TWINING FAMILY

(REVISED EDITION)

DESCENDANTS OF
WILLIAM TWINING, SR.
OF EASTHAM, MASSACHUSETTS, WHERE HE DIED 1659.

WITH NOTES OF ENGLISH, WELSH AND NOVA SCOTIA
FAMILIES OF THE NAME.

FORT WAYNE, INDIANA,
COMPILED AND PUBLISHED BY THOMAS JEFFERSON TWINING, 1905.

A NOBLE NAME.

*"I hold as reverend theme for rhyme
The name that glorifies its time;
A goodly heritage that will,
Through fresh inheritors, distill
Desire to widen wisdom's path,
Virtue, so given, to him who hath."*

*"A lineage old, of lustre new,
Moss-grown, yet green with latter due—
This is the glory I would sing,
Until our children's children bring,
To match the name they won at birth,
A name of very present worth."*

"He who cares nothing about his ancestors will rarely achieve anything worthy of being remembered by his descendants."

"No virtuously disposed mind can look back upon a long line of truly venerable ancestors without feeling his motive to a virtuous life strengthened. He can scarcely help feeling that it is not for him to be the first to bring disgrace upon his lineage. It will, moreover, lead him to reflect that his posterity also will be looking back and comparing his life with that of his progenitors."

INTRODUCTION

The author began the work of collecting material relating to his ancestors very early in life. As a result of these researches, the "Twining Family" was published in 1890. It was then presented with the intention of a future revision and enlargement, as circumstances and the trend of events might suggest.

Fifteen and more years have glided by since then, and with them advancing age, which admonishes him that the cherished design should not longer be postponed. So far as known, there is no other person tracing the Twining family, generation to generation, embracing all the descendants of the New England founder, William Twining; and hence, there is at least an apparent need for the present compilation.

The following pages are, therefore, submitted in the confident hope that all the living who welcomed the former volume, and all other lovers of heraldry, seeking for information, may, in some measure, find the new work worthy of perusal. As previously intimated, it is the fruit of many years of painstaking labor, briefly and concisely stated,—not a biography or history—yet covering all essential ground.

It has been a work of love, without any compensation, except the pleasure of doing the labor. In the words of Freeman, the Cape Cod historian, "We have found filially-serious satisfaction in endeavors to remove the moss of age from lineal and historic events, that the record may be legible to such as are inclined to hear."

By far the larger portion of facts recorded herein, were obtained direct from families whose lineages comprise the book. Added to these, works on pedigree and history have been consulted by the hundreds; church and court records, Bibles, wills, family documents, and even graveyards have yielded witness to the treasury of names and dates found upon its pages. And last but not least, the author spent several weeks at Boston, Plymouth, Barnstable, Orleans, Eastham, Philadelphia and Bucks county, Pa., examining the original records, tramping over grounds of the early ancestors, seeing their lands and places of resort, and standing by the tombs in which some have slept since long before the Revolutionary War.

The revised work has extended tracings of collateral lines, but briefly noted in the former, many of whom are brought down to date. Copious selections from several English works, covering the English, Welsh and Nova Scotia families, have also a place beside the American.

HERALDRY

The study of heraldry is regarded by many as dry and unprofitable, altho on enquiry into its origin and design, it will be found not only interesting, but necessary to historians as well as antiquarians. Many historical facts would remain in seclusion but for the light flashed on them by the touch of genealogy. They are important in certain legal cases where claims of inheritance are sought to be established. At this point, we would express the thought that it seems very strange that so few, who otherwise manifest deep interest in historical works and societies, going to the extent of collecting data and relics, are so disinterested in the ancestors, the characters who made the history and fashioned and used the relics they profess to adore. However, the pride of ancestry is inborn in nearly all mankind. It is said that no nation was more careful to preserve its genealogies than the children of Israel. Josephus informs us that he traced his own descent back some 2,000 years by means of public registers. Indeed, "the wisest and best have ever cherished regard for ancestry, and only those deserve to be remembered by posterity, who treasure up the story of their ancestors." The quest of an ancestor is the mark of that spirit that binds the heart of father and mother to their children.

In the former edition, the author was invaluablely aided by Mrs. E. H. Atkinson, (dec.) of Wrightstown, Pa., Mrs. Mary B. Twining, of New Boston, Mass., Josiah Paine, of Harwich, Mass., and Prof. Edw. H. Twining, of Chicago, Ill. In the revised work he wishes to acknowledge the kindly assistance of Mrs. Marinda S. Roberts (Kirk Gen.), Forest Grove, Penn.

Mrs. Esther E. Walton, Wycombe, Penn.
Geo. Lee Mahan, Stoopville, Penn.
Mrs. Elvira Weston Cobb, Union, Maine.

ORIGIN OF NAMES

The English historian, Freeman, says there is no well ascertained hereditary surname in England before the Conquest, and that they did not come into use till about the middle of the 14th century. Prof. John Fiske, another eminent author, says the origin of surnames is not perfectly clear. He says: "The largest and most familiar groups of surnames are either (1) patronymic, such as Johnson, Jones, Wilson, etc.; or (2) names of villages and estates, such as Washington, Frothingham, Greenough (green fields), Holmes (meadow), Stanley (stone pasture), etc.; or (3) names descriptive of occupations or social position, such as Mason, Carpenter, Franklin (country squire), Baker, Thrasher, Weaver, Webster, etc."

The earliest use of surnames in England, was about the 12th century. Long before that time clan names were common, and were always patronymics. At the time of the Anglo-Saxon conquest of Gt. Britain (5th and 6th cen.), it was customary for a clan or tribe to settle in a stockaded village by itself, and all English towns whose names end in ham or ton, were originally the abode of a clan.

Surnames derived from estates, or localities, appear to have been the first to become stationary, and next after them the surnames derived from occupation or office.

The older, animal surnames, such as Bear, Bull, Crane, Crow, Eagle, Hawk, Lamb, Lion, Turtle and Wolf, are survivals of heathen clan names; but the animal surnames of modern English are largely derived from heraldic devices or designs placed upon banners, sign-boards and coats-of-arms. From these symbols the family name often originated, tho in some cases the name suggested the emblem.

TWINING, as a name, had a topographic usage long before it appears as a surname. This has led those who are most capable of speaking on the etymology of the word, to claim for it a topographical origin. This claim makes its derivation from two words, twin and ing, or to make it more Saxon like, Tvi, i. e. two and inge, meadows, because of its having meadows on the side of the rivers, the Avon and Severn, Gloucestershire, England, where the name "Twining" first appears, A. D. 577.

As to the prefix tvi or twin, there can hardly be a question of doubt, because the metaphor with this sense prevails in almost every language. Twin, Twyn, Twyne, adj. in the Scottish tongue, is formed from twa, tweg, two, expressing separation.

"The Sothron als was sundryt than in twyn.
Bot thai agayne to gidder sone can wyn."

But of ing, there is a wider range of application. As a suffix, its meaning is sometimes obscure. In some cases, it means "the son of," as in Viking, son of the Vik (creek, inlet), applied to the sea rovers who had their haunts in the creeks and fiords. In Harding, Harling, Twining and Waring, it doubtless has the same meaning. Sometimes it has a topographical sense, and in a few instances, used as a prefix, as in Ingham and Ingrove, it denotes a meadow. (Isaac Taylor, "Words and Places.")

Thus we find it in Tynninghame (Tineingham), of the eastern coast of Scotland, an ancient parish, containing a village of its own name. The name is the ham, home, the ing and the Tyne, of the Anglo-Saxon, arranged in reversed order, meaning the hamlet of the meadow by the Tyne river.

Taylor says, that ing is the most important element that enters into Anglo-Saxon names, as it occurs in the names of more than one-tenth of the English villages and hamlets. The syllable ing was the usual patronymic in the very beginning of English history. Thus we read in the Saxon Chronicle (A. D. 547):

"Ida waes Eopping."— Ida was Eoppa's son.

"Eoppa waes Esing."— Eoppa was Esa's son.

"Esa waes Enguing."— Esa was Ingway's son.

"Ingui. Angenwiting."—Ingwy Angenwitt's son.

A whole clan (children) or tribe, claiming to be descended from a real or mystic progenitor, were thus distinguished by a common patronymic or clan name. Mr. Kemble (English author), says where the patronymic stands without any suffix [as in Twining], we have the original settlement of the clan.

It has been suggested that twin, meaning two, and ing or ling, meaning a certain age or condition, as in yearling and weanling, indicates that our good old ancestor may have been blessed with twins, which were called by his neighbors the Twinlings or Twinings. Others have supposed the name to be some derivation of twine; and one, Rev. Kinsley Twining, D. D., held to the idea that the name was Welsh or Celtic for Bush, as an English equivalent.

The simple fact seems to be, that Twining was first a clan name, whatever its true origin may have been, and gave name to the place long before its usage as a surname.

Twining is a very uncommon name, so uncommon as to strike the average reader with its rarity. So far as known, the family is divided into three independent bodies, namely: The English, the Welsh and the American. Of the former two, more will be said in another place.

The American family, whose genealogy forms the body of this work, has a history extending back to the Pilgrim Fathers. For more than a half century it was confined exclusively to the narrow limits of that gigantic reef of sand, called Cape Cod, which has been the cradle of many of the best families of the United States. The family is now distributed in all the Eastern, Middle, Western and Pacific states, a few only being found in the Southern.

Altho not a numerous people, as compared with many other names, they have usually fulfilled the scriptural injunction, "Be fruitful, multiply, and replenish the earth."

Regarding its general character and standing, a few brief extracts from testimonials of those well acquainted with the name, altho widely separated, will suffice:

"The Twining stock was as good as any that came to America."

"The Twinings are one of the oldest and most respectable families of the country." (Gen. W. W. H. Davis, historian of Bucks Co., Pa.)

"My acquaintance with those bearing the name Twining, has never shown me one who at the worst, was not a fair man in mind and morals; nor have I ever known one very rich or very poor, while many are quite above mediocrity in intellectual ability."

"Of the Twining families who have lived in my time (70 yrs.), and have passed away, much might be said of their true sterling worth. They were honest, law-abiding citizens, strong in the love of patriotism for country or creed, whatever it was; always true and faithful to family and friend. This I found with few exceptions."

EXPLANATIONS AND ABBREVIATIONS

The plan adopted in this record is not the usual one followed by genealogists, who number the names in consecutive order.

Only heads of families who have living male issue are numbered in successive order, the numbers immediately preceding the name in heavy figures, thus: 2 William, 4 Stephen, 6 Barnabas, 10 Thomas, 71 Jacob.

Names not preceded by heavy figures are completed in one group under one notice, and show that said father has no known living male descendant.

Therefore, all female names and their descendants are clustered under the head figure of the principal father.

The Roman numerals number the children in consecutive order of each head number, and designate none but Twinings. They constitute the first row at the extreme left.

By keeping in mind that all figures on the same upright line relate to the same generation, the one or more generations are easily distinguished in their order.

Reference to other names are indicated by numbers in upright curves: Example: (3-5-2). 3 is the head number, 5 the 5th child of that number, 2 the 2nd child of the 5th, and so on.

ABBREVIATIONS:—b. stands for born, d. for died, m. for married, unm. for unmarried, inf. for infant, y. for young, res. for residence or residing, ch. for children or church, s. p. without issue, n.f.k. nothing further known, E. for Eastham, O. for Orleans, N. for Newtown, W. for Wrightstown, etc. Dates following a name refer to time of birth. Figures following a name thus, 1659-1720, denote the time in which the person lived. Other contractions are given which may be easily understood.

INDEX

Especial care has been made to secure a full index, both of the Twining and all allied names. Experience and observation proves that any book, and especially a genealogy, is curtailed of much of its value or usefulness if it has not a full index. The same name under different spellings is combined under one.

TWINING NOTES

There is no doubt but many whose names appear in these records, passed over by simply a brief line, have an unwritten history of which any one might be proud to possess. They may have been the very salt of the period and community in which their lives were spent, yet rest in the sweet and hallowed peace of obscurity. Their monuments are not those that crumble, nor their fame the kind expressed in deeds of valor, but rather deeds of justice, mercy, humility and simplicity, the cardinal traits of perfect manhood.

Since 1695, Bucks Co., Penn., has been the leading Twining center in the United States. It is yet the banner home of the family. Previous to 1783, Orleans, (Eastham) contained all the other families. After 1783, Tolland, Mass., had a numerous body which continued strong 50 years or more: only a few descendant of the old stock remain, many having settled in Conn., and other states farther west.

From 1821, Broome Co., N. Y., has had a large Twining population. Frequent swarmings have failed to materially lessen its numbers. Erie Co., (same state) once had a thriving family, which began to go west and grow up with the country, about 1855. Its strong foothold for a time was Jefferson Co., Wis., where it proved a fruitful tree, sending forth its share to subdue the earth.

Philadelphia and Scranton, Penn., are cities in which the name occurs with frequency; nearly all being derived from Bucks Co. Penn., Ohio, New York, Conn., Mass., Michigan and Wis., in the order named, have the largest number of living generations. Indiana, Vermont, New Hampshire, Rhode Island, Delaware and the "Solid South," are states in which the name has failed to thrive.

1795 marks the commencement of the New Haven, Conn. branch, an offshoot from the Tolland. Altho not numerically strong at any time, it has achieved more than ordinary distinction in the number of its members who have passed thru the higher institutions of learning, and subsequently filled honorable stations in life. 1815 was the starting point of the Granville, (Licking Co.) Ohio family, another Tolland dispersion, quite strong at one time: many of them have found homes on the broad prairies and the Pacific states. Hancock Co., Ohio, has a remnant of a once flourishing colony from Bucks Co. (about 1830), clustered in and around Findlay; many of its female descent are still there.

In two or three instances the corollary has come across those bearing the name, who, for reasons best known to themselves, refused to make their ancestry known. It is inferred that they may have either no credible connection, or thru ignorance or lack of ancestral pride, have no record of their place in the family tree. As an aid to locating these and others whose names do not appear on the lists, if perchance they do belong to the American ancestor, we would here note the Twinings duly entered, who may have descendants, some of these probably being their "lost tribes": Samuel, grandson of 13 Barnabas; Nathaniel, son of 16 Samuel; Christopher, son of 36 Daniel; Eleazer, son of 52 Barnabas. The third and fourth are known to have married and had children.

~~Of~~ Of the two great lines diverging in 1695, the Penn. largely outnumbers the other. Both branches have shown much interest in educational acquirements.

Many have been accomplished as teachers and instructors: many as successful farmers and mechanics. They have been a religious people thruout their history. inclined to the liberal and practical side. They have been a patriotic people, whether remaining at home or serving in battle. One served in the war between France and the Provinces. Those who served in the Revolutionary War were, 13 BARNABAS, 28 NATHANIEL, SAMUEL, NATHANIEL and JOHN, sons of 16 SAMUEL, two from Orleans and three from Wrightstown. There were others, no doubt, whose enlistments do not appear. A host of Twinings served in the Civil War. On account of the non-resistance principles of Friends, and the strict enforcement of its rules against those who participated in military service, probably many Twinings have been kept from entering the various wars of their day, and thus their descendants are non-eligible for the various military societies, such as "Sons of the Revolution," "Daughters of the Revolution," etc.

Usually the Twinings are medium in height and weight, broad shouldered, well built, erect form, dark hair and quite prominent nose. The temperament predominates in the nervous-sanguine, the temper usually quick, but not revengeful, a calm soon follows the storm. Exceeding few have been given to the intoxicating cup: crimes of violence unknown. Other characteristics that seem to crop out in many, are, the heavy eyebrow, a merry twinkle of the eye, a humorous vein, a keen sense of the ludicrous as exhibited in human nature. These are the ordinary Twining "trade marks." They are usually lovers of music and horses.

Wrightstown is the historic resting place of the Twinings of Penn. The ground is holy. More of its members have been married under care of its Quaker meeting, and more of them buried in the graveyard adjoining the meeting house, than at any other spot in America. Plain white tablets, about two feet high, mark the last resting places of many of the old patriarchs and their families who faithfully attended the sacred services in the old stone temple, whose massive walls have stood erect more than one hundred years. It is a fine, old fashioned edifice, two stories high, arranged in the interior according to Quaker usage and Quaker simplicity. The little hamlet stands in the midst of lovely, highly cultivated farms, beautiful landscape of hills and dales and flowing stream. A trolley line passes thru, adding to the comfort and convenience of its citizens, many of whom are descendants of forefathers who settled there before the beginning of the Eighteenth Century.

There is no evidence that any other Twining, aside from William, Sr., ever set foot on American soil in Colonial days. In a long and extended correspondence there have not been found a dozen Twining families in the United States, who are not allied with the Cape Cod ancestor. In a history of over two hundred years, there is not a single known instance of inter-marriage between members of the two branches which separated in 1695. This in measure may be accounted for in the infrequency of their abode in the same locality. The vital records show the family, as a whole, cling well to life. Several have lived beyond 90, many beyond 80, and a small multitude beyond the sacred number of three score and ten years.

The old Plymouth records show some variation in spelling the name. Aside from its proper way, we find it TWINEING, TWYNING, TWINNING, TWINEY. The index, however, treat them under one name. The old Welsh families spell it TWYNING and TWYNNING.

Fifteen have less than 20; nine less than 10; seven less than 6; four are on the verge of race suicide, while three have become extinct.

Of the British Twinings no statistics are at hand. Probably none have ever been gathered. They do not, however, appear to be a very extensive body. This seems strange, too, when the length of time they have had to expand is taken into consideration. If the American family numbers 700 living, Twining-born, with a history of less than 300 years, the English cousins, who have a prior record of several hundred years, should have at least a hundred thousand. It is doubtful if they exceed the former in living issue.

FIRST GENERATION

WILLIAM TWINING.

When the first edition of the "Twining Family" was issued, in 1890, there was a lingering hope that the passing of a few years would throw some light on the American progenitor, William Twining, previous to his introduction to the New World; that something might be gleaned showing to a certainty his ancestry, his marriage, time and vessel in which he left his native land. The failure to bridge the chasm, or find the missing link that bound him to his British Sire, is disappointing to all who care to know.

The story of his life is thus hidden in the dead past. Only a few waymarks designate the course of his journey while here. Only a few brief records to tell that he lived and took his place in the renewed battle of life in a New World, passing thru its waves and billows, performing the obligations of a true freeman and loyal citizen of that little Colony which sowed the seeds of justice, liberty and manhood, that was eventually to culminate in a great Republic and a great nation.

He died on the Atlantic shores, in his Eastham home beside Town Cove, after having obtained a competence and seeing his children and grandchildren established around him. But no monument stands over his unknown grave; no eulogium commending his services to the world. His will and testament are consigned to the flames; his life, character and mental attitude are equally perished, except so far as they have been transmitted to his posterity.

WHEN AND FROM WHENCE DID HE COME?

By far the greater portion of the early emigration to New England, occurred between 1630 and 1640, and it was during this "floodtide" that our ancestor came over. That he first landed at Plymouth, is evident in the fact that nearly all the Cape Cod settlements were made from dissatisfied inhabitants of this centre of English emigration.

It is also known that the Eastham colony was made, so far as known, exclusively of Ply. settlers; and the character, also, of this new venture is known in the statement that the church at Ply. "regretted their departure, for they who went out from her were among the most respectable of the inhabitants of Ply."

Altho tradition has pointed to Wales as the place of his birth and ancestry, the evidence, both circumstantial and contemporaneous, is very much against it. There is also a tradition commonly current that he came from England. Tradition, however uniform, unsupported by facts, is not to be trusted. Its unreliability has been demonstrated in history and genealogy over and over. An example of its lack of fidelity may be instanced is several different traditions current among living descendants of the name. The common one is that "three brothers" came from Wales (some say England), to Cape Cod, one of whom remained there, one went to Penn., and the third to Vermont or New Hampshire. It is known that the one who remained on the Cape was 3 William, grandson of the progenitor; the one who went to Penn., 4 Stephen, another grandson of the founder and brother to 3 William; and the third of the "three brothers" (?) was 28 Nathan, or 30 Abner, members of the 5th generation who left the Cape 150 years after the name had been established there. Another claim set forth is that "three sons" of Lord Chancellor Twining (?) of England, after having swindled the old gentleman out of his wealth, fled to America, one of them locating at Eastham, and the other two in the south. A tradition current at Orleans up to a recent date has it that the family is French. Another from the Penn. branch, is positive the founder came from Yorkshire, England. As to the Welsh claim, it appears to have been the fashion, when nothing was known touching an emigrant, to put him down as coming from Wales. The tradition, however, may be based on the fact of another William Twining, who did come from Wales about 1760, to Halifax, Nova Scotia, where families derived from him remain to this day.

Our ancestor evidently came from England; was English born, and a true "Johnny Bull." He may have sailed from a Welsh port as other Englishmen did, and he may have even resided there for a time, but there is no evidence in all the records extant that he was a Welshman by birth.

Savage, the best authority we have, did not know when he came, and could not tell where his son William, Jr., was born (he was a lad in 1641), whether here or in England, he says, "probably in England," showing that he regarded the father as a native of England. Another important fact which gives weight to the claim of an English nativity, is, that his daughter, son and grandchildren, so far as known, married into English families, all of whom landed at Plymouth.

The circumstances which led our ancestor to leave his native country, were doubtless the same as the multitudes which came before and after him. The desire to escape the intolerance and oppression of both the political and religious powers, to possess a larger sphere of freedom, inborn in all intelligent creatures; to find a larger and more certain field for material wealth in a land of milk and honey, these were the prime motives that inspired our forefathers to leave the ties of kindred, the scenes and traditions of the Old World, for new homes in distant America. It is also well known at this particular period of time (1630-40), the tyranny of the English ruling classes were exceedingly oppressive, similar to the present Russian oligarchy, which hastened an influx of emigrants, many of whom came by whatever means they could find. They were the cream of the nation, hating its persecuting spirit and feudalism, and eventually became the foundation stones of a great and mighty nation whose arms have ever been outstretched to the down-trodden and oppressed of every land.

As the registers before 1640 contained only the names of those legally qualified, i. e. those who took the oath of allegiance and paid a subsidy, those not in sympathy with the requirements, secretly left. He was probably one of this class, and thus a reason is given why his name is not in any list of emigrants.

"What may be safely held for fact is that the ancestor of the American family was Anglo-Saxon and Puritan. The race type remains in the family to-day—the sanguine temperament, the fair skin, the blue eyes, the love of honest dealing and fair play. Our ancestor has left no words or history to show these traits of character; but they are claimed by the traditions of the family; they are held as an inheritance, and their imitation as an obligation."

WHAT THE RECORDS SAY

The name of "Mr. William Twining, Sr.," first is found in the Ply. Court Records, Jun. 1, 1641, in a case of trespass regarding certain lands. He was then a res. of Yarmouth, situated some 30 miles S. E. of Ply., incorporated 1639. How long he had been here up to this time is not known.

His dau. Isabel was married here the same year, month and day, according to the same records. It should also be stated as an evident fact, that his first wife was then living. Decidedly unlikely is it that he would come over with two children in their teens, and remain a widower until 1652, some 12 or 15 years after his arrival. It is evident that she must have died at Yarmouth or Eastham, and that he married again at the latter place in 1652, as the records have shown.

In 1643 he is included in a list of those able to bear arms at Y.; 1643 to 1645, the same records rank him among the malitia, consisting of 50 soldiers. (To each of these soldiers on going forth was given one pound of powder, three pounds of bullets and one pound of tobacco).

In 1645, he was one of 5 soldiers sent out against the Narragansetts.

He next appears as a resident of Eastham*, where Savage says he removed soon after being at Y. 1643. As Gov. Prince (Prence) went from Plymouth to Eastham in the Spring of 1645, it is probable William followed soon after. The distance from Y. to where he settled was not more than fifteen miles.

The same records (Ply. Col. Rec.) show, Oct. 1650, his name among a list of 17 persons to secure damage against certain parties in an act of trespass. He is first mentioned in the E. records (Vol. 2,) as con-

Eastham, called Nauset prior to 1651, in its original form, is a township of Barnstable Co., Mass., having the Atlantic Ocean on the E.; 15 m. long and 2 to 4 wide: present length 6 m. It is a continuous plain: sandy soil, requiring much labor: several fresh water ponds and creeks: no timber. Settlement of Town began 1645, with 49 souls, who soon built a meeting house 20 ft sq. with thatched roof and forts in the side of the building, for use in case of attack by the Indians. Around this house, near the E. side of Town Cove, (see map) a burial place was laid out, still enclosed and containing several gravestones. Wolves, crows and blackbirds were numerous. All who stood outside of the meeting house during public service were set in the stocks, and all were taxed to support the Cong. Ch. In 1684, 101 legal voters and 500 Indians were reported within the parochial charge. In 1718, the Tp. was divided into North and South Parish. In 1765 but 4 Indians were in the Tp.

Orleans. It is well to note here that Orleans was set off from Eastham in 1797. Since then the south part of old E. has been known as O. This name was never known to the citizens of E. before that date. This is why it perplexes some to understand how people lived in E. and died in O. Orleans Tp. (see map) is diversified with hills, small bodies of water, inlets of the sea, and numerous small groves of young trees.

The landscape is attractive, the climate healthy, the average of life being above the normal. The soil, however, has lost its ancient fruitfulness, so that but little is produced by the farming interests, while manufactories are comparatively unknown. Yet the people have comfortable, modern-like homes; are refined, educated and progressive. The means of support aside from the limited gleanings of the soil, are its fisheries, cranberries, summer resorts and retired sea captains.

Orleans village, the metropolis of the township, is situated at the foot of Town Cove, and extends from the railroad (built 1865,) east $\frac{3}{4}$ mile, to the old cemetery and meeting house where the Twinings worshiped and buried their dead. The original church stood on the spot where the present edifice stands. It was built 1718, at the time the South Parish was created. Both church and cemetery are pleasantly situated, having a commanding view of the landscape, especially to the east and south. Southeast of this, on Pleasant Bay, is a locality known as "Barley Neck," where members of the family lived for many years.

Poche or Pochet (now denominated East Orleans), an Indian name made famous by them on account of location and goodly soil, is a territory almost surrounded by salt water. On the east side is Nauset Beach a dune stretching from Eastham to Chatham. It is a barrier to the coast against the terrible waves of the ever rolling stable. Jun. 5, 1651; but as the Ply. Rec. (Vol. 2. p. 167) say. "elected Constable Eastham Jun. 5, 1651, Wm. Twining, Jr.," it is doubtful which was meant, probably the latter.

In 1652 he marries Anna Doane. This fact was given by Free-

Atlantic. Here the compiler (1904) beheld the angry ocean incessantly lashing against the shore. It was an inspiring scene, the blue waters surging and tossing as far as sight could reach; vessels in the distance gliding to Boston and other ports; cottagers resting and breathing the elixir of the expardless deep. The scene finds expression in the lines of the poet:

Nauset Harbor and Beach, off Orleans.
The building on the point is the Mass.
Humane Society Station.

*"Roll on, thou dark and deep blue ocean, roll!
Ten thousand fleets sweep over thee in vain;
Man marks the earth with ruin—his control
Stops with the shore."*

It was the same old tumultuous ocean that thundered in the days of his ancestors, as they also stood on the beach and some on their farms, beholding its never-dying grandeur. In this locality, not over three miles in diameter, the Twining families continued to reside in successive generations for 200 years. Between Nauset Beach and mainland, off Orleans village, are bodies of salt grass, which he saw mown as was done in the days of these pilgrim fathers, whose dust has long since mingled with its sandy shores.

Anna Doane may have been a sister of Dea. John Doane 1590-1685: came to Plymouth 1621 and Eastham 1645. He stands at the head of a numerous family, whose genealogy was published 1902, by Alfred Alden Doane, Boston, Mass.

man Mayo, Town Clerk of Orleans, in 1886, which he claimed to have taken from the old records under his care. The present Orleans and Eastham records do not show this marriage, and therefore it has been called in question. The discrepancy is accounted for in the abstraction (evidently since 1886), of thirteen pages between pages 51 and 64 of the book called "Births, Deaths and Marriages, 1649-1760." The index of this book calls for Wm. Twining, page 58, one of the missing leaves. Anna died Feb. 27, 1680.

1654, May 13: "Granted to Wm. Twining, Sr., two acres of meadow lying at head of Great Namskaket;" "five acres of upland with his son Wm.; and that he shall have five acres more at the head of these lots."

In 1655 his name is included in a list of 29 legal voters or "freemen" of the Town. Same records show of several parcels of land granted him at Rock Harbor, Poche and other localities on the Cape.

He appears to have resided in Poche on the east side of Town Cove, "on a house lot containing two and one-half acres lying next the Cove."

In 1659 he was granted "five acres at Poche, lying at the head of Wm. Twining, Jr."

His death occurred April 15, 1659, being evidently not over 70 years old, having been a resident of Mass. 20 or 25 of the formative years of New England history.

That he was a man of more than ordinary character is shown by the title of "Mr." which prefixes his name in the early records, a title of honor which was sparingly applied in those days. The historian tells us that in a list of 100 freemen of the early Colonies, not more than 4 or 5 were distinguished by Mr., even tho they were men of substance; "none but those who belonged to some more than ordinarily distinguished family, or held some office of dignity, were ever complimented with the title of Mr. or Mrs." Confirming this statement in a measure, the old Clerk of Barnstable Co., under date of Jan. 1905, writes: "I find his name is mentioned often in our Probate Records, as copied from Plymouth, as an appraiser of estates, etc., showing that he was a man of good character."

Owing to the fact that the County Records of Barnstable were destroyed by fire in 1827, the missing of portions of the original Eastham records, and all the Church records lost, our ancestor is left without a will or any other documents relating to his estate or further history. Altho definite proof is lacking, he was no doubt a member of the Cong. Church, with which hundreds of his descendants have been identified.

So far as known, he had but two children, and they by his first wife, born prior to his coming to the Colony. Their names are: Isabel, who it seems from external evidence, was the oldest, and 2 William, whose records are given under the head of second generation following.

SECOND GENERATION

ISABEL TWINING, d. May 16, 1706, Yarmouth. She m. June 17, 1641, Francis Baker; b. in Hertfordshire, Eng., 1611; came in the "Planter" 1635; went from Ply. to Y. where he was permitted to dwell June 1, 1641, a few days before his m. In 1659 we find him in Eastham on 10 acres "lying upon Poche," by the land of his wife's father Wm. Sr. These acres were soon sold to Wm. Jr., and he ret. to Y. where he was engaged in the cooper trade, and also surveyor of highways. His name appears in the Ply. Court Rec. 1653-1672. Will made 1693; his d. occurred July 23, 1696.

As the early rec. of Y. are lost to 1671, doubtless important facts relating to the Twining and Baker families are destroyed. The des. of Francis and Isabel Baker, number many thousand, only a small portion of whom are herein recorded.

*Most of the foregoing Baker records are abridgments from data received of William Appleby Eardeley, of Cambridge, Mass. He was b. Aug. 31, 1870; grad. Trinity Coll. Hartford Ct., 1899. The following is his line of descent from Isabel and Francis Baker: Harriet Eliz. Malby; Betsey Goldsmith Chase, Obadiah Chase, Isaac, Isaac, Isaac who m. Mary the dau. of Richard Berry (above). Richard came over in the ship "Fortune" 1621; d. at Y. 1676. where his 11 ch. by his wife Alice were born.. The frequency of intermarriage between Baker, Chase and Kelly, in these records, is distinctly observable; it is especially true of the first four generations, confined to the narrow limits of the Cape.

2. WILLIAM TWINING, (1 William) was born about 1625, "probably in England," says Savage, and therefore was but a boy when he came over with his father. He is first mentioned in the records when he married about 1650, at Eastham. Elizabeth Deane* (Stephen and Elizabeth). In 1652 he was admitted and sworn. From this date to 1671 his name occurs four times as one of the Grand Jury. As early as 1677 he was a deacon of the E. ch. Freeman and Pratt in their histories of Cape Cod, do not mention this fact, however, the old clerk says: "Dea. Twining and Dea. Freeman * * * to take and keep a clear account of Mr. Treat's maintenance given him by the town: * * * to take care about underpinning the house that Mr. Treat now lives in," etc. He is alluded to as "Deacon Twining" as late as 1681.

In 1669 he deeds land at Bound Brook in Y. to Peter Worden.

In 1671 deeds to Thomas Dogget, for 28 pounds, 100 acres at Namakasset, Middleboro. Ply. 1674 to John Yates, for 20 pounds, land on Prince's Neck, by River Sparrow. In 1659 the town of E. granted him "Three and one-half acres for a house lot, adjoining Wm. Twining, Sr." 1664, ten acres granted which was formerly Josiah Cooke's. He had lands at Billigate (Wellfleet), and several other places in Barnstable Co.

The old records of E. under date May 5, 1693 says: "Granted to Joseph Ycung, a parcel of land at Poche, Capt. Sparrow and Wm. Twining, Sr., to set it out." In 1695 his name occurs on the records of E. for the last time, in which he and his son, 3 William, were enumerated among the legal voters of the town.

Previous to this latter date his religious views have undergone a radical change. He has passed from the Cong. church to the Society of Friends, better known in those days as Quakers. The circumstances leading to this change are unknown: the Monthly Meeting he united with is not on record. The records, however, show the existence of Quakers in Eastham, tho the nearest M. M. was evidently not closer than Sandwich. With change of creed came also a change of habitation. This was imperative if he wished to escape persecution† and enjoy the peaceable fruits of a peaceable religion. Therefore we find him and his son Stephen, locating in the new Province of Pennsylvania.

Stephen Deane of Ply., one of the first comers in the "Fortune" 1621, built the first corn mill in N. E. 1632. He m. His wid. m. 1635, Josiah Cooke, (Francis of the Mayflower), another prominent original settler of E., in whose will, made 1673, on record at Ply., bequests were made to his stepsons Wm. and Stephen Twining.

The year 1695 thus marks an important epoch in the family history. Up to this date, a space of more than fifty years, it has remained intact; but now it is divided, and doubtless for the best. His location at Newtown, Bucks Co., Penn., was in advanced life, and he probably did not purchase much land. His name first appears in the Middletown M. M. Records, 1699, in connection with his son Stephen's, to a Testimony against selling rum or strong drink to the Indians. The same records in 1703, state that a marriage occurred in a public meeting of Friends' held at his house, his wife Elizabeth signing the certificate.

He died Nov. 4, 1703; her death was Dec. 28, 1708. His will was found in the Philadelphia Register's Office 1885, by Edward Atkinson, where it had evidently lain 180 years, unknown by his descendants.

WILL OF WILLIAM TWINING.

I. William Twining, of Newtown, in the county of Bucks, and the province of Pennsylvania, having taken into consideration the frailty of this temporal life, being in health of body & of sound and perfect mind and memory, praise be therefore given to Almighty God, do make & ordain this my present last will and testament, in manner and form following (that is to say):

First and principally I commend my soul into the hands of Almighty God, and my body I commit to the Earth, to be decently buried at the discretion of my executors hereafter named, and as touching the disposition of all such temporal estate, as it hath pleased Almighty God to bestow upon me, I give & dispose thereof as followeth:

FIRST. I will that my debts and funeral charges shall be paid and discharged.

Item. I give unto William, son of Stephen Twining (my Grandchild) ye sum of twenty pounds, to be paid to him when he shall come to twenty-one years of age, if my wife be dead before he comes to that age, but if she be living I leave it with her, for her use so long as she liveth, and then to be paid at her decease to said William Twining.

Item. I give unto my son Stephen Twining, my daughter Johanna, my daughter Mahitable, and the two daughters of my daughter Anna Bills (to wit) Anna Bills & Elizabeth Bills, as ye residue of my estate which I have in Penna., after my wife's decease (that is) my mind is, that Anna Bills & Elizabeth Bills, have both but an equal share with my son Stephen & the rest of his sisters.

Item. I give unto my son William Twining (after my wife's decease) all the lands, or the residue that I have lying within the Township of Eastham, and County of Barnstable, in New England, so far as ye Bound Brook,* lying on the South side of the Brook, called Bound Brook.

* Bound Brook, called by the Indians Sapokonish, is at Wellfleet, E.

Item. I give unto my daughter Elizabeth Rogers (after my wife's decease) all my estate, right, title and interest to the Drift-Fish at Panath,* with all my lands and privileges at Eastern Harbor, so far as the purchased line goes during her life, and after her decease, to fall to her youngest son then living by John Rogers.

All the rest and residue of my estate, real and personal, goods and chattels, whatsoever, I do give and bequeath unto my loving wife, my executrix, equally joint with my sons Stephen Twining and William Twining, all equally joint-executors full and sole to this my last will and Testament. And I do hereby revoke and disannul & make void all other or former wills and testaments by me heretofore made.

In witness whereof I ye said William Twining to this my last will and testament have hereunto set my hand and seal ye 26th day of the fourth month in the year 1697.

WILLIAM TWINING.

Signed and delivered in ye presence of

ANN x SCAIFE
JONATHAN SCAIFE.

Then personally appeared — Twining and Stephen Twining (William Twining the other executor being beyond the sea), and proved the above will in due form of law, and probate to them was granted under the seal of the office for probate of Wills &c.

JOHN EVANS.

To the honorable John Evans, Esq., Lieutenant Governor of Penn. and the territories annexed, or to his lawful ordinary for the probate of wills.

Whereas there is a will of William Twining, of Newtown, in our county of Bucks, which said will the executor witnesses being somewhat difficult to be got to Philadelphia through age and other infirmities, they desire me to attest and examine the said witnesses which accordingly I did (viz) the witnesses being legally attested and examined before me, did evidence that they did see and hear the said William Twining seal and acknowledge & declare this said will bearing date the 26th 4 mo 1697 to be his last will and testament.

The 6th day of 2nd mo. called April 1705.

JOSEPH KIRKBRIDGE, Justice.

THIRD GENERATION

3. WILLIAM TWINING, (2 William) 1654; d. Jan. 23, 1734-5.

Very little is known of this steadfast Puritan. His father and only brother forsake the ancestral church and remove to the wilderness of Penn.; but he seems to have been content with both land and religion, devoting the 80 years of his life to the tilling of his lands, in which he was eminently successful, as shown by the estate left to his family. He was also a mechanic.

He m. Ruth Cole* (John and Ruth) Mar. 21, 1689; b. 1668; d. after 1735. She was a Mayflower descendant thru a line of prominent Cape Cod families. His descendants, while not so numerous as his brother Stephen's, are characterized as a people of intelligence, refinement and successful in life. Many of them have filled the higher avenues of life with credit and honor. His father gave him all his lands at Bound Brook, additional to other bequests indicated in his will.

His will was made some ten years before his death. The following is an abstract of it and the inventory:

To Ruth his "loving wife," one third of personal estate during her widowhood: to his two sons William and Barnabas, all his lands and meadows, they to comfortably support "my sd. wife during the term of her widowhood;" to his wife and two sons, each one bed and bedding: to his dau. Hannah bed and furniture thereto, and one cow: to dau. Mercy one cow: "and forasmuch as my daus. Elizabeth, Thankful and Ruth have heretofore had each a bed and bedding, and each a cow, I therefore give all the rest of my personal estate, in equal proportion, unto my natural children, namely, my two sons and five daughters."

Inventory, real and personal, amounted to over $7000.

Land at Smith's Neck	-	-	320 pounds.
Land of the homestead	-	-	800 "
Dwelling house, barn and shop	-	-	120 "

Four small wood lots adjacent	-	-	19 "

Among the numerous items of his personal estate were, an ox, bull, 2 cows, 4 heifers; one old and one young horse, 14 poor sheep, 3 swine; coopers, joiners and turners tools; spinning wheel, spokes for cart wheel,

1. STEPHEN TWINING, (2 William) Feb. 6, 1659. The records afford but few facts regarding this worthy ancestor and founder of a numerous branch of the Twining family. He dwells at Eastham 35 years, where most of his children were born. He was no doubt a man of business tact and industry, possessed with more than ordinary means for one of his day. With his father and mother he seems to have espoused the fellowship of the Friends' Society, while still a resident of the Cape, and with them, wife and children, he starts life anew in a wilderness of savages and undeveloped resources. Newtown, Bucks Co., Penn., is the place in which he pitched his tent in the year 1695. He chose a land beautiful in landscape, rich in soil, peace loving and tolerant in its people. That he chose well is evident in his own prosperity, materially and morally, and the hundreds of those who look back to him as a worthy forefather.

Davis' History Bucks Co., has the following relating to his first two purchases:

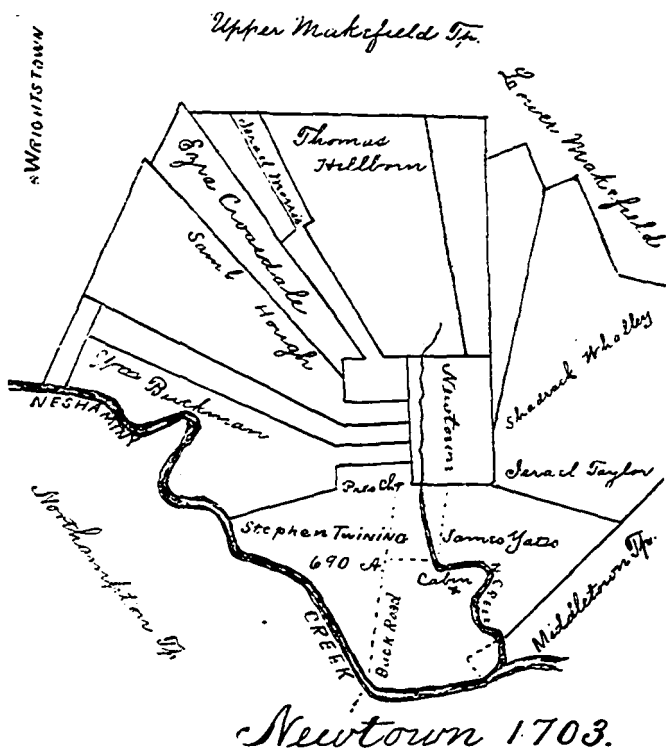

"The 500 acres of Thomas Rowland, extending from Newtown Creek to

• Richard Higgins, the ancestor of the family, in the original town of E. was one of seven of the first settlers; was in Ply. 1633, and in E. 1644. Was deputy for several years; m. Lydia Chandler 1734. and rem. to N. J., leaving ch. behind. It is a very numerous family, many still on the Cape.

Neshaminy, including the land the Presbyterian church stands upon, was owned by Henry Baker in 1691, who conveyed 248 acres to Job Bunting in June 1692, and in October 1697, to Stephen Wilson, of Burlington, N. J. "In 1695 Bunting conveyed his acres to Stephen Twining, and in 12th month 17, 1698. Wilson did the same, and Twining now owned the whole tract."

In 1702 he owned 690 acres in Newtown Township and in 1707 purchased 300 additional acres of John Ward, situated in the southwest corner of Newtown, adjoining Wrightstown Tp. These acres passed successively to the descendants of 9 John Twining for several generations, a portion yet being in the name.

In 1716 he deeds to his son Eleazar, 150 acres, bounded on the west by the "Neshamenah" creek, and William Buckman's land on the north. This well preserved deed, with Stephen's signature attached, is in possession of the compiler. The 690 acres have all gone out of the name. On these stands the large fine residence of Cyrus T. Vanartsdalen, on the spot where Stephen sat down in his humble log cabin, on his first landing on the shores of Pennsylvania. On the west side of this large and productive body of land flows the beautiful waters of the Neshaminy. It was here where our ancestors of the long ago, sat on its banks, bathed in its renewing waters and hooked in the finny tribes.

He was an active and leading member of the Friends' Society; appointed its Overseer 1713, Elder 1715. His name first appears on the Meeting Records January 1700. He married Jan. 3, 1683, Abigail Young (John* and Abigail), b. 1660; died April 9, 1715. He died Feb. 8, 1720.

In the Wrightstown M. M. Records, under date of 11 mo. 3rd, 1776, the following entry is made by the clerk Joseph Chapman, received from the Town Clerk of Eastham, Mass.:-

"Stephen Twining.	(son of Stephen)	b. 30th. 12 mo. 1684.
Eleazar	" "	b. 26th. 11 mo. 1686.
Nathaniel	" "	b. 27th. 3 mo. 1689.
Mercy	(dau. "	b. 8th. 9 mo. 1690.
John	son "	b. 5th. 3 mo. 1693."

"The above is a true copy taken from the Book of Records in Eastham. in the county of Barnstable, in the Province of Mass. Bay, in New England. May 31, 1715. by

JOHN PAINE,

Town Clerk."

S. NATHANIEL TWINING, (4 Stephen) Mar. 27, 1689. He appears to have been a man of more than ordinary note and strong individuality. He lived and died on the 300 acres inherited from his father in Newtown. He and wife were disowned from Friends after 1730. On the "Sixth day of May, 1742," he ordains his "loving brother John Twining, yeoman, my lawful attorney, to demand, recover and receive dues and other demands in the Province of New England, or any other adjacent provinces." This nicely executed and well preserved writing is in possession of his gr.-gr.-gr.-grandson, the author of these records. Dec. 1, 1744, he and wife Sarah deed "in trust" one acre of land "for a meeting house and burial place," to the trustees of the Newtown Presbyterian church. The said house of worship was erected 1769; is standing as seen in the accompanying cut. It is probable they became identified with this society, if any. He married (1) Joan Penquite (John and Agnus), 1719; b. 1696; d. 1720; m. (2) Jul. 23, 1723, Sarah Kirk (7-1); b. 1698. The Probate records show that he d. intestate 1753, his wid. the man of more than ordinary prominence and ability, indicated by the Orleans ch. and Town records. Fifty years of his busy life were spent in Orleans, in the dignified callings of farmer and carpenter. In 1758 he served as corporal in the France-Provincial war. In 1783 he sells his homestead, located just south of the present Universalist church, a pleasant locality, to Simeon Higgins, and with his brother Elijah, removed to Tolland* (Granville before 1810), Mass., where they purchased an extensive tract of land upon which their remaining days were spent.

THE DAVID TWINING PLACE 1787.

Whether David or his uncle Stephen Twining (7) built this stone house is not known. It stands on the ground where the old log cabin of his grandfather stood. The house, with some additions since, is the property of Cyrus T. Vanartsdalen. Distant from the Presb. church less than $\frac{7}{8}$ mile south, and $\frac{1}{2}$ mile from the Benjamin Twining residence. At the base of the picture are David, wife Elizabeth and young Hicks; in the center Mary Leedon and her husband Jesse; by the door stands Beulah Torbet; the plowman is supposed to be a hired man.

The Tolland Cong. church was organized 1797. and Thomas was chosen its first deacon. The house which he built at Tolland is still standing (see 23 William) in good condition, showing that "Dea. Twining" was a good carpenter and selected the most durable material out of his forest.

As late as 1793 he conveys his remaining salt water and meadow lands on Pleasant Bay. It is said that he and wife Anna were very strict in observing the Sabbath and reading the Bible. He married (1) Alice Mayo, Jan. 16, 1755; m. (2) Anna Cole (Isaac), Oct. 24, 1765; b. Dec. 3, 1740; died Oct. 12, 1828. It is traditionally claimed that she was a Doane. Very likely her mother was a Doane. He died Apr. 23, 1816 in his 83rd yr. The gravestones of Thomas and his brother Elijah are standing in the "Twining cemetery," where lie many of the ch., gr.-ch., and gr.-gr.-children of each.

hamlet is 12 miles from a railroad, four miles from Conn. state line. The old church was organized 1797, with Rev. Roger Harrison its first pastor, ordained the same year. The church now has no member on its rolls bearing the Twining name. This is also true of the Orleans church, which for so many years was the "Zion unto which the tribes were gathered."

The ancient residence of "Dea. Thomas Twining," stands in the midst of the original acres of Thomas and Elijah, which extended some distance into the two counties. Likewise these lands have passed into other names, and the historic grounds, cherished in memory by a host of descendants, remain but the echo of a distant past. One half mile east of the homestead is the Twining burying ground.

In Dec. 1776 a war tax was levied by the Gen. Court of Mass. The assessors list show the portion the Twinings were taxed at Eastham:

Thomas Twining.	Realty	6 £	9 S.	Per. 2 £	3 S.

AS IT APPEARS 1905. (ERECTED 1841).

years of his active life were spent at Eastham, where he bot. and sold much land, shown by numerous deeds. During the Rev. War he was the Town Constable and was also Commissioned Officer by the State Treas. to collect a special tax for "defraying the public charge," the amount for the Town being some 272 pounds. He crossed the state on foot three different times looking for a new location. In the Spring of 1783 he settled at Tolland, Mass., where he purchased some 2000 acres of land. He was a very accurate and systematic business man, whose judgment was good and word was law. He and family were members of the Orleans ch. before 1773. Deeded all his lands and property to his children in 1800.

The following are a few abstracts of lands deeded to him in E.:

Judah Rogers, 1777. land east of Samson's Island, and adjoining south side of meadow of Thomas and Elijah Twining, which Mr. William Twining (dec.), bot. of Isaac Rogers (dec.)

James Rogers, Mar. 1766, all the parcel of meadow in E. on the north side of Hog Island creek, by the land of Isaac Rogers which he bot. of Samuel King. Prince Rogers, 1767, a meadow called "Monument Plains," also lot at the place called the "Old Ship," and proprietor's right in the meadow on the "Western Shore."

ORLEANS, MASS. CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH. (ERECTED 1718).

The bearings of the case make it exceedingly probable that he was a Rev. Patriot. He appears to have been a man of intelligence, tact and energy, having served in the capacity of school teacher, selectman and assessor. His house in which he died, situated some 50 rods s. w. of the Cong. ch., in which he and his family worshiped (see engraving of church), is yet standing. It is an antiquated structure, still tenanted, and good for many years to come. The old burying ground lies just across the road (street), north of his old farm. He m. "BA. . . NECK"
(ON PLEASANT BAY, ORLEANS, MASS.)

14. PRINCE TWINING, (6 Barnabas) Jul. 23, 1744. He was a farmer, school teacher and Town Collector; also Deacon of the Orleans Cong. church from 1812 to time of passing 1825. Will made 1822; inventory included beside the homestead, two orchards, peat swamp, woodland in Brewster Tp. and salt meadow. In 1807 he deeded land at Fort Hill for 275 dollars, and in 1824, 10 acres on Pechet Island for 405 dollars. His farm was nicely located by a tiny lake with extended sloping banks. Pleasant Bay to the south and the Atlantic to the east were his life companions. The house in which he dwelt, built by 10 Thomas Twining, was recently torn down and rebuilt at Orleans station. The following is part of the contract for erecting the dwelling, dated Apr. 22, 1772:-

"Sd Thomas Twining is to finish for the Sd Prince his New Dwelling House. Agreeable to the plan that Barnabas Twining Hath Laid for the finishing of His. The Sd Prince finding to the spot all the Stuff Necessary for the same, to be finished by the first day of Dec. next; and that the Sd Prince is to pay the Sd Thomas, thirty Pounds thirteen shillings and fore pence. on or before the first of Dec. Next for what work the Sd Thomas Hath done and Shall do on the Sd Prince His House."

With some difficulty the writer, who visited the spot in 1904, found his way thru a heavy cluster of young trees and vines, within the old yard, to where portions of the ancient cellar walls and cellar partly intact, remained to indicate where the old patriarch of four score years spent his days. It was here "the hand upon the dial of life stood still and the silver chords were loosened."

His wife was Hannah Rogers (prob. of James and Hannah [Godfrey], whom he m. Jan. 3, 1771; born Feb. 11, 1745; died 1826 (?). His will proven 1825, mentions wife Hannah, son Prince, five daughters and grandson Jonathan.

15. STEPHEN TWINING, (7 Stephen) Feb. 20, 1719; died Sep. 3, 1777. He doubtless spent the larger portion of his life in Springfield Tp., Bucks Co., Penn. The records show that he purchased in 1761, a farm of 118 acres in S., for which he paid £601. He m. Sarah, wid. of Richard Janney, influential family, with two sons Jacob and Nathaniel. After the death of Stephen, his wid., whose maiden name was Worth, m. (3) John Burson (Wrightstown Woman's M. M. Minutes say Bussen), 1782, who also lived in S. Tp.

WRIGHTSTOWN, PA. FRIENDS MEETING HOUSE

Previous to 1721 the Wrightstown Friends held their meetings at private houses. At this date they built a meeting house on four acres of land given by John and Joseph Chapman, given in trust to Richard Michael, Abraham Chapman, Stephen Twining and Laycock. "for the sole use of the people called Quakers, to build a meeting house and for a graveyard in Wrightstown." In 1774 a wall was built around the C. Y., costing over 500 dollars. In 1787, a new meeting house was built, the present house of worship.

16. SAMUEL TWINING, (8 Nathaniel) Jan. 24, 1726, on the large and productive farm now owned by Wm. Klette, just outside of the Newtown boro limits. The farm north and adjoining, was owned by his brother 17 Benjamin. Relating to his m. the M. M. Records has the following:

"At Middletown M. M., 14th of 9th mo. 1752, Samuel Twining and Mary Jenks declared their intentions of marriage for the first time, and at the meeting held the 5th of 10 mo. they appeared the 2nd time: signifying their intentions of m. with each other. And the said Samuel having produced a certificate from Wrightstown M. M., to the satisfaction of Friends, they are left at liberty to consummate their said intentions when they see convenient." The Comm. appt'd for the purpose, reported to the meeting of 11 mo. 2nd 1752, that the marriage was "decently accomplished on the 26th day of last mo."

FRIENDS GRAVEYARD, WRIGHTSTOWN, PA.

For some trivial offense he was disowned Jul. 8, 1766. The probate records of Bucks Co., do not have his name after 1767, at which time he settles his brother Nathaniel's estate. He probably died in Newtown. His wife was Mary Jenks* (Thomas and Mercy [Wildman]); born Apr. 20, 1733; d. 1803.

* The Jenks family in America date back to 1700, in the person of Thomas (Rev. Benjamin Jenks, 1651-1724, Rector of Harley, Eng.; m. II—Samuel, Nov. 16, 1754. He was no doubt a Rev. soldier, as he was disowned May 2, 1776 for serving with the militia. He was a good business man; was killed by falling from an upper story of a flouring mill, date not given; unm.

III—Nathaniel, disowned Dec. 6, 1782 or '92 (confusion in the M. Rec.) "for going into the army." It is shown by the War records that Nathaniel Twining served as an Ensign in the 4th Maryland Regiment, Rev. War, and was commissioned as of that grade Dec. 10, 1776. He was promoted to be 2nd Lieutenant Oct. 15, 1777, and his name appears on a list, dated 30th May, 1779, showing "General Arrangement of the Officers of the Maryland Line." This list shows the date of his commission as 20th Nov., 1777. He resigned 1st Jan., 1779.

(Record and Pension Office and Heitman's Historical Register.)

In 1775 he has deeded to him 7 acres in Middletown Tp., land devised by John Cauley, to his dau. Elizabeth, wife of Daniel Bratt. At this date he is a resident of Newtown. He probably died unmarried, but when or where is not known.

VII—35 John, Jan. 1, 1761, says his Bible; M. Rec. say Dec. 31, 1759; married Becca Bennett.

17. BENJAMIN TWINING, (8 Nathaniel) Jun. 3, 1728. But few facts have been gleaned relating to this member of the family. He lived in Newtown as late as 1758, when the Friends disowned him for marrying "out of meeting." 1757, May 5th, he and wife Sarah deed his share in the paternal estate to his brother Samuel, 62 acres for 200 pounds. The next year he sells his homestead, 53 acres, and probably soon after removed to Warren Co., N. J. He evidently died 1784, as a letter of administration of his estate was granted to one James Berry, Aug. 31st of said year. (Phila. Reg. Office.)

On his 53 acres, immediately east of Newtown boro. and recently platted into building lots, stands the house he built of Newtown brown stone (see engraving). In this house Gen. Washington made his headquarters just after the battle of Trenton, Dec. 1776. Altho the building has been repaired and enlarged, the room in which Washington rested remains intact, relics and all. The old stone spring house seen in front of the residence covers the spring which still flows an abundance of pure water. This old historic building is one-fourth mile south of the Presbyterian church, built 1769 on land deeded by his father Nathaniel. On the west end of this farm (with a public road on each of its four sides, Richboro on the south and Buck on the east), is an ancient burial ground, long since out of service. It is very likely some of the early Twinings found this their last resting place.

RESIDENCE OF BENJAMIN TWINING.

• Mrs. Marcus Filley's account of her Grandfather's (23 Wm.) homestead (built by his father, Dea. Thomas Twining), still used as a dwelling:-

" 'How in the name of wonder,' an expression of his, how he ever built a home in that wild, rough, out-of-the-way place, is more than I can imagine. Grandmother used to tell me that when they first lived there, bears and panthers would prowl around the house at night; the men were afraid to go out after dark without their guns. The house was large—two or three kitchens with great, large fire places (the ch. could sit in one corner). In the second story of the house was a large room for spinning and weaving; there was a large loom there. I think it is there now (1886); both wool and flax was manufactured into cloth for family use."

"G. F. had a large farm; raised horses and cattle. They kept about 30 or 40 cows; milking time was a busy one; every member of the family had a certain number of cows, every cow had a name, and the large dairy room, with its churns and cheese presses, was a place of interest. dry goods store. In their large house, well filled as it was in my younger days, there was happiness; everything showed contentment and prosperity. But what a cold place in the winter!—a house built upon a mountain. One could look off at the West five miles—cold and bleak; not a stove in the house. Every morning after breakfast (a fire built: one morning would last until the next, if it did go out the tinder box was handy), the men would go out, and, with a crow-bar, roll in logs covered with snow: first would come a great back-log that would be rolled into its place; then another; then great chips on top of the logs; then the coals that had been left over would be put among the chips (all this time the doors open, the cold coming in), then the bellows were used until the fire was well started; and with all the exposure no one took cold. There was health and wealth on that mountain."

26. JUDAH TWINING, (11 Elijah) Jan. 21, 1774; d. Aug. 27, 1854. A farmer of Tolland, noted for his benevolence, fat cattle and hogs. He was a peculiar character. He stammered somewhat, and was very much opposed to new fangled ideas. His son Philander was more modern, and therefore, the story goes, that when the latter, having put granite posts to his front fence split out of the solid granite, thought it best to case them to make them look better. The old man remarked that his son had gotten a new idea, which was to case stone posts to keep them from rotting. He boasted that when Philander was 21 years old, he had hay in the barn and pork in the bottom of the barrel that were there before his son was born. It is said that if a man came to him to borrow money, and was well dressed, he would not let him have it; but if he came with his clothes patched the loan was made, as he claimed that he was more sure to return the money than the other.

The year of his m. he took a certificate of membership from the Middletown M. M., to Kingwood, N. J., stating that he was a faithful attendant at Friends' meetings and free from m. engagements. In Jul. 1793 he purchased 140 acres of James Parker, for 388 pounds, the farm being close to Quakertown, Hunterdon Co., N. J. On this farm, which was mostly timber, he built a grist and fulling mill, beside his log cabin, which was replaced with a stone dwelling, the same as his other buildings. This fine property is located in a very fertile valley, surrounded by high hills,—a hamlet of Arcadian beauty. "The old Twining residence is yet one of the most imposing houses in that locality."

It is said that the old clock which was purchased in Eng., still stands in the corner of the room where it stood more than 100 yrs. ago. Altho greatly prospered in his business here, being worth $16,000, he removed to the "Holland Purchase," Erie Co., N. Y., 1811, where he bought 500 acres of land at North Boston (Podunk), which he farmed the remainder of his active life.

He was a tall man, heavy set, pleasant in appearance, business-like; a clothier by trade. It is related of him that because he would not take up arms against the English during the Rev., he was called a Tory and shot at for his Quaker principles. Sarah his wife d. Mar. 28, 1841.

14. ALEXANDER CATLIN TWINING, L. L. D., (22 Stephen)
1801, New Haven, Ct.; d. Nov. 22, 1884; grad. Yale 1820; civil engineer; Prof. Math. Middlebury Coll., Vt.; classmate of Pres. Woolsey and Rev. Leonard Bacon, D. D. Associate of Profs. Silliman and Olmsted in scientific observations. Received the degree of L. L. D. from Yale. Dea. 1st Cong. ch. 1856-82.

From the New York Independent:

"The death of Prof. A. C. Twining ends a long life of varied and brilliant achievements, and which was even richer and more beautiful in richness and fruitfulness of Christian character. Prof. Twining is known among astronomers as the author of the cosmic theory of the meteors. As a civil engineer he was engaged as chief or controlling engineer on every line running out of New Haven on the northern roads thru Vermont, on the Lake Shore, the Cleveland, Columbus and Pittsburg, and various roads out of Chicago, including the Rock Island and the old Milwaukee line.

"As an inventor he pioneered to a successful result the industrial manufacture of artificial ice.

"For nine years he served as Professor of Mathematics and Astronomy in Middlebury College, and while thus residing in Vermont, was active in the Temperance Reform, into which he entered with energy as the Chairman of the State Temperance Committee. In political matters he took deep interest as one of the promoters of the original movements which issued in the foundation of the Republican party.

"He was one of the projectors of the famous Conn. letter to Pres. Buchanan. He was deeply interested in constitutional questions, a study of which culminated in his lectures on the Constitution of the United States in Yale Law School. In questions of theology and philosophy he was at home and discussed them with bold vigor and subtle ingenuity.

"To his friends, the beauty of his face and head, the striking and winning courtesy of his manner, the simplicity of his Christian character made a lasting impression, while few that met him even casually have failed to notice that to him it was given to invite and receive the spiritual confidence of others, and to give to them solid and permanent assistance where there are few to attempt it and still fewer to succeed."

He m. Harriet Kinsley, of West Point, N. Y., March 2, 1829; she died 1871.

A handwritten signature in cursive script, reading "Krisley Twining". The signature is written in dark ink on a light background. The first name "Krisley" is written in a large, flowing script, and the last name "Twining" follows in a similar style, ending with a long, sweeping tail that extends to the right.

71. JACOB TWINING, (37 Joseph) Oct. 7, 1770. Lived and reared a large family on his farm of 225 acres situated in the extreme N. E. corner of Wrightstown Tp. It is unfortunate that so little is known of Jacob, as he stands at the head of the most prolific branch of the Twining family. It is claimed that he had many virtues, adhering strictly to his Quaker tenets, which he was careful to practice. Nearly all his sons and daughters after m. settled in Ohio, and subsequently their issue extended out into Mich., and portions of the far West. Many of them have been prosperous having the progressive spirit of the times, keeping in touch with the moral and educational privileges of their day. Others of them seem

ENGLISH, WELSH AND NOVA SCOTIA TWININGS

Extracts taken from several English Authors, personal correspondence, and especially from "Some Facts in the History of the Twining Family," By the Rev. Wm. H. G. Twining, Vicar of St. Stephen's Westminster, assisted by Miss Louisa Twining, of Tunbridge Wells, Rochester, England (1892 and 1895.)

In compiling the annals of the Twining family, the first thing to be dealt with is the origin and history of the name; for this we must go back 1300 years, to the remote beginnings of English history.

The Twinings of Twining were of that race which was English before William the Conqueror came.

The place from which this family arose is situated in the Co. of Gloucester: it consists of a scattered village, rich meadows, pastures, and arable land, eight miles in compass. The approach to the village of Twining (about two miles north of Tewkesbury) is across King John's bridge.

It may be of interest to give a few notes on the history of TWINING before the Saxons came. It passed in succession thru the hands of the Romans, the Saxons, the Danes, and the Normans. The Romans left the camp: the Saxons gave the name; the Danes devastated the Church and Grange; the Normans built the Church.

Prior to the Saxon invasion, under Cuthwin, A. D. 577, we have no mention of the name: the origin of the patronimic "Twining" dated from this period. The name was probably taken from the land as was often the case in other parts of England.

The Danes drove the Saxons from their lands. For two centuries these lands were distracted with wars between the English and the Danes, until the latter gained a lasting victory in 893.

TWINING MANOR

Tuninge (Twyning) was held of the manor of Tewkesbury in the reign of King Edward the Conqueror. The Church of S. Mary de Winchcombe held Tuninge in the reign of William the Conqueror, and continued in the Abbey of Winchcombe from the Norman conquest to the dissolution.

The name is spelt in as many as 14 or 15 different ways, from the 6th to the 14th centuries, as Twenyng, Twenyng, Twinning.

The registers at Twining, and the documents at Oxford contain much information. In the former are records of the Twining family until the year 800, and the registers of Painswick and Pershore constantly refer to the Twinings of Twining.

THE EARLIEST RECORD

The earliest record as yet discovered relates to Thomas Twining, b. about 1360; d. 1412. He possessed property in Tewkesbury.

In the year 787, we first hear of Winchcombe, as it is spelt in Domesday. It is 12 miles from Twining, in a beautiful valley under the Cotswold hills. In 789, Kenulph laid the foundation of a stately Abbey for 500 Monks. He gave among other manors, that of Twining. The first Abbot was 985; the 26th in the list was John Twining, who received the Benediction 1474. He was a great promoter of learning, and thru his exertions the Monastery was raised to the rank of a University.

The earliest will is that of the above Thomas, dated 1412, on record in the Probate Court of Worcester. He gives to his son Richard, a silver cup; to his wife Christiana, an acre of meadow in Holeh'me; to Thomas, son of John, one-half of a burgage in Walker's Lane; to son Thomas; to daughters Alice, Agnes, and Elizabeth; to servants Richard, Je'un and John. He was connected with the Abbey of Tewkesbury which existed four centuries before the Conquest.

The next member of the family associated with the Abbey, was Richard Twining, Monk of Tewkesbury, who was ordained a Regular Priest in Worcester Cathedral 1472. He was present at the battle of Tewkesbury, 1471, when the Lancastrian army was defeated by the Yorkists under Edward IV. (See Reminiscences of Twining's).

The name of Twining appears again in 1539, at the dissolution of the Monastery, in the person of Thomas, Monk of Tewkesbury Abbey, who was compensated by the King's Commissioners. The Abbey and its inmates had thus existed for nearly 500 years: fifteen generations of Benedictine Monks occupied successively the cells of the dormitories, desks of the cloisters, and the graves of the cemetery.

THE TWININGS OF PAINSWICK

Immediately after the dissolution of the Monasteries began the dispersion of the Twinings. One branch sought repose in the peaceful valley of Painswick, a few miles from Tewkesbury. The Church here is a large building with a tower and spire, and a celebrated peal of twelve bells. The Churchyard is remarkable for its 104 yew trees which border its paths. Here the names of 2 William Twinings, Robert, 2 Johns, and Thomas, of the dates, 1613-15, appear in a list of copyholders. The Registers of Painswick begin 1550, and contain the name of Twining upon almost every page from 1551-1800. More than 100 baptisms are recorded from the first John, in 1551, to Matilda, in 1798. The list of marriages have Thomas, who married Rebecca Green in 1662, to Hannah Twining, who married John Haines, in 1754. The names of Mary and Elizabeth are found in this list 13 times. The record of burials begins with Mary, in 1637, to Samuel, in 1799. One of the most interesting ancestors is John Twining, who lived in a group of stone houses, in a dell under Longridge Wood, Sheepscombe. He gathered the children of his neighborhood at his house, where he told them Bible tales. It is said from him Robert Raikes obtained his ideas for organizing the Sunday School, which has made his name famous.

THE TWININGS OF PERSHORE

Pershore stands on the right bank of the Avon. Here an Abbey was formed for Benedictine Monks, by charter of King Edgar, about 970. In the registers there are several Twining baptisms and burials. In the Registrar General's Report is the following: "In the year 1666, Oct. 27th, Thomas Twining, of Wyre, near Pershore, aged 26, obtained a license to marry Hester Dineley, 25, daughter of William Dineley, gentleman, of this Parish, Naunton Beaucamp." A complete table of descent exists from Rollo, Duke of the Normans, 911-27, through King Ethelred and Edward the Confessor to the family of the Dineleys.

THE TWININGS OF EVESHAM

The Twinings lived for many centuries in the Vale of Evesham, which extends from the Warwickshire hills to the river Severn, near Tewkesbury, and from Broadway hills, south, to Pershore, north. The registers here contain the name of Mary, 1648, dau. of John Twining, who is famous for the part he played in the first civil war. He was brother to Thomas of Pershore. Lieut. John Twining was tried in 1651, before Cromwell's Commissioners for taking part in the defense of Evesham; he was twice imprisoned, and his property confiscated. His petition to the Commons is said to have been an able argument for his defense.

THE REGISTERS OF WYRE AND THROGMORTON

The registers of Wyre, begin 1716, recording the baptism of William, son of Richard and Mary, 1732, and Thomas, in 1734. Others of their children are in the registers of Pershore. At Throgmorton are found the familiar names of Thomas, William, Richard, Edward and a Tobias.

In the Probate Court of Worcester is found the will of Thomas Twining, of Throgmorton or Wyre, property situated on the Avon, divided between wife and 8 children. At Gloucester there are no less than twenty wills of Twinings, beginning with William, 1544, and ending with John, 1640. Among other given names here, are James, Robert, Anthony, Agnus, Alice, Julian, Edith and Jane. In 1723, John Twining, of Fladbury, was appointed guardian to the sons of Jonas Twining.

VILLAGE OF TWINING

TWINING is situated about two miles north of Tewkesbury, county of Gloucester; seven miles from Pershore, 127 miles from London (coach 109). It stands at the junction of the Severn and Avon rivers. The ferry is called "Twining's Fleet." The Parish is separated from Worcestershire by the navigable Avon over which a ferry is located. The Church exhibits portions of Norman architecture. Population about 1000.

The Twinings of London have given a hospital to Twickenham, 12 miles from L. The church yards there have hundreds with the name on the head stones.

The list of Ecclesiastics in the family dates from 1472, when Richard was Monk and Priest of the Abbey of Tewkesbury; 1474, John, Lord Abbot of Winchcombe; 1539, Thomas, Monk of the Abbey of Tewkesbury; 1739, Thomas, Vicar of Wilsford; 1761, Joseph, Curate of Aldworth; 1804, Thomas, Rector of St. Mary's Colchester; 1850, Daniel, Rector of Stilton and Therfield; 1851, James, Vicar of Holy Trinity, Twickenham and Little Casterton; down to the present day, when only two remain.

PROMINENT MEMBERS OF THE FAMILY

Daniel (1777-1853), son of Richard (1747-1828) and Mary of London, Isleworth and Twickenham. Studied under tutorage of the celebrated Dr. Parr. Appointed to the Rectory of Stilton, Hunts. In 1832, was offered the living of Therfield, Herts. He m. Jane Wing.

"We seem to want something of a connected memoir of our friends and relations; you and I would gladly preserve as much as we can of times now becoming evancient. If not done by some of us, how many things will become dreams, how many entirely lost?"—Rev. Daniel Twining to his brother Richard, 1847.

Elizabeth (1805-1889), second dau. of Richard (1772-1857). Her life was occupied in works of help and usefulness for her poor fellowcreatures, which continued to the time of her death. She possessed great talent for drawing and painting; flowers were her chief delight, in the painting of which she excelled. During many years she was occupied on a work as illustrations of the Natural Order of Plants, for which drawings were made with great industry. These were afterwards drawn in lithography, painted by herself, and copied by others, from the originals, all being done by hand. In after years, an edition in 8vo was published, reduced by photography, and printed in colors. She also brought out a volume of Lectures on Plants, such as she used to give to classes for working women at the College and elsewhere. She was the author of 22 writings, several of them being religious.

During many years of her life she was much interested in the history of her family and former generations, and endeavored to collect Pedigrees of the Longcroft, Smythies, and Twining families; these researches, tho not completed at the time of her death, led to all that has been subsequently done in that direction, and she had the satisfaction of seeing many obscure and hitherto unknown questions cleared up. After her removal to Twickenham, she built and partially endowed St. John's Hospital. Here the last 23 years of her life were spent.

Frank Theed (1848-83), eldest son of Frank, and gr.-son of Rev. Daniel Twining. He was educated at Christ's Hospital, subsequently Downing Coll. and St. Thomas' Hospital. He became an accomplished and well read physician, devoting his time to hospitals in Eng. and the Continent. A defective hearing which began early in life, gradually increased, and led to a decline in health. He d. suddenly while asleep. He was a man of strong likes and dislikes, but was never a bitter enemy.

Henry, author "On Elements of Picturesque Scenery, Considered with reference to Landscape and Painting." London, 1846.

Hugh A., (with portrait) Mag. West. Hist., 13, 582.

John H., M. A.: ministry 1880-93, Wilsford Vicarage, Salisbury.

John, an English lawyer and writer, born in 1810. He became professor of political economy at Oxford about 1842, and obtained a chair of civil law there in 1855. He wrote several works on the "Laws of Nations."

John Thomas, born May, 1793, Halifax, Nova Scotia; son of William Twining, the founder of the Nova Scotia Twinings, and grandson of Rev. Griffith Twining, of Claberston, Harverfordwest, Wales. He was ordained 1816, and admitted to Priest's Orders the next yr. Served the Church first as Curate at St. Paul's Halifax, and afterwards as Garrison

Chaplain for the space of 43 yrs. He was also Grand Chaplain of the Masonic body. He was buried with military honors at Fort Massey; d. 1860; genealogy given under head of "Nova Scotia Twinings."

James (1821-74), second son of John Aldred and Emma Twining; educated at Trinity, Cambridge. Curate of Battersea, and then Holy Trinity, Twickenham. In 1854, he m. Mary E. Bevan. He remained at T. 11 yrs., and then became Rector of Little Casterton, Rutlandshire, where he lived till his sudden death.

Louisa, born Nov. 16, 1820 (Richard and Elizabeth M. [Smythies]); sister of Elizabeth. A woman of talent and great usefulness; devoted her long life to the uplifting of her race.

The author of several books and pamphlets, among them "Symbols and Emblems of Early and Medieval Christian Art," London, 1852; "Types and Figures of the Bible, Ill., by Art of Early and Middle Ages," 1855; "Work houses and Pauperism;" "Charity at the End of the 19th Century;" "Women as Official Inspectors."—Nineteenth Century, 1890. She also took much interest in the family pedigree, being the author of "Supplement" of "Facts," issued 1893 and '95, containing memoirs of prominent persons of the family. In her preface to "Facts," she says: "It has been a great pleasure to me to be able to make the results [of the researches] accessible to the many members of our family, to whom I feel sure they will prove interesting, as showing our descent from remote periods, and from many worthy personages of great ability, and even historical interest, as well as a connection with some of the noblest buildings and monuments of the past. "It will surely add an interest to visits to these far-famed spots to remember that those who belong to us, and whose name we bear, were connected with the life and the work carried on there so many centuries ago. "Some of the places I visited in 1887, and had much pleasure in tracing and seeing these links with past generations, such as the grave of John Twining, in Painswick Churchyard, and his humble stone cottage on the lovely hillside above, tho at the time we were unable to discover any des. of the once numerous family in Gloucestershire, the last member of which died last year. "It is only recently that we have been able to trace our connection with these older branches of the family, and with those of the name in Nova Scotia and Canada. "When, many years ago, a Dr. Twining came over, and visited us when we lived in Bedford Place, we had no knowledge of how he was related to us, tho we felt sure he must have been so. "Now this has all been made clear, owing to the researches so carefully carried out in Gloucestershire, by which the missing links have been discovered, proving that we are des. from the same stock, and have one common origin." In a letter to the compilar, Sep. 1904, from 63 Landsdowne Road, London, she writes: "I am, at my age, quite unable to make any further researches."

Richard (1749-1824), son of Daniel, and gr.-son of Thomas (1675-1741), tea-merchant in the Strand; m. Mary Aldred; wrote journals and letters; director East India Co.; had 6 sons and 4 daus.

Richard (1772-1857), son of above. He devoted 70 yrs. to the tea business; m. Elizabeth M. Smythies (Rev. John), 1802; had 9 ch.

Thomas (1665-1739), Vicar of Wilsford; son of Thomas and Hester of Pershore; educated at All Soul's Coll., Oxford; B. A., and M. A., 1685 and 1688-9. He was appointed Vicar of W. 1696, and of Charlton, Wilts. 1702. He was a cousin to Thomas of the "Golden Lion;" left the care of his affairs to his uncle Josiah, whose wife Mary, showed to him motherly care during his last sickness.

Thomas (1735-1804), eldest son of Daniel of London. He distinguished himself as a scholar and in the art of music at Cambridge, where he took degree as B. A., 1760, and M. A., 1763. He was an able performer on the harpsicord, organ and violin. In 1768, he became Rector of White Notley, in Essex, to which, in 1770, the living of S. Mary, Colchester, was added; continuing the faithful discharge of his Parochial duties here, and the pursuit of his studies, until his d. Aug. 6, 1804. The only work he published is a translation of Aristotle's Poetics, reckoned one of the best Eng. translations of ancient writers. A second edition of this work was edited by his nephew, Daniel Twining, 1812. He m. Elizabeth Smythies of Colchester, the first of the inter-marriages of these two families. A volume of letters by him has been edited by his great nephew, Richard Twining, in 1882, entitled, "Recreations and Studies of a Country Clergyman of the 18th Century."

Thomas (1776-1861), second son of Richard (1749-1824) of the Strand and Isleworth. He was one of the energetic Englishmen who laid the foundations of the Indian Empire. He went out at the age of 16 in the service of the Hon. East India Company, in whose service he spent some remarkable years as Judge and in other capacities. On one of his voyages home, (1796) he visited the U. S., being a guest of President Washington and other notables of that day. His notes and reminiscences of this voyage were published by Harper Brothers 1894, entitled "Travels in America 100 Years Ago." He was also author of "The Twining-Gunge" (or village), in the province of Behar. On his return to Eng. 1805, he m. and settled in Northamptonshire till 1815, when he removed to the Continent, living there with his family until 1837, when he returned to Eng., settled at Twickenham, where he died.

Thomas (1806-1895), son of Thomas (1776-1861). He was the oldest member of the Soc. of Arts. Was an invalid from boyhood; traveled in Switzerland. At Milan, he fell on the ice, which made the use of crutches necessary during the rest of his life. Founded his own Economic Museum at Twickenham, which burnt down 1871. He was the author of "Technical Training," and "Science made Easy." He received the Cross of the Legion of Honor from Napoleon III in 1855; was also honored by the Italian Government in 1867.

Thomas, author "Averbury in Wiltshire, the Remains of a Roman Work. Erected by Vespasian and Julius Agricola." London, 1723.

Thomas, Baptist minister of Trobridge, Wilts: "Sixteen Sermons with Biog.," preface by Dr. J. Toulman, 1801.

William, (Rev. William, Rev. Griffith) bro. of John Thomas; b. 1790; d. at Calcutta 1835. He was a distinguished surgeon; member of the Royal Coll. of Surgeons in London; served in the medical department of the Royal Army 1812-1830; the remainder of his active and useful life was spent in Calcutta. Author of several prominent medical works. In 1815, while serving Lord Wellington, he witnessed the battle of Waterloo. He was of middling stature, strong and robust; abstemious and a rigid water drinker. The inscription which marks his grave is as follows: "To the memory of William Twining, Esq., member of the Royal Coll. of Surgeons in London, Surgeon in the Service of the H. E. I. Company, Bengal Establishment, first permanent Assistant Surgeon to the Presidency General Hospital, and Secretary to the Medical and Physical Society of Calcutta." This Monument is erected by his professional brethren in India to mark the high sense which they entertained of his character and of his eminent services, which he rendered in the cause of medical improvement and research in that country. Born A. D. 1790, died at Calcutta 25th Aug. 1835, aged 45 years." See "Nova Scotia Twinings."

William (1813-1848), youngest son of Richard (1772-1857), of the Strand and Bedford Place; educated at Rugby and Oxford. He became a physician of note, being the author of pamphlets relating to "Idiots and Feeble-minded," which awakened in the English a deep interest in the subject, then but little regarded. A few years after his leading pamphlet was published, (1842) several institutions for the care of Idiots and the Insane were established in different parts of England.

William (1815-39), son of Rev. John Thomas Twining; see pedigree. Grad. of medicine in Eng. Considered to be an able medical man.

He died from yellow fever, contracted while on board a slave-ship, which had been captured and taken to Sierra Leone, where he was required to attend the slaves suffering from that disease.

REMINISCENCES OF TWININGS

By the amalgamation of Twining's bank and Lloyd's, London, in a sense, loses a landmark; for the Twining's is one of the oldest established institutions outside the Temple Bar. Years before that much-abused gate-way gave way to the grotesque Griffin that marks the city boundary, the bank and adjoining tea warehouses had acquired a certain extent of fame, even among casual passers-by, while to those who take a deeper interest in old London, it has recommendations not only connected with its own career, but with the history of the family with whose name it has been so long associated.

Between a rural monastery of the Middle Ages and a modern banking business in the Strand there would seem to be such little affinity that it is interesting to trace, in the history of the Twining's the evolution of the one from the dissolution of the other. It was in the middle of the 15th century that an eminent member of the family was a mitred abbot of Winchcombe, some 12 miles from the village of Twining, in Gloucestershire, from which the family took its name.

Up to that time they had always been the Twinings of Twining. With the exception of Richard, who was monk and priest of the abbey of Tewkesbury, little is known of the Twining family until 1474, when John became Lord Abbot of Winchcombe. Nor is anything known of either monastery or abbey church, tho the Abbot's house, which survived them both, became at last the parish workhouse, and was not finally destroyed until 1815. But from what can be gleaned from ancient records, the predecessors of the present firm of bankers were for the most part Monks, and were evidently men not only of learning but of great courage. For not only do we read that the Lord Abbot was of such learning that his monastery was raised to the rank of a University, but there was a later illustrious member of the family in Richard Twining, Monk of Tewkesbury, whose courage is a matter of history. As deacon of the abbey, he was present at the battle of Tewkesbury, when Edward the 4th disastrously defeated the Lancastrians. The story told of him is that after their defeat they took refuge in the abbey; the Yorkists followed, and Edward arrived at the porch with the intention of dragging the fugitives out, or killing them where they stood. But the intrepid monk came from the altar where he had been celebrating the mass, and holding the consecrated sacrament in his hands forbid the King to commit such sacrilege within the walls of the church, refusing to let his majesty pass until he had promised to spare the lives of those who had sought safety in the abbey. The King, thus adjured, gave the required promise, and all joined in a thanksgiving service, on the one side for victory and on the other for safety.

With the dissolution of the monasteries began the dispersion of the Twinings; and here we get to the first stage in the evolution of the bank; for, tho deprived of their ancient means of usefulness, many of the successors of the monks of Tewkesbury and Winchcombe took to the English Church, with which many of their names are honorably associated; others preferred secular pursuits. About 1710 we find Thomas Twining [1675-1741] in London, establishing the tea business, which in a rather singular way developed the bank. That this was at the beginning of the 18th century, and that the business was started at Tom's Coffee-House, in Devereux Court, off the Strand, is proved by the fact that on May 18th 1712, there was an advertisement inserted in the "Spectator" by him, offering a reward for some article lost, which was to be returned to that establishment. The tea business was conducted under the sign "Ye Golden Lyon," the shop forming part of the premises in which the present tea business is still carried on by lineal descendants of the founder.

Tom's Coffee-House was a favorite centre in the days of the Georges, when these places were at their zenith, tho overshadowed by its more pretentious neighbor the Grecian, where Addison and Steele and Sir Isaac Newton mingled with lesser lights of literature and science.

The Lion's head from over the doorway, elaborately gilt, still hangs over the fire-place of the counting house, near to where the bank began its existence. It would be difficult to match Twining's in the matter of unpretentious beginning. One little room in Devereux-court, adjoining the tea warehouse; one small safe; and one clerk promoted from the counter to the desk, constituted the bank.

But old Thomas Twining had, doubtless, no idea of the growth it would attain. He had for a long time exercised the function of banker to his family and connections; and established this room to keep the accounts separate from the tea business. But so good a reputation had he that when once he extended his sphere of operations, clients crowded upon him; and in time it became necessary to extend the premises. When this was done, it was in no niggardly fashion. Under the authority of a writ from the Crown, the property between the bank and the Strand was acquired, and the present-capacious double establishment erected. Its subsequent career was one of continued prosperity; and the bank is largely written up in the history of the St. Clement Danes, with the affairs of which parish the descendants of the original banker have always been actively interested.

Several members of the firm - which consisted of Messrs. Richard Twining, S. H. Twining, H. H. Twining, A. J. Tweed, J. Twining and C. T. Sidgwick, - have occupied important positions in the parish and been intimately connected with its charities. Samuel Twining was its church warden, Richard Twining Treas. King's Coll. Hospital, and Herbert Twining Treas. of the parochial schools.

But these are days of amalgamations and of huge business concerns; and Twining's, sharing the fate of so many private enterprises, is now merged in Lloyd's bank, of which it will henceforth be known as the Twining's branch. The tea warehouse will continue, as it began, carrying on an independent business, unaffected by the change; and here will remain the interesting memorials of its founders which have so long adorned its walls. The portrait of the founder of the business, by Hogarth, and that of the founder's son, by Hudson, Hogarth's pupil, are both in excellent preservation. There are also curious old prints and other relics which serve to illustrate the gigantic strides which have been made in business matters since they were first constructed.—From the "Globe", London, May 20, 1892.

THOMAS TWINING OF LONDON

No distinct Record has yet been found of the circumstances which led Thomas Twining my gr.-gr.-father, at the commencement of the 18th century to emigrate to London; where he seems first to have taken up his abode in St. Giles, Cripple-gate, and from whence he founded (about 1710) the business of tea dealer at Tom's Coffee House in Devereaux Court, Strand; the same which has been extended by his descendants to the present day. It seems, however, not improbable that he may be identified with the "Thomas Twining" whose name is on a board in the parish church of Painswick as a donor of 5 £, in 1724, to the parish schools then founded.

He was a freeman of the "Weavers" Company in the City of London, a circumstance which would seem to connect him with the wool trade, at that time flourishing in Gloucestershire, but from whence it afterwards drifted into Yorkshire. The same may account for the migration of many members of the family to other homes.

SUCCESSION IN BUSINESS, DEVEREAUX COURT, STRAND:

1. Thomas Twining, b. 1675: founder. 1710
2. Daniel, his son and successor. 1714
3. Richard and Daniel Twining (Daniel) 1771 and 1782
4. Richard, George, and John Alfred (Richard) 1794 and 1818
5. And so on to their sons and grandsons to this date . . . [1905]

Early in the 18th century [1726] Thomas Twining built "Dial House", and it was inhabited by himself and successive generations of the family until the close of the year 1889. It was then presented by Richard Twining, on behalf of the Family, to the Patrons of the Living of Twickenham as a Vicarage for the Parish. It has since been entirely rebuilt, the main features of the original building having been carefully preserved and the old Dial retained in its front. --"Selections from the Papers of the Twining Family," by Richard Twining, London, John Murray, 1887.

THE WELSH TWYNINGS

The first Twining who went to Wales was John, grandson of Thomas, of Pershore, the son of John and Joan of Throgmorton. Two generations later, William (a Welshman), went from Pembroke, Wales, to the island of Nassau, and then to Halifax, Nova Scotia.

The family first appears to have existed in Wales in the county of Pembroke. Tombstones in the churchyard of Lampeter Velfrey, near Narberth, mark the resting place of ancient members of the family, but they are too worn to be deciphered. The earliest known member is the Rev. Benjamin Twynning, Rector of Amroth, who died 1757, aged 97 yrs.

In Burke's General Armory, 1842, the Welsh Twynings are described as of great antiquity. In a work by Ellen Millington, "Heraldry in History, Poetry and Romance," the following passage occurs:--"The Twynings of Bryn, county Pembroke, have a very ancient coat. Sa, two bars between two stars of six points, or: the crest represents the twins, Castor and Pollux, in infancy, as the stars are supposed to represent them after death." The motto is, "Stellis asperate Gemellis; aspire to the twin stars," an allusion doubtless to the name of Twynning. This crest is one of the oldest in existence.

THE ENGLISH CREST

In the year 1818, Mr. Richard Twining, while passing thru Llandrindod Wells, saw a chariot with an English Twining crest upon it. It is very remarkable to find this ancient Welsh branch of Twinings bearing the English crest, which forcibly suggests a common origin.

The arms used by Daniel Twining in 1783 was evidently brot to London by Daniel the elder, in 1670, and adopted by the family. It somewhat resembles that of the Twynings of Bryn, but the stars have five points. [Thomas Twining, founder of the London branch, changed the Welsh crest and started anew with one contrived out of an entirely different rendering of the name, which he evidently supposed to be some derivation of twine, and as his gr.-gr.-grandson, the late distinguished banker explained to me, provided himself with a crest showing an arm or something of that kind, with a serpent twisted about it. All this proves that he knew nothing of the real significance of the name.—Rev. Kinsley Twining, 1886].

In 1754 Daniel Twining (Thomas) again changed the arms by adding to it the St. Andrew's Cross.

THE NOVA SCOTIA TWININGS

The following pedigree of the Nova Scotia Twinings, is taken principally from "Burke's Colonial Gentry," excluding certain errors of date:

William Twining (James, Thomas); claims to have been born in Scotland 1818; married Elizabeth ———; came to New Haven, Conn., where 6 ch. were born, namely: Jessie A. 1859; William K. 1862; James C. 1868; Edward B. (twin) 1868; Euphemia and Thomas J.

This family claim to be from the vicinity of St. Mary's Isle, county of Kirkcubright, Scotland, where they state that members of the family are still living, and where the name has existed more than 400 years, as shown by the tombstones. The compiler has made diligent effort to verify this claim thru the local and general registers, and also by clergymen living in the river Dee locality, above mentioned. All deny the existence of the name there, present or past, so far as could be learned. The London Twinings aver they never heard of the name there. A family by the name of Twiname, has been in this locality many years, and may be the so called "Scotch Twinings." It remains a mooted question.

William L. Twining, real estate, Chicago, Ill.; refused to give his ancestry: he was born in Chicago.
