I know of a Valley

I know of a valley,
No fairer could be,
Where ribbon of river
Leaps down to the sea;
I fove the green ineadows
Eeneath the high hills,
The forests and flowers,
The lakes and the rills;
Oh, Genesee homeland,
My memory thritis.

I know of a city,
That lies in the vale,
Our sires have builded,
That we might not fail;
They left us their labors,
They played a good part,
Their city is sacred
In council and mart;
Oh, Rochester homeland,
I pledge thee my heart!

Introduction

The Rochester Historical Society seeks the expansion of local consciousness into a fuller sense of the historic worth and dignity of our community. As heirs of the past, we cannot appreciate our inheritance without studying its origin. Every man and woman living in Rochester is affected by the past history of the city and, in turn, exerts some influence on its present and future history.

You cannot escape from receiving and passing on this influence if you would. Your life is an integral part of the history of Rochester.

We live between two eternities in constant relation to the whole future and the whole past. Our future awaits, unseen, definitely shaped by the events of our past and present history. The part you play will alter the general result.

The soul of Rochester is the aggregate of all its individual lives present and past. Our local history is the essence of innumerable biographies.

History lies at the root of all science and is the first distinct product of man's spiritual nature, his earliest expression of thought. It is the power of looking before and after. All men are historians. As we do nothing but enact history we say little but to recite it. Our speech is curiously historical. We speak only to narrate, imparting not so much what we have thought as what we have undergone or seen.

Carlyle asks: "Is not every memory written quite full with Annals, wherein joy and mourning, conquest and loss manifoldly alternate?"

History, like Charity, should begin at home. The best American citizens are those who are interested in their own local civic affairs. A study of the community in which one dwells will serve to connect that community with the life of the State, the Nation and the world at large.

A multitude of historical associations gather around the valley of the Genesee. There are Indian legends and traditions, household tales, stories told by grandfathers and grandmothers, incidents remembered by the oldest inhabitants; above all, old books, documents and manuscripts, records of the first settlers, pioneers and founders.

The object of The Rochester Historical Society is to preserve a record of these things; to keep the past vividly alive in its relation to the present and the future. Remembering that the whole of our past was once present thought, feeling and action, we seek to excite keen and sympathetic appreciation of the hopes and dreams and struggles of the noble men and women who have gone before and who have left us a goodly heritage.

To that end, as corporate trustees, we collect and preserve relics, books, pictures and documents relating to the people of Rochester and the Genesee country. All are asked to make some contribution to this worthy work.

The Rochester Historical Society represents the best citizenship of our community. No other society or agency in Rochester is incorporated for the same purposes or fills this historical field. Your support is particularly desired in order that the Society may grow to full usefulness in the service of our beloved city.

If you are a member of the Society, show your loyalty by inducing some friend or acquaintance to join. Our possible sustaining membership should be limited only by the number of citizens who love Rochester.

Rochester, a city of the first class, should have an active Historical Society second to none in the country.

The splendid past of Rochester remains our inspiration for vital deeds the present hour.

Let us highly resolve to be worthy of the founders. It lies with us to make their dreams come true. It is for the living to bring things to pass.

The Rochester Historical Society can become a chief agency to crystallize into reality the visions of yesteryears, and so serve the highest good of our beloved city today.

Beginnings of the Society

How our Society came into being is a matter of great interest in local history.

In 1887, commenting on the success of such a Society in another city, a friend said to Mrs. Gilman H. Perkins, "Why don't you organize an Historical Society in Rochester?"

With determination came the response, "I will."

That gracious fiat fixed the fact of our existence.

Upon her summons a number of leading citizens gathered to discuss the proposition. Dr. Edward Mott Moore, Sr., already had been consulted and approved the general plan.

What transpired can best be told by quoting the official record appearing in our minutes in the handwriting of Mr. William F. Peck, who was the recording secretary of the Society for twenty years:

Transcript of Minutes

By resolution all present at the preliminary meeting, December 17, 1887, and the organization meeting, March 3, 1888, were declared to be "constituent members of the Historical Society about to be organized." A constitution was then adopted and the following named persons were elected as officers: President, Dr. Edward Mott Moore, Sr.; Vice-President, Rev. Augustus H. Strong, D.D.; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Jane Marsh Parker; Recording Secretary, William F. Peck; Treasurer, Gilman H. Perkins; Librarian, Herman K.

Phinney. The following were appointed by the President as the first Board of Managers: Henry E. Rochester, Mortimer F. Reynolds, Hiram Sibley, George E. Mumford, Judge James L. Angle, Frederick A. Whittlesey, and Prof. William C. Morey."

For over four years after organization all the meetings of the Society were held at the home of Mrs. Gilman H. Perkins. At last the membership became so large it was necessary to meet in a public hall.

With the passing of those delightful early days the Society continued to hold public meetings at which papers were read on subjects connected with local history.*

The library and museum grew from humble beginnings to valuable collections.

The great seal of the Society recently adopted is significant. It discovers a figure shooting an arrow upward, encircled by the legend, "The Rochester Historical Society."

From the drawn bow of our auspicious beginnings we receive the upward impulse.

An Address to the Public

The first Board of Managers prepared and issued an address to the public, which is here reprinted on account of its present-day value:

To the Public:

An association has been recently formed under the corporate name of The Rochester Historical Society, for the purpose of discovering, procuring and preserving whatever may relate to the natural, civil, literary, political and ecclesiastical history of Western New York, and more particularly of the County of Monroe and the City of Rochester. The officers of this Association take this method of soliciting the aid of all citizens, whether residents of this city or county, in promotion of these objects of the Society.

It is well known that many valuable manuscripts and papers relating to the history of this part of our State remain in the possession of those who, however unwilling to entrust them to a single person, would yet cheerfully confide them to a public institution in whose custody they would be preserved for the general benefit. To rescue from the dust and obscurity of private repositories such important documents as are liable to be lost or destroyed by the indifference or neglect of those into whose possession they may have fallen will be a primary object of attention of this Society. The cause of truth is, or should be, interesting to all, and those who possess the means, however apparently insignificant, of preventing error or of elucidating and establishing facts now obscure, will confer a benefit on the community by communicating them (in the manner indicated) to the world.

It will be the business of the Society to diffuse the information it may collect by the establishment of a museum of local history, by the preparation and publication of papers upon matters of local concern, and by such other means as may conduce to general instruction. That this object may be effectively attained the Society requests that all who feel disposed to encourage the design will, at their earliest convenience, transmit to its care manuscripts, records, books and pamphlets relative to the history of this region and particularly to the following points of inquiry:

Orations, sermons, essays and poems delivered on any public occasion; proceedings of any ecclesiastical convention of any Christian denomination held in this vicinity; narratives of missionaries sent to this region; transactions and proceedings of local political, literary and scientific societies; catalogues and circulars of the University, academies and schools; topographical descriptions, directories and maps of cities, towns and villages of Western New York; magazines and other periodicals, particularly such as appeared prior to 1850; biographical memoirs of any of the earlier settlers; original essays on the natural, civil, literary or ecclesiastical history of Western New York.

The Society solicits the aid of citizens in the promotion of its ends, not alone by the donations above indicated, but by the enrollment of their names as members of the organization, for which purpose application may be made to any of the undersigned Board of Managers.

Note:—In 1912, when Rochester was celebrating its one hundredth birthday, Mr. Elmer Adler prepared a valuable paper on "The Rochester Historical Society," which was not read before the Society but was published in the September (1912) issue of the monthly, "The Common Good." Extra copies of this publication are now on file in the library of the Society, available on request. We quote the closing paragraphs of this article:

"There is only space to mention a few of the more valuable possessions of the Society. These include over a hundred large paintings, mostly portraits of early citizens, the larger number of which are the work of Gilbert, a local artist of the last century's second quarter, who well deserves his fame. The library proper has over four thousand volumes of a purely historical and genealogical character, and in addition there are several thousand letters, maps, documents, autographs, etc., all of inestimable worth. Of course only a small number of these can be displayed at one time, but the Society will be glad to assist in any educational work by exhibiting such as may be requested. The collection of Indian relics will fill several cabinets, and as the equipment is increased, collections of coins, Colonial garments, etc., will be displayed. There are also a large number of pieces of historic furniture and some valuable loan collections of china, pottery, basketry, etc.

"Earnestly do we urge on every citizen to acquaint himself with the history of his community. Surely one can better assist in planning for future progress with a knowledge of the beginning and of the gradual development. Help to create civic pride and public spirit among the rising generation. A man interested becomes a man informed. He has made the first steps towards intelligent citizenship. Any organization which makes for this advancement must deserve and should receive every encouragement and assistance.

"While Rochester is an excellent field for historical research and the source of considerable material, unfortunately the community has not been alive to an appreciation of this. Almost every city of any size, and a number of small ones, have buildings devoted exclusively to their Historical Societies. Buffalo, Syracuse, Canandaigua, Geneva, Batavia, all have buildings and active organizations. The Rochester Historical Society has no building of its own, but it is hoped that the value of the Society and its work, which it is confidently expected will be demonstrated in its new temporary quarters, will soon be found worthy of a permanent and suitable home."

Members of The Rochester Historical Society

Members of The Rochester Historical Society

Note:—The following list of members is a transcript of the card index prepared by Raymond G. Dann, Treasurer. His report to the Board of Managers, April 15, 1915, shows that this roll is made up from a page-to-page examination of the minutes of the Society and the Board of Managers from the beginning to the present. The names of all persons ever elected as members have been entered on cards giving the business and house addresses, the occupation, telephone numbers, and the date of election. A similar card index was prepared also separately by the President and the two records were checked together to eliminate error. The card index thus completed was submitted to several older members to settle doubtful questions; also the entire roll has been entered in a record book, kept away from the card indexes, for the purpose of protecting the roll against accidental destruction.

Treasurer Dann has done this work very thoroughly, with the view of making it unnecessary to cover the ground again. It is substantially a correct record of the Society's membership to date. It would be appreciated greatly if any errors noticed were brought to his attention. Address, Raymond G. Dann, Treasurer, 125 Main Street East.

Annual Address of the President 1916

Annual Address of the President of The Rochester Historical Society 1916

At the annual meeting held at the Municipal Museum, Exposition Park, Monday, March 28, 1916, the President presented a report covering the work of the Society during the last two years. Because it covers matters which should be brought to the attention of every member, and the general public, it is printed below in full:

Members of The Rochester Historical Society:

Our Constitution provides for a Board of Managers whose duties "shall be to conduct the business affairs of the Society."

From time to time it is proper that the Society at large should be given some account of this stewardship, and especially at the annual meeting. On this occasion it is fitting to present reports covering generally the work and plans of your Board of Managers, inviting discussion and criticism.

The present administration has been in charge for two years, since the annual meeting held April 24, 1914, and tonight we propose to give brief summary of our work, and a particular discussion of points of especial interest.

Rolls and Records

When the present Board was constituted two years ago the nominal membership of the Society was about 415. Immediately a membership campaign was undertaken and carried through, with the result that about 418 names have been added to our rolls, making the present membership as follows: Active members, 799; honorary members, 10; corresponding members, 24; total, 833. These names have been recorded on duplicate card indexes, one being in the possession of the Treasurer and the other with the President. In the preparation of these indexes the minutes of the Society, for twenty-eight years since its founding, have been examined and all members recorded as being elected have been taken off on cards. A list of deceased members has been noted for publication in a necrology; and the names of all living members have been carefully examined for the correction of errors in spelling or addresses. Owing to the fact that many former members have left town or changed their residences, considerable time and effort was necessary to complete these card indexes, but we are now able to report our roll in good condition and ready for publication. Such publication has already been authorized and will soon issue. A record book has also been prepared of the card indexes, showing the names, addresses and other data, alphabetically and num-This is for the purpose of erically arranged. protecting the roll in case of accidental destruc-tion of the card indexes. This book is kept in a safe deposit vault, apart from the card index.

The work upon the roll has greatly bettered our finances, and is largely the result of the persistent thoroughness of our present Treasurer, Mr. Raymond G. Dann, who has spared no effort, nor sacrifice of time or energy to bring order and system to our membership record. Mr. Dann has also established an entirely new and effective system for the conduct of our financial affairs which has proved of great value. It is a pleasure publicly to testify to the permanent value of his loyal services in behalf of the Society.

Meetings

During the past two years we have held thirty meetings, nineteen of the Board of Managers and eleven public meetings. The largest attendance at any of the public meetings was above nine hundred, at the address of Prof. Franklin H. Giddings, of Columbia University; and the average attendance at the other public meetings has been from two to three hundred. This year we have held two notable meetings: in November the Lewis H. Morgan Memorial, held with the Academy of Science, and the address by former President Dr. Augustus H. Strong, "Reminiscences of Early Rochester." The addresses delivered at both of these meetings will be published and distributed to members.

The Constitution provides that the Board of Managers may pass any monthly public meetings of the Society except the annual meeting. On this authority your Board has exercised its discretion and called public meetings whenever it has been possible to provide a program within the scope of our organization. We do not deem it advisable to multiply meetings merely for entertainment's sake. Strictly our public exercises should be of historical nature. It is not always easy to secure papers of local interest and value; but we are unwilling to follow the example of some other Historical Societies and wander far afield merely to provide picture shows or other entertainments for members. There are so many organizations in Rochester holding interesting meetings during the winter season that there is no dullness such as may exist in other communities. You all have as many social and literary engagements as you can well attend to; but you can all find time occasionally to attend a meeting of The Rochester Historical Society, when a topic of local history is to be presented. It has been the aim of your Board of Managers to provide such meetings, and this policy will, doubtless, meet your approval.

The Purchase of a Permanent Home

The ideal of our Socity is a permanent home of its own in a fire-proof building, centrally located, with ample accommodations for our pictures, library and museum; with a hall large enough for literary and social meetings; with living quarters for a Curator and complete equipment. During the past year a committee of the Board of Managers has looked over several pieces of property, which could be purchased for our purposes. At least one hundred thousand dollars would be necessary to buy, equip and provide the essential endowment fund to maintain such an establishment.

Our Society is unendowed and has no source of income but the annual dues of two dollars from each active member. The money thus received is no more than necessary to meet our contingent expenses, and the regular demands of museum and library. The purchase of a building is entirely out of the question on our present income. It must come from gifts from the living or bequests by will. Our Honorary President, Mrs. Caroline E. Perkins, is decidedly of the opinion that The Rochester Historical Society will never be properly settled until housed beneath its own roof. Many others share this opinion, and there is no good reason why Rochester cannot have such a building. Other cities have done this, and we do not have the reputation of being beaten in matters of public enterprise. Accomplishment signifies development from some idea; when beyond present possibilities it may be called visionary. Yet dreams must exist to form incentive to ambition. A beautiful home of our own may not be realized in the immediate future; yet, to make it an actuality, is only a matter of time and continued interest. A fine memorial for some rich citizen would be a handsome fireproof building especially designed for the needs of our museum and library. We cite the example of Mr. Amos Tuck to indicate what can be accomplished through the beneficence of one interested person. He was able to do it, and he did. The beautiful building of the New Hampshire Historical Society was erected by him at a cost of $600,000. It is complete in every detail and houses the Society, and its valuable collections, most appropriately.

The Inventory of Our Property

The Board of Managers are the corporate trustees of the property of the Society. Our present possessions have an estimated money value of from seventeen to twenty thousand dollars, and historical value beyond price. These possessions have never been completely inventoried until recently. At considerable expense we have employed Mr. Robert T. Webster, our former Curator, to list and check up all our tangible assets, with the exception of the library, which will have separate treatment. This inventory has been supervised by a special committee consisting of Messrs. Dann, Yust and Wall, and will be made the subject of special report by Mr. Dann in his Treasurer's report.

The Library

From small beginnings we now own a library of nearly four thousand volumes, covering history, genealogy and Rochester books. It is the immediate and pressing duty of your Board of Managers to determine the proper scope of this library, and to undertake its classification, cataloguing and extension. In this matter we have sought the advice of our Secretary, Mr. William F. Yust, the Public Librarian of the City of Rochester, who has consulted with Mr. James I. Wyer, Jr., the New York State Librarian; and Messrs. James A. McMillan and Herman K. Phinney, the Librarian and Assistant of the University of Rochester; and Mr. M. W. Quaife, Supt. of The State Historical Society of Wisconsin. These gentlemen have reported to us their opinions in writing and we submit their views as part of our report.

Without any delay, action should be taken to establish our library in the condition of usefulness it ought to occupy in this community. Its position is unique and there is opportunity here for The Rochester Historical Society to create and maintain an agency of real civic value. This is a defi-nite task which lies before us.

Note:—Volume I. of the Publications of The Rochester Historical Society contains a list of books in the library of the Society at that date (1892).

Our Relations With the Municipal Museum

For seventeen years the Society was housed in the Reynolds Library building. On September 6, 1912, under the administration of President Edward G. Miner, Jr., we accepted the invitation of Mayor Edgerton to take quarters at Exposition Park. Subsequently, September 24, 1912, acting upon special message of the Mayor, the Common Council of the City of Rochester established a Municipal Museum at the same place. At its inception this was a pleasant fiction, as the collections of The Rochester Historical Society provided the only museum at the Park; and the 1912 message of the Mayor referred solely to such Rochester relics as we then possessed. Since 1912 this situation has changed. The annual message of Mayor Edgerton, sent to the Common Council February 23, 1916, as to the Municipal Museum, shows five hundred twenty-five lots of exhibits at an esti-mated value of $3,500; with the statement that "there has come into the possession of the Municipal Museum during the past year as loans or gifts, a notable amount of material, showing an ever-increasing interest in the work the city is doing along the museum line." The Mayor now recommends more room, and a yearly fund for the purchase of books and bargains.

When we moved to Exposition Park we were the whole show; now we have a very healthy show building about us; and some of our members fear that when the Lion Municipal Museum and Lamb Historical Society Museum, finally lie down together, the Lamb will be on the inside. As to this matter, I shall speak for the Historical Society, and later ask Curator Putnam to speak for the Municipal Museum. We agree that the time has come for a public understanding as to the proper relations of the two museums; for both are bound to remain permanent institutions.

Our Constitution states the object of the Historical Society to be: "to obtain and preserve all relics and documents relating to the early history of the city of Rochester and adjacent country, to secure the composition and reading of papers relating to the same, and preservation thereof, and to promote interest in the early history of Rochester."

Within that field our Society should be exclusive, and should not expect rivalry from any museum, organization, agency, or persons; least of all from the City of Rochester, whose name we bear, and whose historic glory and fame we are especially incorporated to preserve and perpetuate. We were first in the field and should command the loyal support and good will of the citizenship we seek to honor and serve. With all the positiveness of truth I assert, that there should be absolutely no rivalry between the Municipal Museum and The Rochester Historical Society. Nor is there need of such rivalry even if both museums remain under the same roof. The field of the Municipal Museum is general; ours is special and local. Books, manuscripts, pictures and relics relating particularly to Rochester should belong to our Society; all else properly belongs to the general museum. If you will take the trouble to examine the exhibits now displayed you will observe that this division does not, at present, exist. The Historical Society owns much of a general nature and the Municipal Museum, sad to relate, has more than a little local material. If we remain here some agreement should be reached definitely to end this situation. It is possible to have a Rochester Historical Society section into which should flow all local loans and gifts; and the general material could properly pass from our collections to the Municipal Museum in fair exchange.

It is not always easy to determine just where material belongs; nor do we control always the wishes of donors, who may indicate positively where they desire their property to go. But, so far as it can be controlled, the relations of the two museums should be fixed as mutually helpful, and never antagonistic.

The Rochester Historical Society would be quite ungrateful not to express publicly thanks for the generosity and hospitality which have been shown by the city authorities in giving us the accommodations we have enjoyed at Exposition Park. Here we find free rent, light and heat, free storage, free exhibition cases and library cases, and the services of an exceedingly competent Curator. Stout assertion of our rights in the premises does not at all deny us the privilege of expressing appreciation of the courtesy and ability of Curator Edward D. Putnam, of the Municipal Museum, who is also a member of our Society and its duly appointed Curator. We look to him to bring agreement and order out of such difficulties as the present situation presents; and we hope also for the continuance of cordial support on the part of the city administration, so long as we remain at Exposition Park.

The New York State Historical Association

For two years our Board of Managers have extended an invitation to the New York State Historical Association to hold its annual meeting in Rochester. Recently we have received from Mr. Frederick B. Richards, State Secretary, a letter indicating the possibility that the New York State Association may accept our invitation and hold their 1917 meeting with us here in Rochester.

University of Rochester Prizes

During the past year your Board of Managers offered to establish at the University of Rochester first and second prizes for the best essays on assigned topics of local history. Upon consultation with President Rhees and Professor Laurence B. Packard, this offer was changed to cover two prizes of equal amounts, each $40.00 in gold, one for men and one for women, of the Senior class, to be awarded for the best work done in course in the history department of the University; the agreement being that topics of local history would be assigned annually to the entire Senior class. The winners of these prizes will appear in public to read their essays before The Rochester Historical Society each year. The notices sent to our members have already annuanced the first of these prize readings on Friday, May 26, 1916, 8 p. m., at Catherine Strong Hall.

Note:—The first year of the establishment of The Rochester Historical Society prizes in history in the University of Rochester resulted in the submission of seventeen articles covering a wide range of subjects in local history. For example: "The Development of Rochester Industries"; "The Influence of the Water Power of the Genesee upon the Growth of Rochester"; "The Development of Rochester's Park Playground System"; "The Contribution of our Foreign Population to Rochester's Development"; "Influence of Geographical Situation upon the Growth of Rochester"; "The William Morgan Affair"; "The Millerite Movement"; "Business Conditions in Rochester During the Civil War," and other interesting subjects. These articles were uniformly of high order of merit and, in the mass, were a positive contribution to local history. They have all been filed in the library of the University of Rochester and are there available for public use. The general result reflects great credit upon Prof. Laurence B. Packard, of the department of history of the University.

The first winners of the prizes after their foundation were Miss Catherine E. Coombs, on "Rochester's Public Schools"; and Mr. Ciarence T. Leighton, on "The Rochester City Club." They read their prize papers before the Society, Friday, May 26, 1916, and each was then awarded forty dollars in gold.

By the establishment of these prizes we expect to stimulate the study of local history, to the mutual advantage of the University and our Society.

Note:—In his report to the Board of Trustees of the University of Rochester for the year ending

June 21, 1916, President Rush Rhees says:
"The Rochester Historical Society has made a significant contribution to our work in history, by offering two prizes of $40 each, one for men and one for women, for the best work in the advanced course in history—History 3. Assistant Professor Packard in his report sets forth somewhat fully the method of that course, and indicates how it makes possible interesting contributions to the study of local history, to which the Historical Society is dedicated. This practical co-operation with our work by the Historical Society is most warmly and gratefully appreciated."

Professor Packard says in his report:

"The prizes offered by The Rochester Historical Society have been an incentive to the work in the course, and by substituting a subject in Rochester local history for one of the sub-topics, many students have collected some material of considerable value in increasing our stock of local historical knowledge."

Certificate of Membership and Seal

One of the accomplishments of the present Board of Managers has been the production of Note on Certificate:—A halftone reproduction of the certificate of membership fronts the title page of this book.

Note on the Great Seal:—At a meeting of the Board of Managers, held October 6, 1914, it was voted that "the seal of The Rochester Historical Society shall consist of the half figure of a Seneca Indian warrior with drawn bow in the act of shooting an arrow upward; beneath this Indian figure a scroll bearing the words incorporated 1888'; this device being surrounded by two circles including the legend, 'The Rochester Historical Society'; and this device shall be engraved on metal 134 inches in diameter. It shall be used as the seal of the Society and the Secretary shall have the custody thereof, and all official documents of the Secretary shall be issued under said seal."

Note:—The book plate of The Rochester Historical Society, an oval in which a log cabin is discovered, was designed by Mr. Claude Bragdon, and accepted by the Society September 23, 1912. This design is also used on our stationery and, in modified form, on the certificate of membership. the engraved certificate of membership and new seal, both designed by Mr. Claude Bragdon. Being beautiful, the certificate is its own excuse for being, and serves as an appropriate reminder of membership in the Society. Already most of you have received your certificates. They will continue to go forward until all members in good standing are served.

Our Records

In preparing this summary of our affairs it has been necessary to read the minutes of our proceedings for the past two years, and I have been impressed with the fact that our Society has been fortunate in the choice of Public Librarian William F. Yust as its Recording Secretary; his trained mind giving him capacity to include in our proceedings the necessary facts which are especially essential for historical records.

The Board of Managers

To the gentlemen who have composed the Board of Managers, Messrs. Harvey F. Remington, William F. Yust, J. Vincent Alexander, Raymond G. Dann, Alvin H. Dewey, Charles H. Wiltsie, William J. Simpson, and Elmer Adler, I wish to make public acknowledgment for their loyal attendance upon the Board meetings and for their suggestions and advice which have led to whatever of good has been accomplished for the Society.

Responsibility of Members

Upon the members of The Rochester Historical Society generally rests a final responsibility to keep in mind the good and welfare of our organization and to extend the sphere of its influence.

The Rochester Historical Society represents the best citizenship of our community. Membership in this organization is a civic honor. We ask you to make some contribution to this worthy work.

Together we can accomplish something for the fair fame of the city we all love.

Note on the Federation of Historical Societies:

—At the Summer meeting of The Livingston County Historical Society, held at Letchworth Park, Tuesday, August 22, 1916, the proposal was made to formulate some plan to bring into closer relationship all Historical Societies of the Genesee Valley. This would include the well-established Societies of the cities of Buffalo and Rochester, and the Counties of Ontario and Livingston, and any similar Society in this territory. They are all organized to preserve and honor the history of the Genesee Valley. Some central council could be established, made up of representatives of all these bodies, to coordinate their efforts, and promote that helpful unity of spirit which would bring strength to all, and fame to the Valley. Steps will soon be taken to this end. Mr. William H. Samson says: "Undoubtedly joint meetings could be held, which would be very successful, and there could be joint publications, perhaps."

Gifts and Loans

Gifts and Loans

The object of The Rochester Historical Society as set forth in its Constitution, "to obtain and preserve all relics relating to the early history of the City of Rochester and adjacent country," is carried out in the establishment and maintenance of its museum and library. The Society will continue to invite contributions to these, and will make every effort to increase their educational value.

To this end the Society desires to secure, by gift or loan, relics of early days. We seek the treasure-trove of attics and forgotten store-chests. Let the Society know of your old manuscripts, letters, books, pictures, clothing, furniture, weapons, tools, ornaments or any articles which tell the story of the past. Things which have been discarded as obsolete may be of great value for the purpose of exhibition.

Notice can be given to any officer, member of the Board of Managers, or to the Curator at the Museum.

You can help the Society to render real public service by giving or loaning such possessions.

Note:—See pages 50 and 106 for statements as to the present possessions of the Society.

Note on Historians of Early Western New York and Rochester

In the Post Express, August 2, 1916, William H. Samson, former President of The Rochester Historical Society, says:

"Three of the most important books ever written on the History of Western New York are Seaver's 'Mary Jemison,' Henry O'Reilly's 'Sketches,' and Turner's 'Phelps and Gorham.' They are the foundation stones of the history of the early settlements; every recent historian who has written about New York State has turned to them; they are absolutely indispensible; indeed few other books are necessary to the preparation of an adequate and comprehensive essay."

And Mr. Samson, in the same article refers to Peck's "Rochester" as "the best local history ever written in this state"; and to Peck's "Monroe" and Doty's "Livingston," as "two admirable county histories"; with approval he mentions also Severance's "Old Trails on the Niagara Frontier."

Mr. Elmer Adler, writing for The Common Good, September, 1912, says:
"It is impossible to over-estimate Rochester's good fortune in having had unusually capable historians during its early days. Henry O'Reilly was an exceptionally conscientious and careful writer. His 'Sketches of Rochester,' a collection of studies and notes up to 1838, are invaluable to any local historian. There is additional interest attached to his book from the fact that it is illustrated with wood-cut engravings made by Alexander Anderson, America's first wood-cut engraver. No student of local history can ignore O. Turner's 'Phelps and Gorham Purchase' and 'The Holland Land Company'; and no man has better presented the Indian's social and economic life than has Lewis Henry Morgan in League of The Iroquois."

There is a spirited account of the village of Rochester in "Travels in North America in 1827 and 1828," by Captain Basil Hall, Royal Navy (Published Edinburgh, 1829; Rochester notes in Vol. I., Chap. V.); and the first village directory of Rochester, 1827, contains valuable local historical notes prepared by Jesse Hawley, this material being reprinted in the first city directory, 1834.

In his "Reminiscences of Early Rochester," recently read before The Rochester Historical Society, referring to the revivals conducted under Rev. Charles G. Finney, Rev. Augustus Hopkins Strong, D.D., says: "Rochester owes more to revivals of religion than it owes to its providential location or to the energy of its people; for without those revivals it is questionable whether there would have been anything like the education or the enterprise that have characterized the city." And in a discussion on the same subject before the Society some years ago, Dr. Strong expressed the opinion "that a foundation of morality in Rochester was thus laid, such as the city might not have had otherwise." These views make especially significant in local history the "Memoirs of Rev. Charles G. Finney, written by himself" (New York, 1876), giving account of his three series of revival meetings in Rochester, 1830, 1842, and 1855.

Two members of The Rochester Historical Society have written books on local history, the late William F. Peck, for over twenty years Recording Secretary of the Society, and Mrs. Jane Marsh Parker, for seven years Corresponding Secretary. (Titles appearing below).

Mr. Edward D. Putnam, Curator and Librarian of The Rochester Historical Society and the Municipal Museum, submits the following partial list of books on Rochester and Western New York history now in the library of the Society:

"Semi-Centennial History of the City of Rochester," by William F. Peck. (Syracuse, N. Y.,

kin. (New York, 1848.)

"History of the Pioneer Settlement of Phelps & Gorham's Purchase, and Morris' Reserve, Embracing the Counties of Monroe, Ontario, Livingston, Yates, Steuben, most of Wayne and Allegany, and Parts of Orleans, Genesee, and Wyoming. To which is added a supplement or extension of the pioneer history of the County of Monroe," by O. Turner. (Rochester, published by William Alling, 1851.) Mr. George W. Atwell says: "'Phelps & Gorham Purchase—Monroe,' was published in September, 1851. On second page of Preface it appears that the work was to be in four parts (see Preface): Phelps & Gorham Purchase—Monroe; Phelps & Gorham Purchase— Livingston and Allegany; Phelps & Gorham, Purchase-Ontario and Yates; Phelps & Gorham Purchase—Wayne; the first 493 pages to be the same. The experience with the Monroe supplement did not justify the plan and it was abandoned. In 1852 the second (concluding) volume was issued with Supplement embracing Ontario, Wayne, Livingston, Yates and Allegany—all the other counties."

Pamphlet: "Notes on the Aboriginal Terminology of the Genesee River," by George H. Harris. Read before The Rochester Historical Society, June 13, 1889.

In addition to the partial list of books above, the library of The Rochester Historical Society is particularly rich in manuscripts, scrap books. autograph letters, etc. For example: the manuscripts of George H. Harris and of Henry O'Reilly; Edward Scrantom's Diary and Scrap Book (6 volumes, from March 1, 1837, to May 25, 1879. Full of interesting Rochester history, obituaries, descriptions, etc.; in manuscript, which should be edited and published); the account book of Abelard Reynolds (first Postmaster) from 1816 to 1821; scrap book "Proceedings of Common Council, March 12, 1838, to May 11, 1841, inclusive": History of Rochester Union Grays (Printed and in manuscript, from November, 1838, to September 21, 1841; visitors' roll book of autographs. 1840 to 1855; roll book, 1841 to 1845, inclusive); scrap book of H. H. Langworthy, Greece. 1840 (Has Rochester items, especially of elections and firemen volunteers); scrap book of Juliet Baldwin. (Has autographs, news items and obituaries, from 1837 to 1893); The Daily Democrat, October 6, 1847, giving complete transactions of the Pioneer Festival, commemorating the early settlement of Rochester, with the names of fifty-six pioneers present, their ages, the places from which they emigrated, and the dates of their arrivals in Rochester; The Western Business Directory for 1842-43 (New York) covering Albany, Auburn, Batavia, Buffalo Canandaigua, Geneva, Hudson, Lockport, Lyons, Newburgh, Oswego, Palmyra, Poughkeepsie, Rochester, Schenectady, Seneca Falls, Springfield, Mass., Syracuse, Troy, Utica, Waterloo, giving classified business directory and numerous advertisements of lines of business in said places.

There are many other books, pamphlets, newspapers, and manuscripts in the library of The Rochester Historical Society of interest to the student of local history. The literature of the abolition movement, of the anti-masonic movement, of spiritualism, of mormonism, the memoirs of leading men, genealogies, etc., can only be referred to. It is impossible in the limits of a footnote to include all of this material. This note does not pretend to be complete but is inserted merely as a suggestion of the wealth of material available on the subject of the history of Western New York and Rochester.

The Twelfth Annual Report of the Department of Education of the State of New York, contains a list of books relating to the history of the State of New York, with Western New York items. This list is separately reprinted in a pamphlet issued by the University of the State of New York, State Dept. of Education, School Library Division (1916); but said list does not pretend to be complete.

Several private libraries owned by citizens of Rochester contain very interesting local items. Mr. Edward G. Miner and Mr. C. Walter Smith both have large and important collections of rare Rochester books, pamphlets and maps. There are many other valuable private collections. Special mention should be made of the collections of Mrs. Frederick W. Yates, whose press contributions on the subject of local genealogy have been notable and of permanent value.

Mr. Elmer Adler has furnished the following check list of books relating to the Genesee Country now in his private library, especially books giving accounts of early travels. Some of these books are to be found also in the library of The Rochester Historical Society. Mr. Adler calls attention to the fact that this list is necessarily incomplete on account of the space limits of a foot note:
