The youngest son, Nathaniel (D) born 1714, an older son of that name having died in 1711, is undoubtedly the Nathaniel Sturgis "of Barnstable, Yeoman," whose will was proved July 10, 1780 (11-158). He left a widow, Abigail Sturgis, two sons, Jonathan (E) and Ebenezer (E), and two daughters, Elizabeth Sturgis (E) and Abigail Childs (E).

This Ebenezer Sturgis (E) married Thankful — and had (4 B. T. R. 97) Abigail (F) born December 26, 1778; Lucy (F) born November 21, 1781; Hannah (F) born November 22, 1784; Nathaniel (F) born August 12, 1786; Susanna (F) born March 12, 1789; David (F) born January 17, 1792; and Betsy (F) born September 28, 1794. The father, Ebenezer (E), died June 1, 1824 and the mother, Thankful, May 2, 1824. His name appears on the pay roll of Captain George Lewis' company of militia in Col. Freeman's regiment on the alarm at New Bedford, Dartmouth and Falmouth in the service of the State in September 1778.

Of these children, David (F) married Hannah Cobb (5 B. T. R. 215) and had Benjamin Cobb (G) born December 2, 1814, who died in infancy, Benjamin Cobb (G), second, born December 6, 1816, Caroline (G) born November 23, 1820, died August 12, 1821, and by a second wife Eliza he had Hannah Eliza (G) born July 16, 1836, died August 20, 1836, Eben (G) born 1837, died 1839, and Hannah E. Howes (G) born 1839. The wife Eliza died January 5, 1845. Betsy (F), the youngest daughter, married in 1812 Thomas G. Estabrook.

The second son, John (C), of Samuel Sturgis and Mary (Hedge) Sturgis, died December 6, 1713, aged forty one years, nine months, according to gravestone in Barnstable, but no administration appears to have been taken out upon his estate.

DESCENDANTS OF EDWARD STURGIS JR. (B) AND TEMPERANCE GORHAM

Joseph (C), the eldest son, born in 1664, married about 1693 Hope (name unknown) and had issue. April 8, 1747 his will was proved, in which he described himself as "of Yarmouth, Cordwainer," the will being dated in the 15th year of his Majesty's Reign. He gave a legacy to his daughter Thankful (D) (sic) and the residue to his daughters Hannah (D) and Fear (D) and made them his executrices.

In 1690 he was a member of Sir William Phipps expedition to Canada (Petition to Governor & Council, June 12, 1735).

Samuel (C), the second son, born about 1666, married Mercy Howes, October 17, 1700 and had Sarah (D) born March 24, 1703; John (D) born November 16, 1704; Samuel (D) born October 28, 1706; Thomas (D) born November 25, 1709; Hannah (D) born January 1, 1711; and Prince (D) born September 11, 1715.

This Samuel (C) has been described by Alden as "Esquire Sturgis an eminent merchant." After 1718, when he was town clerk of Yarmouth, he entered his family on the records, stating he married October 17, 1700 in his 35th year, Mercy Howes, then in her 19th year. In 1717 he was with two others appointed by the General Court "a committee to determine the controversy and settle the bounds between the said town and the Indians" (Freeman's History of Cape Cod, page 353). In 1726 there was apparently much ecclesiastical discontent. The Rev. Mr. Greenleaf, the minister of the western precinct of Yarmouth, complained to the Court of General Sessions relative to his salary, but the appeal to the General Court through Mr. Samuel Sturgis, the town's agent, was sustained (Same Reference, page 362). In 1705 this Samuel Sturgis was a Deputy to the General Court and again from 1725 to 1732. On February 18, 1736 the will of this Samuel Sturgis, in which he described himself as "of Yarmouth, Esquire," was probated (Barnstable Probate Records, Vol. 5, page 283). It appears from the probate records that he left four sons, John (D), Prince (D), Thomas (D) and Samuel (D) and one daughter, Hannah Quinsey (D), wife of Josiah Quinsey. It is to this branch of the Sturgis family that the Quincy and Adams families belong. Josiah Quincy in a speech made August 2, 1854 said that Chief Justice Quincy advised his son Josiah "to go straight way down to Yarmouth and inquire for the house of one John Sturgis and make himself as agreeable as he could to Miss Hannah Sturgis." The oldest daughter, Sarah (D), apparently died before her father. The wife Mercy Howes died August 28, 1723, ages 42 years (Yarmouth gravestone).

Thomas Sturgis (D), the son of Samuel and Mercy Howes, died testate and his will, in which he described himself as "of Yarmouth, shopkeeper," was probated April 25, 1739. He left a widow Rebecca Sturgis and an only child Mary Sturgis (E) (Barnstable Probate Records). A son Prince (E) died June 8, 1738, 10 months, 3 days (Gravestone).

John Sturgis (D), another son, who was in the Class of 1723 at Harvard College, A.M., died testate, describing himself as "of Barnstable, Esquire," and his will was proved September 21, 1759 (Barnstable Probate Records, Vol. 9, page 406). He left three daughters, Rebecca Otis (E), Hannah (E) and Sarah (E), and two sons, John (E) and Samuel (E).

Samuel Sturgis (D), the third son, was a member of the Harvard class of 1725 A.M. and married Lucretia (name unknown) and had, Abraham (E) who died January 18, 1736, aged 2 months, 26 days, and Lucretia (E) who died February 3, 1737, aged 2 months, 13 days, (Yarmouth gravestones). He apparently married for a second wife Olive Allen, who died May 14, 1756 leaving a child Abigail (E) born October 13, 1755. For a third wife he married Abigail (name unknown) and had a son John (E) born October 13, 1757 and a daughter Lucretia (E) born November 11, 1758 (B. T. R. 2-275). Samuel apparently moved to Barnstable for we find from the Barnstable Probate Records that on September 7, 1762 administration was granted upon the estate of Samuel Sturgis to Cornelius Crocker.

I do not find any record of the death of Prince Sturgis (D), the fourth son, nor of his descendants, if he had any. Born in 1715, supra, he was twenty-one years old at the time of his father's death.

Of the two sons of John (D) of the class of 1723, John (E) the eldest son, was a member of the Harvard class of 1750 and died in 1752 (Rec. Coll. Fac 1, p. 249). Samuel (E), the other son, married Abigail Otis and administration was granted upon his estate, he being described as "of Barnstable, gentleman," April 25, 1762 (B. P. C., Vol. 10, page 101) to Joseph Otis (his brother-in-law) and to his widow Abigail. His estate was insolvent and no mention is made of children.

James Sturgis (C), the third son of Edward Sturgis Jr. (B) and Temperance Gorham, born 1668, married Rebecca Thacher, died January 3, 1717-18 (Gravestone) and administration was granted on his estate to his widow Rebecca (Barnstable Probate Records, Vol. 3, page 441). Edward Sturgis (C) of Yarmouth, a younger brother, was appointed guardian of a son James Sturgis (D) February 2, 1721-22 (Vol. 4, page 41) and this James (D) was drowned when 17 years of age, January 8, 1724 (Vol. 4, page 172 and gravestone in Ancient Cemetery in Yarmouth). John Thacher, a brother-in-law, was appointed guardian of a minor daughter, Elizabeth (D), (Vol. 4, page 43). It is stated that James (C) and Rebecca Thacher had seven children but apparently only James (D) and Elizabeth (D) survived him.

Desire Sturgis (C), the fourth child, born about 1666 and probably twin of Samuel (C) married first about 1685 Capt. Thomas Dimmock and had five children, the oldest Mehitable, born in October 1686. She married a second time at Barnstable, November 10, 1698, Col. John Thacher. She died March 29, 1749, aged 83.

Fear Sturgis (C). A Fear Sturgis married at Westerly, R. I., November 1, 1698, Joshua Holmes and had nine children. It is possible that she was a daughter of Edward Sturgis Jr. (B) and Temperance Gorham.

Thankful (C), a third daughter, born about 1675, married about 1693, Peter Thacher, who in his will in 1735 mentions "mother Baxter." She died May 1, 1745, aged 70.

Edward Sturgis Jr.'s widow married January 27, 1679-80, Thomas Baxter, supra.

Edward (C), the youngest son of Edward Jr. (B) and Temperance Gorham, born in either 1672 or 1673, died June 1, 1738 in his 66th year according to gravestone (Yarmouth). He married November 25, 1703, Mehitable Hallett, who died January 20, 1745. They had, Abigail

(D) born October 25, 1706; Temperance (D) born October 29, 1708; Edward (D) born July 24, 1710; Jonathan (D) born December 15, 1714; Jerusha (D) born February 21, 1716; Mehitable (D) born February 16, 1718; Benjamin (D) born July 1, 1721; Mary (D) born March 8, 1722; and Mehitable (D), second, born November 17, 1723. (Sturges Genealogy by Alonzo W. Sturges.)

There were no probate proceedings having to do with the estate of this Edward Sturgis (C) but the will of his widow Mehitable Sturgis, describing herself as "of Yarmouth, innholder," was proved February 13, 1744 (Vol. 6, page 495). By her will she left a silver tankard to her son Edward (D) and £30 in money and presumably neither Jonathan (D) nor Benjamin (D) survived her. She makes bequests to her daughters, Abigail Sturgis (D), Jerusha Hawes (D), Mary Gorham (D) and Mehitable Hinckley (D).

Edward Sturgis (D) of Yarmouth, born July 24, 1710, only surviving son of Edward Sturgis (C) and Mehitable Hallett, married Thankful Hedge, February 3, 1730, and had, Temperance (E) born June 23, 1731; Elizabeth (E) born August 11, 1734; James (E) born August 23, 1735; Edward (E) born July 27, 1737; Abigail (E) born January 17, 1739; Samuel (E) born December 11, 1742 (Sturges Genealogy by Alonzo W. Sturges).

The will of this Edward Sturgis (D), describing himself as "of Yarmouth, yeoman," was probated February 9, 1773 and he mentions his daughters, Temperance Taylor (E), Elizabeth Matthews (E) and Abigail Gorham (E), and one son, Edward Sturgis (E), so apparently James (E) and Samuel (E) both died before him.

Edward Sturgis (E), the sole surviving son of Edward Sturgis (D) and Thankful Hedge, born July 27, 1737, married January 28, 1767, Mary Bassett, born January 20, 1744, and they had, Mary (F) born December 12, 1767; Abigail (F) born January 1, 1770; Samuel (F) born April 15, 1772; Thankful (F) born April 12, 1775; James (F) born October 6, 1776; David (F) born January 10, 1779; Olive (F) born December 13, 1780; Jonathan (F) born November 26, 1782; Lucy (F) born August 5, 1786; and Heman (F) born November 9, 1789.

I do not find any record of what became of the son, Samuel (F), born April 15, 1772, but James (F), David (F), Jonathan (F) and Heman (F) went to Vassalboro, Maine, with their parents in 1795 (Alonzo W. Sturges' Genealogy) and from them the Maine branch of the family is descended.

DESCENDANTS OF THOMAS STURGIS (B) AND ABIGAIL LOTHROP

THIRD GENERATION FROM EDWARD STURGIS, SENIOR

Thomas Sturgis (B), the youngest and only surviving son of the first Edward Sturgis, born in December 1659, died at Barnstable, June 30, 1708, aged 48 years, 6 months (gravestone). He married about 1681 Abigail Lothrop, who was born December 18, 1660, and they had, Edward (C) born December 10, 1684; Thomas (C) born April 4, 1686; Hannah (C) born September 18, 1687; Susanna (C) born about 1688; John (C) born December 2, 1690; Elizabeth (C) born December 25, 1692; Abigail (C) born October 28, 1694; Thankful (C) born March 18, 1697; Mercy (C) born about 1699; and Dinah (C) born about 1700.

This Thomas Sturgis (B) was for nine years a Deputy to the General Court at Plymouth (Freeman's History of Cape Cod) and was appointed to seat persons in church, an important function. His name appears from time to time in the Barnstable Probate Records; April 5, 1701 as a witness to a will (B. P. R. 2-69); August 8, 1705 as a witness to a settlement agreement (B. P. R. 2-200); as an appraiser (B. P. R. 2-245).

Administration on the estate of this Thomas Sturgis (B), described as "of Barnstable," he having moved there from Yarmouth, was granted to Abigail, his wife, "the ninth day of July In the 7th year of her Majtees Reign, Annoque Domini 1708" (Vol. 2, page 350), and Barnabas Lothrop was appointed commissioner to divide his estate. To the widow, Abigail Sturgis, he gave £66-13-4, being one third of the personal estate, and the own use and benefit of the dwelling house of the deceased for life, all of which was for her right of dower. The report of the commissioner proceeds as follows:

“And for as much as Edward Sturgis (C), the eldest son of said deceased, being sensible that for some good causes his father’s mind was that he should have but single portion or share equally with the rest of the children, hath therefore declared before myself that he doth accept of a single share or portion accordingly.”

The commissioner therefore awarded to each of the children of the deceased, naming them, Mercy Sturgis (C), Susanna Sturgis (C), Thomas Sturgis (C), John Sturgis (C), Hannah Sturgis (C), Abigail Sturgis (C), Thankful Sturgis (C) and Dinah Sturgis (C), each £36-14-0. The dwelling house occupied by Edward Sturgis (C), the son, was awarded to him and certain land to the other son Thomas (C), each giving bond to pay in the value thereof.

Abigail Sturgis, the widow of Thomas, left a will which was proved October 28, 1723 (Book 4, page 146), in which she speaks of her daughters Hannah Sturgis (C) and Dinah Sturgis (C), Mary Lewes (C), Susannah Taylor (C) and Abigail Hunt (C). Of the daughters Thankful alone had died since the death of her father. All three sons, Edward (C), John (C) and Thomas (C), are referred to as living.

Edward Sturgis (C), son of Thomas and Abigail, died in Barnstable intestate and administration upon his estate, he being described as “Gentleman,” issued March 15, 1748 to David Gorham, administrator, and the inventory of his estate shows £2,069-0-6d.

John Sturgis (C), third son of Thomas and Abigail, died in Barnstable intestate in 1731 and administration was granted upon his estate to Edward Sturgis (C) and Thomas Sturgis (C), his brothers, and Mrs. Susanna Sturgis, widow. No mention is made of any children.

Of the daughters, Mary or Mercy (C) married James Lewes December 15, 1720; Susanna (C) married Seth Taylor, May 20, 1721 (B. T. R.).

FOURTH GENERATION

CHILDREN OF THOMAS STURGIS (C) AND MARTHA RUSSELL, HIS WIFE

Thomas Sturgis (C), second son of Thomas and Abigail, born April 4, 1686, married December 26, 1717 Martha Russell of Barnstable, daughter of Mr. Jonathan Russell, Minister, (B. T. C. 2-26), and died December 18, 1763. The following data with regard to the children is taken from an old manuscript in the possession of Miss Fanny T. Sturgis of Boston, presumably written by Mrs. Thomas Sturgis (Elizabeth Jackson) whose husband was a grandson of this Thomas and one of the six sons of Thomas Sturgis as will appear later (Vide also B. T. R. 1-303).

Martha Sturgis (D) was born at Barnstable, Wednesday, November 19th, 1718 and died March 9, 1743 on Wednesday about 8 or 9 evening.

Elizabeth Sturgis (D) was born June 12, 1721 at 1 o'clock at night and died 22nd of August 1721 about 4 or 5 o'clock in the afternoon.

Thomas Sturgis (D) born a Sabath (sic) day on July 22, 1722.

Elizabeth Sturgis (D) was born a Thursday on August 26, 1725, was married to Thomas Allen of Barnstable April 19, 1752; April, Friday, 16, 1753, she was brought to bed with a daughter, the child expired a few minutes after it came into the world. She was brought to bed with her second daughter Susanna (E) and on November 3rd, 1755 she was brought to bed with her third daughter Elizabeth (E), which died in about seven weeks after it was born. Her daughter Suse Allen (E) died August 18, 1756. The mother of them died March 19, 1757, aged 31 years, 6 months and 24 days. Truly a pathetic tale (Ed.).

Rebecca Sturgis (D) was born a Monday morning in October 9, 1727 and died a Monday about 12 o'clock in July 21st, 1729.

Jonathan Sturgis (D) was born a Wednesday on June 17, 1730 and died at Sea November 12, 1751, of the small-pox on his passage from London, had been out about 15 days when he broke out with it. Left two small children, Catherine Sturgis (E) born October 1748 and Jonathan (E) born December 1750. His first child was apparently born when he was about 18 years old. (Ed.).

Abigail Sturgis (D) was born a Saturday night July 22, 1732. From another source it appears that she died December 4, 1751 (Ed.).

Hannah Sturgis (D) was born on Sabbath Day on August 24, 1735. There is no record of her death (Ed.).

WILL OF THOMAS STURGIS

Thomas Sturgis (C), the father, left a will (B. P. R. 13, page 8), dated November 21, 1763, twenty-seven days before his death, and this will is so full of interest in showing the nature of the man, his property and his children, that it is well worth setting out at length. It will be seen that he was survived by his widow, his son Thomas (D) and his daughter Hannah (D) and that he provided for the widow of his deceased son Jonathan (D) who was Hannah Jennings and for their two children. The will is as follows:—

THOMAS STURGIS

FIFTH GENERATION

CHILDREN OF THOMAS STURGIS (D) AND SALLY (PAINE) STURGIS, HIS WIFE

Thomas Sturgis (D), sometimes called Thomas Sturgis Jr., born July 22, 1722, married January 24, 1745 Sarah or Sally Paine of Eastham (B. T. R. 2-275), daughter of William Paine and Sarah Bacon. Their children were, Martha (E) born November 6, 1745; William (E) born February 19, 1748; Russell (E) born August 27, 1750; Abigail (E) born August 3, 1752, married November 25, 1774 Christopher Lovell and left issue; Thomas (E) born April 5, 1755; John (E) born August 15, 1757; Elizabeth (E) born December 13, 1759; Samuel (E) born September 28, 1762; and Josiah (E) born September 19, 1767.

This Thomas Sturgis (D) is the common ancestor of what may be called the William Sturgis, Russell Sturgis, Thomas Sturgis and Samuel Sturgis branches of the Sturgis family. These four sons each left many descendants, some of whom attained prominence, and it will be my aim from this point to bring the descendants of these four down to the present day.

Thomas Sturgis (D), the father, was apparently prominent in the rising of the inhabitants of the Counties of Barnstable, Plymouth and Bristol, known as the "Body of the People." On September 27, 1774 they marched to Barnstable and Thomas Sturgis was appointed one of the committee to represent the town on the general committee (Freeman, page 434). He died in 1785 and his will, in which he described himself as "of Barnstable, yeoman," was proved November 9, 1785 (B. P. R.). The important paragraph in his will reads:—

"Imprimis: I give to my six sons, William, Russell, Thomas, John, Samuel and Josiah, twenty shillings each."

He left two daughters, Abigail Lovell and Elizabeth Sturgis, and named his sons William, Russell and Thomas, the three oldest, as his executors.

MARTHA STURGIS

Martha Sturgis (E), the eldest child, born November 6, 1745, presumably died young for there is no mention of her in correspondence nor record of her marriage. She died before her father.

WILLIAM STURGIS

William Sturgis (E), the eldest son, born February 19, 1748, was on the pay roll of Captain James Davis' company, November 1, 1775, and on the pay roll of Captain George Lewis' company of militia in Col. Freeman's regiment on the alarm of New Bedford, Dartmouth and Falmouth in the service of the State in September 1778. This William Sturgis married first, Sarah Burdick, September 1, 1771 (Boston Marriage Records). Of this marriage there was a daughter Sarah or Sally who afterwards married a Pope of Sandwich, and was later known in that community as the Widow Pope and to her grand-nephews and nieces, grandchildren of Captain William Sturgis, a son by the second marriage, as Aunt Pope. One of these grand-nieces is Mrs. Thornton K. Lothrop of Boston, who remembers the close bond of affection between her grandfather and her great-aunt. Mrs. Pope had one daughter who married a Loring of Sandwich with whom Mrs. Pope lived during the latter years of her life. This Mrs. Loring had a son and daughter but both died without issue.

For his second wife William Sturgis married Hannah Mills, the youngest daughter of the Rev. Jonathan Mills, a graduate of Harvard and settled at Harwich, and lived in Barnstable in the house now used as the "Sturgis Library," which was originally the parsonage of the Rev.

John Lothrop, grandfather of the wife of the first Thomas Sturgis (B) (Hon. William Sturgis by Charles G. Loring). He was a sea captain and died abroad in 1797 after his vessel had been captured and plundered by piratical privateers in the West Indies (same reference). Of this marriage there were probably several children but only a son William (F) born February 25, 1782 and a daughter Hannah (F) survived their father and left descendants.

RUSSELL STURGIS

Russell Sturgis (E), the second son, born August 27, 1750, was brought up in Barnstable and on November 13, 1773 married Elizabeth Perkins, who was the eldest daughter of James Perkins and Elizabeth Peck, daughter of Thomas Handasyd Peck, a prominent merchant and fur trader of Boston who lived on King Street, now State Street. This Elizabeth Perkins was born January 18, 1756 and at the time of the Boston Massacre in 1770 stood in the window of her grandfather's house with her little brother Thomas Handasyd Perkins and witnessed the Massacre (Life of Thomas Handasyd Perkins by T. G. Carey). Her father James Perkins was an ardent patriot and was one of the petitioners to the Governor to convene the Assembly as a remonstrance against Governor Hutchinson accepting salary from the King. He had but lately returned from England where it is likely that he acted as an informal agent of the Boston malcontents. Soon after his return he rode on horseback to Barnstable, where it appeared that, in company with his friends James Otis and Paul Revere, he was many times at the house of one Marston, a large land owner and mill owner and a keen patriot. A small bay and creek allowed boats to come up nearly to the house, and it is not unlikely that arms were landed there (Books and Papers of Russell Sturgis by Julian Sturgis). Following his death in 1771 Mrs. Perkins thought it best to retire from Boston, and moved with her eight children to Barnstable. Squire Bacon wrote that he had a house with twenty rooms in it, and she and her children should live there until times were better. It was there that her eldest daughter Elizabeth met and married Russell Sturgis (Books and Papers of Russell Sturgis by Julian Sturgis).

Russell Sturgis and his wife moved to Boston before 1777, for he wrote to Mr. Bourne from Boston giving a description of the soldiers of Burgoyne's army arriving there after Saratoga. He engaged in the hat and fur trade, and appears in the first Boston directory published in 1789. He was successful as a merchant and lived for many years in Tremont Row in the next house to that of Samuel Parkman, whose daughter Susan his son Nathaniel Russell Sturgis afterwards married. Russell Sturgis was a close friend of Stuart's who painted three portraits of him. He died September 7, 1826. His widow survived him and died September 18, 1843, eighty-seven years old. She bore him sixteen children. They were:—

James Perkins (F) born October 21, 1774, sailed for San Domingo in November or December 1790 and neither he nor the ship in which he sailed was ever heard of again;

Elizabeth Peck (F) born April 22, 1776, died August 11, 1776;

A second Elizabeth Peck (F) born June 13, 1777; died October 11, 1778;

Nathaniel Russell (F) born February 17, 1779, died September 27, 1856;

Thomas (F) born August 16, 1781, died August 11, 1782;

Elizabeth Perkins (F) born April 9, 1783, died August 27, 1783;

Charles (F) born August 19, 1784, died September 20, 1801;

Sarah Paine (F) born April 18, 1786 and died June 12, 1855. She married Elisha Pope of Sandwich and had children who died young.

A second Elizabeth Perkins (F) born April 27, 1787, died February 10, 1788;

Elizabeth (F) born December 30, 1788, died March 20, 1873 unmarried and known to her brother's children as Aunt Betsy.

Henry (F) born February 13, 1790, died in Macao, China, April 11, 1819;

James Perkins (F) born July 9, 1791, died August 24, 1851. He went to China when a young man, on the Ship Atahualpa, the captain being his first cousin William Sturgis, and took part in a famous sea fight with the pirates off Macao, which will be described later. He lived in the Suy Hong at Canton for about twenty-five years, being United States Consul there, and was well known to all the China merchants of the time. From Canton he moved to Macao, where he lived for eighteen years. He died on shipboard on his way home;

George Washington (F) born October 5, 1793. He went to China as a young man and came home in 1824. He married Mary A., daughter of Dr. Walter Channing and died September 5, 1826;

Ann Perkins (F) born January 31, 1795, died February 6, 1795;

Ann Cushing (F) born April 30, 1797, died January 4, 1892;

Mary Perkins (F) born May 14, 1800, died September 2, 1801.

Two children only of this great family left issue who have descendants living today; Nathaniel Russell, the fourth child, who married Susan Parkman, and Ann Cushing, the fifteenth child, who married Frederick William Paine of Worcester.

ABIGAIL STURGIS

Abigail Sturgis (E), the fourth child of Thomas Sturgis and Sarah Paine, born August 3, 1752, married November 25, 1774 Christopher Lovell and died October 24, 1793 leaving issue.

THOMAS STURGIS

Thomas Sturgis (E), the fifth child, born April 5, 1755, like his brother William remained in Barnstable and with him was on the pay roll of Captain George Lewis' company in 1778 and also on the pay roll of Captain Micah Hamlin's company of Col. Simeon Carey's regiment March 30, 1776. He married March 25, 1786 Elizabeth Jackson, born in Plymouth, February 10, 1768. They lived in Barnstable and like his brother William he was a sea captain. He died September 16, 1821 and the wife died November 21, 1844. They had:— Nancy (F) born December 27, 1786, died in New York, November 20, 1866 unmarried; Hezekiah Jackson (F) born December 1, 1789, died unmarried April 29, 1829; Thomas (F) born May 6, 1781, died September 6, 1792; Elizabeth Jackson (F) born March 10, 1793, died April 20, 1870, married Russell Freeman of Sandwich and left no issue; a second Thomas (F) born June 24, 1795, died January 20, 1835 and left no issue; Martha Russell (F) born March 21, 1797, died June 8, 1846 unmarried; Catherine (F), born April 20, 1801, died October 30, 1880 unmarried; Russell (F) born December 6, 1804, died a resident of New York, May 7, 1872; William (F) born September 1, 1806, died a resident of New York, January 10, 1895; Frances (F) born August 1, 1808, died August 17, 1808; Esther Frances (F) born May 6, 1810, died unmarried September 13, 1896. Of the above children only Russell and William, the eighth and ninth children, left descendants.

JOHN STURGIS

John Sturgis (E), the sixth child, born August 15, 1757, was married April 17, 1794 by the Rev. Caleb Prentice to Rebecca Simpson of Reading, Massachusetts. The Simpsons were a well known family in Reading but no information is obtainable about the couple or their descendants, if any.

ELIZABETH STURGIS

Elizabeth Sturgis (E), the seventh child, born December 13, 1759. She survived her father but I can find no record of her marriage or death.

SAMUEL STURGIS

Samuel Sturgis (E), the eighth child, born September 20, 1762, moved to Boston as a young man, and was there, like his brother Russell, engaged in the hat and fur trade. He married March 23, 1786, Lucretia Jennings of Boston, who was born January 17, 1764, the daughter of Levi Jennings, "a Revolutionary soldier." They lived in Boston, but after her death, December 12, 1811 he went to Winthrop, then a part of Chelsea, Massachusetts, where he died November 13, 1825. Their children were:— Thomas (F) born in Boston, March 29, 1786, was lost at sea on his passage to the Isle of France in the ship Pandora, Captain Grafton, November 17, 1805; Lucretia (F) born July 15, 1788, married November 21, 1811, Joshua Bates of Weymouth, Massachusetts, who was later the American partner in Baring Brothers & Company, London, England, and died in London, June 22, 1863; Nancy (F) born July 17, 1789, married Philip Tewksbury of Chelsea, April 8, 1819 and died February 3, 1857; Samuel Jr. (F) born March 28, 1791, was drowned in crossing the Fox River in Illinois in 1822; Hannah Bourne (F) born in 1793, died in 1803; Josiah (F) born June 3, 1794, was prominent in the United States Revenue Service and never married. He entered the service and was commissioned first lieutenant, June 4, 1832, was made captain, February 13, 1839, and died on board the Revenue Cutter Hamilton, while in command of that vessel, June 28, 1850. Abigail Lovell (F) born July 11, 1795, married in 1820 John Tewksbury of Point Shirley, Massachusetts, and died November 3, 1875; Eliza (F) born February 12, 1797, married December 16, 1821 Barnabas Turner Pratt of Chelsea and died October 3, 1875, he dying December 5, 1842; Harriot Hinckley (F) and Mary Paine (F), twin sisters, were born April 15, 1798, Mary Paine was drowned near Point Shirley, May 29, 1819 and Harriot Hinckley lived until November 1, 1877 when she died in her 80th year; John (F) born May 29, 1799, died November 1, 1851 without issue; Sally Hill (F) born November 17, 1800, married S. Tewksbury and died January 23, 1879; Charles Russell (F) born April 4, 1803, married Mary J.

Gray and died at Winthrop, Massachusetts, February 10, 1870; Hannah Bourne (F) born May 1, 1805, married Thomas Floyd.

JOSIAH STURGIS

Josiah Sturgis (E), the ninth child, born September 19, 1767, married first, Esther Doubleday in Boston on September 10, 1795 (Boston Marriage Records). He married second, Esther Perkins, younger sister of the wife of Russell Sturgis. He was a merchant in Charleston, South Carolina, having a place of business at Craft's Wharf and resided at 40 Church Street. In 1807 he was in business with J. Lovell under the firm name of Sturgis & Lovell and seems to have been a prosperous merchant. In 1810 Josiah Sturgis wrote from Charleston under date of February 3rd to his sister-in-law Mrs. Russell Sturgis in Boston of the death of his wife, a very pathetic letter, beautifully written and expressed. In this letter he refers to a son who must have been a lad under fifteen years of age, and was apparently at this time staying with his uncle Russell in Boston, but the boy's name is not mentioned and he must have died young. Between 1816 and 1831 Josiah Sturgis was living at No. 6 South Bay in Charleston, and married for a third wife Mary Johnston, daughter of Charles Johnston and Mary Mackenzie of Charleston, and died intestate May 19, 1835, Charles Macbeth, the husband of a sister of the third wife being granted administration. The inventory of his estate showed little or no property and presumably he was carried down in the Panic of 1835. His widow Mary Sturgis died in 1856 testate and was apparently a person of property. Her will was proved February 15, 1856 (Charleston P. C., Book L, Page 432). Miss Elizabeth Sturgis (F), daughter of Russell Sturgis (E) and therefore her husband's niece, was named as a legatee in the will.

WILLIAM STURGIS (E) LINE

DESCENDANTS OF WILLIAM STURGIS (F) AND ELIZABETH
MARSTON DAVIS

Sixth Generation

William Sturgis (F), only son of William Sturgis (E) and Hannah Mills, attained great prominence, and, with Russell Sturgis of London ranks as one of the two most distinguished members of the family. He lived to an advanced age and stood preeminent in the Boston world of trade. He was born February 25, 1782 and in the year 1796 came to Boston and entered into the counting house of his uncle Russell Sturgis, and eighteen months later became connected with James and Thomas Handasyd Perkins at that time engaged in trade with the northwest coast and China. After the death of his father in 1797 his family were left in straitened circumstances, and he decided "to follow the sea." At the age of nineteen with less than four years experience he became master of the ship Caroline upon the death of the captain. He had gone out as a boy before the mast and returned to Boston in five years as the master of a ship with an established reputation. In 1809 he sailed from Boston in command of the Atahualpa upon a direct voyage to Canton (Hon. William Sturgis by Charles G. Loring). When after a long voyage Captain Sturgis reached Macao Roads he anchored in a dead calm. Presently he saw a fleet of junks floating down on him. To satisfy a passenger who showed some anxiety he ordered a shot to be thrown across the bow of the leading junk, which he took to be the first of a fleet of peaceful fishermen. On came the fleet of Chinamen for they were the supporters of a famous pirate. The cable was slipped and the Atahualpa began to move shoreward before a light breeze which had sprung up, but the junks were upon her and from the first of them the swarming savages tried with long poles and the pilot's hook to catch the end of her spanker boom, and only just failed. Then at close quarters the captain worked his four small cannon and every musket on board; while the pirates crowded about his ship with fearful yells, firing jingalls and fire balls upon her deck. The cruelty of these Chinese pirates was well known; and Captain Sturgis had a barrel of powder ready with which he told his crew he would blow them all up if the pirates once got possession of the ship. In the meantime he plied their crowded junks at short pistol shot with cannon and musketry with deadly effect. Slowly his ship moved landward with its swarm of savage enemies until it was within range of the Macao forts, which began to throw their shot also among the eager pirates. These, for all their eagerness, had had enough of the peaceful merchant captain, and with their swarming junks crowded with dead and wounded they drew away while the Atahualpa drifted into harbor. (Books and Papers of Russell Sturgis by Julian Sturgis.)

Captain Sturgis returned to Boston in April 1810, gave up the sea, and entered into copartnership with Mr. John Bryant under the firm name of Bryant and Sturgis. This copartnership continued for more than fifty years and was terminated only by the death of Captain Sturgis. From the year 1810 to 1850 more than half of the trade carried on with the coast of the Pacific and with China from the United States was under their direction.

In 1810 Captain Sturgis married Elizabeth M. Davis, daughter of John Davis, Judge of the United States District Court. He took great interest in public affairs, and between 1814 and 1845 was for the greater portion of the time a member of the Massachusetts House or Senate. He died October 21, 1863 at the age of 81 years (Hon. William Sturgis by Charles G. Loring).

Captain William Sturgis (F) and his wife Elizabeth M. Davis had: William Watson (G) born in Boston in 1810;

CHILDREN OF NATHANIEL RUSSELL STURGIS AND SUSAN PARKMAN, HIS WIFE AND THEIR CHILDREN

Russell Sturgis (G), eldest son, born July 7, 1805, was with Captain William Sturgis better known than any other member of the family. He was educated at Harvard College, receiving his degree in 1823. As a young man in Boston he was much in the world of fashion, and a contemporary often described to the writer in his youth, his appearance escorting the beautiful Emily Marshall down Beacon Hill. On April 3, 1828, he married Lucy Lyman Paine, who died August 23, 1828, and on September 1, 1828, he sailed for Liverpool for a brief European tour, travelling in England, France, Switzerland and Italy. Upon his return to Boston he practiced law for a time, and on September 28, 1829 married Mary Greene Hubbard. In October 1833 he went to China, taking with him his wife and two children, remaining in the East for ten years, part of the time in China, and part of the time in Manila, as partner in the firm of Russell & Sturgis, of Manila, and Russell, Sturgis & Co. of Canton, until 1840, when the latter house was incorporated with the more famous Chinese house of Russell & Co. His second wife died in Manila, September 17, 1837, and in 1844 he returned, a prosperous and respected merchant, to his native Boston. In 1849, having married a third time, he left Boston once more, intending to return to China but in London was invited to join the firm of Baring Brothers & Co. and in 1873 on the death of Mr. Thomas Baring, he became the senior partner of the house and at the end of 1882 he retired from the firm and gave up business.

By his second wife he had: Russell (H) born August 3, 1831; Lucy Lyman Paine (H) born March 13, 1833; John Hubbard (H) born August 5, 1834; Mary Greene (H) born June 18, 1837, died April 28, 1838.
