PREFACE.

DURING the course of researches into the family history of many individuals, extending over a period of several years, there was discovered by the compiler much original material relating to two most interesting periods of Virginia's history—the French and Indian War and the War of the Revolution. Little of this material has ever appeared in print, and the compiler feels it a duty to preserve to history the names of those who participated in the two wars mentioned.

The part played by the Colony and State of Virginia in both of these conflicts need not be detailed here. It is sufficient to say that many of her gallant sons were at Braddock's defeat and helped to save the remnant of the British regulars on their retreat; while in the Revolution they were at the front until the triumph of the American arms at Yorktown, in the siege of which there participated fully six thousand Virginia troops, both of the continental line and the militia, being over one-third of the troops engaged.

Two of the most useful documents in this book, for the student of family history, are the Poll Lists for the election of members to the House of Burgesses from Prince William county, in the year 1741, and from Fairfax county in 1744. The first of these counties, at the date named, comprised the territory embraced in the present Prince William county, together with the counties of Fairfax, Loudoun, and Fauquier. It was the first halting place in the march of emigration from lower Virginia westward to the Shenandoah Valley, and thus formed the gateway to what was then the western frontier. From 1744 to 1757 Fairfax county comprised the present county of that name and also the county of Loudoun.

The Rosters of Troops in the French and Indian Wars are taken from Hening's Statutes of Virginia, a work generally well known to the legal profession, but one with which the average person in search of family history is unacquainted. For this reason it is desirable that the lists referred to should be made readily accessible.

The original Muster and Pay Rolls of officers and men of the Revolution are in possession of the compiler and furnish the names of many persons not to be found elsewhere. Where matter previously printed is inserted in this work, special reference to the source will be found.

More or less complete genealogies of various Virginia families are also included, and it is hoped that they may be found useful to their thousands of descendants who are interested in their family histories.

Virginia has done and is still doing much to preserve the history of her people, but during his researches, the compiler has been impressed with the fact that not enough attention has been given to the rank and file of her pioneers, many of whose descendants to-day occupy the front ranks of American professional and business life. If this work shall be regarded as in any degree valuable in preserving to posterity the almost forgotten names of many of those whose loyalty and self-sacrifice made our Republic possible, the compiler shall feel repaid for his labor.

“The history of a nation is the history of its people.”

EARLY TIMES IN VIRGINIA.

Settlement. The first settlement in Virginia was made at Jamestown, May 14th (May 24th, N. S.), 1607, by a party of 105* colonists sent out by the London Virginia Company. This company owned the territory until 1624-5, when it was dissolved, and the colony reverted to the crown.

Original Grant. In the Second Charter granted by King James, May 23, 1609, the limits and extent of the colony are pointed out. Section 6 provides: "We do also . . . give, grant and confirm, unto the said treasurer and company . . . all those lands, countries and territories . . . in that part of America called Virginia . . . from Point Comfort, all along the Sea coast to the Northward two hundred miles, and from said Cape Comfort all along the Sea coast to the Southward two hundred miles, and all that space and circuit of land . . . from Sea to sea, west and northwest; and also all the islands lying within one hundred miles along the coast of both seas."

Even after limits were more clearly defined, Virginia included all the territory now embraced within Virginia proper, West Virginia, a portion of Pennsylvania, all of Kentucky, Ohio, Indiana, Michigan, Illinois, Wisconsin, and a portion of Minnesota.

From this vast realm were detached in 1784 the Northwest

* Authorities differ as to this number. Howe, in Historical Collections of Va., says: "In the whole company there were but four carpenters, twelve laborers and fifty-four gentlemen," or 70 in all. Tyler, in "The Cradle of the Republic," copies names from Captain John Smith's History, viz: 6 members of council, 48 gentlemen, 4 carpenters, and 24 laborers; total, 82, with the remark, "with divers others to the number of one hundred." He says further: "The total number left at the Island on June 22, 1607, was 104." Howe says: "Newport sailed on the 15th of June [1607], leaving one hundred men in Virginia." We leave these disagreements to the doctors to harmonize.

territory ; in 1792, Kentucky, and in 1863 what is now West Virginia, leaving but 42,450 square miles as the present area of the State.

Original Subdivisions into Shires or Counties. In 1634 the country was divided into eight shires, which were to be governed as the shires in England. Names: James City, Henrico, Charles City, Elizabeth City, Warwick River, Warrosquyoake, Charles River, and Accawmack.

Of this number the names James City, Henrico, Charles City, Elizabeth City, Warwick, and Accomack have been retained. In 1642-3, by Act 13 of the Assembly, the name Accawmack was changed to Northampton. In 1672 the limits were reduced by the formation of Accomack county of the present time. By the same act the name of Charles River was changed to York and Warwick River to county of Warwick. Warrosquyoake was changed to Isle of Wight in 1637.

Original Officers. In 1634 it was decreed that Lieutenants were to be appointed the same as in England, who were to take care in special manner of the war against the Indians. Sheriffs were elected with same powers as in England ; and where need was, sergeants and bailiffs were chosen.

First Assembly. The first assembly held in Virginia convened on July 30, 1619, under orders from Sir George Yeardley, then governor, at Jamestown, called "James City." No definite acts were made.

Early Records. Perhaps the most authentic record of these early acts of legislation is the compilation known as "Hening's Statutes at Large," published from original sources in 1823. This compilation is a mine of legal and historic information respecting those early days. The orthography, composition and subject-matter reveal fully the body and spirit of the times. We give a few specimens :

Primitive Acts and Regulations. The following extracts are taken from laws passed at different times during colonial days :

1. There shall be in every plantation, where the people use to meete for the worship of God, a house or roome sequestered for that purpose, and not to be for any temporal use whatsoever, and a place empaled in, sequestered only to the buryal of the dead.

2. Whosoever shall absent himself from divine service any Sunday without an allowable excuse shall forfeite a pound of tobacco, and he that absenteth himself a month shall forfeit 50 lbs. of tobacco. . . .

3. That there be an uniformity in our Church as neere as may be to the canons in England, both in substance and circumstance, and that all persons yield redie obedience unto them under paine of Censure.

23. Every dwelling house shall be pallizaded in for defence against the Indians. [This act and the subsequent ones grew out of the condition of the country from the terrible massacre of March 22, 1622,* in which 347 men, women and children were slaughtered. The Indians came unarmed, "with fruits, fish, turkeys and venison to sell." But for the friendly act of a converted Indian, the slaughter would have been more extensive. . . .]

24. That no man go or send abroad without a sufficient party well armed.

25. That men go not to work in the ground without their arms (and a centinell upon them).

26. That the inhabitants go not aboard ships or upon any other occasions in such numbers as thereby to weaken and endanger the plantation.

27. That the commander of every plantation take care that there be sufficient of powder and ammunition within the plantation under his command, and their pieces fixt and their arms compleate.

28. That there be dew watch kept by night.

29. That no commander of any plantation do either himself

* Hening's Statutes give the date of this massacre as 1621 instead of 1622.

or suffer others to spend powder unnecessarily in drinking or entertainments, &c. (Passed March 1623—4.)

A very wise regulation looking to the good of posterity was that contained in—

Act. 10. In every parrish Church within this colony shall be kept by the mynister a booke wherein shall be written the day and yeare of every christeninge, weddings and buriall. [Had this prudent and far-seeing enactment been observed by the churches of Virginia and the books preserved, the records of the State would to-day be the envy of the nation. They would, in fact, be a mine of inexpressible value.]

Act 11. Mynisters shall not give themselves to excesse in drinkinge, or riott, spendinge their tyme idellye by day or night, playinge at dice, cards, or any other unlawfull game, but at all tymes convenient they shall heare or reade somewhat of the holy scriptures, or shall occupie themselves with some other honest study or exercise, alwayes doinge the things which shall apperteyne to honesty, and endeavour to profit the church of God, alwayes havinge in mynd that they ought to excell all others in puritie of life, and should be examples to the people to live well and christianlie.

["Speak thou the things which become sound doctrine."—Paul to Titus. This act of the legislature of Virginia, while not so orthodox, perhaps, as the advice of the Apostle, contains much food for reflection. Portions of it might, with propriety, be commended to the churches of the present day. For this reason it is well, perhaps, to stir up their pure minds by way of remembrance.]

Act. 51. All men that are fittinge to beare armes shall bring their pieces to the church ; uppon payne of every offence, yf the mayster allow not thereof, to pay 2 lb. of tobacco, to be disposed by the church-wardens, who shall levy it by distresse, and the servants to be punished. . . .

Act 67. It is ordered, That the 22d. day of March be yearelie kept Holyday in commemoration of our deliverance from the Indians at the bloodie massaker which happened uppon the 22d. of March, 1621. [Passed February, 1631-2.]

Under laws passed in 1666, a fine of one hundred pounds of tobacco was imposed upon any person who, without lawful reason, neglected or refused to appear "upon the days of exercise and other times when required to attend upon the public service." These "days of exercise" were occasions known later as "muster days."

In 1682, the forts having been dismantled in the counties of Henrico, New Kent, Rappahannock and Stafford, Companies of militia of 20 men each were organized under the command of a captain and a corporal, whose duties were "to command, lead, traine, conduct and exercise the said twenty soldiers." The captain furnished his own supplies and was allowed an annual salary of 8,000 pounds of tobacco, and the corporal 3,000. Each soldier under similar conditions was allowed 2,000 pounds.

The fine for neglect of an officer to attend muster was 500 pounds of tobacco; to go out on "range or scout," 1,000 pounds. The soldier was fined 100 pounds for not attending muster, and 2,000 pounds for not going out on a scouting expedition.

IMMIGRANT LIST, 1707.

THE following persons shipped at Bristol, England, with James Gaugh, captain and owner of the ship Joseph and Thomas, and received their wages as boat hands (Liber Z, folio 422, Aug. 2, 1707, Stafford County):

Abraham Loyd,	John Wall,
James Ginning,	Arthor Marly,
Thomas Jones,	Thomas Calmers,
Robert Goalfold,	William Johnson,
William Shough,	Ellis Giles,
David Vaughn,	William Roach,
William Harmous,	William Adams,
William Price,	Thomas Parris,
Lewis Johns,	George Paines.

From the records it is not certain that any of these persons remained in Virginia, but from the similarity of names found in the western portion of Stafford county, and after 1730 in Prince William, it is believed a good portion of them settled in Virginia, whose descendants are now scattered throughout the South and West.

FRENCH AND INDIAN WAR—LORD DUNMORE'S WAR.

Interesting Study in American History. One of the subjects of thrilling interest in American history is the struggle between the French and the English for possession of the great valley connecting the Great Lakes and the mouth of the Mississippi river.

English Claims. The English discoveries and occupations embraced belts of territory along the Atlantic coast, and were supposed to include all territory between certain parallels from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

French Settlements and Claims. The French had not been successful in securing footholds along the Atlantic, within the bounds of the present United States, but had secured possessions farther north around the mouth of the St. Lawrence. French Catholics, too, had discovered the mouth of the Mississippi river, and ascended that stream, laying claim, under the law of nations, to all the territory drained by it and its tributaries.

This claim, if acknowledged, would cut the vast continent into two unequal divisions, giving to the English the string of a bow along the Atlantic, while the French took the bow from one end, at the mouth of the Mississippi, up that stream to the mouth of the Ohio, and thence up that stream, with its tributaries, the Alleghany and French creeks, to Lake Erie, and finally across the lakes to the mouth of the St. Lawrence, the other end of the bow.

If this theory of national rights could be maintained, it would plainly secure, as subsequent events have developed, not only the great bow already described, but the rich game in front, together with all the wealth to be developed in the path along which civilization has since spread.

Line of Forts between the Lakes and the Mississippi. The manifest policy of the French, then, was to secure possession of these rich territorial tracts by a line of forts and other means of protection from the Great Lakes to the Mississippi. Accordingly, these preliminary steps were taken, and then began the game of chess between two mighty European rival nations for the rich prize at stake. Of Napoleon, at a later date, Byron wrote—

“Whose game was empires and whose stakes were thrones;
Whose table earth; whose dice were human bones.”

We repeat, this problem is one of the most interesting studies to the intelligent reader, and presents the key-note to the proper and easy understanding of those gigantic struggles which, for a time, involved the stability and supremacy of European governments, as well as the growth and prosperity of American settlements.

Origin of the War. As a result of three years' controversy between commissioners appointed under the Treaty of Aix-la-Chapelle (1748) to settle the question of boundaries in America between France and England, what is known in America as the "French and Indian War"—in Europe as the "Seven Years' War"—was waged.

Conflicting Territorial Claims. From 1750 to 1753 these commissioners at Paris wrangled over the matter. By the Treaty of Utrecht (April 11, 1713) Acadia was an English possession. But what did Acadia embrace? According to the English commissioners, it included not only the peninsula of Nova Scotia, but the entire tract between the St. Lawrence river on the north, the gulf of the same name on the east, the Atlantic on the south, and New England on the west.

The French conceded only about one-twentieth of this territory, viz., not even all the Acadian peninsula, but only a part of its southern coast and an adjacent belt of barren wilderness. Formerly the French claim was quite as extensive as that now made by the English; but conditions having changed, their contention was changed.

Bienville's Expedition in 1749. Nor was Acadia the only ground of contention. In the prosecution of the deep-laid scheme of the French, Celeron de Bienville had been sent in 1749 by Galissoniere, the governor of Canada, into the Ohio valley with "a suitable escort of whites and savages to take formal possession of the valley in the name of the King of France, to propitiate the Indians, and in all ways short of actual warfare to thwart the English plans." Bienville made a detailed report at Montreal, whither he had returned, but it was not favorable to his lordship. The English were swarming in the valley and had succeeded in securing the Indians as allies.

Marquis Duquesne Succeeds Galissoniere. Within a few years

Galissoniere was succeeded by the Marquis Duquesne. The latter, discovering the trend of events and being a man of action, decided to take immediate steps. Early in 1753 he sent a strong force by Lake Ontario and Niagara to seize and hold the northeastern branches of the Ohio river. Passing over the portage between Presque Isle and French creek, it constructed Forts Le Boeuf and Venango.

Washington's Mission under Gov. Dinwiddie in 1753. Late in the same year (11th of December) a messenger from Governor Dinwiddie * arrived. This messenger was Major George Washington, Adjutant-General of the Virginia militia, then in the 22d year of his age. His guide was Christopher Gist, who was well acquainted with the route and thoroughly competent to perform his task. The burden of this embassy was to inform the French commander at Le Boeuf that he was building his fort on English territory and to suggest that he would do well to depart. After three days, which Washington employed usefully in making observations, he received a reply. This he returned to Gov. Dinwiddie, reaching Williamsburg on the 16th of January, 1754, after a journey of nearly 600 miles over "lofty and rugged mountains and through the heart of a wilderness."

Washington to Build a Fort at Forks of the Ohio. Gov. Dinwiddie drafted 200 men from the Virginia militia and placed them under the direction of Washington, with instructions to build a fort at the forks of the Ohio. The Virginia Assembly,

* Robert Dinwiddie was born in Scotland, 1690, and died in Clifton, England, Aug. 1, 1770. While clerking in the customs department, he detected his principal in the perpetration of gross frauds on the government. For his services in this exposure he was made surveyor of customs for the Colonies, and shortly thereafter lieutenant-governor of Virginia.

He reached Virginia in 1752, and in the following December he submitted to the Board of Trade an elaborate report favoring the annexation of the Ohio Valley; hence his sending of Washington to Fort Le Boeuf. Subsequent to Washington's defeat at Fort Necessity, an alienation between the governor and his field marshal existed.

He was recalled to England in 1758, leaving in dispute an unsettled account of £20,000.

forgetting temporarily its controversy with the governor, voted £10,000 to be expended for the purpose, but only under the direction of a committee of its own members.

Want of Co-operation with Dinwiddie. Dinwiddie found difficulty in securing co-operation from the other colonies in this enterprise. The attitude of the Quaker element in Pennsylvania prevented that colony from giving the aid it might have furnished. Some backwoodsmen finally pushed across the mountains and began the construction of the projected work. These, however, were driven away by a superior French force, and the latter immediately began the construction of Fort Duquesne on the site now occupied by Pittsburg at the confluence of the Allegheny and the Monongahela rivers.

Military Expedition to Forks of Ohio in 1754—Great Meadows and Death of French Commander. Gov. Dinwiddie was engaged, meanwhile, in organizing a regiment of militia, under Colonel Joshua Fry, with Washington second in command, to support the backwoodsmen in their work. Washington had advanced with a portion of the command to Will's Creek, now Cumberland, Md.; and later, with 150 men, he reached Great Meadows, where he learned that the French had been reinforced and were sending out a party against him. Through the assistance of an Indian, Half-King, who had the previous year been with him on the expedition to Fort Le Boeuf, Washington learned that the French, under Jumonville, were in lurking for him. With this assistance the French were defeated and their leader killed.

Fort Necessity Built—Washington's Surrender. While waiting for reinforcements under Colonel Fry, Washington threw up imperfect intrenchments at Great Meadows and called them Fort Necessity. Finally, Fry's men, some 300, arrived without their leader, he having died on the journey. With this force, increased later by a company of South Carolina troops, Washington was attacked, July 3, 1754, by a greatly superior body. From eleven in the morning to eight at night he held his ground. Then surrendering with the honors of war, he led his troops back to Will's Creek and abandoned the Ohio Valley to the French.

A roster of the troops commanded by Washington in the Battle of the Big Meadows, in 1754, including 263 men, wounded 43 and killed 12, can be found in the Virginia Magazine of History, Vol. I, pp. 278-284. The original rolls are on file in the War Department in Washington.

English Resist Encroachments. Notwithstanding peace by treaty existed between France and England, every precaution was taken by the latter country to repel encroachments on the frontier, but not to invade Canada. Accordingly, all movements were made with these purposes in view.

Arrival of General Braddock in America. On the 20th of February, 1755, there landed at Hampton, Va., for co-operation with the colonies against the French in a war soon to break out in all its fierceness, two regiments of British regulars, under command of General Braddock,* the newly-chosen commander-in-chief of English forces in America. These troops were then transferred to Alexandria, Va., to which point all the Virginia levies were directed to repair.

Conference at Alexandria. On the 14th of April he held, at Alexandria, with Commodore Keppel, a conference, at which

* Edward Braddock was born in Perthshire, Scotland, in 1695 and died near what is now Pittsburg, Pa., July 13, 1755.

He had had forty years' experience in military operations and had attained the rank of Major-General.

He was thoroughly skilled in the science of war, as developed in the text-books and practiced among civilized nations. He was "proud, prejudiced and conceited;" or, as Walpole puts it, "a very Iroquois in disposition."

He resented all suggestions that might have aided him in his great expedition. To Benjamin Franklin's intimation that if he could reach Fort Duquesne he could doubtless capture it without much difficulty, but that the long, slender line his army would have to make "would be cut like thread into several pieces" by the hostile Indians, his reply was a "smile at his ignorance." He declared further that "these savages may indeed be a formidable enemy to raw American military, but upon the king's regular and disciplined troops, sir, it is impossible they should make an impression."

were present the following governors: William Shirley,* of Massachusetts, Delancey,† of New York, Morris,‡ of Pennsylvania, Sharpe,§ of Maryland, and Dinwiddie, of Virginia.

Four Expeditions Planned. To accomplish the purpose for which he was sent to America, Braddock projected four dis-

* William Shirley was born in Preston, England, in 1693. Having become a lawyer, he settled in Boston in 1734. He was royal governor of Massachusetts 1741-5; planned a successful expedition against Cape Breton in 1745; lived in England 1745-53; returned to Massachusetts, as governor, in 1753; treated with Indians, 1754; was commander-in-chief of British forces in North America at commencement of French and Indian War; appointed lieutenant-general in 1759; became subsequently governor of Bahama Islands; died at his residence in Roxbury, Mass., in March, 1771.

† James De Lancey was born in New York City, Nov. 27, 1703, and died there July 30, 1760. He was graduated at Cambridge, England, and subsequently studied law in the Inner Temple, London. He returned to New York in 1725 and soon became prominent in public life. He drafted, in 1730, a new charter for New York City, and in recognition was granted the freedom of the city, this being the first bestowment of such an honor. In 1733 he was appointed chief-justice of New York, and retained the position during the remainder of his life.

He convened and presided over, June 19, 1754, the first Congress ever held, in Augusta. At its session Benjamin Franklin proposed a plan for the union of all the colonies, by act of Parliament, against the Indians.

He, as governor, granted the charter of King's (now Columbia) College, Oct. 31, 1754. The next spring he attended the conference of colonial governors at Alexandria.

He was a man of great learning and unusual personal influence.

‡ Robert Hunter Morris was lieutenant-governor of Pennsylvania from October, 1754, to August, 1756. For twenty-six years he acted as one of the council of New Jersey, and for a period served as chief-justice, resigning in 1757, seven years prior to his death, which occurred February 20, 1764.

He responded to General Braddock's invitation to the Alexandria Conference.

§ Horatio Sharpe, whose position as proprietary governor of Maryland from 1753 to 1769 made him a conspicuous figure in colonial times, came from London in the ship Molly, commanded by Captain Nicholas Coxen, and arrived at Annapolis on the 11th of August, 1753.

On February 4, 1754, he visited Baltimore town to study his people, and was received by the citizens with wild demonstrations of satisfaction.

In July of the same year he was commissioned lieutenant-colonel in the British army. He was one of the counsellors with Braddock at the conference in Alexandria.

tinct expeditions: Lawrence,* lieutenant-governor of Nova Scotia, was to secure the right of England in that region; Johnson, of New York, was to enroll the Mohawk Indians and lead them against Crown Point; Shirley agreed to drive the French from Niagara; and Braddock, commander-in-chief, reserved the honor of recovering the Ohio Valley.

Expedition against Acadia. In the execution of this program Lawrence, with the advice and consent of his counsellors, decided to remove and disperse the entire French population of Acadia (or Nova Scotia) among the English colonies of North America. Colonel John Winslow, commander of the New England forces, known for the firmness, but humaneness of his character, was intrusted with the practical execution of this project. The purpose was to take those of the same neighborhood and, without severing family ties, plant them in a new station. In the execution of the scheme some 6,000 persons, men, women and children, were deported. The first embarkation occurred October 8, 1755.

Story of Evangeline. In the story of Evangeline, Longfellow represents these Acadians as a peaceful, simple-hearted people, and their houses as picturesque, vine-clad, strongly-built cottages—the embodiment of all that would be classified as ideal homes. Instead, however, the people are said to have been contentious and quarrelsome among themselves, and grossly superstitious under the priests who dominated them.

Expedition against Crown Point. General William Johnson,†

* Charles Lawrence was a British general of distinction. He died in Halifax, Nova Scotia, October 19, 1760.

In 1750 he built Fort Lawrence at the head of the Bay of Fundy. He was appointed lieutenant-governor in 1754, and governor in 1756. He was made a colonel in September, 1757, and a brigadier-general the 31st of the following December. He was present at the siege of Louisburg.

† Sir William Johnson was born in Smithtown, Ireland, 1715; died in Johnstown, N. Y., July 11, 1774. Was educated for mercantile life, but, disappointed in love negotiation, he finally located on a tract of land on the Mohawk river, N. Y., and became a trader with the Indians.

His courtesy, honesty and adaptability to circumstances gave him great power over the Indians, who made him a sachem.

At the council in Alexandria, April 14, 1755, he was commissioned by Brad-of New York, was intrusted with the expedition against Crown Point, on Lake Champlain. His forces came mainly from Massachusetts and Connecticut, New Hampshire also supplying one regiment which joined him at Albany.

At the head of navigation on the Hudson there had been established a fort, which, in honor of a boat commander, had been called Fort Lyman.

Fort Lyman Changed to Fort Edwards. The name was changed by Johnson to that of Fort Edwards. A garrison being left, Johnson, with some 5,000 men, including Hendrick, the noted Mohawk chief and his warriors, and such noted men as Israel Putnam and John Stark, started for the head of Lake George, and thence to Lake Champlain.

Attack on Fort Edwards and Death of Col. Williams. The French made every effort to check this advance. Baron Dieskau, collecting 200 regulars and 1,200 Indians and Canadians from the region of Montreal, determined to attack Fort Edward. Johnson detached 1000 men, under Ephraim Williams, of Massachusetts, and 200 Mohawks, under Hendrick, to relieve the post. Advised of their approach, the French assumed a position in ambush. Presently the English were entrapped, and on the 5th of September (1755) were defeated, both Williams and Hendrick losing their lives. As they retreated they were assisted by the cannon and forces in camp, and finally, after a five hours' contest, the enemy were compelled to retreat. In the rout the French and Indians were also assailed by the New Hampshire regiment on its way from Fort Edwards, and thrown into a panic-stricken condition, the commander, Baron Dieskau, being captured.

Though the success of the day was due largely to the efforts of General Lyman, the honors were assumed by General Johnson. He was subsequently made a baronet and given a bonus of £5,000.

dock "sole superintendent of the affairs of the six United Nations, their allies and dependents." He was also made a major-general and assigned to the leadership against Crown Point.

Expedition against Niagara. According to the Alexandria arrangement Shirley was to march against Niagara. Colonel Philip Schuyler had command of the first regiment in this expedition.

At Oswego boats were constructed to carry 600 men by lake. Shirley, by way of the Mohawk, reached Oswego on the 21st of August. Delays of various kinds occurred. Finally, in October, a council of war decided that the attack on Niagara should be deferred one year.

Shirley's Failure. Shirley's great project proved abortive, and terminated ultimately in simply strengthening the defenses of Oswego, and leaving them in command of Colonel Hugh Mercer with 700 men.

Braddock's Expedition. Braddock's part in this grand movement now needs attention. His forces, designed to capture Fort Duquesne and clear the Ohio Valley, left Alexandria on the 20th of April. They crept along at the rate of three or four miles per day, stopping, as Washington said, "to level every mole-hill; to erect a bridge over every creek."

Finally, on the 9th of July, with about one-half his army, Braddock reached the vicinity of the fort. No scout had been employed. The march was along a road twelve feet wide. Drums and fifes furnished martial music for the occasion.

Battle in Ambush. Suddenly the Indian war-whoop was heard. His columns were attacked, but no enemy was visible. Not heeding the advice of his subordinates, he directed his men to maintain organized form and fire in platoons. The result of this order was that many of his men were shot by their comrades.

Braddock's Defeat and Death. About half the force engaged—viz., 800 men—were killed and wounded. Sixty-four of the eighty-five officers were lost. Braddock was finally wounded and the command devolved on Washington. The latter covered the retreat to Great Meadows, where Braddock died.

Thus ended, in supreme disaster, the leading one of the various campaigns planned by the general-in-chief of the English army.

Formal Declarations of War. Though war had actually existed between France and England, thus involving their respective colonies in the New World, the formal declaration by England was not made until the 18th of May, 1756, and by France on the 9th of June following.

Montcalm—New French Commander. Marquis de Montcalm became the leader of the French in America. He was furnished with two battalions (1200) of men for operations in Canada. His entire command was about 4,000 men. The militia strength of the province was 10,000 to 15,000, but this was hardly reliable. Meanwhile, Montcalm strengthened the outlying forts, and endeavored to ascertain from Indian scouts the strength of the British in opposition. These scouts seemed to be open to negotiations, and hence were somewhat unreliable.

Shirley Commander-in-Chief. After the death of Braddock, Shirley became commander of the British forces in America. His military training was inadequate, and his plans, though gigantic, were not successful. In his proposed operations against Crown Point, Lake Ontario, Fort Duquesne, and up the Kennebec river, he was anticipated and checked by Montcalm, who easily took a number of the English forts and destroyed them.

Earl of Loudoun Succeeds Shirley. Shirley was succeeded by John Campbell, Earl of Loudoun, noted later for his "masterly inactivity and indecision." As a result, the year 1757 was not distinguished by any military movement of much importance to the English. In fact, it was to them the darkest period of the war.

Capture of Fort George by Montcalm. Montcalm took the initiative, and with 7,606 men penetrated the country and invested Fort George. On the 9th of August the fort was compelled to surrender, with 2,264 men. By this victory the French acquired complete control of Lakes Champlain and George. The destruction of Oswego gave them control of the Great Lakes, and the retention of Fort Duquesne held control of the Mississippi Valley.

William Pitt, Head of English Ministry. A change in English administration now began. William Pitt was placed at the head of affairs, and his letters assured all the colonies of a new order of things and inspired full confidence. He assured them of complete co-operation in the war against the French, and called for volunteers. Massachusetts agreed to furnish 7,000 men; Connecticut, 5,000; New Hampshire, 3,000.

THREE EXPEDITIONS PROJECTED—LOUISBURG CAPTURED BY ABERCROMBIE.

Under the new regime three expeditions were proposed:

The first was against Louisburg. An army of 14,000 men, under command of Major-General Jeffery Amherst, captured the place July 26, 1758.

Attack on Ticonderoga. The second was that under Lieutenant-General James Abercrombie, successor, as commander-in-chief, of Loudoun in America, against Ticonderoga and Crown Point. The attack on Ticonderoga occurred on the 8th of July, 1758, and was quite disastrous, the English loss in killed and wounded being 2,000 men.

Forbes' Expedition against Duquesne. The third was the second expedition against Fort Duquesne. It began in October, 1758, under the direction of Brigadier-General John Forbes. His command consisted of 1,200 Highlanders, 350 royal Americans, and about 5,000 provincials. In the latter number were 2,000 Virginians, under command of Colonel Washington.

Fort Captured and Name Changed to Fort Pitt. Though Forbes started from Philadelphia in July, he did not reach Raystown (now Somerset, Pa.) until September. He did not leave Raystown until October, and, owing to obstructions to his march, he did not arrive at Fort Duquesne until the 25th of November. "The garrison, being deserted by the Indians, and too weak to maintain the place against the formidable army which was approaching, abandoned the fort the evening before the arrival of the British and escaped down the Ohio in boats." An English garrison was placed, and the fortification had its name changed to Fort Pitt, in compliment to the new and popular minister of state.

General Amherst Succeeds Abercrombie. In the meantime General Amherst was appointed (Sept. 30, 1758) commander-in-chief of the English forces, his victory at Louisburg having led to the same.

Campaigns of 1759. The campaigns of 1759 were more favorable to the English. Under the skillful operations of Major-General James Wolfe, consummated by General Townshend, his successor, Quebec was captured in September. On the 25th of July Fort Niagara, under the command of Ponchot, was forced to capitulate.

Presque Isle, Venango and Le Boeuf were, in consequence of lack of support, easily taken by Colonel Bouquet, who had been sent to summon them to surrender.

Ticonderoga and Crown Point were taken with comparative ease; and the only point of importance uncaptured was Montreal. Finally, after concentrating at that place the various armies which had operated in Canada, the city capitulated and the English flag was hoisted on the 8th of September, 1760. The conquest was complete. It was the end of "New France."

Treaty of Peace. The end of the French and Indian War was fixed by the Treaty of Paris, February 10, 1763, by which the French king lost his entire possessions in the New World.

Pontiac's Conspiracy. Though the war had nominally ended, Indian depredations did not cease. Pontiac, chief of the Ottowas, who is supposed to have been present at Braddock's defeat, endeavored to form a union of the Indians against the English. In May, 1763, nine garrisons, ranging in position from western Pennsylvania to Mackinaw, were either destroyed or dispersed. From May 12th to the 12th of the succeeding October in the same year, Pontiac personally conducted an attack on Detroit.

Depredations against settlers in Maryland, Virginia and Pennsylvania were frequent. These were the result of a jealousy felt by Pontiac because he did not receive from the English the recognition which he considered due him. This feeling allied him to the French, and finally alienated his followers from him. In 1766 he made terms with the English.

Col. Bouquet's Expedition. Colonel Henry Bouquet was a British soldier of courage and ability. He co-operated with Forbes in the expedition which captured Duquesne in 1758. In 1763 he was ordered to go from Philadelphia with 500 Highlanders to the relief of Fort Pitt. At Bushy Run, on the 5th of August, he encountered a force of Indians, which he defeated with the loss, on his side, of 8 officers and 115 men. Two days later he relieved the fort.

Expeditions against Ohio Indians. In October, 1764, he conducted an expedition against the Ohio Indians and compelled them to make peace at Tuscarawas.

Lord Dunmore's War. Lord Dunmore, governor of Virginia from 1772 to 1776, was suspected of playing double. While efforts were being made by the General Congress, in 1774, to resist the encroachments of Great Britain against the colonies, and while the Indians were committing depredations along the western frontiers, the indignation of the people compelled their reluctant governor to take up arms and march against the very Indians whom he was suspected of having incited by intrigues to hostility.

Colonel Lewis' Victory at Point Pleasant. Lord Dunmore marched his army in two columns; the one under Colonel Andrew Lewis he sent to the junction of the Great Kanawha with the Ohio, while the other he led to a point higher up on the Ohio, with the alleged purpose of destroying certain Indian towns and then joining Lewis at Point Pleasant. The real purpose, however, is suspected to have been the concentrating of the entire Indian force upon Lewis and thus weakening and humiliating Virginia. If such were his purpose, he was thoroughly disappointed; for Lewis, with inferior numbers, but unusual skill and gallantry, met the Indians at Point Pleasant October 10, 1774, and after a day's hard fighting and the loss of nearly all his officers, completely defeated them.

The immediate effect was visible in the migration which at once began to seek homes in Kentucky, eastern Tennessee, and the more remote regions of the Northwest. It developed the pioneer movements of Boone in Kentucky, Robertson and Sevier in East Tennessee, and George Rodgers Clark in the Northwest. With this theory coincides the view that Lewis was a patriot and Lord Dunmore a traitor to the best interests of Virginia and the whole country.

We need not express surprise, therefore, that the name of Dunmore county was changed to Shenandoah in 1777, one of the delegates to the Assembly saying: "My constituents no longer wish to live in, nor do I desire to represent, a county bearing the name of such a Tory. I therefore move to call it Shenandoah, after the beautiful stream which passes through it." His motion prevailed.

Augusta County was formed from Orange County in 1738. "Previously all that part of Virginia west of the Blue Ridge was included in Orange, but in the fall session of this year it was divided into the counties of Frederick and Augusta." Even after this division it included, in addition to forty counties in Western Virginia, the territory embracing a portion of Pennsylvania, and all of Ohio, Indiana, Michigan, Illinois, and Wisconsin.

Bedford County.

To the Militia of the County of Bedford, and Provisions furnished by sundry Inhabitants of the said County, viz.:

ACT OF ASSEMBLY FOR THE STATE OF VIRGINIA, MAR., 1756.

Hening's Statutes, Vol. 7, Pages 21 & 22.

And whereas divers companies of the militia of the several counties of Prince William, Fairfax, and Culpepper, were lately drawn out into actual service for the defence and protection of the frontiers of this colony against the incursions and depredations of the French and their Indian allies, whose names, and the time they respectively continued in the said service, are contained in a certain schedule to this act annexed, and it is just and necessary that they should be paid for such their service.

General assembly of Virginia, Jan. 14, 1762. An act for giving recompense to the officers of the Virginia regiment—one full year's pay, over and above what shall be due to them until the disbanding of the said regiment, viz.: Colonel Wil-

On page 378 to 390 of Volume 1, Virginia Magazine of History, are found the names of several companies in the French and Indian Wars. The roster gives rank, name, age, size, place of enlistment, nativity and trade of each man, and shows that the troops were secured from every part of the colony of Virginia.

Oct., 1765. An Act for appointing commissioners to examine and state the accounts of the militia lately ordered out into actual service, and for other purposes therein mentioned. (Hening's Statutes, Vol. 8, page 124.)

By this act Archibald Cary, Thomas Walker, John Fleming, William Cabell, George Carrington, Thomas Lewis, and Peter Hog, gentlemen, were appointed commissioners for the counties of Augusta, Bedford, Halifax, and Amherst, and James Hamilton, Richard Lee, Thomas Rutherford, Thomas Marshall, William Green, and James Wood, gentlemen, for the counties of Frederick, Hampshire, Culpeper, Loudoun, Fauquier, and Prince William; or any three of them to examine, state and settle the accounts of such pay, provision, arms, and etc., of the counties of which they are appointed, and all arrears whatsoever relating to the militia.

Section 3, folio 126. And be it further enacted, by the authority aforesaid, That the said commissioners shall also settle and allow any claims that shall be produced to them for provisions furnished the volunteers and captives on their return from Pittsburg to this colony.

THE SCOTCH-IRISH OF AUGUSTA COUNTY, VIRGINIA.

So much has been written concerning that sturdy race who called themselves Scotch-Irish, and who were the pioneer settlers of the upper Valley of the Shenandoah, and beyond, that any extended notice of them and their characteristics would be mere repetition of many abler writers. However, as this work contains the names of so many people of that race who constituted the skirmish line of civilization, a few words here concerning them may not be out of place.

All authorities concede that John Lewis led the van of this heroic race when he settled, in 1732, near the present city of Staunton. But there soon gathered around him many of his own race, who bore their parts manfully in the development of a new country, and whose descendants, now scattered through many states of the West, South, and Southwest, still preserve the characteristics which made their forefathers conspicuous in earlier times.

These pioneer settlers of Augusta were men of deep religious convictions, and their churches were the centres from which radiated the influence of the various communities as a whole. The Augusta, or Old Stone Church, was the first to be established, in 1740, and this venerable structure, erected more than a century and a half ago, still stands as a monument to the heroic men and women by whom it was built in days of difficulty and trial. Tinkling Spring Church, also established in 1740, was perhaps stronger in numbers and wealth than the Augusta Church, but three or four church structures have been erected there since the establishment of the congregation, and therefore it is not so interesting historically as the other.

During the period of the French and Indian War the Scotch-Irish of Augusta, which then comprised an immense territory to the west and southwest, stood as a bulwark against Indian incursions east of the Blue Ridge, and so valuable were the services rendered by these people that colonial laws asserting the supremacy of the Episcopal, or Established Church, were not enforced against these Dissenting Presbyterians.

When the prelude of the Revolution began, the Scotch-Irish of the upper valley marched to Point Pleasant, and there, under the command of General Andrew Lewis, son of the pioneer settler of Augusta, fought one of the bloodiest battles with the Indians to be found in the annals of our colonial history. In this engagement it is stated that 650 men from Augusta County alone participated, and by that time the limits of the county had been very much reduced. When the Revolution opened, the sons and grandsons of the original settlers were almost unanimously in favor of American independence, and Scotch-Irish officers and men were found on every field of the Revolution, from Saratoga to Yorktown.

It would be impossible, within the limits of this brief sketch, to give the names of all officers worthy of mention who entered the service from Augusta County; but Andrew Lewis, who commanded at Point Pleasant, was a Brigadier-General of the Virginia Continental Line, and was chiefly instrumental in driving Lord Dunmore, the last of the Virginia colonial governors, from her borders. Three of his brothers were officers of rank during the Revolution, and Robert and Alexander Breckenridge were captains of the line in the same struggle. Stout George Mathews, colonel of the 9th Virginia Line, entered the service from Augusta, and was captured with his regiment at the battle of Germantown, Pa., because he dared to press too far against the British centre without proper support. Col. George Moffett, county lieutenant of Augusta, marched with his militia to South Carolina, and aided Morgan in winning the brilliant victory of the Cowpens. Robert, James, Andrew, and William, sons of John Anderson, who was one of the first elders of the Old Stone Church, were brave and efficient officers in the Revolutionary army, the first serving in South Carolina as colonel under General Pickens, and the other three as captains. Robert Gamble, a captain of the line, led the forlorn hope at the capture of Stony Point, and his younger brother John also served as an officer in the American army. James Tate, a captain of the Augusta militia, gave up his life at Guilford Court House, and many other names might be added to this list.

During the invasion of Virginia, in 1781, the militia of Augusta were almost constantly on the march, and many of them were at Yorktown, where the final act in the drama was played.

When the Revolution ended, these brave and enterprising men began the march of civilization westward, and the first settlers of Kentucky were almost entirely from the upper portion of the Virginia Valley. The Prestons, Breckenridges, Logans, Allens, Trimbles, Andersons, McDowells, and many others, sought their fortunes in the new lands west of the Allegheny Mountains, and from these pioneer settlers has descended a race of people unsurpassed by any in the world for chivalry, courage, eloquence, and statesmanship. They have been found in every station of life, filling well the place which destiny has assigned to them, and the highest tribute which could be paid to the Scotch-Irish pioneers of Augusta County would be the roster of distinguished men who trace their ancestry to this section of the Valley of Virginia.

Clerk County Court, Prince William County, Va.

This register includes the names of persons who, in the election of Burgesses, in 1741, polled 828 votes for the candidates indicated. Many of the voters' names are repetitions, several candidates having received the votes of the same person. The territory covered the limits of the present county of Prince William, together with that now included within the counties of Fairfax, Loudoun, and Fauquier. In other words, it extended along the Potomac to the Blue Ridge.

FAIRFAX COUNTY, VIRGINIA.

THE POLL LIST FOR THE ELECTION OF BURGESSES FOR FAIRFAX COUNTY IN THE YEAR 1744.

THIS county was entitled to two members in the House of Burgesses. The names of the candidates were Col. John Colville, Capt. Lawrence Washington, Capt. Lewis Ellzey, and John Sturman. Two candidates only were to be voted for by the same person. The names of the voters are recorded under the names of the candidates for whom they voted.

Fairfax county was formed in 1742 from Prince William. At the date of this poll, in 1744, it still included what is now Loudoun county. The latter, however, was detached in 1757. The voters whose names are given in the foregoing list were included, therefore, in the inhabitants then living within what are now Fairfax and Loudoun counties.*

* It may be of interest to note the fact that in the year 1769 the House of Burgesses of Virginia passed an act concerning the manner in which members of this body should be elected. Section 7 of said act provides as follows: "And be it further enacted, by the authority aforesaid, That after publication of such writs, and at the day and place of election, every freeholder actually resident within his county shall personally appear, and give his vote, upon penalty of forfeiting two hundred pounds of tobacco to any person or persons who will inform or sue for the same, recoverable, with costs, by action of debt or information, in any court of this dominion." Hening's Statutes, vol. 8, page 308.

VIRGINIA IN THE REVOLUTION.

THE part which Virginia took in the Revolutionary War cannot be detailed in this work. We can give only a few items to show that as a state she performed her full duty, though complete credit has not been given to her in the past.

By virtue of her location she was a battlefield during the Revolution, especially during the closing period. The services of her militia were not taken into account, and hence by comparison with other states she appears to have furnished a smaller number of troops than were her quota.

She had, however, a goodly number of militia, or minutemen, whose services were confined to state territory. The Virginia Historical Magazine began, in 1898, the publication of the lists of these men, commencing with 1777. The information furnished is exceedingly valuable and is heartily commended to our readers.

A very interesting list of the Continental Line during the Revolution, including the general-in-chief, major-generals, colonels, lieutenant-colonels, majors, captains, lieutenants, etc., may be seen in Vol. 2, pp. 243 to 258 of the Virginia Magazine of History and Biography; and a corresponding list of the State Line of the same period on pages 357 to 370 of the same publication.

The total contribution by Virginia of troops of all kinds, including continental and state forces, militia, riflemen, rangers, minutemen, etc., may not be correctly stated. At the opening of the war, and also during its progress, men enlisted for a year at a time. Some of them enlisted several times in succession.

In making up the total service, these repetitions need to be considered. The State's contribution to the Continental army is given, however, as 26,678 ; to which are to be added some 30,000 members of State forces, making a total of 56,678 men. The only state which claims to have approximated Virginia's forces was the state of Massachusetts, with 87,907 men. This number, for reasons stated elsewhere, must be accepted with a grain of allowance.

Virginia had originally fifteen regiments in the Continental service.

In a letter to General Washington, in 1776, Richard Peters, Secretary of the Board of War, transmits the following list of Field Officers in the Service of Virginia. See American Archives, 5 series, vol. 2, page 320.

October 18, 1776, it was resolved by the House of Delegates that six new battalions of Infantry be raised and employed in the Continental Service ; and that provision be made for completing the nine battalions formerly raised, and extending the additional bounty to such of them as shall be willing to enlist on like terms. (See Am. Arch., 5 series, vol. 2, page 1112.) Under this order the following men were appointed colonels on the 15th of November : Edward Stevens, Daniel Morgan, James Wood, Samuel Meredith, Charles Lewis, and David Mason. (See Am. Arch., 5 series, vol. 3, page 695.)

HISTORICAL NOTES.

As showing the changes and difficulties in mobilizing her forces, we have examined the original archives and made note of some things which will tend to throw light upon this period. So far as possible, the chronological order is observed.

By the Continental Congress it was decreed, August 13th, 1776, that the 8th Virginia should have pay from May 27th, and the 7th from 17th of the same month.

The first Virginia regiment marched from Williamsburg for New York the 16th of August, 1776.

On the 21st of August, 1776, the captains and subalterns of the 1st and 2d regiments presented a petition to the governor and council of the State to have their relative ranks properly adjusted as compared with the forces of North Carolina.

At the October session of the General Assembly, held in Williamsburg, it was announced that six additional battalions of infantry were to be raised. The reward was: "To every non-commissioned officer and private soldier a present bounty of twenty dollars, an annual bounty of a suit of clothes—to consist for the present year of two linen hunting shirts, two pair of overalls, a leathern or woolen waistcoat with sleeves, one pair of breeches, a hat or leathern cap, two shirts, two pair of hose, and two pair of shoes, amounting in the whole to the value of twenty dollars, or that sum to be paid to each soldier who shall procure those articles for himself—and to provide the following portions of land, to be given at the close of the war, or whensoever discharged, to the officers and soldiers who shall engage in the said service, or their representatives, if slain by the enemy, to wit: To every non-commissioned officer or soldier, one hundred acres; to every ensign, one hundred and fifty acres; to every lieutenant, two hundred acres; to every captain, three hundred acres; to every major, four hundred acres; to every lieutenant-colonel, four hundred and fifty acres; and to every colonel, five hundred acres."

On the 1st of November, 1776, four companies of the Virginia Battalion on the eastern shore were directed to march, under command of a field officer, to Dover, Del., and await further orders.

On the 1st of November, 1776, it was ordered by Congress that commissions be granted to fill vacancies in the 4th, 5th and 6th Virginia Battalions; and on the 6th, Brigadier-General Stephens was directed to fill in dates and deliver the commissions.

November 4, 1776, Capt. George Gibson, of the 1st regiment, sent by the governor to New Orleans on a special expedition, was provided by Caesar Rodney, at Dover, Del., with a number of horses and £6 for expenses.

On the 5th of November, 1776, the returns of the 1st regiment, under command of Col. John Fleming, showed present a total strength of 486 officers and men.

On the same date the 3d regiment, under command of Col. George Weeden, at Camp John Fushee's, had 603 rank and file.

November 20th, 1776, Col. Wm. Crawford, of the 7th regiment, severed his relation with the command, and, in reply to a testimonial of confidence by his subordinates, expressed his purpose to devote himself "to the utmost defense of American liberty, justice, and the rights of humanity."

On the 26th of November, 1776, it was directed that a regiment of artillery, to be armed with muskets and bayonets, should be raised in Virginia, to include two companies already formed.

At Williamsburg, on the 6th of December, 1776, Col. Thomas Fleming, of the 9th regiment, issued an order calling for the return of all officers and soldiers absent with leave and the joining of the regiment at Philadelphia on its march to reinforce Washington.

On the 27th of December, 1776, it was decreed by Congress that the Virginia militia marching to the aid of Washington should receive a pair of shoes and stockings, and the same rations and monthly pay as were given to other continental troops.

On the same day, the 2d and 7th Virginia regiments, with all convalescents from other commands left in the State, were ordered to march at once to join Washington.

On the same day, too, owing to the necessity of reinforcing Washington at once, Virginia was "empowered to call into service, at the continental expense, three regiments of militia, or minutemen, if such measure shall by that state be judged necessary."

These troops were enlisted "to serve during the continuance of the present war, unless sooner discharged."

By the session of the Assembly, which began May 5th, 1777, was authorized the forming of militia companies of males over 15 and less than 50 years of age. These companies were to be not less than 32 nor more than 58 in number, and were to meet for muster once per month, at 11 o'clock, accoutred as follows: County lieutenants, colonels, lieutenant-colonels, and major, with sword; captains and lieutenants, with firelock and bayonets, cartouch-box, sword, and three charges of powder and balls; every ensign with sword; every non-commissioned officer and private with rifle and tomahawk, good firelock and bayonet, with pouch and horn, or cartouch or cartridge-box, and with three charges of powder and ball.

At the October session it was enacted, that to assimilate the Virginia with those from other states, fourteen of the said regiments be reduced to eight companies each, and then be completed by volunteers or drafts. It was also suggested that the officers of the fourteen regiments, including those of the 9th captured at Germantown, co-operate in this work. In the draft Mennonites and Quakers were to be exempt. Enlistments were for three years or during the war.

The following letter from Governor Henry to John Lawrence, aide-de-camp on the staff of General Washington, indicates the difficulty of securing recruits from Virginia in the year 1778.

Accordingly, in September, 1778, the fifteen regiments from Virginia were reduced to eleven in number and reorganized as follows: The 9th was joined with the 1st; the 6th with the 2d; the 5th with the 3d; the 8th with the 4th; the 7th was called the 5th; the 10th the 6th; the 11th the 7th; the 12th the 8th; the 13th the 9th; the 4th the 10th; and the 15th the 11th.

WILLIAMSBURG, June 18, 1778.

Sir: General Washington sent me an account of the Drafted Soldiers that have joined the army from this state; and it appears that not one-half of the number voted by the Assembly have got to camp. Truth obliges me to add that very few more of the Drafts will ever be got into the service.

I lament this capital deficiency in our Quota of troops; but no efforts of the Executive have been sufficient to prevent it.

The Assembly, at their late sitting, have directed three hundred and fifty cavalry and two thousand infantry to be forthwith raised and to join the grand army. Some of the former will be raised, but from every appearance I am sorry to say there is little reason to expect any success in getting the infantry. I can only assure you, sir, that I shall pay due regard to the Requisition you are pleased to make for compleating our quota of men by exerting myself to the utmost, altho' I fear it will be in vain.

With highest regard, I have the honor to be, sir,

Your most obedient and humble servant,

PATRICK HENRY.

The Honorable Mr. Lawrence.

In March, 1781, an act was passed to raise two legions for defense of the State. The preamble, which is quite historic, provides: "Whereas, at this critical juncture, when the enemy have made this state the object of their vengeance, it is necessary to provide a standing force for the immediate defense thereof. It is therefore enacted that two legions, to consist of six companies of infantry and one troop of cavalry, of one hundred men each, be forthwith raised to serve during the war, but not to take the field or to do duty except in cases of actual or threatened invasion."

On the 7th of May, 1781, the Assembly began its sessions in Richmond, and continued them, by adjournment, to Staunton, in Augusta county. This transfer, made necessary by military conditions, was authorized under a general law of the Assembly.

At this session the governor was authorized to appoint recruiting officers to enlist, by persuasion, three thousand soldiers for two years, or during war—each to be 5 ft. 4 in. high, not a deserter, not subject to fits, of able body and sound mind.

Virginia in the navy during the Revolution was not so conspicuous as in her land service. Her work was meritorious, and her officers occupied honorable positions. On this subject valuable information and authentic lists of names, with relative ranks, may be found in the Virginia Magazine of History and Biography, vol. 1, pp. 64–75.

It may be proper to say, that conspicuous among these naval heroes was Commodore James Barron, who, with his brother Richard, commanded "The Liberty" and "The Patriot," two important vessels during this period. Commodore Barron participated in twenty different actions, in all of which he was very successful. He died in 1787. His sons, James and Samuel, were also conspicuous in naval affairs during and subsequent to the Revolution. Descendants of the Barrons subsequently located in Maryland, concerning whom it may be well to consult Genealogical Manuscript, by the author of this volume.

Virginia had a good representation in the artillery branch of the service. Companies were commanded by Captains Nathaniel Burwell, Thomas Baytop, Samuel Booker, John C. Carter, Whitehead Coleman, John Dandridge, Samuel Eddens, John Gregory, John Henry, Valentine Peyton, James Pendleton, William Pierce, George Rice, Drury Ragsdale, and Anthony Singleton.

Nine of these companies, viz., Nos. 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 8, 9, and 10, commanded respectively by Captains Pierce, Burwell, Singleton, Ragsdale, Pendleton, Dandridge, Eddens, Baytop, and Henry, were attached to Col. Charles Harrison's Virginia and Maryland Regiment of Artillery, from Nov. 30, 1776, to April, 1782. They were stationed at Valley Forge, Smith's Clove, Pluckemin, and camp near Chester at various times.

Captain Burwell was commissioned an aide to Brig.-Gen. Robt. Howe, Nov. 30, 1776, and served to the end of the war.

The scope of this volume will not permit the tracing in detail of the changes through which the various organizations passed from first to last. As battalions became depleted they were consolidated, and this resulted in many supernumerary officers, who had either to be retired from the service or assigned to other commands.

Great interest will attach to the accompanying final pay-roll of officers at the close of the Revolution.

NOTE.—Ensign Henry Bedinger in page 10 Should be called Captain and credited 80 dollars instead of 60—and also charged with 80 dollars instead of 60....his an^o Ballances.

In many cases M^r Dunscomb has credited in his settlements more specie than the officer was entitled to. Where I find an officer has actually drawn more specie than he was entitled to receive—I have admitted the credits which have been given them by Dunscomb—because they have been finally settled with and received their certificates—and there is no hold left upon them—this appears to have been wrong in M^r Dunscomb, for, in Justice, an officer in this situation should return such [torn out] of specie—and receive certificates in (?) — Where he has credited too much to an officer—and the officer has not received the full am^o of such credit—the supposed balance in specie should be paid in certificates—for instance:

PETITION FROM FAIRFAX COUNTY, VA., FOR IM
PORTATION OF SALT.

VIRGINIA, FAIRFAX COUNTY, }
Nov. 23, 1775. }

Sir: The Committee of this county, informed of the present scarcity of salt in the colony in general, and in this part of it in particular, sensible of the Difficulty, perhaps impracticability, of procuring it if not done this winter, and apprehensive of the great distress and Discontent that the want of this necessary article may occasion among the people, as well as the impossibility of furnishing proper provisions for the Regiments of minute men and draughts from our militia which may be called into service next spring, have directed us to apply to the Honorable, the Continental Congress, praying them to encourage the Importation of salt, either by permitting the exportation of Country produce in return, in such manner as is allowed upon the importation of military stores, or in such other manner as that Honorable Board shall judge best. We beg leave, sir, thro' you, to lay this request, as a matter of the utmost importance to the good people of this colony and the public service, before the gentlemen of the Congress, and are,

With greatest respect, sir,

Your most obedient servants,

G. MASON,

JOHN DALTON,

WM. RAMSAY,

JOHN CARLYLE,

JOHN MUIR,

JAMES KIRK.

Committee of Correspondence of Fairfax county.

To JOHN HANCOCK, ESQ.,

President of the Congress.

This petition at the opening of the Revolutionery struggle incidentally presents several matters of importance: 1. It shows the value of salt as a household commodity, and the difficulty of procuring it at a time when means of rapid and easy communication were wanting. 2. It also shows that at this early period the military strength was supplied by "minute-men" and by drafts from the "militia."

In the list of signers will be found the names of persons in whom posterity will doubtless be interested.

CORRESPONDENCE OF WASHINGTON AND GATES WITH COLONEL BEDEL.

CAMBRIDGE, 1st February, 1776.

Sir: The Continental Congress, haveing calld upon the Government of New Hampshire to raise a Regiment for the Service of the United Colonies, which they have accordingly complied with, and appoint you to the command, I have to desire, that you will use all the deligence & dispatch possible, to raise the said Regiment & march it into Canada takeing your Rout by Number four and Onion River, where a Suply of provisions will be laid up, by order of Major General Schuyler.

This Regiment is to be raised upon the Continental establishment, agreeable to the terms & requisitions of the Congress as transmitted to the Honble Convention of New Hampshire, the necessity of reinforceing our troops, posted before & forming the Blockade of Quebec, is too apparent to need being dwelt on, I would therefore have you order each Company to March, as fast as they are raised, and on their arrival put themselves under the Command of the General or Commanding officer in Canada.

Your Colony will provide you with such necessarys, as are indespensably wanting for the use of your Regiment, in the takeing up of which, and your expences on the March I recommend the utmost Oeconomy, that can be used consistant with dispatch—

You will take under your care the Coghawaga Indians, who are now here and conduct them in the safest and most agreeable manner to themselves, into Canada. You are to bear their expenses, for which purpose I now give you a warrant on the paymaster General for the sum of £100.—D. M.³

You must keep a just account of its expenditure, & render the same to the Commissary of the Northern department when you get there he will be advertized of this matter and directed to settle with you,—

these sir, are your Instructions, to which I doubt not you will pay a proper attention that you may have a share in the Glory of expelling the instruments of Ministerial Tyranny from that fair province, is the Sincere wish of

Sir, Your most H. S^t.,

(Signed) G^o. Washington.

COLONEL BEDEL,

on the service of the United Colonies.

CAMP, 4th October, 1777.

Dear Bedel: I sent your faithful friend Louis to assist you in immediately bringing forward to my assistance all The St. Francis Indians who have lately come to Co'hos, with all those who, from Friendship to you and affection to Our Noble Cause, are ready to step forth at this important Crisis to put a finishing Stroke to this Campaign. The Enemy are at their last Gasp in every Question; A Bold Stroke in Each Gives peace & Freedom to America. that you & I may live to see & Enjoy that Blessing is the anxious Wish of your affectionate Friend and Humble Servant,

[Signed] HORATIO GATES.

COL. BEDEL, Co'hos.

WAR OFFICE, March 4, 1778.

Sir: As the irruption intended to be made into Canada is suspended by a resolve of Congress, on account of the insuperable difficulties in getting the necessaries in so short a period as the advanced season would admit, the raising your regiment is needless and improper. You will, therefore, cease your proceedings on this account and dismiss any men you may have inlisted, that the continent may be put to no unnecessary expence.

Such charges as you have incurred in preparing for the expedition you will exhibit a State of to the Dep. Pay Master General at Albany, who will settle with you for the same.

I am, Sir, your most h'ble servt.,

[Signed] HORATIO GATES,
President of the War Office.

P. S. It will be proper that Major Whitcomb rejoin his Companies, with his present rank.

To COL. TIM^o BEDEL, at Coos.

WAR OFFICE.

Col. Timothy Bedel was a prominent Revolutionary officer from New Hampshire. He served as lieutenant in Goffe's regiment in 1760, in Canada. July 6, 1775, he was appointed captain of rangers, and on the 20th of January, 1776, was made Colonel of the 1st N. H. regiment, joining the Northern army under General Schuyler.

For neglect of duty he was tried by Court martial in August, 1776, and cashiered. Despite this action, however, he was shown great consideration by Generals Washington and Gates, as will appear from the foregoing letters, and from the additional fact that he was subsequently made a Major General of his state militia. He died in Haverhill, N. H., in February, 1787.

Valley Forge is a village in Chester County, Pa., twenty-four miles west of Philadelphia.

It was the location of Washington's army from the middle of December, 1777, to June 18, 1778. It was selected to protect Congress at York, Pa., whither that body had adjourned from Philadelphia in consequence of the occupation of the latter place by the British.

At this place Baron Steuben assumed the duties of Inspector-General of the American army. Here, also, Washington announced, on the 6th of May, 1778, the treaty of our alliance with France.

The American forces numbered about 11,000, only about one-half of whom, however, were in condition for service. Their sufferings were intense—a fact known to every tyro in history.

[Signed] JOHN LEE.

Received, 20th May, 1778, of Captain John Lee, Acting Pay Master of the Virginia State Regiment, Commanded by Col. George Gibson, the sum of one thousand and forty-five dollars and $\frac{1}{2}$ parts of a dollar—being money in his hand belonging to Dead men, prisoners, and deserters.

[Signed] THOS. REED,
Asst. PayM. Gen'l.

Col. George Gibson was born in Lancaster, Pa., in October, 1747, and died at Fort Jefferson, Dec. 14, 1791.

His scholastic education was secured at an Academy, but it was subsequently made practical by business training in a mercantile house in Philadelphia.

At the opening of the Revolution he formed a company of a hundred men at Fort Pitt, and marching to Williamsburg, Va., was commissioned a captain in the Virginia line. Owing to the scarcity of powder and lead, he was selected by the governor to negotiate secretly with Spain, for a supply of these materials. He was successful in procuring supplies not only for Virginia, but for the other Colonies. For his services in this matter he was subsequently appointed colonel of the first Virginia regiment.

His men, known as "Gibson's lambs," were skilled sharpshooters; and being distinguished for independence and personal bravery, assisted in repelling Lord Dunmore's attack on Hampton, October 25, 1775.

He served with Washington through much of the Revolution, his command of the first regiment extending from June 5, 1777, to January, 1782. As a supernumerary officer he conducted the march of the British captured at Yorktown to the town of York, Pa., where they remained under his command until they were sent to England.

The war being over, Gibson retired to his farm in Cumberland county, Penn., where, for a time, he held the position of county lieutenant. He was not permitted, however, to remain in retirement. In 1791 he was made Colonel of Penn. and New Jersey troops, and participated in St. Clair's Defeat near Fort Recovery, Ohio, on the 4th of November of that year. In this battle he was mortally wounded, and his death occurred on the 14th of the following December.

Col. Gibson was a brave and meritorious officer.

Colonel Theodoric Bland, a revolutionary hero, was born in Prince George county, Va., January 28, 1742, and died in New York City, June 1, 1790.

His preparatory training was received in England, but his medical preparation was secured in the University of Edinburgh. He began his practice of medicine in 1774. He was one of the number who petitioned the house of burgesses to enact a law forbidding any one not properly licensed to practice medicine within the province.

He continued to practice his profession until the breaking out of the Revolution. Joining the colonists he became captain of the first troop of Virginia cavalry. After the enrollment of six companies he entered the service regularly in 1777 with the rank of lieutenant-colonel. Subsequently he attained the rank of colonel, and rendered efficient service throughout the remainder of the war, enjoying the personal confidence and friendship of Washington.

He participated in the battle of Brandywine; and conducted to Charlottesville, Va.; the prisoners captured at Saratoga, October 17, 1777.

In civil life he was active. He served one term in the Virginia Senate, and from 1780 to 1783 was a member of the Continental Congress. He opposed the adoption of the present Federal Constitution, but was a member of the first Congress convened under its provisions, his term beginning March 30, 1789. See "The Bland Papers," published 1840-3.

PENSION DECLARATION OF ROBERT GIVENS, LINCOLN COUNTY, KY., SEPT. 24, 1824, AGED 75 YEARS.

I was drafted for 3 months' service as a militia Man in 1776 or 1777; was a private in Capt. John Lewis's company which I joined at Staunton, Va. From there we marched to Warm Springs; then to Back Creek; then we crossed the mountain to Levi Moor's; then to Warnk's Fort, and at the end of my time of services was discharged by my Captain.

In 1778 I entered the services as a volunteer in Capt. John Given's company, Augusta County militia, which I joined at Mr. McKetrick's at the foot of the mountain; from there we moved to Warm Springs, then to Col. Anderson's, then to the Big Level, then to the Big Savannah, then to Col. Donnely's Fort, where we joined the force of Col. Lewis and I was discharged.

Again in 1778 I volunteered in Capt. Richard May's company, which company I joined at Abbington, Washington county, Va., then marched to Logan's Fort, and continued in the service for eleven months, I was discharged by Lieutenant Samuel Crand of Capt. Richard May's company.

In 1781 I was called out to guard the prisoners taken at the battle of Cowpens, where I served for 15 days & discharged.

In 1781 I was ordered out as a militiaman; was at Charlotteville under Capt. John Givens, Col. Huggard commander; marched to Richmond in the presence of Cornwallis; had an engagement with the British. We then marched to old Jamestown where we had a second engagement with the British ; we then marched to a point ten miles below Richmond, where I was discharged, July, 1781.

1782. Served as a sub-officer in the place of George Givens in Capt. John Daugherty's company ; later under Capt. John Martin, in the command of Col. Logan, whose company I joined at Scotch's Station ; went to Lexington, then to Brant Station, then to Blue Creek, where Col. Todd was defeated under Gen. Clarke.

Bible record of the family of Robert Givens, of Lincoln county, Kentucky, and Martha his wife, copied from a leaf out of their Bible, filed by his widow in the U. S. Pension Office, Sept. 24, 1824, with her application for a Pension :

| | m. Martha —, July 4, 1782; b. July 31, 1761. |

Their children :

- | | |
|--------------------|-------------------|
| 1. John Allen, | b. Aug. 31, 1784. |
| 2. James, | b. Jan. 22, 1786. |
| 3. Rebecca Brown, | b. Apr. 19, 1788. |
| 4. Martha, | b. Dec. 24, 1790. |
| 5. Sarah Mitchell, | b. June 14, 1793. |
| 6. Benjiman, | b. Apr. 14, 1796. |
| 7. Robert, | b. Sept. 6, 1799. |
| 8. Molly, | b. Feb. 27, 1802. |

John Allen Givens settled in Monroe County, Ind.

The Courts Martial Record of Augusta county, Va., filed in the office of the clerk of The Corporation Court for the city of Staunton, shows that in the latter part of Sept., 1781, Capt. Givens' company was ordered to rendezvous under the command of Lieutenant-Col. Samuel Vance.

Palmer's Calendar of Va. State Papers, Vol. 2, page 514, shows that Col. Vance was, on Oct. 1, 1781, in camp four miles below Williamsburg with a reinforcement of militia from Augusta, Co. In the Calendar Col. Vance's name is spelled Varne, which is clearly an error.

His command, including Capt. Givens' company, was then only a few miles distant from Yorktown, in the siege, of which they participated.

REVOLUTIONARY ARMY PRISONERS.

June 28th, 1785.

GARRISON AT WEST POINT, JUNE 21, 1784.

GARRISON OF WEST POINT, }
June 21st, 1784. }

Sir: We the late officers of the American Army, deranged by the Resolution of Congress of the 2nd instant having been reduced to the necessity of adopting a measure, which may possibly by some be thought unjustifiable without the motives and reasons of our conduct being fully explained have thought proper in this collective manner to communicate the transaction and the reasons on which it is grounded.

From the assurances of the Commander-in-Chief, and the other characters who were intrusted by Congress to arrange the troops who were to remain in service after the 1st of January, 1784, and in whom we placed the fullest confidence, we had every prospect of Punctual Payment for our Services. With this view we gave up every idea of business and were at very great Expense in making our arrangements as military Characters. Having made every Preparation for the year The Resolution of Congress which dismissed us, arrived at a very unexpected period. Being made however by the Sovereign power of the Country we acquiesced with that cheerfulness and obedience which becomes Servants of the public. The same Resolution of Congress by which we obtained our dismissal granted us only two months pay in notes of the Financier, and directed final settlement Certificates for the discharge of the other four—upon an adjustment of our accounts we found this sum by no means sufficient to satisfy those demands which had necessarily incurred during a service of six months. In a situation so distressing we looked around for a possibility of Relief—Nothing presented itself but an order on Mr. Lovell, which you had placed in the hands of the Pay master for the officers subsistence, after deducting three months subsistence for those who were to remain in service, including the Invalids we found there was a sufficient sum to furnish us with six weeks pay, and on an application to the person with whom it was intrusted for the purpose of exchange, he delivered the money, taking our receipts to that amount received of the Regimental Pay Master on account of our four months pay for the year 1784.

Thus Sir have we stated to you in the clearest manner the measures we have taken and the necessity which induced them. We fully persuaded ourselves they will be considered as perfectly just on our part and meet the approbation of all Concerned.

We are, Sir, with great regard and Esteem,

Your most obedient humble Servants,

On the back of the above letter the following is written :
 From the late officers of the Garrison at West Point, July 11, 1784.

WEST POINT.

West Point, the seat of the United States Military Academy, is situated on the Hudson River, 52 miles north of New York City.

Its importance as a strategic point for the defense of the Hudson river and the circumjacent country was early appreciated. Accordingly it was carefully fortified at the opening of the Revolution.

The establishment of a military training school dates back to 1776, when a committee of the Continental Congress was appointed "to prepare and bring in a plan of a military Academy at the Army."

Washington called attention to the subject in 1793 and again in 1796. The final act establishing such a school is dated March 16, 1802.

The accompanying letter, written after the close of the war and addressed presumably to the War office of the government, plainly indicates that official promises were not scrupulously observed, even by the fathers of the Republic.

LETTER OF LIEUT.-COL. EDW. ANTILL TO PAYMASTER-GENERAL OF THE ARMY.

NEW YORK, July 17th, 1784.

Sir: Major Lloyd informs me you wished for an explanation relative to some charges in my public account against certain officers then belonging to the Regiment. I will take up that of Captain McConnel for instance (the others are in the same predicament). I advanced Captain McConnel for the recruiting service at different times as per receipts 1104 dollars, together with twenty dollars as per memorandum Book dated in Feb., 1777. The whole of these 1124 dollars were given him from the time he received his recruiting instructions in 76 to March, 77—In the beginning of March, 1777. I received a letter from Mr. R. Peters,* Secretary of war, dated Baltimore, Feb. 24, 1777, in the following words: “Sir, congress having received intelligence of the enemy’s being reinforced in New Jersey Very considerably it becomes absolutely necessary both for the preservation of the army under General Washington and to check the progress of a cruel and remorseless enemy that he be joined immediately by all the forces that can possibly be procured. You have the resolve of Congress on that head inclosed by Direction of the Board of War with which they request you will instantly comply by sending all the men raised in your Regiment. Let them bring what Arms Blankets and clothes they have or can by any means obtain and the deficiency will be supplied at

* Richard Peters, a prominent jurist and agriculturist, was born at Blockley, near Philadelphia, August 22, 1744, and died there August 21, 1828. Lanman says 1824.

He spoke German fluently and was noted for his wit and humor. He achieved some success in the legal profession. At the opening of the Revolution he became a captain of a company of volunteers. This position, however, he held but a short time, when he was assigned by Congress to the Board of War, of which he was made Secretary, from June 13, 1776, to Dec., 1781. He was a member of Congress in 1782–3. From 1789 to the time of his death he was a Federal Judge in Pennsylvania.

Philadelphia or Head Quarters. Let nothing delay your immediate march either by companies or parts of companies as you can get them together as the safety of our country much depends on the exertions of its army at this trying period and it is hoped no care or pains of yours will be wanting when all we hold dear and valuable demands them. Signed Richard Peters Secry." Upon receipt of this letter anxious to comply with its contents, and unable to remove the troops without a considerable sum of money, they having received neither pay or subsistence since engaged, many of them in Nov. and Dec., 1776, I procured a loan from Lowman and Hubley of 6,000 Dollars, and from Mr. Atlee of 4,000 Dollars, 14th of March or thereabout, for which I gave them my Draughts on Congress, which were accepted, and for which sum I stand charged on the same day being hurried thro' my wish to meet the requests of Congress and not having time to take Receipts I began to pay out this money, and as I paid it Entered it in my book, I was obliged to received the money from those Gentlemen in such as they had, and I paid to Capt. McConnel that Day.

1,000 making in the whole.

Thus stands the matter as to this charge, and I am ready and willing to give you or Capt. McConnel any further light in the business in my power. The entry in my book is fair and clear, and I am willing to sware to the best of my knowledge and belief to its Justice.

I am with regard,

Your Very Humble Servant,

EDW. ANTILL.

The foregoing letter was addressed to John Pierce,* Paymaster-General, Philadelphia, and seems to be post-marked New York, August 1st.

Lieutenant-Colonel Edward Antill was an officer in the 2d Canadian (known also as "Congress Own") regiment, from the 22d of January, 1776, to the first of January, 1783. He was captured during his time of service, but was exchanged November 2, 1780. His retirement from the army occurred January 1, 1783.

The other field officers of his regiment in the order of service were:

Colonel Moses Hazen, January 22, 1776, to January 1, 1783.

Major John Taylor, Nov. 13, 1776, to _____.

Major Joseph Torrey, Jan. 9, 1777, to _____.

Major Tarlton Woodson, May 1, 1777, to March 1, 1782.

Major James R. Reid, Sept. 1, 1777, to _____.

Major Anthony Slin, _____ to Jan. 1, 1783.

A. DUNCOMB TO JOS. HOWELL, ESQ.

RICHMOND, March 27, 1791.

Dear Sir: I suppose if I were to write you a letter in which you would be told that fate, fortune, or something, or somebody else has left, or given, or put in the power of you to command a good chew of Tobacco, that you would be attentive to give me thanks for the information. Why I thus write and why the real cause judge you? upon looking over my files I can boast of receiving one letter from you since my arrival at this place, but it is equal with other great men who have not given me more—enough. Will you look into the return of Posey's Detachment? and there you will find that Capt. Scott was only settled for up to the rank of the commencement of his account—this happened in consequence of his having been Mustered on Command, which not being fully explained to me at the time the agent made the claim for all pay due the Detachment, remained to be settled thereafter, and various are the instances of after-settlements. to this and other matters let me call your serious attention. if you will examine thoroughly, you will find that I have lodged many accounts with you that remain as yet unsettled and which are the sources of disagreeable and fruitless applications. pray have all closed that can be and inform those that cannot, and give me a power of satisfying the minds and wishes of the needy and the concerned, for I am almost daily applied to on one score or the other. Subsistence, Pay, &c., are the themes.

* John Pierce, from Connecticut, was an Assistant Paymaster-General in the Continental army during the early part of the Revolution. He is reported, June 1, 1779, Deputy Paymaster-General; and on January 17, 1781, Paymaster-General. He died in New York about August, 1788.

In haste yours,

[Signed] A. DUNCOMB.

JOS. HOWELL, ESQR.,

Acting Pay Master General,

Philadelphia, Pa.

[COPY.]

Thomas Posey was born on the Potomac river, in Fairfax Co., Va., July 9, 1750, and died in Shawneetow, Ill., March 19, 1818. His education was acquired in the common schools. At the age of nineteen he removed to what is now West Virginia.

As quarter-master in Colonel Andrew Lewis's command, he participated in the defeat of the Indians at Point Pleasant, October 10, 1774, during Dunmore's War. The following year he was commissioned captain in the 7th Virginia Continental regiment, and was present at the defeat of Lord Dunmore, July 8, 1776.

During the remainder of the war he served in New Jersey with Daniel Morgan and Horatio Gates.

The war having closed, he settled in Spottsylvania county, Va., and was made colonel of the county militia. In 1793 he was commissioned a brigadier-general and assigned to duty under Wayne in the Northwest. He resigned Feb. 28, 1794, and located in Kentucky, where he served a term in the State Senate. He was finally made major-general and assigned to the organization of state troops. Having removed to Louisiana, he served, by appointment, as U. S. Senator in 1812-13. Subsequently, he acted as governor of Indiana Territory to the date of its admission as a state.

His life was active and productive, the legitimate results of innate ability. In his sphere he was the equal of any of his contemporaries.

NEWMAN FAMILY OF VIRGINIA.

THE family name Newman is of the same origin as that of Newcome—"stranger newly arrived." It was originally spelled Nieuweman; Latinized, Novus Homo. (See Patronymica Britannica, by Mark Antony Lower, page 237.) The original spelling would seem to indicate an Anglo-Saxon origin.

Among the members of the family who came to Virginia and left their impress upon the early history of the colony were Robert, William, John, and Thomas Newman. They were, doubtless, relatives of John Newman, grocer, a member of the London Virginia Company in 1609, and in all probability came to Virginia at his suggestion in order to better their fortunes. Their descendants are now scattered throughout the South and West; many of them are prominent in the walks of social and business life.

First. Robert Newman arrived in Virginia in the ship "Furtherance," in 1618, aged 19 years. He was living in Elizabeth City county in 1624. On May 11, 1635, he obtained a patent for 450 acres of land, which he afterwards assigned to Richard Bennett. (See William and Mary College Quarterly, Vol. 9, page 139.) This is the earliest patent granted to any one of the name of which the compiler has record.

Robert Newman undoubtedly married and left, with other children, two sons, William and John. William was living in York county in 1698. (See William and Mary Quarterly, Vol. 4, page 250.) It is believed that he married and was the father of John, who in 1709 was "summoned to answer a presentment of the grand jury against him for absenting himself from Divine Service." (York county records.)

Second. John Newman, second son of Robert, married Ruth Taberer, daughter of Thomas, of Isle of Wight county. The will of Thomas Taberer, dated Jan. 14, 1692, and proven in 1699, refers to his "son" John Newman, and his grandchildren, Thomas and Isabella Newman, to whom he leaves Basses' Choice. John Newman died about 1700; his will, bearing date Dec. 11, 1695, was proven in Isle of Wight county in 1700. In it he refers to his wife Ruth, and to his two children as son Thomas and daughter Isabella.

Second. William Newman, aged 35 years, arrived in 1622, in the ship "Furtherance" (Vol. 7, William and Mary Quarterly, page 218), and settled in Isle of Wight county, where, on Aug. 26, 1643, he was granted a patent for 550 acres of land, situated "Northerly towards the Sunken marsh, Easterly upon a swamp, Southerly towards the lower Chipokes Creek." (See William and Mary College Quarterly, Vol. 9, page 144.)

In 1648, Sept. 25, George Codd confessed a judgment in favor of William Newman for 500 lbs. of tobacco, with costs, &c., York county, Virginia.

In 1658 "William Newman, as security for Gyles Thurloe, confesseth judgement to Capt. Gyles Brent for eighteen hundred pounds of sweet-scented tobacco and caske, which is ordered to be paid, with costs, &c.," York county, Virginia.

In 1662 William Newman served as a juror at an inquest over the body of a woman "accidentally shot by the glance of a ball intended for a wild beast." Whether he was William Sr. or William Jr., son of Robert, who was living in York county in 1698, or what relation existed between the two, the writer is not informed. (See William and Mary College Quarterly, Vol. 4, page 250.)

[The will of William Newman, Sr.; dated Jan. 20, 1669, was proven in York county court, July 25, 1670, leaving his wife Priscilla executrix; from the will we infer he left no issue, his wife having been a widow at their marriage, with an only daughter Joan, who married Lawrence of Compton-Chamberlin, in Wiltshire, England.

Third. John Newman, aged 24 years, emigrated to Virginia in 1635 in the ship "Globe," and is believed to be the same John for whose transportation Capt. William Pearce was granted 50 acres of land the same year. (See presently.)

Fourth. Thomas Newman, the brother of John, came to Virginia in 1635 in the ship "Plaine Joan," aged 15 years. (See later.)

First. John Newman, as we have seen, emigrated to Virginia in 1635, and settled in James City county, where on Apr. 1, 1644, Henry Thompson assigned to him one hundred and fifty acres of land, situated upon "Smith's Fort Creek, joining the lands of John Buckmaster, which was patented to the said Buckmaster, which patent was renewed to the said John Newman" in 1644; here he appears to have resided for about seven years, as between 1652 and 1677 he had acquired in the Northern Neck by letters patent, grant, and deeds, about 4000 acres of land, situated on both sides of Moratico Creek, in the present counties of Lancaster and Richmond. He resided near Tarplay's Point, then known as Moratico or Newman's Neck. He married, probably, a daughter of Paul Woodbridge (about 1655), in the then Rappahannock county. Issue: three children of whom we have record. His wife died before 1677, as she is not referred to in the will of her husband, who died during that year. His will proven at Tappahannock court house, Rappahannock county, shows him to have been a man of wealth, and refers to his children in the following order:

1. Alexander, "my oldest son," barely of age in 1677.
2. Samuel, a minor in 1677.
3. John, a minor in 1677.

SECOND GENERATION.

First. Alexander Newman, 1st of John and his wife, nee Woodbridge, born about 1656, the same as "Captain Alexander" of the Richmond county records, married Elizabeth ———, who was, probably, a kinswoman of the Brockenbroughs. He was a member of the House of Burgesses in 1694, from Richmond county, and but for his death at the early age of 42, would probably have achieved much distinction. His will, proven in 1698, in Richmond county, is lost with will book 1, but the records that have been preserved show that he left his property to his cousin, Thomas Newman, and to William Dunn; that he was a wealthy man of much local prominence; and that he inherited his father's passion for acquiring land. He left no issue.

Second. Samuel Newman, 2d of John and his wife, nee Woodbridge, born about 1658, married ——— ———, received his portion of his father's estate in tobacco, the money of those days. In 1687 he was granted 559 acres of land in Henrico county, and in 1690, 292 acres in the same county. The date of his marriage, the name of his wife, and the dates of their death are unknown to the writer; lack of time has prevented a more thorough investigation of the records as to him and his family; it is, however, certain that of his children there were the following sons:

1. Samuel, } (See later.)
2. Jonathan, }

Third. John Newman, the third son and youngest child of John, the immigrant, and his wife, ———, nee Woodbridge, born ———, was a minor in 1679, as shown by a deed of his brother Alexander Newman to Paul Woodbridge, his guardian; is not mentioned in the records of old Rappahannock, Essex or Richmond counties after 1679; but the records of Lancaster county show that the land acquired by him under the will of his father was disposed of soon after he attained his majority. He is believed to have settled in Maryland, and to be the John Newman who was the progenitor of the Maryland branch of the family.*

* For his descendants, see manuscript notes by the Publisher.

THIRD GENERATION.

First. Samuel Newman, 1st of Samuel, of John, the immigrant, settled in the western portion of Spottsylvania county, and in 1748 he was administrator of the estate of his brother Jonathan, who died a resident of Augusta county. (See liber ———, Augusta county; also, Liber 1, folios 100 and 220, Shenandoah county, Va.). In August, 1757, Samuel obtained a patent for 210 acres of land in Augusta county; he appears to have removed to Frederick county, and after the organization of Shenandoah he was a resident of said county. (No further record.)

Second. Jonathan Newman, 2d of Samuel, of John the immigrant, born in Lower Virginia, settled in Augusta county, where he married, ———, Mary ———. Issue, two children:

1. John.
2. Walter.

Jonathan Newman died before Feb. 20, 1748, and after the settlement of his estate by his brother Samuel, his widow, with her two minor children, removed to Frederick county, now Shenandoah, where she married Mr. States, and where she was living in 1779. The records of Shenandoah county do not disclose any further information concerning her or her second husband.

FOURTH GENERATION.

First. John Newman, 1st of Jonathan and Mary, born in Augusta county; m. Hannah ———. No further record.

FOURTH GENERATION.

Second. Walter Newman, 2d of Jonathan and Mary, born in Augusta county, Va. After the death of his father removed, with his mother and uncle Samuel, to what is now Shenandoah county. He was a soldier in Dunmore's war and a large planter. Married Catherine ———. Issue, ten children:

1. John, (See later.)
2. Jonathan, b. ———; was living in 1818. No further [record.
3. Mary, b. ———; married Daniel Moffett, born Jan. 20, 1765, son of John Moffett. She received £100 by the will of her father.
4. Elizabeth, b. ———; married Zachariah Hay. Received £100 by the will of her father.
5. Catherine, b. ———; married Bernard Peel. Received £100 by the will of her father.
6. Samuel, (See later.)
7. Ann, b. ———. Received £100 by the will of her
8. Walter, (See later.) [father.
9. Lydia, b. ———; married Benjamin Huff. Received £100 by the will of her father.
10. Margaret, b. ———; married Martin Ruffner. Received £100 by the will of her father.

Walter Newman, Sr., died in 1815. (Liber J, folio 391, Woodstock court house, Shenandoah county.) His sons, John and Samuel, were executors of his will. On Jan. 20, 1818, they made final settlement or division of the estate with his ten children, at which date all were living.

FIFTH GENERATION.

First. John Newman, 1st of Walter and Catherine, born in Shenandoah county, Va.; a member of the Virginia Senate for four years; married Mary ———. Issue, eight children:

1. Joseph M. In 1836, the date of their father's will, Joseph and George were students of medicine at Orange Court House.
2. George.
3. Walter.
4. Catherine. Married Williams, a resident of Orange
5. Frances. [county.

6. Sarah Ann.
7. Phoebe Ann.
8. John S.

John Newman died Aug., 1839. His will, bearing date Nov. 7, 1836, proven Aug. 12, 1839, is recorded in Liber V, folio 45, Woodstock court house, Shenandoah county. His wife Mary was executrix; brother Samuel and sister Ann witnesses to the will.

Sixth. Samuel Newman, 3d son and 6th child of Walter and Catherine, born March 2, 1779; married, Jan. 2, 1806, Mary Moffett, born Feb. 9, 1782, daughter of the Rev. Anderson Moffett. Issue, seven children. (From family record.)

1. Catherine, b. Oct. 20, 1806. (See later.)
2. John, b. Sept. 25, 1808; m. Ethalinda Tilden, Apr. 30, 1839; d. June 29, 1869.
3. Anderson, b. Nov. 5, 1810; m. Rebecca Dyer, Apr. 14, 1835; died Mar. 29, 1900.
4. Elizabeth, b. Jan. 3, 1813; m. John Moffett, Jan. 24, 1844; died June 11, 1845.
5. Margaret, b. Mar. 17, 1815; m. Corydon K. Moore, Jan. 26, 1841; died Feb. 25, 1895.
6. Walter, b. Apr. 6, 1817; m. Caroline H. Rice, Dec. 6, 1842; died Feb. 15, 1899.
7. Barbara Ann, b. July 14, 1819. No further record.

Samuel Newman died Aug., 1869. His will bearing date Dec. 26, 1833, proven Aug. 13, 1869, is recorded in liber 14, folio 50, at Woodstock court house, Shenandoah county; he left his wife Mary and six children surviving, the wife receiving her legal portion, the remainder of the estate divided equally between the children.

SIXTH GENERATION.

First. Catherine Newman, 1st of Samuel and Mary, nee

Moffett, born Oct. 20, 1806. She married 1829, Jacob Sommers, born June 29, 1799. Three children :

1. Samuel Matthews, b. Dec. 27, 1829.
2. George Anderson, b. Jan. 23, 1832.
3. Mary Regina, b. May 27, 1834.

SEVENTH GENERATION.

Third. Mary Regina Sommers, 3d of Jacob and Catherine, nee Newman, born May 27, 1834, married Oct. 25, 1856, Samuel T. Walker, of Shenandoah county. Two children :

1. Luther Sommers, b. Aug. 6, 1857.
2. Robert Jacob, b. Aug. 9, 1859.

Samuel T. Walker, Colonel of the 10th Virginia Regiment, C. S. A., was killed in battle at Chancellorsville, May 3, 1863.

EIGHTH GENERATION.

First. Luther Sommers Walker, 1st of Col. Samuel T. and Mary Regina, nee Sommers, born in Shenandoah county, Aug. 5, 1857; married Oct. 21, 1884, Annie Howard Haas. Two children :

1. Arline, b. Mar. 29, 1887.
2. Luther Sommers, b. Nov. 21, 1888.

Mr. Luther S. Walker resides on his farm about two miles from Woodstock; for a number of years he has been clerk of the courts for Shenandoah county, and we are indebted to him for much valuable information concerning his family.

SIXTH GENERATION.

Sixth. Walter, 6th child and 3d son of Samuel and Mary, nee Moffett, born April 16, 1817; married Dec. 6, 1842, Caroline H. Rice; died Feb. 15, 1899, leaving among other children a son John W., born Apr. 15, 1845.

SEVENTH GENERATION.

John W. Newman, second child of Walter and Caroline H., nee Rice, born April 15, 1845; m. Elizabeth S. Murphy, of Jefferson county, West Virginia, Dec. 4, 1869. Nine children:

FIFTH GENERATION.

Eighth. Walter Newman, 4th son and 8th child of Walter and Catherine, born in Shenandoah county; m. 1822, ———. Four children:

1. Benjamin P., b. Jan. 24, 1823.
2. Sarah, b.
3. Ann R., b.
4. Henrietta C., b.

Walter Newman died 1868. His will, dated June 8, 1847, was proven March 9, 1868. (Liber 13, folio 170, Woodstock court house, Shenandoah county.) In it reference is made to his wife as living, but she is not named. His son Benjamin P. is named as executor, and empowered to manage the farm and care for the family.

SIXTH GENERATION.

First. Benjamin P. Newman, son of Walter and ———, his wife, born Jan. 24, 1823 ; married May 6, 1851, Elizabeth Hickerman. Three children :

1. Walter Hickerman, b. July 17, 1852 ; m. Sally Bird Stephenson, June 9, 1890.
2. Edgar Douglass, b. Mar. 26, 1854 ; m. Mary O. Walton, Dec. 20, 1877.
3. Caroline Mary, b. July 25, 1862 ; m. Mark B. Wunder, Oct. 18, 1883.

II. THOMAS NEWMAN.

Thomas Newman, born in England about 1620, emigrated to Virginia in the ship "Plaine Joan" in 1635, aged 15 years ; probably settled with his brother John in James City county, Virginia, and moved with him to the Northern Neck. His name, however, does not appear upon any record until 1677, when he made a deed to his son Thomas, conveying one-half of his real and personal property to the latter, who was about to be married. This deed, of record at Tappahannock, Virginia, is attested by Philip Pendleton. The immigrant Thomas probably married a daughter of Henry Burdett, Sr., whose will, proven in 1695, in Richmond county, is now lost with Will Book 1 ; but the remaining records prove that he was executor of, and a devisee under the will. He died intestate, about the beginning of the year 1700, and his personal estate was appraised at 16,577 pounds of tobacco. He probably had daughters ; the wives of Avery Naylor, John McMelion (McMillan ?), and Frances, wife of John Wilson, may have been among these. He certainly had but one son, Thomas, born probably before 1656, and after the removal of his father to what is now Richmond county.

SECOND GENERATION.

Thomas Newman, Jr., only son of Thomas the immigrant, born in Virginia, is frequently mentioned in the records of Richmond county, and by will and descent acquired nearly all the Newman property in the Northern Neck. He conveyed Moratico to John Tarplay in 1700, and the deed shows that he lived in Littenbourne (Littenbourne parish), probably on the place given him by his father, and recites that the lands conveyed were given him by Capt. Alexander Newman, in his last will and testament. As, at the time of the latter's death, there were three Thomas Newmans in Richmond county, to-wit: the immigrant, his son and grandson, Tarplay instituted an inquiry, in 1711, to ascertain who was the Thomas to whom Capt. Alexander Newman devised Moratico. This inquiry is of record at Warsaw and contains the testimony of Capt. Wm. Woodbridge, Wm. Fitzherbert, Dominick Benneham, Mrs. Winnifred Griffin, and George Glasscock. The first testified that he had often heard Capt. Newman say that "if he died without issue he would give the plantation where he then lived to Thomas Newman, because it should not go out of the name of Newman," and that he was "that Thomas Newman who was reputed to have married the daughter of Mr. Elias Wilson, deceased." Fitzherbert testified similarly, but changed the Captain's language so as to make him declare that he would give the land to Thomas "to bear up the name of Newman," and identified him as "the son of Thomas Newman, who lived across Rappahannock Creek." He died between 1704 and 1707, and left issue:

1. Alexander, born 1678.
2. George, } evidently twins, born 1681, as both were minors
3. John, } in 1701 and of age in 1702.
4. Thomas, a minor in 1707.

THIRD GENERATION.

First. Alexander Newman, 1st of Thomas, Jr., bought a large tract of land in 1699, in Lancaster county, formerly owned by John Newman, the immigrant, and by him devised to his son John; upon this he built a stone mill which is still standing; so says the clerk of the county Court. Alexander appears to have resided in Lancaster until about 1735, when, as "Alexander Newman, of St. Mark's Parish," he leased a tract of land in Orange county, on the south side of the Rapidan, of Alexander Spottswood, "for three lives, himself and his sons, Thomas and James." There is of record at Warsaw a deed, dated 1737, from "Alexander Newman of Orange County, Planter," to Landon Carter, conveying the tract of land devised by Henry Burdett, the elder, to Thomas Newman, and the court order showing the acknowledgment of the deed recites that Alexander was the heir at law of Thomas. Upon this tract Carter built his famous home, Sabine Hall; at the time of the sale it seems to have been adversely held by Jane Thomas. Possibly the suit of Alexander Newman vs. Humphrey Thomas, abated by the latter's death in 1732, concerned this land.

Alexander Newman was a member of the grand jury of Orange county in 1737, and is mentioned in several suits there, the last as late as 1760. He undoubtedly lived in what is now Culpeper county, and probably died soon after 1760. Between 1740 and 1750 he was engaged in a law suit in Richmond county with his wife Penelope, from whom he had separated. She obtained, finally, a judgment against him for maintenance and support; and Elias Wilson, evidently a kinsman, acknowledged himself surety for the payment of the money. The records disclose the names of three of his sons, viz :

1. Elias.
2. Thomas.
3. James, all probably born between 1705 and 1715.

FOURTH GENERATION.

First. Elias Newman, 1st of Alexander, died in Essex county; his will, of record at Tappahannock, Virginia, was proven in 1750, and names his wife Ann and the following children :

1. Thomas, the oldest child, a minor in 1748, of age in 1752.

2. Elias, d. in 1759; unmarried. His will proven at
3. Reuben. [Tappahannock court house.
4. James.
5. Alexander.
6. Mary Ann.
7. William.
8. George, born 1747. (See his pension application.)

FIFTH GENERATION.

First. Thomas Newman, 1st of Elias and Ann, settled in Prince William county, where he was a planter, and died in 1777. His will is lost, but the remaining records show that his wife's name was Elizabeth and that he had at least two sons :

1. Thomas, b. _____.
2. Richard, b. _____.

SIXTH GENERATION.

First. Thomas Newman, 1st of Thomas and Elizabeth, of Prince William county, acquired a large estate. Among other lands, he disposed of 3,000 acres in Tennessee by his will, which was proven April 2, 1821. He married Nellie Jett, daughter of William, of Prince William county. Nine children are named in his will :

1. Elias.
2. Thomas Jett.
3. William Jett. (See later.)
4. Elizabeth, wife of _____ Hereford.
5. Mary, wife of _____ Spindel.
6. Sarah, wife of James Brown, of Frederick county.
7. Catherine Newton, unmarried. (See later.)
8. Peggy.
9. Eleanor.

[He appointed his brother Richard, and sons Elias, Thomas, and William, executors of his will, which is attested by one Edward Newman, whose relationship is not given.]

SEVENTH GENERATION.

Third. William Jett Newman, 3d of Thomas and Nellie, nee Jett, was born in Prince William county, where he died in 1824. His will, proven at Manassas, Sept. 6, 1824, mentions wife Mary and a son not named, and is witnessed by Thomas J., Thomas E. and Mortimer J. Newman. The two latter were probably his nephews.

Seventh. Catharine Newton Newman, 7th of Thomas and Nellie, nee Jett, died 1855. Her will, proven at Manassas Aug. 6, 1855, mentions her brother-in-law, Christopher Cushing, and his wife Eleanor, nephews Crawford, Henry, Charles L. and Thomas N. Cushing, and nieces Herleby J. Newman and Margaret Ann Benson.

SIXTH GENERATION.

Second. Richard Newman, 2d of Thomas and Elizabeth, of Prince William county, married Delilah Lane about 1787. He lived near the line of Fauquier in Prince William county, and was probably the father of Horace, Sheriff of Fauquier county in 1824. No further record.

FIFTH GENERATION.

Third. Reuben Newman, 3d of Elias and Ann, disappears from the records of Essex county about 1765, and is believed to have settled in Prince William county, with his brother Thomas and cousin John, of Richmond. Owing to a partial loss of the records of Prince William county nothing further is known of him.

Fourth. James Newman, 4th of Elias and Ann, settled in Orange county about 1765, where he was an exceedingly prosperous planter. He is spoken of in the records as "of Bloomfield and Burlington." He married Veranda Noel, of Essex county, and died in Orange county in 1816, where his will was proven the same year. Issue, six children :

John Newman married, third, Mildred Waugh; no issue; he died in 1869, in Orange county, where his will was proven the same year.

Jane Daniel, wife of George Quisenberry and mother of the two Mdms. John Newman, was the daughter of Vivien Daniel, but is omitted in Hayden's list of Vivian's children; unfortunately no direct evidence is of record, but the relationship is asserted by Jane's descendants, and is confirmed by the facts that Vivian Daniel was surety on the bond, given in 1783, by George Quisenberry in Orange county for his intermarriage with Jane Daniel, and that the will of Vivian's brother, John Daniel, made in 1785, and proven in Louisa county, is attested by Vivian Daniel, George Quisenberry, Jane Quisenberry and Margaret Daniel. It is also noted that Jane named her first born Vivian, for her father, and her youngest Elizabeth, for her mother. See "Memorials of the Quisenberry Family," by A. C. Quisenberry.

SEVENTH GENERATION.

Third. Reuben Newman, 3d of John and Sidna, nee Quisenberry, born 1809, married ———, Mary Clark, sister of Stokely Clark, who married Susan, sister of Reuben Newman. Mary Clark was a daughter of Henry Towles Clark, of Orange county, and his wife Elizabeth, nee Smith, of Culpeper.

He married, Nov. 10, 1863, Mrs. Elizabeth Coate, nee Boroughs, widow of Judge Henley W. Coate, of Alabama. She is the daughter of Thomas Boroughs and his wife, Rebecca Kimbell Morriss, both of North Carolina. Thomas was a son of Bryan Boroughs and his wife, Sally Waddell, both North Carolinians. Bryan was a son of James Boroughs and his wife, ——— Bryan, both Virginians, who moved to North Carolina. James was a son of Zachariah Boroughs, of Virginia. The name Boroughs is frequently misspelled, the most common variant being Burroughs. Rebecca Kimbell Morriss was a daughter of John Morriss and his wife, Elizabeth Lee Armistead; for her descent, see the genealogy of the Armistead family, by President Tyler, in the William and Mary Quarterly. The children of James Addison Newman and Elizabeth (Coate), nee Boroughs, were three:

1. William Boroughs, b. May 30, 1866.

In 1798 "James, son of Fannie, of Orange," was apprenticed to learn carpenter's trade, in Orange county.

FIFTH GENERATION.

Second. Reuben Newman, 2d of Thomas, of Orange, and Elizabeth, nee Morton, and grandson of Alexander, born in Orange county, about 1742; died 1825, unmarried. From his will, dated Aug. 20, 1819, proven Aug. 27, 1825, recorded in Liber 6, folio 271, at Orange Court House, we infer he was what the world calls successful in business, as he left a large estate to Henry Hill, alias Henry Newman, and his wife.

Henry Hill, alias Newman, settled in the South, perhaps Mississippi, where he left a family of children. No further record.

Third. Abner Newman, 3d of Thomas, of Orange, and Elizabeth, nee Morton, and grandson of Alexander, born in Orange county in 1756; married Hester Mauzy, daughter of Henry and Ann, nee Withers, of Fauquier county, son of John and Hester, nee Foote, of Stafford county; son of Henry, Sr., the emigrant, and his wife, Miss Conger, daughter of Dr. Conger, of England. Henry Mauzy, Sr., a French Huguenot, fled from France in 1685; upon the revocation of the Edict of Nantes, escaped to England, where he married, and where his son Henry was born, about 1690; emigrated to Virginia between the year 1697 and 1700; settled in Stafford county, where he at once acquired about fifteen hundred acres of land. (See Mauzy Records, by Wm. F. Boogher.) Abner Newman lived in Culpeper, Fauquier and Shenandoah counties. He was pensioned as a private soldier April 9, 1824, as a resident of Shenandoah county, aged 68 years. (See report of Secretary of War of June, 1834, Pension Establishment of the U. S. for the State of Virginia, page 98.) Abner was sheriff for Shenandoah county. He appears to have removed from Fauquier about 1788, as in this year he records a deed of sale for all his lands in the county. Of the children of Abner Newman and Hester, nee Mauzy, but little is known; it is believed, however, that with others, William, who married Miss Tucker, in 1804, in Culpeper county; Alexander, who married Peggie Douglass, in 1806, in Rockingham county, and Abner, who married Eliza Cornaga, in 1824, in Culpeper county, were his sons. The dates of his death and that of his wife and children are unknown to the writer. After 1824 he probably removed to Rockingham county with his son Alexander, where he spent the remainder of his life; but owing to the partial destruction of the records of this county during the Civil War, no further mention has been found of him or his children.

FOURTH GENERATION.

Third. James Newman, 3d and youngest child of Alexander, of Orange, son of Thomas, Jr., son of Thomas the emigrant, born between 1705 and 1715; married ———; is believed to have had at least three sons and a daughter:

1. Thomas, b. ———.
2. Robert, b. ———.
3. James, b. ———.
4. Elizabeth, b. ———.

FIFTH GENERATION.

First. Thomas Newman, 1st of James, 3d of Alexander, settled perhaps in Berkeley county, Va., as in 1778 he recorded a deed at Martinsburg conveying certain lands to Elizabeth Newman, who was either his mother or sister. He was executor of his brother Robert's will, proven Sept. 27, 1819, in Hardy county, now West Virginia.

Second. Robert Newman, 2d of James, 3d of Alexander, of Orange, born ———; married, 1789, Elizabeth Latham, in Culpeper county. In January, 1816, he appears to have been in Alleghany county, Maryland. On Sept. 27, 1819, his will was proven in Hardy county. It was dated March 18, 1813, and is recorded in Liber 2 of Wills, folio 59. He left his wife Elizabeth all estate during her widowhood. His brother Thomas was executor and brother James one of the witnesses. From the sales of his personal estate, recorded in Liber 2, folio 305, he appears to have had two sons, Gadsby and Edgar, the latter a minor in 1820, and a daughter Nancy, also a minor.

SIXTH GENERATION.

Gadsby Newman, son of Robert and Elizabeth, nee Latham, born in Culpeper county; settled with his parents in Hardy county. On Sept. 3, 1824, he married Elizabeth Reed; died early in life. His estate was settled May 15, 1833, Liber 6, folio —, Hardy county records. No further record.

Second. Edgar Newman, 2d of Robert and Elizabeth, nee Latham, was living in Hardy county in 1833, as his name appears as a purchaser at the sale of his brother's personal estate. No further record.

FIFTH GENERATION.

Third. James Newman, 3d of James, 3d of Alexander, of Orange, born ———; married, ———, 1789, Mary Early, in Culpeper county; was living in Hardy county in 1813, where he witnessed the will of his brother Robert. Whether he was the same James who, with his wife Nancy, made a deed to lands in Culpeper in 1805 is not known.

THIRD GENERATION.

Second. George Newman, 2d of Thomas, Jr., son of Thomas the immigrant, born ———; married Elizabeth ———; died in Richmond county, Va., in 1734. His will was proven at Warsaw in 1734. Issue: one child, a daughter, Patience, born ———; married before 1733, John Ford. No further record.

Third. John Newman, 3d son of Thomas, Jr., and twin brother of George, married Eliza (probably) Burdett. The will of Henry Burdett, Jr., at Warsaw, proven in 1724, leaves his property to John Newman and his wife Eliza, Thomas Thornton and his wife Susanna, and Humphrey Thomas and his wife Jane; the relationship is not stated. John Newman died in 1759, intestate. Issue, three children:

1. George, b. ——— (a minor in 1733).
2. John, b. ———.
3. Thomas, b. ———.

FOURTH GENERATION.

First. George Newman, 1st of John and Eliza, nee Burdett, of Richmond county, where he was born ———; married ———. Five children:

1. George, b. ———.
2. Patty, b. ———.
3. Milley, b. ———; m. ——— Crewdson.
4. Jenny, b. ———.
5. Nancy, b. ———.

George Newman died in Richmond county, Va., where his will was proven in 1784.

FIFTH GENERATION.

First. George Newman, 1st of George, of Richmond county, born ———; married Alice ———. Three children: Joseph, Samuel, and grand-daughter Amelia, daughter of son George, are mentioned in his will, proven in Richmond county, Aug. 2, 1830. Of his four sisters nothing further is known.

FOURTH GENERATION.

Second. John Newman, 2d of John and Eliza, nee Burdett, of Richmond county, where he was born ———; married Elizabeth Deane, daughter of John, of Richmond county; moved to Prince William county about 1760. Owing to the partial destruction of the records of Prince William county during the Civil War, no satisfactory information of his descendants has been obtained.

Third. Thomas Newman, 3d of John and Eliza, nee Burdett, of Richmond county, where he was born ———; is believed to have moved to York county, where he was clerk of the courts and deputy sheriff after the Revolution. He is mentioned in the will of his brother George.

The Newman Genealogy is based upon facts in the possession of Mr. William B. Newman, of Talladega, Alabama, taken from family and various county records, liber and folio, as stated; also upon researches made by the compiler at his request. Mr. Newman intends preparing a genealogy of the descendants of John and Thomas Newman, Englishmen, and this sketch is inserted by his permission.

He will welcome any corrections, as well as new matter, and is especially anxious that dates be given, where possible, with as much biographical matter as can be had from the records, family Bibles, and other credible sources of information.

HISTORICAL AND GENEALOGICAL NOTES OF HUGH THOMAS, OF WESTMORELAND CO., VA.

Hugh Thomas, of Westmoreland county, Va., was born about 1663-4 in Charles county, Maryland. His father Hugh immigrated to the province of Maryland in the spring of 1661, as will appear from a demand made on the Lord Proprietor for lands by Robert Slye, June 18, 1661, for transporting the said Hugh Thomas. Liber 4, folio 555, Land office of Maryland.

April 19, 1666, Hugh Thomas, Sr., had assigned and patented to him 600 acres of land, called Rich Hill, on the west side of the Wicomico river, in Charles county, Md. See rent roll for said county, liber 1, folio 37, Land office, Md.; and on June 20, 1675, a patent for 83 acres, called Thomas's Addition to Rich Hill; April 14, 1681, 100 acres, called Fortune.

In Nov., 1681, Hugh Thomas was a member of the grand jury for Charles county, liber 1-8, folio 174.

About 1662-3 he married Ann ——— in Charles county; issue, three sons of whom we have record; Hugh born about 1663; John born 1664-5; and James about 1666.

On Nov. 13, 1684, Hugh Thomas, Sr., sold his Rich Hill plantation to John Harrison, Gentleman, of Charles county; consideration, 13,000 lbs. of Merchantable tobacco, his wife Ann joining in this deed, liber L, No. 1, folio 53, Charles county record. At this date his son John is possessed by deed of gift from his father of the 100 acres called Fortune; See Rent roll No. 2, folio 328 for said county.

Hugh Thomas died in 1688 in Charles county. See letters Testamentary, Provincial, Annapolis, Md.

His son, Hugh, Jr., the subject of this notice, was born as above stated, about 1663, and settled early in life in Cople Parish, Westmoreland county, Va., where he married Ann ———, and where he died in July, 1718, leaving his widow

Ann and two minor sons, Hugh and Daniel surviving. His will is dated Nov. 6, 1717; proven July 30, 1718; wife Ann, executrix, filed her inventory Sept. 8, 1718. In Sept., 1719, Mrs. Ann Thomas died intestate, as on Sept. 30, 1719, a commission was appointed to appraise her estate with her brother-in-law, John Thomas, as administrator. He reported the amount of appraisement to the court Dec. 16, 1719, and was appointed guardian of his two nephews, Hugh and Daniel, as per the will of their father.

THIRD GENERATION.

First. Hugh Thomas, 1st of Hugh, Gentleman, of Westmoreland county, Va., and Ann his wife, was born about 1705, in Cople Parish, where he married about 1730–5, Mary Carr, daughter of William. See will of William Carr, liber 3, folio 125, proven 1702, Westmoreland county record. Referring to his two infant children, Joseph and Mary, also a deed of gift of 100 acres of land by Joseph Carr for love and affection to his sister Mary, now wife of Hugh Thomas, dated June 12, 1735. See also deed to Hugh and Daniel Thomas for love and affection from their uncle James, dated June 30, 1735, in which they are called his nephews.

In 1744 Hugh Thomas and Mary, his wife, deeded the 100 acres received by gift from Joseph Carr to Daniel Tibbs; consideration, 9,000 lbs. of Merchantable tobacco, and 8 £ of Va. money. Mary Thomas, nee Carr, appears to have died about 1745–50, as her name does not occur in any deeds after 1744. Her husband, Hugh Thomas No. 3, remained a resident freeholder in Westmoreland county until 1764, this being the date of his last deed of record in that county. After this he settled with his uncle John and brother Daniel in Prince William county, where he is believed to have died; but owing to the partial destruction of the records of Prince William, there being neither will nor intestate to be found, the date of his death and the names of his children have not been ascertained.

Second. Daniel Thomas, 2d and youngest child of Hugh, Jr., and Ann, his wife, of Westmoreland county, born about 1706-7, married, in Westmoreland county, his first cousin, Catherine Thomas, daughter of his uncle James. See will of James Thomas.

March 11, 1728, he and his brother Hugh secured a warrant for 300 acres of land in Stafford county, and Nov. 16, 1731, for 667 acres in Prince William. These lands were subsequently divided between the brothers by order of court.

All their lands were, subsequent to 1742, in Fairfax county. As evidence that Daniel had settled in that county, it is shown by the records that as a free-holder he voted in 1744 for Capt. Lawrence Washington and Capt. Lewis Ellzey for the House of Burgesses. He continued to reside in this county up to 1757, his name appearing to that date as a successful plaintiff in a number of suits at law.

Early in 1757 he filed a suit in equity against his uncle John and wife Elizabeth; but when the suit was called in the autumn of the same year, the attorney for the defense reported both defendants as dead.

On March 12, 1757, Daniel Thomas sold to William Bayly, of Fairfax county, 333½ acres of land, his half of the 667 granted Nov. 16, 1731, to him and his brother Hugh. Liber A, folio 149, Fairfax county record.

April 15, 1763, account book of Fairfax county: An agreement between Daniel Thomas and William Bayly. This is the last entry of said Daniel Thomas in Fairfax county. He is believed to have removed to Prince William county, where again the loss of records prevents positive information of him or his descendants. The will of his wife's father, James, proven in 1742 in Westmoreland county, makes positive reference to his grandson, William Thomas, the son of his daughter Catherine. This William appears later to have figured in Prince William and Orange counties.

SECOND GENERATION.

Second. John Thomas, 2d of Hugh of Charles county, Md., and Ann, his wife, born about 1664–5, was a planter. He received by deeds of gift from his father 100 acres of land called Fortune, in Charles county, Md., where he doubtless married his first wife ———.

After the death of his parents in Md., and prior to 1717, he settled in Westmoreland county, Va., where he probably married Elizabeth, daughter of Nicholas Spencer, about 1718, as her brother John Spencer records a deed of gift for love and affection in 1718 to 50 acres of land with house and orchard, etc., to John Thomas and wife Elizabeth. It appears from the records that after settling up the estate of his brother Hugh as administrator de bonis non, and that of his widow Ann in 1719, he removed to that part of Stafford county, which after 1730 was Prince William, and after 1742 to Fairfax county, with his two wards, Hugh and Daniel Thomas, nephews, and sons of his brother Hugh. There he was the owner of several tracts of land. The last mention of him is in 1755 in the case of the suit by his nephew Daniel at Fairfax Court House previously referred to.

Third. James Thomas, 3d of Hugh, of Charles county, Md., and Ann, his wife, born about 1666–7; settled early in life in Westmoreland county, Va., where, after 1700, he married Sarah ———. From 1728 until his death in 1742 he was surveyor for Lord Fairfax and for the county of Westmoreland. He was possessed of a large landed estate: Sept. 17, 1705, a northern Neck deed for 729 acres in Richmond county; March 8, 1727, 1,728 acres in Stafford county; Oct. 30, 1728, 1,450 acres in Stafford county; Aug. 6, 1731, 1,504 acres in Prince William county. June 20, 1735, he records a deed of gift to his two nephews, Hugh and Daniel Thomas, on the Yeocomac river, in the parish of Cople, county of Westmoreland. He died November, 1742; his will, bearing date Feb. 10, 1742, was proven Dec. 1, 1742. In which he names his children in the following order: Sons—James, George, John; daughters—Winnifred Thomas, Elizabeth Thomas; his grandson William Thomas, the son of his daughter Catherine, wife of Daniel Thomas; daughter Hannah Thomas, daughter Sarah Jennings, to whom he leaves his lands, etc., and appoints his son John executor and residuary legatee, he to provide for his mother Sarah during the remainder of her life.

THIRD GENERATION.

First. James Thomas, 1st of James and Sarah, born in Westmoreland county, died in 1743. His estate personal was appraised at £12 11 shillings and 6 pence; settled in open court 1743. (See Court Docket, Westmoreland county.) In this account neither wife nor children are referred to.

Second. George Thomas, son of James and Sarah, born in Westmoreland county; married Eleanor ———; died in Prince William county January, 1781. His will, bearing date Jan. 1st, 1781, was proven Feb. 5, 1781. In it reference is made to three sisters: Elizabeth Latheram, Ann Winnifred, and Nancy Thomas, to whom he left legacies. To his wife Eleanor he bequeathed the bulk of his estate and appointed her executrix. (Liber G, folio 107, Prince William record.) The inventory of his estate was reported to the court at £13,985 10 shillings sterling money. From the verbiage of his will no information can be gathered as to his children.

Third. John Thomas, son of James, of Cople Parish, Westmoreland county, where he was born, received, by the will of his father, a large tract of land in Prince William county, known as the Sugar Lands. He also purchased several tracts, one from John Foster and wife in Prince William county; consideration £650⁵ Va. money. (Liber Z, folio 166.)

After 1742, the date of the formation of Fairfax county from Prince William, he became a freeholder of Fairfax county. On March 27, 1750, he recorded a deed for several negroes in favor of his mother Sarah ; consideration, £60 Virginia money. (Liber C, folio 6.) This is the last entry we find in Fairfax county of either John Thomas or his mother.

ADDENDUM.—Hugh Thomas, of Frederick county, Md., from whom descended Governor Francis Thomas, deceased, was in no wise, as has been claimed, a relative of Hugh Thomas, gentleman, of Westmoreland county, Va.

Governor Francis Thomas, deceased, was a descendant of a Hugh Thomas who was born in Pennsylvania, and who about 1733 settled in Prince George (later Frederick) county, Md.

The descendants of Hugh Thomas, of Frederick county, Md., will be treated in a similar volume devoted to Maryland.

HISTORICAL AND GENEALOGICAL NOTES OF WILLIAM CRAIG, OF AUGUSTA COUNTY, VIRGINIA, AND HIS DESCENDANTS.

According to a brief memoir of his family left by William Craig, of Mt. Meridian, Va., grandson and namesake of the immigrant, William Craig and Jean his wife, landed in America from the north of Ireland in the year 1721-22 with three sons, Robert, James and John. He first settled in Pennsylvania in what is now either Lancaster or Chester county, and thence removed with his family to Augusta county, Va.

The date of his removal is not definitely known. Robert, the eldest son, seems to have been the first of the family to leave Pennsylvania. His name appears in Captain John Smith's company of militia in Augusta in the year 1742. (See January number, 1901, Virginia Magazine of History & Biography.) The baptismal register of the Rev. John Craig, now in the library of Gen. John E. Roller, of Harrisonburg, Va., shows that John, son of Robert Craig, was baptized March 15, 1741, so that it may be fairly inferred that he removed to Augusta in the summer or fall of 1740. He will be mentioned again in the course of this sketch.

William Craig, the immigrant, and the rest of his family, are believed to have removed from Pennsylvania to Virginia in the year 1744. This is inferred from the fact that Sarah, daughter of James, second son of William, was born, according to Bible record, Feb. 1, 1743, and baptized by the Rev. John Craig, Oct. 21, 1744. It would seem that her baptism would have occurred at an earlier period had her father been in Augusta much prior to this date. In addition to this, James Craig did not take title to lands until Feb. 10, 1745, when Wm. Thompson conveyed to him 305 acres of land "lying in Augusta county, Va., on the northwest side of Middle River near Shenandoe." This deed is recorded in liber 1, page 30, of the Augusta county land records.

From these facts the inference may be drawn that Wm. Craig, his wife Jean, and his two sons, James and John, removed from their home in Pennsylvania to Augusta county, Va., in the spring or summer of 1744.

The land records at Richmond, Orange and Staunton, do not show any conveyances to Wm. Craig, yet by his will dated Feb. 21, 1756, and recorded at Staunton, Nov. 26, 1759, he devises two-fifths of his landed estate to his "dearly beloved wife Janet (diminutive for Jean), to do with as she chooses," and one-fifth of the remainder to each of his sons, Robert, James and John. Evidently his lands had been acquired by purchase and his deeds were not recorded, which was quite a common practice in the early settlement of the Valley.

But little is known of his life beyond the fact that he was a Scotch-Irish Covenanter Presbyterian. The tradition among his descendants is that he and his family aided in building the old Stone Church in Augusta, and for generations his posterity have been among the most devoted adherents of that historic congregation. He was born between the years 1685 and 1690, judging from the date of James's birth, which was in 1714-15. His wife Jean (or Janet) was evidently still living in 1759, but nothing is known of her further history nor of the date of her death. She was, beyond question, of the same race from which he sprung, and was doubtless a worthy helpmate of the man who was among the pioneer Scotch emigrants to America.

As to the children of William and Janet, his wife, and their descendants, full information is not in the possession of the writer, but enough is known to form the basis of future research.

1. The history of ROBERT and his descendants is almost entirely unknown to the other branches descending from William and Janet Craig. It was long believed that he had removed from Augusta county to the Holston river country about the year 1765, when a large number of persons went from Augusta to that section. There are many Craigs in that portion of Virginia, among whom Robert is a common baptismal name, and Craig county is named for a member of this family. But the will of a Robert Craig, who died in 1788, has recently been discovered at Staunton, and the description of his lands indicates that he lived in the same general neighborhood where John and James resided. He names his sons John and Robert, and daughters Ann and Rebecca. The will indicates that there were other sons and daughters, but he does not name them.

It is now believed that this Robert was the eldest son of William the immigrant, but nothing is definitely known of his descendants. There are Craigs living in various counties of West Virginia who trace their ancestry to Augusta county in an uncertain way, and it is highly probable that this branch are descendants of Robert, eldest son of William the immigrant.

2. JAMES, second son of William and Janet, was born in the latter part of 1714, or in 1715, probably the latter year, in the north of Ireland, and came as a mere boy with his parents to America in 1721-2. His Bible is now in the possession of the family of the late Rev. Dr. J. N. Craig, of Atlanta, Ga. The family record states that James Craig died Feb. 7, 1791, in his 76th year, and according to family tradition his death resulted from an accident at his mill on South river. He married Mary Laird, who died Feb. 20, 1785, in her 70th year. Her family were also among the pioneer settlers of Augusta.

As previously stated, James Craig acquired his first lands on Middle river, opposite the present village of Mount Meridian, and there he probably resided for some years. At a later period he removed to a tract of land on South river which he had acquired, and resided there until his death. A portion of this tract is now owned by Charles S. Patterson, his great-grandson, who lives where his ancestor died.

James Craig led a busy life among his pioneer Scotch-Irish neighbors. He built, at an early date, the flouring and saw-mill on South river, in which he finally met with the accident that caused his death. Some of his account books have been preserved, and the entries therein indicate that none of the business sagacity of his race was lacking in him. He acquired a large landed estate, by patent and purchase, lying in the forks of Middle and North rivers, on South river, and between Middle river and the last named stream.

He appears, from the courts-martial record now in the office of the Hustings court clerk of Staunton, to have been a private militiaman in Captain John Givens' company of militia during the entire period of the Revolutionary War. But he was far beyond military age when the Revolution began, and is not believed to have seen active service to any extent, if at all. His sons and daughters were given the best educations obtainable in Augusta at that period, and his memory is preserved among his great-grandchildren who still survive as a man of strong convictions as to the right or wrong of things and uncompromising in his opinions when formed with reference to any subject.

His children were :

1. Sarah, born Feb. 1, 1743, probably in Pennsylvania. Married, first, to Mr. Thorpe, of Augusta, and second to James Ely, having one son by each marriage. She removed to Kentucky shortly after her second marriage and settled in Lincoln county. Some of her descendants live in the vicinity of Frankfort, among them being Dr. James Ely, a prominent physician of that place.

A daughter of Jas. Ely and Sarah Craig, his wife, named Chloe, married her cousin, Harry Cowan, and had two sons, one of whom was named John. He was a graduate of Centre College, a lawyer by profession, a member of the Kentucky legislature, colonel of the 19th Kentucky volunteers (Union) in the Civil War, and was distinguished for gallantry. His first wife was Carrie Anderson, granddaughter of Governor Owsley, of Kentucky, and his second wife was Mrs. Davis; both dead; no issue.

The youngest son of Harry Cowan and Chloe Ely, his wife, is Dr. George Cowan, of Danville, Ky. He married, first, his cousin, Letitia Craig, who died young, leaving one son, Dr. Harry J. Cowan, of Danville, Ky., who was one of the finest surgeons and physicians of his state. He died in 1900, at the untimely age of 38, universally regretted by all who knew his worth as a man and skill in his chosen profession.

2. James, born July 23, 1745; married Jean Stuart, of Augusta. His will was probated June 22, 1807, at Staunton, and in it he names his wife, Jean, and the following children: John, James, Samuel, George, William, Elijah, Robert, Sarah, Betsy, Agnes, Jane and Mary, wife of John McGill. This James Craig, along with his brother William, inherited that portion of their father's estate which lay between the forks of Middle and North Rivers. He lived on the northwest side of the former stream, a short distance below Mount Meridian. Comparatively little is known at this time of his descendants, but most of them are believed to have gone west.

John, the eldest son, died in 1840 near Weyer's Cave, Augusta county, Va. If he left issue they are unknown to the writer.

Samuel, the third son of James, resided for many years at Craigville, in the western part of Augusta, and his descendants are still in that vicinity.

William, his fifth son, is believed to have married in Augusta, Elizabeth Mills, in 1804, and to have removed to Kentucky, where his descendants are probably to be found.

Elijah, the sixth son, removed to Richmond Virginia, and his descendants reside in that city and Manchester, Virginia.

Sarah married John C. Hamilton, of Christian's Creek, and the will of Jean Craig, nee Stuart, wife of this second James, which was probated in Augusta county, Va., January 27, 1817, refers to her daughter, Nancy Hamilton. This daughter is not specifically named in the will of her father, and it is probable that one of the daughters bore a double name, which was not mentioned by him in his will. Andrew Hamilton, of Christian's Creek, married this Nancy Craig, who was, beyond question, the daughter of James and Jean Stuart Craig. These Hamiltons were brothers and grandsons of the Rev. John Craig, the Pioneer Presbyterian minister of Augusta.

3. Samuel, born June 26, 1746, removed to Kentucky in 1778 or 1779, and acquired a large tract of land in the Hanging Fork of Dicks River, in Lincoln county. The name of his wife is not known to the writer. He had, among other children, a son named Samuel, who married Miss Gaines, daughter of Richard Gaines, of Lincoln county, Va., and a daughter who married a Masterson. Samuel Craig and his wife, Miss Gaines, had a large family of children, among them being Dr. John Craig, the most celebrated physician of his day in central Kentucky, and Richard Gaines Craig, a captain in the Mexican War. Samuel Craig, Sr., died Sept. 25, 1795.

4. John, born Nov. 21, 1747, and died on his 25th birthday, Nov. 21, 1772; unmarried.

5. George, was born Jan. 4, 1749, and died Nov. 26, 1801. He married, Dec. 16, 1790, Elizabeth Evans, of Augusta, who died April 29, 1801. George inherited the home place of his father on South River, directly opposite the railroad station known as Harriston, on the Norfolk & Western Railroad. The children of George Craig and Elizabeth Evans, his wife, who reached maturity were:

(a) James, who married a Miss Crawford, of Augusta, and removed to Missouri early in the nineteenth century. Three of his sons served as soldiers in the Confederate Army.

(b) Mary, married John A. Patterson, of Augusta, who was long a member of the county court of that county under the old system. Among their children are Messrs. Chas. S. Patterson, who married Miss Hopkins, of Rockingham, and resides at the old homestead of James Craig, Sr.; James A. Patterson, who married Miss Poague, sister of Mrs. Gen. James

A. Walker; and Benjamin G. Patterson, deceased, of Harrisonburg, Va., who served as a captain of cavalry in the Confederate Army, and as a member of the Virginia House of Delegates.

(c) Margaret, who married Samuel Patterson and lived a long and honored life in Augusta. Among her children were the late Samuel Patterson, of Fisherville, John A. Patterson, who resides in New Hope, Va., and Wm. Patterson, who was one of the most successful and prosperous business men of Augusta.

(d) George, youngest child of George Craig and Elizabeth Evans, his wife, was born April 29, 1801, at the old homestead of James Craig, senior, and died in Pocahontas county, West Virginia, Oct. 9, 1846. He married, in 1824, Matilda Guthrie, and had issue as follows:

(1) Margaret Ann, married Robert I. Crawford, and lived for many years in Louisville, Ky., where she died March 19, 1892, leaving issue as follows: George M., Newton G., Hugh Brown Craig, and Rev. Alexander W. Crawford.

(2) Caroline Elizabeth, married Mr. John W. Warwick, of Pocahontas county, West Virginia. Issue.

(3) John Newton Craig, a Presbyterian minister and Doctor of Divinity, chaplain in the Confederate army, and for many years secretary of the home mission work of the Southern Presbyterian Church. He spent the last years of his life in Atlanta, Ga., and died suddenly in the month of October, 1900, while addressing the Virginia Synod at Newport News, Va., in reference to the work under his charge. He married Miss Lydia Brevard Harris, of Cabarrus county, N. C. Her great-grandfather was Col. Robert Harris, a signer of the Mecklenburg Declaration of Independence, who lost an arm at Guilford Court House. Issue, who live in Atlanta, Ga.

(4) Hugh Brown Craig was born in 1837, and graduated from Washington College in 1858. He served as adjutant of Edgar's 26th Virginia Battalion in the Civil War. His command was placed on Gen. Lee's extreme right at the battle of Cold Harbor, June 3, 1864. In the assault made that day upon Gen. Lee, this portion of his line was temporarily broken and Adjutant Craig was killed with the battalion colors in his hand while rallying the men, the color guard having all been killed or wounded. He is buried at old Tinkling Spring Church, in Augusta.

6. William, was born Jan. 8, 1750, and died Sept. 8, 1829. He married, in 1778, Jean Anderson, daughter of John Anderson, who was among the first settlers of Augusta and a member of the first county court upon the organization of that county in 1745. John Anderson was also one of the first elders of the old Stone Church. Jean was born in 1744, and was baptized April 29th of that year by the Rev. John Craig, and died June 9, 1811. This William Craig, who preserved the record of his family mentioned previously, was a man of much solid worth and great integrity of character. He did not seek public position, although well qualified by education to take a leading part in the affairs of his county. He inherited one-half of his father's estate, which lay between the junction of Middle and North rivers, and his home was on the former stream, directly opposite the present village of Mount Meridian. A portion of his estate has been owned in more recent years by the late Robert S. Harnsberger. The records of the courts-martial of Augusta, previously referred to, show that William Craig served during the War of the Revolution as a private militiaman from 1778 to 1781, in the company of Captain John Givens, who lived on Middle river immediately adjoining his home. This company saw active service during the Revolution, especially in the year 1781, when it was marched to lower Virginia, and was in the battle of Jamestown. The courts-martial record referred to also shows that Captain Givens' company was ordered to rendezvous September 20, 1781, under Lieutenant-Colonel Samuel Vance, of Augusta. Palmer's Calendar of Virginia State Papers, volume 1, page 514, shows that Colonel Vance (incorrectly spelled Varn) was, on October 1, 1781, encamped four miles below Williamsburg, in lower Virginia. This command was then on its way to Yorktown, in the siege of which it participated.

George and James, Jr., brothers of William, were also soldiers in the same company, and it is fair to assume that all of them, being of military age, saw full service in the company to which they belonged.

Jean Anderson, the wife of William Craig, was the widow Allen when she married him, her first husband, Lieutenant Hugh Allen, having been killed in the Indian battle of Point Pleasant in 1774. By her first marriage she had three sons, John, William and Hugh Allen, who removed to Kentucky in 1784 with their kinspeople, the Trimbles and others, and their descendants are numerous in that State to this day.

The children of William Craig and Jean Anderson were (four):

(1) Jean, born April 17, 1779, and died June 6, 1850. She married, June 25, 1799, James Patterson, of South River, born Sept. 18, 1772, and died Dec. 29, 1845. Issue, ten children, as follows:

Anne, born March 28, 1800; died in infancy; Nancy, born Nov. 7, 1802; Jean, born March 15, 1805; William, born July 3, 1807; Martha Allen, born Dec. 26, 1809; Margaret, born April 14, 1812; James, born July 11, 1814; John, born Jan. 12, 1816; Mary, born August 20, 1819; and Samuel, born August 18, 1821. The descendants of James and Jean Craig Patterson are numerous in Augusta and Rockingham counties, Virginia, while some are to be found in the West.

(2) James, born April 17, 1781; died March 27, 1863; married, first, his cousin, Susan Bell, daughter of Major Wm. Bell, of Augusta. One child of this marriage reached maturity, the late Jos. Davis Craig, of Mount Meridian, who was a member of the county court of Augusta under the old system, and later a member of the Virginia House of Delegates. His wife was Elizabeth Walker, daughter of Alexander Walker, of Mt. Meridian, and sister of Gen. James A. Walker, commander of the Stonewall Brigade during the Civil War. Two sons were born to Jos. D. and Elizabeth Walker Craig, his wife; James Alexander, who married Susan Kemper Butler and represented Rockbridge county for several consecutive terms in the Virginia House of Delegates, and Wm. Bell, who married a Miss Brownlee and died without issue.

James Craig married, second, Sept. 29, 1825, Martha Burton, born May 31, 1794, and died Jan. 1, 1851. She was the daughter of May Burton, Jr., of Orange county, Va., captain in the war of the Revolution, lay reader of old Orange Episcopal Church for many years, and member of the county court of Orange, and high sheriff of the county in 1810–12. May Burton, Jr., married Sarah Head, daughter of Benjamin Head, of Orange, who was likewise a captain in the Revolution. The following children were born to James and Martha (Burton) Craig:

1. May Burton, born Oct. 7, 1826; died in Los Angeles, Cal., in 1901. Married, first, Martha Jane McCue, Oct. 25, 1848, daughter of Col. Franklin McCue, of Augusta county, Va. Issue, Franklin McCue, born Jan. 24, 1856; died July 17, 1856. He married, second, Susan Smith Lewis, daughter of Major W. H. Lewis, born June 19, 1837. Issue as follows:

(a) Martha May, born Dec. 16, 1860; married Robert Craig Borthwick, Aug. 16, 1882; died Oct. 19, 1885.

(b) Margaret Lewis, born July 18, 1862; married March 24, 1897, Charles H. Fisk.

(c) Elizabeth Lewis, born Jan. 1, 1865; died Sept. 8, 1865.

(d) Bessie Bell, born July 26, 1866; married Feb. 27, 1886, O. L. Boring.

(e) Virginia Estill, born July 6, 1869; married Nov. 11, 1896, Allen A. Irish.

(f) Lee, born Sept. 14, 1871; married June 24, 1896, Fannie Neal.

(g) William Lewis, born May 5, 1873.

(h) James Burton, born Nov. 18, 1875.

(i) A son or daughter, name unknown.

2. Benjamin James, married Elizabeth McChesney, of Rockbridge county, Va. Issue, five children, as follows:

(a) George McChesney, married Miss Johnson, of Florida, and resides near Waynesboro, Va. (1902), and has issue.

(b) Martha Burton, married, 1901, Mr. Moffett, of Shenandoah county, Va.

(c) James, married Miss Loth, of Waynesboro, Va., 1900, and resides at that place.

(d) Evelyn, married Rev. Alexander F. Laird, Presbyterian minister, and now resides in Mississippi (1902).

(e) William Brown, unmarried (1902).

3. Susan Martha, born Nov. 25, 1830; died March 6, 1872; married Sept. 25, 1854, Edward Stevens Kemper, of Cross Keys, Rockingham county, Va., born Jan. 18, 1829; died Dec. 26, 1882. She was a woman of rare excellence of character; a christened child of the old Stone church of Augusta when Rev. Conrad Speece was its pastor; a devoted member of the Presbyterian church from her youth; and left to her children a memory of all that is to be revered in the name of mother. Her husband was for many years a prominent business man and farmer in Rockingham county; one of the pioneers in the organization of Mutual Fire Insurance companies in the state of Virginia, and county surveyor of Rockingham county. She sleeps in the cemetery at Cross Keys, Virginia, and he at Harrisonburg, Virginia. Issue:

(a) James Rodham, born June 10, 1855; married, Feb. 27, 1878, Laura Cordelia Coiner, of Rockingham county, Virginia.

He is a prominent farmer, residing (1902) at Fishersville, Augusta county, Virginia; also organized the Virginia Long Distance Telephone Company, of Virginia, the pioneer corporation of its kind in the State, and was its first president. Issue: Ethel May, born Jan. 26, 1880; Grace, born Dec. 28, 1882.

(b) Martha Ann, born Aug. 19, 1857; died Dec. 23, 1857.

(c) Charles Edward, born June 5, 1859; married, Dec. 17,

1885, Mary Allen Crawford, of Augusta county, Virginia, born Jan. 8, 1866. He was educated at private schools and academies; graduated from Washington and Lee University, Lexington, Virginia, in the law class of 1882; practiced law in Staunton, Virginia, for ten years; was appointed Assistant Supervising-Architect by Secretary Carlisle in 1893; was made chief executive officer of the Supervising-Architect's office of the Treasury Department Jan. 1, 1895; represented his department on the U. S. Boards of Management for the Expositions held at Atlanta, Georgia (1895), Nashville, Tenn. (1897), and Omaha, Neb. (1898); is a member of the National Society, Sons of the American Revolution, the Virginia Historical Society, of Richmond, Va., and the National Geographical Society, of Washington, D. C. Issue: Edward Crawford, born Oct. 1, 1886; William Holbrook, born Jan. 12, 1889.

(d) William Whitfield, born July 23, 1863; died Feb. 25, 1865.

(e) Arthur Lee, born Jan. 14, 1866; married, Oct. 6, 1887, Laura Bell Hooke; is an active business man, residing (1902) in Wytheville, Va. Issue: Audrey Lee, born Aug. 15, 1888; Bertha Hooke, born Nov. 25, 1889; died Sept. 23, 1893; Arthur Walker, born Oct. 23, 1891; Harvey Ribble, born June 29, 1893; Laura Marie, born March 13, 1897.

(f) Aubrey Craig, born Jan. 23, 1868: died May 30, 1884.

4. Sarah Jane Cornelia, married Dr. Joseph B. Webb, of Cross Keys, Rockingham county, Va., member of the Virginia House of Delegates and State Senate. Issue: James Warfield, died in infancy; Fleta Hope, died young; Iota Joy, married Thomas P. Yager, of Madison county, Va., who now resides at Cross Keys, Virginia.

James Craig, like his father, had no fondness for public life, although in politics he was an uncompromising Whig. He served for many years as an elder of the Old Stone Church, which is situated about seven miles from his residence. His beautiful estate lay directly in the forks of Middle and North rivers, and his home was always the seat of gracious hospitality. He lived a long and honored life, and died with the regret of all who knew him, especially the poor, to whom he had always given freely of the bounty with which the Lord had blessed him. He is buried in the old cemetery of the Old Stone Church with the two women who called him husband.

(3) Sarah, daughter of William and Jean (Anderson) Craig, born March 13, 1783, and died Nov. 30, 1849. She married James G. Laird, her cousin, who was born Nov. 1, 1781, and died July 28, 1857. They are both buried in the cemetery at Cross Keys, Virginia.

James G. Laird was the son of David Laird and Margaret Craig, who is believed to have been the daughter of Robert Craig. She was baptized April 7, 1745, by the Rev. John Craig. If this assumption is correct, the descendants of James G. Laird and Sarah Craig, his wife, are doubly descended from Wm. Craig, the immigrant, and Jean, his wife. David Laird was a captain of one of the first companies of regulars organized in Augusta for service in the Revolution. He was a captain of militia in 1777, and was also at Point Pleasant as a lieutenant in 1774. The relationship between the Mount Meridian Craigs and James, who married Sarah Craig, has always been recognized by the two families, but the degree of kinship is not now known.

James G. and Sarah Craig Laird had two children, both daughters: Sarah, who married Mr. Thurmond, and died in Harrisonburg some years ago, and Margaret, who married Mr. Andrew Irick.

James G. Laird lived and died about two and one-half miles from Keezletown, near the foot of Laird's Knob, which takes its name from his family.

(4) Margaret, daughter of William and Jean (Anderson) Craig, born Dec. 25, 1785, and died Feb. 27, 1856, was the last wife of James Bell, of Augusta, who descended from one of the old pioneer families of that county. He was for many years the senior presiding justice of the Augusta county court, and one of the most active and enterprising men in that section. He was born in 1772 and died in 1856, and is buried along with his wife in the old cemetery of the old Stone Church. Their children were: John J., who married and died without issue; David S., who married Miss McCue, and had issue; J. Wayt, who married, first, Sarah, daughter of Col. James Crawford, of Augusta, and had issue; and second, her sister Eliza, who died without issue; Henderson M., of Staunton, a lawyer and member of the Virginia House of Delegates, married Miss Kinney and had issue; Jane, who married Mr. Arbuckle, of Greenbrier county, Va.; Elizabeth, who married Chesley Kinney, of Staunton, and had issue; Margaret, who married Frank M. Young, of Staunton, and had issue. David S. Bell, son of James and Margaret, was with his father, a member of the old county court of Augusta. Issue.

7. Mary, daughter of James and Mary Laird Craig, was born May 10, 1752, and died Jan. 16, 1778. She married William Anderson, of Augusta, who is believed to have been the son of John, father of Jean, who married William Craig, brother of Mary. James Craig, the elder, in his will, probated at Staunton in 1791, refers to the heirs of his daughter Mary, but does not name them. William Anderson was a captain in the War of the Revolution and removed to Kentucky in 1784, where his descendants are doubtless to be found.

8. Agnes, youngest child of James and Mary Laird Craig, was born in Augusta, April 10, 1754. She married James Anderson, brother of Jean and William referred to, and removed to South Carolina, settling in what is now Anderson county. James Anderson served as a captain in the Revolution, and the following children were born to them: Robert, removed to Mississippi and died there; George, who went to Missouri and afterwards to Texas, leaving seven sons and two daughters; James, who was accidentally killed in Alabama, leaving a family; Dr. William Anderson, who lived and died at the old Anderson homestead in South Carolina in 1853, aged 63 years; Mary, who married James Watson, leaving issue; Sarah, married Wm. Orr, of South Carolina, and left issue; Anne, married James Orr, of South Carolina, and left issue; Jane, married Mr. McKensie, and upon the death of her husband removed to Mississippi, issue; Ann married John James Mathews, both dead, no issue living; Elizabeth, the youngest child of James and Agnes Craig Anderson, married Saxon Anderson, not related to her. They removed to Alabama and have issue living in that state.

Captain James Anderson was baptized by the Rev. John Craig at the old Stone Church in Augusta, March 6, 1748, and died in South Carolina, Sept. 9, 1813. His wife Agnes died in the same state in 1841-42, aged about 88 years. She is buried in the family graveyard on the estate of Dr. Wm. Anderson. Her husband is buried in the old Carmel Church graveyard. The descendants of Agnes Craig and James Anderson are numerous throughout the South, and are highly respectable.

3. JOHN, youngest son of William Craig, the immigrant, was probably born in 1717 or 1718, and came to America with his parents as a mere child. He resided in the same neighborhood with his brothers, Robert and James, until 1775, when he removed to Kentucky.

The journal of the Virginia Convention of 1776 contains a petition from him stating that he had removed from Augusta county, Va., to the western country in the previous year with a drove of cattle, intending to settle there. He located in Lincoln county, Ky., and died there in 1862, describing himself in his will as being very old and infirm. The name of his wife is not known, but she is believed to have been either an Allen or an Anderson. The baptismal register of the Rev. John Craig previously referred to shows that William Craig, son of John, was baptized Aug. 10, 1746, and James, son of John, was baptized Jan. 24, 1748. He had other children than these, but their names do not appear upon the register in question, which only covers the period between 1740 and 1749. William is said to have been the eldest son, and was the magistrate of that name who sat in the first court ever held in Kentucky at Harrodsburg, in the year 1781. He is believed by his relatives to have been killed in a duel near Danville in the year 1788. James, the second son, is described in a decision of the court of appeals of Kentucky as having been an efficient soldier and a capable and energetic officer, but whether this service was rendered during the Revolution or in the Indian wars following is unknown.

Mary, daughter of John, married Col. John Cowan, one of the most intelligent of the early pioneers of Kentucky.

John, the youngest son of John, was born in Augusta in 1756. He married there Elizabeth Beard, daughter of Edward Beard, whose wife was a descendant of William Bell, the progenitor of the Stone Church Bells of Augusta. John did not remove to Kentucky with his father and older brothers, but remained in Augusta until 1790. One of his daughters married Mr. Welch. His son William was born in Augusta in 1786, and was a student at the old Liberty Hall Academy at Lexington, Va., in 1804–6, a student at Transylvania University in 1808–10, and studied medicine in Philadelphia in 1810–12; he was a surgeon in the War of 1812 in the regular army, a member of the legislature of Kentucky in 1814–15, an elder in the Presbyterian Church, president of the Danville branch of the bank of Kentucky, a large farmer and a fine physician. One of his daughters married Hon. Thomas M. Green, of Danville, Ky., author of Historic Families of Kentucky, etc., and a son is the Rev. Dr. Willis Green Craig, now President of the McCormick Theological Seminary of Chicago.

CHARLES E. KEMPER.

Washington, D. C., July 26, 1900.

NOTE.—James Craig, second son of William, the immigrant (see page 294), was a member of the County Court of Augusta county, Virginia, appointed by Lord Dunmore, then Governor of Virginia, December 6, 1774, which said court was adjourned as of that date from Staunton, Virginia, to Fort Dunmore—now Pittsburg, Pennsylvania—(See Annals of Carnegie Museum, Vol. I, No. 4, 1902). It does not appear from the minutes of the court holden at Fort Dunmore that James Craig ever sat as a member at that place. Again, on January 17, 1776 (Order Book 16, of Augusta county, Virginia, page 80), and on March 19, 1776 (same book, page 128), he was named in the Commissions of Peace and Oyer and Terminer, and on February 17, 1778, he declined, for reasons best known to himself, to qualify.

HISTORICAL AND GENEALOGICAL NOTES OF JOHN ANDERSON AND HIS DESCENDANTS, OF AUGUSTA COUNTY, VIRGINIA.

Seven or eight heads of families who bore the name of Anderson were among the earliest settlers of Augusta county, Virginia. Whether related to each other in any degree is not definitely known, but four of them, whose Christian names were John, George, William and James, settled in the Stone Church neighborhood and are believed to have been brothers. The other Andersons referred to settled on Borden's grant, in what is now Rockbridge county, and are not believed to have been related to those who located on or near Middle river, in Augusta county.

The Anderson who is the subject of this sketch was named John. The Christian name of his wife was Jean, but her surname is unknown. In the year 1738 William Beverly, by deed dated June 5th, conveyed to John Anderson 748 acres of land, which is believed to have been his home farm upon which he lived and died. This land is located on Middle river, at the crossing of that stream by the Valley turnpike and the Valley railroad, and that portion of his estate where he resided is now the property of Andrew Bowling, Esq.

John Anderson was of Scotch-Irish descent, and so, doubtless, was his wife. He probably came to Virginia from Pennsylvania with the first wave of Scotch-Irish immigration which followed in the wake of John Lewis, the pioneer settler of Augusta county. Few of the details of his life are known. In 1742 he was a soldier in Captain John Smith's company of militia in Augusta county, and in 1756 his name appears as a soldier in Captain Christian's company of militia. When Augusta county was created in 1745 he was appointed one of the first magistrates who composed the county court. In 1772 John Poague conveyed 27 acres of land upon which the old Stone Church stands to the Rev. John Craig and the session of that church. In this deed John Anderson is named next after Parson Craig, from which it may be fairly inferred that he was one of the first elders of that congregation. This inference is strengthened by the fact that Captain James Allen, his son-in-law, is also named as a member of the session, and three or four names intervene between him and John Anderson. James Allen is known to have been one of the elders of this church as early as 1746, and the fact that his father-in-law precedes him in the deed referred to makes it almost certain that John Anderson was not only the senior elder of the church at that time, but one of the first elders originally elected. His will was made in 1787 and probated at Staunton, Va., in 1789. His wife was then living, but the date of her death is unknown. His children, as named in the will, were as follows: 1st, Robert; 2d, James; 3d, Andrew; 4th, William; 5th, Margaret, and 6th, Jean.

I. MARGARET is believed to have been the eldest child of John and Jean Anderson. She was evidently born prior to 1740, because no record of her baptism occurs in the register of Rev. John Craig, pastor of the old Stone Church, which record is now in the library of General John E. Roller, of Harrisonburg, Va. Besides, her eldest child, Jean, who married Captain James Trimble, was born in the year 1756, which would indicate that Margaret Anderson was born at some time during the period between 1735–40. She married, as stated, James Allen, son of William Allen, who was among the earliest settlers in Augusta. James Allen was a captain of militia in 1756, and also participated in the battle of Point Pleasant. He died in 1810, 94 years of age, having been an elder of Augusta Stone Church for 64 years. Their children were:

1. Jean, wife of James Trimble, a captain of rifle rangers during the war of the Revolution. He removed with his family to Kentucky in 1784 and resided there until 1804, when he died upon the eve of his contemplated removal to Hillsboro, Ohio. Issue: Allen, born in Augusta county, Va.,

Nov. 24, 1783, and died in Highland county, Ohio, Feb. 3, 1870. Allen Trimble was clerk of the courts and recorder of Highland county in 1809–16. In the war of 1812 he commanded a mounted regiment under General William Henry Harrison and rendered efficient service. He was a member of the Ohio House of Representatives in 1816, State Senator in 1817, and Speaker of that body, holding the position until Jan. 7, 1822, when he became Acting Governor, and served to the end of that year. In 1826 he was elected Governor, and re-elected in 1828. His brother, William A. Trimble, was born in Woodford county, Ky., April 4, 1786, and removed with his family to Ohio. He graduated at Transylvania University, and then returned to Ohio and spent some time in the office of his brother Allen. At the outbreak of the War of 1812 he was chosen major in the Ohio volunteers; was at Hull's surrender and liberated on parole. He was afterwards exchanged and commissioned major in the 26th regiment. In the defense of Fort Erie he acted with signal gallantry, and received a severe wound, which was the cause of his death years afterwards. He remained in the army until 1819, with the rank of brevet lieutenant-colonel, and was then elected to the United States Senate; took his seat in December, 1819, and gave promise of much future usefulness. He died, however, Dec. 13, 1821, aged 35 years, being probably the youngest man ever elected to the United States Senate. Captain James Trimble and Jean, his wife, had other children, but the writer is not acquainted with their history.

2. Ann, wife of Col. William Poague; and their children were: Allen, John, William, Jean, Mary, James, Thomas, and Hugh. The writer has but little information concerning the children of William and Ann (Allen) Poague, but Thomas was a lawyer of distinction in southwest Virginia, and during the Civil War was colonel of the 50th Virginia regiment when he was killed in battle on Black Water in February, 1863.

3. Elizabeth, married the Rev. John McCue, pastor of Tinkling Spring church. They had issue as follows: James A.,

John, and Franklin, long prominent citizens of Augusta; Dr. William McCue, of Lexington, Va., and Cyrus, a lawyer, who died young; the daughters were Mrs. Matthews, Mrs. Porterfield, Mrs. Barry, Mrs. Miller, and Mrs. McDowell, wife of General Joseph Jefferson McDowell, of Hillsboro, Ohio.

4. Rebecca, who married Major John Crawford. Issue: Elizabeth, wife of Captain William Ingles; Sallie, wife of John Hyde; Margaret, first wife of Cyrus Hyde; James, who married Cynthia McClung, of Greenbrier county; John, who married Harriet McClung, of Greenbrier; George W., died unmarried; Ann, second wife of Franklin McCue; Mary, wife of Dr. Edward G. Moorman; and Rebecca, wife of Stuart McClung, of Greenbrier.

5. Margaret, who married Major William Bell, of Augusta. Issue: Elizabeth Allen, wife of Joseph D. Keyser, of Allegheny county, Va.; Susan, first wife of James Craig, of Mount Meridian, Augusta county, Va.; Mary, wife of Addison Hyde; Margaret Allen, who married first John Crawford, and he dying childless she married, second, Colonel James Crawford; Nancy, wife of Zachariah McChesney; Sarah, second wife of John Wayt, Jr.; Rebecca, wife of Benjamin T. Reid; Julia, wife of Alexander W. Arbuckle, of Greenbrier county, Va.; Jane, wife of Rev. John A. Van Leer, of Augusta county, Va. The only son of William Bell and Margaret, his wife, was William Joseph Davies Bell, who married Lucy Shipp, of Orange county, Va. Nearly all these children of William Bell and Margaret, his wife, left issue, but it would be impossible to enumerate them within the limits of this sketch.

6. Mary, who married Colonel Nicholas Lewis, and removed to Kentucky. If there was issue of this couple, their descendants are unknown to the writer.

7. Nancy, who married Captain Samuel Frame, of Augusta, whose children were John, Thomas, and Nancy.

8. Sarah, first wife of James Bell, and mother of the late Colonel William A. Bell, of Augusta county.

9. William, married Susan Bell, of Kentucky, and removed to that State in 1783, and settled at Lexington. He was the father of six children. His eldest daughter was the wife of Matthew Jouett, the distinguished Kentucky artist, and her oldest daughter married Richard Menifee, the celebrated Kentucky orator. Another daughter was the wife of Dr. Alexander Mitchell, of Frankfort, Ky., and one of her daughters married Oliver Frazer, the artist. One of Captain William Allen's sons was Colonel William H. Allen, formerly of Augusta, and another was Colonel James Allen, of Missouri.

10. James, who married Elizabeth Tate. Issue: William, who married a Miss Poague; John, who married, first, Polly Crawford, and second, Ann Barry, widow of Dr. William McCue, and, removing to Michigan, was the founder of Ann Arbor, so named for his wife; Mary, who married Captain John Welsh; Margaret, second wife of Major William Poague, of Augusta; Nancy, wife of Charles Lewis; Sarah, who married George Mayse, of Bath county, and James T., who married Miss Maynard, of Michigan.

The descendants of Captain James Allen and Margaret Anderson, his wife, are very numerous, and they are scattered all over the west and southwest. Many of them still remain in the Shenandoah Valley, and the posterity of this worthy couple have been noted for their intelligence and devotion to right principles in all the avocations of life. Much of the foregoing information was derived from Mr. Joseph A. Waddell's invaluable work, The Annals of Augusta County, Virginia, to whom due acknowledgment is hereby made.

II. JOHN. The Rev. John Craig's record of baptisms previously referred to shows that on October 19, 1740, John, the son of John Anderson, was baptized at the old Stone Church, but no mention is made of him in his father's will, and no tradition concerning him is known to the writer. Therefore, it is believed that he died unmarried, probably in infancy.

III. ROBERT, who was baptized November 15, 1741, by the Rev. John Craig at the old Stone Church. He married Ann Thompson, of Augusta, November 4, 1765, and removed to South Carolina a few years prior to the Revolution and settled in the western portion of the state near Pendleton. He first located on Long Cane Creek, in what is now Abbeville county, but after the massacre in the neighborhood of Fort Ninety-six he removed to the Waxhaws, now Lancaster county, South Carolina, and after quiet was restored about Fort Ninety-six returned to that neighborhood, finally making his permanent home near Pendleton, as above stated. He served with distinction as a Colonel in the war of the Revolution under his friend and neighbor, General Andrew Pickens, and after the Revolution was made general of the State Militia. His children were:

1. Anne, who married Dr. William Hunter. Issue: Dr. John, who married Kittie Calhoun and removed to Selma, Alabama; William, who married a Miss Clayton; Ann, who married John Smith; Mary, who married Rev. David Humphreys; Andrew, who married, but the name of his wife is unknown.
2. ~~Lydia~~ ^{ELIZABETH}, who married Samuel Maverick. Issue: (1) Elizabeth, married Mr. Weyman. This couple had three children, a son named Joseph, and a daughter who married a Mr. Thompson, of Memphis, Tenn. Joseph Weyman married Emily Maxwell, of Pendleton, South Carolina, and their son Samuel now resides in New York City. (2) Lydia, who married William Van Wyck, of New York. Issue: Samuel Maverick, who married Miss Margaret Broyles and had two sons. He was a surgeon in the Civil War and was killed in battle in Tennessee. ^{ROBERT} Zen^{ah}, married a gentleman of New York, ~~name unknown~~ ^{CHARLES MARKS}, and died leaving two daughters. William, married a Miss Battle, daughter of President Battle, of the University of North Carolina. Augustus, of New York City, for years a judge of one of the superior courts of New York; in 1898 the Democratic candidate for Governor of New York, but was defeated by Theodore Roosevelt, now President of the United States, by 18,000 majority, in one of the largest votes ever polled in the state. Robert Anderson, Democratic Mayor of New York, and the first Mayor of the greater city. Lydia, who married Mr. Holt, of North Carolina, son of ex-governor Holt of that state. (3) The third child of ~~Lydia~~ ^{SAMUEL} Anderson and Samuel Maverick was named Augustus. He removed to Texas and became one of the largest land and cattle owners in the world.

3. Elizabeth, third child of General Robert Anderson, married General Robert Maxwell of the Revolution. Issue: John, married Elizabeth Earle; Robert, married Mary Earle; Anne, married Dr. Andrew Moore. Elizabeth (Anderson) Maxwell married, second, a Mr. Caruth, and had by him a daughter named Louisa, who married General James Gillam, of Greenwood, South Carolina.

4. Robert, fourth child of General Anderson, married Maria Thomas, of Nassau, New Providence Island. They had ten children: Robert, married Mary Pickens, granddaughter of General Andrew Pickens; Edward; Edmund, who was a Presbyterian preacher; Thomas; John; Julius; William Henry. The three daughters were, Ann, who married Joseph Harris; Caroline, who married Dr. Leroy Halsey, a Presbyterian minister of prominence, and at the time of his death a professor in the McCormick Theological Seminary of Chicago; and Martha, who married Samuel Pickens, grandson of General Andrew Pickens, of the Revolution.

IV. JEAN, fourth child of John Anderson and Jean, his wife, was baptized April 29, 1744, by the Rev. John Craig, at the old Stone Church, in Augusta county, Va. She married, first, Lieutenant Hugh Allen, of Augusta, Nov. 6, 1765, by whom she had three sons, John, William and Hugh, all of whom emigrated to Kentucky, and a daughter whose Christian name is unknown to the writer. Jean Anderson Allen married, second, in 1778, William Craig, of Augusta county, Va., brother of Agnes, who married Captain James Anderson. (For the descendants of William Craig and Jean Anderson, his wife, see sketch of the Craigs.)

V. JAMES, born in Augusta; was baptized in the old Stone

Church March 6, 1748. He married, December 10, 1771, Agnes, daughter of James and Mary (Laird) Craig. It is stated by his descendants that he removed to South Carolina a few years previous to the Revolutionary War and settled, first, near Rock Mills, in what was then Pendleton District, but which is now known as Anderson county, so called for his brother, General Robert Anderson, previously mentioned in this sketch. After residing a few years at Rock Mills, James Anderson removed to the head waters of Rocky river, on Beaver Dam creek, and his plantation is now owned by Richard H. Anderson, his grandson. James Anderson served as a captain in the Revolutionary army and died September 9, 1813. He is buried in the old Carmel Church graveyard, not far from Pendleton, South Carolina. Agnes Craig, his wife, was born April 10, 1754, and died in 1838. The children of James Anderson and Agnes, his wife, were as follows:

1. Mary, who was born in Virginia. She married James Watson, and their children were: James, married three times, names of his wives unknown; Samuel, married Harriet Jones; Robert, died unmarried; Cynthia, married Mr. Bennett; Mary, married Mr. Oliver; Eliza, married Mr. Berry; Sarah Ann, married John Couch; Andrew, never married.

2. Robert, who removed to Mississippi when a young man, married there, and was the father of three children, one son and two daughters; Christian names unknown.

3. Sarah, married William Orr, who removed to Jackson county, Ga., and afterwards to Talladega, Ala. Issue, six children, as follows: Sarah Ann, married James Montgomery; Anson, married Mary Ann Thompson; James Laird, married Elmira McLester; Craig, married Cynthia Montgomery; Columbus, married Elizabeth McAllister; Caroline, married Hugh Montgomery. Nothing is known by the writer as to the issue of the foregoing children of Sarah Anderson and William Orr.

4. Jane, married Mr. McKensie. Issue: William; Robert; Jane; a daughter, name unknown. After the death of her husband Mrs. McKensie removed to Mississippi with her family, and nothing further is known of her descendants.

5. James, removed to northern Alabama where he married a Miss Kinkaid. He was accidentally shot and killed while duck hunting on the Tennessee River. It is known that he left two sons, the eldest of whom was named William.

6. Nancy, married John Matthews and removed to Jackson county, Ga. Issue: Elizabeth Caroline, married Mr. Mullins; Sarah Ann, never married; John James, married twice, sisters, named Trayler. John James Matthews served in the Confederate army as colonel of a regiment.

7. George, removed to Benton county, Mo. He was fond of adventure and enjoyed the life of a frontiersman. He married in Missouri, but the name of his wife is unknown, and in 1849 removed to Texas and settled near Henderson. He was the father of eleven sons and one daughter, the latter of whom he named Missouri Ann, for his adopted state and his favorite sister. Nothing further is known of his descendants, but they are probably numerous in the state of Texas.

8. Ann, who married James Orr, of South Carolina, and after residing there several years subsequent to their marriage, finally removed to Jackson county, Ga. They had five children, as follows: Adolphus James, married Martha Fannin; Gustavus John, married Eliza Caroline Anderson; Caroline Agnes, married Madison Mitchell; Augustus, died in infancy; Sarah Ann, never married. Of these children, some are worthy of note. The oldest son was a Methodist minister, and the second a most successful educator and professor in Emory College at Oxford, Ga., for a number of years, and president of a female college at Covington, Ga., and afterwards a professor in Oglethorpe University, of Atlanta, Ga. He founded the public school system of the state of Georgia, and was State Supt. of public schools of that state for sixteen years. He died Dec. 11, 1887.

9. William, who will be mentioned later in this sketch.

10. Elizabeth, married Saxon Anderson, who was not related to her. They removed from South Carolina to Marietta, Ga., and afterwards to Talladega, Ala. Issue: Augustus, died in infancy; Mary Elizabeth, not married; George Washington, died in infancy; Eliza Caroline, married Frank Carter; Margaret Taliaferro, married Mr. Wills; David Laird, married, name of wife unknown; James Laird, married Augusta V. Anderson.

11. Margaret, died in infancy.

William Anderson, 9th child of James and Agnes Craig Anderson, mentioned above, was born in South Carolina, June 9, 1790, and died in that state May 12, 1853. He was married to Miss Mary McEldowny Hunter, Sept. 16, 1824. She was born May 25, 1802, and died June 1, 1884. They are buried in the family graveyard on the homestead of his father, Captain James Anderson. Issue:

Dr. William Anderson was a man of the highest character and fine attainments, a member of the legislature of South Carolina before the Civil War, an eminent physician, and one of the largest land owners in his section.

VI. ANDREW, sixth child of John Anderson and Jean, his wife, was born in Augusta county, Va., about 1750. His will was admitted to probate in the county court of Augusta in 1823. He was twice married, the name of his first wife being unknown to the writer. By this marriage he had the following children:

1. Dr. George Anderson, of Montgomery county, Va., born Sept. 4, 1779; died Sept. 22, 1818; married Mary Douglass, daughter of Benjamin Douglass, of Bath county, Va. No issue.

2. Mrs. Brown, of Kentucky.

3. Betsy, first wife of Major William Poague.

The second wife of Andrew Anderson was Martha, daughter of Patrick Crawford, of Augusta, and her children were:

1. John, born April 19, 1789; died in Montgomery county, Va., March 16, 1821. He married Elizabeth Fitzhugh Douglass, granddaughter of Benjamin Douglass, and had three children: (1) Mary D., born July 31, 1816; married Dr. John Smith, of Russell county, Va. (2) George W., born April 23, 1818. (3) Eldred R., born June 3, 1820.

2. James, who married Caroline Douglass, sister of John's wife, and had (1) John, (2) Eliza, (3) James, and (4) William, who removed to Tennessee.

3. Robert, who married Nancy Dean, of Greenbrier county, W. Va., and had one son, William D., who married Miss Ingles.

4. William, who died in New Orleans.

5. Nancy, wife of William Crawford, of Augusta.

6. Sallie, wife of Jacob Ruff.

Andrew Anderson served as an ensign, lieutenant, and captain in the War of the Revolution, and in 1794 was the colonel in command of the militia of Augusta county, Va. He served for many consecutive years as a member of the House of Delegates from that county.

VII. WILLIAM, seventh child of John Anderson and Jean, his wife, was born about the year 1752. He served as captain in the War of the Revolution. His wife was Mary, daughter of James and Mary (Laird) Craig, born May 10, 1752, and died Jan. 16, 1778. If there was issue born of this marriage they are unknown to the writer. In 1784 Captain Anderson removed to Kentucky and nothing is known of his descendants.

The writer has endeavored to give as complete a list as possible of John Anderson's descendants in the foregoing paper, but necessarily there are many omissions in some of the lines of descent. For much kindly assistance in the preparation of this article, the writer is indebted to Mrs. Eliza C. Orr, of Atlanta, Ga., and Mrs. Olivia Louise Burkhead, of Huntsville, Ala., granddaughters of Captain James Anderson; also to Miss Harriet Maxwell, of Pendleton, S. C., and Rev. B. Palmer Reid, of Reidsville, S. C.

DECLARATION OF THOMAS DAVIS OF WOODFORD COUNTY, KY.

I was born in Spottsylvania county, Va., in 1761. I enlisted April 25, 1779, for 18 months in the war of the Revolution.

I served under Capt. Alexander Parker in Col. Richard Parker's regiment.

I served also for two months as a sub-alternate for my brother Benjamin in a company of militia commanded by Capt. William Mills (James Cunningham, first lieutenant), and marched to Williamsburg, where I served until discharged.

The day after my return home I was drafted, and served two months in the state, I marched to Yorktown and was present at the surrender of Lord Cornwallis.

My total service was 18 months, for which I received $60.

This declaration is supported by an affidavit of John McGrady, of Woodford county, who served in the same regiment with Thomas Davis.

Thomas Davis was pensioned in Woodford county, Ky., August 18, 1818, in the 57th year of his age. (Pub.)

SMITH FAMILY OF AUGUSTA AND ROCKINGHAM COUNTIES, VIRGINIA.

Capt. John Smith, born 1698, in England, settled with his parents in Province of Ulster, Ireland; is said to have been an officer of the British army (?), and married, in 1719, Margaret ———; immigrated to America about 1730, with his wife and children; settled, 1st, in Chester Co., Pa., about 1740; removed, with the McDowells and others, to what is now Augusta county, Virginia, then Orange, and on June 26, 1740, proved the importation of himself, his wife Margaret, their sons Abraham, Henry, Daniel, John and Joseph, from the colony of Penna. (See Orange County Land Records.) In 1738 Augusta county was taken from Orange, the first court being held in Staunton Dec. 9, 1745, prior to which time all the legal business of Augusta county was transacted at Orange Court House. June 26, 1742, John Smith qualified at Orange Court House as captain of the militia for Augusta county.

As a protection against the inroads of the Indians, he had several rude forts, or block-houses, constructed in the Valley, one of which was in the county of Botetourt, on the James river, where Pattonsburg was subsequently located. This fort became the scene of memorable events.

Capt. John Smith, with seventeen men, held a fort, called Fort Vause—variously written Vass, Voss, and Vaus—which was located on the head-waters of the Roanoke river, about ten miles from where Christiansburg now stands. This fort was invested by three hundred French and Indians, and, after a brave resistance for three days, the garrison agreed to surrender the fort, upon a stipulation allowing them to return to their homes. Astonished and mortified at finding so few men in the fort, the enemy disregarded the terms of surrender and held the survivors—now only nine or ten in number—as prisoners. Two of Capt. Smith's sons were with him: John, who was wounded during the siege, and killed by an Indian after the surrender. The prisoners were taken down the Ohio and Mississippi rivers to New Orleans, and on the way down the other young Smith (Joseph), who had survived the disaster at the fort, died. Only five of the prisoners lived to reach New Orleans. Capt. Smith and two others were then sent to France, and he alone returned to America, after an absence of two years. "When the treaty was signed at the fort, Captain Smith was so cautious as to secure the paper by ripping open the lining of his coat and sewing it between, which defeated the most diligent search for it. On arriving at Paris, Capt. Smith produced the agreement, and, upon exhibiting it to the proper authorities, was promptly released, and with his two companions was sent to London, where he received quite an ovation, a street being named in his honor. He there told of the immense territory of the Southwestern country."

Mr. Waddell, in the Virginia Magazine of History and Biography, says:

"Capt. John Smith commanded a company in the disastrous Sandy Creek expedition, sent out on Feb. 18, 1756, and it would seem that after his return he was stationed at Fort Vause; also, that while Capt. Smith was detained as a prisoner and absent two years, his pay during that time, and also that of his son, Lieut. John Smith, Jr., up to the time he was killed at Fort Vause, on June 25, 1756, was provided for by an Act of Assembly, passed by the House of Burgesses.—Hening's Virginia Statutes."

As a further proof of the accounts given by Mr. Waddell, and Benj. H. Smith, the Editor of the Virginia Magazine of History and Biography, adds: "A register of the persons who have been either wounded, killed, or taken prisoner by the enemy in Augusta county, as also such as have made their escape;" and among many other names and dates are found the following: "June 25th, 1756, at Fort Vause, Capt. John Smith, prisoner returned 1758, Lieut. John Smith (Jr.), killed, Joseph Smith, prisoner, died on the way to New Orleans."

“After his return to this country, probably in impaired health, he seems to have taken no active part in Military affairs.

“He survived until the Revolutionary War began, and this, his military spirit having revived, he applied for a Commission and was refused on account of his advanced age, then 78 years, which greatly offended him. He died shortly after this at Smithlands, the residence of his son Daniel, two miles north of Harrisonburg, Virginia.

“His sons, Abraham, Henry, and Daniel, were also prominent in the French and Indian Wars; his son-in-law, Hugh Reece Bowen, was killed at the battle of Kings Mountain, near the close of the fight, as a Lieut. of Campbell’s Regiment of Riflemen, Virginia Militia, on Oct. 7, 1780, and left many highly respectable descendants in southwestern Virginia, namely, Tazewell, Wythe, and Montgomery counties.”

Capt. Smith was one of the first Vestry Members for the parish of Augusta; their first Meeting was held April 5, 1747, at which date John Smith, John Buchanan, James Patton, John Madison and others, took the oath appointed by act of Parliament as such. His name appears as being present at all meetings from 1747 to Nov. 23, 1756; at this meeting John Matthews, Jr., was chosen Vestryman in place of Capt. John Smith, who had been captured at Fort Vause on Nov. 20, 1758, there being a vacancy, Col. (formerly Capt.) John Smith having returned to Virginia, was chosen Vestryman, which position he held until May 25, 1760. The military record of Capt. John Smith is well known, he having received from his colony, grants of land for his service as early as 1754. (See records.) His military record is too well known to require any further notice in this paper.

On March 30, 1745, John Smith, Gentleman, had patented to him 400 acres of land in the great survey on Mossy Creek, and 400 acres on Spring Creek; from this time on for many years the records of Augusta show that he and his sons handled many thousand acres of the best lands in the Shenandoah Valley. He died 1776. His wife Margaret Smith died ———. They had six children, namely :

1. Abraham, b. 1722, in Ireland. (See later.)
2. Daniel, b. 1724, in Ireland. (See later.)
3. Henry, b. 1727 ; m. Amy ———. [1756.]
4. John, Jr., b. 1730 ; was killed at Fort Vause, June 25,
5. Joseph, b. 1734, in Chester Co., Pa. Was taken prisoner at Fort Vause ; d. on way to New Orleans, 1756.
6. Margaret, b. 1741 ; m. Hugh Reece Bowen, who was a Lieut. in Campbell's regiment of Riflemen, Va. Militia, was killed at the battle of Kings Mountain, Oct. 7, 1780, leaving his widow and children surviving. Of his descendants, no further record.

SIXTH GENERATION.

William Shands, 5th of Telverton and Martha (Smith) Shands, born ———; m. Annie Smith, a cousin, and daughter of Judge John Wms. Green Smith and sister to Mrs. J. Fred Effinger.

SECOND GENERATION.

Daniel Smith, 2d of Capt. John and Margaret Smith, born in Ireland in 1724, came to America with his parents aged about six years; finally settled in Augusta county, where he married Jane Harrison about 1751, born 1735, daughter of Daniel Harrison, and sister of Col. Benjamin Harrison, of Augusta county (see Harrison family.)

March 10, 1751, he purchased a tract of land on the head of Linsville Creek, adjoining the land of his father-in-law, where he built his residence later known as "Smithland," a magnificent estate in Augusta county, now Rockingham. His is said to have been the first brick house built in the Valley; situated two miles north of Harrisonburg, Va. Smithland, the estate on which he lived and died, was patented Aug. 20, 1741, by Daniel Harrison, his father-in-law. (Deed book 1, Augusta county records.)

In 1757 Col. Daniel Smith was one of the Justices for Augusta county; was Capt. of a company under Gen. Lewis in the battle of ~~Point~~ Point Pleasant; he was a member of the Courtmartial for West Augusta district from the beginning of the French wars until Oct., 1777; on Sept. 20, 1781, he was commissioned, in the Revolutionary army, as Deputy Purveyor, Southern Department. As the Presiding Justice of Rockingham county, he signed the court records for the last time on Sept. 24, 1781, and left immediately for Yorktown, where he joined four of his sons, viz.: John, Daniel, Joseph, and Robert, who were in the Revolutionary army. After the return of the troops from the siege of Yorktown, Daniel Smith, then designated Colonel, summoned those from Rockingham, for a review to celebrate the victory; the last act of which was the "running salute." As the troops began firing, his horse became frightened, sprang aside, spraining his rider's back and throwing him; from which injury he died in a few days.

In 1778 Rockingham county was formed from Augusta; the plantations of Col. Daniel Smith being in the new county;

He was commissioned by the Governor one of the first Justices, the first court being organized April 27, 1778, which convened in his house until suitable buildings could be constructed. He is said to have been the wealthiest man of his day in the county; he was a member of the convention in 1775. He died in 1781, his will proven Nov. 26th of this year, his wife, Jane (Harrison) Smith, qualified as executrix, giving bonds of £50,000; was probably buried in the old Dayton graveyard near Smithsland, where some of the early members of the family are interred; his widow, Jane (Harrison) Smith, died 1796; their children were twelve:

1. John Smith, b. Nov. 30, 1752.
2. Daniel Smith, b. June 25, 1754.
3. Joseph Smith, b. Feb. 9, 1756.
4. Robert Smith, b. Nov. 28, 1757; died unmarried.
5. Margaret Smith, b. Oct. 27, 1759. No record.
6. Benjamin Smith, b. May 25, 1761.
7. Ann Smith, b. Sept. 6, 1763. No record.
8. Jane H. Smith, b. July 19, 1765; m. Smith Loffland.
[No record.]
9. Sarah Smith, b. Oct. 13, 1767. No record.
10. Abraham Smith, b. July 23, 1770; died unmarried.
11. William Smith, b. Aug. 20, 1775.
12. James Smith, b. March 6, 1779.

The Smith, Harrison and Cravens family records were courteously supplied by Mr. William P. Tams, of Staunton, Virginia, and Mr. Roger Morris Smith, of St. Matthew's, Jefferson county, Kentucky. These gentlemen have spent much time and thought in the study of their family history.

For any errors in the mechanical construction of the paper the publisher is responsible. In several instances where dates are omitted from the records, there were doubts as to the order of birth of various members of the families. The publisher hopes his arrangement of them will be found satisfactory, and will welcome any corrections, additional data, or historical data.

HARRISON FAMILY OF AUGUSTA AND ROCKING-INGHAM COUNTIES, VA.

Thomas Harrison, the founder of this family, on March 15, 1744, obtained from Lieut.-Gov. William Gooch a grant for 258 acres of land in Orange county, later Augusta county, situated at the head spring of the east fork of Cook's Creek. Of his early life, or the date of his death or that of his wife, nothing definitely is known; it is claimed by some of his descendants that he belonged to the James River Harrisons; of this, however, we find no proof; some writers claim that he was an immigrant direct to Chester county, Penna., then to Orange county, Va., about 1743.

The publisher is of the opinion that Thomas Harrison descended from one of the early Maryland immigrants, some of whom are known to have settled in Virginia, in what was then Stafford county, about 1700; after 1730 Prince William county, which at this date embraced the counties of Fairfax, Loudoun and Fauquier; this territory being the natural route to Augusta county, where about 1743-4 he removed and settled on Cook's Creek. After 1690 the names of several branches of the Harrison family disappear from the Maryland records, and later are found in Virginia, but owing to the destruction of the early records of Stafford, and many of those of Prince William counties, it is doubtful if satisfactory record proof can be obtained. Of the children of Thomas Harrison we have no record, except that of Daniel.

SECOND GENERATION.

Daniel Harrison, son of Thomas and Jane (Delahage) Harrison, born in 1700 (perhaps Charles county, Md.); was twice married: 1st, to Margaret Cravens, a sister of Robert. Seven children:

1. Robert, b. 1725.
2. Daniel, Jr., b. 1727. No record.

- 3, Jesse, b. 1729. No record. [record.
4. Mary, b. 1733 ; m. Wm. Cavanaugh. No further
5. Jane, b. 1735 ; m. Daniel Smith, Sr. See record.
6. Abigal, b. 1731 ; m. Jeremiah Reagan. No record.
7. Benjamin, b. 1741.

Margaret (Cravens) Harrison died in 1753.

The second marriage of Daniel Harrison to Sarah Stephenson, widow of William, in 1760, whose will was proven May 16, 1759. As in 1761 Sarah Harrison joined her husband (Daniel) in making deeds to some of his lands. Daniel Harrison, Sr., died July 10, 1770.

THIRD GENERATION.

First. Robert Harrison, 1st of Daniel and Margaret (Cravens) Harrison, born 1725 ; died unmarried in 1761 ; his will bearing date May 4, 1761, was proven at Augusta county Court Aug. 18, 1761. In this will reference is made to his father Daniel Harrison ; his brother Jesse ; Ann, the daughter of brother Jesse, under 18 years of age ; his brother Daniel, Jr. ; to Daniel Smith, the husband of his sister, Jane, born 1735 ; to Daniel Smith's son, Robert Smith ; his brother, Benjamin Harrison ; his sisters, Mary and Abigal Harrison. Appointed his brother-in-law, Daniel Smith, and Jesse Harrison, executors. Silas Hart, Hugh Hamilton, William Minter and William Gregg, witnesses.

Seventh. Benjamin Harrison, 7th of Daniel and Margaret (Cravens) Harrison, born 1741 ; died 1819 ; married Mary McClure, born 1745, died 1815, daughter of John. BROWN FAMILY OF AUGUSTA AND BATH COUNTIES, VIRGINIA.

John Brown, born Feb. 15, 1743, O. S., in Ireland; probably of Scotch-Irish parentage, immigrated from Dublin to America about 1760; doubtless through the influence of Capt. John Smith, McDowell and others, who had twenty years previously settled in the upper valley of Virginia. He married Mary Donnelly about 1778, who was born in America of NOTE.—No effort has been made by the publisher to trace the descendants of the children of Robert Cravens and his wife Mary (Harrison) Cravens.

Irish parentage in 1761, and settled in the Warm Spring Valley on the Cowpasture River, a branch of the James, called by the Indians Wallahatoolah. His tract of land containing 400 acres was known as Flowing Spring, named from a series of springs which flowed at irregular intervals, gushing out of the earth in such an unusual manner as to attract the attention of Thomas Jefferson and other writers on Virginia.

During the Revolution John Brown enlisted a company of militia soldiers in Augusta county from the neighborhood in which he lived, of which he was captain, and Robt. Thompson, lieutenant, Col. Sampson Matthews, commander; his company marched to Richmond, thence to Petersburg and Amelia county, where they saw active service; was in the engagement with the British at the battle of Hot Water, and again at the battle of Green Spring (Jamestown), in which Major Brown (then Capt.) was taken prisoner July 6, 1781.

Upon the organization of Bath county, Aug. 26, 1791, Major Brown was commissioned one of the first justices for the county, which position he continued to hold until his death; was also Capt. of militia for the county, occupying various positions of trust, as Sheriff and Treasurer for Bath county, and later was Major in command of the 2d Battalion of Bath county militia; April 12, 1796, was elected a member of the General Assembly of the state of Virginia, and again in 1802-3-4. Lieut. Robt. Thompson, Jan. 8, 1833, in his declaration for a pension says: he was commissioned Lieut. of Virginia militia of Augusta county, and served as such under Capt. John Brown; that he was in the battle of Hot Water and at Jamestown; that they marched to Richmond, Petersburg, Amelia county, etc., under command of Col. Sampson Matthew, and was with Gen. Campbell, Wayne and Morgan.

Mary (Donnelly) Brown, wife of Capt. John, died about April, 1815, as a deed bearing date April 1st, of this year, was signed by her, but not acknowledged. Major Brown died Feb. 6, 1830, his will bearing date Nov. 6, 1824, with codicil dated March 17, 1828; was proven June term of Court, 1830; recorded in Liber 4, folio 39, will book of Bath county, Va. To his two daughters, Peggy (Brown) Wallace and Rosannah (Brown) Morgan, he devised all lands on the east side of Cowpasture River, etc., to be divided equally between them, each to pay their brother Joseph Brown $250.00; to his grandson N. I. Brown Morgan, a negro boy; to his grandson John Brown Wallace, a negro boy; the residue of his estate, real and personal, to his son John Brown; he to pay his brother Joseph $500.00; and directed his body to be buried by the side of his deceased wife. Appointed John Brown, Gerard Morgan and Joseph Wallace, executors. Witnesses: Matthew Wallace, Charles Harnsell and William Benson.

The codicil makes his granddaughter, Mary Ann Blackburn Brown, a beneficiary.

MARRIAGES SOLEMNIZED IN ALBEMARLE COUNTY,
VIRGINIA, BY THE REV. JOHN GIBSON,
FROM 1800 TO 1846.

John Gibson was born 1759, in Culpeper county, Virginia, son of Peter, where he resided until 1782. He was reared on the plantation of his father with only the limited opportunities of the Log Cabin School House for an education, and these but for three months in the year.

September 30, 1778, at the age of nineteen, he enlisted as a private soldier in the Culpeper county militia, or minute-men, under Capt. Francis Miller, with whom he marched from Culpeper to Orange, thence to Spottsylvania, thence to Essex county, and later to Mobinhills, below Richmond, at which place his command was stationed four weeks with troops from all parts of Virginia. Subsequently they marched to Williamsburg, where he remained till the end of the service for which he enlisted.

In 1779 he again enlisted for three months, as a substitute for his father, Peter, under Capt. James Smith; was at Williamsburg, Norfolk and Jamestown. In April of that year he was honorably discharged.

In 1781 John Gibson was drafted, on his own account, by Capt. Fisher Rice, under whom he marched from Culpeper to Louisa county. He served until discharged, returning to his home in Culpeper. In 1782 he removed with his parents to Albemarle county, where he married and reared a large family, living in the same neighborhood for sixty-eight years.

In early life Mr. Gibson made a profession of religion, and joined the Methodist Episcopal Church. In 1793 he was licensed by the Quarterly Conference of said Church as a local minister, and as such performed many marriages in the community in which he lived. He kept a record of these marriages from 1800 to 1846. On Aug. 3, 1846, he filed the same in the United States Pension Office with his application for a pension, from which application the foregoing facts have been taken, together with the following list of marriages :
