GENEALOGY

STANSBURY FAMILY

This genealogy carries down the family line from Detmar Sternberg, from the time he came to America, in 1658, to John and Doras (Sater) Stansbury. From there on the names of their descendants are recorded.

The manuscript for this genealogy has been collected and arranged by Iva Scheffel, 105 West Adams Street, Fairfield, Iowa, President of the Iowa Association of the descendants of John and Dorcas (Sater) Stansbury. The printing has been done by J. L. Stansbury, of Mountain View, California. Additional copies of this book may be obtained from the President of the Association.

PREFACE

In the spring of 1932, while cleaning house, I found some notes my mother, Mrs. Etta Lyon Scheffel, had left concerning her ancestors. She is one of the fifth generation out of six generations of her family buried in an old Regular Baptist church cemetery, called Oak Grove, in Marion township, Henry County, Iowa. Five of these six generations are Stansbury descendants, the first generation of the six being the parents of Catherine Remy, wife of Henry Stansbury.

Realizing the significance of all this, I became hungry for more information about my ancestors. Who were the ancestors of these pioneers of Iowa, anyway?

In my research, I found that some of the Stansbury relatives had stayed in Indiana and Ohio, near Harrison, Ohio. I wrote to the postmaster at Harrison and located Mrs. Stella (Stansbury) Mortashed, a descendant of Joseph Stansbury, brother of my ancestor Henry, who handed my letter of inquiry as to the parentage of my Henry to Attorney Wm. L. Chambers of Brookville, Indiana, who had been retained to investigate the Ella Von Wendel and Stansbury estates. Attorney Chambers sent me the data of the ancestors of Henry Stansbury, gleaned to find our relationship to Ella Von Wendel, and asked me to help locate the descendants of other brothers and sisters of Henry. Attorney Chambers and Joseph Goshorn had already located most of the descendants of Joseph Stansbury and Deborah Stansbury Hancock. Mrs. Belle Hancock Grimes, descendant of Rachel Stansbury Hancock, sent information as to who the different brothers and sisters had married. Z. Harold Jones, of Bridgeport, Nebraska, sent me the descendants of John Stansbury and gave additional information that helped locate descendants of Ruth and Rachel; Mrs. Goldie Rogers Oldt, Aurora, Illinois, sent me the descendants of Rachel Stansbury Hancock; Mrs. Florence Mandel, La Grange, Illinois, sent me the descendants of Ruth Stansbury Harwood; Mrs. Anna H. Shelquist, Russel, Iowa, sent me the descendants of Elizabeth Stansbury Taylor; while the information about Samuel Stansbury was taken from old letters of Mrs. L. A. Yarbrough then of Rockport, Texas, a daughter of Samuel, written in 1903 to different cousins. I obtained the data about the descendants of Henry mostly from tombstones in Oak Grove cemetery and from Bibles, with the exception of the descendants of Henry's son, John Jefferson Stansbury, which I got from Bert Stansbury of Omaha, Nebraska. No information has as yet been found about Hannah, except whom she married.

From Mrs. Hattie Sater Larson of Henry's line, I learned of Mrs. L. E. Gibson of Cumro, Nebraska, who has considerable data on the Sater families; and from her notes I compiled the Sater genealogy.

Through our Stansbury reunions I learned that Joseph L. Stansbury of Mountain View, California, was a printer; and he is responsible for the printing of this genealogy. I am making no charge for collecting and arranging the material for these booklets. Mr. Stansbury is making no charge for his work. The small price of Standa is asked in order to defray the cost of materials used in the project and the postage for mailing out the booklets. They will be kept in supply at the address given below. Our aim in printing this genealogy is to preserve it for generations yet to come. We hope our efforts have not been in vain.

Key to the Numbering

The system used in the recording of names and data is simple if the following explanation is noted:

The genealogy from the first of the book down to John and Dorcas (Sater) Stansbury (page 19) contains the ancestors of John and Dorcas (Sater) Stansbury. The rest of the book records their descendants.

To locate your own line, look for your name in the latter part of the book. If it is preceded by a number, and you are listed with your brothers and sisters, your name and number will appear again farther on, with your children.

To locate your ancestors, find your parent's name and number at the head of the family in which you are first listed. Trace your parent's name and number back to where it is first listed under your grandparent's name. Then in the same way trace your grandparent's name and number back to his (or her) parents, and so on through each generation back to John and Dorcas (Sater) Stansbury, our common ancestors.

For example, my line runs thus:

(c) Iva Scheffel (page 55). (I have no number, so I follow my mother's number back.)

124. Etta Lyon Scheffel (pages 55 and 39). (My mother).

50. Catherine Hull Lyon (pages 38 and 26). (Grandmother).

9. Sarah Stansbury Hull (pages 26 and 22). (Greatgrandmother).

1. Henry Stansbury (pages 21 and 20). (Great-great-grandfather).

John and Dorcas (Sater) Stansbury (pages 20 and 19), our common ancestor.

The general order is as follows: The children of John and Dorcas (Sater) Stansbury are given first, then all the known grandchildren, then all the known great-grandchildren, etc. In enumerating the children of a family, if a letter only is used, and no number, before the name, this indicates that there is no further mention of the name in the genealogy.

IVA SCHEFFEL.

RECOLLECTIONS

Since this genealogy is designed especially for the descendants of John and Dorcas (Slater) Stansbury, a picture of their home life and conditions prevailing in those times would be a very fitting accompaniment. So as the manuscript submitted did not include this feature. I shall endeavor to draw one from the stories that my grandfather used to tell me when I was a boy six to twelve years old, and he was seventy-four to eighty years of age. He was John Stansbury, son of John and Dorcas (Sater) Stansbury. There are a few of their descendants now living who lived contemporaneously with members of that family. But aware of the exacting toll that relentless time levies from the human race, I know that in a few years none of us will be living who had actual contact with any of the sons and daughters of these worthy ancestors of the members listed in this book. Therefore I shall record for this little history some of the incidents of their family life, as they were related to me by my grandfather.

This genealogy shows that he was born April 6, 1808, at Baltimore, Maryland; and when he was four years old, in 1812, the family moved to Indiana Territory.

The present generation should not forget the very primitive conditions of that time. There were no railroads, no steamboats. Telephones and telegraphy had not been invented. Farming was carried on with the same crude implements that had been in use for hundreds of years. Grain was cut with a scythe or a cradle, and threshed by beating it out with a flail. Material for clothing was produced on the farm, and spun and woven, and made into clothes in the home. Grain was ground in a local water-power mill, and necessary implements and tools were made in the neighborhood blacksmith shop. Matches were not in use. Fire was often kept burning the year round to save the trouble of rekindling it by flint. And especially were these customs in vogue among the settlers in the territories where transportation was slow and difficult.

It was under such conditions that grandfather was born and reared, but during his early manhood inventions began to appear, and there was ushered in an era of marvelous mechanical development such as the world had never seen before. During his life of ninety-two years he witnessed the transformation from the very primitive to the quite modern. In a special way he was impressed by improvements made in agriculture by modern machinery, and by improved transportation methods.

Several of his children settled in Kansas and Nebraska, where the broad level fields were so well adapted to the use of the most improved farm machinery; and as he visited them from time to time, he observed the great advantage the modern farmer enjoyed. In discussing with me these vast improvements, he remarked, "One man can do more farming now and do it easier than ten men could do when I was a boy!"

As the Ohio River was the great water highway at that time carrying thousands of settlers to the south and west, the family in company with other families from their neighborhood came down the Ohio River, and found a suitable location near the river some miles beyond Cincinnati in Franklin County, Indiana.

The country at that time, according to his description, was covered for hundreds of miles with heavy timber, mostly hardwood, as oak, hickory, walnut, and beech. Clearing this timber off some of the land to enable them to raise necessary crops was their first and greatest task. The method they used was to cut a ring through the bark around the tree near the ground in the month of August. This would kill the tree and the roots, and the next year they would cut the dead trees, roll them together, and burn them. By this means they were not bothered by sprouts coming up from the stumps, but the stumps remained in the fields for years as impediments to plowing and reaping until they were grubbed out. He often commented on the immense waste of the valuable hardwood timber in these log burnings. He said, "They are now digging up the old hardwood stumps in the fields that I helped to clear when I was a boy, and sawing them for furniture." So scarce had the supply of hardwood timber in that section become.

The remarkable and abundant bird-life was a feature of those times, and like the forests, has largely disappeared. I was told that verily the sky would be darkened for days by the mass flight of wild pigeons in their annual flights north and south.

At that time the Indians were not molesting the settlers along the Ohio River close to the forts, but a few miles farther back the settlers, as they worked in their clearings, were subject to attack by Indians hidden in the dense woods.

The sap of the hickory tree is sweet—somewhat like the sap of the maple tree. When a green log stands in the hot sun, this sweet sap will ooze out on the cut ends of the log between the bark and the wood. This taffylike sap is very delicious to the taste, and the boys and girls of those days had in it a very wholesome substitute for candy.

Grandfather told me that when he was a little boy, his brothers would put a big hickory log into the fireplace with one end in the fire and the other end projecting into the room. The heat of the fire would start the sap flowing to the other end. Then he would place his little tin cup where it would catch the sugary syrup. He would then have a treat unsurpassed by any confectionery on sale. This miniature sugar making occupied some of his time during the cold winter days.

It was not very long, however, until he was put to work. Children were early given light tasks to do, and taught to take some responsibility in the duties of the home, as it required the combined efforts and energy of the entire family to wrest a living from the soil, and develop homes where the virgin forests had stood.

Steamboats, which were now coming into use, and flatboats were plying the Ohio River, carrying on commerce with New Orleans, and the South, and bringing a great many settlers and their freight to the territories westward. This made Cincinnati a thriving growing city, and a good market, but it was a long drive from the Stansbury homestead. In order to make this trip to market in one day, grandfather overcame this distance handicap in his characteristic way by preparing and loading his produce the night before the market day. Then he would start early the next morning, and be miles along his way before sunrise. By the time his load of produce was sold, and the necessary business transacted, it would be late in the day; and much of the long journey home through the dark forests would have to be made in the night. Here are some of his own words about these trips. "Sometimes I would be so tired and sleepy that I would tie the reins to the dashboard of the wagon, and go to sleep, and let old Prince take me home; and when he came to the gate, he would stamp and whinny until I woke up."

To live well in the settlements was a matter of work and industry more than of money. Grandfather expressed it in these words: "About all we needed money for was to pay taxes. A young man was not considered qualified to set up housekeeping unless he could withe a plowshare on to the moldboard, and set a wagon tire." This means to tie the plowshare on with green withes or bark, when bolts or screws were not available. This had to be done so well that the share would stay on while cutting through the soil, until the plow ran head on into some stump or rock. That would be shock enough to break a bolt. In dry weather the wooden wagon wheels would shrink up, and the iron tires that bound the wheels together would become loose, and work off. Then the tire would have to be heated in places and crimped up so that the circumference would be shortened, and then heated again all around to expand it so that it could be slipped back over the wooden wheel. It would then shorten up, when cooled, and make the wheel strong and solid.

Likewise the young women, to be rated as good housewives, must be able not only to do the ordinary household duties, but also must be accomplished in the art of carding, spinning, and weaving.

Notwithstanding their meager educational facilities, these settlers were alert, keen of mind, and displayed an active interest in public and political affairs. They had the courage of their convictions.

Although their work and tasks seemed heavy and endless, yet they found time to be sociable. They combined in a very satisfactory way work, play, and entertainment. The neighborhood would gather at one farm as the seasonal work came on, and finish it whatever it was,—harvesting, haying, or thrashing,—and then go to another farm, and so on until everyone's work was done. Sometimes it would be log-rolling and burning, house-raising, or barn-raising. They would start a rivalry among the workers that aided in speeding up the work so that after the work was finished they could enjoy games and athletic sports.

At the age of twenty years grandfather married Ruth Hubbel, and soon after started a mercantile business in nearby Ohio. He seemed to be succeeding in this venture, until the financial depression of 1837. Closing out his business, he migrated with his family to the Territory of Iowa, took up land near Mt. Pleasant, in Henry County, and started again to make a home in a new country. In time a number of his neighbors and relatives from Indiana settled near him. He brought with him the set of books he had kept while operating the store in Ohio. Years afterward, when my father was a boy, he used to amuse himself by looking through the old ledger to see how many of these old friends still owed grandfather a store bill on account. And he found a number of them still indebted to him.

In 1849, leaving the management of his farm to his oldest son, he again followed his pioneer urge, and joined an ox-team caravan bound for the newly discovered goldfields of California by way of the Lewis and Clark Trail to Washington and Oregon and down to California.

The thrilling experiences of this long and arduous journey would fill a book. They suffered thirst, and hunger, and exposure in common with all the goldseekers who went that route, as they toiled along through arid deserts, and over mountain ranges that defied their progress. Sometimes when a sheer precipice halted them, to avoid a detour of many miles, they would unload the wagons, take them apart; and then horses, oxen, wagons, and loads would be lowered by ropes to the bottom of the cliff. They would then continue their westward way until a river or some other obstacle would hold them up, and test their courage and resourcefulness.

Grandfather often remarked about the vast herds of bison that roamed over the great plains across which they traveled. He said that he had seen them so large that it took days for them to pass a given point in their movements north or south. Of course, when they were near herds of these animals, they could obtain a supply of fresh meat. But in some parts of the country the wild game seemed scarce, hence at times they really suffered hunger.

The Indians were usually a source of annoyance and anxiety to these emigrants, but on one occasion they were a very substantial help to them. On account of the many difficulties, and delays of the journey, their food supply was exhausted long before they reached the place where they could replenish it. About this time they came to a tribe of Indians that had quite a quantity of dried fish saved for their own use. The leader of the company negotiated with the natives for a supply of this dried fish, and on this they subsisted for two weeks.

In spite of their hardships, toil, and privations, the trip was not devoid of humor, as the following incident will illustrate: At one point where they stopped for a while to let their oxen rest, and to repair wagons and equipment, the Indians formed the habit of hanging around the camp until they became rather unwelcome visitors. They were not afraid of flesh and blood beings that they could see, and fight with; but being very superstitious they were afraid of spirits and magic, against which their weapons could not prevail. Taking advantage of this characteristic of the Indians, the company employed a little magic to rid themselves of these too curious natives without precipitating hostilities. So one of the men who could impress the Indians as a medicine man took a tub. soap, and water, and with a large brush began making suds. The observing Indians by signs and such English words as they could use tried to find out what he was doing. Without replying he silently worked away making huge piles of billowy, lathery suds. The simple-minded children of nature attributed the production of this strange substance from water to the magic powers of the white medicine man. He continued in silence; and the great mass of foamy suds that he had made, so aroused their suspicion that they pressed him to tell them what it was all about. Finally he said: "Make rain medicine. Heap rain come down. Wash Indians away." And soberly he continued producing the suds. The Indians consulted together awhile over this pending disaster. and then silently vanished. And thus the travelers were relieved from annovance by this group of Indians.

After three years grandfather started back to his home in Iowa, going down the coast to Panama, then to New Orleans, where he had his gold dust and nuggets coined into money; and proceeded up the Mississippi River to Burlington, Iowa.

The next year his oldest son, George, and his second daughter, Catherine with her husband, Charles W. Washburne, followed his trail as far as western Oregon.

Between the time of his return and the Civil War grandfather was occupied in making improvements on his home place. He built a large barn, and a new up-to-date house. With the help of his sons he cut the timber for these buildings from his own woodland.

When the Civil War broke out, his two oldest sons at home, Joseph and Thomas, answered Abraham Lincoln's call by volunteering in the Fourth Iowa Cavalry, leaving grandfather and my father, his youngest son, to manage the farm. Joseph fell a victim to pneumonia, but Thomas, surviving the many battles in which his regiment engaged, was mustered out of the service at the close of the war.

In his account of their home life grandfather gave his mother a very prominent and honored part. In sickness, in accidents and emergencies, and in the management of her household, she demonstrated a remarkably practical ability and resourcefulness. She took care of grandfather when he was bitten by a copperhead snake, using successfully the remedies then in vogue. I have heard him say that one of her maxims was to bind up a wound in its own blood. Science now shows that this method is far safer than to contaminate the wound with unsanitary washings and dressings.

Grandfather's family was an example of the pioneer spirit and type that subdued the American wilderness, and wrought out a nation unrivaled in history for its broad principles of civil and religious freedom, and its unhindered opportunity for individual development. We have a wonderful heritage in that we are from such ancestors. They were honest, industrious, thrifty, and resourceful. They were no "ves" men. They expressed their convictions vigorously by words and actions. During the few years that I was privileged to be associated with him, grandfather taught me most valuable lessons—lessons in thrift and industry, lessons that I shall never forget. And as the passing years multiply, I treasure the more the memories of those days that we spent together. May we not forget our worthy forbears, but may their great achievements and noble example be a lasting inspiration to each one of their descendants.

THE STANSBURY GENEALOGY

Data taken from research for the Stansbury estate tracing Daniel's gift by report of abstractor Elijah I. Bond, att. (abstract of filed documents as shown by records of Baltimore Co. and City as far as they pertain to John Stansbury, father of Deborah Hancock, from 1663 to 1880); a newspaper clipping from the Cincinnati Enquirer for February 8, 1925, in a series entitled "About Our Ancestors," by Frances M. Smith (Eleanor Lexington); and from the Maryland Historical Magazine for March, 1914, "Stansbury Family," by Christopher Johnson; and from Bible records, tombstones, etc.

Detmar Sternberg, the ancestor of this family, came to Maryland in 1658 with his wife Renske and his son Tobias, and settled in Baltimore Co., Md. He was a descendant of William of Orange. The name Renske is the low German or Dutch diminutive of Catherine. Detmar was living in 1678.

Tobias Sternberg or Starnborough² (Detmar¹) was born about 1652, was brought to Baltimore Co. Md. by his parents in 1658, married Sarah Raven, and died in 1709.

Land office (Lib. 16, fol. 148) shows patent dated July 10, 1671, for 100 acres in Baltimore assigned by Yate to Tobias Sternberge, and called Poplar Neck. In the Baltimore Co. Rent Roll, the date of survey of Popular Neck, which lay on the south side of Bear Creek, is given as Jan. 16, 1672, and the possessor (about 1712) was Daniel Stansbury. Tobias Stanborough was a member of the grand jury of Baltimore Co. at March Court, 1683 or 1684 (Balto. Co. Lib. D., fol. 129).

In 1692, Tobias Starnborough appears on the list of taxables for Patapsco Hundred, on the south side of Bear Creek (Balto. Co. Lib. G, No. 1, fol. 274). July 30, 1695, a tract of 185 acres called Strife was surveyed for Tobias Sternbrow "between the branches of Back River and Gunpowder" (Balto. Co., Rent Roll). This same year he had an allowance of 4,200 pounds of tobacco for seven months' service as a ranger, whose duty it was to patrol the country as a protection against Indians. (This is service rendered in Colonial days and means eligibility to some important patriotic organizations.) He was under Capt. John Oldton (Md. Arch, XX, 205 and XIX, 266). The inventory of Tobias Starnbrough's estate was filed from Baltimore County August 3, 1709 (Test. Proc., Lib. 21, fol. 175), resolved at Annapolis in Inventories and accounts (Lib. 29, fol. 408), and is signed by Robert Gorsuch as chief creditor, by Sarah Starnbrough as administratrix, and by Luke Raven "brother to ye administratrix."

Shortly after 1710 Sarah Starnbrough married Enoch Spinks. Daniel and Thomas, twins, were born in 1678, while the next child, Luke, was not born until 1689. It is possible, therefore, that the two elder sons were the offspring of a former wife, but there is no other evidence that Tobias was married more than once.

Tobias Starnborough² had issue:

- 1. Daniel Stansbury³, born 1678; died April, 1763.
- 2. Thomas Stansbury, twin of Daniel, born 1678; died 1766.
- 3. Luke Stansbury, born 1689; died 1742.
- 4. Tobias Stansbury, born 1691; died 1764.
- 5. Samuel Stansbury, born 1709; died 1784.
- 6. Tabitha Stansbury, born 1709.

Daniel wrote his name Stansbury, and Stansbury the name has been ever since.

Thomas Stansbury³ (Tobias², Detmar¹) was born in Baltimore Co. in 1678 and died May 4, 1766 (St. Paul's Register). He received a gift by deed of 40 acres "being a part of a tract called Strife," on Nov. 24, 1713, from his brother Daniel, and on Nov. 7, 1714, a certificate of resurvey issued to said Thomas for Daniel's gift now laid out for 127 acres (original certificates in land office). (Balto. Co., Lib. T. R. No. A, fol. 252). Thomas became the owner of property he called Stansbury, surveyed for him April 5, 1724, on the west side of Little Falls of Gun Powder, a considerable estate where he and his wife, Jane Dixon, raised a family of six. His will, dated Feb. 21, 1748, confirmed March 9, 1763, and proved June 4, 1766, recorded in Baltimore City (Liber W. B., No. 3, fol. 44). shows he acquired a very considerable landed estate and gave Daniel's gift, 127 acres, to his son John.

Thomas and Jane (Dixon) Stansbury had issue (dates of birth, etc. from St. Paul's):

- 1. John Stansbury, born 1710; died 1785.
- 2. Thomas Stansbury, born April 24, 1714; died 1798.
- 3. Daniel Stansbury, of Anne Arundel Co., died 1770.
- 4. Dixon Stansbury, born Dec. 6, 1720; died 1805.
- 5. Edmund Stansbury, born Jan. 13, 1724, died Apr. 22, 1780.
- 6. Jemima Stansbury, born July 19, 1727; married Aug. 16, 1747 to Roebuck Lynch.

John Stansbury⁴ (Thomas³, Tobias², Detmar¹) born 1710; died 1785; married Feb. 12, 1734, Ann Ensor. A deed dated October 14, 1743 (recorded Baltimore Co., Liber T. B. No. C, fol. 336), shows the transfer of Carr's Lot, 90 acres, from Thomas Carr to John Stansbury. Will of John Stansbury, recorded (Liber D, fo. 4, folio 102 or 513), gives Carr's Lot and Daniel's gift to son Thomas. Will probated Sept. 7, 1785.

John and Ann (Ensor) Stansbury had issue:

- 1. Jane Stansbury, born June 26, 1736; married Steveson.
- 2. Ann Stansbury, married John Long.
- 3. William Stansbury.
- 4. Richard Stansbury.
- 5. James Stansbury.
- 6. John Stansbury, born Jan. 23, 1737 or 1738; not mentioned in father's will.
- 7. Elizabeth Stansbury, born Feb. 25, 1739; married Doughety.
- 8. Thomas Stansbury, born 1741; died 1816.
- 9. Joseph Stansbury, died Dec. 29, 1798; married Frances; had issue: John, Rebecca, Nancy-Granby, and Elizabeth-Dew.

10. Caleb Stansbury, married Rebecca Beckyor; settled in Westminster, Carrol Co., Md. 1,000 acres.

Thomas Stansbury⁴, brother of John, born 1710 (Thomas³, Tobias², Detmar¹) was born April 24, 1714, and died in 1798. Will proved June 30, 1798, recorded Baltimore (Liber 6, folio 150), names children given below: He married March 2, 1735, Hannah, daughter of Charles Gorsuch and Sarah Coale his wife. They had issue:

- 1. Charles Stansbury, born Jan. 24, 1736.
- 2. Luke Stansbury, died 1798, leaving widow Catherine.
- 3. Benjamin Stansbury.
- 4. John Dixon Stansbury.
- 5. William Stansbury.
- 6. David Stansbury.
- 7. Sarah Stansbury.
- Hannah Stansbury, born April 20, 1743; married Henry Sater, born 1745 (see Sater Genealogy). Hannah Sater received land called Stone Hill by will from her father, Thomas Stansbury.
- 9. Jane Stansbury, born April 14, 1750; died June 10, 1798; married July 14, 1774, William Wilson (born 1749; died Mar. 30, 1824).
- 10. Rachel Stansbury, married Lemon.

Thomas Stansbury⁵ (John⁴, Thomas³, Tobias², Detmar¹), born 1741; married Ruth Ghant; lived in Baltimore Co., Md., died Dec. 3, 1816, in 75th year; buried in Greenmount Cemetery, Baltimore, Md. (affidavit given by Deborah Stansbury Hancock, a granddaughter, in 1880). Deeds of Baltimore Co., died Mar. 5, 1805, (recorded Liber W. S. or W. G. 84, fol. 45), shows the transfer of a tract called Tracy's Park from Joseph Satyr et. al. to Thomas Stansbury. Deed Sept. 24, 1791, (recorded Liber W. S. or W. G. No. G, fo. 427-20) part of Tracy's park, shows transfer from Elizabeth Haile to Thomas Stansbury. Will of Thomas Stansbury dated Nov. 13, 1816, acknowledged Jan. 2, 1817, recorded (Register of wills for Baltimore City, Liber No. 10, W. B. folio 233), gives Daniel's gift, Carr's Lot and Tracy's park, with provisions, to his "grandson Thomas, son of my son John." (Last will and testament of grandson Thomas Stansbury made 1856, recorded Baltimore Co. 1885, gives the estate to his wife, Eudocia (Dawes) Stansbury.)

Children of Thomas and Ruth (Ghant) Stansbury, as given by Rachel (Stansbury) Hancock, a granddaughter:

- 1. John Stansbury, born 1760.
- 2. Nancy Ann Stansbury, born 1774; died Feb. 1837, aged 63 years; married John Powell, a sea captain, died Aug. 1852. Buried in Greenmount cemetery.
- Deborah Stansbury, born 1771; married; died June 30, 1842, aged 71 years; buried in Greenmount cemetery.
- 4. Jemima Stansbury, married.
- 5. Thomas Stansbury.
- 6. Samuel Stansbury.
- 7. Elizabeth Stansbury.
- 8. Ruth Stansbury, married Jan. 31, 1799, to Thomas Taylor; probably buried in Taylor Mausoleum, Greenmount cemetery, Baltimore, Md.
- 9. Rachel Stansbury.

John Stansbury⁶ (Thomas⁵, John⁴, Thomas³, Tobias², Detmar¹) born in Baltimore Co., 1760; died April 13, 1845; married Dorcas Sater, born 1772; died Jan. 7, 1828 (see Sater Genealogy). They are buried in an old Baptist cemetery near Drewersburg, Franklin Co., Ind., near the Ohio line. John and Dorcas Stansbury went to White Water township, Franklin Co., Ind., about 1803 to 1811, with others of the Sater family. A letter dated Jan. 3, 1894, written by Thomas H. Taylor of Baltimore, Md., a descendant of Ruth (Stansbury) Taylor, to Mrs. Maggie Compton of Mt. Pleasant, Iowa, says, "John and his father could not agree, and he went west and had a son Thomas and his grandfather sent for him before he died and made him heir. This Thomas married Eudocia Dawes." Records in Franklin Co., Ind., show where John Stansbury in the year 1832 deeded 79 acres to Henry Stansbury his son, then in Franklin Co., Ind. He also deeded 79 acres to each of Joseph, John, and Samuel at about the same time.

Deed records show that Henry Stansbury and wife, Catherine, sold their 79.50 acres to John Hull of Franklin Co., Ind., on Aug. 20, 1833, and that they also sold other real estate on Aug. 24, 1842.

Samuel and wife, Maria Louisa, sold their 79.50 acres to John Cleaver for $900 on Mar. 8, 1838.

THE SATER GENEALOGY

Gorsuch, Lovelace genealogy (the beginning of this family) taken partly from D. A. R. magazine, Vol. LIV, Dec. 1920, No. 12, and in part from other sources.

William Gorsuch of London, England, merchant, came from Lancashire near Ormchurch. He married Avice Hillson and had a son Danyell.

Daniel (Danyell) Gorsuch² (William¹), son of William and Avice Gorsuch of London, merchant, late alderman of Bishopsgate Ward, member of the Mercer Company, removed to Walkern County, Hertfordshire, where he died in October, 1638. He married Alice, daughter of John Hall, a merchant of London. She died in 1662 at Weston, Hertfordshire. To this Danyell was granted Arms of "Letters patents dated 1577, granted to Robert Hillson of London, by Charles Cooke and continued to descendants of "Gorsuch" to bear as their paternal coat. In the Visitation of London, 1633, the coat of arms for the Gorsuch family, blazons fleur-de-lis, with a demi-lion guardant, argent, issuing from a ducal coronet for crest.

In the chancel of Walkholme church, Hertfordshire, there is a marble monument erected by Danyell Gorsuch in memory of his wife. In the same church in the east window are four shields, Gorsuch, another charged with the arms of the Mercer Company, of which Danyell was a member, Hall Arms, etc.

Daniel and Alice Gorsuch had a son John.

Rev. John Gorsuch³ (Daniel², William¹) was instituted as Rector of Walkern, Hertfordshire, July 28, 1632, and was ejected therefrom, owing to his Royalist proclivities, in 1642. He appears to have been an aggressive Royalist, and was under charges by the parliamentary party. It is reported that he lost his life in 1647 while attempting to assert his rights. After his eviction from Walkern, the Gorsuch family moved to Weston, the adjoining parish, where they also owned property. Rev. John Gorsuch was married in 1628 to Anne, daughter of Sir William Lovelace of Bethirsden, Kent, knighted in 1609, and his wife, Anne Barne. After the death of her husband, Mrs. Anne (Lovelace) Gorsuch chose the colony of Virginia for her home, and with her younger children settled in Lancaster County, to which she came as early as 1651. "Letters of Administration issued June 2, 1652, to Daniel Gorsuch, son of Anne Gorsuch, late of Weston County, Hertfordshire, but deceased in parts beyond the sea."

Other children were Charles and Richard. Charles asked for his brother Richard to be appointed his guardian April 1, 1657, Lancaster, Virginia.

Sir William Lovelace was the son of Sir William, knighted July, 1599, and Elizabeth Ausher, descended from Ealcher I, Earl of Kent of Bishopbourne, buried in Canterbury Cathedral.

This Sir William was the son of William, M. P. for Canterbury, and his monument is in Canterbury Cathedral, and a direct descendant of Richard Lovelace of Queenshite, London, who in the reign of Henry VI purchased Bayford.

Charles Gorsuch⁴ (John³, Daniel², William¹) son of Rev. John and Anne (Lovelace) Gorsuch, their ninth child, was baptized at Walkern, Hertfordshire, England, Aug. 25, 1642, died 1716. He came to Virginia as early as 1651 and was in Maryland in 1661; married first Sarah, daughter and heiress of Thomas Cole, owner of Cole's Harbor, a tract of 550 acres where the city of Baltimore now stands; married, second, on Feb. 12, 1690, Ann Hawkins. He first appeared in Maryland records Aug. 3, 1661, when land was surveyed and a patent issued to him. Sarah, referred to in several deeds as sole heir of Thomas Cole of Baltimore County, the wife of Charles Gorsuch, gave a power of attorney to Miles Gibson to acknowledge for her the sale by her husband, Charles Gorsuch, of the tracts, Swan Harbor and Forest, Feb. 8, 1678-9 (Balto. Deeds, I. R. R. P. 31). In a deed of Dec. 8, 1679, Charles Gorsuch of Talbot County and wife Sarah Cole convev to David Iones (his brother-in-law) three Baltimore County tracts: viz., Cole's Harbor 550 acres; Maiden's Choice 450 acres; Maryborn (St. Mary's Bowl) 200 acres (Balt. deed iden. I. R. R. P. 46).

Charles and Sarah (Cole) Gorsuch had three sons. He appears to have had no issue from his second wife. He may have had a daughter who married into the family of Nicholas Rohers of Baltimore County. Charles probably became a quaker.

Charles Gorsuch⁵ (Charles⁴, Rev. John³, Daniel², William¹) married Sarah Cole, and had issue:

John, born 1712 or 1714; died 1796; married 1735, Mary Price; William, born 1715 or 1718, died 1797, married, had issue; Hannah, born 1712 or 1719, died after 1751, married March 2, 1735, to Thomas Stansbury (see Stansbury genealogy).

Thomas Cole, born 1620, settled Cole's Harbor about 1665. He had one daughter, Sarah, born 1660, who married Charles Gorsuch. The will of Thomas Cole evidently was never administered to probate and is not to be found.

From "History of Baltimore, Maryland," edited by H. E. Shepherd, 1893, page 10: "In 1665 Timber Neck lying between the heads of middle and north branches of the Patapsco was patented for by John Howard and in the same year the tract north of it, upon which the first town of Baltimore was laid out, was granted to Thomas Cole for 550 acres and called Cole's Harbor."

"Crozier blazons arms for the Coles of Warwick County, Virginia, found on the tomb of Col. William Cole, who died in 1693. The Coles, too, have a patriotic record as members of the House of Burgesses and as members of the militia."

Thomas Stansbury (see Stansbury genealogy) and wife Hannah Gorsuch had, among other children, a daughter Hannah, born April 20, 1743, who married Henry Sater, born 1745, son of Henry and Dorcas (Towson) Sater of Baltimore County, Maryland. (See Sater and Stansbury genealogy).

The following information about the Sater genealogy was gathered mainly from a Sater history "written by Isaac Walker Maclay," a descendant of Henry Sater's daughter, Discretion, who married Thomas Walker of Baltimore, Maryland; some from quotations from letters by Attorney Lowry Sater, late of Columbus, Ohio; and part from memory of descendants of Henry Sater in an article in the Baltimore Sun a few years ago.

Henry Sater was born in one of the western shires of England in 1690 and was of Danish extraction. In 1709 he came to America, first to Virginia, but subsequently settled in Maryland and established his plantation on Chestnut Ridge, some eight or ten miles north of Baltimore. There are traditions in the Sater family of Maryland that their colonial ancestor was a descendant from or of the same family as Bishop Sater, an early British martyr.

It is said that Henry Sater was a person of means when he came to America. He seemed to have had or developed a strong religious character. He organized among his neighbors a Baptist association, and when Baptist ministers came that way, they were invited to hold services in his home. Finally as so much interest was manifested, he erected a one-story brick church on his land on what is called Chestnut Ridge. (It seems that his mansion was on what was then called Sater's Ridge). This church was built in 1742. It still stands and, somewhat modernized, is still in use. Inside on the wall in the rear of the pulpit are two large marble tablets, memorials to Henry Sater. Among the tombstones in the church yard that surrounds the church in a thickly shaded grove is one with the inscription "Henry Sater," almost obliterated. Other stones bear the names of Sater, Walker, Towson, Levering, Cockey, and Gorsuch.

An early history of the Baptist church says, "Mr. Sater bore an excellent character and may be considered not only the founder of their society, but of the Baptist interest in Maryland. His assistance in building the place of worship and his gifts of land to the minister are mentioned as peculiar marks of his liberality."

"Brooklandville and Brooklandwood Manor, the estate in the Green Spring Valley of the late George Brown, were included in the original site of the Sater homestead, and the Sater hills here inclose a valley of rare loveliness."

Of his first settling upon Sater's Ridge in Baltimore County, the land records show a transfer of a great number of pieces and parcels of land; viz:

White Hall, 50 acres, surveyed Jan. 16, 1716; warrant June 7, 1716; patent Oct. 21, 1718.

Satyr's addition, 350 acres, surveyed Sept. 30, 1718; warrant Oct. 5, 1718; patent May 7, 1723.

Chevy Chase, 77 acres; surveyed Feb. 6, 1728; warrant Aug. 14, 1728; patent June 10, 1734.

Egypt, 50 acres, patent Dec. 3, 1743.

White Hall, on the Northern Central railroad, probably derives its name from the old patent of Henry Sater.

It is believed that the patent of land received by Henry Sater from Lord Baltimore, "In fee and common socage" were awarded for military service, the tenure of land by grant from the Lord Proprietor having been drawn as a reward for such service. (This is service rendered in colonial days and entitles one to patriotic organizations).

It is said the mansion of Henry Sater does not now stand, but "east of his dwelling was an ancient slave cemetery still to be seen on Brooklandwood Manor, the ground of which was planted with cherry trees by the colonist's daughter Discretion."

"The original slave quarters are still standing, and the stone cabins built by Henry Sater for his negroes in those colonial days continue in a good state of preservation and are occupied for farm buildings." Henry Sater was not married until 1730, when he was 40 years old. His first wife was a Miss Stephenson. They had no children. She lived only a few years and was buried in the garden of her home. About 1739 he was married to Dorcas Towson, daughter of William Towson. She lived many years longer than her husband and, according to some of the family, married a Mr. Gossage. Henry Sater died in May, 1754.

The children of Henry and Dorcas (Towson) Sater are as follows:

George, born Oct. 20, 1740, died April 1768, married Rachel Hamilton, and lived in Baltimore County; Prudence, born Nov. 23, 1743, married Sept. 1762, Benjamin Howard of Baltimore County, moved to North Carolina; Henry, born April 27, 1745, married Hannah Stansbury (see Stansbury genealogy); Discretion, born April 3, 1749, died Dec. 7, 1823, married March 3, 1766, Thomas Walker of Baltimore City; John, born April 1, 1751, married, and lived in North Carolina; Joseph, born Dec 25, 1753, died Oct. 27, 1833, married Hannah Levering of Backsborough, Penn., ancestor of Attorney Lowry Sater, late of Columbus, Ohio.

Henry Sater² (Henry¹), born April 27, 1745, married Hannah Stansbury, born April 20, 1743; died 1798 (see Stansbury genealogy); had issue:

Henry Sater, died Feb. 10, 1850, married his cousin Martha Sater, born 1786, died July 28, 1852, and emigrated to the Wabash, Ind.; Joseph Sater, emigrated to Louisville, Kentucky, 1799; Thomas Sater, married Ketiera Bond; George Sater, died 1798, in Baltimore County, Maryland; John Sater emigrated to Ind.; Dorcas Sater, born 1772, died Jan. 7, 1828, married John Stansbury (see Stansbury genealogy), and emigrated to Indiana about 1806 or after when most of the Sater family went there.

THE TOWSON ANCESTRY

Dorcas (Towson) Sater's father was William Towson, who was born in Germany. He went to London, England, where he married a Miss Witmot. After her death, he married Catherine Allen of English birth, whose mother's maiden name was Cromwell, a descendant of Oliver Cromwell. William Towson settled in America about 1750, in Baltimore County, Maryland, where he bought eight acres of land. A village sprang up around him called Towsontown and is now a suburb of Baltimore. Here he erected and conducted a hotel. Here he raised his three sons, Ezekiel, Philip, and Obadiah. Some authorities give his sons as Obadiah, William, and Roland.

The link between Catherine Allen and Oliver Cromwell has not been found, but history gives the following Cromwell data. The Cromwell family is a very ancient one, and is of Welsh extraction. The original name was not Cromwell but Williams, and Morgan Williams is the progenitor of the family in England.

Morgan Williams married a sister of Thomas (Lord Cromwell) who later became Earl of Essex. In accordance with the rule of Henry VIII to abolish all distinction between the Welsh and the English, he requested that Richard Williams, a descendant of Morgan, take the name of Cromwell. The grandson of Cromwell (or Williams) was Sir Oliver Cromwell, who was an uncle of the Lord Protector of England.

Robert Cromwell³ (Sir Henry², Sir Richard William¹) died in 1617, married Elizabeth Steward (Stuart), widow of William Lynn. She was buried in great pomp in Westminster Abbey by her son Oliver while he was in power.

Their son Oliver⁴ (Robert³, Sir Henry², Sir Richard William¹) was the fifth and only surviving son, born April 25, 1599, died Sept. 3, 1658, married Aug. 22, 1620, Elizabeth, daughter of Sir Bouchier. Oliver was born in Huntingdon, England, of a good family, but being a second son, he inherited but a small estate from his father, who died when he was young. He acquired a tolerable fortune from a maternal uncle, took a small farm at St. Ives, and applied himself to agriculture. Long prayers took his time and that of his plowmen.

Urged by his wants and his piety, he made a party with Hambden, his near kinsman, to transport himself to New England with other Puritans, and it was an order of Council which obliged him to disembark and remain in England.

He was chosen to Long Parliament by the town of Cambridge. He was forty-three when he embraced the military profession. From low commands, he rose with great rapidity to be really first, though in appearance only the second in the army. By fraud and by violence, he soon rendered himself the first in the state.

King Charles I was dethroned and executed in 1650. In 1653 Cromwell was appointed protector. In 1657 he was offered the crown but refused it. There were plots of assassination. Cromwell feared for his life, became ill, and finally died Sept. 3, 1658. In 1658, his son was declared protector but soon lost the honor. In 1660 Charles II was restored to the throne.

Oliver Cromwell had issue: Robert, died 1639; Oliver, died 1644; Richard, born Oct. 4, 1626, died July 12, 1712, succeeded his father as protector; Henry, born Jan. 20, 1628, died March 25, 1674, had charge of the government of Ireland for a while; Bridget, married first Treton, governor of Ireland before Henry, and second Fleetwood; Elizabeth, married John Claypole; Mary, married Thomas Belasyse and later, Lord Fauconberg; Frances, married Sir Robert Rich and later Sir John Russell.

SUPPLEMENT to "GENEALOGY of the STANSBURY FAMILY, 1658 to 1938"

Compiled by IVA SCHEFFEL

When the Genealogy of the Stansbury Family, 1658-1938 was first printed, all the information concerning the descendants that was available was included in its pages. The task of collecting vital up-to-date information about such a widely scattered family as we are is known to the compiling editor, but not so fully appreciated by most of us. However, soon after the Genealogies had been sent out, letters began to come in with additional data, and expressing the desire to have this matter incorporated in the family genealogy. Accordingly the data thus received and a much-needed index to the original book and the supplement will be printed as a supplement to the original book.

The original book was printed to preserve data that had been gathered for the Stansbury estate battle and included largely just the names of the oldest living person in each family. There is yet much data that could be gathered. Little is known of Samuel's line, and the compiler has been unable to contact any of the descendants, if any, of Hannah Stansbury, who is said to have married John Hamen and James Finley. There are yet many first names of husbands and maiden names of wives, along with many dates, unknown to the compiler. There are also many children and grandchildren about whom we have no data.

We have received additional data from Attorney Paul R. Byrum of Kansas City; Mrs. Myrtle Boggs, Hot Springs, S. D.; Suella Grant, Wessington Springs, S. D.; James Albert Houseman, Huron, S. D.; Mrs. Laura McKenzie, Mt. Pleasant, Iowa; Mrs. Edna Jackson, Farmington, New Mexico; and others.

We are mailing copies of the supplement to those who have shown enough interest in the genealogy to send at least a "thank you" for the book and to those who have given corrections or additions to the original book. We wish to thank those of you who have so graciously responded financially, and by sending data and words of appreciation as it has required many hours of labor and much expense to edit the book. If you appreciate the effort, send a small donation to Iva Scheffel, 105 W. Adams St., Fairfield, Iowa.

We feel sure that it will be of interest to the members of the Stansbury family to know that the original Genealogy has been supplied on request to the following libraries and historical societies:

The Western Reserve Historical Society, 10825 E. Boulevard, Cleveland, Ohio.

National Society D. A. R. Library, Memorial Continental Hall, Washington, D. C.

The New York Historical Society, 170 Central Park, West, New York City.

SANDYS

Simon de Sandes¹ had a son, Henry del Sandes.

Henry del Sandes² (Simon³) married and had a son, Richard del Sandes.

Richard del Sandes³ (Henry², Simon¹) married Margaret Mourceux, daughter of Marmaduke Mourceux. They had a son, Robert.

Robert Sandys⁴ (Richard³, Henry², Simon¹) married and had a son, John.

John Sandys⁵ (Robert⁴, Richard³, Henry², Simon¹) married and had a son, William.

William Sandys⁶ (John⁵, Robert⁴, Richard³, Henry², Simon¹) married Margaret Rawson and had a son, George. Margaret was the daughter of William Rawson.

George Sandys⁷ (William⁶, John⁵, Robert⁴, Richard³, Henry², Simon¹) married Margaret Curen and had a son, William.

William Sandys⁸ (George⁷, William⁶, John⁵, Robert⁴, Richard³, Henry², Simon¹) married Margaret Dixon, daughter of John Dixon, and had a son, Edwin.

Edwin Sandys⁹, (William⁸, George⁷, William⁶, John⁵, Robert⁴, Richard³, Henry², Simon¹) married Cecily Wilford, daughter of Thomas Wilford. They had a daughter, Ann, who married Sir William Barne. Ann was born in 1570. (See Barne Genealogy).

ST. LEGER

Sir Ralph St. Leger¹ had a son, Thomas St. Leger.

Thomas St. Leger¹ (Ralph¹) married and had a daughter, Ivan, who married Henry Aucher. (See Aucher Genealogy).

Page 75. Charles Gorsuch³ (Charles⁴, Rev. John³, Daniel², William¹) married twice. The name of his first wife is unknown, but she is the mother of his children instead of Sarah Cole.

Page 79. Correction and addition to Towson genealogy, given by Mrs. W. A. Koch, Sr., of Towson, Maryland. The Log Cabin of William and Catherine (Allen) Towson has been found and proved. It is still good and for a Log Cabin is quite elegant. The original cabin is inside of a remodeled house to which an addition has been added and an old tree, not logs, form the ceiling for the top of the second floor. One has to climb a ladder to see them and they are in perfect condition.

William Towson received grants from Lord Calvert and died a very wealthy man. The children of William and Catherine (Allen) Towson, instead of the two sets as listed, are the oldest, Dorcas, born in 1710, married Henry Sater (see Sater genealogy); Thomas; and William, who had 8 children. His oldest son, Ezekiel, built the hotel at Towson instead of our William as given on page 79 of the original book. In the Towson library is a family tree which shows the branches of the three children.
