THE THAYER NAME

THE parish of Thornbury is in the western part of Gloucestershire, the town being a short distance from the river Severn. It is eleven miles north from Bristol, from which port it is probable that Thomas and Richard Tayer sailed for New England (1). The Thornbury parish register is from 1538, with breaks from 1645 to 1650 and from 1679 to 1684.

Thomas Tayer was in Boston, Mass., before 24 Feb. 1639 - 40, when land was granted to him at Mount Wollaston (Braintree, Mass.) for "9 heads" in his family, (2) these consisting of himself and wife Margery, his sons Thomas, Ferdinando and Shadrach, perhaps two daughters, Sarah (3) and Hannah, (4) born soon after his arrival in New England, and possibly two servants.

Richard Tayer, a widower, presumably a younger brother of Thomas, came to New England in 1641 with eight children, (5) and settled at Braintree, Mass.,

(2) Boston Record Commissioners' Report, No 2, page 50.

(3) Sarah Thayer and Jonathan Hayward were married 6 May, 1666, in Braintree.

(4) Hannah Thayer and Samuel Hayden were married 28 Oct., 1664, in Braintree.

(5) 4 Massachusetts Historical Society's Collections, vol. 5, page 105, and Pattee's History of Old Braintree and Quincy, Mass., page 48.

afterwards removing to Boston. His children are identified as Richard, Sarah, Jael, Deborah, Zachariah, Hester, Nathaniel and Cornelius (6).

It is likely that the Nathaniel Tayer who was in Taunton before 1668 (7), and the Benjamin Tayer who died in Newport, R. I., in 1716. (8), were related to Thomas and Richard.

The root of the family name, from "taw": to dress skins (9), is made clear in the earlier spelling of the name at Thornbury. The letter "h" was added soon after the emigrants came to New England; but in the line of the family descended from Ferdinando² (Thomas¹) of Mendon, Mass., that letter was silent—as in Thomas and Thompson—until early in the last century. No coat-of-arms appears on any tablet or monument of the family at the parish church (St. Mary) in Thornbury, and the fact that Edward Tayer of Oldbury-on-Severn, in the parish of Thornbury, was disclaimed by the heralds at their Visitation of Gloucestershire in 1623 (10), for using arms without proof of authority, would show that the family was not armorial. The name is now extinct in Thornbury.

Of the twenty-six tenants who made presentment of the customs of the Manor of Thornbury in 1550, eleven signed their names, among whom was Tayer, and the rest made marks (1).

A family spelling the name Theyer and Thayer, and having the same root from "taw", (2) has long been at Brockworth in Gloucestershire (3), a parish 25 miles north-east of Thornbury; and there was an armorial family of Tawyer at Raunds in Northamptonshire (4), about 80 miles north-east of Brockworth and 105 miles from Thornbury; and also an armorial family of Thayer at Great Baddow and later at Thaydon Garnon in county Essex, (5) afterwards of London; (6) but no connection between these families has been established, so far as known.

In an account (7) of "Able and Sufficient Men in Body fit for His Majesty's Service in the Wars, within the County of Gloucester, . . in the Month of August, 1608", which is given in three classes, 1) those about 20 years of age, 2) these about 40 years of age, and 3) those between 50 and 60 years of age, there appear in Thornbury: Edward, John, Nicholas and Richard Tayer, all of the second class; and William Martimer, of the first class; in Stinchcomb, 8 miles northeast from Thornbury: John Thayer (gent.), of the second class; and in Brockworth and its vicinity: John Theyer, of the first class, Richard, Roger, Thomas, Walter, and William Theyer, of the second class, Gabriel, Giles, John and Thomas Thayer, of the first class, and William Thayer of the second class.

In Shakespeare's "A Midsummer Nihgt's Dream" there is a stage direction in the First Folio: [Enter] "Tawyer with a trumpet." This refers to a William Tawier, or Tawyer, a subordinate in the employ of John Hemminge who was one of the members of the Globe Theatre Company and one of the editors of the First Folio. William Tawier was buried in St. Saviour's Church, Southwark, in June, 1625 (1).

Thayer of Raunds

JOHN TAWYER of Raunds, heads the Tawyer (1) pedigree in the Visitation of Northamptonshire, 1564, His wife was Margaret Randes, daughter of Thomas Randes, Esq., of Raunds..

In the Parish Church of Raunds, near the East end of the South aisle, there is the next inscription on bras plate, let into a stone on floor;

Of yor charite pray for the soules of John Tawyer and Margaret his wif which John decessed the XXV day of Janyver in the yere of our] Lord MCCCCLXX on whose soules ihú have mercy.

(1) Acording to old english pronounciation, the w usually was pronounced like the letter immediately preceeding it; as, for instance, Harwieh was called Harrich, Warwich was called Warrick, and Tawyer would consequently be called Taayer.
