THE TEMPLE FAMILY.

IN 1421 Robert Temple was in possession of Temple Hall, an estate in the County of Leicester, England. This manor was granted to the Knights Templar at an early date. It is altogether likely that Robert, his ancestors and descendants, received their name from the order of the Temple, or from the Hall, into the possession of which this family came. In 1279 the property was held by Henry de Temple, as shown by public records. This latter Henry is said by tradition to have been a descendant of Leofric, Earl of Mercia before the days of William the Conqueror. The consort of Leofric was Lady Godiva of Coventry, celebrated in Tennyson's poem bearing her name—and the Temples of Temple Hall have therefore a doubly famous origin. Whether any reliance can be placed upon this legend I do not know. This Temple Hall was in the possession of Sir Peter Temple at the time of Cromwell. Sir Peter was one of the judges who condemned to death King Charles I., and James Temple was another of the name. I have seen the death warrant, bearing their signatures, hanging in one of the towers on the walls of Chester. The handwriting is of men who were not afraid. When Charles II. came to the throne in 1660, Sir Peter Temple paid the penalty for his hardihood by life imprisonment and the loss, by confiscation, of Temple Hall, which has never since then been in the possession of the family. It is however still called by that name. You may find it some five miles from the little city of Atherstone and not far from the scene of the battle of Bosworth. It is a fair sized brick house, partially overgrown with climbing roses, and serves as the residence of a farmer who rents two or three hundred acres from Earl Howe, to whom, I was told, the fee of the place now belongs. Descended from Robert Temple, 1421, of Temple Hall, are the Viscounts Palmerston, the first two being named Henry Temple, and the third being Henry John Temple. The latter was the well known statesman born Oct. 20, 1784, dying Oct. 18, 1865, without issue. From the same ancestor Sir William Temple, a well known Englishman, born 1628, dying 1698-9, leaving no male descendants, derived his origin. Several American families of the name have traditions, ascribing their descent through Sir William Temple, but without basis of fact. There were other Sir William Temples, but to none of them can their ancestry be traced. Robert Temple (born in Ireland, 1694; died in Massachusetts, 1754), descended from Robert of Temple Hall, 1421, an officer of the British army, formed a brilliant plan to settle an Irish colony near Bath, Maine. The project resulted in nothing except to make of him a useful resident of the New World and to establish his family in New England. One of his sons was Sir John Temple. It was he who married Elizabeth Bowdoin. He was Lieutenant Governor of New Hampshire, and from 1785 to 1798 British Consul General in New York. One of his daughters married Hon. Thomas L. Winthrop. A grandson of Robert of Ireland, also named Robert, settled in Rutland, Vt. This latter Robert had a son, William Grenville, who became Rear-Admiral of the United States Navy. From Robert of Rutland is descended Edward Lowe Temple, a well known banker of that place. For the information above given I am indebted to the investigations and volumes ("Some account of the Temple Family," 1st, 2d and 3d editions, printed for the author) of Mr. Temple Prime, of Huntington, Long Island, himself a descendant of the Temples of Temple Hall. I have been unable thus far to establish a connection between the families, whose genealogy I have given in the following pages, and the Temple Hall line.

I have it upon the authority of Hon. Grenville N. Temple of Boreham Manor, Warminster, Wiltshire, that the Temples of that county have been well known since about 1600. The will of Thomas Temple of Heytesbury, Wiltshire, was proved May 15, 1594 (42 Dixey). I am not aware that any effort has been made to trace the descent of the Wiltshire families.

I have been permitted to make extracts from a number of English wills of Temple testators which may be found at the end of the volume. No connection has been established between them and Abraham Temple of Salem, or with Robert, 1421, of Temple Hall.

Abraham of Salem appears to have been the earliest of the name to establish himself and his descendants in the New World. Thus far, research has not succeeded in tracing him to his English birth-place or parentage. I am of the opinion that he was a plain man in humble position. For the most part his descendants have been farmers and mechanics, although some have entered the professions and business life where they have attained success.

Richard Temple of Reading, Mass. (died Nov. 23, 1737, aged 70), who has a large number of descendants, was in all probability son of Robert,² son of Abraham¹ of Salem.

The Archbishop of Canterbury, the Rev. Frederick Temple, D.D., is probably descended from Robert of Temple Hall, 1421. I quote from a letter addressed to myself under the date of 25 Nov., 1896: "I am afraid I can do nothing to help you in your researches into the history of our family. You already know more about it than I do. I have never even visited Temple Hall. There is a tradition amongst us that the beginning of our family was Leofric, Earl of Mercia * * The oldest, though not the best known branch of the Temples, is that of which Sir Leofric Temple is the head. The name 'Leofric' is hereditary in that branch. There are two other branches, one to which Sir William of Stowe belongs, the head of which till quite recently was the Duke of Buckingham, the other the Irish branch, of which Lord Palmerston was the head. But I have no means, nor time if I had the means, for tracing out the details." This letter of the eminent English archbishop, who honors the name as few others have done, breathes the spirit of a generous and cordial soul, but has upon its face the stamp of Temple blood, for as a rule the family in all its branches has been disinclined to genealogical research. Members of the Virginia branch, justly proud of their family and name, the Quaker lines of Pennsylvania and the New England descendants of Abraham of Salem, have the same characteristic. Neither in England nor America has the family been a prolific one. After ten generations, careful research enables me to place less than two thousand living descendants of Abraham of Salem. Different lines of the English family were continually becoming extinct, as shown in the volumes of Temple Prime.

The family name is relatively rare throughout the English speaking world. There are strong facial resemblances among those who bear it on both sides of the sea. My own opinion is that the families have a common origin and that extended investigation will at some time reveal it.

My efforts to collect the information presented in this book and to arrange it in proper sequence have often been difficult and trying, but fascinating always. My wish is that through the agency of this volume a sense of family unity may develope. Individually, we are factors in the complex social life of our day and nation. May our family of Temple, through education, morality and personal force, make itself also a factor in the national life of our own and of future days. Let every father who bears the name give to his children the best possible education. Let our young men use rare discretion in the choice of wives who are to become the mothers of those who are to bear our names.

I take this opportunity to thank all my correspondents for their assistance in collecting material for this genealogy. I shall continue my investigations and the collection of births, marriages and other data which may add to the value of this book. I shall esteem it a favor, if persons having knowledge of such facts will send them to me.

DESCENDANTS OF ABRAHAM TEMPLE, OF SALEM, MASS.

ABRAHAM¹ TEMPLE was in Salem, Mass., in 1636. He was the first of the name on American soil. His first assignment of land was evidently five acres. November 21, 1638, five acres additional were granted him "to make him a ten acre lot." From his small holdings of real estate it is perhaps to be inferred that he was a mechanic, perhaps a tailor as was Robert Temple, of whom later. June 21, 1637, in town meeting, Abraham Temple proposed the name of another man to be received as an inhabitant. This implies that he himself had already been so received. June 25, 1639, suit was brought against him for defaming the character of William Browne, and the plaintiff received forty shillings damages and six shillings costs. July 25, 1638, Abraham Temple brought suit against Humphreys, Howes and Hauks for trespass done by their horses. He may have been married twice. I suggest that his first wife was Abigail, and his second Margaret. A widow Margaret Temple married John Gifford at Lynn, Mass., about 1651. It is quite likely that Abraham died soon after 1639, as this is the last date at which he appears on the records of Salem or elsewhere. I infer that he was born 1600 or earlier.

Children (partly hypothetical) :

2. i. RICHARD,² b. 1623, or earlier, in England.
- ii. TOBIAS (?), b. 1627, or earlier. He was a witness to a deed at Salem, Mass., in 1659. If son of Abraham, doubtless by Margaret. There is no further trace of Tobias Temple.
- iii. ROBERT (?), b. 1639, or earlier. In 1660 Robert Temple is fined at Salem, Mass., for wearing silver lace when he was thought not to have property sufficient to sustain such expense. He bought and sold real estate in Salem in 1660. Probably he went to Saco, Me., soon afterward. Robert² Temple had a son Richard, b. in Saco in 1668. Robert² was killed by the Indians at Saco in 1675. His son Richard³ settled in Reading, Mass., and founded a large family whose genealogy is being prepared by Rev. Edward Foster Temple, a descendant.

RICHARD¹ (*Abraham*¹) of Charlestown and Concord, born 1623 or earlier in England. He married Joanna ———, about 1645. He removed to Charlestown, Mass., before 1647. He removed in 1654 to Concord, Mass., where he died March 15, 1689. Joanna died Feb. 24, 1688. He bought and sold much real estate in Charlestown. In Concord he had a saw-mill and resided on Spencer brook. In Salem he was assigned lands July 30, 1644. At Charlestown his farm reached to salt water and extended to near Bunker Hill. Was made a freeman by the General Court at Boston, May 15, 1672. In the year 1688 Richard, having become enfeebled in health, proceeded to divide up his property among his children by deed of gift. These documents, on record in the office of the Register of Deeds, East Cambridge, Mass., afford matter of great interest to his descendants. December 2, 1668, he made a gift of eighty acres, including the dwelling house in which she lived, to his daughter, Abigail Temple Brabrook, "in consideration of her dutifulness and, in particular, her carefulness of him in the time of his late great weakness in a special manner." January 6, 1689, he gave about sixty acres to his daughter, Sarah Temple Estabrook, "in consideration of her dutifulness and in particular of her lameness and impotency." December 22, 1688, Richard entered into an agreement with his son Isaac,³ "honorably to maintain him (Richard²) and his wife during their life, pay their funeral expenses and their debts." Isaac³ was also obligated to pay his invalid sister twenty pounds. In consideration of this undertaking on the part of Isaac,³ Richard² deeded to Isaac³ "his (Richard²'s) new mansion or dwelling place" in Concord, consisting of one hundred acres, containing "dwelling house, barn, outhousing, gardens, yards and fencing bounded south by the highway and west by Spencer's brook." The gift included "the fruit of all the apple trees of that piece of land which Richard² gave to his son Abraham² in the old orchard." The conveyance included also "his (Isaac³'s) eighth part in the saw mill near to his (Richard²'s) house and all his moveable estate." Richard²'s best love was reserved for his son Abraham³. The deed of gift from Richard² to Abraham³ bears date of December 22, 1688. "Divers Considerations moving me, and more particularly my Son Abraham³, he being my eldest Son, as also making me a promise to bestow more of his estate upon his two eldest Sons, Richard⁴ and Abraham⁴ than upon any of the rest of his children • • in regard his (Abraham³'s) Son, Abraham⁴, doth bear up the name of my father and his Son Richard⁴ bearing up my name." The conveyance to Abraham³ includes one hundred and twenty acres lying on the north side of the North river and "twelve acres more in my old field." The Edmunds meadow, and two other pieces of four and five acres each are also given to Abraham.³

ABRAHAM² (Abraham,¹ *Richard*²) of Concord, Mass., was born
June 4, 1652, in Charlestown, Mass. He married Dec. 4, 1673, Deborah Hadlocke, daughter of John (died 1675). He was made freeman by the General Court, March 21, 1690. He is mentioned in a warrant of impressment as an able bodied soldier, March 10, 1675. He served as a soldier in King Philip's war. He was one of a thousand men who mustered on Dedham plain, Dec. 9, 1675, and marched for Narragansett Fort, the stronghold of King
Philip, situated on an island in a swamp in what is now South Kingston, R. I. Abraham² was wounded in the attack upon this fort.
June 24, 1675, he received two pounds and two shillings for earlier services in the same war. In 1735 he, among others, received a grant of land (known as a Narragansett grant) as a recognition of services rendered the Commonwealth in King Philip's war.
January 3, 1689, Abraham,² Richard² and Isaac² are mentioned in the town records as "freeholders but non-freemen," not being members of the Church. They were however made freemen by the General Court in Boston, March 21, 1690. Real estate conveyances, recorded at East Cambridge, Mass., indicate that he was a man of considerable means. He died Jan. 4, 1738. Deborah, his widow, died Jan. 28, 1743. His estate was not administered on until eighteen years after he died, and then amounted to only about $375. The following inventory of Abraham's estate was returned Dec. 30, 1756 :

Money due to the estate, a dark mare, a saddle and bridle, one fat ox, one yoke of oxen, six steers and four cows, two heifers and three fat swine, four small swine and three house ladders, five old axes, two plows, two broad hoes, fodder in both barns, eighty seven bushels of Indian corn and rye, fifteen bushels of oats and one bushel of beans, a cart and wheels, an ox yoke and irons, one chain, a rie line, three lengths and tacklings, three old saws, fourteen harrow teeth, a file, square and frad, old iron, a half bushel, adz, hammer and two sickles, fine lock, plain iron beetle, rings and wedges, six barrels of cider and old casks, salted beef, fresh beef and cow hide, a drag and iron pins, a grindstone and iron crow, a tunnel, two black sheep skins, cloth for a coat and jacket cut out, a black jacket, an old great coat and hat: an old blue coat, a pair of leather "bricks" (breeches) and two shirts, a pair of shoes, an ox yoke for one ox, one pair of stockings and one book, a cloth colored coat and jacket, one hay fork and a shovel, about three acres of upland and meadow.

Abraham³ was buried in the old "Hill burying ground" in the village of Concord. His tombstone was standing in August, 1897, and the inscription is as distinct as when first cut.

CHRISTOPHER³ (Abraham,¹ *Richard*²) of Dunstable, Mass. That he was son of Richard² is conjecture. He was born about 1660. He was one of the original proprietors of Dunstable. Fox (Hist. of Dunstable) thinks Christopher came from Concord. He married Dec. 3, 1685, Alice, daughter of Joseph and Annie Has-sell of Concord. He was killed by Indians Sept. 28, 1691. There is a rock in the channel of the Nashua river, now covered by flow-age of water, about thirty rods above the upper mill of the Nashua Manufacturing Company, called "Temple's rock," supposed to be near the place of his murder. Tradition says he, with others who were killed at the same time, were buried on this spot. He lived on the Hollis road, on the Nashua side of Mine Falls. His widow married Jan. 10, 1695, Jacob Kendall, Woburn, Mass.

J. In 1721 he was one of the town officers. His will is dated Sept. 2, 1736. It was proved Jan. 24, 1753, and letters testamentary were granted to Benjamin Temple Feb. 6, 1753. The will is recorded in the office of the Secretary of State, Trenton, N. J. He married (1) Phebe ———; (2) Rebecca ———.

ISAAC⁴ (Abraham,¹ Richard,² *Abraham*³) of Marlboro', Mass., was born in Concord, Mass., Nov. 25, 1678. He married, March 1, 1699, Martha, daughter of Nathaniel Joslyn.

The following is the genealogy of Martha Joslyn: 1. Thomas¹ Joslyn, born 1592, with Rebecca his wife and their children, Rebecca² 18, Dorothy 11, Nathaniel 8, Elizabeth 6, Mary 1, embarked at London for America April, 1635, in the ship "Increase." Abraham, an older son, came later. The family settled in Hingham, Mass., of which Thomas¹ was one of the proprietors in 1637. Thomas¹ and his son Nathaniel² subscribed to the town covenant of Lancaster, Mass., 1654. Thomas¹ died 1660, aged 68. His widow married William Kerley 1664. 2. Nathaniel² Joslyn removed to Lancaster, Mass., 1654, was made freeman 1673 and married Sarah, daughter of Thomas King of Marlboro', Mass. Children: Nathaniel³, born June 21, 1656; Sarah, born July 16, 1660; Dorothy, born March 4, 1663; Peter, born Feb. 22, 1666; Rebecca, born May 14, 1672. The will of Nathaniel Joslyn, dated March 3, 1694, also mentions daughters Elizabeth and Martha. This Martha married Isaac⁴ Temple. There is reason for believing that Thomas Joslyn was related to the eminent English family now represented by the Earl of Roden (Gen. Reg., vol. 40, p. 293). The Joslyn (or Jocelyne) family are of Norman origin, came to England with William the Conqueror, and were settled in Lincolnshire. A Joceline was Abbot of Melrose 1170.

For the better security and defence of the frontiers, certain garrisons were maintained by order of the General Court about 1711. Under date of Dec. 11, 1711, Isaac⁴ is mentioned as a member of "Isaac Amsden's garrison." He died Jan. 11, 1765. His wife died Feb. 15, 1768. Both are buried in the old "Spring Hill" cemetery, Marlboro', Mass. The executors of his will were Isaac⁵, Abraham⁵, John⁵ and Jonas⁵, his sons. The inventory of the estate showed that he had in cash and securities £761-2-6; 30 acres in Southboro' valued at £100; 12 acres in Marlboro' valued at £100; homestead house and barn valued at £466-13-4, with personal property of the amount of £65-1-3. Among the expenses of settling the estate the executors present the following: "For funeral charges £6-7-10; for the grave to Abraham Joslin 4s-8d; for coffin 6s 4d; for gravestones 60s; for breaking paths to inter the deceased £3-3."

The inventory disclosed the following books in his possession: "Locke on the Human Understanding," 2 vols., 7s-6d; "Vade Mecum," 2/; "Sherlock on a Future State," 2/; a number of pamphlets, 3/; a "System of Magic," 2/; sundry other bound books, 4s/9d.

In 1745 several members of the (Congregational) church in Westford were disciplined for absenting themselves from church and attending a private meeting under the ministrations of a private exhorter. his father Abraham. He was probably the Benjamin Temple who was one of the original grantees of the town of Templeton, Mass., Feb. 12, 1733. Most of the grantees were Concord men. There has been a tradition that Templeton was called after some person who bore the name of Temple, but he has not been identified. The probability is that the town was named after Abraham³ Temple of Concord, who was at the time a venerable man and a veteran of King Philip's war. Benjamin⁴ died March 6, 1753, and his wife died April 26, 1771, in the 77th year of her age.

March 6, 1779, he was reported sick at Philadelphia. He probably died before May 22, 1786, perhaps leaving valuable estate. Benjamin⁵ Temple gives bond in £10,000 to administer his estate, concerning which there is no further record.

NOTE ON EAMES FAMILY.

THOMAS¹ EAMES, a brickmaker and mason, born about 1618, came to America about 1634. He was a soldier in the Pequot war, was in Dedham, Mass., 1640; in Medford, occupying a mill on Mystic Side, 1652-9; in Cambridge, owning a house and eight acres of land east of Cambridge Common, which he sold Feb. 10, 1665. He married 1662 at Cambridge, Mary, daughter of John Blanford of Sudbury and widow of Jonathan Pad-difoot. He removed to Sudbury, then to Framingham, and was a farmer on a large scale. In the winter of 1675-6 he lived at Dedham, Mass. Feb. 1, 1676, his home was destroyed by Indians and his wife and several of his children killed. Two soldiers had been quartered on him for his protection, but had been withdrawn. Thomas had gone to Boston to procure help and ammunition. February 1 a party of Indians came upon the defenceless family; burned the barn, cattle and house; killed the mother and five children (some of the latter being Thomas's step-children), and carried off several others with such plunder as they wished. The children were taken to the neighborhood of Wachusett and Concord, N. H., and afterward made their escape. The General Court granted Thomas¹ as indemnity for his loss 200 acres of land. An inventory of his losses aggregated £330-12s. He also sued the Indians and recovered from them 200 acres of land additional. The leader of the marauding party was Netus, a professed convert to Christianity at Natick. Sept. 2, 1676, three Indians were executed for the murders, and the wife of Netus, and another chief accused of complicity in the massacre, were sold into slavery. One of the children of Thomas¹ was Samuel,² born Jan. 15, 1665, in Sudbury, Mass. He was taken captive at the massacre and afterwards returned.

MARSENA* (Abraham,¹ Richard,² Abraham,³ Richard,⁴ Thomas,⁵ William,⁶ Barnard⁷) of Munnsville, N. Y., and Mauston, Wis., lawyer, was born in Middlefield, N. Y., Dec. 11, 1812. He married, April 27, 1840, Caroline Phebe Stillman, who was born in Springfield, N. Y., Dec. 3, 1818, and died July 10, 1891. He died in Mauston, April 23, 1889. He was educated in the public schools and later, by close application to work on the farm, managed to save enough to pay for a brief course at the Clinton Liberal Institute. He began the study of law in the office of Judge Morehouse at Cooperstown, and was admitted to the bar before the Supreme Court at Albany, Judge Samuel Nelson being the presiding justice. Shortly after his marriage he took up his residence in Madison County, N. Y., where he engaged in the practice of his profession. During this period he took an active part in politics, being one of the "Original Republicans" in that section in 1854. He held several county offices and represented his district in the Assembly during the winter of 1851.

In 1856, Mr. Temple turned his steps westward, finally locating in Newport, Sauk County, Wis. He was interested in mercantile business and, though practically withdrawing from active work in his profession, was frequently consulted on legal matters. During his residence in Sauk County, he took an active part in the administration of affairs, and in 1860 was elected to the Legislature as a Republican. During the session held in the winter of 1860 and 1861, he was chairman of the Committee on Militia, and at the close of his service accepted the arduous duties of Draft Commissioner.

In 1865, he moved to Mauston, Juneau County, Wis., where he was engaged in the grain trade, operating an elevator. Afterwards, he was an extensive dealer in wood and ties. He was frequently called upon to direct the affairs of the village, and during the last ten years of his life was continuously elected justice of the peace.

Mr. Temple was a member of the Masonic order, and took great pride in the work. At the time of his death, he was Grand Master of the Grand Council of Royal and Select Masters of Wisconsin, and had been frequently highly honored in the other grand bodies of the State.

Mr. Temple's own daily life, his uprightness of character and honesty of purpose, his consideration for the rights of his fellow beings, constitute a legacy to his children and friends. His last years were spent in the quiet of his home to which he was always greatly attached. The final illness was brief.

NOTE ON THE WELCH FAMILY.

JOHN² (*Edward*²?), born 1665(?). He removed from Newbury, Essex County, Mass., to Norwich, Conn., where he died in 1728, leaving an estate of £333. He was a farmer, and also operated a forge and grist mill. In 1654, several lads were sent from Ireland in the ship "Goodfellow" to be sold as slaves in New England. Among them were Philip and Edward Welch. The latter was sold, May 10, 1654, to Samuel Symonds of Ipswich, Mass., Deputy Governor of the Bay Colony (vide Reg., Vol. 19, p. 55). Philip was sold in the same locality, and was about eleven years old in 1654. In 1661, he made his escape (p. 414, Vol. 21, Mass. Qu. Rev.). It was a common thing for the wives and families of Irish soldiers engaged in foreign service to be shipped by Cromwell's government to be sold as slaves. Vol. 23 (p. 417) of the Gen. Register contains a partial list of the descendants of this Philip Welch. The latter was grandfather to Samuel Welch, who died at Bow or Kingston, N. H., April 5, 1823, aged 112.—(Farmer and Moore's Collections, Vol. 2, p. 148.) Ipswich is near to Newbury, and it is altogether probable that John² was a son either of Edward or Philip, most likely of the former. James Welch of Bristol, R. I. (married Mercy Sabin), may have been brother to John.² Philip was a soldier in King Philip's war. There was a large Welch family at Yarmouth, Me., and others by the name at Portsmouth, N. H. There was a John Welch born in Boston, Mass., July 16, 1682, son of John.—(Am. Anc. 5: 99.) The remote origin of the family was probably in Wales. Settlers in County Down, Ireland, from Conway, Wales, are still known as Welsh. This is no doubt the origin of the family name. Under the Irish laws, English names were enforced in place of their unpronounceable Celtic patronyms.—(Hall's "Ireland Illustrated," Vol. 3, p. 23.) Paxton Hood says "All Welch blood is royal or noble."—(Cromwell, p. 25.) I do not know just what he means, but it reminds me of the assertion which my grandfather, Luther³ Welch, often made, that he was of royal descent.

Children:

- i. EBENEZER,³ b. 1686(?).

SAMUEL,¹ born 1745(?). He is said, by tradition, to have lived in one of the eastern counties of Maryland (perhaps Cecil), and to have been a Friend. It is possible that he was from New Castle County, Del. Had a brother Henry. He probably came from England or descended from English ancestors. July, 1635, one Robert Kellum, aged 51, embarked in the merchant ship "Hope," Hugh Weston master, after examination by the minister at Gravesend to be transported to Virginia. July 27, 1635, Richard Kellum, aged 16, was embarked in the "Primrose," Capt. Douglas master, to be transported to Virginia, being certified by the minister at Gravesend concerning the oath of supreme allegiance. March 1, 1667, William Kellum, a convict in Newgate, was ordered put on board a ship for Virginia. From some of these it is possible that Samuel and Henry Kellum had descent. Early settlers in Maryland usually sailed from England, bound for Virginia. Maryland public records from about 1663 to 1777 are recorded at Annapolis. Jan. 7, 1778, Edward Kellum was 2d Lieut. of Capt. William Turpin's company.

NOTE ON HIATT FAMILY.

WILLIAM,¹ born 1670(?). He married Mary Smith. It is hardly probable that he ever came to America. Thomas and Elizabeth Hiatt came from Greenoge, Ireland, a few miles north of Dublin, in 1733, and settled in New Garden, Chester County, Pa., where they were admitted to Friends' meeting on certificate dated "Mote of Greenoge, Apr. 10, 1733." This Thomas was probably the son of William.¹ In 1759, or before, some of this family removed to near Winchester, Va., where they joined the Hopewell Friends meeting, the records of which, 1735-59, have been destroyed. He married, Oct. 13, 1757, Dinah, daughter of Isaac and Mary (Houghton) Cook, at Loudon Grove meeting (New Garden), Chester County, Pa. He resided for a time in Chester County, and removed to Cane Creek, a few miles from Newberry, S. C., in 1770, with four children. Bush River Friends' meeting was in Newberry County, S. C., and was both a monthly and a quarterly. The latter was composed of three monthly meetings; viz: Bush River, Cane Creek (Union County, S. C., probably less than twenty miles from Bush River). There was also a Friends' meeting at Cane Creek, Clatham County, N. C. The Cox, Cook, Campbell, Spray and Wilson names all belong to Cane Creek, S. C., meeting. The original family records (births, etc.) of Bush River and Cane Creek, S. C., and the minutes of Bush River monthly meeting are kept at Guilford College, S. C. They are fairly complete from 1772 to 1807. He and his wife were elders in Bush River Friends' meeting. He died May 12, 1794. Dinah died March 11, 1821.

NOTE ON CAMPBELL FAMILY.

I cannot vouch for the correctness of the following account prior to John C. Campbell, born April 3, 1742, nor of his parentage as therein stated. This statement is taken from a MS. genealogy said to have been prepared by a certain Lord(?) Fisher of London, Eng. The MS., May 12, 1896, was in the hands of J. W. Whicker, attorney-at-law, Attica, Ind.

NOTE ON SPRAY FAMILY.

The name is probably from the river Spree (pronounced Spray) in Germany. The name is said to be frequent in Germany and Switzerland. In Besse's "Collection" of Quaker martyrology from 1650-1689, one of the victims mentioned was a Spray.

He settled in Chester County, Pa., married Sarah ———, and removed to the vicinity of Winchester, Frederick County, Va., where he died. Samuel² left him, joined the American army, and was sent to the frontier to hold the Indians in check. The horrors of war made him a peace man. He joined the Quakers and became a preacher. He married, 1780, Mary, daughter of John and Dinah (Cook) Wilson.—(See Wilson note.) On account of their objection to slavery, whole settlements of Quakers left their homes in the Carolinas. Among them were the Sprays, Wilsons, Kellums and Campbells. Samuel² and his family removed, 1803, to the Miami River, near Waynesville, Ohio, and later to Caesar's Creek, above Waynesville. The first piece of money which he earned after marriage was a French crown, still kept in the family. He died March 20, 1836.

GENEALOGY OF THE DESCENDANTS OF ROBERT TEMPLE, OF SACO, ME.

The compilation of the facts contained in this genealogy was begun about 1835 by William Temple, Esq., of Woburn, Mass. After his death, the material gathered by him was preserved by Mr. W. F. Greenough of Woburn. In 1897, I learned of this MS. and secured a copy of it. I submitted this to Rev. Edward F. Temple, then of Trenton, N. Y., who was a descendant of Robert of Saco. Rev. Mr. Temple then undertook to complete the work of William Temple, Esq., and to publish the results. Death overtook him, however, in January, 1899, at Marion, Mass., and for the second time this genealogy was left unfinished. I did not learn of his death until after the previous part of this volume had been placed in the hands of the printers. Later, the combined result of their labors was sent to me to be incorporated in this volume. The material has been re-arranged to correspond with the method adopted in the earlier part of the book, but no attempt has been made to collect additional information.

SOME ACCOUNT OF TEMPLES DESCENDED FROM A WILTSHIRE (ENG.), FAMILY.

THOMAS TEMPLE of Heytesbury, Wiltshire, England, died about 1593. His will was proved May 15, 1594 (42 Dixey). His wife was Agnes, and his will speaks of ten children, but gives no names. The records of the parish church in Heytesbury do not begin until 1653. It is probable that among his grandsons were William¹ Temple of Coombs Lane, ancestor of Chester County, Pa., Temples, and William Temple of Tithing of Wick, ancestor of Virginia Temples. Perhaps one of his sons may have been Abraham Temple of Salem, Mass.

WILLIAM,¹ of Coombs Lane, parish of Atworth, or Bradford-on-Avon, Wiltshire, England, was born about 1650. He married Susannah Carrington.

Children :

He came to America, 1714; married Jan. 18, 1724-5, Hannah (born Aug. 7, 1708), daughter of Joseph and Elizabeth Taylor, who was grandson of Abiah Taylor of Didcott, Berkshire, England. She died Jan. 5, 1768. Oct. 15, 1724, he purchased two hundred acres of land on Brandywine Creek, then Kennet township, afterward Pennsylvania, and there he made his permanent residence, dying in 1775.

NOTE ON TAYLOR FAMILY.

ABIAH TAYLOR of Didcott in Berkshire, England, had two sons, Abiah and Joseph, who came to Chester County, Pennsylvania. Abiah, Jr., married Deborah Gearing in 1694, at Farington meeting. About the year 1702 they settled in East Bradford. He built a house of brick (now known as the "old brick house") in 1724; it was Washington's headquarters and has lately been bought by the Daughters of the Revolution to be preserved.

Joseph Taylor, son of Abiah of Dilecott, England, married, 4-16-1700, Elizabeth Haines of Harwell in the same county. They came to Pennsylvania in 1708, and in 1711 purchased 705 acres of land on the west side of the Brandywine, and later 103 acres adjoining.

Their daughter Hannah married William Temple, 1-18-1725.
