INTRODUCTION.

TWO Hundred and Forty-two years have passed since that "Old Souldier and no Scholler," Captain Walter Scot of Satchells, published his inimitable rhyming history of the "Right Honourable Name of Scot," and now another historian of the family has arisen in the person of Captain Keith Scott, who also may be called an "Old Souldier," inasmuch as he played his part in the greatest war of all time.

Captain Scott has not followed the example of his predecessor and written his history in verse, but he has set forth his pedigrees in a much clearer and more concise form, adhering rigidly to genealogical details.

He has produced a book which is of very great interest, not only to all the families concerned, but also to all students of Border History, and to genealogists in general. The histories of the titled and principal land owning families are included in works such as Peerages and Burke's "Landed Gentry," and are accessible to the public, but there are numerous other families, with pedigrees just as long and as interesting, and it is in these that the great interest of this book lies.

Captain Scott has taken infinite pains in collecting and tracing such pedigrees back to the parent stems and it is greatly to be hoped that the publication of this book may lead to the tracing of other branches, and provide clues for connecting these with the older lines. The majority of Border Scotts are probably descended from one or other of the three main branches into which, as will be seen, the family is divided, and it is regrettable that, largely through lack of interest in the subject, the connecting links have in many cases been lost. It is hoped that any who can provide further information relative to the subject will send it to the compiler and thus provide material for the possible future publication of a supplementary volume.

Captain Scott has made a notable contribution to the list of Scottish Genealogical works, and sincere thanks are due to him for the thorough manner in which he has carried out his task.

PREFACE.

AS its title implies this book is a collection of "Scott" pedigrees connected together in order of seniority, and intended to include as far as possible all male descendants of the founder of the family. The genealogies are taken from various editions of Burke, from Douglas, Satchells,* Dr. William Scott's "Scott of Stokoe," Mr. Winning's notes in the fifth edition of Satchells, Mr. Craig Brown's History of Selkirk, Major Tancred's "Annals of a Border Club," Mr. Grant's "Zetland Families," and from similar works of reference amplified by research into Parish Registers, in which I have been assisted by Mr. H. M. Paton of Edinburgh, and also in some cases by information supplied to me by members of the various families. I have also gratefully to acknowledge assistance and advice from Captain The Hon. The Master of Polwarth, and Mr. F. J. Grant, W.S., Rothsay Herald, both of whom have perused the collection in draft form and were instrumental in obtaining additional data.

Where the pedigrees contained in this collection differ from the works of reference mentioned above, I have only tampered with the latter when there has been no doubt that they have been wrong or incomplete. Note for instance that Walter Scott, tenant in Baillieknowe, did not marry Barbara Makdougall as stated in some editions of Burke.

*"A true history of several Honourable Families of the Right Honourable name of Scot," by Captain Walter Scott of Satchells. Original edition 1688, second edition Edinburgh 1776, third edition Hawick 1786, fourth edition 1892, fifth edition Hawick 1894, edited by Mr. John G. Winning.

Where possible, I have put into pedigree form the genealogies given by Captain Walter Scott of Satchells, and placed them in their proper place in this book. Many of these are necessarily sketchy and stop at the time of Satchells' book, namely 1688; where they are unsupported by other works they must be accepted with considerable reserve. There may be families living who can connect with these pedigrees, and for this purpose I propose leaving some blank pages at the end.

Before commencing the genealogy a few words are desirable on the general scheme and method of compiling; on the heraldry of the family; and also on the chieftainship of the Clan.

With regard to the general scheme, the method is the same as that adopted by Burke, except that every branch of over two male generations (in some cases of two generations only), has been given a separate heading. Male descent only is given, but when a family that has been traced for several generations in the male line becomes extinct the present representative (or representatives) where known in the female line are given; for example the Buccleuch line is given step by step to Mary and Anna, and then a brief note explains that this family is now represented in the female line by the present Duke.

Daughters are entered under each individual entry after sons as in the case of Burke's publications. Husband's names will be given where known, but not particulars of issue.

The Scott family naturally falls into three parts, and for the sake of convenience I have so divided these genealogies, with an additional part for families that are probably connected with the main branch but of which the exact connecting link is lost.

In the case of each family or cadet I have given the arms of the head of that branch where I know they have been matriculated.* Those families to which I have assigned no arms are probably without right in arms unless they have been matriculated since August, 1922.†

I have also in one or two cases entered the arms that are on record to extinct families.

With regard to the heraldry of the family, Sir Richard Scott's arms were, according to tradition, "or, two mullets in chief and a crescent in base azure," and on his marriage with the heiress of Inglis of Murdiestoun, whose arms were probably "or, a bend azure," he adopted her arms and displayed his stars and crescent on the bend, probably as in fig. II.‡

There was no very strict heraldic law in force in Scotland until early in the seventeenth century, and various members of the family seem to have rung the changes on the different methods of charging the bend. The clan arms given by Mr. R. Armstrong in his "History of Liddesdale" are as shown in fig. IV. The seals of six generations of the Buccleuch family from 1449 to 1568 are consistently as fig. III. In spite of this, however, a Scott of Buccleuch is noted in 1542 as bearing fig. VIII., in 1550 as fig. IV., and in 1562 as fig. V.; this latter was the father of the first Lord Scott of Buccleuch. The first Earl reverted to fig. III., and Francis, second Earl, adopted a star of six points between two crescents (fig. IX.) Anna, before marriage, bore as fig. VIII., and after marriage as an escutcheon of pretence, fig. III., and later, after the attainder of Monmouth, as fig. IX.

*Most readers will know that coat-armour of Scottish origin descends to the eldest son and that younger sons and their descendants are not armigerous until they matriculate at Lyon Office with "due and proper difference." The rule in England is different, all male descendants of the grantee being armigerous but in order to retain recognition of right in arms by the Heralds' College, pedigrees should be recorded and kept up to date by at least every second generation. A great grandson of a grantee or of a man whose arms were on record would not be officially recognised as armigerous without proof of descent being given and recorded.

†All descendants in the male line of the Rev. J. W. Napier-Clavering are armigerous, his arms having been exemplified at the Heralds' College, likewise all the male descendants of Mr. John Scott, Morpeth, and Mr. William Scott of Willsboro', Baron of the Exchequer, and the daughters of such male descendants according to the law of arms.

The Howpasleys and their descendants, including the Napiers, seem to have adopted a pierced mullet between two crescents, fig. VII.

The variation of étoile, mullet, and pierced mullet or spur-rowel has possibly arisen not so much out of deliberate differencing as from different artists' interpretation of "star," which was a loose term used in early heraldry for any kind of star.

As regards the second branch of the family, the Sinton family certainly bore the bend till towards the end of the sixteenth century, and quite possibly up to about 1672 if not later. William of Harden's seal in 1540 was as fig. V., and later his grandson, Auld Watt, bore as fig. VI., which continued to be the arms of the family till probably about 1820, after which they bore as fig. I. Cadet families of Harden prior to 1820 (with the exception of Scott of Abbotsford) bear a differenced version of fig. VI.

Possibly arising out of Satchells' views that Sinton branched from Buccleuch before the alliance with Inglis of Murdiestoun, the then Laird of Sinton or more possibly Archibald of Boonraw, altered his arms to the old pre-Murdiestoun Scott arms (fig. I). Boonraw made a deed of gift of his arms in 1700, twenty years before his death, to Sir William Scott of Harden, and the then Lord Lyon, Sir Alexander Erskine, made a grant of these arms to Sir William Scott (a doubtful procedure) which grant was not registered but lay in the Harden charter chest till 1820 when Sir Walter (then Mr.) Scott of Abbotsford presented it at Lyon Office and had it duly entered. The Lairds of Harden then, or about then, commenced to use the arms of Boonraw with a female figure bearing the sun and crescent for crest in lieu of the bend, star, crescents, and rose in their arms and the stag for crest.

This reversion is, in my opinion, to be regretted as being founded on a pedigree of Satchells which is most probably incorrect, and I should personally like to see the old arms of Auld Watt of Harden reintroduced into Lord Polwarth's coat.

Whether this is ever done or not, to be consistent all families descended from Sinton and Harden should bear the arms (either fig. I. or fig. VI.) borne by the father of the particular cadet from which they descend, suitably differenced.

For instance, the Raeburn family do not appear to have matriculated arms, and the present Laird of Raeburn and Lessudden is, strictly speaking, non-armigerous. The first Laird of Raeburn was the third of five sons of Sir William Scott of Harden, the Harden family bearing at that time "or, on a bend azure an étoile between two crescents of the field differenced by a rose gules"; the second, fourth, and fifth sons matriculated their arms surmounting the rose, by a crescent, a martlet, and an annulet respectively. The descendants of the second son eventually succeeded to the representation of the family and to Boonraw's arms; the other matriculations survive in the arms of General Scott of Sunlaws and Mr. Scott-Plummer. Although it is not the modern method of matriculation, I respectfully suggest that the present Mr. Scott of Raeburn, who is credited in some works of reference as bearing the Boonraw arms undifferenced, should matriculate his arms and ask for permission to bear, "or on a bend, etc., etc., surmounting the rose by a mullet."

Sir Walter Scott of Abbotsford also transgressed by bearing a differenced version of fig. I. instead of fig. VI., he being descended from the Raeburn family; and to emphasize the desirability of cadets bearing the arms of the generation from which they spring uninfluenced by subsequent change in the senior arms, compare the paternal quartering of His Grace the Duke of Buccleuch, which contains the arms of France as borne by Charles II., in spite of the fact that the Kings of England have now discarded the fleur-de-lis from their arms.

It is somewhat more difficult to deal with the heraldry of the third branch. The Scotts of Balweary were fairly certainly related to the Scotts of Buccleuch, but whether the connection is exactly as shown here is not so certain. The Scotts of Balweary may have adopted entirely different arms in order to distinguish themselves from the Buccleuchs when in armour, other methods of differencing not then having been thought of, or more possibly the arms borne by the Scotts of Balweary may have been the original arms of Balweary. At any rate the three lions' heads are equally as old as the crescents and stars.

With regard to the chieftainship of the family Lord Polwarth is undoubtedly universally recognized as the head of the Scotts, and the fact that there are many living members of the family appearing in these genealogies before Lord Polwarth, may give rise to some speculation.

The second Earl of Buccleuch, whose ancestors for many generations had been looked upon as heads of the family, died in 1651, and at that time there were living in probable order of seniority, Sir John Scott of Scotstarvit, Sir John Scott of Davington in an impoverished condition, George Scott of Boonraw (and several cadets such as Satchells, Whitslaid, Toderick) and Sir William Scott of Harden. These four families were all probably sprung from Buccleuch, but in no case has their pedigree been proved. Harden, being by far the most wealthy and influential Scott at that time, assumed the chieftainship on the Earl's death, and his heirs have held it ever since, although, as will be seen from the genealogies, he was far from even probably the senior Scott from a primogenital point of view, and was certainly junior to Boonraw.

As it is impossible to say with certainty in any, much less in all, genealogies exactly when the spelling of the name was altered from Scot to Scott (we find Scott in Parish Registers as early as 1630 and Scot as late as 1750), I have used the modern spelling throughout.

The names of sons who carry on the family in a particular genealogy are printed in small capitals—JOHN; names of sons whose descendants are given as a separate genealogy are printed in italics—George; names of sons who d. s.p. or of whose descendants there is no record, are printed in the same type as the body of the book.

Finally, the compiler apologizes for errors in dates and spelling which in spite of great care must have crept in in considerable numbers in a book almost entirely made up of dates and names, especially in the many cases where information is supplied in manuscript, or documents are lent and subsequently returned. There are many cases when it will appear to readers that a genealogy might have been corrected or amplified by the present representative. Every effort has been made to communicate with some member of each family before going to press, but in many cases without success. The courtesy and kindness of those who have helped me are here very gratefully acknowledged. Additions and corrections will be gladly received by the compiler after this edition is printed, and if possible either a supplement or a second edition will be printed at a later date.

The following usual abbreviations are used:

b.—born.	m.—married.
c.—about.	s.p.—without children.
d.—died.	unm.—unmarried.
dau.—daughter.	v.p.—during father's lifetime.

BUCCLEUCH.

Part I.

Buccleuch.

The Duke of Buccleuch ❖

THE reasonably authentic genealogy of this family commences with Sir Richard Scott of Rankilburn and Murdiestoun (No. V. below), but I have included the first four which are copied from a pedigree in the hand of Sir Walter Scott of Abbotsford, now in the possession of Lord Polwarth.

I. UCHTRED FITZ-SCOTT was living in 1118 and was witness to two charters granted in 1128 and 1130 and is mentioned among the courtiers of King David I.

II. RICHARD SCOTT was in all probability a son of Uchtred. He witnessed a charter granted by the Bishop of St. Andrew's to the Abbey of Holyrood about the year 1158. According to Sir Walter Scott of Abbotsford, Richard had two sons :

1. RICHARD.
2. Michael, ancestor of the Scotts of Balweary.

III. RICHARD SCOTT the elder m. Alicia, dau. of Henry de Molla, with whom he received lands in Roxburgh in the reign of Alexander II.; he was succeeded in that property by his son,

IV. WILLIAM SCOTT, who also attended the Court of Alexander II., and witnessed several of his charters. His son,

V. SIR RICHARD SCOTT of Rankilburn and Murdiestoun, swore fealty to Edward I. of England in 1296. He acquired the lands and Barony of Murdiestoun in Lanark by his marriage with the heiress of Inglis of Murdiestoun, and d. in 1320, leaving a son,

VI. SIR MICHAEL SCOTT, a gallant warrior, who distinguished himself at Halidon Hill 19th July, 1330. Sir Michael accompanied David II. to the unfortunate battle of Durham, and fell in that engagement on the 17th October, 1346. He left two sons :

1. ROBERT his heir.
2. John, ancestor of the Scotts of Sinton, Harden, Whitslaid, Toderick, Raeburn, Woll, Thirlestane, etc.

VII. ROBERT SCOTT, third of Rankilburn, also of Kirkurd, succeeded his father, Sir Michael, in 1346; d. c. 1389, and was succeeded by his son,

VIII. SIR WALTER SCOTT of Rankilburn, Murdiestoun, and Kirkurd. Sir Walter was killed at the battle of Homildon Hill in 1402.

IX. ROBERT SCOTT succeeded his father, Sir Walter, and exchanged Glenkerry for the lands of Bellanden in 1415; he acquired half the lands of Branxholm from John Inglis of Manor in 1420, and d. 1426, leaving three sons:

1. WALTER his heir.
2. Stephen.
3. Robert of Haining.

X. SIR WALTER SCOTT, the eldest son, sixth Laird of Murdiestoun and Buccleuch, acquired the second half of the lands of Branxholm from Thomas Inglis in exchange for the lands of Murdiestoun. He m. Margaret Cockburn of Henderland and d. c. 1469, leaving three sons:

1. DAVID his heir.
2. James designed of Kirkurd and Hassen-dene, ancestor of the Scotts of Hassen-dene, Burnfoot, and Burnhead.
3. Sir Alexander of Howpasley, ancestor of the Scotts of Thirlestane (Selkirkshire), Gilmanscleuch, Newburgh, Tushielaw, Horsleyhill, etc.

XI. SIR DAVID SCOTT, seventh Laird of Buccleuch, sat in Parliament as Lord of Buccleuch in 1487. He had, by a daughter of Thomas, Lord Somerville:

1. Walter d. before 1471.
2. DAVID.
3. Robert of Allanhaugh.
4. William of Foulshiels.
1. Janet m. Sir James Douglas of Drum-lanrig.
2. Margaret m. James Haig of Bemerside.
3. — m. John Lindsay of Covington.
4. Isabella m. Sir Symon Caruthers of Monswald.

NOTE.—Sir Walter Scott, sixth Laird of Buccleuch was the first of the family we find designated "of Buccleuch" but Rankilburn and Buccleuch being interchangeable names for the same place justifies him being described as sixth of Buccleuch.

XII. DAVID SCOTT, younger, of Buccleuch, m. 1472 Jane, dau. of George, fourth Earl of Angus, and dying 1488 in the lifetime of his father left an only son :

1. WALTER, who succeeded his grandfather on the latter's death in 1491-2 and became

XIII. SIR WALTER SCOTT, eighth Laird of Buccleuch. This Sir Walter m. Elizabeth, dau. of Walter Kerr of Cessford, by whom he had two sons :

1. SIR WALTER, who succeeded him.
2. William of Whitehope, who d. s.p. 1523.

Sir Walter d. in 1504 at an early age, and was succeeded by his elder son,

XIV. SIR WALTER SCOTT, ninth Laird of Buccleuch, known as "Wicked Wat," was knighted at Flodden in 1513, defeated at Melrose 1526, defeated the English 1544 at the head of a large body of Scots at Ancrum Moor, and commanded a large force at the battle of Pinkie Cleuch in 1547. He was murdered by the Kerrs in the High Street of Edinburgh in 1552. Sir Walter m. three times: first Elizabeth Carmichael of the family who were afterwards Earls of Hyndford; secondly Janet, dau. of Andrew Kerr of Ferniehurst; and thirdly Janet, dau. of John Betoun of Creich, this last being the lady mentioned in the "Lay of the Last Minstrel." By the first marriage Sir Walter had :

1. David (Sir) d. v.p.
2. WILLIAM (Sir) of Kirkurd.

By the third marriage :

3. Walter. 4. David of Stobiescot.
1. Grisel m. William, seventh Lord Borthwick.
2. Janet m. John Cranstoun of Cranstoun, and later Robert Scott of Haining.
3. Margaret.

Sir Walter was also father of Sir Walter Scott of Goldielands.

XV. SIR WILLIAM SCOTT of Kirkurd, called "Whitecloak," younger of Buccleuch; m. Grisel, dau. of John Betoun above (sister to his step-mother), and d. 1552 during the lifetime of his father, leaving issue :

I. WALTER.

1. Janet m. Sir Thomas Kerr of Ferniehurst.
2. Margaret m. Robert Scott of Thirlestane.
3. Elizabeth m. John Carmichael of Meadowflat.
4. — m. Sir John Johnston of Johnston.
5. — m. Walter Scott of Headshaw.

XVI. SIR WALTER SCOTT succeeded his grandfather in 1552. He m. Lady Margaret Douglas, dau. of David, seventh Earl of Angus, and dying April, 1574, left issue with a dau. Mary, m. to William Elliot of Lariston, an only son,

XVII. SIR WALTER SCOTT, eleventh Laird of Buccleuch and first Lord Scott of Buccleuch. This chieftain, b. 1566, warden of the West Marches, was one of the bravest and most powerful barons of his time, and one of his exploits, known to all interested in the Scott family, was the rescue of one of his followers, William Armstrong, from Carlisle Castle (1596). He was elevated to the peerage in 1606, having m. Mary, dau. of Sir William Kerr of Cessford. Lord Scott d. December, 1611, aged about 45, leaving issue :

I. WALTER, Master of Buccleuch.

1. Margaret m. James, sixth Lord Ross.
2. Elizabeth m. John, second Lord Cranstoun.
3. Jean.

XVIII. WALTER SCOTT, the only son, was created, 16th March, 1619, Baron Scott of Whitchester and Eskdail and Earl of Buccleuch. Lord Buccleuch

m. October, 1616, Lady Mary Hay, dau. of Francis, Earl of Erroll, and by her had issue :

1. Walter, Lord Scott, d. an infant.
2. FRANCIS, Lord Scott.
3. David of Canonbie d. July, 1648.
1. Elizabeth m. John, Earl of Mar.
2. Jean m. to the Marquess of Tweeddale.
3. Mary.

The Earl also had many illegitimate children, all bearing the surname of Scott, of whom there were :

1. Francis of Mangerton.
2. William also of Mangerton.
3. John of Gorinberrie, legitimated by Cromwell, February, 1656.
1. Margaret m. John Pringle.
2. Janet m. Andrew Scott of Foulshiels.
3. Jane m. Robert Scott of Whitslaid.

The Earl of Buccleuch d. in 1636.

XIX. FRANCIS SCOTT, second Earl of Buccleuch, was b. 1626. By his marriage with Lady Margaret Leslie, dau. of the sixth Earl of Rothes and widow of Lord Balgonie, he left issue :

1. Walter d. young. 1. MARY.
2. A dau. d. young. 3. ANNA.

The Earl d. in 1651, and was succeeded by his eldest daughter when she was but four years old.

XX. MARY SCOTT, Countess of Buccleuch, m. at the age of eleven Walter Scott of Highchesters, subsequently created Earl of Tarras. The Countess d. on the 11th March at the age of thirteen, and was succeeded by her sister,

XX. ANNA SCOTT, Countess of Buccleuch and subsequently Duchess of Buccleuch and Monmouth. The Duchess m. April, 1663, James, Duke of Monmouth, illegitimate son of Charles II., and the Buccleuch family is now represented in the female line by her direct descendant, Sir Charles Montagu-Douglas-Scott, K.T., seventh Duke of Buccleuch and ninth Duke of Queensberry, etc., etc., etc.

Arms.—Quarterly: 1st and 4th, The Royal Arms of Charles II. (viz., quarterly: 1st and 4th quarterly France and England; 2nd Scotland; 3rd Ireland) debruised by a baton sinister argent; 2nd and 3rd or, on a bend azure an étoile between two crescents of the field, for Scott. Crest.—A stag, trippant, ppr., attired and unguled, or. Supporters.—Two females, richly attired in antique habits, vert., their under robes azure, the uppermost argent, and upon their heads plumes of three ostrich feathers, of the last. Motto.—Amo. Seats.—Dalkeith House, Dalkeith; Bowhill, Selkirk; The Lodge, Langholm; and Drumlanrig Castle, Thornhill, Dumfriesshire. Town House.—2 Grosvenor Place, S.W.

Note.—The above arms appear to be the only arms that have ever been exemplified, but arms as sketched at the head of this genealogy have been credited to the Duke in several publications, and His Grace is probably entitled to the extra quarterings by descent if not officially.

Mangerton.

Scott
❖ of Mangerton ❖

XIX. FRANCIS SCOTT of Mangerton, natural son to Walter, Earl of Buccleuch, is the first of this family designed of Mangerton. He left a dau. m. to Sir John Scott of Ancrum, and Mangerton passed to

XIX. WILLIAM SCOTT of Mangerton, another natural son of the same Earl. This Laird was succeeded by

XX. SIR FRANCIS SCOTT of Mangerton, who was on the Commission for peace for Roxburghshire. He d. September, 1672, and was succeeded by his son,

XXI. FRANCIS SCOTT of Mangerton, who d. s.p. May, 1698, and was succeeded by his sister,

XXI. ELIZABETH SCOTT, of whom nothing is known.

Arms.—Or, on a bend azure an étoile between two crescents of the field. A bordure componée of the second and first.

Gorinberrie.*Scott of Gorinberrie

XIX. JOHN SCOTT of Gorinberrie, natural son of Walter, first Earl of Buccleuch, by Annas Drummond, cousin to the Earl of Perth, and subsequently legitimated by Cromwell, was one of the tutors to Mary, Countess of Buccleuch, during her minority. He m. a dau. of Sir John Riddell, having, so far as we know, only one son,

XX. FRANCIS SCOTT, Laird of Gorinberrie, living in 1688. Francis Scott m. Penelope, dau. of Sir John Wachop of Niddrie, by whom he had issue a dau. Anna, m. to Archibald Douglas of Cavers, a son Charles, witness to the wedding of Elliot of Tarras in 1731 and his successor

Wauchope.

Macmillan Scott ❖
❖ of Wauchope

MAJOR TANCRED gives in his "Annals of a Border Club" a different version of this family's descent, but I have been unable to discover whence he derived it.

The following is taken from an old lithographed pedigree kindly lent me by Captain A. F. Macmillan-Scott, and where it is at variance with Major Tancred's version, there seems little doubt that the family's version is more probably correct.

XV. SIR WALTER SCOTT of Goldielands, natural son of Walter Scott, ninth Laird of Buccleuch, was a man of considerable importance during the minority of his nephew, and led the Clan at the raid of the Reidswyre in July, 1575; he d. in November, 1596, leaving a son,

1. WALTER, who succeeded him, and a natural son,
2. Charles of Crumhaugh, who had a son, WALTER, successor to his cousin, also
  1. A dau. m. to Robert Scott of Glack.

XVI. WALTER SCOTT of Goldielands succeeded his father and m. Jean, dau. of Sir Andrew Riddell, by whom he had a son,

XVII. WALTER SCOTT of Goldielands, who also succeeded his father, but d. without issue in or before 1672.

XVII. WALTER SCOTT of Crumhaugh and afterwards of Goldielands, b. 1632, succeeded his cousin, but the estates of Goldielands passed back to the Buccleuch family. Walter Scott, however, retained a considerable estate inherited from his cousin. He m. Janet Glendinon and d. 1700, leaving:

1. CHARLES.
2. WALTER, whose line eventually succeeded to the representation of this family.

XVIII. CHARLES SCOTT, the elder son, b. 1664, m. Rachel, dau. of Langlands of that ilk, and d. v.p. October, 1698, leaving a son,

XIX. WALTER SCOTT of Crumhaugh and Howpasley, b. August, 1689, who succeeded his grandfather and m. Beatrice, dau. of Gideon Scott of Falnash, by whom he had a younger son, Gideon in Priesthope, father of Beatrice, who m. Walter Scott of Wauchope, and

XX. CHARLES SCOTT of Crumhaugh and Howpasley, b. 1719, m. Christian Anderson and d. 1757. Charles Scott had issue:

1. WALTER.
2. Gideon, from whom descended the Scotts in Priesthaugh, now extinct in the male line.
1. Henrietta, from whom descended the Erskines of Shielfield.

XXI. CAPTAIN WALTER SCOTT, b. 1741; d. 1809 without issue.

XVIII. WALTER SCOTT in Goldielands, second son of Walter Scott and Janet Glendinon, b. 1670, m. Christian, dau. of Robert Bennet of Chesters, by whom he had issue:

1. Charles b. April, 1696, d. young.
2. WALTER.
3. Robert b. June, 1704, d. s.p.
4. Charles b. January, 1708, d. s.p.
1. Joan.

XIX. WALTER SCOTT of Wauchope and Howcleuch, the eldest surviving son, b. July, 1700, m. Rachel, dau. of Francis Elliott of Fenwick, and had by her two sons,

1. Walter, b. 1726, m. 1768 Elizabeth, dau. of David Rutherford, and second, 1789 Beatrice, dau. of Gideon Scott in Priesthope, but d. s.p. 1796.
2. CHARLES.

Walter Scott purchased the estate of Wauchope in the parish of Hobkirk, and Howcleuch and other lands in the parish of Robertoun, and gave Wauchope to his eldest son and Howcleuch to his second son. He died in 1786.

XX. CHARLES SCOTT of Howcleuch, b. 1728, succeeded to Wauchope in 1796; m. August, 1776, Elizabeth, dau. of Archibald Dickson of Hassendene Burn, and d. 1808, leaving

1. WALTER.
2. Archibald, succeeded to Howcleuch; m. Charlotte Sibbald 1804, but d. s.p. 1874.
3. Charles b. November, 1782; d. unm. July, 1856.
4. Robert b. November, 1786; d. unm. April, 1833.
5. James b. July, 1789; d. unm. May, 1810.

6. William b. February, 1792; d. unm. September, 1828.
1. Rachel m. Hugh Mitchell.
2. Christian m. Archibald Dickson.
3. Agnes d. young.
4. Jessie m. John Cockburn.

XXI. WALTER SCOTT of Wauchope, b. July, 1778, succeeded to Wauchope on his father's death. He m. June, 1812, Marion, dau. of Thomas Macmillan, Esq., of Shorthorpe, Co. Selkirk, and by her left issue:

1. Charles b. 1st May, 1814; d. December, 1817.
2. THOMAS his heir.
3. Walter, M.D., H.E.I.C.S., b. July, 1817; d. at Allahabad, Bengal, August, 1844.
4. Charles b. 24th March, 1819; m. 1862 Margaret Amelia, dau. of Browne Roberts, Esq., of Ravensbourne Park, Kent. Succeeded his uncle Archibald to Howcleuch in 1874. He matriculated arms with a crescent counterchanged for difference.
5. Archibald b. November, 1822; d. at Malta, May, 1862.
1. Anna d. December, 1817, aged 4 years.

Mr Scott d. 24th May, 1857, and was succeeded by his eldest surviving son.

XXII. THOMAS MACMILLAN-SCOTT, Esq., of Wauchope and Pinnacle Hill, Writer to the Signet, J.P., b. February, 1816, assumed the additional surname and arms of Macmillan in accordance with the conditions of the entail of his maternal grandfather's estate of Shorthorpe; m. April, 1844, Katherine Jane, dau. of Browne Roberts, Esq., of Ravensbourne Park, Kent, formerly of the Bengal Army, and High Sheriff of Calcutta, and had issue:

1. Walter b. December, 1846; d. April, 1847.
2. WALTER.
3. Arthur Francis, Advocate, Captain Reserve of Officers, b. October, 1854. Succeeded his uncle Charles to Howcleuch; m. Louisa Bryant.
1. Edith Marion m. General Sotheby.
2. Marion Maud. 3. Katherine.

Mr Macmillan-Scott d. June, 1862, and was succeeded by his eldest surviving son,

XXIII. WALTER MACMILLAN-SCOTT, Esq., of Wauchope and Pinnacle Hill, J.P., late Captain Scottish Borderers Militia, and formerly Lieutenant 6th Dragoon Guards (The Carbineers), b. 1848; m. 1876 Antoinetta, eldest dau. of Theodore Henry Dury, Esq., of Bonsall, Co. Derby, and had issue:

1. THOMAS ALEXANDER FREDERICK.
1. A dau. m. to Rear-Admiral T. C. Tancred.

XXIV. THOMAS ALEXANDER FREDERICK MACMILLAN-SCOTT of Wauchope and Pinnacle Hill, Esquire, J.P., b. 1881; m. first 1912, Karin Anna, dau. of Peter Erichsen of Trondhjem, and secondly December, 1918, Enid Cynthia, dau. of C. H. Paine of Ivyhill, Essex.

Allanhaugh.

XII. ROBERT SCOTT of Allanhaugh and Whitchester, second son of David Scott, seventh Laird of Buccleuch, d. at an advanced age leaving issue three sons :

1. ROBERT of Allanhaugh.
2. Alexander.
3. James, whose line is believed to be extinct.

XIII. ROBERT SCOTT of Allanhaugh signed a bond in 1525, and was father of

XIV. WILLIAM SCOTT designed "son and heir apparent of Robert Scott in Allanhaugh," who eventually (circa 1557) succeeded and seems to have had descendants living designed of Allanhaugh down to Satchells' time (1688), but we have no trace of any of this family living now. According to Sir Walter Scott of Abbotsford the estate was eventually destined to two sons: the elder was slain by the younger for the sake of succession, and the then Lord of Buccleuch executed the murderer and confiscated the property.

Scotstarvit.

Lord
Howard de Waldon

✦ Lord Lascelles ✦

THIS family without doubt descends from Buccleuch, and the following is the generally accepted genealogy. Anything like proof of the early steps cannot, I believe, now be given, but Sir Walter Scott of Abbotsford speaks of General Scott of Balcomie as Chief of the Clan.

XIII. SIR ALEXANDER SCOTT, second son of the first Robert of Allanhaugh, and grandson of David, seventh of Buccleuch, was appointed by James V. Vice-Register of Scotland in 1534. He d. before the year 1540, leaving a son,

XIV. ROBERT SCOTT, who was young at his father's death, and was educated under the inspection of his uncle James. He acquired a considerable estate, particularly the lands of Knightspottie, which continued to be for some time the chief title in his family. He m. first Elizabeth Sandilands, by whom he had no issue. He m. secondly Elizabeth, a widow and mother of Sir William Scott of Ardross, by whom he had two sons and one daughter:

1. ROBERT.
2. James m. Marion, dau. of Laurence Scott of Harperrig and was designed of Vogrie; he had issue two daughters:
(1) Elspeth. (2) Jean.

XV. ROBERT SCOTT, the elder son, m. Margaret, dau. of Alexander Aitchison of Gosford, and d. in the lifetime of his father, leaving an only son,

XVI. JOHN SCOTT of Knightspottie, afterwards Sir John Scott of Scotstarvit, who succeeded his grandfather in 1592 at the age of seven. He obtained a charter of the lands of Tarvit in the County of Fife, and afterwards called these lands Scotstarvit; this then became the chief title of his family. He was knighted by James VI. in 1617, and appointed Privy Councillor.

He m. first Ann, dau. of Sir John Drummond of Hawthorn Dene, by whom he had issue :

1. Robert baptised May, 1609; d. young.
2. JAMES (Sir).
3. John (Sir) baptised August, 1614.
4. William baptised August, 1615.
5. Alexander baptised 1620.
6. Robert baptised September, 1625.
7. Ludovic baptised September, 1627.
1. Margaret. 2. Jean. 3. Helen.
4. Eupham. 5. Anna. 6. Eliza.
7. Rebecca m. Mr John Ellis of Ellistone.
8. Elizabeth. 9. Margaret. 10. Janet.

Sir John m. secondly Margaret, dau. of Sir James Melville of Hallshill, by whom he had one son,

8. George of Pitlochrie, from whom there was no succession.

He m. thirdly Eupham, dau. of Moneypenny of Pit Milly, by whom he had :

9. Cecil baptised January, 1647, from whom there was no male succession.
10. Walter of Lethum, baptised January, 1650, who registered his father's arms with a martlet for difference, and left an only dau. and heiress m. to the Hon. Charles Erskine.

Sir John d. in the 84th year of his age anno 1670.

XVII. SIR JAMES SCOTT, heir apparent to Sir John Scott of Scotstarvit m. Lady Marjorie Carnegie, dau. of John, Earl of Ethie, by whom he had two sons :

1. JAMES, who became his grandfather's heir.
2. DAVID, who succeeded his brother.

Sir James d. anno 1650, and his elder son,

XVIII. JAMES SCOTT, succeeded his grandfather, and he, dying without issue, was succeeded by his brother,

XVIII. DAVID SCOTT of Scotstarvit, who m. Nicholas, dau. of Sir John Grierson of Lagg, by whom he had one daughter,

1. Marjorie m. to the fifth Viscount Stormont.

He m. secondly Elizabeth, dau. of John Ellis of Ellistone, by whom he had issue:

1. DAVID.
2. Marjorie m. Peter Ogilvie of Balfour.
3. Elizabeth m. to the Earl of Balcarras.

David Scott the elder d. 1718, in the 73rd year of his age, and was succeeded by his son,

XIX. DAVID SCOTT, Advocate, M.P. Crail 1722; m. Lucy, dau. of Sir Robert Gordon of Gordonstoun, November, 1716, by whom he had two sons and two daughters:

1. DAVID his heir. 2. JOHN.
1. Elizabeth m. Peter Hay of Leys.
2. Lucy d. unm.

XX. DAVID SCOTT of Scotstarvit we believe d. without issue.

XX. GENERAL JOHN SCOTT of Balcomie, last male of this family, m. Margaret, dau. of Henrietta Baillie of Lamington, and by her had three daughters:

1. Henrietta m. August, 1795, to William Henry, fourth Duke of Portland.
2. Lucy m. 1795 Francis Lord Doune, afterwards Earl Moray.

3. Joan m. 1800 the Right Hon. George Canning, and was created in her own right Viscountess Canning. She had issue a son, Sir Charles Canning, K.G., etc., who succeeded but d. s.p., and a dau. Harriet.

The representation of Henrietta, Duchess of Portland, devolves through her daughter, Lucy (the male line failing and the Dukedom passing to a cousin), to Thomas Evelyn Scott-Ellis, eighth Baron Howard de Waldon.

Lucy, Countess Moray, had two sons, both of whom became Earls Moray but d. s.p., and her share in the representation of the Scotstarvit family is extinct.

Viscountess Canning's daughter Harriet m. in 1825 the Marquis of Clanricarde, whose male line failed in the second Marquis, but who is represented in the descendants of his five daughters :

1. Lady Elizabeth Joanna m. to the fourth Earl of Harewood and had issue.
2. Lady Emily Charlotte m. to Richard, ninth Earl of Cork, and had issue.
3. Lady Catherine m. to John Weyland of Woodeaton, Oxon, and had issue.
4. Lady Margaret Anne m. to Wentworth Blackett Beaumont, now represented by Lord Allendale.
5. Lady Harriet Augusta m. to Thomas Vernon-Wentworth and had issue.

There would thus appear to be six co-representatives of this family equally entitled to the representation. The following are the only arms I have traced which quarter Scott of Scotstarvit :

Arms.—Of Henry George Charles Lascelles, Esquire, D.S.O., commonly known as Viscount Lascelles, quarterly of eight, 1, Lascelles : Sa., a cross patonce within a bordure or ; 2, de Burgh : Or, a cross

Scottshall.

Scott of Scottshall

SIR WALTER SCOTT of Abbotsford, who was personally acquainted with Mr. John Scott of Scalloway and stayed with him in 1814, states definitely that this family is a branch of Scotstarvit, but I know of no work of reference substantiating this. It is possible that

XVII. ALEXANDER SCOTT, goldsmith in Edinburgh, was fifth son of John Scott first of Scotstarvit. He m. Agnes, dau. of George Wauchope, merchant in Edinburgh, by whom he had issue :

1. James, who was father of :
  - (1) Alexander d. 1732.
  - (2) William, shipmaster in Orkney.
2. George, who followed his father's profession; m. Grizel Sinclair and had two sons :
  - (1) John, a merchant in Dundee.
  - (2) Alexander.

3. JOHN of Scottshall.
4. William.
5. Robert b. April, 1675.
1. Henrietta m. Alexander Livingstone of Bedlormie.
2. Janet.

XVIII. JOHN SCOTT of Scottshall m.
Margaret, dau. of Hector Bruce of Muness, and had issue :

1. HECTOR his heir. 2. Andrew.
3. George. 4. Arthur. 5. John.
6. Robert.
1. Grizel m. August, 1725, John Stewart of Bigton.
2. Margaret.
3. Barbara m. Rev. James Grierson of Tingivall.

XIX. HECTOR SCOTT of Scottshall m. first
Janet, dau. of William Douglas, and had issue :

1. John.
1. Ursilla m. Robert Barclay.

He m. secondly October, 1725, Barbara, dau. of John Scott of Melby, and had issue :

2. ROBERT his heir.
3. James of Scalloway.
4. George. 2. Barbara.

XX. ROBERT SCOTT of Scotshall m. first Janet, dau. of Arthur Nicolson of Lochend, and had issue :

1. Hector.

He m. secondly Elizabeth, dau. of James Graham, and had issue :

2. WALTER his heir.
3. John, a merchant in London.
1. Henrietta.
2. Elizabeth m. John Murray.

XXI. WALTER SCOTT of Scottshall m. Isabel, dau. and co-heiress of Andrew Bolt, merchant, Lerwick, and had issue :

1. Robert b. May, 1771.
2. Walter b. November, 1774.
3. JOHN, a Major 18th Regiment, heir to his father.
4. James b. March, 1779.
5. Keith Stewart b. July, 1781.
6. Thomas Dundas b. April.
1. Elizabeth m. Duncan Campbell, Surgeon.
2. Isabel. 3. Janet.
4. Henrietta. 5. Grace.

XX. JAMES SCOTT, merchant in Scalloway, third son of Hector Scott of Scottshall and Janet Douglas, m. March, 1750, Catherine, dau. and co-heiress of Robert Sinclair of Scalloway, and through her acquired part of that estate. He d. 2nd July, 1793, leaving issue:

1. JOHN his heir.
2. Robert b. August, 1757, d. young.
3. James b. August, 1758.
4. Charles b. July, 1760, Lieutenant R.M.
5. Robert b. November, 1762.
1. Barbara.
2. Philadelphia m. George Chalmers, tide waiter, Lerwick.
3. Ann.
4. Elizabeth m. December, 1780, John Scott of Melby.
5. Grizel m. Robert Robertson of Gossaburgh.
6. Mary.

XXI. JOHN SCOTT of Scalloway, b. 6th April, 1756, succeeded his father; m. April, 1782, Clementina, dau. of John Scott of Melby, and had issue:

1. James b. 17th February, 1785, d. s.p.
2. JOHN his heir.
3. Charles b. 22nd July, 1793.
4. Robert b. 14th August, 1798.
5. James b. 3rd May, 1800.
1. Mary d. young. 2. Mary d. young.
3. Katherine m. her cousin, James Scott, Surgeon R.N.
4. Mary m. John Scott of Melby.
5. Elizabeth. 6. Jacobina Charlotte.

SCALLOWAY.

XXII. JOHN SCOTT of Scalloway, b. September, 1791, m. May, 1814, Jessie, dau. of Gideon Gifford of Busta, and had issue:

1. John James b. April, 1816; d. November, 1844.
2. GIDEON ARTHUR THOMAS GIFFORD.
  1. Grace Elizabeth Clementina Charlotte m. Charles Spence.
  2. Harriette Jane Christina.

XXIII. GIDEON ARTHUR THOMAS GIFFORD SCOTT of Scalloway, b. 26th June, 1822, m. 1866 Isabella, dau. of Charles Spence, and had issue:

1. Grace Clementina Henrietta Isabella.
2. Beatrice Frances Mary Irvine.

Mr. Scott of Scalloway became embarrassed financially and parted with his estates; he d. at Edinburgh 12th March, 1873.

Foulshiels.

---

WILLIAM SCOTT, mentioned in a Charter dated 1532 as son to Sir Walter Scott, Knight of Buccleuch, obtained by that charter the lands of Foulshiels.

JOHN SCOTT of Foulshiels in 1593 subscribed to a deed of loyalty. It is impossible with the meagre information available to say that it is even probable that this John was son or grandson of William, but the property was owned by Scotts down to the end of the seventeenth century.

JAMES SCOTT of Foulshiels was in possession in 1600, and was definitely father of

ANDREW SCOTT of Foulshiels, who m. Janet, natural dau. of the Earl of Buccleuch, and in 1647

WALTER SCOTT of Foulshiels was served heir to his brother Andrew. He left two daughters, co-heiresses to his estates, one of whom, Elizabeth, m. James Scott of Bowhill.

Hassendene.*Scott of Hassendene

XI. JAMES SCOTT of Kirkurd, second son of Sir Walter Scott of Kirkurd, was designed "of Kirkurd" for some considerable time. He afterwards resigned Kirkurd to the Buccleuch family, and acquired the lands of Over and Nether Newhall in Roxburgh, now called Burnhead and Burnfoot, and also the lands of Hassendene in the same county. By Margaret, his wife, he had issue:

1. DAVID. 2. JOHN. 3. WILLIAM.
4. Robert. 5. Adam of Clarilaw.

XII. DAVID SCOTT had a charter dated February, 1510, to Hassendene and both the Newhalls. He d. s.p. and was succeeded by his brother,

XII. JOHN SCOTT of Hassendene, of whom we know little except that he m. Agnes Scott and d. s.p.

XII. WILLIAM SCOTT of Hassendene succeeded his brother early in 1530. It is supposed that he had three sons:

1. DAVID his heir.
2. Adam of Burnfoot.
3. Walter.

XIII. DAVID SCOTT, the eldest son, was murdered in 1564 by William Elliot of Horsleyhill with the connivance of his son James, and I gather that James was executed at Edinburgh in 1564 along with others who had a hand in the occurrence.

XV. ROBERT SCOTT of Hassendene is believed by Mr. Scott of Rodono to be David's grandson, and was followed by his son.

XVI. ADAM SCOTT is mentioned in 1637 as "younger of Hassendene" and son to Robert, and in 1669 he was served heir general to his father.

XVII. ROBERT SCOTT succeeded his father Adam and was living in 1691.

Arms of Scott of Hassendene.—Or, on a bend azure a star of six points between two crescents argent; in base a bow and arrow of the second. Crest.—A hand erect holding a pole-axe ppr. Motto.—"Trusty and True."

Burnfoot (In Teviot).

THE first trace there is of a Scott owning Burnfoot is

XIII. ADAM SCOTT of Burnfoot and Burnhead, who was nearly related to Hassendene and was probably son to either William or Robert, sons of James, first of Hassendene.

XIV. WILLIAM SCOTT, younger, of Burnfoot appears to have d. v.p. and

XV. ROBERT SCOTT of Burnfoot was, in 1585, served heir to his grandfather Adam, and d. December, 1612, leaving three sons:

1. ADAM. 2. ROBERT. 3. William.

XVI. ADAM SCOTT of Burnfoot succeeded him, but d. s.p., and

XVI. ROBERT SCOTT of Burnfoot followed.

XVII. WALTER SCOTT of Burnfoot was served heir in November, 1667, to his father Robert and grandfather Robert in the lands of Burnfoot and Burnhead. He left a son, XVIII. ADAM SCOTT of Burnfoot, who sold Burnhead to William Scott in Burnhead.

Burnhead.*Scott of Burnhead.

MR. SCOTT of Rodono, in his Memorial categorically denies the possibility of the correctness of the first two or three generations of this family as given by Burke, and mentions the "undoubted" fact that John Scott, son of James of Kirkurd, d. s.p. He also mentions that Burnhead and Burnfoot were in the possession of the Burnfoot family down to 1692. It would appear possible that

XVI. WILLIAM SCOTT, third son of Robert Scott of Burnfoot, was tenant in Burnhead, and was identical with William Scott, who m. Margaret, dau. of Nicol Cairncross, by whom he had one son, ROBERT. He d. about 1640.

XVII. ROBERT SCOTT in Burnhead m. first 1636 Marian, dau. of Ragnel Bennet of Chesters, by whom he had two daughters. He m. secondly 1643 Elizabeth, dau. of Hector Turnbull of Clarilaw, by whom he had four sons:

1. WILLIAM.

2. Robert Scott of Lies.

3. Adam. 4. Alexander.

Wm. Scott d. in 1677.

XVIII. WILLIAM SCOTT of Burnhead, who purchased Burnhead from his kinsman, Adam Scott of Burnfoot, m. Agnes, dau. of Archibald Wedderstain, by whom he had, with several daughters, of whom Eupham m. Thomas Watson, writer in Hawick, was one, three sons:

1. ROBERT his heir.

2. William.

3. Peter.

XIX. ROBERT SCOTT, the eldest son, m. Agnes, dau. of Gideon Scott of Falnash, and by her had:

1. WILLIAM his heir. 2. Walter.

1. Agnes. 2. MARGARET.

Mr. Robert Scott d. 1755.

XX. WILLIAM SCOTT of Burnhead, the eldest son, succeeded, but d. in 1795 unm. and was succeeded by his sister,

XX. MARGARET SCOTT, who d. s.p. and was succeeded by her cousin,

XX. WILLIAM WATSON of Burnhead, son of Eupham Scott and Thos. Watson, and whose great-grandson is Mr. William Scott-Watson, now of Burnhead.

Arms (of Scott of Burnhead but not rematriculated by Mr. Watson's family).—Or, on a bend azure a star between two crescents of the first within a bordure of the last. Crest.—A buck's head erased ppr. collared azure charged as the bend. Motto.—Over the crest, "In recto decus," and below the arms, "Nemo sibi nascitur." Seat.—Burnhead, Roxburghshire, N.B.

Clarilaw.Scott of Linburn.

FROM Walter Scott of Clarilaw (XIX) downwards this pedigree is supplied to me by the family.

I have supplied the connecting link to the Burnhead family showing this Walter Scott of Clarilaw as grandson to Robert Scott in Burnhead.

I have placed this genealogy here rather than in Part IV, where, perhaps, it more rightly belongs, as there is reasonable ground to assume that if Walter Scott of Clarilaw No. XIX was not a grandson of Robert Scott in Burnhead, it is extremely probable he was related. We have the three points which independently do not perhaps amount to much, but together justify this assumption, namely—(a) The Lairds of Lies and Clarilaw were brothers in 1688 (Satchells); (b) Robert of Lies was son to Robert of Burnhead; (c) Clarilaw appears to have come into the Scott family by the marriage of Robert Scott in Burnhead and Elizabeth, dau. of Hector Turnbull of Clarilaw. The eldest son of this marriage succeeded to Burnhead, and the second was

XVIII. ROBERT SCOTT of Lies.

XIX. WALTER SCOTT of Clarilaw was probably either son or nephew of the above. He purchased Ashieburn some time before 1700, and was father of

XX. WILLIAM SCOTT of Africa and Ashieburn, Portioner of Nether Ancrum. William Scott was succeeded in Ashieburn in 1733 by

XXI. THE REV. JAMES SCOTT, who left two sons :

1. WILLIAM. 2. EBENEZER.

XXII. WILLIAM SCOTT the elder succeeded to Ashieburn in 1794 and d. 1807, and was succeeded by his son, XXIII. HENRY ERSKINE SCOTT, who sold Ashieburn and d. in 1847.

XXII. EBENEZER SCOTT, surgeon in Dalkeith, younger son of the Rev. James Scott, left two sons:

1. JAMES. 2. RALPH ERSKINE.

XXIII. JAMES SCOTT, the elder son, was an accountant in Edinburgh, and m. Mary, dau. of Wm. Scott of Jedburgh, and by her had issue,

XXIV. EBENEZER SCOTT, accountant in London, who m. Catherine Ann, dau. of Jas. Neish, Esq., of Dundee, and by her had two sons:

1. Thomas d. s.p.
2. Ebenezer d. s.p.

XXIII. RALPH ERSKINE SCOTT, younger son of Dr. Ebenezer Scott, was C.A. in Edinburgh; b. August, 1804; m. Jane, dau. of John Dalziel, Earlston, and by her had issue:

1. EBENEZER ERSKINE.

1. Christian d. unm.

2. Mary Dalziel m. John Bruce of Sunburgh.

XXIV. EBENEZER ERSKINE SCOTT, also C.A. in Edinburgh, b. May, 1839; m. Anne Goddard, dau. of Robert Mackay, W.S., Edinburgh, and had issue:

1. HENRY ERSKINE.

1. Jean Dalziel.

2. Elinor Mary.

3. Annie m. Herbert Pearson, Indian Judge, son of Sir Charles Pearson.

4. Agnes Elizabeth.

5. Margaret Georgina m. A. E. Milne, W.S.

XXV. HENRY ERSKINE SCOTT b. May, 1881; m. Constance May, dau. of Jas. Murdoch Brown, M.D., Edinburgh, and dying January, 1910, left issue, XXVI. RALPH ERSKINE SCOTT b. January, 1907.

Arms.—Parted per pale, or and azure on a bend between two stags' heads erased a star of six points between two crescents all counterchanged. Crest.—A stag trippant proper attired and unguled argent charged on the shoulder with a star of six points of the last. Motto.—“Amo.” Residence.—Linburn, Midlothian.

Altoun.

XII. ADAM SCOTT of Clarilaw is mentioned in a charter dated 1521 as cousin to Sir Walter Scott of Buccleuch, and as this family is stated by Satchells to have sprung from Hassendene, Mr. Scott of Rodono suggests he may have been a son of James Scott of Kirkurd. He was succeeded by his eldest son,

XIII. ROBERT SCOTT of Clarilaw and Altoun. He lived to an advanced age and died about 1594, when he was succeeded by his son,

XIV. ADAM SCOTT of Altoun, who did not long survive his father. Adam appears to have had two sons:

1. WALTER his heir.
2. Robert "vocat de Altoun."

Adam Scott d. in September, 1604.

XV. WALTER SCOTT of Altoun served heir to his father in 1606, and also to his grandfather, Robert Scott of Clarilaw, otherwise called "of Altoun," appears to have had two sons:

1. ROBERT "junior of Altoun."
2. William "vocat de Altoun" in Hassendene.

XVI. ROBERT SCOTT of Altoun succeeded about 1638. He appears to have had a son, William, younger of Altoun, who d. v.p., for in 1653 Margaret, Bessie Isobel and Agnes are served heirs portioners to the late Robert Scott of Altoun.

Howpasley.*Scott of Howpasley.

XI. SIR ALEXANDER SCOTT, third son of Sir Walter Scott of Branxholm and Buccleuch, obtained a crown charter of the lands of Howpaslot dated 12th April, 1470. He fell at the battle of Sauchieburn on 11th June, 1488, and left issue:

1. WALTER.
2. Robert, Tutor of Howpasley.
3. William, Abbot of Melrose.
4. David of Tushielaw.

XII. SIR WALTER SCOTT of Howpasley is next found in occupation, and was almost certainly Sir Alexander's son. He is noted as tutor to Walter Scott of Branxholm in 1509, and nearest male relative. He m. a dau. of Elliot of Lariston, and was succeeded by his son,

XIII. ROBERT SCOTT of Howpasley, a minor under the tutory of his uncle Robert so late as 1530. He m. Isabel, dau. of John Murray of Falahill, and was succeeded by his son,

XIV. SIR WALTER SCOTT of Howpasley and Birkenasyde. Sir Walter d. in 1580, and was succeeded by his son,

XV. WALTER SCOTT, served heir to Sir Walter in 1591. Walter Scott was, it is believed, succeeded by his son,

XVI. WILLIAM SCOTT of Howpasley, the last of the race. As will be mentioned elsewhere, Howpasley passed successively into the hands of Robert and Walter, cousins of Patrick Scott of Tanlawhill, and on their death without issue to Walter, Patrick's younger son, and on the latter's death without issue to the elder son, Sir Francis of Thirlestane, with whose family, I believe, it still remains.

Arms.—There are no arms on record to this family, but it seems highly probable that, in view of the arms of Thirlestane and Hundilshope, this family bore a pierced mullet between two crescents.

Tushielaw.

THE earliest record we have of Tushielaw is in 1502 when in the Records of Justiciary we note William Scott was son of

XII. DAVID SCOTT of Tushielaw, and there is little doubt that this David was brother to Sir Walter Scott of Howpasley. Further it is more than probable that this David is the David Satchells referred to as "David of Howpasley with the Tod's Tail," Walter and David having been known at different times by both the name of Howpasley and Tushielaw. David Scott left issue :

1. ADAM his successor.
2. John of Thirlestane.
3. William.
4. Robert of Bowhill.

XIII. ADAM SCOTT of Tushielaw was almost certainly the eldest son, and received a charter of Tushielaw in 1507. He earned for himself the name of "King of Thieves," and was eventually hanged at Edinburgh in May, 1530.

XIV. WILLIAM SCOTT is the next member of this family mentioned in 1563, and he was in all probability Adam's son. (The fact that Satchells mentions a Robert intervening may be safely ignored without corroborative evidence.) William Scott left issue :

1. Walter (Sir).
2. William of Midgehope.
3. James of Hundilshope.

XV. SIR WALTER SCOTT of Tushielaw m. Elizabeth, dau. of Gladstaines of Cocklaw and Hundilshope, and by her had issue :

1. ROBERT his heir.
2. James of Boyken and Glenrath, with his brother John in the Carlisle raid.
3. John of Mackersway, slayer of Walter Scott of Gamescleuch; m. Jeanne, dau. of Patrick Murray of Falahill, and had issue a son :
(1) Walter.

Sir Walter d. between February, 1617, and January, 1628.

XVI. ROBERT SCOTT succeeded his father as Laird of Tushielaw, and d. in July, 1632, leaving :

1. WALTER his heir.
2. WILLIAM of Fawdshope, who succeeded his brother.

XVII. WALTER SCOTT of Tushielaw served heir to his father Robert in 1633, had a son James a Brigadier in the Life Guards, and a second son Robert. Walter Scott conveyed his estates to his brother in 1636, and is from then with his family entirely lost sight of.

XVII. WILLIAM SCOTT of Tushielaw was twice married. By his first marriage with Grizel, dau. of Robert Scott of Thirlestane, he had issue :

1. ANDREW, who, about the time of his father's purchase of Tushielaw, acquired Broadmeadows.
2. Walter in Caerabank.

William Scott m. secondly Margaret, dau. of John Govane of Cardrono, by which marriage he had one son :

3. William of Broadmeadows,

XVIII. ANDREW SCOTT obtained in 1663 a charter to Tushielaw in which he is described as eldest lawful son of the late William Scott of Tushielaw.

XIX. WILLIAM SCOTT, Andrew's son, succeeded during his minority, and was followed by his son,

XX. WALTER SCOTT, after which the family lapsed into obscurity.

Broadmeadows.

---

XVIII. WILLIAM SCOTT, eldest son of William Scott of Tushielaw by his second marriage with Margaret Govane, obtained from his brother Andrew a charter to Broadmeadows. He m. Helen, dau. of Sir John Murray of Philiphaugh, by whom he had :

1. ROBERT.

1. Isabella m. John Balfour of Kailyie.

2. Jean m. John Murray, Advocate, son of Sir John Murray of Philiphaugh and afterwards Lord Bowhill.

XIX. ROBERT SCOTT of Broadmeadows m. Agnes, dau. of Hugh Kelso, merchant of Edinburgh, but d. s.p., and in 1694 his sisters were served heirs portioners to their brother.

It should be noted that John Balfour's son, Charles, m. Jean, eldest dau. of William Plummer of Middlestead and his wife, Jean Kerr of Sunderland Hall, only child of William Kerr, the last male of the ancient house of Yair. By this marriage there were four daughters, of whom Jean Balfour of Broadmeadows m. William Scott of Woll, Advocate. She brought to her husband the lands of Broadmeadows, Midgehope, and Glenkerry.

Glenrath.

XVI. JAMES SCOTT of Glenrath, undoubted second son of Walter Scott of Tushielaw, d. April, 1619, leaving issue six children, all minors under the tutory of his brother John :

1. WALTER. 2. William in Lintoun.
3. James. 1. Mariot. 2. Elizabeth.
3. Margaret.

XVII. WALTER SCOTT of Glenrath succeeded, but d. s.p., and was succeeded by his nephew, XVIII. JOHN SCOTT, son of William in Lintoun, by whom the estate was sold to the Laird of Hundilshope.

Horsleyhill.

Douglas of Springwood Park

XV. WILLIAM SCOTT, Laird of Midgehope, was second son to William Scott of Tushielaw, and was followed by his son,

XVI. WILLIAM SCOTT of Midgehope, one of the rescuers of Kinmont Will.

XVII. ROBERT SCOTT, son to the second William, was Baillee and Portioner in Hawick. He was father of

XVIII. WILLIAM SCOTT, the first Scott noted as Laird of Horsleyhill. This William was father of

XIX. ROBERT SCOTT, Laird of Horsleyhill at the time of the Postral. This Robert was father of Eliza m. to Walter Scott of Woll, and

XX. FRANCIS SCOTT, who was father of

XXI. CAPTAIN ROBERT SCOTT of Horsleyhill, who registered arms at Lyon Office in 1742. He m. Agnes Douglas of Springbank, and had issue,

XXII. JOHN SCOTT of Horsleyhill and Belford, who left a daughter m. to Thomas Davidson, Surgeon in Kelso, and a son,

XXIII. HENRY SCOTT of Horsleyhill and Belford, the last male of this family. Henry Scott m. 1792 Catherine, dau. of John Hay of Newhall, and had by her an only daughter, Hannah Charlotte, who in 1822 m. Sir James Douglas, Bart., and subsequently William Scott-Kerr, Esq., of Sunlaws (q.v.). By her first husband she had issue, among others, Sir George Henry Scott-Douglas, and this family is now represented in the female line by her grandson, Sir George Brisbane Douglas, Bart., of Springwood Park, Roxburgh.

Arms.—1st and 4th arg., a human heart gu., imperially crowned or; on a chief az., three mullets of the first, all within a bordure nebuly of the fourth; 2nd and 3rd, or on a bend az., a star of six points, between two crescents of the first, and in chief a sword erect point upwards ppr. Crests.—1. A cubit arm erect, grasping a broken tilting-spear, all ppr. 2. A lion's head erased, holding in the mouth a thistle stalked and leaved, all ppr. Mottoes.—“Do or Die,” for Douglas; “Pro Patria,” for Scott.

Hundilshope.

Scott<sup>9</sup>
- of Hundilshope ❖

XV. JAMES SCOTT of Hundilshope is designated brother to Sir Walter Scott of Tushielaw in a charter dated 1596. He appears to have had four sons :

1. JOHN.    2. James.
3. Robert in Holly Arch.
4. Thomas in Hundilshope.

XVI. JOHN SCOTT, Portioner of Hundilshope, appears on various documents 1607-1617.

XVII. JOHN SCOTT of Hundilshope was in 1619 served heir in general to his father, John, Portioner of Hundilshope.

XVIII. JAMES SCOTT of Hundilshope is the next Laird in 1648, but there is no evidence as to his relationship with John. He left two sons :

1. John, who apparently d. v.p.
2. DAVID.

XIX. DAVID SCOTT of Hundilshope succeeded, and was followed by his son,

XX. DAVID SCOTT of Hundilshope, who in January, 1737, resigned his lands and barony.

Arms.—Or, on a bend az. a mullet pierced, between two crescents of the first, all within a bordure of the second. Crest.—A right hand issuing, holding a lance, all ppr. Motto.—“ I am ready.”

Davington.Scott of Davington

IN conjunction with this genealogy there are to be considered the several pedigrees given in Nisbett's Heraldry; Satchells' various genealogies of this family; and Mr. John Scott of Rodono's extensive notes on the subject wherein he denies the authenticity of the grant of arms by James V., and also the existence of the grantee.

Whilst I have not gone so far as to exclude the alleged mythical John Scott of Thirlestane I certainly concur that Satchells never intended to imply that Thirlestane and Howpasley were the same individual as is clearly proved in several parts of his work. He refers to the first Sir Walter of Howpasley, implying a second Sir Walter at a later date, as is the case, and we know that both Howpasley and Thirlestane signed the clan bond in 1589.

With regard to the arms, Lord Napier is in right of arms by the grant of 1700 from King William of England. I have given a sketch of the same arms at the head of this genealogy, although the representative of the Davington family cannot be said to be in right of arms without registration. I commend to those interested a careful study of Mr. John Scott's "Memoirs of Scott of Thirlestane."

XIII. JOHN SCOTT of Thirlestane, second son of David Scott of Tushielaw, is stated to have received a grant of a royal tressure to his arms from King James V. According to Satchells he m. a dau. of Scott of Allanhaugh, and left issue :

1. ROBERT his heir.
2. Philip of Kirkhope.
3. Andrew d. s.p.
4. Simon of Newburgh.      5. William.

He m. secondly Marion Douglas, and by her had a son,

6. James of Gilmanscleuch.

XIV. ROBERT SCOTT, the eldest son, was tutor or curator to Sir Walter Scott of Branhholm and Buccleuch during the latter's minority, and was warden of one of the three marches. He m. c. 1563 Margaret, sister of his ward, and dying about 1576 left :

1. ROBERT.
2. Walter of Gamescleuch.
3. William of Fingland and Merrilaw, in the Carlisle Raid with his brother of Gamescleuch. William left with an illegitimate son Symon living in 1609, two legitimate sons and two daughters :

- (1) Robert, who acquired Howpasley, but d. s.p., and that estate passed to
- (2) Walter, who also d. s.p., and left it to his cousin Patrick of Tanlawhill.

XV. SIR ROBERT of Thirlestane, the eldest son, was b., according to Satchells, in 1566. He m. 1590 Margaret, dau. of Sir John Cranstoun of Cranstoun, and by her had one son and two daughters :

- 1. Sir Robert of Cruyton, who m. Lady Mary Lyon, dau. of the Earl of Strathmore, and d. v.p. without legitimate issue 1619, as appears from a portion of his tombstone built into the new church at Ettrick. He left a natural son, Peter, living in 1609.
- 1. Jean m. Robert Scott of Satchells.
- 2. Susannah m. Sir Walter Scott of Whitslaid.

Sir Robert m. secondly 1602 Katherine, dau. of Sir Alexander Jardine of Applegarth, by whom he had one son :

- 2. JOHN.

Sir Robert d. 1627.

XVI. SIR JOHN SCOTT of Thirlestane, only son by the second marriage, succeeded to his father's debts, the Thirlestane estates being virtually in the hands of the Earl of Buccleuch and Sir William Scott of Harden. He retired with his mother to Davington in Eskdalemuir. Sir John m. Euphemia, widow of Sir David Ogilvie of Clova, and by her had one son and one daughter :

- 1. FRANCIS. 1. Katherine.

Sir John d. in 1666.

XVII. FRANCIS SCOTT of Davington m. a dau. of Robert Douglas of Auchintully, and had issue, besides several daughters, six sons :

1. John d. s.p. and v.p.    2. ROBERT.
3. William of Beattock, father of
  - (1) William in Moffatt, one of the parties to the 1773 litigation, see below.
4. Francis m. and had one daughter,
  - (1) Agnes, also a party to the same litigation.
5. James of Coulfield m. Christian Stewart, and had issue :
  - (1) Robert a litigant.
  - (2) Francis b. August, 1739.
  - (3) William b. April, 1741.
  - (1) Agnes.
  - (2) Katherine m. her cousin William.
  - (3) Isabel m. her cousin John.
  - (4) Jean m. David Muir, Provost of Annan.
6. David.

XVIII. ROBERT SCOTT, the second son, succeeded to Davington, and had three sons and one daughter :

1. JAMES.
2. John, a writer in Langholm, who m. his cousin Isabel, dau. of James Scott of Coulfield, and by her had :
  - (1) John b. c. 1730, living in Canonbie; unm. in 1810.
  - (2) William b. 1735; m. Ann Little, and dying July, 1790, left issue :
    - (i) Agnes. (ii) Susannah m. Chas. Boardman of Liverpool.

DAVINGTON.

- (3) Robert, who together with
- (4) James, took part in the litigation respecting the Davington and Thirlestane estates.
- (5) Francis b. 1743.
- (1) Jane. (2) Margaret.
- 3. WILLIAM OF MEIKLEDALE.
- 1. Margaret m. Gilbert Elliot of Newcastle, father of General William Elliot of Lariston.

XIX. JAMES SCOTT, the eldest son, a surgeon in Carlisle, succeeded to Davington in 1764 and d. 1770, having m. Mary Rae, and by her left an only son, JAMES, and six daughters; the daughters were :

- 1. Elizabeth m. James Cairns, Carlisle.
- 2. Mary m. John Hownam, shoemaker, Carlisle.
- 3. Susanna. 4. Charlotte. 5. Anne.
- 6. Margaret m. John Park, tenant in Davington.

XX. JAMES SCOTT, the only son, succeeded to Davington on a warrant by the tutors of Henry, Duke of Buccleuch, dated 7th February, 1770. He d. apparently without issue in 1772, and a warrant was granted by the Duke, dated 20th March, 1772, to "Eliza, Mary, Susanna, Charlotte, and Anne, sisters of deceased James Scott, and to James Park, the eldest son of Margaret Park, another sister of James Scott." The succession of the estate was, however, disputed in 1772-3 by various grandchildren and great-grandchildren of Francis of Davington as indicated above, and after lengthy litigation the estate was sold. It would appear from a pedigree compiled in 1833 for Lord Napier by Francis Martin, Windsor Herald, that the descendants of John Scott, writer in Langholm, failed at any rate in the male line. The representation of this family must therefore fall on the descendants of

XIX. WILLIAM SCOTT of Meikledale, third son of Robert Scott of Davington. Mr. Scott of Meikledale, b. 1694, m. his cousin Katherine, another dau. of James Scott of Coulfield, and dying 1772 left an only son and four daughters :

1. JAMES.
  1. Elizabeth m. Thomas Bell of Burnscleugh, Canonbie.
  2. Susanna m. Gilbert Richardson, Langholm, whose son Gilbert m. his first cousin Catherine.
  3. Catherine m. John Caruthers of Billmansknowe, Canonbie.
  4. Mary d. unkm.

XX. JAMES SCOTT of Forge, Canonbie, J.P., m. Phoebe, dau. and co-heiress of James Dixon of Bath, and sister of Lady Harris. He d. October, 1799, leaving issue :

1. William d. at Bhurtpore.
2. Charles, A.D.C. to Lord Harris at Seringapatam, d. 1822, leaving a dau., Anne Harris.
3. GEORGE FRASER.

1. Lilies Mary. 2. Hester Caroline.

XXIV. CHARLES LEE NAPIER b. February, 1895.

Newburgh.

---

XIV. SIMON SCOTT, fourth son of Sir John Scott of Thirlestane, was, according to Satchells, tutor to his nephew, Robert Scott of Thirlestane, and father of

XV. ARTHUR SCOTT of Gamescleuch and afterwards of Newburgh, about whom we know little except that he was in the Carlisle Raid of 1596, and that he was a learned man. On succeeding his father to Newburgh he disposed of Gamescleuch to his cousin Walter, ancestor of Lord Napier. Mr. Arthur left, besides a second son, Arthur, and an illegitimate son, Robert, his heir,

XVI. SIR JOHN SCOTT of Newburgh, described by Satchells as "that Prince of Poets than whom Chaucer, Glovet, Sir Thomas More and Sir Philip Sidney never had a more Poetic Vein." Sir John had issue a dau. m. to Sir Walter Scott of Whitslaid and a son and heir,

XVII. SIR JOHN SCOTT of Rennalburn and Newburgh, who m. Margaret Canide, and had issue:

1. JOHN.    2. James b. August, 1623.
1. Janet.    2. Marie.

XVIII. JOHN SCOTT, Squire of Newburgh Hall "alias of Rennalburn," was b. September, 1620, and was living at the time of Satchells' book (1688).

XIX. JAMES SCOTT, son of the above, m. November, 1721, Philadelphia, dau. of William Ballentine of Crookdyke, Esquire, in the parish of Aerby, Cumberland (Parish Register of Langholm).

Gilmanscleuch.

---

XIV. JAMES SCOTT, according to Satchells, was the youngest son of John Scott of Thirlestane; he signed the clan bond in 1589, and was father of

XV. ROBERT SCOTT of Gilmanscleuch, called Truth, one of the rescuers of Kinmont Will. Robert had three sons:

1. JOHN, who succeeded him.
2. William.
3. Adam in Schaws, father of
(1) Francis, a shepherd mentioned in the Postral.

XVI. JOHN SCOTT of Gilmanscleuch was entered as owner of the lands in 1628; in 1643 he was made Hon. Burgess of Selkirk; he was father of XVII. FRANCIS SCOTT of Gilmanscleuch, appointed Commissioner of Supply in 1685.

XVIII. JOHN SCOTT and

XIX. JOHN SCOTT younger, of Gilmanscleuch, are mentioned in various Acts 1685-90 in connection with County Administration, and in or before 1728

XX. WILLIAM SCOTT of Gilmanscleuch sold the property to the Duchess of Buccleuch.

Bowhill.

---

SATCHELLS is very indefinite about this family and the records of the time are complicated by there being two distinct families styling themselves Scott of Bowhill. According to Satchells the founder of this family was

XIII. ROBERT SCOTT, a younger brother of John Scott of Thirlestane. In 1592 he had a son living styled

XIV. WALTER SCOTT of Bowhill. This Laird had two brothers, William and James, the first of whom was in the Carlisle Raid.

XV. ROBERT SCOTT of Bowhill was eldest son and heir to Walter above, and mention is made of three brothers, Walter, James and William. In 1625 we note

XVI. ROBERT SCOTT succeeded to Bowhill as heir to his father, and had two sons, Andrew and James, both of whom succeeded to Bowhill.

XVII. ANDREW SCOTT of Bowhill appears as witness to several documents 1661-8, and in 1668

XVII. JAMES SCOTT succeeds as second lawful son to Robert. It is considered probable that he purchased Bowhill in his father's and brother's lifetime.

XVIII. JOHN SCOTT of Bowhill was probably James's son and last male of this family. He sold the estate to Adam Scott in Deloraine, brother german to Francis Scott of Grassyards.

Roberton.

SCOTT of Roberton was one of the earliest Houses of Scott established on the border, and was in all probability an offshoot of Buccleuch.

X. STEPHEN SCOTT obtained in May, 1450, a Crown Charter to the lands of Murhous, and it is offered as a suggestion that this Stephen was a brother of the second Sir Walter Scott of Buccleuch. This Stephen also had a charter of the lands of Castlecary and of Weltoun.

XI. JOHN SCOTT of Weltoun was almost certainly a son of the above Stephen, and having disposed of Weltoun he appears later (1501) under the name of John Scott of Valis. He subsequently acquired (1502) Roberton and was afterwards designed "of Roberton." He was probably father of a younger son, Stephen of Valis, and

XII. WALTER SCOTT of Roberton, apparently d. s.p., for in 1535 we have

XII. STEPHEN SCOTT in Valis, afterwards of Roberton and Howcleuch, undoubtedly his brother.

XIII. JOHN SCOTT is mentioned as son and heir to Stephen Scott of Roberton, after which we have no further record till 1596, when

XIV. JOHN SCOTT of Robertson represents the House at the rescue of Kinmont Will. John may well have been the previous John's son. He d. in May, 1606, and was succeeded by his son,

XV. WILLIAM SCOTT of Robertson. William d. February, 1625, as appears from the Retour of his son,

XVI. JAMES SCOTT of Robertson, the last of his race in possession of Robertson. In 1627 he sold Robertson to Sir William Scott of Harden.

Haining.

X. ROBERT SCOTT of Haining was in all probability third son of Robert Scott, fifth Laird of Buccleuch, although there is no documentary evidence available to prove it. In 1477 he sold the lands of Haining, the deed being attested by David and Alexander, sons to Sir Walter Scott, sixth of Buccleuch. The Haining lands passed out of Robert Scott's hands to Murray of Philiphaugh, but the lands were eventually regranted by the King to his son,

XI. JOHN SCOTT of Haining, who fell at Flodden, and by deed (1514)

XII. ROBERT SCOTT, his son, was served heir. This Robert m. Janet, dau. of Sir Walter Scott, ninth of Buccleuch, and widow of John Cranstoun of Cranstoun; he d. before 1532, at which time his brother Walter was acting as tutor to Haining in the minority of the young Laird, XIII. THOMAS SCOTT, who is mentioned as of Haining in 1538.

XIV. ROBERT SCOTT of Haining is mentioned in an action dated 1576 as son to the deceased Thomas, and in 1589 he signed the Scott bond. He had besides a younger son William, one of the rescuers of Kinmont Will, an elder son,

XV. SIR ROBERT SCOTT, who was entered heir in 1611. Sir Robert parted with Haining about 1625, but continued to be styled "of Haining." He had two sons, the younger, Walter, portioner of Guilan, and the elder,

XVI. ROBERT SCOTT "of Haining," with the second Earl of Buccleuch in 1643.

XVII. LIEUT.-COL. ROBERT SCOTT, son to Walter Scott, portioner of Guilan, is the last male of this family of whom there is any record.

Oakwood.

The first mention of the Oakwood family is

XI. ROBERT SCOTT of Oakwood, living in 1503 and suggested by Mr. Scott of Rodono to have been a son of the first Robert Scott of Haining. He left an elder son, Michael, and a younger son, Robert, who was possibly the grandfather of the well-known Simon of Bonnington.

XII. MICHAEL SCOTT was served heir to his father, the deceased Robert Scott of Oakwood, about 1516. He m. Isabella Ker and left a son,

XIII. WILLIAM SCOTT, who was confirmed by charter in this property in 1541. The mutual Scott clan bond was signed in 1589 by

XIV. ROBERT SCOTT of Oakwood, and in 1592 he witnessed a deed. In 1602 he built the present tower; he d. October, 1615, and in 1616

XV. ANDREW SCOTT of Oakwood was returned heir to his father Robert.

XV. PHILIP SCOTT of Oakwood in 1627 was possibly a brother of Andrew. Philip, however, does not appear to have held the property long, for in 1630 it was in the hands of a Murray, possibly of the Elibank family, and Elibank at about that time was brother-in-law to the first Sir William of Harden, to whom the place eventually belonged.

The second Sir William of Harden was in his father's lifetime Sir William of Oakwood, and Oakwood has remained with this family ever since.

Bonnington.

XII. ROBERT SCOTT m. between 1514 and 1524 Katherine, dau. and heiress of John Boyle of Wamphray and Rysholme and widow of John Johnstone. Robert Scott assumed the designation "of Wamphray and Rysholme," but became a traitor and a spy during the invasion of 1545, and probably on this account the family parted with Wamphray in 1548 and Rysholme in 1550. At the time of this invasion he took refuge with the Laird of Oakwood, who was probably a kinsman.

This Robert Scott left three sons :

1. ROBERT, who was infest in the superiority of Rysholme in 1541.
2. ADAM, who was served heir to his brother in 1547.
3. Robert, an illegitimate son legitimized in 1547.

Nothing is known of

XIII. ADAM SCOTT, but there is no doubt that he was father of John, present at the Carlisle Raid, and

XIV. SIMON SCOTT of Bonnington, Midlothian (not to be confused with Scott of Bonnington, W. Lothian, descended from a brother of Lord Clerkington). This Simon signed the clan bond in 1589, and is mentioned as son of Adam in a sasine dated 1594-5 and as grandson of Robert Scott and Katherine Boyle in 1611. That same year Simon Scott of Bonnington was served heir general to his grandmother, Katherine Boyle.

XV. ROBERT SCOTT, Simon's son, probably predeceased his father, for on 18th December, 1624, his uncle, the above mentioned

XIV. JOHN SCOTT of Bonnington, brother german to Simon of Bonnington, was served heir to his nephew in the lands of Ernsheuch and Singlie.

XV. ROBERT SCOTT of Bonnington was in possession in 1670, and was son to John and was father or elder brother of

XVI. JAMES SCOTT of Bonnington.

XVII. GILBERT SCOTT of Bonnington was served heir to James, his father, in 1675. He d. shortly after, and was succeeded by his immediate younger brother,

XVII. CHARLES SCOTT of Bonnington, a commissioner of supply for Edinburgh in 1678.

Satchells mentions the Laird of Carnwathmills as being the representative of this family in 1688.

Woll.

THIS property was owned by Scotts in the seventeenth century, probably cadets of Haining, but how it is not now possible to say.

WALTER SCOTT of Woll is noted in 1606, and in 1608 John, brother to Walter of Woll, attacked and maltreated some people in Selkirk. He had by a first marriage :

1. ROBERT his heir. 2. Francis.

And by a second marriage with Catherine Ormiston :

3. George. 1. Katherine.

ROBERT SCOTT of Woll succeeded his father, and is noted in December, 1617, as guardian to his half-brother and sister. Robert apparently had four sons :

1. FRANCIS. 2. JAMES.

3. GEORGE. 4. John.

FRANCIS SCOTT was " of Woll " in 1627, and was succeeded by his brother,

JAMES SCOTT of Woll (1643), who also d. s.p. male, but is noted in the Parish Register of Ashkirk as father of three daughters between 1642 and 1645. He sold the estate to Sir William Scott of Harden.

GEORGE SCOTT, surgeon in Edinburgh, was in 1670 returned heir to his father, Robert Scott of Woll.

Part II.

Sinton.*Scott of Boonraw ❖

A GAIN I commend to those interested in this controversial genealogy Mr. John Scott of Rodono's extensive notes on the subject. Before they came into my hands I had already made up my mind that the Whitslaid family was senior to Harden, and Mr. Scott of Rodono had apparently come to the same conclusion.

Mr. Scott says that the commonly accepted genealogy from John, son of Sir Michael Scott of Murdiestoun, down to Robert, murdered in 1509, is entirely mythical and evolved from the fertile imagination of Satchells. Whilst not concurring absolutely in so sweeping a statement, it must be admitted that there is no documentary proof to substantiate the pedigree, and also that Sinton was not owned by Scotts during the fourteenth and part of the fifteenth centuries.

The following is the generally accepted pedigree of the family, but it can only be taken as authentic from Robert of Sinton (1509) onwards.

VII. JOHN SCOTT, younger son of Sir Michael Scott of Murdiestoun, sixth in the Buccleuch genealogy, had a son,

VIII. WALTER SCOTT of Sinton, who m. a dau. of Shortread of Headshaw, by whom he had :

1. GEORGE, who succeeded to Sinton.
2. John of Headshaw.
3. Walter of Ashkirk.
4. William of Glack.

IX. GEORGE SCOTT m. a dau. of Sir John Turnbull of Falshope, by whom he had a son,

X. WALTER SCOTT of Sinton, who m. in the reign of James II. a dau. of Scott of Hassendene, and left two sons :

1. JOHN. 2. WALTER his brother's heir.

XI. JOHN SCOTT of Sinton m. a dau. of Quintin Riddell, but d. without issue.

XI. WALTER SCOTT, fifth of Sinton, m. a dau. of Sir John Johnston, and left a son,

XII. GEORGE SCOTT of Sinton, who m. a dau. of Scott of Robertson, and left a son,

XIII. WALTER SCOTT, mentioned in the writs of the family in 1487. He flourished in the reign of James IV., and left a son,

XIV. ROBERT SCOTT, designed of Strickshaws during his father's lifetime. He was murdered by Andrew Crosser in 1509, at which time he was described as Robert Scott of Sinton. He left three sons :

1. WALTER.
2. William of Harden.
3. David living in 1526.

XV. WALTER SCOTT, tenth of Sinton, is variously described on bonds—sometimes as of Sinton and sometimes as of Strickshaws. It is probable that this Laird married first a dau. of Cockburn of Ormiston, who at that time was proprietor of Whitslaid, and according to Mr. Scott it is clear that there was one son only by this marriage and his name was

1. JOHN.

Old Sinton m. again Margaret, dau. of James Riddell of Riddell, and by her had issue :

2. Robert of Stirches.
3. Thomas of Whitchauchbrae.

There is apparently considerable doubt as to the remaining sons given by Satchells.

XVI. JOHN SCOTT younger of Sinton is entered in the justiciary records of 27th May, 1531, as son and heir of Walter Scott of Sinton. He apparently d. in his father's lifetime leaving issue :

1. WALTER his grandfather's heir.
2. GEORGE.
3. William, who had a tack of the lands of Langhope in 1550, and who was probably the first of Huntly.
4. James, who had a tack of Dodbank, and was probably Satchell's great-grandfather.
5. Robert of Shielswood.

XVII. WALTER SCOTT, eleventh of Sinton, succeeded his grandfather about 1557. He was succeeded by his brother (son according to Satchells, but brother is probably correct owing to the number of generations in a given period),

XVII. GEORGE SCOTT, twelfth of Sinton, who signed the clan bond in 1589 as George of Sinton. According to Satchells he m. Margaret, dau. of John Edmonston, Laird of Ednam, and by her had five sons :

1. WALTER. 2. John of Yorkston.
3. David.
4. George, apprenticed to David Brown, saddler, Edinburgh, January, 1610.
5. James of Kirkhouse, who was at the Carlisle Raid and was father of
  - (1) John of Kirkhouse summoned for murder in 1614.
1. Agnes.

XVIII. WALTER SCOTT, the eldest son, m. Isabel, dau. of Douglas of Whittinghame, and dying July, 1608, left issue :

1. GEORGE. 2. Archibald (Capt.) d. unm.
1. Elspeth mentioned with her sisters in her father's testament.
2. Christian.
3. Ann said to have m. Captain Gladstaines of Whitlaw.

XIX. GEORGE SCOTT, the eldest son by this marriage, was the fourteenth and last of this family designed of Sinton. He m. Mary, dau. of Gladstaines, Laird of Dode, and by her had issue :

1. Walter d. unm.
2. GEORGE of Boonraw.
3. Richard, parson of Ashkirk 1685; d. May, 1702, aged 82.

George the elder parted with Sinton about 1627, and it passed into the hands of the Harden family.

XX. GEORGE SCOTT of Boonraw m. a dau. of Douglas of Garvald, and by her had issue :

1. ARCHIBALD.

XXI. ARCHIBALD SCOTT of Boonraw d. without succession about 1720, and the representation of this branch of the family died in him, but the name "Scott of Sinton" was revived by Francis, a younger brother of Sir William Scott of Harden, purchasing this estate in 1627, but as will be seen the property eventually passed to a representative in the female line.

Arms (borne by Scott of Boonraw).—Or, two mullets in chief and a crescent in base azure. Crest.—A lady richly attired, in her right hand the sun and in her left hand the moon. Motto.—"Reparabit Cornua Phoebe."

Headshaw.

---

XVIII. JOHN SCOTT of Yorkston, second son of George, twelfth of Sinton, purchased (1629) Headshaw and Langhope from the old family of Headshaw. He died not later than 1649 and left issue :

1. WILLIAM.
2. Walter of Dryden.
3. John of Langhope.
4. Mungo in Dryden.
5. Robert also in Dryden.

XIX. WILLIAM SCOTT of Headshaw m. Jean Halket, sister of Sir James Halket, and by her had :

1. JOHN.
2. William baptized March, 1648.
1. MARIE.

William Scott of Headshaw witnessed in conjunction with the Lairds of Toderick, Whitslaid, Sinton, etc., various births and marriages 1688-90.

XX. JOHN SCOTT succeeded his father, William Scott, in 1688; m. 1682 probably a kinswoman, Jean Halket, only dau. of Colonel R. Halket. He seems to have d. s.p. for in 1691 his only sister Marie was served his heiress. Marie Scott m. Patrick Porteous, and eventually sold Headshaw, etc., to Sir Gilbert Elliot.

Langhope.

THIS property belonged the Huntly family till about 1620 when it passed to the old Headshaw family and thence with Headshaw to John Scott of Yorkston.

XIX. JOHN SCOTT of Langhope, described as brother german to William Scott of Headshaw, purchased Langhope from his brother. He m., December, 1653, Margaret, dau. of Robert Scott of Whitslaid, and dying 1666 left issue :

1. WILLIAM baptized October, 1654.
1. Elizabeth.

XX. WILLIAM SCOTT of Langhope was duly served heir to his father, but in 1677 disposed of Langhope to Walter Scott, who may or may not have been his brother. Walter m. Janet Scott and d. November, 1685, leaving among others a son and heir John, who sold the estate about 1692 to Adam Scott of Bowhill. Will Scott of Langup, mentioned early in the postral and whose name as William Scott of Langhope appears on three inquests dated 1686, 1693 and 1699, would be the same laird who disposed of his property in 1677 but continued to use the designation.

Huntly.

THIS genealogy is based largely on conjecture, but it is very possible that

XVII. WILLIAM SCOTT in Huntly, who was upon an inquest in 1592, was third son of John Scott, younger of Sinton.

XVIII. ROBERT SCOTT of Huntly, probably William's son, attended the Carlisle Raid, and the fact that William, son of John younger of Sinton, had a tack of Langhope reconciles well with Satchells "Robert of Langhope had Outer Huntly for his services."

XIX. WALTER SCOTT of Huntly was upon an inquest in 1612.

XIX. JAMES SCOTT of Huntly attended an inquest in 1616, and Mr. Scott of Rodono suggests he may have been a brother of Walter.

XX. JOHN SCOTT was served heir to his father, James Scott of Huntly, in 1638, and here we lose sight of this family.

Satchells.

XVII. JAMES SCOTT, fourth son of John Scott younger of Sinton, was father of

XVIII. ROBERT SCOTT, who had several charters in connection with the lands of Satchells and Dodbank in Selkirkshire dated 1607 and 1609. He d. about 1629, and was father of

XIX. ROBERT SCOTT of Satchells, who m. Jean, dau. of Sir Robert Scott of Thirlestane. He was father of a large family, of whom the only ones we have any record are :

1. WILLIAM.
2. John, whose name appears in a deed dated 1655.
3. WALTER.

XX. WILLIAM SCOTT of Satchells, together with his brother John, appear to have d. s.p., and the empty succession to the designation devolved on their brother on his return from the wars.

XX. CAPT. WALTER SCOTT of Satchells, one of the younger members of the family b. c. 1613, according to his own statement never was an hour at school. As a youth he joined the first Earl of Buccleuch's regiment and went with the Earl to Holland in 1629, where he tells us he served for the long period of fifty-seven years. He retired about 1686, when he wrote the "True History." It is stated by Dr. Wm. Scott that he m. a young woman by whom he had a daughter whom he called Gustava.

The date of his death is unknown.

Shielswood.

XVII. ROBERT SCOTT of Shielswood, fifth son of John Scott younger of Sinton, was probably father of,

1. ROBERT of Shielswood.
2. Walter of Girnwood.

XVIII. ROBERT SCOTT of Shielswood is mentioned in various documents (1606-1626). He appears to have had two sons :

1. WALTER.
2. Robert.

XIX. WALTER SCOTT of Shielswood, also mentioned in various inquests (1643), m. June, 1636, Margaret Scott, and left two sons and a daughter :

1. FRANCIS.    2. ROBERT.    1. MARIAN.

XX. FRANCIS SCOTT of Shielswood, b. October, 1638, succeeded his father and d. shortly after obtaining possession of his estates.

XX. ROBERT SCOTT of Shielswood, his younger brother, b. March, 1640, is mentioned on an inquest dated 1669. He also d. s.p.

XX. MARIAN SCOTT, his sister, succeeded, and m. James, son of Adam Scott of Schaws.

Girnwood.

XVIII. WALTER SCOTT of Girnwood, younger brother of Robert Scott of Shielswood, is noted as alive in 1628; he died soon after this date leaving two sons :

1. ROBERT.

2. Walter.

Both minors under the tutory of their uncle Robert of Shielswood.

XIX. ROBERT SCOTT of Girnwood was served heir in April, 1636. He m. June, 1640, Bessie, dau. of Sir Walter Scott of Whitslaid.

Whitslaid.*Scott of Whitslaid.

ACCORDING to Mr. Scott of Rodono it is clear, apart from Satchells' evidence, that old Sinton (XV.) gave up Sinton to his eldest son John, and resided at Whitslaid, which latter he obtained through his marriage with Cockburn. He, however, never gave up his personal designation of Sinton.

At some time he put his second son Robert in possession of Stirches, and the latter, who d. v.p., was always so designed.

Margaret Riddell, old Sinton's second wife, d. at Whitslaid in 1585, the old man having d. between 1557 and 1575.

By his marriage with a Rutherford of Hunthill, Robert of Stirches was father of

XVII. WALTER SCOTT of Whitslaid (The Hawke), who in June, 1575, obtained a charter in which he was designed Walter Scott, son and heir of

Robert Scott of Stirches, second son of Walter Scott of Sinton. He m. a dau. of Douglas of Cavers, and was father of

1. WALTER (Sir) his heir.
2. Thomas of Toderick.
3. Robert at the Carlisle Raid.

XVIII. SIR WALTER SCOTT, second Laird of Whitslaid, succeeded his father about 1610. He m. Susannah, dau. of Sir Robert Scott of Thirlestane, but she dying without issue he m. secondly a dau. of Sir John Scott of Newburgh, and by her had three sons and two daughters :

1. ROBERT. 2. WALTER (Sir).
3. THOMAS. 4. George.
1. Isabella m. Francis Scott, fourth son of Walter Scott of Harden.
2. Elizabeth m. Robert Scott of Girnwood.

XIX. ROBERT SCOTT succeeded his father on the latter's death in 1628, and m. Jane, natural dau. to Walter, Earl of Buccleuch, and by her had, possibly among others :

1. Walter baptized January, 1636.
2. Francis baptized June, 1643.
1. Mary.
2. Margaret m. John Scott of Langhope.

Robert Scott was killed at the battle of Marston Moor in 1644, and his sons at any rate appear to have died in infancy as he was succeeded by his brother,

XIX. SIR WALTER SCOTT, fourth Laird of Whitslaid, who did not long survive his predecessor, being killed at the battle of Inverkeithing in 1651. He m. a dau. of Sir Robert Stuart of Ormistone, and by her had several children, of which the sons also must have died in infancy :

1. Robert baptized September, 1647.
2. Walter baptized April, 1649.
1. Jean.

XIX. THOMAS SCOTT, the third son, succeeded his brother in 1651. He m. 1613 Janet, dau. of Walter Scott of Harden, and secondly 1655 Janet Mitchell, and by the latter had issue:

1. Walter, baptized 1657, presumed d. v.p.
2. THOMAS.
1. Marie.

Thomas Scott d. in 1671, and was succeeded by his second son.

XX. THOMAS SCOTT succeeded his father as sixth Laird of Whitslaid, and according to Satchells m. before 1688 Jane, dau. of Sir John Hay of Park, Bart., and by her had issue:

1. THOMAS. 2. JOHN. 3. Walter.
4. Robert, a surgeon in Hawick, d. about 1757.
5. Francis.
6. William, a physician at Worcester.
7. James.

Thomas Scott was living in 1688 when Scott's pastoral was written. He was succeeded by his eldest son,

XXI. THOMAS SCOTT, seventh of Whitslaid, who m. Margaret, dau. of Sir John Scott, Bart., of Ancrum, and by her had two daughters:

1. Elizabeth m. to William, brother to Makdougall of Mackerstoun.
2. Janet d. unm.

He was succeeded by his brother,

XXI. JOHN SCOTT, eighth and last of Whitslaid, who sold the estates consisting of Whitslaid, Castleside, two large farms called Readfordgreens, Ashkirk, Ashkirkmill, Salanside, Bradley, etc., etc.

Arms.—Or, on a bend azure a star between two crescents of the first, in chief a broken lance gules. Crest.—A hand issuing out of the torse holding a broken spear. Motto.—“Amore Patriæ.”

Toderick.*Scott of Toderick.

THIS property was in the possession of the Scotts for many years prior to the end of the sixteenth century and a Walter Scott signed the clan bond in 1589. This Walter, however, was probably a cadet of Harden, and not the father of the Thomas we find as "of Toderick" in 1637. Compare the arms sketched above borne by Scott of Toderick subsequent to 1637, which are obviously derived from Whitslaid, with arms borne by Scott of Toderick 1622, at the end of Part II.

XVIII. THOMAS SCOTT, younger brother of Sir Walter Scott, second Laird of Whitslaid, was apparently the founder of this family, and seems to have settled at Toderick early in the seventeenth century. He lived till between 1650 and 1656, during which time we find him and his eldest son referred to as "Thomas Scott elder and younger of Toderick," respectively; he left three children:

1. THOMAS. 2. Walter. 1. Janet.

XIX. THOMAS SCOTT, the elder son, succeeded to Toderick before 1656, having m. probably twice, as the fourth son, Robert, only is mentioned as being the son of Thomas Scott and Janet, dau. of Robert Pringle of Clifton. The time between the birth of the other children makes it unlikely that they were all by the same mother. By the first wife he had :

1. WALTER, who succeeded his father.
2. Thomas baptized 1639.
3. William of Milsington, baptized November, 1645.

By Janet Pringle he had :

4. Robert baptized October, 1660; d. in Edinburgh in 1752.
1. Marion m. to Dr. Rutherford of Jedburgh.
2. Jane.

XX. WALTER SCOTT succeeded his father before 1691, and m. Elizabeth, dau. of Sir Thomas Ker of Fernielee, by whom he had :

1. THOMAS his successor, and seven daughters:
1. Jane m. William Elliot of Harwood or Hariot.
2. Elizabeth m. William's brother, Henry Elliot of Peel.
3. Nelly m. first John Elliot, another brother, and secondly Rev. Wm. Hume.
4. Janet m. Mr. Purdon of Hawick.
5. Christian m. George Dennison.
6. Margaret m. David Scott of Merrylaws.
7. Violet.

Walter Scott of Toderick d. 1722.

XXI. THOMAS SCOTT succeeded him. He m. 1708 Mary, dau. of Robert Scott of Scotsbank, and by her had issue:

1. WALTER.
2. Robert baptized March, 1714, d. young.
3. Thomas baptized February, 1717, went to sea in 1740, and was living without issue in 1783.
4. John baptized March, 1718, d. young.
5. William baptized November, 1719 (Dr. William Scott gives a Patrick and not a William, but there is no trace of a Patrick in the Parish Register).
1. Janet baptized April, 1710, m. first Mr. Howie, surgeon in Selkirk, and secondly the Rev. David Brown, minister of Selkirk.
2. Elizabeth, living unm. in 1783.

Thomas, sixth and last Laird of Toderick, sold his estate in 1746. He d. in Selkirk in 1753 and was buried at Ashkirk.

XXII. WALTER SCOTT served some time in the Horse Guards; he m. 1732 Jane, only dau. and heiress of William Robson of High Stokoe, Northumberland, by whom he had:

1. WILLIAM b. 1733.
2. Patrick, a doctor who settled at Douglas, I.M., and m. Annas, dau. of Rev. Wm. Nelson of Stamfordham, and by her had:
  - (1) John Nelson. (2) Walter.
  - (3) William.
  - (1) Mary m. to J. Best.
3. Walter baptized 14th June, 1739.
1. Isobel.

XXIII. DR. WILLIAM SCOTT of Stokoe, the eldest son, also a doctor and the compiler of the Pedigree of Scott of Stokoe, from which most of the Whitslaid and Toderick entries are taken, settled in Stamfordham in Northumberland and m. in 1759 Martha, dau. of the Rev. Edward Fenwick, Vicar of Kirkwhelpington, by whom he had, with two children who died in infancy, two sons:

1. WALTER. 2. Edward Fenwick d. s.p.

Dr. William Scott d. November, 1802.

XXIV. DR. WALTER SCOTT, M.D., of Stokoe, J.P., b. August, 1761, m. first Eleanor Walker, who d. s.p., and secondly Mary Bell, by whom he had:

1. WILLIAM ROBSON.
2. Walter John b. October, 1818, living unm. in 1852.
1. Martha Jane m. William Forster of Stamfordham.

Dr. Walter Scott sold Stokoe and d. in February, 1831.

XXV. DR. WILLIAM ROBSON SCOTT b. January, 1811, m. Mary, dau. of Thomas Mason of Doncaster, by whom he had issue:

1. Walter b. 8th August, 1843.
2. William Henry b. 17th July, 1849.
1. Mabel Fenwick. 2. Mary Mason.

Arms.—As of Whitslaid with a crescent for difference. Crest.—The head of a lance proper. Motto.—“Pro aris et focis.”

1. Matthew. 2. Henry. 3. William.
  1. Mary.

Salynside.

---

XVII. ANDREW SCOTT of Salynside was one of the Water of Ail Scotts at the Carlisle Raid, and is suggested by Rodono to have been a younger brother of Sir Walter Scott of Whitslaid. He was more probably brother to The Hawk and uncle to Sir Walter.

XVIII. THOMAS SCOTT of Salynside, probably son of Andrew, inherited Whitchauchbrae in 1621 from Walter Scott of Whitchauchbrae, who was a near kinsman and possibly first cousin once removed.

Thomas Scott appears to have had two sons :

1. WILLIAM, who entered into possession of Salynside, and
2. Andrew, who entered into possession of Whitchauchbrae, both in their father's lifetime.

Thomas disposed of both properties to Sir William Scott of Harden, and died probably about 1636.

XIX. WILLIAM SCOTT of Salynside is heard of at various times 1636-1643, and apparently had two sons :

1. James, eldest lawful son of William Scott of Salynside.
2. Thomas "his brother."

Whitchauchbrae.

---

XVI. THOMAS SCOTT, second son of Walter Scott of Sinton by his second marriage with Margaret Riddell, may or may not have owned Whitchauchbrae, but there is little doubt that he had a son and heir

XVII. WALTER SCOTT of Whitchauchbrae who d. s.p. 1621, and Whitchauchbrae passed into the possession of Thomas Scott of Salynside.

Mr. Scott of Rodono treats this family exhaustively and raises some difficulties which arise chiefly through his (unfounded, I think) assumption that Whitchauchbrae passed from a Thomas to the above Walter and then back to the same Thomas. I think it more probable that the first Thomas referred to by Rodono was the Thomas eventually of Toderick and the second Thomas the son of Andrew of Salynside.

Harden.*Lord Polwarth ❖

SATCHELLS gives a very clear and concise account of Harden's pedigree from a younger son of George, sixth Laird of Sinton, but this does not reconcile with the few facts referred to under Sinton. It seems quite possible, however, that the founder of this family did marry twice and to that extent I have followed Satchells.

The first Sir William bought Mertoun House about 1650, and this became the principal seat of the family until it was sold recently. The second Sir William parted with Harden to his brother, Sir Gideon, and Sir Gideon's family owned and lived at Harden, but continued to style themselves "of Highchesters," while Sir William's descendants lived at Mertoun and continued to use the Harden designation.

This explains the statement frequently seen that the Earl of Tarras succeeded to Harden in 1673, which is quite true, but the Earl's family did not succeed to the designation " of Harden " and the headship of the family till 1710.

XV. WILLIAM SCOTT, second son of Robert Scott of Stirches, obtained in 1535 the lands and barony of Harden, Highchesters, Toderick, Wester Essenside, Burnfoot, and Shielswood from his brother, and is the first Laird of Harden so designated. He m. first a daughter of Chisholm of Chisholm, and by her had an only son,

1. WALTER his successor.

He m. secondly a dau. of Kerr of Fernielee and (as suggested by Satchells' book) widow of Riddell of Riddell, and by her had two sons :

2. Robert of Burnfoot.

3. George of Toderick

William Scott d. probably at Toderick, February, 1561, and was succeeded by his eldest son,

XVI. WALTER SCOTT of Harden, who probably settled at Harden in his father's lifetime. Burke gives no particulars as to marriage of this Laird, and it is possible (from Satchells) that he m. a Riddell, dau. of his stepmother; he d. about 1563, having had two sons :

1. WALTER his heir.

2. William, called " William in the Mott," living in January, 1591, mentioned as one of the Pensioners in the House of Buccleuch.

XVII. WALTER SCOTT, the elder son, succeeded to Harden in 1563; m. March, 1567, Mary, called the "Flower of Yarrow," dau. of Philip Scott of Dryhope, and by her had issue:

1. WILLIAM (Sir) his heir.
  2. Walter in Essenside m. April, 1614, Elspeth, dau. of John Hay of Haystoun, and was killed by Simon Scott of Bonnington in 1620, leaving two daughters, Jean and Margaret, served heiresses to their father in February, 1641.
  3. Hugh of Deuchar.
  4. Francis, who bought Sinton in 1627.
  5. George of Castlesyde?
  1. Margaret m. Sir Gilbert Elliot of Stobs (Gibbie wi' the Gowden Garters).
  2. Ester m. Elliot of Falnash and secondly George Langlands of that ilk.
  3. Janet m. Thomas Scott, who succeeded his brother to Whitslaid.
  4. Isobel m. James Johnstone of Westerhall.
- And three other daughters m. to Geddes of Kirkurd, Scott of Tushielaw, and Porteous of Hawkshaw.

Auld Watt m. secondly April, 1598, Margaret, dau. of John Edgar of Wedderlie, and by her had,

8. Margaret m. first, September, 1621, David Pringle, younger of Gala; and secondly about 1625 Sir William Makdougall of Makerstoun.

Auld Watt d. June, 1631, and was succeeded by

XVIII. SIR WILLIAM SCOTT of Harden. Sir William, a man in great favour with James VI., was knighted in his father's lifetime, and possessed of considerable estates. He m. July, 1611, Agnes, dau. of Sir Gideon Murray of Elibank, and by her had issue :

1. WILLIAM (Sir).
2. GIDEON (Sir), whose line succeeded to Harden.
3. Walter of Raeburn.
4. James of Thirlestane.
5. John of Woll.
1. Elizabeth m. Sir Andrew Kerr of Greenhead.
2. Margaret m. Thomas Kerr of Mersington.
3. Janet m. John Murray of Philiphaugh.
4. Susannah m. Gideon Ogilvie of Hartwoodmyres.

Sir William m. secondly Margaret, dau. of Kerr of Linton, but d. without further issue in 1655.

XIX. SIR WILLIAM SCOTT of Oakwood and later of Harden, the eldest son, knighted 1660, m. Christian, dau. of Robert, sixth Lord Boyd, and d. February, 1699, having had issue :

1. WILLIAM (Sir).
2. ROBERT of Iliston.
1. Christian m. Wm. Kerr of Chatto.
2. Margaret m. Sir Patrick Scott, Bart., of Ancrum.

XX. SIR WILLIAM SCOTT, the elder son, sixth Laird of Harden, m. Jean, dau. of Sir John Nisbet of Dirleton, but dying without issue August, 1707, the estates passed to his brother,

Arms.—Quarterly: 1st and 4th counter-quartered; quarterly, 1st vert, a lion rampant, arg., for Hume; 2nd arg., three papingoes, two and one, vert, for Pepdie; 3rd gu., three piles engrailed, arg. for Polwarth; 4th arg., a cross engrailed, az., for St. Clair of Hormiston; and over all as a surtout, an escutcheon, az., charged with an orange, ensigned with an imperial crown, all ppr. as a coat of augmentation given by King William III.; 2nd or, two mullets in chief, and a crescent in base az., for Scott, of Boonraw;* 3rd counter-quartered; quarterly; 1st and 4th gu., on a chevron, arg., a rose betwixt two lioncels combatant, of the first for Hepburne; 2nd and 3rd arg., three bay leaves vert, for Foulis. Crests.—For Scott: A lady richly attired holding in her right hand the sun, in her left a half moon. For Lord Polwarth: A man's heart, out of which issues a dexter arm erect grasping a scimitar all ppr. For Hepburne of Humbie: A horse saddled and bridled, beneath a tree, passant. Mottoes.—For Scott, "Reparabit Cornua Phœbe"; for Polwarth, "True to the end" and "Fides probata coronat," and for Humbie, "Keep Trust." The arms given above and as sketched at the head of this genealogy are Lord Polwarth's official arms, but he is also entitled by descent to the old arms of Scott of Harden, namely, or, on a bend azure an étoile between two crescents of the field, in chief, a rose gules, slipped and leaved ppr. and for crest a stag trippant ppr., attired and unguled, or. Motto, "Pacem Amo." These arms have never been marshalled in Lord Polwarth's coat, but I have ventured to suggest in the frontispiece how they might be marshalled if Lord Polwarth so desired. Seat.—Harden, Roxburghshire. Residence.—Humbie House, Humbie, E. Lothian.

*NOTE.—I have purposely described this coat as "Scott of Boonraw" instead of "Scott of Sinton" as there is apparently no evidence that it was ever used by any Scott of Sinton. This coat is, according to tradition, the coat used by the Buccleuch family before the alliance with Inglis of Murdiestoun and was adopted by the Sinton family circa 1670-1700 subsequent to the disposal of Sinton to the Harden family, on the probably erroneous assumptions that Sinton branched from Buccleuch before the Inglis alliance and that Sinton was the senior male family of Scott next after Buccleuch. As already stated the last Laird of Boonraw gave his arms by deed to Harden as his heir in 1700, passing over several intervening families and these arms were registered and adopted by the Laird of Harden in 1820 in lieu of those he was using, under the advice of Mr. Scott of Abbotsford.

Castlesyde.

XVII. GEORGE SCOTT of Castlesyde, probably a younger son of Walter Scott of Harden, is mentioned in several documents 1592-1629.

XVIII. FRANCIS SCOTT of Castlesyde, probably George's son, succeeded some time between 1629 and 1636.

Burnfoot (In Ail).

FOUR generations of this genealogy (XVII to XX) are authentic and deserve a place in this book. Satchells states that

XVI. ROBERT SCOTT, eldest son by the second marriage of the first Laird of Harden with Riddell's widow, was the ancestor of this family, and although there is no evidence in support of this there is, as far as I know, no evidence against it, and this Robert may quite possibly have been father of

XVII. WILLIAM SCOTT of Burnfoot in Ail, who witnessed the service of Walter Scott of Stirches as heir to his father in May, 1592, and who was doubtless the Laird who was at the Carlisle Raid. William must have died about 1622 and been succeeded by his eldest son, XVIII. WALTER SCOTT of Burnfoot.

XIX. ROBERT SCOTT of Burnfoot was served heir to his father, Walter, in September, 1641, but it is not clear at what date Walter died. Robert had at least two sons :

1. WALTER his heir.
2. Francis, to whom Satchells addresses one of his dedications.

XX. WALTER SCOTT of Burnfoot succeeded sometime before 1669, and was Laird in 1686, at which time he was also the recipient of an address from Satchells.

Toderick.

Scott of Todderick
 ❖ circa 1622

I AM aware that Satchells' statement that a Scott of Toderick was one of the first cadets of Harden, is not given general credence, and certainly some of his pedigrees are so at variance with facts that his whole book must be accepted with reserve, but in this case there is some supporting evidence that the Scott of Toderick, who signed the clan bond, was not of the same family as the Scotts of Toderick, cadets of Whitslaid.

Dr. William Scott, descended from the later Toderick family, in his pedigree of Scott of Stokoe mentions that in 1783 he copied the above arms cut in wood in the Toderick seat in the Kirk at Ashkirk, the arms being dated 1622, whereas the arms given in Nisbet's Heraldry for Toderick descended from Whitslaid are as given in the appropriate place in this book.

XVI. GEORGE SCOTT, third son of William Scott, first Laird of Harden, succeeded to Toderick on the latter's death in 1561. George Scott d. before 1580, and was succeeded by XVII. WALTER SCOTT of Toderick, who was in all probability his son. This Walter signed the clan bond, and was at the Carlisle Raid.

XVIII. WILLIAM SCOTT, his heir apparent, m. Isabella Livingston, and had a son,

XIX. WALTER SCOTT, b. about 1629, but it is clear that during his father's lifetime his grandfather sold the property to Thomas, brother to Sir Walter Scott of Whitslaid.

Part III.

Balweary.*Scott of Balweary

III. SIR MICHAEL SCOTT, a man of property and power in the County of Fife, flourished in the reign of King William, who succeeded to the crown of Scotland anno 1165.

He m. Margaret, dau. of Duncan Syras of that ilk, by whom he had a son,

1. DUNCAN his heir.

IV. DUNCAN SCOTT confirmed his father's donation to the monastery of Dunfermline, which was also confirmed by King Alexander II. anno regni 17, i.e., 1231. Duncan had two sons:

1. SIR MICHAEL his heir.

2. Gilbert, who is witness in a charter of Alexander, Earl of Buchan, anno 1236.

He was succeeded by his elder son,

V. SIR MICHAEL SCOTT, who had the honour of knighthood conferred upon him by King Alexander II., and was one of the assize. Sir Michael m. the dau. and sole heiress of Sir Richard Balweary, with whom he got the lands and barony of Balweary in the County of Fife, which became the chief title of his family. By her he had a son,

VI. SIR MICHAEL SCOTT* of Balweary, who succeeded him, and was second Baron of Balweary of the name of Scott. Upon the death of his father-in-law, he succeeded to all the possessions of the ancient family of the Balwearys of that ilk. This Sir Michael was a man of extraordinary parts, and made a great figure in his time. Sir Michael of Balweary, with most of the nobility and gentry of Scotland, was compelled to submit to King Edward I. of England anno 1296. He left issue two sons:

1. SIR HENRY his heir.
2. Duncan, who was proprietor of lands in Forfarshire, and was also forced to swear allegiance to King Edward I. of England for his lands lying in that county anno 1304. He was progenitor of the Scotts in the North.

Sir Michael d. about the year 1300, and was succeeded by his eldest son,

VII. SIR HENRY SCOTT of Balweary, who was also compelled to submit to King Edward, according to these words in Rymer's collections, dominus Henricus Scott de Fife, miles, fecit homagium Edwardo I. anno 1304.

He d. in the beginning of the reign of King David Bruce, and left issue a son and successor,

*In spite of opinion expressed, I believe, by Sir Walter Scott of Abbotsford that this Michael was "The Wizard," I think this is more than doubtful.

VIII. SIR ANDREW SCOTT of Balweary, a great patriot, and always ready to fight in defence of the liberties of his country, but at last lost his life at the taking of Berwick by the Scots anno 1355, leaving issue an infant son,

IX. SIR WILLIAM SCOTT of Balweary, who succeeded him, and got a charter of confirmation from John, Abbot of Dunfermline, domino Willelmo Scot de Balweary, de terris de Balweary, dated 13th June, 1393.

He d. in the end of the reign of King Robert III., and was succeeded by his son,

X. SIR MICHAEL SCOTT of Balweary, who, by an authentic writ still preserved, disposed of the lands of Cambrune and its mill to Sir John Wemyss of that ilk.

Sir Michael was one of the hostages for King James I.'s ransom anno 1424. He left issue a son and a dau. :

1. SIR WILLIAM.

1. Margaret m. Sir John Melville of Raith.

He d. in the reign of King James II., and was succeeded by his son,

XI. SIR WILLIAM SCOTT of Balweary, who m. Isabel, dau. of Sir John Moncrief of that ilk. He left issue two sons and one daughter :

1. SIR WILLIAM.

2. Alexander of Fingask, who, in a charter under the great seal, is designed frater germanus Willelmi Scott de Balweary, militas, dated 10th April, 1513; but we can give no account of his posterity.

1. Euphame m. Sir John Arnot of that ilk.

Sir William was succeeded by his eldest son,

XII. SIR WILLIAM SCOTT of Balweary, who m. Janet, dau. of Thomas Lundy of that ilk.

He accompanied King James IV. to the fatal field of Flodden anno 1513, where he was taken prisoner, which obliged him to sell several of his lands to purchase his redemption. By the said Janet Lundy he had two sons :

1. SIR WILLIAM.
2. Thomas, who got a charter under the great seal.

He was succeeded by his elder son,

XIII. SIR WILLIAM SCOTT, who, in his father's lifetime, was put in possession of the lands and barony of Innertiel, and was long designed of that title. He m. Isabel, dau. of Patrick, fourth Lord Lindsay of Byres. By the said Isabel Lindsay he had two sons and one daughter :

1. SIR WILLIAM.
2. Andrew, progenitor of the Scots of Ancrum.
1. Catherine m. Laurence Mercer of Aldie.

He was succeeded by his elder son,

XIV. SIR WILLIAM SCOTT of Balweary, who, in his father's lifetime, was also designed of the title of Innertiel. He m. Helen, dau. of Sir William Lauder of Hatton. By the said Helen Lauder he had two sons :

1. Michael, who, in a charter under the great seal, is designed Michael Scott filius senior, et haeres apparens domini Willelmi Scot de Balweary anno 1540; but he d. before his father unm.
2. SIR WILLIAM.

XV. SIR WILLIAM SCOTT of Balweary, son of Sir William, m. Janet, dau. of — Lindsay of Dowhill, by whom he had two sons :

1. JAMES.

2. Robert, of whom there is no succession.

He was succeeded by his eldest son,

XVI. SIR JAMES SCOTT of Balweary, who had the honour of knighthood conferred upon him by King James VI. at the solemnity of Queen Anne's coronation anno 1590.

He m. Elizabeth, dau. of Sir Andrew Wardlaw of Torrie, by whom he had two sons and one daughter :

1. WILLIAM.

2. James, ancestor of the Scotts of Logie, Dunninald, etc., etc.

1. Janet was m. to Sir John Boswell of Balmuto, and had issue.

XVII. WILLIAM SCOTT, eldest son and apparent heir of Sir James Scott of Balweary, lived in the reigns of King James VI. and King Charles I. Whether William or his father, Sir James, d. first we cannot ascertain, but XVIII. COLONEL WALTER SCOTT of Balweary succeeded, and was grandson of Sir James. He betook himself to a military life and rose to the rank of Colonel, but never married. He d. in Flanders in the reign of Charles II., and in him ended the line of Scotts designed of Balweary.

Arms.—Argent, three lions' heads erased gules.

Ashtrees.

---

ALTHOUGH there is no proof available there are several reasons for suspecting that

JOHN SCOTT, who m. Helen, dau. and heiress of Thos. Oliver of Ashtrees, was of the Bonchester family and possibly third son of Walter Scott, third of Bonchester, and Jane Turnbull, his wife. By Helen Oliver John Scott left issue:

Falla.

THIS family is also very possibly a branch of the Bonchester family, although there is now no definite tradition as to its descent. There are several reasons for assuming that

GEORGE SCOTT, second son of Thomas Scott, second of Bonchester, was father of ALEXANDER SCOTT, miller in Rulewater and tenant in Roughheugh Mill, from whom downwards the pedigree may be taken as authentic as far as it goes. The miller left two sons:

1. GEORGE. 2. Robert.

GEORGE SCOTT, the elder son, tenant in Falla, b. 1724, m. Elizabeth Borthwick, and dying 1815, left issue:

1. Alexander d. young.

  - (2) Betsy.

All d. s.p. as far as we can tell.
3. Thomas b. 1761; d. at Falla 1849.
4. ALEXANDER. 1. Elizabeth.

ALEXANDER SCOTT of Falla, the fourth son, was a Bailie of Jedburgh, and also a draper in that town. He was of an inventive turn of mind, and spent a considerable amount of money on new kinds of explosives. He m. Isabella Rutherford and obtained possession of Falla through this marriage. He became factor to the Earl of Hopetown, and d. December, 1835, having had issue:

1. George b. 1786; in the Admiralty Office; d. unm. 1825.
2. William, b. 1788, m. Charlotte, dau. of Robert Leslie, and dying 1820, left issue:
  - (1) William Ferguson d. at sea 1819, aged 1 year.
  - (1) Charlotte Eliza m. R. H. Ramas.
3. JOHN.
4. Thomas b. 1805; d. young.
5. Adam d. young.
1. Isabella. 2. Elizabeth.
3. Alice. 4. Ann.

On Mr. Alexander Scott's death Isabella, Elizabeth and Ann, his daughters, became joint proprietors, and on the death of the last of these, Falla passed to their nephew.

JOHN SCOTT, the third son, also a factor to the Earl of Hopetown, m. 1829 Harriet Henderson, and d. June, 1860, leaving issue:

1. ALEXANDER. 1. Jessie Harriet.

ALEXANDER SCOTT of Falla, the only son, b. 1835, succeeded to Falla on the death of his last surviving aunt; m. Marion Isabella, dau. of Charles Robert Somervail of London, and dying 1887, left issue:

1. JOHN ALEXANDER.
2. Charles Robert b. 1877; d. 1894.
1. Marion Elizabeth.
2. Harriet Rutherford m. Robert Laing.
3. Agnes Emily.

JOHN ALEXANDER SCOTT of Falla and tenant in Mossburnford; b. 1873; m. Alice, dau. of George Douglas, Upper Hindhope, and dying 1920, left issue:

1. ALEXANDER GEORGE.
2. Charles Douglas b. 1908.
3. John Robert b. 1910.
1. Aheila Marion Isabella.
2. Jean Harriet.

ALEXANDER GEORGE SCOTT b. 1905.

Residence.—Falla, Jedburgh, N.B.

Kinning Hall.

---

ROBERT SCOTT, younger brother to George Scott, tenant in Falla, and after his father tenant in Roughheugh Mill, Hawick, left four children:

1. ALEXANDER.
2. Thomas of Little Cot, who m. but left no issue.
1. Euphemia m. her cousin John, brother to Falla.
2. Alice m. Briggs of Middlesnows.

ALEXANDER SCOTT of Kinning Hall m. Margaret Bell, and was buried at Bedrule, leaving issue:

1. ROBERT.    2. William.
1. Marky m. William Hobkirk.
2. Ann.
3. Mary m. John Scott in Barnhills.

Hartwoodmyres.

---

THIS property was owned by Scotts from 1573 to 1695, but it is not possible to give a connected pedigree. Walter of Hartwoodmyres in 1573 was son to William Scott of Tushielaw, but this Walter would afterwards be the Sir Walter of Tushielaw, and it is not clear what relation, if any, he was to

WILLIAM SCOTT of Hartwoodmyres in 1589, who was one of the rescuers of Kinmont Will in 1596. In 1627

ROBERT SCOTT of Hartwoodmyres was one of the commissioners left by the Earl of Buccleuch to administer his affairs when he left for Holland. In 1667

WILLIAM SCOTT of Hartwoodmyres was commissioner for the King's Bounty.

Headshaw.

Scott
 of Headshaw

THIS family is known as the old family of Headshaw as distinct from the comparatively modern branch of Sinton in Part II. There is apparently nothing to give any hint as to its origin.

WALTER SCOTT of Headshaw was in possession before 1486. He must have had at least six sons :

1. PHILIP his heir.
2. David. 3. Simon. 4. Robert.
5. Walter. 6. Thomas.

PHILIP SCOTT succeeded his father before 1510, and was father of

WALTER SCOTT of Headshaw, mentioned in 1564; m. a dau. of Sir William Scott of Kirkurd, and had two sons, ROBERT his heir, and a second son, who was father of Robert Scott of Easter Groundiston.

ROBERT SCOTT of Headshaw succeeded before 1593, at which date he received a crown charter. He had issue:

1. ROBERT. 2. Francis.

ROBERT SCOTT, the eldest son, younger of Headshaw, apparently never succeeded, the family having become impoverished and the property disposed of to John Scott of Yorkston, son of the Laird of Sinton.

Arms.—Or, on a bend azure an étoile between two crescents of the first, within a bordure quarterly arg. and of the second.

Dryhope.

Scott
of Dryhope

SIMON SCOTT of Dryhope is stated by Satchells to have been a brother of Adam Scott of Tushielaw, but I believe this statement is entirely unsupported and have therefore, in view of the arms that are on record to Dryhope, placed this genealogy after Headshaw. He had several sons, all mentioned as brothers to the elder Philip:

1. PHILIP.    2. Simon.    3. Andrew.
4. Adam.    5. Walter.

PHILIP SCOTT of Dryhope is mentioned in several documents, and is noted principally for being the father of Mary, "The Flower of Yarrow." He was followed by his son,

PHILIP SCOTT of Dryhope, Laird of Dryhope from about 1618 to 1625, after which we find his son,

WILLIAM SCOTT of Dryhope. Although William was definitely Philip's son, it is only probable that

ROBERT SCOTT of Dryhope in 1640 was son to William.

WALTER SCOTT of Dryhope in 1669 was possibly brother to Robert, and

PHILIP SCOTT, the last Laird of Dryhope, was definitely brother to Walter.

Arms.—The arms of Headshaw within a bordure gules.

Mountbenger.

---

SIMON SCOTT of Mountbenger was second son of Simon Scott, the first of Dryhope, and was father to

ROBERT SCOTT of Mountbenger, who was father of

WALTER SCOTT of Mountbenger, who was father of JOHN SCOTT of Catslackknow, who was father of the REV. JAMES SCOTT of Ancrum, and also probably father of William Scott of Catslackknow, Pensioner to the House of Buccleuch (one of the nine-and-twenty knights of fame in the "Lay").

THE REV. JAMES SCOTT of Ancrum was, according to Satchells, father of JAMES SCOTT of Bristo, "a worthy and much respected generous gentleman" living in 1688.

James Robert Scott.

  1. Jane. 2. Mary m. Thomas McGowan.

WALTER SCOTT m. G—— Rutherford.

Lilliesleaf.

---

THIS family's ancestors were tenants of Selkirk Corn Mills early in the seventeenth century, and, according to tradition, were descended from the Scotts of Sinton. They removed from Selkirk to Boose Mill on Ail Water, and at the same time farmed Dimple Knowe adjoining Satchells. From Boose Mill they removed to a mill on Rule Water just below Wells House.

The first member of whom we have any individual knowledge is

JOHN SCOTT who, when a young man, went to Hummelknowe Mill on Slitrig as miller. John Scott subsequently married the tenant of the mill, who was a widow named Henderson, by whom he left issue, possibly among others, one son,

JOHN SCOTT, who m. a Miss Deans, and lived all his life at Hummelknowe Mill, and d. there leaving issue a son,

WALTER SCOTT, who lived first at Hummelknowe Mill and in 1859 with his family left and went to Ormiston, near Hawick. He left issue,

Newark.

---

JAMES of Newark about whose origin nothing is known, apparently left Newark to his son and became a Magistrate in Selkirk c. 1603-7.

JOHN SCOTT of Newark settled at Newark in his father's lifetime, m. Agnes Simpson, and appears to have had three sons:

1. JAMES.
2. Robert burgess in Selkirk.
3. Walter in Broadhaugh.

John d. January, 1622.

JAMES was served heir to his father, December, 1626, having m. December, 1605, Grisel, dau. of James Murray of Philiphaugh. He apparently parted with Newark to the Buccleuch family and is probably subsequently identical with James Scott, Merchant Burgess in Selkirk.

Harwood.*Scott of Harwood.

WALTER SCOTT in Broadhaugh, third son of John Scott of Newark: m. Agnes, dau. of Turnbull of Minto; he acquired Arkleton and Meikledalehope, and was almost certainly identical with Walter Scott mentioned in documents in the possession of Mr. Scott Bell of Woll as having left several daughters, one of whom married Maxwell of Broomholm, and a son

ROBERT SCOTT of Harwood. Robert Scott m. Beatrice Gladstaines "of the ancient family of Gladstaines," and by her had issue:

1. WALTER.    2. Francis of Greenhill.
3. William.   4. Robert.
5. Gideon of Falnash.
1. Agnes m. John Scott of Woll.

WALTER SCOTT of Harwood registered his arms at Lyon Office about 1672. He married Christian, dau. of Sir Andrew Ker, and had issue several sons and a dau. Elizabeth m. to Gilbert Elliot of Woolie. The family was ruined by the extravagance of the Laird's wife, and the estate was sold. The eldest son,

ROBERT SCOTT of Harwood, and the latter's son,

ROBERT SCOTT, Younger, of Harwood, were both alive in 1738, but nothing is known of any other descendants of Walter, the last actual proprietor of Harwood.

Arms.—Or, an oak tree vert, surmounted by a bend azure charged with a mullet between two crescents of the field. Crest.—A stag's head erased ppr. Motto.—“Ardenter Amo.”

Falnash.

Scott Bell of Woll

GIDEON SCOTT of Falnash, fifth son of Robert Scott of Harwood and Beatrice Gladstaines, purchased Falnash from his brother. He m. Mary, dau. of James Scott of Thirlestane, and had issue :

- I. ROBERT.
  1. Agnes m. Robert Scott of Burnhead.
  2. Beatrice m. Walter Scott of Crumhaugh.
  3. Christian m. ——— Johnstone.
  4. Mary.

ROBERT SCOTT of Falnash m. Violet, dau. of Thomas Rutherford of Edgerston, and dying in 1734, left issue :

1. GIDEON. 2. THOMAS.
3. James, minister of Perth, m. Beatrice, dau. of Thomas Mercer of Pinhall, and d. 1818, leaving issue :
  - (1) Thomas. (2) Robert.
  - (3) James. (1) Violet.
  - (2) Elizabeth. (3) Susan.
 All d. unm.
4. ROBERT. 1. Susannah.

GIDEON SCOTT succeeded his father to Falnash in 1734, but d. s.p. 1759.

THOMAS SCOTT succeeded his brother, and sold the estate to the Duke of Buccleuch. He d. in 1779.

ROBERT SCOTT, fourth son of Robert Scott of Falnash and Violet Rutherford, m. Elizabeth, dau. of Robert Howieson of Orchard, and eventually became "of Orchard." He d. in 1813, leaving issue :

1. Margaret m. Dr. Andrew Wilson, M.D., Kelso.
2. Violet m. William Bell, farmer, whose son purchased the estate of Woll from Mr. Ainslie in 1863, and who was father of WILLIAM SCOTT BELL, now of Woll.

Arms (granted 1855 to Mr. W. S. Bell's father).—Or, an oak tree vert surmounted by a fesse azure charged with an étoile between two crescents of the field between three bells of the third, the star being charged with a crescent gules for difference. Crest.—A stag's head erased ppr. Motto.—"Ardenter Amo." Seat.—The Woll, Hawick, N.B.

Whitehaugh.

Scott Chisholm ❖ ❖ of Stirches

JOHN SCOTT of Borthwick is said to have been descended in some way from Buccleuch, but how, is not quite clear. This John appears to have had two sons; John, who succeeded him, and —— father of Walter Scott, the first designed of Whitehaugh.

JOHN SCOTT, second of Borthwick, is principally noted for having fasted eighty days.

WALTER SCOTT, the first designed of Whitehaugh, grandson of John Scott of Borthwick, was apparently ancestor of Walter Scott, a shepherd living in 1688, and the steps of descent are given by Satchells as follows:

ROBERT SCOTT of Whitehaugh, son of the above, was father of

WALTER SCOTT of Whitehaugh, who was father of WILLIAM SCOTT of Whitehaugh and Thomas in Wester Groundiston, a pensioner to the House of Buccleuch.

ADAM SCOTT was son to William and father of

WALTER SCOTT, a "shepherd swain" living in Satchells' time. So far this pedigree must be accepted with the greatest reserve, but in 1697 the property is inherited or purchased by WILLIAM SCOTT of Whitehaugh, who m. in 1705 Ann, dau. of Dr. John Rutherford of Knowe-south. William Scott d. s.p. 1751, and was succeeded, we are told by Major Tancred, by his sister, Isobel, and on her death in 1759 by her second cousin,

JOHN SCOTT of Whitehaugh; the relationship is, however, not quite clear. Mr. Scott m. Margaret, the eldest dau. and co-heiress of Walter Scott of Newton, by whom he had three surviving sons and three surviving daughters.

WALTER SCOTT of Whitehaugh, the eldest, was educated as a surgeon, and practised as such for many years. He d. unm. 1841, and was succeeded by JAMES SCOTT of Whitehaugh, the third brother, who for a long time resided at Whitslaid. He d. unm. October, 1852.

AGNES SCOTT, one of the three daughters, m. Adam Stavert of Hoscote.

ELIZABETH, another daughter, m. Gilbert Chisholm of Stirches, and this family is now represented by Mr. Scott-Chisholm of Stirches.

Arms.—Of Scott-Chisholm, gules, a boar's head and neck couped argent; quartered with or, on a bend azure a mullet argent between two crescents of the field, a bordure of the second charged with as many crescents in chief and a mullet in base of the former. Crest.—A dexter arm in armour embowed from the shoulder, the hand holding a scimitar in bend all proper. Motto.—“Vi et Virtute.” Seat.—Stirches, near Hawick, N.B.

THE PENSIONERS

ALTHOUGH not in any sense a genealogy, I think room should be found for an extract of Satchells "Belanden," recording the names of the "four-and-twenty gentlemen" whom Buccleuch kept at his call, and who received various "rooms" or small estates for their services. The date referred to must be approximately 1580-1620. Only those marked with an asterisk have I been able to place in the body of this work, and it should be noted that Satchells is probably wrong in stating that Scotstarvit sprung from Hassendene.

"Walter Scott of North House, the first gentleman descended from the family; in a former age Robert Scott of Allanmouth; David Scott of Stobiescot,* brother to Sir Walter Scott of Gaudilands; David Scott of Raes-know, one of the house of Allanhaugh; Robert Scott of Clack, the land of Fennick for his service; William Scott in Hawick* called William in the Mott, brother to Walter Scott of Hardin, possessed these lands without the West-port for his service; John Scott of Monks-tower, brother to old William Scott of Altoun; Robert Scott of Easter-groundiston,* brother-son to Robert Scott of Headshaw;* James Scott of Altoun-Crofts, Raes-knowe and Allanmouth, were all of the Family of Allanhaugh. Thomas Scott in Westergroundiston,* brother to William Scott of Whitehaugh,* descended of the ancient Family of Buccleuch; John Scott in Drinkston, descended of the ancient Family of Robertoun; William Scott in Lies, alias Milma, called William Scott of Catslac-know, descended from the ancient Family of Dryhope; Robert Scott in Clarilaw descended from the ancient house of Hassendene; William Scott of Totchahaugh, from the aforesaid family of Bortoheugh; Andrew Scott of Totchahill, from the family of Robertoun; John Scott in Stowslie; Scott of Whames, descended from the North-house; Scott of Castlehill, was of that kind; Walter Scott of Chappel-hill, he was half-brother to the Laird of Chisholm; Robert Scott of Howford* had the lands of Cowdhouse for his service; Robert Scott of Satchells* had Southinrig for his service; Robert Scott of Langup* had the lands of Outterhuntly for his service for several ages; there was one William Scott commonly called Cut-at-the-black, he had the lands of Nether Delorain for his service; Walter Gledstanes had Whitelaw. These twenty-four were all of the names of Scott, except Walter Gledstanes of Whitelaw, who was nearly related to my Lord. Now I come to Sir Walter Scott of Buccleuch, who was grandfather to Walter, the good Lord of Buccleuch. These twenty-three Pensioners, all of his own name of Scott, and Walter Gledstanes of Whitelaw, a near cousin of my Lords, as aforesaid; they were ready upon all occasions, when his Honour pleased cause to advertise them. It was known to many in the country better than it is to me, that the rents of these lands, which the Lairds and Lords of Buccleuch did freely bestow upon their friends, will amount above twelve or fourteen thousand marks a year. This I have thought good to let the reader see, the benefits which the younger brethren of the name had by their Chief, when he was but a Baron and Knight, they were esteemed with more respect than they have been since."

In 1589 a bond was signed called the clan bond, a copy of which is in the possession of Lord Napier, wherein the various Lairds of the name of Scott bound themselves together for their mutual protection. The following is a list of those who signed the bond :

Walter of Buccleuch.	Philip of Dryhope.

APPENDIX I

ROYAL DESCENT

THE claim to Royal Blood, especially by those not closely related to any of the old nobility, is rightly looked upon with a great deal of scepticism by the general public, and a few words on this subject may not be out of place here.

The descent of the Buccleuch family from Princess Mary of Scotland is as authentic as any genealogical or historical fact connected with Scottish history, but the truth of the participation in this connection by other members of the Scott family must rest on the reliability of their respective descents from Buccleuch.

The descent of Wicked Wat from the early kings of Scotland and England, showing also the Norman blood of Bruce, is given as follows and may be taken as authentic.

APPENDIX.

The reader will be able to see for himself which families mentioned in this book can claim descent from Wicked Wat, but attention might be drawn to the following points.

The descendants of Anna, Duchess of Buccleuch and Monmouth, descended directly through Buccleuch, also pick up the Stuart blood through the marriage with Monmouth.

The Harden family* from Walter, eleventh Laird, is descended through Anna of Gorinberrie, also Mr. Macmillan-Scott and others of his family through Sir Walter Scott of Goldielands.

*The present Lord Polwarth's family can trace Royal descent independently of the marriage of David Scott and Lady Jane Douglas, and this probably applies to many other families mentioned in this work, as most of the principal families of Scotland intermarried at some time or other with the Stuarts or Bruces.

The whole of the Napier family, including the senior branch, the Scott-Elliots, are descended from Margaret of Buccleuch, aunt of the first Lord Scott.

The modern Sinton family and (via Elliot of Borthwickbrae) the descendants of Gideon Scott in Ladhope are descended from a sister of the above Margaret through the old Headshaw family, and this connection is supported by Satchells'

"Robert of Headshaw himself would gang,
He was his Honour's cousin german."

There are also several branches of Scott in Singlie who are connected through the Ladhope family, and there must be many in addition of the name of Scott descended from Wicked Wat, legitimately or otherwise, through the male or female line, particulars of whose descent have been lost.

APPENDIX II

SHORTLY after this book was in the printer's hands, and after most of it was in type, there came into my hands, through the kindness of Colonel W. A. Scott, representative of Teviot Bank, a manuscript work by his uncle, John Scott of Teviot Bank, and afterwards of Rodono, entitled "A Genealogical Memoir of the Scotts of Thirlestane with Genealogical Notes of Other Families of the Name of Scott."

This treatise is comprised in six volumes, of which the first is confined to a discussion on the origin of the present Napier family. The remaining volumes deal with other families living in the fifteenth and sixteenth centuries, and their probable connection with the parent stem of Buccleuch is dealt with at great length and with extensive references.

The Lord Lyon King of Arms has kindly consented, with Colonel Scott's concurrence, to take permanent charge of Mr. John Scott's MS., and eventually I intend to place a typed copy of the whole work in the Lyon Office, and also with the Society of Antiquaries of Scotland.

Mr. Scott's work appears to me to be of exceptional historical value, and from that point of view far surpasses the small work which I have attempted, but the cost of printing, which Mr. Scott obviously intended undertaking when his death in 1867 intervened, may make its publication prohibitive as a financial success. I take this opportunity of intimating that I will gladly subscribe in a small way towards this cost should any public spirited gentleman decide to undertake it. I feel sure Colonel Scott will willingly give his consent.

Without destroying a large quantity of linotype and otherwise incurring considerable expense and delay it has been impossible to revise my book to bring in anything like all the extra matter contained in Rodono's work, as I should have preferred to have done, but I have made several references to Mr. Scott of Rodono, principally under Davington and Sinton, slightly rearranged Tushielaw and Howpasley, and added one or two brief pedigrees taken from Rodono's work such as Shielswood, Girnwood, and Salynside.

As I have already mentioned (page 99) Mr. Scott of Rodono states in his memoirs that the ancestry of Robert Scott of Sinton (XIV), as here given, is absolutely fictitious, but at the same time he states that there is no reason to doubt the truth of the tradition that the family sprung from Buccleuch, in fact "from no other source could any family of the name — have sprung and at once attained such importance than directly from the House of Braxholm."

Mr. Scott gives his reasons for placing Robert of Sinton as a son of John Scott of Weltoun, No. XI in the Robertson Genealogy, but I think that this is nearly as problematical as Satchells' version, and in any case this book was too far advanced to make possible such a rearrangement as Rodono's version would entail.

It will be noted that the genealogies of Sinton, Whitslaid, and Harden from Robert of Sinton downwards differ materially from those given by Douglas and Burke, particularly as to whether Harden or Whitslaid was the senior family, and it should be mentioned that these genealogies were compiled and arranged independently of Rodono's work and that Rodono concurs in almost every detail.

Mr. Scott of Rodono also concurs with me with regard to the two distinct families of Toderick, but suggests that the first family descended from "William in the Mott" and not from his uncle George, whom he classes among Satchells' myths, having decided, as probably many other readers have done, that Satchells is extremely reliable as to tradition but very unreliable as to detail.

Mr. Scott makes no attempt to trace his pedigrees down to modern times, dealing only with old controversial points, and with families of which all trace has been lost. Without wishing to suggest that my work can be considered on the same plane as the late Mr. John Scott's, it might be possible at some future date to combine the two, and I should be glad to render assistance to anyone who would care to undertake this work.

The following additional genealogies and notes are culled from Rodono's work and condensed* into a similar form to the remainder of this book.

JOHN SCOTT (XIX) of Gorinberrie had, besides his eldest son Francis, two other sons:

2. David, living in 1670.

3. Robert, living in 1676.

John Scott d. May, 1668.

*Mr. Scott of Rodono averages several pages to each individual dealt with.

FRANCIS SCOTT (XX) of Gorinberrie d. 1689.

Page 16. ALLANHAUGH.

XV. WILLIAM SCOTT of Allanhaugh, who served on an Inquest of Service in May, 1592, was almost certainly eldest son and heir of William No. XIV in this genealogy, and

XVI. JOHN SCOTT of Allanhaugh, living in 1643, was probably a son of the second William.

Rodono discusses at some length the question of Howpasley's descent from Buccleuch.

He states that the fact that Walter Scott of Howpasley was in 1509 tutor to Wicked Wat is proof positive that he was the nearest male relative (in the paternal line) then (1509) living over twenty-five years of age, and from this he considers that the descent of Howpasley as usually accepted and as here given is conclusive except that Alexander was probably the elder brother of James of Hassendene.

It is probable that William, undoubted brother german of David (XII), younger of Buccleuch, was dead in 1509, and was not the William of Foulshiels mentioned in a charter dated 1532 (the latter being possibly identical with Sir William of Kirkurd), and that Robert of Allanhaugh, if a brother of David (XII), as is most probable, was also dead in 1509, and his sons minors or at any rate under twenty-five.

The statement that William Scott of Tushielaw (XVII) married a daughter of Robert Scott of Thirlestane is an obvious error, and it is possible that William (XIV) is the Laird intended.

Page 51. HORSLEYHILL.

According to Rodono, Captain Robert Scott (XXI) was followed by Captain Francis James Scott who left an only child, a daughter married to her cousin Sir John (?) Douglas. Whilst John (XXII) is evidently an error for Francis James the remainder of the genealogy is, I think, correct as given by me, Henry being undoubtedly the last male of this line.

Mr. Scott of Rodono states that James Scott (XIV) was more probably of the Robertson family, and refers again to the mythical existence of John (or Sir John) Scott of Thirlestane. There is, however, little doubt that Rodono is wrong in disputing the existence of John Scott of Thirlestane, and James Scott, first of Gilmanacleuch, is referred to definitely in contemporary documents as eldest son of John Scott of Thirlestane by his second marriage with Marian Douglas.

James had issue, besides Robert his heir, three younger sons of whom William and Andrew were two.

Schaws.

---

XVI. ADAM SCOTT of Schaws (page 88) had apparently at least four sons:

1. JAMES.
2. Adam in Deloraine, who afterwards purchased North Bowhill.
3. — of Grassyard.
4. Francis, a shepherd mentioned in the Postral.

XVII. JAMES SCOTT m. Marian Scott of Shielswood and became "of Shielswood," and by her had issue more than one son as XVIII. WALTER SCOTT is designed (1705) eldest lawful son of James.

The Christian name of William of Harden's (XV) second wife was Elizabeth.

In Mr. Scott's Genealogy of Gala he quotes, among others, two interesting charters dated 1649 and 1757 from which it appears that James (XIX) had at least one other son besides Hugh, and that in 1757 there was in life a considerable number of male descendants of Hugh Scott of Deuchar in addition to the issue of Hugh (XX) and their issue.

---

Howfoord.

---

RODONO does not even suggest a possible origin for this family, but the following brief pedigree should be given.

ROBERT SCOTT of Howfoord, living in 1558, was probably the father of ROBERT SCOTT of Howfoord, who assisted at the rescue of William Armstrong in 1596.

WILLIAM SCOTT of Howfoord, so designed in 1607, was probably the younger Robert's son. He died not later than 1621, when his son,

WALTER SCOTT of Howfoord, witnessed several documents. Walter parted with Howfoord to Sir William Scott of Harden, but was represented in 1686 by Scott of Coudhouse.

Langshaw.

---

PATRICK SCOTT of Eddrington obtained a Crown Charter of Langshaw in 1653. From the fact that Satchells states that Langshaw "is of kin to me," and from the Christian names, it would seem possible that this family is a branch of Thirlestane, but there is no reliable evidence on the point. In the same charter Patrick's wife is mentioned as Elizabeth Scott and his eldest lawful son as

JOHN SCOTT of Langshaw.

FRANCIS SCOTT of Langshaw, younger brother of John Scott of Langshaw, obtained Crown Charters in 1674 and 1690.

WALTER SCOTT of Langshaw was served heir to his father Francis in 1695.

THOMAS SCOTT of Langshaw was served heir to his father Francis and brother Walter.

In the course of compiling this work it has been suggested to me that the pedigrees are lacking very much in value through my not having given references for each fact stated, with which criticism I am compelled to agree.

Most of the modern pedigrees are obviously taken direct out of Burke and similar works corrected to date when possible by the family, and I am very glad to be able to state that to a very large extent Mr. Scott of Rodono's work supplies the references desirable to establish the steps in my skeleton pedigrees between 1500 and 1700.

INDEX.

Confined to estates and farms owned or tenanted by members of The Family and surnames (and titles) of families allied by marriage.

In some few cases where the surname of allied families occurs frequently, the designation is also given (e.g. Stobs), and in these cases the name and designation are indexed separately and as a rule the designation will more readily locate an individual than the surname.

The name "Scott" is not indexed, but compounds of it are indexed under the first name only. Any member of the Scott family not traceable under a designation may possibly be found under the maiden name of either wife or mother.

Places such as Nether Ancrum, West Deloraine, Easter Muirdean, are indexed under the principal part of the name.

Corrections and Additions.

---

- Page xviii, line 16. For 'when' read 'where'.
,, 23, line 2. For 'second' read 'third'.
,, 31, ,, 13-14. Omit 'Philadelphia'.
,, 77. This should have been titled "Owen Napier."
,, 120, ,, 21. (2) Gideon, tenant in Middlemoss,
m. Barbara Armstrong; d. c. 1835, aged 38.
,, 25. (3) ——— m. William Dove, who succeeded his father-in-law in Todshawhaugh.
,, 183, ,, 1. For 'elder' read 'eldest.'
,, 32. For 'Alexander' read 'ALEXANDER.'
,, 192, ,, 19. For 'Scots' read 'Scotts'.
,, 195, ,, 14. For 'Robert Hill' read 'Robert Mill'.
,, 228. Lady Moira Scott m. Major H. S.
Combe, D.S.O.
,, 295. Too late for alteration it was noticed that Patrick Scott of Langshaw was almost certainly
Patrick Scott first of Ancrum
(page 206), but possibly through there being no record of Satchells' paternal grandmother, or great-grandmother, it is not easy to trace any near relation between Francis, who would be 'of Lang-shaw' in 1686, and the author of "The True History."
