

SOME ACCOUNT OF THE
TEMPLE FAMILY

BY

TEMPLE.

The descent of the Temple family has been derived from the Saxon earls of Mercia, and the fabulous arms attributed to those earls, have been, in some cases, prefixed (in the first quarter) to those originally borne by the Temples.

The origin of this family, which takes its name from residence in one of the houses of the Knights Templars, is recorded upon very substantial evidence, but the genealogical descent is obscure, as the Temples did not rise above the rank of small gentry until the latter part of the XVth century.

There are two very contradictory lines of descent of this family, both, however, leading to Robert I Temple, who was seated at Temple Hall, co. Leicester, in the XVth century, and with him we begin our account.

This Robert Temple left four sons: Nicholas, who succeeded him, but died without issue; Robert II, who inherited Temple Hall from his brother Nicholas ; Thomas, the founder of the line of Witney ; and Henry, who left no posterity.

Line of Temple Hall.

This line is no longer heard of after 1660, when its representative, Peter Temple, a regicide, was imprisoned for life and Temple Hall was confiscated. This Peter had three sons ; the two older ones left no issue, and the third one and his descendants, if he had any, seem to have dropped out of sight.

Line of Witney.

Thomas I Temple, the third son of Robert I Temple, of Temple Hall, settled at Witney, co. Oxford, and founded this line. In tracing this line we come to Thomas II, who had two sons, Robert and Peter ; Robert continued the line, of which, however, we hear nothing further after the fourth generation ; and Peter founded the line of Stowe.

Line of Stowe.

Peter Temple, the founder of this line, had two sons : John, who continued the line, and Anthony, who founded the line of Coughton. The line of Coughton, which became extinct in 1865, produced a number of prominent statesmen ; among others, Sir William Temple, of the time of Charles the Second, and the late Lord Palmerston.

John, who continued the line of Stowe, had five sons : Thomas, his heir, and the first Baronet ; John, who founded the short-lived line of Frankton ; Sir Alexander Temple, Kt., who left a son, but of whose posterity little is known ; and William and Peter, of whose issue nothing is known.

Sir Thomas Temple, the first Baronet, left four sons : Peter, his heir ; Sir John Temple, of Biddlesden and Stantonbarry, Kt., founder of the line of Stantonbarry ; the Rev. Dr. Thomas Temple, founder of the line of New England ; and Miles, of whom all that we know is that he had a son, Miles.

The line of Stowe became extinct in 1749.

Line of Stantonbarry.

Sir John Temple, second son of Sir Thomas Temple, first Baronet, the founder of this line, had two sons who left issue: Sir Peter, his heir, who continued the line and whose representative succeeded to the baronetcy in 1749; and Colonel Edmond Temple, of Sulby, the founder of the line of Sulby.

The line of Stantonbarry became extinct in 1786.

The Line of Sulby.

The last representative of this line was Edward Temple, who died without issue in 1796.

The Line of New England.

This line, founded by the Rev. Dr. Thomas Temple, third son of Sir Thomas Temple, first Baronet, is at present represented by Sir Grenville Louis John Temple, twelfth Baronet.

Appendix.

Temple Hall.

Temple Hall, co. Leicester, is five miles from Atherstone, within the hamlet of Whellesborough, but extra parochial, according to the usual privilege of the Templars. This manor was granted to the Templars at an early period and becoming eventually the property of the Temple family, it gave them their name. An inquisition taken 1279 shows this manor as having been held at that time by Henry de Temple. Temple Hall remained the property of this family until 1660, when it was confiscated upon Peter Temple, the regicide.

In 1667, the father of the statesman Sir William Temple, cautions his son against buying Temple Hall; he writes as follows: "For first it is so ancient that it has quite lost the name, as well as the house, which is so ruinous, as a great sum of money will not repair; and it is only now known by another denomination, which I have forgot. Then the gentleman that bought it not long since and paid twenty years purchase for it, I believe will not part with it."

Temple Hall, still known under that name, is now a modern dwelling.

Shepey Magna.

Shepey Magna, co. Leicester, a parish in the hundred of Sparkenhoe, is three miles from Atherstone, and was at one time in the possession of the Temples. Up to 1630 there was in the church,* on the northeast window, the portrait of a man kneeling, under which was "Ricardus de Temple," who the Ricardus was is not known. In 1778 the church was rebuilt and every vestige of glass and of tombs was obliterated.

* The church as it stood in 1630 has been figured in Nichol's Leicestershire.

† The date is indistinct.

To my wife Elizabeth the moiety or half part of the house I now inhabit with the moiety of the outhouses in Temple in the parish of Sibson in the said county of Leicester. Also to my wife certain closes called Temple hill and Welsborowe Mill for life or widowhood. But if she marry and she herself or she and her husband cannot agree to dwell with my eldest son Paul Temple, then my will is she shall have one hundred pounds yearly during her life in lieu of dowry and thirds. To my said eldest son Paul Temple the other moiety of the said premises in the parish of Sibbesdon to him and his heirs for ever. To the said Paul Temple all my messuages and lands in Carleton in the said county of Leicester to him and his heirs for ever. Also to Paul other messuages and lands in Sibson alias Sibbesdon to him and his heirs for ever. To Jonathan Temple my second son and to the heirs of his body lawfully begotten all my lands and tenements in the parish of Kinsbury in the County of Warwick commonly called or known by the name of Crowe hall and lands in Barton-in-the-Beans and Melson in the said county of Leicester. To hold to him and the heirs of his body lawfully begotten and for want of such issue to remain to my wife Elizabeth for the term of five years for the mending of the portions of her two youngest daughters Anna Temple and Martha Temple. And after the end of the said five years all the said lands and tenements shall remain to my son Paul Temple and his heirs for ever. And I do require and charge my son Jonathan Temple that if he shall have occasion to sell those lands or any part thereof he shall first make offer thereof to my son Paul Temple for so much as the lands he shall sell shall be then worth. To the said Jonathan Temple to mend his portion and for his better preferment maintenance and education twenty marks by the year to be paid to him for nine years next after the date of this my will and to be issuing out of all my lands in Bilson alias Bilsdon in the said county of Leicester. My will is that my said wife Elizabeth shall have the education and bringing up of my six youngest children, namely, Peeter Temple, James Temple, Joseph Temple, Beniamine

Temple, Anna Temple, and Martha Temple, until they shall severally accomplish their several ages of one and twenty years and for their better education and bringing up and towards their maintenance the said Elizabeth shall have to her own use the whole rents and profits of all my lands and tenements in Beverley in the county of York in such manner and for so long time as after in my will expressed namely for ten years next following the date of this my will and after the end of the said ten years my said wife Elizabeth shall receive out of the rents of the said lands in Beverley only forty-five pounds for five years and the residue of the said rents to be paid to my said son Peeter Temple during the said term of the said last recited five years. To my said son Peeter Temple two hundred and fifty pounds to be paid to him within two years after he shall become forth of his apprenticeship. To my son James Temple two hundred and fifty pounds to be paid to him within two years after he shall be come forth of his apprenticeship if it shall please God that he shall be an apprentice. Or if he shall not be an apprentice then to be paid to him at 22. To my son Joseph Temple two hundred and fifty pounds in like manner as to James and a like bequest to Beniamine. If any die his portion to remain to the survivors. For the satisfaction and payment of the said several sums of Two hundred and fifty pounds I give all my lands and tenements in Bilsdon aforesaid which shall be tied and assured to my said four youngest sons, Peeter, James, Joseph and Beniamine and also my lands in Beverley subject to a proviso that if Paul Temple my eldest son do within twelve months next after my death pay unto my wife Elizabeth Temple if she be living and a widow or if she shall be dead or married. Then to my brothers in law Roger Burgoyne esquire and John Burgoyne gentleman and to my son in law Robert Shilton gent or to the survivors or survivor the whole sum of One thousand pounds. Then those limitations shall not take effect. To my daughter Anna Temple three hundred pounds to be paid to her within one year after she shall be married or at twenty. To my daughter Martha Temple two hundred pounds.

The said sums to be paid by Paul Temple and he shall pay them to Elizabeth my wife if she be living and a widow or to my said brothers in law and to my said son in law Robert Shilton or to the survivors or survivor. And if my said son Paul Temple fail of the payment, Then I do give unto my said daughters Anna Temple and Martha Temple in lieu of the said three hundred pounds and two hundred pounds certain real estate. To my wife Elizabeth a double gold ring and certain furniture and effects. To my son Paul Temple two gilt mazers and twelve Apostle spoons of silver. To my daughter Marie Shilton a gilt bowl without a cover which was given to her by my good friend and cousin John Temple esquire deceased. To my daughter Martha Temple one gilt spoon and two silver spoons. To servants William Clarke and John Scott fifty three shillings and four pence apiece. John Sheppard and Nicholas Deacon twenty shillings apiece and Dorothe Bodalle forty shillings. To my kinsman Samuel Love ten pounds to bind him apprentice and if he be no apprentice towards his maintenance. To my good friend Mr. Anthonie Nutter five pounds. To poor Christians near adjoining forty shillings to be bestowed according to the discretion of my executors. To the repairs of Sibbesdon Church twenty shillings. To my wife Elizabeth the full moiety of all the residue if she continue unmarried, but if she marry, then she shall have but the half part of the moiety. And out of that other fourth part I do give unto my daughter Martha Temple one hundred pounds to amend her portion and fifty pounds more of that fourth part I give unto my daughter Elizabeth Bannester to mend her portion. To my son Paul the other half. If this do not suffice for payment of debts and legacies then the residue of lands and tenements in Bilson not before given are to go to Roger Burgoyne and John Burgoyne and debts and legacies being therewith discharged the residue of the proceeds to be given to my son Paul Temple. If Paul will pay or give security for payment then he to have such residue. I constitute my well-beloved wife Elizabeth Temple and my son Paul Temple executors and my loving brothers in law Roger Burgoin esquire and John Burgoyne joint overseers of this my last will and testament earnestly entreating them upon my executors and to see it duly executed and to labour to appease any controversy that may arise upon this my said Will between my executors or any other legatees according to their best discretions and judgment that there may no suit in law be made or stirred. And in token of my love unto them I do give to either of these my Overseers one ring of gold of the value of fifty three shillings and four pence apiece. Dated 15th February 1615.

BURTON DASSETT.

In 1560 Peter Temple of Stowe purchased one third of the manor of Burton Dasset, co. Warwick from Leonard Danet and one third from Richard Coke, said Danet and Coke having inherited through the Belknaps, long its owners.

The village of Burton Dasset, with the exception of the church, which still stands, was destroyed under Henry VII by Sir Edward Belknap, then lord of the manor.

In the north transept of the church, formerly styled the "Buckingham chapel," now termed the "Willoughby chapel," stands a high tomb to Peter Temple, of Stowe, who died May 28th 1577, and his wife, which was formerly inlaid with brass figures, shields, and had an inscription round the verge, all of which have disappeared.*

The inscription as given in Dugdale, edition of 1730, is as follows:

"Here under this stone lyeth the body of Peter Temple Esquier, who departed out of this world at Stow in the

* Ribton-Turner states, (1893), that the tomb is about to be restored by the family.

County of Buckingham the xxviiiith day of May Anno [], whose Soule God hath in his blessed keeping."

Under the east window of this transept is the slab of a pre-reformation altar. To the south of this is a piscina. On the wall above the piscina is the tomb of John Temple of Stowe, which in Dugdale, edition of 1730, is described thus:

"Fixt in the wall betwyxt two Corinthian pillars:

"Hereunder lyeth the body of John Temple of Stow in the county of Buck. Esquire, one of the Lords of this Mannour, and Susan his wife, who was the daughter and heire of Thomas Spenser of Everton in the county of Northampton Esquire, who had issue Six sons and six daughters, as here may appear. The said John Temple deceased the ninth day of May, 1603, being of age LXI years, and the said Susan deceased the [] day of [] being of the age of [] years.

Cur liberos hic plurimos?
Cur his amicos plurimos,
Et plurimas pecunias,
Vis scire cur reliquerit?
Tempellus ad plures abiet."

On the top of this monument, Temple empaling Spenser, and on several shields round the inscription are several arms depicted and inscriptions over them as follows:

1. Sr George Temple, died young. No arms on this shield.
2. Sr Thomas Temple and Sands, "Or, a fesse indented between three crosses crosslets fitché gules."
3. Saunders and Temple, "parted per cheveron argent and sable three elephants heads counter charged."
4. Risley and Temple, "argent, a fesse azure between three crescents gules." These are on the top.
5. John Temple.
6. Sr. Al. Temple and Somers, "vert, a fesse dauncet ermine." These two are on the right side.
7. Sr. Nicholas Parker and Temple, "azure, frette or a fesse argent."

8. Sr. Thomas Denton, "argent, two bars gules in chief three cinquefoils sable." These two are on the left side.

9. William Temple. This is at the bottom.

Biddlesden.

Biddlesden, co. Bucks, seven miles from Buckingham, which in 1841 had a population of 169 souls, was at one time the property of Sir John Temple, Kt. Robert, Earl of Leicester, conferred this manor upon the Cistercian monks of Gerondon, who in 1147 founded an abbey there; eventually it passed to the Crown; in 1540 it was granted to Thomas Wriothesley.

Stantonbarry.

Stantonbarry in the hundred of Newport-Pagnell, co. Bucks, is three miles from Newport-Pagnell; at one time this manor was held by the Barré or Barry family; the Crown granted Stantonbarry to the Ashfields, from whom it passed to the Lees and from them to the Temples; in 1662 or 1663 it was sold to Sir John Wittewronge, Bart. and eventually it passed to the Spencers.

Edward Ashfield died seized of Stantonbarry in 1577, his daughter Avice, who was the first wife of Edmund Lee, brought it to her husband, and a daughter of his, by his second wife, Dorothy Lee, carried it to her husband Sir John Temple, Kt. Sir John Temple died seized of this manor, and it passed to his heir Sir Peter Temple, Kt.

The church contains a tombstone to Sir John Temple, Kt., erected by his widow.

The inscription is on a stone in the pavement within the Communion rails: "Here rest the Bodys of Sir John Temple, Knight, and of Dame Dorothy his first wife, one of the two daughters and heirs of Edmund Lee, Esq. late Lord of this Mannor, by whom he had issue living at the time of his death 4 sonnes and 3 daughters. She dyed ye — day of — 1625, and he dyed the 23 day of Sept. 1632, Dame Frances his 2^d wife surviving, who placed heere this marble."

On this tomb are the following arms: "1 and 4, an eagle displayed, 2 and 3, two bars charged with six martlets;" Temple; impaling "a fess between three crescents, a martlet for difference." Lee.

Sir Thomas Temple, Kt. and Baronet of Nova Scotia.* (SECOND SON OF SIR JOHN TEMPLE, OF STANTONBARRY, KT.)

Born : baptized at Stowe, January 10th 1614.

Died : London, March 27th 1674; buried at Ealing, co. Middlesex, March 28th.

Will : Boston, October 14th 1671, proved† July 28th 1674. (Probate office, Suffolk, co. Mass.) Second will, London, March 27th 1674, proved July 27th 1674. (93 Bunce.)

Account of Sir Thomas Temple.

On the 20th of September 1656 Sir Charles St. Etienne made over to Sir Thomas, and to one Crowne for a consideration all his interest in a grant of Nova Scotia reserving to himself one half of all fruits and peltries; this grant was confirmed by Cromwell, who appointed Sir Thomas, Governor of Acadia, under the name of "Colonel Thomas Temple, esquire." Under Charles II^d the government of Nova Scotia was granted to Elliot, who farmed it out to Sir Thomas for £600, and Temple went over as his deputy; thus it went on until 1667, when on conclusion of the peace with France, Acadia was transferred to that country. July 7th 1662, a Baronet of Nova Scotia. He resided several years in Boston; in 1672 he is said to have sold a house in Boston to Stephen Temple of Sulby, co. Northampton, England, a son of his brother Colonel Edmund Temple. Sir Thomas joined the church of Cotton Mather; in 1672 he gave £100 towards erecting Harvard College, one eighth of the whole sum subscribed at that time by the citizens of Boston.

* Arms: "Argent, two bars sable, each charged with three martlets or."

† It is to be presumed that at the time of the admission to probate in Boston of this first will, the court in Massachusetts was ignorant of the existence of a later will.

First Will of Sir Thomas Temple, Kt. and Bart. of Nova Scotia. (PROBATE OFFICE, SUFFOLK CO., MASS.)

I, S^r Thomas Temple Knt. & Barronett being weake in body but (through the Great mercy of God) in Perfect memories doe make this my last will and Testament in manner & forme as followeth.

Imprimis, I resigne my soule unto God who formed me in my mother's womb and hath wonderfully preserved me in all my wayes & wanderings, whose mercies hath been greate towards me. Altogether unworthy of the least of them. And my body I commend unto the earth from whence it came to be buried in desent maner (without any cerimonies of Scarffs, ribands, wine &c) having assured hope of the Blessed Resurrection through Jesus christ my Blessed redeemer who shall change my vile body & fashion it like unto his Glorious Body. According to his mighty Power whereby he is able to subdue all things to himselfe.

And for my worldly Estate which God hath entrusted mee with, my will is, that my just debts be payed out of my estate.

My Debtes are as followeth, viz:

I owe unto Robert Paekaherst Esq ^r	£400.
Item unto M ^r Thomas Gage	400.
Item unto M ^{rs} Luce Fotherly, Daughter of S ^r Tho. Fotherly of Richmans-worth or to her heirs	400.

Some Account of Sir Peter Temple, Kt. of Stantonbarry.

(HERALD AND GENEALOGIST.)

Sir Peter Temple published a small volume,* bearing the following title: Man's Master-Piece, or the best Improvement of the worst Condition. In the exercise of a Christian Duty. On six considerable actions: 1. The Contempt of the World. 2. The judgment of God against the Wicked, &c. 3. Meditations on Repentance. 4. Meditations on the Holy Supper. 5. Meditations on Afflictions and Martyrdom. 6.

* A copy of this book, at the Stowe Sale, produced £2 9s. The portraits alone have sometimes brought as much or more. There are also copies of them by W. Richardson, 1799. Caulfield, the editor of a reprint of The High Court of Justice, relates the following particulars of the fate of the original plates by Gaywood: "The late Marquess of Buckingham, who was a distinguished patron of Sherwin the engraver, put into his hands the two copper-plates of Sir Peter and his lady, for the purpose of taking off a few impressions; but by some mischance the plates were lost, and sold to a dealer in old metal for the weight of copper, from whom they were purchased by a man named Lemoine, who parted with them to the elder Graves, the printseller, for half a guinea; at whose death, at the sale of his stock of prints and copper-plates, these appearing among the rest, were claimed and given up to the Marquess; the impressions for years previous to this discovery of the plates mostly selling from two to three guineas each."

With a Meditation for one that is Sick. By P. T. Knt.
London, 1658. 12 mo. pp. 252.

In this volume are portraits of Sir Peter and his wife Dame Elinor, engraved by R. Gaywood.

They are both represented as busts placed upon pedestals. In the background of Sir Peter are his arms: "1 and 4, a displayed eagle" (Leofric, Earl of Mercia); "2 and 3, a fess between three crescents" (Lee); impaling "two chevronels within a bordure engrailed" (Tyrrell); and for crest, "an eagle rising from a ducal coronet." Behind the lady is a shield bearing on the dexter side a displayed eagle only, impaling her arms, as on the other plate. Inscription:

The death of Sir Peter occurred somewhat mysteriously at Norwich, shortly before the Restoration, according to the following entry in the registry of burials at St. Peter's Mancroft in that city:

"1659 (-60) Jan. 14. A gent. stranger, called by the name of John Browne, otherwise afterwards his buryeall by the name of Sir Peter Temple."

Tomb of the Temples of Sulby.

In the church at Welford, co. Northampton, at the upper end of the north aisle is a burial place formerly belonging to the Temple family, but now (1791) to Mr. Wassorne of Sulby, inserted into it there is a mural alabaster monument having on the pediment the Temple arms: "Or, a displayed eagle sable, quartering argent on two bars sable six martlets or" impaling Hervey; beneath on a black marble tablet the following inscription:

Ten Hills.

In 1631 Governor Winthrop had a grant of 600 acres near Mystic, Mass., to which he gave the name of the Ten Hills Farm, from the ten small elevations which crowned its uneven surface; in 1750 it was purchased by Robert I Temple, who made it his residence, and on his death it passed to his son Robert II Temple, who lived there until the breaking out of the Revolution.

The house, which no longer exists, was situated, it is presumed, on the site occupied by the house built by Governor Winthrop; it had a spacious hall and a generous provision of large square rooms; as you ascended the stairs in front of you, at the first landing there was a glass door opening into a small apartment overlooking the Mystic river.

Concerning Robert I Temple.

Gazetteer and London Daily Advertiser, of August 17th, 1754.

"This gentleman came to America in 1720;† he brought with him and was the means of transporting many foreign Protestants to the Colonies: he was descended from the Lady Temple,‡ famous for her numerous progeny, and married the youngest daughter of John Nelson, Esq. who was the seven hundredth and last person that lady saw lineally derived from her. M^r Temple, before and since the peace was engaged in settling German and other European Protestants on the lands at Kennebeck in behalf of his brother, Paschal Nelson, Esq. heir§ to Sir Thomas Temple, now in England, and had established some hundreds on the frontier. It is remarkable that Sir Thomas Temple, by paying for all the cannon, ammunition, ships of war, &c. and repaying the whole expenses the Commonwealth of England had been at in reducing it, purchased and had legal patents for Nova Scotia. He settled it, fortified it, and by orders from Charles II. at his own expense defended it through a Dutch and French war, and his title to it was confirmed by the crown. From a private company, about the same time, he purchased the lands mentioned at Kennebeck. Nova Scotia, his by the grant and warrant of the nation, was taken from him by national authority for the commodity of the nation; and, although it received a large equivalent, no restitution, satisfaction, or recompense was ever made to Sir Thomas or his heirs; whereas his property in Kennebeck, his from a Letter of Robert I Temple to a Gentleman of the Plymouth Company.*

CHARLESTOWN, April 17, 1753.

SIR,

You may remember how loth I was to say anything respecting Col. Hutchinson's Plan; supposing it immaterial to the issue of the controversy, whether it was an ancient or modern one. And altho. the Author of what is called An Answer to the Remarks of the Plymouth Company, acknowledges everything of moment in my affidavit (as in his 23rd page will appear) yet he is pleased in his 20th page to treat me very indecently, as well as impertinently, which notwithstanding, could not have provoked me to have wrote a line in answer to him, was I not persuaded that his inuendoes respecting my first coming into this Country, and the manner of my becoming acquainted with Col. Hutchinson, might insinuate to some of his readers, as though I had intruded, or not so properly come by the honour which that gentleman did me in his acquaintance; and puts me now under a necessity of troubling you first with the manner of my coming into New England, and how I came by the honour of my acquaintance with Col. Hutchinson, and other gentlemen. And, secondly, how I came by the ancient Plan, so called, and how the Chops of Merry-Meeting Bay came to be called Temple Bar which the said author pre-

* In 1752 a controversy took place between the Pejepscot Proprietors and the Plymouth Company, relative to their title on the Kennebeck. The counsel's papers were printed and among those of the Plymouth Proprietors appears the following letter.

Copies of these pamphlets exist in the Libraries of the Massachusetts and Maine Historical Societies.

sumes may give great light unto the dark affairs in controversy, between the Plymouth Propriety and their opponents. This I hope will prove an apology for my taking so much of your's, or any gentleman's time, in what I am obliged to say for answer.

In Sept. 1717, I contracted with Capt. James Luzmore of Topsham, to bring me, my servants, and what little Effects I had, to Boston; his Vessel then lying in Plymouth, where lived an Uncle of mine, one Mr. Nathaniel White, a Merchant, and an old Inhabitant of that town; who told me he was acquainted with several New England Gentlemen to whom he would recommend me, as they might be of Service to me by their Advice, especially in my Settlement as a Farmer, and taking up a tract of Land in that Country; and when it pleased God that I arrived at Boston, I waited on the Gentlemen, and deliver'd my uncle's letters, as directed; viz: To Jonathan Belcher, Esq.; Thomas Hutchinson, Esq.; Col. Edward Hutchinson, Daniel Oliver, and William Welsted, Esq's; Abiel Walley Esq; Mr. Pepperell of Kittery, &c. I was received with great friendship by every one of these gentlemen, whom I found to be men of worth and character in this place: I was often invited to their houses, which were always open to me, and they were kind enough to grant me their countenance and advice upon all occasions, and continued to do me these honours to the very last.

The next thing in order to give a further light to this mace of darkness, is how I came by the ancient Plan, and how the East side of the Chops of Merry-Meeting Bay came to be called Temple Bar; in order to which I would observe, that my eye was always towards a good tract of Land, as well as a convenient place for navigation; and having taken my first Journey into Connecticut Government, where I was very friendly received by several Gentlemen in those parts, from the kind recommendation of Mr. Belcher and Mr. Walley; after returning to Boston, I was resolved to see the Eastern Country also, before I should determine where to begin my Settlement; and then I was recommended by Captain Thomas Hutchinson to the Pejepseot Company, viz., the Hon. Col. Winthrop Dr. Noyes, and Col. Minot, then ready to sail in a Sloop bound to Kennebeck: In the passage thither, and at the Eastward, I contracted a very agreeable acquaintance with those worthy gentlemen, which also continued during their lives; they were also kind enough to shew me what they called Col. Hutchinson's and Sir Bybye Lake's Land on the East Side of Kennebeck, which then pleased me much better than those on the West Side; accordingly on my return to Boston, I waited on Col. Hutchinson, and having communicated to him my mind respecting his interest at Kennebeck; he not only permitted but invited me to be concerned with him, Sir Bybye Lake and his other partners, in the settlement of those Lands; in order to which I was concerned that Year in chartering two large Ships, and the next Year in chartering three more Ships, to bring Families from Ireland to carry on the settlement; in consequence of which several Hundred People were landed in Kennebeck River, some of which, or their Descendants, are Inhabitants there to this day; but the greatest Part removed to Pennsylvania and a considerable Part to Londonderry, for Fear of the Indians, who were very troublesome at that time: After I had settled some Families on the East side of Merry-Meeting Bay (to which Place we gave the Name of Cork) Col. Hutchinson was pleased to give me a Deed for 1,000 Acres of Land at the Chops of Merry-Meeting Bay, where I first landed a large number of those families; and Col. Winthrop (not I) gave that place the name of Temple Bar; about this time it was that I had the ancient Plan from Col. Hutchinson, of which I got a true copy taken; as will appear upon examination of all the lines, &c. As to Prebble and Philbrook's affidavit, the author might have saved himself and others that trouble, for it is several years since 1743, that I read the Charter to the Colony of Plymouth, and the several other papers relating to the Kennebeck Propriety, which opened my eyes as to the prejudices I lay under respecting Indian Titles; and I was so open with Col. Hutchinson in that matter, that Col. Brattle and I waited on him with those papers, who received us with his usual Courtesy, and showed us his Indian Deeds, with whom we left our Papers for his perusal and copying: I must acknowledge, till of late years I tho't those Indian Deeds might be of some consequence, not having seen the particular Laws against purchasing from the Natives, nor the Plymouth Patent; which are things that will always speak for themselves (notwithstanding all the efforts of this Author) who endeavors to pervert both. As it is the business of the Kennebeck Proprietors to defend their claim, I shall leave it wholly with them: in the mean time I may venture to tell them, he has done their cause no more damage than he has done my character; altho 'tis plain he aim'd at both,

Sir, Yours, &c.,

Robert Temple.

Noddle's Island.

Noddle's Island, now East Boston, Mass., was sold to Sir Thomas Temple, of Nova Scotia, then a resident of Boston, August 4th 1664, and three years later Sir Thomas bought out the rights of Richard Newbold, which had been reserved. November 30th 1670 Sir Thomas sold the Island for £6000 to Colonel Shrimpton; by the estimate made at that time it contained 1000 acres.

Robert I Temple leased Noddle's Island from 1723 to 1749 or '50, and occupied it as a residence; in 1746 he erected there a mansion at a cost of £7,858. 5^s 2^d Mass Curr^{cy}, a sum which indicates that the house must have been of no small pretensions; it was a fine, large mansion with brick walls and handsomely terraced, a fit residence for a man of wealth, situated on the easterly end of Eagle Hill and had a southerly front. The site on which the house stood is designated on one of the original maps of East Boston, by lot 316 third section; the well dug for M^r Temple is still in use.

In 1764 the house erected by M^r Temple was used as the Inoculating Hospital.

Tablet to Sir John Temple, Baronet, in St. Paul's Chapel,
New York.

The tablet bears on it the following inscription :

“Sacred to the Memory of
Sir John Temple, Bar^t
Consul General
To the United States of America,
From His Britannic Majesty,
The first appointment to this country
After its Independence.
Died in the city of New York,
November the 17th, 1798.
Aged 67.”

Will of Sir John Temple, 8th Bart.

In the name of God Amen: I John Temple late of the Kingdom of Great Britain Baronet, but at present residing in the City of New York, in North America, being of sound and disposing mind and memory do make and publish this my last Will and Testament in manner and form following; and first and principally I most earnestly recommend my soul to the mercy of Almighty God in hopes of pardon and immortal life through the merits and intercession of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ; and do give my body to the earth to be interred with as little expence as decency will admit of. And as to the worldly estate with which it hath pleased God to entrust me I dispose of the same as followeth:

Imprimis, it is my will and desire that all my just debts be paid by my executrix hereinafter named as soon as conveniently may be after my decease. Item I give and devise all the Residue and Remainder of my estate both real and personal whatsoever and wheresoever (after payment of my Debts as aforesaid) to my dearly beloved wife Elizabeth and to her heirs and assigns forever, having the most perfect confidence as well in her equity and justice as in her sincere regard for my children; and my children will not I hope consider my thus leaving my whole estate to their mother as arising from any want of affection to them but as proceeding from the full confidence which I have that she will ever manifest a sincere and affectionate love and regard to them. Last I do hereby constitute and appoint my said beloved wife Elizabeth to be the sole executrix of this my last Wills and Testament hereby revoking and making void all former and other last Wills and Testaments by me at any time heretofore made establishing and confirming this and no other to be my last Will and Testament. In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and seal the First day of August in the year of our Lord One thousand seven hundred and ninety eight.

Extract from a letter in the possession of Hon. Robert C. Winthrop. (MASS. HIST. SOC. PROC. 1866.)

The Marquess of Buckingham to Sir John Temple.

To Sir John Temple, Bart., Consul Gen'l, New York,

STOWE, Dec. 3, 1786.

DEAR SIR,—By the address upon this letter you will have learnt that you are in possession of a rank which you so much wished. I should, in consequence of your letter, which I received by the November packet, have earnestly pressed for that mark of distinction from His Majesty; but our worthy kinsman, Sir Richard Temple, who died only in the preceding week, and having left no issue, the title devolves upon you, as heir male to Sir Peter Temple my great-great-grandfather, and your great-grandfather. I have taken care to notify this to Lord Carmarthen, in order that you may be acknowledged as baronet in his addresses to you, which is the only mode in which it is ever done; and I trust that you will do credit to one of the oldest titles now extant in the baronetage, and one that has never been disgraced by any of the many generations through which it has passed.

Dear Sir, your very faithful and obed^t serv^t,

NUGENT BUCKINGHAM.

* Daughter of Robert II Temple.

† Probably a niece of Sir John's.

Note on Sir John Temple, 8th Bart. etc. (LIFE OF REV.
MANASSEH CUTLER.)

I dined (Sunday July 8th, 1787) at Sir John Temple's.* Sir John was so complaisant as to invite Dr. Holton and Mr. Dane, which he said he did purposely on my account, as we were countrymen. The Hon. Dr. Lee, Hon. Mr. Walton (an Englishman and a member of the British Parliament), and Mr. Dawes were the other company. Sir John is the complete gentleman, but his deafness renders it painful to converse with him. Lady Temple is certainly the greatest beauty, notwithstanding her age, I ever saw. To a well proportioned form, a perfectly fine skin, and completely adjusted features, is added a soft, but majestic air, an easy and pleasing sociability, a vein of fine sense, which commands admiration and infuses delight. Her smiles, for she rarely laughs, could not fail of producing the softest sensibility in the fiercest savage. Her dress is exceedingly neat and becoming, but not gay. She is now a grandmother, but I should not suppose her more than 22; her real age is 44.† But my admiration was still more excited by their little daughter, Augusta.‡ To me she appeared a perfect prodigy. She is only six years of age.§ She introduces herself with an easy politeness to every person in the company, and is never at a loss for a subject of conversation, and so sensible and pertinent are all her observations and remarks that she never fails of pleasing. She distinguishes characters in paying her attentions with a judgment and precision which would do honor to mature age. No lady is more completely mistress of all the little etiquette which adorns a finished education. The purity and elegance of her language, witty turns and well-timed sarcasms, rather diminished pleasure by exciting constant astonishment.

* Sir John was then living at No. 188 Queen (now Pearl) Street, New York.

† She was thirty-seven years old.

‡ Later, the wife of Captain Wm. L. Palmer.

§ She was eight years old.

Our dinner was in the English style, plain but plentiful; the wines excellent, which is a greater object with Sir John than his roast beef or poultry. You cannot please him more than by praising his madeira and frequently begging the honor of a glass with him. The servants were all in livery. The Parlor, Drawing-room, and Dining-Hall are on the second story, spacious and richly furnished. The paintings are principally historical, and executed by the greatest masters in Europe. The Parlor is ornamented chiefly with medals and small busts of the principal characters now living in Europe, made of plaster of Paris and white wax. He dines at two on Sundays.

Richmond Hill.

Sir John Temple while in New York occupied at one time a country seat called Richmond Hill, which was in the neighborhood of Charlton and Varick streets; the house built by Abraham Mortier, paymaster to the British Colonial forces prior to the Revolution, stood on an eminence surrounded by woods. At one time Aaron Burr hired Richmond Hill from Trinity Parish, the present owner; the house, a frame one, was eventually lowered to the present level of the streets and moved to the corner of Varick and Charlton streets; at one time it was occupied by the Italian Opera troupe; of late years it has been taken down.*

M^{rs} Grenville Temple, Sir John's daughter-in-law, was staying at Richmond Hill January 29th 1798, when the house was entered by burglars; they took among other things some silver marked: G. E. T., and a pistol marked: G. T. 83^d Reg^t.

On the Arms borne by the Temple Family.

The first arms of this family we meet with are: "Argent two bars sable, each charged with three martlets or," and these we find on the tomb of Nicholas Temple, who died in 1504 or '06.

* These two portraits are at present in the custody of Mr. Thomas Lindall Winthrop, at Ryde.

They were adopted by some members of the line of Coughton, and by Sir Thomas Temple, Baronet of Nova Scotia.

These arms quartered with those of the Earl of Mercia, have been very generally borne by the Temples of more recent times.

“Ermine, a chevron sable, charged with five martlets argent.”

As far as my knowledge goes, this escutcheon has been used only once, and that on the tomb of Richard III Temple, of Temple Hall, who died in 1567.

"Argent, a chevron sable, charged with five martlets of the field, between three crescents gules."

These are the arms granted in 1567 to Peter Temple of Stowe; after his time they seem to have fallen into disuse.

"Sable a chevron ermine, between three martlets argent."

We first meet with these arms on the tomb of John Temple of Stowe in 1603, and for a time they seem to have been very generally borne by members of the family. They appear on the funeral certificate of Sir John Temple of Stantonbarry; the first Sir William Temple of the line of Cough-ton used them, and they were also borne by Sir William Temple, the statesman.

"1 and 4, or, an eagle displayed sable, 2 and 3, argent, two bars sable, each charged with three martlets or."

It is in 1632 that we first meet with the quartering of the imaginary arms of Leofric, Earl of Mercia, with those originally borne by the Temples, and that on the tomb of Sir John Temple of Stantonbarry.

From that period forward, for some reason or other, the family seem to have evinced great partiality for this heraldic arrangement; we see them on the tomb of Elianor Tyrrell, widow of Sir Peter Temple of Stantonbarry, and on that of the Temples of Sulby. They have been adopted by the Viscounts Palmerston, by the descendants of Hester, Countess Temple and by Sir John Temple, 8th Bart., and his descendants.

In Gaywood's two engravings of Sir Peter Temple of Stantonbarry and his wife, the escutcheon given, in each case, is that of "an eagle displayed"; this is the only instance we know of of the Leofric arms having been borne by themselves, by any of the Temples.

About Your Temple Ancestors

Years ago William Temple, of Woburn, Mass., began collecting information concerning the descendants of Richard Temple (b. 1668) of Reading, Mass., but died without publishing his MS. About three years ago Rev. E. F. Temple, then of Trenton, N. Y., undertook to complete this work and had large correspondence with descendants of Richard Temple. Rev. E. F. Temple died in January, 1899, without publishing the results of his labor. All the material collected by Wm. Temple and Rev. E. F. Temple is now in my hands.

Previous to receiving this unpublished material I had completed and sent to the printer a MS. genealogy covering over 500 Temple families, but including none of the descendants of Richard Temple, of Reading. I make now this offer to descendants of Richard Temple, of Reading, whose genealogy has been collected by Wm. and Rev. E. F. Temple, both deceased. Provided I receive in reply to this proposition a sufficient number of subscriptions to the Temple genealogy at $5 per copy, I will incorporate therein the results of the work of Wm. and Rev. E. F. Temple. This will make a creditable volume of genealogy, printers estimating that the entire MS. will make a book of 250 to 300 8vo pages. It will be virtually inclusive of all branches of the Temple family in America and will be the only book of authority on this subject. The price of the book after publication will be $6. It will be indexed and bound in cloth. If you wish to possess this book containing the lineage of hundreds of Temple families back to 1636, please fill out and return at once the following order. No money is asked until the books are ready for delivery. Unless a sufficient number of orders in reply to this circular is at once received, I shall be obliged to leave out the descendants of Richard, of Reading, and proceed with the publication of my other MS.

Very truly yours,

Very truly yours,

REV. LEVI DANIEL TEMPLE,
Flemington, N. J.

Sept. 12, 1899.

☞ This book will be of the greatest value to every person bearing the TEMPLE name or descended from a Temple ancestor. The foregoing offer is open to everybody. Only 25 copies in addition to those ordered in advance will be printed. Persons interested in the descendants of Richard Temple should order as many books as they can afford, to insure the publication of these MSS. No free copies will be furnished libraries, or for review or otherwise, nor in exchange.

REV. L. D. TEMPLE, Flemington, N. J. :

On condition that you publish in your forthcoming genealogy of Temple families an account of the descendants of Richard Temple, of Reading, Mass., as proposed in your circular of Sept. 12, 1899, I hereby subscribe for copies at $5 per copy and I agree to send you the money at once when notified that the books are ready for delivery.
