INTRODUCTORY.

To prepare a genealogical record of the descendants of a paternal ancestor, who lived near two hundred years ago, and their classification in family order, is no ordinary task. Individual family records are required, which, in many instances, have been difficult to secure, either by reason of not comprehending the object of the work, indifference, or because the records have been destroyed. There is an innate disposition on the part of many good house-wives to consign to the flames all old faded scraps of writing found in times of general house cleaning, thus often destroying the golden egg from whence much coveted information might be derived. The writer of family history is in many respects dependent on the individual reports made by different members of the same family, thus placing him in the embarrassing position of deciding between conflicting reports, and selecting that which he may think most correct.

The historical matter presented in this work was selected with care—from reports made by the older members of the Waltz family, and will be found not only interesting to the Waltz families of the present time, but will be of the utmost importance to future generations in forming a correct history of their ancestry.

The task has been attended with a great deal more labor than the writer anticipated when at first engaged in the work, and whether well or ill-done, must be left to the judgment of those especially interested in the work.

In the GENEALOGICAL RECORD many names have doubtless been omitted, and others a wrong post-office address given, or names misspelled, but before passing a severe criticism, please ask yourself this question: “Did I send him the names and post-office address of my family as he requested, or any historical matter connected with my ancestry?”

The classification of the GENEALOGICAL RECORD in family order is so arranged as to bring each individual family together, and at the same time enable all those of Waltz blood to trace a direct unbroken line to the recognized head of the Waltz families.

The Waltz family in the war, for the preservation of the Union, forms an interesting feature of this work, as it not only gives the names of such as did voluntary military service, but it shows on which side the Waltz family may be found when liberty and justice are trampled upon, or human rights assailed.

For the organization of those of kindred ties into a family association, and their meeting in annual reunion for the purpose of forming new and renewing old acquaintances, thus perpetuating sociability, fraternity and brotherly love among the Waltz families. We are all deeply indebted to David Waltz, of Wadsworth, O., and his family; S. D. Waltz, of New Philadelphia, O.; E. L. Waltz, of Jelloway, O.; D. S. Waltz and Elias Waltz, of West Cairo, O.; Jeremiah Weaver, of Beaver Dam, O.; George W. Waltz, of Whittlesey, O., and Paul Waltz and his family of Sharon Center, O.

In conclusion I submit the work before you to your favorable consideration.

BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCH OF THE AUTHOR'S LIFE.

DEAR READER:

The family and friends of the author think it only just, that in a history of this kind, a brief account of his own life should be given; but, owing to modest scruples on his part, making him hesitate to write concerning himself, I, his daughter, will attempt to fill the deficiency.

L. Waltz was born near Miamisburg, Ohio, March 26th, 1835, and reared on a farm. He received an ordinary common-school education, attending a few days a week through the winter months for five or six years. It seems almost wonderful that pupils made any progress at that time, the country schools being so very poor compared with those of the present day. After the death of his mother, in 1852, he apprenticed himself to Phillips & Gebhart, at the blacksmith business. After serving his apprenticeship, he became a full partner with this firm, and remained in co-partnership with Phillips a number of years.

In 1854 he was married to Sarah Ann Paff. To them three children were born, all daughters.

When the rebellion broke out he enlisted as a private soldier in Company H, 35th regiment, Indiana Volunteer Infantry. In September 1861 his company elected him second lieutenant. In 1862 he was promoted to first lieutenant for meritorious services.

The regiment to which he belonged were styled the "bloody Irish," and were never spared when long marches, dangerous exploits, or fatiguing labors were required; but he never missed a day's duty. In November 1862 he was breveted Captain of Engineers, and assigned to the 3d Battalion Pioneer Brigade. He superintended the building of the fortifications at Gallatin, Tenn. On hearing of General Rosecranz's forces moving on the enemy at Murfreesboro, he left his command in charge of a subordinate officer, and proceeded to the front, but was captured by a rebel squad near Lavernge, Tenn., and taken to Tullahoma, from whence he escaped the same night of his capture, and returned to the Union lines in time to take an active part in the second and third day's battle at Stone River.

In June 1863, he resigned his commission in the 35th Indiana, for the purpose of accepting promotion in an Ohio regiment. On his return home, he organized the 12th regiment, O. N. G., from which he received a commission as Colonel.

The 12th was afterward consolidated with the 2d regiment, and he re-entered the United States service as Lieutenant-Colonel of the 131st Ohio, and was assigned to the command of Ft. Marshall, Baltimore. At the expiration of his term of service, he was tendered a Captain's commission in the 5th United States Regular Cavalry, which he declined, but returned to his family, and engaged in various pursuits until 1876, when he and J. St. John Clarkson, of Dayton, Ohio, established a workingman's paper, known as the Saturday People.

In 1878 he bought a small tract of land near Alexandersville, Ohio, where he has been residing for the past six years, engaged at farming and blacksmithing.

In 1867 he invented the Harpoon Hay Fork, but was defrauded of its patent. He is also the inventor of a street railway track cleaner, a spring-tooth cultivator, and several other useful implements, but by reason of an undue confidence in humanity, and a natural liberal disposition, he has not accumulated a large competence for himself.

He, together with his family, have for a number of years been members of the First Reformed Church of Dayton, O.

In politics he is independent, and looks with contempt on strictly partisan advocates.

For the past two years, he has devoted the greater part of his time to the interest of the Waltz families, editing a column in the Saturday People for them, correcting and revising communications, studying their early history, and endeavoring to learn the names of all their ancestors, and trace them to the original family.

Yours very truly,

CLARA LUELLA BAKER.

TRACING THE ANCESTRY.

The labor required to correctly trace a line of ancestry, beyond the fourth generation where no special records are kept, may be easier imagined than performed.

The WALTZ GENEALOGICAL RECORD is traced to Frederick Reinhart Waltz, through his son John Reinhart Waltz. Whether John Reinhart Waltz had brothers in this country is not positively known, but in comparing reports from several of the older Waltzes, the writer inclines to the belief that Michael, Joseph, and Hans Martin Waltz, who came to America in 1750, were brothers of John Reinhart Waltz. This belief is based on the harmony a comparison of several different reports produced. The first named Michael is reported as having four sons, whose names were: Reinhart, Peter, John, and George, and that George went West many years ago. This, undoubtedly, is the same George Waltz who settled in Floyd County, Ind., in 1810, and that they were nephews of John Reinhart Waltz, is based on reports calling the one uncle Reinhart, and the other, brother Reinhart Waltz.

Other reports point to Hans Martin Waltz as the father of Frederick, Daniel, and Jacob Waltz. Whether these three sons represent the heads of the second, third, and eighth branches of the sixth division, the writer is not warranted in saying; the evidence is sufficient to make it a direct truth, and if not a truth then a very strong coincidence. If this theory be true, then the Waltz families represented by the first four and eighth branch of the sixth division are descendants of Frederick Reinhart Waltz, through Michael and Martin, brothers of John Reinhart Waltz. In several of the above branches the name of Jacob and Martin were specially favored. This is not proof that they bore the name of their father or grandfather, but according to their custom indicates the same. But while we have no positive evidence of the near kinship, we accept the theoretical, and extend to each other the brotherly hand of true fellowship.

Those of our pioneer fathers who first settled in the State of Pennsylvania, nearly all lived to a ripe old age. They brought with them the plain, temperate, health-giving habits of Swiss life. They also brought up and trained their children in this mode of living, and as we recount the longevity of the Waltz families, we have the blessed assurance that our honored ancestry were obedient to the laws of God. In the natural, their temperate modes of living, and industrious habits, give strength and vigorous health to the body. In the divine, they honored their parents, that their days might be long in the land which the Lord their God had given them. Thus with physical health and faith in God, they persevered against adversity, and regarded with indifference the trials and hardships of pioneer life. And as time rolled on their migration was westward until in the infancy of 1800, in the morning of the nineteenth century, when the first streaks from the rising sun of the young State of Ohio were shooting over the hilltops of the East; when our hillsides were mantled with the primeval forest; when our valleys were peopled by the dusky sons and daughters of nature, and wild beasts roamed at will over our prairies, then was planted the seed, that has continued to grow and to flourish until to-day we witness this grand harvest.

When our honored fathers—pilgrim like—crossed the Ohio and determined that this should be their home, their coming had not been heralded before. Old acquaintances who had preceded them did not welcome them to lavishly furnished houses nor richly spread tables. Old acquaintances had not preceded them—they were the pioneers.

When they crossed the rugged Alleghenies, their jaded teams were not startled by the shrill scream of the locomotive; when one of those hardy pioneer families were stricken in sorrow over the death of a loved one, or, perhaps, made glad over the advent of another little addition to the fast increasing number in the household, the news was not flashed back by the lightning speed of the telegraph to the friends in the East. Of all the bright dreams they may have had of ease, and comfort, and plenty in the years to come, they had never dreamed of railroads and telegraphs. Mowing machines and sewing machines were unknown, school-houses and churches were not found at almost every cross-road. Church spires and towering smoke-stacks did not serve as guide boards for miles around to the busy, bustling village. Manufactories, and churches, and villages, and school houses—aye, and cross-roads were not there.

But we find that this plant that was set upon the hillside in the morning, took firm root in the virgin soil, and grew up simultaneously with the great State, has witnessed the springing up of towns and cities, almost as if by magic; has seen the giant forest give way to expansive fields; has seen the State criss-crossed with railroads, and bound together by telegraphs, and has seen the round log cabin with its mud-and-stick chimney, supplanted by the palatial residence. The spinning wheel and loom have passed away, or have been banished to some dusty attic, there to be found amid the drapery of cob-webs. In short, it has seen the wilderness to blossom as the rose.

But have we only seen these changes, been silent spectators amid the kaleidoscopic bustle and toil that has wrought out these magnificent results? Nay, we have had a hand in all this. All over this broad land, beaming fields, stately residences, cozy churches, comfortable school-houses, mechanical shops, eloquent orations, and pulpit appeals stand in living evidence that we have been no idle lookers-on. We have been seen, and felt, and heard in every avenue of industry and enterprise, from the plow to the pulpit, and from the farm to the forum. But we have not only witnessed these things, not only been a party to progress in times of peace and prosperity, but in the time of our country's peril, when men were called from the peaceful home to put on the panoply of war in defense of the beloved institutions of our country, we heard the call, only to obey, and to-day we point with an honest pride to the noble record we have made.

The history of but few families is so closely interwoven with the warp and woof of the history of the State, while as its branches have continued to spread and widen, many of them have crossed the boundary into other States, and have there taken root to grow up and form new families and new history. Planted as we have said in the morning, we to-day behold the lengthening shadows as the sun of 1800 approaches the edge of its evening, and it is no egotism to say that our fathers who planted this seed, and nourished it in its tenderness with the sweat of their toil, and who have passed over to their reward, will to-day look down from the spirit land upon their descendants, pleased to see their prosperity deeply rooted in the rich soil of honor, nourished by the refreshing dews of integrity, and bringing forth the sweet fruits of industry.

EXPLANATION OF FIGURES.

Number 1 represents the recognized head, or most remote ancestor to which the families could be traced, and is used in connection with but one person in the first five divisions.

Number 2 represents children of number 1, and is used in connection with but one person in the first five divisions.

Number 3 represents children of number 2, and is used in connection with the names of the five sons of John Reinhart Waltz, who form the first five divisions of the WALTZ GENEALOGICAL RECORD in the following order according to age:

First Division, Frederick Waltz.

Second Division, Peter Waltz.

Third Division, Michael Waltz.

Fourth Division, John Waltz.

Fifth Division, S. P. Waltz.

Number 4 represents children of number 3, and as number 3 forms the head of each of the first five divisions, number 4 forms the head of each branch in the first five divisions. Number 4 where found in the same division are brothers and sisters, and are first cousins to number 4 of the other divisions.

Number 5 represents children of number 4, and are brothers and sisters where found in the same branch, and first cousins to number 5 in the same division, and second cousins to number 5 of other divisions.

Number 6 represents children of number 5, and are brothers and sisters where found between those numbered 5, and are first cousins to others numbered 6 in the same branch, and second cousins to number 6 in other branches of the same division, and third cousins to those numbered 6 in other divisions.

Number 7 represents children of number 6, and are brothers and sisters where found between those numbered 6, and second cousins to those numbered 7 in the same branch after crossing number 5, and third cousins to those numbered 7 of other branches of the same division, and fourth cousins to those numbered 7 of other divisions.

Number 8 represents children of number 7, and are brothers and sisters where found between those numbered 7, and first cousin to those numbered 8 after crossing number 7, and second cousin after crossing number 6, and third cousin after crossing number 5 in the same branch, and fourth cousin to number 8 in other branches of the same division, and fifth cousin to number 8 in other divisions.

Number 9, 10 and so on are represented in the same manner, each additional number carries the relationship one step more remote between the different branches and divisions.

For the branches comprising the sixth division, these numbers will apply in the same manner as they do in the other divisions, with the exception that they trace their most remote ancestor to the head of their respective branches, and unless a link can be found to connect the heads of these branches with each other, or those of the other divisions, no positive relationship between branches of the sixth division can be given. The numbers also show you the exact number of generations between you and your most remote ancestor.

In the same branches, number 3 is father or mother, uncle or aunt to number 4; number 4 is father or mother, uncle or aunt to number 5, and so on.

The numbers are not a 13, 14, and 15 puzzle, but their study will be found an interesting source of amusement to the young, an agreeable and pleasant entertainment for the middle aged, and to the aged will bring back fond remembrances of those who have long since been called to their haven of rest.

The descendants of Frederick Reinhart Waltz are traced to the eighth generation. In the four first generations there are but two surviving members, namely, Wm. Waltz, of Oakland, Md., representing the head of the fifth branch, fourth division, who is now in his eighty-ninth year, and David Waltz, of Wadsworth, Ohio, representing the head of the fourth branch, second division, who is near eighty-three years old.

Of those numbered 5, or fifth generation, Wm. Waltz, of Mt. Moriah, Brown Co., Ind., is probably the oldest, being near eighty-one years of age; his name appears in the first branch of the Second division.

The next in age is Catherine Miller, of Kilkenney, Minn.,

in her eightieth year, and Catherine Agal, of Cambridge City, Ind., and Rebecca Stickler, of Cincinnati, Apponoose County, Iowa, in their seventy-eighth year. There are scarcely any represented by number 5 but what are above sixty years of age, while in the sixth generation their ages vary from twenty to sixty-five. The seventh generation ranges from one to thirty years of age, and the eighth from one to ten years of age.

CORRECTIONS.

On page 17 the notice of Frederick Waltz, died in 1849, should be to number 4, instead of number 5.

In the report of the Waltz family in the war, the names of Frank and Edward Waltz, of the second division, were omitted, and should read: Frank Waltz, of Sharon, Ohio, enlisted in the 16th regiment, Ohio Volunteer Infantry Band, was in Sherman's march to the sea, and served to the close of the war. Edward Waltz, of Whitehouse, Ohio, enlisted in the 120th regiment, Ohio Volunteer Infantry, was in ten battles, including the Red River engagements, and served three years and three months.

SIXTH DIVISION.

This division will represent branches of the Waltz families where no connecting link could be traced to a certainty with other branches.

FIRST BRANCH,

of Sixth Division, embracing decendents of George Waltz and Annie Brewer.

The recognized head of this branch was born in the State of Pennsylvania about the year 1770. He remained in his native State some fifteen years after marriage. In the year 1810 he emigrated with his family to the wilds of Floyd County, Ind. As a leading pioneer of that section, and with a family of industrious boys, he soon cleared up and improved several nice farms. He was the founder of Georgetown, Ind., the town adopting his name. His descendents are numerously represented in Southern Indiana, including several families in Oregon and Washington Territory. They are among the most worthy citizens, Samuel W. Waltz, of New Albany, having served several terms as Treasurer of Floyd County, Ind. Rev. Jacob K. Waltz, of Ft. Wayne, Ind., and Rev. Harry W. Waltz, of Pataha City, Washington Territory, are prominent ministers of the gospel. John Keithley Waltz has held the position of Superintendent of Public Schools of Logansport, Ind., for the past ten years, Jesse, George, and Henry forfeited their lives on the field of battle in defense of their country. The writer regrets that a more complete historical and genealogical record of this family could not be secured.

By reason of receiving a very irregular report of the above families, and the party sending their names, saying that each family had from three to eight children not reported, the editor could not shape them in family order, hence the omission of numbers by which the different families are designated.

SWISS EMIGRANTS.

Record of persons, named Waltz, who emigrated from Switzerland to America, as reported by Prof. L. D. Rupp in his collection of 30,000 names of Swiss and German emigrants to the State of Pennsylvania, between the years 1877 and 1776:

Frederick Reinhart Waltz .....1731	Michael Waltz.....1751
John Peter Waltz.....1738	John Jacob Waltz.....1751
Hans Martin Waltz.....1738	Jost Martin Waltz.....1752
Hans Wolf Waltz.....1743	Joel Waltz.....1752
John Reinhart Waltz .....1744	Johannas Waltz.....1752
Johannas Waltz.....1748	Christopher Waltz.....1752
John Waltz.....1748	Johan Waltz.....1752
Michael Waltz.....1750	John Ludwig Waltz.....1753
Joseph Waltz.....1750	Hans Waltz.....1753
Hans Martin Waltz.....1750	Christoff Waltz.....1753
Jacob Waltz.....1751	Frederick Waltz.....1773

In connection with the above we have the following list of persons whose names are spelled different, but the pronunciation being near the same, except in two instances, where one is spelled Voltzer, and the other Waltzer:

Henry Voltz.....1737	Johannas Voltz.....1764
John Peter Voltz.....1748	William Voltz.....1773
Hans Peter Voltz.....1749	Conrad Voltz.....1773
George Voltz.....1754	Jacob Voltz.....1773
Joseph Voltz.....1751	Jacob Voltzer.....1750
Michael Voltz.....1753	Frederick Waltzer.....1750
George Voltz.....1750

The name Waltz or Voltz are undoubtedly the same, the different modes of spelling the name being due to the language spoken or written in their respective cantons. Within the past century those of Baden and Wirtemberg have dropped the t, and write their names W-a-l-z, while within the past fifty years some of our American cousins have substituted an s for z, writing their names W-a-l-t-s. These changes from the original are to a certain extent fanciful, and lead to a gradual alienation of kindred ties. It also places a barrier in the way of any who might at some future time wish to trace a line of their antecedents.

The question has been frequently asked, Are we descendants of the same Waltz family? we spell our names different. Certainly you are, as evidence, examine any record you may have of your ancestry written fifty years ago. Neither is there a single instance where any of the Waltz emigrants from foreign ports, prior to 1800, recorded their names different from those given, Waltz, Voltz, Waltzer, or Voltzer. The latter two may have no connection with the former, but it is also reasonable to suppose that Waltzer was the original name, and in order to shorten to one syllable, the er had to be dropped. In the twelfth century the name Waltzer was applied to a small community of farmers, who sought refuge during the Gothic dominion in a secluded mountain valley in the Alpine range, near the Rhine Glacier. These same people, also, first inhabited and rendered productive the frightful solitudes of Davos, which they received in fief from the Baron of Batz, in the year 1250.

Three different Swiss historians, in referring to this same people, one calls them the Waltzers, another the Walsors, and a third the Voltzers. It is also alleged that they were fugitives of the Alemanni, which is doubtful, and that they were of Cimbri extraction. This may be admissible, but it is more probable that they were a remnant of the Etruscans or Gallic Celts, who took refuge in the Rhaetian Mountains, after being overpowered by the Gauls and Romans. Rotteck, in his History of the World, says of them (page 118-119): "The Etrurians, Etruscans, or Tuscans, named probably from a Pelasgian colony, were without doubt a Northern race, believed to be Iberian. They were renowned for their commerce and navigation, and knowledge of human and divine affairs. Earlier than the Greeks they had found out the principles of a free constitution, and earlier than they, possessed a humane and equitable legislation, and finally they practiced earlier the mechanical and liberal arts." We shall have further occasion to refer to Swiss history, and will offer a few remarks on the probable

ORIGIN OF THE NAME WALTZ.

It has been intimated, the name Waltz, had its origin from the German dance, but this is a mistake, as we have a record of the name applied to persons five hundred years before the dance known as waltz came in vogue. The two have their origin indirectly from the same source. Names originate in various ways. Persons of the same name, where they become numerous, are often designated by the name of their occupation, or name of a special act, or trait in their character. The name Waltz is German, but of Latin extraction, and has the same definition as Voltz, in the Latin, or Valce, in the French, meaning to move as a round body, circular motion, turning around or rolling, as applied to rolling the ground. The German says, "Walza den grunde," or "Waltzen de arde." Hence, when we take into consideration that agriculture has been the leading occupation of the Waltz ancestry as far back as the name can be traced; and as rolling the ground (Walza den grunde) was considered an indispensable part of the labor required in successful farming, can we not reasonably conclude the name Waltz as originally applied to a person derived its origin from the nature of the occupation such person was engaged in, namely, rolling the ground? In speaking of such person the German would naturally say der Waltzer, the same as any of us often do in speaking of a third person, say the blacksmith, the shoemaker, or the miller. The person to whom these names are applied may adopt them, and their descendants ever after be known by that name.

FREDERICK REINHART WALTZ.

The recognized head of the first five divisions of our family record is Frederick Reinhart Waltz, who was banished from his native land in 1731. He was the first man by the name Waltz to step on American soil. The causes that led to his banishment were his violent opposition to the increasing encroachments on civil and religious rights. The Constitution of the Swiss Confederation declares a republican form of government, where all men are entitled to certain inalienable rights. In the seventeenth century the rich and powerful, supported by the crowned heads of Austria, began to usurp authority, and chose for their councils only their friends and relatives. By degrees these families perpetuated their possession of the government; by degrees the council renewed itself annually, until the Sovereign power became exclusively hereditary in the families of the great council. Thus by degrees the common people, although declared free by their constitution, were so in name only. They were made ineligible in the voice of government, and subject to the dictates of a few ruling families.

An unjust acquired sovereignty, however good and wise it may be, never effaces by its virtues the stain of original injustice, and always trembles for its power. Berchthold's old Grant, and the citizens' fundamental law laid in the golden chests; but the ruling families had no desire to enforce them. Murmurings against the hereditary power of a few families began to burst forth in open revolts, but the ruling power, supported by decrees from the Pope of Rome and Austrian bayonets, enforced silence. Conspiracies were formed, the prisons, the executioner's block, and banishment followed.

There lived there at the same time many wealthy men of respectable families, such as the Fueters, Werniers, Kupfers, Bondleys, Knechts, Herborts and others, who mourned in silence over the down-trodden rights of the common people, and lamented that the chartered prerogatives of the citizen could not be maintained against the power of those who now sat, like hereditary lords, in their council hall.

These usurping rulers, in league with the Pope and leading cardinals, kept adding fuel to the unchristian hatred they had inaugurated between Catholic and Protestant cantons, thus for a time diverted the attention of the common people from their actual oppressors.

To unmask and expose the hypocrisy of the priest craft, and treachery to the constitutional rights of the people by the ruling families, our patriotic, liberty-loving, and noble great ancestor, Frederick Reinhart Waltz, became a martyr to the cause of civil and religious liberty, for which he was banished from his native Swiss home, in the Alpine range, to the wilds of America, in the year 1731.

On his arrival in the city of New York, another insult, even worse than banishment, was perpetrated on this noble advocate of the rights of his fellow-men, by the sale of his body into slavery, to pay his passage across the sea, and required to labor eighteen months to redeem himself. To the memory of this man, who suffered banishment from his home and family, and the persecution of enforced slavery for the cause of liberty and justice, the Waltz families of America, especially those of his lineal descendant, owe honor and respect through all ages to come.

Of the reputed sons of Frederick Reinhart Waltz we have no reliable report, except that of John Reinhart Waltz, who emigrated from Switzerland to America in the ship Phoenix, October 20, 1744, and settled in Eastern Pennsylvania. We have no record of his life aside of the names of his children and the banishment of his father. The sons of John Reinhart Waltz were: Frederick, Peter, Michael, John and Simon P. or Samuel. (The latter name being in dispute, is made a special subject on another page.)

Frederick Waltz, grandson of Frederick Reinhart, was married to Mary Seltzer in the year 1779, and located either in Berks or Schuylkill County, Pennsylvania. We have no historical record of his life. He died in 1799, leaving a wife, five sons and two daughters. We are indebted to J. L. MacDaniel, of Cambridge City, Ind., a grandson of Jacob Watzl, for the following report of this family:

"The recognized head of the Waltz families of Eastern Indiana, including a branch in Ohio, and a number of families in Iowa, Wisconsin and Minnesota, was Frederick Waltz, who died in Berks County, Pennsylvania, in 1799. Five sons and two daughters were left by his death, ere the eldest son had attained his majority. The eldest son was named after his father, Frederick, and born in 1780. The second was a daughter named Catherine, born in 1782, and married to Christian Shell, both of whom are dead, and buried at Lewistown, Pennsylvania. The third, John Henry, was born in 1784; Jacob, 1787; Peter, 1789; Mary Magdelene, 1791, and Daniel, 1794. Mary was married to John Foust, and died in Henry County, Indiana, many years ago. About the year 1815, according to a diary, Henry and Jacob, visited the counties of York, Lancaster, Montgomery, Lehigh and others, in Pennsylvania, consuming four years. In 1820 the five brothers came West, with a view of settling near Indianapolis. John Henry settled near Chillicothe, in Ross County Ohio, where he remained some fourteen years, then removed to Allen County. After a lapse of several years, he settled in Auglaize County, and cleared a large farm, when finally after the loss of his wife, and broken down by age, and hard labor, he rented his farm and made his home in West Charleston, Miami County, with his son, Jacob Waltz, father of Col. L. Waltz, of Alexandersville, Ohio, where he died in 1870, aged 86 years. Two sons and three daughters survive him, John Waltz, of Wapakonetta, Ohio; Daniel Waltz, of Ceylon, Indiana; Mrs. Elizabeth Van Blaricom, of Fulton, Indiana; Mrs. Rebecca Stickler, of Cincinnati, Appenoose County, Ia., and Mrs. Catherine Miller, of Killkenny, La Seuer County, Minn. He had a large family, but I have no information about his other descendants.

Of the other brothers, Frederick and Peter, settled near Alexandersville, Ohio, and remained there a few years, when they joined Jacob and Daniel, near East Germantown, Wayne County, Indiana, where they purchased adjoining farms, and prospered in a social and business way, leading exemplary lives. Frederick died in 1849, Peter in 1862, Jacob in 1868, and Daniel in 1869. They all reared large families who settled at different points in Indiana, and their children, in turn, followed the course of empire westward, until you can count them in almost every Western State. Of the elder Waltzes, much can be said to their praise. They were honest and upright, progressive and prosperous. They established schools and churches, and built for themselves a monument in human hearts, more enduring than that carved by the hand of man in polished marble.” J. L. MacD.

Of Peter and Michael Waltz, second and third sons of John Reinhart Waltz, we have a record to which their descendants can point with a feeling of pride, not based on the imagination but on actual facts, and exclaim “My grandfather was a revolutionary soldier. My grandfather fought for my liberty and my country, from the beginning to the close of the revolutionary war. My grandfather was engaged in the battle of Lexington (April 18, 1775) where the first blood was shed for American liberty. My grandfather was numbered with the patriotic band of one thousand, under the gallant noble Warren and Putnam at the battle of Bunker Hill; and finally my grandfather marched and fought under the banner of George Washington until the last Brittain was driven from American soil.” History records the privations and sufferings of our revolutionary fathers during their struggle for American independence. Suffice to say that these noble fathers should be forever held in esteem and grateful remembrance by their posterity, and as their blood flows through our veins let their liberty-loving spirit also stimulate us to action whenever and wherever the liberty they gave us should be encroached upon or the American flag insulted.

Peter Waltz was born in 1751, and was married to Miss Moon in 1773, who bore him one daughter and one son. But a few months before the birth of the son, Peter, with the liberty-loving spirit of his grandfather, Frederick Reinhart, swelling in his bosom, proceeded with his brother Michael to Boston against the bitter protest of his wife, who declared if he left her then she would never live with him. Peter, probably impressed with an idea that women often mean the contrary to what they say was invulnerable, never dreaming that she meant to carry out her threat. He joined the colonial army, in which he served five years and eight months. On his return to his family his wife would not admit him to the house nor permit him to see the children. He plead with her to recall her threat, but she would not. He begged her to see his children, but she turned a deaf ear to all his pleadings. He had his neighbors and friends to plead his cause, but she was obstinate and could not be prevailed on. She had said it and would take nothing back.

Peter, mortified and discouraged, wandered aimlessly away. In 1790 we find him in Westmoreland County, Pennsylvania, where he married a Swiss lady named Eva Milliron. In the year 1800 he, with his small family, penetrated the wilds of Western Pennsylvania, and located in Mahoning County, O., where he cleared up a farm and otherwise provided himself and family with the comforts of a home. He reared a happy family of three sons and four daughters. One of the daughters dying, was the first person buried in the cemetery of the Waltz Church, near the junction of Summit, Wayne and Medina Counties. Of Peter's first wife, we have no further record, except that a few months after he had left, a son was born whom she named Jacob. She reared her two children, and on September 4, 1800, Jacob was married to Miss Mary Berier, of Frederick, Md. In 1802 Jacob, with his wife and child, penetrated the forest and located in Tuscarawas County, O., where he cleared up a large tract of land and reared a large family, not knowing of the life nor near proximity in which he lived to his father. In the year 1815, the old veteran, Peter, hearing of a Waltz family residing in Tuscarawas County concluded, in company with his sons, to pay them a visit. Peter had no idea when he started on this visit that he was to realize that which he had plead for in vain thirty-five years before—to see his son. But on arriving, after a few questions and explanations, the light broke forth, although they had never seen each other, the recognition of father and son was mutual. This was the son named Jacob, born to his first wife, whom he had plead so hard to see on his return from the revolutionary service. Their meeting was pleasant, and frequently repeated. A few years afterward another family named Waltz, reported to be in very destitute circumstances, located in their vicinity. On hearing of this, the generous impulses of the old soldier were at once kindled. He told his wife, "Ich mus ga und saana eb ich denna ebbes helfa kon." I must go and see whether I can help them. But imagine his surprise when he found the head of this family to be, not only an old soldier comrade, but his brother Michael, who had been his associate from childhood, and the life of his life through all the hardships and perils of war. Michael, who had fought by his side in fourteen of the most desperate battles of the revolution, and who was his most intimate associate on the march and in camp until finally, during a severe engagement, they became separated, and a lapse of forty years before they met—words are inadequate to express the feeling of these two sturdy old veterans as they recognized each other. They embraced in ecstasy of delight, weeping for joy. In the year 1823, Peter lost his beloved wife, Eva, and in 1832, the old soldier himself laid down his earthly armor, and at the summons of the Lord put on the heavenly.

Of the family of Michael Waltz we have a very limited report. His granddaughter, Mrs. Elizabeth Schrader, of Canal Fulton, Ohio, says, her grandfather, Michael Waltz, was born near Reading, Penn. When old enough to work he engaged at the shoemaker trade with his father, until seventeen years of age, when he entered the revolutionary service under General Washington, and served seven years and seven months. On his return home he married his cousin, Miss Elizabeth Gower, with whom he had nine children, four boys and five girls, all of whom are dead, and their descendants scattered, therefore, no address could be given. In 1817 his wife died, when Barbara, his youngest daughter, kept house for him, until 1820, when they removed to Wayne County, Ohio, where he met his brother Peter. After the marriage of his daughter Barbara he made his home with her until his death in 1838. He was buried in the cemetery of the Waltz Church, near Doylestown, Ohio.

Jacob Waltz, after the last of his children were married, sold his estates in Tuscarawas County, Ohio, and removed with his wife to Brown County, Ind., where most of his children had located, and spent his latter years in their presence. He died March 17th, 1855, aged 78 years, and his wife died March 12th, 1863, aged 89 years. They left a large family of children, grand and great-grandchildren to mourn the loss of an honored grandfather and estimable grandmother.

Of the children of Peter Waltz, by his wife Eva Milliron, much can be said to their honor and praise. They were faithful to their father and mother in providing the comforts of a home, and partook in a degree of all the privations and hardships incident to pioneer life. They in their turn reared large and respectable families, many of whom are influential members of society, as well as honorable, upright, and estimable citizen. One point of special note was the Waltz Cornet Band, composed of the twelve sons of John Waltz, eldest son of Peter Waltz and Eva Milliron. These boys are said to have at one time formed the best band of musicians in northern Ohio.

David Waltz, of Wadsworth, Ohio, was born in Columbiana County Ohio, in 1802. He is the youngest son, and only surviving member of the Peter Waltz family, and with the exception of Wm. Waltz, of Oakland, Md., the oldest member of the Waltz family association. He is husband of the third wife, and father of seventeen children, twelve of whom survive, and two of his sons sacrificed their lives in defense of their country in 1862. He is the originator of the Waltz family reunions, and although in his eighty-third year, his mental faculties are not impaired, and his physical activity is better than most men at sixty. To him and his family are due the honor of laying the foundation of the Waltz family association.

We now come to the recognized head of the fourth division. John Waltz, fourth son of John Reinhart Waltz, whose wife was Mary M. Hausen. Of the life of John Waltz we have no report, and although he had a family of twelve children, we have but a very limited historical report of them.

Jacob, the oldest son, settled near Chillicothe, Ohio. John and Elias settled in the Miami Valley, near Alexandersville, Ohio, and were recognized as among the most honorable, upright, and industrious men in this valley. John, by tact and perseverance, accumulated a good competence, which he invested in a farm purchased from Dr. J. Treon, and, through some deception or black art, the said Dr. J. Treon took the advantage, and afterward defrauded him of the farm and the whole investment. His losses preyed so heavily on his mind that he died a few years afterward broken-hearted. Elias died of the cholera scourge in 1849.

Another brother, George R. Waltz, settled in Wayne Co., Ohio, in 1835. His son, G. W. Waltz, of Whittlesey, says, that they came in one of those large Pennsylvania emigrant wagons, made boat fashion, and of nights slept in and under the wagon. They remained in Wayne County but a short time when they removed to Whittlesey, where they started in the woods, and cut trees enough at one spot to make room for a cabin. Bears, wolves, deer, and turkeys were numerous. Venison, turkey, and Johnny cake were their main table supplies. Pork at that time, worth from fifteen to twenty cents per pound, was an expensive luxury. They soon cleared up a good farm, and the old cabin, with the mud chimney on the outside, was supplanted with a nice farm house. Thus by continued industry and economy, one comfort after another was added to the old homestead. After the death of Geo. R., his son Geo. W. purchased the homestead of 110 acres, and enjoys the comforts of the place where he used to chase the deer and wild turkeys, and help to fell the first tree fifty years ago.

Another brother, Wm. Waltz, is the only survivor of the children of John Waltz. He resides at Oakland, Md., now in his ninetieth year, and is the oldest member of the Waltz families. William remained on the old homestead when all his brothers and sisters left, and he also reared a large family of children, who are represented in Maryland, Virginia, Ohio, Missouri, Kansas, Nebraska, Iowa, Dakota, and Washington Territory.

Simon P. Waltz, fifth son of John Reinhart Waltz, had but two sons. Samuel represents descendants of first branch of fifth division, and John the second branch of said division. Of the life of Simon P. (or Samuel as the name is in dispute) we have no record, but if we may be allowed to judge from the general character of his descendants, he must have been an excellent man.

This country cannot boast of a more uniformly, well-balanced, honorable, intelligent and enterprising class of citizens than the descendants of S. P. Waltz. Samuel and John Waltz were his only sons, and were among the pioneers of Tuscarawas County. Coming into that county when but very little of the land had been taken up, and strange as it now seems, John settled on, and entered, lived and died at a ripe old age, on about the steepest, roughest, and rockiest farm in the county, though within three miles of the beautiful plains of thousands of acres unsurpassed for beauty and fertility in the State, and which was still in the market at the same price. Samuel settled down about three miles further east, and opened a cooper shop. The two important articles of furniture that graced his cabin was the loom and a safe. It is quite possible that he was the first man in the county who owned a safe. His safe was home-made of good oak boards, and instead of massive doors and combination lock, an oblong opening was made in the top, large enough to receive a silver dollar. Every "fip-penny-bit," shilling or other piece of money he got went into the safe, and laid there until the accumulation was sufficient to buy the farm. His last years were spent with his son Jacob R., in Ashland County, near Jelloway. His ashes rest in the little cemetery at Sand Ridge, and scores have risen up to call him blessed. His Barbara passed away while he was yet in the prime and vigor of life, and was laid to rest on the hill on the old farm, while he, though living to a grand old age, remained true to his early love.

The name of Simon P. Waltz, father of Samuel and John Waltz, is in dispute. David Waltz, of Wadsworth, claims that Samuel and John were his first cousins, and is positive that their father's name was Samuel, while the sons of Simon are equally positive that their grandfather was named Samuel P. The Bible definition of the name Samuel is, "heard of God," and that of Simon is, "that hears, that obeys." If the old gentleman lived up to the definition given his name, there is little room for controversy as to which he may be known by.

The Waltz families, comprising the sixth division, made no biographical report of ancestry, except what is given at the head of the first branch, and the following episode in connection with the second branch. The latter says that many years ago three brothers came from Europe by the name Waltz. After arriving here they separated. One went west, and was never heard from, the others supposing him killed by the Indians. One of the others settled in a Dutch settlement, and some of whose descendants live in Westmoreland County now. The third brother settled in an adjoining county, and, by their interpretation of the name Waltz, he was called Woods. To prove this fact, Woods, by some cause, invited Waltz to his daughter's wedding. As soon as he entered the house Woods exclaimed: "There is my brother!" And he had not seen him for years. They ever afterward claimed to be brothers, although the name Woods was never changed, and many of his descendants now live in the northern part of Westmoreland County, Pa. The one named Waltz is the Daniel Waltz who heads the second branch of the sixth division, Waltz Genealogical Record.

THE WALTZ FAMILY AS SOLDIERS

Who Served in the War for the Union—From 1775 to 1865.

In giving a report of members of the Waltz family, who participated in the various wars for the Union since 1775, it is impossible, in many instances, to give their rank, or name and number of regiment in which they served. It is also to be regretted that a full list of those who did military service could not be secured.

The first on record was, Peter Waltz, Revolutionary service from April, 1775, to September, 1780. Michael Waltz, Revolutionary service from April, 1775, to November, 1783. Daniel Waltz, Brigadier-General, under General Markle, and killed in the war of 1812. Martin Waltz, private, with Pennsylvania troops, in the war of 1812. John Waltz, son of Peter Waltz, private, with Ohio troops in the war of 1812.

There were others in the war of 1812, and quite a number in the Mexican war, but none reported. Those who did service in the war of 1861 to 1865, will be named in the order found in our genealogical record.

Lee C. Waltz, Greensfork, Ind., enlisted in the 69th regiment Ind. Vol. Inft., August 9, 1862, and served to July 5, 1865. Was wounded in three different engagements. First in right hand at Thompson's Hills, Mississippi. Second time in left shoulder, at Alexandria, Louisiana. Third time in right knee, at Ft. Blakely, Alabama.

John Baker, Anderson, Ind., enlisted in Company K, 8th regiment Ind. Vol. Inft., August 20, 1862. Discharged June 14, 1865. Was at the siege of Vicksburg; also with Sheridan at the battle of Ceder Creek, Va. Was in thirteen engagements.

Jacob Waltz and Henry Waltz, of Botkins, Ohio, both enlisted in Company K, 20th regiment, O. V. I., January 18th, 1862, and both were honorably discharged March 10, 1865. They were in all the battles in which the Old Twentieth participated. Jacob was taken prisoner on three occasions, being twice paroled and once exchanged. He lost his eyesight, and contracted other diseases which resulted in death about ten years ago.

Jacob W. Zaenglein, Botkins, Ohio, enlisted under the first call for troops in 1861, and served three months as a private. On being discharged, he re-enlisted in Company G, 71st regiment O. V. I. for three years. He received promotions from private to Orderly Sergeant, second, then first Lieutenant, and discharged as Captain.

Daniel W. Zaenglein, Botkins, Ohio, enlisted in the 106th regiment O. V. I., and served three years.

John C. Zaenglein, Indianapolis, Indiana, enlisted in the 147th regiment O. N. G., and served one hundred days.

His father, Andrew Zaenglein, served in an Ohio Regiment during the whole of the Mexican War.

Jacob Waltz, brother of Solomon and Peter Waltz, of Hagerstown, Indiana, was killed in the siege of Vicksburg.

L. Waltz, of Alexandersville, Ohio, enlisted in Company H, 35th regiment Indiana Vol. Inf., August, 1861, was honorably discharged as Colonel, September 15th, 1864, having received six military commissions.

Jacob Soam enlisted under the first call for troops in 1861; re-enlisted for three years, and died in a hospital in Virginia.

Henry E. Waltz, Des Moines, Iowa, enlisted under the first call in 1861, re-enlisted in the 1st regiment, Wisconsin Cavalry, in September, 1861, and served three years. He was in a number of desperate engagements, and was honorably discharged as Captain in 1864.

Daniel Waltz enlisted in the 1st regiment Wisconsin Cavalry, was discharged as an invalid at St. Louis, Missouri, re-enlisted in the 37th regiment Wisconsin Infantry. Promoted to Orderly Sergeant Company D. Died from wounds at Petersburg, Va., in 1865, was buried at City Point, Va.

Benjamin Waltz, enlisted in Company H, 33d regiment Iowa Vol. Inft. Promoted to Captain. Died at Delta, Keokuk County, Iowa, from disease contracted in the service.

John Waltz, Reedsburg, Wisconsin, enlisted in Company F, 23d regiment Wis. Vol. Inft. Was in the battle of Arkansas Post. Died March 19, 1863, on hospital boat, near Millikens Bend, and was buried at Memphis, Tenn.

Levi Waltz, Castlewood, Dak. Ter., enlisted in Company D, 22d United States Regulars. Was in the battles of Kenesaw Mountain, Atlanta, Goldsboro, and several other engagements. Was mustered out of service in 1867, at Fort Gibson, Indian Ter.

Elias Waltz, — regiment O. V. I. Died from disease contracted in the Virginia campaign.

Leander J. McIlvain, Postmaster of Cleona, Brown County, Ind., was a private for nearly three years in Company H, 82d regiment Ind. Vol. Inf., and commissioned Postmaster of Cleona in 1878, which position he still holds.

Daniel Boger, Crystal, Mich., enlisted in the 9th Michigan Light Artillery in 1862. Died at Harper's Ferry, Va., from wounds received.

Aaron Boger, enlisted in the 11th Michigan Cavalry in 1863, and honorably discharged in 1865.

Rev. Wm. Cooly, enlisted in the 7th Michigan Cavalry in 1863, and honorably discharged at the close of the war.

E. G. Waltz, Lima, Ohio, enlisted in the 51st O. V. I. Served during the war.

O. S. Waltz, enlisted in Company E, 20th regiment O. V. I. Died at Shiloh, Tenn.

Thomas H. Waltz, Chapin, Mich., enlisted in Company E, 20th O. V. I. Served during the war.

E. L. Waltz, Jelloway, O., enlisted in Company F, 142d O. V. I. Served in the Virginia campaign in 1864.

Isaac L. Waltz, Lima, O., enlisted in the 121st regiment O. V. I., and served during the war.

Robert R. Parker, Belmore, Ohio, enlisted in the First Ohio Light Artillery, Battery G., August, 1862, and served during the war.

George Pretz, West Carrollton, Ohio, enlisted in the First Ohio Vol. Inf., and served during the war.

Lewis Waltz, Van Wert, Ohio, enlisted in the 64th regiment O. V. I. Was killed at the battle of Shiloh.

Henry Waltz, Payne, Paulding County, Ohio, enlisted in the 46th regiment O. V. I., and served during the war.

Emanuel Waltz, Van Wert, Ohio, enlisted in the 88th regiment O. V. I., and served during the war.

Josiah Waltz, Van Wert, Ohio, enlisted in the 88th regiment O. V. I., and served during the war.

Rev. Henry C. Waltz, who died at Green Castle, Ind., a few years ago, was a graduate of Green Castle College. He traveled extensively through the continent of Europe, Asia, and Africa, visiting the Holy Land. He served as a private in Company F, 133d regiment Ind. Vol. Inft. during the war. Died of consumption about ten years ago.

Joseph Lafeber, Shielville, Ind., enlisted in the 6th regiment O. V. I., and served during the war.

Martin Waltz, Winchester, Ind., enlisted in 84th regiment Ind. Vol. Inft., and served during the war.

Thomas Browne, ——— regiment Ill. Vol. Inft., and served four years.

James Demint, enlisted in the 69th regiment Ind. Vol. Inft. Served during the war.

Dr. James Waltz, Green Castle, Ind., graduated from Bellevue Medical College, New York City, and served as private in the 133d regiment Ind. Vol. Inft. during the war.

John Keithley Waltz, Logansport, Ind., graduated from the Indiana Ashbury University, and served as a private in the 133d regiment Ind. Vol. Inft. during the war.

Edward D. Waltz, Franklin County, Ind., served in the 17th Light Artillery during the war.

James H. Waltz, Franklin County, Ind., enlisted in the 6th regiment O. V. I., in 1861. Killed near Beverly, West Va., in 1863.

ORIGIN OF THE WALTZ FAMILY REUNION.

When and Where Held—How Conducted—Officers Elected—General Review.

BY E. L. WALTZ, JELLOWAY, O.

Early in the year 1879 I received a printed postal card of which the following is substantially a copy:

“Yourself and family are hereby invited to be present at a Waltz family reunion to be held at the old Waltz Church, near Doylestown, O., Friday, September 19, 1879. You are also requested to invite any one related to the Waltz family by blood or marriage.”

The day before the day set for the reunion we took the train at Delta, O., arriving at Doylestown, about 9 a. m., on the 19th, and were soon at the grounds where we learned the meeting was to be. Here we expected to meet a few near relatives from Allen County, and possibly a few from Tuscarawas, and—we knew not who nor how many more, but found “the woods full of them.”

Speaking of the occasion, the Wadsworth Enterprise said, “The tribes of David, Peter, Joel, Israel, John, Levi, Benjamin, Reuben, Amos, James, Samuel, Thomas, Jacob, Sarah, Rachel, and others were there.” The same paper estimating the number present at over one thousand.

The idea of a reunion of the Waltz family was first conceived by the Misses Calista and Millie Waltz, and enlisting the assistance and favor of father David and R. B. Waltz, steps were immediately taken to bring it about. “Other old families,” they said, “are holding their reunions, and why not the Waltzes?”

The day, one of the finest of the season, was one continued round of enjoyment. “Is your name Waltz, too?” “Where are you from?” “What branch of the Waltz family do you belong to?” “What’s your name?” and many other similar questions were being continually asked and answered.

A prominent feature of the occasion was the presence of the old Waltz Silver Cornet Band, an organization then over thirty years old. The day was spent in hand-shaking, speech-making, and the renewing of old and forming of new acquaintances.

Thus was inaugurated the annual reunion of the Waltz family, an occasion we have learned to look forward to with pleasurable expectations. Each recurring year bringing forward new faces and warm greetings of old.

A business session was held during the afternoon, looking to a permanent organization, at which the following officers were elected:

President, E. G. Waltz, West Cairo, O.; Vice-President, David Waltz, Wadsworth, O.; Secretary, E. L. Waltz, Delta, O.; Treasurer, Joel Waltz, Akron, O.; Corresponding Committee, Chas. Waltz, Madison, Wis., Rev. Alvin Waltz, New Cumberland, O., Reuben Waltz, Akron, O., Isaac Waltz, Independence, O., G. W. Waltz, Whittlesy, O., and J. M. Waltz, New Philadelphia, O.

The second annual reunion was held one year from the date of the first, at the same place. The number present was large, showing an increasing interest. At this reunion the following officers were elected:

President, S. D. Waltz, New Philadelphia, O.; Vice-President, David Waltz, Wadsworth, O.; Secretary, R. B. Waltz, Akron, O.; Treasurer, Joel Waltz, Akron, O.

The third annual reunion was held at West Cairo, Ohio, September 29, 1881, for which ample preparations had been made by the friends at that place, and the large number present was ample proof that the interest had not decreased. At this meeting addresses were made by a number, and excellent music discoursed, and altogether this, the third reunion, was a grand success. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

President, S. D. Waltz, New Philadelphia, O.; Vice-President, David Waltz, Wadsworth, O.; Secretary, R. B. Waltz, Akron, O.; Treasurer, Joel Waltz, Akron, O.

The fourth annual reunion was fittingly held at St. Matthew's Church, near New Cumberland, Ohio. The attendance was very large, many having come a great distance to make probably a last visit to those grand old hills, hallowed by many recollections of the past. A large number of the country people around were also present to greet the visitors from abroad, who had in the years gone by been their neighbors. This meeting was held in a beautiful grove just across the road from a tall marble shaft that marks the last resting place of Samuel Waltz, who one year previous, at the West Cairo reunion, held the audience chained by his wonderful power as he spoke of these reunions as typical of a reunion to which many had already gone, and to which all are tending.

Previous experience had proven that one day was not sufficient for an occasion of this kind, and this reunion was continued two days. Officers elected at this reunion were:

President, Col. L. Waltz, Alexandersville, O.; Vice-President, E. L. Waltz, Jelloway, O.; Secretary, Rev. Alvin Waltz, New Cumberland, O.; Treasurer, Joel Waltz, Akron, O.

The fifth annual reunion was held at Wadsworth, Ohio, the home of our honored octogenarian friend, David Waltz, than whom none has taken a greater interest in, nor done more to perpetuate the "Waltz Family Association." The exercises were held in a beautiful grove in the suburbs of this miniature city, and as at all previous occasions, the attendance was large. Rev. Kauffman, of the English Lutheran Church, being president was called on to deliver an address. In the course of his remarks he alluded to the band above spoken of as follows: "When a boy, I remember of going with my parents to a Fourth of July celebration when I saw what I thought to be the grandest sight in my life. A regular two-story, mansard roof brass band, and bass drum, red coats and yellow trowsers with blue stripes down the legs. I tell you that—to my mind—they were just terrific. Well, that was the Waltz Band." Officers elected at this meeting:

President, Col. L. Waltz, Alexandersville, O.; Vice-President, Joel Waltz, Akron, O.; Secretary, Jno. W. Waltz, Sharon Center, O.; Treasurer, G. W. Waltz, Whittlesey, O.

At this reunion it was decided to hold the next at the National Soldiers' Home, Dayton, O., on Thursday and Friday, August 28 and 29, 1884.

At the reunion held at West Cairo, arrangements were made with the Saturday People, a weekly paper published at Dayton, O., for the use of a column, which has been well patronized by the friends of the association, with both pleasure and profit. At the reunion held at St. Matthew's, in Tuscarawas county, a suggestion was made to secure the names and post-office address of as near all the freundshaft as possible, and publish in pamphlet, and the President charged with that duty. As he begun the labor of securing the names, letters from various neighborhoods came urging him to insert some historical matter, and classify the names as to the various branches of this now numerous family. The plan was changed and the work begun. Two years have been spent in working it up, and hundreds of letters written, and many dollars spent. The result is now before us—this beautiful and valuable book. For this labor and time Col. Waltz has in the way of remuneration the satisfaction of duty done. If the American people are remarkable for any one thing, it is for utter carelessness in preserving family history. But the Colonel has placed in our hands a book of inestimable value, and from which many, whose names appear on its pages, will for the first time learn what relation they bear to the various members of the name.

By these annual reunions the young are brought in contact with the old, and become familiar with the family history and its traditions, and are thus better prepared to pass to their posterity the mantle that falls to them from their ancestors without spot or blemish, but all the brighter for having rested on their shoulders.

FIRST REUNION OF THE WALTZ FAMILY.

The Tribes of David, Peter, Joel, Israel, John, Levi, Benjamin, Reuben, Amos, James, Thomas, Sarah, Jacob, and Hosts of Others were there.

Friday, September 19, 1879, was a fine autumn day, and the number to about 1000, including guests, assembled in a beautiful grove on the old Everhard farm next west of the old Waltz farm, and less than half a mile west of the Waltz Church, where the counties of Summit and Medina corner. A stand was then erected in the grove, supplied with an organ. Vocal music, the old Waltz Band, and the Sharon Band, did excellent service during the day.

The grove was early alive with people and teams. The greeting of old friends was warm and hearty, and many new friendships were formed.

At 11 o'clock David Waltz called the audience together, and, after music by the Sharon Band, on motion of Charles Waltz, of Madison, Wis., E. J. Waltz, of West Cairo, O., was elected president of the day, who, after a short greeting, introduced the Rev. J. F. Sponseller, who thanked the throne of grace for the bounties of his hand, and the privileges we enjoy, making special allusion to the occasion of the meeting. This was followed by vocal music by the Waltz family, entitled, "Reunion," written and composed for this occasion by Israel Waltz, of West Salem, O.

Father David Waltz was then called on for a few remarks, and gave a brief account of the Waltz family. This being the first Waltz reunion he ever saw, he hoped a full record would be made. His grandfather came to this country in 1744, by the name of John Reinhardt Waltz. He then named his grandfather's children, among whom was Peter Waltz, father of the speaker, who came to Wayne County in the year 1814. The year preceeding he came here, a boy twelve years old, raised in the woods, and has met many of the red men of the forest. He is the father of seventeen children, two lying on Southern soil, and three died in infancy. The children's names are Joel, John,* Eli,* Frank, Benjamin, Reuben, Amos, Orvis, Salome,† Sarah Ann,† Viola,† Lovina, Louisa, Fianna, Amelia, Calista Ann, Angeline. This was followed with the familiar vocal music, "All Hail the Power of Jesus' Name."

Volunteers were then called on for remarks. The president gave some genealogical accounts of his ancestors, starting in Maryland in 1778, and his total descendants now numbering 127, of whom all but 28 are living.

Uncle Jacob Waltz, of Allen County, was called out, and was introduced as the best temperance Waltz ever known. He was born in Jefferson county in 1813, and they called him Jake. The family soon moved to Tuscarawas County. He spoke of the hardships of that early life, and especially of the poverty against which they struggled, having slept on deer skins, which also served as covering. He paid an excellent tribute to his mother, whose maiden name was Barbara Rinard. His father was also a cooper, and made barrels, many of which were used as whisky barrels, selling them for fifty cents each. By frugality he saved enough to buy eighty acres of land ($100), and from that time he succeeded better. He closed with the remark, "If you have any other Waltzes who can make as good a speech as that, drive them in."

Loud laughter, and music by the Sharon Band.

Rev. J. F. Sponseller then responded to a request, addressing the audience, contrasting present reunions with that grand reunion beyond the river.

Adjourned to half-past two o'clock.

The dinner was not only abundant, but free to everybody.

*Died soldiers.      †Died in infancy.

Substantials and delicacies, which the Waltzes so well know how to prepare, were there in abundance, and after all were filled, baskets full were left.

At 2 P. M. order was restored with vocal music by a large choir of Waltzes, who sang "The Christian's Future" and "Come Over," at the conclusion of which Alvin Waltz, of New Philadelphia, Ohio, delivered an address, alluding to the name Waltz, tracing it to Germany, where a man inclined to dance was called "Waltz." [We think there is a possibility of mistake here.—EDITOR.] The happy phases of the reunion were spoken of, and a Christian union recommended, which, after the great change, will re-sult in a permanent reunion.

Music by the Sharon Band followed.

Elias Waltz, of West Cairo, Ohio, was then called out. He noticed two characteristics: One, that the Waltzes are good feeders, and, another is, that they know how to prepare it. Sixty years ago, less ten days, he was born. The speaker then alluded to his marriage, family descendants, etc., in a humorous way, eliciting considerable laughter.

"Nearer, my God, to Thee," was then sung by the audience.

Business looking to a recurrence of these reunions was then taken up. The following were chosen as a corresponding committee: Charles Waltz, Madison, Wis.; Alvin Waltz, New Cumberland, O.; Reuben Waltz, Akron, O.; E. J. Waltz, West Cairo, O.; Isaac Waltz, Independence, O.; Geo. W. Waltz, Whittlesey, O., and J. M. Waltz, New Philadelphia, O. The officers chosen are as follows: E. J. Waltz, President, West Cairo, O.; David Waltz, Vice-President, Wadsworth, O.; Joel Waltz, Treasurer, Wadsworth, O., and E. L. Waltz, Secretary, Delta, O.

A committee on music was appointed as follows: Reuben Waltz, Isaac Waltz, and Israel Waltz.

During music by the band, and social conversation, the Waltzes passed in review past a certain point, where the names were taken down. Wadsworth and the surrounding counties, of course, turned out largely, but there were persons present from Tuscarawas County, Allen County, Putnam County, Wisconsin, and Illinois.

All in attendance enjoyed the occasion—especially the Waltzes. It is a milestone in the lives of many that will be pleasantly remembered.

NOTES.

The reason why the Waltzes are long-lived people, is explained by the bounties of their tables. There was a large surplus after feeding all present.

There is only one editor known in the Waltz family, which may account for the fact that they are proud of the tribe.

The flag carried by the original Waltz Band, which was organized nearly thirty years ago, was carried by the band to-day. It will be remembered by the oldest citizens, that this Waltz Band drew the second premium at a band contest in Wooster about twenty-five years ago, where thirty-two bands competed.

In the matter of entertainment over night for those from abroad, Joel Waltz said he would entertain all who came, so long as he had a "board to lay them on."

We were mistaken for a Waltz several times at the reunion, because we "waltzed" around so naturally at the dinner-table.

It is estimated that between five and six hundred present were of Waltz blood, not including the "side issues" and distant relatives by marriage.— Wadsworth Enterprise.

BY WM. WALTZ, LATE OF SCHOPHEIM, BADEN, NOW OF NORWALK, O.

Switzerland is a Republic composed of twenty-two States called cantons. It bears the proud title of "Helvetian Republic." Its history is very old, the oldest inhabitants known to history being the Helveti of Celtic tribe. Those were again divided in tribes, but before these, a people lived there belonging to the stone age. They knew not the metals. The first nation that established colonies were the ancient Etruscans. After those people became united with the Romans it became a Province of the Empire. The first colony was settled in the canton of Grisons by the Etruscans. There you find all the evidence of this. By the excavations you find remnants of antiquity of this remarkable and artistic people. Vases, urns, vaults, themes or ruins of bath pillars, all of the most beautiful workmanship. These colonies were called Rhaetia. It is called so yet in poetry, forming also a part of Tirol. The southern valleys are very romantic. Those Etruscans or Latins formed the nucleus or spinal of the Roman nation, and it is wonderful what knowledge they had of agriculture, art, science, etc. Over the rest of Switzerland you find the ruins of Roman antiquity, but all of Etruscan workmanship concerning the artistic.

The language of Switzerland is various. German is the prevailing tongue, spoken in different dialects, changing somewhat in every canton. In the Valais, the canton of Vaud, Neufchatel, Geneva, part of Frybourg and part of Berne, the language is French, well spoken. The Italian is the language in Tessin and part of the Grisons. The Grisons speak German, Italian and Rhaetian, or Romanic. This is the language of the early Etruscan colonies. Now let us bask in the sunny side of Lake Zurich, the home of the Helvetian tribe, Tigurini. The surrounding region is a paradise on earth. The hillsides are covered with the grape, and the plains yielding a bountiful harvest to the tiller of the soil. Industrious people live here. In the background you see the Alps with their snowy crests. Zurich is the Athens of Switzerland. A few miles south will bring us to the celebrated Monastery of the Lady of the Hermits, a great pilgrim shrine of the Roman Catholic Church. A little distant is the famous mountain Righi. The highest of a group of mountains surrounded by the lakes of Zug, Lucerne and Lowerty. Thousands of tourists or visitors come and ascend to the summit, from which the beholder can have a beautiful panorama. The Swiss love their mountains and are happy in their constant danger. Here you see them in their descent with their heavy milk-barrels strapped to their backs, bringing down from their mountain-pastures the product of their cows. Sometimes you see a sturdy peasant with a bawling calf lashed to his back, coming down the mountain.

There is a primitive simplicity about these mountaineers. In the vicinity is Sempach, the battlefield. Here the proud Duke Leopold, of Austria, died. Here the hero Arnold, of Winkelried, made a breach with his body in the steelclad Austrian Phalanx, over his dead body rushed the liberty-loving mountaineers with their battle-axes, pressing them, the Austrians, in a narrow defile. The banner of Austria falls. Knight of Arlberg takes it; he also falls. It is raised again. It falls the third time. Duke Leopold advances, takes the blood-stained banner in desperation. He also falls by the hands of a mountaineer.

In the interior of Switzerland the houses are very peculiar, and the architecture is highly picturesque, thus adding to rural beauty. The roof far-over-hangs the house as to give protection to its sides. Each story is ornamented with a balcony accessible from the outside by staircases. The style, however, differs with the cantons. The peasantry is also different in the variety of costumes, with each canton. These costumes are quite charming in pictures, especially the ladies. Young girls may always be distinguished from married women by their dress. In one canton the girls wear a headdress most singular; the saying is, such girls wear it that are in want of a husband. All honor to the Swiss ladies, for it was a woman that gave the first impulse for freedom. We will now proceed to Lake Luzerne, the lake of Wm. Tell. We will see the celebrated Gruetly Meadow. The wife of Werner Stauffacher is the woman who, in her noble patriotic effort persuaded her husband to shake off the Austrian yoke. Through his wife's influence Werner Stauffacher persuaded Walther Fuerst and Henry Melchthal. In the midnight hour of the 7th of November, 1307, those three raised their hands to the heavens and swore to God, before whom peasants and kings are alike, to live and die faithful to each other for the right of their oppressed people. Each one of them had brought ten confederates. Those thirty men raised their hands and swore to a just providence to live for liberty or die for it. Among these men at the Gruetly Meadow was Wm. Tell, the famous marksman, well known in history. Let us hasten to the Bernese Highlands. From Thune, taking a steamer on the beautiful Lake of Thune. It was a June day when I made the trip. By some it is considered that the Lake Thune possesses more beauty than the rest of lakes in Switzerland. Next to this I like the Lake Geneva. Lake Thune is surrounded on every side with mountains whose sloping sides, decorated with villas, gardens and castles, forming a magnificent landscape. There is the ancient castle of Spiez supposed to be founded by Attila, king of the Huns. Leaving the lake we come to the most sublime scenery in all Switzerland. The (Berner Oberland) Berner Oberland, Bernese Highlands. On this spot of ground lies the town of Interlaken, known to the Etruscans or Romans, receiving the name from them. Inter means between. Lakus is lake. Between the lakes. Here we see all that is charming, the towering snowclad Alps. The snow-covered peaks and glaciers seem almost to overhang the valley. The stranger almost shudders to see an avalanche break from the summit of the Jungfrau or Silverhorn. The population derive their living from the thousands of strangers that come to visit here. A distance from here is Lake Brienz, a spot noted for its songs. It is about the center of Switzerland. Here in the evenings of summer the Swiss gather. We find the young men and women devoted to social amusement, singing, playing and talking. You hear sweet voices and good music. The favorite air is "Ranz des Vaches," signifying the rows of cows. Its origin is this: In the spring the inhabitants drive their herds of cows to the pasture on the mountains, often several thousand feet high, remaining there all summer, living in huts or cabins. Here the butter and cheese is made, brought down at times and sold. The cow that yields the most milk is made the queen. She receives a large bell on her neck and always leads the van. She soon learns her superiority by horning every cow that will not follow her path. At the close of the season they return to the valley for winter. This event is a great festival. Before descending the mountain the queen cow is decorated with flowers, ribbons and bells, and sometimes has the prettiest little girl of the party on her back. The other cows march in rows behind her also decorated according. The peasantry accompany by singing the "Ranz des Vaches" or "Rows of Cows."

Thus you see that the melody is connected with the most joyful season of the year, often producing home sickness to the Swiss abiding in a foreign country. Take it all, these wonders of nature, the danger, all these surround a primitive people, and one that seems impressed with reverence due to religion and their Creator. The entrance of many cottages are surmounted with a verse from the Bible, sometimes with strange pictures, saints, a bee or ant, indicating the industry of those that live within.

From the highlands I took my course across an immense mountain range to the valley of the Rhone, or the canton of Valais. We will proceed together. We take a narrow mountain path, scaling the heights, coming to the romantic hamlet called Aeshy, entering the valley of Fruetigen, known for its beauty, fertility, and its deep green pastures.

We arrived at Kandersteg, the last village in the valley. Here the passage over one of the most interesting and most dangerous Alpine passes, called the Gemmi, begins.

It would take me too long to describe what I had to venture crossing this wild 8,000 feet high mountain pass. On the summit is a small lake, a little distance on a rocky mound, you see the valley of the Rhone, Mt. Rosa, and the entire Alpine chain, which separates Switzerland from Italy. If clear, you may see the St. Gothard pass, and the Simplon to the right of the St. Bernard. Descending, is the valley of Loeche, celebrated for its hot bath, which is greatly resorted to in the warm season.

Through the valley of Loeche we hasten to the valley of the Rhone, passing the ancient city called Sion, full of Roman antiquities. Julius Cæsar is supposed to have built a castle here. Passing by we reach the base of the St. Bernard. It is Martigny, the old Octodurum of antiquity. I worked at my trade in this remarkable place. The pass over this part of the Alps leads you to the far-famed monastery of St. Bernard with its faithful dogs. It is a place of ever memorable history. Far back in the dim light of the past this place, Martigny, this valley of the Rhone, and this world-renowned Alpine pass, what turmoil and changes have they witnessed! First we see in dim light in their flowing toga the Etruscans, then the Gauls, again we see Hanibal or Annibal, the brave and skillfull Carthaginian, with his hosts passing this road. Now we hear the tramp of the Roman legions bringing with them the arts and agriculture. Again they make room for the Goth, Huns and Allemani, destroying everything that art and civilization had accomplished. Then the Burgundians, the Franks or French, and then Savoy ruled over it, to be finally ceded to the Swiss. Here, also, Napoleon I. crossed the St. Bernard. We hear the footsteps of the French army pouring into the plains of Italy, and hurling back the Austrians. But enough of it, peace reigns over the hills and dales, and the tocsin of war made room for plough and pruning hook.

It is time to come to a close. Leaving Martigny, I came to St. Maurice, the border of Valais, and entering the canton of Vaud, arriving at the lake of Geneva. Vaud is one of the most intelligent cantons. It is the home of the Vaudois, the persecuted Protestant sect, which had so much to endure for their religion, and whom Oliver Cromwell so well protected by threatening the King of France, and the Duke of Savoy. A busy, wide-awake people, we see well kept farms and vineyards, and everything is neat and attractive.

Passing along the shore of Lake Geneva, I came to the castle of Chillon, celebrated as having been the prison of Francois de Bonivard, the hero of Genevan Independence, Vaud being then part of Savoy. This hero of Protestantism was finally liberated by these people of Berne, when they occupied the canton of Vaud. Lord Byron has illustrated the event in his ever memorable piece of poetry, the Prisoner of Chillon.

Leaving the canton of Vaud with its good, kind and intelligent people, I came to Lake Neufchatel, and passing the old battlefield of Morat, the Swiss against the Burgundians. A handsome pyramid marks the place where Burgundian pride and arrogance sneered and scorned the Swiss, because they asked God in fervent prayer not to forsake them. Glorious was the victory of the Swiss. Their leader, Hans, of Hallwill, a while before the battle commenced, perceived, during the prayer, the sun breaking through the clouds, shining over the Swiss army, and taking this for a good sign gave the signal for attack.

I worked at my trade in Neufchatel, and on leaving I visited the old town of Soleure, also of Roman origin. From here to Basle or Bale, the home of the Helvetian tribe, Bauraci. The city has a museum with many relics and antiquities of the Etruscan and Roman time. The Romans having here a colony called Augusta Rauracorum. In every place I found the Swiss a good-natured people, industrious, honest, frank, hospitable, full of merry-making, and most every one supplied with a good deal of mother wit, seldom in want of a good answer. But infringe their rights, and you will see how quick the situation changes. I have observed that if a man should praise his country, and find fault with Switzerland, the native Swiss will say, Why did you not stay there? we did not tell you to come here. This the stranger often has to hear from the Swiss at the least occasion.

Now, about the origin of the name Waltz. I believe it is Latin. As every name has a beginning, so this must have. We must go to the root of words. This is the word Vol, the Latin having no W, but using V instead. The dance waltz received its name from the whirling round motion. This flitting, flying and inconstant moving is called in Latin, Volatilis. He that flies, goes suddenly, is called Volaticus. Flight is called Volatura. That which may be easy turned round or rolled is called Volubilis, hence we have from this the words, evolving and revolving. A roller, a thing to smooth the ground with, is called in Latin, Volgiolum. This implement of agriculture the Etruscans and Romans brought with them is called in German, Waltza, but they derived the name of Latin, for the right German name would be roller. The Germans also call a restless person, always wandering, walzen, from the Latin. In ancient Etruscia we find the cities Volaterrae and Volsini. An Etruscan was Consul in Asia, under Augustus Cæsar, with the name Volessus. A tribe of the Etruscians were called Volsci from their quick, swift movement, leaping from or mounting their horses. Now we will come closer to our investigations. Vault is from Latin, and voluta, volvum and volutum is to roll, to turn or making round. Vault, an arched roof or ceiling, is of Etruscan origin, because they had the best knowledge of masonry. To vault by leaping is also from the root (vol), all of Latin. The dance waltz originally was only known to the peasantry of part of Switzerland, and Tirol probably from Rhaetia or Grisons (the Etruscan colony). It first became a public dance in 1810, being adopted at the imperial courts of Vienna. Johan Strauss has the honor of composing the most fascinating music for this dance. When Napoleon I. married Marie Louisa, of Austria, it was danced for the first time at the courts of Paris, France. The empress bringing it along as a token of her Tirolean peasantry, and the saying is, that it had a wonderful, charming effect when danced for the first time at the wedding festival in Paris, in the year 1810. From there it went to London and America, but spreading first in Germany. Now about the Waltz families I found them only in Switzerland, Baden and Wirtemberg, though I have traveled all over Germany, part of Denmark and Holland, but only found the name in the above countries, and only where it is toward Switzerland (speaking of Germany). Every where I found a characteristic tie among the Waltzes. Dark hair, blue eyes, high forehead, prominent nose, medium frame of body, a good memory, love for reading, for singing, for music, for the arts, and good domestic house wives. I found them contented, satisfied when they had some land to till, or a trade, and seldom striving to be somebody great or famous, but minding their own affairs, being sociable and generally witty. There is a decree or a propensity of religious feeling among most all, leading some to the ministry. But we are all mortal and but human. They are of a quick temper, and when attacked in their rights, they may be sometimes a little too hasty. The writer of this, speaking by experience.

Fraternally,

WM. WALTZ.
