C O D E

Each lineal descendant is designated by a numeral before his name. The last digit in the numeral denotes his order of birth in his immediate family; the digit next before the last his parent's order of birth in his immediate family, and so on back to the earliest known ancestor who is designated by the single digit 1 (one).

From this it follows that the number of digits in one numeral reveals the number of his generation down from the earliest known ancestor.

Direct lineal descendants are listed--with numerals--on the left side of the page; the married-in spouse on the right side of the page--without numeral.

If in a marriage there should be one or more step-children they have added to their step-parent's numeral a "letter" --a--b--c etc. instead of a digit, to distinguish them from direct descendants in the Wallace Allison Martin line.

"M" indicates "married", "D" - "died", "B" - "buried".

In case of twins both are given the same numeral. Adopted children are given the same numeral as if they had been born in the family.

Descendants are described in several categories---nativity in the immediate family---marriage---identity of the spouse---nativity of their children in turn---lastly a record of education, lifework, special service, etc., residence or place of burial.

The generations have been recorded in sets of two -- first & second, second & third, third & fourth together, etc., parents with their children. All the families in one set are recorded before those in the next succeeding set are taken up.

In the first few families (usually large ones) only that descendant who became an ancestor of the Gordon line is recorded in the main genealogy;--in the Appendix a more complete record of these families are given.-- From the Gordon - Martin family on, the aim has been to include a record of each and every descendant down to and through the present year 1952, in the main genealogy. In the Appendix the same has been attempted for the Allison-Buchanan family.

GENERATIONS IV and V.

- 1719, Margaret Martin M. Rev. Alexander Gordon 1789 - August 1845. He was born in Montrose, Scotland to John and Helen Hampton Gordon who spent all their lives in that country. They were very religious, members of a small conservative sect, the Anti-Burgher branch of the Associate Presbyterian Church, "the Auld Licht Kirk". They were industrious but poor as had been the parents of both of them. John was by trade a textile worker in a factory, a "thread miller", his wages fifteen shillings a week or less. A brother David in nearby Carrington evidently in easier circumstances had a son Peter who obtained an education and become a Presbyterian minister. Two of John's nieces or grand-nieces lived in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania during the latter half of the last century, Margaret Gordon and Jennie Gray. The home of the latter at 116 Race Street was used by Dr. S. Weir Mitchell the eminent Neuro-psychiatrist as a retreat or private hospital for his widely known "Rest Cure" for nervous exhaustion or Neurasthenic patients. "Gray" was given as the middle name to this compiler by Jennie's second cousin, Auntie Jane Gordon, then living in the Murray home. John Gordon was lame the most of his life, he died in 1811, his wife Helen in 1810. To them were born eleven children, only four of whom lived to grow up.

Their children as far as known:

Alexander 1789-1845 as above
James (see appendix No. II)
Jane 1800-1885
David 1804-1843

Alexander Gordon was four times married; his first wife, married in Scotland, was Elizabeth Greig, daughter of John Greig, a member of the Established Church of Scotland. Within a month of her marriage she sailed with her husband to America, 1817, lived at Muddy Creek Forks, York County, Pennsylvania and died there in 1822.

Their children

1719a John Bullions 1818-1889
1719b Alexander Blythe 1820-1892
1719c Elizabeth 1822-1822

Alexander Gordons second wife was, as above recorded 1719, Margaret Martin. Children of Margaret Martin and

Alexander Gordon:

17191 Elizabeth Greig 1824-1915
17192 Margaret Martin 1826-1904
17193 Andrew 1828-1887
17194 James Wallace 1830-1921
17195 David Martin 1832-1880

Alexander Gordons third wife, Elizabeth Craig, he married in Putnam N.Y. in 1834. She died there in 1839. His fourth wife, Sarah McQuarrie, he married, 1841, in Putnam, N.Y. also. She died at Johnstown, N.Y. about 1882.

171a, Alexander Gordon was born at Montrose, Scotland where his forebearers had lived before him. QUOTE "At the age of four years I began to follow my father to his employment which was that of a thread miller, at which I continued to labor for eight years. At first the work was tying threads broken in the spinning machine. At thirteen he worked in a bakery from 6:00 A.M. to 10:00 P.M. paid in bread for the family use. At fourteen he was apprenticed to a cotton weaver for three years. At this time never having attended school a day, he was unable to read or write. At seventeen he was bound out as apprentice to a weaver of "household cloth"; attended an evening school three months at one time and six weeks at another; borrowed some Latin and Greek books and taught himself. In 1809 at the age of twenty he was at last freed from the turning of all his wages over to his father, finished his apprenticeship, bought books and entered the Latin School of Montrose. Out of hours he wove sail cloth for his living. In 1810, believe it or not, he succeeded in "raising" a school of his own in which he taught summers and on November 10, 1810 entered the University of Edinburgh continuing winter sessions 4 years to complete the course and taking theological training on the side with a Prof. Paxton of a divinity school connected with the University. From 1814 to 1816 he did private tutoring and also taught in the parish schools on the Orkney Islands at Stronsay and Kirkwall. He finished divinity studies 1816-1817 at the University, supporting himself by tutoring students in mathematics and medical Latin. He was ordained to the ministry, married, and sailed as a "missionary" to America in the summer of 1817, embarking at Leith, port of Edinburgh July 20, arrived at Halifax after 49 days at sea, spent 10 days there and ten more on the voyage to New York City; preached three months in the Carolinas near Natural Bridge. Disgusted with what he saw of Slavery he settled in York County, Pennsylvania at Guinston Church. Here he remained till 1826, losing his first wife and marrying one from his congregation. After about a year at Baltimore where my mother was born he went to Argyle Presbytery in N. E. New York State remaining at Putnam on Lake Champlain till 1842 where his second wife died and also his third and where he married his fourth. From 1842 to 1845 he preached at Johnstown, N.Y. died there and was buried in the Pre-Revolutionary Angelican Churchyard, since 1856 a closed Memorial Cemetery. His congregation set up a large tombstone, now fallen flat but with the elaborate inscription still partly legible.

171a, Alexander Gordon served the Synod of his denomination as Moderator in 1822. He was intensively religious, wrote many doctrinal articles for the Religious Monitor and other like periodicals over the pen-name "Ego". QUOTE "I also record it as a great favor of Holy Providence that I have had as free access to the press as any man who had money at his command". He was an ardent Abolitionist, wrote tracts and lectured against slavery. His home in Johnstown was a station on the Underground Railway. QUOTE "There was an anti-slavery meeting in Johnstown - 1843.....a riot.....stones were thrown and a poor colored man much abused. To prevent bloodshed the speaker Mr. Brown intimated he would leave the meeting as the house of Mr. Gordon would give him refuge. He and the colored man ran all the way to Mr. Gordon's house followed by the infuriated mob who threw various missiles at them. After the pursued had entered Mr. Gordons house the mob continued yelling hideously before the door". Elizabeth and Margaret Gordon 19 and 17 respectively approached their fathers home. Elizabeth "What shall we do?" Margaret "Follow me" and squaring her shoulders she elbowed a wide path through the howling mob up to the door and into the house.

A life long friend of the Gordons who voyaged on the same ship with them to America was Rev. Peter Bullions. He became one of the foremost classical scholars of the United States in his day. His Latin Dictionary, Grammer, Caesar, Cicero and other text books of the Classics were widely used for fifty years and more in American College and Universities.

Quotations and much other material in the above record are from a 170 page "MEMOIR OF A. GORDON" compiled from his diary and printed without family participation in 1846 by a former parishioner. Copies of this little book are still to be found in the possession of various families of his descendants. It is unknown whether or not the original diary is still in existence.

N O T E S

1. Letters to Rev. Alexander Gordon at Putnam, New York from the minister who succeeded him at Guinston, York County Pennsylvania lamented that his farmer parishioners there neglected the week day prayer services to haul lime to spread on for the enrichment of their fields (early conservation note).
2. 1712, Jean Martin who married Joseph Thompson, with her family, followed her sister Mrs. Alexander Gordon, when Rev. Gordon went to the Church at Putnam, New York on Lake Champlain. From there the Thompsons emigrated West to Somanauk, Illinois, in the 1830's. They almost persuaded Rev. Gordon to pioneer in the West with them in that early day but the precarious state of his health made him hesitate. (my mothers recollection.)
3. On his death bed in Johnstown, New York, August 1845, ageing Alexander Gordon lay fretting himself feebly over something which the grieving family finally made out was NOT their approaching bereavement, but: What would President Polk be able to do with the grave problems of Slavery, Secession and the War with Mexico which were besetting the National Government?
4. From many circumstances of his later years one might speculate that Rev. Gordons last illness was complicated with Pernicious Anemia, then a little known and unrecognized disease.
5. The old stone church of the Guinston Congregation (built in 1756?) is still standing, used now as a parish house or rural community center. Within is still to be seen the old style high pulpit (with stairs and gate at the top) on which Rev. Alexander Gordon sometimes found himself so giddy he had to descend and finish his sermon from the floor below.

6. In that southern countryside of York County Pennsylvania and its Stewartown, Muddy Creek Forks, High Rock and Hopewell are still to be found many farmers and townsmen by the names of Wallace, Martin, Grove, Hyson, and other names recorded in this Genealogy.
7. 17107, Carrie Martin and her brother William about 1898 visited in Cedar Rapids, with their cousins 17192 Mrs. A. K. Murray and her brother 17194 James Gordon. Much later Ella Gordon daughter of James while visiting Carrie Martin in Bellevue, Pennsylvania obtained from her, records of the early Wallace-Allison-Martin ancestors, and kindly passing them on to the compiler provided the beginnings of this genealogy.
8. In his History of Big Spring Presbytery (Associate Presbyterian) J. B. Scouller mentions that Alexander Wallace came from Scotland. In another place it is stated that he came to York County Pennsylvania in 1730. That is 14 years earlier than is recorded in this genealogy.

A P P E N D I X NO. II

Children of John and Helen Hampton Gordon (Alexander already described)

James Gordon M.

Their children and succeeding posterity are recorded in another genealogy.

James Gordon himself followed the sea as a sailor for a time in his youth, settled in America at Brooklyn in the jewelry business. One of his grandchildren also a James Gordon was known to the late Willy Donnan who gave us the Gordon address in Glen Ellyn, Illinois where we visited him and obtained their genealogy above mentioned. A short time after James Gordon lost his life in an automobile accident on the streets of Glen Ellyn. He was then in his 80's.

Jane Gordon was born in Montrose, Scotland about 1800, came to America in adult life, engaged in millinery work at Albany, New York. Retired with the family of her niece Mrs. A. K. Murray in Montgomery County, New York and Cedar Rapids, Iowa. Buried in Linwood Cemetery.

David Gordon M. Miss Hutton, member of a pre-Revolutionary Tory family living between Lake George and Lake Champlain with large land holdings which were forfeited to the Government at the end of the Revolutionary War.

Rev. David Gordon was born at Montrose, Scotland in 1804. Came to America with his brother Alexander 1817. Educated privately he became a pastor in Salem, New York and about 1841 went as a missionary to the Island of Trinidad where he died in 1843 and was buried there. His wife returned to the States, died at Putnam, New York and was buried in the United Presbyterian Churchyard there. Some of her people came West to Morning Sun, Iowa. A Mr. Hutton from there, recently in charge of a finance company in our building, told the writer the connection with the Gordon family of over a hundred years ago was well remembered by his people.
