EXPLANATION.

Each individual is numbered in order of birth from 1 up, and to this number is prefixed the number of all his ancestors in order of each ancestor's birth. For instance Nathaniel's number: he is third child of Asahel, therefore 3 is his number. Asahel is third child of Samuel so 3 is prefixed; Samuel is the sixth child of James so 6 is prefixed; James is the sixth child of Benjamin so 6 is again prefixed; Benjamin is the fourth child of Benjamin so 4 is prefixed and Benjamin is the third son of Walter so 3 is prefixed, making Nathaniel's number 3-4-6-6-3-3. These numbers show Nathaniel's number in order of his birth, his father, his grandfather, his great grandfather, and back to Walter, who came from Kent Co., England, 1635.

Nathaniel is the third child of the third child of the sixth child of the sixth child of the fourth child of the third child of Walter, who landed in Scituate, Mass., in 1635.

WALTER WOODWORTH came from Kent Co., England, to Scituate, Mass., 1635. Was assigned the third lot on Kent St., which runs along the ocean front, at the corner of Meeting House Lane, and there he built a house. In that year he owned other land, a tract on the First Herring Brook not far below Stockbridge Mill, where afterwards stood the residence of the poet Samuel Woodworth, and another tract on Walnut Tree Hill, just west of the present Greenbush or South Scituate R. R. Station, which was in early times called Walter Woodworth's Hill, and in 1666 he became a purchaser of sixty acres at Weymouth. In 1640 Walter was assessed nine shillings for the public use, and March 2, 1641, freeman; and in June 4, 1645, he was appointed surveyor of highways in Scituate, and again in 1646 and 1656. His name appears frequently on the town records of Scituate as juror, etc. In 1654 he was a member of the First Church, which ordained Charles Chauncy as their minister.

BENJAMIN WOODWORTH appeared before the court and gave oath on inventory of estate of his late father Walter Woodworth deceased March 2, 1685-6.

It will be seen that all through the will and signature it is Woodward but that Benjamin in oath of inventory spelled the name Woodworth. Part of this family kept the name of Woodward, and the others Woodworth.

This ancient name of Woodward is derived from the forest keepers, the Woodwards of the Hundred Rolls in the reign of Edward 1st.

3-4-6-6 SAMUEL WOODWORTH, SR., b May 16, 1772 at Lebanon, Conn., m Lovina Babcock. He d at Otsego, Ind. in 1846. She d at Otsego, Ind. 1844. Otsego is two miles southwest of Hamilton, Ind. Both buried in North Otsego Cemetery. She b Jan. 29, 1772. Lived in Utica, N. Y.; near Tunkhannock, Pa., and Windham, Pa. 1819 near Ketchumville, N. Y. where he owned a large farm (now called the Woodworth farm) and for a time at Centre Lisle, N. Y. with his son Asahel (3-4-6-6-3). Spring 1843 went with his wife to Otsego, Steuben Co., Ind. and lived with his son Barzilliel and his daughter Sally who m Levi Gates.

Lovina's mother's maiden name was Janes and came from Pittsfield, Mass. She married Wm. Babcock against her parents' wishes — (a run-away match) and her parents never forgave her. It is supposed they located in East Haddam, Conn. where Lovina was born and later m Samuel Woodworth (3-4-6-6) and located for a time at Hebron, Conn. where Samuel (3-4-6-6-2) and Asahel (3-4-6-6-3) were born. Lovina's (Lovina (Babcock) Woodworth) grandchild Nancy Adelia Lobdell (3-4-6-6-3-6) writing, says:—"I do not know where grandfather and grandmother went, but I remember very well the morning they started from Centre Lisle, N. Y. Brother Niles (3-4-6-6-3-1) carried them and what goods they wished to take, in a lumber wagon to Ithaca, N. Y. where they went on a boat of some kind across Cayuga Lake, then by canal as far as it would take them on their journey. It was in the month of May and I think in 1843. I well remember what grandmother said, as father (Asahel 3-4-6-3) helped her in and tucked the blanket around her. She grasped his hand and said: 'Farewell till we meet at the Judgment, I have buried my five boys. I shall never see them again,' the tears running down her cheeks and father and Niles and all of us crying too. She did not want to go I think. She died that summer."

Cabinet maker by trade. He was very industrious, working day and long into the night at his trade as cabinet maker and undertaker. He worked many nights making coffins, as in those days they were not kept in stock, and were made only as needed, so he was compelled at times, like Adam Bede, to work all night long; truly not a pleasant night's work.

He was universally respected by all who knew him,—“an honest man, the noblest work of God.” In his younger days he was straight as an Indian. As age advanced he became somewhat bowed, but enjoyed very good health, never being confined to his bed except in his last sickness.

LETTER OF SAMUEL WOODWORTH, SR. (3-4-6-6) TO BENJAMIN
WOODWORTH (3-4-6-7).

^{to} Widow August 3-1819

Dear Brother I received your letter in way and have neglected writing in till now very likely you would like to know my situation and how the Gargers use me since I came here I have been treated by Asa Barnes that says my Gargers told that they tried to ruin me every way but it is a positive falsehood but sir I will give you a true statement of their friendship as they call it instead their helping me it was on the morn I had to help them I lent them money to get grain with after I came into the Country when he came to Wren L. told me that he would help me to any thing that I wanted and I sold off many things in Wren that I bought brought but thinking that I could get plenty after I got here they promised to let me have a barrel of pork but when I came here they could spare none they would not even let me have a pig when they had a dozen and to sell to the Gargers without their thanks to for him I have lived a mill ever since I came here and get a labele living but I am here without a friend in stead of their being a friend to me they reported all kind of things about my family but their tongue is no shame for the general how then to tell you matters about them you hold against my Gargers I do not wish to have anything to do with them I hold an account against saymons and Amos is a mob and I had to prosecute them both and saymons said he mean to appeal it but I believe in has not it would be more trouble for he called it Barnes as well here for I do not wish to give any thing to do with the Gargers they are like a parcel of dogs more wicked one you touch the whole since I found the boys the Gargers are most the time that Barnes was here perhaps he heard of this story about burning over hay that he speaking for the ~~whole~~ and of all stealing a hive of honey and bees and they had the trial and at last saymons got 3 and 2 months imprisonment and the rest in prison the whole cost them about 10 or 12 dollars

I think that I shall leave this part of the wall and go about 200 miles from here there is a line in the County called the Holland parish line Samuel has gone out there about four weeks ago he left here and I want you to help me if possible as soon as you can I am in a forest of health at present
My family are all well and send their love to you and your family Yours truly Samuel. Woodworth Benjamin Woodworth

As you mentioned that there was a note 80 dollars on that note of paper and someone says he has paid his part of the note and says over has paid 17 dollars and got a receipt on paper like six I expect the most he is mistaken these notes you may send up ~~the~~ and I will give them to a lawyer for collection you will not get anything other way they never pay a note in this way only to the end of an expense and if you send them up soon I will do that for you award it to the Grays and then I shall close my letter their friendship has been that Ambrose has not been to my house to make a visit since I lived in the Country sister has not been here since February I should like it if you could see her as I am here at my father's I will write a few lines to let you know my situation and Mitchell and Nancy are in a few days heard of my long Mary If you have not I will let you know a little of the circumstances and was Mary's to assist by the name of Mary. But Samuel is not there yet Nancy lives at a place called Ouzo in York state and I live there likewise
I am now down a visit and my wife likewise Dear Uncle I hope you will excuse me for making my self so bold as to writing a few lines Mitchell and my wife to commune Ouzo in the village of Thomas Cortland County New York where we intend to live

Perhaps I could let you know how the Grays used me Mitchell and myself sold Sumner and Ambrose Gray about 80 dollars worth of tools and we took sister Sumner's Gray's note and Sumner's got out shingles to pay the note and sent down by Ambrose on a raft and when Ambrose got the money he wanted Mitchell pay it then we let Sumner have the money and we had a sum

I have with further instructions to write your love to your family and on 10th. Mary sends her love to you and all the rest of the family although a stranger and so I conclude by signing myself your affectionate stepson Asel Woodworth.

Mother sends her love to you and all expressing prings Grandmother in particular.

Rosander F. Lobdell enlisted at Lisle, Broome Co., New York, the 25th day of April, 1861. The company that he joined was organized at Binghamton, N. Y. with Peter Jay, captain. The company was ordered to Elmira, N. Y. and made a part of the 27th regiment, and was Company F, N. Y. Infantry, H. W. Slocum of Syracuse, colonel. Mr. Lobdell was in the first battle of Bull Run, July 21, 1861. It was his regiment that broke the Rebel line near the Stone house and it is said, had the brigade supported them, the history of that battle would have been a victory for the Union Army. His company was the last to leave the field in good order. Col. Slocum was wounded and taken to Washington, D. C. and later was made a general and his (Mr. Lobdell's) company assigned to his brigade. In the spring of 1862 he went to Yorktown, Va. with McClellan; was in the second Bull Run battle; in the battle of West Point, Va., and the seven days battle before Richmond; the Maryland campaign, and the battles of South Mountain and Antietam.

His second enlistment was Company E, 50th regiment, N. Y. Engineers. He was an artificer and assigned to the 6th corps. The regiment had charge of the pontoon bridges of the army; also the fortifications of the army. He went through the Grant campaign from the wilderness to the Appomattox to the surrender of Gen. Lee; went with Sheridan to North Carolina to head off Johnson who surrendered to Sherman before they reached him; marched back to Washington, D. C.; was reviewed by President Johnson and discharged at Fort Barry, Va., June 15, 1865.

It was from this home deeded that Ensign James went to the Revolutionary war and it is with pride that his descendants in Conn. point to the field from whence he hurriedly started to the aid of Fort Griswold near New London, Sept. 6, 1781. Benedict Arnold commanded the attack. It was a terrible slaughter. No quarter was given. Only 26 escaped from the Fort. New Lon-

Samuel Woodworth the poet is a descendant of Benjamin Woodworth (3). "The Old Oaken Bucket" rendered his name famous, b at Scituate, Jan. 13, 1784, m Lydia Reeder, Sept. 23, 1810, d in New York, Dec 9, 1842.

THE OLD OAKEN BUCKET.

How dear to this heart are the scenes of my childhood,
 When fond recollection presents them to view.
 The orchard, the meadow, the deep tangled wildwood,
 And every loved spot which my infancy knew;
 The wide spreading pond and the mill that stood near it,
 The bridge and the rock where the cataract fell;
 The cot of my father, the dairy house nigh it,
 And e'en the rude bucket which hung in the well.
 The old oaken bucket, the iron bound bucket
 The moss covered bucket which hung in the well.

The moss covered vessel, I hail as a treasure;
 For often at noon, when returned from the field,
 I found it the source of an exquisite pleasure,
 The purest and sweetest that nature can yield.
 How ardent I seized it, with hands that were glowing!
 And quick to the white pebbled bottom it fell;
 Then soon with the emblem of truth overflowing,
 And dripping with coolness, it rose from the well.
 The old oaken bucket, the iron bound bucket,
 The moss covered bucket, arose from the well.

How sweet from the green mossy brim to receive it,
 As poised on the curb it inclined to my lips;
 Not a full blushing goblet could tempt me to leave it,
 Though filled with nectar that Jupiter sips.
 And now, far removed from the loved situation,
 The tears of regret will intrusively swell,
 As fancy reverts to my father's plantation,
 And sighs for the bucket which hung in the well;
 The old oaken bucket, the iron bound bucket,
 The moss covered bucket, which hung in the well.

He wrote other poems which Scribner & Co., of New York published in book form.

He and N. P. Willis published the "New York Mirror." His old home at Scituate, Mass., is in possession of the Northey family, a short distance from the R. R. station. It is said the old oaken bucket, having been displaced by more modern improvements, went into the hands of Rev. Daniel Wright of South Scituate, Mass., who died in South Natick, Mass.

Francis Chandler Woodworth, descendant Isaac (8) b at Colchester, Conn., wrote "The Snow Bird's Song."

The ground was all covered with snow one day
And two little sisters were busy at play,
When a snow bird was sitting close by on a tree,
And merrily singing his chick-a-dee-dee.
Chick-a-dee-dee, chick-a-dee-dee,
And merrily singing his chick-a-dee-dee, etc.

Edward Hyde b 1608, d 1694, 1st Earl of Clarendon, had a daughter Anne who in Sept. 1660 m James, duke of York, afterward made James II of England. Anne and James II had two daughters, Mary and Anne. Mary m William III of England. Anne the second girl became Queen of England. It is said that William Hyde who came from England 1663 to Norwich, Conn., descended from Edward Hyde b 1608. William had a son Samuel b May 1637 at Norwich, Conn.; Samuel, b 1637, had a son Samuel, b 1667, Samuel, b 1667, had a son Capt. Daniel, b Aug. 16, 1694, at Windham, Conn.; Capt. Daniel, b 1694, had a son, Bazalel; Bazalel had a daughter Mehitable who m James Woodworth.

This Genealogy, also Hyde Genealogy shows that James Woodworth (3-4-6) married Mehitable Hyde referred to above.

It may interest some to know that Mehitable (9) daughter of Walter of Scituate, Mass., was unfortunate as to her health. She was afflicted with some nervous disorder which in those superstitious days was synonymous with being "possessed with the devil;" in other words she was under the influence of witchcraft and Mary Ingham was charged with being the witch. On Mar. 6, 1676 she was indicted in the following language:—

Mary Ingham, thou art indicted by the name of Mary Ingham of the town of Scituate, in the Jurisdiction of New Plymouth, for that, thou, having not the fear of God before thine eyes, hast by the help of the devil in a witchcraft or sorcery, maliciously procured much hurt, mischief and pains unto the body of Mehitable Woodworth, the daughter of Walter Woodworth of Scituate, aforesaid, and some others; particularly causing her, the said Mehitabel to fall into violent fits, and causing great pains unto several parts of her body, at several times so as she, the said Mehitabel Woodworth hath almost been bereft of her senses and hath greatly languished to her much suffering thereby, and the procuring of great grief, sorrow and charge to her parents—all which thou hast procured and done against the law of God and to His great dishonor, and contrary to our Sovereign Lord the King, His Crown and dignity.

Mary was tried and acquitted and thus an end was put to the nonsense of witchcraft in the town of Scituate.

"Among the prisoners taken by the Tories who two years before had returned from Canada for their families, and who had most unaccountably been suffered to depart unmolested, was a very brave fellow by the name of Solomon Woodworth. He was intrusted to a party of Indians acting in concert with the Tories on their arrival at the Sacondaga, from whom he effected his escape on the following day. These Indians it appeared, mortified at his successful flight, had resolved, either upon his recapture or his destruction. Woodworth, in the winter or spring of 1780, was occupying, alone, a block house situated about eight miles north of Johnstown. While thus solitary, his castle was attacked in the dead of night by a small party of Indians, who set fire to it. Regardless of danger, however, he ran out amidst a shower of bullets, extinguished the fire, and retreated within the walls again before the Indians, who had withdrawn some distance from the block house could re-approach sufficiently near to seize him. As the night was not very dark, Woodworth saw a group of the savages through the port holes, upon whom he fired not without effect, one of their number as it subsequently appeared, being severely wounded. This disaster caused the Indians to retire. But Woodworth was not satisfied. Collecting half a dozen kindred spirits, the next morning, he gave chase to the intruders and, after following their trail three days, overtook them—they having halted to dress the wound of their companion. The pursuers came so suddenly upon them, as to succeed in dispatching the whole number without allowing them time to offer resistance. The little band returned to Johnstown in triumph; and their leader was immediately commissioned a lieutenant in a regiment of nine months men, in which service he had again an opportunity of showing his prowess, as will be seen hereafter.

He was commissioned a captain, for the purpose of raising a company of rangers to traverse the wooded country north of Fort Dayton, and the German Flats. He succeeded in enlisting a company of forty brave and kindred spirits; at the head of whom, well armed and provided, he marched from Fort Dayton, striking in the direction of the Royal Grand for purposes of observation. After a few hours march, one of Woodworth's men, being a short distance in advance, discovered an Indian, evidently in ambuscade, upon whom he immediately fired. Instantly the forest resounded with the war-whoop, and Woodworth with his little band was surrounded by double his own number. A furious and bloody engagement followed, in which the Rangers and Indians fought hand to hand with great desperation; and for the numbers engaged there was cruel slaughter. A fiercer engagement probably did not occur during the war. Woodworth fell dead. The savages were victors; and of the Rangers only fifteen escaped to tell the melancholy fate of their comrades. Several were taken captives and subsequently exchanged.

Descendants of James Woodworth, (3-4-6) and his grandfather Benjamin, (3-4) are entitled to membership in Society of Colonial Wars and Sons or Daughters of the Revolution. Benjamin (3) and Benjamin (3-4) were in King Philips war and James (3-4-6) in the Revolutionary War.

Bodge's "King Philip's War" describes Benjamin (3) of Scituate, Mass. and Benjamin (3-4) of Lebanon, Conn., as serving in the Colonial wars.

The photographs in this book show the signatures of six generations—all the generations, (except the two Benjamins) back to Walter who landed in Scituate, Mass. in 1635.

Chauncy C. Woodworth, the Rochester, N. Y. perfumer, Artemus B. Woodworth, of Lowell, Mass.; his brothers E. B. Woodworth and Albert B. Woodworth, the extensive wholesale grocers of Concord, N. H. are descendants of Ebenezer (3-6).

William Woodworth is the inventor of the Woodworth Cylinder Planing Machine.

A RENEWAL OF HOME TIES.

THE OLD WOODWORTH HOMESTEAD AT CENTRE LISLE A SCENE OF MIRTH.

The following verses were read at a gathering of the Woodworth family at Centre Lisle, Broome Co., N. Y., on Saturday, Dec. 25, 1897.

THE OLD HOMESTEAD.

MRS. ROSANDER F. LOBDELL.

(nee Nancy Adelia Woodworth), (3-4-6-6-3-6).

Standing back from the village street,
Where the hill-tops slope to the west;
Is the home of our childhood so dear to our heart,
In its Christmas garlands drest.

For seventy years the drifting snows,
Have covered its roof-tree o'er,
And the blossoms of seventy summers, have shed
Their perfume about the door.

In bygone years its grey old walls
Re-echoed to children's tread,
And voices in laughter and song were joined,
As the happy moments sped.

The well known paths around it were trod
By hurrying, busy feet,
And all things wore the rainbow tints
Of youth, and hope so sweet.

The passing years, their changes brought,
To the old house under the hill;
The youths and maidens drifting out,
Their place in the world to fill.

One fair young bud, just unfolded here
Then wandered back to heaven,

To blossom in wondrous beauty there.
 He taketh what He has given.

The father's eye grew dim with age,
 And his hair was snowy white,
 But his love for his children was just the same.
 It knew no change or blight.

And when on the gladsonse Christmas time
 His children gathered home,
 With welcoming hand and joyful tears,
 He greeted every one.

He was the first the river to cross,
 Yet his work was all well done;
 He left the cross at the Saviour's feet,
 And the glorious crown was won.

Our mother; heaven her memory bless.
 Time gently touched her brow,
 Her eye was undim'd and the sheen of her hair
 Was lightly sprinkled with snow.

For more than three score years and ten
 The days of life were told,
 And then she was not, for God took her home;
 She was no longer old.

"Perhaps in that miracle country,
 They will give her lost youth back,
 And the flowers of a vanished Spring time
 Shall bloom in the spirit's track;

One draught of the living waters
 Shall restore her youthful prime,
 And the eternal years shall measure
 The love that outlives time."

The years passed on; the dear old home
 Was deserted and left forlorn.
 Brambles choked the blossoming flowers,
 Grass grew in the paths well worn—

The old house looked with mute appeal
 To all who passed it by,
 Its broken window, its sunken roof,
 Ever bringing a tear to the eye.

But what is this that greets our view
 On this glad Christmas morn!
 As we turn toward the well known spot—
 Not the old house, deserted, forlorn?

A beautiful building, fair to see,
 In fashion like the old,
 Has, like the fabled Phœnix bird,
 Sprung from its ashes cold.

Now who has found Aladdin's lamp
 And wrought this wondrous change,
 And placed upon the old hearthstone
 This structure new and strange?

A grandson in his eastern home,
 Down by the sounding sea,
 Beheld the havoc time had made
 And turned the magic key.

And now when all the earth is glad,
 Within its walls to-day,
 The remnants of that goodly band
 (For two have passed away)

Are gathered by its gleaming fires
 And 'round the festive board,
 And grateful hearts give thanks to him
 Who has our home restored.

Long may the yule log burn for him,
 And merry Christmas cheer,
 And many times the clanging bells
 Ring in the glad New Year.
