Abbreviations and Explanations

MM - Monthly Meeting (in capitals) is subordinate to the Quarterly Meeting. It is the mtg that conducts the business on the local level, keeps records (minutes, marriages, births & deaths).

Prep - Preparative Meeting is under the MM. Prepares business to be brought up at the MM.

Wor - Worship, meeting for - is allowed but does not conduct business

Ind - Indulged meeting for worship - was under the direct care of a MM committee

MH - Meetinghouse

est - established

Mem - member

att - attached

disc - discontinued

prob - probably

mtg - meeting

Introduction

This work first appeared in 1959 fraught with errors and lack of exact information. It had not been the intention to re-issue a corrected list, but to include it in a magnum opus: A List of All the Meetings that have Ever Existed in the United States. The prospects of completing such a list is yet quite dim. Therefore because of many requests it was included to re-issue this List of Meetings with considerable revision.

The most notable error in the original edition was concerning Blue River meeting in Washington County, Indiana. Printed accounts had for years shown Lick Creek and Blue River meetings to be set-up under West Branch (Ohio) Monthly Meeting. This was corrected except for the fact that Blue River was shown as set off from Whitewater not Lick Creek, which was the case.

There still exists a great lack of exact information for the past seventy-five years. As difficult as it has been, it was still less of a task to secure material for the 'pioneer' era than for more recent times.

Indiana Yearly Meeting

HICKSITES

In 1828 there was a Separation in the Indiana Yearly Meeting due to the influences of Elias Hicks and another organization was formed. It was also called the Indiana Yearly Meeting of Friends making it difficult at this date for the uninformed to sometimes distinguish the difference in the records of the two branches. The Yearly Meeting was held alternately at Richmond and Waynesville (Ohio).

Friends

In 1843 there was another Separation in the Indiana Yearly Meeting (Orthodox) over the question of approach to the Slavery issue. As a result of the differing opinions the more active members withdrew and set up a Yearly Meeting at Newport (now Fountain City), Wayne Co. This group lasted until about 1858 when some few went back into the Society of the larger body and others had drifted into other denominations.

Western Yearly Meeting of
CONSERVATIVE
Friends

Following the Civil War there was an increasing influx of external influences on the (Orthodox) Friends of both Indiana & Western Yearly Meetings. There were many members of Methodist background who were ignorant or insensitive to Friends traditions and customs and brought with them their own. These newly acquired members introduced hymn singing, revivals, mourner's bench, bell towers and steeples. They swept away many of the practices and denied most of the principles that had been maintained by Friends since Fox.

The other extreme of these views were Friends who were dogmatic and inflexible in their position. They held to many traditions that had ceased to be meaningful, but before any gradual changes could be effected they felt that they must withdraw and set up meetings apart from these radicals. This was done in 1877. Sugar Grove Meeting was one of the strongest that went with the Conservatives and being the central location the Yearly Meeting was held there. The few meetings that were located in the verge of Indiana Yearly Meeting are marked with an "I". The title of this meeting is the same as the Orthodox, and is at this date a source of confusion: Western Yearly Meeting of Friends.

CENTRAL

Yearly Meeting of Friends

"In 1902 a federation of Friends was formed called the Five Years Meeting... The uniform discipline adopted by this federation was inadequate and not fully evangelical in its statement of belief... Five Years Meeting of 1922 attempted to satisfy those who demanded a more adequate statement...

"In spite of this action, however, some ministers of prominence continued to preach, as they had been doing, in accordance with the theories of evolution and higher criticism. Some Friends colleges also retained as instructors persons whose teaching were subversive of Bible truth...

"When it became evident that ...the Five Years Meeting was still in practice an unorthodox body, many Friends in various parts of the country felt they could no longer continue to be connected with it..." -Revised (1940) Discipline of Central Yearly Meeting.

As early as 1924 some meetings were no longer associated with the larger bodies and as early as 1926 the new Yearly Meeting had been organized.

CONGREGATIONAL

Friends

As early as 1842 there had developed among a strong minority of the Hicksite Friends a feeling that the controlling Elders of the Society were much too restrictive. Joseph A. Dugdale was probably the leading force and helped to focus the attention of the members on the need of active participation in the Anti-Slavery movement and other reforms of the day. There was also a concern to liberalize the governing structure of the committee of Ministry and Oversight. This committee was almost self perpetuating and had become increasingly conservative in many of the meetings.

About 1848 there came to be known the Green Plain Yearly Meeting of Congregational Friends, held at Selma, Clark Co, Ohio. This at best was a very loose federation of meetings organized on the congregational plan, thence the name. These meetings were sometimes called Progressive Friends and later when they became engrossed in the Spiritualist movement they were called Progressive Spiritualists. By 1875 there had ceased to be any known meetings of even this connection.

Very little can be learned of these few meetings that existed in Indiana.

Miscellaneous "Friends" Meetings

UNION

se Windsor, Stoney Cr Twp, Randolph Co

About 1834 there was a defection in the Hardshaw Preparative under White River Monthly Meeting. "Rev. John Smith, a United Brethren preacher, came into the neighborhood where John Thornburg lived. Upon his preaching the people liked his doctrine, and a Union Church was formed by Methodists and Friends. Some of the chief members were John Thornburg, George W. Smithson, G. Wesley Terrell, William Moore & John N. Terrell.

"The log church near the cemetery was built in 1838... The church was thriving while John Thornburg (who was a minister) lived among them. After his death, divisions arose, the meeting house was sold, another erected further south, and gradually the Friend-Methodist Church became a thing of the past."

-p. 149, "History of Randolph Co, Ind" Tucker also Minutes of White River MM 1834-1836.

CHRISTIAN FRIENDS

Perry Twp

Wayne Co

"A church, called "Christian Friends," was formed about the year 1837, and a house built near the northeast corner of the township, on the north line. It is said to have been formed by Valentine and William Gibson, of Delaware Co, Ind. Hence the members were called Gibsonites. This church had a brief existence. About (1860) the United Brethren formed a church here, and occupied the house until they built a new one in 1870."

-p. 311, "History of Wayne Co, Ind" Young

Center Preparative mtg under Cherry Grove MM was apparently connected with this. See Minutes of Cherry Grove MM in 1830's.

CHRISTIAN FRIEND SOCIETY Monroe Twp Delaware Co

"In 1832 or 1833 the first organization in the township met in the home of Valentine Gibson, and met in private homes thereafter for two years. A log meeting-house was erected on a lot donated from the Beeson Farm. They used this as a house of worship until it began to decay. Then they erected a hewed log house in its stead. This was occupied for fifteen years when a brick church was erected."

-p. 264, "History of Delaware Co." (1881)

ABASH YEARLY (sic) MEETING

Fountain Co

Organized 1851 in Richland Twp., 1863 name changed to Progressive Friends Society from Congregational Friends. Meetings held in Shawnee Twp then until 1864 when the present (1880) meeting house was built in the northwest corner of Van Buren Twp. This writer has been unable to find any direct Quaker antecedents for this.

-p. 42, "Proceedings of Pennsylvania Yearly Meeting of Progressive Friends." (1859)
